THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS
HIMACHAL SERIES, 2016

EDITOR
RAKESH KAINTHLA
Director,
H.P. Judicial Academy,
Shimla.

November-December, 2016

Vol. XLVI (VI)

Pages: HC 1 to 1849

Mode of Citation : I L R 2016 (VI) HP 1

Containing cases decided by the High Court of Himachal Pradesh and by the Supreme Court of India

And Acts, Rules and Notifications.

PUBLISHED UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE GOVERNMENT OF HIMACHAL PRADESH BY THE CONTROLLER, PRINTING AND STATIONERY DEPARTMENT, HIMACHAL PRADESH, SHIMLA-5.

INDIAN LAW REPORTS

HIMACHAL SERIES

(November- December, 2016)

INDEX

Nominal table
I L R 2016 (VI) HP 1

****

SUBJECT INDEX

'A'

'C'

dismissed – held, that an application for extension of time was filed, which was dismissed, this shows the liability to pay the amount – however, the general power of attorney admitted in subsequent rent petition that the tenant had paid the rent – the objections were wrongly dismissed by the Executing Court- revision allowed – order of the Rent Controller set aside.

Title: Pawan Kumar Sharma Vs. Sarla Sood and others Page-1229

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 96- Plaintiff pleaded that he was assaulted and humiliated by the defendant No.1 in the presence of many people – the defendants subsequently gave him beatings- the Trial Court awarded the compensation of Rs. 22,000/- along with interest @ 9% per annum – held in appeal that witnesses of the plaintiff proved the case of the plaintiff – an FIR was registered regarding the incident – one defendant was convicted by the Juvenile Justice Board – MLC proved the injuries suffered by the plaintiff – compensation of Rs.22,000/- is inadequate and is enhanced to Rs.1 lac – appeal partly allowed.

Title: Vishal Puri and others Vs. Yashpal Singh Page-1582

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Contract for extraction of resin was awarded to the defendant – plaintiff pleaded that the target for extraction was 137.75 quintals, whereas, the defendant had extracted 94.11 quintals resin– the defendant is liable to pay compensation/damages for the difference of resin i.e. 43.64 quintals @ Rs.3,100 per quintals- the defendant pleaded that incessant rains during the pre-monsoon period dried the blazes and the trees fell due to high velocity winds – the requests were made to fix the blazes after excluding dried up blazes from which no extraction was possible – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held, that plaintiff had not led any evidence to prove the case – the defendant had denied his liability to pay the amount- the onus was upon the plaintiff to prove the case and in absence of evidence, Court had rightly held that case was not proved – there is no infirmity in the judgment passed by the Court – appeal dismissed – direction issued to initiate disciplinary proceedings against the concerned officer of the Forest Corporation.

Title: H.P. State Forest CorporationVs.NasibSingh Page-893

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Father of the plaintiff was murdered by the defendant- an injury was also caused to the plaintiff- plaintiff had become handicapped and was unable to work - a sum of Rs.1 lac was sought as damages – the suit was partly decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that version of the plaintiff was duly proved by his witnesses while the version of the defendant was not proved- a sum of Rs.50,000/- was rightly awarded as damages- judgment in the criminal case is relevant for establishing that defendant was convicted by the Criminal Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Dharam Singh Vs. Braham Dass Page-553

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff claimed to be the owner in possession of the suit land- there is a gali, which is being used as an approach to reach the ground floor of the building – the defendants denied any right of the plaintiff to use the gali – the suit was dismissed by the trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that gali is owned and possessed by defendant No. 1 and owner has right to raise construction over the same – the plaintiff does not have any right to claim the demolition of the wall – plaintiff has an alternative passage to approach his building – appeal dismissed.

Title: Papinder Singh Vs. Gokal Chand (Now deceased) through his LR's and others Page-263

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for the recovery of Rs.27,000/- pleading that the defendant had offered to purchase apple crop of the orchard of the plaintiff for a sum of Rs.1,01,000/- - defendant paid Rs.76,000/- and remaining amount of

Rs.25,000/- was to be made after the sale of the apple- the amount was not paid – hence, the suit was filed – the suit was decreed by the Trial Court – an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that the plaintiff examined himself and two witnesses to prove his version- oral evidence was corroborated by documents – the defendant denied the version of the plaintiff but did not lead any evidence to prove his version – the evidence was correctly appreciated- appeal dismissed.

Title: Kewal Ram Vs. Murat Singh Page-1751

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for recovery pleading that contract for transportation of rectified spirit was awarded to it – some amount remained unpaid – hence, the suit was filed for recovery – the defendant pleaded that defective spirit was supplied and the amount was adjusted against the losses caused by the plaintiff – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- it was contended in second appeal that the suit was not maintainable as the plaintiff had failed to plead that partnership was registered- held, that no objection was taken regarding maintainability- it was specifically asserted in the plaint that plaintiff was a partnership concern – registration of the partnership firm was proved- the plea that suit was barred by limitation was also not established- appeal dismissed.

Title: Himachal Pradesh General Industries Corporation Ltd. Vs. M/s Hari Singh Harpal Singh Page-303

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff had advanced a sum of Rs. 6,500/- to the defendant No. 1 for running a karyana shop – defendant No. 2 stood guarantor- the loan was not repaid and the suit was filed for the recovery of the amount – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in appeal that the case of the plaintiff was proved by oral and documentary evidence- Appellate Court had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed.

Title: Surat Ram and another Vs. Himachal Gramin Bank, Churag Branch, Tehsil Karsog, District Mandi, H.P. Page-1707

Code of Civil procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiffs pleaded that their land was acquired for the construction of Chamera Hydro Electric Project Stage-II (NHPC) – Government decided to award Rs.2,50,000/- to the affected families, who were not given employment as per the agreement entered at the times of acquisition – employment or the compensation was not paid to the plaintiffs – hence, the suit was filed for the recovery of compensation- defendants denied the claim of the plaintiffs and asserted that requisite compensation was paid to the plaintiffs – the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed and the judgement and decree passed by the Trial Court were set aside – held in second appeal that acquisition was not disputed – it was also not disputed that one member of the family of the ousted person was to be provided employment and in the alternative compensation – it is admitted that plaintiffs had received compensation of Rs.2,50,000/- regarding 3-2 bighas of land – plaintiff asserted that they are entitled to financial package regarding 17 biswas of land– record shows that 17 biswas of land was not independent but part of the acquired land – financial package was received by all the legal representatives of P, the previous owner- plaintiffs are not entitled to separate compensation – appeal dismissed.

Title: Parkash Chand & Others Vs. State of H.P. & Others Page-1758

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 115- A civil suit for recovery of Rs.25,000/- was decreed by the Trial Court- decree was modified in appeal and the petitioners were held entitled to Rs. 10,000/- - it was contended that no second appeal is maintainable under law – held, that where the second appeal is barred by the statute, the provisions under Article 227 of the Constitution of India cannot be used to circumvent the bar of filing an appeal – however, where the judgment is totally perverse or illegal, jurisdiction under Article 227 can be exercised – the revision lies against the order and not against the decree – however, keeping in view the conflicting judgments of the High Court on the point, matter referred to a larger bench.

Title: Sarwan Singh and others Vs. Mohar Singh Page-777

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 151- Order 8 Rule 6-A- A counter- claim was filed by the defendants No. 2 to 5- an application was filed by defendant No. 1 for excluding the counter-claim, which was dismissed – held, that if a counter-claim is directed against the plaintiff, a defendant can seek relief against the co-defendant – the counter-claim filed by the defendants No. 2 to 5 was not solely directed against defendant No. 1 but was also directed against the plaintiff – therefore, the Trial Court had rightly dismissed the application for excluding the counter-claim-petition dismissed.

Title: Rakesh Kumar s/o Sh. Bansi Lal Vs. Suman Sharma d/o Sh.Bansi Lal & Others Page-733

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 1 Rule 10- An application for impleadment was filed pleading that applicant is co-owner of the suit land and is not in a position to alienate her share in view of the injunction granted by the Court- the application was allowed by the Trial Court- held in revision that applicant is recorded to be the co-owner of the property – suit has been filed for declaration – all the co-owners are necessary parties in a suit for declaration- her interest would be directly affected by the declaration- the Court had rightly allowed the application- revision dismissed.

Title: Sunil Kumar s/o Sh. Sanjay Kumar and others Vs. SudeshKumari w/o Sh. Satish Kumar and others Page-1316

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 1 Rule 10- An application for impleadment was filed, which was allowed by the trial Court- held, that the interest of the applicant is involved in the present suit and applicant is a necessary party – therefore, the application was rightly allowed by the Trial Court – revision dismissed.

Title: Suresh Kumar & others Vs. M/s Sunnox International & anr. Page-1247

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 1 Rule 10- An application for impleadment was filed pleading that the applicant had entered into an agreement to purchase the suit land and is a necessary party – the application was dismissed by the trial Court- held in revision that plaintiff had not sought any relief against the applicant – applicant has already filed a civil suit, which is pending before High Court- an agreement to sell does not create any right in the property – the order of the trial Court is not perverse and cannot be interfered in exercise of the revisional jurisdiction.

Title :Chander Sen Thakur son of Shri Tikkam Ram Thakur Vs. JiwaNand son of late Shri Ram Chand & others Page-465

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 1 Rule 10- An application for impleadment was filed pleading that the applicant had entered into an agreement to purchase the suit land and is a necessary party – the application was dismissed by the trial Court- held in revision that plaintiff had not sought any relief against the applicant – applicant has already filed a civil suit, which is pending before High Court- an agreement to sell does not create any right in the property – the order of the trial Court is not perverse and cannot be interfered in exercise of the revisional jurisdiction.

Title: Chander Sen Thakur son of Shri Tikkam Ram Thakur Vs. JiwaNand son of late Shri Ram Chand & others (Civil Revision No. 150 of 2014) Page-468

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 2 Rule 2- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for recovery of money – he had already instituted a suit in the Court of Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kangra prior to the institution of the present suit – held, that the defendant should not be vexed time and again for the same cause by splitting the claim and causes of action - while determining whether the subsequent suit is barred or not, the Court has to find out whether the claim in the new suit is founded upon a cause of action which was the foundation in the former suit – the burden is upon the defendant to prove the identity of the cause of action in the two suits – plaintiff had filed the earlier suit for declaration and permanent injunction for restraining the defendant from leaving the services of Kangra Valley Hospital in violation of the agreement executed between the parties- the present suit has been filed for damages on the ground of cancellation of the agreement – the plea raised in the suit was available at the time of filing of the earlier suit – the plaintiff had not sought the relief, which was available to him and plaintiff is clearly precluded from instituting the suit – the suit is held to be barred by Order 2 Rule 2 and is dismissed.

Title: Inderjit Singh Bawa Vs. Dr. Vani Sharma Page-660

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 7 Rule 11- A civil suit for declaration was filed challenging the election of various office bearers of the society – an application for rejection of the plaint was filed, which was dismissed – held, that the application was filed belatedly – the time for which the office bearers were elected has lapsed but that is not sufficient to dismiss the suit – the Court has already framed issue regarding the maintainability which is yet to be adjudicated- petition dismissed.

Title: Kewal Ram Siranta & Ors.Vs. HP Voluntary Health Association & Anr. Page-578

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 7 Rule 11- An application for rejection of the plaint filed by defendant No.4 pleading that plaint does not disclose any cause of action against defendant No.4 - defendant No.4 had taken action in discharge of his official duties and is not liable – held, that defendant No.4 has been arrayed as party because he remained the Managing Director of the Bank – acts done in discharge of official duty are protected and immune from prosecution, provided they are done in good faith and without malafide – malafide means that the act is not done for the proposed purpose – malafide should be pleaded by specific allegations – merely by saying that action was not justified and was out of bias will not amount to plea of malafide- general and vague allegations of malafide have been levelled – no evidence can be led regarding a plea not asserted in the plaint- application allowed and plaint ordered to be rejected against the defendant No.4.

Title: Narotam Dutt Sharma Vs. H.P.State Co-operative Bank Ltd. and others Page-1785

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 7 Rule 14- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for declaration challenging the revenue entries and the entry of date of birth of defendant No.3 – plaintiff filed an application seeking permission to place on record the date of birth certificate, which was dismissed – plaintiff filed a similar application in the suit after it was remanded by the appellate court, which was dismissed- plaintiff was fully aware of the date of birth of defendant No.3 – birth certificate is a public document and could have been obtained or proved without any difficulty- obtaining a certified copy is not the discovery of a new fact- plaintiff failed to prove as to why he had not placed the document on record with the plaint –no error was committed by the Court in dismissing the application- petition dismissed.

Title: Piar Chand Vs. Deepika& others (D.B.) Page-1190

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 8 Rule 9- Plaintiff amended the plaint – L.Rs. Of defendant No. 1 filed an amended written statement- plaintiff filed an application for rejection of the amended written statement on the ground that it was beyond the scope of amendment - held, that defendant can amend the written statement to the extent of amendment in the plaint – if the defendant wants to amend the written statement, he has to seek permission from the Court – L.Rs had amended the written statement beyond the scope of the amendment- L.Rs. can file written statement appropriate to their character as L.Rs. but they have to seek permission from the Court before filing additional written statement – the order passed by trial Court set aside and amended written statement filed by the L.Rs. ordered to be rejected.

Title: Ram SwarupVs. Lila Wati& Others Page-957

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 9 Rule 13- Applicant filed an application for setting aside ex-parte decree on the ground that she was not properly served – the application was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was also dismissed – held, that process server had made the endorsement on the back of the summons regarding the personal service along with the copy of plaint – the endorsement was not proved to be false – the service was properly effected – appeal dismissed.

Title: Ganga Devi Vs. Om Prakash Page-1050

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 9 Rule 4- The suit of the plaintiff was decreed ex-parte – an application for setting aside ex-parte order was filed, which was allowed – aggrieved from the order, present petition has been filed – held, that the defendant had taken a false plea in the application for setting aside ex-parte order- false claims and defences are serious problems with the litigation – the judicial system has been abused and virtually brought to its knees by the litigants like the defendants No. 1 to 4- one who comes to the Court must come with clean hands – the plea of the defendants was belied by the report on the summons that were received after the service of defendants 1 to 4- petition allowed.

Title: Dinesh Kumar Vs. Jyoti Prakash and others Page-414

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 17 Rule 1- Five adjournments were granted to the petitioner – he could not produce the evidence on the date fixed as his mother fell ill – his evidence was closed by the order of the Court- held, that time and place of illness cannot be predicted – adjournment was sought on the ground of unavoidable reason – the Court should have been more compassionate - the fact that five adjournments had already been granted should not have been the sole ground to decline the adjournment – petition allowed- the order set aside on the payment of cost of Rs. 5,000/-.

Title: Karam Chand Vs. Prem Sagar Marwah Page-307

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 1- It was contended that respondents have not complied with the directions passed by the Court – a contempt petition was filed, in which time was granted to comply with the direction contained in the judgment – respondents directed to file a detailed status report indicating the compliance of direction.

Title: Suman Kumari Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh & another (D.B.) Page-462

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 1- Section 47- Objections were filed to the execution petition, which were dismissed by the Executing Court – held in revision that Executing Court cannot go behind the decree – plea that provisions of Section 118 of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act were violated could have been taken in a suit but was not taken – this objection cannot be taken before the Executing Court – Court cannot disturb finding of fact in exercise of revisional jurisdiction- revision dismissed.

Title: Rajiv Bansal son of late Shri Mohinder Kumar Bansal Vs. Mange Ram Chaudhary son of Shri Prittam Singh & others Page-566

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 32- A decree for permanent prohibitory injunction was passed for restraining the defendants from causing any obstruction upon the path existing in the suit land- an application for execution was filed, which was dismissed by the Court- held, that the decree had obtained finality – an oral prayer was made during the pendency of suit and appeal that the defendant had encroached upon the suit land and a decree of mandatory injunction be passed – however, the prayer was declined in absence of the pleadings – a fresh suit would be barred by the principle of res-judicata- the Executing Court had wrongly dismissed the Execution Petition and the decree holder was deprived of the fruits of the decree obtained by him- petition allowed and order of Executing Court set aside – Executing Court directed to decide the same afresh.

Title: Tek Chand and another Vs. Karam Singh & others Page-1450

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 32- A decree for permanent prohibitory injunction was passed- original judgment debtor was stated to have violated the judgement and decree – he died and an application was filed for bringing on record his legal representatives, which was dismissed by the Executing Court- held, that a decree for permanent prohibitory injunction can be executed by the decree holder or his legal representatives against the judgment debtor or his heirs or even the transferee of the judgment debtor, who is the purchaser pendent lite- the order passed by the Trial Court set aside and the application allowed- Court directed to decide the execution petition afresh.

Title: Tara Singh Vs. Govind Singh (deceased) through LRs. Page-888

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 32- An execution petition was filed, which was dismissed by the Executing Court – held in revision that witnesses of decree holder had deposed that no construction was raised after passing of decree- J.D. No.7 had died and cause of action came to an end on his death- High Court cannot reverse the finding of facts unless the same is perverse- no illegality was committed by the trial Court- revision dismissed.

Title: Lajja Devi wife of ShBhagat Ram Vs. Kanshi Ram son of Sh. Gurbax and others Page-616

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 32- Civil suit was decreed for specific performance of the agreement – the decree was put to execution – Court ordered the execution of the sale deed and directed the vendee to join J.D. for completing the sale – held, that decree was passed for specific performance of the agreement relating to Khasra No.508 – the Court had directed the execution of the sale deed in respect of Khasra No.508/8- the Executing Court cannot go behind the decree – revision allowed and the Court directed to execute the sale deed in accordance with the decree.

Title: Ganga Ram Vs. Prakash Verma Page-1322

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 32- It was pleaded that Judgment Debtor had violated the decree of the Court by alienating suit land and they be detained in civil prison – judgment debtor stated that the sale deed was legal and valid and was executed after taking legal advice – the execution petition was allowed against J.D. 1 to 3- held in revision that undertaking was given before District Judge not to alienate the suit land till partition – the Court ordered that undertaking shall form part of the order – alienation made in spite of undertaking will amount to violation of the order of the Court- judgment debtors were rightly held liable to pay the amount – revision dismissed.

Title: Roshan Lal son of Shri Nandu and others Vs. Nika Ram son of Budhu& others Page-452

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 32- Section 47- A petition was filed for the execution of the decree of specific performance – the petitioner filed objections pleading that the decree is unexecutable as she is not in possession of the flat – the bank had taken possession of the flat and had auctioned it to N- objections were dismissed by the Trial Court- held, that any right created during the pendency of the suit will not affect the decree holder in view of the doctrine of lis pendens – this doctrine is also applicable to the Court sales – the petitioner had prolonged the proceedings for 3½ years after obtaining ex-parte stay order – petition dismissed with the cost of Rs.30,000/-.

Title: Raksha Devi Vs. Uma and others Page-1653

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 97 read with Section 151- An order of eviction was passed – an application for its execution was filed –the objector filed objections, which were dismissed- held, that the order was passed against the brother of the objector – no application for impleadment was filed by the objector during the main petition, which means that the objector had acquiesced in the passing of the order- the objections were filed to delay the execution – there was no requirement of framing the issues and recording the evidence- petition dismissed.

Title: Vikas Kapila & another Vs. Ashok Sood & another Page-1453

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 23 Rule 1- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for seeking injunction – parties were directed to maintain status quo – defendants filed an application for initiating criminal proceedings for filing false affidavit, which was dismissed- a petition was filed before High Court and High Court directed the trial Court to consider and decide the application in accordance with law- plaintiff sought withdrawal of the suit- permission was granted and the suit and application were dismissed- held in revision that the allegations were made that plaintiff had filed a false affidavit – the plaintiff had a right to withdraw the civil suit unconditionally – all miscellaneous applications except the counter-claim will become infructuous on dismissal of suit- the order of the trial Court is not perverse- revision dismissed.

Title: Deepika Vashisht Vs. Rakesh Singh Page-300

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 33 Rule 2- Plaintiff filed a suit for compensation of Rs.2 lacs for electrocution due to the negligence of the defendants – the defendants denied the claim of the plaintiff – suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed and the suit was decreed for recovery of Rs.1,66,000/- along with interest @ 6% per annum- held in second appeal that Plaintiff had examined himself and two witnesses to prove his version- documentary evidence also proved his version – there was no distance between the roof of the house of the plaintiff and the HT line, whereas distance of 12 feet is required to be maintained as per rules – thus, the negligence was duly proved.

Title: HPSEB & Another Vs. Babu Ram Page-1745

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Petitioner was appointed as beldar – he was promoted and trained to operate the hydra crane – he was being transferred to the Mining Department without any training- a civil suit was filed along with an application for seeking ad-interim injunction- the injunction was granted by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- held in revision that the petitioner was transferred to the Mining Department and was asked to undergo training in dumper operation, which the petitioner refused – the petitioner was transferred to crusher section and was advised to report to HOD crusher – the petitioner refused and was charge-sheeted – an employee can be posted anywhere to subserve the administration – the petitioner is not interested to undergo the training but wants to continue only on one machine – he cannot deny the order of superior – no prima facie case exists in favour of the petitioner – the injunction was rightly denied to the petitioner- revision dismissed.

Title: Subhash Chand Vs. Rajinder Thakur &others Page-1599

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Plaintiff filed a civil suit seeking relief of permanent prohibitory injunction- an application seeking interim relief was filed, which was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was partly allowed and parties were directed to maintain status quo- held in revision that previous suit was dismissed in default and principle of res-judicata was not applicable- dismissal will not affect the present suit- the order of status quo is necessary to preserve the property during the pendency of the suit – revision dismissed.

Title: Ajit Singh son of Sh. Bidhi Chand Vs. Mukhtiar Singh son of Sh. Bidhi Chand

Page-634

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Plaintiff/applicant filed an application seeking an ad interim injunction, which was partly allowed by the Trial Court and the defendant/respondent was restrained from mortgaging or creating charge over the suit land – however, relief of injunction for restraining the defendant/respondent from interfering with the suit land was declined on the ground that defendant/respondent was in possession of the suit land - an appeal was filed, which was allowed and the defendant/respondent was restrained from interfering with the suit land – held, that the Appellate Court had not upset the findings recorded by the Trial Court that defendant/respondent was in possession and therefore, could not have granted injunction for restraining the defendant/respondent from interfering with the suit land – petition allowed and order of Appellate Court set aside.

Title:Meemo Devi Vs. Saroj Kumari Page-1681

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit pleading that suit land is owned and possessed by them – partition was ordered by AC 1st Grade but the order was set aside in appeal – the defendants were interfering with the suit land – an application for interim injunction for restraining the defendants was filed, which was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held, that power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is to be exercised sparingly and in appropriate cases for keeping Subordinate Courts within the bounds of their authority – the defendants are recorded owners in possession of the suit land- plaintiffs are not recorded to be the owners in possession of the suit land – in case injunction prayed for is granted, the defendants will suffer – the Courts had not committed any jurisdictional error while dismissing the application- petition dismissed.

Title: Karam Chand and others Vs. Manjeet Singh and another Page-1825

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Plaintiffs filed a suit for declaration and injunction- an application for interim relief was also filed, which was allowed and parties were directed to maintain status quo qua the nature, user, possession, construction and alienation – an appeal was filed, which was allowed and the application was dismissed – held, that the finding regarding the execution of the Will cannot be given while deciding the application for interim relief – both the parties are asserting their title and possession- hence, the status quo order is necessary to protect the rights of the parties – revision allowed, order of the Appellate Court set aside and the order of the Trial Court restored.

Title: Santosh w/o Sh. Tara Dutt& Another Vs. Sanjeev Kumar s/o Sh. Bal Krishan & Others

Page-1363

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 1- Section 11- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for recovery- the defendant filed a counter-claim – the suit was partly decreed while the counter-claim was dismissed- an appeal was filed by the defendant against the judgement and decree – no separate appeals were filed regarding partly decreeing the suit and dismissing the counter- claim- the Appellate Court reversed the judgment and decree and allowed the counter-claim- held in second appeal that non-filing of appeal against the judgment and decree means that it has become final – the dismissal of counter-claim leads to finality of the controversy and even if the decree has not been drawn, it will not take away the effect of the dismissal – the defendant should have filed two appeals and relief could not have been granted to him in one appeal – otherwise the decree in one suit will operate as res-judicata vis-à-vis the other – appeal allowed and the judgment of the Appellate Court set aside.

Title: H.P. State Forest Corporation through its Divisional Manager Vs. Kahan Singh since deceased through his LRs Partap Singh and others Page-1137

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 22- Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5- The cross-objections are barred by eleven years eight months and 17 days – no actual date of hearing was issued – the Court has discretion to entertain the cross-objections, even after the expiry of 30 days – the objector was not asked to file the cross-objections within 30 days and he being illiterate, rustic and old person could not file them within the period of 30 days- there are sufficient grounds to condone the delay- held, that limitation will start running from the first date of hearing – the date of hearing will start from the day when the objector and his pleader appeared in the Courts- the appeal is yet to be decided and the interest of justice will be served, if the objector is heard on merits- application allowed and the delay in filing the cross-objections condoned.

Title: Babu Ram Vs. Santokh Singh & another Page-388

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 25- Matter was remanded by the Appellate Court after framing issues – the order is challenged before the High Court- held, that the Court had not considered the provisions of Order 41 Rule 25 of C.P.C – the Court had erred in framing the issues – the case was pertaining to the execution of the Will and the burden is always on the propounder to establish the same – the order of the Appellate Court set aside and the matter remanded to the Appellate Court for a fresh decision.

Title: Ranjeet Singh Vs. Prithvi Singh &others Page-623

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 27- A civil suit was dismissed by the trial Court – an appeal was filed during which an application for bringing on record the documents was filed, which was allowed – held, that no explanation was given for non-production of the documents at the time of the trial – further, the application for the additional evidence was to be considered along with the appeal and not in isolation- the order set aside and the case remanded to the Appellate Court with the direction to consider the application along with the main appeal.

Title: Jagdish Raj and another Vs. Dhali Devi Page-261

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 43 Rule 1- An execution petition was filed, in which an order of sale was passed by the Court – the sale could not be held on the ground that no bids were received in spite of wide publicity – permission was granted to D.H. to get survey zoning and planning of the property done- fresh sale was conducted – six bank drafts were received – efforts were made for re-conciliation, which failed – time was granted to find better buyers- it was ordered that in case of failure the sale would stand confirmed automatically and execution petition will be closed- held, that Judgment Debtors had not questioned the sale – objections were filed subsequently, but they were not pressed- the order dismissing the application for recalling the order is not appealable – judgment debtors are caught by estoppel- inadequacy of consideration is no ground for setting aside the sale- appeal is not maintainable and is dismissed.

Title: M/s United Electronics (India) Ltd. and another Vs. Ajay Kumar and others (D.B.) Page-425

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 125- L and her son filed petition seeking maintenance pleading that husband of L started harassing and abusing her – he also demanded Rs. 30,000/- as dowry - L and her son were turned out of the house- the Trial Court granted maintenance of Rs. 1200/- per month to each of the petitioner- a revision was filed, which was dismissed- held, that husband did not appear in the witness box and an adverse inference has to be drawn – L specifically stated that income of the husband is Rs. 12,000/- per month- no evidence was led in rebuttal – the maintenance of Rs. 1200/- per month each cannot be said to be excessive – evidence of the petitioner proved the ill-treatment and that wife is unable to maintain herself - petition dismissed.

Title: Bhag Singh s/o Sh. Mahantu Ram Vs. Lalita Devi w/o Sh. Bhag Singh and another Page-841

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 125- The marriage between the parties was solemnized – the husband started beating the wife – a petition for maintenance was filed and maintenance of Rs.5,000/- per month was awarded by Additional Sessions Judge while reversing the order of Judicial Magistrate- held in revision that the wife had left her matrimonial home and was residing with her parents- the husband had instituted a petition for restitution of conjugal rights but mere institution of the petition for restitution of conjugal rights will not have any effect on the proceedings under Section 125 of Cr.P.C – the wife had left the home due to beatings given to her and she had a reasonable cause to reside separately – the income of the wife was not proved – the maintenance was rightly granted. (Para-2 to 9)

Title: Suresh Kumar Vs. Mamta Rani Page-528

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 127- S was married to G – G started maltreating S and ousted her from her matrimonial home – she filed a petition for maintenance and maintenance of Rs.500/- per month was granted to him on 19.6.2207- S filed a petition for enhancement of maintenance from Rs.500/- to Rs.5,000/-- Session Judge, Mandi enhanced the maintenance allowance toRs.2,000/- per month from the date of the order- held, that keeping in view the price index and the fact that one daughter is residing with S, it is not expedient to interfere with the order of Sessions Judge, Mandi – the husband is duty bound to maintain his wife – rise in prices is a changed circumstance and the petition for enhancement can be filed on this ground – petition dismissed.

Title: Girdhari Lal son of Shri Sher Singh Vs. Shashi Kumari wife of Shri GirdhariLal Page-1220

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973-Section 133- Petitioner is co-owner in possession of the land – the villagers requested the petitioner to allow them to construct the road – petitioner gave an undertaking to provide land for the construction of the road – the retaining wall was damaged during the construction of the road – when Gram Panchayat did not construct the wall, the petitioner himself erected the same – it was claimed that the obstruction was caused to the road- proceedings were initiated against the petitioner and notice was issued to him- held, that obstruction has been caused to the road –SDM had rightly passed the order after visiting the spot and verifying the facts- petition dismissed.

Title: Sudershan Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh &ors. Page-1704

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 133- The petitioner filed an application pleading that respondent No. 1 had blocked flow of rainy and domestic water - respondent No.1 pleaded that civil litigation was going between the parties – no water was blocked by him and false application was filed – SDM dismissed the application by holding that there was no nuisance and general public was not involved in the dispute- a revision was filed before Additional Sessions Judge, which was dismissed- held, that power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is tobe used sparingly for keeping the Subordinate Courts within the bounds of their authority and not for correcting mere errors – it was not disputed that a civil suit was pending between the parties regarding the subject matter – there was no public nuisance as it was not established that drain was being used by public at large – filing of an application before Criminal Court to settle the civil dispute amounted to abuse of the process of the Court – petition dismissed with cost of Rs.10,000/- .

Title: Kashetar Pal Singh alias Kripal Singh Vs. Harpal Singh and another Page- 1782

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 294 and 311- An application was filed for seeking permission to tender in evidence certified copies of the judgments passed by the Civil Courts, which was allowed- aggrieved from the order, present petition was filed contending that informant does not have a right to file the application directly without associating public prosecutor- held, that legislature has recognized importance and relevance of victim in the process of investigation, inquiry and trial as well as in appeal, revision etc. – he has a right to engage an advocate of his choice to assist the prosecution - permission was sought to assist the prosecution, which was allowed as not opposed – there is difference between assisting and conducting the prosecution– the permission can be granted by Magistrate to conduct the trial but such permission has to be expressly obtained by filing a written application- the permission was granted to assist the prosecution and therefore, it was not permissible to file the application to place the document on record- petition allowed- order passed by Magistrate set aside, however, liberty granted to file an application for conducting the trial.
Title: Sateesh Chander Kuthiala Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another. Page-366

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 377- Accused was convicted by the Trial Court and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for a period of 6 months- an appeal was filed, which was partly allowed and the sentence of imprisonment was modified – the accused was sentenced to undergo imprisonment till the rising of the Court - an appeal has been filed against the sentence imposed pleading that the sentence is inadequate – held, that only the sentence imposed by the Trial Court can be enhanced under Section 377 of Cr.P.C– in this case sentence was imposed by the appellate court- hence, appeal is not maintainable – permission granted to file a revision petition.
Title: State of H.P. Vs. Prem Chand Page-1491

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 438- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 341, 323, 325, 307 and 506 of I.P.C – the petitioners sought bail – held, that there are two versions regarding the manner of incident- the injuries do not show that they could have been caused by stick, kicks or fist blows – petition allowed- petitioners ordered to be released on bail of Rs.25,000/-.
Title: Sohan Lal Vs. State of H.P. Page-1367

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 438- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 342, 323 and 506 of I.P.C – the accused prayed for pre-arrest bail – held, that considering the nature of the offence, the fact that the petitioner is a permanent resident of the place, he is joining/co-operating in the investigation and is not in a position to flee from justice or to temper with the prosecution evidence, the petition allowed and the petitioner admitted on bail subject to the conditions.
Title: Sanjay Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-712

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- 30 bottles of Relaxcofwere recovered from the possession of the accused, which were containing 100 ml. each codeine phosphate- 60 strips of Tramadol Hydrochloride Paracetamol, each containing 10 tablets were also found – two bottles were recovered during investigation- held, that the petitioner is involved in a crime, which affects the society at large – many cases were registered against the petitioner for the commission of similar offences- hence, the discretion to admit the petitioner on bail cannot be exercised in favour of the petitioner- petition dismissed.
Title: Subhash Chand vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-570

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 323 and 506 of I.P.C – the petitioners are students, who had assaulted the members of rival students' union – held, that the violence in the University campus has become a permanent feature due to frequent fights between the members of rival unions- the petitioners have committed heinous offences and stringent conditions are required to be imposed to ensure cordial atmosphere – the petitioners are the permanent residents of Himachal Pradesh- hence, they are ordered to be released subject to conditions.

Title: Amrish Kamal & another Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-1096

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 332, 353, 452, 342 and 504 read with Section 34 of I.P.C – the petitioner pleaded that he has been falsely implicated – informant had given beatings to the petitioner – held, that keeping in view the fact that simple injuries were sustained by the petitioner, the petitioner is permanent resident of the place and is not in a position to flee from justice or to temper with the prosecution evidence; bail application allowed subject to conditions.

Title: Ashok Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-1585

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offence punishable under Section 302 of I.P.C – the petitioner applied for bail- the petitioner was last seen by the witnesses with the deceased – therefore, it is not a fit case, where judicial discretion to admit the petitioner on bail is required to be exercised -petition dismissed.

Title: Rajeev Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-397

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offences punishable under Section 447, 323, 341, 504, 506 of I.P.C and Section 3(1)(g), 3(1)(r) and 3(1)(s) of the Schedule Caste and Schedule Tribe (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989- the petitioner applied for bail- held, that the offence punishable under the provisions of atrocities Act is not against an individual but against the society as a whole- particularly the weaker section of the society- however, considering the age of the petitioner, the bail application allowed subject to furnishing personal and surety of Rs.1 lacs.

Title: Narain Dass ChauhanVs. State of H.P. Page- 450

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- A complaint was filed for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 500, 501, 502, 503, 504, 505, 506 read with Section 177, 182 and 186 of I.P.C.- the Magistrate found that a prima facie case was made for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 500, 504 and 506 of I.P.C but no case was made for the commission of other offences- a revision was preferred, which was partly allowed and it was held that prima facie case was made out for the commission of offence punishable under Section 500- held, that the statements and the documents prove that there are sufficient ground to proceed against the accused for the commission of offence punishable under Section 500 of I.P.C – the Court has to prima facie satisfy itself that there are sufficient grounds for proceeding against the accused at the stage of summoning of the accused - mere pendency of the civil suit is not sufficient to dismiss the criminal complaint – petition dismissed.

Title: Mohinder Nath Sofat son of Shri Ram Krishan Sofat Vs. Dr. Rajeev Bindal Ex-Health Minister of H.P. Page-1326

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- Accused V met with an accident and was in a coma for one month – Medical Board concluded that he was unable to defend himself – trial was ordered to be stayed – it was ordered that the accused be examined every three months-aggrieved from the order, father of the accused filed a petition – held, that as per Medical Board V is not showing any sign of improvement – the petitioner submitted that he is incurring expenses on bringing V to the Medical Officer after three months- direction issued to the trial judge to re-consider the period of three months.

Title: Krishan Lal KhimtaVs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-561

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered against the petitioners for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 447 and 506 read with Section 34 of I.P.C – petitioners have sought the quashing of FIR on the ground that the disputed land is located adjacent to the land of the petitioners – the land is in possession of the petitioners – held, that Civil Court had also found the petitioners to be in possession- continuation of criminal proceedings will be abuse of the process of the Court – petition allowed, FIR and consequential proceedings quashed.

Title: Neeraj Naiyar and others Vs. State of H.P. and another Page-1341

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 506 read with Section 34 of I.P.C – the police sought cancellation of FIR – the Court ordered the cancellation of the FIR with liberty to file a private complaint- held, that after the cancellation of FIR, filing of criminal complaint would amount to abuse of the process of the Court – order set aside and case remanded to the Trial Court with a direction to decide the same afresh.

Title: NishuVs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-1086

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Section 376 and 417 of I.P.C against the petitioner- petitioner and second respondent were training together and were having a live in relationship – the petitioner had promised to marry the second respondent but had married elsewhere – FIR was registered against the petitioner at the instance of the second respondent – it was pleaded that no offence has been made out against the petitioner and FIR be quashed – held, that it was established that the petitioner did not have the intention to marry the second respondent from the inception- second respondent had surrendered her mind, body and soul only because of the promise that petitioner would marry her – whether the physical contact was established between the parties with consent and without commitment of marriage would be seen during the course of trial – petition dismissed.

Title: Vikas Sharma Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-1534

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 279, 337 and 338 of I.P.C – present petition was filed for quashing the FIR and consequent proceedings – held, that the fact whether injured had sustained injuries on account of her own fault or at the time of getting down the bus is a complicated issue of fact which cannot be determined during these proceedings – no findings can be given regarding the affidavit executed by the injured- the permission to compound the offence cannot be granted as the offence punishable under Section 279 of I.P.C is against the public at large- petition dismissed.

Title: Surinder Kumar son of Shri Shesh Ram Vs. State of H.P. and another Page-770

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 341, 323, 324, 307 read with Section 34 of I.P.C – petitioner has filed the present petition for bail- held, that while granting bail, Court has to see the nature and seriousness of offence, character and behavior of the accused, circumstances peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial and investigation, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with and the larger interest of the public and State- the petitioner is a student and is not required for investigation – hence, the petition allowed and the petitioner ordered to be released on bail subject to conditions.

Title: Santosh Kumar s/o Sh. Dharam Singh Vs. State of H.P. Page-878

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 341, 323, 324, 307 read with Section 34 of I.P.C – petitioner has filed the present petition for bail- held, that while granting bail, Court has to see the nature and seriousness of offence, character and behavior of the accused, circumstances peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial and investigation, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with and the larger interest of the public and State- the petitioner is a student and is not required for investigation – hence, the petition allowed and the petitioner ordered to be released on bail subject to conditions.
Title: Saurav s/o Sh. Braham Dass Vs. State of H.P. Page-880

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 341, 323, 324, 307 read with Section 34 of I.P.C – petitioner has filed the present petition for bail- held, that while granting bail, Court has to see the nature and seriousness of offence, character and behavior of the accused, circumstances peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial and investigation, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with and the larger interest of the public and State- the petitioner is a student and is not required for investigation – hence, the petition allowed and the petitioner ordered to be released on bail subject to conditions.
Title:Aadesh Kumar s/o Sh. Rambir Singh Vs. State of H.P. Page-853

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482 and 320- Petition has been filed for quashing of the FIR registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A, 406 and 109 of I.P.C. – it has been pleaded that matter has been compromised between the parties and permission be granted to compound the matter - since parties have voluntarily compromised the matter; therefore, permission granted- FIR and consequent proceedings ordered to be quashed.
Title: Ricky Sharma s/o Sh. Raman Sharma &OthersVs. State of H.P. and others
Page-1765

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- Petition has been filed for quashing the charges framed under Sections 302, 212 and 120-B of I.P.C – held, that at the time of framing of charge, the evidence is not to be meticulously judged nor is any weight to be attached to the probable defence of the accused – the Court is to see that there is ground for presuming that accused had committed an offence – the statements of informant and other witnesses show that involvement of the petitioner cannot be ruled out- the Court had meticulously perused the material placed on record and had framed the charge thereafter - petition dismissed.
Title: Krishna Devi Vs. State of H.P. Page-706

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- Petitioner was convicted for the commission of offence punishable under Section 325 of I.P.C – an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – the matter was compromised during the pendency of the revision and a prayer was made for acquitting the accused in view of the compromise – held, that the accused and the informant have stated that the matter has been compromised between them in order of maintain peace and promote good will- the permission granted to compound the offence – revision petition allowed- conviction and sentence imposed upon the accused/convict by both the Courts set aside and the accused/convict is acquitted.
Title: Karan Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-577

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- Present petition has been filed for quashing the FIR registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 336, 337, 427 read with Section 34 of I.P.C- held, that the complicated questions of facts cannot be determined in the proceedings relating to quashing of FIR – the document and the evidence show that there are sufficient grounds to proceed for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 336, 337, 427 read with Section 34 of I.P.C- petition dismissed.

Title: Kuldeep son of late Sh. Ram Lal Vs. State of HP and others Page-834

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- The revisionist was convicted for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 447, 427, 504 and 506 of I.P.C – an application has been filed for seeking composition of the offence in view of the compromise between the parties – since, the matter has been compromised, therefore, permission granted and the accused acquitted.

Title: Babu Ram Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-801

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 498- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Section 498-A and 406 read with Section 34 of Indian Penal Code – the matter has been compromised between the parties- hence, the prayer was made for quashing the proceedings- held that criminal proceedings can be quashed to meet ends of justice - where the Court is satisfied that parties have settled the dispute amicably, FIR, complaint and subsequent proceedings can be quashed – petition allowed -FIR and subsequent proceedings quashed.

Title: Jagdish Chand and others Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another Page-556 Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226 - A lease was granted in favour of the petitioner – the petitioner approached the respondents for renewal of lease – respondents renewed the lease for part of the land – the petitioner failed to get the lease renewed – proceedings were initiated under H.P. Public Premises and Land (Eviction and Rent Recovery) Act, 1971, which resulted in eviction of petitioner – appeal was dismissed – a writ petition was filed in which a liberty was granted to initiate the fresh proceedings – fresh proceedings resulted in the eviction of the petitioner – an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- matter was remanded to the Appellate Court in the writ petition- writ petitioner contended that arguments were not marshaled and appreciated by the Appellate Court- held, that Appellate Court had properly appreciated the matter – the petitioner had failed to get the lease renewed and he was in unauthorized possession- the writ Court can only interfere if Appellate Court has wrongly appreciated the facts and evidence or the judgment is illegal - the Appellate Court had thrashed all the facts and the judgment cannot be said to be illegal- appeal dismissed.

Title: Prem Prakash Gupta Vs. State of HP and others Page-759

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Land of the petitioner was used for the construction of the road without acquisition - assurance was made to acquire the land but no steps were taken for acquisition – the respondent stated that the road was constructed on the persistent demand of the Villagers- it was denied that any objection was raised by the petitioner – held, that the road was constructed in the year 1991 - no document was placed on record to show that the land was donated by the petitioner or that there was implied consent of the petitioner – the petition allowed – respondent directed to pay admissible compensation to the petitioner.

Title: Khuri Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another Page-1274

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner submitted a tender, which was the lowest – however, work was not allotted to the petitioner – the petitioner filed the present petition – held, that the petitioner was found to be lowest tenderer – the petitioner had submitted experience certificate along with PAN and EPF number - a complaint was received against the petitioner that the experience certificate was fictitious and cannot be taken into consideration- the experience certificate shows that the same was not in favor of the petitioner but in the name of K – there was over writing in the same- since the bidder had failed to fulfill the condition of tender notice; hence, a decision was rightly taken to cancel the tender- the Court cannot sit as an expert – writ petition dismissed.

Title: Krishna Sanitation Society Jatroon Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another (D.B.)
Page-1388

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- A decision was taken to house the corporate office under one roof- in view of this decision, writ petition is disposed of with liberty to challenge the same, if so advised.

Title: Court on its own motion Vs. The Chief Secretary and others (D.B.) Page-271

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- A proposal was prepared to notify Ner Chowk Panchayat as Municipal Corporation – objections were invited from the inhabitants who opposed the formation of municipality – a notification was issued declaring the areas of Ner chowk as Municipal Corporation – present writ petition was filed challenging the decision – respondents replied that Nagar Panchayat fulfilled the criteria required for the constitution of new Municipality – the town was a hub of Industrial and Business activities – there was a considerable floating population of workers in the area which required civic amenities- these amenities could only be provided by a Municipality – the procedure prescribed by the law was followed and it was prayed that writ petition be dismissed – held, that allegations of malafides were made against a member of legislative assembly- it was incumbent to implead that person as a party – the proposal fulfilled the criteria laid down in the Act- objections were invited and considered – the proposal was approved by the Cabinet – mere error in the nomenclature by mentioning Nagar Parishad instead of Nagar Panchayat will not invalidate the notification- no record was produced to show that notification was not in a public interest or was issued with some ulterior motive – the Courts are not to interfere with the legislative function unless the decision was not in public interest but was taken with ulterior motive at the behest of some interested persons – petition dismissed.

Title: YudhChand Saklani Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.)
Page-1733

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- A road was constructed by the State under PMGSY – acquisition proceedings were initiated but were allowed to lapse- State on its own took decision to initiate fresh proceedings for acquisition of the land but did not do anything- held, that no person can be deprived of his property save and except by following due process of law- right to property is not only constitutional or statutory right but also a human right- the petition allowed and the respondents directed to initiate proceedings for acquisition of the land.

Title:Balwant Singh & others Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh & others Page-1384

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- A writ petition was filed by the petitioner seeking direction to the University to show the answer sheets/books of the petitioner and the copy of notification of dates of examination – the petition was dismissed – SLP was filed before the Supreme Court, which was also dismissed – a CMP was filed to provide the record kept in the sealed cover –the petitioner was directed to approach the authorities for obtaining the copy of the requisite documents – the petitioner filed the present application pleading that he is not satisfied with the order passed by the authority – held, that the language used by the petitioner is intemperate and contemptuous – the petitioner has attempted to interfere with the due course of judicial proceedings – no licence can be given to the petitioner to commit contempt of Court – however, no action was taken considering the fact that petitioner is a student — further, the writ petition has been disposed of and the Court has become functus officio - no direction can be issued – petition dismissed.

Title: Lalit Narain Mishra Vs. The State of Himachal Pradesh & others (D.B.) Page-1612

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- A writ petition was filed against the setting up of biomedical waste plant pleading that it would affect the environment – a status quo order was passed by the Court- the application was filed to vary the order – held, that Executive Engineer, I & PH had issued NOC subject to the condition that existing/proposed water supply scheme and irrigation scheme shall not be disturbed – 33 conditions were also imposed – held that petitioner had not shown violation of any mandatory requirement of law, whereas, NOCs had been obtained from all the statutory authorities- in case of failure to abide by the conditions, respondent No. 8 would be liable in accordance with law- Application allowed and interim order vacated with liberty to authority to take action for violation of the condition, if any.
Title: ManavKalyanSanstha Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.)
Page-422

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Applications for allotment of Hydel Project were invited – petitioner filed an application for allotment – documents were found to be deficient and the case of the petitioner was rejected – the capacity of the project was enhanced- a request was made to consider the case of the petitioner, which was again rejected – held, that the fact that the documents were not submitted was not disputed – the rejection was also not in dispute – rejection was conveyed in the year 2006, while the writ petition was filed in the year 2015- ample opportunities were given to bring on record the certificate of registration and when the same was not brought on record, the application was rejected – rejection cannot be said to be arbitrary – the Court has limited power to interfere in the contractual matter – it is the domain of the department to prescribe conditions, factors and guidelines – the petitioner has no right to challenge the same, unless these are contrary to basic principles of law- no reason has been brought on record to interfere with the decision- writ petition dismissed.
Title: M/s.GH Hydro Power Ventures Pvt. Ltd. Vs. State of H.P. & Others (D.B.)
Page-77

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Construction work on selected reaches on NH-70 was advertised – two bids were submitted – one was rejected by Tender Evaluation Committee – the Committee decided to cancel the tender process being single tender - the work was re-advertised – six bids were received out of which four were rejected – a complaint was filed regarding concealment of facts by respondent No.5, which was found to be correct on inquiry – another complaint was filed against the petitioner- the tender was again cancelled – the petitioner filed a writ petition challenging the cancellation process- held, that the officer of respondent No.2 was associated at the time of inquiry into complaint made against respondent No.5- he had written a letter subsequently that in case of opening of financial bid, no cognizance will be taken by respondent No.2- this shows lack of coordination between the respondents - the objection of respondent No.5 regarding the fact that technical personnel will not be ready to work with the petitioner is an assumption belied by the documents showing that they had consented to work with the petitioner – petition allowed - letter quashed and set aside - respondents directed to award the work to the petitioner.
Title: Sandeep Chauhan Vs. Union of India and others (D.B.) Page-1631

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Deceased was posted in CRPF – he was found unconscious on his bed and was taken to hospital, where he was declared brought dead due to myocardial infraction- ordinary family pension was sanctioned to his widow- she claimed that her husband had died on account of illness in the snowbound hostile area- cause of death is directly attributable to government service – held, that rules provide that there should be causal connection between the death and the government service – if the disease is contracted because of continued exposure to a hostile work environment, subjected to extreme weather condition or occupational hazards resulting in death or disability, same are to be accepted as attributable to or aggravated by government service – the deceased was serving in insurgency hit area – he had no prior history of chronic heart disease – his death was caused by multiple factors like hostile work environment and extreme weather condition- writ petition allowed and petitioner held entitled to the benefit of extraordinary pension.

Title: Rajni Devi Sharma Vs. Union of India & Others (D.B.) Page-1484

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- DGP was directed to be present in the Court but he did not appear and instead sent ADGP- directions issued to Chief Secretary to ensure that Officers who are required to be present before the Court in terms of the Court's order should remain present.

Title: Court on its own motion Vs. State of H.P. and othersCWPIL No.13 of 2015 (D.B.)
Page-472

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Government issued a notification for opening Government Degree College, which is the subject matter of the writ petition- an application for interim direction was filed, which was allowed and the order was stayed – it was prayed that interim direction be vacated – held, that Government formulates the policy upon number of circumstances based on its resources – it would be dangerous, if the Court is asked to test the utility or beneficial effects of the policy based on the facts set out in affidavit – Court cannot strike down a policy or decision merely because it feels that another decision would have been fairer and more scientific, logical or wiser- the wisdom and advisability are not amenable to judicial review unless the policies are contrary to statutory or constitutional provision or arbitrary or irrational or an abuse of power – the Government has right to frame policy and there is no need to raise any grievance, if the policy is changed- the policy will not be vitiated merely because it has been changed- the Government has discretion to adopt a different policy to make it more effective – the decision to open a new college is not malicious, arbitrary or whimsical – the matter is also pending before Hon'ble Supreme Court of India- the decision to open the college cannot be stayed indefinitely- prayer allowed and the stay order vacated.

Title: Asha Ram and another Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh & others (D.B.)
Page-401

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Government of India introduced ex-servicemen contributory health scheme to provide medicare to ex-servicemen and their dependents- scheme was contributory and the appointment of the staff was contractual- petitioners were appointed on different dates on contractual basis- their services were dispensed with on cessation of the contractual service- the petitioners filed writ petitions against the orders – a division bench dismissed some of the writ petitions while another division bench allowed some of the writ petitions- full bench was constituted to resolve the conflict between the judgments of division benches – held, that the petitioners were not appointed on permanent basis but on contractual basis- once the contract came to an end, the person holding the post can have no right for renewal of contract or continuation as a matter of right- services of a contractual employee cannot be equated with the services of ad hoc employee- the scheme was meant not only to provide medical facilities to the ex-servicemen but to adjust the personnels superannuating from the army for a short period – therefore, the persons who were given appointment cannot claim any right of renewal of the employment after the expiry of contract – the respondents had never represented to the petitioners that their services will continue – writ Court can judicially review the action and determine whether there was any illegality, perversity, unreasonableness, unfairness or irrationality that would vitiate the action- judicial review cannot extend to the Court acting as an Appellate Authority sitting in judgment over the decision- the petitioners have failed to place any material on record to show that the action of the respondents is either unreasonable, unfair, perverse or irrational – petitioners had accepted the terms and conditions of the employment and they cannot claim higher rights ignoring the conditions laid down in the scheme- petitioners have no right to continue beyond the period prescribed in the contract- petitions dismissed.

Title: Pawan Kumar Vs. Union of India and another (F.B.) Page-1181

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Land was allotted in consolidation – aggrieved from the allotment, proceedings were initiated before Consolidation Authority – writ petition was filed against the order passed by Consolidation Authority- held, that the land adjoining to the road is commercial- petitioner is claiming land adjoining to the road – the Consolidation Authorities had not taken commercial nature of the land into consideration while passing the order- writ petition allowed- matter remanded with a direction to re-hear the parties and to decide the same afresh.

Title: Hari Singh Vs. State of H.P. & others Page-419

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- One S, son of C, husband of respondent No.3 and father of respondents No.4 and 5 was engaged as work charged mate by PWD- he had gone by bus to the headquarter and while coming back in a private bus met with an accident- accident report was submitted to the authorities and a copy of the same was sent to the Commissioner- compensation along with interest and penalty was awarded by the Commissioner – in the meantime, claimants filed a petition before MACT, which was allowed –separate review petitions were filed before MACT and Employees Compensation Commissioner – claimants exercised an option to get the compensation from MACT- review petition was dismissed by MACT- held, that once a judgment is pronounced or order is made, a Court, Tribunal or adjudicating authority becomes functus officio – authorities under Workmen Compensation Act and Motor Vehicles Act are exercising statutory power – power of review is not inherent and must be conferred specifically- a claimant can file a claim petition before the Commissioner or MACT but not before both- claimants had not approached the Commissioner for grant of compensation- he started the proceedings after the receipt of the information of accident – claimants had opted to approach the Tribunal for grant of compensation – recording of statement by Commissioner will not make any difference – the insurance company was liable to indemnify the insured and was rightly held liable. (Para-24 to 43)

Title: National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and Ors. (CWP No. 1283 of 2006) Page-667

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Online item rates/bids were invited from contractor for the various works- the petitioner uploaded his bid before due date – he was found to be the lowest bidder but he was not called for negotiation- held, that the financial bid of the petitioner was opened and he was declared lowest bidder – he should have been called for negotiation before calling the second lowest bidder – however, the bid was rejected on the technical ground and the Court cannot substitute its wisdom for technical opinion of the members of the committee – petition dismissed.

Title: Rahul Pandey Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.) Page-764

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner applied for the post of PGT English along with other candidates – respondent No.5 was selected – petitioner claimed that marks were wrongly awarded to respondent No.5 – held, that as per the communication made by Secretary, Gram Panchayat and Revenue Authorities, respondent No.5 is not a permanent resident of patwar circle – 10 marks were wrongly awarded to him- writ petition allowed – appointment of respondent No.5 set aside and respondent/State directed to offer appointment to the petitioner.

Title: Kusum Lata Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others Page-1076

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner applied for the post of drawing master along with other persons- respondent No.6 was selected – petitioner contended that respondent No.6 was not qualified and there were cuttings and over writings in the result sheet- held, that there is no tampering in the result sheet and the marks were awarded as per the notification- two years diploma in Art and Crafts was required – respondent No.6 had obtained the diploma and was eligible – the petitioner had participated in the selection process and could not have challenged the same – writ petition dismissed.

Title: Amit Singh Vs. State of H.P. & others (D.B.) Page-911

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner applied for establishing green house for growing agriculture and horticulture produce – he was to pay Rs.18 lacs and remaining amount of Rs.30 lacs was to be financed by the Bank- he was entitled to subsidy – the petitioner failed to repay the amount and notice under Section 13(2) of Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 was issued – he approached the writ Court, which passed an order for release of subsidy into the account of the petitioner- however, the subsidy was not released – held, that the project was to be implemented within a period of two years – issuance of letter of intent will not enable a person to get the subsidy – subsidy cannot be claimed as a matter of right- the petitioner had failed to furnish the certificate of completion of project and his case was rightly not considered by the respondents- writ petition dismissed.

Title: Partap Singh RauautVs. Union of India & Others (D.B.) Page-989

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner applied for the post of Part Time Water Carrier on the ground that her father had donated land for the construction of the school in the year 1964 – respondent No.3 was selected by the Government under Rule 12 of Recruitment Scheme for the appointment of Part Time Water Carriers – held, that Rule 12 empowers the State to make the appointment on compassionate ground without following the selection process amongst widow, women deserted by their husbands, or otherwise destitute, handicapped persons, if such candidate falls below the poverty line - the petitioner had applied for recruitment under this Rule – the Rule was subsequently quashed but the appointment was made prior to the quashing – respondent No.3 falls within the criteria laid down in Rule 12 and her appointment cannot be said to be bad – writ petition dismissed.

Title: Anjali Devi Vs. State of H.P. & others Page-1351

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner applied for fair price shop – however, the shop was allotted to respondent No. 4- the allotment was challenged – held, that the petitioner had not annexed any documents with the application while the respondent No. 4 had annexed the requisite documents – a person has to approach the Court with clean hands – a person making false statement or suppressing material facts is not entitled to any relief- the petition dismissed with the cost of Rs. 25,000/-.

Title: Vikesh Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.) Page-851

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner challenged the appointment of respondent No.6 as Part Time Water Carrier – petitioner claims that she belongs to an IRDP family and has been included in the National Health Insurance Scheme – she had submitted an application and her name was recommended by Gram Panchayat – however, respondent No.6 was appointed – respondents No.1 to 4 stated that approval was granted for appointment of respondent No.6 as Part Time Water Carrier before the consideration of the case of the petitioner - held, that Rule 12 empowers the State to make the appointment on compassionate ground without following the selection process from amongst widow, women deserted by their husbands, or otherwise destitute, handicapped persons if such candidate falls below the poverty line - the petitioner had applied for recruitment under this Rule – the Rule was subsequently quashed but the appointment was made prior to the quashing- respondent No.6 is a widow and has placed on record BPL certificate – no document establishing the claim of the petitioner was filed – the appointment of respondent No.6 cannot be faulted- writ petition dismissed.

Title: Krishna Devi Vs. State of H.P. &others Page-1074

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner had applied for sanitation tender at Mahatma Gandhi Medical Services Complex, Khaneri Rampur but ineligible firms were declared qualified in the technical bid- the tender was allotted to respondent no.4 despite the fact that it was not fulfilling terms and conditions of the tender documents- respondent no. 1 stated that the tender was allotted to respondent no.4 as it was found to be the lowest bidder - a writ petition was filed earlier, which was dismissed as not maintainable- respondent no.4 raised an objection that petitioner had not participated in the tender and cannot questionthe process – held, that petitioner had not participated in the tender process and has no locus standi to question the same – ESIC no. was wrongly blocked/cancelled by ESIC, which mistake was rectified by ESIC – no case for judicial review was made out—petition dismissed.

Title: Balwinder Singh Vs. The State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.)

Page-1601

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner had filed original application, which was disposed of with the direction to give the appointment of T.G.T. (Arts)- petitioner was appointed in the year 1994- his past services were not counted- he filed another writ petition claiming the benefit of past services- held, that the petitioner is caught by the principle of Order 2 Rule 2 and also by the doctrine of estoppel and res-judicata – the writ Court had rightly held that reliefs cannot be granted to the petitioner, when they were not granted earlier- appeal dismissed.

Title: Hem Raj Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another (D.B.) Page-273

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner had identified project site and completed the work in furtherance of a scheme floated by Government of India – however, a new notification was issued bringing the work to "big zero causing it lot of financial loss of energy and time spent as the entire work would be utilized by some other persons"- held, that the plea of the petitioner that because of its members had applied for allotment of project pursuant to the scheme notified by Government of India, State had no authority to come with the amended policy and the projects have to be allotted to its members as a matter of right is without any merit- no material was placed on record to show that sites were got inspected with the consent of Government of Himachal Pradesh- issuance of policy was the domain of the State Government and Union of India has no role in this process- scheme floated by Government of India did not confer any indefeasible right upon the members of association for allotment of the project – no holding out was made that the site selected by the members of the association would be allotted to the petitioner- simply because a pre-feasibility report has been prepared will not confer any right upon the person to get the project – public largesses should be disbursed in a transparent manner by providing an opportunity to all eligible members to participate in the process- mere disappointment of expectation cannot be a ground for interfering with the policy of the State – the legal status of the association was not established – directions issued. (Para-11 to 21)

Title: All Himachal Micro Hydel (100 KW) NGOS and Societies Association through its President Sh. Varinder Thakur Vs. State of H.P. through Principal Secretary, Non-Conventional Energy Sources-cum-Secretary Power, Government of H.P. and others (D.B.) Page-856

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner had taken loans- loan accounts were declared NPA- notice was issued – proceedings were initiated under Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Asset and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (SARFAESI) Act- possession of the factory land, building, plants, machinery, raw material and finished stocks was taken – held, that the petitioner had not approached the appropriate authority after issuance of the notice- the jurisdiction of the Court is barred under Section 13(2) of SARFAESI Act- the aggrieved person has to approach Debt Recovery Tribunal for the redressal of his grievance – a complete machinery has been provided under the Act- writ Court has no jurisdiction when the matter is covered under SARFAESI Act- writ petition dismissed.

Title: M/s.Bharat Healthcare Limited and Anr. Vs. Authorized Officer, Punjab National Bank & Others (D.B.) Page-51

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner is a registered dealer for manufacturing and trading of drugs and medicines – the petitioner has set up a factory for manufacturing drugs at Baddi – a notice was issued to the petitioner – penalty of Rs.84,44,838/- was imposed – an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- the matter was carried before H.P. Tax Tribunal, which set aside the orders passed by Assessing and Appellate Authority but imposed a cost of Rs. 20 lacs for the reason that petitioner could not be permitted to take the benefit of technicalities of law and wrong committed by the Assessing Authority- held, that statutory Tribunals must function within their bound and their decisions should not be arbitrary, fanciful or based on irrelevant consideration- fiscal statute must be strictly interpreted – there is no equity in tax matter – once it was concluded that the orders passed by Assessing and Appellate Authority were not sustainable in the eyes of law, costs could not have been imposed- the purpose of imposing cost is to indemnify the party for the expenses incurred – writ petition allowed and the order passed by the Tribunal set aside.

Title: M/s. Dr. Reddy's Laboratories Ltd. Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another (D.B.) Page-1399

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner is aggrieved by the construction of National Highway passing through its land – it was pleaded that there is continuous threat to the life of the people and the building premises due to the construction – respondent pleaded that some part of the land of the petitioner was utilized believing it to be part of acquired land, which error has been rectified -the damaged boundary wall would be restored – the walls would be constructed as per the requirement- continuous mandamus cannot be issued – no grievance was raised regarding the deficiency in the remedial measures- the fact that remedial measures were not to the liking or to complete satisfaction of the petitioner cannot be ground to initiate contempt proceedings- the petitioner had purchased the land despite the knowledge of the construction of National Highway – petition dismissed.

Title: Shivalik Agro Poly Products Ltd. Vs. Union of India and others (D.B.) Page-713

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner is the sole surviving daughter of late J, who belonged to ST category – the petitioner performed marriage with the non-tribal – the application for grant of tribal certificate was rejected – aggrieved from the rejection, present writ petition has been filed – held, that in case of inter caste marriage or marriage between a tribal and non-tribal person, the status of children is a question of fact – there can be a presumption that children have the status of the father but the presumption is rebuttable – the children had received middle and higher education at Chamba – they had not suffered the disabilities suffered by other members of the scheduled tribe- the application was rightly rejected- appeal dismissed.

Title: Sreshta Devi Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.) Page-1303

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner joined the services of the department as daily waged beldar – he was engaged as a pipe fitter – his case was considered for regularization and he was appointed as a work charge beldar – he joined under protest and filed original application before the Tribunal – a direction was issued to appoint the petitioner to the post of work charge pipe fitter – a corrigendum was issued and the designation of the petitioner was shown as fitter – the petitioner filed an original application claiming the time scale on seniority basis – the application was transferred to the High Court and was dismissed – held in appeal that the petitioner was directed to be appointed as pipe fitter in the lowest grade with the scale of work charge beldarby the Tribunal – the corrigendum was issued in terms of the direction- the petitioner should have filed a review petition or an appeal, if he was not satisfied with the direction issued by the Tribunal- he cannot claim that he should have been appointed as a daily waged pipe fitter with the time scale – appeal dismissed.

Title: Bhuri Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.) Page-1603

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner No. 1 is an educational trust having established a senior secondary public school and is also running B.Ed. college- it had applied to introduce diploma in elementary education- permission was rejected- writ petition was filed, in which a direction was issued – affiliation was not granted- it was contended that all the conditions were met and despite that the permission was not granted – respondents stated that the land is on private lease basis, which is in contravention of the regulation - a complaint was received against the petitioner – held, that the complaint could not have been made basis for rejecting the approval – no inquiry was conducted – copy of complaint was not supplied to the petitioners and opportunity of hearing was not given to them- other institutes were granted 6 months' time to get the land transferred in their names- it was a case of hostile discrimination – even Appellate Authority had granted time of six months to get the land transferred – it was not permissible for the respondents to sit over the orders passed by the Appellate Authority- the petitioners have been compelled to approach the Court repeatedly- petition allowed- permission granted subject to transfer of the land within a period of four weeks.

Title: Shimla Educational Society Trust and Anr. Vs. National Council for Teachers Education &Anr.(D.B.) Page-445

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner No.1 is an unaided private college established by petitioner No.3 and is a constituent of petitioner No.2- essentiality certificate was issued in favour of the petitioner No.3 by the State Government after which the college was established- Medical Council of India granted letter of intent to petitioner No.3 to open the medical college with certain conditions – State Government notified the procedure for admission and fee structure – State Government issued a notification amending Himachal Pradesh Private Medical Educational Institution (Regulation of Admissions and Fixation of Fee) Act, 2006 – amendment was challenged by the petitioner on the ground of competence of the State Government to carry out the amendments – held, that the Medical College has to apply for permission and to submit consent of affiliation from a recognized University – once recognition is granted, College is required to take affiliation from University – recognition and affiliation are distinct and their purposes are different – role of MCI is confined to recognition whereas affiliation is left to the State Government or the examining University- Himachal Pradesh University Act, 1970 is the parent statute under which all the Universities in the State have to be constituted – the petitioners can have no right to claim that it will be affiliated to the University of its choice – writ petition dismissed.

Title: Maharishi Markandeshwar Medical College and Hospital and others Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.) Page-1616

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner No.2 was owner in possession of the land, which was acquired for Chamera Hydro Electric Project Stage-I- he was given compensation and was granted employment as per re-settlement and rehabilitation Scheme- some other land was acquired for the reservoir of Chamera-2- name of petitioner No.1, son of petitioner No.2 was sponsored for employment- however, the employment was not provided – held, that rehabilitation and re-settlement schemes are different for Chamera-1 and Chamera-2 project – schemes provide for employment of the family member of the oustee – names of the petitioners are recorded in the parivar register showing them to be the member of the same family – it was not permissible for the respondent No.6 to ignore the entry unilaterally – the land was purchased prior to the notification under Section 4 and the petitioners fulfill the criteria laid down in the scheme – writ petition allowed – respondents directed to provide the benefits as per the scheme.

Title: Praveen Singh and another Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others
Page-694

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner participated in tender process for the supply of tools and equipments for vocational laboratories/workshop – petitioner was recommended for grant of contract by Tender Evaluation Committee- however, the tender process was cancelled- respondent pleaded that complaints were received regarding discrepancies in the tendering process- hence, a decision was taken to cancel the whole process- held, that it was not disputed that the petitioner was the lowest tenderer – tender was cancelled on the ground of discrepancies and the shortcomings – all purchases beyondRs.50 lacs were to be carried out by e-tender but in the present case this procedure was not adopted – there was no infirmity in the cancellation of the tender – Court can interfere in the tender or contractual matter only when the process adopted or the decision taken is malafide or intended to favour some persons – no such circumstances were established in the present case- writ petition dismissed.
Title: M/s Quality Industries Corporation Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another (D.B.)
Page-1330

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner was appointed as anganwari worker – she was absorbed as Supervisor - she claimed the benefit of the service rendered by her asanaganwari worker for pensionary benefits - held, that appointment of the petitioner as anganwari worker is not against any civil post and cannot be counted towards the pensionary benefits- petition dismissed.
Title: Madhu Tomar Vs. State of H.P. and another Page-1155

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner was appointed as Imam -he submitted his resignation reserving his right to continue as voluntary Imam and to keep the residential accommodation allotted to him -his resignation was accepted on 31.7.2003 -it was resolved to discontinue voluntary Imamat of the writ petitioner and all the facilities -a civil suit was filed for the recovery of possession and use and occupation charges, which was decreed -regular first appeal was filed, which was dismissed - a writ petition was filed for quashing the resolution - various other Civil revisions and Civil Miscellaneous Petitions (CMPMO) were also filed against various orders passed by Wakf Tribunal - all these petitions were taken for decision together-it was held, that Section 6 and 7 of the Wakf Act, 1995 provide for determination of certain disputes regarding wakf property only by Wakf Tribunal -sub Section 9 of Section 83 of the Act provides that no appeal shall lie against any decision or order whether interim or otherwise, passed by the Tribunal established under the Act - still the RFA and Writ Petitions are being filed and entertained by the Court -remedy of revision has been provided by the Act - since revision lies against the order; therefore, writ petition is not maintainable - it was further held that sections 6 and 7 of the Act do not cover the dispute of eviction relating to the immovable property, which is admittedly a Wakf property - such disputes are triable by the Civil Courts - writ petitions and RFAs dismissed as not maintainable - direction issued to treat CMPMO as civil revision.
Title: Mumtaz Ahmed Vs. State of H.P. and others Page-581

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner was engaged as drawing master – she was subsequently asked not to come on the duty - respondent stated that the permission to fill up the post was withdrawn by respondent No.3 as no criteria was approved by the Government for distribution of marks- held, that the petitioner has scored maximum marks in the interview and her selection was not challenged – action of the respondent of not allowing the petitioner to work is arbitrary- writ petition allowed and respondent directed to permit the petitioner to work.
Title: Babita Vs. State of H.P. & others Page-1586

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner, a cooperative society filed a writ petition seeking quashing of inspection note and the office order issued on the basis of the inspection note – held, that revisional power has been given to the State Government under Section 94 of H.P. Cooperative Societies Act, 1968, where there is no provision of appeal – the petitioner can approach the competent authority for the redressal of his grievances – the alternative and efficacious remedy is available to the petitioner – petitioner is required to pursue that remedy and not to invoke the writ jurisdiction of the High Court- petition dismissed as not maintainable.

Title: The Tiara Co-operative Agriculture Service Society Ltd. Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.) Page-1644

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners are employees of respondent No.1- petitioners claimed that EPF contribution is payable to them in accordance with H.P. University Act, 1970, various statutes, ordinances and regulations as the college is affiliated to H.P. University – held, that as per the ordinance, every college or institute seeking affiliation with the University is required to satisfy the condition laid down in the statute – respondents No.1 and 2 had restricted the contribution to the one prescribed under EPF and MP, 1952, which is not permissible as ordinance has a force of law- no college can take a decision contrary to the provisions of H.P. University Act and Ordinances, Regulations and Statutes – the scheme framed by the Central Government does not prohibit the applicability of any other regulation or the scheme – petition allowed and respondents No.1 and 2 directed to contribute the provident fund in accordance with the Non-Government Affiliated College Teachers Contributory Provident Fund Rules.

Title: Ajay Kumar Sud and others Vs. St. Bede's College and others Page-1249

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners had been continuously representing to the Government to construct link road- they also donated their lands by executing gift deeds – no objection certificates were issued by various authorities – family of Pardhan objected to the construction of the road- a notification was issued by the Government proposing to acquire the land for the construction of the road through different village – representations were filed but in vain - respondents stated that two factions of the villagers want the road to be constructed from different areas – it would not be proper to construct the road from the place specified by the petitioners- held, that the Government has issued the instructions that road would be constructed only if the land is donated by the Villagers – Government can deviate from the instructions on the basis of valid reasons – the decision to construct road from different place was taken to save the trees from being axed, which is in the larger public interest – family of Pardhan was not arrayed as party and no order can be passed without hearing them- the Court cannot examine the correctness of the decision, unless, it is arbitrary or contrary to the statute – the petition has been filed to satisfy the ego and not in the larger public interest- petition dismissed.

Title: Shiv Singh and others Vs. State of H.P. and others (D.B.) Page-266

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners had done B.Sc. Medical Lab Technology from respondent No.4 – it was mentioned in the prospectus and the notice that students would be eligible for obtaining degree in B.Sc. in para medical – petitioners approached respondent No.2 for registration of their names as medical Lab Technologists, however, respondent No.2 refused to enter their names on the basis that petitioners had not done higher secondary in science stream and they are ineligible for registration- the petitioners had done B.Sc. after fully understanding the fact that they would be registered with respondent No.2- hence, direction issued to respondent No.1 to issue appropriate guidelines –respondent No.2 directed to consider the case of the petitioners in accordance with the guidelines.

Title: Neelam Sharma & another Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh & others Page-563

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners made applications for grant of GNM and B.Sc. (Nursing) at Rohru and Tanda– the approval was granted in favour of respondent No.2- held, that no uniform yardstick was applied while carrying out the inspection- the authorities directed to carry out fresh inspection in terms of guidelines after affording opportunity of being heard to all the applicants.

Title: Jyoti Education Welfare Society Vs. State of H.P. & another (D.B.) Page-980

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners were appointed as Inspectors Grade-I – a notification was issued on 1.6.1996 merging 147 posts of Inspector Grade-II in the cadre of Inspector Grade-I- the petitioners challenged the tentative seniority list – the writ petition was dismissed on the ground that petitioners were not in service on the date of integration of cadres and had no locus standi to challenge the same- held in appeal that cadres were merged w.e.f. 1.7.1995 but in view of pendency of litigation notification of mergers could be given effect on 9.3.1999 and 17.3.1999 – the date of merger was modified by Administrative Tribunal as 1.8.1995 – a working formula was evolved before the High Court, which was accepted – Rules do not prohibit the merger of the cadres – the petitioner were appointed subsequent to the issuance of notification – retrospective seniority cannot be given to the employees from the date when they were not borne in the cadre- seniority needs to be counted against promotion/appointment from the date of issuance of order of substantive appointment – mere pendency of litigation will not assist the petitioner- merging of cadres is a matter of policy- writ petition dismissed.

Title: Rajesh Jaswal and others Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others (D.B.)

Page-1353

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners were appointed as beldar/plant observers – they were promoted to the post of Field Assistants - post of Field Assistants was merged with the post of horticulture Sub-Inspector by the State Government – petitioners claimed the pay scale of Horticulture Sub-Inspector on the basis of this notification – University claimed that it had its own ordinance and was not bound by the notification issued by the State Government- writ Court held that the University had framed its own recruitment and promotion Rules and had not taken any decision to merge the posts and dismissed the writ petition- held, that University has its own pay scale- no decision was taken to merge the post of Field Assistant with Horticulture Sub-Inspector – therefore, the petitioners cannot claim the pay scale of Horticulture Sub-Inspector – appeal dismissed.

Title: Shankar Lal and others Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another (D.B.)

Page-1523

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners were working in the health and family welfare department as Computers and Junior statistical Assistants- there was parity with the computers and field investigators in economic and statistical department which was disturbed in the year 1994- representations were made and rejected – a writ petition was filed, which was allowed – respondents were directed to restore the parity- held, that there cannot be a strait jacket formula to hold that two posts having same or similar nomenclature should have same pay scale – merely because two posts have same name does not lead to any inference that posts are identical in every manner – this exercise can be carried out by the pay commission – the job profile and recruitment rules for the posts in two departments are different – principle of equal pay for equal work is applicable only when it is shown that the incumbents in the two posts discharge similar duties and responsibilities – the petitioners had failed to prove this fact- the writ petition was wrongly allowed- appeal allowed and judgment of writ Court set aside.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh &Ors.Vs. Amar Chand Thakur & Ors.(D.B.)

Page-720

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Respondent No. 3 permitted to hire accommodation for hostel purposes instead of creating own permanent built up structure – Chief Secretary directed to file a consolidated status report and to take appropriate action from time to time.

Title: Bhawan Avam Sannirman Kamgar Sangh (Regd.) Vs. State of HP and others (D.B.) Page-1260

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Respondents 1 to 12 sought a direction to promote them to the post of technical superintendent – the claim was opposed on the ground that diploma obtained by the respondents is through distance learning and for one year - degree in dairy technology/dairy husbandry or diploma in dairy technology/dairy husbandry is required under Rules – the Tribunal allowed the application - held, that respondents possess essential qualification of five years regular service on the post- they had obtained diploma in dairy technology from IGNOU – once diploma has been awarded by IGNOU, it is not open for the federation to say that the same is not equivalent to the diploma of two years awarded by other institutions – the genuineness of the diploma has not been disputed by any authority- the petition is without any merit and the same is dismissed.

Title: The Himachal Pradesh State Cooperative Milk Producers Federation Limited Vs. Surinder Kumar and others (D.B.) Page-604

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Revision petition has been dismissed by a non-speaking order- no findings were recorded on the grounds raised in the revision petition- recording of reasons is necessary, in case of a decision affecting anyone prejudicially – the order set aside and case remanded to the revisional Court for afresh decision.

Title: Budhi Singh Vs. State of H.P. and others Page-1128

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Securitization & Reconstruction of Financial Assets & Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002- Section 13- Notice was issued under Section 13 of the SRFAESI Act –a writ petition was filed challenging the notice- held, that no representation or reply was filed to the notice – the possession was taken over by the bank and the property was ultimately sold – the remedy under Section 17 lies before Debt Recovery Tribunal – the Writ petition is not maintainable in view of alternative and efficacious remedy available to the petitioner- petition dismissed.

Title: Bachittar Singh Vs. Central Bank of India and others Page-743

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Tampering was noticed by Flying Squad of H.P.S.E.B. – criminal proceedings were initiated and electricity connection was disconnected - ombudsman decided the dispute – aggrieved from the order, present writ petition has been filed – held, that ombudsman had decided the dispute only on the basis of acquittal recorded by Criminal Court, which is not correct- no other reason was given by the ombudsman – writ petition allowed and the case remanded to ombudsman for a fresh decision.

Title: Himachal Pradesh State Electricity Board, through its Secretary, Vidyut Bhawan, Shimla, H.P.Vs. M/s Virendra Hotels and Allied Hotels Pvt. Ltd. &anr. Page-1223

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- The delimitation process for ZilaParishadTikkar Ward was concluded on 20.8.2015 – petitioner raised objections and delimitation was set aside – a direction was issued to complete the delimitation process in accordance with Rule 9 of H.P. Panchayati Raj (Election) Rules, 1994 – model code of conduct came into force in the meantime – the final order of delimitation was passed – writ petitions were filed, which were dismissed as infructuous – the order passed by Deputy Commissioner completing the process of delimitation was challenged and the appeal was allowed- writ petition was filed challenging the order of election petition and the notification – held, that democracy is a basic feature of the Constitution-a specific procedure has been prescribed under the Rules and there is no possibility of deviating from the same – the procedure prescribed under the Rules is mandatory and has to be scrupulously followed – proposal regarding delimitation was required to be forwarded to the offices of ZilaParishad, Panchayat Samiti and Gram Panchayat for inviting objections – proposals were to be affixed on the notice board by the Secretaries of respective ZilaParishad, Panchayat Samiti and Gram Panchayat in the presence of two independent witnesses- no such exercise was undertaken – the language of the objections was same – Deputy Commissioner recorded the joint statements of the objectors – objections were not decided specifically – non-consideration of relevant material would make the order perverse and the Court has power to interfere with the same in exercise of judicial review – the authority is bound to given reasons in support of the objections - the order passed by Deputy Commissioner set aside- final order of delimitation also quashed and set aside.

Title: Dr. Sushant Deshta Vs. State of H.P. and others Page-1494

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- The trucks owned by the petitioners were ordered to be delisted by H.P. Ex-servicemen Corporation – a writ petition was filed by one B before High Court in which it was found that a few persons were permitted to attach more than one truck – the Court issued various directions – the judgment was accepted and bye-laws were amended – a special leave petition was filed before the Supreme Court, which was dismissed- show cause notices were issued to various persons – separate writ petitions were filed against the notices, which were permitted to be withdrawn – representations were filed, which were rejected- held, that the prayers made in the present petition have already been considered and rejected earlier- amendments were carried out in the bye-laws on the basis of the directions issued by the Court – writ petitioners have no right to seek attachment after the issuance of the direction- writ petition dismissed.

Title: Vinod KumarVs. State of H.P. and others Page-1374

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- The workman pleaded that he was not allowed to complete 240 days in the calendar years except 1997 and 1998- his services were disengaged without following the procedure under Industrial Disputes Act – employer contended that the workman was engaged subject to availability of the work and funds – the Tribunal held the workman entitled to re-engagement as fitter Grade-II and issued direction to re-engage him after giving the benefit of seniority and continuity of service – held, that the workmen was engaged as daily wage fitter where he continued to work till 2000, when his services were dis-engaged- State had failed to adhere to the principle of 'last come first go' because two persons junior to the workman were retained - the Tribunal had rightly issued the direction of re-engagement – writ dismissed. (Para-9 to 19)

Title: The State of H.P. and another Vs. Parveen Kumar Page-207

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Writ petitioner appeared in the teacher eligibility test – the answer key was circulated and objections were invited – the result was declared, keeping in view the report of the expert – the petitioner was declared to be unsuccessful – she challenged the report of the expert- held, that the Courts cannot substitute the expert opinion – the decision of deleting defective/wrong questions and allotting marks on pro-rata basis is legal- the objections were examined by the experts – mistakes were found and thereafter the result was declared – the Court has to respect the opinion of the experts – writ petition dismissed.

Title: Lalita Devi Vs. State of H.P. and another (D.B.) Page-1476

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Writ petitioner No.2 was appointed as anganwari worker – respondent No.5 questioned her appointment and sought cancellation of income certificate – it was found on inquiry that the income shown in the certificate was incorrect and the income certificate was cancelled – appeal was filed, which was dismissed- a writ petition was filed, which was also dismissed- held in appeal that the question of facts determined by the authority cannot be questioned in the writ petition unless it is shown that the findings recorded are perverse or are based on no evidence or inadmissible evidence – the authorities had thrashed all the facts – the orders are well reasoned and legal, which cannot be said to be erroneous, perverse or suffering from non-application of mind – writ petition was rightly dismissed- appeal dismissed.

Title: Amar Nath and another Vs. State of H.P. and others (D.B.) Page-1256

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Writ Petitioner remained absent and the petition should have been dismissed in default but the Writ Court granted the petition without hearing the petitioner – further, the appointment was quashed after recording the findings that experience certificate does not seem to be genuine- however, no inquiry was conducted to ascertain the facts- hence, appeal allowed, order passed by Writ Court set aside and Case remanded to Administrative Tribunal for a fresh decision.

Title: Uttam Singh Vs. Tej Ram and others (D.B.) Page- 270

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Writ petitioners were regularized as hostel attendants vide different office orders- they claimed that they were discharging the duties of higher post of Hostel Assistants and are entitled to the pay of the same– University had proposed the upgradation of the post but the proposal was returned by the Comptroller - the writ petition was allowed by the Writ Court holding that the University had proposed the upgradation of the post which strengthens the claim of the writ petitioners- held in appeal that University had 11 hostels and only four persons are occupying posts of regular Hostel Assistants – writ Court had rightly held that the writ petitioners are looking after the work of Hostel Assistants – the judgment was based upon correct appreciation of fact and law- however, the petitioners are entitled to the arrears for the period of three years prior to filing of writ petition.

Title: Dr. Y.S. Parmar University of Horticulture and Forestry, Nauni Vs. Satish Chand (D.B.)
Page-1647

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Writ-respondent No. 2 purchased the land vide two sale deeds – mutation was attested in his presence- subsequently an application for the correction of the revenue record was filed pleading that the possession was not correctly recorded – the application was rejected – appeal and revision were dismissed- a second revision was filed, which was allowed- writ court set aside the order passed in the revision petition- held in the appeal that the revisional powers are to be exercised with great care and caution- the revisional authority has to examine the orders on the touch stone of legality and not on the question of facts, unless it is found that orders are perverse and factually incorrect – the revisional Court cannot re-appreciate the evidence and set aside the concurrent findings of the facts, unless the findings are perverse or there has been a non-appreciation or non-consideration of material on record- the revisional power cannot be equated with the power to re-appreciate the evidence- mutation was attested in the presence of respondent No. 2- he had not questioned the findings – the delay was also not explained, which should have been considered- the remedy was to file a civil suit before the Court – Writ Court had rightly passed the judgment – appeal dismissed.

Title: Charan Dass deceased through LRs Vs. Subhadra Devi and others (D.B.)
Page-746

Contempt of Courts Act, 1971- Section 12- It was pleaded that the Court had directed the respondents to consider the case of the petitioner for placement as S.P.- respondents stated that they had adopted sealed cover procedure and had complied with the directions – held, that the respondents were directed to consider the case of the petitioner for placement as S.P. and release all consequential benefits - the respondents are in breach – they are directed to comply with the directions and report compliance.

Title: Mahinder Singh Vs. PrabodhSaxena and another (D.B.) Page- 1324

'E'

Employees Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was a conductor in a truck- he died in an accident- compensation of Rs.9,05,520/- was awarded – held in appeal that the monthly wages of the workmen have to be taken as Rs.4,000/- in view of the statutory provisions – the Commissioner had wrongly taken the income as Rs.8,000/- - after deducting 50% amount and taking the factor as 225.22, compensation of Rs.4,50,440/- (2000 x 225.22) awarded- along with interest @ 12% per annum.

Title: United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Teji Devi & others Page-1319

Employees Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was a driver in a truck – he died in the accident of the truck – compensation of Rs.4,42,740/- was awarded along with interest- held in appeal that the owner had not specifically denied that deceased was employed by him as a driver – it was asserted in the examination-in-chief by the applicant that deceased was working as driver and his wages were Rs.6,000/- per month – respondent No.1 also admitted that deceased was working as a driver and his wages were Rs.5,000/- per month – the fact that the driver was the brother of the owner will not make the case suspect – the provision of Code of Civil Procedure and Evidence Act are not applicable to the proceedings under Workmen Compensation Act – the deceased was having a valid driving licence to drive the vehicle – appeal dismissed.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. HimaVati& another Page-1589

Employees Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was employed as a driver and died in a motor vehicle accident during the course of his employment – a claim petition was filed which was dismissed by the Commissioner for want of proof that the deceased was discharging his duties at the time of accident – held in appeal that the owner had specifically stated that the deceased was employed by him as a driver - it was also proved that he was discharging his duties at the time of accident -a claim petition was filed before MACT which was dismissed- hence, penalty of Rs.1 lac imposed upon the employer.

Title: Devi Dass & others Vs. Prem Chand &another Page-1217

Employees Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was employed as driver- he died during the course of his duties- compensation of Rs.9,97,000/- was awarded by the Commissionerwith interest @12% per annum - funeral expenses of Rs.40,000/- were also awarded- held in appeal that it was not disputed that deceased was driver and he had died during the course of his employment – Commissioner had taken the salary as Rs.10,000/- - the claimant had pleaded that deceased was drawing salary of Rs.7,000/- per month and Rs.120/- per day as daily allowance –compensation of Rs.80,000/- in lump sum is to be awarded when the actual income is not proved – since, in the present case the actual income was proved – therefore, compensation could not have been restricted to Rs.80,000/- in lump sum- Rs.40,000/- could not have been awarded towards funeral expenses in absence of any statutory provisions – interest was payable on the compensation amount after one month of the accident – appeal partly allowed.

Title: United India Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. KhemLata and others Page-941

Employees Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was employed as a driver in a tractor – he died in an accident involving tractor – a claim petition was filed – Commissioner awarded compensation of Rs.2,03,850/- with interest @ 12% per annum- held in appeal that tractor falls within the definition of light motor vehicle (LMV) –however, it will become commercial vehicle when trolley is attached to it and goods are being carried in the same – the tractor was carrying sand and grit and was being used as a transport vehicle – the accident occurred on 2.6.2000- the licence was valid till 23.10.1997 and no application for renewal was received – there was no valid licence with the driver – the insurer was wrongly saddled with liability – appeal allowed and liability fastened upon the insurer.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Vs. Kushla Devi &ors. Page-1226

Employees Compensation Act, 1923- Section 12- Deceased was an employee of the contractor- H.P. Housing Board was principal employer- principal employer has to pay compensation at the first instance and it is at liberty to recover the same from the contractor – appeal allowed and order modified accordingly.

Title: H.P. Housing and Urban Development Authority Vs. Giani Devi & others

Page-1136

'H'

H.P. Motor Vehicles Taxation Act, 1972- Section 3- Petitioner had purchased different construction equipment vehicles- respondents have imposed tax on them – the petitioner filed a writ petition pleading that construction equipment vehicles do not fall within the definition of motor vehicle- held, that machinery like excavator, loader, dumpers have been included as construction equipment vehicle and have been termed as non-transport vehicle- therefore, there cannot be any exemption regarding the imposition of tax – petition dismissed.

Title: M/s Italian-Thai Development Public Company Ltd. Vs. State of HP & Others (D.B.)

Page-1289

H.P. Town and Country Planning Act, 1977- Section 31(5)- The mother of the petitioner applied seeking planning permission for the construction of commercial building – no intimation was received and the sanction is deemed to have been granted – however, a notice was issued to which a reply was sent – a writ petition was filed, which was disposed of with a direction to pass a speaking order- a detailed order was passed and the appeal was rejected against which a present writ petition has been filed- held, that if no decision is conveyed on the application for reconstruction, sanction is deemed to have been given – documents show that the plan submitted by the mother of the petitioner was not complete and sanction could not have been granted- the case for construction of three storeyed commercial building over existing single storey plus parking was rejected on the ground that proposal falls in the banned area of Shimla and proposed construction would obstruct vision and cause congestion - petitioner failed to reply to the observations made by the respondent and no decision could be taken on the plan- the period of 6 months cannot be counted from the date of submission of original application- the dispute regarding the receipt of the documents cannot be looked in exercise of the writ jurisdiction- petition dismissed.

Title: Surinder Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others Page-531

H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987- Section 14- An eviction petition was filed on the ground that the tenant is in arrears of rent, premises is in dangerous condition and may collapse at any time, the same is required bona-fide for re-construction, which cannot be carried out without vacating the building - the premises, is required bona-fide for personal use and the same is required for being demolished at the instance of Municipal Committee, Palampur- the petition was allowed by Rent Controller on the ground of non-payment of arrears of rent- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in revision that Rent Controller had recorded that issue No. 3 was not pressed, however, the Statement of Counsel was not recorded to this effect – Appellate Court held that premises is commercial in nature and cannot be vacated for non-occupation- however, the law was amended during the pendency of the proceedings and this ground became available to the landlord – Revision allowed and the case remanded to the Appellate Authority to decide the same afresh in accordance with law.

Title: Khem Chand son of Shri Jagdish Chand Vs. Kuldeep Chand son of Shri Khem Chand

Page-392

H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987- Section 14- An eviction petition was filed on the grounds of arrears of rent and subletting- the petition was allowed on the grounds of arrears of rent but was dismissed on the ground of subletting- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in revision that relationship of lessor and lessee is to be proved to establish subletting – necessary ingredients to establish subletting were not proved – alleged sub- tenant is the real brother of the tenant who is assisting the tenant in business- this will not fall within the definition of sub-tenant – no official from Sale Tax Office or Labour Department was examined to prove subletting – the petition was rightly dismissed regarding subletting – revision dismissed.

Title: B.R.Sammi son of late Sh Sohan Lal Vs. Narinder Singh son of Niranjan Singh

Page-409

H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987- Section 14- Landlady filed an eviction petition on the ground that tenant had ceased to occupy the premises – eviction petition was dismissed by the Rent Controller – an appeal was filed and the Appellate Authority remanded the case for afresh decision after framing additional issues – held in revision Appellate Authority can make an inquiry either itself or through the Rent Controller – there is no power of remand with the Appellate Authority – revision allowed and the case remanded to the Appellate Authority for afresh decision.

Title: Madan Mohan son of Shri Kailash Chand Vs. Pushpa Devi wife of Shri Amar Chand

Page-1457

Himachal Pradesh Panchayati Raj (Election) Rules, 1994- Rule 96- An election petition was filed by respondent No.3 against the election of respondent No.4 and 5 – the same was listed for announcement of the order when it was withdrawn without issuing notice to any person – held, that the election petition could have been withdrawn by following the procedure laid down in the rules – notice should have been given to the parties after fixing the date of hearing, which is mandatory – there was no application of mind while permitting the withdrawal of the election petition- however, considering the fact that the term of the person whose election was challenged has expired, no order of restoration passed.

Title: Banshi Ram Chauhan Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others Page-614

Himachal Pradesh Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972- Section 118- An agreement for sale was executed between plaintiff and defendant No.1 through defendant No.2 – plaintiff is a non-agriculturist and cannot purchase the land without prior permission of the State Government – defendants promised to get the permission but failed to do so- plaintiff sought the refund of the earnest money, but the money was not refunded – hence, the suit was filed – the suit was decreed by the trial Court – held in appeal that it is not disputed that sale deed was not executed – plaintiff is a non-agriculturist and permission under Section 118 of the Act was not granted in favour of the plaintiff- the vendor had failed to provide the documents for getting the permission under Section 118 of the Act- the suit was rightly decreed by the trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Rishi Kumar Kapila Vs.Surinder Kumar Sharda (since died) through his LRs and another

Page-837

Himachal Pradesh Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972- Section 65 and 118- Petitioner executed an agreement to sell the land and put one J in possession – inquiry was conducted and it was found that there was violation of Section 118 of the Act- proceedings were initiated, which resulted in confiscation of the land along with the building in favour of the State- an appeal was filed before Divisional Commissioner, which was dismissed – appeal and revision were dismissed – held, that transfer of land by way of sale, gift, will, exchange, lease, mortgage with possession, creation of tenancy or in any other manner is not valid in favour of a person, who is not an agriculturist - there was no bar of transfer by way of an agreement and this bar was created in the year 1994 by amending the Act- the agreement was executed in the year 1990 – the amendment Act is not retrospective- the order passed by the authorities cannot be sustained- petition allowed.

Title: Geeta Devi Vs. State of H.P. & Another Page-90

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 13- Husband pleaded that wife had left her matrimonial home two months after giving birth to a child – she refused to accompany her husband despite requests to do so – she had abandoned the company of the husband without any reasonable cause – wife pleaded that husband had re-married during the subsistence of the marriage- four children were born to the husband from the marriage – husband had turned the wife out of the matrimonial home at the instance of the second wife – the petition was dismissed by the Trial Court- held in appeal that husband had failed to prove the cruelty, rather it was proved that husband had treated the wife with cruelty – documents established the second marriage of the husband – wife has a reason to live separately from the husband as no lady would reside with another lady – the trial Court had properly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed.

Title: Bhagat Ram Vs. Kanta Devi Page-131

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 13- The marriage between the parties was solemnized on 4.12.1994 – two children were born- the husband assaulted the wife causing her injuries – she was residing with her parents – husband had not made any efforts to take her to matrimonial home- the petition was dismissed by the Trial Court- held in appeal that it was duly proved that husband had subjected the wife to physical cruelty – he had not made any efforts to bring the wife from her parental home- this proved the desertion on the part of the husband – the marital ties had broken down irretrievably – petition allowed and the marriage between the parties ordered to be dissolved.

Title: Anjana Devi Vs. Manjit Singh Page-968

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 13- The marriage between the parties was solemnized according to Hindu Rites and Custom- two children were born from the wedlock – husband was posted as a captain in the army – the wife used to leave her matrimonial home on arrival of the husband and used to reside with her parents – wife left matrimonial home without any reasonable cause and did not join despite efforts- the wife pleaded that she was thrown out of her matrimonial home after her parents failed to fulfill the demand of dowry – the husband used to beat the children – the petition was dismissed by the Court- held in appeal that the wife had left her matrimonial home without any reasonable cause and had not returned despite the efforts made by the husband – the relationship between the parties had irretrievably broken down - the wife is not willing to join the company of the husband – therefore, appeal allowed and the marriage between the parties ordered to be dissolved.

Title: Col. Pawan Kumar Sharma Vs. BhavnaSharma Page-134

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 13- The marriage between the parties was solemnized in the year 1997 – the wife used to leave her matrimonial home and reside in her parental home – the wife is totally incapacitated from performing sexual intercourse due to structural defect – the petition was dismissed by the Trial Court- held in appeal that husband admitted that wife had resided with him for 8 years – the version that the husband found the medical prescription slip was also not established – the petition was rightly dismissed by the Trial Court- appeal dismissed

Title: Dharam Prakash Vs. NeelaDevi Page-803

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 25- Petitioner had applied for a decree of judicial separation – the parties agreed to dissolve their marriage by a decree of customary divorce – maintenance of Rs.450/- per month was awarded- petition for enhancement was filed, which was dismissed on the ground that maintenance amount was mutually settled by the parties and there was no provision for enhancement – held in appeal that agreement regarding the receipt of Rs.450/- per month as maintenance will not create estoppel to debar the petitioner from seeking enhancement of the amount of alimony in the changed circumstances- husband admitted that his salary was Rs.3,300/- per month when he had agreed to pay Rs.450/- as maintenance -he further admitted that his salary was Rs.16,000/- per month at the time of retirement – his total salary was Rs.23,204/- per month as per salary certificate – husband is getting handsome amount from pension – hence, maintenance enhanced to Rs.2,500/- per month.
Title: Kubja Devi Vs. Ishwar Dass Page-983

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 5- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that she was entitled to family pension being the legally wedded wife of the deceased- deceased had taken customary divorce from his first wife and had performed the Gandharav marriage and had thereafter solemnized Brahm marriage – the defendants denied the marriage between the plaintiff and the deceased – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that it was admitted that the deceased had a spouse living at the time of marriage with the plaintiff – any marriage performed during the subsistence of valid marriage is void and will not confer any right upon the second wife – custom was neither pleaded nor proved – hence, the plea of customary divorce is not acceptable - nomination will not alter the succession- appeal dismissed.
Title: Kamla Devi Vs. Union of India and others Page-826

'I'

Income Tax Act, 1961- Section 147 and 148- Petitioner filed a return showing the income from salary and house property- a notice was issued by the Income Tax Authorities – the petitioner filed a fresh return – proceedings were initiated against the petitioner under Section 147 of the Act- a survey was conducted with respect to the affairs of V and it was found that he had given loan to the petitioner, which was held to be unexplained credit in the hands of the petitioner- the petitioner filed a reply stating that the amount was re-paid with interest – the notice was the result of non-application of mind and there was no dispute regarding the identity of the person, genuineness of the transaction or creditworthiness of the loaner- held in the writ petition that the objections were rejected by the Assessing Officer – Assessing Officer must have reason to believe that any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for any assessment year and if the income is understated by the assessee, it shall be deemed to be an income chargeable to tax – the original return was not subjected to assessment – however, the Assessing Officer is not precluded to re-open assessment on the basis of his finding of fact so made on the basis of fresh material so discovered in the course of assessment of next assessment year – it is not disputed that investigations were conducted against V and it was found that loan was advanced to the petitioner and his family members – the petitioner and family members admitted the receipt of money in response to the notice- the order rejecting objection was not cryptic – the objections were considered and rejected – the action is not ex-facie illegal – it is not a case of lack of jurisdiction – the Writ Court is not a fact finding authority- writ petition dismissed.
Title: Virbhadra Singh Vs. Deputy Commissioner, Circle Shimla, Income Tax Office & others (D.B.) Page-1714

Income Tax Act, 1961- Section 147 and 148- Petitioner filed a return showing the income from rent, salary and interest from deposits- a notice was issued by the Income Tax Authorities – the petitioner tried to explain the source of investment as being agricultural income from Hindu undivided family- proceedings were initiated against the petitioner under Section 147 of the Act- held in the writ petition that the assessing Officer must have reason to believe that any income chargeable to tax has escaped assessment for any assessment year and if the income is understated by the assessee, it shall be deemed to be an income chargeable to tax – the original return was not subjected to assessment – however, the Assessing Officer is not precluded to re-open assessment on the basis of his finding of fact so made on the basis of fresh material so discovered in the course of assessment of next assessment year –the order rejecting objections was not cryptic – the objections were considered and rejected – the action is not ex-facie illegal – it is not a case of lack of jurisdiction – the Writ Court is not a fact finding authority- writ petition dismissed.

Title: Pratibha Singh Vs. Deputy Commissioner, Circle Shimla, Income Tax Office & another (D.B.) Page-1685

Indian Forest Act, 1927- Section 41 and 42- Himachal Pradesh Forest Produce Transit (Land Routes) Rules, 1978- Rule 20- Accused were found transporting 37 wooden frames of different sizes without any valid permit – accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- the Court can interfere in exercise of revisional jurisdiction only if the findings are perverse, untenable in law, grossly erroneous, glaringly unreasonable or where the decision is based on no material or where the material facts are wholly ignored or where judicial discretion is exercised arbitrarily or capriciously- the prosecution case was for non- cognizable offence- however, police conducted investigations without an order of the Magistrate – Courts below failed to appreciate that police officer could not have investigated the case against the accused in absence of the order of the Magistrate and entire proceedings were vitiated – further, there was no reference in the notice of accusation to the Rule 20 of H.P. Produce Transit (Land Routes) Rules, 1978 and the same was defective- revision allowed and the accused acquitted.

Title: Fateh Singh and others Vs. State of H.P. Page-875

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 304-A- Accused was driving a scooter in a rash and negligent manner- scooter hit L causing her death - accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed and accused was convicted – aggrieved from the order, the present revision has been filed-held in revision that Court can interfere in exercise of revisional power only if the findings are perverse, untenable in law, grossly erroneous, glaringly unreasonable or where the decision is based on no material or where the material facts are wholly ignored or where the judicial discretion is exercised arbitrarily or capriciously – the deceased was aged 80 years and was hard of hearing – the statement of the informant was contradictory - the place of accident was almost mid-way between the side of the road and centre of the road, which shows that deceased was walking on the main road- the place of accident was a national highway, which was frequented by many vehicles – the conclusion of the trial Court that prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt was a reasonable conclusion and should not have been set aside merely because another view was possible- revision allowed and judgment of Appellate Court set aside.

Title: Mukesh Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-506

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 304-A- Accused was driving a bus in a rash and negligent manner and caused death of B – he was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that P was a passenger in the bus- she was getting down from the bus, when the bus was started by the accused – all the eye witnesses except PW-8 resiled from their earlier testimonies – record shows that P had tried to get down the bus at a place, which was not a bus stop- thus, the prosecution version that the bus was stopped and thereafter started suddenly is doubtful- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal PradeshVs.Ashwani Kumar Page-376

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 304-A- Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 181- Accused was driving a motorcycle and hit A, who died in the hospital – the accident had taken place due to rash and negligent driving of the accused – he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in revision that post mortem report shows that cause of death was head injury leading to subdural haematoma, which could have been caused by striking with the motorcycle – PW-1 proved that motorcycle was being driven in high speed and on inappropriate side – his testimony was not shaken in cross-examination- the prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt and accused was rightly convicted – revision dismissed.

Title: Karam Chand Vs. State of H.P. Page- 128

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 337- Accused was driving the car rashly and negligently, which hit the informant causing injuries to her – accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in appeal that the medical evidence does not establish the prosecution version – material witness was not examined – the Appellate Court had rightly acquitted the accused, in these circumstances - appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P.Vs. Khem Chand Page-456

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 337- HRTC bus and a private bus were in competition- the accused was driving the private bus in a rash and negligent manner and hit HRTC bus – the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the rashness and negligence should be more than carelessness or error of judgment – prosecution is required to prove that the act on the part of the accused was responsible for the accident - PW-9 did not state that accused was driving the bus in a rash and negligent manner- PW-11 stated in cross-examination that accident had taken place due to the breakage of patta (leaf) of the bus – the prosecution case was contradictory and vague – the accused was rightly acquitted- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. MohinderSingh Page-947

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 337- Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 187- Accused was driving a vehicle in a rash and negligent manner- the vehicle hit the informant and caused injuries to him- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that testimonies of the prosecution witnesses corroborated each other – medical evidence also corroborated their version – the identity of the accused was also established – minor contradictions in the testimonies of witnesses are not sufficient to doubt them- appeal allowed- accused convicted of the commission of offences punishable under Sections 279 and 337 of I.P.C. and 187 of M.V. Act.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Ashwani Kumar Page-1433

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 506 – Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 181, 184 and 196- Accused was driving a scooter in a rash and negligent manner- he drove the scooter upon the informant by taking it to the wrong side - when the accused was called to stop the scooter, he abused the informant and B, an intervenor- the accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, that PW-1 and PW-4 had feigned ignorance regarding the identity of the accused and the registration number plate – police station was at a distance of 15 meters from the place of incident- however, investigating officer visited the site of the occurrence after one day - the site plan prepared by him cannot be relied upon - the Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Ashwani Kumar Page-473

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279, 337 and 338- Accused N was the conductor of the bus while accused A was the driver of the bus – the conductor did not take precaution to close the door of the bus and the driver drove the bus in a high speed – the driver applied the brakes abruptly- L, who was standing near the door was thrown out of the bus and fell down – the accused were tried and convicted by the trial Court- separate appeals were preferred, which were dismissed- held in revision that eye witnesses had consistently deposed that accident had taken place due to sudden application of brakes and not due to the closing of the door of the bus – the defence version that L was repeatedly opening the door of the bus despite requests not to do so was not established – the prosecution case was proved beyond reasonable doubt in these circumstances and the accused were rightly convicted – the High Court cannot interfere with the findings of facts in exercise of revisional jurisdiction unless, there is an error on point of law – no such error was shown – however, considering the time elapsed since the incident, sentence modified.

Title: Amar Dev Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-609

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279, 337 and 338- Accused was driving a van in a rash and negligent manner- Van hit the informant and caused him injuries – the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the informant had suddenly appeared before the vehicle - the contents of the FIR were not readover and explained to the informant – one prosecution witness had not supported the prosecution version- the accused was rightly acquitted by the Trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Balvinder Kumar Page-1235

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279, 337 and 338- Accused was driving the bus in a rash and negligent manner- bus rolled down in a gorge and the passengers sustained injuries – accused was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in revision that accident was not disputed – it was also not disputed that the accused was driving the bus – only one witness had supported the prosecution version – he admitted in cross-examination that it took about 50-55 minutes for the bus to cover the distance of 12 kilometers, which shows that bus was being driven in a normal speed- rash and negligence driving was not proved, in these circumstances- the accused was wrongly convicted by the Courts- appeal allowed- judgments of the trial Court and Appellate Court set aside and accused acquitted.

Title: Hemant Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-1267

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279, 337 and 338- Accused was driving a Trolla, which crushed the right foot of the informant – the accident had taken place due to the negligence of the accused- the accused was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed – held, that as per the prosecution case the informant was hit from the rear – she should have sustained injuries on the back but no injury was found on her back – the defence version that the informant was in the process of alighting from the stair case is made probable by the testimony of PW-1 – the prosecution version was not proved, in these circumstances and Sessions Judge had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Ravinder Kumar Page-477

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279, 337 and 338- Accused was driving Swaraj Majda – he hit his vehicle against the bus due to which occupants of the bus sustained injuries- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial court- held in appeal that the prosecution witnesses deposed that the Swaraj Majda was heavily loaded and was being driven at a slow speed- it was moving upward- the Bus on the other hand was being driven with the high speed and on the inappropriate side of the road- the prosecution version was not proved, in these circumstances – appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Kheera Mani Page-475

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279, 337, 338 and 304-A- Accused was driving a truck in a rash and negligent manner- Truck went off the road and fell into the gorge - the occupants sustained injuries and some of them died – the accused was tried and convicted by the Trial court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, that accused has not disputed the accident or the fact that he was driving the truck – the material prosecution witnesses turned hostile – the truck was carrying 80-90 peoples, which by itself is an act of negligence especially when the truck is not meant to carry the passengers – benefit of Probation of Offenders Act cannot be granted in a case of rash and negligent driving- however, keeping in view the time elapsed since the incident, sentence modified.

Title: KalimudeenVs. State of H.P Page-1015

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 292- IndianCopy Right Act, 1957- Section 68-A- Accused was found in possession of pornographic VCDs –he was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in revision that seizure memo contains FIR number along with the sections under which the FIR was registered in the same ink, same pen, same flow and same handwriting as the remaining contents - FIR number has also been mentioned in the statements of the witnesses recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. – these documents were prepared prior to sending of ruqua and it was not possible to record the FIR number at that time – this falsifies the version of the prosecution and makes it difficult to rely upon the statements of official witnesses especially when independent witnesses have turned hostile – further independent witnesses were not associated from the locality and were taken by the I.O. with him – there was no compliance of Section 65-B of Indian Evidence Act- appeal allowed – judgment of Trial Court and Appellate Court set aside.

Title: Subhash Chand Vs. State of H.P. Page-1815

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302 and 201- A dead body was found on which FIR was registered – it was found on investigation that accused had consumed liquor with the deceased and had murdered him- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that PW-1 (brother of the deceased) had not suspected the involvement of the accused and had stated that deceased was crushed under the vehicle by someone – motive for crime was also not established – K was present in the company of the deceased – the disclosure statement was not made in the presence of independent witnesses- the deceased was heavily intoxicated and possibility of sustaining injuries under the influence of alcohol cannot be ruled out- report of FSL did not connect the accused with the commission of crime- chain of circumstances does not lead to the guilt of the accused- accused was rightly acquitted by the Trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Narender Kumar (D.B.) Page-1469

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302 and 392 read with Section 34- An information was received that a woman had been stabbed by some unknown persons – dead body of woman was found – her husband reported that two persons had injured the woman and had stolen the cash lying in the cash box – the accused were arrested- recoveries were effected on the basis of disclosure statements made by them- the accused were tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that the evidence of the witnesses cannot be discarded on the ground that they are related to each other, if their testimonies are found to be truthful and reliable - the presence of the accused was established by the statements of the witnesses- all the witnesses to the incident are not to be examined – mere failure to conduct test identification parade will not result in the acquittal- minor discrepancies need not be given undue importance- the accused had given beatings to PW-6 and had snatched his mobile – mobile was sold to PW-21- testimony of hostile witness cannot be discarded on the ground that he has turned hostile – the prosecution case was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused were rightly convicted- appeal dismissed.

Title: Gaurav Rana Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page- 317

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302- Deceased was married to the accused- two children were born – accused killed the deceased – he was tried and convicted by the Trial Court – held in appeal that daughter of the accused had witnessed the incident – the weapon of offence was got recovered by the accused – blood stains were found on the same – medical evidence showed that the injuries could have been caused with the weapon of offence- it was duly proved that there was altercation between the accused and the deceased after which the accused had killed the deceased – the oral and circumstantial evidence proved the guilt of the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: Rakesh Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (D.B.) Page-1841

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302 read with Section 34- Accused murdered A – they were convicted for the commission of offence punishable under Section 304(II) of I.P.C – held in appeal that the eye-witness had not disclosed the incident to the police at the first opportunity – the testimony of eye-witness was contradicted by other witnesses –persons who took the deceased to the hospital were not examined – the incident had taken place during the darkness and it was difficult to identify the assailants- recovery of clothes did not establish the prosecution version as blood stains on the clothes were not connected to the deceased – the prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal allowed and accused acquitted.

Title: Aniln Katoch & another Vs. State of H.P. (D.B.) Page-1002

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 306 and 498-A- Deceased was married to the accused – one daughter was born – the accused started beating the deceased under the influence of liquor- she complained that her husband used to beat her and he had also tried to kill her – she committed suicide by consuming poison- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court - held in appeal that marriage of the deceased with the accused was not disputed – it was also not disputed that deceased had consumed poison – the allegations made by the deceased are nothing but normal wear and tear of normal married life – they do not amount to such willful conduct, which would have driven the deceased to commit suicide – the instances of maltreatment and cruelty pertain to 1-2 years prior to the commission of suicide – there is no evidence that deceased was subjected to cruelty prior to commission of suicide – the Trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Labh Singh (D.B.) Page-1809

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 323, 325 and 506 read with Section 34- Informant was in her house with her son – the accused came and made inquiry from the informant about her son- accused pulled the arm of the shirt worn by the informant and tore it from arm and neck – son of the informant came, who was beaten by the accused along with other co-accused – the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the presence of accused K and A was not disputed in the cross-examination –the grievous hurt was not established as x-ray was not connected to the MLC- recovery of the torn short was proved, which corroborated the prosecution version - no person had deposed about the role of J- hence, he was rightly acquitted-appeal partly allowed and accused A and K convicted of the commission of offences punishable under Sections 451, 323 and 506 read with Section 34 of I.P.C.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Ashok Kumar and others Page-1040

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 324 and 506- Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- Section 4-The prosecutrix went for grinding maize along with her brother – accused came and gave money to the brother of the prosecutrix to bring some sweets from the shop - when he refused, the accused slapped him on which brother of the accused went to the shop while crying -the accused bolted the door of the Gharat and raped the prosecutrix – the accused threatened to do away with the life of the prosecutrix – the accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that the prosecutrix was proved to be aged 13 years at the time of incident – prosecutrix and her parents had not supported the prosecution version – her statement was recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C in which she had narrated the incident – the medical evidence also supported the prosecution version – the prosecution case was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused was rightly convicted- appeal dismissed.

Title: Des Raj @ Raj Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-314

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 324, 325 and 341 read with Section 34- Informant along with P was attending the marriage - when they were coming out of the hotel, 5-6 boys who were drunk started abusing them – P inquired as to why they were abusing on which they starting beating P- informant tried to rescue P on which he was beaten - R was identified at the spot- R was convicted while other accused were acquitted- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, that medical evidence proved that informant had sustained grievous injuries – mere fact that independent witnesses had not supported the prosecution version is not sufficient to discard the same- PW-3 had supported the prosecution version, which was duly corroborated by his previous statement – the recovery memo of weapon of offence was also proved - Appellate Court had wrongly acquitted the accused- appeal allowed – judgment of Appellate Court set aside and that of the trial Court restored.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Rajesh Kumar @ Bati Page-290

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 336 and 304-A- Accused were posted as linemen and junior engineer- they were entrusted with a duty to maintain 33 KV Rohtang- Keylong electricity line – one wire of the line fell on the vehicle due to which two persons got electrocuted – the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that prosecution evidence does not establish that accused had failed to rectify the fault despite knowledge rather it is established that accused were maintaining the tower and line efficiently – maintenance register was also not produced before the Court and an adverse inference has to be drawn – the trial Court had rightly appreciated the evidence – appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Piar Chand & another Page-626

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341,323 and 325 readwith Section 34- Accused B gave blow of chain on the nose of the informant due to which he suffered injuries on his eyes- accused S caught hold of the informant from his neck- the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court – held in appeal that PW-1 had improved upon his previous version- the person who had rescued the informant from the accused was not examined – there are contradictions in the testimony of PW-3- the blood on the clothes was not connected to the informant – the Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Sant Ram & another Page-1119

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 323, 326, 504 and 506- Wife of the accused knocked at the door of the informant saying that accused was beating her -when the informant and his wife went to the house of the accused, the accused abused them- he inflicted a blow withdanda on her head – the accused inflicted a blow by darat on the left wrist of the informant – the accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in revision that parties were in litigation for 18-19 years – all the material witnesses had turned hostile – the defence version was rejected without any justification- there are material contradictions in the testimonies of the witnesses- there was insufficient evidence to prove the prosecution case- revision allowed and accused acquitted.

Title: Lal Chand Vs. State of HP Page-1026

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 323, 506 and 376 read with Section 511- Prosecutrix was going home from School after appearing in examination – the accused caught her, dragged her inside a maize field and started kissing her – he put his hand on the string of her salwar- prosecutrix raised hue and cry on which PW-7 arrived at the spot- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that there is discrepancy in the name of the accused- prosecutrix mentioned that she was restrained by B, son of N, whereas, the name of the accused is P, son of H - prosecutrix admitted in cross-examination that the name of the boy who assaulted her was not known to her – the photographs of the spot do not corroborate the prosecution version- the age of the prosecutrix was not properly proved – the Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Paramjeet Singh @ Bangu (D.B.) Page-379

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 325, 323 and 506read with Section 34- Accused restrained the informant and caused simple and grievous hurt to her and simple hurt to her daughter- the accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that informant admitted the pendency of the Civil litigation - PW-2confined the incriminatory role to accused T only –PW-3 improved upon his version – the prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt - appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Tej Ram & others Page-186

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 353 and 332- Informant was posted as a clerk in Rural Hospital, Chowari and accused was posted as staff nurse in the same hospital- the accused gave beating to the informant while he was discharging his duties – the accused was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was partly allowed and the sentence was modified – held in revision that cross complaints were filed by the accused and the informant against each other – both the parties were convicted by the trial Court- however, the informant was acquitted by the Appellate Court – statements of witnesses show that accused was asking for certain papers belonging to her – no person stated that accused had prevented the informant from discharging his duties – it was not proved that intention of the accused was to deter the informant from discharging the duties – the judgment passed by the Court set aside and the accused acquitted.

Title: Bharti Rana Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-950

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 353 and 333 read with Section 34- Accused assaulted and used criminal force to deter the informant posted as AddaIncharge, HRTC from discharging his duties - they were convicted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the genesis of the occurrence is change of route of bus- it can be believed that accused being Pardhan of Gram Panchayat may have questioned working of HRTC functionary – the accused P had also sustained injuries- the possibility of informant and other staff members being assailants cannot be ruled out- there is contradiction regarding the name of accused who inflicted injuries – the witnesses had contradicted themselves regarding other aspects of prosecution case – appeal allowed and accused acquitted.

Title: Punnu Ram &ors. Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-1429

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 363, 366 and 376(I)- Prosecutrix was studying in class 8th – she had gone to school with her sister – the accused took the prosecutrix away forcibly on a bike – the matter was reported to police- the father of the accused produced the prosecutrix and the accused in the police Station- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the Medical Officer issued MLC stating that prosecutrix was habitual of sexual intercourse and it was not possible to assess the time of first sexual intercourse- no injury was found on the body of the prosecutrix – father of the prosecutrix was not examined as a witness – the prosecutrix and accused had travelled in a taxi – no complaint was made to the taxi driver – the prosecutrix had not made any efforts to resist and to raise alarm when she was taken from the school – prosecutrix had not complained to any person regarding her kidnapping – prosecutrix was not proved to be a minor – her radiological age was found to be between 15½ - 19 years – the prosecutrix was a consenting party and the accused was rightly acquitted by the Trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Ram Chander (D.B.) Page-895

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 363, 366-A, 376, 506 and 120-B- Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- Section 4- Prosecutrix was taken to Beas and thereafter to Baba Bakala – she was subjected to sexual intercourse by accused No.1 without her consent – accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the age of the prosecutrix was stated to be below 16 years – reliance was placed on the parivar register but the parivar register is not a legal or acceptable piece of evidence to determine the age of person – it was not proved at whose instance the entries were recorded in the register on the basis of which birth certificate was issued – the prosecutrixwas admitted in the school at the age of 6 years – she had failed twice or thrice – she was studying in class 10th at the time of incident- therefore, she was aged (10+6+2/3) =18-19 years at the time of incident- the prosecutrix had accompanied the accused voluntarily and had stayed without lodging any protest –the prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt – accused were rightly acquitted by the Trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Rajeev Kumar and others (D.B.) Page-996

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 363, 376, 342 and 506- Accused kidnapped the minor prosecutrix from the lawful guardianship of her parents and she was taken to a hotel, where she was subjected to sexual intercourse- she was threatened by the accused- the accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that the prosecutrix was 18 years and 8 months old at the time of making the application – the school certificate is not admissible because no evidence was led to prove the source on the basis of which the date of the birth of the prosecutrix was recorded – the entries in the parivar register are not primary evidence regarding the birth of the person- it was admitted that there were over writing and cutting in the birth register, which makes it difficult to rely upon the entries in the same – the person at whose instance the entries were recorded was not produced in evidence – the radiological age of the prosecutrix was 15½ to 17 years which could be 3-4 years more or less on either side – the prosecutrix admitted that she used to talk with the accused for 15 minutes to 1 hour, this shows that prosecutrix and accused were acquainted with each other – she was taken from Solan to Deonghat in a broad day light – she had not raised any hue and cry, which shows that she was a consenting party – on other occasion also she had not raised hue and cry, although the incident had taken place in thickly populated area- prosecution case was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused was rightly acquitted- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Vijay Kumar (D.B.) Page-479

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Accused had subjected the prosecutrix to sexual assault – the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that testimony of the prosecutrix if found credible does not require any corroboration - the Court may look for corroboration in case of child witness to satisfy its conscience – Court should have no hesitation in accepting the testimony of the prosecutrix – minor discrepancy or variation in the statement of witness will not be fatal, whereas, contradiction will be – the prosecutrix was minor on the date of incident- the accused was on visiting terms with the family of the prosecutrix and is a close relative – the father of the prosecutrix was not at home and the accused had visited the house of the prosecutrix to spend the night – the prosecutrix supported the prosecution version – her credit was not impeached in cross-examination- absence of blood, rashes, sperms or bruises on the vital part of the prosecutrix is not sufficient to disbelieve her testimony – her version was corroborated by her mother – the matter was reported to police immediately- the prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the Trial Court had wrongly acquitted the accused- appeal allowed- accused convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 376 of I.P.C.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Nanha(D.B.) Page-1238

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Prosecutrix was grazing her goats in a jungle- juvenile came and raped her – he was tried and acquitted by Juvenile Justice Board- held in appeal that the prosecutrix had stated that she had no knowledge about the identity of the person – eye witness did not corroborate the testimony of the prosecutrix- in these circumstances, juvenile was rightly acquitted – revision dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Sandeep Kumar Page-308

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 379 read with Section 34- Accused were found in possession of small pieces of aluminum wire, 6 blades, two hacksaw blades, bundle of aluminum wire and small pieces of ladder – they failed to account for the same- informant filed an application stating that one ladder was stolen – he identified the ladder as his own – the accused were tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed and the accused were acquitted – held in appeal that the copy of seizure memo was not supplied to the accused- testimony of PW-8 was contrary to the contents of the seizure memo- the theft was reported by the informant after delay for which no explanation was given - the Appellate Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Kishori Lal & another Page-1116

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 379 read with Section 34- Indian Forest Act, 1927- Section 41 and 42- A nakka was laid and a Tractor carrying 20 quintals fuel wood of different specis was recovered- no permit for transporting the same was produced – it was found on investigation that fuel wood was stolen from khasra No.326 – the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that PW-11 and PW-13 had made contradictory statements regarding place of recovery – no disclosure statement was made prior to the discovery of the place from where the recovery was effected – the prosecution case was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused were rightly acquitted by the trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Parveen Kumar and another Page-459

Indian Penal code, 1860- Section 409, 420, 467, 46 and 471- PW-7 had invested a sum of Rs. 40,000/- for a period of three years in TD Account and entrusted this amount to the accused who was posted as Branch Post Manager (BPM)- PW-7 produced the pass-book before PW-1 who found on verification that pass-book was issued against vague and fictitious amount- no opening form was filled nor any receipt was issued – the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that PW-7 had not supported the prosecution version regarding entrustment of money to the accused in the month of July, 2002- he did not support the prosecution version that pass-book was handed over by the accused to him- the specimen handwriting was obtained during the investigation and not during the trial – therefore, the same is not admissible – the Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Devi Lal (D.B.) Page-310

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 420- Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988- Section 13(d)(ii)- The land belonging to accused No. 4 and D (since deceased) relatives of accused No. 3 got washed away – they applied for grant of two Biswas of land – accused No. 3 was posted as patwari/nautor clerk and he got manipulated a false report from accused No. 1 and 2 – two Biswas of land was allotted in favour of accused No. 4 and D -subsequently order was reviewed and FIR was registered- the accused No. 4 was convicted while other accused were acquitted- held in appeal that accused No. 4 had not prepared any document or report – he was not a recommending authority – recommendations were made by the Competent Authority on the basis of reports prepared by accused No. 1 and 2- PW-13 had made an improvement in her statement- recommending authority was Tehsildar a Gazetted Officer who remains uninfluenced by the fact that accused No. 4 and D were close relatives of accused No. 3 – sanctioning authority was Deputy Commissioner who had applied his mind prior to the sanction of nautor – no person had deposed that accused No. 3 had influenced the sanctioning of the land – the Trial Court had wrongly convicted the accused- appeal allowed – judgment of the Trial Court set aside.

Title: Pavinder Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-620

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 436 and 427- Informant was watching television – he heard murmuring of the persons on the backside – he came out and saw G and accused T – informant went inside – his wife came and noticed that cow shed was put on fire – domestic bitch died in the fire – the accused was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the witnesses had improved upon their versions making their testimonies doubtful – G was not cited as a witness and adverse inference has to be drawn against the prosecution- the prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the Court had wrongly convicted the accused- appeal allowed- judgment passed by the Trial Court set aside.

Title: Tej Singh Vs. State of H.P. Page-1447

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 447, 323, 342, 506-II and 367 read with Section 34- Complainant had given the contract of construction of his house to the accused S- the accused had used his shuttering material as well as the material of the complainant- the accused started carrying the shuttering material of the complainant to which the complainant objected- accused M and J arrived at the spot- all the accused gave beatings to the complainant- complaint and charge-sheet were filed before the Court – the accused were tried and acquitted of the commission of offences punishable under Sections 447, 342, 506 and 367 read with Section 34 of I.P.C but were convicted and sentenced to pay Rs.1,000/- each as fine for the commission of offence punishable under Section 323 of I.P.C- held in appeal that testimonies of the witnesses only lead to the conclusion that some scuffle had taken place between the complainant and the accused S – subsequently, accused J and accused M joined the scuffle – it was not explained as to who was the aggressor – simple injuries were found on the person of the complainant, whereas, no such injuries were found on the person of accused – however, it was duly proved that the accused had administered beatings to the complainant- hence, the accused were rightly convicted by the trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Dinesh Chander Sharma Vs. Swaran Singh and others (D.B.) Page-1123

Indian penal Code, 1860- Section 451, 352 and 506 read with Section 34- Informant had gone to attend a local fair, where she was abused by the accused- the accused gave beatings to her on her return- the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that testimony of the informant is corroborated by PW-2 and PW-3- there is nothing in their cross-examination to show that they were making incorrect statements – delay in reporting the matter was satisfactorily explained- appeal allowed- accused convicted of the commission of offences punishable under Sections 451, 352 and 506 read with Section 34 of I.P.C.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Suman Sharma and others Page-965

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 457 and 380- Petitioner was convicted and sentenced by the trial Court- an application was filed for taking a lenient view in sentencing the petitioner – sentence was reduced by Learned Additional Sessions Judge- held, that Additional Sessions Judge duly considered mitigating circumstances and had reduced the sentence- no ground for further reduction is made out- benefit of Probation of Offenders Act cannot be granted as the same is not applicable, in view of the fact that maximum sentence is more than seven years- revision dismissed.

Title: Manju @ Maju Vs. State of H.P. Page-72

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 457 and 380- Petitioner was convicted and sentenced by the trial Court- an application was filed for taking a lenient view in sentencing the petitioner – sentence was reduced by Learned Additional Sessions Judge- held, that Additional Sessions Judge duly considered mitigating circumstances and had reduced the sentence- no ground for further reduction is made out- benefit of Probation of Offenders Act cannot be granted as the same is not applicable, in view of the fact that maximum sentence is more than seven years- revision dismissed.

Tiitle: Satnam @ TituVs.State of H.P. Page-74

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306 read with Section 34- Deceased was married to the accused No.1- accused No.2 was mother-in-law of the deceased – the accused started maltreating the deceased for bringing insufficient dowry – they used to beat the deceased – the deceased committed suicide by consuming poison – the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that PW-1 admitted in cross-examination that accused had not demanded dowry at the time of marriage or till the death of deceased- statement of PW-4 is general in nature and no specific instance was given by her- material witness was not examined- the complaint stated to have been written by the deceased was suspicious – the FIR was lodged after three years and no explanation for the same was provided – the prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused were rightly acquitted by the Trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Ajay Kumar & Another (D.B.) Page-1658

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306 read with Section 34- Deceased was married to the accused- she committed suicide by consuming poison- her father lodged a report with the police stating that the accused were harassing her without any reason, which led to her suicide – the accused were tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that father of the deceased has not narrated about the nature of ill-treatment – PW-2 improved upon her version – the deceased had visited her parental home with her husband and had not stated anything about the ill-treatment – the Trial Court had not properly appreciated the evidence – appeal allowed and accused acquitted.

Title: Chaman Lal and others Vs. State of H.P. Page- 157

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 307- The marriage between the deceased and accused No. 1 was solemnized in the year 2007 –accused used to harass her for not bringing sufficient dowry – accused No. 1 pushed her in the well – the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the testimonies of prosecution witnesses are contradicting each other – PW-1 to PW-4 are closely related to each other - the Trial Court had recorded the finding of the acquittal after taking into consideration all the facts- the view taken by the Trial Court was a reasonable view- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Firoj Khan and another (D.B.) Page-844

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 506- Informant was married to the accused- the accused demanded Rs.4 lacs and gave her beatings- the accused threatened to throw her in Pandoh dam, in case of non-payment of dowry– the accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, that the marriage was not disputed- informant had not disclosed the beatings to any person- medical examination was not conducted to corroborate her version – material witnesses were not examined- the accused was rightly acquitted by the Appellate Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Sukh Dev Page-398

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 500- A criminal case was instituted against the petitioner, which resulted in his acquittal – an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- the petitioner filed a complaint for defamation on the basis of news items – Magistrate ordered the summoning of the accused- a revision was preferred, which was allowed and the summoning order was set aside – held in revision that a period of three years has been prescribed for filing the complaint for the commission of offence punishable under Section 500- present complaint was filed after more than three years – defamation is not a continuing wrong – the petitioner has also instituted a suit for malicious prosecution – the complaint to the police is privileged and no action lies on the same – the Magistrate had wrongly summoned the accused and the order was rightly set aside by the Additional Sessions Judge- revision dismissed.

Title: Dr. Dev Raj Vs. Sandhya Sharma Page-188

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiff claimed that she is legally wedded wife of P who died without executing any Will- the Will set up by the defendant is forged and fictitious document - the defendant pleaded that the plaintiff had taken divorce from the deceased and had contracted second marriage- he had executed a Will on being satisfied by the services rendered by the defendant – the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held in second appeal that plaintiff has not disputed the execution of the Will but has pleaded the same to be the result of fraud and undue influence – no specific particulars of fraud or undue influence were given and a general plea is not sufficient to amount to a plea of fraud- the pleas of fraud, undue influence, coercion etc. are to be proved by the person taking the plea – once a doubt is created regarding the free will of the deceased, the burden shifts upon the propounder to dispel the doubt - the Will is registered one and there is presumption of its valid execution- the court should not start with the presumption that Will is not genuine or that it is fraudulent – the conduct of the person who raises the ground for suspicion is also to be looked at in order to judge the credibility of the ground of suspicion- it was proved that plaintiff was married to P, when she was 10 years of age and had not resided with P thereafter - in these circumstances, it was possible for P to execute a Will disinheriting the plaintiff - the suit was rightly dismissed by the Courts- appeal dismissed.

Title: Soma Devi Vs. Mast Ram Page-596

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiff filed a civil suit claiming that he is the owner in possession on the basis of the Will executed by G – the Will propounded by defendant No. 1 is the result of mis-representation, deception, undue influence and fraud – the revenue entries on the basis of the same are illegal, null and void- the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that the Will propounded by the plaintiff was held to be shrouded in suspicious circumstances – plaintiff was not able to dispel those circumstances – the defendant No. 1 was able to prove the execution of the Will by the deceased- no fault can be found with the judgment of Appellate Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Revti Devi Vs. Hari Singh &Anr. Page-176

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that D had not executed any Will and the Will propounded by defendant No. 1 is a forged document – the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that execution of the Will was proved by marginal witnesses and the scribe – the Will was duly registered and was read over and explained to the deceased – testimonies of the witnesses were not shaken in the cross-examination – Sub Registrar proved the endorsement – Courts had wrongly discarded the Will – appeal allowed- judgments of Courts set aside.

Title: Chhabi Ram since deceased through LRs Vs. Narudhma Devi and others Page-498

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiff pleaded that N was owner of the suit land, who had executed a Will in favour of the plaintiff – mutation was wrongly sanctioned in favour of the defendants- the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that the finding of Trial Court that N was not proved to be the owner and he could not have bequeathed the suit land was not examined by the Appellate Court- Appellate Court examined the veracity of the Will, which was not permissible – appeal allowed – judgment of the Appellate Court set aside- case remanded for fresh adjudication.

Title: Jamuna Devi Vs. Arjun and others Page- 1799

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiff pleaded that suit land was earlier owned by his mother V – she had executed a Will in favour of the plaintiff and defendant No.1- the other land was given to proforma defendants No. 2 and 3- defendant taking advantage of the absence of the plaintiff got executed a gift deed – the suit land was ancestral in the hands of V – the defendant pleaded that the Will and gift deed were executed in a free and disposing state of mind – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held in second appeal that the execution of the Will was not disputed – the gift deed was executed after the execution of the Will- the gift deed was registered and there is presumption of its due execution – however, it was recorded by the revenue officer that possession was delivered after receiving an amount of Rs.5,000/- - therefore, it has not been proved that the gift was executed without any consideration- the donee had failed to prove that no undue influence was exercised by him upon the donor – further, the scribe and the witnesses were common – the Sub Registrar was also not examined – the Courts had not properly appreciated the evidence – appeal allowed- judgments of the Courts below set aside and the suit of the plaintiff decreed.

Title: Satish Chander Vs. Jagdish and others Page-143

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiffs pleaded that J was the owner of the suit land who died intestate - Will propounded by the defendants is wrong – the defendants pleaded that J had executed a Will in favour of defendants No. 1 and 2 in his sound disposing state of mind – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that finger print expert had stated that the thumb impression on the Will was different from the admitted thumb impression of the deceased – the Appellate Court had rightly allowed the appeal- appeal dismissed.

Title: Des Raj and another Vs. Krishan Lal and others Page-730

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- The Land was owned by L – he died in the month of June, 1988- mutations were attested on the basis of the Will – the deceased was not competent to execute the Will as he remained ill at the time of the execution of the Will – the suit was decreed by the Trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, that original Will was not produced before the Court – defendant has not stated anything about the scribe of the Will or the marginal witnesses – the marginal witness failed to identify his signatures on the Will due to poor eye-sight – the execution of the Will was not proved – appeal allowed – judgment and decree passed by the Appellate Court set aside while judgment and decree passed by the Trial Court restored.

Title: Premvati and others Vs. Vasu Dev Page-911

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 17(B)- Writ Court had fallen in error in granting the wages from 16.8.2012 as they were to be granted from the date of filing of the affidavit as per the judgment of the Supreme Court in Uttaranchal Forest Development Corporation Versus K.B. Singh, (2005) 11 SCC 449- however, the writ petition has already been dismissed and the benefits are to be granted as per the order of the Labour Court- writ petition dismissed as infructuous.

Title: State of H.P. and another Vs. Rakesh Kumar (D.B.) Page- 569

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 17-B- A writ petition was filed assailing the award passed by Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla- an application was filed by the workman- held, that Section 17-B has been enacted by the parliament to give relief to a workman who has been ordered to be reinstated under the award of Labour Court or Industrial Tribunal- the object of this provision is to relief the hardship caused to the workman due to delay in implementing the award- workman is entitled to the payment of full wages last drawn as subsistence allowance – employer directed to pay wages from the date of filing of the application.

Title: M/s Federal Mogul Bearing India Ltd. Vs. Brij Lal Page-1163

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Petitioner was engaged on daily wage basis- his services were terminated- he filed original application before Administrative Tribunal, which was allowed – the services of the petitioner were disengaged without following the procedure – the Labour Court dismissed the reference – held, that the petitioner had worked for three days in July, 2001- the plea of the petitioner that he had completed 240 days and his services were illegally terminated was not proved – the Labour Court had rightly dismissed the reference – writ petition dismissed.

Title: Narain Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others Page-1080

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Petitioner was engaged by the respondent as Beldar- his services were terminated without assigning any reason- the Tribunal allowed the reference and the petitioner was ordered to be reinstated with seniority but without back wages- held, that the plea of the petitioner was not supported by documents- the plea of the respondent that the petitioner had left the job on his own was not supported by the repeated requests for re-engagement- the case was dismissed in default and the workman had not taken steps to get the same restored- the order was passed rightly by the Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Udham Singh Vs. Himachal Pradesh State Electricity Board Limited and others Page-574

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- The petitioner was appointed as Librarian – his services were terminated after an inquiry, which was not proper – the Labour Court rejected the claim of the petitioner – held, that no objection was raised to the appointment of the Inquiry

Officer – petitioner was unable to prove that he was deprived of an opportunity to examine the witnesses- serious allegations were made against the petitioner and the inquiry was rightly held to verify those allegations – the Writ Court will not act as a Court of appeal to disturb the findings of fact- writ petition dismissed.

Title: Som Dutt Sharma Vs. The Presiding Judge, Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court and another Page-1637

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- The workman had joined the service in the month of June, 1989 and continued till 19.1.1999, when his services were terminated without resorting to the provisions of the Act – Departmental proceedings were initiated against the petitioner but the proceedings were not fair – proper opportunity was not granted to the petitioner to defend himself- Industrial Tribunal directed the reinstatement of the workman in service with seniority and continuity along with back wages from the date of illegal termination- Tribunal concluded that proper opportunity of cross-examination of the witnesses was not afforded to the workman- an opportunity to defend his case throughdefence assistance was also not afforded – proceedings were conducted in English and there is no evidence that petitioner knew English language- other infirmities were also pointed out in the proceedings – held, that Tribunal had fallen in error in pointing out the irregularities in the cross-examination- workman had not objected to the appointment of the Inquiry Officer or conducing the proceedings in English – Workman had not requested for the appointment of the defence assistance- the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act are not applicable in the domestic inquiry – the order passed by Tribunal set aside- however, compensation of Rs.1.5 lacs ordered to be paid in lieu of 10 years' service rendered by him.

Title: M/s.Cosmo Ferrites Ltd. Vs. State of H.P. & Others Page-98

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- The workman was appointed as a driver – his services were terminated orally without issuance of notice – a reference was made, which was allowed by the Labour Court- held, that the management had not challenged the award – the Industrial Tribunal had wrongly denied the benefit of backwages especially when continuity in service and seniority were granted – Writ Court does not have jurisdiction to re-appreciate the facts- however, Tribunal had failed to exercise the jurisdiction by denying the back wages – writ petition allowed and workman held entitled to 50% of back wages from the date of retrenchment till passing of award.

Title: Kulvinder Singh Vs. The Managing Partner, M/S Cousins GunVs. Manufactures Mandi Page-1606

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- The workman was engaged as beldar – he was given fictional break and his services were terminated orally on the pretext that funds were not available and he would be re-engaged on the availability of the funds- the reference petition was allowed by the Industrial Tribunal –workman was ordered to be re-engaged with seniority and continuity in service - direction was issued for regularization of the services –held in writ petition, the engagement of the workman was not disputed – it was admitted that no notice was issued to the workman – plea of abandonment of the service is not acceptable in absence of notice – workman had completed 240 days – new person was appointed after terminating the services of the workman – the Tribunal had rightly ordered the re-engagement- petition dismissed.

Title: The Executive Engineer, HPSEB Electrical Division, Joginder Nagar Vs. Jagdish Chand Page-571

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25-F- A was working on daily wages with I &P.H.- he was retrenched – he challenged his retrenchment- the Labour Court set aside the retrenchment order and directed the re-engagement with continuity in service except back wages – held, that employer had not complied with the provision of Section 25-H – the person who were junior to A were re-engaged – there is no limitation for making the reference- the award was rightly passed – petition dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh & another Vs. Ashok Kumar Page-1306

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25-F- A was working on daily wages with I &P.H.- he was retrenched – he challenged his retrenchment- the Labour Court set aside the retrenchment order and directed the re-engagement with continuity in service except back wages – held, that employer had not complied with the provision of Section 25-H – the person who were junior to A were re-engaged – there is no limitation for making the reference- the award was rightly passed – petition dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh & another Vs. InderSingh Page-1311

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25-F- A was working on daily wages with I &P.H.- he was retrenched – he challenged his retrenchment- the Labour Court set aside the retrenchment order and directed the re-engagement with continuity in service except back wages – held, that employer had not complied with the provision of Section 25-H – the person who were junior to A were re-engaged – there is no limitation for making the reference- the award was rightly passed – petition dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh & another Vs. BhuriSingh Page-1309

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25-F- P was working on daily wages with I &P.H.- he was retrenched – he challenged his retrenchment- the Labour Court set aside the retrenchment order and directed the re-engagement with continuity in service except back wages – held, that plea of the employer that P had abandoned the service has not been established- merely because a workman had not reported for duty cannot lead to an inference of abandonment- a disciplinary inquiry should have been initiated against the workman for abandoning the service, which was not done- fresh hands were engaged and employer had not complied with the provision of Section 25-H –there is no limitation for making the reference- the award was rightly passed – petition dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh & another Vs. Partap Singh Page-1314

'L'

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- Land Acquisition Collector had awarded compensation on the basis of the settlement –held, that statutory benefits payable under the Act cannot be waived by the Land Owners – there can be no estoppel against the law- the benefits were rightly granted by the Reference Court – appeal dismissed.

Title: The State of Himachal Pradesh & others Vs. Bhagat Ram & others Page-1532

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- Land of the petitioner was acquired for the construction of Karara-Chandi Road – land Acquisition Collector assessed the value of cultivable land as Rs.4,000/- per biswa and value of ghasni land as Rs. 500/- per biswa- a reference was made and the compensation was enhanced to Rs.10,000/- per biswa- held in appeal that the exemplar sale deed showed that one biswa of land was alienated for Rs.6,000/- large piece of land was acquired, whereas, exemplar sale deed was regarding one biswa of land, therefore, 20% deduction has to be made from the sale consideration shown in the exemplar sale deed – appeal partly allowed and the value assessed as Rs.6,000/- per biswairrespective of the category of the land-20% amount ordered to be deducted from this amount.

Title: State of H.P. & another Vs. Shanti Devi & others Page-1205

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- Reference petition was ordered to be dismissed in default- held, that the reference petition cannot be dismissed in default and the reference Court had wrongly ordered the dismissal – direction issued to restore the reference petition to its original number and to decide the same in accordance with law.

Title:Vinod Kumar and others Vs. State of H.P. and others Page-1679

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- The award pronounced by Reference Court was assailed before the High Court – appeal was disposed of in RFA no.44 of 2009- the award in the present case has arisen from the common notification- the award was common in the present appeal and in RFA no.44 of 2009- therefore, the present appeal disposed of in terms of RFA No.44 of 2009.

Title: The Secretary (PWD) to the Government of Himachal Pradesh and another Vs. Chaman Lal Page-1211

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- The land was acquired for the construction of Kol Dam – Land Acquisition Collector determined the compensation @Rs.4,69,955/- for cultivated land and Rs.1,04,416/- for uncultivable land – Reference petition was filed and the Reference Court determined the market value @ Rs.4,69,955/- per bigha – held in appeal that sale deeds were tendered in evidence but in absence of evidence regarding the similarity of the acquired land with exemplar sale deed, the deeds cannot be taken into consideration to determine the market value of the acquired land –the sale deed pertained to two different villages and very small chunk of lands - the reference Court had rightly declined to take exemplar sale transactions into consideration- appeal dismissed.

Title: NTPC Ltd.(Kol Dam) Vs. Sukh Ram & others Page-1520

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- The land was acquired for the construction of Kol Dam- Land Acquisition Collector awarded the compensation at different rates- reference was made – exemplar sale deeds were produced, which were subsequent to initiation of acquisition proceedings- no material was placed on record to establish its similarity of potential, use, kind and nature with the acquired land – the Court has awarded compensation in respect of other acquired land of the same Tehsil on uniform basis irrespective of classification, nature and category of land- Reference Court awarded compensation on uniform basis by taking the highest rate so determined by the Collector himself after relying upon several decisions of the Apex Court – the Reference Court had rightly determined the compensation- appeal dismissed.

Title: NTPC Ltd., Kol Dam Vs. Balam Singh & another Page-1481

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- The land was acquired for the construction of Kol Dam- Reference Court re-determined the market value @ Rs.5 lacs per bigha after relying upon exemplar sale deed and exemplar award –held in appeal that claimants had claimed compensation @ Rs.15 lacs per bigha category/classification wise- the Reference Court is bound to determine market value, which is just fair and reasonable- Collector determined the market value at different rates – exemplar sale deeds were duly proved- similarity of the acquired land with exemplar sale deeds was established- the market value in exemplar sale deeds worked out to be Rs.7,50,000/- per bigha but allowing deduction up to 33.13%, the fair market value was found to be 5 lacs per bigha – similarity of the land in previous award was established with the acquired land – award has attained finality –sale deeds relied upon by the respondents could not form the basis for determining market value as the similarity between the lands was not established – appeal dismissed.

Title: NTPC Limited Vs. Amar Singh & another Page-1462

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- The land was acquired for the extension of Airport, Gaggal – the land owners sought reference and the Reference Court enhanced the compensation – aggrieved from the order, the present appeal was filed – held in appeal that exemplar sale deed was executed subsequent to the date of notification and cannot be relied upon - the benefit of 20% increase was also not permissible – appeal allowed- award of the reference Court set aside and that of the Land Acquisition Collector restored.

Title: Sub Division Officer (Civil)-cum-Land Acquisition Collector Vs. Harbhagwant Singh Page-1045

Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5- An appeal was filed against the award of Workmen Compensation Commissioner, which was barred by limitation – an application for condonation of delay in filing the appeal filed- held that appellant had deposited the amount before the Commissioner on 24.1.2011, which shows that it had notice regarding the award – the appeal was filed in the year 2015- no satisfactory explanation for the delay has been given – delay cannot be condoned- application dismissed.

Title: ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Leela Devi & others Page-1073

Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5- An application for condonation of delay of 256 days was filed pleading that the matter remained pending before various authorities in the department – held, that the memo of appeal was returned by Assistant Solicitor General of India in the month of May, 2014 for signatures and was filed in the month of January, 2015 – no explanation for the delay was given – no sufficient cause exists for condonation of delay- application dismissed.

Title: Union of India Vs. Vivek Bhardwaj & Another Page-1122

Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5- An application for condonation of delay in filing the appeal was filed pleading that the husband of the applicant was not party to the suit or in the appeal- an amount of Rs.1,40,004/- has been ordered to be recovered from him- held, that the husband of the applicant was not arrayed as a defendant in the suit – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred and the suit was decreed- the decree was passed against department of I & PH but the department was left free to recover the amount from the husband of the applicant- the explanation furnished by the applicant is plausible – the application allowed and the delay condoned.

Title: Aruna BediVs. Subhash Kapil and others Page-742

Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5- There was delay of 125 days in filing the appeal – an application for condonation of delay was filed, which was dismissed – held, that the counsel for the applicant had not obtained the copy from the copying agency – there is no requirement of intimating the counsel on the preparation of the copy – the time till the collection of the copy cannot be deducted – the delay was not explained properly- appeal dismissed.

Title: Employees Provident Fund Organization and another Vs. Gian Chand and another Page-1134

'M'

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Claimants specifically pleaded that deceased was travelling in the vehicle after loading the goods – this fact was not denied in the reply- the plea taken by the insurer that the deceased was travelling in the vehicle as a gratuitous passenger was not proved- the insurer was rightly saddled with liability- appeal dismissed.

Title:Bajaj Allianz General Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Ram Kali and others Page-1383

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Claimants specifically pleaded that deceased had gone with his truck for carrying the cement - this fact was not denied by the respondents- the deceased was travelling in the vehicle as a gratuitous passenger and not as the employee of the owner- the insured had committed the breach of the terms and conditions of the insurance policy and insurer was rightly absolved of its liability – however, rate of interest reduced to 7.5% from 9%.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Bhuvneshwari Devi and others Page-692

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Driver had a valid licence to drive a light motor vehicle – it was nowhere provided that the driver was not competent to drive a motorcycle or a scooter – the Tribunal had fallen into error in holding that the driver did not have a valid and effective driving licence to drive the vehicle – it was for the insurer to prove the breach of the terms and conditions of the policy and mere plea is not sufficient to seek exoneration.

Title: Hari Chand and another Vs. Chaya Kumari and others Page-1552

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Driver had a valid licence to drive light motor vehicle – offending vehicle was a tempo, which falls within the definition of Light Motor Vehicle – the Tribunal had wrongly held that driver did not possess a valid licence – the deceased was a photographer, who had gone to a Mela and was returning in the offending vehicle – he was rightly held to be a gratuitous passenger- the insurer directed to satisfy the award with the right to recovery.

Title: Kashmiri Lal Vs. Rajni Devi and others Page-355

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Driver had two licences at the time of accident- however, it is not the case that driver was not having a valid and effective licence at the time of accident- insurer had not proved that insured had committed willful breach of the terms and conditions of the policy – insurer was rightly saddled with liability – appeal dismissed.

Title: United India Insurance Co. Vs. Lokeshawar Narah and others Page-699

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Driver was driving a tipper un-laden weight of which is 2800 kg. – it falls within definition of light motor vehicle – the driver had a licence to drive light motor vehicle- no endorsement of PSV was required – the driver had a valid licence at the time of accident – the Tribunal wrongly discharged the insurer from liability- appeal allowed and insurer directed to satisfy the award.

Title: GautamNath and another Vs. Duni Chand and others Page-1546

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Driver was having a license to drive light motor vehicle – he was driving a three wheelers, which falls within the definition of light motor vehicle- no endorsement of PSV was required- the Tribunal fell in error in concluding that the Driver did not have a valid licence at the time of accident- appeal allowed – award modified and the insurer saddled with liability.

Title: Inder Kaur & others Vs. Shanti Devi &others Page-656

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Insurance is not disputed- claimant is a third party – her claim cannot be rejected on flimsy ground – insurer has to prove the breach of the terms and conditions of the policy – Insurer was rightly saddled with liability.

Title: National Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Mukta Sharma and another Page-513

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Insurer was directed to satisfy the award with the right to recovery- held, that insurer has to satisfy the award with the right to recovery from the owner/insured – appeal dismissed.

Title: United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Sita Devi and others Page-824

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Interrogatories were sent to District Judge, Mathura, who had sent the report to the Tribunal showing that the original licence was not issued in the name of the driver Shakti Chand – however, the insurer had not proved the said report – the licence was renewed at Kangra and the renewal was not fake – the burden was upon the insurer to establish that the insurer had committed willful breach of the terms and conditions of the policy, which was not proved – insurer was rightly saddled with liability- however, the rate of interest reduced to 7.5% per annum.

Title: National Insurance Company Ltd.Vs. Pawan Kumar and others Page-1560

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- It was contended that the driver was under the influence of liquor and insurer is not liable – held, that the insurer had not led any evidence to prove this plea- the insurance policy does not contain any such clause – insurer cannot escape from liability on this ground.

Title: The New India Assurance Company Ltd.Vs. Kirna & others Page-1575

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- It was contended that the driver did not have a valid and effective driving licence at the time of accident- Insurer had not led any evidence to prove this plea- the burden of proving the breach of the terms and conditions of the policy was upon the insurer- the insurer was rightly saddled with liability, in these circumstances - appeal dismissed.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Jai Kumar and others Page-361

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- It was contended that the driver did not have a driving licence at the time of accident- insurer had not led any evidence to prove that driver did not have a valid and effective driving licence and the owner had committed willful breach – RW-1 proved that driver had driving licence issued by R & LA, Bilaspur, which was renewed by R & LA, Sarkaghat after getting confirmation from R & LA, Bilaspur- the insurer had failed to discharge the onus placed upon it and was rightly saddled with liability- MACT had awarded interest @ 9% per annum, which is reduced to 7.5% per annum.

Title: The New India Assurance Company Vs. Urmila Devi and others Page-385

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- It was for the insurer to plead and prove that driver was not having a valid and effective driving licence and the owner had committed willful breach- no evidence was led to prove that deceased were gratuitous passengers – in these circumstances, the insurer was rightly held liable.

Title: Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Savitra Devi and others Page- 686

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- MACT held that licence was not in the name of respondent No. 2 but renewal was in his name- therefore, respondent No. 2 did not have a valid driving licence- the owner had committed willful breach of the terms and conditions of the policy – insurer was absolved of the liability – held, that it is not the case of the insurer that owner knew the driving licence was not issued in the name of respondent No. 2 and despite this fact he had engaged respondent No. 2 as driver – the vehicle was being plied with all the requisite documents- the insurer directed to satisfy the award

Title: Rajinder Singh Vs. Kirpal Singh and others Page-811

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- No evidence was led by the respondents and the evidence led by the claimant remained unrebutted – it was for the insurer to plead and prove that the insured had committed willful breach of the terms and conditions of policy – drivinglicence was exhibited and no objection was raised at the time of exhibition – the issues were rightly decided against the insurer – appeal dismissed.

Title: The New India Assurance Company Limited Vs. Resha Devi and others Page-547

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Offending vehicle was a JCB, which was being driven by the driver in a rash and negligent manner – JCB falls within the definition of motor vehicle – the unladen weight of JCB was 7460 kg. and falls within the definition of light motor vehicle – there is no requirement of PSV endorsement – JCB falls within the definition of non-transport vehicle – insurer had failed to plead and prove that there was violation of the terms and conditions of the policy – the insurance is admitted – therefore, insurer was wrongly absolved of the liability – appeal allowed and insurer saddled with liability.

Title: Jagmohan Singh and another Vs. Meera Devi and others Page-806

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Offending vehicle was a tipper, the un-ladenweight of which is 3680 k.g. and it falls within the definition of light motor vehicle – copy of licence shows that driver was having a valid and effective driving licence at the time of accident – it was for the insurer to plead and prove that the owner had committed willful breach of the terms and conditions of the policy- insurer is to be saddled with liability – thus, the Tribunal had rightly saddled the insurer with liability – however, rate of interest reduced from 9 % to 7.5% per annum.

Title: ICICI, Lombard General Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Gian Chand & others Page-1149

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Tribunal held that driver was not having a valid and effective licence at the time of accident – licence was in the name of J and not in the name of S – there was no evidence that the owner had taken due care and caution while engaging the driver – held, that Tribunal had rightly recorded the findings- the driver was not having a valid and effective drivinglicence at the time of accident and the owner insured had committed willful breach- appeal dismissed.

Title: Avtar Singh Vs. Tilak Raj & another Page-486

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Tribunal saddled the owner with liability – held, that the driver was having a valid and effective driving licence, which was also renewed- even otherwise, it was for the insurer to plead and prove that the driver was not having a valid licence and the owner had committed willful breach – the insurance was admitted and the insurer has to satisfy the award- appeal allowed.

Title: Navdeep Singh and another Vs. Inder Singh and another Page-1405

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 163-A and 167- Deceased was in the employment of owner/insured – claimants have right to claim compensation in terms of Workmen Compensation Act- they had an option to file the claim petition either before the Commissioner or MACT – the claim petition was maintainable- however, the driving licence is not on record – case remanded for adjudication of the dispute afresh.

Title: Rameshwar and another Vs. Reshmi Devi and another Page-364

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 163-A- Deceased was the son of owner/insured, who died in the accident - the owner had specifically stated in the reply that the vehicle was parked in the garage due to some mechanical defect- the deceased had taken the vehicle in the absence of the owner – the deceased was not engaged as a driver but was driving the vehicle in the capacity of the son of the insured and will step into the shoes of the owner – the insured had paid extra premium insuring the owner to the extent of Rs.2 lacs - representative of the deceased are entitled to the compensation of Rs.2 lacs with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Limited Vs. Parul Sharma and others

Page-1144

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 163-A- It was contended that claim petition was not maintainable as the claimants had claimed the income of the deceased to be Rs.8,000/- per month- held, that the claim petition under Section 163-A was not maintainable as the income was more than Rs.40,000/- per annum- however, the claim petition can be treated to be filed under Section 166- the deceased was driving the vehicle himself as per the FIR- 50% of the amount has been released to the claimants with interest – therefore, the same ordered not to be recovered from them in the interest of justice- appeal disposed of.

Title: United India Insurance Company Limited Vs. Mohan Lal and others

Page-704

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant had suffered 100% disability – he remained admitted in the hospital from the date of accident till discharge – he had spent Rs. 2,28,176/- on medical treatment which is awarded to him- Rs. 2 lac was awarded for future treatment- Rs. 1 lac was awarded for loss of expectation and Rs. 20,000/- awarded for attendant charges- Rs. 15,000/- awarded on account of travelling allowances- the income of the claimant was assessed as Rs. 3200/- per month- injured was 29 years of age at the time of accident and multiplier of 16 is applicable- thus, claimant is entitled to Rs. 3200 x 12 x 16= Rs. 6,14,400/- - Rs. 15,000/- were rightly awarded on account of boarding and lodging at Chandigarh- Rs. 10,000/- awarded on account of physiotherapist – Rs. 50,000/- awarded on account of mental shock – Rs. 1 lac awarded under the head pain and suffering and Rs. 1 lac awarded under the head loss of amenities of life – thus, total compensation of Rs. 14,52,576/- awarded.

Title: Rajinder Singh Vs. Kirpal Singh and others Page-811

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant had sustained 30% permanent disability- his right leg has been shortened – he cannot drive the vehicle the way he was driving before the accident – accident has affected earning capacity to the extent of 50% - monthly income of the claimant was Rs. 7,800/- per month and loss of earning will be Rs. 3,900/- per month– the claimant was 34 years at the time of accident and multiplier of 15 is applicable- thus, the loss of income is Rs. 3,900 x 12 x 15= Rs. 7,02,000/- - compensation of Rs. 50,000/- under the head pain and suffering during treatment, Rs. 50,000/- under the head loss of enjoyment of life, Rs. 60,000/- under the head loss of earning capacity during treatment, Rs. 83,000/- under the head special diet and attendant charges do not need any interference- claimant is entitled to Rs. 9,70,000/- as compensation – rate of interest reduced from 9% to 7.5% per annum.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Vs. Roop Singh and others Page-1837

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant had sustained 50% disability, which is permanent in nature and is in regard to whole body- the claimant was an advocate by profession – the disability suffered by him has shattered his physical frame- he would not be in position to do the job of an advocate as he was doing prior to the accident- his income can be taken as Rs.10,000/- per month – considering the permanent disability, it can be safely held that the claimant had lost 20% earning capacity and loss of earning capacity will be Rs.2,000/- per month – the age of the claimant was 49 years and multiplier of 13 is applicable – thus, the claimant is entitled to Rs.2000 x12 x 13= Rs. 3,12,000/- under the head loss of earning capacity – the claimant remained admitted for over one month in the hospital and he would have taken some time in recuperation – hence, the loss of income can be assessed as Rs. 10,000 x 6= Rs. 60,000/- Rs. 50,000/- each awarded under heads painand suffering and loss of amenities of life – the claimant would have spent Rs.100/- per day or Rs.3,000/- per month on account of special diet- hence, the claimant is held entitled to Rs.3000 x6= Rs.18,000/- under the head special diet – Rs.20,000/- awarded under the medical expenses and Rs.10,000/- awarded under the head future medical treatment – the attendant charges for six months come to Rs.18,000/-- the claimant is held entitled to Rs.3000/- under the head transportation charges- the claimant was occupant of the car and the insurance policy shows the sitting capacity as 1 + 3- no breach of terms and conditions was proved – hence, insurer directed to satisfy the award.

Title: Desh Raj Sharma Vs. Chitra Rai and others Page-640

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant had sustained 50% permanent disability- he was treated as a skilled labourer earning Rs.5,000/- per month -at the relevant time labourer would have been earning Rs.4000/- per month by guess work – considering the disability, the loss of income can be taken as Rs.2000/- per month – the claimant was 25 years of age at the time of accident – claimant was entitled to Rs.2,000 x 12 x 15= Rs.3,60,000/- under the head loss of future income- the tribunal had rightly awarded Rs.75,000/- on account of cost of medical treatment past and prospective, Rs.5,000/- on account of travel expenses, Rs.20,000/- on account of attendant charges for six months, Rs.10,000/- on account of physical pain and shock and Rs.50,000/- for the loss of amenities of life - thus, total compensation of Rs.5,20,000/- awarded with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: ICICI Lombard General Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Ram Prakash and others
Page-650

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant had sustained injury in a motor vehicle accident- he was aged 27 years at the time of accident- he remained in hospital for a period of about 2 months- he was coming up for follow up after every 4-6 weeks – he is having difficulty in walking and speaking and he has lost all charms of life- he had spent Rs.1,94,428/- on his treatment- the Tribunal had rightly awarded the compensation- appeal dismissed.

Title: H.R.T.C. through its Managing Director and another Vs. Sanjay Kumar and another
Page-648

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- claimant is a house wife – her income can be taken as Rs.6,000/- per month- the loss of income has to be taken as Rs.3,600/- per month in view of the disability sustained by her - applying the multiplier of 11, loss of future income will be Rs.4,75,200/- - the claimant will face difficulty in movement – hence, in addition to Rs.20,000/- spent during the treatment, Rs.10,000/- granted for future expenses towards movement , Rs.30,000/- awarded towards loss of amenities - Rs.20,000/- awarded for future treatment – total amount of Rs.7,45,200/- awarded as compensation with interest @ 9% per annum- cost of Rs.10,000/- also awarded.

Title: ICICI Lombard General Insurance Co. Vs. Bimla Devi and others Page- 923

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant pleaded that accident was caused by the negligence of the driver of the vehicle – FIR was registered against the claimant – acquittal was recorded on the ground that case was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and not on the ground that the accident was caused by the negligence of other driver- the statement of PW-1 was shattered in the cross-examination – negligence was not proved and the claim petition was rightly dismissed- appeal dismissed.

Title: Ram Lal Vs. Bishan Singh and others Page-1432

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant specifically pleaded that accident was outcome of contributory negligence – challan was filed against the driver of the truck as well as motorcyclist – drivers of both vehicles had driven the vehicles rashly and negligently and it was a case of contributory negligence – the deceased was bachelor and 50% amount was to be deducted towards personal expenses- the deceased was 21 years of age and multiplier of 15 was applicable – however, multiplier of 16 was applied by the Tribunal, which is maintained – appeal dismissed.

Title: Prit Pal Singh Vs. Radha Devi and others Page-1193

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant suffered permanent disability to the extent of 55% - medical evidence proved that the injured was victim of the motor vehicle accident and had sustained 55% disability – he remained undertreatment for about 3 months – hence, by guess work, Rs.2 lacs awarded in lump sum under the heads 'pain and sufferings', 'loss of amenities' and 'medical expenses' with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Manoj Kumar Vs. Himachal Road Transport Corporation & others Page-1158

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant sustained 40% disability qua his left leg- he remained admitted in the hospital w.e.f. 30.9.2008 till 20.11.2008 – claimant was 10 years of age at the time of incident – he will not be able to seek appointment in the Armed Forces or get the job of his choice after attaining the age of majority – the claimant would have been earning not less than Rs.5,000/- per month after attaining majority- considering the disability, the claimant had suffered Rs.2,000/- per month as loss of income – multiplier of 18 will be applicable – thus, compensation of Rs.2000 x 12 x 18= Rs.4,32,000/- awarded towards loss of future income – Rs.42,805/- awarded under the head medical expenses and Rs.12,000/- awarded under the head transportation charges- compensation of Rs.1 lac each awarded under the heads pain and suffering and loss of amenities of life- thus, total compensation of Rs. 6,86,805/- awarded with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Mahesh Vs. Prince and others Page-1396

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant sustained injuries in an accident – MACT awarded compensation of Rs.5,60,000/- to him – held in appeal that Medical Officer stated that left leg of the claimant had become short by 1½ inch – he had suffered muscular injury to the left leg, right patella and right ankle – the petitioner shall not be able to commute long distance and carry weight – the Tribunal had rightly taken the disability to the extent of 25% to 35% - compensation of Rs. 2,75,000/- cannot be said to be excessive – the MACT had not awarded any interest – hence, interest awarded @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Balkar Singh Vs. Babar and others Page-217

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimants pleaded that driver Sunil Kumar was driving the vehicle rashly and negligently- Tribunals held that Sunil Kumar had caused the accident while driving the vehicle rashly and negligently – Rajesh Kumar was convicted by the Criminal Court for driving the vehicle in a rash and negligent manner – this judgment was set aside in appeal and it was held that Sunil Kumar was driving the vehicle - the judgment of the Appellate Court has attained finality – Tribunals had rightly held that accident was caused by the rash and the negligent driving of Sunil Kumar – seating capacity of the vehicle is 42 and 30 claim petitions were filed - the risk of all the claimants is covered – the insurer was rightly saddled with liability- appeals dismissed.

Title: New India Assurance Company Limited Vs. Fata Chand & others Page-1411

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimants specifically pleaded that deceased was working as labourer in the offending vehicle and was travelling in the same as a labourer at the time of accident- this fact was admitted in the reply – sitting capacity of the vehicle was 3+1 – premium was paid for the employee - the claimants are 7 in number and 1/5th amount was rightly deducted towards personal expenses- the deceased was 31 years of age at the time of accident and multiplier of 15 is just and appropriate – the amount cannot be said to be excessive – appeal dismissed.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Sumitra Devi and others Page-1177

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimants specifically stated in the claim petition that deceased was driving the vehicle at the time of accident – owner also admitted this fact in the reply - it was specifically stated in the FIR that accident had taken place due to rash and negligent driving by the deceased- thus, it can be safely said that accident had taken place due to the negligence of the deceased – rashness and negligence have to be proved to get compensation under Section 166- the claim petition was therefore, not maintainable under Section 166 – since, the income of the deceased was proved to be Rs. 23,791/- per month; therefore, claim petition cannot be treated under Section 163-A – appeal allowed- award set aside.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Brahmi and others Page-1830

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Compensation of Rs. 87,200/- was awarded along with interest @ 7.5% per annum- a sum of Rs. 1 lac awarded in lump sum in addition to the amount already awarded by the Tribunal with the right to recovery.

Title: Manoj Kumar Vs.Ghanshayam Thakur and others Page-811

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Condition of the claimant was critical – injury has affected her brain- initially, her disability was quantified at 20% - subsequently, her condition deteriorated and the disability was found to be 50% - claimant remained admitted in the hospital for 25 days –the claimant was an advocate and would not be able to act as an advocate after the accident – claimant pleaded that she was earning Rs.20,000/-per month prior to accident and by guess work the income of the injured can be treated to be Rs.10,000/- per month – the claimant is entitled to Rs.10,000 x 7= Rs.70,000/- under the head loss of earning during treatment - claimant lost earning capacity to the extent of 50% and the loss of income will be Rs.5,000/- per month- claimant was aged 50 years at the time of accident and multiplier of 11 is applicable, thus, claimant is entitled to Rs.5,000 x 12 x 11= Rs.6,60,000/- under the head loss of income – the claimant is also entitled to Rs.1 lac under the head pain and suffering- Rs. 1 lac under the head loss of amenities of life – the claimant would have spent Rs.100/- per day or Rs.3,000/- per month during the period of treatment and is entitled to Rs.3,000 x 7= Rs.21,000/- under the head special diet- Rs.20,000/- awarded under the head future medical treatment – rate of interest reduced to 7.5% per annum.

Title: National Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Mukta Sharma and another Page-513

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was 59 years of age at the time of incident – deceased was earning Rs.25000/- per month by maintaining accounts of various firms- he was also earning Rs.5,000/- per month from agricultural activities- MACT had treated the income of the deceased as Rs.10,000/- per month or Rs.1,20,000/- per annum - after deducting 1/3rd the loss of dependency will be Rs.80,000/- per annum- multiplier of 8 was applied by the Tribunal, whereas multiplier of 6 is applicable- thus, claimants are entitled to Rs.80,000 x 6= Rs.4,80,000/- under the head loss of dependency – claimants are also entitled to Rs.10,000/- each under the head loss of love and affection, loss of estate, funeral expenses and loss of consortium- thus, claimants are entitled to Rs.4,80,000 +Rs. 40,000= Rs.5,20,000/-.

Title: Devinder Singh Vs. Geetan Devi and others Page-646

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was a government employee and was drawing salary of Rs. 37,279/- - he was aged 57 years at the time of accident and was to retire within one year – compensation is to be assessed keeping in view this fact and that after retirement, he would be receiving pension and would be doing some part time job- 1/3rd was to be deducted towards personal expenses and the loss of dependency will be Rs. 25,000/- per month- multiplier of 7 is applicable out of which multiplier of 1 was to be applied on the salary and multiplier of 6 was to be applied on the pension- loss of dependency for one year will be 25,000/- x 12 x 1= Rs. 3,00,000/-- the deceased would have been receiving pension to the extent of 50% of the basic pay plus dearness allowance, which comes to Rs. 18,500/- - 1/3rd is to be deducted towards personal expenses and loss of dependency will be Rs. 12,500/- - claimants have lost source of dependency of Rs. 12,500/- X 12 X 6= Rs. 9,00,000/- - the deceased would have worked for sometime after getting part time job and the monthly income would not be less than Rs. 6,500/- per month- 1/3rd was to be deducted and the loss of dependency will be Rs. 4,500 x 12 x 6= Rs. 3,24,000/-, in addition to this, claimants are entitled to Rs. 10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection, loss of estate, funeral expenses and loss of consortium – thus, the claimants are entitled to Rs. 3,00,000/-+Rs. 9,00,000+ Rs. 3,24,000/- + Rs. 40,000/-.= Rs.15,64,000/-, with interest at the rate of 7.5%.

Title: ICICI Lombard General Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Satya Devi and others

Page-342

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was a house wife – her monthly income cannot be less than Rs.6,000/- / 1/3rd is required to be deducted towards personal expenses of the deceased and claimant has lost source of dependency of Rs.4,000/- per month- multiplier of 15 is applicable and claimant is entitled to compensation of Rs.4000 x 12 x 15= Rs. 7,20,000/- under the head loss of dependency – claimants is also entitled to Rs.10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection and funeral expenses- thus, total compensation of Rs.7,20,000 + 20,000= Rs.7,40,000/- awarded along with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till realization.

Title: Master Nitish Kumar (Minor) Vs. Managing Director & another Page-1161

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was a pillion rider of the motorcycle which met with an accident due to the rash and negligent driving of the driver of the bus- it was contended that accident was the result of the contributory negligence of the driver of the motorcycle – held, that in claim petition prima facie proof is required and not strict pleadings and proof - both the drivers had not taken due care and caution while driving their respective vehicles- when two drivers do not take due care and caution while driving their respective vehicles and contribute in causing accident, it is a case of contributory negligence – appellate directed to deposit 50% amount while the insurer of the other vehicle directed to deposit 50% of the amount.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Daljeet Kaur and others Page-1173

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was a TGT and was drawing gross salary of Rs. 27,000/- per month- he was to retire at the age of 58 years and was aged 56 years at the time of accident – 1/4th amount is to be deducted towards personal expenses- claimants have lost source of dependency of Rs. 20,000/- per month – the compensation has to be determined keeping in view the fact that deceased was to retire within two years and that thereafter he was to get pension for the rest of the life- keeping in view the age of the deceased, multiplier of 7 is applicable out of which multiplier of 2 has to be applied for assessing loss of salary and multiplier of 5 has to be applied for assessing loss of pension – claimants are entitled to Rs. 20,000 x 12 x 2= Rs. 4,80,000/- under the head loss of salary – the deceased would not have taken pension less than Rs. 12,000/- per month out of which 1/4th is to be deducted towards personal expenses and the loss of dependency will be Rs. 9,000/- per month – claimants are entitled to Rs. 9,000 x 12 x

5= Rs. 5,40,000/- under the head loss of pension- claimants are also entitled to Rs. 10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection, loss of consortium, loss of estate and funeral expenses – claimants are entitled to total compensation of Rs. 4,80,000 + 5,40,000 + 40,000= Rs. 10,60,000/- with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Darshan Kaur & another Vs. Vidya Thakur & others Page-1822

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was drawing Rs.13,064/- per month as salary- he was 37 years of age at the time of accident – multiplier of 15 was rightly applied – claimants are four in numbers and 1/4th amount was rightly deducted from the monthly income the deceased- the driver had a valid driving licence and insurer was rightly saddled with liability- appeal dismissed.

Title: Dolma Devi and others vs. Mohinder Kumar Goel and others Page-1387

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was drawing salary of Rs.10,050/- per month- hence, the monthly income of the deceased can be taken as Rs.10,000/- - deceased was bachelor at the time of accident – 50% has to be deducted towards personal expenses and loss of dependency will be Rs.5,000/- per month- deceased was 26 years at the time of accident – Tribunal had wrongly applied multiplier of 14, whereas, multiplier of 16 was applicable- thus, claimants are entitled to Rs.5,000 x 12 x 16= Rs.9,60,000/- under the head loss of dependency- claimants are also entitled to Rs.10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection, loss of estate and funeral expenses- thus, claimants are entitled to Rs.9,90,000/- along with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of claim petition till deposit.

Title: United India Insurance Co. Vs. LokeshawarNarah and others Page-699

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was hit by a car – he fell down upon the motorcycle – the driver and pillion rider also sustained injuries – a claim petition was filed for seeking compensation of Rs.6,12,000/- - the Tribunal dismissed the petition – held in appeal that PW-2 specifically stated that accident was caused due to the negligence of the driver – his testimony was corroborated by the report of post-mortem – thus, rashness and negligence were duly proved – monthly income of the deceased can be taken as Rs.3,000/-- 1/3rd amount is to be deducted towards personal expenses and loss of dependency will be Rs.2,000/- per month- the age of the deceased was 56 years and multiplier of 8 is applicable – compensation of Rs.1,92,000/- (2000 x 12 x 8) awarded towards loss of dependency- compensation of Rs.10,000/- each awarded under the heads funeral expenses, loss of love and affection and loss of consortium – thus, total compensation of Rs.2,22,000/- awarded with interest @ 9 % per annum.

Title: Savitri Devi widow of late Shri Balwant Singh Vs. Mohinder Pal son of Shri Ram Lal & others Page-1594

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was running a tea shop and was earning Rs.8,000/- per month – however, no documentary proof was filed – the income of the deceased can be taken as Rs.6,000/- per month or Rs.200/- per day- after deducting 1/3rd amount towards the personal income, loss of source of dependency will be Rs.4,000/- per month – the deceased was 55 years of age and multiplier of 10 is applicable- thus, the claimants are entitled to Rs.4,000 x 12 x 10= Rs.4,80,000/- under the head loss of source of dependency – claimants are also entitled to Rs.10,000/- each under the heads loss of estate, loss of love and affection, loss of consortium and funeral expenses – the deceased remained admitted in the hospital w.e.f. 14th May, 2011 till 21st May, 2011 and must have spent some amount on the treatment – compensation of Rs.50,000/- awarded under the head treatment- claimants are entitled to Rs.4,80,000 + 40,000+ 50,000= Rs.5,70,000/- along with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Hari Chand and another Vs. Chaya Kumari and others Page-1552

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was travelling as a labourer while deceased N was traveling as owner of goods –they died in an accident- the fact that the deceased were travelling as labourer and owner, respectively was admitted in the reply- it was also proved by PW-4, occupant of the vehicle- the delay is not sufficient to dismiss the petition- the compensation was rightly assessed- the rate of interest were wrongly granted as 9% and 7% - rate of interest modified to 7.5% per annum.

Title: Divisional Manager, Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Ram Kali & others

Page-1129

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was travelling in the vehicle with the goods – vehicle fell down due to the rashness and negligence of the driver – deceased sustained grievous injuries and died – compensation of Rs. 3 lacs was awarded by the Tribunal- held, that income of the deceased was rightly taken to be Rs. 3,500/- per month and compensation was rightly assessed as Rs. 3 lacs- there was no proof that accident had taken place due to the mechanical defect – the deceased was owner of goods and insurance company cannot escape from liability – appeal dismissed.

Title: The New India Insurance Company, through its Divisional Manager Vs. Hiravati Sharma and others Page-1711

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was travelling with N on motorcycle – a truck being driven by respondent No.1 in a rash and negligent manner came from the opposite side and hit the motorcycle – the deceased and pillion rider fell down and sustained multiple injuries – deceased was taken to hospital but succumbed to the injuries – compensation of Rs.6,01,000/- was awarded by the Tribunal jointly and severally along with interest @ 7% per annum- held in appeal that monthly income was assessed as Rs.3,600/- per month- 1/3rd amount was to be deducted towards personal expenses – the loss of dependency would come out as Rs.2,400/- per month- the age of the deceased was 24 years and Tribunal had applied multiplier of 17 – the burden to prove the breach of the terms and conditions of the policy was upon the insurance company- no evidence was led by the insurer to discharge the burden- the Insurance Company was rightly held liable to indemnify the insured- appeal dismissed.

Title: National Insurance Company Ltd. through its Divisional Manager Vs. Rajveer Kaur d/o Sh. Major Singh and others Page-1661

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Injured remained admitted in the hospital at Bilaspurw.e.f. 13th April, 2002 till 17th April, 2002 and thereafter at IGMC w.e.f. 9th May, 2002 till 17th May, 2002- the compensation has to be awarded under pecuniary and non-pecuniary heads by making guess work in case of injuries - the claimant pleaded that he was earning Rs.6,000/- per month as cleaner of the vehicle- however, by guess work, it can safely be held that he would have been earning not less than Rs.3,000/- per month – injured had suffered 45% permanent disability and loss of income will be Rs.1,500/- per month – age of the claimant was 24 years at the time of accident and multiplier of 15 is applicable- claimant has lost source of income of Rs.2,70,000/- (1500 x 12 x 15) – claimant has placed on record cash payment/medical bills amounting to Rs.13,909.64/- and is entitled to Rs.13,910/- under the head medical expenses – the claimant has placed on record taxi bills/bus tickets to the tune of Rs.35,443/- and is entitled to Rs.35,500/- under the head transportation charges – compensation of Rs.50,000/- each awarded under the heads pain and suffering and loss of amenities of life- thus, total compensation of Rs.4,19,410/- awarded with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of the award.

Title: Umed Singh Vs. Sohan Singh and others Page-1577

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- It was contended that Tribunal fell in error in assessing compensation under the head loss of earning/future income and in granting interest from the date of filing of the claim petition- the injured was a student aged 14 years – he had sustained 15% permanent disability – his right leg was operated – it can be safely held that after attaining the age of majority, he would have earned atleast Rs.4,000/- per month- he is working as a driver and his income can be taken as Rs.6,000/- per month- the loss under the future head will be Rs.600/- per month – multiplier of 12 is applicable and claimant is entitled to Rs.600 x 12 x 15= Rs. 1,08,000/- under the head loss of earning/future income- Rs.10,000/- awarded under the head medical expenses for the future medical treatment- interest awarded on all heads except the future income from the date of claim petition and on the future income from the date of the award.

Title: ICICI Lombard General Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Rakesh Kumar @ Suresh Kumar &others Page-654

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- MACT dismissed the petition on the ground that rashness and negligence were not proved – held, that the rashness and negligence were not specifically denied by the respondents – witnesses consistently stated that accident was the outcome of rash and negligent driving of the driver – rapat was proved on record – merely because FIR was not lodged cannot lead to the dismissal of the petition- MACT should not succumb to the niceties and hyper technicalities of law – the driver had a valid licence at the time of accident – the vehicle had all the documents and there was no breach of terms and conditions of the policy- claimant had sustained 15% disability – Rs.35,000/- awarded under the head pain and suffering – Rs.35,000/- awarded under the head loss of amenities of life – Rs.5,000/- awarded under the head attendant charges- Rs.10,000/- awarded under the head future medical treatment- Rs.30,000/- awarded under the head medical expenses – Rs.5,000/- awarded under the head special diet.

Title: Daulat Ram Vs. KrishanLal and others Page-502

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Monthly income of the claimant was Rs.5,000/- - claimant had sustained 25% permanent disability- claimant was 35 years at the time of accident – Tribunal had erred in applying the multiplier of 16- multiplier of 14 is applicable- thus, the claimant is entitled to Rs.1250 x 12 x 14= Rs.2,10,000/- - amount awarded under other head is maintained and total compensation of Rs.3,34,000/- awarded with interest @ 7.5% per annum- the claim of third party cannot be defeated on the ground of breach of the terms and conditions of the policy – the insurer saddled with liability with the right to recovery.

Title: Avtar Singh Vs. Tilak Raj &another Page-927

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Monthly income of the deceased was Rs.4,500/- 1/3rd was to be deducted towards personal expenses and loss of source of dependency would be Rs.3,000/- per month- multiplier of 12 is applicable – thus, claimants are entitled to Rs.3000 x 12 x 12= Rs.4,32,000/- under the head loss of dependency- claimants are also entitled to Rs.25,000/- under the head 'loss of consortium and Rs.25,000/- under the head 'loss of love and affection' and 'funeral expenses'- thus, claimants are entitled to Rs.4,82,000/- along with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Reliance General Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Shiv Rajia& others Page-1203

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Number of claimants are three, therefore, 1/3rd was to be deducted from the monthly income towards personal expenses – Tribunal had fallen in error in deducting 1/4th – monthly income of the deceased was Rs.4,000/- and after deducting 1/3rd loss of dependency comes to Rs.2700/- per month – total loss of source of dependency is Rs.2700 x 12 x 16= Rs.5,18,400/-.

Title: National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. SarojKumari and others Page- 512

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- The claim petition was dismissed on the ground that claimant had failed to prove that driver was driving the vehicle in a rash and negligent manner- held, that it was specifically pleaded in the claim petition that the accident was outcome of rash and negligent driving of the driver – FIR was also registered against him- therefore, there was prima facie evidence regarding rashness and negligence – the claimant has to prima facie prove that accident was the outcome of rashness and negligence of the driver- MACT had not returned any findings on issues No. 2 to 4 - the award set aside with the direction to return findings on issues No. 2 to 4.

Title: Raksha Devi Vs. Pradeep Kumar & others Page-817

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- The salary of the deceased was Rs.8,700/- per month – 1/3rd amount was to be deducted towards personal expenses – thus, the claimants have lost source of dependency to the tune of Rs.6,000/- per month- the age of the deceased was 30 years at the time of accident and multiplier of 16 is applicable – thus, claimants are entitled to Rs.6,000 x 12 x 16= Rs.11,52,000/- under the head loss of dependency – the claimants are also entitled to Rs.10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection, loss of consortium, loss of estate and funeral expenses- thus, total compensation of Rs.11,52,00 + 40,000/- =Rs.11,92,000/- awarded along with interest. (Para-8 to 14) Title: The New India Assurance Company Ltd. Vs. Kirna& others Page-1575

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- The vehicle fell down on the house of the claimant and caused damage to the same – MACT awarded compensation – it was pleaded that liability of the insurance company is restricted to Rs. 6,000/- and no extra premium was paid – compensation is excessive- held, that damages sustained by the petitioner were not specified in the valuation report- photographs do not show damage to the residential house – the report Ex.RW-1/A shows the damage to the extent of Rs. 17,200/- - this report was prepared by an independent person/expert – compensation was rightly assessed by the MACT- appeal dismissed.

Title: Gian Chand & ors. Vs. M/s Mohan Transport Company and others Page-1682

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Tribunal awarded compensation of Rs.86,000/- with interest – claimant had stated in the claim petition that he was sitting in the tractor as Labourer with the contractor but it was stated in the affidavit that the claimant was hit by the Tractor on the road – hence, the award set aside – however, Rs.25,000/- awarded under no fault liability.

Title: National Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Nand Lal & another Page-1403

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Tribunal dismissed the claim petition on the ground that the driver was acquitted by the criminal Court- held, that mere acquittal in the criminal case is not sufficient to dismiss the claim petition- a claim petition has to be prima facie proved while criminal case has to be proved beyond reasonable doubt - the deceased was a green grocer and was also selling milk – hence, his income cannot be less than Rs.6,000/- per month- the claimants are three in number and 1/3rd was to be deducted towards personal expenses- multiplier of 15 is applicable and claimants are entitled to Rs.4,000 x 12 x 15= Rs.7,20,000/- under the head loss of dependency- claimants are also entitled to Rs.10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection, loss of estate, funeral expenses and loss of consortium- thus, claimants are entitled to total compensation of Rs.7,60,000/- along with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Vikky Devi and others Vs. Kuldeep Bhatia and others Page- 1212

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 168- A claim petition was filed, which was allowed subject to the production of disability certificate, which was not produced – claimant filed an execution petition, which was also dismissed – he filed a fresh claim petition, which was allowed – held, that second claim petition is not maintainable in view of bar of res-judicata – however with the consent of the parties compensation of Rs. 2 lacs awarded in favour of the claimant.

Title: United India Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Lal Chand & others Page-825

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Deceased was travelling in the vehicle, which rolled down in the rivulet – MACT awarded the compensation of Rs.6,51,000/- along with interest- aggrieved from the award, insurer preferred the present appeal- held, that insurer had not examined any person to prove that the driver did not have a valid driving licence or other documents – the insurer was bound to indemnify the insured and was rightly saddled with liability – compensation was awarded in accordance with law- appeal dismissed.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Sandeep Sharma son of Sh Kuram Chand Page-1570

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Insurer contended that the accident was not caused by the driver of the offending vehicle but by the deceased himself – however, the owner/insured and the driver have not questioned these findings and the insurer has no locus to question the same – insurer does not have the right to challenge the adequacy of compensation as it had not obtained the permission under Section 170 of Motor Vehicles Act- however, the Appellate Court is to do complete justice between the parties – the income of the deceased was Rs. 15,630/- per month- the deceased was bachelor and 50% of the amount has to be deducted towards personal expenses – claimants have lost dependency of Rs.7,800/- per month- the age of the deceased was 23 years and multiplier of 15 was applicable – Tribunal had wrongly applied the multiplier of 18- claimants have lost source of dependency to the tune of Rs.7,800 x 12 x 15= Rs.14,04,000/- - claimants are entitled to the compensation of Rs.10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection, loss of estate and funeral expenses- total compensation of Rs.14,34,000/- awarded along with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Cholamandlam MS General Insurance Company Limited Vs. Shakuntla Devi and others Page- 1537

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Insurer contended that the vehicle was being driven by S and not by M – held, that the insurer had not taken permission to contest the claim on all grounds and cannot question the adequacy of compensation – moreover, the MACT had rightly made the discussion and no interference is required with the same- however, the rate of interest reduced to 7.5% per annum from 9%.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Vs. Santosh w/o Late Sh. Lekh Ram &Ors. Page-520

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Insurer had limited grounds available to file an appeal – it can seek permission to contest the claim petition on all the grounds after seeking permission under Section 170 of the Act- no such permission was obtained by the Insurer and appeal cannot be filed on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

Title: The New India Assurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Kamlesh Kumari and others Page-383

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Insurer had not sought permission under Section 170 and it cannot question the award on the ground of adequacy of compensation- however, the Appellate Court can pass an order, which should have been passed by the Tribunal, even without any appeal/cross-objections- the age of the deceased was 47 years at the time of accident- monthly income of the deceased was Rs.31,510/- as per the salary certificate – after deducting the contribution towards income tax the annual income of the deceased is Rs.3,50,000/- - claimants are seven in numbers and 1/5th amount was to be deducted towards personal expenses – thus, the claimants have lost Rs.2,80,000/- towards source of income – multiplier of 11 is applicable and claimants have lost Rs.2,80,000 x 11= Rs.30,80,000/- towards the source of the income- compensation of Rs.20,000/- awarded under the heads funeral expenses, loss of love and affection and loss of consortium - the claimants are entitled to the compensation of Rs.30,80,000 + 20,000= Rs.31,00,000/- with interest @ 7.5% per annum.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Limited Vs. Krishna Kumari and others Page-1420

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- The insurer challenged the award on the quantum of compensation – held, that Insurer has to seek the permission to contest the claim petition on all the grounds available to it and in case permission has not been sought and granted, it is precluded from questioning the award on the ground of adequacy of compensation – it can challenge the award only on the grounds, which are available to it- no permission was sought to contest the claim petition on all grounds and therefore the appeal by the insurer is not maintainable -otherwise also, the compensation is meager and the same has not been questioned by the claimants- hence, the same is reluctantly upheld.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Limited Vs. DilaKumari& others Page-688

'N'

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused K and M were found in possession of 2.5 k.g and 2.2. kg. charas, respectively – accused K had facilitated transportation of charas by accused M and accused S had facilitated transportation of charas by other accused - accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that acquittal was recorded on the basis of omissions, procedural irregularities and contradictions – the prosecution version was proved by the testimonies of the police officials- recovery was effected from the bag and there was no need of compliance with Section 50 of N.D.P.S. Act – I.O. should have filled NCB form separately but no such guidelines were formulated at the time of recovery and the omission to do so will not make the prosecution case doubtful- I.O. specifically stated in cross-examination that he had prepared only one NCB form- the link evidence was proved- merely, because the parcels were not marked will not lead to the acquittal of the accused – the defence version was not probable – any defect in the investigation will not result in the acquittal of the accused- no evidence was brought on record to show that accused S had facilitated the transportation of charas – appeal allowed- accused K and M convicted for the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of N.D.P.S. Act.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Kamlesh Kumar & others (D.B.) Page-198

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 1 kg. 550 grams charas- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the accused was travelling in the bus, however, no independent witness was associated- one police official was not examined – there are material contradictions in the testimonies of police witnesses – the testimonies of the police officials are not cogent or trustworthy and cannot be made basis for convicting the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Ram Kishan (D.B.) Page-1346

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 1.540 kg. charas – he was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the prosecution version that accused was apprised of his right to be searched before a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer was not proved – no independent witness was associated – there are contradictions in the statements of other prosecution witnesses – the Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Darshan Lal (D.B.) Page-1666

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 505 grams charas- he was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that the independent witness has not supported the prosecution version – other independent witness was given up by the prosecution – there are contradictions in the statements of official witnesses – the trial Court had rightly refused to rely upon the testimonies of the official witnesses – appeal dismissed.
Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Pawan Kumar and others (D.B.) Page-1675

N.D.P.S. ACT, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 3 kg. charas- he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that accused had admitted the presence of police party in the bus, search of the bag and recovery of charas – he claimed that bag did not belong to him but was unclaimed – independent witnesses did not support the prosecution version but that by itself is not sufficient to discard the prosecution version – testimonies of police officials can be relied upon if supported by other materials- the testimonies cannot be discarded on the ground that police officials are interested in the success of their cases- police officials consistently proved the prosecution version – there are no contradictions in their testimonies- police has no enmity with the accused - link evidence was proved - non-production of malkhana register to establish the movement of contraband from the FSL to Police Station and thereafter to Court will not make the prosecution case doubtful in absence of any prejudice- similarly, absence of reference in NCB form, sample seal and the road certificate will not render the prosecution case doubtful; when there is no discrepancy regarding the number and nature of seal or their tampering or breaking-non-production of seal will also not make the prosecution case suspect – recovery was effected from the bag and there was no necessity to comply with Section 50 of N.D.P.S. Act- the prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal dismissed.
Title: Sohan Lal Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (D.B.) Page-274

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 230 grams charas – he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that independent witness was not associated, although witnesses were available- the charas was found to be in the form of sticks and one ball in FSL but was found in the form of sticks in the Court- the prosecution version is doubtful, in these circumstances- appeal allowed- accused acquitted.
Title: Bakhtawar Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page- 297

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 1 kg. charas- he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecution version regarding the recovery was duly proved by oral testimonies and the documents – minor contradictions in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses are not sufficient to discard them- link evidence is also established – recovery was effected without any prior information and provision of Section 42 is not applicable – charas was found to be 920 grams in the FSL, which is less than commercial quantity – sentence modified – proceedings ordered to be initiated against the conductor for making a false statement in the Court.
Title: Arun Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (D.B.) Page-117

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 21- Accused was found in possession of 14 grams of heroin – accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that independent witness had not supported the prosecution version but he had admitted the signatures on the memos – the fact that the documents were signed without any pressure show that witness was not stating the truth before the Court – police officials proved the prosecution version – the findings recorded by the Trial Court that accused was not found in possession of contraband are not correct – appeal allowed and the accused convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 21 of N.D.P.S. Act- notice issued to the witness as to why proceedings be not initiated against him for making a false statement.
Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Kamlesh alias Kaka (D.B.) Page-1804

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985-Section 18 and 20- A motorcycle being driven by accused M and occupied by accused K was intercepted by the police- accused K was found in the possession of 800 grams charas and 150 grams opium- accused M was found to be driving the motorcycle without any permit – the accused were tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that independent witnesses have not supported the prosecution version – timing in the ruqua was changed from 18.30 hours (6:30 P.M.) to 10:00 P.M. - no explanation for the same was given – there was contradiction regarding the person, who had carried out the search and seizure- the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses are contradictory – the Trial Court had rightly refused to place reliance on their testimonies – appeal dismissed.
Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Krishna (D.B.) Page-1442

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881- Section 138- A complaint was filed alleging that accused had borrowed sum of Rs.40,000/- from the complainant – accused issued a cheque of Rs.40,000/- for re-payment of the amount, which was dis-honoured with the endorsement insufficient funds – the accused was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed on the ground that cheque was presented twice but the notice was issued only once- held in revision that cheque could have been presented many times during the period of validity- the notice was issued only second time – there was holiday on the last day of presentation and the cheque was presented on the next working day- Appellate Court had wrongly set aside the judgment of Trial Court- revision allowed and judgment of Appellate Court set aside while that of the Trial Court restored.
Title: Ram Chand Vs. Sunita Abrol Page-905

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881- Section 138- Accused issued a cheque, which was dishonoured on presentation- the accused pleaded guilty and was convicted by the Trial Court- sentence of fine equivalent to the amount mentioned in the cheque was imposed - held, that the accused can be sentenced to an imprisonment for a term, which may extend upto two years and fine which may extend to double the cheque amount – however, discretion has been conferred upon the Magistrate to impose appropriate sentence – the fact that the accused has pleaded guilty was a relevant fact to be taken into consideration while imposing sentence – the complainant has suffered no inconvenience by the sentence- petition dismissed.
Title: M/s Techno Plastic Industries Vs. M/S Kiran General store and another
Page-1519

Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881- Section 138- Accused issued two cheques of Rs.4 lacs and Rs.3 lacs for carrying out construction of a set on the slab purchased by the accused- cheques were dishonoured with the remarks 'insufficient funds' – the accused failed to make payment despite the receipt of the notice – the accused was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held in revision that the complainant had not produced the earlier cheques issued by the accused and had not given their serial numbers- he had not produced the bills of the material used by him to complete the construction of the flat- statement of wife of the complainant also made the version of the complainant doubtful - revision allowed- judgments of the trial Court and Appellate Court set aside and the accused acquitted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 138 of N.I. Act.
Title: Neelam Sharma Vs. Ved Prakash Page-1408

'P'

Partition Act,1893- Section 4- A Local Commissioner was appointed to partition the property in accordance with the preliminary decree- another Local Commissioner was appointed to sell the property – Local Commissioner sold the property but the parties were not willing to pay 50% increase – property in Himachal could not be partitioned due to non-corporative attitude of the parties- a fresh Local Commissioner was appointed – objections were filed to his appointment-objections dismissed as baseless – Local Commissioner directed to partition the property in accordance with the preliminary decree.

Title: Rajinder Kumar VermaVs. Anita Verma &ors. Page-440

Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954- Section 16(1)(a)(i)- Sample of Vanaspati was taken, which was found to be adulterated on analysis- the accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that the sample was analyzed by Central Food Laboratory after three years- mere failure to pass Baudouin test is not sufficient to convict a person – appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P Vs. Maharaj Kumar and others Page-1436

Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954- Section 16(1)(a)(i)- Samples of glucose biscuits were taken, which were found to be misbranded- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court – held in appeal that Food Inspector deposed about the taking of the sample and completion of codal formalities – his testimony was not shaken in cross-examination- respondent No. 1 had purchased the food item from respondent No. 3, who had died during the pendency of the appeal- respondent No. 1 and 2 were convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 16(1)(a)(i) read with Section 7(ii) of Prevention of Food Adulteration Act.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Chaman Lal and another Page-182

Probation of Offenders Act, 1958- Section 6 read with Section 11- Applicants pleaded that accused were less than 21 years of age at the time of their conviction and it was mandatory for the Court to grant the benefit of Probation Of Offenders Act- held, that the Trial Court had considered the question, whether the benefit of Probation of Offenders was to be granted to the accused or not and taking into consideration the nature of the offence, the Trial Court had decided not to extend the benefit – this decision was not challenged in appeal or revision- a discretion has been vested in the Trial Court to grant the benefit of Probation or decline the same and the Court cannot be compelled to grant the benefit in all cases – application dismissed.

Title: Mohammad Farman and another Vs. State of H.P. Page-1557

Punjab Excise Act, 1914- Section 61(1)(a)- Accused was found in possession of 5 cartons of Indian made foreign liquor each containing 12 bottles and one carton of country liquor 'Patiala' brand- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that independent witnesses were available but were not associated –the link evidence was missing – the case property was not bearing any seal when it was produced before the Court- the view taken by the Trial Court was reasonable- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Subhash Chand Page-1343

Punjab Excise Act, 1914- Section 61(i)(a)- Accused was found in possession of 12 bottles of country liquor – he was tried and convicted by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, that only three bottles were sent for analysis out of which two were found to be country liquor – no permit is required for possessing two bottles and the prosecution version that the accused was found in possession of 12 bottles was not proved- revision petition allowed and judgments of Trial Court and Appellate Court set aside- accused acquitted.

Title: Joginder Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-1777

Punjab Excise Act, 1914- Section 61(i)(a)- Accused were found in possession of 6 bags containing 4 boxes each and one box containing two boxes of country liquor each, box was containing 50 pouches each of 180 ml. liquor- accused were tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed and the accused were acquitted- held in appeal that the prosecution version was proved by the official witnesses – report of CTL proved that pouches were containing country liquor in them – simply because independent witnesses had not supported the prosecution version is not sufficient to record acquittal especially when he had admitted his signatures on the seizure memo - he was estopped from denying his signatures in view of bar contained in Sections 91 and 92 of Indian Evidence Act – Appellate Court had wrongly acquitted the accused- appeal allowed- judgment of Appellate Court set aside and that of the Trial Court restored.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Sanjeev Kumar Page-821

Punjab Excise Act, 1914- Section 61(i)(c)- Accused had set up an apparatus for production of illicit liquor- 10 liters illicit liquor and 100 liter drum containing lahan were found – the accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in revision that no independent witnesses were associated by the police party as the recovery was effected during the night time – the conviction can be placed upon the statements of the official witnesses subject to careful and cautious scrutiny of their statements – there are over writings in the daily diary at two places regarding the time , which makes the prosecution version doubtful – recovered illicit liquor was never produced before the Court -considering the fact that prosecution is relying upon the testimonies of official witnesses – the contradictions become significant – revision allowed and accused acquitted of the charge framed against him.

Title: Girdhari Lal Vs. State of H.P. Page-75

'S'

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiff filed a suit for possession and mesne profit – it was pleaded that L, previous owner of the property had executed a lease in favour of the defendants – she had executed a Will in favour of plaintiff No.2- plaintiff No.2 created a trust – defendant No.1 was asked to attorn in favour of plaintiff No.2 – but he asked the plaintiff No.2 to get his title cleared from the Court- the defendant failed to hand over the possession after expiry of the lease and threatened to raise construction forcibly – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court – appeal was filed, which was allowed – held in second appeal that a notification was issued during the pendency of the proceedings bringing the area in the limits of M.C. Shimla- however, the defendants do not fall within the definition of the tenants under Section 2(j) of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act and the plea regarding the applicability of Rent Act to them is not acceptable – defendants were held to be in unauthorized possession by the Appellate Court- the issue of title, execution of Will and creation of trust were decided in a previous judgment – therefore, the judgment is relevant in this case- the Appellate Court had rightly placed reliance upon the same- appeal dismissed.

Title: M/s.Byford Private Ltd.& Others Vs. Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust & Another Page-6

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiff pleaded that he is owner of the suit land- water pipe lines were laid through his land despite his objection – Officers of the State assured to acquire the land and to give employment to the son of the plaintiff - these promises were not fulfilled and the plaintiff instituted a suit for mandatory injunction- the job was provided to the son of the plaintiff and plaintiff got the suit dismissed in default- however, son of the plaintiff was removed from service- hence, the suit was filed for seeking possession- the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was also dismissed- held, that earlier suit was dismissed in default for non-appearance – plaintiff failed to prove that assurances were made to him at the time of laying pipe lines – circumstances show that pipe line was laid with the consent of the plaintiff- the suit was rightly dismissed by the Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Rameshwar Dass (Deceased) through LR Bhushan Lal Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others Page-1298

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiffs filed civil suit pleading that they are owners in possession of the shop – predecessor-in-interest of the defendants had asked the plaintiffs for one room – plaintiffs had permitted him to keep the material – he had not vacated the room – hence, the suit was filed seeking possession – the defendants pleaded that shop was joint family property and was allotted to the predecessor of the defendants – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court – an appeal was filed, which was also dismissed- held in second appeal that the suit land is recorded to be in the joint ownership of the parties in the revenue record - the land was not partitioned by metes and bounds – Hindi translation of the document in Urdu was not proved and reliance could not have been placed upon the same – however, in absence of partition, plaintiffs were not entitled for any relief – appeal dismissed.

Title: Pushpa Devi & others Vs. AmroDevi and others Page-1197

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5 or 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he had given four rooms to the defendants as licencee- he demanded the possession but the defendants threatened to demolish the rooms – defendants pleaded adverse possession – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that the evidence in support of adverse possession was not satisfactory – the ingredients of adverse possession were not established – plaintiff is recorded to be the owner in the copy of jamabandi, which carries with it a presumption of correctness- the suit was maintainable without joining the co-owners – the evidence was properly appreciated by the Courts – appeal dismissed.

Title: Bimla and others Vs. Saroj Rani Page- 488

Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act 1989- Section 3(1)(x)- Informant stated that accused called him Chamar and Dagi in presence of many people – the accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that the informant and PW-2 had a grouse against the accused and the motive to implicate the accused falsely– there was a delay of 32-34 days in reporting the matter to police, which makes the prosecution case suspect- the trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

Title: State of H.P. Vs. Santosh Kumar Page-550

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 20- Defendant No.1 had agreed to sell half share of his land to the plaintiff for a sum of Rs.20,000/- - an amount of Rs.19,000/- was paid as earnest money- the balance amount was to be paid at the time of execution and registration of the sale deed – defendant assured to execute the sale deed after his return from abroad - when the plaintiff asked the defendant to execute the sale deed, defendant No.1 told him that sale deed was registered in favour of defendant No.2, which is illegal- hence, the suit was filed for seeking specific performance – the defendants denied the execution of the agreement – the suit was partly decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that no evidence was led to prove that the defendant No.2 is bona-fide purchaser for consideration – no evidence was led to prove that the compromise between the plaintiff and defendant No.1 was collusive in nature – the Trial Court and Appellate Court had ignored the material evidence- hence, appeal allowed and the suit of the plaintiff decreed for specific performance.

Title: Paras Ram alias Govind Vs. Jasmati and others Page-194

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 20- Plaintiff filed a civil suit seeking the specific performance of the agreement to sell the suit land – the defendant denied the claim of the plaintiff- the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that plaintiff has to prove his continuous readiness and willingness to perform the contract from the date of agreement till hearing – plaintiff had pleaded that he was ready and willing to perform his part of the contract, to pay remaining consideration and to bear the expenditure of execution and registration of the sale deed, which is not in accordance with Form 47 and Order 6 Rule 3 of C.P.C – plaintiff had only paid Rs.50,000/- out of Rs.4 lacs agreed to be paid – it was not proved that plaintiff was possessed of balance consideration and was ready to pay the same to the defendant- it was mentioned in the agreement that entire consideration was paid, which is not correct - plaintiff cannot be faulted for not executing the sale deed, in these circumstances – appeal allowed and the suit dismissed with the cost of Rs.20,000/- each.

Title: ChanderLekha Vs. PurshotamDutt and others Page-1261

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 20- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for specific performance and in the alternative for damages – it was pleaded that plaintiff had entered into an agreement to purchase the suit land for a consideration of Rs.98,000/- - a sum of Rs.70,000/- was paid as earnest money- the balance was to be paid at the time of the execution of the sale deed – the defendants failed to execute the sale deed- hence, the suit was filed – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was partly allowed- held in second appeal that both the Courts found that agreement to sell was executed between the parties – sum of Rs.70,000/- was paid as earnest money- - Courts also found that Rs.28,000/- was not paid by the plaintiff on or before the due date – a substantial amount was paid to the defendants at the time of execution of the agreement – the suit should have been decreed by the Courts for specific performance – appeal allowed and the suit of the plaintiff decreed for the specific performance of the agreement.

Title: Om Parkash Vs. MadhuChandel and another Page-1565

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 20- Plaintiff filed a civil suit seeking specific performance of the agreement executed by defendant No.1- it was pleaded that possession was handed over after receiving sale consideration of Rs.10,000/- - the land was a tenancy land and therefore, sale deed could not be executed – it was agreed that sale deed would be executed on the conferment of proprietary rights – defendant No.1 failed to execute the sale deed and after the receipt of the notice, executed a gift deed in favour of defendant No.1- the defendant No.1 denied the execution of the agreement - the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that marginal witnesses to the agreement were not produced- there were contradictions regarding the name of the person in whose presence the money was paid- sale deed was executed on the same day, which probablized the version that the agreement was got executed by way of misrepresentation- the delivery of possession was also not established- the suit was rightly dismissed by the Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Bhawani Devi Vs. Deo, S/o Gainda and others Page-869

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34 and 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit pleading that they were co-owners in possession of the suit land – D had executed sale of his share but mutation could not be attested- the sale deed was mistakenly executed regarding the whole land, which was not permissible- revenue entries were not correctly recorded- defendants started digging the suit land to raise structure over the same- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- held in second appeal that copy of jamabandi shows that D was co-sharer to the extent of 1/4th share – revenue record does not substantiate the fact that entire land was exclusively owned and possessed by D- therefore, he could not have parted with more land than was owned by him- the plea that defendants had become owners by way of adverse possession was not proved as no evidence was led that D was in possession of the entire land to the exclusion of the other co-owners - it was also not proved that D had denied the title of the other co-owners – appeal allowed- judgment and decree passed by District Judge set aside.

Title: Pratap Singh and others Vs. Ram Rattan, son of Shri Lachhmi Singh

Page- 166

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34 and 38- Plaintiffs pleaded that revenue entries were changed in their absence – a sale deed was executed and a mutation was attested on the basis of the wrong entries- plaintiffs sought declaration and injunction – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed – held, in second appeal that the plaintiffs are the legal heirs of deceased R, who was the previous owner of the property – succession certificate was also granted in their favour – the plea of adverse possession was not established – the suit was rightly decreed by the Courts- appeal dismissed.

Title: Shankar Lal (through LRs) Vs. Ramesh Chander (through LRs) and others

Page-736

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34 and 38- Plaintiffs pleaded that suit land was jointly possessed by S and D as tenants – it was succeeded by the plaintiffs after the death of S and D- proceedings for ejectment were initiated against the plaintiffs on the basis of ejectment order passed by SDO (Civil) against D- the order was a nullity as no notice was issued to D – the defendants pleaded that the suit land was granted to S and D but the allotment was cancelled on the ground that land was not utilized for the purpose for which it was granted- suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed – held in second appeal that the possession of the plaintiffs and the fact that ejectment proceedings were initiated against the plaintiffs were not disputed – plaintiffs were not parties to the earlier ejectment proceedings- even if the plaintiffs are tress passers, they cannot be ejected except in accordance with law- Appellate Court had rightly restrained the defendants from ejecting the plaintiffs – appeal dismissed.

Title: State of Himachal Pradesh and another Vs. Shakuntla Devi and others

Page-883

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- P was owner in possession of the suit land – plaintiff, defendant No.1 and father of defendants No.6 and 7 are the sons of P, who constituted a joint Hindu Family- P had 1/5th share – he is stated to have executed a Will – defendant No.2 executed a gift deed in favour of defendants No.5 to 12, which is impermissible- hence, a suit was filed for seeking declaration – the suit was partly decreed- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that suit land located in C was proved to be coparcenary property- suit land located in L and H was not proved to be coparcenary property – it was not proved that land in L and H was acquired from the usufructs of land located in C- the Courts had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed.

Title: Harnam Dass Vs. Jagdish and others Page-976

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for declaration pleading that he had become the owner of the suit land by abandonment or in the alternative by adverse possession- defendant denied the claim of the plaintiff and set up a counter-claim- the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court and counter-claim was decreed – plaintiff filed an appeal, which was dismissed – held in second appeal thatthe suit was dismissed and counter claim was decreed – a decree of possession was passed in favour of the defendants – appeal was filed against the dismissal of the suit and decree of the counter claim – counter claim is treated as suit for all intents and purposes – separate appeal was required to be filed regarding the decree of the counter-claim – a single appeal was not maintainable – appeal dismissed.

Title: Surinder Kumar & Others Vs. Sumati Kumari Joshi & Others Page-1767

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit seeking declaration that shamlat land was allotted to him – the allotment was cancelled but the order of cancellation was set aside in the civil suit- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed-representation was made subsequently by the residents of the area on which the allotment was cancelled – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was also dismissed- held in second appeal that cancellation was set aside in the previous suit on the ground that Sub Divisional Magistrate had no jurisdiction to cancel the allotment and only Commissioner was empowered to do so – subsequent cancellation was made by the Commissioner – the land was never possessed by the plaintiff and the allotment was rightly set aside- appeal dismissed.

Title: Rattan Chand Sharma Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh through Collector, Kangra at Dharamshala, H.P. Page-1231

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit, which was compromised – a mutation was sanctioned on the basis of compromise – an appeal was filed, which was dismissed – a civil suit was filed against these orders – the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to go into the question, where adequate remedy has been provided under the H.P. Land Revenue Act is barred – a remedy of approaching Financial Commissioner was available to the plaintiff – the Appellate Court had wrongly discarded this reasoning of the trial Court- appeal allowed – the judgment of the Appellate Court set aside and that of the trial Court restored.

Title: Tikka Maheshwar Chand Vs. Ripudaman Singh Page-214

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for declaration pleading that the land is wrongly recorded to be in joint ownership of the parties – it has been partitioned in a family partition- the deceased plaintiff was taken to document writer and was told to sign on the papers for correcting the revenue entries and in this manner his signatures were obtained on the gift deed – the suit was filed to set aside the gift deed- the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred and the case was remanded – the suit was again dismissed by the trial Court- judgment and decree were partly modified in appeal- held in second appeal that no document regarding the family partition was placed on record – partition was also not recorded in the revenue record – it was proved by the evidence that gift deed was got executed by representing it to be a document of family partition – the evidence was rightly appreciated by the Courts - no relief of possession was sought and could not have been granted – appeal dismissed.

Title: Dola Ram & others Vs. Ganga Singh & others Page-220

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit seeking declaration that the suit land is in possession of the plaintiff as tenant on the payment of the rent – he has become owner by operation of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act – he and his predecessor were never evicted – the entry in favour of the defendant is wrong – the civil suit was decreed by the Trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff was recorded but defendants No.1 , 2 to 4 have been recorded to be in possession as gairmaurusidoem while predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff has been recorded as gairmaurusiavwal- the plaintiff admitted that entries were existing since 1979 – the suit was filed after 11 years – the witness of the plaintiff admitted that shops were constructed by the defendants – defendants proved that suit land is in their possession and they have constructed shops over the same- a road has also been constructed by PWD- the entries were changed during consolidation and correction was carried out as per the position on the spot- land is not under cultivation – no document was brought on record to show that the plaintiff was inducted as gairmaurusi tenant whereas, the defendants were able to prove that they were inducted as tenants over the suit land by the original owner- Trial Court had wrongly concluded that plaintiff is in possession of the suit land and entries were wrongly changed in favour of the defendants- on the other hand, the Appellate Court had rightly concluded that change in entries was in accordance with the procedure and the factual position at the spot – appeal dismissed.

Title: KartaraVs.Sinno Devi & Others Page-346

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit that the entry showing D to be gairmaurusi are incorrect – no Will was executed by D – permissive possession of D came to an end on her death – defendant pleaded that D was a tenant who became the owner on the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- she had executed a Will – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that The Appellate Court had held that J appeared to have died in the year 1976 as mutation of inheritance was sanctioned on 11.3.1976 - the Will was executed when proprietary rights were not conferred upon D – Appellate Court had drawn the conclusion on the basis of presumption/conjecture and surmises without any ground of appeal- appeal allowed – the case remanded to the Appellate Court for a fresh decision.

Title: Khem Chand Vs. Gopal Singh Page-772

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff pleaded that D was the owner of the suit land- suit land was acquired by the plaintiff and the proforma defendants by way of gift- it was given to R for the purpose of living on Dharmarth – defendant No.1 and 2 got a Will executed by R – R had no right in the suit land – the defendants pleaded that D had executed a gift in favour of RS, who was tenant of D – his widow R remained in possession of the property as owner- she executed a Will in favour of the defendants No.1 and 2- they filed a counter claim seeking declaration – suit was dismissed by the Trial Court and counter claim was decreed- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that Trial Court had dismissed the suit and had decreed the counter-claim – one appeal was filed for setting aside the decree passed in the civil suit- no prayer was made for setting aside the decree in the counter-claim- counter-claim is a suit for all intents and purposes – separate appeals were required to be filed against the dismissal of the suit and decree of the counter-claim – once the defendants have been declared to be the owners while decreeing their counter-claim, relief could not have been granted to the plaintiff without setting aside the decree in the counter-claim- composite appeal was not maintainable- appeal dismissed.

Title: Mohan Singh Vs. Inder Singh & Others Page-1279

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff pleaded that he is owner in possession of the suit land with his sister – defendant applied for partition- plaintiff raised objection but partition was ordered ignoring the objections raised by the plaintiff- plaintiff sought declaration that order of the partition is null and void – the suit was dismissed by the trial Court as barred by Section 171(xvii) of H.P. Land Revenue Act- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held in second appeal that when the Court had concluded that it had no jurisdiction, it should have returned the plaint for presentation before appropriate forum – the plaintiff was to file an appeal/revision before Revenue authorities – hence, the plaintiff permitted to withdraw the suit with liberty to take appropriate proceedings in the forum having jurisdiction.

Title: Label Chand alias Albel Chand Vs. Sita Devi &ors. Page-945

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff pleaded that she is owner in possession of the suit land – defendant has no right over the same - previous owner K had not executed any Will – the defendant pleaded that K had executed a Will in favour of the defendant and he has become the owner after the death of K – suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- held in second appeal that plaintiff had not appeared in the witness box to prove that Will was a forged document and adverse inference has to be drawn against her – the deceased had put her thumb impression on the Will and plaintiff had not sought the comparison of the thumb impression to determine the genuineness of the same – the execution of the Will was proved by the defendant by leading cogent and convincing evidence – the Appellate Court had rightly held that the execution of the Will was proved – appeal dismissed.

Title: Brij Lal (since deceased) through his LRs Manohar Lal &Ors. Vs. Shakti Chand Page-930

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff pleaded that she was taken for securing bank loan – some documents were executed under the influence of liquor- it was found that power of attorney was got executed, which was got revoked – a sale deed was executed in the meantime on the basis of power of attorney – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that plaintiff had failed to prove that power of attorney was got executed as a result of fraud – while the evidence of the defendant that the power of attorney was executed voluntarily was satisfactory - however, the sale deed was executed after the revocation of the power of attorney- therefore, the sale deed is not valid – the Appellate Court had rightly reversed the judgment of the trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Vidya Devi Vs. Hem Raj Page-1

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff pleaded that suit land was jointly owned and possessed by the parties – mutation wrongly attested in favour of defendant No.1 exclusively - the defendant No.1 pleaded that land belonged to H who had sold some portion of the suit land and had executed a Will in her favour – the suit was decreed by the Trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that no attesting witness was examined to prove the execution of the Will- however, the execution of the sale deed was duly proved – the Courts had correctly appreciated the evidence and no interference was warranted with the same – appeal dismissed.

Title: Raj Kumari Vs. Sheela Devi & Others Page-1088

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit in representative capacity – the judgment and decree dated 9.12.1959 were obtained by playing a fraud in connivance with Ex-Sarpanch of the village – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that the suit land had vested in the gram Panchayat – previous suit was filed seeking declaration regarding the possession – Pardhan was authorized to defend the suit but he compromised the suit without any authorization to do so- Gram Panchayat filed a civil suit to set aside the decree but the suit was withdrawn by Pardhan – customary right was established by the plaintiffs- land had vested in Gram Panchayat- mere fact that some of the plaintiffs had died during the pendency of the suit will not result in the dismissal of the same, but the abatement shall be partial – the suit was rightly decreed by the trial Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Sita Devi and others Vs. Lekh Ram and others Page-149

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit seeking declaration that they are owners in possession of the suit land – the suit land was wrongly recorded to be in possession of defendants No.1 to 3- AC 1st Grade had wrongly declared the defendants to be the owners in possession of the suit land – defendants claimed that suit land was in possession of their predecessor-in-interest as non-occupancy tenant- plaintiffs had purchased the suit land in the year 1965-66 but the tenancy was prior to the sale – defendants had become the owners after the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that in the present case defendants had filed counter-claim, which was dismissed by the Trial Court – the suit of the plaintiff was decreed- Counter-claim is in the nature of a cross suit – a separate decree should have been prepared in the counter-claim- Appellate Court should not have entertained composite appeal – appeal allowed – judgment of the Appellate Court set aside and that of the Trial Court restored.

Title: Piar Chand & Others Vs. Ranjeet Singh & Others Page-34

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit pleading that the possession of plaintiffs over the suit land is open, peaceful, hostile, continuous and without interruption to the knowledge of the defendants from January, 1960 which has matured into title- plaintiffs have become the owners by way of adverse possession – defendants No.1 and 2 had obtained a collusive judgment from Assistant Collector, Sarakaghat which does not affect the right of the plaintiffs- the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was partly allowed- held in second appeal that proceedings were initiated by Assistant Collector for evicting the deceased defendant – the bartandarans were not impleaded and the suit was decreed in their absence- this shows that the judgment was passed by A.C. 1st Grade collusively and without following the principle of natural justice- the Courts below had passed the judgments rightly – appeal dismissed.

Title: Roop Singh (since dead) through LRs &Ors.Vs. Prabha Ram &Ors.

Page-591

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs sought declaration that they are owners in possession of the suit land and the entry showing the defendant to be the owner is wrong, illegal, null and void as the defendant was never inducted as a tenant – the defendant pleaded that he was inducted as a tenant on the payment of gallabatai and has become the owner on the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed – held in second appeal that the plaintiffs had purchased the land in the year 1966 from predecessor-in-interest of the defendant- defendant was a co-owner and therefore cannot be a tenant – the version the defendant was paying gallabatai was not proved – the order was passed in the absence of the plaintiffs and would not bind them – the suit was rightly decreed- appeal dismissed.

Title: Subhash Chand Vs. Bhim Sen and another Page-1206

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that he is a co-sharer in the suit land – he had improved the suit land by spending considerable amount- defendants threatened to construct a road through the suit land – hence, the suit was filed – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that it was duly proved that suit land was allotted to the plaintiff and was made cultivable by the plaintiff and his brothers- plaintiff is recorded to be the owner in possession of the suit land- no material was brought on record to controvert the revenue entries- no plea was taken that defendants were entitled to use the passage in exercise of easementary and customary rights – the defendants had failed to prove the existence of passage over the suit land- the Appellate Court had wrongly allowed the appeal- appeal dismissed.

Title: Shambhu Ram Vs. Lakhu and others Page-65

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that defendant is obstructing the passage to his house and is not allowing him to carry the construction material – defendant denied the existence of the passage- the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that plaintiff had proved the existence of the path by the spot map, oral testimony and the revenue record- however, no satisfactory evidence was led by the defendant- the Appellate Court had wrongly discarded the evidence on the ground that no demarcation was conducted- however, the demarcation was not required- appeal allowed- judgment of Appellate Court set aside and the suit of the plaintiff decreed.

Title: Chattar Singh Vs. Gauri Singh and others Page-492

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he is owner in possession of the suit land- the defendants threatened to take forcible possession of the same – the suit was opposed by the defendants by pleading that a portion of the suit land was purchased by defendant No.1 vide agreement dated 14.11.1984- defendant No.1 is in possession of the portion of the suit land and has become owner by adverse possession- the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed – held in second appeal that the agreement shows that the father of the minor plaintiff had agreed to sell the suit land to the defendant No.1 for a sale consideration of Rs.2,000/- - the father of the plaintiff was not competent to alienate the property of the plaintiff and the agreement will not bind the plaintiff- Besides, it was established by the Revenue Record that plaintiff is in possession – defendants had not led sufficient evidence to rebut the presumption of the correctness attached to the revenue record- the suit was rightly decreed by the Appellate Court- appeal dismissed.

Title: Rattan Chand (since dead) through LRs &Anr. Vs. Julfi Ram Page-1200

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he is co-owner of the suit land – the defendants threatened to raise construction over the same- the defendants denied that suit land is owned jointly by the parties and claimed that an old abadi existed over the suit land- the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that it was admitted that suit land is abadideh and has not been partitioned by metes and bounds – defendant No.1 had purchased a specific portion of abadi from defendant No. 2 and became a co-sharer – he was raising new construction by demolishing the old one – plaintiff has failed to prove his possession over abadi and is not entitled to the injunction – appeal dismissed.

Title: Surinder Mohan Vs. Ramesh Kumar &Anr. Page-899

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he is owner in possession of the suit land- the defendant is stranger who is interfering with the suit land without any right to do so- the defendant pleaded that suit land was exchanged by father of plaintiff with G – G had given the suit land to the defendant – defendant had raised construction of three shops and one house over the suit land – the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that the Courts had rejected the exchange deed on the ground that it was not registered and no specific area was mentioned in the same – father of the plaintiff had not raised any objection when the construction was raised by the defendant, which means that he had agreed to the same – no objection was raised at the time of exhibition of deed of exchange – non-registration will not affect the part performance- the Courts had not properly appreciated the evidence – appeal allowed and suit of the plaintiff dismissed.

Title: Tek Chand Vs. Govind Kumar Page-1369

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he is owner in possession of the suit land – the defendants have encroached upon a portion of the suit land – the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that the demarcation proved the encroachment – there was no infirmity in the process of demarcation – an owner has a right to claim possession of the encroached land- the suit was rightly decreed by the Courts- appeal dismissed.

Title: Ashok Kumar and another Vs. Amrit Lal and others Page-971

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he is co-owner in possession of the suit land – defendants were threatening to interfere in the ownership and possession of the plaintiff and to discharge the water of their taps and rainy water in the suit land and to create passage over the same – they had encroached upon part of the suit land- the defendants denied the claim of the plaintiff- the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that the demarcation was obtained during the pendency of the suit- no objection was filed to the report of demarcation – the report was duly proved – the demarcation was conducted in accordance with law – the right of passage was not established by the defendants- the Courts had rightly appreciated the evidence.

Title: Ramesh Chand & Others Vs. Roop Singh (since deceased) Through his LRs. Smt. Pushpa Devi &Ors. Page-1109

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he is owner in possession of the suit land – defendants threatened to interfere in the suit land and to demolish the Chhapar situated over the same without any right to do so – defendants pleaded that they were licencees and had constructed a chhapar under the licence – suit was decreed by the trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that findings were recorded by Appellate Court on the basis of conjectures and not on the basis of the facts- the Court can record the findings on the basis of the facts and not on the basis of presumption- it was obligatory for the Appellate Court to take into consideration the reasoning of the trial Court and thereafter to record its own findings- appeal allowed – case remanded to the Appellate Court for a fresh decision.
Title: Kewal Krishan and others Vs. Surjeet Singh and another Page-161

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff was owner in possession of the suit land- land was given to defendant No.1 on payment of rent of Rs.1 per annum- the defendant No.1 constructed a house on the suit land – the lease was terminated and an agreement was executed- plaintiff paid Rs.300/- to defendant No.1, defendant No.1 removed the material of the house from the suit land and shifted to Village B- the defendant No.1 sold the suit land in favour of defendant No.2 and defendant No.2 is threatening to interfere in the possession of the plaintiff- the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held in second appeal that plaintiff has admitted that construction raised by him was demolished – the document required registration and could not be looked into in absence of the registration – khasragirdawari was not produced – plea of adverse possession was also not established- the suit was rightly dismissed by the Trial Court- appeal dismissed.
Title: Chaudhari Ram since died through LRs. Vs. Nathu Ram and another
Page-495

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for fixation of boundary and for relief of possession and injunction – it was pleaded that plaintiffs are owners in possession of the suit land- defendants are strangers who threatened to interfere with the suit land – they were found to be encroachers on the portion of the suit land – they were requested to deliver possession but in vain- the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that parties are adjacent owners - the demarcation report shows that defendants have encroached upon a portion of the suit land - however, the demarcation was not conducted in accordance with the binding instructions – the plea of adverse possession was not established satisfactorily – matter remanded to the Appellate Court to appoint a Local Commissioner and thereafter to decide the matter afresh.
Title: Shankari Devi and another Vs. Inder Jeet Singh and another Page-524

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs pleaded that they are recorded as gairmaurusi tenants and had become the owners after the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act – the defendant threatened to encroach upon the land – the defendant pleaded that revenue entries in favour of the plaintiffs were wrong – a counter-claim was also filed by the defendant – the Trial Court decreed the suit and dismissed the counter-claim – an appeal was filed, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that the original owner had not challenged the revenue entries – it was duly proved that plaintiffs were recorded as tenants, who had become the owner on the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- separate appeals should have been filed against the decree of the suit and dismissal of the counter-claim- appeal dismissed.
Title: Baldev Singh Vs. Chet Ram & Ors. Page- 1100

'T'

Transfer of Property Act, 1882- Section 60- Plaintiff pleaded that he is mortgagor of the shop, which was redeemed in favour of the defendant on the payment of Rs.5,000/-- he requested the defendant to receive the money and to redeem the property but defendant refused- defendant denied the relationship of mortgage and mortgagee and pleaded that he was inducted as tenant on the rent of Rs.200/- per month – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that plaintiff had proved the mortgage – the execution of the mortgage deed was admitted by the defendant in cross-examination – mortgage was duly recorded in the rapatroznamcha – the Courts had rightly decreed the suit- appeal dismissed.

Title: Om Prakash Chand Vs. Parkash Chand Page-46

Transfer of Property Act, 1882- Section 60- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for redemption of mortgage pleading that the land was mortgaged for Rs.240/- defendants pleaded that mortgagor had lost the right of redemption – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court – an appeal was filed, which was allowed – held in second appeal that the land was mortgaged in the year 1930 and the period of redemption expired in 1971- however, Debt Redemption Act, 1976 furnished a fresh opportunity for getting the relief – mere expiry of 30 years from the date of mortgage does not extinguish the right of mortgagor- appeal dismissed.

Title: Hem Ram & Another Vs. Bhagwan Dass & Others Page-1052

Transfer of Property Act, 1882- Section 106- Plaintiff pleaded that tenancy of the defendant was terminated by issuing a notice – the possession of the defendant was unlawful – hence, the mesne profits were sought along with the interest- the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that mesne profits are to be determined on the basis of cogent and credible evidence like recent registered lease deeds of the locality – plaintiff had not brought on record lease deed or registered documents showing the rent of the similar premises – the findings recorded by the Court cannot be said to be perverse- appeal dismissed.

Title: Braham Dev Sood Vs. Jugal Kishore Page-636

'W'

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Claimant was engaged as driver – he sustained 40% disability when the truck being driven by him met with an accident – the claim petition was dismissed by Workmen Compensation Commissioner- held, that the claimant had sustained injuries in an accident - disability certificate shows 40% disability of right ankle due to which he would not be able to work as driver – disability certificate was prepared after five years of the incident – the Doctor who issued the MLC was also not examined – the claim petition was rightly dismissed, in these circumstances- appeal dismissed.

Title: Surinder Singh Vs. New India Assurance Company Ltd. and another Page-294

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased died during the course of the duties- a claim petition was filed, which was allowed – held, that Workmen Compensation Commissioner had taken the wages of the deceased as Rs.7,000/- - the employer did not file the wages register to prove the exact income – insurance cover was not adduced in the evidence – however, the penalty reduced from 25% to 5% of the compensation amount- appeal partly allowed.

Title: Oriental Insurance Company Vs. Ram Prashad & Anr. Page-295

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was a driver who died in an accident – compensation was awarded by the Commissioner- it was contended that the deceased was son of the owner and therefore it cannot be accepted that the deceased was employed by the owner – held, that there is no principle of law that a father cannot employ his son as a driver – it was duly proved that the owner had employed the deceased as driver on a monthly salary of Rs.2,600/- per month- receipts were also produced to this effect- therefore, Commissioner had rightly awarded the compensation- however, the interest was to be levied from the one month after the accident.

Title: New India Assurance Company Ltd. Vs. Lakshmi Devi & Others Page-359

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was electrician and he died during the course of his duty- compensation of Rs.3,38,880/- was awarded by the commissioner with interest @ 12% per annum- held in appeal that interest is to be awarded from one month after the fatal accident- an amount of Rs.25,000/- was deposited which is not sufficient considering that ultimately an amount of Rs.3,38,880/- was awarded- therefore, employer is liable to pay the penalty on the awarded amount – the amount of Rs.40,000/- imposed as penalty.

Title: Vijaya Devi and others Vs. Resident Engineer Page-463

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was engaged as a cleaner- he died in an accident- a claim petition was filed for seeking compensation- an amount of Rs.6,71,389/- was awarded along with interest @ 12% per annum- held in appeal that Commissioner had taken the income of the deceased as Rs.3,000/- per month- PW-1 had stated that deceased was earning Rs.3,000/- per month and Rs.50/- per day as diet money- therefore, income of Rs.3,000/- per month cannot be said to be excessive - driving licence remains effective for a period of 30 days from the date of expiry- therefore, it cannot be said that licence was not valid- appeal dismissed.

Title: National Insurance Company Ltd.Vs. Puran Dei and others Page-140

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Son of the claimant died in the course of performing his duties as a labourer – claimant filed a claim petition and a compensation of Rs. 4,45,000/- was awarded to the claimant – held in appeal that no objection regarding limitation was taken in the reply – Commissioner had power to condone the delay on sufficient cause being shown by the Claimant – monthly wages of the deceased could be quantified at Rs. 2,591.72/- - 50% of the amount is to be deducted in accordance with Section 4- therefore, the claimant is entitled to Rs. 222.71 x 1295.86= Rs. 2,88,600.98/- along with interest @ 12% per annum- penalty of Rs. 20,000/- also imposed upon respondents No. 2 and 3.

Title: United India Insurance Company Vs. Dhananjoy Dass and others Page-630

TABLE OF CASES CITED

'A'

A. Natesam Pillai versus Special Tahsildar, Land Acquisition, Tiruchy, (2010)9 SCC 118

A. Shanmugam Vs. Ariya Kshatriya Rajakula Vamsathu Madalaya Nandhavana Paripalanai Sangam and ors. (2012) 6 SCC 430

A.P. Manchanda Vs State of Haryana, 1994 Supp (2) SCC 44

Abhijit Sen and others versus State of U.P. and others, (1984) 2 Supreme Court Cases 319

Adu Ram V. Mukna 2005(2) RCR (Criminal) 64

Afsar Shaikh and another v. Soleman Bibi and others AIR 1976 Supreme Court 163

Afsar Shaikh Devi vs. Parasuram Pandey and others, AIR 1975 Patna 140

Aghore Kumar Ganguli and others, AIR 1914 Privy Council 27

Aher Raja Khima v. State of Saurashtra, AIR 1956 SC 217

Ajay Kumar Parmar Vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 2013 SC 633

Ajay Kumar Pandey, Advocate, (1998) 7 SCC 248

Ajay Sharma vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2002 (3) Sim.L.C. 329

Akshay Kumar v. State of HP, Latest HP LJ 2009 HP 72

Alka Gupta vs. Narender Kumar Gupta, (2010) 10 SCC 141

Amarsing Ratansing and another vs. Gosai Mohangir Somvargir and others, AIR 1972 Gujarat 74 (V 59 C 14)

Amit Kapoor versus Ramesh Chander and another (2012) 9 SCC 460

Amresh Kumari versus Niranjan Lal Jagdish Pd. Jain and others, (2015) 4 SCC 433

Amrit Bhanu Shali and others vs National Insurance Company Limited and others, (2012) 11 SCC 738

Amritlal Vadilal vs. Kantilal Lalbhai, AIR 1931 Bombay 280

Amulya Gopal Majumdar vs. United Industrial Bank Limited, AIR 1981 Calcutta 404

Anil Kumar versus Nitim Kumar and others, I L R 2015 (IV) HP 445 (D.B.)

Annamalai University v. Secy. to Govt. (2009)4 SCC 590

Appabhai and Anr. Vs. State of Gujarat, 1988 Supp1 SCC 241

Arun Kumar Agrawal and another Vs. National Insurance Company Limited and others (2010) 9 SCC 218

Arvind Kumar & others vs Himachal Pradesh Public Service Commission, I L R 2014 (IX) HP 905

Arvind Kumar Mishra versus New India Assurance Co. Ltd. & another, 2010 AIR SCW 6085

Asger Ibrahim Amin versus Life Insurance Corporation of India, JT 2015 (9) SC 329

Asha Devi vs. Smt. Tarsem Devi and ors., Latest HLJ 2015 (HP) 564

Ashok Bansal vs. Anju Goel, (2011) 3 SLC 52

Ashok Gangadhar Maratha v. Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. AIR 1999 SC 3181

Ashok Kumar Sarkar vs. Radha Kanto Pandey and others, AIR 1967 Calcutta (DB) 178

Ashwani Kumar Rana vs. Gaur Hari Singhania and others, 2005(2) SLJ 1243

Athmanathaswami Devasthanam v. K. Gopalaswami Ayyangar, AIR 1965 Supreme Court 338

'B'

B.S. Joshi and others vs. State of Haryana and another, (2003) 4 SCC 675

B.S. Sheshagiri Setty and others versus State of Karnataka and others (2016)2 SCC 123

Bakhsho versus Pakhar Singh and another, AIR 1985 Punjab and Haryana 322

Bakshi Security & Personnel Services Pvt. Ltd. V. Devkishan Computed P. Ltd., 2016 AIR SCW 3385

Bakulabai and another vs. Gangaram and another 1988 (1) SCC 537

Bal Krishan and another vs. Shangri Devi, 2008 (2) Latest HLJ 799

Baldev Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, (1987) 2 SCC 510

Baljinder Pal Kaur v. State of Punjab, (2016) 1 SCC 671

Banda Development Authority, Banda versus Moti Lal Agarwal and Ors, 2011 AIR SCW 2835

Bellary Steels & Alloys Ltd. V. CCT, (2009) 17 SCC 547

Bengal Waterproof Ltd. vs. Bombay Waterproof Mfg. Co. 1997 AIR (SC) 1398

Benjamin Premanand Rawade Vs. Anil Joseph Rawade, 1998 (9) SCC 688

Bhagwan Krishan Gupta (2) vs. Prabha gupta and others, (2009) 11 Supreme Court Cases 33

Bhajju alias Karan Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2012) 4 SCC 327

Bhakra Beas Management Board & Anr. Versus State of H.P. & others, Latest HLJ 2003(HP) 1202

Bhandaru Ram vs. Sukh Ram, AIR 2012 HJP 1

Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. Vs. Maharashtra General Kamgar Union and Others, (1999)1 SCC 626

Bhartia Education Society vs. State of H.P., 2011 (4) SCC 527

Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi versus M/s Hindalco Industries Ltd., 2014 AIR SCW 3157

Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. Hindalco Industries Limited, (2014)11 SCC 85

Bimal Vs. Sukumar Anna Patil and another, 1981 Criminal Law Journal 210

Bimla Devi & Ors. versus Himachal Road Transport Corpn. & Ors., 2009 AIR SCW 4298

Bir Pal Singh versus Union of India and others I L R 2016 (I) HP 81 (D.B.)

Biswas & Others Vs. Kalyan Kumar Kisku & Others, AIR 1994 Apex Court 1837 Satyabrata

Bolani Ores Ltd. vs. State of Orissa, 1975 AIR SC 17

Bose Abraham vs. State of Kerala and another (2001) 3 SCC 157

Braham Dass and others vs. Satya Wati and others, 1997(1) SLJ 484 (HP)

Braham Dass vs. Onkar Chand & another, 2009 (1) Shim. L.C. 339

Brahmu Ram & Another vs United India Insurance Company & another, 2009(2) Shim. LC, 26

Brathi alias Sukhdev Singh v. State of Punjab, (1991) 1 SCC 519

'C'

C.B.I Vs. K.M.Sharan, 2008 (4) SCC 471

C.Muniappan and Others Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2010 9 SCC 567

Calcutta Discount Co. Ltd., v. Income-tax Officer, Companies District I, Calcutta and another, AIR 1961 SC 372

Carona Sahu Co. Ltd. vs.A.K. Munafkhan (1995) 70 FLR 25

Cement Corpn. of India Ltd. Versus Purya and others, (2004) 8 SCC 270

Census Commissioner and Others vs. R.Krishnamurthy, (2015)2 SCC 796

Central Bank of India v. S. Satyam, (1996) 5 SCC 419

Central Coalfields Limited v. SLL-SML (Joint Venture Consortium), AIR 2016 SCW 3814

Chairman, Disciplinary Authority, Rani Lakshmi Bai Kshetriya Gramin Bank vs. Jagdish Sharan Varshney and others (2009) 4 SCC 240

Chairman, Railway Board Vs C.r. Rangadhamaiah, (1997) 6 SCC 623

Chairman, Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation & ors. versus Smt. Santosh & Ors., 2013 AIR SCW 2791

Chandmal versus Firm Ram Chandra and Vishwanath, AIR 1991 Supreme Court 1594

Chandra Deo Singh vs. Prokash Chandra Boase, AIR 1963 SC 1430

Chandra Kishore Jha vs. Mahavir Prasad, 1999 (8) SCC 266

Chandresh Kumar Malhotra vs. H.P.State Coop. Bank and others 1993 (2) Sim. L.C. 243

Chennai Metropolitan Water Supply and Sewerage Board and others versus T.T. Murali Babu, 2014 AIR SCW

Chetak Construction Ltd. v. Om Prakash (1998) 4 SCC 577

Chief General Manager, Jagannath Area vs. State of Orissa (1996) 10 SCC 676

Chimanlal Hargonvinddas Versus Special Land Acquisition Officer, Poona and another, AIR 1988 SC 1652; (1988) 3 SCC 751

Chloro Controls India Private Limited V. Severn Trent Water Purification Inc. and others, (2013) 1 Supreme Court Cases 641

Cholamandlan MS General Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs Smt. Jamna Devi and others, ILR 2015 (V) HP 207

CIT v. United Commercial and Industrial Co. P. Ltd., (1991) 187 ITR 596

Commissioner of Police v. Mehar Singh, (2013) 7 SCC 685

Confederation of Ex-Servicemen Associations and others Vs. Union of India and others (2006) 8 Supreme Court Cases 399

'D'

D.G. Railway Protection Force and Others vs. K.Raghuram Babu, (2008)4 SCC 406

D.K. Yadav vs J.M.A. Industries Ltd. 1993 (3) SCC 259

D.R. Rathna Murthy vs. Ramappa, 2011(1) SCC 158

Dada Vaku Nikam v. Bahiru Hingu Nikam and others, AIR 1927 Bombay 627

Dalip Singh v. State of U.P., (2010) 2 SCC 114

Dalmia Jain Airways Ltd. V. Sukumar Mukherjee', AIR 1951 Cal 193 (SB) (B)

Dambarudhar Panda vs. Mahendranath Saran, 1992 CriLJ 2213

Dangra Jaiswal vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2011) 5 SCC 123

Dasan vs. State of Kerala and another 2014(2) ECrC 384.

Dattatraya Moreshwar vs. The State of Bombay and others, AIR 1952 SC 181

Dattu Ramrao Sakhare v. State of Maharashtra (1997 (5) SCC 341)

Daulat Ram and Others vs. Sodha and Others, (2005)1 SCC 40

Daya Ram vs. Raghunath (2007) 11 SCC 241

Deep Chand vs. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1961 SC 1527

Deepak Kumar son of Late Shri Satveer Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2015(1) SLC 579

Dehal Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1139

Delhi Electric Supply Undertaking vs. Basanti Devi and another, JT 1999 (7) SC 486

Dena Bank vs. Ghanshyam (2001) 5 SCC 169

Dena Bank vs. Kiritikumar T. Patel (1999) 2 SCC 106

Deputy Inspector General of Police v. S. Samuthiram, (2013) 1 SCC 598

Des Raj & another v. The State of H.P. & connected matter, 2016(3) Him LR (DB) 1455

Dev Raj versus Shri Krishan Lal and others, I L R 2016 (III) HP 2288

Devi Ispat Limited and another Vs. State Bank of India and others (2014) 5 SCC 762

Dhan Raj vs. Kishni and another, 1998 Cr.L.J. 1312

Dhananjaya Reddy vs. State of Karnataka, 2001 (4) SCC 9

Dhannalal vs. D.P. Vijayvargiya and others, AIR 1996 Supreme Court 2155

Dharam Pal and another v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2009 (2) Shim. LC 208

Dharam Pal Singh V. State of Punjab (2010) 9 SCC 608

Dharam Singh and others versus The State of Haryana and others, 1983 Punjab Law Journal 210

Dhariwal Industries Ltd. vs. Kishore Wadhwani and others AIR 2016 SC 4369

Dhyan Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and Others, 2012 (3) Shim.L.C. 1741

Digambar Adhar Patil vs. Devram Girdhar Patil (died) and another, AIR 1995 Supreme Court 1728

Dilip and another v. State of M.P., (2007) 1 SCC 450 (two Judges)

Divisional Controller, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation vs. M.G. Vittal Rao, (2012)1 SCC 442

Dr. Abdul Khair versus Miss Shella Myrtla James and another, AIR 1957, Patna, 308

Dulcina Fernandes and others vs. Joaquim Xavier Cruz and another, (2013) 10 SCC 646

Durga (deceased) and Otheers vs. Milkhi Ram and Others, 1969 P.L.J. (SC) 105

Durga Parasanna Tripathy versus Arundhati Tripathy, AIR 2005 SC 3297

Dwarika Prasad Satpathy vs. Bidyut Prava Dixit and another, AIR 1999 SC 3348

'E'

E.P. Royappa vs. State of Tamil Nadu and Another, (1974)4 SCC 3

E.T.G.U.S. Society vs. M/s S.W.Corporation AIR 1971 Bombay 91

Essar Oil Limited V. Hindustan Shipyard Limited and others, (2015) 10 Supreme Court Cases 642

Essar Steel Ltd. versus Union of India and others AIR 2016 SC 1980

'F'

Faseela M. vs. Munnerul Islam Madrasa Committee and another, 2014 AIR SCW 2503

'G'

G.L. Bhatia vs Union of India, 1999 (5) SCC 237

Ganesh Bhavan Patel vs. State of Maharashtra, 1978 (4) SCC 371

Gangadhar and another vs. Shri Raj Kumar, AIR(1983) Supreme Court 1202

Gangai Vinayagar Temple and another Vs. Meenakshi Ammal and others (2015) 3 SCC 624

Garikapatti Veeraya vs. N.Subblah Choudhury, 1957 SCR 488

General Manager, Sri Siddeshwara Cooperative Bank Limited and another Vs. Ikbal and others (2013) 10 Supreme Court Cases 83

Gentela Vijayavardhan Rao v. State of A. P., (1996) 6 SCC 241

Gian Chand & others v. State of Haryana, (2013) 14 SCC 420

Giani Ram vs. Ramjilal, 1969 (1) SCC 813

Girja Prasad v. State of M.P., (2007) 7 SCC 625

Golla Yelugu Govindu vs. State of AndhraPradesh (2008) 16 SCC 769

Gomti Bai and Ors. vs. Dyshyant Kumar and Ors., 2012 ACT 2069

Gopilal and another versus Sitaram and others, AIR 1968 Madhya Pradesh 196

Gottumukkala Appala Narasimha Raju & Others versus National Insurance Company Ltd. & Another, 2007 ACJ, 1025

Governing Council of Kayastha Pathshala, Prayag and others v. Ram Chandra Srivastava and others, AIR 1992 Allahabad 158

Govind Ram and others vs. Union of India and others, I L R 2015 (VI) HP 963 (D.B.)

Govindaraju alias Govinda v. State by Srirampuram Police Station and another, (2012) 4 SCC 722

Gridco Ltd. & Another vs. Sadananda Doloi & Ors, AIR 2012 SC 729

Gujarat Maritime Board versus L & T Infrastructure Development Projects Ltd. & anr. AIR 2016 SC 4502

Gujarat State Road Transport Corporation, Ahmedabad versus Ramanbhai Prabhatbhai, (1987) 3 Supreme Court Cases 234

Gujarat Urja Vikas Nigam Limited vs. Essar Power Limited, 2008 (4) SCC 755

Gulam Mustafa and Others vs. The State of Maharashtra and Others, (1976)1 SCC 800

Gulamrasul Rehman Malek vs. Gujarat State Road Transport Corporation, 2015 ACJ 20

Gurcharan Singh and others Vs. State (Delhi Administration), AIR 1978 Apex Court 179

Gurcharan Singh versus State of Himachal Pradesh 1990 (2) ACJ 598

Gurdial Singh vs. Raj Kumar Anjela, AIR 2002 SC 1004

Gurmeet Singh v. State of H.P., 2015(2) Him.L.R. 766

Guru Amarjit Singh Vs. Rattan Chand, AIR 1994 Apex Court 227

Gurubux Singh vs. Bhooralal, 1964 AIR (SC) 1810

Gurudassing Nawoosing Panjwani versus State of Maharashtra and others, 2015 AIR SCW 6277

Guruswamy Nadar versus P.Lakshmi Ammal (D) by L.R.s and others AIR 2008 SC 2560

'H'

H. Lakshmaiah Reddy Vs. L. Venkatesh Reddy, AIR 2015 SCW Apex Court 3482

H. Venkatachala Iyengar vs. B. N. Thimmajamma & others, AIR 1959 SC 443

H.P. Road Transport Corporation vs. Pt. Jai Ram and etc. etc., AIR 1980 Himachal Pradesh 16

H.Rahim-Ud-Din vs. Tirlok Singh AIR 1971 Delhi 319

H.Venkatachala Iyengar vs. B.N. Thimmajamma and others, AIR 1959 SC 443

Hari Dass Sharma vs. Vikas Sood and others, 2013(5) SCC 243

Hari Kishan and State of Haryana versus Sukhbir Singh 1988 AIR (SC) 2127

Hari Shankar Singhania and others vs. Gaur Hari Singhania & ors., (2006) 4 SCC 658

Haridwar Development Authority Versus Raghubir Singh and others, (2010) 11 SCC 581

Harilal Sarkar vs. Subhra Sarkar, (2016) 165 AIC 784 : 2016 SCC OnLine Tri 356

Hasham Abbas Sayyad vs. Usman Abbas Sayyad and others, AIR 2007 (SC) 1077

Hem Ram & another versus Krishan Chand & another, I L R 2015 (III) HP 796

Himachal Road Transport Corporation vs. Saroj Devi and others, 2002 ACJ 1146

Himmat Singh and others Versus State of Madhya Pradesh and another, (2013) 16 SCC 392

Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Ltd. versus Dilbahar Singh, 2014 AIR SCW 5018

Hira Lal vs. Kali Ram AIR 1962 SC 199

Hukum Chand Gupta versus Director General, Indian Council of Agricultural Research and others, (2012) 12 Supreme Court Cases 666

Hukumchand versus Bansilal and others, AIR 1968 Supreme Court 86

'I'

I. Chuba Jamir & Ors. versus State of Nagaland & Ors., 2009 AIR SCW 5162

ICICI Lombard General Insurance Co. Ltd versus Smt. Satya Devi & others I L R 2016 (VI) HP 342

Idrish vs. Jaikam and others, (2009) 156 PLR 32

Imtiaz Ali vs. Nasim Ahmed, AIR 1987 Delhi 36

Inacio Martins Vs. Narayan Hari Naik, AIR 1993 SC 1756

Inbasagaran and another vs. S. Natarajan (dead) through Legal Representatives (2014) 11 SCC 12

Income Tax Officer, A-Ward, Lucknow v. Bachu Lal Kapoor, AIR 1966 SC 1148

Income Tax Officer, Cuttack and others v. Biju Patnaik,1991 Supp. (1) SCC 161

Indira Fruits and General Market vs. Bijendra Kumar Gupta, AIR 1995 Allahabad 316

Indo Asahi Glass Co. Ltd. v. ITO, (2002) 10 SCC 444

Indore Municipality Vs. K.N.Palsikar, AIR 1969 SC 580

Indu Bala vs. Mahindra Chandra 1982 SC 133

Ishwar Singh vs. State of M.P, AIR 2008 SCW 7865

Ishwarbhai C. Patel alias Bachu Bhai Patel Vs. Harihar Behera and another, AIR 1994 Apex Court 1341

Iswar Bhai C Patel alias Bachu Bhai Patel vs. Harihar Behera and Another, (1999)3 SCC 457

Iswarlal Mohanlal Thakkar versus Paschim Gujarat Vij Company Ltd. & Anr., 2014 AIR SCW 3298

'J'

J.C. Chatterjee & Others vs. Shri Sri Kishan Tandon and another, AIR 1972 SC 2526

J.K. Synthetics Ltd. Vs. K.P. Agrawal and Another, (2007)2 SCC 433

Jabbar Singh v. Shanti Swaroop, 2006 (3) SLC 58

Jagdish Mandal versus State of Orissa and others (2007) 14 SCC 517

Jagdish Raj V. State of Punjab (2011) 4 SCC 571

Jagtar Singh and others versus Swaran Singh, 1979 Simla Law Journal (Punjab & Haryana) 89

Jai Dev Gupta versus State of Himachal Pradesh and another, AIR 1998 SC 2819

Jai Singh & others vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi & another, (2010) 9 SCC 385

Jakir Hussein versus Sabir and others, (2015) 7 SCC 252

Jakir Hussein vs. Sabir and others, (2015) 7 SCC 252

Jamatraj Kewalji Govani V. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1968 S.C. 178

Janak Raj versus Gurdial Singh and another, AIR 1967 Supreme Court 608

Janki Narayan Bhoir vs. Narayan Namdeo Kadam 2003 AIR SC 761

Jasbir Singh Chhabra and others Vs. State of Punjab and others (2010) 4 SCC 192

Jaswant Kaur vs. Smt. Amrit Kaur and others (1977) 1 SCC 369

Jaswant Singh Vs. Virender Singh (1995 (supp.1) SCC 384)

Jaswantlal Natvarlal Thakkar versus Sushilaben Manilal Dangarwala and others, AIR 1991 Supreme Court 770

Jaswinder Singh versus Parshotam Lal Sanghi, Advocate 2005 (141) Punjab Law Reporter 368

Jattu Ram Vs. Hakam Singh and others, SLJ 94(1) SC 68

Jayaram Mudaliar versus Ayyaswami and others AIR 1973 SC 569

Jeet Kumar and another versus Jai Chand and another, 2013 (3) Him L.R. 1463

Jitendra Raghuvanshi and others vs. Babita Raghuvanshi and another, (2013) 4 SCC 58

Jiwan Dass Rawal vs. Narain Dass, AIR 1981 Delhi 291

Joseph Antony Lazarus vs. A.J. Francis (2006) 9 SCC 515

Josphine James versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., 2013 AIR SCW 6633

JT Narinder Singh and others Vs. State of Punjab and another, 2014(4) SC 573

Jugraj Singh and another vs. Labh Singh and others AIR 1995 SC 945

Jupudi Kesava Rao vs. Pulavarthi Venkata Subbarao and others, 1971(1) SCC 545

'K'

K. B. Ramachandra Raje Urs (Dead) by Legal Representatives vs. State of Karnataka & others, (2016) 3 SCC 422

K. Posayya and others versus Special Tahsildar, (1955)5 SCC 233

K. Prakashan vs. P.K. Surenderan (2008) 1 SCC 258

K. Vengadachalam versus K.C. Palanisamy and others, (2005)7 SCC 352

K.B. Ramachandra Raje v. State of Karnataka, (2016) 3 SCC 422

K.Chockalingam versus K.R. Ramasamy Iyer and Jenbagam 2004 (4) LW 586

K.S. Rashid and Son v. Income Tax Investigation Commission, AIR 1954 SC 207

Kala and another Vs. Madho Parshad Vaidya, AIR 1998 SC 2773

Kalpanaraj & Ors. versus Tamil Nadu State Transport Corpn., 2014 AIR SCW 2982

Kamal Dev and another vs. Hans Raj, 2000(1) Shim.L.C. 192

Kamlesh and others versus Attar Singh and others, 2015 AIR SCW 6158

Kamlesh Devi vs. State of Punjab, 2002(1) SCT 929

Kamlesh Rani vs. Balwant Singh, 2010(3) Shim.L.C. 141

Kanpur University, through Vice-Chancellor and others versus Samir Gupta and others, (1983) 4 Supreme Court Cases 309

Kansa Behera vs. State of Orissa, 1987(3) SCC 480

Kanshi Ram and Another vs. Lachhman (Dead) Through LRs and Others, (2001)5 SCC 546

Kapil Kumar Sharma vs. Lalit Kumar Sharma & another, (2013) 14 SCC 612

Karnail Singh and another Vs. Darshan Singh and Ors., 1995 Supp.(1) SCC 760

Kartik v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(2) Him LR 1217

Kathiyammakutty Umma vs. Thalakkadath Kattil Karappan and others, AIR 1989 Kerala 133

Kavita versus Deepak and others, 2012 AIR SCW 4771

Keshub Mahindra versus State of M.P. (1996) 6 SCC 129

Kewal Singh vs. Mt. Lajwanti, 1980 AIR (SC) 161

Khatri Hotels Private Limited and Another vs. Union of India and Another, (2011)9 SCC 126

Khazan Singh (dead) by L.Rs. v. Union of India, AIR 2002 SC 726

Khenyei versus New India Assurance Co. Limited & others, 2015 AIR SCW 3169

Khursheed and another vs. State of U.P in Appeal (Crl.) No. 1302 of 200

Kishan son of Shri Kundan versus Smt. Tulki Dev wd/o Shri Kundan, 2013 (1), Civil Court Cases 548 (H.P.)

Kishore Samrite Vs. State Of Uttar Pradesh and ors. (2013) 2 SCC 398

Konnadan Abdul Gafoor Vs. State of Kerala, 2016 CRI.L.J. 2647

Kranti Associates Private Limited and another Vs. Masood Ahmed Khan and others (2010) 9 SCC 496

Kripa Ram and others vs. Smt. Maina, 2002(2) Shimla Law Cases 213

Krishan Lal Seth vs. Smt. Pritam Kumar, 1961 PLR 865

Krishan Singh alias Kishan Singh vs. Balram Singh, 2010(3) Shim.L.C. 548

Krishna Mohan Kul alias Nani Charan Kul and another versus Pratima Maity & others (2004)9 SCC 468

Krishna Mohan Kul alias Nani Charan Kul and another vs. Pratima Maity and others, (2004) 9 Supreme Court Cases 468

Krishnan and another Versus Krishnaveni and another, (1997) 4 Supreme Court Case 241

Ku. Sonia Bhatia vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1981 Supreme Court 1274

Kulwant Singh & Ors. versus Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., JT 2014 (12) SC 110

Kulwinder Singh and another V. State of Punjab (2015) 6 SCC 674

Kumaon Mandal Vikas Nigam Ltd. Vs. Girja Shankar Pant and Others, (2001)1 SCC 182

Kunjan Nair Sivaraman Nair vs. Narayanan Nair and others 2004 AIR (SC) 1761

Kusum Kumari versus M.D. U.P Roadways and others, I L R 2014 (V) HP 1205

'L'

L. Balu versus Periasami and others, AIR 1988 Madras 114

LAC Solan and another vs. Bhoop Ram, 1997(2) Sim.L.C. 229

Lakhwinder Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab AIR 2003 Supreme Court 2577

Lal Mandi v. State of W.B., (1995) 3 SCC 603

Lalit Kumar vs. Union of India and another, 1990(2) Sim. L. C. 233

Lalit Mohan versus H.P. Public Service Commission, I L R 2015 (VI) HP 61 (D.B.)

Laxmibai (Dead) through LRs and another vs. Bhagwantbua (dead) through LRs, (2013) 4 SCC 97

Laxmidas Dayabhai Kabrawala vs. Nanabhai Chunilal Kabrawala and others, AIR 1964 SC 11

Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264

Liaqat Ali versus State of U.P. 2014 Law Suit (All) 1130

Life Insurance Corporation of India and Another vs. Ram Pal Singh Bisen, 2010(4) SCC 491

Lila Dhar v. State of Rajasthan, 1981 (4) SCC 159

Live Oak Resort (P) Ltd. v. Panchgani Hill Station Municipal Council, (2001) 8 SCC 329

Lochan Ahir V. State of West Bengal, AIR 1963 SC 1074

Lonakutty Vs. Thomman and another, AIR 1976 SC 1645

Ludovico Sagrado Goveia vs. Cirila Rosa Maria Pinto and others (2016) 9 SCC 615

'M'

M. Adu Ama vs. Inja Bangaru Raja and another, 1995 ACJ 670

M. Venkataramana Hebbar (Dead By LRs vs. M. Rajagopal Hebbar and others, (2007) 6 Supreme Court Cases 401

M.B. Ramesh vs. K.M.Veeraje Urs. and others, (2013) 7 SCC 490

M.D. Balan Mian and another vs. State of Bihar and another 2001 AIR (SCW) 5190

M/s Birla Cement Works vs. State of Rajasthan, 2003 AIR (Raj) 25

M/s Cecil Instant Power Company vs. Punjab National Bank and Others, ILR 2016 (II) HP 537 (D.B.)

M/s Chakkiat Agencies Pvt. Ltd. vs. State of Kerala, 2001 AIR (Ker) 363

M/s Kayjay Industries (P) Ltd. versus M/s. Asnew Drums (P) Ltd. and others, (1974) 2 Supreme Court Cases 213

M/s Kshardas & Co. vs. State of Maharashtra 1986 AIR (Bom) 348

M/s Madras Petrochem Ltd. and another vs. BIRF and others AIR 2016 SC 898

M/s Natwar Parikh and Co. Ltd. vs. State of Karnataka, 2005 AIR (SC) 3428

M/s Niranjan & Co. Pvt. Ltd. v. Commissioner of Income Tax, West Bengal-I and others, 1986 (Supp) SCC 272

M/s S. Ganga Saran & sons (Pvt.) Ltd., Calcutta v. Income Tax Officer & ors., (1981) 3 SCC 143

M/s Tata Steel Ltd vs. M/s Atma Tube Products Ltd. and others, 2014 (173) Pun.LR 1

M/S United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Chandigrh vs. Sh. Pritpal Singh, (1996-2) 113 P.L.R. 49

M/s Verma Traders and others v. The State of Himachal Pradesh and another, AIR 1983 HP 81

Mackinnon Mackenzie and Company Limited vs. Mackinnon Employees Union, (2015)4 SCC 544

Madan Lal & Ors versus The State of Jammu & Kashmir and Ors 1995(2) SLR 209

Madan Lal and another vs. State of H.P., 2003 (7) SCC 465

Madan Razak vs. State of Bihar, AIR 2016 SC (Weekly) 122

Madhusudan Das vs. Smt.Narayani Bai and Others, AIR 1983 SC 114

Mahadev Govind Gharge and others vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer, Upper Krishna Project, Jamkhandi, Karnataka, (2011) 6 Supreme Court Cases 321

Mahant Dhangir and another vs. Madan Mohan and others, 1987 (Supp.) SCC 528

Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education and Another vs. Paritosh Bhupeshkumar Sheth and Others and Alpana V.Mehta vs. Maharashtra State Board of Secondary Education and Another, (1984)4 SCC 27

Maharwal Khewaji Trust Vs. Baldev Dass, AIR 2005 Apex Court 104

Mahinder Singh versus State of Himachal Pradesh, I L R 2015 (II) HP 1084

Mallo vs. Smt. Bakhtawari and others, AIR 1985 Allahabad 160,

Man Kaur (Dead) by LRs. Vs. Hartar Singh Sangha, (2010)10 SCC 512

Manager, National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Saju P. Paul and another, 2013 ACJ 554

Mangla Devi Vs. State of H.P. and others, Latest HLJ 2015 (HP) 902

Manick Chandra Nandy versus Debdas Nandy and others, AIR 1986 Supreme Court 446

Manickam Moopan versus Lakshmi 2012 (2) LW 683

Manilal Lallubhai Patel vs Kikabhai Lallubhai, AIR 1931 Bombay 482

Manish Kumar Shahi Versus State of Bihar and others 2010(12) Supreme Court Cases 576

Manju Baradia vs. State of Chhatisgarh, 2002(1) Accidents Compensation Judicial Reports 24

Manju Ram Kalita versus State of Assam (2009) 13 Supreme Court Cases 330

Manohar Lal vs. Topan Ram, AIR 1964 Punjab 311

Marathwada Gramin Bank Karamchari Sanghatana and another versus Management of Marathwada Gramin Bank and others (2011) 9 SCC 620

Maria Margarida Sequeria Fernandes v. Erasmo Jack de Sequeria, (2012) 5 SCC 370

Masina Sriramulu versus Pasagadagula Pydaiah 2011 (8) RCR (Civ) 1565

Masjid Kacha Tank Nahan Vs. Tuffail Mohammed, AIR 1991 SC 455

MD. Mohammad Ali (dead) by LRs. Vs. Jagadish Kalita and others, 2004 (1) SCC 271

Meera Devi and another versus H.R.T.C. and others, 2014 AIR SCW 1709

Microll India versus Jai Durga Trading Company 2012 (165) Pun LR 368

Milkfood Limited vs. GMC Ice Cream (P) Ltd. (2004) 7 SCC 288

Minor Smt. Shanti Devi vs. Khandubala Dasi and others, AIR 1961 Calcutta 336

Minu B. Mehta and another versus Balkrishna Ramchandra Nayan and another, AIR 1977 Supreme Court 1248

Modern Dental College and Research Centre and others Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and others, 2016 (7) SCC 353

Mohammad Baqar and others Vs. Naim-un-Nisa Bibi and others, AIR 1956 SC 548

Mohammed Ankoos and Others versus Public Prosecutor, High Court of Andhra Pradesh, Hyderabad, (2010) 1 Supreme Court Cases 94

Mohan Lal V. State of Rajasthan, (2015) 6 SCC 222

Mohan Singh vs. State (FB) Rajasthan, 1993 Cr.L.J. 3193

Mohd Akbar Dar Vs. State of J&K, AIR 1981 SC 1548

Mohd. Abdul Kadir and another vs. Director General of Police, Assam and others (2009) 6 SCC 611

Mohd. Abdul Kareem And Anr. vs. Andhra Pradesh State Wakf Board, 2004(2) ALD 345,

Mohd. Farooq vs. District Judge Allahabad and others, AIR 1993 Allahabad 8

Mohd. Osman vs. Dr. Devid, 2011 (3) Civil Court Cases 42 (Bombay)

Mohd. Rafi vs. State of U.P., 1998(2) R.C.R.(Criminal 455

Mohinder Kaur and others versus Hira Nand Sindhi (Ghoriwala) and another, (2015) 4 SCC 434

Monnet Ispat and Energy Limited Vs. Union of India and others (2012) 11 SCC 1

Moti vs. Roshan and others, AIR 1971 Himachal Pradesh 5 (V 58 C2)

Motilal Yadav Vs. State of Bihar, (2015) 2 SCC 647

Mst. Samrathi Devi vs. Parasuram Pandey and others, AIR 1975 Patna 140

Mubarak Begam and another vs Sushil Kumar and others, AIR 1957 Rajasthan 154

Municipal Corpn. Shimla v. Prem Lata Sood, (2007) 11 SCC 40

Municipal Corporation Indore vs. K.N. Palsikar AIR 1969 SC 580

Munna Lal Jain & another versus Vipin Kumar Sharma & others, 2015 AIR SCW 3105

Munni Devi vs. Smt. Chhoti and others, AIR 1983 Allahabad 444

Munshi Ram Versus Municipal Committee, Chheharta, (1979) 3 SCC 83

Murikipudi Ankamma vs. Tummalacheruvu Narasayya and others, AIR (34) 1947 Madras 127

'N'

N.K.V. Bros. (P.) Ltd. versus M. Karumai Ammal and others etc., AIR 1980 Supreme Court 1354

N.P. Thirugnanam (D) by L.Rs vs. Dr. R. Jagan Mohan Rao and others, AIR 1996 SC 116

N.V. Srinivasa Murthy and others vs. Mariyamma (dead) by Proposed LRs and Others, 2005 AIR (SC) 2897

N.V. Srinivasa Murthy vs. N.V. Gururaja Rao and others, (2005) 10 Supreme Court Cases 566

Nagar Mal and another v. Bimal Kumar and another, Latest HLJ 2005(HP) 679

Nagar Panchayat Kurwai and another Vs. Mahesh Kumar Singhal and ors., (2013) 12 SCC 342

Nagarpalika Thakurdwara versus Khalil Ahmed & Ors. JT 2016 (9) SC 425

Nagawwa vs. Veeranna Shivalingappa Konjalgi, AIR 1976 SC 1947
Namit Gupta vs. State of H.P. and Others, AIR 2014 HP 49
Narasamma & Ors., 2009 AIR SCW 2653
Narayanarao (dead) through LRs and others vs. Sudarshan, 1995 Supp.(4) SCC 463
Narhari and others vs. Shanker and others, AIR 1953 S.C.419
Narinder Singh and others vs. State of Punjab and another, JT 2014(4) SC 573
Narinder Singh vs. Kishan Singh, AIR 2002 SC 2603
Narmada Devi vs. Ram Nandan Singh AIR 1987 Patna 33 (Full Bench)
Nati Devi and another versus Maya Devi and others, I L R 2016 (III) HP 1074
National Agricultural Coop. Marketing Federation of India Vs Union of India, (2003) 5 SCC 23
National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Swaran Singh and others, AIR 2004 Supreme Court 1531
National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Sharda Devi and others, I L R 2016 (I) HP 354
National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Khub Ram & Anr., 2015 4 ILR 488
National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Mast Ram and others, 2004 ACJ 1039
National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Mastan and Anr., 2006 ACJ 528
National Insurance Company Limited versus Anjana Shyam & others, 2007 AIR SCW 5237
National Insurance Company Ltd. versus Annappa Irappa Nesaria & Ors., 2008 AIR SCW 906
National Insurance Company Ltd. versus Jagtamba and others, I L R 2015 (VI) HP 428
National Insurance Company Ltd. versus Smt. Sumna @ Sharda & others, I L R 2015 (II) HP 825
National Insurance Company Ltd. vs. Sharda Devi and others, (2016) 3 ACC 627 (HP)
National Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Soma Devi 2003 ACJ 1919
Naveen Kohli v. Neelu Kohli, AIR 2006 SC 1675
Nawalshankar Ishwarlal Dave and another Vs. State of Gujarat, AIR 1994 Apex Court 1496
Nazir Ahmad vs. King Emperor (AIR 1936, PC 253)
Nedunuri Kameswaramma Vs. Sampati Subba Rao, AIR 1963 SC 884 (Full bench)
Neena and others vs Smt. Sunehru Devi and others, 2015 (6) ILR (HP) 20
New Delhi Municipal Council versus Pan Singh & Ors., 2007 AIR SCW 1705
New India Assurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Prem Chand and others, 2008 (1) ACJ 679
New Redbank Tea Co.Pvt Ltd. Vs. Kumkum Mittal and others, (1994)1 SCC 402
Ningamma and another versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd., 2009 ACJ 2020
Ningamma and another versus United India Insurance Company Limited, (2009) 13 SCC 710
Ningawwa vs. Byrappa Shiddappa Hireknrabar AIR 1968, SC 956
Niranjan Umeshchandra Joshi vs. Mrudula Jyoti Rao & others, AIR 2007 SC 614:(2006) 13 SCC 433
Nirmala Devi & Others Vs. Dhian Singh & Others, 2010(1) Himachal Law Reporter H.P. High Court 434
Noor Aga V. State of Punjab, (2008) 16 SCC 417
North-East Karnataka Road Transport Corporation vs. M.Nagangouda, (2007)10 SCC 765
NTPC Ltd. Versus Kirpa and others, Latest HLJ 2016 (HP) 253

'O'

Ocean Creations Vs. Manohar Gangaram Kamble 2013 SCC Online Bom 1537:2014)140 FLR 725
Om Parkash vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2016 LLR 683
Om Prakash Batish versus Ranjit @ Ranbir Kaur & Others, (2008) 12, SCC, 212
OMA @ Omparkash & Anr. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2013 (3) SCC 440

Oriental Insurance Co. versus Mst. Zarifa and others, AIR 1995 Jammu and Kashmir 81

Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Meena Variyal and others, (2007) 5 Supreme Court Cases 428

Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Rajni Devi and others, 2008 ACJ 1441

Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Kala Devi, 1997 ACJ 17

Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Sudip Ranjan Deb and others, 2009 ACJ 22

Oriental Insurance Co. versus Mst. Zarifa and others, re AIR 1995 Jammu and Kashmir 81

Oriental Insurance Company Limited versus Premlata Shukla & others, 2007 AIR SCW 3591

Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. versus Sihnu Ram and others, I L R 2016 (V) HP 1000 (D.B.)

Oriental Insurance Company versus Smt. Indiro and others, ILR 2015 (III) HP 1149

Ouseph Mathai and others Vs. M. Abdul Khadir, (2002) 1 Supreme Court Cases 319

'P'

P. Lakshmi Reddy Vs. L. Lakshmi Reddy AIR 1957 SC 314

P. Ramchandra Rao v. State of Karnataka, 2002 (4) SCC 578

P. Saraswathi Ammal vs. Lakshmi Ammal alias Lakshmi Kantam, AIR 1978 Madras 361

P. Sudhakar Rao & Ors Vs U. Govinda Rao and Ors, (2013) 8 SCC 693

P. Venkatachalam Chetty vs. P.S. Govindasawmi Naicker, AIR 1924 Madras 605

P.Udayani Devi Vs. V.V.Rajeshwara Prasad Rao, AIR 1995 SC 1357

Pankaj Sharma versus State of Jammu and Kashmir and others, (2008) 4 SCC 273

Panna and others V. State of Rajasthan, 1987 Cri.L.J. 997 (Rajasthan High Court)

Param Pal Singh vs. National Insurance Co.Ltd. and another, 2013 ACJ 526

Parisons Agrotech Private Limited and Another vs. Union of India and Others, (2015)9 SCC 657

Parukuty Amma Vs. Thankam Amma, 2004(2) Civil Court cases 33

Pashimanchal Vidyut Vitran Nigam Limited and Others vs. Adarsh Textiles and Another, (2014)16 SCC 212

Patel Narshi Thakershi & Ors. vs. Pradyuman Singhji Arjun Singhji, 1971 3 SCC 844

Peerappa Hanmantha Harijan (Dead) By Legal Representatives and others Versus State of Karnataka and another, (2015) 10 SCC 469

People's Union for Civil Liberties (PUCL) and another vs. Union of India and another (2003) 4 SCC 399

Pepsu Road Transport Corporation versus National Insurance Company, (2013) 10 Supreme Court Cases 217

Pepsu Road Transport Corporation versus National Insurance Company, 2013 AIR SCW 6505

Pepsu Road Transport Corporation Vs. National Insurance Company, AIR 2014 Apex Court 305

Poomani vs. Tuticorin Thermal Power Project, 1990 AIR (Mad), 372

Pooran Chand Nangia vs. National Fertilizers Ltd; (2003) 8 SCC 245

Prabhakar Ramkrishna Jodh versus A.L. Pande and another 1965 (2) SCR 713

Prandas v. The State, AIR 1954 SC 36

Preeti Gupta and another vs. State of Jharkhand and another, (2010) 7 SCC 667

Prem Kumar and others v. Parkash Chand and others, 2002(3) SLC 358

Prem Singh vs. Birbal (2006) 5 SCC 353

Premier Tyres Limited Vs. Kerala State Road Transport Corporation, AIR 1993 Supreme Court 1202

Pritam Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2013)1 Him.L.R. 130

Punjab National Bank and another Vs. Imperial Gift House and others (2013) 14 Supreme Court Cases 622

Punjab National Bank vs. O.C. Krishnan and others (2001) 6 SCC 569

Putta Chelamiah and another vus Venkata Kumara Mahipati Suryarao Bahadur Garu and another, AIR 1930 Madras 1

Pyare Mohan Lal v. State of Jharkhand and others, 2010 (10) SCC 693

'R'

R.D. Hattangadi versus M/s Pest Control (India) Pvt. Ltd. & others, AIR 1995 SC 755

R.S.D.V. Finance Co. Pvt. Ltd., vs. Shree Vallabh Glass Works Ltd., AIR 1993 Supreme Court 2094

R.V.E. Venkatachala Gounder vs. Arulmigu Viswesaraswami and V.P. Temple and another, AIR 2003 SC 4548

Radha Mohan Lal v. Rajasthan High Court (2003) 3 SCC 427

Radha Soami Satsang Beas vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and another, 1984 S.L.J. 378

Radhey Shyam and another versus Chhabi Nath and others (2015) 5 SCC 423

Radhey Shyam and another Vs. Chhabi Nath and others, (2015) 5 Supreme Court Cases 423

Raghubir Singh vs. General Manager, Haryana Roadways, Hissar, 2014(6) SLR 6 (S.C.)

Raghuvir vs. G.M. Haryana Roadways Hissar, (2014) 10 SCC 301

Raj Kumar vs. State of H.P., 1997(2) Shim.L.C. 161

Raj Kumar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2014) 5 SCC 353

Raj Kumar vs. Ajay Kumar and another (2011) 1 Supreme Court Cases 343

Raj Kumar vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and Others, 2014(2) Him.L.R.(DB) 1217

Raj Pal Yadav and another versus Jamna Devi and another, I L R 2016 (III) HP 2318

Raj Shikshan Prasarak Mandal versus State of Maharashtra and others (2001) 10 SCC 75

Raja Ram vs. Ram Sarup, 1979 P.L.J. 12

Raja Shyam Sunder Singh and others versus Kaluram Agarala and others, AIR 1938 Privy Council 230

Rajan Rai vs. State of Bihar, (2006)1 SCC 191

Rajan Singh and others vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others 2016 (3) Him. L.R. 1571

Rajasthan and others vs. Basant Agrotech (India) Limited, (2013) 15 SCC 1

Rajasthan Prdesh Vaidya Samiti, Sardarshahar and another vs Union of India and others, (2010) 12 SCC 609

Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation and Another vs. Bajrang Lal, 2014 (4) SCC 693

Rajathi Vs. C.Ganesan, AIR 1999 (6) SCC 326

Rajendra Tiwary vs. Basudeo Prasad and another, AIR 2002 (89) Supreme Court 136

Rajinder Singh and others versus Sadhu Ram, Latest HLJ 2014(2) 928

Rajni Rani and versus Khairati Lal and Others, (2015)2 SCC 682

Ram Chander Talwar and another vs. Devender Kumar Talwar and others (2010) 10 SCC 671

Ram Chandra vs. Mahindra Singh, AIR 1980 Rajasthan 04 (303)

Ram Kishan & Ors. vs. Sheo Ram & Ors., AIR 2008 Punjab & Haryana 77

Ram Prakash Vs. Smt. Charan Kaur and another, AIR 1997 Supreme Court 3760

Ram Shanker Rastogi vs. Smt. Vinay Rastogi, AIR 1991 Allahabad 255

Ram Singh Vijay Pal Singh and others versus State of U.P. and others (2007) 6 SCC 44

Ramagya Prasad Gupta and others Vs. Murli Prasad and others, AIR 1974 Supreme Court 1320

Ramchandra Deshpande vs. Laxmana Rao Kulkarni, AIR 2000 Karnataka 298

Ramchandrappa versus The Manager, Royal Sundaram Aliance Insurance Company Limited, 2011 AIR SCW 4787

Ramdev Food Products (P) Ltd. Vs. Arvindbhai Rambhai Patel and others, (2006) 8 Supreme Court Cases 726

Ramesh Harijan vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 5 SCC 777

Ramesh Hirachand Kundanmal Vs. Municipal Corporation of Greater Bombay, (1992) 2 SCC 524

Ramesh Kumar @ Babla versus State of Punjab 2016 AIR (SC) 2858

Rameshbhai Dabhai Naika vs. State of Gujarat and others, (2012) 3 SCC 400

Rameshchandra Rampratapji Daga vs. Rameshwari Rameshchandra Daga, (2005) 2 SCC 33

Rameshwar v. The State of Rajasthan, AIR 1952 SC 54

Rameshwari Devi vs State of Bihar and others, 2000 (2) SCC 431

Ramji Lal and another Vs. State of Haryana, 1983(1) SCC 368

Ramji Missar and another Vs. State of Bihar AIR 1963 Supreme Court 1088

Randhir Singh alias Tira and others vs. State of H.P., 2007 (2) SLC 294

Ranjit Hazarika Vs. State of Assam, (1998) 8 SCC 635

Rao Shiv Bahadur Singh and anr. vs. State of Vindh-P, AIR 1954, SC 322

Rathnavathi and another vs. Kavita Ganashamdas, (2015) 5 SCC 223

Rattan Chand sn of Lachho Ram vs. Pushpa Devi widow of Shri Balwant Singh and others, 2014 ILR HP 145

Rattan Dev vs. Pasam Devi, (2002)7 SCC 441

Rattan Lal Vs. The State of Punjab AIR 1965 Supreme Court 444

Rattan Singh v. State of H. P., (1997) 4 SCC 161

Ratto V. State of H.P. 2003(2) Shim.L.C. 161

Raunki Saroop V. State, AIR 1970 Punjab and Haryana, 450

Ravi alias Ravichandran vs. State represented by Inspector of Police, (2007) 15 Supreme Court Cases 372

Raza Buland Sugar Co. Ltd. Rampur vs. Municipal Board, Rampur, AIR 1965 SC 895

Relip Nagarpalika Vs. Babuji Gabhaji Thalore and others, 2009 (120) FLR 1007

Resham Singh Vs. Raghbir Singh and another, AIR 1999 SC 3087

Reshma Kumari and others vs. Madan Mohan and another, 2013 AIR (SCW) 3120

Rishi Pal v. State of Himachal Pradesh & connected matters, 2016(3) Him LR (DB) 1336

Rohit Singh Vs. State of Bihar, 2006(12) SCC 734

Rustam Garg and others versus Himachal Pradesh Public Service Commission, ILR 2016 (II) HP 591 (D.B.)

'S'

S. Iyyapan versus United India Insurance Company Limited and another, (2013) 7 Supreme Court Cases 62

S. Narayanappa and others v. Commissioner of Income-Tax, Bangalore, (1967) 63 ITR 219 : [AIR 1967 SC 523]

S.G.Jaisinghani vs. Union of India and Others, AIR 1967 SC 1427

S.P. Shivprasad Pipal Vs Union of India & Ors, (1998) 4 SCC 598

S.P.E. Madras vs. K.V. Sundaravelu, AIR 1978 SC 1017

S.S. Rana vs. Registrar, Coop. Societies and another (2006) 11 SCC 634

Salem Advocate Bar Association, T.N. vs. Union of India (2005) 6 SCC 344

Sanjay Chandra Vs. CBI, 2012 Criminal Law Journal 702 Apex Court

Sanjaysinh Ramrao Chavan Versus Dattatray Gulabrao Phalke and Others, (2015) 3 Supreme Court Cases 123

Sanjeev Kumar and others vs. State of H.P. and others Latest HLJ 2014 (HP) 1061

Sanjeev Kumar v. State of H.P., 2016(3) Him.LR (DB) 1529

Sanju v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(2) Him LR 1210

Sant Ram Nagina Ram Vs. Daya Ram Nagina Ram and others, AIR 1961 Punjab 528

Santosh Devi versus National Insurance Company Ltd. and others, 2012 AIR SCW 2892

Santosh Devi versus Oriental Insurance Co. & Another, 2011 (Supp.) Him. L.R 1715

Santosh Malhotra vs. State of H.P. and Others, 2003(3) Shiml. L.C. 342

Sarbati Devi and another vs. Smt. Usha Devi, (1984) 1 SCC 424

Sarita Devi & others versus Ashok Kumar Nagar & others, I L R 2016 (III) HP 1958

Sarla Verma & Others Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and another, 2009(6) SCC 121

Sarla Verma (Smt) and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, (2009) 6 Supreme Court Cases 121

Sarla Verma and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, AIR 2009 SC 3104

Sarla Verma and others Vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and another, 2009 (6) SCC 121

Saroj Garg vs. State of H.P. & Ors., AIR 2011 HP 94

Sat Paul vs. Delhi Administration, 1976 (1) SCC 727

Satwant Singh Sawhney vs. D.Ramarathnam, Assistant Passport Officer, New Delhi and Others, AIR 1967 SC 1836

Satya Devi vs. Partap Singh and others, (2006)1 SCC 312

Satyadhyan Ghosal and others Vs. Smt. Deorajin Debi and another, AIR 1960 SC 941

Satyender Singh v. Gulab Singh, 2012 (129) DRJ, 128

Savita vs. Bindar Singh & others, 2014 AIR SCW 2053

Savithramma vs. H. Gurappa Reddy and others, AIR 1996 Karnataka 99

Sawan Singh and Others vs. Radha Kishan and Others, AIR 1980 HP 8

Sebastiao Luis Fernandes (Dead) through LRs and Others vs. K.V.P. Shastri (Dead) through LRs and Others, (2013)15 SCC 161

Secretary, State of Karnataka and others vs. Uma Devi (3) and others, (2006) 4 SCC 1

Sethi Auto Service Station and another Vs. Delhi Development Authority and others (2009) 1 Supreme Court Case 180

Shaik Abdul Haq versus Aiswarya Nilaya Chit Fund Pvt Limited 2005 (4) Bank Cas 70

Shalini Shyam Shetty & another vs. Rajendra Shankar Patil, (2010) 8 SCC 329

Sham Singh vs. Smt. Rano Devi, 2007 Latest HLJ, 352

Shanti Devi versus H.P. Financial Corporation and others, 1997 (3) Sim. L.C. 256

Sharanamma and others vs. Managing Director, Divisional Contr., North-East Karnataka Road Transport Corporation, (2013) 11 SCC 517

Sharif-Ud-Din vs. Abdul Gani Lone, (1980) 1 SCC 403

Shashi Kumar and another v. State of H.P., Latest HLJ 2015(HP) 596

Shashi Kumar Banerjee and others vs. Subodh Kumar Banerjee and others AIR 1964 SC 529

Shiv Narain Bhasin v. State of Himachal Pradeswh 1985 SLC 274

Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade & Anr. Vs. State of Maharashtra, 1973 2 SCC 793

Shivappa Basavantappa Devaravar vs. Babajan, 1999 (Suppl.) Civil Court Cases 98 (Karnataka)

Shlok Bhardwaj Vs. Runika Bhardwaj and others (2015) 2 Supreme Court Cases 721

Showkat Ahmad Dar & Ors. versus State & Anr., 2012 (4) JKJ 141 [HC]

Sidramappa vs. Rajashetty and others 1970 AIR (SC), 1059

Silverline Forum Pvt. Ltd versus Rajiv Trust & another, (1998) 3 Supreme Court Cases 723

Singh Ram (D) Thr.L.Rs. vs. Sheo Ram and Others, AIR 2014 SC 3447

Sky Land International Pvt. Ltd. v. Kavita P. Lalwani, (2012) 191 DLT 594

Smt. Savita versus Binder Singh & others, 2014 AIR SCW 2053

Sohan Lal Passi versus P. Sesh Reddy and others, AIR 1996 Supreme Court 2627

Solapur Midc Industries Association and ors. Vs. State of Maharashtra and ors., (1996) 9 SCC 621

Som Kirti alias Som K.Nath and Others vs. State of H.P. and Others, Latest HLJ 2013 (HP) 1223

South Indian Cashew Factories Workers' Union vs. Kerala State Cashew Development Corpn.Ltd. and Others, (2006) 5 SCC 302

Special Land Acquisition Officer Versus Karigowda and others, (2010) 5 SCC 708

SPS Steels Rolling Mills Ltd. vs. State of Himachal Pradesh & ors., ILR 2015 (III) HP 1387 (D.B.)

Sreelekha Banerjee V. Commissioner of Income Tax, (1963) 49 ITR (SC) 112

Srinivas vs. Narayanan, AIR 1954 SC 379

State Bank of India vs. M/s Sharma Provision Store and another, AIR 1999 J&K 128

State of A.P. versus Golconda Linga Swamy and another (2004) 6 SCC 522

State of Andhra Pradesh and others vs. Goverdhanlal Pitti (2003) 4 SCC 739

State of Bihar and others vs. Jain Plastics and Chemicals Ltd; (2002 1 SCC 216

State of Bihar and others vs. Sri Radha Krishna Singh and others, AIR 1983 SC 684

State of Bihar versus Ramesh Singh AIR 1977 SC 2018

State of Bihar Vs Akhouri Sachindra Nath & ors, 1991 Supp (1) SCC 334

State of Bombay vs. S.L. Apte and another, AIR 1961 SC 578

State of Delhi versus Gyan Devi and others (2000) 8 SCC 239

State of Delhi Vs. Gyan Devi, AIR 2001 SC 40

State of Delhi Vs. Gyandevi, 2008 (8) SCC 329

State of H.P. and Others vs. Shivalik Agro Poly Products and Others, (2004)8 SCC 556

State of H.P. v. Kurban Khan, 2015 Cr.LJ 183

State of H.P. v. Pawan Kumar, (2005) 4 SCC 350

State of H.P. versus Lekh Raj and another (2000) 1 SCC 247

State of H.P. versus Ramesh Chand, Latest HLJ 2007 (HP) 1017

State of H.P. versus Satpal Singh @ Satta and another & the connected matter, Latest HLJ 2009 (HP) 732

State of H.P. vs. Edward Samual Chareton, 2000 (2) Shim. L.C. 228

State of H.P. vs. Laxmi Nand and Others, 1992(2) Sim.L.C. 307

State of H.P. Vs. Pardeep Singh and another, Latest HLJ 2013 (HP) 1431

State of Haryana and Another vs. Rattan Singh, (1977)2 SCC 491

State of Haryana and others etc. vs. Piara Singh and others etc., AIR 1992 SC 2130

State of Haryana and others versus Charanjit Singh and others etc. etc., AIR 2006 Supreme Court 161

State of Himachal Pradesh and another versus Tilak Raj, 2014 AIR SCW 6581

State of Himachal Pradesh and others versus Baldev and others 2016 (1) SLC 361

State of Himachal Pradesh versus Bagshi Ram, 2001 (2) Current Civil Law Journal 520

State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Kahan Chand, 2016 (1) Drugs Cases (Narcotics) 576

State of Himachal Pradesh vs. Laje Ram and ors., 2011(2) Him. L.R (DB) 597

State of Himachal Pradesh vs. Suresh Kumar (2009)16 SCC 697

State of Jammu and Kashmir versus R.K. Zalpuri and others, AIR 2016 Supreme Court 3006

State of Jharkhand & Ors vs. Ambay Cements and anr. (2005) 1 SCC 368

State of Jharkhand v. M/s. CWE-SOMA Consortium, 2016 AIR SCW 3366

State of Kerala and another versus Peoples Union for Civil Liberties, Kerala State Unit and others (2009) 8 SCC 46

State of Kerala and others Vs. Kerala Rare Earth and Minerals Limited and others (2016) 6 Supreme Court Cases 323

State of Kerala versus Puttumana Illath Jathavedan Namboodiri (1999)2 SCC 452

State of M.P. v. Dharkole alias Govind Singh and others, (2004) 13 SCC 308

State of M.P. versus S.B.Johari and others (2000) 2 SCC 57

State of M.P. Vs. Kedia Leather & Liquor Ltd. and others, (2003) 7 Supreme Court Cases 389

State of M.P. Vs. S.B. Johari and others AIR 2000 SC 665

State of Madhya Pradesh and another vs. Kumari Nivedita Jain and others, (1981) 4 SCC 296

State of Madhya Pradesh and others versus Ramesh Chandra Bajpai, (2009) 13 SCC 635

State of Madhya Pradesh V. Saleem @ Chamaru and another, 2005(3) Criminal Court Cases 330 (S.C.)

State of Madhya Pradesh versus Narmada Bachao Andolan and another (2011) 7 SCC 639

State of Maharashtra and others versus Lok Shikshan Sanstha and others AIR 1973 SC 588

State of Maharashtra V. Annappa Bandu Kavatage, AIR 1979 SC 1410

State of Maharashtra versus Chandraprakash Kewalchand Jain, (1990) 1 SCC 550

State of Maharashtra versus Priya Sharan Maharaj and others AIR 1997 SC 2041

State of Maharashtra versus Shashikant S.Pujari and others (2006) 13 SCC 175

State of Maharastra Vs Digamber (AIR 1995) SC 1991 and 1995 4 SCC 683

State of Orissa vs. Debendra Nath Padhi, AIR 2005 SC 359

State of Punjab & Anr. Versus Surjit Singh & Ors., 2009 AIR SCW 6759

State of Punjab and another vs. Gurdial Singh and others, AIR 1980 SC 319

State of Punjab and others versus Ram Lubhaya Bagga etc. etc. AIR 1998 SC 1703

State of Punjab v. Baldev Singh, (1999) 6 SCC 172

State of Punjab versus Gurmit Singh and others, (1996) 2 SCC 384

State of Punjab versus Jagir Singh (1974) 3 SCC 277

State of Punjab versus Saurabh Bakshi 2015 (5) SCC 182

State of Punjab Vs. Gurmeet Singh and others, AIR 1996 SC 1393

State of Punjab Vs. Jagir Singh, 1974 3 SCC 277

State of Rajasthan V. Parmanand and another (2014) 5 SCC 345

State of Rajasthan v. Ratan Lal, (2009) 11 SCC 464

State of Rajasthan V. T.N. Sahani and others (2001) 10 Supreme Court Cases 619

State of Rajasthan versus N. K. THE ACCUSED (2000) 5 SCC 30

State of Rajasthan versus Om Prakash, (2002) 5 SCC 745

State of Tamil Nadu versus Mariya Anton Vijay (2015) 9 SCC 294

State of U.P. and others vs. Babu Ram Upadhya, AIR 1961 SC 751

State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Singhara Singh and Ors, AIR 1964, SC 358

State of Uttaranchal and Another Vs Dinesh Kumar Sharma, (2007) 1 SCC 683

State of West Bengal and others versus Karan Singh Binayak and others, AIR 2002 Supreme Court 1543

State of West Bengal v. Sankar Ghosh, (2014) 3 SCC 610

State v. Anil Kumar, Latest HLJ 2015(HP) 341

State versus N.S. God, (2013) 3 SCC 594

Statish Sitole v. Ganga, AIR 2008 SC 3093

Steel Authority of India Limited and others versus Dibyendu Battacharya, (2011) 11 Supreme Court Cases 122

Subhas Chandra Das Mushib v. Ganga Prosad Das Mushib and others AIR 1967 SC 878

Sumer Chand Katoch vs. The Kangra Central Cooperative Bank Ltd. 1996 (2) Sim. L.C. 134

Sundarjas Kanyalal Bhathiaja and ors. Vs. The Collector, Thane, Maharashtra and ors., AIR 1990 SC 261

Supdt. & Remembrance of Legal Affairs West Bengal Vs. Anil Kumar, AIR 1980 SC 52

Surender Kumar alias Teena and another v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(1) Him L.R. (DB) 566

Surinder Kaur vs. Mohinder Pal Singh, ILR 1976 HP 620

Surinder Kumar Arora & another versus Dr. Manoj Bisla & others, 2012 AIR SCW 2241

Surya Dev Rai versus Ram Chander Rai and others (2003) 6 SCC 675

'T'

T. Subramanian vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2006) 1 SCC 401

T.N. Rajasekar vs. N. Kasiviswanathan and others, AIR 2005 SC 3794

T.N. Terminated Full Time Temporary LIC Employees Assn. V. LIC, (2016) 9 SCC 366

T.S. Shylaja versus Oriental Insurance Company & Another, (2014) 2 SCC 587

T.T. Narayanan and another versus Mrs. P. Bridget and others II (1991) ACC 120 (DB)

Tahir v. State (Delhi), (1996) 3 SCC 338

Tamilnad Mercantile Bank Shareholders welfare Association (2) versus S.C.Sekar and others (2009)2 Supreme Court Cases 784

Tata Cellular versus Union of India (1994) 6 SCC 651

Thakur Dass vs. Land Acquisition Collector and others, Latest HLJ 2003 (HP) 13

Thalappalam Ser. Co-op. Bank Ltd. and others vs. State of Kerala and others 2013 AIR SCW 5683

Thansingh Nathmal v. The Superintendent of Taxes, Dhubri and others, AIR 1964 SC 1419

The Chief Secretary to Government Punjab and others versus Chawli and others, 1980 Punjab Law Journal 10

The Commissioner of Income-tax, Gujarat v. M/s A. Raman and Co., AIR 1968 SC 49

The Municipal Corporation Indore vs. K.N. Palsikar, AIR 1969 SC 580

The Secretary, West Bengal Council of Higher Secondary Education versus Ayan Das & Ors., 2007 AIR SCW 5976

The State Vs. Captain Jagjit Singh, AIR 1962 Apex Court 253

Tika Ram v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2007) 15 SCC 760

Tirumala Tirupati Devathanams vs. K.M. Krishnaiah, AIR 1998 SC 1132

Tota Ram vs. Belliss India (Private) Limited, (2016)6 SCC 406

Transport Corporation of India Ltd. Vs. Ganesh Polytex Ltd., AIR 2015 Apex Court 826

Travancore Tea Co. Ltd. vs. State of Kerala, 1980 (3) SCC 619

Trilok Chand versus State of H.P. 1996(1) Sim. L.C. 187

Trishala Jain and another Versus State of Uttranchal and another, (2011) 6 SCC 47

Tukaram Kana Joshi & others vs. Maharashtra Industrial Development Corporation & others, (2013) 1 SCC 353

Tulsi and Others vs. Chandrika Prasad and Others, 2006(8) SCC 322

Tulsipur Sugar Co. Ltd. Vs. The Notified Area Committee, Tulsipur, (1980) 2 SCC 295

'U'

U.P. vs. Krishna Gopal and Anr, 1988 4 SCC 302

U.P.S.R.T.C. vs. Km. Mamta and others, AIR 2016 Supreme Court 948

Uadi Shankar Awasthi versus State of U.P. & another, 2013(2) RCR (Criminal) 503

Uddar Gagan Properties Ltd. vs. Sant Singh and Ors. 2016 (5) JT 389

Union of India vs. Cowgule and Co. Pvt. Ltd. 1992 Supp 3 SCC 141

Union of India & Anr. versus International Trading Co. and Another (2003) 5 SCC 437

Union of India and another v. K.S. Subramanian, 1976 (3) SCC 677

Union of India and others versus Tarsem Singh, (2008) 8 SCC 648

Union of India and others Vs. Ashok Kumar and others, (2005) 8 SCC 760

Union of India v. Shah Alam and another, (2009) 16 SCC 644 (two Judges)

Union of India Versus Guwahati Carbon Ltd., (2012) 11 SCC 651

Union of India versus Prafulla Kumar Samal and another AIR 1979 SC 366

Union Territory Administration, Chandigarh and others versus Manju Mathur and another, (2011) 2 Supreme Court Cases 452

United Bank of India vs. Satyawati Tondon and others (2010) 8 SCC 110

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. and others versus Patricia Jean Mahajan and others, (2002) 6 SCC 281

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Versus K.M. Poonam and others, 2011 ACJ 917

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Versus Shila Datta & Ors., 2011 AIR SCW 6541

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Anipeddi Dhanalakshmi and Ors., 1994 ACJ 98

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Anthony Selvam and another, 2015 ACJ 1936

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Bhagat Ram and Anr., 1991 ACJ 288

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Dama Ram and others, 1994 ACJ 692

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Lehru, AIR 2003 Apex Court 1292

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Rajinder Singh & Ors., AIR 2000, SC 1165

United India Insurance Company Limited versus K.M. Poonam & others, 2011 ACJ 917

United India Insurance Company Limited vs Sh. Mohan Lal and others, I L R 2016 (VI) HP 704

United India Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Shila Datta, (2011) 10 SCC 509

Upasna & others vs. Omi Devi, 2001(2) Current Law Journal (Himachal Pradesh) 278

Uptron India Ltd. Vs. Shammi Bhan and another, (1998) 6 Supreme Court Cases 538

Usmangani Adambhai Vahora versus State of Gujarat and another (2016) 3 SCC 370

Uttam Chand & Anr. versus Gulab Chand Narendra Kumar & Ors. 2013 (2) Raj LW 1298

Uttaranchal Forest Development Corpn. and Another vs. K.B. Singh and others, (2005) 11 SCC 449

Uttaranchal Forest Rangers' Assn (Direct Recruit) & Ors Vs State of U.P. & Ors, (2006) 10 SCC 346

'V'

V. Narayana Bhat v. E. Subbanna Bhat, AIR 1975 Karnataka 162

V.D. Modi vs. R.A.Rehman, AIR 1970 SC 1475

V.K.N. Pillai vs. P.Pillai, AIR 2000 SC 614

Venkati Rama Reddi and others vs. Pillati Ram Reddi and others, AIR 1917 (4) Madras 27 (Full Bench)

Vidya Bhan Prakash versus The Second Additional District Judge, Mathura and others, AIR 1988 Allahabad 204

Vidyadhar Vs. Mankikrao & Another, AIR 1999 Apex Court 1441

Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja v. State of Gujarat, (2011) 1 SCC 60

Vikram Chauhan vs. The Managing Director and others Latest HLJ 2013 (HP) 742 (FB)

Villianur Iyarkkai Padukappu Maiyam versus Union of India and others (2009) 7 SCC 561

Viluben Jhalejar Contractor (Dead) by LRs Versus State of Gujarat, (2005) 4 SCC 789

Vimal Suresh Kamble Vs. Chaluverapinake Apal S.P. and another, (2003) 3 SCC 175

Vinod Seth vs. Devinder Bajaj, (2010) 8 SCC 1

Vishin N. Khanchandani & anr vs. Vidya Lachmandas Khanchandani & anr (2000) 6 SCC 724

Visveswaraya Iron and Steel Ltd. vs. M. Chandrappa (1994) 84 FJR 46

'W'

Waryam Singh and another Vs. Amarnath and another, A.I.R.1954 S.C. 215

Workmen of Balmadies Estates vs. Management, Balmadies Estates and Others, (2008)4 SCC 517

'Y'

Yamunabai Anantrao Adhav vs. Anantrao Shivram Adhav and another, (1988) 1 SCC 530

Yash Pal Mittal Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1977 SC 2433

Yashihey Yobin and another V. Department of Customs, Shillong (2014) 13 Supreme Court Cases 344

Yomeshbhai Pranshankar Bhatt vs. State of Gujarat, (2011) 6 SCC 312

Yunis Ali (Dead) Thru his L.Rs. versus Khursheed Akram, 2008 AIR SCW 4372

Yogesh Verma and others vs. State of H.P. and others, 2004 (1) Shim. L.C. 16

Yudhbir Singh versus State of Himachal Pradesh 1998(1)S.L.J. 58

'Z'

Zenit Mataplast Private Limited Versus State of Maharashtra and others, (2009) 10 Supreme Court Cases 388

Zuari Cement Ltd vs. Regional Director, ESIC, Hyderabad & Ors., AIR 2015, SC 2764

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Smt.Vidya Devi ....Appellant-Defendant
Versus
Shri Hem Raj ....Respondent-Plaintiff

Regular Second Appeal No.462 of 2007.
Date of decision: 09.09.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff pleaded that she was taken for securing bank loan – some documents were executed under the influence of liquor- it was found that power of attorney was got executed, which was got revoked – a sale deed was executed in the meantime on the basis of power of attorney – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that plaintiff had failed to prove that power of attorney was got executed as a result of fraud – while the evidence of the defendant that the power of attorney was executed voluntarily was satisfactory - however, the sale deed was executed after the revocation of the power of attorney- therefore, the sale deed is not valid – the Appellate Court had rightly reversed the judgment of the trial Court- appeal dismissed.(Para-10 to 21)

For the Appellant: Mr.R.L. Chaudhary, Advocate.
For Respondent: Mr.Digvijay Singh, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, J.

This appeal has been filed by the appellant-defendant against the judgment and decree dated 11.11.2004, passed by the learned Presiding Officer, Fast Track Court, Mandi, District Mandi, H.P., reversing the judgment and decree dated 25.5.2000, passed by the learned Sub Judge Ist Class, Court No.1, Mandi, District Mandi, whereby the suit filed by the respondent-plaintiff has been dismissed.

2. The brief facts of the case are that the plaintiff-respondent (herein after referred to as the `plaintiff'), filed a suit for declaration and injunction against the appellant-defendant (hereinafter referred to as the `defendant') stating therein that he is joint owner in possession alongwith other co-sharers and having 1/48th share in the suit land comprised in Khata Khatauni No.488/803 to 806, Khasra Nos.220, 227, 276, 278, 281, 279, 280, Kittas 7, measuring 177.88 Sq.Meters, situated in Mauja Bhagwahan/366/4, Tehsil Sadar, District Mandi, H.P. (hereinafter referred to as the suit land).

3. It has been averred by the plaintiff that the defendant, who is government employee and known to him since long, allured him for securing some bank loan for him so as to start some business and for that purpose she asked him to go to Tehsil Office with her for execution of some documents and under this impression he joined her and went to Tehsil Office on 20.11.1995, but on the way, she provided liquor to him and under the influence of liquor she got signed some documents from him. It has further been averred by the plaintiff that on the next day i.e. 21.11.1995, he narrated the whole story to his brother Ramesh, who went to Tehsil Office with him and made enquiries. The plaintiff has averred that he came to know from Tehsil Office that the defendant has got executed power of attorney from him qua his share in the suit land in favour of her brother Padam Nabh. The plaintiff has further averred that on 21.11.1995 itself, he got the power of attorney revoked in the presence of the defendant and her witnesses. The plaintiff has further averred that on 27.5.1996, the defendant came to his house and asked him for delivery of possession of his 1/48th share in the suit land and only then he came to know that mutation qua suit land had been sanctioned in favour of the defendant qua the suit land on 15.2.1996 as per sale deed No.358. It is further averred by the plaintiff that he had neither sold the suit land to the defendant nor had he received any consideration from her and that he had not delivered the possession of the suit land to the defendant. It is also averred by the plaintiff that his share in the suit land was already mortgaged with one Jagdish against a sum of Rs.10,000/- and, in view of this also no sale deed of the share of the plaintiff could have been executed in favour of the defendant. It is alleged by the plaintiff that neither he had received any consideration nor he had executed any sale deed in favour of the plaintiff. Hence, the plaintiff filed a suit in the trial Court seeking declaration that the sale deed dated 15.2.1996 and mutation attested in consequence thereof dated 3.4.1996 are wrong, illegal, null and void and not binding upon the plaintiff and the revenue entry to the contrary is also null and void with consequential relief of restraining the defendant from interfering in the suit land.

4. Defendant, by way of filing written statement, raised preliminary objections on the grounds of maintainability, locus standi, cause of action, estoppel and valuation for the purpose of court fee and jurisdiction. On merits, the defendant has averred that the plaintiff has already sold his entire share from the suit property prior to filing of the suit and therefore, he is no more owner in possession of the suit land and it is the defendant who is co-sharer in the suit land along with other co-sharers and that Khasra No.227, does not belong to the parties to the suit. Defendant has further averred that in fact the plaintiff had agreed to sell his entire share vide an agreement to sell dated 9.12.93 to one Sh.Sohan Lal S/o Sh.Karam Chand for a consideration of Rs.20,000/- and the brother of the plaintiff namely; Ramesh, had also agreed to sell his entire share in the suit land. Defendant has further averred that the plaintiff vide an agreement to sell dated 9.12.1993 had agreed to sell his entire share in the suit land to said Sh.Sohan Lal, for a consideration of Rs.20,000/- in the presence of the witnesses and both of them delivered the possession of the suit property to Sohan Lal, who further sold the share of the plaintiff and his brother in the suit land in her favour by delivery of possession to her. It has further been averred by the defendant that out of the total sale consideration of Rs.30,000/-, an amount of Rs.20,000/- had been received by the plaintiff and his brother Ramesh Kumar from said Sh.Sohan Lal at the time of execution of the agreement and the remaining amount of Rs.10,000/- had been agreed to be received at the time of execution and registration of sale deed. Defendant has further stated that, in between, said Sh.Sohan Lal, sold the suit property to her and she had paid the remaining amount to the plaintiff and his brother Ramesh Kumar. It has been averred by the defendant that the plaintiff had demanded Rs.5000/- from her, which had been paid by her and in lieu of that the plaintiff had agreed to execute the registered sale deed in her favour, which could not be registered. But at the same time, the plaintiff got his general power of attorney executed in favour of Padam Nabh, and he had got the sale deed qua the suit land executed in her favour after getting the remaining balance amount of Rs.5000/-, the possession of the suit land had also been delivered to the defendant. Defendant has denied the revocation of general power of attorney of the plaintiff on 21.11.1995 and stated that the sale deed had been executed and registered on 24.11.1995 on the basis of the general power of attorney of the plaintiff and in consequence thereto the mutation had also been entered and accepted. It has further been averred by the defendant that she is now owner in possession of the suit land qua 1/48th share of the plaintiff and prayed for dismissal of the suit filed by the plaintiff.

5. The plaintiff has not filed any replication to the written statement.

6. The learned trial Court, on the basis of pleadings, settled inasmuch as 8 issues and except Issue No.8, decided all the issues in favour of the defendant and accordingly dismissed the suit of the plaintiff.

7. Feeling aggrieved and dis-satisfied with the judgment and decree dated 25.5.2000, the plaintiff filed an appeal before the learned District Judge, which was allowed by the learned Presiding Officer, Fast Track Court, Mandi, District Mandi by holding that the suit of the plaintiff is decreed and the sale deed No.358 dated 15.3.1996 executed in favour of the defendant and mutation No.924 dated 3.5.1996 attested in consequence thereof are declared to be illegal, null, void and not binding upon the plaintiff and further the entries in the revenue record to the contrary are also declared to be null and void.

8. This second appeal was admitted on 19.3.2009 on the following substantial question of law:

> "(1) Whether the first appellate court has misread and misinterpreted documentary as well as oral evidences led by the defendants?
>
> 2. Whether the plaintiff is liable under law to execute sale deed in favour of the defendant in the event if his General Power of attorney was not legally empowered to execute the said deed, in view of the fact that the plaintiff has received the full consideration, handed over the possession and agreed to execute sale deed?"

9. Perusal of Ex.DC and Ex.PA i.e. copies of Jamabandi for the year 1991-92, clearly suggests that plaintiff was having 1/48th share in the suit property. Similarly, it duly stands proved on record that on the strength of power of attorney executed by the plaintiff in favour of P.N. Sharma, P.N. Sharma sold the share of plaintiff in the suit property, as mentioned above, to the defendant and on the basis of same, mutation was also attested in favour of defendant. Plaintiff by way of suit sought declaration and injunction restraining the defendant qua the suit land, description whereof has been given hereinabove, by stating that suit land was duly owned and possessed by him alongwith other co-sharers and he is having 1/48th share of that property. He also claimed that defendant under the influence of liquor got some document signed by him, which she lateron used for getting the suit land transferred in her name. Plaintiff further stated that on 21.11.1995, he narrated the whole story to his brother who alongwith him went to Tehsil Office and on inquiry found that defendant got power of attorney executed from him qua his share in the suit land in favour of her brother P.N. Sharma. Accordingly, on 21.11.1995, he got the power of attorney revoked in the presence of the defendant and her witnesses. He also claimed that when defendant came to his house on 27.5.1996 and asked for delivery of the possession of 1/48th share of suit land, only then he came to know that she has become owner of the suit land in terms of sale deed dated 15.2.1996. Plaintiff also claimed that neither he sold the suit to the defendant nor he had received any consideration from her and he never delivered the possession of the suit land to the defendant.

10. Careful perusal of evidence led on record clearly suggests that the plaintiff was unable to prove on record that power of attorney Ex.PA, executed by him in favour of P.N. Sharma authorizing him to sell his 1/48th share in the suit property, was a result of fraud upon him by the defendant. To the contrary defendant, while leading cogent and convincing evidence, was able to prove on record that power of attorney dated 11.4.2000 was duly executed by plaintiff, whereby he had authorized P.N. Sharma i.e. DW-4 to sell his share in the suit property.

11. Close scrutiny of record of the Courts below suggests that there is overwhelming evidence adduced on record by the defendant to prove that power of attorney Ex.DA and receipt Ex.D1, whereby plaintiff had received total consideration, was executed by the plaintiff after fully understanding the contents of the same. DW-2 has specifically stated that the plaintiff had agreed to sell his suit property for Rs.20,000/- and hence for the same she paid an amount of Rs.20,000/- to the plaintiff on 20.11.1995 and thereafter plaintiff got scribed power of attorney in Tehsil Office in the presence of Som Nath, Advocate, Sohan Lal and Harish Kumar, but fact remains that the same was lateron registered in favour of P.N. Sharma. Accordingly, on 24.11.995, P.N. Sharma, in terms of power of attorney Ex.DA, executed sale deed in her favour.

12. Similarly, perusal of DW-3, DW-4 and DW-5 clearly proves on record that plaintiff had executed a power of attorney in favour of Shri P.N. Sharma in Tehsil Office and no liquor was served to the plaintiff at the material time and P.N. Sharma executed the sale deed Ex.DB on the basis of power of attorney. Hence, this Court, after perusing the overwhelming evidence adduced on record by the defendant, sees no reason to interfere in the findings recorded by both the Courts below that power of attorney Ex.DA was executed by the plaintiff in favour of P.N. Sharma authorizing him to sell his share in the suit property in favour of defendant. Defendant was also able to prove her case by placing on record receipt Ex.D1, whereby the plaintiff had received an amount of Rs.20,000/- on account of consideration qua the suit land which was sold by P.N.Sharma, being power of attorney holder of the plaintiff.

13. Similarly, DW-1 i.e. the then Sub Registrar also supported the case of the defendant that the power of attorney Ex.DA was executed by the plaintiff in his presence after fully understanding its contents and same were admitted by the plaintiff before him at the time of its registration.

14. Now, question, which remains to be determined by this Court, at this stage, is, "whether at the time of alleged execution of sale deed, P.N. Sharma was authorized to effect the sale, if any, in favour of defendant on the strength of power of attorney Ex.DA?" Plaintiff also claimed that sale deed is null and void since he had revoked the power of attorney allegedly executed by him on 21.11.1995, whereby he had allegedly authorized P.N. Sharma to effect sale, if any, of his share in favour of defendant.

15. Plaintiff, while appearing as PW-1, has stated on oath that he revoked the power of attorney on subsequent day. He stated that on 20.11.1995 he was taken to Tehsil Office by defendant under the pretext to prepare some papers for obtaining bank loan and where he was provided liquor by the defendant to considerable extent and as such under the influence of liquor defendant got executed some papers from him. He also stated that on 21.11.1995, when he came to Tehsil Office alongwith his brother, he came to know that power of attorney has been got registered by the defendant qua his share in favour of her brother namely P.N. Sharma. However, close scrutiny of examination-in-chief and cross-examination conducted on PW-1 nowhere suggests that any suggestion worth the name was put to him by the defendant with regard to revocation of power of attorney, if any, allegedly executed by him in favour of P.N. Sharma. Plaintiff also placed on record revocation deed Ex.PK, wherein it finds mention that power of attorney executed by the plaintiff in favour of P.N. Sharma on 20.11.1995 stands revoked by a deed of revocation Ex.PK. Candid admission made by DW-1 in his cross-examination fully corroborates the statement given by PW-1 i.e. plaintiff wherein he stated that he had revoked power of attorney allegedly executed by him on 21.11.1995 in favour of P.N. Sharma authorizing him to effect sale of his share in the suit land in favour of defendant. If cross-examination conducted on these material witnesses PW-1 and DW-1 is seen, it clearly emerge from their admission that plaintiff had revoked power of attorney Ex.D2 by executing revocation deed Ex.PK. Hence, this Court finds considerable force in the findings returned by the Court below that the plaintiff was able to prove on record that power of attorney Ex.D2, allegedly executed by him in favour of P.N. Sharma, was revoked by revocation deed, which was got registered in the office of Sub Registrar on 21.11.1995. Perusal of Ex.PK i.e. revocation deed dated 21.11.1995, clearly suggests that power of attorney executed by the plaintiff in favour of P.N. Sharma on 20.11.1995 was revoked by the plaintiff for all intents and purposes and as such P.N. Sharma had no authority, whatsoever, after 21.11.1995 to execute the sale deed in favour of defendant on the strength of power of attorney Ex.D2. It also emerged from the record that the learned trial Court though was fully convinced with the evidence led on record by the plaintiff that he had revoked power of attorney Ex.DB executed in favour of P.N. Sharma vide revocation deed dated 21.11.1995, but the same was discarded/rejected solely on the ground that no notice of revocation of the power of attorney was ever given to DW-3 P.N. Sharma by the plaintiff prior to execution of the sale deed and as such sale deed was declared legal. In this regard learned first appellate Court rightly concluded that registration of the deed of revocation itself can be safely deemed to be a notice to the persons subsequently acquiring the property comprised in the instrument.

16. Careful perusal of revocation deed, which stands duly proved on record, clearly suggests that after 21.11.1995 P.N. Sharma had no right/authority to sell the property on behalf of the plaintiff. In the instant case, it also stands proved on record that sale deed Ex.DB was executed on 24.11.1995, but undoubtedly on that day P.N. Sharma, power of attorney holder of plaintiff, had no authority, whatsoever, to effect sale, if any, in favour of defendant on the strength of power of attorney Ex.D2 which stood revoked w.e.f. 21.11.1995. Revocation Deed Ex.PK stands duly proved on record. Since P.N. Sharma had no authority to effect sale, if any, after 21.11.1995, on the strength of power of attorney, sale deed Ex.DB executed by him on 24.11.1995 is not binding upon the plaintiff and as such learned first appellate Court rightly concluded that the trial Court has committed grave illegality while holding sale deed Ex.DB to be legal and binding upon the plaintiff.

17. Now, question which remains to be seen, "whether plaintiff is liable to execute sale deed qua his share in the suit land in favour of defendant on account of sale consideration, which he allegedly received vide Ex.D1? In the present case, it is own case of the defendant that sale deed Ex.DB was executed in favour of defendant by P.N. Sharma, who was given power of attorney Ex.DA by the plaintiff. But once it stands proved on record that Ex.DA was revoked by the plaintiff vide revocation deed Ex.PK, P.N. Sharma, power of attorney of plaintiff, had no authority to execute sale deed in favour of defendant after 21.11.1995. Moreover, defendant has nowhere led any evidence on record to prove that plaintiff had agreed to execute sale deed, if any, in favour of defendant. Rather, plaintiff was able to prove on record that power of attorney, executed by him in favour of P.N. Sharma, was revoked on 21.11.1995 i.e. definitely before execution of sale deed dated 24.11.1995 Ex.DB. Similarly, perusal of Ex.D1 i.e. receipt allegedly issued by the plaintiff to the defendant, while selling his share in the suit land i.e. Khata Khatauni Nos.481/803,803, 806, nowhere suggests that plaintiff had received an amount of Rs.20,000/- in terms of sale deed Ex.DB, which came to be registered on 15.2.1996. Rather, perusal of aforesaid receipt suggests that on 20.11.1995 plaintiff sold land, as described above, for a consideration of Rs.20,000/- to the defendant, possession whereof was also delivered on the same day and more interestingly, there is no mentioning, if any, with regard to execution of sale deed i.e. Ex.D1, from where it can be inferred that pursuant to receipt of consideration, as referred in Ex.D1, plaintiff had undertaken before defendant to get the sale deed executed in her favour through his power of attorney, P.N. Sharma.

18. Perusal of Ex.D3 reveals that present plaintiff alongwith his brother; namely; Ramesh had already sold land, which is subject matter of the present suit, to one Shri Sohan Lal vide agreement to sell dated 9.12.2003, but defendant, while leading cogent evidence on record, neither by leading convincing evidence on record nor by putting specific suggestion to the plaintiff, was able to prove on record that he had not sold suit land to Sohan Lal on 9.12.1993. Leaving everything aside, as has been discussed in detail, it stands duly proved on record that power of attorney Ex.DB, executed by the plaintiff in favour of P.N. Sharma, stood revoked vide revocation deed dated 21.11.1995 i.e. Ex.PK and as such power of attorney holder Mr.P.N. Sharma had no authority to effect sale, if any, in favour of defendant on the strength of power of attorney Ex.DB allegedly executed by the plaintiff on 20.11.1995. Moreover, careful perusal of written statement filed by defendant itself suggests that at first instance vide agreement to sell dated 9.12.1993, plaintiff sold suit land to one Shri Sohan Lal for a consideration of Rs.20,000/- and the possession of said property to the extent of his share was delivered to said Shri Sohan Lal and lateron said Shri Sohan Lal sold this property vide agreement to sell dated 19.10.1995 to the defendant and was also delivered the possession of the property. As per plaintiff, on 9.12.1993 plaintiff and his brother had agreed to sell entire property to Shri Sohan Lal for a total consideration of Rs.40,000/-, out of which Rs.30,000/- were received by the plaintiff and his brother Ramesh Kumar from said Shri Sohan Lal, at the time of execution of agreement and remaining amount of Rs.10,000/- was agreed to be received at the time of execution and registration of sale deed. Defendant has specifically stated that said Shri Sohan Lal sold this property to her and she paid remaining amount to the plaintiff and his brother Ramesh Kumar, accordingly, on 20.11.1995, she requested the plaintiff to execute the registered sale deed qua her share.

19. Close scrutiny of written statement, especially para-2, itself suggests that it is admitted case of defendant that she had purchased suit land from Shri Sohan Lal in whose favour plaintiff had already effected agreement to sell as stated by him in the plaint as well as in deposition made before the Court. Plaintiff has specifically stated in his statement that since he had already sold his share in the suit land in favour of Shri Sohan Lal, there was no occasion for him to effect sale, if any, qua the similar piece of land in favour of defendant. Aforesaid assertion made by the plaintiff in plaint stands duly corroborated by the reply given by the defendant in para-2 of the written statement, where she admitted that she purchased suit land from Shri Sohan Lal and paid remaining amount to the plaintiff and his brother Ramesh Kumar. It clearly emerge from aforesaid admission made by the defendant in written statement that amount of consideration, if any, qua the suit land was paid to Shri Sohan Lal. Though defendant has stated that remaining amount was paid to the plaintiff, but while making deposition before the Court below while contesting the suit, defendant made an whole hearted attempt to prove on record that entire consideration was paid to the plaintiff.

20. Hence, in view of above, specifically when it stands duly proved on record that Shri P.N. Sharma had no authority after 21.11.1995 to execute sale deed, if any, in favour of defendant on the strength of power of attorney Ex.DA allegedly executed in his favour by the plaintiff, this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the judgment passed by the first appellate Court, wherein it decreed the suit of the plaintiff declaring sale deed No.358 dated 15.3.1996 and mutation No.924 dated 3.4.1996 null and void and not binding upon the plaintiff. Substantial question of law is answered, accordingly.

21. Since this Court, while exploring answer to aforesaid question of law perused the entire evidence led on record by the parties, it cannot be said by any stretch of imagination that learned first appellate Court below misread, misinterpreted and mis-appreciated the documentary as well as oral evidence led by the defendant. Rather, first appellate Court, while deciding actual controversy involved in the matter, dealt with each and every aspect of the matter very meticulously and this Court sees no reason to interfere in the same. Hence, substantial question No.2 is answered accordingly.

22. In view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove, this appeal is dismissed. The judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court below is upheld and that of the learned trial Court is set aside and the suit filed by the plaintiff is decreed. There shall be no order as to costs.

23. Interim order, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

M/s.Byford Private Ltd.& Others ....Appellants-Defendants

Versus

Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust & Another ....Respondents-Plaintiffs

Regular Second Appeal No.487 of 2005.
Judgment Reserved on: 09.08.2016.
Date of decision: 16.09.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiff filed a suit for possession and mesne profit – it was pleaded that L, previous owner of the property had executed a lease in favour of the defendants – she had executed a Will in favour of plaintiff No.2- plaintiff No.2 created a trust – defendant No.1 was asked to attorn in favour of plaintiff No.2 – but he asked the plaintiff No.2 to get his title cleared from the Court- the defendant failed to hand over the possession after expiry of the lease and threatened to raise construction forcibly – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court – appeal was filed, which was allowed – held in second appeal that a notification was issued during the pendency of the proceedings bringing the area in the limits of M.C. Shimla- however, the defendants do not fall within the definition of the tenants under Section 2(j) of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act and the plea regarding the applicability of Rent Act to them is not acceptable –

defendants were held to be in unauthorized possession by the Appellate Court- the issue of title, execution of Will and creation of trust were decided in a previous judgment – therefore, the judgment is relevant in this case- the Appellate Court had rightly placed reliance upon the same- appeal dismissed.(Para- 27 to 91)

Cases referred:

Srinivas vs. Narayanan, AIR 1954 SC 379

Tirumala Tirupati Devathanams vs. K.M. Krishnaiah, AIR 1998 SC 1132

R.V.E. Venkatachala Gounder vs. Arulmigu Viswesaraswami V.P. Temple and another, AIR 2003 SC 4548

S.P.E. Madras vs. K.V. Sundaravelu, AIR 1978 SC 1017

State of Bihar and others vs. Sri Radha Krishna Singh and others, AIR 1983 SC 684

Rajan Rai vs. State of Bihar, (2006)1 SCC 191

For the Appellants:	Mr.Ajay Kumar, Senior Advocate with Mr.Dheeraj Vashisht, Advocate.
For Respondents No.1 and 2.:	Mr.Bhupinder Gupta, Senior Advocate with Mr.Neeraj Gupta, Advocate.
For Respondents No.3 and 4.:	None.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, J.

This appeal has been filed by the appellants-defendants against the judgment and decree dated 16.08.2005, passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Shimla, District Shimla, H.P., reversing the judgment and decree dated 7.9.1999, passed by the learned Sub Judge Ist Class, Court No.2, Shimla, whereby the suit filed by the respondents-plaintiffs has been decreed.

2. Briefly stated fact as emerged from the record are that the plaintiffs filed a suit for possession of three plots of land measuring 1.3 bighas comprised in Khasra Nos. 670/1, 672 and 674, Khewat No.50, Khatauni No.62, of Jamabandi for the year 1986-87, situated at village Badhal, Tehsil and District Shimla alongwith the construction standing thereupon and for recovery of Rs.19,000/- on account of mesne profits for the last three years/use and occupation charges and future mesne profits at the rate of Rs.6000/- per month from the date of filing of the suit. Plaintiffs set up a case that late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral wife of Sardar Ajit Singh being owner of the suit property and several other properties, situated in village Badhal created a lease for 20 years in respect of suit property in favour of appellants-defendants M/s. Byford Private Limited. In the year 1970 Smt.Lajwanti Gujral expired but during her life time she had executed a Will with respect to her entire property including suit property, whereby she bequeathed entire property in favour of plaintiff No.2. It was averred in the plaint that Smt.Lajwanti Gujral and her husband late Sardar Ajit Singh wanted to create some charitable Trust qua some part of property. Accordingly, plaintiff No.2 solely with a view to honour their wish created a Trust; namely; Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust, Kachi Ghati, Tara Devi, Shimla, after becoming the owner of the entire property of Smt.Lajwanti Gujral on the basis of will executed by her. Aforesaid Trust was created by plaintiff No.2 in the year 1982 and as such, immediately after the death of Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, plaintiff No.2; namely; Rajindr Singh asked defendant No.1 who was a lessee under Lajwanti Gujral, to attorn in his favour. But, defendant No.1 instead of accepting title of plaintiff No.2 asked him to get his title cleared from the Court. It also emerged from the plaint that rest of the property of Lajwanti Gujral was illegally occupied by the persons namely; Nanak Singh and Parveen Singh.

3. Plaintiffs also filed a suit in this Court against the aforesaid Nanak Singh and Parveen Singh for possession of rest of the property. Similarly, Nanak Singh also filed a suit claiming himself to be President of some Society known as Gurdwara Lal Ajit Sabha, but plaintiff in the plaint claimed that aforesaid suits have no bearing on the case in hand, since the status of the defendants was only that of the lessees under Lajwanti Gujral and after her death under the plaintiff. Plaintiff also alleged that the lease created by Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, in favour of defendant No.1, was expired on 10.7.1989 and the plaintiffs thus, became entitled to recover the possession of the suit property from defendants. Plaintiff also claimed that defendants not only refused to handover the possession of the suit property after expiry of lease but also started collecting material for the construction of some structure on the suit land unauthorisedly.

4. Record reveals that only defendants No.1 to 3 contested the suit, whereas remaining defendants were proceeded ex-parte. Defendants No.1 to 3 by way of written statement denied the claim of the plaintiff put forth in the plaint by stating that suit was liable to be stayed under Section 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure (for short `CPC') because of previously instituted two civil suits i.e. one suit filed by the plaintiff against Nanak Singh and Parveen Singh and another suit filed by Nanak Singh against the plaintiffs in this Court, which were pending at that relevant time. Defendants also stated that plaintiffs were estopped to sue by their acts, deeds and conduct. On merits, defendants admitted that Lajwanti Gujral had created a lease for 20 years on monthly rent at the rate of Rs.500/- in favour of defendant No.1 in the year 1969 and that the lease was for a fixed term of 20 years, but defendants stated that Lajwanti Gujral was not the absolute owner of the property and she was only given a life estate by her husband late Sardar Ajit Singh. As per defendants late Sardar Ajit Singh provided in will that on her death the entire property, including the suit property would go to a charitable Trust and as such Lajwanti Gujral was not competent to execute will bequeathing the property to anybody. However, defendants in alternative denied that Lajwanti Gujral made any will in favour of plaintiff No.2. Defendants claimed that they rightly refused to pay the rent to the plaintiff No.2 after the death of Lajwanti Gujral since they were considering themselves to be the owners of the property and so that they had become the owners by way of adverse possession. Defendants, in the alternative, also pleaded that they had become the owners of the suit land by operation of Section 104 of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act (hereinafter referred to as the ` H.P. Tenancy Act').

5. Learned trial Court vide judgment and decree dated 7.9.1999 dismissed the suit of the plaintiff by holding that the plaintiffs are not owners of the suit property or entitled to recover the possession of the same as prayed for. Learned trial Court also not held plaintiffs entitled to use and occupation charges. Similarly, learned trial Court, while dismissing the suit of the plaintiffs, also held that the defendants have not become the owners of the suit property as claimed by way of adverse possession or conferment of proprietary rights.

6. Being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the aforesaid judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court, plaintiffs filed an appeal before the learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Shimla, who vide impugned judgment and decree dated 16.8.2005 allowed the appeal, whereby plaintiffs were held entitled for possession of the suit property. Learned first appellate Court, while accepting the appeal, held that appellants had been successful in establishing the title and possession of appellant No.1 in the suit property. Learned first appellate Court specifically returned the findings that the possession of respondents became unauthorized after 10.7.1989 and as such besides holding plaintiff entitled for possession also held entitled to fair rent from 1.4.1990.

7. In the aforesaid background, present appellants-defendants, being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned judgment and decree dated 16.8.2005 passed by learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Shimla, filed instant Second Appeal, which was admitted by this Court vide order dated 20.9.2003 on the following substantial questions of law:-

> "1. Whether the findings of the courts below are result of misreading and misinterpretation of law?

2. Whether a suit can be maintained against a Trust in the absence of trustee?

3. Whether a judgment, which is not inter-se between the parties, can form basis of a decree on the ground of resjudicata?"

8. At this stage, it may be noticed that present appellants-defendants, during the pendency of present appeal, moved an application bearing No.CMP No.9199 of 2015 under Order 41 Rules 27 and 33 read with Section 151 CPC, praying therein for placing on record copy of notification dated 2.8.2006, issued by Government of Himachal Pradesh including area wherein tenanted premises are situated, in the limits of Municipal Corporation, Shimla. However, this Court vide order dated 1st October, 2015 ordered that application referred hereinabove would be considered at the time of final hearing. Similarly, present appellants-defendants also moved CMP No.3363 of 2016 under Section 100 CPC read with Order 42 Rule 2 and Section 151 CPC, praying therein for amendment of existing substantial questions of law as well as framing of additional substantial question of law.

9. Shri Ajay Kumar Sood, learned Senior Counsel, representing the appellants, vehemently argued that the impugned judgment passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Shimla, is not sustainable in the eye of law since same is not based upon correct appreciation of evidence adduced on record by the respective parties. Mr.Sood contended that bare perusal of impugned judgment itself suggests that the learned appellate Court has erred gravely and acted with material illegality, irregularity and impropriety in passing the impugned judgment and decree merely on the basis of conjectures and surmises.

10. Mr.Sood further contended that learned first appellate Court has erred gravely and acted with material illegality and irregularity by misinterpreting the law as applicable to the facts of this case. During arguments having been made by him, Mr.Sood, made this Court to travel through the issues framed by the learned trial Court to suggest that suit of the plaintiff was dismissed by the trial court on merits by deciding issues No.1 to 5 against the plaintiffs after critical analysis of the evidence of the parties, whereas learned first appellate Court simply based his entire decision on document Ex.PW-1/S, i.e. common judgment and decree dated 16.1.1998, passed by learned Additional District Judge, Shimla, in two Civil Suits i.e. Civil Suit No.38-S/1 of 95/81, titled: Shri Gurudwara Laj Ajit Memorial Sabha through its President Shri Nanak Singh vs. Shri Gurudweara Singh Sabha, Cart Road, Motor Stand, Shimla through its President Shri Baldev Singh and Civil Suit No.6-S/1 of 96/83, titled: Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust & Others vs. Shri Nanak Singh Gandhi & Others (hereinafter referred to as `Ex.PW-1/S'), which was, admittedly, not a judgment and decree inter-se parties. Learned first appellate Court instead of analyzing the evidence adduced on record by both the parties solely relied upon Ex.PW-1/S i.e. judgment and decree passed in some other case where present appellants were not party and such grave illegality has been committed by learned first appellate Court while passing the impugned judgment and decree and as such same deserves to be quashed and set aside.

11. Mr.Sood argued with full vehemence that learned first appellate Court, while holding present appellants in un-authorised possession of the suit property after 10.7.1989, failed to address the actual controversy involved in the suit because at no point of time learned first appellate Court referred to evidence led on record by the parties qua the issues framed by learned trial Court. Mr.Sood, while referring to the impugned judgment, passed by learned first appellate Court, stated that Court below not bothered or cared to address the facts of the case or the evidence on the case file and the issues involved in the present suit and whether the plaintiffs had been able to prove any of the issue by leading proper and legal evidence in the matter and as such he prayed for setting aside of the impugned judgment, which, as per him, was illegal and erroneously decided by learned first appellate Court in absence of any proof on any of the issues. Mr.Sood forcefully contended that Ex.PW-1/S was not inter partes and as such it was neither admissible in evidence in the present case nor it could be operated as a res judicata between the parties under Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (for short `Evidence Act').

12. Mr.Sood further contended that aforesaid judgment Ex.PW-1/S has no relevance in the present case and plaintiffs were required to prove its case on its own fact since Evidence Act does not make finding of fact arrived at on the evidence before the Court in one case evidence of that fact in another case where the parties are not the same. Mr.Sood also argued that the learned first appellate Court failed to take note of the accepted legal proposition that a judgment is not admissible or relevant unless it fulfills the mandatory requirements of Sections 40 to 43 of the Evidence Act and as such judgment, which is not inter partes, could be made basis by the learned first appellate Court for deciding the appeal at hand. Mr.Sood further contended that the judgment, which was not inter partes, could not operate as res judicata and could not be made sole basis of deciding a suit of title and possession, especially when plaintiffs miserably failed to lead evidence to prove the issue involved in the present case, though Mr.Sood, fairly conceded that Ex.PW-1/S was further upheld by the Hon'ble High Court and Hon'ble Apex Court. While concluding his arguments, Mr.Sood, persuaded this Court to peruse evidence led on record by plaintiffs to demonstrate that the plaintiffs miserably failed to prove that it was a legally and validly constituted Trust. Similarly, Mr.Sood made this Court to peruse evidence adduced on record by the plaintiffs to demonstrate that at no point of time plaintiffs were able to prove will of late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral on the basis of which they claimed title of the suit property. Lastly, Mr.Sood stated that it is ample clear from the judgment passed by learned trial Court that the plaintiffs were not able to prove creation of Trust, if any, because at no point of time PW-1 was able to place on record Trust Deed, authorization letter authorizing him to file suit on behalf of Trust and will, if any, executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral.

13. At this stage, Mr.Sood, apart from making aforesaid arguments, invited the attention of this Court to CMP No.9199/2015 filed by appellants under Order 41 Rules 27 and 33 read with Section 151 CPC for placing on record additional documents and prayed that the same may be decided at first instance before adverting to the merits of the case since documents intended to be placed on record would have great bearing on the merits of the case.

14. Mr.Sood stated that during the pendency of the suit, State of Himachal Pradesh vide notification dated 2.8.2006 included certain new areas in Municipal Limits of Municipal Corporation, Shimla. Mr.Sood, while referring to para-3 of the application, submitted that area in question, where suit property is situated, has also been included in the limits of Municipal Corporation, Shimla vide aforesaid notification. As per Mr.Sood, with the inclusion of the suit property in the Municipal Corporation area, suit itself has become infructuous and as such in view of subsequent development, the application may be allowed and they be permitted to place on record copy of notification.

15. Similarly, Mr.Sood also invited the attention of this Court to CMP No.3363 of 2016 filed by appellants under Section 100 read with Order 42 Rule 2 and Section 151 CPC for amendment and reframing of substantial questions of law.

16. Mr.Sood, while making arguments, also invited the attention of this Court to the substantial questions of law framed on 20.9.2005, whereby question No.2 was framed by this Court as under:-

> 2. Whether a suit can be maintained against a Trust in the absence of trustee?

17. As per Mr.Sood, keeping in view the controversy at hand, aforesaid issue should have been framed as under:-

> "2. Whether a suit can be maintained by a Trust in the absence of Trustees?"

Since suit was filed against the appellants by an alleged Trust, Mr.Sood stated that there appears to be typographical mistake while framing the said question of law and as such it needs to be re-framed accordingly.

18. Mr.Sood, while referring to para-4 of the aforesaid application, also stated that in the instant case, judgment passed in some other case and exhibited as Ex.PW-1/S, has been relied upon by the learned first appellate Court for passing impugned judgment against the appellants, which was not admissible in evidence under Sections 40 to 43 of the Indian Evidence Act and could not be made basis for passing impugned judgment by the learned first appellate Court and as such substantial question No.3 requires to be recast and substantial questions No.3 to 5 as submitted with the grounds of appeal required to be reframed. He also submitted that now since the suit property has come in the limits of Municipal Corporation of Shimla, another substantial question of law requires to be framed as under:-

> "What is the legal effect on the present suit after the inclusion of the suit property in the urban limits of Municipal Corporation, Shimla during pendency of this RSA?"

19. Mr.Sood in support of aforesaid contentions placed reliance on the judgments passed by Hon'ble Apex Court as well as by this Court in Sunder Dass vs. Ram Parkash 1977(2) R.C.R. 143, Mani Subrat Jain vs. Raja Ram Vohra, AIR 1980 SC 299, Lakshmi Narayan Guin and others vs. Niranjan Modak, AIR 1985 SC 111, Anthony vs. K.C. Ittoop & Sons and Others, (2000)6 SCC 394, Vishwanath Sitaram vs. Sau.Sarla Vishwanath Agrawal, AIR 2012 SC 2586. Sunit Kumar vs. Laxmi Chand, 2009(2) Shim.L.C. 448 and Shyam Sunder Lal vs. Shagun Chand, AIR 1987 Allahabad 214.

20. Mr.Bhupender Gupta, learned Senior Counsel, supported the judgment and decree passed by the learned first appellate Court. Mr.Gupta, while referring to the impugned judgment, vehemently argued that bare perusal of same suggests that same is based upon correct appreciation of the evidence as well as law and as such no interference, whatsoever, of this Court is warranted in the present facts and circumstances of the case. Mr.Gupta, strenuously argued that there is no illegality, infirmity and perversity in the impugned judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court, rather same is based upon the correct appreciation of facts as well as law.

21. Mr.Gupta, while refuting the contention put forth on behalf of learned Senior Counsel representing the appellants, submitted that learned first appellate Court rightly placed reliance upon Ex.PW-1/S because, admittedly, vide Ex.PW-1/S, Court below held plaintiff No.2 Rajinder Singh Gujral to be the owner of the suit property pursuant to will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral. Mr.Gupta, while inviting the attention of this Court to judgment Ex.PW-1/S, strenuously argued that bare perusal of the said judgment Ex.PW-1/S suggests that will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral was held to be valid one and for all intents and purposes plaintiff No.2 Rajinder Singh was held to be owner of the suit property on the basis of will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral. Mr.Gupta, forcefully contended that bare perusal of the written statement filed by appellants clearly suggests that rent was denied to plaintiff No.2 solely on the ground that at first instance he should prove his title.

22. Mr.Gupta, invited the attention of this Court to the written statement filed by defendants, wherein it was stated that two civil suits were pending; meaning thereby that defendants were denied rent as well as acknowledging plaintiff No.2 to be owner for want of title, which issue was ultimately decided vide Ex.PW-1/S, wherein plaintiff No.2 was held to be owner of the suit property pursuance to will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, which was also held to be valid. Mr.Gupta invited the attention of this Court to the admission made on behalf of defendants in the written statement that they had procured legal opinion of Mr.K.D. Sood, Advocate, wherein he advised that they should wait for outcome of both the afore-mentioned Civil Suits.

23. In the aforesaid background, Mr.Gupta, forcefully contended that learned trial Court had fallen in grave error while not acknowledging Ex.PW-1/S, which could be material document to decide the controversy at hand. Mr.Gupta, refuted the contention put forth on behalf of counsel representing the appellants that learned first appellate Court failed to take note of the mandatory requirements of Sections 40 to 43 of the Evidence Act by stating that judgment Ex.PW-1/S had direct bearing upon the present suit because in that case issue with regard to title of suit property was decided. As per Mr.Gupta, once defendants specifically raised the issue of title, learned trial Court while deciding the controversy at hand ought to have relied upon Ex.PW-1/S with a view to go to the root of the controversy. With a view to substantiate the aforesaid arguments, Mr.Gupta invited the attention of this Court to Section 13 of the Evidence Act. Mr.Gupta, while refuting the arguments made by Mr.Sood that the plaintiffs led no evidence to prove that it was a legally and validly constituted Trust, submitted that had learned trial Court taken cognizance of Ex.PW-1/S, wherein issue of execution of will by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral as well as constitution of Trust by plaintiff was specifically dealt with by the trial Court, all objections/contentions raised/made by appellants-defendants would have answered automatically.

24. Mr.Gupta also stated that learned trial Court below miserably failed to appreciate the evidence led on record by the plaintiffs, wherein, PW-1 Baldev Singh categorically stated that property earlier belonged to Sardar Surjeet Singh, who made will in favour of Smt.Lajwanti in the year 1970. He also stated that Smt.Lajwanti made a will in favour of plaintiff No.2 Shri Rajinder Singh, as a consequent of that, mutation was attested in favour of plaintiff No.2 vide Jamabandi Ex.PW-1/A to E. He categorically stated that Chairman, Gurudwara Singh Sabha was ex-officio Chairman and there were six trustees. PW-1 Baldev Singh also stated that Trust was made in the year 1982, copy of which is mark `A'. Mr.Gupta, further contended that if, for the sake of arguments, it is conceded that PW-1 Baldev Singh was not able to prove validity of constituted Trust, learned trial Court could not dismiss the suit on that ground, especially when PW-2 Rajinder Singh, who became owner of the property, was one of the plaintiff. Mr.Gupta, also invited the attention of this Court to the statement of PW-1 wherein he stated that PW-2 Rajinder Singh Gujral issued notice to defendants after becoming owner; meaning thereby that the suit at hand was instituted by PW-2 also and as such learned trial Court below could not dismiss the suit on the ground that plaintiffs were not able to prove that they were owners of the suit land and entitled to recover the possession of the suit land. While concluding his arguments in the case, Mr. Gupta vehemently argued that had trial Court below placed reliance upon Ex.PW-1/S, judgment dated 16.1.1998 would not have been passed by learned trial Court because all issues pertaining to execution of will, title and creation of Trust were decided in that judgment which has been upheld up to Hon'ble Apex Court.

25. Mr.Gupta, while opposing the prayer made in the applications moved under Order 42 Rule 2 read with Section 151 CPC and Order 41 Rules 27 & 33 read with Section 151 CPC filed on behalf of the appellants, stated that there is no subsequent development which may defeat the decree passed by the appellate Court in favour of plaintiffs. Mr.Gupta, stated that merely the fact that the property is located in the area which stands included in the Municipal Corporation would not give any right to the appellants to submit that the suit has become infructuous, rather applicants-appellants solely with a view to defeat the mandate of impugned judgment are trying to misrepresent the true facts by placing reliance upon notification issued by State of Himachal Pradesh including area of suit property in Municipal Corporation, Shimla. Mr.Gupta, with a view to refute the aforesaid contention put forth on behalf of counsel representing the appellants, forcefully argued that relationship of landlord and tenant was not at all admitted by the appellants in the written statement and as such appellants are estopped from contending that the suit has become infructuous and the provisions of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987 (hereinafter referred to as `H.P. Rent Act') are applicable. With a view to substantiate his aforesaid arguments he invited the attention of this Court to the written statement filed by the appellants-defendants, wherein appellants claimed title to the suit property by claiming ownership on the ground of adverse possession. Mr.Gupta also persuaded this Court to peruse the impugned judgment to demonstrate that even at the stage of first appellate Court appellants made submissions with regard to application of provisions of H.P. Rent Act in the controversy at hand which was dismissed by the Court by returning findings that possession of the applicants over the suit property was unauthorized after 10.7.1989 and as such suit was decreed. Mr.Gupta, contended that once it stands proved on record that possession of appellants was unauthorized after 10.7.1989, they cannot be termed as `tenants' in any capacity so as to invoke the provisions of H.P. Rent Act. He further contended that it is well settled law that the suit for possession can always be filed against an unauthorized occupant and there is no legal impediment to pass the decree in favour of the owners and as such application filed during the pendency of present appeal, which is nothing but a ploy to delay the proceedings, is absolutely untenable and such additional or alternative plea is not available to the appellants-applicants at this stage.

26. Mr.Gupta, while opposing the applications, as referred above, stated that in view of his aforesaid arguments, there is no need, if any, for framing of additional substantial question as prayed in CMP No.3363 of 2016. Mr.Gupta, opposed the prayer of appellants for placing on record additional documents as well as framing of issues as prayed for in the aforesaid application on the ground that there is no explanation worth name with regard to delay in filing the present application. Mr.Gupta strenuously argued that when this notification had come in existence on 2.8.2006, what prevented the present appellants to move this application in the year 2015 i.e. after 9 years of issuance of this notification. Similarly, Mr.Gupta argued that why appellants failed to move an application for recasting of issues, if any, for almost 10 years. Otherwise also notification had come in existence on 2.8.2006 and as such any application for re-casting issues in light of issuance of notification after 10 years cannot be allowed at this stage because same has been filed solely with a view to delay the proceedings and defeat the mandate of impugned judgment.

27. Before resorting to explore the answer to substantial question of law, it would be appropriate for this Court to decide both the aforesaid applications at first instance. Perusal of the averments contained in the aforesaid applications as well as reply thereto clearly suggests that vide notification dated 2.8.2006 area in question, where the property, subject matter of the suit, is situated, stands included in the limits of Municipal Corporation, Shimla.

28. In view of above, now this Court needs to ascertain that "what would be the effect of issuance of notification dated 2.8.2006 on the suit filed by the plaintiff for possession of suit property against present appellants-defendants?" Admittedly, when the suit for possession was filed, property in question was not governed by H.P. Rent Act. Though record reveals that during the pendency of trial, defendants had moved an application under Order 7 Rule 11 CPC to show that w.e.f. 11.1.1997 area became part of Municipal Corporation, Shimla, and as such they claimed themselves to be tenants holdings over even after termination of tenancy and as such they claimed that they cannot be ejected by way of civil suit and relief, if any, can be claimed against them under H.P. Rent Act which would govern the relationship between landlord and tenant. But, it appears that thereafter area in question was again excluded from the limits of Municipal Corporation, Shimla, which was again included vide aforesaid notification dated 2.8.2006.

29. As per Mr.Sood, notification dated 2.8.2006 has direct bearing upon the present case because once property in question stands included in Municipal Area, same would be governed with the provisions of H.P. Rent Act. As per Mr.Sood, admittedly, when suit was filed, suit property was not within the limits of Municipal Corporation but during the pendency of present appeal it has been included in the Corporation and as such present suit cannot be allowed. Since property is located within the Municipal Corporation, plaintiffs have remedy, if any, under the H.P. Rent Act for eviction of the tenanted premises.

30. Since, appellants-defendants, in view of notification dated 2.8.2006 issued by State of Himachal Pradesh, wherein suit property has been included in the limits of Municipal Corporation, Shimla, claimed that they being tenants over holdings can only be evicted by resorting to the provisions of Rent Act. It would be appropriate to refer the definition of "tenant", as provided in sub-section (j) of Section 2 of H.P. Rent Act, which is as under:

> "2(j) "tenant" means any person by whom or on whose account rent is payable for a building or rented land and includes a tenant continuing in possession after termination of the tenancy and in the event of the death of such person such of his heirs as are mentioned in Schedule-I to this Act and who were ordinarily residing with him at the time of his death, subject to the order of succession and conditions specified, respectively in Explanation-I and Explanation-II to this clause, but does not include a person placed in occupation of a building of rented land by its tenant, except with the written consent of the landlord, or a person to whom the collection of rent or fees in a public market, cart-stand or slaughter house or of rents for shops has been farmed out or leased by a municipal corporation or a municipal committee or a notified area committee or a cantonment board."

31. Perusal of definition, as reproduced above, suggests that any person by whom or on whose account rent is paid of residential or non-residential building or rented land and includes a tenant continuing in possession after termination of the tenancy.

32. Section 14 of H.P. Rent Act provides the provisions of `Eviction of Tenants', which reads as under:-

"Section 14(1) A tenant in possession of a building or rented land shall not be evicted there from in execution of a decree passed before or after the commencement of this Act or otherwise, whether before or after the termination of the tenancy, except in accordance with the provisions of this Act."

33. To initiate proceedings, if any, under Section 14 of the H.P. Rent Act, landlord at first instance is under obligation to prove that occupant of premises, which is being sought to be evicted by resorting to provisions of Section 14, is a "tenant" within the meaning of Section 2(j) as reproduced hereinabove.

34. In view of detailed discussion made hereinabove, by no stretch of imagination appellants-defendants can claim themselves to be "tenants" in terms of Section 2(j) of the H.P. Rent Act and as such plea advanced on their behalf with regard to application of H.P. Rent Act for eviction of suit property is baseless and same deserves to be rejected out rightly.

35. In the present case, undisputedly present appellants were inducted as lessee in the year 1969 by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujaral for 20 years i.e. up to 10.7.1989 and after expiry of lease, plaintiff No.2 filed suit for possession. As per Mr.Sood proceedings arising out of Civil Suit No.411/1 of 95/90 is still in continuation in the shape of present appeal and as such still relationship of landlord and tenant exists between the parties. As per appellants-defendants, they enjoy the status of `tenants holding over' qua the premises even after termination of lease dated 10.7.1989 and as such eviction, if any, can be effected by resorting to the provisions of H.P. Rent Act. Whereas, as per Mr.Gupta, since relationship of landlord and tenant was not admitted by appellants at any stage, rather, appellants claimed themselves to be owners by way of adverse possession and as such plea, if any, of applicability of H.P. Rent Act cannot be allowed to raise at this stage.

36. Apart from above, learned appellate Court, while accepting the appeal of plaintiffs, specifically held the possession of appellants over the suit property as unauthorized after 10.7.1989, meaning thereby that there was no relationship of landlord and tenant after 10.7.1989.

37. Close scrutiny of factual matrix available on record suggests that admittedly appellants were inducted as tenants in the suit property by predecessor-in-interest of plaintiffs and for vacation of tenanted premises, proceedings at first instance were initiated by the plaintiffs by way of filing suit for possession, which was dismissed by learned trial Court by holding that the plaintiffs are not the owners of the suit property and as such they are not entitled for recovery of possession. But in appeal, first appellate Court upset the findings of the trial Court and held plaintiff No.2 to be the owner of the suit property by holding present appellants in unauthorized possession of the suit property after 10.7.1989. At this stage, this Court needs to examine that what is the status of appellants, after 10.7.1989 i.e. date of expiry of lease; first, whether he is a trespasser or he is tenant in terms of Section 14 of the H.P. Rent Act. It is undisputed that plaintiffs filed suit against present appellants on 5.4.1990 i.e. after expiry of lease by late

Smt.Lajwanti Gujral in the year 1969. It is also not disputed that late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral had created lease for 20 years on monthly rent of Rs.500/- in favour of defendant No.1 in the year 1969 and lease was on fixed term of 20 years and as such same was to be expired on 10.7.1989.

38. At this stage, it would be apt to reproduce following paras of plaint filed by the plaintiffs:

> "5. That the property mentioned in para 4 above is owned by Plaintiff No.2 through its trustees, namely, President, Shri Gurdwara Singh Sabha, Shimla, S.Jagat Singh, Plaintiff No.2, and Proforma-Defendants 5 to 7.
>
> 6. That Smt.Lajwanti the owner of the aforementioned property known as Rockdene Estate, Tara Devi, through deed of lease duly executed by her on 30.8.1967 granted lease of 3 Plots of land measuring 1 Bighas 3 Biswas comprised in Khasra No.670/1, 672 and 674 entered at Khewat No.50, Khatauni No.62 of Jamabandi for the year 1986-87, situated at Mauza Badhal, Tehsil and District Shimla alongwith building standing thereupon for commercial purposes to Defendant No.2 for a period of 5 years, which deed of lease was got duly registered with Sub Registrar, Kasumpti in the then Mahasu District on 30.8.1967.
>
> 7. That before the expiry of the term of lease, due to the change in the name of the lessee, namely, Defendant No.2 and due to the other circumstances, earlier lease created on 30.8.1967, was revoked with effect from 11.7.1969 and a fresh lease was made by Smt.Lajwanti on 11.7.1969 with respect to the same property namely, 4 Plots of land measuring 1 Bighas 3 Biswas comprised in Khasra Nos.670/1, 672 and 674 entered at Khewat No.50, Khatauni No.62 of Jamabandi for the year 1986-87, alongwith building standing thereupon in favour of Defendant No.1 through its Managing Director, Shri Bhupinder Sahni. The period of this lease was fixed at 20 years expiring on 10.7.1989.
>
> 8. That Plaintiff No.2, who acquired all rights, title and interest held by Smt.Lajwanti in the property known as Rockdene Estate, Taradevi, in connection with his service had been on foreign assignment with United Nations Development Programme and it has not been possible for him to properly look after and manage his property. Plaintiff No.2 had been getting looked after and managed the property through Care Takers, but with a view to protect the property and fulfil the wishes of late S.Ajit Singh and Smt.Lajwanti, created a trust of the property i.e. Plaintiff No.1. Plaintiff No.2, after death of Smt.Lajwanti, contacted the Managing Director of Defendant No.1 and requested him to pay to him the rent of the property leased out to Defendant No.1, but Defendant No.1, instead of making payment of the rent, wanted Plaintiff No.2 to get his title cleared from Court of law and asked Plaintiff No.2 that he will pay the rent of the property only when title of Plaintiff No.2 is cleared from a competent court of law. That Plaintiff No.2 got served notice upon Defendant No.1 calling upon Defendant No.1 to pay rent, yet because of his engagement, he could not take any action in the matter. It may further be submitted that Civil Suit No.44 of 1983 has been instituted by Plaintiffs 1 & 2 in the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh in which Plaintiffs have claimed decree for possession with respect to the rest of the property in occupation of one S.Nanak Singh and S.Parveen Singh, who are claiming to have acquired titled in part of Rockdene Estate, Taradevi, i.e. agricultural portion of the land, other than the land, which is the subject-matter of this suit. The said suit is still pending in the Hon'ble High Court. In Civil Suit No.13 of 1981 has also been instituted by Shri Nanak Singh Gandhi claiming himself to be the President of one Society known as Gurdwara Lal Ajit Sabha, who are claiming title to only a part of the Rockdene Estate other than the property, which is the subject-matter of this Civil Suit, as such, pendency of these Civil Suits has no bearing on the present suit.

9. That Defendant No.1 has been in occupation of the property as a lessee on the basis of deed of sale executed on 11.7.1969 by Smt.Lajwanti. Defendant No.1 has failed to pay the agreed rent i.e. Rs.500/- per month to Plaintiff No.2. Nothing has been paid since the month of August, 1970 till date.

10. That Plaintiff has also come to know that Defendant No.1 has sublet part of the leased property in favour of Defendant No.4 without the written consent of the Plaintiff.

11. That period of lease has since come to an end on 10.7.1989.

12. That the lease granted by Smt.Lajwanti, predecessor of Plaintiffs in favour of Defendant No.1 now stands determined by efflux of time. Defendant No.1 has no right to continue occupying the property. There is also forfeiture of lease due to non-payment of arrears of rent since the month of August, 1970 by Defendant No.1 to Plaintiff No.2 and thereafter to Plaintiff No.1. As the tenancy stands determined by efflux of time and by forfeiture, therefore, there was no necessity to have served a notice terminating the lease. Moreover, it may be submitted that Defendant No.1 has either sublet or assigned his rights in the lease in a portion of the property in favour of Defendant No.4, therefore also, there is breach of an express condition of the lease under which Defendant No.1 was prohibited not to transfer or sublet his rights under the lease without the written consent of the lessor. Defendant No.1 appears to have also created some interest in favour of Defendant No.3. Plaintiffs are not aware of the exact constitution of Defendant No.3, but Plaintiffs have come to know that Defendant No.3 is also a sister concern of Defendant No.1."

39. Careful perusal of contents of the plaint, as referred hereinabove, clearly suggests that plaintiffs specifically claimed that lease granted by Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, predecessor-in-interest of plaintiff No.2, in favour of appellant-defendant No.1 stands determined by efflux of time and defendant has no right to continue occupying the property. Plaintiffs specifically averred in the plaint that there is forfeiture of lease due to non-payment of arrears of rent since month of August, 1970 by defendant No.1 to plaintiff No.2 and as such tenancy stands determined by efflux of time and by forfeiture. Plaintiffs further stated in plaint that defendants have no right to change the nature of property or to raise any construction thereupon, especially when the period of lease has expired and plaintiffs have no intention either to extend the period of lease or to have the property occupied by defendants. As such, defendants were requested to handover the possession of the property to the Plaintiffs on the expiry of the lease.

40. It clearly emerge from the plaint filed by the plaintiffs that suit was filed for recovery of possession specifically stating therein that lease granted in favour of defendant No.1 stands determined by efflux of time and plaintiffs have no intention either to extend the period of lease or to have the property occupied by defendants; meaning thereby that after expiry of lease on 10.7.1989, the relationship of tenant and landlord, if any, stood terminated.

41. Though, defendants resisted the claim of the plaintiffs on various grounds, especially title of plaintiff No.2, but it remains fact that at no point of time lease executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral was renewed after 10.7.1989. Since appellants-defendants disputed the claim of plaintiff No.2 of having acquired the status of owner in terms of will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, defendants claimed themselves to be owners by way of adverse possession. Perusal of written statement filed by the defendants further reveals that defendants-appellants claimed ownership by way of Section 104 of H.P. Tenancy Act also.

42. At this stage, it would be profitable to reproduce relevant paras of written statement filed on behalf of defendants No.1 to 3:-

"Preliminary Objections:-

1. That the present suit is liable to be stayed under Section 10 of the Code of Civil Procedure for the reasons that the matter in issue in the present suit is also directly and substantially in issue in previously instituted two civil suits with respect to the same property between the plaintiffs on the one hand and Nanak Singh Gandhi, Parveen Singh, and Gurudwara Lal Ajit Sabha, Kachi Ghati, Shimla on the other hand in Civil Suit No.44 of 1983 titled Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust vs. Nanak Singh Gandhi and others and civil suit No.12 of 1981 titled Gurudweara Lal Ajit Memorial Sabha v/o Gurdwara Singh Sabha etc. In the said suits pending before the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh, Shimla, the parties are claiming title to the properties of Shri Ajit Singh.

As such the dispute with respect to the title of the suit property and estate of Shri Ajit Singh original owner is subjudice before the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh, Shimla, between the plaintiffs on the one hand and aforesaid persons on the other hand. Therefore, the present suit is directly hit by Section 10 CPC and is liable to be stayed till judicial finding is given regarding title of the suit property.

Written Statement on Merits:-

1. Contents of para No.1 of the plaint, as stated, are incorrect and, therefore, the same are denied by the replying defendants. To the best of the information of the replying defendants late Sardar Ajit Singh s/o Sardar Sobha Singh, husband of Smt.Laj Wanti, was the absolute owner of the property in question. He had granted life estate in favour of Smt.Laj Wanti with right of maintenance etc. during her life time from the suit property and as per his Will Shri Ajit Singh had created a trust and after the death of Smt.Laj Wanti the trust was to be dissolved and the entire property owned by him was to be donated to a Charitable Institution. So far as Smt.Lajwanti is concerned, she did not have ownership rights in the suit property. She had only a life estate in the said property and could create lease for her maintenance. She could not alienate or dispose of the suit property.

2. Contents of para No.2 of the plaint, as stated, are absolutely wrong, false and baseless to the very knowledge of the plaintiffs and, therefore, denied by the replying defendants. It is denied that Smt.Lajwanti was the sole owner of the property. It is also denied that after her death the property has allegedly devolved upon the plaintiff No.2. It is also denied that Smt.Lajwanti executed any so-called Will on 2.2.68 or on any other date in favour of plaintiff No.2. To the best of the information of the replying defendants, she did not execute any alleged Will. Moreover, as submitted above Smt.Lajwanti could not make any Will as she did not have any such right to make any disposition or alienation of the suit property by Will. In fact, the legality and validity of so-called Will of Smt.Lajwanti which is the basis of suit is being hotly contested in the High Court of Himachal Pradesh, Shimla, in Civil Suit No.13 of 81 and Civil Suit No.44 of 83. The present suit is also not competent and maintainable unless and until the plaintiffs obtain probate or letters of administration with respect to alleged Will u/s 214 of the Indian Succession Act or until and unless they establish their title to the suit property in a competent court of law.

3. Contents of para No.3 of the plaint are absolutely wrong, false and baseless to the very knowledge of the plaintiffs and as such the same are emphatically denied and repudiated by the replying defendants. Title to the property of late Shri Ajit Singh s/o Shri Sobha Singh is under dispute in the aforesaid two civil suits pending in the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh, Shimla. It is denied that the plaintiff No2 has been coming in actual possession of any part of the property of late Ajit Singh. In case he is in possession of any property of late Sardar Ajit Singh, the same is unlawful and as a trespasser and usurper.

4. Contents of para No.4 of the plaint, as stated, are wrong, and therefore, the same are denied by the replying defendants. The question of transfer of properties mentioned in para No.4 of the plaint in favour of so-called plaintiff No.1 trust does not arise at all because the plaintiff No.2 was at no point of time owner of the suit property. The properties have never been transferred to the so-called trust. The existence, legality and validity of plaintiff No.1 Trust is also denied and disputed by the replying defendants. There does not exist any such trust as claimed by the plaintiffs. The so-called Trust does not exist in the eyes of law secondly there has been no proper, legal or valid transfer of the suit property in favour of so-called trust. Therefore, the present suit is neither competent nor maintainable on behalf of the present plaintiffs against the replying defendants. There does not exist any legally constituted Trust. Plaintiff No.1 has got nothing to do with the suit property.

8. Contents of para No.8 of the plaint as stated, are absolutely wrong, false and baseless and, therefore, the same are emphatically denied and repudiated by the replying defendants. After the death of Smt.Lajwanti, the plaintiff No.2 did serve a notice on the replying defendants but he was asked by the replying defendants because to the information of the replying defendants Sardar Ajit Singh had made a Will whereby he had created a Trust and life estate in favour of Smt.Lajwanti and after her death had Willed away the suit property to be donated to some charitable institution. Otherwise also, the plaintiffs on the one hand and one Gurudwara Lal Ajit Memorial Sabha through its president Shri Nanak Singh Gandhi and others are involved in litigation in the High Court of Himachal Pradesh, Shimla, in Civil Suit No.13 of 1981 and 44 of 83 claiming title to the suit property and others properties of late Sardar Ajit Singh. In the said suits the so-called Will of Smt.Lajwanti on the basis of which plaintiff No.2 is claiming title to the suit property is also under dispute. In view of the matter being subjudice before the Hon'ble High Court, the present suit is liable to be stayed, because any finding given in this suit will effect the aforesaid two civil suits pending in the High Court. It may also be submitted that if plaintiff No.2 has succeed in manipulating in getting some entries made in the revenue records in his favour on the basis of so called Will of Smt.Lajwanti the same are not binding on the replying defendants. Such entries also do not confer any ownership right or title in the plaintiff No.2 because the very basis of such entries, the so-called Will of Smt.Lajwanti, is a fictitious bogus and illegal document. The plaintiff No.2 could not inherit any property from Smt.Lajwanti nor she was competent to make any Will qua the suit property. Otherwise also, the genuineness authenticity or validity of the so-called Will is denied and disputed by the replying defendants. The plaintiffs be put to strict proof thereof.

11. Contents of para No.11 of the plaint are admitted in so far as they pertain to matters of record. Rest of the allegations which are contrary to the record are denied. However, it is further submitted that after the death of Smt.Lajwanti, the replying defendants stopped making payment of rent in the absence of any lawful claimant. They started treating themselves as owners of the suit property. They have acquired ownership rights in the suit property by way of adverse possession as they have openly been holding themselves out as owners of the said property after August 1970. In any case, it is further submitted in the alternative, the ownership rights qua the said property have vested in the replying defendants by virtue of the provisions of Himachal Pradesh Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972. By operation of law, the replying defendants have become owners of the suit property as they were tenants in the suit property on the date of coming into operation of the said Act. Ownership rights have vested in the replying defendants as per provisions of Section 104 of the said Act.

15. Contents of para No.15 of the plaint are absolutely wrong, false and baseless and, therefore, denied by the replying defendants. The plaintiffs have no locus standi to claim possession. Therefore, the question of payment of rent or use and occupation charges does not arise at all. The defendants have become owners of the suit property by adverse possession or by operation of law as submitted above."

43. Aforesaid stand taken by the defendants itself suggests that defendants were aware of the fact that after 10.7.1989, they were ceased to be tenants over the suit property and as such claimed ownership by way of adverse possession or H.P. Tenancy Act. Since suit for possession was filed after expiry of lease i.e. 10.7.1989 by the plaintiffs terming defendants in unauthorized occupation in leased premises, defendants challenged the title of the plaintiffs in garb of Civil Suits No.38-S/1 of 95/81, titled: Shri Gurudwara Laj Ajit Memorial Sabha through its President Shri Nanak Singh vs. Shri Gurudwara Singh Sabha, Cart Road, Motor Stand Shimla & Another and Civil Suit No.6-S/1 of 96/83 titled: Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust & Others vs. Shri Nanak Singh Gandhi & others, allegedly filed by Nanak Singh and Parveen Singh against the present plaintiffs, wherein they claimed themselves to be owners in possession of the suit property by way of adverse possession.

44. Perusal of averments contained in the aforesaid paras of the written statement clearly suggests that after 10.7.1989, i.e. after expiry of lease, defendants claimed themselves to be the owners of the suit property in question. In para-11, as referred hereinabove, defendants specifically stated that after the death of Smt.Lajwanti replying defendants themselves stopped making payment of rent and they started treating themselves to be owners of the suit property. Defendants further stated that they have acquired ownership right in the suit property by way of adverse possession as they have openly been holding themselves out as owners of the said property after August, 1970. Rather, defendants raised the plea of having become owners of the suit property by virtue of provisions of Tenancy Act, as they were tenant in the suit property on the date of coming into operation of the said Act. Defendants further claimed that ownership rights have vested upon them as per provisions of Section 104 of the H.P. Tenancy Act.

45. After bestowing my thoughtful consideration on the aforesaid factual matrix as well as pleadings (referred hereinabove) made by the parties, I am of the view that after expiry of lease i.e. 10.7.1989, defendants cannot claim themselves to be tenant over the suit property because admittedly after 10.7.1989, at no point of time, lease was renewed, rather defendants themselves challenged the status of plaintiff No.2, who admittedly acquired the status of owner in terms of will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral.

46. Though perusal of plaint itself suggests that plaintiffs filed a suit for recovery of possession against defendants on three grounds; (i) that lease granted by predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff No.2 in favour of defendant No.1 stands determined by efflux of time; (ii) there is forfeiture of lease due to non-payment of arrears of rent since month of August, 1970 by defendant No.1 to plaintiff No.2 and (iii) period of lease has expired and plaintiffs have no intention either to extend the period of lease or to have the property occupied by defendants. But, apart from above, defendants themselves in their written statement claimed themselves to be the owners of the property by way of adverse possession. In written statement filed by defendants, they specifically claimed that after death of Smt.Lajwanti, they have become owners of the property by way of adverse possession or in the alternative by way of conferment of proprietary rights under H.P. Tenancy Act; meaning thereby that after 10.7.1989 there was no relationship, whatsoever, of landlord and tenant between plaintiffs and defendants and both the parties admitted the aforesaid fact in their respective pleadings filed before the learned trial Court below. It stands proved on record that issue with regard to execution of will by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral as well as acquiring of status of owner of the property pursuant to will by Shri Rajender Singh, stands decided by passing of judgment Ex.PW-1/S which has got approval up till Hon'ble Apex Court. Hence, in view of above, defendants cannot be allowed to raise plea that since they were tenants of Lajwanti Gujral, they can be evicted only in accordance with law after issuance of notification dated 2.8.2006. Moreover, learned District Judge vide impugned judgment categorically held defendants in unauthorized possession after 10.7.1989 and interestingly in the present appeal, there is no challenge, whatsoever, to the aforesaid findings of learned first appellate Court holding defendants in unauthorized possession after 10.7.1989. Rather, careful perusal of grounds of appeal clearly suggests that till the filing of appeal, appellants-defendants had been claiming themselves to be in adverse possession of the suit property. At this stage, it would be appropriate to reproduce paras 4 and 5 of the grounds of appeal:-

> "4. That the plaintiffs having led no evidence to prove that it was a legally and validly constituted Trust and even having not proved the so called deed of Trust, the First Appellate Court ought to have dismissed the appeal. The respondents had also not even proved the so called Will of the deceased on the basis of which they claimed title to the suit property. As such, the First Appellate Court ought to have dismissed the suit and Appeal as well. The learned First Appellate Court has wrongly held the Plaintiffs, who possess no right or title or interest in the suit property, as full owners thereof without there being an iota of evidence in this behalf.
>
> 5. That the learned First Appellate Court failed to take note of the fact that the appellants had spent substantial amount running into lakhs in improving and developing the property. The learned First Appellate Court also failed to give any finding on the point that the Appellants were in adverse possession of the suit property and that the plaintiffs were complete strangers to the same having no right, title or interest in the same. They had no locus standi to file the suit and had no right, title or interest in the suit property and the learned First Appellate Court has set aside the judgment of the trial Court without any reasons or justification."

47. Careful perusal of grounds of appeal clearly suggests that defendants themselves denied the relationship of tenant and landlord, if any, between them and plaintiffs because in the present appeal, defendants have not acknowledged the title of plaintiff No.2. Since appellants themselves have not admitted the relationship of landlord and tenant in the written statement as well as in the present appeal, they are estopped to contend at this stage that suit has become infructuous and the provisions of H.P. Rent Act are applicable. Bare perusal of written statement, as has been discussed above, clearly suggests that at no point of time defendants acknowledged the title of plaintiff No.2, rather they claimed themselves to be the owners of the suit property by way of adverse possession. As of today question of title in favour of plaintiffs has attained finality up to Hon'ble Supreme Court and Plaintiff-Trust has been held to be owner of the property in question. It may be noticed that factum of passing judgment Ex.PW-1/S and its having attained finality till Hon'ble Apex Court has not been disputed by the learned counsel for the parties present before this Court in this case.

48. In the aforesaid circumstances, by no stretch of imagination, appellants can be held to be tenants, if any, in terms of lease executed in the year 1969, which admittedly expired on 10.7.1989. Possession of appellants after 10.7.1989 is definitely unauthorized and in no terms they can be termed as tenants in any capacity so as to invoke the provisions of Rent Act. No doubt, appeal filed by the parties is continuation of the original proceedings, but in the present case pendency of appeal may not be the ground available to the appellants to claim the status of tenant because admittedly as has been discussed above after 10.7.1989 appellants-defendants at best can be termed as trespassers but definitely not tenants. Hence continuation of present appeal arising out of Civil Suit No.411/1 of 95/90, which is subject matter of this appeal, may not be of any consequence as far as inclusion of area of suit property in Municipal Corporation, Shimla, during the pendency of present appeal in terms of notification dated 2.8.2006, is concerned.

49. In view of above, this Court sees no force in the prayer made by the appellant in CMP No.9199 of 2015, whereby permission has been sought to place on record copy of notification dated 2.8.2006. Accordingly, the same is dismissed.

50. Similarly, in view of detailed discussion made hereinabove, prayer made by the appellant in CMP No.3363 of 2016 for framing additional issue with regard to effect, if any, of the inclusion of the suit property in urban area of the Municipal Corporation, Shimla, cannot be allowed. However, perusal of substantial question No.2 framed on 20.9.2005 i.e. "Whether a suit can be maintained against a Trust in the absence of trustee?", clearly suggests that same has not been framed properly, keeping in view the facts of the case. Hence, this application is partly allowed.

51. Admittedly, in the present case, suit has been filed by Trust against the defendants, whereas, perusal of substantial question of law No.2 suggests that suit has been filed against Trust which is factually incorrect. In view of above, prayer of applicant for reframing issue No.2 has considerable force, accordingly, same is reframed as under:-

> "2. Whether the suit or appeal in the absence of all Trustees of alleged appellant Trust was competent and if no to what effect?"

52. Since this Court has come to conclusion while deciding application under Order 42 Rule 27 CPC, as has been referred hereinabove, preferred on behalf of applicants-appellants that appellants cannot be held to be tenants, if any, in terms of lease executed in the year 1969, which admittedly expired on 10.7.1989, there is no question, if any, of applicability of H.P. Rent Act in terms of notification dated 2.8.2006 issued by State of Himachal Pradesh including therein area of suit property in MC, Shimla. Accordingly, aforesaid judgments having been relied upon on behalf of the applicants-appellants in this regard may not be of any help in view of aforesaid findings returned by the Court and as such same are not being discussed.

53. Now this Court would be adverting to the merits of the case on the basis of following substantial questions of law No.1 and 3, already framed on 20.9.2005, and newly re-framed substantial question No.2:

> "1. Whether the findings of the courts below are result of misreading and misinterpretation of law?
>
> 2. Whether the suit or appeal in the absence of all Trustees of alleged appellant Trust was competent and if no to what effect?"
>
> 3. Whether a judgment, which is not inter-se between the parties, can form basis of a decree on the ground of resjudicata?"

54. Keeping in view the controversy at hand, this Court intends to take substantial question of law No.3 at first instance.

Question No.3:

55. Perusal of impugned judgment clearly suggests that learned first appellate Court, while allowing the appeal of the plaintiffs, placed reliance upon judgment and decree dated 16.1.1998, Ex.PW-1/S. Learned first appellate Court was of the view that burden of proof qua title can be discharged by leading evidence raising high degree of probability and in this case, whatever was possible for the plaintiffs, that was tendered in evidence and there is no reliable evidence led by the defendants to prove the absence of title with the plaintiffs. Learned first appellate Court further concluded that presumption of truth attached to the Jamabandi has not been rebutted, rather, documents placed on record by the plaintiffs do prove existence of title; firstly with Shri Rajinder Singh and subsequently, on execution of trust deed, with plaintiff No.1. Accordingly, learned first appellate Court while placing reliance upon judgment Ex.PW-1/S, tendered in evidence by plaintiff before trial Court, came to the conclusion that plaintiff No.1 is entitled to possession of the suit property on the strength of title which stands duly proved on record after 10.7.1989 when the possession of the appellants-defendants became unauthorized.

56. In the present case, as emerged from the record, plaintiffs filed a suit for recovery of possession in the Court of learned Sub Judge Ist Class claiming themselves to be the owners of the property, descriptions whereof have been given above, specifically stating therein that Smt.Lajwanti Gujral wife of Sardar Ajit Singh, erstwhile owner of the suit property, had created lease for 20 years in respect of the suit property in favour of defendants. Plaintiffs further claimed that in the year 1970 Smt.Lajwanti Gujral died, but during her life time she made a will bequeathing her entire property including suit property in favour of plaintiff No.2. Since late Sardar Ajit Singh wanted to create some charitable Trust in respect of part of his property, plaintiff No.2, after becoming the owner of the entire property of Lajwanti Gujral on the basis of will, solely with a view to honour their wish, created a Trust in the name of Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust, Kachi Ghati, Taradevi, Shimla. Since plaintiff No.2 entered into the steps of late Smt.Lajwanti, he requested defendant No.1 who was lessee under Lajwanti Gujral to attorn in his favour, but defendant No.1 instead of accepting the request of plaintiff No.2 asked him to get his title clear from the Court. Defendants by way of written statement refuted the claim of plaintiff No.2 having acquired the title of the property on the strength of will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral. Defendants specifically stated in the written statement that the suit is liable to be stayed under Section 10 CPC for the reasons that matter in issue in the present suit is directly and substantially is issue in previously instituted two civil suits with respect to the same property between the plaintiffs on one hand and Nanak Singh Gandhi, Parveen Singh and Gurudwara Lal Ajit Memorial Sabha, Kachi Ghati, Shimla on the other hand in Civil Suits No.44 of 1983, titled: Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust and Others vs. Nanak Singh Gandhi and Others and Civil Suit No.12 of 1981, titled: Gurudweara Lal Ajit Memorial Sabha vs. Gurdwara Singh Sabha etc. Defendants further stated that in the aforesaid pending civil suits before this Court, the parties are claiming title to the properties of Shri Ajit Singh and as such dispute with respect to the title of the suit property and estate of Shri Ajit Singh, original owner, is sub-judice before this Court between the plaintiffs on one hand and aforesaid persons on the other hand and as such the suit is directly hit by Section 10 CPC and is liable to be stayed till judicial finding is given regarding title of the suit property.

57. Careful perusal of the written statement, relevant paras of which have already been reproduced above, also suggests that appellants-defendants also challenged the authority of late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral to execute a will of the suit property including suit property in favour of plaintiff No.2. Defendants by way of written statement also stated that there does not exist any Trust as claimed by plaintiffs and there has been no proper legal or valid transfer of the suit property in favour of so-called Trust and as such suit being neither competent nor maintainable should be dismissed. Defendants specifically in para-8 of the written statement stated that since litigation in this Court i.e. Civil Suit No.13 of 1981 and Civil Suit No.44 of 1983 claiming the title of the suit property and other properties of late Sardar Ajit Singh are pending, wherein question with regard to title of the suit property and will of Smt.Lajwanti Gujral in favour of plaintiff No.2 is under challenge, is pending, recording of name of plaintiff No.2 in revenue records on the basis of will of Smt.Lajwanti Gujral is not binding upon them. Defendants further stated that as there was no lawful and rightful claimant to the estate of Sardar Ajit Singh, after the death of Smt.Lajwanti, they had no option but to stop payment of rent. But, most interestingly in paras 11 and 15 of the written statement, as have been reproduced above, defendants totally denied the status of landlord being clamed by plaintiffs by stating that after death of Smt.Lajwanti they have stopped making payment of rent in the absence of any lawful claimant and they started treating themselves to be owners of the suit property, since they have acquired ownership rights of the suit property by way of adverse possession. Defendants specifically stated that they have openly been holding themselves to be the owners of the said property after August, 1970. Apart from above, defendants-appellants claimed that they have become owners of the property by virtue of provisions of Tenancy Act by operation of law as they were tenants in the suit property on the date of coming into operation of the said Act. Since defendants while refuting the claim of the plaintiffs put forth in plaint specifically referred two civil suits, as mentioned above, wherein admittedly present plaintiffs were parties either in capacity of plaintiffs or in capacity of defendants, plaintiffs with a view to prove that late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral had executed will bequeathing her entire property including suit property in favour of plaintiff No.2 and further to prove that plaintiff No.2 after acquiring status of owner created Trust i.e. plaintiff No.1 tendered judgment passed by Additional District Judge, Shimla in the suits referred hereinabove as Ex.PW-1/S. At this stage, it may be noticed that initially aforesaid suits were filed before this Court, but lateron for want of pecuniary jurisdiction the same were transferred to the District Judge. Perusal of judgment Ex.PW-1/S clearly suggests that all the issues i.e. (i) with regard to execution of will by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral in favour of plaintiff No.2 Rajinder Singh Gujral; (ii) creation of Trust by plaintiff No.2 after acquiring the status of owner on the strength of will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, were duly approved in favour of plaintiff. Since this Court had an occasion to peruse judgment dated 16.1.1998, which was duly exhibited by trial Court as Ex.PW-1/S, it can be safely stated that all the issues as referred above were decided in favour of the plaintiffs. Learned Court of Additional District Judge, Shimla, vide judgment dated 16th January, 1998 concluded that Lajwanti Gujral had executed valid will bequeathing her entire property including suit property in favour of plaintiff No.2, who rightly acquired the status of owner on the strength of said will. While deciding the civil suit, referred hereinabove, learned Additional District Judge specifically stated that Rajinder Singh Gujral had all authority to create Trust i.e. Shri Gurdwara Lal Ajit Sabha Trust, Kachi Ghati, Taradevi, Shimla. Plaintiffs with an intention to prove that they have acquired the status of owner of the suit property on the strength of will executed by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral as well as thereafter creation of Trust by plaintiff No.2 placed on record the aforesaid judgment Ex.PW-1/S. But perusal of judgment passed by the trial Court in the present case suggests that the same was not taken into cognizance by Court below on the ground that the plaintiffs have not shown as to under which provisions of law, the judgment is relevant in this case and can be relied upon by the plaintiffs to prove that the plaintiff No.1 is a Trust and juristic person. Learned trial Court also concluded that the suit in which the judgment was passed, it was alleged by the plaintiffs in the plaint that these suits had no bearing on the present suit. Accordingly, learned trial Court concluded that this judgment is thus, not shown to be relevant under Sections 10, 11 CPC or Sections 41, 42, 43 or Section 116 of the Evidence Act and as such judgment being a judgment-in-personam cannot prove the title of plaintiff No.1, whereas, learned first appellate Court while allowing the appeal placed reliance upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in Srinivas vs. Narayanan, AIR 1954 SC 379, wherein it has been held:-

> "11. ... ...We are unable to accept this contention. The amount of maintenance to be awarded would depend on the extent of the joint family properties and an issue was actually framed on that question. Moreover, there was a prayer that the maintenance should be charged on the family properties, and the same was granted. We are of opinion that the judgments are admissible under Section 13 of the Evidence Act as assertion of Rukmani Bai that the properties now in dispute belonged to the joint family."

58. Reliance has also been placed upon the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Tirumala Tirupati Devathanams vs. K.M. Krishnaiah, AIR 1998 SC 1132, wherein the Court has held as under:-

> "9. In our view, this contention is clearly contrary to the rulings of this Court as well as those of the privy Council. In Srinivas Krishna Rao Kango vs. Narayandevji Kango, AIR 1954 SC 379, speaking on behalf of a Bench of three learned Judges of this Court, Venkatarama Ayyar, J. held that a judgment not inter parties is admissible in evidence under section 13 of the Evidence Act as evidence of an assertion of a right to property in dispute. A contention that judgments other than those falling under sections 40 to 44 of the Evidence Act were not admissible in evidence was expressly rejected. Again B.K. Mukherjea, J. (as he then was) speaking on behalf of a Bench of four learned Judges in Sital Das vs. Sant Ram, AIR 1954 SC 606 held that a previous judgment no inter partes, was admissible in evidence under section 13 of the Evidence Act as a `transaction' in which a right to property was `asserted' and `recognised'. In fact, much earlier, Lord Lindley held in the Privy Council in Dinamoni vs. Brajmohini, (1992) ILR 29 Cal. 190 (198) (PC) that a previous judgment, not inter partes was admissible in evidence under Section 13 to show who the parties were, what the lands in dispute were and who was declared entitled to retain them. The criticism of the judgment in Dinamoni vs. Brajmohini and Ram Ranjan Chakerbati vs. Ram Narain Singh [1895 ILR 22 Cal 533 (PC)] by sir John Woodroffe in his commentary on the Evidence Act (1931, P 181) was not accepted by Lord Blanesburgh in collector of Gorakhpur vs. Ram Sunder [AIR 1934 PC 157 (61 IA 286)]."

59. Appellants-defendants, by way of instant petition, laid challenge to the judgment passed by learned Additional District Judge on the ground that Ex.PW-1/S is not permissible or relevant unless it fulfill the mandatory requirement of Sections 42 and 43 of the Evidence Act. Mr.Sood, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants-defendants, vehemently argued that judgment which is not inter parte could not be made admissible in evidence except for limited purpose for bringing them to array as parties in the earlier case and such decree passed in such case with respect to the property. As per Mr.Sood, document Ex.PW-1/S, which is judgment and decree dated 16.1.1998 passed by Additional District Judge in Civil Suits as referred above, was not inter parte and as such specifically in terms of Evidence Act, it was neither admissible in evidence in the present case nor it operated as res judicata between the parties and as such he prayed for setting aside and quashing of the impugned judgment passed by learned Court below.

60. On the other hand, Mr.Bhupender Gupta, learned Senior Counsel for the plaintiffs, vehemently argued that there is no illegality and infirmity in the judgment passed by learned first appellate Court below where it has placed reliance upon judgment Ex.PW-1/S. With a view to substantiate the aforesaid arguments, Mr.Gupta invited the attention of this Court to the written statement filed by the defendants, wherein they specifically prayed for stay of the suit on the ground of pendency of two Civil Suits No.38-S/1 of 95/81, titled: Shri Gurudwara Lal Ajit Memorial Sabha through Shri Nanak Singh vs. Shri Gurudwara Singh Sabha, Cart Road, Shimla and Civil Suit No.6-S/1 of 96/83 titled: Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust vs. Shri Nanak Singh Gandhi specifically stating that since there was a dispute with regard to title of the suit property, same may be stayed till disposal of the aforesaid suits. As per Mr.Gupta, since by way of aforesaid judgment Ex.PW-1/S issue with regard to title, execution of will by late Smt.Lajwanti and creation of Trust by plaintiff No.2 stood determined, tendering of aforesaid judgment in evidence had great importance and it could not be ignored by the trial Court below while deciding the suit filed by the plaintiffs. During arguments having been made by him, he specifically referred to Section 43 of the Indian Evidence Act to state that judgment, order, or decree, which is a "fact in issue", or is relevant under some other provisions of this Act can be tendered in evidence in terms of Section 43.

61. As per Mr.Gupta, controversy decided vide judgment Ex.PW-1/S was/is a "fact in issue" in the present suit and as such same was ought to have been taken into consideration by the trial Court below and as such there is no illegality and infirmity in the judgment passed by learned first Appellate Court, where he while allowing the appeal specifically took cognizance of Ex.PW-1/S.

62. In the aforesaid background, this Court solely with a view to test the correctness and genuineness of the arguments having been made on behalf of both the parties deems it fit to refer to the provisions of Sections 40 to 43 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, which are reproduced here-in-below:-

> "40. Previous judgments relevant to bar a second suit or trial.—The existence of any judgment, order or decree which by law prevents any Courts from taking cognizance of a suit or holding a trial is a relevant fact when the question is whether such Court ought to take cognizance of such suit, or to hold such trial.
>
> 41. Relevancy of certain judgments in probate, etc., jurisdiction.—A final judgment, order or decree of a competent Court, in the exercise of probate, matrimonial admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction which confers upon or takes away from any person any legal character, or which declares any person to be entitled to any such character, or to be entitled to any specific thing, not as against any specified person but absolutely, is relevant when the existence of any such legal character, or the title of any such person to any such thing, is relevant.

Such judgment, order or decree is conclusive proof—that any legal character, which it confers accrued at the time when such judgment, order or decree came into operation; that any legal character, to which it declares any such person to be entitled, accrued to that person at the time when such judgment, [order or decree] declares it to have accrued to that person; that any legal character which it takes away from any such person ceased at the time from which such judgment, [order or decree] declared that it had ceased or should cease; and that anything to which it declares any person to be so entitled was the property of that person at the time from which such judgment, [order or decree] declares that it had been or should be his property.

42. Relevancy and effect of judgments, orders or decrees, other than those mentioned in section 41*.- Judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in section 41, are relevant if they relate to matters of a public nature relevant to the enquiry; but such judgments, orders or decrees are not conclusive proof of that which they state.*

43. Judgments, etc., other than those mentioned in sections 40 to 42, when relevant*.—Judgments, orders or decrees, other than those mentioned in sections 40, 41 and 42, are irrelevant, unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree, is a fact in issue, or is relevant under some other provisions of this Act."*

63. Perusal of Section 40 suggests that existence of any judgment, order or decree which by law prevents any Courts from taking cognizance of a suit or holding a trial is a relevant fact when the question is whether such Court ought to take cognizance of such suit, or to hold such trial.

64. But, Section 41 provides that judgment, order or decree of a competent Court, in the exercise of probate, matrimonial admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction is relevant and as such judgment, order or decree is conclusive proof, whereas Section 42 specifically provides that judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in section 41 are relevant, if they relate to matters of a public nature relevant to the enquiry; but such judgments, orders or decrees are not conclusive proof of that which they state.

65. Close scrutiny of aforesaid Sections 40, 41 and 42 clearly suggests that judgment, order or decree of a competent Court, in exercise of probate, matrimonial admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction has relevance in other cases and can be a conclusive proof while determining the controversy/case in other pending cases.

66. Section 42 clearly bars placing reliance on judgments, orders or decrees other than as mentioned in Section 41. But Section 43 specifically provides that judgments, orders or decrees other than mentioned in Sections 40, 41 and 42 are irrelevant, unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree, is a "fact in issue", or is "relevant" under some other provisions of this Act; meaning thereby that the judgments, orders or decrees other than as mentioned in Sections 40, 41, and 42 can be placed reliance in pending proceedings of other suit, if the existence of such judgments, orders or decrees is a "fact in issue" or "relevant" under some other provisions of this Act.

67. Now, it would be profitable to refer to the meaning of expression "Facts in Issue", as prescribed in Section 3 of Indian Evidence Act, which is reproduced here-in-below:

"The expression "facts in issue" means and includes – any fact from which, either by itself or in connection with other facts, the existence, non-existence, nature, or extent of any right, liability, or disability, asserted or denied in any suit or proceedings, necessarily follows:

Explanation.-Whenever, under the provisions of the law for the time being in force relating to Civil Procedure, any Court records an issue of fact, the fact to be asserted or denied in the answer to such issue, is a fact in issue."

68. Careful perusal of expression "Facts in Issue" as prescribed in Section 3 of the Indian Evidence Act suggests that "facts in issue" means and includes any fact from which, either by itself or in connection with other facts, the existence, non-existence, nature, or extent of any right, liability, or disability, asserted or denied in any suit or proceeding, necessarily follows.

69. If, in the present case, facts are analyzed in light of aforesaid legal position, it clearly emerge from reading of Section 43 of the Act that judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in Sections 40, 41 and 42 can also be placed reliance, if the existence of such judgments, orders or decrees is a "fact in issue" or is relevant under other provisions of this Act. Similarly, perusal of Section 3 wherein facts in issue has been defined suggests that any fact from which, either by itself or in connection with other facts, the existence, non-existence, nature, or extent of any right, liability, or disability asserted or denied in any suit or proceedings necessarily follows. Explanation of "Facts in issue" further provides that whenever, under the provisions of the law for the time being in force relating to Civil Procedure, any Court records an "issue of fact", the fact to be asserted or denied in the answer to such issue, is a "fact in issue".

70. Plain reading of aforesaid definition of "Facts in issue" suggests that findings returned by the Court with regard to existence, non-existence, nature, or extent of any right, liability, or disability, asserted or denied in any suit or proceedings, would be termed as "Facts in issue".

71. In the present case, as has been discussed in detail, plaintiffs sought recovery of possession of the suit property on the expiry of lease deed dated 10.7.1989. Whereas defendants have denied the claim of the plaintiffs by stating that since issue with regard to the title of the suit property is pending before Court by way of civil suits, referred hereinabove, proceedings initiated by the plaintiffs or recovery of possession may be stayed. Defendants also disputed the status of the plaintiffs by claiming themselves to be the owners of the suit property in terms of adverse possession or in the alternative by way of proprietary rights. Since defendants specifically objected the suit on the ground of pendency of aforesaid suits, wherein issue with regard to execution of will by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, who had leased out the property in favour of defendants, acquiring the title of owner by plaintiff No.2, on the strength of will executed by Smt.Lajwanti Gujral and creation of Trust by plaintiff No.2 was pending before Court of learned Additional District Judge, who vide judgment Ex.PW-1/S held the plaintiff No.2 to be the owner of the suit on the strength of validly executed will, by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, learned trial Court ought to have taken note of Ex.PW-1/S which was duly tendered by the plaintiff in the evidence in the suit filed for recovery of possession. Since controversy decided vide judgment Ex.PW-1/S had direct bearing on the present suit filed by the plaintiffs, plaintiffs rightly placed reliance on the same by tendering the same as Ex.PW-1/S. Admittedly, vide Ex.PW-1/S learned Additional District Judge, decided the issue of title, execution of will and creation of Trust, which had direct bearing on the present, suit, wherein defendants themselves refuted the claim of plaintiffs on the aforesaid ground which were admittedly decided vide judgment Ex.PW-1/S in favour of plaintiffs. Moreover, perusal of aforesaid civil suits, wherein judgment Ex.PW-1/S was passed, present plaintiffs were the parties either in the shape of plaintiffs or in defendants. Section 43 of the Evidence Act specifically provides that judgment other than those mentioned in Sections 40, 41, and 42 are irrelevant, unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree, is a "fact in issue", or is relevant under some other provisions of this Act. In the instant case, as has clearly emerged from the pleadings available on record, findings returned by the learned Additional District Judge vide Ex.PW-1/S was "fact in issue" whereby relevant issues which had direct bearing upon the suit were decided by the learned Additional District Judge. Section 3 wherein "fact in issue" has been defined specifically provides that "fact in issue" means and includes any fact from which either by itself or in connection with other facts, the existence, non-existence, nature, or extent of any right, liability, or disability, asserted or denied in any suit or proceeding. The explanation to aforesaid definition specifically provides that the findings of Court while ascertaining/examining the issue on fact would be termed as "fact in issue".

72. In view of the aforesaid discussion, especially where defendants sought stay/dismissal of suit filed by plaintiff on the ground of pendency of suits, wherein learned Additional District Judge, passed judgment Ex.PW-1/S, this Court is of the view that document Ex.PW-1/S i.e. judgment passed by the learned Additional District Judge had great relevance in the present suit and same could be placed reliance in terms of Section 43 of the Indian Evidence Act being a "fact in issue" and as such this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the findings returned by the learned appellate Court, whereby while allowing the appeal preferred on behalf of the plaintiffs, it placed reliance upon document Ex.PW-1/S. Section 13 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 is reproduced hereinbelow:

> "13. Facts relevant when right or custom is in question.—Where the question is as to the existence of any right or custom, the following facts are relevant:—
>
> (a) any transaction by which the right or custom in question was created, claimed, modified, recognized, asserted, or denied, or which was inconsistent with its existence;
>
> (b) particular instances in which the right or custom was claimed, recognized, or exercised or in which its exercise was disputed, asserted or departed from."

73. Apart from above, perusal of judgment relied upon by the learned first appellate Court while allowing the appeal clearly suggests that the judgment not inter parte is also admissible in evidence under Section 13 of the Evidence Act, as evidence on assertion of a right to property in dispute. In the case, referred above, contention that judgments other than those falling under Sections 40 to 44 of the Evidence Act were not admissible in evidence was expressly rejected. Hon'ble Apex Court held that previous judgment, which is not inter partes, was admissible in evidence under Section 13 of the Evidence Act. Hon'ble Apex Court specifically dealing with the suit for recovery of possession in R.V.E. Venkatachala Gounder vs. Arulmigu Viswesaraswami and V.P. Temple and another, AIR 2003 SC 4548 held that in the suit for recovery of possession based on title it is upon to the plaintiff to prove his title and satisfy the Court that he, in law, is entitled to dispossess the defendant from his possession over the suit property and for the possession to be restored with him.

74. In the present case also Ex.PW-1/S was the most effective and valid document with the plaintiff to prove his title and satisfy the Court that he, in law, is entitled to dispossess the defendant from his possession over the suit property and as such this Court is of the view that learned trial Court committed illegality by not placing reliance upon Ex.PW-1/S which could be tendered in evidence in terms of Section 43 being "fact in issue".

75. At this stage Mr.Ajay Kumar Sood, learned Senior Counsel, representing the appellants-defendants, placed reliance upon the following judgments passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court to substantiate his argument that no reliance, if any, could be placed upon Ex.PW-1/S in terms of Sections 40 to 43 of Evidence Act.

76. In S.P.E. Madras vs. K.V. Sundaravelu, AIR 1978 SC 1017, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held:

> "5. The High Court has in fact taken its earlier judgment in Sessions Case No. 34 of 1968, which ended in acquittal, into consideration in the present case, and has reached the conclusion that the present appeal is "not likely to stand". Here again, the High Court lost sight of the provisions of sections 40 to 44 of the Evidence Act which state the circumstances in which previous judgments are relevant in civil and criminal cases. Thus section 40 states the circumstances in which a previous judgment may be relevant to bar a second suit or trial, and has no application to the present case for the obvious reason that no judgment, order or decree is said to be in existence in this case which could in law be said to prevent the Sessions Court from holding the trial. Section 41 deals with the relevancy of certain judgments in probate, matrimonial, admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction and is equally inapplicable. Section 42 deals with the relevancy and effect of judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in section 41 in so far as they relate to matters of a public nature, and is again inapplicable to the present case. Then comes section 43 which clearly states that judgments, orders or decrees, other than those mentioned in sections 40, 41 and 42, are irrelevant, unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree is a fact in issue, or is relevant under some other provisions of the Act. As it has not been shown that the judgment in Sessions Case No. 34 of 1968 could be said to be relevant under the other provisions of the Evidence Act, it was clearly "irrelevant" and could not have been taken into consideration by the High Court for the purpose of making the impugned order. The remaining section 44 deals with fraud or collusion in obtaining a judgment, or in competency of a court which delivered it, and can possibly have no application in the present case. It would thus appear that the High Court not only lost sight of the above facts, but also ignored the provisions of section 215 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and thus committed an error of law in basing the impugned judgment on a judgment which was clearly irrelevant."(p.1019)

77. There cannot be any quarrel with regard to the law as laid down by their Lordships in aforesaid case wherein it has been reiterated that the High Court lost sight of the provisions of Sections 40 to 44 of the Evidence Act which state the circumstances in which previous judgments are relevant in civil and criminal cases. Admittedly Section 41 deals with the relevancy of certain judgments in probate, matrimonial, admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction and is equally inapplicable. Section 42 deals with the relevancy and effect of judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in Section 41 in so far as those relate to matters of a public nature. Similarly, Section 43 provides that judgments, orders or decrees, other than those mentioned in Sections 40, 41 and 42, are irrelevant, unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree is a "fact in issue", or is relevant under some other provisions of the Act.

78. In the present case, aforesaid judgment cannot be made applicable, especially in view of the distinction carved in Section 43 of the India Evidence Act, wherein it has been specifically provided that judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in Sections 40 to 44 are irrelevant unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree is a "fact in issue". It has been discussed in detail in the present case that judgment Ex.PW-1/S has direct bearing on the present suit filed by the plaintiffs and issue decided in the same was "fact in issue" in the present suit and same ought to have been placed reliance by the trial Court while dealing with the suit filed by the plaintiffs.

79. In State of Bihar and others vs. Sri Radha Krishna Singh and others, AIR 1983 SC 684, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:-

"122. It is also well settled that a judgment in rem like judgments passed in probate, insolvency, matrimonial or guardianship or other similar proceedings, is admissible in all cases whether such judgments are inter partes or not. In the instant case, however, all the documents consisting of judgments filed are not judgments in rem and therefore, the question of their admissibility on that basis does not arise. As mentioned earlier, the judgments filed as Exhibits in the instant case, are judgments in personam and, therefore, they do not fulfill the conditions mentioned in S.41 of the Evidence Act."(p.710)

80. This Court, after perusing the aforesaid judgment relied upon by the appellants, sees no reason to differ with the proposition of law laid down and deems it fit to refer to the other relevant paras of this judgment, wherein Hon'ble Apex Court while dealing with the aforesaid Section of Indian Evidence Act carved out principles to be followed while applying aforesaid Sections:

"133. The cumulative effect of the decisions cited above on this point clearly is that under the Evidence Act a judgment which is not inter parties is inadmissible in evidence except for the limited purpose of proving as to who the parties were and what was the decree passed and the properties which were the subject matter of the suit. In these circumstances, therefore, it is not open to the plaintiffs respondents to derive any support from some of the judgments which they have filed in order to support their title and relationship in which neither the plaintiffs nor the defendants were parties. Indeed, if the judgments are used for the limited purpose mentioned above, they do not take us anywhere so as to prove the plaintiffs case.

142. Relying on an earlier case of the Privy Council this Court further observed thus:

> "In Kalka Prasad v. Mathura Prasad (1908-35 Ind App 1666) a dispute arose in 1896 on the death of one Parbati. In 1898 in a suit brought by one Sheo Sahai a pedigree was filed. After this, the suit from which the appeal went up to the Privy Council was instituted in 1901. It was held there that the pedigree filed in 1898 was not admissible having been made post litem motam."

143. Thus, summarising the ratio of the authorities mentioned above, the position that emerges and the principles that are deducible from the aforesaid decisions are as follows:-

(1) A judgment in rem e. g., judgments or orders passed in admiralty, probate proceedings, etc., would always be admissible irrespective of whether they are inter parties or not,

(2) judgments in personam not inter parties are not at all admissible in evidence except for the three purposes mentioned above.

(3) on a parity of aforesaid reasoning, the recitals in a judgment like findings given in appreciation of evidence made or arguments or genealogies referred to in the judgment would be wholly inadmissible in a case where neither the plaintiff nor the defendant were parties.

(4) The probative value of documents which, however ancient they may be, do not disclose sources of their information or have not achieved sufficient notoriety is precious little.

(5) Statements, declarations or depositions, etc., would not be admissible if they are post litem motam."(pp.712 & 714)

81. Close scrutiny of aforesaid paras of the judgment clearly suggests that judgments in personam not inter partes are not at all admissible in evidence except for three purposes:-

(a) Firstly, to ascertain what the parties were and what was the decree passed and the properties which were subject matter of the suit, meaning thereby that there is no complete bar in placing reliance on the judgment which was not inter partes, rather reliance can be placed on the judgment while tendering the same is evidence to prove what the parties were and what was the decree passed and the properties which were the subject matter of the suit. In the present case, admittedly, one of the party i.e. plaintiff was party to the judgment passed in Ex.PW-1/S.

(b) Secondly, by placing reliance upon aforesaid judgment Ex.PW-1/S, plaintiffs intended to prove that who were parties before the Court in that suit; and

(c) Thirdly, what was the decree passed and the property which was subject matter of the suit. In the present case, admittedly, for these three reasons, as have been culled out in aforesaid judgment, judgment passed vide Ex.PW-1/S was admissible in evidence, especially when defendants themselves sought stay/dismissal of the suit on the ground of pendency of suit, referred hereinabove, wherein judgment Ex.PW-1/S was passed. Defendants, by way of written statement specifically challenged the title of the plaintiffs by claiming themselves to be the owners of the property.

82. Apart from above, defendants specifically stated that since suit with regard to title is pending before the Court, instant suit filed by the plaintiffs for recovery of possession may be stayed or dismissed in terms of Section 10 of CPC.

83. In the aforesaid background, judgment Ex.PW-1/S could be best evidence available with the plaintiff to demonstrate that he has acquired the title of the property by way of execution of valid will by Smt.Lajwanti Gujral and as such it can be safely concluded that judgment Ex.PW-1/S is admissible in terms of Section 43 of the Indian Evidence Act being fact in issue.

84. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Rajan Rai vs. State of Bihar, (2006)1 SCC 191, has held as under:-

> "8. Coming to the first submission very strenuously canvassed by Shri Mishra, it would be necessary to refer to the provisions of Sections 40 to 44 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short `the Evidence Act) which are under the heading "Judgments of Courts of justice when relevant", and in the aforesaid Sections the circumstances under which previous judgments are relevant in civil and criminal cases have been enumerated. Section 40 states the circumstances in which a previous judgment may be relevant to bar a second suit or trial and has no application to the present case for the obvious reasons that no judgment order or decree is said to be in existence in this case which could in law be said to prevent the Sessions Court from holding the trial. Section 41 deals with the relevancy of certain judgments in probate, matrimonial, admiralty or insolvency jurisdiction and is equally inapplicable. Section 42 refers to the relevancy and effect of judgments, orders or decrees other than those mentioned in Section 41 in so far as they relate to matters of a public nature, and is again inapplicable to the present case. Then comes Section 43 which clearly lays down that judgments, order or decrees, other than those mentioned in Sections 40, 41 and 42, are irrelevant, unless the existence of such judgment, order or decree is a fact in issue, or is relevant under some other provisions of the Evidence Act. As it has not been shown that the judgment of acquittal rendered by the High Court in appeals arising out of earlier sessions trial could be said to be relevant under the other provisions of the Evidence Act, it was clearly "irrelevant" and could not have been taken into consideration by the High Court while passing the impugned judgment. The remaining Section 44 deals with fraud or collusion in obtaining a judgment, or incompetency of a court which delivered it, and can possibly have no application in the present case. It would thus appear that the High Court was quite justified in ignoring the judgment of acquittal rendered by it which was clearly irrelevant.
>
> 10. A three Judges' Bench of this Court had occasion to consider the same very question in the case of Karan Singh vs. The State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1965 SC 1037, in which there were in all 8 accused persons out of whom accused Ram Hans absconded, as such trial of seven accused persons, including accused Karan Singh, who was appellant before this Court, proceeded and the trial court although acquitted other six accused persons, convicted the seventh accused, i.e., Karan Singh under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. Against his conviction, Karan Singh preferred an appeal before the High Court. During the pendency of his appeal, accused Ram Hans was apprehended and put on trial and upon its conclusion, the trial court recorded order of his acquittal, which attained finality, no appeal having been preferred against the same. Thereafter, when the appeal of accused Karan Singh was taken up for hearing, it was submitted that in view of the judgment of acquittal rendered in the trial of accused Ram Hans, the conviction of accused Karan Singh under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC could not be sustained, more so when other six accused persons, who were tried with Karan Singh, were acquitted by the trial court and the judgment of acquittal attained finality. Repelling the contention, the High Court after considering the evidence adduced came to the conclusion that murder was committed by Ram Hans in furtherance of the common intention of both himself and accused Karan Singh and, accordingly, altered the conviction of Karan Singh from Section 302/149 to one under Section 302/34 IPC. Against the said judgment, when an appeal by special leave was preferred before this Court, it was contended that in view of the verdict of acquittal of accused Ram Hans, it was not permissible in law for the High Court to uphold conviction of accused Karan Singh. This Court, repelling the contention, held that decision in each case had to turn on the evidence led in it. Case of accused Ram Hans depended upon evidence led there while the case of accused Karan Singh, who had appealed before this Court, had to be decided only on the basis of evidence led during the course of his trial and the evidence led in the case of Ram Hans and the decision there arrived at would be wholly irrelevant in considering merits of the case of Karan Singh, who was appellant before this Court. This Court observed at page 1038 thus: (SCR pp.3-4)-

> " As the High Court pointed out, that observation has no application to the present case as here the acquittal of Ramhans was not in any proceeding to which the appellant was a party. Clearly, the decision in each case has to turn on the evidence led in it; Ramhans's case depended on the evidence led there while the appellant's case had to be decided only on the evidence led in it. The evidence led in Ramhans's case and the decision there arrived at on that evidence would be wholly irrelevant in considering the merits of the appellant's case."

In that case, after laying down the law, the Court further considered as to whether the High Court was justified in converting the conviction of accused Karan Singh from Section 302/149 to one under Section 302 read with section 34 IPC after recording a finding that the murder was committed by Ram Hans in furtherance of common intention of both himself and accused Karan Singh. This Court was of the view that in spite of the fact that accused Ram Hans was acquitted by the trial court and his acquittal attained finality, it was open to the High Court, as an appellate court, while considering appeal of accused Karan Singh, to consider evidence recorded in the trial of Karan Singh only for a limited purpose to find out as to whether Karan Singh could have shared common intention with accused Ram Hans to commit murder of the deceased, though the same could not have otherwise affected the acquittal of Ram Hans. In view of the foregoing discussion, we are clearly of the view that the judgment of acquittal rendered in the trial of other four accused persons is wholly irrelevant in the appeal arising out of trial of appellant Rajan Rai as the said judgment was not admissible under the provisions of Sections 40 to 44 of the Evidence Act. Every case has to be decided on the evidence adduced therein. Case of the four acquitted accused persons was decided on the basis of evidence led there while case of the present appellant has to be decided only on the basis of evidence adduced during the course of his trial."(pp.194-197)

85. In view of detailed analysis of pleadings available on record as well as law referred hereinabove, this Court is of the view that Ex.PW-1/S was admissible to be tendered in evidence in terms of Section 43 of Evidence Act being "fact in issue". At the cost of repetition, it may be stated that defendants themselves prayed for stay of the suit on the grounds of Civil Suit Nos.44/83 and 12/81, wherein judgment Ex.PW-1/S was passed, meaning thereby that the decision in suits referred hereinabove had direct bearing on the suit filed by the plaintiffs against the present appellants-defendants.

86. At this stage, it would be appropriate to refer to para-1 of preliminary objections of the written statement, which has been reproduced above, wherein defendants themselves stated that present suit is liable to be stayed under Section 10 of CPC for the reasons that the matter in issue in the present suit is also directly in issue in previously instituted two civil suit with regard to the same property between the plaintiffs on one hand and Nanak Singh Gandhi on the other hand. Since defendants themselves stated that the matter in issue in the present suit is directly and substantially in issue in previously instituted two civil suits No.44/83 and 12/81, wherein admittedly present plaintiffs were party, they cannot be allowed to state at this stage that the judgment passed by learned Additional District Judge in aforesaid civil suits, referred in para-1 of preliminary objections by defendants, cannot be relied upon in present suit in terms of Sections 41, 42 and 43 of Indian Evidence Act. Rather, keeping in view the candid admission made by the defendants in written statement, wherein defendants themselves admitted that the matter in issue in the present suit is directly and substantially in issue in previously instituted civil suits, this Court is of the view that learned first appellate Court rightly placed reliance upon the judgment Ex.PW-1/S passed in the aforesaid civil suits, which had admittedly direct bearing upon the present suit filed by the plaintiffs. Hence, this Court after seeing Ex.PW-1/S as well as pleadings of the parties i.e. plaint and written statement has no hesitation to conclude that learned first appellate Court placed reliance on the judgment Ex.PW-1/S in the present proceedings in terms of Section 43 being "fact in issue". Substantial question of law No.3 is answered accordingly.

Questions No.1 and 2:

87. Now, this Court would be adverting to substantial questions No.1 and 2. This Court, while exploring answer to substantial question No.3, had an occasion to travel through the entire evidence, be it oral or documentary, on record adduced by the parties and as such it sees no force in the submissions having been made on behalf of learned counsel representing the appellants-defendants that Courts below have fallen in error while appreciating the evidence adduced on record. Shri Ajay Kumar Sood had strenuously argued that first appellate Court has not dealt with the evidence in its right perspective, rather he has acted with material illegality and irregularity in passing the impugned judgment and decree. He also stated that learned first appellate Court, while passing impugned judgment and decree, mis-interpreted the law as applicable to the facts of the present case and as such prayed for quashing of the impugned judgment. Since this Court while answering question No.3 has already dealt with issue of application of Sections 41, 42 and 43 of the Indian Evidence Act to ascertain the correctness and genuineness of the judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court and has been held that Ex.PW-1/S could be placed reliance in terms of Section 41 being fact in issue, it sees no force in the contention put forth on behalf of the appellants-defendants. While answering question No.3 it has been already held that there is no illegality and irregularity in the judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court wherein he allowed the appeal of the present plaintiffs' specifically holding that Ex.PW-1/S could be relied upon in evidence. This Court is also of the view that Ex.PW-1/S could be read in evidence in terms of Section 43 being "fact in issue" and as such contention put forth on behalf of the counsel for the appellants that learned Court below misinterpreted the law has no force and is rejected in view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove.

88. As far as misreading of evidence, as alleged by the appellants-defendants, is concerned, this Court is of the view that since first appellate Court solely placed the reliance upon document Ex.PW-1/S, it had no occasion to refer to the other part of evidence. Once Ex.PW-1/S was taken into consideration by the first appellate Court while accepting the appeal of the plaintiff, there was no need to look into the other part of evidence adduced on record solely for the reason that bare perusal of judgment Ex.PW-1/S clearly suggests that plaintiff No.2 was held to be owner of the suit property on the strength of will, which was held to be validly executed by Smt.Lajwanti Gujral in favour of plaintiff No.2. Similarly, perusal of Ex.PW-1/S suggests that question of creation of Trust by plaintiff No.1 was duly proved on record by the present plaintiffs in that case by placing copy of Deed of Trust created by plaintiff No.2 after acquiring title of ownership on the strength of will. Since learned first appellate Court held that document Ex.PW-1/S could be placed reliance upon, it was sufficient for that Court to conclude that aforesaid property belongs to validly created Trust, who is entitled to file suit for recovery of possession against defendants, who admittedly after 10.7.1989 was in authorized possession of the premises.

89. Apart from above, this Court had an occasion to peruse the statements made by the plaintiff during trial which clearly suggests that PW-1 Baldev Singh, who happened to be a President of plaintiff-Trust specifically placed on record copy of Jamabandi Ex.PW-1/A as well as copy of Trust Deed mark `A' to suggest that Trust was created by plaintiff No.2 Rajinder Singh Gujral and on the strength of same mutation was entered in favour of the Trust qua the suit property. He also exhibited the notice issued to defendants through counsel Ex.PW-1/F, receipt Ex.PW-1/G, H and J, acknowledgement Ex.PW-1/L and Ex.PW-1/M. Aforesaid PW also received reply Ex.PW-1/Q and letter Ex.PW-1/R from the defendants. In reply to aforesaid legal notices got issued by PW-1 in the capacity of President of plaintiff Trust, defendants nowhere in their reply vide Ex.PW-1/Q and Ex.PW-1/R disputed the title of plaintiff No.1, rather vide Ex.PW-1/R they enclosed copy of opinion of Advocate Shri K.D. Sood, wherein he opined that till the time suit already pending, as referred hereinabove, is decided they may defer making payment of rent in favour of Shri Rajinder Singh Gujral, plaintiff No.2; meaning thereby that defendants while answering legal notice issued by the plaintiffs nowhere raised issue with regard to creation of Trust/existence of Trust after the death of Smt.Lajwanti Gujral. Though perusal of record suggests that plaintiffs were not able to place on record original copy of Trust Deed but in his statement he categorically stated that Chairman, Gurudwara Singh Sabha, was ex-officio Chairman and there were six trustees; namely; Sardar Jagat Singh, Jasbir Kaur, Surjit Kaur Kalra, Iqbal Singh and Sardar Jagdish. While making statement he stated that Trust was made in the year 1982, copy of which is mark `A'. He also stated that in the year 1969 defendants were inducted as lessee in the suit land by late Smt.Lajwanti Gujral. It has also come in statement that after becoming owner plaintiff No.2 Rajinder Singh Gujral issued notice to the defendants and notice through counsel was also issued. In view of aforesaid candid and specific statement of PW-1 wherein he stated that after death of late Smt.Lajwanti, plaintiff No.2, acquired the status of owner and got legal notice issued to defendants asking them to vacate the premises and make payment of rent, this Court is of the view that learned trial Court was not right in returning the findings that the plaintiff has not proved that they are owners in possession of the suit land and are entitled to recover the possession of the suit property. Plaintiffs categorically stated with regard to creation of Trust and other six trustees, named above, and he also disclosed the names of those trustees. Even cause title of the suit suggests that all other trustees; namely; Smt.Jasbir Kaur, Giani Iqbal Singh and Smt.Surjit Kalra, were impleaded as proforma defendants in the suit and as such this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the impugned judgment and sees no force in the contention of the counsel representing the appellants-defendants.

90. Apart from above, if for the sake of arguments this contention put forth on behalf of the counsel representing the appellants is accepted that PW-1 who was the President of plaintiff No.1-Trust was unable to prove the creation of Trust and authorization, if any, on behalf of Trust to initiate proceedings against the defendants, in that event also, there is plaintiff No.2 Rajinder Singh Gujral, who admittedly acquired the status of owner after death of Smt.Gujral qua the suit property, which stands duly proved vide judgment Ex.PW-1/S. PW-1 in his statement categorically stated that before the death of Smt.Lajwanti Gujral, she made a will in favour of plaintiff No.2 and on the strength of same, mutation was attested. He categorically stated that Rajinder Singh, plaintiff No.2, executed a trust deed as per wishes of his parents, and he being the Chairman of Gurudwara Singh Sabha filed the present suit. Since, suit in question was filed by both i.e. plaintiff No.1 Trust and another by plaintiff No.2 who admittedly acquired the status of owner after the death of Smt.Lajwanti which stand duly proved by Ex.PW-1/S, non-placing of original Trust Deed was not of serious consequence, which could entail dismissal of suit by the learned trial Court below. Leaving everything aside, when judgment Ex.PW-1/S has been already held admissible in evidence in terms of Section 43 of the Indian Evidence Act, all issues regarding title would automatically be decided in favour of the plaintiffs. Both the questions are answered accordingly.

91. In view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove, this appeal is dismissed. The judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court below is upheld and that of the learned trial Court is set aside and the suit filed by the plaintiffs is decreed. There shall be no order as to costs.

92. Interim order, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Piar Chand & Others ..Appellants-Plaintiffs

Versus

Ranjeet Singh & Others ..Respondents-Defendants

Regular Second Appeal No.293 of 2006.
Judgment Reserved on: 30.08.2016.
Date of decision: 16.09.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit seeking declaration that they are owners in possession of the suit land – the suit land was wrongly recorded to be in possession of defendants No.1 to 3- AC 1st Grade had wrongly declared the defendants to be the owners in possession of the suit land – defendants claimed that suit land was in possession of their predecessor-in-interest as non-occupancy tenant- plaintiffs had purchased the suit land in the year 1965-66 but the tenancy was prior to the sale – defendants had become the owners after the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- the suit was decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that in the present case defendants had filed counter-claims, which was dismissed by the Trial Court – the suit of the plaintiff was decreed- Counter-claim is in the nature of a cross suit – a separate decree should have been prepared in the counter-claim- Appellate Court should not have been entertained composite appeal – appeal allowed – judgment of the Appellate Court set aside and that of the Trial Court restored.(Para-21 to 46)

Cases referred:

Rajni Rani and Another vs. Khairati Lal and Others, (2015)2 SCC 682

Laxmidas Dayabhai Kabrawala vs. Nanabhai Chunilal Kabrawala and others, AIR 1964 SC 11

Satya Devi vs. Partap Singh and others, (2006)1 SCC 312

For the Appellants: Mr.B.P. Sharma, Senior Advocate with Mr.Arun Kumar, Advocate.

For Respondents No.1(a) to 1(d) & 2 to 4. Mr.Neeraj Gupta, Advocate.

For Respondent No.7: Ex-parte

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma,J.

This appeal has been filed by the appellants-plaintiffs against the judgment and decree dated 20.03.2005, passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Ghumarwin, District Bilaspur, H.P., reversing the judgment and decree dated 11.5.2001, passed by the learned Sub Judge Ist Class, Ghumarwin, whereby the suit filed by the appellants-plaintiffs has been decreed.

2. The brief facts of the case are that the appellants-plaintiffs (herein after referred to as the `plaintiffs'), filed a suit for declaration and permanent prohibitory injunction against the respondents-defendants (hereinafter referred to as the `defendants') stating therein that they were owners in possession of the suit land measuring 9.6 bighas, comprised in Khasra No.59 and 9 Khata/Khatauni No.20 min/33 and 34, situated in village Nagraon, Pargana Tiun, Tehsil

Ghumarwin, District Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh. It was averred in the plaint that in the revenue record, the suit land was wrongly entered in the possession of defendants No.1 to 3 and at the same time defendant No.4 was recorded as co-owner in the column of ownership, which entries were challenged by the plaintiffs. It was further stated that defendant No.4 had disposed of more land than her share and consequently she was left with no share in the suit land. It was further stated that defendants No.1 to 3 were not in possession of the suit land. However, it was only on 26.6.1992 when defendants came to the suit land and tried to dispossess the plaintiffs. Thereafter, plaintiffs came to know that A.C. Ist Grade, Ghumarwin, declared defendants to be owners in possession of the suit land and said order was also challenged. Hence, the present suit for declaration that plaintiffs are owners in possession of the suit land. Plaintiffs further prayed for consequential relief of permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants from interfering in the suit land.

3. Defendants No.1 to 3 contested the suit and filed joint written statement. They also filed counter claim against the plaintiffs. It was stated by the defendants that suit land was under possession of their predecessor-in-interest Sant Ram and Bhauru as non-occupancy tenant under the previous owners Shankru Devi, Sundri Devi and Gulabi Devi on the payment of 1/4th produce as rent. The plaintiffs had purchased the share of Ishwar Dass and Narain Singh successors of Gulabi in the year 1965-66, but the tenancy of defendant No.1 to 3 were prior to said sale. Therefore, defendants stated that now by operation of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, defendants had acquired proprietary rights. Therefore, defendants prayed by way of counter-claim to be declared owners in possession of the suit land.

4. Defendant No.4 did not appear to contest the suit before the lower Court and as such she was proceeded against ex-parte.

5. The plaintiffs filed written statement to the counter-claim and also replication whereby they again reaffirmed their own case and refuted the case of defendants as pleaded in the written statement and the counter claim.

6. On the pleadings of the parties, the learned trial Court framed the following issues:-

"1. Whether the plaintiffs are the owners in possession of the suit land? OPP.

2. Whether the defendants are entitled to be declared as owner in possession of the suit land? OPP.

3. Relief."

7. Learned trial Court vide common judgment and decree dated 11.5.2001 partly decreed the suit of the plaintiff and also dismissed the counter claim filed by the defendants.

8. Feeling aggrieved and dissatisfied with the aforesaid judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court, whereby suit filed by the plaintiff was partly decreed and counter claim of defendants-appellants were dismissed, appellants-defendants filed an appeal under Section 96 of the Code of Civil Procedure (for short `CPC') read with Section 21 of the H.P. Courts Act assailing therein judgment and decree dated 11.5.2001 passed by learned Sub Judge Ist Class in the Court of learned Additional District Judge, Ghumarwin.

9. Learned Additional District Judge, Ghumarwin vide judgment and decree dated 20.3.2005 accepted the appeal preferred by the defendants by setting aside the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court. Learned first appellate Court also decreed the counter claim of the contesting defendants to the effect that defendants No.1 to 3 are owners in possession of the suit land and entries in the revenue record in favour of plaintiffs are wrong and illegal.

10. In the aforesaid background the present appellants-plaintiffs filed this Regular Second Appeal before this Court, details whereof have already been given above.

11. This second appeal was admitted on the following substantial question of law:

"(1) Whether the findings of the ld.Appellate court below are sustainable in the eyes of law when it is based on mere revenue entries which are itself contradictory and stands rebutted by adducing oral as well as documentary evidence. Particularly when the appellants/ plaintiffs are in exclusive possession of the suit land for the last more than 30 years and are entitled to be declared as owners in possession of the suit land and whereas defendants/respondents never remained in possession of suit land?

2. Whether the Ld.Addl.District Judge has committed illegality in allowing the appeal and decreeing the counter claim of the respondents-defendants whereas separate appeal against the dismissal of counter claim has not been filed by the respondents?

3. Whether the Ld.Addl.District Judge wrongly interpreted the revenue entries?"

12. Mr.B.P. Sharma, Learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants-plaintiffs, vehemently argued that the impugned judgment and decree passed by learned first appellate Court is not sustainable in the eye of law as the same is not based upon correct appreciation of evidence as well as law on point. Mr.Sharma contended that bare perusal of impugned judgment passed by learned first appellate Court suggests that the same is based on conjectures and surmises and learned first appellate Court has fallen in grave error while reversing the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court that too on the very flimsy grounds.

13. Mr.Sharma forcefully contended that the impugned judgment passed by the first appellate Court is totally contrary to the provisions of law because learned first appellate Court had no occasion, whatsoever, to decree the counter claim of defendants in the appeal preferred by them against the judgment and decree dated 11.5.2001 passed by learned trial Court, whereby the suit of the plaintiffs was partly decreed and counter claims were dismissed. As per Mr.Sharma, since defendants had not filed separate appeal after paying requisite court fee against the dismissal of the counter claim by the trial Court, learned first appellate Court had no authority, whatsoever, to allow the counter claim in the appeal admittedly filed against the judgment passed by the learned trial Court, whereby suit of the plaintiffs was partly decreed. With a view to substantiate his aforesaid arguments, he invited the attention of this Court to Order 8 Rule 6A CPC to demonstrate that counter claim is in the nature of plaint and when it is dismissed, it is to be assailed by way of filing an appeal before the competent Forum by paying requisite court fee on the basis of claim.

14. Mr.Sharma forcefully contended that bare perusal of Order 8 Rules 6A to 6D clearly suggests that a counter claim preferred by the defendants, is in the nature of a cross-suit and even if the suit is dismissed, counter claim remain alive for adjudication; meaning thereby that the counter claim can only be entertained by the Court if requisite court fee is paid by the defendants on the valuation of counter claim. Mr.Sharma strenuously argued that if the counter claim is dismissed on being adjudicated on merits, it forecloses the rights of the defendants and hence as per Order 8 Rule 6A(2) Court is required to pronounce the final judgment in the same suit, both on the original claim/suit as well as also on counter claim. Mr.Sharma further contended that though in the present case learned trial Court, while partly allowing the suit filed by the plaintiff, dismissed the counter claim filed by defendants vide common judgment, but same could not be assailed by way of common appeal as is in the present case assailing therein impugned judgment and decree passed in favour of the plaintiffs as well as rejection of counter claim. Mr.Sharma forcefully contended that once there was conclusive determination of right of parties by the Court, while rejecting the counter claim filed by the defendants, it attained the status of decree and as such same was required to be assailed by way of filing separate appeal. Mr.Sharma further contended that trial Court may have not drawn formal decree, while rejecting the counter claim of the defendants, but once the rights are finally adjudicated by the Court, while rejecting the counter claim, it attained the status of decree and as such judgment and decree, specifically dismissing the counter claim, could not be assailed by way of common appeal, as has been done in the present case. Learned Counsel representing the plaintiffs-appellants also contended that learned first appellate Court, while allowing the counter claim filed on behalf of defendants, miserably failed to appreciate the evidence on record which was suggestive of the fact that the appellants are owners in possession of the suit land for more than 30 years and the learned trial Court had rightly concluded on the basis of evidence adduced on record that the defendants never remained in possession of the suit land.

15. Mr.Sharma with a view to substantiate his submissions further stated that learned first appellate Court has fallen in grave error while not appreciating that apart from entries, which were itself contrary in the revenue record, defendants No.1 and 2 miserably failed to adduce any cogent evidence showing defendants in possession of the suit land and moreover the revenue entries stood rebutted by the overwhelming evidence, be it ocular or documentary, on record. While concluding his arguments, Mr.Sharma strenuously argued that the judgment passed by learned first appellate Court deserves to be quashed and set aside being perverse and against law because bare perusal of the pleadings as well as evidence produced on record suggests that learned first appellate Court has failed to appreciate that there was no document available on record suggestive of the fact that payment of rent, if any, was further made by defendants to S/Shri Narain Singh and Ishwar from whom the plaintiff had purchased the land. Mr.Sharma also placed reliance on the judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court in Rajni Rani and Another vs. Khairati Lal and Others, (2015)2 SCC 682 and Laxmidas Dayabhai Kabrawala vs. Nanabhai Chunilal Kabrawala and others*, AIR 1964 SC 11.

16. Mr.Neeraj Gupta, learned counsel appearing for the defendants-respondents, supported the judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court. Mr.Gupta vehemently argued that bare perusal of the impugned judgment passed by learned first appellate Court suggests that the same is based upon correct appreciation of evidence available on record as well as law laid down and as such no interference, whatsoever, by this Court warranted in the present facts and circumstances of the case. Mr.Gupta, while referring to the impugned judgment, strenuously argued that close scrutiny of the same suggests that each and every aspect of the matter including legal arguments as have been raised by their learned counsel representing the plaintiffs, have been duly and meticulously dealt with by the learned trial Court and as such present appeal deserves to be dismissed.

17. Mr.Gupta, while refuting the submissions having been made on behalf of the appellants that counter claim filed by the defendants could not be allowed in the composite appeal filed by the defendants before the learned Additional District Judge, stated that since learned trial Court vide common judgment dated 11.5.2001 had dismissed counter claim filed by the defendants while allowing the appeal preferred by the present plaintiffs, defendants rightly filed first appeal before learned District Judge laying challenge therein to both passing of decree in favour of the plaintiffs as well as dismissal of counter claim and as such no illegality and infirmity can be found in the judgment passed by learned trial Court below. Mr.Gupta further contended that no appeal can be filed without there being any decree. Learned trial Court while rejecting the counter claim had not drawn any decree and as such no separate appeal could be filed. In this regard reliance has been placed upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in (Smt.)Satya Devi vs. Partap Singh and others, (2006)1 SCC 312.

18. Mr.Gupta further contended that bare perusal of revenue record, adduced on record by the parties, clearly demonstrates that previously Bhauru was recorded as tenant in possession of the suit land during settlement under owners; namely; Narain Singh and Ishwar Dass co-sharers on payment of 1/4th of the produce as rent i.e. Exs.D-1 and D-2. Similarly, Bhauru is also recorded as tenant under Smt.Gulabi and Ishwar Dass in copy of Jamabandi for the year 1965-66 (Ex.D-2) and thereafter as per Ex.D-3 the plaintiffs purchased the suit land from Smt.Gulabi and Ishwar Dass. Since Bhauru was already coming in possession of the suit land in non-occupancy tenant under Narain Singh and Ishwar Dass on payment of 1/4th share of the produce as rent and he continued to be non-occupancy tenant in possession of the suit land on payment of 1/4th share of the produce of the rent even after purchase of share of Smt.Gulabi by the plaintiffs. Mr.Gupta forcefully contended that since the entries in the revenue record, (since the time of consolidation) were in favour of defendants No.1 to 3 and their predecessor-in-interest was coming in possession of suit land as tenants on payment of 1/4th share of the produce as rent, there is no illegality and infirmity in the judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court, whereby it came to the conclusion that predecessor-in-interest of defendants No.1 to 3 were already in possession of the suit land and as non-occupancy tenants even before suit land was purchased by the plaintiffs in the year 1966. Mr.Gupta further contended that bare perusal of evidence available on record, nowhere suggests that evidence, if any, was either led by the plaintiffs to rebut the entries in revenue record prior to the year 1966, which clearly depicts that predecessor-in-interest of defendants No.1 to 3 were already in possession of the suit as non-occupancy tenant prior to purchase the suit land by the plaintiffs.

19. Mr.Gupta also contended that it stands duly proved on record that previously Bhauru i.e. predecessor-in-interest of defendants No.1 to 3 was non-occupancy tenant qua the suit land on payment of 1/4th share of produce of rent, but lateron proprietary rights were conferred upon defendants No.1 to 3 qua suit land in terms of Section 104 of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972 (for short Tenancy Act'). But the defendants were wrongly reflected as purchasers of the suit land in the revenue record; whereas it is proved that the defendants and their predecessors-in-interest were coming in possession of the suit land as non-occupancy tenants. Hence, the entries in the revenue record showing the plaintiffs as owners and defendants No.1 to 3 as were apparently wrong, whereas defendants No.1 to 3 had become owners of the suit land as per Section 104 of the Tenancy Act. In view of aforesaid submissions, Mr.Gupta prayed for dismissal of the present appeal.

20. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record of the case.

21. Keeping in view the specific objection with regard to maintainability of appeal filed by the defendants under Section 96 CPC read with Section 21 of the H.P. Courts Act before the learned Additional District Judge, wherein defendants laid challenge to the judgment and decree dated 11.5.2001 passed by learned Sub Judge Ist Class, Ghumarwin passed in Civil Suit No.214/1 of 1992, it would be appropriate for this Court to take substantial question No.2, which is reproduced below, for consideration at the first instance:-

> 2. Whether the Ld.Addl.District Judge has committed illegality in allowing the appeal and decreeing the counter claim of the respondents-defendants whereas separate appeal against the dismissal of counter claim has not been filed by the respondents?

22. It is undisputed before this Court that present appellants-plaintiffs filed a suit for declaration and permanent injunction against the respondents-defendants specifically on the averments which have been narrated in the earlier part of the judgment. It is also matter of record that in the aforesaid Civil Suit No.214/1 of 1992, present defendants-respondents filed counter claims alongwith the written statement.

23. Perusal of the counter claims filed on behalf of the defendants-respondents suggests that defendants-respondents valued their counter claims at the rate of Rs.200/- for the purpose of court fee and jurisdiction and fixed court fee of Rs.20/- on the counter claim. Careful perusal of record of trial Court below further suggests that present appellants-plaintiffs also filed replication-cum-written statement to the counter claims filed by the respondents-defendants.

24. However, fact remains that learned trial Court, after framing issues, as have been reproduced above, passed judgment and decree dated 11.5.2001, whereby suit of the present appellants-plaintiffs was partly decreed and counter claims filed by the respondents-defendants were dismissed. Operative part of the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court suggests that learned trial Court decreed the suit of the plaintiff for declaration as well as permanent prohibitory injunction partly by declaring the plaintiffs to be the owners in possession of the suit land alongwith defendant No.4. Since defendants No.1 to 3 could not establish their tenancy as well as possession, the plea of tenancy raised by the defendants was rejected. Learned trial Court further decreed the suit of the plaintiff for permanent prohibitory injunction restraining defendants No.1 to 3 from causing any interference in the suit land. Learned trial Court after dismissing the suit of the plaintiffs against defendant No.4 also dismissed counter claims filed by the defendants, whereby defendants-respondents had sought declaration that they are owners in possession over the suit land.

25. Learned trial Court on the basis of judgment and decree, as referred above, also drawn decree in suit for possession in terms of Order 20 Rules 9 & 10 CPC specifically ordering therein that suit of the plaintiffs for declaration as well as permanent prohibitory injunction is partly decreed to the effect that plaintiffs are hereby declared as owners in possession of the suit land alongwith defendant No.4. Careful perusal of decree, as referred, hereinabove, suggests that it also stands mentioned, "Hence, suit against defendant No.4 fails and is hereby dismissed and the counter-claim filed by the defendants is also hereby dismissed". But, learned trial Court failed to draw separate decree as far as dismissal of counter claims filed by the defendants is concerned.

26. Defendants-respondents, being aggrieved with the aforesaid judgment and decree, approached the learned District Judge by way of appeal under Section 96 CPC read with Section 21 of H.P. Courts Act. At this stage, it would be appropriate to reproduce cause title/head-note of appeal preferred by the defendants-respondents before the learned District Judge, which reads thus:

> "Civil appeal Under Section 96 C.P.C. read with section 21 of the HP Courts Act against the decree and judgment dated 11.5.2001 in Civil Case No.214/1 of 1992, of Sh.Purender Vidya, Sub Judge Ist Class Ghumarwin, by which the learned Sub Judge has decreed the suit filed by plaintiffs i.e. respondents No.1 to 4, against the appellants. Appeal for setting aside the decree and judgment passed by the learned Sub Judge and to dismiss the suit of the plaintiffs."

27. Careful perusal of aforesaid cause title nowhere suggests that defendants-respondents, while filing appeal, assailing therein judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court, specifically prayed for allowing the counter claims. Though record reveals that in prayer clause defendants-respondents, while seeking quashing and setting aside the judgment and decree dated 11.5.2001 passed by learned Sub Judge also prayed that counter claim filed by defendants may be decreed with costs.

28. Before adverting to the submissions having been made on behalf of the learned counsel representing both the parties, it would be appropriate to refer to relevant provisions of law applicable in the present case i.e. Order 8 Rule 6A:

> "6A. Counter claim by defendant.- (1) A defendant in a suit may, in addition to his right of pleading a set off under rule 6, set up, by way of counter claim against the claim of the plaintiff, any right or claim in respect of a cause of action accruing to the defendant against the plaintiff either before or after the filing of suit but before the defendant has delivered his defence or before the time limited for delivering his defence has expired, whether such counter claim is in the nature of a claim for damages or not:
>
> Provided that such counter claim shall not exceed the pecuniary limits of the jurisdiction of the court.
>
> (2) Such counter claim shall have the same effect as a cross suit so as to enable the court to pronounce a final judgment in the same suit, both on the original claim and on the counter claim.
>
> (3) The plaintiff shall be at liberty to file a written statement in answer to the counter claim of the defendant within such period as may be fixed by the court.

(4) The counter claim shall be treated as a plaint and governed by the rules applicable to plaints."

29. Aforesaid provisions of law entitles defendants in a suit to set up counter claims against the claim of the plaintiffs in respect of cause of action accruing to them against the plaintiffs either before or after filing the suit, but before defendants files their defence or before the time stipulated for delivering the defence is expired. Needless to say that aforesaid right of filing counter claim is in addition to his right of pleading as set up in Rule 6. Further perusal of aforesaid provisions of law suggests that counter claim, if any, filed on behalf of the defendants would be treated as a plaint and same would be governed by Rules applicable to the plaint. Similarly, counter claims filed on behalf of the defendants would have same effect as a cross suit so as to enable the Court to pronounce a final judgment in the same suit, both on the original claim and the counter claim.

30. Similarly, Rule 6A(3) enables the plaintiff to file a written statement, if any, to the counter claim filed by the defendants. Rule 6D specifically provides that in case suit of the plaintiff is stayed, discontinued or dismissed, the counter claim filed on behalf of the defendant would nevertheless be proceeded with.

31. Similarly, Rule 6E provides that if plaintiff fails to file reply to the counter claim made by the defendant, the Court may pronounce judgment against the plaintiff in relation to the counter-claim made against him, or make such order in relation to the counter-claim as it deems fit. It would be relevant here to refer to Order VIII Rule 6F:

"6F. Relief to defendant where counter-claim succeeds.- Where in any suit a set-off or counter-claim is established as a defence against the plaintiffs claim and any balance is found due to the plaintiff or the defendant, as the case may be , the Court may give judgment to the party entitled to such balance."

32. Perusal of aforesaid Order VIII Rule 6F clearly suggests that where in any suit a set-off or counter claim is established as a defence against the plaintiffs' claim and any balance is found due to the plaintiff or the defendant, Court may give judgment to the party entitled to such balance. Further perusal of Order VIII Rule 6G suggests that no pleadings, if any, subsequent to the written statement filed by a defendant other than by way of defence to set up a claim can be presented except with the leave of Court.

33. Under Order VIII Rule 10 when any party fails to file written statement as required under rule 1 or rule 9 within the stipulated time, the Court shall pronounce judgment against him, or make such order in relation to the suit as it thinks fit and on the pronouncement of such judgment a decree shall be drawn up.

34. Careful perusal of aforesaid provisions of law clearly suggests that counter claim, if any, preferred by the defendant in the suit is in nature of cross suit and even if suit is dismissed counter claim would remain alive for adjudication. Since counter claim is in nature of cross suit, defendant is required to pay the requisite court fee on the valuation of counter claim. It has been specifically provided in the aforesaid provisions that the plaintiff is obliged to file a written statement qua counter claim and in case of default court can pronounce the judgment against the plaintiff in relation to the counter claim put forth by the defendant as it has an independent status. As per Rule 6A(2), the Court is required to pronounce a final judgment in the same suit both on the original claim and also on the counter-claim.

35. In the instant case, as has been discussed in detail, defendants filed counter claims which were finally dismissed by the trial Court by stating that defendants No.1 to 3 could not establish their tenancy as well as possession and accordingly they were restrained from interfering in the possession of the plaintiffs as well as defendant No.4.

36. In the present case, as clearly emerged from the judgment passed by the learned trial Court, learned trial Court effectively determined the rights of the parties on the basis of counter claim as well as written statement thereto filed by the respective parties and as such it attained the status of decree. It would be profitable here to reproduce definition of the term `decree' as contained in Section 2(2) of CPC:-

> "2.(2) "decree" means the formal expression of an adjudication which, so far as regards the Court expressing it, conclusively determines the rights of the parties with regard to all or any of the matters in controversy in the suit and may be either preliminary or final. It shall be deemed to include the rejection of a plaint and the determination of any question within [1][ * ] Section 144, but shall not include –
>
> (a) any adjudication from which an appeal lies as an appeal from an order, or
>
> (b) any order of dismissal for default.
>
> Explanation- A decree is preliminary when further proceedings have to be taken before the suit can be completely disposed of. It is final when such adjudication completely disposes of the suit. It may be partly preliminary and partly final;"

37. Close scrutiny of aforesaid definition of "decree" clearly suggests that there should be formal expression of adjudication by the Court while determining the rights of the parties with regard to controversy in the suit, which would also include the rejection of plaint. Similarly, determination should be conclusive determination resulting in a formal expression of the adjudication. It is settled principle that once the matter in controversy has received judicial determination, the suit results in a decree, either in favour of the plaintiff or in favour of the defendant.

38. In the present case, as has been observed above, learned trial Court while decreeing the suit of the plaintiff specifically dismissed the counter claim on the ground that defendants were unable to prove their possession and tenancy; meaning thereby that counter claim filed by defendants was duly adjudicated and decided on merits by the trial Court holding that defendants No.1 to 3 have not been able to prove their tenancy and possession qua the suit land. At the cost of repetition, it is once again stated that by way of counter claim defendants claimed that they may be declared owners in possession of the suit land which was negatived by the trial Court.

39. In the aforesaid background, this Court while examining the statements having been made on behalf of the counsel representing the appellants-plaintiffs, found sufficient force in the arguments raised on behalf of appellants that learned first appellate Court could not have entertained composite appeal as preferred in the present case by the defendant specifically laying challenge therein to the judgment and decree passed by the Court, whereby the suit was decreed and counter claim was dismissed.

40. When learned trial Court dismissed the counter claim by expressing opinion that defendants No.1 to 3 were not able to prove their tenancy and possession, it can be termed as formal expression of adjudication as far as counter claim is concerned. Definition of "decree" clearly suggests that there has to be formal expression of adjudication. Accordingly, in the present case, as is seen from the judgment passed by the learned trial Court, learned trial Court specifically observed while rejecting the counter claim that "defendants No.1 to 3 could not establish their tenancy as well as possession, therefore, the plea of tenancy raised by the defendants itself sufficient to cause serious threat in the possession of the plaintiffs". Admittedly, in the present case, learned trial Court has not drawn formal decree while rejecting counter claims filed by defendants, but if the judgment in its entirety passed by the Court is seen, it clearly emerge that rights have finally been adjudicated. Once as per provisions of law counter claims are in nature of cross-suit, learned trial Court below ought to have passed separate decree specifically dismissing the counter claim of the defendants. But in the present case, where no separate decree was passed while rejecting counter claim, defendants cannot be allowed to state that since there was no formal decree passed by trial Court, there was no occasion for them to file separate appeal after paying requisite court fee. It has been held in catena of cases that Court may or may not draw formal decree, but if by virtue of order of Court rights are finally decided/adjudicated, it would assume the status of decree. Apart from above, aforesaid issue, as is being determined in the instant appeal, is no more res intigra.

41. In this regard, it would be appropriate to place reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Rajni Rani and Another vs. Khairati Lal and Others, (2015)2 SCC 682, wherein the Court has held as under:-

> "3. After the counter-claim was filed, Defendants 1 and 2 filed an application for dismissal of the counter-claim on the foundation that the same did not merit consideration as it was barred by Order 2, Rule 2 CPC. It was set forth in the application that a suit for declaration was earlier filed by the present appellants along with others against the defendants and a decree was passed in their favour on 21.9.2002 whereby it was held that the present appellants and some of the respondents were entitled to 1/4th share each. The judgment and decree passed in the said suit was assailed in appeal and the appellate court modified the judgment and decree dated 21.9.2002 vide judgment dated 15.2.2003 holding that each one of them was entitled to 1/9th share and the said modification was done on the ground that the property was ancestral in nature and the sisters had their shares. After disposal of the appeal, one of the sisters filed a declaratory suit to the effect that she is the owner in possession of land in respect of 1/9th share in the suit land and in the said suit a counter-claim was filed by Defendants 12 to 14 stating that they had become owners in possession of the suit property on the basis of a properly registered Will dated 18.5.1995 executed by Jeth Ram. In the application it was set forth that the counter-claim had been filed in collusion with the plaintiff as the plea of claiming any status under the Will dated 18.5.1995 was never raised in the earlier suit. It was urged that the plea having not been raised in the earlier suit, it could not have been raised by way of a counter-claim in the second suit being barred by the principles of Order 2, Rule 2 of CPC.
>
> 4. The learned trial Judge adverted to the lis in the first suit, the factum of not raising the plea with regard to Will in the earlier suit and came to hold that the counter-claim could not be advanced solely on the ground that the existence of the Will had come to the knowledge of the defendants only in the year 2003. Being of this view, the learned trial Judge allowed the application filed by the Defendant 1 and 2 and resultantly dismissed the counter-claim filed by the Defendant 12 to 14 vide order dated 13.10.2010.
>
> 5. The legal substantiality of the aforesaid order was called in question in Civil Revision No. 900 of 2011 preferred under Article 227 of the Constitution of India wherein the High Court taking note of the previous factual background came to hold that the learned trial Judge had failed to appreciate that the Will dated 18.5.1995 executed by Jeth Ram, the father of Defendant 12 to 14, was alive at the time of adjudication of the earlier suit and hence, the said Will could not have taken aid of during his lifetime. The aforesaid analysis persuaded the learned Single Judge to set aside the order passed by the learned trial Judge. However, the Single Judge observed that it would be open to the plaintiff to raise all pleas against the counter-claim.
>
> 6. We have heard Mr. Arvinder Arora, learned counsel for the appellants and Mr. S.S. Nara, learned counsel for the respondents.
>
> 7. At the very outset, we must make it clear that we are not inclined to advert to the defensibility or justifiability of the order of rejection of the counter-claim by the learned trial Judge or the annulment or invalidation of the said order by the High Court. We shall only dwell upon the issue whether the revision petition could have been entertained or was it obligatory on the part of respondents herein to assail the order by way of appeal.

8. The submission of Mr. Arora, learned counsel appearing for the appellants is that the counter-claim is in the nature of a plaint and when it is dismissed it has to be assailed by way of appeal before the competent forum by paying the requisite court fee on the basis of the claim and such an order cannot be set at naught in exercise of supervisory jurisdiction of the High Court. Learned counsel for the respondents, per contra, would contend that such an order is revisable and, in any case, when cause of justice has been subserved this Court should not interfere in exercise of its jurisdiction under Article 136 of the Constitution of India.

9. To appreciate the controversy in proper perspective it is imperative to appreciate the scheme relating to the counter-claim that has been introduced by CPC (amendment) Act 104 of 1976 with effect from 1.2.1977.

9.1 Order 8, Rule 6A deals with counter-claim by the defendant. Rule 6A(2) stipulates thus:-

"6-A(2) Such counter-claim shall have the same effect as a cross-suit so as to enable the Court to pronounce a final judgment in the same suit, both on the original claim and on the counter-claim."

9.2. Rule 6A(3) enables the plaintiff to file a written statement. The said provision reads as follows:-

"6-A(3) The plaintiff shall be at liberty to file a written statement in answer to the counter-claim of the defendant within such period as may be fixed by the Court."

9.3. Rule 6A(4) of the said Rule postulates that:

"6-A.(4) The counter-claim shall be treated as a plaint and governed by rules applicable to a plaint.

9.4 Rule 6B provides how the counter-claim is to be stated and Rule 6C deals with exclusion of counter-claim.

9.5 Rules 6-D deals with the situation when the suit is discontinued. It is as follows:-

"6-D. Effect of discontinuance of suit. – If in any case in which the defendant sets up a counter-claim, the suit of the plaintiff is stayed, discontinued or dismissed, the counter-claim may nevertheless be proceeded with."

9.6. On a plain reading of the aforesaid provisions it is quite limpid that a counter-claim preferred by the defendant in a suit is in the nature of a cross-suit and by a statutory command even if the suit is dismissed, counter-claim shall remain alive for adjudication. For making a counter-claim entertainable by the court, the defendant is required to pay the requisite court fee on the valuation of the counter-claim. The plaintiff is obliged to file a written statement and in case there is default the court can pronounce the Judgment against the plaintiff in relation to the counter-claim put forth by the defendant as it has an independent status. The purpose of the scheme relating to counter-claim is to avoid multiplicity of the proceedings. When a counter-claim is dismissed on being adjudicated on merits it forecloses the rights of the defendant. As per Rule 6A(2) the court is required to pronounce a final judgment in the same suit both on the original claim and also on the counter-claim. The seminal purpose is to avoid piece-meal adjudication. The plaintiff can file an application for exclusion of a counter-claim and can do so at any time before issues are settled in relation to the counter-claim. We are not concerned with such a situation.

10. In the instant case, the counter-claim has been dismissed finally by expressing an opinion that it is barred by principles of Order 2, Rule 2 of the CPC. The question is what status is to be given to such an expression of opinion. In this context we may refer with profit the definition of the term decree as contained in section 2(2) of CPC:-

> "2. (2) "decree" means the formal expression of an adjudication which, so far as regards the Court expressing it, conclusively determines the rights of the parties with regard to all or any of the matters in controversy in the suit and may be either preliminary or final. It shall be deemed to include the rejection of a plaint and the determination of any question within[[ * ] Section 144, but shall not include –
>
> (a) any adjudication from which an appeal lies as an appeal from an order, or
>
> (b) any order of dismissal for default.
>
> Explanation- A decree is preliminary when further proceedings have to be taken before the suit can be completely disposed of. It is final when such adjudication completely disposes of the suit. It may be partly preliminary and partly final;"

11. In R. Rathinavel Chettiar and Another v. V. Sivaraman, (1999)4 SCC 89, dealing with the basic components of a decree, it has been held thus: (SCC pp.93-94, paras 10-11)

> "10. Thus a "decree" has to have the following essential elements, namely:
>
> (i) There must have been an adjudication in a suit.
>
> (ii) The adjudication must have determined the rights of the parties in respect of, or any of the matters in controversy.
>
> (iii) Such determination must be a conclusive determination resulting in a formal expression of the adjudication.
>
> 11. Once the matter in controversy has received judicial determination, the suit results in a decree either in favour of the plaintiff or in favour of the defendant."

12. From the aforesaid enunciation of law, it is manifest that when there is a conclusive determination of rights of parties upon adjudication, the said decision in certain circumstances can have the status of a decree. In the instant case, as has been narrated earlier, the counter-claim has been adjudicated and decided on merits holding that it is barred by principle of Order 2, Rule 2 CPC. The claim of the defendants has been negatived. In Jag Mohan Chawla v. Dera Radha Swami Satsang, (1996)4 SCC 699 dealing with the concept of counter-claim, the Court has opined thus (SCC p.703, para 5)

> "5... is treated as a cross-suit with all the indicia of pleadings as a plaint including the duty to aver his cause of action and also payment of the requisite court fee thereon. Instead of relegating the defendant to an independent suit, to avert multiplicity of the proceeding and needless protection (sic protraction), the legislature intended to try both the suit and the counter-claim in the same suit as suit and cross-suit and have them disposed of in the same trial. In other words, a defendant can claim any right by way of a counter-claim in respect of any cause of action that has accrued to him even though it is independent of the cause of action averred by the plaintiff and have the same cause of action adjudicated without relegating the defendant to file a separate suit."

13. Keeping in mind the conceptual meaning given to the counter-claim and the definitive character assigned to it, there can be no shadow of doubt that when the counter-claim filed by the defendants is adjudicated and dismissed, finality is attached to it as far as the controversy in respect of the claim put forth by the defendants is concerned. Nothing in that regard survives as far as the said defendants are concerned. If the definition of a decree is appropriately understood it conveys that there has to be a formal expression of an adjudication as far as that Court is concerned. The determination should conclusively put to rest the rights of the parties in that sphere. When an opinion is expressed holding that the counter-claim is barred by principles of Order 2, Rule 2 CPC, it indubitably adjudicates the controversy as regards the substantive right of the defendants who had lodged the counter-claim. It cannot be regarded as an ancillary or incidental finding recorded in the suit.

14. In this context, we may fruitfully refer to a three-Judge Bench decision in M/s. Ram Chand Spg. & Wvg. Mills v. M/s. Bijli Cotton Mills (P) Ltd., AIR 1967 SC 1344 wherein their Lordships was dealing with what constituted a final order to be a decree. The thrust of the controversy therein was that whether an order passed by the executing court setting aside an auction sale as a nullity is an appealable order or not.

15. The Court referred to the decisions in Jethanand and Sons v. State of U.P., AIR 1961 SC 794 and Abdul Rahman v. D.K. Cassim and Sons, AIR 1933 PC 58 and proceeded to state as follows: (Ram Chand Spg. & Wvg. Case, AIR p. 1347, para 13)

> "13.In deciding the question whether the order is a final order determining the rights of parties and, therefore, falling within the definition of a decree in Section 2(2), it would often become necessary to view it from the point of view of both the parties in the present case — the judgment-debtor and the auction-purchaser. So far as the judgment-debtor is concerned the order obviously does not finally decide his rights since a fresh sale is ordered. The position however, of the auction-purchaser is different. When an auction-purchaser is declared to be the highest bidder and the auction is declared to have been concluded certain rights accrue to him and he becomes entitled to conveyance of the property through the court on his paying the balance unless the sale is not confirmed by the court. Where an application is made to set aside the auction sale as a nullity, if the court sets it aside either by an order on such an application or suo motu the only question arising in such a case as between him and the judgment- debtor is whether the auction was a nullity by reason of any violation of Order 21, Rule 84 or other similar mandatory provisions. If the court sets aside the auction sale there is an end of the matter and no further question remains to be decided so far as he and the judgment-debtor are concerned. Even though a resale in such a case is ordered such an order cannot be said to be an interlocutory order as the entire matter is finally disposed of. It is thus manifest that the order setting aside the auction sale amounts to a final decision relating to the rights of the parties in dispute in that particular civil proceeding, such a proceeding being one in which the rights and liabilities of the parties arising from the auction sale are in dispute and wherein they are finally determined by the court passing the order setting it aside. The parties in such a case are only the judgment-debtor and the auction-purchaser, the only issue between them for determination being whether the auction sale is liable to be set aside. There is an end of that matter when the court passes the order and that order is final as it finally, determines the rights and liabilities of the parties viz. the judgment-debtor and the auction-purchaser in regard to that sale, as after that order nothing remains to be determined as between them."

After so stating, the Court ruled that the order in question was a final order determining the rights of the parties and, therefore, fell within the definition of a decree under Section 2(2) read with Section 47 and was an appealable order.

16. We have referred to the aforesaid decisions to highlight that there may be situations where an order can get the status of a decree. A Court may draw up a formal decree or may not, but if by virtue of the order of the Court, the rights have finally been adjudicated, irrefutably it would assume the status of a decree. As is evincible, in the case at hand, the counter-claim which is in the nature of a cross-suit has been dismissed. Nothing else survives for the defendants who had filed the counter-claim. Therefore, we have no hesitation in holding that the order passed by the learned trial Judge has the status of a decree and the challenge to the same has to be made before the appropriate forum where appeal could lay by paying the requisite fee. It could not have been unsettled by the High Court in exercise of the power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India. Ergo, the order passed by the High Court is indefensible."

42. After perusing aforesaid judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court, this Court need not to elaborate further on the issue at hand because Hon'ble Apex Court has categorically held that if by virtue of order of the Court rights have finally been adjudicated, it would assume the status of decree. Hon'ble Apex Court has also stated that Court may or may not draw a formal decree but if rights are finally adjudicated, it would assume the status of a decree. Learned Apex Court has further held that in such like situation order passed by trial Judge has the status of decree and challenge to the same has to be made before the appropriate forum where appeal could lay by paying the requisite fee.

43. Accordingly, in view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove as well as law laid down by Hon'ble Apex Court, this Court sees no force in the contention put forth on behalf of the counsel representing the defendants that in the absence of specific decree drawn by learned trial Court at the time of dismissal of their counter claim, defendants could not file separate appeal. Substantial question is answered accordingly.

44. Since this Court is of the view that learned first appellate Court has erred in entertaining the composite appeal filed on behalf of the defendants specifically laying challenge to the judgment passed by the learned trial Court, wherein suit of the plaintiffs was partly decreed and the counter claim filed by the defendants was dismissed, there is no need to look into the other substantial questions of law as the same have become redundant in view of the findings returned by the Court qua substantial question No.2.

45. As far as judgments relied upon by the learned counsel appearing for the respondents-defendants are concerned, this Court is of the view that the same are not applicable in the present facts and circumstances of the case, especially in view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court (supra).

46. In view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove, this appeal is allowed. The judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court below is quashed and set aside and that of the learned trial Court is upheld and the suit filed by the plaintiffs is decreed. There shall be no order as to costs. Interim order, if any, stands vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Om Prakash Chand ....Appellant-Defendant

Versus

Parkash Chand ...Respondent-Plaintiff

Regular Second Appeal No. 502 of 2006.
Date of decision: 20.09.2016

Transfer of Property Act, 1882- Section 60- Plaintiff pleaded that he is mortgagor of the shop, which was redeemed in favour of the defendant on the payment of Rs.5,000/-- he requested the defendant to receive the money and to redeem the property but defendant refused- defendant denied the relationship of mortgage and mortgagee and pleaded that he was inducted as tenant on the rent of Rs.200/- per month – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that plaintiff had proved the mortgage – the execution of the mortgage deed was admitted by the defendant in cross-examination – mortgage was duly recorded in the rapatroznamcha – the Courts had rightly decreed the suit- appeal dismissed.(Para- 14 to 22)

Cases referred:
Tulsi and Others vs. Chandrika Prasad and Others, 2006(8) SCC 322
State of H.P. and Others vs. Shivalik Agro Poly Products and Others, (2004)8 SCC 556
Jupudi Kesava Rao vs. Pulavarthi Venkata Subbarao and others, 1971(1) SCC 545
Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264.

For the Appellant: Mr.Amit Singh Chandel, Advocate.
For Respondent: Mr.T.S. Chauhan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, J.

This appeal has been filed by the appellant-defendant (hereinafter referred to as the `defendant') against the judgment and decree dated 18.8.2006, passed by learned District Judge, Hamirpur, affirming the judgment and decree dated 14.12.2005, passed by learned Civil Judge(Junior Division), Court No.II, Hamirpur, H.P., whereby the suit filed by the respondent-plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as the `plaintiff') has been decreed.

2. The brief facts of the case are that the plaintiff filed a suit for redemption. It is averred that the plaintiff is mortgagor of a shop measuring 8 feet X 18 feet as shown Mark-A in the site plan and the land to the extent of 1/9th share measuring 15-78 Sq.Mtrs. out of the land comprised in Khata No.180, Khatauni No.800, Khasra No.547, measuring 142.02 Sq.Mtrs., as per Jamabandi for the year 1997-98, situated in Up Mahal Partap Nagar, Tappa Bajuri, Tehsil and District Hamirpur, H.P. (hereinafter referred to as the `suit premises'). It is further averred that on 27.7.1992, the plaintiff mortgaged the suit premises in favour of the defendant on receipt of Rs.5000/- as mortgage debt. It is alleged that the plaintiff was ready and willing to pay the mortgage money to defendant, but the defendant was neither ready to receive the mortgage amount nor got the mortgage redeemed and finally on 28.12.2002, the defendant refused to receive the mortgage money and to redeem the mortgaged property i.e. the suit premises. Hence, the plaintiff has filed the present suit.

3. Defendant, by way of filing written statement, resisted and contested the suit by taking preliminary objections qua maintainability, estoppel, valuation and cause of action. On merits, the defendant claimed that no relationship of mortgagor and mortgagee existed or exists between the parties to the suit, but there is relationship of landlord and tenant because the shop was let out by the plaintiff in favour of the defendant at the rental of Rs.200/- per month and a sum of Rs.5000/- was taken by the plaintiff from the defendant as refundable security/Pugri at the time of termination of the tenancy and subsequently the rent was enhanced to Rs.325/- per month. It is averred that the agreement of mortgage was got executed by the plaintiff to escape from the provisions of H.P. Urban Rent Restriction Act and prayed for dismissal of the suit.

4. By way of replication, the plaintiff, while denying the allegations made in the written statement, reaffirmed the averments made in the plaint and controverted the contrary averments made in the written statement.

5. On the pleadings of the parties, the learned trial Court framed the following issues for determination:-

"1. Whether the plaintiff has mortgaged the suit premises to the defendant? OPP

2. Whether the plaintiff is entitled for the redemption of the suit premises as alleged? OPP.

3. Whether the defendant is the tenant of the plaintiff as alleged? OPD.

4. Whether the suit is not maintainable? OPD.

5. Whether the plaintiff is estopped to file this suit by his own act and conduct? OPD.

6. Whether the suit is not properly valued for the purpose of court fee and jurisdiction, if so, its correct valuation ? OP Parties.

7. Whether the plaintiff has no cause of action to file this suit? OPD.

8. Relief."

6. The learned trial Court, on the basis of pleadings, settled the aforesaid issues and besides issue No.6, being not pressed, decided all the issues in favour of the plaintiff and accordingly decreed the suit of the plaintiff. An appeal preferred before the learned Appellate Court was dismissed.

7. This second appeal was admitted on the following substantial question of law:

"1. Whether the Court below erred in law to treat alleged writing as a mortgage deed, is it not an inadmissible evidence for want of stamp and registration when admittedly the value of the subject matter is more than Rs.100/-."

8. Mr.Amit Singh Chandel, learned counsel representing the appellant-defendant vehemently argued that impugned judgments passed by both the Courts below are not sustainable in the eye of law as the same are not based upon the correct appreciation of evidence adduced on record by respective parties as well as proposition of law. Mr.Chandel further contended that bare perusal of the impugned judgment passed by both the Courts below itself suggests that evidence led on record by defendant was not dealt with in its right perspective by the Courts below. Rather, trial Court below failed to decide the specific issue i.e. whether the mortgage was created in favour of defendant. Mr.Chandel further argued that both the Courts below have erred in not appreciating that mortgage deed, if any, could not be taken into consideration while acceding the claim put forth by the plaintiff especially when plaintiff was unable to prove on record that mortgage deed was registered under Indian Registration Act, 1908 by paying requisite stamp duty. Learned counsel representing the appellant also contended that Courts below have fallen in grave error while treating alleged writing as a mortgage deed, especially when value of the subject matter was more than Rs.100/- and same was not registered after affixing requisite stamp value.

9. Mr. Chandel strenuously argued that entire evidence led on record by the plaintiff itself suggests that defendant was inducted as a tenant by the plaintiff in the suit premises qua which he was in receipt of regular rent and as such both the Courts below erred in concluding that the provisions of H.P. Urban Rent Restriction Act were not applicable. Similarly, Courts below have failed to appreciate that plaintiff, solely with a view to oust the defendant, set up a plea of mortgaging of property, if any, in favour of defendant, whereas, he was unable to prove on record by leading cogent and convincing evidence that mortgage deed was ever registered in terms of Registration Act, 1908. During arguments, Mr.Chandel also invited the attention of this Court towards the evidence led on record by the defendant before trial Court to demonstrate that Courts below miserably failed to read evidence produced on record in the shape of record of Municipal Corporation, Hamirpur (for short `M.C. Hamirpur'), wherein he was duly recorded as a tenant of the defendant qua the suit premises and as such learned Court below, while decreeing the suit of the plaintiff, has caused great injustice to the defendant. Similarly, attention of this Court was invited to Ex.PW-3/A, Rapat No.667, dated 27.11.1992, to demonstrate that undue weightage was given by the Courts below to the entry effected by the revenue authorities which suggests that oral mortgage was entered in revenue records by the Patwari that too at the back of defendant.

10. Mr.Chandel further contended that DW-2 Rajinder Singh, Clerk, M.C. Hamirpur, clearly stated that plaintiff have four tenants and appellant-defendant is one of the tenants and as such Courts below have miserably failed to appreciate that defendant could only be evicted by resorting to the provisions of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act. While concluding his arguments, Mr.Chandel forcefully contended that bare perusal of mortgage deed i.e. Ex.PW-3/A itself suggests that same is fictitious and was set up by plaintiff to defeat the provisions of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, which were applicable in the case of defendant, who was admittedly recorded as a tenant in the M.C. record and as such judgment and decree passed by both the Courts below deserves to be quashed and set aside being totally perverse.

11. To substantiate the aforesaid submissions, he placed reliance on the judgments of Hon'ble Apex Court in Tulsi and Others vs. Chandrika Prasad and Others, 2006(8) SCC 322, State of H.P. and Others vs. Shivalik Agro Poly Products and Others, (2004)8 SCC 556 and Jupudi Kesava Rao vs. Pulavarthi Venkata Subbarao and others, 1971(1) SCC 545.

12. Mr.T.S. Chauhan, learned Counsel appearing for the respondent-plaintiff, supported the judgments passed by both the Courts below and vehemently argued that no interference, whatsoever, is warranted in the present facts and circumstances of the case, especially in view of the fact that both the Courts below have meticulously dealt with each and every aspect of the matter. He also urged that scope of interference by this Court is very limited especially when two Courts have recorded concurrent findings on the facts as well as law. In this regard, to substantiate his aforesaid plea, he placed reliance upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264.

13. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record of the case.

14. Undisputed facts, as emerged from the record, are that the plaintiff, who was owner of the suit premises as depicted in site plan Ex.PW-2/A, filed a suit for redemption against the appellant-defendant stating therein that he mortgaged the shop as depicted in site plan Ex.PW-2/A and land to the extent of 1/9th share measuring 15-78 square meters as described above. He further contended that defendant is mortgagee of the suit premises, which was mortgaged with him on 27.7.1992 and a sum of Rs.5000/- was secured debt. Plaintiff claimed that he was ready and willing to pay the mortgage money to defendant, but the defendant was neither ready to receive the mortgage amount nor got the mortgage redeemed inspite of several requests made by him and as such he filed suit for redemption.

15. Defendant by way of written statement claimed that suit premises was never mortgaged, rather the same was let out to defendant by plaintiff at the rate of Rs.200/- per month, which was subsequently enhanced to Rs.325/- per month and agreement, if any, of mortgage was executed by the plaintiff to escape from the provisions of H.P. Urban Rent Restriction Act. Defendant also denied that a sum of Rs.5000/- was taken as security deposit by the plaintiff.

16. Record clearly suggests that both the Courts below have returned concurrent findings that plaintiff had mortgaged the suit premises to the defendant for a sum of Rs.5000/- in the year 1992 and as such suit of the plaintiff was decreed by holding him entitled for redemption of shop, description whereof has been given hereinabove, on the payment of Rs.5000/- to defendant. Learned trial Court also directed the defendant to vacate the suit premises and handover the possession of the same to the plaintiff.

17. During the proceedings of the case, this Court had an occasion to peruse the entire evidence led on record by respective parties, wherein admittedly plaintiff was able to prove on record that he had mortgaged the suit premises to the defendant for a sum of Rs.5000/- which he now proposed to redeem by paying him an amount of Rs.5000/-. Hence, this Court sees no reason to interfere with the concurrent findings of fact as returned by the Courts below especially when it stands duly proved on record that both the Courts below have dealt with each and every aspect of the matter meticulously.

18. This Court with a view to answer the substantial question, as referred above, critically analyzed the evidence led on record by the respective parties. Defendant in his cross-examination specifically admitted the claim of the plaintiff that mortgage deed was prepared, which was duly signed by him. Careful perusal of the cross-examination of DW-1 leaves no doubt in the mind of this Court that suit premises were mortgaged by the plaintiff in favour of the defendant and in this regard mortgage deed was prepared, which was duly signed by defendant. Interestingly, defendant himself admitted in his cross-examination that he was informed by Patwari with regard to mortgage of the suit property with him. Defendant has also admitted that he had signed the papers when the payment was made by him. He also admitted that no rent deed was prepared and he was unable to produce any receipt of rent. In view of his candid and categorical admission made in cross-examination, this Court probably need not to answer the substantial question of law because once defendant admits that mortgage deed was prepared and he had signed the same, substantial question has no relevance as far as decision qua controversy involved in the present case is concerned. Defendant, in his grounds of appeal as well as submissions having been made at the time of hearing, made an attempt to demonstrate that mortgage deed Ex. PW-3/A could not be termed as mortgage deed because same was not registered and no proper stamp duty was paid, when admittedly value of subject matter was more than Rs.100/-. This Court also perused Ex.PW-3/A i.e. mortgage deed, placed on record by the plaintiff to demonstrate that suit premises were mortgaged by him in favour of defendant for a sum of Rs.5000/-. Perusal of Ex.PW-3/A clearly suggests that on 27.7.1992, as claimed by the plaintiff in the plaint, plaintiff had mortgaged suit premises to the defendant, which has been duly registered in Rapat Roznamcha for the year 1991-92 and duly signed by Patwari concerned. Since defendant himself admitted that PW-1 informed him with regard to mortgage deed and he had signed the same, now at this stage defendant cannot be allowed to state that no mortgage deed was ever executed and same cannot be led in evidence since same was not registered.

19. In view of candid admission having been made on behalf of defendant himself that mortgage deed was prepared and he had appended his signature, this Court sees no reason to check the genuineness and correctness of substantial question referred hereinabove. For the sake of arguments, if it is presumed that Courts below, while placing reliance upon mortgage deed, fell in error ignoring the aspect that mortgage deed was not registered and properly valued, especially when the subject matter was for more than Rs.100/-, in that eventuality also claim of defendant bounds to fail in view of his own admission wherein he admitted that mortgage deed was executed and he had appended his signatures on the same. His further admission that Patwari had disclosed him regarding mortgage of the suit premises left no scope for this Court to interfere with the concurrent findings returned by the Courts below, wherein Courts below rightly concluded that in view of specific admission having been made on behalf of defendant witness, suit of the plaintiff deserves to be upheld.

20. At this stage, it may be observed that the judgments having been relied upon by the counsel representing the appellant, as referred above, have no application because in view of candid admission having been made on behalf of the plaintiff that mortgage deed was executed, it was not necessary for the plaintiff to prove the mortgage deed in accordance with the provisions of Indian Evidence Act. This Court is of the view that in view of the candid admission made by the defendant with regard to execution of mortgage deed, non-registration of mortgage deed after affixing proper stamp duty has no effect and bearing on the present suit filed by the plaintiff.

21. This Court is fully satisfied that both the courts below have very meticulously dealt with each and every aspect of the matter and there is no scope of interference, whatsoever, in the present matter, since both the Courts below have returned concurrent findings, which otherwise appear to be based upon proper appreciation of evidence, this Court has very limited jurisdiction/scope to interfere in the matter. In this regard, it would be apt to reproduce the relevant contents of judgment rendered by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma's case supra, wherein the Court has held as under:

> "16. Based on oral and documentary evidence, both the courts below have recorded concurrent findings of fact that the plaintiffs have established their right in A schedule property. In the light of the concurrent findings of fact, no substantial questions of law arose in the High Court and there was no substantial ground for reappreciation of evidence. While so, the High Court proceeded to observe that the first plaintiff has earmarked the A schedule property for road and that she could not have full-fledged right and on that premise proceeded to hold that declaration to the plaintiffs' right cannot be granted. In exercise of jurisdiction under Section 100 CPC, concurrent findings of fact cannot be upset by the High Court unless the findings so recorded are shown to be perverse. In our considered view, the High Court did not keep in view that the concurrent findings recorded by the courts below, are based on oral and documentary evidence and the judgment of the High Court cannot be sustained." (p.269)

22. In the facts and circumstances discussed above, this Court is of the view that findings returned by the trial Court below, which was further upheld by the first appellate Court, do not warrant any interference of this Court as findings given on the issues framed by the trial Court below as well as specifically taken up by this Court to reach the root of the controversy appears to be based on correct appreciation of oral as well as documentary evidence. Hence, present appeal fails and is dismissed, accordingly.

23. Interim order, if any, is vacated. All the miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

M/s.Bharat Healthcare Limited and Anr. ....Petitioners

Versus

Authorized Officer, Punjab National Bank & Others ....Respondents

CWP No.1629 of 2016
Judgment Reserved on: 08.09.2016
Date of decision: 22.09.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner had taken loans- loan accounts were declared NPA- notice was issued – proceedings were initiated under Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Asset and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (SARFAESI) Act- possession of the factory land, building, plants, machinery, raw material and finished stocks was taken – held, that the petitioner had not approached the appropriate authority after issuance of the notice- the jurisdiction of the Court is barred under Section 13(2) of SARFAESI Act- the aggrieved person has to approach Debt Recovery Tribunal for the redressal of his grievance – a complete machinery has been provided under the Act- writ Court has no jurisdiction when the matter is covered under SARFAESI Act- writ petition dismissed. (Para-11 to 26)

Cases referred:
M/s.Cecil Instant Power Company vs. Punjab National Bank and Others, ILR 2016 (II) HP 537 (D.B.)
M/s Madras Petrochem Ltd. and another vs. BIRF and others AIR 2016 SC 898
SPS Steels Rolling Mills Ltd. vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others, ILR 2015 (III) HP 1387 (D.B.)
Punjab National Bank vs. O.C. Krishnan and others (2001) 6 SCC 569
United Bank of India vs. Satyawati Tondon and others (2010) 8 SCC 110

For the Petitioners:	Kanwar Ashwani Kumar, Advocate with Mr.Malay Kaushal, Advocate.
For Respondents No.1 to 3.:	Mr.G.S. Rathore, Advocate.
For Respondent No.4:	M/s.Anup Rattan, Romesh Verma and Varun Chandel, Additional Advocate Generals.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, J.

By way of present writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner has invoked extra ordinary jurisdiction of this Court and has prayed for following main relief(s):-

> "i) That records of the case may kindly be called from the respondent bank and District Magistrate;
>
> ii) That writ in the nature of certiorari may kindly be issued quashing action of respondents in taking possession of the factory land, building, plant and machinery, raw materials, finished stocks of the petitioners;
>
> iii) That writ in the nature of mandamus may kindly be issued directing the respondents to restore possession of the factory land, building, plant and machinery, raw materials, finished stocks to the petitioners;
>
> iv) That appropriate writ, order or direction may kindly be issued in the facts and circumstances of the case for staying further proceeding or process by the respondents for sale of assets of the petitioners taken in possession by respondents;
>
> v) That writ, order or direction may kindly be issued to the respondents with direction to compensate the petitioners on account of loss suffered due to expiry/perishing of raw materials, ready stocks of medicines and wastage on account of medicines under process of manufacturing etc."

2. Briefly stated the facts of the case are that petitioner No.1, which is a Company incorporated on 10.11.2005, under the Companies Act, 1956 (Act No.1 of 1956) having CIN U 24230 HP 2005 PLC 29169, manufacturing medicines and other healthcare products at village Chabacha Khurd, Dharampur Subathu Road, Tehsil Kasauli, District Solan, within territorial jurisdiction of this Hon'ble Court.

3. Petitioner-Company was having loan accounts CC Hypothecation 87-13293, Term Loan IC-18, Term Loan IC-27 and Term Loan IC-36 with respondent No.3-Bank, Branch Office, Subathu, District Solan, operating cash-credit account since 28.6.2006. The aforesaid loan accounts were declared NPA on 31.3.2012. Accordingly, respondent No.1 issued notice dated 8.5.2012 under Securitization and Reconstruction of Financial Asset and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 (for short `SARFAESI Act') (Annexure P-1) against present petitioner.

4. It emerged from the record that pursuant to non-compliance of the aforesaid notice issued under SARFAESI Act', respondent-bank took into possession the factory land, building, plants, machinery, raw materials and finished stocks situated in the jurisdiction of this Court. Present petitioners, being aggrieved with the aforesaid action of taking over by the respondents, approached this Court by way of present petition seeking therein the reliefs, as have been reproduced hereinabove.

5. Before proceeding to decide this case, it may be noticed that initially this matter was listed before this Court on 23.6.2016, when learned counsel representing the petitioners was asked/called upon to justify maintainability of the writ petition. However, on his request, matter was adjourned to 30.6.2016. Similarly, on 30.6.2016, judgment passed by this Court in CWP No.618 of 2016, titled as M/s.Cecil Instant Power Company vs. Punjab National Bank and Others, decided on 23rd March, 2016, was brought to the notice of the counsel, wherein issue with regard to maintainability of petition qua the notice issued under `SARFAESI Act' stood decided by this Court.

6. On that day, attention of learned counsel representing the petitioners was also invited to the relief clause of the petition, wherein none of the order filed by the Authority, pursuant to issuance of show cause notice under `SARFAESI Act' was assailed, accordingly counsel made a prayer to amend the writ petition.

7. Petitioners moved an application, i.e. CMP No.5180 of 2016 under Order 6 Rule 17 of the Code of Civil Procedure, seeking amendment of the writ petition. But, interestingly petitioners proposed following amendments:

> "2. That in compliance to the directions/order passed by this Hon'ble Court, the applicants/petitioners are amending the present Civil Writ Petition in the Prayer clause No.(ii) to the following effects:-
>
> "(ii) That appropriate writ, order or direction may kindly be issued for wrong and illegal action of the respondents in taking possession of the factory, land, building, plant and machinery, raw materials, finished stocks of the petitioners"

8. When the matter came up for hearing on 8.9.2016 for admission before this Court, learned counsel was asked to justify the maintainability of the present petition in terms of judgment, as has been referred above. But, counsel representing the petitioner stated that he does not press the application for leave to amend since this petition has been filed under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution of India and this Court has ample powers to look into the grievance of the petitioners put forth in the present writ petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. His statement was taken on record and application was dismissed as not pressed.

9. In the aforesaid background, this Court proceeded to decide the matter at hand. Though, prima facie this Court is of the view that present writ petition is not maintainable at all, but otherwise also, perusal of averments contained in the writ petition as well as documents annexed therewith clearly suggests that respondent-bank had issued notice under Section 13(2) of the `SARFAESI Act' on 8.5.2012 (Annexure P-1), whereby due to default in payment of installments/ interest/principal debt, the accounts of the Company were classified as Non Performing Asset on 5.3.2012 in terms of guidelines issued by the Reserve Bank of India. Accordingly, bank expressed its inability to permit continuation of aforesaid facilities of term loan and same were recalled.

10. Similarly, vide aforesaid order, petitioners were informed that amount due to the bank as on 5.3.2012 was Rs.3,42,86,354/- with further interest and other expenses w.e.f. 1.3.2012 until full payment was made. By way of aforesaid notice, petitioners were duly informed that in terms of Section 13(13) of the `SARFAESI Act', they would not, after receipt of notice, transfer by way of sale, lease, or otherwise any of the secured assets without prior consent of the bank.

11. At this stage, it is not understood that when this notice (Annexure P-1) was issued on 8.5.2012, what prevented the present petitioners to approach appropriate forum in accordance with law immediately after issuance of notice. Hence, at this belated stage, this Court sees no reason, whatsoever, to look into the subsequent events, which have ultimately arisen from order dated 8.5.2012. Apart from above, this Court, after perusing the relief clause, is at lost to fathom what kind of relief can be extended to the petitioners in the present facts and circumstances of the case. Bare perusal of the relief clause nowhere suggests that till date Authority envisaged under `SARFAESI Act' has ever passed any order determining the interest/rights of the present petitioners. Petitioners by way of present petition have sought quashing of action of respondent-bank in taking possession of factory land, building, plants, machinery, raw materials and finished stocks of petitioners. But, interestingly, petitioner-Company has nowhere placed on record any document pursuant to which respondent-bank has allegedly taken into possession the factory land, building, plants, machinery, raw materials and finished stocks as mentioned above.

12. Similarly, this Court is unable to understand which orders are required to be stayed, as have been prayed in clause-(iv) of the prayer clause, because admittedly there is nothing before this Court suggestive of the fact that respondent-bank, pursuant to issuance of notice dated 8.5.2012 (Annexure P-1), ever initiated any action which ultimately resulted in confiscation of the property as described hereinabove.

13. Leaving everything aside, another question, which requires consideration of this Court, is whether action, if any, initiated under `SARFAESI Act' can be looked into by this Court under its writ jurisdiction (under Article 226/227 of the Constitution of India).

14. In view of summary as narrated above, it clearly stands established on record that the petitioners have availed term loan and on account of default of its repayment, respondent-bank initiated proceedings under Section 13(2) of the `SARFAESI Act'. Since, petitioners failed to make payment in terms of the aforesaid notice, their assets were taken over by the respondents, though nothing has been placed on record by the petitioners suggestive of the fact that pursuant to issuance of notice under Section 13(3) of the `SARFAESI Act', steps, if any, were ever taken by the respondent-bank, but after seeing the averments contained in the petition, it can be presumed that respondent-bank, being not satisfied with the action, if any, taken by the petitioners issued notice under Section 13(3) of the said Act and proceeded to take over the properties. At this stage, it would be relevant to take note of certain provisions of `SARFAESI Act', which read as under:-

> "13. Enforcement of security interest (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 6 9 or section 69A of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 (4 of 1882), any security interest created in favour of any secured creditor may be enforced, without the intervention of court or tribunal, by such creditor in accordance with the provisions of this Act.
>
> (2) Where any borrower, who is under a liability to a secured creditor under a security agreement, makes any default in repayment of secured debt or any instalment thereof, and his account in respect of such debt is classified by the secured creditor as non-performing asset, then, the secured creditor may require the borrower by notice in writing to discharge in full his liabilities to the secured creditor within sixty days from the date of notice failing which the secured creditor shall be entitled to exercise all or any of the rights under sub-section (4).*
>
> (3) The notice referred to in sub-section (2) shall give details of the amount payable by the borrower and the secured assets intended to be enforced by the secured creditor in the event of non-payment of secured debts by the borrower.*
>
> (3A) If, on receipt of the notice under sub-section (2), the borrower makes any representation or raises any objection, the secured creditor shall consider such representation or objection and if the secured creditor comes to the conclusion that such representation or objection is not acceptable or tenable, he shall communicate within one week of receipt of such representation or objection the reasons for non-acceptance of the representation or objection to the borrower:

Provided that the reasons so communicated or the likely action of the secured creditor at the stage of communication of reasons shall not confer any right upon the borrower to prefer an application to the Debts Recovery Tribunal under section 17 or the Court of District Judge under section 17A.

(4) In case the borrower fails to discharge his liability in full within the period specified in sub-section (2), the secured creditor may take recourse to one or more of the following measures to recover his secured debt, namely:--

(a) take possession of the secured assets of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realising the secured asset;

(b) take over the management of the business of the borrower including the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale for realising the secured asset:

Provided that the right to transfer by way of lease, assignment or sale shall be exercised only where the substantial part of the business of the borrower is held as security for the debt:

Provided further that where the management of whole of the business or part of the business is severable, the secured creditor shall take over the management of such business of the borrower which is relatable to the security for the debt.

(c) appoint any person (hereafter referred to as the manager), to manage the secured assets the possession of which has been taken over by the secured creditor;

(d) require at any time by notice in writing, any person who has acquired any of the secured assets from the borrower and from whom any money is due or may become due to the borrower, to pay the secured creditor, so much of the money as is sufficient to pay the secured debt.

17. Right to appeal (1) Any person (including borrower), aggrieved by any of the measures referred to in sub-section (4) of section 13 taken by the secured creditor or his authorised officer under this Chapter, may make an application alongwith such fee, as may be prescribed to the Debts Recovery Tribunal having jurisdiction in the matter within forty-five days from the date on which such measure had been taken:

Provided that different fees may be prescribed for making the application by the borrower and the person other than the borrower.

Explanation. - For the removal of doubts it is hereby declared that the communication of the reasons to the borrower by the secured creditor for not having accepted his representation or objection or the likely action of the secured creditor at the stage of communication of reasons to the borrower shall not entitle the person (including borrower) to make an application to the Debts Recovery Tribunal under sub-section (1) of section 17....."

15. Bare perusal of Section 17 of the `SARFAESI Act', as referred above, under which there is a provision of appeal, clearly provides that any person, aggrieved by any of the measures referred to in sub-section (4) of Section 13 taken by the secured creditor or his authorized officer can approach Debts Recovery Tribunal having jurisdiction in the matter within forty-five days from the date on which such measures have been taken.

16. In the present case when this Court had an occasion to hear the matter on several times, it was unable to lay its hand to any document suggestive of the fact that present petitioners, before approaching this Court under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution of India, had ever made an attempt to file an appeal in terms of Section 17 of the `SARFAESI Act'.

17. At the cost of repetition, it may again be stated here that counsel representing the petitioners, while answering the question of maintainability, only reiterated that this Court enjoys extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226/227 of the Constitution of India and it has all powers to look into the proceedings, even if, same are initiated under `SARFAESI Act'. But, this Court really finds it difficult to accept the aforesaid contention put forth on behalf of the petitioners, in view of the specific provisions laid down in the Act, as have been referred above as well as various pronouncements made by the Hon'ble Apex Court with regard to jurisdiction of the Writ Court while dealing with the matter pertaining to the `SARFAESI Act'.

18. Close scrutiny of `SARFAESI Act' clearly suggests that it provides complete mechanism to deal with the recovery of debts due to banks and financial institutions.

19. Apart from the above, we may also notice that not only does the `SARFAESI Act', provides a complete mechanism for the aggrieved party, but the same even has over-riding effect over many other laws as held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in its recent decision in M/s Madras Petrochem Ltd. and another vs. BIRF and others AIR 2016 SC 898.

20. It cannot also be disputed that it was only on account of the poor working of the Recovery of Debts due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 that the `SARFAESI Act' was brought into force in the year 2002 and this has been duly noticed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in M/s Madras Petrochem Ltd. (supra) wherein it was held as under:

> ".18. Regard being had to the poor working of the Recovery of Debts Due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993, the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 was brought into force in the year 2002. The statement of objects and reasons for this Act reads as under:-
>
> "STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS OF THE SECURITISATION AND RECONSTRUCTION OF FINANCIAL ASSETS AND ENFORCEMENT OF SECURITY INTEREST ACT, 2002
>
> The financial sector has been one of the key drivers in India's efforts to achieve success in rapidly developing its economy. While the banking industry in India is progressively complying with the international prudential norms and accounting practices, there are certain areas in which the banking and financial sector do not have a level playing field as compared to other participants in the financial markets in the world. There is no legal provision for facilitating securitisation of financial assets of banks and financial institutions. Further, unlike international banks, the banks and financial institutions in India do not have power to take possession of securities and sell them. Our existing legal framework relating to commercial transactions has not kept pace with the changing commercial practices and financial sector reforms. This has resulted in slow pace of recovery of defaulting loans and mounting levels of nonperforming assets of banks and financial institutions. Narasimham Committee I and II and Andhyarujina Committee constituted by the Central Government for the purpose of examining banking sector reforms have considered the need for changes in the legal system in respect of these areas. These Committees, inter alia, have suggested enactment of a new legislation for securitisation and empowering banks and financial institutions to take possession of the securities and to sell them without the intervention of the court. Acting on these suggestions, the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Ordinance, 2002 was promulgated on the 21st June, 2002 to regulate securitisition and reconstruction of financial assets and enforcement of security interest and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto. The provisions of the Ordinance would enable banks and financial institutions to realise long-term assets, manage problem of liquidity, asset liability mismatches and improve recovery by exercising powers to take possession of securities, sell them and reduce nonperforming assets by adopting measures for recovery or reconstruction.

2. It is now proposed to replace the Ordinance by a Bill, which, inter alia, contains provisions of the Ordinance to provide for—

(a) registration and regulation of securitisation companies or reconstruction companies by the Reserve Bank of India;

(b) facilitating securitisation of financial assets of banks and financial institutions with or without the benefit of underlying securities;

(c) facilitating easy transferability of financial assets by the securitisation company or reconstruction company to acquire financial assets of banks and financial institutions by issue of debentures or bonds or any other security in the nature of a debenture;

(d) empowering securitisation companies' or reconstruction companies to raise funds by issue of security receipts to qualified institutional buyers;

(e) facilitating reconstruction of financial assets acquired by exercising powers of enforcement of securities or change of management or other powers which are proposed to be conferred on the banks and financial institutions;

(f) declaration of any securitisation company or reconstruction company registered with the Reserve Bank of India as a public financial institution for the purpose of section 4A of the Companies Act, 1956;

(g) defining 'security interest' as any type of security including mortgage and change on immovable properties given for due repayment of any financial assistance given by any bank or financial institution;

(h) empowering banks and financial institutions to take possession of securities given for financial assistance and sell or lease the same or take over management in the event of default, i.e. classification of the borrower's account as non-performing asset in accordance with the directions given or under guidelines issued by the Reserve Bank of India from time to time;

(i) the rights of a secured creditor to be exercised by one or more of its officers authorised in this behalf in accordance with the rules made by the Central Government;

(j) an appeal against the action of any bank or financial institution to the concerned Debts Recovery Tribunal and a second appeal to the Appellate Debts Recovery Tribunal;

(k) setting up or causing to be set up a Central Registry by the Central Government for the purpose of registration of transactions relating to securitisation, asset reconstruction and creation of security interest;

(l) application of the proposed legislation initially to banks and financial institutions and empowerment of the Central Government to extend the application of the proposed legislation to non-banking financial companies and other entities;

(m) non-application of the proposed legislation to security interests in agricultural lands, loans not exceeding rupees one lakh and cases where eighty per cent, of the loans are repaid by the borrower.

3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects."

19. This Act was brought into force as a result of two committee reports which opined that recovery of debts due to banks and financial institutions was not moving as speedily as expected, and that, therefore, certain other measures would have to be put in place in order that these banks and financial institutions would better be able to recover debts owing to them.

20. In a challenge made to the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 in Mardia Chemicals Ltd. Etc. v. Union of India (UOI) and Ors. Etc. Etc., (2004) 4 SCC 311, this Court went into the circumstances under which the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002 was enacted, as follows:-

> "Some facts which need to be taken note of are that the banks and the financial institutions have heavily financed the petitioners and other industries. It is also a fact that a large sum of amount remains unrecovered. Normal process of recovery of debts through courts is lengthy and time taken is not suited for recovery of such dues. For financial assistance rendered to the industries by the financial institutions, financial liquidity is essential failing which there is a blockade of large sums of amounts creating circumstances which retard the economic progress followed by a large number of other consequential ill effects. Considering all these circumstances, the Recovery of Debts Due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act was enacted in 1993 but as the figures show it also did not bring the desired results. Though it is submitted on behalf of the petitioners that it so happened due to inaction on the part of the Governments in creating Debts Recovery Tribunals and appointing presiding officers, for a long time. Even after leaving that margin, it is to be noted that things in the spheres concerned are desired to move faster. In the present-day global economy it may be difficult to stick to old and conventional methods of financing and recovery of dues. Hence, in our view, it cannot be said that a step taken towards securitisation of the debts and to evolve means for faster recovery of NPAs was not called for or that it was superimposition of undesired law since one legislation was already operating in the field, namely, the Recovery of Debts Due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act. It is also to be noted that the idea has not erupted abruptly to resort to such a legislation. It appears that a thought was given to the problems and the Narasimham Committee was constituted which recommended for such a legislation keeping in view the changing times and economic situation whereafter yet another Expert Committee was constituted, then alone the impugned law was enacted. Liquidity of finances and flow of money is essential for any healthy and growth-oriented economy. But certainly, what must be kept in mind is that the law should not be in derogation of the rights which are guaranteed to the people under the Constitution. The procedure should also be fair, reasonable and valid, though it may vary looking to the different situations needed to be tackled and object sought to be achieved.
>
> In its Second Report, the Narasimham Committee observed that NPAs in 1992 were uncomfortably high for most of the public sector banks. In Chapter VIII of the Second Report the Narasimham Committee deals about legal and legislative framework and observed:
>
> > "8.1. A legal framework that clearly defines the rights and liabilities of parties to contracts and provides for speedy resolution of disputes is a sine qua non for efficient trade and commerce, especially for financial intermediation. In our system, the evolution of the legal framework has not kept pace with changing commercial practice and with the financial sector reforms. As a result, the economy has not been able to reap the full benefits of the reforms process. As an illustration, we could look at the scheme of mortgage in the Transfer of Property Act, which is critical to the work of financial intermediaries...."

One of the measures recommended in the circumstances was to vest the financial institutions through special statutes, the power of sale of the assets without intervention of the court and for reconstruction of assets. It is thus to be seen that the question of non-recoverable or delayed recovery of debts advanced by the banks or financial institutions has been attracting attention and the matter was considered in depth by the Committees specially constituted consisting of the experts in the field. In the prevalent situation where the amounts of dues are huge and hope of early recovery is less, it cannot be said that a more effective legislation for the purpose was uncalled for or that it could not be resorted to. It is again to be noted that after the Report of the Narasimham Committee, yet another Committee was constituted headed by Mr. Andhyarujina for bringing about the needed steps within the legal framework. We are therefore, unable to find much substance in the submission made on behalf of the petitioners that while the Recovery of Debts Due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act was in operation it was uncalled for to have yet another legislation for the recovery of the mounting dues. Considering the totality of circumstances and the financial climate world over, if it was thought as a matter of policy to have yet speedier legal method to recover the dues, such a policy decision cannot be faulted with nor is it a matter to be gone into by the courts to test the legitimacy of such a measure relating to financial policy.

We may now consider the main enforcing provision which is pivotal to the whole controversy, namely, Section 13 in Chapter III of the Act. It provides that a secured creditor may enforce any security interest without intervention of the court or tribunal irrespective of Section 69 or Section 69-A of the Transfer of Property Act where according to sub-section (2) of Section 13, the borrower is a defaulter in repayment of the secured debt or any instalment of repayment and further the debt standing against him has been classified as a non-performing asset by the secured creditor. Sub- section (2) of Section 13 further provides that before taking any steps in the direction of realizing the dues, the secured creditor must serve a notice in writing to the borrower requiring him to discharge the liabilities within a period of 60 days failing which the secured creditor would be entitled to take any of the measures as provided in sub-section (4) of Section 13. It may also be noted that as per sub-section (3) of Section 13 a notice given to the borrower must contain the details of the amounts payable and the secured assets against which the secured creditor proposes to proceed in the event of non-compliance with the notice given under sub-section (2) of Section 13." [at para 34,36 and 38]

21. The "pivotal" provision namely Section 13 of the said Act makes it clear that banks and financial institutions would now no longer have to wait for a Tribunal judgment under the Recovery of Debts Due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 to be able to recover debts owing to them. They could, by following the procedure laid down in Section 13, take direct action against the debtors by taking possession of secured assets and selling them; they could also take over the management of the business of the borrower. They could also appoint any person to manage the secured assets possession of which has been taken over by them, and could require, at any time by notice in writing to any person who has acquired any of the secured assets from the borrower and from whom any money is due or may become due from the borrower, to pay the secured creditor so much of the money as is sufficient to pay the secured debt.

> 22. In order to further the objects of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002, the Act contains a non obstante clause in Section 35 and also contains various Acts in Section 37 which are to be in addition to and not in derogation of the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Security Interest Act, 2002. Three of these Acts, namely, the Companies Act, 1956, the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 and the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992, relate to securities generally, whereas the Recovery Of Debts Due To Banks And Financial Institutions Act, 1993 relates to recovery of debts due to banks and financial institutions. Significantly, under Section 41 of this Act, three Acts are, by the schedule to this Act, amended. We are concerned with the third of such Acts, namely, the Sick Industrial Companies (Special Provisions) Act, 1985, in Section 15(1) of which two provisos have been added. It is the correct interpretation of the second of these provisos on which the fate of these appeals ultimately hangs.".

21. At this stage, it would be profitable to refer to the judgment passed by the Division Bench of this Court in CWP No. 2783 of 2015-I, titled SPS Steels Rolling Mills Ltd. vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others, decided on 25th June, 2015, wherein it was held as under:

> "5. It appears that action has been drawn against the writ petitioner in terms of Section 13 (4) of The Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcements of Security Interest Act, 2002 (for short "SARFAESI Act"). SARFAESI Act is a self-contained mechanism and the aggrieved party has to invoke the remedies provided by the SARFAESI Act. The writ petitioner has remedy of appeal as per the mandate of Section 17 of the SARFAESI Act. It is apt to reproduce relevant portion of Section 17 of the SARFAESI Act herein:
>
> > "17. Right to appeal. - (1) Any person (including borrower), aggrieved by any of the measures referred to in sub-section (4) of Section 13 taken by the secured creditor or his authorised officer under this Chapter, may make an application along with such fee, as may be prescribed to the Debts Recovery Tribunal having jurisdiction in the matter within forty-five days from the date on which such measures had been taken:
> >
> > Provided that different fees may be prescribed for making the application by the borrower and the person other than the borrower.
> >
> > Explanation. - For the removal of doubts it is hereby declared that the communication of the reasons to the borrower by the secured creditor for not having accepted his representation or objection or the likely action of the secured creditor at the stage of communication of reasons to the borrower shall not entitle the person (including borrower) to make an application to the Debts Recovery Tribunal under sub-section (1) of section 17....."
>
> 6. The Apex Court in a series of judgments in the cases titled as United Bank of India versus Satyawati Tondon and others, reported in (2010) 8 Supreme Court Cases 110; Union Bank of India and another versus Panchanan Subudhi,reported in (2010) 15 Supreme Court Cases 552; Indian Bank versus M/s. Blue Jaggers Estate Ltd. & Ors., reported in 2010 AIR SCW 4751; Kanaiyalal Lalchand Sachdev and others versus State of Maharashtra and others, reported in (2011) 2 Supreme Court Cases 782; Standard Chartered Bank versus V. Noble Kumar and others with Senior Manager, State Bank of India and another versus R. Shiva Subramaniyan and another, reported in (2013) 9 Supreme Court Cases 620; J. Rajiv Subramaniyan and another versus Pandiyas and others, reported in (2014) 5 Supreme Court Cases 651; and Keshavlal Khemchand and sons Private Limited and others versus Union of India and others, reported in (2015) 4 Supreme Court Cases 770, has discussed the issue and held that the writ petition is not maintainable.

7. This Court in CWP No. 4779 of 2014,titled as M/s Indian Technomac Company Ltd. versus State of H.P. & ors.,decided on 04.08.2014, held that when an alternate remedy is available, writ petition is not maintainable. The said judgment of this Court has been upheld by the Apex Court on 22.08.2014 in SLP (C) No. 22626-22641 of 2014.

8. The Apex Court in a latest judgment in the case titled as Union of India and others versus Major General Shri Kant Sharma and another, reported in 2015 AIR SCW 2497, held that when an alternate efficacious remedy is available to the writ petitioner, he should not be allowed to give a slip to law.

9. The Apex Court in the case titled as Sadashiv Prasad Singh versus Harender Singh and others, reported in (2015) 5 Supreme Court Cases 574, held that the writ petition is not maintainable when a remedy of appeal is available to the writ petitioner. It is apt to reproduce para 23.3 of the judgment herein:

> "23.3. Thirdly, a remedy of appeal was available to Harender Singh in respect of the order of the Recovery Officer assailed by him before the High Court under Section 30, which is being extracted herein to assail the order dated 5-5-2008:
>
> > " 30. Appeal against the order of Recovery Officer. - (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in Section 29, any person aggrieved by an order of the Recovery Officer made under this Act may, within thirty days from the date on which a copy of the order is issued to him, prefer an appeal to the Tribunal.
> >
> > (2) On receipt on an appeal under sub-section (1), the Tribunal may, after giving an opportunity to the appellant to be heard, and after making such inquiry as it deems fit, confirm, modify or set aside the order made by the Recovery Officer in exercise of his powers under Sections 25 to 28 (both inclusive)."
> >
> > The High Court ought not to have interfered with in the matter agitated by Harender Singh in exercise of its writ jurisdiction. In fact, the learned Single Judge rightfully dismissed the writ petition filed by Harender Singh."

10. Learned counsel for the writ petitioner has placed reliance on the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in a case titled as KSL and Industries Limited versus Arihant Threads Limited and others, reported in (2015) 1 Supreme Court Cases 166, is not applicable in the facts and circumstances of this case.

11. Having said so, the writ petition is not maintainable."

22. In the case of Punjab National Bank vs. *O.C. Krishnan and others (2001) 6 SCC 569, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that where there is an alternative remedy available, judicial prudence demands that the Court refrains from exercising its jurisdiction under the constitutional scheme. This would be evident from the observations contained in paras 5 and 6 of the judgment which read thus:

> "5.In our opinion, the order which was passed by the Tribunal directing sale of mortgaged property was appealable under Section 20 of the Recovery of Debts Due to Banks and Financial Institutions Act, 1993 (for short "the Act"). The High Court ought not to have exercised its jurisdiction under Article 227 in view of the provision for alternative remedy contained in the Act. We Jo not propose to go into the correctness of the decision of the High Court an I whether the order passed by the Tribunal was correct or not has to be decided before an appropriate forum.

6. The Act has been enacted with a view to provide a special procedure for recovery of debts due to the banks and the financial institutions. There is hierarchy of appeal provided in the Act, namely, filing of an appeal under Section 20 and this last track procedure cannot be allowed to be derailed either b> taking recourse to proceedings under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution or by filing a civil suit, which is expressly barred. Even though a provision court under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution, nevertheless when there is an alternative remedy available judicial prudence demands that the court refrains from exercising its jurisdiction under the said constitutional provisions. This was a case where the High Court should not have entertained the petition under Article 227 of the Constitution and should have directed the respondent to take recourse to the appeal mechanism provided by the Act."

23. In United Bank of India vs. Satyawati Tondon and others (2010) 8 SCC 110, after referring to various precedents on the subject, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that Section 13 of the `SARFAESI Act' contains detailed mechanism for enforcement of security interest as would be evident from the following observations:

"12. Section 13 of the SARFAESI Act contains detailed mechanism for enforcement of security interest. Sub-section (1) thereof lays down that notwithstanding anything contained in Sections 69 or 69-A of the Transfer of Property Act, any security interest created in favour of any secured creditor may be enforced, without the intervention of the court or tribunal, by such creditor in accordance with the provisions of this Act. Sub-section (2) of Section 13 enumerates first of many steps needed to be taken by the secured creditor for enforcement of security interest. This sub-section provides that if a borrower, who is under a liability to a secured creditor, makes any default in repayment of secured debt and his account in respect of such debt is classified as non- performing asset, then the secured creditor may require the borrower by notice in writing to discharge his liabilities within sixty days from the date of the notice with an indication that if he fails to do so, the secured creditor shall be entitled to exercise all or any of its rights in terms of Section 13(4).

13. Sub-section (3) of Section 13 lays down that notice issued under Section 13(2) shall contain details of the amount payable by the borrower as also the details of the secured assets intended to be enforced by the bank or financial institution. Sub-section (3-A) of Section 13 lays down that the borrower may make a representation in response to the notice issued under Section 13(2) and challenge the classification of his account as non-performing asset as also the quantum of amount specified in the notice. If the bank or financial institution comes to the conclusion that the representation/objection of the borrower is not acceptable, then reasons for non- acceptance are required to be communicated within one week.

14. Sub-section (4) of Section 13 specifies various modes which can be adopted by the secured creditor for recovery of secured debt. The secured creditor can take possession of the secured assets of the borrower and transfer the same by way of lease, assignment or sale for realising the secured assets. This is subject to the condition that the right to transfer by way of lease, etc. shall be exercised only where substantial part of the business of the borrower is held as secured debt. If the management of whole or part of the business is severable, then the secured creditor can take over management only of such business of the borrower which is relatable to security. The secured creditor can appoint any person to manage the secured asset, the possession of which has been taken over. The secured creditor can also, by notice in writing, call upon a person who has acquired any of the secured assets from the borrower to pay the money, which may be sufficient to discharge the liability of the borrower.

15. Sub-section (7) of Section 13 lays down that where any action has been taken against a borrower under sub-section (4), all costs, charges and expenses properly incurred by the secured creditor or any expenses incidental thereto can be recovered from the borrower. The money which is received by the secured creditor is required to be held by him in trust and applied, in the first instance, for such costs, charges and expenses and then in discharge of dues of the secured creditor. Residue of the money is payable to the person entitled thereto according to his rights and interest. Sub-section (8) of Section 13 imposes a restriction on the sale or transfer of the secured asset if the amount due to the secured creditor together with costs, charges and expenses incurred by him are tendered at any time before the time fixed for such sale or transfer.

16. Sub-section (9) of Section 13 deals with the situation in which more than one secured creditor has stakes in the secured assets and lays down that in the case of financing a financial asset by more than one secured creditor or joint financing of a financial asset by secured creditors, no individual secured creditor shall be entitled to exercise any or all of the rights under sub-section (4) unless all of them agree for such a course.

17. There are five unnumbered provisos to Section 13(9) which deal with pari passu charge of the workers of a company in liquidation. The first of these provisos lays down that in the case of a company in liquidation, the amount realised from the sale of secured assets shall be distributed in accordance with the provisions of Section 529-A of the Companies Act, 1956. The second proviso deals with the case of a company being wound up on or after the commencement of this Act. If the secured creditor of such company opts to realise its security instead of relinquishing the same and proving its debt under Section 529(1) of the Companies Act, then it can retain sale proceeds after depositing the workmen's dues with the liquidator in accordance with Section 529-A.

18. The third proviso requires the liquidator to inform the secured creditor about the dues payable to the workmen in terms of Section 529-A. If the amount payable to the workmen is not certain, then the liquidator has to intimate the estimated amount to the secured creditor. The fourth proviso lays down that in case the secured creditor deposits the estimated amount of the workmen's dues, then such creditor shall be liable to pay the balance of the workmen's dues or entitled to receive the excess amount, if any, deposited with the liquidator. In terms of the fifth proviso, the secured creditor is required to give an undertaking to the liquidator to pay the balance of the workmen's dues, if any.

19. Sub-section (10) of Section 13 lays down that where dues of the secured creditor are not fully satisfied by the sale proceeds of the secured assets, the secured creditor may file an application before the Tribunal under Section 17 for recovery of balance amount from the borrower. Sub-section (11) states that without prejudice to the rights conferred on the secured creditor under or by this section, it shall be entitled to proceed against the guarantors or sell the pledged assets without resorting to the measures specified in clauses (a) to (d) of sub-section (4) in relation to the secured assets.

20. Sub-section (12) of Section 13 lays down that rights available to the secured creditor under the Act may be exercised by one or more of its officers authorised in this behalf. Sub-section (13) lays down that after receipt of notice under sub-section (2), the borrower shall not transfer by way of sale, lease or otherwise (other than in the ordinary course of his business) any of his secured assets referred to in the notice without prior written consent of the secured creditor.

21. In terms of Section 14, the secured creditor can file an application before the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate, within whose jurisdiction the secured asset or other documents relating thereto are found for taking possession thereof. If any such request is made, the Chief Metropolitan Magistrate or the District Magistrate, as the case may be, is obliged to take possession of such asset or document and forward the same to the secured creditor.

22. Section 17 speaks of the remedies available to any person including borrower who may have grievance against the action taken by the secured creditor under sub-section (4) of Section 13. Such an aggrieved person can make an application to the Tribunal within 45 days from the date on which action is taken under that sub-section. By way of abundant caution, an Explanation has been added to Section 17(1) and it has been clarified that the communication of reasons to the borrower in terms of Section 13(3-A) shall not constitute a ground for filing application under Section 17(1).

23. Sub-section (2) of Section 17 casts a duty on the Tribunal to consider whether the measures taken by the secured creditor for enforcement of security interest are in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder. If the Tribunal, after examining the facts and circumstances of the case and evidence produced by the parties, comes to the conclusion that the measures taken by the secured creditor are not in consonance with sub-section (4) of Section 13, then it can direct the secured creditor to restore management of the business or possession of the secured assets to the borrower. On the other hand, if the Tribunal finds that the recourse taken by the secured creditor under sub-section (4) of Section 13 is in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the Rules made thereunder, then, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the secured creditor can take recourse to one or more of the measures specified in Section 13(4) for recovery of its secured debt.

24. Sub-section (5) of Section 17 prescribes the time-limit of sixty days within which an application made under Section 17 is required to be disposed of. The proviso to this sub-section envisages extension of time, but the outer limit for adjudication of an application is four months. If the Tribunal fails to decide the application within a maximum period of four months, then either party can move the Appellate Tribunal for issue of a direction to the Tribunal to dispose of the application expeditiously.

25. Section 18 provides for an appeal to the Appellate Tribunal.

26. Section 34 lays down that no Civil Court shall have jurisdiction to entertain any suit or proceeding in respect of any matter which a Tribunal or Appellate Tribunal is empowered to determine. It further lays down that no injunction shall be granted by any Court or other authority in respect of any action taken or to be taken under the SARFAESI Act or the DRT Act. Section 35 of the SARFAESI Act is substantially similar to Section 34(1) of the DRT Act. It declares that the provisions of this Act shall have effect, notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any other law for the time being in force or any instrument having effect by virtue of any such law."

24. The Hon'ble Apex Court, while rendering aforesaid judgment, deprecated the action of High Courts, while dealing with the matters squarely covered under SARFFAESI Act and DRT Act. It shall be apt to reproduce the following observations as contained in paragraph 43*:*

"43. Unfortunately, the High Court overlooked the settled law that the High Court will ordinarily not entertain a petition under Article 226 of the Constitution if an effective remedy is available to the aggrieved person and that this rule applies with greater rigour in matters involving recovery of taxes, cess, fees, other types of public money and the dues of banks and other financial institutions. In our view, while dealing with the petitions involving challenge to the action taken for recovery > of the public dues, etc., the High Court must keep in mind that the legislations enacted by Parliament and State Legislatures for recovery of such dues are code unto themselves inasmuch as they not only contain comprehensive procedure for recovery of the dues but also envisage constitution of quasi judicial bodies for redressal of the grievance of any aggrieved person. Therefore, in all such cases, High Court must insist that before availing remedy under Article 226 of the Constitution, a person must exhaust the remedies available under the relevant statute."

It clearly emerges from the law laid down in United Bank of India's case supra that the Hon'ble Supreme Court has expressed its displeasure with regard to entertaining of petition(s) by High Courts under `SARFFAESI Act' despite there being availability of statutory remedies under the DRT and the `SARFAESI Act' and passing of orders have serious impact on the rights of the banks and other financial institutions to recover their dues as would be evident from the following observations:

> "55. It is a matter of serious concern that despite repeated pronouncement of this Court, the High Courts continue to ignore the availability of statutory remedies under the DRT Act and SARFAESI Act and exercise jurisdiction under Article 226 for passing orders which have serious adverse impact on the right of banks and other financial institutions to recover their dues. We hope and trust that in future the High Courts will exercise their discretion in such matters with greater caution, care and circumspection."

25. Careful perusal of the aforesaid enunciation of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court from time to time clearly suggests that the writ court has no jurisdiction to deal with the matters which are squarely covered under `SARFAESI Act'. The Hon'ble Apex Court, while taking serious note of exercising of jurisdiction by High Courts under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution of India, has repeatedly held that when an effective remedy is available to the aggrieved person, Courts should refrain in entertaining such petitions. Hon'ble Apex Court has also held that in exercise of powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, High Courts have serious impact on the rights of banks and other financial institutions to recover their dues and as such directed that they must exercise their discretion in such matter with greater caution, care and circumspection.

26. In view of the above detailed discussion as well as law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court, this Court is of the view that present petition is not maintainable and the same is accordingly dismissed. However, the petitioners are at liberty to approach the appropriate forum under `SARFAESI Act' for redressal of their grievances.

27. Pending applications, if any, are disposed of. Interim direction, if any, stands vacated.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Shambhu Ram .....Appellant

Versus

Lakhu and others .....Respondents

RSA No. 494/2006
Decided on : October 25, 2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that he is a co-sharer in the suit land – he had improved the suit land by spending considerable amount- defendants threatened to construct a road through the suit land – hence, the suit was filed – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that it was duly proved that suit land was allotted to the plaintiff and was made cultivable by the plaintiff and his brothers- plaintiff is recorded to be the owner in possession of the suit land- no material was brought on record to controvert the revenue entries- no plea was taken that defendants were entitled to use the passage in exercise of easementary and customary rights – the defendants had failed to prove the existence of passage over the suit land- the Appellate Court had wrongly allowed the appeal- appeal dismissed. (Para- 10 to 26)

Cases referred:
Balley v. Rama Shanker Lal, AIR 1975 Allahabad 461
M.A.M. Abdullah v. K.A. Qadus, AIR 1976 Jammu and Kashmir 23

For the appellant : Mr. Raman Jamalta, Advocate.
For the respondents : Mr. Virender Singh, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, Judge (Oral):

Instant Regular Second Appeal has been filed against judgment and decree dated 24.8.2006, passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Kangra at Dharamshala, HP in Civil Appeal No. 21-P/04/02, reversing judgment and decree dated 18.1.2002 passed by Sub Judge (II), Palampur in Civil Suit No. 252/1997, whereby suit for permanent prohibitory injunction filed by the present appellant-plaintiff (herein after referred to as 'plaintiff') was decreed.

2. Briefly stated, facts as emerge from the record are that the plaintiff filed a suit for grant of decree of permanent prohibitory injunction under Sections 36 to 39 of the Specific Relief Act, restraining the respondents-defendants (herein after referred to as 'defendants') from taking forcible possession, digging any portion of the land, cutting trees, uprooting the boundary forcibly, or constructing any passage/road on the land, comprising Khata No. 216, Khatauni No. 449, Khasra Nos. 378 and 1295/381 (Kita 2) land measuring 0-25-40 Hects vide Jamabandi for the year 1991-92, situated in Mohal Banuri Khas, Mouja Banuri, Tehsil Palampur, District Kangra, HP, or interfering in the land in any manner, whatsoever. It is further averred in the plaint that plaintiff is cosharer in the suit land and land was allotted to him under the Scheme of allotment to the landless persons by the Government of HP. Plaintiff and his brothers made the suit land cultivable after spending huge amount, thereafter proprietary rights were also conferred upon the plaintiffs as is evident from Jamabandi for the year 1991-92. Plaintiff further claimed that he planted trees of Tunni, Eucalyptus, Poplar, Khirak, Orange etc. way back in the year 1989-90. In para-4 of the plaint, specific averments are made that there is one path, which is also recorded in the revenue record adjoining to the boundary of plaintiff's land and used by villagers. Plaintiff further averred that for the convenience of the general public, the plaintiff has also given one path from his land itself. Defendants threatened to construct forcibly a road through the suit land. Defendants intended to trespass over the suit land and started digging the suit land to construct road, hence, the suit was filed.

3. Defendants filed written statement taking preliminary objections of maintainability, estoppel, cause of action and suit being bad for non-joinder /mis-joiner of necessary parties. Defendants set up a case that suit land was 'Shamlat' prior to allotment to the plaintiff and was being used by the villagers as Charand and old path was there, which was 100 years old. They further submitted in the written statement that path was very old and Kanungo had visited the spot and submitted his report to the Tehsildar for incorporating the path in the revenue record. He placed on record Annexure A. In the aforesaid background, defendants prayed for dismissal of the suit.

4. Replication was filed by the plaintiff reiterating the averments contained in the plaint. Plaintiff specifically denied the contents of written statement. Learned trial Court framed following issues on 10.3.2000.

"1. Whether the plaintiff is entitled for the decree of permanent and prohibitory injunction, as prayed for? OPP

2. Whether the suit of the plaintiff is not maintainable, in the present form? OPD

3. Whether the plaintiff is estopped by his act and conduct to file the present suit? OPD

4. Whether the plaintiff has no cause of action to file the present suit? OPD

5. Whether the suit of the plaintiff is bad for non-joinder/mis-joinder of necessary parties? OPD

6. Relief."

5. The learned trial Court vide judgment and decree dated 18.1.2002, decreed the suit of the plaintiff for permanent prohibitory injunction to the extent that defendants were restrained from interfering or taking over forcible possession, digging the passage/ path in the suit land. Defendants filed appeal against the judgment and decree of the learned trial Court before Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Kangra at Dharamshala i.e. Civil Appeal No. 21-P/04/02, which was allowed by the first appellate Court vide judgment and decree dated 24.8.2006, reversing the judgment and decree of the learned trial Court and dismissing the suit of the plaintiff. Hence, the present Regular Second Appeal by the plaintiff.

6. The Regular Second Appeal was admitted on 20.9.2007, on the following substantial questions of law:

"1. Whether the learned Appellate Court has erred in holding that public path exists on suit land in absence of any revenue record to this effect on record.

2. That whether defendants have any right of path over suit land in view of the fact that they failed to establish any such right on record."

7. Mr. Raman Jamalta, Advocate vehemently argued that the judgment passed by the first appellate Court is not sustainable in the eyes of law since it is not based on correct appreciation of evidence, as such same deserves to be set aside. Mr. Jamalta further contended that bare perusal of judgment passed by first appellate Court clearly suggests that it miserably failed to appreciate the evidence in its right perspective and first appellate Court while allowing appeal of the defendants, completely ignored overwhelming evidence available on record, suggestive of the fact that no path exists over the suit land. With a view to substantiate aforesaid argument, Mr. Jamalta made this Court to travel through the judgment passed by first appellate Court as well as evidence led on record by the defendants to demonstrate that all the material witnesses of the defendants including defendants admitted the factum that no path existed over the suit land, rather same is adjoining to the land of the plaintiff. Mr. Jamalta further contended that learned Court below has erred in coming to the concluding that the plaintiff made admission about existence of path on the suit land, qua which suit had been filed. In this regard, he specifically invited attention of the Court to para-4 of the plaint and stated that there is no admission on the part of the plaintiff with regard to existence of path over the suit land. He contended that bare perusal of para-4 of the plaint suggests that plaintiff in no uncertain terms stated that there is one path, which is also recorded in the revenue record, adjoining to the boundary of the plaintiff's land and is used by villagers and passers-by. He also stated that the first appellate Court while reversing judgment passed by learned trial Court, which was admittedly based on proper appreciation of evidence, wrongly arrived at the conclusion that public path exists over the suit land. He strenuously argued while referring to the evidence adduced on record by the plaintiff specifically in the shape of Ext. P-1, that it is admitted fact that adjoining to the suit land, there is a public path and there is no path over the suit land. As per Mr. Jamalta, aforesaid clear cut evidence placed on record by the plaintiff has been completely ignored by the first appellate Court while reversing the judgment of the trial Court. While concluding his arguments, Mr. Jamalta further contended that no evidence worth the name has been led on record by the defendants suggestive of the fact that the path, if any, over the suit land was used by the defendants as well as other villagers since the time of their fore-fathers. Moreover, there are no pleadings with regard to customary and easementary rights in the written statement and as such judgment passed by first appellate Court deserves to be set aside, and suit of the plaintiff deserves to be decreed.

8. Mr. Virender Singh, counsel appearing for the defendants, supported the judgment and decree passed by first appellate Court. He argued that bare perusal of judgment passed by first appellate Court clearly suggests that first appellate Court below has dealt with each and every aspect of the matter meticulously and rightly set aside the judgment and decree passed by trial Court, since it was not based on correct appreciation of evidence on record adduced by respective parties. Mr. Virender, while referring to para-4 of the plaint forcibly contended that there is clear cut admission on the part of the plaintiff that path exists over the suit land and as such there is no illegality and infirmity in the findings recorded by the first appellate Court to this effect. Mr. Virender while referring to the statements made by the plaintiff's witnesses, forcibly contended that there is no evidence worth the name on record led by plaintiff from where it could be inferred that no path passes over the suit land, rather there is clear cut admission made by the plaintiff's witnesses with regard to factum of existence of path over the suit land. While concluding his arguments, Mr. Virender strenuously argued that bare perusal of judgment of trial Court, nowhere suggests that most important and crucial fact of the usage of path over the suit land from time immemorial as pleaded by the defendants and duly proved by leading cogent evidence was considered by trial Court and as such judgment and decree passed by trial Court was rightly set aside by first appellate Court in the appeal. He prayed for dismissal of the appeal.

9. I have heard the learned Counsel for the parties and gone through the record very carefully.

10. This Court, solely with a view to ascertain the genuineness and correctness of the submissions of plaintiff as well as to explore answer to substantial questions of law as reproduced herein above, critically analyzed the entire evidence available on record. It clearly emerged from the record and not disputed by the defendants that suit land was allotted to the plaintiff under Scheme of allotment to landless persons by the Government of HP, which was further made cultivable by the plaintiff and his brothers. Similarly, perusal of Ext. P-1, certified copy of Jamabandi for the year 1991-92, clearly suggests that plaintiff is owner of the suit land since proprietary rights were conferred on him after allotment of land under the Scheme. This Court, while sifting entire evidence, was not able to lay its hands on any documentary evidence led on record by the defendants to controvert revenue entry recorded in favour of the plaintiff i.e. Ext. P-1, wherein plaintiff has been recorded as owner. There is no mention with regard to existence of path over the suit land in Jamabandi, Ext. P-1.

11. PW-1 Shambhu Ram, while deposing before trial Court categorically stated that the land in dispute belonged to him as well as to his brother. He categorically stated that the land bearing Khata No. 216, Khasra Nos. 378 and 1295/381 measuring 6 ½ Kanal is owned by him. He further stated that on 30.9.1997, defendants interfered in the suit land and threatened to construct road over the same. He also stated that defendants forcibly trespassed over his land and cut fruit bearing trees and extended threats, as such, he filed the suit. He specifically stated in examination-in-chief that there is no path passing through the suit land, rather 3 metre wide passage passes through side of his land. In cross-examination, he fairly admitted that earlier suit land was 'Shamlat' and was being used by other villagers. He also admitted that prior to allotment of land to him, same was being used by persons but self stated that after allotment, path was shifted to the side of suit land. He also admitted that as of today, that road is not being used.

12. PW-2 Nandu Lal and PW-3 Saina Devi may not be of any help to the plaintiff. PW-4 Nandu Ram, specifically stated that he has no knowledge whether there is any passage adjoining to the land of the plaintiff.

13. PW-5 Om Parkash stated that defendants claimed passage over the suit land. It has also come in cross-examination that it is correct that there is path on the spot but same is not in revenue record. In his cross-examination, he also admitted that it is not a common passage.

14. If the statements adduced on record by the plaintiff are read in conjunction with Ext. P-1, Jamabandi for the year 1991-92, it is duly proved on record that there is no entry in the revenue record with regard to alleged passage over the suit land, rather careful perusal of aforesaid ocular as well as documentary evidence led on record by the plaintiff, clearly suggests that plaintiff is owner of the land and there exists no path over the suit land. Close scrutiny of cross-examination conducted upon plaintiff Shambhu Ram, compels this Court to draw inference that defendants admitted the claim of the plaintiff that there exists a public path adjoining the suit land but the same is not being used. If the suggestion put forth by the defendants to aforesaid witness is examined critically, it clearly emerges that defendants admitted the factum of existence of alternative path adjacent to the suit land, as has been categorically stated by the plaintiff in his plaint as well as deposition before the Court. Cross-examination conducted on this plaintiff witness, nowhere suggests that defendants at any point of time, were able to extract anything contrary to what he stated in his examination-in-chief. Since factum with regard to ownership as well as non-recording of path in the revenue record stands duly proved, this Court also perused evidence led on record by the defendants to ascertain whether passage over the suit land was being used by the defendants as well as other villagers before allotment to the plaintiff under the Scheme referred to herein above.

15. Defendant Puran Chand stated that path is situated over the suit land and same was being used by the villagers. He further stated that the plaintiff wanted to close the passage situated over the suit land. However, in cross-examination, he admitted that passage is situated adjacent to the suit land. In cross-examination, though he denied that no path is situated over the suit land but the fact remains that in his cross-examination, he admitted that passage is situated adjacent to the suit land, which corroborates the version of the plaintiff as stated in his plaint as well as statement before the Court.

16. Similarly, DW-2 Shubh Karan also admitted the factum of existence of alternative path adjacent to the suit land.

17. DW-3 Gorkhu Ram also admitted existence of path adjacent to the suit land.

18. Aforesaid witnesses have categorically stated that said path was never closed by the plaintiff Shambhu Ram. Close scrutiny of aforesaid defendants' witnesses though suggests that prior to allotment in favour of the plaintiff, some portion of aforesaid land was being used as path over the suit land but if their statements are read in entirety, it clearly proves the case of the plaintiff who, in no uncertain terms, stated that there is one path, which is also recorded in revenue record, on the boundary of the suit land and was being used by the villagers and passers-by. Aforesaid defendants' witnesses admitted in clear terms that there is path adjacent to the suit land and same has been never closed by the plaintiff. Perusal of judgment passed by the first appellate Court clearly suggests that while accepting the appeal of the defendants, it heavily relied upon para-4 of the plaint, which is reproduced herein below:

> "4. That there is one path which is also recorded in the revenue record adjoining the boundry of the plaintiff's land and is used by the Villagers and passers by. Moreover, for the convenience of the General Public, the Plaintiff has also given one path from his land itself."

19. First appellate Court, after reading aforesaid averments contained in para-4 of the plaint, came to the conclusion that there is clear cut admission on the part of the plaintiff that there is one path which is recorded in revenue record, adjoining to the boundary of the plaintiff's land and is being used by the villagers. First appellate Court also took into consideration that plaintiff himself admitted that he has given one path through his land itself. This Court, after perusing averments contained in para-4 of the plaint, has no hesitation to conclude that first appellate Court misread and mis-interpreted averments contained in the plaint and wrongly came to the conclusion that there is clear cut admission on the part of the plaintiff with regard to existence of passage over the suit land, rather perusal of aforesaid para clearly suggests that plaintiff in no uncertain terms stated that there is one another path recorded in the revenue record adjoining to boundary of the plaintiff's land, which is used by villagers and passers-by. If aforesaid averments contained in para-4 of the plaint are read juxtaposing the statement of PW-1 Shambhu Ram, made before the Court, it clearly corroborates his version, wherein he stated that there exists one passage adjacent to the land and as such this Court is unable to accept the reasoning assigned by the Court below while setting aside the judgment of trial Court, which appears to be based on correct appreciation of evidence adduced on record.

20. Similarly, this Court, after perusing written statement filed by defendants, specifically to para-4 of the plaint is unable to accept that path existing over the suit land was being used by the villagers from time immemorial because no evidence worth the name has been led on record suggestive of the fact that passage over the suit land was being used by their forefathers and as such they have a right over the same. Similarly, this Court sees no pleading on record by the defendants suggesting that the defendants have customary and easementary rights over the suit land and as such findings returned by the first appellate Court to the effect that there existed path over the suit land, and defendants are entitled to enjoy same, deserve to be set aside being erroneous and foreign to the record. This Court, after perusing averments contained in the plaint, as well as statement of PW-1 Shambhu Ram, has all the reasons to believe the version of the plaintiff that prior to allotment of land to him, villagers used to pass through same but now there exists path adjacent to his land. Defendants have acknowledged the existence of alternative path as stated by DW-2. DW-3 has stated that the plaintiff has never stopped that passage. Moreover, perusal of Ext. P-1 as has been discussed herein above clearly suggests that there is no entry in revenue record with regard to existence of path over the suit land and as such this Court sees no merit in the finding recorded by the first appellate Court. While accepting the appeal of the defendants, first appellate Court wrongly interpreted the contents of para-4 of the plaint, which otherwise suggests that there exists alternative path adjacent to the suit land.

21. Hence, this Court has no hesitation to conclude that the first appellate Court erred in concluding that public path existed on the suit land because there is no entry in the revenue record to this effect. Similarly, as has been discussed above, defendants have not been able to prove on record by leading cogent evidence that they have right over path allegedly existing over suit land. Since there is no revenue record suggestive of the fact that there existed path over the suit land, onus was high upon the defendants to prove that they have/ had customary and easementary right over the said path allegedly existing over the suit land. At the cost of repetition, it may be stated that there are no pleadings as well oral evidence adduced on record by the defendants suggestive of the fact that being villagers, they had customary and easementary rights to use path in question. Simple assertion from the defendants that they have been using the land for more than 100 years, may not be sufficient to conclude that defendants have some right to use the path.

22. In written statement to para-4 of the plaint, defendants have stated as under:

> "4. In reply to Para 4 of the Plaint: - It is not admitted hence denied. The path which is described in the plaint is an old path about 100 years old which is being used by about 100 families of Zamidars of the village-Banuri, Teh-Palampur for long time and is used by the persons of the village and this is the only path for the Zamindars. The path is not occupied even by the plaintiff. There is no other way to cross the village. This path is also being used by the villagers for taking water from the Handpump installed by the I &P.H Department. The path is very old and Kanungo has visited the spot and has submitted his report to the Tehsildar for incorporating the path in the revenue record. Copy of Report is attached as Annexure'-'A'."

23. At the best, keeping in view the averments contained in the plaint and statement made by the plaintiff while deposing before the Court, use of path over the suit land, if any, can be termed as 'permissive, and by no stretch of imagination, defendants can claim it as a matter of right.

24. In Balley v. Rama Shanker Lal reported in AIR 1975 Allahabad 461, the learned Single Judge of Allahabad High Court has held as under:

"5. The main question that falls for determination in this appeal is whether the plaintiff can be said to have acquired a prescriptive right of way under Section 15 of the Easements Act on the 'Danda' running over the ridge 'between the two fields Nos. 30 and 31. Learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent contended that the learned Judge of the lower appellate Court rightly applied the law in holding that the plaintiff having proved that he has been passing over the disputed passage for over 25 years after purchasing plots Nos. 9 and 10 for enjoyment thereof without any let or hindrance, it would be presumed that he did it as of right Reliance was placed in this connection on the cases of Hari v. Mahadeo (AIR 1921 Nag 127), Phoolchand v. Murari Lal (AIR 1951 Madh Bha 89) and Tukaram Rajaram Suple v. Sonba Chindu Mali (AIR 1959 Bom 63). In my judgment, the learned Judge of the court below seems to 'be of the view that once a person establishes his passing over a piece of land for more than 20 years without any evidence of interruption or hindrance, then he would be deemed to be so doing as of right and he would acquire a prescriptive right of way under Sec. 15 of the Easements Act Even the cases cited by the learned counsel for the plaintiff-respondent do not lay down any such rule of law. It would be seen that in all those cases on the facts and circumstances it was either found that the user was as of right or the user was not as of right but was by way of leave or licence. Here in the instant case the plaintiff came with a case that there was passage one Lattha wide on which bullock carts and Ikkas could pass and he had been using it for over 25 years as of right for access from the main road to his Gher in plots Nos. 9 and 10. This affirmative case pleaded by him has not been found to be established. What has been found established is that on the ridge between the boundaries of the two cultivated fields there was a passage 1 to 2 feet wide which could be used as an access from the public road to the agricultural plots in the village lying to the south of that public road. It is the common feature in our agricultural villages that on the Mend 'boundary between two cultivated agricultural fields public generally pass and hardly by habit any agriculturist objects to it. I have no hesitation in holding that such passing over the ridges of the field to and fro by the villagers would always the permissive user. Thus an uninterrupted user by any person of a ridge between the two agricultural fields for passing over it could be presumed to be permissive and not as of right. Moreover, it would not toe in public interest if this court countenances recognizing acquisition of prescriptive right of way over the boundaries of the agricultural fields as that would lead to complications in the agricultural areas having a baneful effect end completely preventing the re-arrangements of agricultural fields or their divisions. In the circumstances of the instant case in the consolidation proceedings, on the own admission of the plaintiff, Rama Shanker Lal, who appeared in the witness box, he did not ask for a chak road over the disputed land. The view of the court below that such an objection could not have been raised under Section 9 or 20 of the Consolidation of Holdings Act may be a correct view tout there was nothing to (prevent the plaintiff when the chaks were toeing carved to ask the Consolidation to leave a passage. The attempt of the plaintiff that the consolidation had put stone pillars demarcating the passage has miserably failed as there is a finding recorded that no such stone pillars were found at the spot which were put as demarcation by the Consolidator. I, therefore, hold that the lower appellate Court has misdirected itself in holding that as of right the plaintiff had 'been using the 'Danda' for access to the plots 9 and 10 from the public road. It would be 'presumed that the user was permissive. The plaintiff could not succeed therefore merely on the evidence as adduced by him that any prescriptive right of way has accrued to him under Section 15 of the Easements Act."

25. In M.A.M. Abdullah v. K.A. Qadus reported in AIR 1976 Jammu and Kashmir 23, the learned Single Judge of the Jammu and Kashmir High Court has held as under:-

"13. Now the evidence of the plaintiffs, a resume of which has been given above, does not establish the case of the plaintiffs that they have been using this pathway as of right and also openly. It can be well gleaned from the evidence on record that the pathway the plaintiffs have been using was on mere permissive lines which did not create any vested right in the plaintiffs to claim a right of easement. There is, also the report of the various revenue officers on the record especially the report of the Naib Tehsildar who went on spot and found that no pathway, as claimed by the plaintiffs, existed. It is also found that there are no entries in the revenue records suggesting that a right of path-way existed on Survey No. 976-min. Had this been so, then there ought to have been some entries in "WAJIB UL ARAZ" or in some other revenue record. It is also no correct that the spring is located in the joint land of the parties as given out by some of the witnesses of the plaintiffs. That indeed runs counter to the very case set up by the plaintiffs. "

26. Substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

27. Consequently, in view of the aforesaid discussion, present appeal is allowed. Judgment and decree dated 24.8.2006 passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Kangra at Dharamshala, HP in Civil Appeal No. 21-P/04/02 is set aside. Judgment and decree dated 18.1.2002 passed by Sub Judge 1st Class Court No. 2, Palampur in Civil Suit No. 252/97 is restored, whereby suit of the plaintiff was decreed. Pending applications are disposed of. Interim directions, if any, are vacated.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

Manju @ Maju .....Petitioner

Versus

State of H.P. .....Respondent

Criminal Revision No.204 of 2016
Decided on : 26.9.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 457 and 380- Petitioner was convicted and sentenced by the trial Court- an application was filed for taking a lenient view in sentencing the petitioner – sentence was reduced by Learned Additional Sessions Judge- held, that Additional Sessions Judge duly considered mitigating circumstances and had reduced the sentence- no ground for further reduction is made out- benefit of Probation of Offenders Act cannot be granted as the same is not applicable, in view of the fact that maximum sentence is more than seven years- revision dismissed. (Para- 3 to 5)

For the petitioner : Mr. Umesh Kanwar, Advocate.
For the State : Mr. Ramesh Thakur, Deputy Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge (Oral)

Petitioner has assailed judgment dated 2.9.2015 passed by Additional Sessions Judge-I, Kangra at Dharamshala, District Kangra in Jail Appeal No. 1-D/X/2014 affirming conviction but reducing sentence imposed upon petitioner by learned Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Court No. II, Nurpur vide judgment dated 10th December 2013 in Cr. Case No. 14-II/2013.

2. I have heard learned counsel for parties and also gone through record.

3. Petitioner was convicted by trial Court under Sections 457 (Part-II) and 380 of IPC and was sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years each and also to pay fine of Rs. 10,000/- each for both offences. Petitioner was further sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for six months for each default in case of payment of fine imposed upon him.

4. During pendency of appeal before Addl. Sessions Judge petitioner had moved an application through counsel accepting her conviction with request for taking lenient view in sentencing her. It was submitted on her behalf that her application be treated as mercy application/ petition for taking lenient view in deciding appeal.

5. Learned Addl. Sessions Judge, had considered the application and keeping in view circumstances of the case had reduced sentence from three years each to two years each under Sections 457 (Part-II) and 380 of IPC. Fine was also reduced to its half i.e. from Rs. 10,000/- each to Rs. 5,000/- each for both offences. Sentence of further imprisonment for default in payment of fine was also reduced from six months to three months for each default.

6. Learned counsel for petitioner admitted that as a consequence of acceptance of guilt and conviction it is not open for petitioner to assail her conviction in this revision petition, however, he submitted that in revisional jurisdiction this Court has power to assess correctness and reduce quantam of sentence. Learned counsel for petitioner submitted that courts below have failed to consider case of petitioner for granting benefit of Section 4 of Probation of Offender Act 1958.

7. Imprisonment for the offence under Section 457 (Part-II) IPC can be extended for 14 years and for offence under Section 380 IPC sentence can be extended up to 7 years. Trial Court had sentenced petitioner to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years each under Sections 457 (Part-II) and 380 IPC with fine of Rs. 10,000/- each for these offences. Learned Addl. Sessions Judge has duly considered mitigating circumstances and has reduced sentence from three years each to two years each and not only period of imprisonment, but the fine amount as well as period of imprisonment for default in making payment of fine has also been reduced. No ground for further reduction is made out in present petition either in period of imprisonment or fine.

8. Plea of counsel for petitioner for extending benefit of Section 4 of Probation of Offenders Act is also not tenable as provisions of this section are not applicable in present case as maximum sentence for offences in question in present case is more than 7 years.

9. After considering submissions of learned counsel for petitioner and scrutinizing record, I find that there is no material irregularity, illegality, perversity or any other infirmity in the impugned judgment warranting interference of this Court.

10. In view of above discussion, petition is dismissed being devoid of merit. Record of Courts below be sent back with copy of judgment.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

Satnam @ Titu .....Petitioner
Versus
State of H.P. .....Respondent

Criminal Revision No. 205 of 2016
Decided on :26.9.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 457 and 380- Petitioner was convicted and sentenced by the trial Court- an application was filed for taking a lenient view in sentencing the petitioner – sentence was reduced by Learned Additional Sessions Judge- held, that Additional Sessions Judge duly considered mitigating circumstances and had reduced the sentence- no ground for further reduction is made out- benefit of Probation of Offenders Act cannot be granted as the same is not applicable, in view of the fact that maximum sentence is more than seven years- revision dismissed. (Para- 3 to 5)

For the petitioner : Mr. Umesh Kanwar, Advocate.
For the State : Mr. Ramesh Thakur, Deputy Advocate General.

The following order of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge (Oral)

Petitioner has assailed judgment dated 2.9.2015 passed by Additional Sessions Judge-I, Kangra at Dharamshala, District Kangra in Jail Appeal No. 1-D/X/2014 affirming conviction but reducing sentence imposed upon petitioner by learned Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Court No. II, Nurpur vide judgment dated 10th December 2013 in Cr. Case No. 14-II/2013.

2. I have heard learned counsel for parties and also gone through record.

3. Petitioner was convicted by trial Court under Sections 457 (Part-II) and 380 of IPC and was sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years each and also to pay fine of Rs. 10,000/- each for both offences. Petitioner was further sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for six months for each default in case of payment of fine imposed upon him.

4. During pendency of appeal before Addl. Sessions Judge petitioner had moved an application through counsel accepting his conviction with request for taking lenient view in sentencing him. It was submitted on his behalf that his application be treated as mercy application/ petition for taking lenient view in deciding appeal.

5. Learned Addl. Sessions Judge, had considered the application and keeping in view circumstances of the case had reduced sentence from three years each to two years each under Sections 457 (Part-II) and 380 of IPC. Fine was also reduced to its half i.e. from Rs. 10,000/- each to Rs. 5,000/- each for both offences. Sentence of further imprisonment for default in payment of fine was also reduced from six months to three months for each default.

6. Learned counsel for petitioner admitted that as a consequence of acceptance of guilt and conviction it is not open for petitioner to assail his conviction in this revision petition, however, he submitted that in revisional jurisdiction this Court has power to assess correctness and reduce quantam of sentence. Learned counsel for petitioner submitted that courts below have failed to consider case of petitioner for granting benefit of Section 4 of Probation of Offender Act 1958.

7. Imprisonment for the offence under Section 457 (Part-II) IPC can be extended for 14 years and for offence under Section 380 IPC sentence can be extended up to 7 years. Trial Court had sentenced petitioner to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years each under Sections 457 (Part-II) and 380 IPC with fine of Rs. 10,000/- each for these offences. Learned Addl. Sessions Judge has duly considered mitigating circumstances and has reduced sentence from three years each to two years each and not only period of imprisonment, but the fine amount as well as period of imprisonment for default in making payment of fine has also been reduced. No ground for further reduction is made out in present petition either in period of imprisonment or fine.

8. Plea of counsel for petitioner for extending benefit of Section 4 of Probation of Offenders Act is also not tenable as provisions of this section are not applicable in present case as maximum sentence for offences in question in present case is more than 7 years.

9. After considering submissions of learned counsel for petitioner and scrutinizing record, I find that there is no material irregularity, illegality, perversity or any other infirmity in the impugned judgment warranting interference of this Court.

10. In view of above discussion, petition is dismissed being devoid of merit. Record of Courts below be sent back with copy of judgment.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

Girdhari Lal .....Petitioner
Versus
State of H.P. .....Respondent

Criminal Revision No. :14 of 2013
Date of Decision:04.10.2016

Punjab Excise Act, 1914- Section 61(i)(c)- Accused had set up an apparatus for production of illicit liquor- 10 liters illicit liquor and 100 liter drum containing lahan were found – the accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in revision that no independent witnesses were associated by the police party as the recovery was effected during the night time – the conviction can be placed upon the statements of the official witnesses subject to careful and cautious scrutiny of their statements – there are over writings in the daily diary at two places regarding the time , which makes the prosecution version doubtful – recovered illicit liquor was never produced before the Court -considering the fact that prosecution is relying upon the testimonies of official witnesses – the contradictions become significant – revision allowed and accused acquitted of the charge framed against him.(Para-6 to 14)

For the petitioner : Mr. Avinash Jaryal, Advocate.
For the respondent : Mr. Ramesh Thakur and Mr. Pankaj Negi, Deputy Advocate Generals.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge (Oral).

Petitioner has assailed his conviction and sentence imposed upon him by trial Court affirmed by learned Sessions Judge in appeal.

2. I have heard learned counsel for parties and have also gone through material placed on record.

3. Prosecution case is that on 5.1.2007 at about 10 PM police party headed by SI Gurdeep Singh consisting of PW-2 HHC Rajender Singh and PW-4 HC Sehdev departed police station after recording DD entry report No. 13 dated 5th January 2007. At about 11.30 PM, on reaching near village Byass, they saw fire light on Dober Khala side. They reached on the spot to inquire the matter and found that respondent had set up apparatus for production of illicit liquor. Police party recovered 10 Ltrs illicit liquor and 100 Ltr drum containing Lahan. After taking one bottle from drum as sample, remaining Lahan was destroyed. One bottle as sample was also taken from illicit liquor. Entire case property was sealed vide memo Ex. PW-2/A. Rukka Ex. PW-5/A was sent to Police Station through PW-2 Rajender Singh for registration of FIR and in pursuance to same, FIR Ex. PW-2/A was registered. After completion of investigation and obtaining report of Chemical Examiner Ex. PW-5/D, challan was presented in the Court against the accused.

4. After conclusion of trial, petitioner was convicted and sentenced by Judicial Magistrate First Class to undergo simple imprisonment for six months and to pay fine of Rs. 3000/- and in case of default to further undergo simple imprisonment for two months.

5. Appeal filed by the petitioner, assailing his conviction and sentence was dismissed by learned Sessions Judge.

6. In present case, no independent witness was associated by the police party and it was explained satisfactorily that keeping in view mid night time and place of commission of offence, it was not possible to associate independent witness at that time. PW-2, PW-4 and PW-5 are spot official witnesses of recovery. It is well settled law that conviction can be based upon statements of official witnesses only, but subject to careful and cautious scrutiny of their statements and on finding their statements cogent, reliable, trustworthy and confidence inspiring. In the light of this settled Law, veracity of PW-2, PW-4 and PW-5 is to be assessed. Learned counsel for petitioner submits that there are material and major contradictions and discrepancies in statements as well as documents of prosecution evidence which create doubt about the genesis of the story of the prosecution and therefore, impugned judgments are liable to be quashed and conviction and sentence imposed upon petitioner is liable to be set aside.

7. Learned counsel for petitioner submits that there is overwriting in DD entry report No. 13 Ex. PW-1/A with regard to date of report. As in the said document, in all two places, where date has been mentioned, there is over writing which cast doubt on actual time and date of recording/preparation of the said DD report. He alleges that the said DD report is anti dated because it is not a simple overwriting mistake at one place, but there is over writing at all places wherever the said date was to be mentioned and this overwriting was also admitted by PW-1 HHC Rajender Singh. It is further pointed out by counsel for petitioner that rukka was prepared on spot at 1.30 PM and was handed over to PW-2 HHC Rajender Singh for registration of FIR in police station Paonta Sahib whereupon FIR Ext. PW2/A was registered. In FIR time of receiving information in Police Station has been mentioned as 0305 hours and regarding General Diary reference entry No. 45 was also stated to be made at 305 hours indicating that FIR was lodged after 305 hours. He submitted that PW-5 Inspector Gurdeep Singh stated that statement of PW-4 Sahdev reached in Police Station prior to 3.30 a.m. which indicated that before leaving Police Station by PW-2 after registration of FIR, PW-4 and PW-5 had reached there, but PW-4 stated that PW-2 Rajinder Singh met him and PW-5 in Police Post Mazra. This discrepancy is irreconcilable as it was not possible for PW-2 Rajender Singh to leave Police Station with or without case file before registration of FIR which, as per prosecution, was lodged after 0305 hours and as per prosecution evidence case property was deposited in the Malkahana at 03: 30 hours establishing that PW-4 and PW-5 definitely arrived in Police Station before 3.30 a.m. completely ruling out possibility of meeting PW-2 Rajinder Singh, with PW-4 and PW-5 in Police Post Mazra and further in case PW-2 Rajinder Singh actually met them in Police Post Mazra then the timings mentioned in the FIR are manipulated which cast doubt on fair investigation by the police.

8. It is further pointed out by learned counsel for petitioner that in Ex. PW1/A after timing, date mentioned is 5.1.2007 and PW-5 also stated date of leaving Police Station as 5.1.2007. However, PW-2 and PW-4 stated that they left Police Station on 6.1.2007 at 11.30 P.M. and it was not clarified by prosecution nor Public Prosecutor sought any permission to cross-examine either of witness for deviating from prosecution story.

9. Another discrepancy pointed out by learned counsel for petitioner is that as per Ex. PW1/A police party left the Police Post at 10 PM whereas PW-4 stated that they left Police Post at 8-9 O' Clock. PW-4 stated that they reached near Dobber Khala at 9.30 PM, but PW-2 stated that they reached Dobber Khala at 11.30 PM.

10. Learned counsel for petitioner also argued that as per memo Ext. PW2/A recovered illicit liquor was 10 Ltrs whereas PW-2 deposed the said quantity about 18 Ltrs and PW-4 and PW-5 stated that recovered liquor was 9-10 Ltrs. Further, this recovered illicit liquor was never produced in the Court. PW-2 admitted that tin container produced in the Court was empty, there was no chit on the said tin and there was no seal on the said tin produced in the Court. PW-5 also admitted that liquor was not shown to him in the Court and the tin shown to him in the court was empty.

11. In the beginning in impugned judgments date of leaving Police Station by police party has been mentioned as 6.1.2007 whereas in letter part of judgments that has been discussed as 5.1.2007. PW-2 and PW-4 referred the said date as 6.1.2007 whereas in the statement of PW-5 and in Ex. PW1/A, this date has been stated to be as 5.1.2007.

12. Learned Deputy Advocate General submitted that contradictions and discrepancies pointed out by counsel for petitioner have no significance as the recovery of illicit liquor and Lahan on the spot has been duly corroborated in the statements of PW-2, PW-4 and PW-5 and the commission of the offence by petitioner is duly proved on record.

13. In present case, all witnesses are official witnesses who are dealing with criminal cases hearing experience of proceedings in Courts. They are not common men and for that reason discrepancy and contradictions in their statements particularly like present case which are irreconcilable qua the date and time of occurrence gains significance. Non production of recovered illicit liquor also render case of the prosecution doubtful. As per prosecution, iron drum having capacity of 100 ltrs was also seized and brought to police post along with other case property i.e. tin, stones, fire wood and empty earthen pot. Three police officials went on spot, one of them left the spot with Rukka. There were two police officials and one petitioner on the spot. It is unbelievable that all these articles were brought by them during night to the police post by covering distance through forest on foot.

14. Courts below have considered and referred only part of statement of prosecution witnesses whereas statements as a whole were to be considered. The aforesaid contradictions and discrepancies have not been discussed at all. Courts below have ignored the material and major contradictions and irreconcilable discrepancies` referred supra. Therefore, impugned judgments are set aside and conviction and sentence imposed upon petitioner is quashed. Petitioner-accused is acquitted of the charges framed against him and bail bonds, if any, furnished by him are cancelled and fine amount deposited by him, if any, shall be refunded to him. Records of the Courts below be sent back immediately.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

M/s.GH Hydro Power Ventures Pvt.Ltd. ...Petitioner

Versus

State of H.P. & Others ...Respondents

CWP No.2171 of 2015
Judgment Reserved on: 21.09.2016
Date of decision: 5.10.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Applications for allotment of Hydel Project were invited – petitioner filed an application for allotment – documents were found to be deficient and the case of the petitioner was rejected – the capacity of the project was enhanced- a request was made to consider the case of the petitioner, which was again rejected – held, that the fact that the documents were not submitted was not disputed – the rejection was also not in dispute – rejection was conveyed in the year 2006, while the writ petition was filed in the year 2015- ample opportunities were given to bring on record the certificate of registration and when the same was not brought on record, the application was rejected – rejection cannot be said to be arbitrary – the Court has limited power to interfere in the contractual matter – it is the domain of the department to prescribe conditions, factors and guidelines – the petitioner has no right to challenge the same, unless these are contrary to basic principles of law- no reason has been brought on record to interfere with the decision- writ petition dismissed.(Para-15 to 31)

Cases referred:

Tata Cellular vs. Union of India, (1994)6 SCC 651

Raj Kumar vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and Others, 2014(2) Him.L.R.(DB) 1217

S.G.Jaisinghani vs. Union of India and Others, AIR 1967 SC 1427

Satwant Singh Sawhney vs. D.Ramarathnam, Assistant Passport Officer, New Delhi and Others, AIR 1967 SC 1836

Namit Gupta vs. State of H.P. and Others, AIR 2014 HP 49

Pritam Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2013)1 Him.L.R. 130

Saroj Garg vs. State of H.P. & Ors., AIR 2011 HP 94.

Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education and Another vs. Paritosh Bhupeshkumar Sheth and Others and Alpana V.Mehta vs. Maharashtra State Board of Secondary Education and Another, (1984)4 SCC 27

Parisons Agrotech Private Limited and Another vs. Union of India and Others, (2015)9 SCC 657

Census Commissioner and Others vs. R.Krishnamurthy, (2015)2 SCC 796

For the Petitioner:	Mr.Ajay Vaidya, Advocate.
For Respondent No.1:	Mr.Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General with Mr.Anup Rattan and Mr.Romesh Verma, Additional Advocate Generals with Mr.J.K. Verma, Deputy Advocate General.
For Respondents No.2 & 3:	Mr.Vijay Arora, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, J.

By way of present writ petition under Article 226/227 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner prayed for following main relief(s):-

> "(a) Issue writ in the nature of certiorari quashing and set aside the impugned orders dated 24.02.2015 (Ann P-14) as issued by respondent No.1;
>
> (b) Issue a writ of mandamus or any other suitable writ, order or direction, directing the respondents not to allot the Self Identified Hydel Project Joiner Top Hydel Project 05.00 MW to any other person including any company, firm, AOP, Society etc.
>
> (c) Issue a writ of mandamus or any other suitable writ, order or direction, directing the respondents to allot the Self Identified Hydel Project Joiner Top Hydel Project 05.00 MW to the petitioner in time bound manner."

2. In brief, facts, as emerged from the record, are that respondent No.2, pursuant to Hydro Power Policy of the State of Himachal Pradesh, invited applications for the allotment of Self Identified "Joiner Top" i.e. Hydel Project 05.00 MW situated at District Chamba, Himachal Pradesh in the year 2004. Petitioner herein, pursuant to aforesaid advertisement, made an application in the name and style of M/s.Kangra Kullu Hydro Power Ventures (P) Ltd. (for short `KKHPV') for allotment of Self Identified Joiner Top of 1.5 MW small Hydro Power Project. Though `KKHPV' had applied for Kesta Neri (1.50 MW) SHP, under self identified category on 31.12.2004, but, lateron petitioner requested that the aforesaid application be considered against Joiner Top (1.50 MW) SHP instead of Kesta Neri SHP. Further perusal of pleadings available on record suggests that after receipt of aforesaid application, filed on behalf of petitioner for allotment of self identified project, during scrutiny of documents at Government level, it transpired that registration of the Company was not in place at that relevant time. Accordingly, respondent No.2 sent a communication dated 29.3.2006 (Annexure R-2) to `KKHPV' (Original Applicant) with reference to its application dated 31.12.2004 for allotment of Joiner Top (1.50 MW) SHP in District Chamba, requesting therein to send certified copy from the concerned Registrar of Companies (for short `ROC') regarding latest status of Directors/Promoters and stake-holders of the applicant-Company. But, it appears that applicant-`KKHPV' failed to supply documents, as were required vide communication dated 29.3.2006, therefore, the Council of Ministers in its meeting held on 5.6.2006 rejected the application of the petitioner, which was made in the name of `KKHPV' and Project in question was approved for advertisement in future. Respondent No.3 vide communication dated 3.10.2006, Annexure R-1, informed the applicant-`KKHPV' with regard to rejection of its application dated 31.12.2004 for setting up of Joiner Top (1.50 MW) SHP in District Chamba, H.P. Pleadings available on record, nowhere suggests that the aforesaid decision, taken by the Council of Ministers in its meeting held on 5.6.2006, was ever challenged in appropriate proceedings before appropriate Court of law and as such, the same attained finality. However, perusal of pleadings and documents placed on record by the petitioner, especially Annexure P-3, suggest that present petitioner i.e. M/s.GH Hydro Power Ventures Pvt.Ltd., Ranital, District Kangra, (for short `GHHPVPL') had submitted initial application dated 31.12.2004 in the name and style of `KKHPVPL', which was admittedly not registered with the `ROC' at that relevant time. Thereafter, `ROC' vide Registration No.U40101HP2006PTC030557 dated 04.09.2006 approved the name of the Company as `GHHPVPL'. Perusal of Annexure P-3 leaves no doubt that before 4.9.2006 neither Company in the name and style of `GHHPVPL' nor in the name of `KKHPVPL' was in existence and as such respondents rejected the said application dated 31.12.2004.

3. Perusal of Annexures P-4 & P-5 further suggest that even after rejection of its application dated 31.12.2004 by the respondents, the petitioner kept on pursuing the matter with the respondents with regard to allotment of Self Identified Project, as detailed hereinabove, in terms of application dated 31.12.2004, despite there being specific rejection of its application by the Council of Ministers on 5.6.2006.

4. Thereafter, it appears that present petitioner made a representation to Hon'ble the Chief Minister of the State with regard to allotment of Joiner Top (1.50 MW) SHP, which was duly replied by respondent No.2 vide communication dated 27.9.2008, wherein petitioner was informed that capacity of the Project seems to be low and other Project namely; Upper Joiner had been contemplated for capacity of 12 MW, which will be utilizing the discharge available for the project. Respondent specifically informed the petitioner-Company that capacity of Joiner Top may be more than 5MW which needs to be resurveyed/investigated for optimum utilization of potential available.

5. Petitioner vide letter dated 17th October, 2008 (Annexure P-7) again requested respondent No.3 to allot Project i.e. Joiner Top SHP (EL $\pm$ 1960 m to EL $\pm$ 2400 m) of 5 MW capacity. However, the aforesaid request of the petitioner was rejected by respondent No.3 vide communication dated 23.10.2010 (Annexure P-8), wherein he specifically informed the petitioner that initial application dated 31.12.2004, filed in the name and style of `KKHPVPL' in Kesta Neri (1.5 MW) SHP, under self identified category by the petitioner, was considered by the Council of Ministers on 5.6.2006 and no action was taken on the request in view of the fact that rejection order was already made.

6. Respondent No.3 vide aforesaid communication specifically informed the present petitioner that application submitted by it was forwarded to the Government of Himachal Pradesh by HIMURJA vide communication dated 3.8.2009, but Government directed that the capacity of the proposed Project may be got confirmed from the Himachal Pradesh State Electricity Board Limited (for short `HPSEBL'). Accordingly, Chief Engineer (P&M) was requested by HIMURJA on 4.9.2009 for confirmation of capacity and comments. In nutshell, vide aforesaid communication respondent No.3 categorically informed the petitioner that Project is no more in self identified domain and as such representation, if any, made by the petitioner is redundant.

7. But, despite aforesaid rejection order passed by the respondent, present petitioner kept on making correspondence with various authorities as emerged from Annexure P-9. Perusal of Annexure P-11 annexed with the petition suggests that pursuant to request made by respondents No.2 and 3, as was directed by the State of Himachal Pradesh, HPSEBL informed that "The optimal installed capacity for the Project is 4.86 MW). The intake will be located at E1.2395m. The power house will be located on elevation of 1990m. The Plant load Factor for high season for the project is anticipated to be 0.52, while the Plant load Factor for lean season is expected to be 0.16."

8. Careful perusal of aforesaid communication dated 29.3.2012 sent by HPSEBL clearly suggests that capacity with regard to Joiner Top SHP in District Chamba was of 4.86 MW, whereas petitioner while making application dated 31.12.2004 had shown its capacity as 1.5 MW. Record further reveals that petitioner herein had filed CWP No.671 of 2015, which came to be decided by learned Single Bench of this Court on 16.1.2015, wherein directions were issued to Principal Secretary, (MMP & Power) to the Government of Himachal Pradesh to decide the representation of the petitioner by passing a speaking order within a period of three weeks from the date of the order. Perusal of order dated 16.1.2015 (Annexure P-13) clearly suggests that the same was passed by this Court at the behest of petitioner, wherein Court was informed that petitioner had already made representation for redressal of its grievance to the Principal Secretary (MMP & Powers) to the Government of Himachal Pradesh on 2.1.2015 (Annexure P-12). However, fact remains that pursuant to aforesaid directions given by the learned Single Bench of this Court in CWP No.671/2015, respondents passed detailed speaking order dated 24.2.2015, whereby representation of the petitioner was rejected being devoid of any merit. Principal Secretary(NES) to the Government of Himachal Pradesh, while rejecting representation filed by the petitioner, pursuant to directions passed by learned Single Bench of this Court, specifically held that original application stood rejected in the year 2006 and subsequent guidelines issued on 12.11.2008 are not applicable in the case of petitioner, though the petitioner was afforded an opportunity of making representation as per guidelines of 12.11.2008. Careful perusal of order dated 24.2.2015 (Annexure P-14) suggests that after rejection of petitioner's application already made on 31.12.2004, Council of Ministers had taken conscious decision on 5.6.2006 to re-advertise the Project and in this regard petitioner was duly informed on 3.10.2006. It also emerges from the aforesaid order that Project in question was re-advertised on 5.2.2007 alongwith other Projects qua which two applications were received, but admittedly neither `KKHPVPL' nor `GHHPVPL' (petitioner) ever applied for said Project.

9. At this stage, it would be apt to reproduce following paras of order dated 24.2.2015 (Annexure P-14) passed by Principal Secretary (NES) to the Government of Himachal Pradesh:-

> "2. Whereas the Hydro Power Policy was under finalization, therefore, the Govt.decided on 08.06.2005 that no action be taken on the applications received for allotment of SHEPs and the security fee/processing fee deposited by the applicants be refunded to them and no application be entertained till the finalization of Hydro Power Policy. Accordingly, the application fee and EMD received with the applications were refunded to all the applicants including M/s.Kangra Kullu Hydro Power Venture Pvt.Ltd. on 02.07.2005 by Himurja.

3. Whereas after issuance of Policy guidelines on 02.01.2006, it was decided by the Govt. that if the applicants had made substantial progress they could apply for allotment of the SHEP to Himurja. In response to this, the representation from M/s.Kangra Kullu Hydro Power Venture Pvt.Ltd. was received on 4.2.2006 for allotment of Joiner Top (1.50 MW) SHEP in Distt.Chamba. During scrutiny of the representation, it was observed that documentation with regard to formation of company were not proper. Due to non registration of the company the representation was rejected and it was decided on 5.6.2006 to re-advertise the project. The applicant was also intimated with the rejection on 3.10.2006. The project was re-advertised on 5.02.2007 alongwith other projects. Only two applications were received against this project but neither M/s.Kangra Hydro Power Venture Pvt.Ltd. nor M/s GH Hydro Power Venture Pvt.Ltd. applied for the said project. Only the projects for where applications were received, were allotted in the year 2008 and for remaining projects, it was decided to re-advertise after proper survey & investigation in respect of two parameters i.e. optimum capacity & clear cut elevation range to avoid any further conflict in view of the decision sanity check was done by Himurja and it was found that two projects namely Joiner (12 MW) and Upper Joiner-II (10MW) are allotted downstream the Joiner Top (1.50 MW) SHEP and availability of water for the proposed project is almost the same as shall be available for these allotted projects. Himurja observed that capacity of the project can remain above 5MW, therefore, they took up the matter with HPSEBL who informed that capacity of the project may be around 7.50 MW.

4. Whereas the applicant again represented on 27.07.2009 pleading that capacity of the Joiner Top SHEP cannot exceed 5MW. The matter was, therefore, again taken up with HPSEBL who informed that capacity of the project will be 4.86 MW with reduced elevation range i.e. 2395m-1990m. The elevations intimated by HPSEBL were different to elevations mentioned in the application submitted by M/s.Kangra Kullu Hydro Power Venture Pvt.Ltd. which had submitted for the elevation range of 2400m-1960m.

5. Whereas the application for allotment of the project was submitted in the name of M/s.Kangra Kullu Hydro Power Venture Pvt.Ltd. and subsequent representation was received in Himurja in the name of M/s.GH Hydro Power Venture (P) Ltd. Documents of the same were not complete. The capacity of the project was also under underassessed."

10. Being aggrieved and dis-satisfied with the aforesaid order dated 24.2.2015, petitioner has approached this Court seeking therein the reliefs as have been reproduced above.

11. Mr.Ajay Vaidya, learned counsel representing the petitioner, vehemently argued that petitioner had applied for the project strictly in terms of Hydro Power Policy of the State, but respondents had no reason, whatsoever, not to allot the Project in question to petitioner when petitioner offered to install Project with 4.86 MW capacity and in this regard he spent lacs of rupees for preparing the survey reports etc. Mr.Vaidya also argued that admittedly petitioner was single bidder for self identified Hydel Project and no loss would have occurred to the respondent-State, if it was allotted in favour of the petitioner, who was financially competent to undertake the Project in question. Mr.Vaidya also contended that neither it was ever conveyed to the petitioner that his original application dated 31.12.2004, preferred in the name and style of `KKHPVPL', was rejected for want of registration certificate nor any opportunity of being heard was ever afforded to him and as such impugned order is not sustainable and same deserves to be quashed and set aside.

12. While concluding his arguments, Mr.Vaidya stated that perusal of impugned orders itself suggests that same have been passed in slipshod manner without there being any application of mind, without following mandatory guidelines issued by the State of Himachal Pradesh in this regard (Annexure P-15) and as such present petition deserves to be allowed by granting relief as has been prayed for.

13. Mr.Shrawan Dogra, learned Advocate General, vehemently argued that present petition deserves to be dismissed solely on the ground of delay and laches, as it stands duly proved on record that application initially filed by the petitioner in the name and style of `KKHPVPL' stood rejected on 5.6.2006, whereas present petition has been filed in the year 2015 i.e. after more than 9 years as no ground muchless sufficient ground has been raised to condone the delay in maintaining the present petition. He also stated that since application filed by the petitioner in the name of `KKHPVPL' which was not registered with `ROC' at the time of consideration of the application, same was rejected by Council of Ministers and decision was taken to re-advertise the Project. It is also stated that once decision was taken to re-advertise the Project on 5.6.2006, petitioner cannot claim any right in view of his original application dated 31.12.2004. He also invited the attention of this Court to the impugned order to demonstrate that pursuant to the rejection of application of the petitioner by the Council of Ministers, Project in question was re-advertised on 5.2.2007 alongwith other Projects, wherein admittedly, petitioner never applied and as such present petition is not maintainable deserves to be dismissed.

14. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record of the case.

15. It clearly emerges from the facts as well as submissions made by the learned counsel representing the parties, as narrated above, that the present petitioner-company originally made application, dated 31.12.2004, in the name of `KKHPVPL' and applied for 1.5 MW Joiner Top capacity self identified Project at Kesta-Neri, but, since present petitioner, despite repeated reminders, failed to submit certificate of registration of the company, application submitted by it for allotment of the Project in question was rejected by Council of Ministers in its meeting held on 5.6.2006. It is also undisputed before us that pursuant to aforesaid rejection of the application of the petitioner, Project in question was re-advertised on 5.2.2007 alongwith other Projects. Though, application of the petitioner-Company stood rejected, but admittedly, no action, whatsoever, was ever taken by it to assail decision dated 5.6.2006, which was duly communicated to it vide communication dated 3.10.2006 (Annexure R-1), in any Court of law and as such same attained finality qua the petitioner as far as application dated 31.12.2004 is concerned. Though petitioner by way of placing documents on record made an attempt to demonstrate that despite there being rejection of its application, matter remained pending with the respondent-department and he was repeatedly given assurances by the respondents that matter is under active consideration, but keeping in view the abovesaid fact this Court is unable to accept aforesaid submissions.

16. Interestingly, present petitioner, instead of laying specific challenge to the decision dated 5.6.2006, wherein its proposal was rejected, filed writ petition before this Court, which came to be registered as CWP No.671 of 2015, wherein also petitioner only prayed for consideration of his representation dated 2.1.2015, pending before the Principal Secretary (MMP & Powers) to the Government of Himachal Pradesh. Learned Single Bench of this Court vide order dated 16.1.2015 disposed of the said writ petition by directing the Principal Secretary (MMP & Powers) to decide the representation in light of notification dated 12.11.2008 issued by the State of Himachal Pradesh.

17. This Court is of the view that passing of order dated 16.1.2015 in CWP No.671 of 2015 may not be of any help to the petitioner as far as delay in maintaining the instant petition is concerned, especially in view of the fact that application dated 31.12.2004, filed by present petitioner for allotment of the Project in question, was rejected vide decision taken on 5.6.2006, which was never assailed before any Court of law.

18. Though this Court is fully convinced that the present petition deserves to be dismissed on the ground of delay itself, but, since this matter remained under active consideration of this Court for a considerable time after filing of present petition w.e.f. 4.4.2015, this Court also examined genuineness and correctness of order impugned in this petition. Impugned order dated 24.2.2015 (Annexure P-14) clearly suggests that original application dated 31.12.2004 filed by the petitioner in the name and style of `KKHPVPL' was rejected by the Council of Ministers on 5.6.2006 for want of registration certificate from the `ROC'. This Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the decision of the Government while rejecting the proposal furnished by the petitioner vide application dated 31.12.2004 when admittedly Company was not registered with the `ROC'. Moreover, perusal of Annexure R-2 placed on record by the respondents clearly suggests that ample opportunity was given to the petitioner-Company to make available certificate of registration, if any, but despite reasonable opportunity, petitioner failed to place on record required documents, as a result of which Council of Ministers decided to reject the application.

19. Apart from above, it also emerged from the impugned order as well as detailed reply filed by the respondents that the petitioner, while filing application, suppressed material facts with regard to actual potential of the site of the proposed Project by mentioning that proposed Project has capacity of 1.5 MW, whereas lateron it came to the knowledge that capacity of the Project in question was 4.86 MW, as was divulged by the report submitted by the HPSEBL, hence application was rightly rejected by the competent authorities on account of suppression of material facts. Moreover, Project in question was re-advertised on 5.2.2007, wherein admittedly, present petitioner `GHHPVPL' never applied for the same and as such it has no right, whatsoever, to claim Project in question on the strength of initial application dated 31.12.2004.

20. In view of above, this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the impugned order passed by the Principal Secretary (NES) to Government of Himachal Pradesh, wherein he concluded that original application of the petitioner-Company stands rejected in the year 2006 and subsequent guidelines issued on 12.11.2008 are not applicable.

21. Hon'ble Apex Court, while dealing with such like matters, has repeatedly held that the Courts have very-very limited powers while examining the issues with regard to policy decisions taken by the Government.

22. In this regard reliance is placed on Tata Cellular vs. Union of India, (1994)6 SCC 651, wherein the Court held:

> "70. It cannot be denied that the principles of judicial review would apply to the exercise of contractual powers by Government bodies in order to prevent arbitrariness or favoritism. However, it must be clearly stated that there are inherent limitations in exercise of that power of judicial review. Government is the guardian of the finances of the State. It is expected to protect the financial interest of the State. The right to refuse the lowest or any other tender is always available to the Government. But, the principles laid down in Article 14 of the Constitution have to be kept in view while accepting or refusing a tender. There can be no question of infringement of Article 14 if the Government tries to get the best person or the best quotation. The right to choose cannot be considered to be an arbitrary power. Of course, if the said power is exercised for any collateral purpose the exercise of that power will be struck down.
>
> 71. Judicial quest in administrative matters has been to find the right balance between the administrative discretion to decide matters whether contractual or political in nature or issues of social policy; thus they are not essentially justifiable and the need to remedy any unfairness. Such an unfairness is set right by judicial review.
>
> 77. The duty of the court is to confine itself to the question of legality. Its concern should be :
>
> 1. Whether a decision-making authority exceeded its powers?
>
> 2. Committed an error of law,

3. committed a breach of the rules of natural justice,

4. reached a decision which no reasonable tribunal would have reached or,

5. abused its powers.

Therefore, it is not for the court to determine whether a particular policy or particular decision taken in the fulfillment of that policy is fair. It is only concerned with the manner in which those decisions have been taken. The extent of the duty to act fairly will vary from case to case. Shortly put, the grounds upon which an administrative action is subject to control by judicial review can be classified as under:

(i) Illegality : This means the decision- maker must understand correctly the law that regulates his decision-making power and must give effect to it.

(ii) Irrationality, namely, Wednesbury unreasonableness.

(iii) Procedural impropriety.

The above are only the broad grounds but it does not rule out addition of further grounds in course of time. As a matter of fact, in R. v. Secretary of State for the Home Department, ex Brind, (1991)1 AC 696, Lord Diplock refers specifically to one development, namely, the possible recognition of the principle of proportionality. In all these cases the test to be adopted is that the court should, "consider whether something has gone wrong of a nature and degree which requires its intervention".

(pp.675 & 677-678)

23. Similarly, the action of the State in the contractual matters is required to be tested on touchstone of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. But if the action of the State in the contractual matters are meant for public good and in public interest and are expected to be fair and just, no interference, whatsoever, of the Courts is called for. If the decision of the State is informed by the reason and same is in public interest, Courts have no occasion, whatsoever, to interfere in the same.

24. In this regard reliance is placed on the judgment of this Court in Raj Kumar vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and Others, 2014(2) Him.L.R.(DB) 1217, wherein this Court held as under:

"9. The action of the State even in contractual fields will have to be tested on the following touchstone:

(i) The State action in the contractual field are meant for public good and in public interest and are expected to be fair and just.

(ii) It would be alien to the constitutional scheme to accept the argument of exclusion of Article 14 of the Constitution of India in contractual matters.

(iii) The fact that a dispute falls in the domain of contractual obligation, would make no difference to a challenge raised under Article 14 of the Constitution of India on the ground that the impugned act is arbitrary, unfair and unreasonable.

(iv) Every State action must be informed of reason and it follows that an act uninformed by reason is arbitrary.

(v) Where no plausible reason or principle is indicated (or is discernible), and where the impugned action ex facie appears to be arbitrary, the onus shifts on the State to justify its action as fair and reasonable.

(vi) Every holder of public office is accountable to the people in whom the sovereignty vests. All powers vested in a public office, even in the field of contract, are meant to be exercised for public good and for promoting public interest.

(vii) Article 14 of the Constitution of India applies also to matters of governmental policy even in contractual matters, and if the policy or any action of the Government fails to satisfy the test of reasonableness, the same would be unconstitutional.

(See: Shrilekha Vidyarthi vs. State of U.P. (1991) 1 SCC 212).

Thus, what is essential is that the State and its instrumentalities and their functionaries while exercising their executive power in matters of trade or business etc. including making of contracts, should bear in mind the public interest, public purpose and public good. This is so, because every holder of public office by virtue of which he acts on behalf of the State, or its instrumentalities, is ultimately accountable to the people in whom sovereignty vests and as such, all powers vested in the State are meant to be exercised for public good and in public interest. Therefore, the question of unfettered discretion in an executive authority just does not arise. The fetters on discretion are clear, transparent and objective criteria or procedure which promotes public interest, public purpose and public good. A public authority is ordained, therefore to act, reasonably and in good faith and upon lawful and relevant grounds of public interest. (Refer: Reliance Natural Resources Ltd. vs. Reliance Industries Ltd. (2010) 7 SCC 1). Bearing in mind the guiding principles laid down in the Constitution of India alongwith law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court from time to time, we proceed to determine the writ petition." (pp.1219-1220)

25. In this regard reliance is also placed on the judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court as well as of this Court in S.G.Jaisinghani vs. Union of India and Others, AIR 1967 SC 1427, Satwant Singh Sawhney vs. D.Ramarathnam, Assistant Passport Officer, New Delhi and Others, AIR 1967 SC 1836, Namit Gupta vs. State of H.P. and Others, AIR 2014 HP 49, Pritam Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2013)1 Him.L.R. 130 and Saroj Garg vs. State of H.P. & Ors., AIR 2011 HP 94.

26. Apart from above, it is the domain of the Department to prescribe conditions, factors and guidelines while inviting applications for Self Identified Hydel Power Project and petitioner has no right, whatsoever, to challenge the terms and conditions contained in the notice inviting applications, save and except, if the same are shown to be against the basic principles of law.

27. In this regard reliance is placed upon Maharashtra State Board of Secondary and Higher Secondary Education and Another vs. Paritosh Bhupeshkumar Sheth and Others and Alpana V.Mehta vs. Maharashtra State Board of Secondary Education and Another, (1984)4 SCC 27, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court held:

"16. In our opinion, the aforesaid approach made by the High Court is wholly incorrect and fallacious. The Court cannot sit in judgment over the wisdom of the policy evolved by the Legislature and the subordinate regulation-making body. It may be a wise policy which will fully effectuate the purpose of the enactment or it may be lacking in effectiveness and hence calling for revision and improvement. But any drawbacks in the policy incorporated in a rule or regulation will not render it ultra vires and the Court cannot strike it down on the ground that, in its opinion, it is not a wise or prudent policy, but is even a foolish one, and that it will not really serve to effectuate the purposes of the Act. The Legislature and its delegate are the sole repositories of the power to decide what policy should be pursued in relation to matters covered by the Act and there is no scope for interference by the Court unless the particular provision impugned before it can be said to suffer from any legal infirmity, in the sense of its being wholly beyond the scope of the regulation-making power or its being inconsistent with any of the provisions of the parent enactment or in violation of any of the limitations imposed by the Constitution. None of these vitiating factors are shown to exist in the present case and hence there was no scope at all for the High Court to invalidate the provision contained in clause (3) of Regulation 104 as ultra vires on the grounds of its being in excess of the regulation-making power conferred on the Board. Equally untenable, in our opinion, is the next and last ground by the High Court for striking down clause (3) of Regulation 104 as unreasonable, namely, that it is in the nature of a bye-law and is ultra vires on the ground of its being an unreasonable provision. It is clear from the scheme of the Act and more particularly, Sections 18, 19 and 34 that the Legislature has laid down in broad terms its policy to provide for the establishment of a State Board and Divisional Boards to regulate matters pertaining to secondary and higher secondary education in the State and it has authorised the State Government in the first instance and subsequently the Board to enunciate the details for carrying into effect the purposes of the Act by framing regulations. It is a common legislative practice that the Legislature may choose to lay down only the general policy and leave to its delegate to make detailed provisions for carrying into effect the said policy and effectuate the purposes of the Statute by framing rules/regulations which are in the nature of subordinate legislation. Section 3(39) of the Bombay General Clauses Act, 1904, which defines the expression 'rule' states: Rule shall mean a rule made in exercise of the power under any enactment and shall include any regulation made under a rule or under any enactment." It is important to notice that a distinct power of making bye-laws has been conferred by the Act on the State Board under Section 38. The Legislature has thus maintained in the Statute in question a clear distinction between 'bye-laws' and 'regulations'. The bye-laws to be framed under Section 38 are to relate only to procedural matters concerning the holding of meetings of State Board, Divisional Boards and the Committee, the quorum required, etc. More important matters affecting the rights of parties and laying down the manner in which the provisions of the Act are to be carried into effect have been reserved to be provided for by regulations made under Section 36. The Legislature, while enacting Sections 36 and 38, must be assumed to have been fully aware of the niceties of the legal position governing the distinction between rules/regulations properly so called and bye-laws. When the statute contains a clear indication that the distinct regulation-making power conferred under Section 36 was not intended as a power merely to frame bye-laws, it is not open to the Court to ignore the same and treat the regulations made under Section 36 as mere bye-laws in order to bring them within the scope of justiciability by applying the test of reasonableness.

21. The legal position is now well-established that even a bye-law cannot be struck down by the Court on the ground of unreasonableness merely because the Court thinks that it goes further than "is necessary" or that it does not incorporate certain provisions which, in the opinion of the court, would have been fair and wholesome. The Court cannot say that a bye-law is unreasonable merely because the judges do not approve of it. Unless it can be said that a bye law is manifestly unjust, capricious, inequitable, or partial in its operation, it cannot be invalidated by the Court on the ground of unreasonableness. The responsible representative body entrusted with the power to make by laws must ordinarily be presumed to know what is necessary, reasonable, just and fair. In this connection we may usefully extract the following off-quoted observations of Lord Russell of Killowen in Kruse v. Johnson, (1898) 2 QB 91, 98, 99 (quoted in Trustees of the Port of Madras v. Adminchand Pyarelal, (1976)! SCR 721, 733) (SCC p.178, para 23):

> (1) "When the Court is called upon to consider the byelaws of public representative bodies clothed with the ample authority which I have described, accompanied by the checks and safeguards which I have mentioned, I think the consideration of such bye-laws ought to be approached from a different standpoint. They ought to be supported if possible. They ought to be, as has been said, 'benevolently interpreted' and credit ought to be given to those who have to administer them that they will be reasonably administered."

"The learned Chief Justice said further that there may be cases in which it would be the duty of the court to condemn by-laws made under such authority as these were made (by a county council) as invalid because unreasonable. But unreasonable in what sense? If for instance, they were found to be partial and unequal in their operation as between different classes; if they were manifestly unjust; if they disclosed bad faith; if they involved such oppressive or gratuitous interference with the rights of those subject to them as could find no justification in the minds of reasonable men, the court might well say, 'Parliament never intended to give authority to make such rules; they are unreasonable and ultra vires.' But it is in this and this sense only, as I conceive, that the question of reasonableness or unreasonableness can properly be regarded. A bye-law is not unreasonable merely because particular judges may think that it goes further than is prudent or necessary or convenient or because it is not accompanied by an exception which some judges may think ought to be there'.

" We may also refer with advantage to the well-known decision of the Privy Council in Slattery v. Naylor, (1988) 13 AC 446, where it has been laid down that when considering whether a bye-law is reasonable or not, the Court would need a strong case to be made against it and would decline to determine whether it would have been wiser or more prudent to make the bye-law less absolute or will it hold the bye-law to be unreasonable because considerations which the court would itself have regarded in framing such a bye-law have been over looked or reflected by its framers. The principles laid down as aforesaid in Kruse v. Johnson, (1898) 2 QB 91, 98, 99 and Stattery v. Naylor, (1988) 13 AC 446 have been cited with approval and applied by this Court in Trustees of the Port of Madras v. Aminchand Pyarelal & Ors.,(1976) 1 SCR 721, 733."

28. In Parisons Agrotech Private Limited and Another vs. Union of India and Others, (2015)9 SCC 657, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held:

"14. No doubt, the writ court has adequate power of judicial review in respect of such decisions. However, once it is found that there is sufficient material for taking a particular policy decision, bringing it within the four corners of Article 14 of the Constitution, power of judicial review would not extend to determine the correctness of such a policy decision or to indulge into the exercise of finding out whether there could be more appropriate or better alternatives. Once we find that parameters of Article 14 are satisfied; there was due application of mind in arriving at the decision which is backed by cogent material; the decision is not arbitrary or irrational and; it is taken in public interest, the Court has to respect such a decision of the Executive as the policy making is the domain of the Executive and the decision in question has passed the test of the judicial review.

15. In Union of India v. Dinesh Engg. Corpn., (2001)8 SCC 491, this Court delineated the aforesaid principle of judicial review in the following manner: (SCC pp.498-99, para 12)

"12……There is no doubt that this Court has held in more than one case that where the decision of the authority is in regard to the policy matter, this Court will not ordinarily interfere since these policy matters are taken based on expert knowledge of the persons concerned and courts are normally not equipped to question the correctness of a policy decision. But then this does not mean that the courts have to abdicate their right to scrutinize whether the policy in question is formulated keeping in mind all the relevant facts and the said policy can be held to be beyond the pale of discrimination or unreasonableness, bearing in mind the material on record. ….. Any decision be it a simple administrative decision or policy decision, if taken without considering the relevant facts, can only be termed as an arbitrary decision. If it is so, then be it a policy decision or otherwise, it will be violative of the mandate of Article 14 of the Constitution."

16. The power of the Court under writ jurisdiction has been discussed in Asif Hameed. v. State of J&K, 1989 Supp.(2) SCC 364: 1 SCEC 358 in paras 17 and 19, which read as under: (SCC pp. 373-74)

"17. Before adverting to the controversy directly involved in these appeals we may have a fresh look on the inter se functioning of the three organs of democracy under our Constitution. Although the doctrine of separation of powers has not been recognised under the Constitution in its absolute rigidity but the Constitution makers have meticulously defined the functions of various organs of the State. Legislature, executive and judiciary have to function within their own spheres demarcated under the Constitution. No organ can usurp the functions assigned to another. The Constitution trusts to the judgment of these organs to function and exercise their discretion by strictly following the procedure prescribed therein. The functioning of democracy depends upon the strength and independence of each of its organs. Legislature and executive, the two facets of people's will, they have all the powers including that of finance. Judiciary has no power over sword or the purse nonetheless it has power to ensure that the aforesaid two main organs of State function within the constitutional limits. It is the sentinel of democracy. Judicial review is a powerful weapon to restrain unconstitutional exercise of power by the legislature and executive. The expanding horizon of judicial review has taken in its fold the concept of social and economic justice. While exercise of powers by the legislature and executive is subject to judicial restraint, the only check on our own exercise of power is the self-imposed discipline of judicial restraint.

* * *

19. When a State action is challenged, the function of the court is to examine the action in accordance with law and to determine whether the legislature or the executive has acted within the powers and functions assigned under the Constitution and if not, the court must strike down the action. While doing so the court must remain within its self-imposed limits. The court sits in judgment on the action of a coordinate branch of the government. While exercising power of judicial review of administrative action, the court is not an appellate authority. The Constitution does not permit the court to direct or advise the executive in matters of policy or to sermonize qua any matter which under the Constitution lies within the sphere of legislature or executive, provided these authorities do not transgress their constitutional limits or statutory powers."

17. The aforesaid doctrine of separation of power and limited scope of judicial review in policy matters is reiterated in State of Orissa v. Gopinath Dash, (2005) 13 SCC 495 : (SCC p.497, paras 5-7)

"5. While exercising the power of judicial review of administrative action, the Court is not the Appellate Authority and the Constitution does not permit the Court to direct or advise the executive in the matter of policy or to sermonise qua any matter which under the Constitution lies within the sphere of the legislature or the executive, provided these authorities do not transgress their constitutional limits or statutory power. (See Asif Hameed v. State of J&K; 1989 Supp (2) SCC 364 and Shri Sitaram Sugar Co. Ltd. v. Union of India; (1990) 3 SCC 223). The scope of judicial enquiry is confined to the question whether the decision taken by the Government is against any statutory provisions or it violates the fundamental rights of the citizens or is opposed to the provisions of the Constitution. Thus, the position is that even if the decision taken by the Government does not appear to be agreeable to the Court, it cannot interfere.

6. The correctness of the reasons which prompted the Government in decision-making taking one course of action instead of another is not a matter of concern in judicial review and the Court is not the appropriate forum for such investigation.

7. The policy decision must be left to the Government as it alone can adopt which policy should be adopted after considering all the points from different angles. In the matter of policy decisions or exercise of discretion by the Government so long as the infringement of fundamental right is not shown the courts will have no occasion to interfere and the Court will not and should not substitute its own judgment for the judgment of the executive in such matters. In assessing the propriety of a decision of the Government the Court cannot interfere even if a second view is possible from that of the Government."

29. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Census Commissioner and Others vs. R.Krishnamurthy, (2015)2 SCC 796 held as under:

"23. The centripodal question that emanates for consideration is whether the High Court could have issued such a mandamus commanding the appellant to carry out a census in a particular manner.

24. The High Court has tried to inject the concept of social justice to fructify its direction. It is evincible that the said direction has been issued without any deliberation and being oblivious of the principle that the courts on very rare occasion, in exercise of powers of judicial review, would interfere with a policy decision.

25. Interference with the policy decision and issue of a mandamus to frame a policy in a particular manner are absolutely different. The Act has conferred power on the Central Government to issue Notification regarding the manner in which the census has to be carried out and the Central Government has issued Notifications, and the competent authority has issued directions. It is not within the domain of the Court to legislate. The courts do interpret the law and in such interpretation certain creative process is involved. The courts have the jurisdiction to declare the law as unconstitutional. That too, where it is called for. The court may also fill up the gaps in certain spheres applying the doctrine of constitutional silence or abeyance. But, the courts are not to plunge into policy making by adding something to the policy by way of issuing a writ of mandamus. There the judicial restraint is called for remembering what we have stated in the beginning. The courts are required to understand the policy decisions framed by the Executive. If a policy decision or a Notification is arbitrary, it may invite the frown of Article 14 of the Constitution. But when the Notification was not under assail and the same is in consonance with the Act, it is really unfathomable how the High Court could issue directions as to the manner in which a census would be carried out by adding certain aspects. It is, in fact, issuance of a direction for framing a policy in a specific manner.

26. In this context, we may refer to a three-Judge Bench decision in Suresh Seth V. Commr., Indore Municipal Corporation, (2005)13 SCC 287, wherein a prayer was made before this Court to issue directions for appropriate amendment in the M.P. Municipal Corporation Act, 1956 so that a person may be debarred from simultaneously holding two elected offices, namely, that of a Member of the Legislative Assembly and also of a Mayor of a Municipal Corporation. Repelling the said submission, the Court held: (SCC pp.288-89, para 5)

> "In our opinion, this is a matter of policy for the elected representatives of people to decide and no direction in this regard can be issued by the Court. That apart this Court cannot issue any direction to the legislature to make any particular kind of enactment. Under our constitutional scheme Parliament and Legislative Assemblies exercise sovereign power to enact laws and no outside power or authority can issue a direction to enact a particular piece of legislation. In Supreme Court Employees' Welfare Assn. v. Union of India, (1989)4 SCC 187 (SCC para 51) it has been held that no court can direct a legislature to enact a particular law. Similarly, when an executive authority exercises a legislative power by way of a subordinate legislation pursuant to the delegated authority of a legislature, such executive authority cannot be asked to enact a law which it has been empowered to do under the delegated legislative authority. This view has been reiterated in state of J & K v A.R. Zakki,1992 Supp(1) SCC 548. In A.K. Roy v. Union of India, (1982)1 SCC 271it was held that no mandamus can be issued to enforce an Act which has been passed by the legislature."

30. Consequently in view of the detailed discussions made hereinabove, we do not see any reason to interfere with the decision taken by the respondents and to invoke extra ordinary jurisdiction as prayed for by the petitioner in the present petition. Accordingly, the writ petition is dismissed.

31. Interim direction, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Geeta Devi ....Petitioner
Versus
State of H.P. & Another ....Respondents

CWP No.6760 of 2010
Judgment Reserved on: 06.09.2016
Date of decision: 07.10.2016

Himachal Pradesh Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972- Section 65 and 118- Petitioner executed an agreement to sell the land and put one J in possession – inquiry was conducted and it was found that there was violation of Section 118 of the Act- proceedings were initiated, which resulted in confiscation of the land along with the building in favour of the State- an appeal was filed before Divisional Commissioner, which was dismissed – appeal and revision were dismissed – held, that transfer of land by way of sale, gift, will, exchange, lease, mortgage with possession, creation of tenancy or in any other manner is not valid in favour of a person, who is not an agriculturist - there was no bar of transfer by way of an agreement and this bar was created in the year 1994 by amending the Act- the agreement was executed in the year 1990 – the amendment Act is not retrospective- the order passed by the authorities cannot be sustained- petition allowed.(Para-12 to 27)

Cases referred:

Santosh Malhotra vs. State of H.P. and Others, 2003(3) Shiml. L.C. 342
Som Kirti alias Som K.Nath and Others vs. State of H.P. and Others, Latest HLJ 2013 (HP) 1223

Garikapatti Veeraya vs. N.Subblah Choudhury, 1957 SCR 488
Dhyan Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and Others, 2012 (3) Shim.L.C. 1741

For the Petitioner:	Mr.Sunil Mohan Goel, Advocate.
For the Respondent No.1:	Mr.Rupinder Thakur, Additional Advocate General with Mr.Rajat Chauhan, Law Officer.
For Respondent No.2:	Nemo.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma,J.

By way of present writ petition filed under Article 226/227 of the Constitution of India, petitioner, who is owner of land in dispute, has laid challenge to the order dated 27.7.2010 passed by Financial Commissioner (Appeals), H.P. in Revision Petition No.132 of 2009, filed under Section 65 read with Section 118 sub-section 3(C) of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972 (hereinafter referred to as the `Act'), whereby he upheld the order of Divisional Commissioner, Shimla Division, Shimla, affirming the order of Collector, Solan, holding the petitioner herein responsible for violation of Section 118(1) of the `Act' and accordingly ordered for confiscation/vesting of the property in dispute in State of Himachal Pradesh alongwith building constructed thereon free from all encumbrances.

2. The genesis of the entire case is based on the order of Collector, Solan, passed in case No.25/13 of 1999. In nutshell case of respondent-State was that the petitioner herein, resident of village Manjhu, Tehsil Arki, District Solan, H.P., executed an agreement to sell qua the land comprised in Khasra No.531/472/422/389/59, measuring 0-2 Bigha, situated in Mauza Abadi Village Hatkot (Kunihar), Tehsil Arki, District Solan, and put one Shri J.P. Shah in possession of the same in violation of Section 118 of the Act without obtaining prior sanction of the Government, as required under Section 118 of the Act. Respondent-State, before initiating proceedings under Section 118 of the Act, got the matter inquired from Sub Divisional Officer(C), Arki on two occasions, who vide communication dated 27.1.2000 reported to the Deputy Commissioner, Solan that "in the light of above statements recorded by the undersigned, it is revealed that both Smt.Geeta Devi and J.P. Shah claimed themselves to be owner and tenant of the house under report respectively". He further reported that, "no deed has been executed for the transfer of the land as yet, therefore, the case does not fall within the ambit of Section 118 of the Act". He also reported that, "the parties have entered into an agreement of Rs.14000/- and they may execute sale deed for which permission is reported to have been sought by Sh.J.P. Shah". SDO(C) further suggested that, "when the deed will come for registration before the Sub Registrar, the matter could be examined at that time". But, it appears that matter was again inquired into by SDO(C), Arki, who vide communication dated 7.4.2000, addressed to the Deputy Commissioner, Solan, reported that in view of contradictory statements of the parties, it emerges that house has been constructed by Shri J.P. Shah and not by Smt.Geeta Devi and as such plea of Shri J.P. Shah's being tenant does not sustain in view of the statement of Shri Radhe Shyam and Shri J.P. Shah himself. Subsequent to aforesaid reports submitted by SDO(C), present petitioner was served with show cause notice calling upon her that why proceedings be not initiated against her under Section 118 of the Act.

3. Perusal of Annexure P-2 suggests that present petitioner filed reply to the notice dated 23.4.1999, wherein she claimed her to be exclusive owner in possession of the land described in the notice. She also claimed that she has raised/constructed a house over the suit land by spending her own money and by taking loans from the others. She also denied that she has sold property to J.P. Shah by way of agreement after receiving consideration. Rather, she stated that J.P. Shah is tenant in the house, existing over the suit land in question, and in no manner any transfer of land having been made by the replying respondent to anyone. To substantiate her aforesaid plea, she also stated that till date she is exclusive owner in possession of the land and the house in question and as such provisions of Section 118(3) of the Act are not applicable in the present case. However, fact remains that Collector concerned, being not satisfied with the reply submitted by the present petitioner, initiated proceedings under Section 118 of the Act against the present petitioner and vide order dated 31.7.2006 ordered that the land comprised in Khasra No.531/472/422/398/59, measuring 0-2 Bigha, situated in Mauza Abadi Village Hatkot (Kunihar) is hereby confiscated in the State of Himachal Pradesh alongwith building constructed thereon free from all encumbrances.

4. Petitioner, being dissatisfied with the aforesaid order passed by Collector, Solan, filed a Revenue Appeal No.100/2009 under Section 118(3)(b) of the Act, as amended up to 1994, before Divisional Commissioner, Shimla Division, Shimla. However, the same was dismissed on 10.8.2009 by the Divisional Commissioner, Shimla, by holding that fact of possession, having been transferred to Shri J.P. Shah for long time, has not been disputed by the appellant and as such there is a violation of provisions of the Act.

5. Feeling aggrieved and dissatisfied with the aforesaid orders passed by the Collector and Divisional Commissioner, present petitioner filed a Revision Petition under Section 118(3)(C) of the Act, specifically assailing therein order dated 10.8.2009 passed by the Divisional Commissioner, Shimla Division in Revenue Appeal No.100 of 2009, which came to be registered as Revision Petition No.132 of 2009. But learned Financial Commissioner (Appeals) dismissed the revision petition filed by the present petitioner and held that since Shri J.P. Shah, in whose favour present petitioner allegedly made sale, was not an agriculturist, as such, transaction was ab-initio void as per provisions of Section 118(3)(C) and (D) of the Act and as such land alongwith the building will vest in the State.

6. In the aforesaid background, present petitioner, being aggrieved with the orders passed by Financial Commissioner (Appeals) in Revision Petition, referred hereinabove, whereby he, while rejecting the revision petition preferred on behalf of the present petitioner, upheld the orders passed by Divisional Commissioner as well as Collector, wherein they had come to the conclusion that the present petitioner, Smt.Geeta Devi, put Shri J.P. Shah into possession of suit land in violation of provisions of Section 118(3) and as such ordered for confiscation of the property, preferred this writ petition.

7. Mr.Sunil Mohan Goel, learned counsel representing the petitioner, vehemently argued that the impugned order passed by Financial Commissioner (Appeals), whereby he upheld the orders passed by the Divisional Commissioner and Collector, is not sustainable in the eye of law as the same is in grave violation of provisions of the Act. Mr.Goel contended that bare perusal of order passed by Collector itself suggests that it was not proved on record that present petitioner had made any sale in favour of J.P. Shah in violation of Section 118 of the Act, rather property in question was given on monthly rent to Shri J.P Shah. He also contended that at no point of time respondent-State was able to prove on record by leading cogent and convincing evidence that any deed was executed for transfer of land in violation of the provisions of Section 118 of the Act and as such no action could be initiated against the petitioner in terms of Section 118(3) of the Act. To substantiate his aforesaid plea, he invited the attention of this Court to Annexure P-3 i.e. communication dated 27.1.2000, whereby SDO(C) Arki, had submitted his report to Deputy Commissioner, Solan, stating in uncertain terms that no deed has been executed for transfer of land as yet, therefore, the case does not fall within the ambit of Section 118 of the Act.

8. Mr.Goel further argued that if for the sake of arguments, case of the respondent-State is taken to be correct that petitioner Smt.Geeta Devi had executed an agreement to sell in favour of J.P. Shah for sale of suit land, even in that eventuality no action could be taken against present petitioner for violation of Section 118 of the Act because Section 118 of the Act prevalent at the time of alleged execution of agreement did not contemplate any penal action in case land is intended to be sold in favour of non- Himachali by way of agreement. In the aforesaid background, Mr.Goel prayed that impugned orders passed by the Financial Commissioner, Divisional Commissioner and Collector are required to be quashed and set aside.

9. Mr.Goel, while concluding his arguments, invited the attention of this Court to para-13 of the orders passed by the Financial Commissioner (Appeals) in Revision Petition, whereby he allegedly dealt with aforesaid fact of amendment in the Act, to demonstrate that Financial Commissioner below miserably failed to make distinction between the provisions contained in un-amended Section 118 of the Act and subsequent amendment in the Act. Mr.Goel also stated that learned authorities below failed to take note of judgment passed by this Court in Smt.Santosh Malhotra vs. State of H.P. and Others, 2003(3) Shiml.L.C. 342, wherein, issue, involved in the present case, has been elaborately dealt with by this Court.

10. Mr.Rupinder Singh Thakur, learned Additional Advocate General, argued that impugned orders passed by the Authorities below are based on correct appreciation of evidence available on record as well as law, as such, no interference, whatsoever, of this Court is warranted in the facts and circumstances of the present case. Mr.Thakur vehemently argued that it stands duly proved on record that present petitioner put non-agriculturist into possession of the land in dispute in violation of Section 118 of the Act without taking prior permission from the authorities as envisaged under Section 118 of the Act and as such no illegality and infirmity can be found in the impugned orders passed by the authorities as referred hereinabove. He also invited the attention of this Court to the latest judgment passed by the Division Bench of this Court in Som Kirti alias Som K.Nath and Others vs. State of H.P. and Others, Latest HLJ 2013 (HP) 1223 and other connected matters, whereby validity of Section 118 of the Act has been upheld. In the aforesaid background he prayed for dismissal of instant writ petition.

11. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record of the case.

12. Before adverting to the merits of the case, it may be stated that there is no dispute as far as validity of Section 118 of the Act ibid is concerned. Though issue with regard to validity of Section 118 of the Act has been examined by the Division Bench of this Court in many cases, but recently, while dealing with the batch of writ petitions, wherein vires of Section 118 of the Act were challenged by many parties, Division Bench of this Court vide judgment dated Ist October, 2013 passed in CWP No.443 of 1995, titled Som Kirti alias Som K.Nath and others vs. State of H.P. and others upheld the validity of Section 118 of the Act and as such this Court has no occasion, whatsoever, to examine validity, if any, of Section 118 of the Act.

13. This Court solely with a view to test the correctness and genuineness of arguments having been advanced on behalf of the petitioner that no penal action in terms of Section 118 of the Act could be taken against the present petitioner even if it is presumed that she had executed agreement to sell in favour of J.P. Shah for selling property in terms of un-amended Section 118 of the Act, would be examining issue at hand in light of the Section 118 of the Act.

14. The State of Himachal Pradesh enacted H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972, Chapter-XI deals with Control on transfer of land, wherein under Section 118 transfer of land to non-agriculturists is prohibited, it would be relevant to reproduce herein below Section 118 amended by amendment Act, 1988:-

> "118. Transfer of land to Non-agriculturists Barred.- (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any law, contract, agreement, custom or usage for the time being in force, but save as otherwise provided in this Chapter, on transfer of land (including sales in execution of a decree of a civil Court or for recovery of arrears of land revenue), by way of sale, gift, exchange, lease, mortgage with possession or creation of a tenancy shall be valid in favour of a person who is not an agriculturist.
>
> (2). Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to prohibit the transfer of land by any person in favour of-
>
> (a) to (h)……..

(i) a non-agriculturist with the permission of State Government for the purpose that may be prescribed:

Provided.....

(3) No Registrar or the Sub-Registrar appointed under the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (16 of 1908), shall register any document pertaining to a transfer of land, which is in contravention to sub-section (1) and such transfer shall be void ab initio and the land involved in such transfer, if made in contravention of sub-section (1), shall, together with structures, buildings or other attachments, if any, vest in the State Government free from all encumbrances."

15. Perusal of aforesaid amended Act of 1988 provides that no transfer of land by way of sale, gift, Will, exchange, lease, mortgage with possession, creation of tenancy or in any other manner shall be valid in favour of a person who is not an agriculturist.

16. However, proviso to aforesaid provisions suggests that non-agriculturist can purchase land with the prior permission of the State Government. But close scrutiny of aforesaid provisions, as amended; nowhere suggest that there is any bar to transfer the land by way of agreement. But, at this stage, it may be noticed that H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 1994 came into force on 22.3.1995, wherein explanation of Section 118(1) of Amendment Act was incorporated as under:

"Explanation.- For the purpose of this sub-section, the expression "transfer of land" shall include:-

(a) a benami transaction in which land is transferred to an agriculturist for a consideration paid or provided by a non-agriculturist, and

(b) an authorization made by the owner by way of special or general power of attorney or by an agreement with the intention to put a non-agriculturist in possession of the land and allow him to deal with the land in the like manner as if he is a real owner of that land."

17. Perusal of aforesaid amendment, which came into force on 22.3.1995, suggests that after amendment no transfer of land could be made by way of Special or General Power of Attorney or by an agreement with the intention to put an non-agriculturist in possession of the land and allow him to deal with the land in like manner as if he is real owner of that land.

18. Perusal of aforesaid explanation, which came into force on 22.3.1995, certainly suggests that after 22.3.1995 no transfer of land could be made by way of agreement also.

19. But in the present case, as clearly emerged, that alleged agreement to sell was entered into by the petitioner herein with J.P.Shah in the year 1990 i.e. admittedly before coming into operation of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 1994, wherein transfer of land was made prohibited even by way of agreement.

20. Hence, in view of aforesaid, this Court sees substantial force in the contention put forth on behalf of the counsel representing the petitioner. This Court, after perusing aforesaid amendment as well as case law referred by petitioner before Commissioner i.e. Smt.Santosh Mahlotra vs. State of H.P. and Others, 2003 (3) Shim.L.C. 342, has no hesitation to conclude that learned Financial Commissioner has fallen in grave error while concluding that "the amendments to the Act carried out in 1994 (and valid from 4.4.1995) do not come into play; the transaction between the petitioner took place around 1990 and the provisions incorporated by the 1987 amendments (valid from 14.4.1988 onwards) would cover the case fully. Section 118(3) of the amended Act provides for vesting of the land and structures/buildings in the State". Had Financial Commissioner (Appeals), while examining revision petition preferred on behalf of petitioner herein, bothered/cared to take into consideration the law referred by petitioner in Santosh Mahlotra's case supra, he would have not passed order which is impugned before this Court by way of present petition.

21. At this stage, this Court deems it necessary to refer to the law made by this Court in the aforesaid case of Santosh Mahlotra, where this Court has held as under:-

> "12. I have duly considered the respective contentions of the learned counsel for the parties. From the perusal of the original record of the Collector, Shimla, it is not in dispute that notices were issued by the collector to Jaidev Malhotra, Sh.B.N. Malhotra, Smt.Santosh Malhotra and Suresh Kumar Shukla under Section 119(1) of 'the Act' and Rule 38(B) of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Rules, 1975. All the parties have appeared before the Collector. Sh.B.N. Malhotra made the specific statement that his son Jaidev Malhotra purchased land in Kachhighati on which building had been constructed Jaidev Malhotra made the statement that the land in dispute belongs o his mother Smt.Santosh Malhotra on which he constructed the building. The Collector Shimla passed the order dated 20.2.1995 (Annexure P-2) in case No.1/94 against Jaidev Malhotra on the basis of the Income-tax returns filed by him before the Income Tax Department for the assessment years 1993-94 and 1994-95 in which he had shown having spent a sum of Rs.1,90,000/- on the construction of the building. The Collector Shimla in his order recorded the findings that as the General Power of Attorney (Anenxure P-1) has been executed by Suresh Kumar Shukla owner of the land in favour of Smt.Santosh Malhotra keeping in view the fact that no sale deed could be executed in favour of Smt.Santosh Kumar Mahlotra as she is not the agriculturist of State of H .P. and Jaidev Malhotra invested a sum of Rs.1,90,000/- for the construction of the building, therefore, the land has been acquired by him in violation of Section 118 of 'the Act'. The order of the Collector has been affirmed both by the Divisional Commissioner and by the Financial Commissioner in appeal.
>
> 13. The State of Himachal Pradesh enacted the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972. Chapter XI deals with Control on transfer of land. Section 118 prohibits the transfer of land to non-agriculturists which reads as under:
>
> > "118. Transfer of land to Non-Agriculturists Barred-(1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any law, contract, agreement, custom or usage for the time being in force, but save as otherwise provided in this Chapter, on transfer of land (including sales in execution of a decree of a civil court or for recovery of arrears of land revenue), by way of sale, gift, exchange, lease, mortgage with possession or creation of a tenancy shall be valid in favour of a person who is not an agriculturist.
> >
> > (2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to prohibit the transfer of land by any person in favour of—
> >
> > (a) to (h).....
> >
> > (i) a non-agriculturist with the permission of State Government for the purpose that may be prescribed:
> >
> > Provided.....
> >
> > (3) No Registrar or the Sub-Registrar appointed under the Indian Registration Act, 1908 (16 of 1908), shall register any document pertaining to a transfer of land, which is in contravention to sub-section (1) and such transfer shall be void ab initio and the land involved in such transfer, if made in contravention of sub-section (1), shall, together with structures, buildings or other attachments, if any, vest in the State Government free from all encumbrances."
>
> 14. The revenue authorities below have mis-directed themselves in applying the above extracted provisions of Section 118 of the 'Act' in the present case. Suresh Kumar Shukla has not transferred his ownership rights and interest in the property in favour of Smt. Santosh Malhotra by way of General Power of Attorney (Annexure:P1) and the transfer by way of execution of the General Power of Attorney is not incorporated in Section 118(1) of the 'Act'. The transfer of land to non-agriculturist is only barred under Section 118(1) if the transfer is by way of sale gift, exchange, lease, mortgage with possession or creation of tenancy including sales in execution of a decree of a Civil Court or for recovery of arrears of Land Revenue. The General Power of Attorney has been executed on 7.11.1991 by Suresh Kumar Shukla the owner of the property in favour of Smt.Santosgh Malhotra in which she has only been authorized to look after, manage, sell or construct the building on the piece of land, to enter into agreement, to sell, to receive the earnest money, to execute or sign on the sale deed etc. etc. On bare reading of the General Power of Attorney it cannot be concluded that Suresh Kumar Shukla has transferred the land by way of sale, gift, etc. etc. envisaged in Section 118(1) of the Act in favour of Smt. Santosh Malhotra or in favour of Jai Dev Malhotra nor it is proved on record that Smt. Santosh Malhotra has sold the land to her son Jaidev Malhotra on the strength of the General Power of Attorney. The reasoning of the Collector that as Jaidev Malhotra had spent a sum of Rs.1,90,000/- on the construction of the building on the land as reflected by him in his Income-tax returns will not be a sufficient proof that Suresh Kumar Shukla has transferred the land to Jaidev Malhotra on the basis of the General Power of Attorney executed in favour of his mother. The H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 1994 came into force on 22.3.1995 whereas the General Power of Attorney (Annexure P-1) has been executed on 7.11.1991 as noticed above and the Collector passed the order (Annexure-P2) on 20.2.1995 prior to the date of the enforcement of the amended Act. Explanation of Section 118(1) of the Amendment 'Act' reads as under:

"Explanation – For the purpose of this sub-section, the expression "transfer of land" shall include:-

(a) a benami transaction in which land is transferred to an agriculturist for a consideration paid or provided by a non-agriculturist, and

(b) an authorization made by the owner by way of special or general power of attorney or by an agreement with the intention to put a non-agriculturist in possession of the land and allow him to deal with the land in the like manner as if he is a real owner of that land." (Pp.347,348 & 349)

22. Careful perusal of aforesaid judgment passed by this Court in Santosh Mahlotra's case supra clearly suggest that provisions incorporated in the principal Act by amendment Act 1994, which came into force on 22.3.1995 could not be made applicable in the cases which pertained to years prior to amendment carried out on 22.3.1995. Hence, this Court has no hesitation to conclude that revenue authorities have passed impugned orders against the petitioner herein, contrary to the provisions of Section 118 of 1988 Act, because amendment Act, which came into force on 22.3.1995, could not be made applicable retrospectively in the present case.

23. At this stage, it may be stated that though respondent, while opposing present petition, did not raise issue, if any, of retrospectively as far as amendment Act, 1994 is concerned, which came into force on 22.3.1995, but it is well settled law that in the absence of anything in enactment to show that it is to have retrospective operation, it cannot be so construed as to have the effect of altering the law applicable to claim under litigation at the time when the Act was passed (See: Garikapatti Veeraya vs. N.Subblah Choudhury, 1957 SCR 488).

24. Since this Court had an occasion to peruse H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms (Amendment) Act, 1994, wherein expression 'transfer of land' was amended, but this Court was unable to find any specific clause stating therein that amendment would have retrospective operation and as such it can be inferred that Amendment Act, 1994 was prospective in nature.

25. As clearly emerged from the judgment passed by this Court, referred hereinabove, the issue at hand is not more res intigra, rather pursuant to aforesaid judgment, this Court in number of judgments reiterated the view taken in Santosh Mahlotra's case supra.

26. Reliance is placed on the judgment of our own High Court in Dhyan Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and Others, 2012 (3) Shim.L.C. 1741, wherein this Court, while dealing with the aforesaid aspect of amendment, has also dealt with issue of retrospectivity and as such it would be profitable to refer to para-6 of the judgment:-

> "6. Learned Counsel also places reliance on the decision of the Supreme Court in Maharaja Chintamani Saran Nath Shahdeo v. State of Bihar and others, (1999)8 SCC 16. The Court holds:
>
> 22. In view of the facts and circumstances of the case and in the alternative Mr. Agarwal, the learned counsel for the respondent has urged that the amending Act being substituted legislation would have retrospective effect.
>
> 23. In Garikapatti Veeraya v. N. Subbiah Choudhury, [1957] SCR 488, Chief Justice S.R. Das speaking for the Court observed as follows :
>
> "The golden rule of construction is that, in the absence of anything in the enactment to show that it is to have retrospective operation, it cannot be so construed as to have the effect of altering the law applicable to a claim in litigation at the time when the Act was passed."
>
> 24. We may also refer to Francis Bennion's Statutory Interpretation, 2nd Edn.,at p. 214 wherein the learned author commented as follows :
>
> "The essential idea of a legal system is that current law should govern current activities. Elsewhere in this work a particular Act is likened to a floodlight switched on or off, and the general body of law to the circumambient air. Clumsy though these images are, they show the inappropriateness of retrospective laws. If we do something today, we feel that the law applying to it should be the law in force today, not tomorrow's backward adjustment of it. Such, we believe, is the nature of law. Dislike of expost facto law is enshrined in the United States Constitution and in the Constitutions of many American States, which forbid it. The true principle is that Lex prospicit non respicit (law looks forward not back). As Willes, J. said, retrospective legislation is `contrary to the general principle that legislation by which the conduct of mankind is to be regulated ought, when introduced for the first time, to deal with future acts, and ought not to change the character of past transactions carried on upon the faith of the then existing law."
>
> 25. This Court in Hitendra Vishnu Tlutkur and Others v. State of Maharashtra and Others, [1994] 4 SCC 602 has culled out the principles with regard to the ambit and scope of an amending Act and its retrospective operation as follows :
>
> (i) A statute which affects substantive rights is presumed to be prospective in operation unless made retrospective, either expressly or by necessary intendment, whereas a statute which merely affects procedure, unless such a construction is tex-tually impossible, is presumed to be retrospective in its application, should not be given an extended meaning and should be strictly confined to its clearly defined limits.
>
> (ii) Law relating to forum and limitation is procedural in nature, whereas law relating to right of action and right of appeal even though remedial is substantive in nature.
>
> (iii) Every litigant has a vested right in substantive law but no such right exists in procedural law.

(iv) A procedural statute should not generally speaking be applied retrospectively where the result would be to create new disabilities or obligations or to impose new duties in respect of transactions already accomplished.

(v) A statute which not only changes the procedure but also creates new rights and liabilities shall be construed to be prospective in operation, unless otherwise provided, either expressly or by necessary implication." [P.25 & 26)

27. After bestowing my thoughtful consideration qua the fact and circumstances of the case, especially proposition of law as discussed in detail hereinabove, I find that case at hand was squarely covered by decision of this Court in Santosh Mahlotra's case supra and as such Financial Commissioner (Appeals) has erred in law while holding that amendments to Act carried on in the year 1994 do not come into play and provisions incorporated in 1987 of the amendment covers the case fully.

28. This Court is of the view that amendment in the Act, made on 22.3.1995 prohibiting transfer of land by way of agreement, is not retrospective and as such agreement to sell made, if any, by present petitioner prior to amendment Act, 1994, cannot be said in violation of provisions of Section 118 of the Act. Accordingly, order of Financial Commissioner, affirming the orders of authorities below, is quashed and set aside. This petition is allowed with no order as to costs.

29. Interim direction, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

M/s.Cosmo Ferrites Ltd. ....Petitioner

Versus

State of H.P. & Others ....Respondents

CWP No. 5982 of 2010.
Judgment Reserved on: 26.08.2016
Date of decision: 07.10.2016

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- The workman had joined the service in the month of June, 1989 and continued till 19.1.1999, when his services were terminated without resorting to the provisions of the Act – Departmental proceedings were initiated against the petitioner but the proceedings were not fair – proper opportunity was not granted to the petitioner to defend himself- Industrial Tribunal directed the reinstatement of the workman in service with seniority and continuity along with back wages from the date of illegal termination- Tribunal concluded that proper opportunity of cross-examination of the witnesses was not afforded to the workman- an opportunity to defend his case throughdefence assistance was also not afforded – proceedings were conducted in English and there is no evidence that petitioner knew English language- other infirmities were also pointed out in the proceedings – held, that Tribunal had fallen in error in pointing out the irregularities in the cross-examination- workman had not objected to the appointment of the Inquiry Officer or conducing the proceedings in English – Workman had not requested for the appointment of the defence assistance- the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act are not applicable in the domestic inquiry – the order passed by Tribunal set aside- however, compensation of Rs.1.5 lacs ordered to be paid in lieu of 10 years' service rendered by him.

(Para-10 to 43)

Cases referred:

North-East Karnataka Road Transport Corporation vs. M.Nagangouda, (2007)10 SCC 765
Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. M/s.Hindalco Industries Ltd. 2014 AIR SCW 315

South Indian Cashew Factories Workers' Union vs. Kerala State Cashew Development Corpn.Ltd. and Others, (2006) 5 SCC 302
Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. Vs. Maharashtra General Kamgar Union and Others, (1999)1 SCC 626
D.G. Railway Protection Force and Others vs. K.Raghuram Babu, (2008)4 SCC 406
State of Haryana and Another vs. Rattan Singh, (1977)2 SCC 491
Workmen of Balmadies Estates vs. Management, Balmadies Estates and Others, (2008)4 SCC 517
Om Parkash vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2016 LLR 683
Divisional Controller, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation vs. M.G. Vittal Rao, (2012)1 SCC 442
Om Parkash vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2016 LLR 683
E.P. Royappa vs. State of Tamil Nadu and Another, (1974)4 SCC 3
Gulam Mustafa and Others vs. The State of Maharashtra and Others, (1976)1 SCC 800
Kumaon Mandal Vikas Nigam Ltd. Vs. Girja Shankar Pant and Others, (2001)1 SCC 182
J.K. Synthetics Ltd. Vs. K.P. Agrawal and Another, (2007)2 SCC 433
Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. Hindalco Industries Limited, (2014)11 SCC 85
Mackinnon Mackenzie and Company Limited vs. Mackinnon Employees Union, (2015)4 SCC 544
Tota Ram vs. Belliss India (Private) Limited, (2016)6 SCC 406

For the Petitioner:	Mr.Rahul Mahajan, Advocate.
For Respondent No.1:	Mr.Rupinder Singh Thakur, Additional Advocate General with Mr.Rajat Chauhan, Law Officer.
For Respondent No.2:	Mr.Rohit Sharma & Mr.Anuj Gupta, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma,J.

By way of present petition filed under Article 226/227 of the Constitution of India, the petitioner-Company has laid challenge to the award dated 30th June, 2010 passed by Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal, Shimla, H.P. (for short `Tribunal') in Ref.No.93 of 2000, whereby the learned Tribunal below, while allowing the claim put forth on behalf of respondent-workman, has held him entitled for reinstatement in service with seniority and continuity alongtwith full back wages from the date of his illegal termination i.e 19th January, 1999.

2. Documents available on record suggest that appropriate government made reference under Section 10(1) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as the `Act') in the following terms:

> "Whether the termination of services of Shri Om Prakash ex worker by the Management of M/s.Cosmo Ferrities Ltd. Parwanoo, District Solan, HP w.e.f. 19.1.1999, without compliance of section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 by holding the enquiry ex parte without affording the reasonable opportunity of being heard to the worker in consonance with the principles of fair-play and natural justice, is legal and justified? If not to what relief of service benefits and amount of compensation, Shri Om Prakash is entitled to?"

3. In nutshell, respondent-workman claimed that he had joined services of the petitioner-Company in the month of June, 1989 and continued as such till 19th January, 1999, when his services were dispensed with illegally without resorting to the provisions of the Act. Respondent-workman further set up a case before the learned Tribunal below that the Management of the petitioner-Company always intended to dispense with his services due to his involvement in Trade Unions. Accordingly, Management in pre-planned manner constituted domestic inquiry against him, which was merely an eyewash. Respondent-workman further contended that even the charge-sheet issued vide letter dated Ist November, 1998 was biased, unfair, vague and defective for the reason that it was in English language and as such, he, being illiterate person, was unable to understand the contents contained in the same. He also claimed that list of witnesses of the Management as well as documents in support of charges were not supplied to him at any point of time by the Management before initiating alleged disciplinary proceedings against him. Respondent-workman further contended that in the charge-sheet, Management itself declared strike to be illegal for the purpose of specifically framing charges against him. Moreover, Management of the petitioner-Company got appointed Senior Manager of the Factory as an Inquiry Officer with a view to get desired results. He further stated that Inquiry Officer conducted the proceedings without settlement of procedure because at no point of time he was made aware that what kind of procedure would be adopted in the disciplinary proceedings initiated against him at the behest of Management. He also alleged that no opportunity of being heard was ever afforded to him because despite his specific request, no Defence Assistant was provided to him. Similarly, he claimed that Management despite knowing fully well that respondent-workman was not conversant with English language, Inquiry Officer conducted the proceedings in English, as a result of which great prejudice is caused to him. Respondent-workman further claimed that Management witnesses were partial and at no point of time independent witnesses were examined and as such inquiry, if any, conducted against him was eyewash and one side story put forth on behalf of the Management of the petitioner-Company.

4. Apart from above, respondent-workman also claimed that he was not afforded proper opportunity to cross-examine witnesses of the Management solely for the reason that he could not have known as to what had been written in the proceedings which were in English. Since inquiry report was also prepared in English, he was not aware with regard to the discussion, if any, qua the version put forth by him during alleged disciplinary proceedings. Respondent-workman claimed that since entire inquiry proceedings were conducted in violation of principle of natural justice, same deserves to be quashed and set aside. Respondent-workman also stated before the Tribunal below that punishment imposed against him by the disciplinary authority is not in consonance with the alleged charges leveled against him and as such dismissal order issued vide order dated 19th September, 1999 deserves to be quashed and set aside and he deserves to be reinstated with seniority, continuity, full back wages and other consequential service benefits by setting aside the inquiry proceedings.

5. Petitioner-Company by way of counter claim/written statement disputed the claim of respondent-workman by raising preliminary objections qua the maintainability of dispute, if any, before the Tribunal. On merits, petitioner-Company while refuting the allegations made in the claim specifically stated that all the relevant material was duly supplied to respondent-workman during the inquiry proceedings conducted by the Inquiry Officer. Petitioner-Company also contended that inquiry proceedings were conducted in most fair and proper manner by following the principles of natural justice and there is no merit in the claim put forth on behalf of respondent-workman. Petitioner-Company specifically stated before the Tribunal below that at no point of time during inquiry, objection, if any, was ever raised by the workman that proceedings should be conducted in Hindi and he be allowed to be represented through authorized representative. Similarly, petitioner-Company stated before Tribunal that no objection was ever raised with regard to appointment of Inquiry Officer and as such at this stage no objection, if any, with regard to appointment of Mr.Yatish Khurana can be raised, who was admittedly Senior Manager in the Company at that relevant time. Petitioner-Company also contended that the petitioner had participated in inquiry proceedings and he was duly supplied show cause notice, charge sheet, list of witnesses and other relevant record in Hindi also and as such it is not justified on his part to allege that he had been condemned unheard, rather record would go to show that fair and reasoned inquiry had been conducted and due and admissible opportunity was afforded to respondent-workman to defend himself. Petitioner-Company specifically contended before Tribunal below that since respondent-workman never objected for holding inquiry in English, there was no occasion for the Management to conduct inquiry proceedings in Hindi. In the aforesaid back ground petitioner-Company sought dismissal of the claim put forth on behalf of respondent-workman.

6. Respondent-workman, by way of rejoinder, reaffirmed and reiterated his claim by denying the reply filed on behalf of the petitioner-Company. Learned Tribunal on the basis of pleadings available on record framed following issues:-

"1. Whether the termination o the petitioner is illegal and unjustified as alleged?

2. Whether the petition is not maintainable as alleged?

3. Whether termination was ordered by respondent aftr holding a fair and legal enquiry as alleged?

4. Relief."

7. Subsequently, learned Tribunal below vide impugned award dated 30th June, 2010 upheld the claim of the respondent-workman, as a result of which, present petitioner-Company was directed to reinstate respondent-workman in service with seniority and continuity alongwith full back wages from the date of his illegal termination i.e. 19th January, 1999.

8. In the aforesaid background, present petitioner-Company, being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned award, approached this Court by way of present writ petition, praying therein for quashing and setting aside of award dated 30th June, 2010 passed in reference no.93/2000 by learned Tribunal below by issuing writ in the nature of certiorari.

9. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record of the case.

10. Close scrutiny of material available on record clearly suggests that respondent-workman was engaged by the petitioner-Company in the month of June, 1989, where he continued to work till 19th January, 1999, when he was ordered to be dismissed from his service, pursuant to disciplinary proceedings initiated against him. It also emerge from the record that since respondent-workman was involved in illegal strike, disciplinary proceedings were initiated against him and on the basis of material adduced therein by the Management, Inquiry Officer held him guilty of misconduct, as a result of which he was awarded penalty of dismissal from service vide order dated 19th January, 1999.

11. Careful perusal of impugned award passed by learned Tribunal below suggests that learned Tribunal below, on the basis of evidence led on record by respective parties, came to the conclusion that petitioner was not afforded any opportunity to get his case defended through Defence Assistant. Learned Tribunal below also came to the conclusion that proper opportunity of cross-examining the witnesses of Management, who were not independent, was also not afforded to respondent-workman. Accordingly, learned Tribunal, while upholding the claim put forth on behalf of the respondent-workman, came to the conclusion that inquiry conducted against respondent-workman cannot be said to have been conducted by following the principle of natural justice. Similarly, learned Tribunal below, while examining the letter dated 26th November, 1998 (Ex.RC), whereby Shri Yatish Khurana was appointed as Inquiry Officer to conduct inquiry into the charges leveled against respondent-workman, observed that since Mr.Yatish Khurana was not examined as witness by the petitioner-Company in support of its contentions, inquiry proceedings, if any, conducted by petitioner-Company cannot be said to have been proved in accordance with law for the reasons that Shri Yatish Khurana, Inquiry Officer, was the best person to depose before the Court that whether proper procedure was followed at the time of inquiry or not.

12. Similarly, Tribunal below came to the conclusion that Inquiry Officer had not made known to respondent-workman as to what procedure he was to follow while conducting the inquiry. In this regard learned Tribunal, on the basis of material made available to it, came to the conclusion that no statement of respondent-workman had been recorded that he did not choose/opt to get the services of Defence Assistant despite the fact that in this regard, request was made by respondent-workman. Similarly, Tribunal came to the conclusion that there is nothing in the inquiry proceedings that respondent-workman had agreed to get conducted the inquiry proceedings in English, which he was unable to understand. Learned Tribunal below, while placing reliance upon school leaving certificate Ex.P-2, concluded that it stands duly proved on record that the respondent-workman had studied up to 3rd standard and as such it can be safely inferred that he was unable to understand English. Tribunal below, while allowing claim put forth on behalf of the respondent-workman, also came to the conclusion that no counter evidence has been led by petitioner-Company in order to show that respondent-workman was qualified enough to know English language and as such great prejudice was caused to him.

13. At this stage, it may be noticed that petitioner-Company, by way of placing entire inquiry proceedings, made an attempt to prove before Tribunal below that copies of day to day proceedings, including statements of the witnesses, were supplied to the respondent-workman, on which he appended his signatures, but learned Tribunal was of the view that it was obligatory upon the Inquiry Officer to have supplied to the respondent-workman, copies of those proceedings. For the failure of the Inquiry Officer to supply the copies, great prejudice has been caused to the respondent-workman, who was unable to defend himself in the enquiry, which was conducted against him.

14. Similarly, Tribunal concluded that perusal of Ex.PB, copy of charge-sheet, itself suggests that no documents as well as list of witnesses of the Management were supplied to respondent-workman and as such, it cannot be said that due and proper procedure was followed by the petitioner-Company while conducting disciplinary proceedings against respondent-workman. Apart from above, Tribunal also observed that it is revealed from the record that Management examined witnesses i.e. Ashok Dhiman (MRW-1), Ved Ram (MRW-2), Rajinder Tahkur (MRW-3) and Bhim Dutt (MRW-4), during enquiry proceedings. Perusal of their statements clearly shows that the same were recorded in question and answer form, which were in English. Hence, it cannot be said that the respondent-workman was afforded opportunity to cross-examine them in question and answer form, which were admittedly in English.

15. Learned Tribunal, after perusing the inquiry record, also found that one Shri S.C. Katoch, who had conducted inquiry proceedings on behalf of the Management, was also not examined as a witness and as such Management was not able to prove inquiry proceedings, which as per them was conducted in most fair manner after following due procedure. As per Tribunal, had the Management examined Shri S.C. Katoch, Inquiry Officer, it could have been known that whether the Inquiry Officer had followed the proper procedure while conducting the inquiry or not.

16. If the impugned award passed by the learned Tribunal below is read in its entirety, it clearly emerge that following factors weighed heavily with the Tribunal while allowing the claim of the respondent-workman:-

1. Charge sheet served upon the respondent-workman was not accompanied with any document or list of witnesses.
2. Respondent-workman was not informed about the procedure which was to be followed by the Inquiry Officer in order to conduct the inquiry.
3. Inquiry proceedings were conducted in English by Inquiry Officer fully knowing that respondent-workman is only studied up to 3rd standard.
4. Despite there being specific request by the respondent-workman, he was not provided with Defence Assistant during inquiry proceedings.
5. Shri Yatish Khurana, Inquiry Officer was not examined by the petitioner-Company before the Tribunal below, who could prove that inquiry proceedings placed on record by the petitioner-Company was conducted in fair and proper manner by following due procedure as laid down.

6. Lastly petitioner-Company failed to examine Shri S.C. Katoch, representative of the Management, who could depose before the Tribunal below that Inquiry Officer had followed due procedure while conducting inquiry.

7. No proper opportunity was afforded to respondent-workman to cross-examine the witnesses of petitioner-Company since they all were examined and their statements were recorded in question and answer form, which was in English

17. On the aforesaid points, as have been culled out by this Court, after reading award of the Labour Court in its entirety, learned Tribunal below accepted the claim of the respondent-workman and held him entitled for reinstatement with benefit of continuity of service and seniority with full back wages.

18. Now, this Court would be examining the aforesaid illegalities pointed out by Tribunal in the light of the defence taken by the petitioner-Company before learned Tribunal below as well as submissions having been made on behalf of Shri Rahul Mahajan, learned counsel representing the petitioner-Company before this Court.

19. If, in nutshell, written statement of petitioner-Company is perused, it emerge that the petitioner-Company submitted before the Tribunal below that inquiry was conducted in most proper and fair manner and due opportunity of being heard was afforded to the respondent-workman by the Inquiry Officer and as such there is no violation of principle of natural justice. Petitioner-Company also claimed that since charge against the respondent-workman was duly proved and thereafter on having served a notice upon him and receiving reply, his services were discharged by imposing lesser punishment. Petitioner-Company also contended before the Tribunal below that respondent-workman was served with charge-sheet alongwith documents and he was afforded opportunity to examine defence witnesses and further opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses and it cannot be said that Inquiry Officer had not followed the prescribed procedure. Close scrutiny of written statement filed on behalf of petitioner-Company suggests that it stated before the Tribunal that since respondent-workman at no point of time objected during inquiry proceedings before the Inquiry Officer that the same should not be conducted in English. At no point of time he made any request to authorities to conduct inquiry in Hindi and as such there was no occasion for them to conduct the enquiry proceedings in Hindi.

20. Shri Rahul Mahajan, learned counsel representing the petitioner-Company, vehemently argued that bare perusal of impugned award dated 30th June, 2010 suggests that the same is wrong, illegal, bad in law based upon surmises and conjectures, non-appreciation and mis-appreciation of oral and documentary evidence on record and as such same deserves to be quashed and set aside.

21. Mr.Mahajan, further contended that learned Tribunal has miserably failed to appreciate that respondent-workman was issued charge-sheet in respect of misconduct, which was serious in nature of inciting, instigating the workers of the petitioner-Company to restrain from work, abetting, organizing meeting and demonstration inside the petitioner-company/industrial establishment with a view to intimidate the Management so that it concedes to the unreasonable, unjustified demand of the workmen, shouting and slogans against the executive of the company in abusive defamatory language and to resort to illegal tool down/strike and to threaten the workers to stop works, as such he was rightly dismissed from service that too after completion of disciplinary proceedings, which were conducted in most fair and proper manner as is evident from the complete inquiry proceedings placed on record by the petitioner-Company.

22. Mr.Mahajan further contended that once respondent-workman failed to reply to the charge sheet, he was given reminder and ultimately he filed reply, which was found unsatisfactory and therefore domestic inquiry was conducted, wherein charges in respect of the charge-sheet Ex.RB stood duly proved and thereafter 2nd show cause notice was issued and services of respondent-workman were dispensed with after receipt of his reply, which was found unsatisfactory.

23. Mr.Mahajan further contended that learned Tribunal below has fallen in grave error while not appreciating that it had very limited power under the Act to interfere in the matter of punishment imposed upon the delinquent workers as far as penalty qua the major misconduct is concerned. In the present case, it stood duly proved on record that respondent-workman insisted or abetted his fellow workers in the Company against the Management and as such there is no illegality and infirmity in dismissal order issued against him by the Management which was passed after following due procedure of law. While adverting to the findings returned by the Tribunal below that Defence Assistant was not made available to respondent-workman despite his request, Mr.Mahajan strenuously argued that aforesaid finding is contrary to documentary and oral evidence available on record because respondent-workman at no point of time ever asked to be represented through the Defence Assistant. To substantiate his aforesaid arguments, he invited the attention of this Court to the cross-examination conducted on respondent-workman, wherein he specifically admitted that he had not given in writing to the Inquiry Officer to provide a Defence Assistant but orally requested him. Similarly, Mr.Mahajan stated that right to be represented in an inquiry by Defence Assistant is not a statutory right, rather, the same depends upon the Rules and Regulations. Thus, it is evident from the statement of respondent-workman himself, who appeared as PW-1, that at no point of time he ever made any request to be represented through a Defence Assistant and as such learned Tribunal below has fallen in grave error while concluding that no Defence Assistant was made available to respondent-workman on his behalf.

24. Similarly, Mr.Mahajan stated that learned Tribunal failed to appreciate that just, fair and proper domestic inquiry was conducted, wherein day to day inquiry proceedings were duly signed by respondent-workman, the representatives of petitioner-Company and Inquiry Officer. He also invited the specific attention of this Court to the cross-examination conducted on respondent-workman wherein he stated that "charge sheet was received and reply was given". In his cross-examination, respondent-workman also admitted that "when inquiry was started, I signed every day inquiry proceedings and all the proceedings bear my signatures as the Inquiry Officer used to take my signatures in the proceedings every day." Similarly, Mr.Mahajan invited the attention of this Court to the admission made by respondent-workman in cross-examination, wherein he stated that "it is correct that he was I was informed by the Management about the Enquiry Officer and I received the letter."

25. Mr.Mahajan forcefully contended that since respondent-workman in his cross-examination himself admitted his signatures on the cross-examination of the witnesses, Suresh, Mukesh at point B & C, findings returned by the learned Tribunal below cannot be said to be based upon proper appreciation of evidence, wherein it has been concluded that no opportunity of cross-examination was afforded to respondent-workman while cross-examining the witnesses produced on behalf of the petitioner-Company. Mr.Mahajan made this Court to travel through inquiry proceedings Ex.RD-1 to RD-16 to demonstrate that on each and every order respondent-workman has appended his signatures, meaning thereby that he was made aware of each and every order passed on day to day basis during inquiry proceedings.

26. Mr.Mahajan also contended that bare perusal of proceedings, as referred hereinabove, nowhere suggests that at any point of time, objection, if any, was raised by the respondent-workman with regard to conducting of disciplinary proceedings in English.

27. This Court, after hearing aforesaid submissions having been made on behalf o of Mr.Mahajan as well as documents referred by him, is of the view that learned Tribunal has fallen in error while concluding that no fair and proper domestic inquiry was held, wherein day to day inquiry proceedings were not supplied to respondent-workman because this Court had an occasion to peruse Ex.RD-1 to RD-16 i.e. inquiry proceedings, perusal whereof clearly suggests that on each and every day proceedings, respondent-workman had appended his signatures alongwith Inquiry Officer and other relevant persons. Similarly, this Court nowhere finds that at any point of time respondent-workman raised objection with regard to holding of inquiry in English. If respondent-workman had any difficulty in understanding proceedings in English, he could always lodge his protest in writing to the Inquiry Officer with a request to conduct inquiry in Hindi but same was not done by him. Similarly, careful perusal of cross-examination conducted on this witness itself suggests that when inquiry was started respondent-workman signed everyday inquiry proceedings and he was also informed by the Management with regard to appointment of Inquiry Officer. Respondent-workman categorically admitted in his cross-examination that he received letter in this regard. Hence, in view of candid admission having been made on behalf of respondent-workman, this Court really finds it difficult to accept the conclusion drawn by the learned Tribunal below, while allowing the claim of the respondent-workman, wherein it concluded that inquiry was not conducted in proper and fair manner and no opportunity of being heard was afforded to respondent-workman. Similarly, respondent-workman himself in his cross-examination admitted that at no point of time he i.e. PW-1 made request to be represented through the Defence Assistant. In his cross-examination he specifically admitted that he never made any request in writing but orally he requested the Inquiry Officer, but after perusing the entire evidence and proceedings, this Court really find it difficult to accept the version put forth on behalf of respondent-workman that he had orally asked the Inquiry Officer to provide him Defence Assistant.

28. Mr.Mahajan vehemently argued that the impugned award is not based on the correct appreciation of oral and documentary evidence produced on the record. He also stated that bare perusal of impugned award itself suggests that the same is contrary to the facts as well as material placed on record by the petitioner-Company and as such same deserves to be quashed and set aside. Mr.Mahajan, with a view to demonstrate that learned Tribunal has fallen in grave error while returning the findings contrary to record, invited the attention of this Court to various documents available on record. Apart from above, Mr.Mahjajan made various submissions to prove that the impugned judgment is perverse and is a result of misreading and misinterpretation of facts as well as of law, which are not being reproduced for the sake of brevity and same would be dealt with specifically by this Court while examining the correctness and genuineness of the impugned award passed by the Tribunal below.

29. Mr.Mahajan further argued that respondent-workman was not able to prove on record that he was not gainfully employed during period of termination and as such learned Tribunal below had no reason to grant him full back wages while holding him entitled for reinstatement.

30. Mr. Mahajan stated that respondent-workman himself admitted that during period of termination he was doing agricultural work at home, meaning thereby that he was gainfully employed in terms of the aforesaid judgment.

31. In this regard Mr.Mahajan placed reliance on North-East Karnataka Road Transport Corporation vs. M.Nagangouda, (2007)10 SCC 765, wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:-

> "17. On the said question, we are unable to accept the reasoning of the Labour Court that the income received by the respondent from agricultural pursuits could not be equated with income from gainful employment in any establishment. In our view, "gainful employment" would also include self- employment wherefrom income is generated. Income either from employment in an establishment or from self-employment merely differentiates the sources from which income is generated, the end use being the same. Since the respondent was earning some amount from his agricultural pursuits to maintain himself, the Labour Court was not justified in holding that merely because the respondent was receiving agricultural income, he could not be treated to be engaged in "gainful employment".

32. Per contra, Mr.Anuj Gupta vehemently argued that bare perusal of the award passed by Tribunal below itself suggest that same is based upon correct appreciation of the evidence adduced on record by the respective parties and as such no interference, whatsoever, of this Court warranted in the facts and circumstances of the case. While referring to the impugned award, Mr.Gupta forcefully contended that each and every aspect of the matter has been dealt with meticulously by the Tribunal below while answering the reference referred to by the appropriate Government and as such present petition deserves to be dismissed being devoid of merit. Mr.Gupta also reminded this Court of its limited powers under Article 226 of the Constitution of India to re-appreciate evidence as well as findings of fact recorded by the learned Tribunal below while examining the genuineness and correctness of the petition preferred under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

33. This Court is conscious of the fact that it has very limited jurisdiction to re-appreciate the findings of fact returned by learned Tribunal below, while exercising its jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, in terms of judgment passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. M/s.Hindalco Industries Ltd. 2014 AIR SCW 315, wherein the Court held as under:-

> "16. .....The question about the limits of the jurisdiction of High Courts in issuing a writ of certiorari under Article 226 has been frequently considered by this Court and the true legal position in that behalf is no longer in doubt. A writ of certiorari can be issued for correcting errors of jurisdiction committed by inferior Courts or tribunals: these are cases where orders are passed by inferior Courts or Tribunals without jurisdiction, or is in excess of it, or as a result of failure to exercise jurisdiction. A writ can similarly be issued where in exercise of jurisdiction conferred on it, the Court or Tribunal acts illegally or improperly, as for instance, it decides a question without giving an opportunity to be heard to the party affected by the order, or where the procedure adopted in dealing with the dispute is opposed to principles of natural justice. There is, however, no doubt that the jurisdiction to issue a writ of certiorari is a supervisory jurisdiction and the Court exercising it is no entitled to act as an Appellate Court. This limitation necessarily means that findings of fact reached by the inferior court or Tribunal as result of the appreciation of evidence cannot be reopened for questioned in writ proceedings. nA error of law which is apparent on the face of the record can be corrected by a writ, but not an error of fact, however grave it may appear to be. In regard to a finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal, a writ of certiorari can be issued if it is shown that in recording the said finding, the Tribunal had erroneously refused to admit admissible and material evidence, or had erroneously admitted inadmissible evidence which has influenced the impugned finding. Similarly, if a finding of fact is based on no evidence, that would be regarded as an error of law which can be corrected by a writ of certiorari. In dealing with this category of cases, however, we must always bear in mind that a finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal cannot be challenged in proceedings for a writ of certiorari on the ground that the relevant and material evidence adduced before the Tribunal was insufficient or inadequate to sustain the impugned finding. The adequacy or sufficiency of evidence led on a point and the interference of fact to be drawn from the said finding are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Tribunal, and the said points cannot be agitated before a writ Court. It is within these limits that the jurisdiction conferred on the High Courts under Article 226 to issue a writ of certiorari can be legitimately exercised.
>
> 17. The judgments mentioned above can be read with the judgment of this Court in Harjinder Singh's case (supra), the relevant paragraph of which reads as under:
>
> > 21. Before concluding, we consider it necessary to observe that while exercising jurisdiction under Articles 226 and / or 227 of the Constitution in matters like the present one, the High Courts are duty bound to keep in mind that the Industrial Disputes Act and other similar legislative instruments are social welfare legislations and the same are required to be interpreted keeping in view the goals set out in the Preamble of the Constitution and the provisions contained in Part IV thereof in general and Articles 38, 39(a) to (e), 43 and 43-A in particular, which mandate that the State should secure a social order for the promotion of welfare of the people, ensure equality between men and women and equitable distribution of material resources of the community to subserve the common good and also ensure that the workers get their dues. More than 41 years ago, Gajendragadkar, J. opined that:

> 10.... The concept of social and economic justice is a living concept of revolutionary import; it gives sustenance to the rule of law and meaning and significance to the ideal of welfare State.

18. A careful reading of the judgments reveals that the High Court can interfere with an order of the Tribunal only on the procedural level and in cases, where the decision of the lower Courts has been arrived at in gross violation of the legal principles. The High Court shall interfere with factual aspect placed before the Labour Courts only when it is convinced that the Labour Court has made patent mistakes in admitting evidence illegally or have made grave errors in law in coming to the conclusion on facts. The High Court granting contrary relief under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution amounts to exceeding its jurisdiction conferred upon it. Therefore, we accordingly answer the point No. 1 in favour of the appellant."[Emphasis added]

34. However, careful perusal of the aforesaid judgment suggests that if Court, while examining the award, comes to the conclusion that same is perverse and is not based upon the correct appreciation of evidence/material available on record, it can look into the evidence with a view to ensure that the award passed by the Tribunal below is not perverse and same is based upon correct appreciation of evidence. In the present case, this Court, after hearing the submissions having been made on behalf of petitioner-Company and perusing documentary evidence available on record, is of the firm view that learned Tribunal below has fallen in grave error while not appreciating the material evidence adduced on record by the petitioner-Company to substantiate that due and proper procedure was followed by the Management of the petitioner-Company before dismissing respondent-workman.

35. At this stage, this Court solely with a view to examine correctness of the award passed by learned Tribunal below deems it fit to reproduce here-in-below the statement of PW-1 respondent-workman:

> "I was appointed as Operator in the respondent company since January, 1989, as per my appointment letter Ex.P-1. I was removed from the service on 20.1.1999 after holding the enquiry. I am educated upto 3rd standard, as per my certificate Ex.P-2. Our union was formed in 1997 and I was elected as a Joint Secretary. Again said the union was already existing in the factory prior to my joining. We were demanding the over time as per law as the company was not making the payment as per norms. We have gone with this demand to the Labour Officer who did nothing. The strike was called for non payment of over time. The matter was compromised on 20.11.1998 as per compromise Mark-X. (Objected to). Rs.1500/- were paid to us and we were asked to join the duties. Objected to nothing has been mentioned in the settlement. After two months the re-conciliation enquiry was instituted against me and Factory Manager, Mr.Yatish Khurana was the Inquiry Officer. No procedure of enquiry was explained to me by the Inquiry Officer. No document was given to me by the Inquiry Officer even no document was supplied alongwith the Charge-sheet. No list of witness was supplied to me. No witness was recorded in my presence. I was not afforded any opportunity to examine my witnesses. My statement was not recorded in the enquiry. I am unable to read the enquiry proceedings given to me. No quarrel had taken place during the strike period. I had given application Mark-X-1 to the Inquiry Officer. The Inquiry Officer had not supplied me the hindi version of the show cause notice. I had given the reply of the show cause notice which is the original and is Ex.P-3. Similar charge sheet was given to Pammi Dutt, who was the President of the Union. Pammi Dutt was retained after enquiry, but I was removed. Enquiry of Pammi was also conducted. No proper enquiry was conducted against me. All the allegations leveled against me are false. I may be re-instated with all benefits.

Xxxxxxx xxxxxxx xxxxxxx

All the documents Ex.R-1 to Ex.R-14 are received by me and bears my signatures. I was aware about my salary and could read the figure. Volunteered I could not read that what is written in Ex.R-1 to Ex.R-14. It is correct that I received the charge-sheet and given the reply, but it had not written by me that I am unable to read English and I may be given the Hindi version of the document. When the enquiry was started, I signed the every day enquiry proceeding. All the proceedings bear my signatures as the Inquiry Officer was taking the signatures on the proceedings every day. Volunteered I told the Inquiry Officer that it may be written in Hindi, as I could not understand English. There is no document vide which I requested the Inquiry Officer for Hindi version except letters dated 12.1.1999 and 15.1.1999. It is correct that I signed the application in English on 12.1.1999 which is at Point 'A'. It is wrong to suggest that I was asked by the Inquiry Officer for my evidence. It is wrong to suggest that I was given due opportunity to produce my evidence. It is also wrong that I failed to produce my evidence. It is wrong that the management has supplied the list of witnesses to the Inquiry Officer as well as to me. It is correct that I received the 2nd show cause notice dated 6.1.1999 after the conclusion of the enquiry, which is Ex.R-15. I have received the second show cause notice in Hindi when I asked for the same, which is Ex.R-16. It is correct that I was given the termination order in Hindi as well as English, which is Ex.R-17 and Ex.R-18. No enquiry report in Hindi was received, but enquiry report in English was received. My application for appointment is Ex.R-19 which is signed by me. I cannot state that in the settlement, it was decided that only the suspension orders against me and the President Pammi Dutt were reviewed, but the disciplinary enquiry would continue. I had not signed the settlement. No letter was received from Labour Officer regarding illegality of strike. The letter is Mark-RX. It is correct that I was informed by the management about the Inquiry Officer and I received the letter. Suresh and Mukesh witness were not examined in my presence. It is also wrong that the stated before the Inquiry Officer that they were threatened by me. I admit my signatures on the cross-examination of the witnesses at Point 'B' and 'C'. Volunteered that I had not cross-examined the witnesses. I admit my signatures in all the enquiry proceedings. Volunteer that I was signing the documents as and when asked by the Inquiry Officer. I had not given any complaint against the Inquiry Officer and the management to the Labour Officer that my signatures are being taken forcibly by the Inquiry Officer. Leave application Ex.R-20 is signed by me, which is for leave. Volunteer I got the application written from other colleagues. It is correct that I had not mentioned in my petition that I was removed and Pammi Datt was kept in service. My petition is in English, but signed by me, but I do not know what is written in my petition. No suit was filed against me and Pammi Dutt restraining us not to interfering us in the affairs of the workers. Copy of which is Mark RY. It is wrong that at the time of strike I was simply member and not the Joint Secretary. It is wrong to suggest that proper enquiry was conducted against me and proper opportunity to cross-examine the witnesses were given to me. I had not given in writing to the Inquiry Officer to provide me Defence Assistant but orally I requested the Inquiry Officer. It is wrong that I was removed due to my misconduct."

36. Bare perusal of the aforesaid statement of PW-1 itself suggests that learned Tribunal has fallen in grave error while returning findings that irregularities (as have been numbered above) were committed by the Inquiry Officer while conducting disciplinary proceedings. Similarly, this Court after perusing the statement, as referred to above, finds that respondent-workman never objected to the appointment of Mr.Yatish Khurana as Inquiry Officer. Rather, in cross-examination he himself admitted that he was informed by the Management about the Inquiry Officer and he had received the letter. Had he any objection in the appointment of Yatish Khurana as Inquiry Officer, he could have then and there objected to the same by making written communication to the Management. This Court also finds that respondent-workman participated in each and everyday inquiry and signed each and everyday inquiry proceedings. Vide letter dated 12.1.1999, workman objected to the proceedings conducted by the Inquiry Officer in English but by that time inquiry proceedings had already come to an end. After concluding the inquiry proceedings, respondent-Company had issued second show cause notice dated 6.1.1999 directing therein the respondent-workman to explain that why he be not punished for major mis-conduct as has been concluded by the Inquiry Officer. Issuance of show cause notice dated 6.1.1999 itself suggests that inquiry proceedings had come to an end before 6.1.1999 and as such there was no occasion, whatsoever, for respondent-workman to write letter dated 12.1.1999 requesting therein to conduct inquiry proceedings in English. Rather perusal of letter dated 12.1.1999 compel this Court to infer that it was after thought by the respondent-workman to create evidence in his favour that petitioner-Company purposely to its advantage conducted proceedings in English fully knowing well that respondent-workman does not know English. Similarly, this Court noticed that on letter dated 12.1.1999, respondent-workman has appended his signatures in English. In cross-examination, respondent-workman himself admitted that there is no document vide which he requested the Inquiry Officer to conduct proceedings in Hindi version except letters dated 12.1.1999 and 15.1.1999. This Court has already discussed hereinabove that letter dated 12.1.1999 had no relevance because by that time inquiry proceedings had already been concluded. Similarly, this Court finds that learned Tribunal has fallen in error while concluding that no opportunity of producing evidence was afforded to respondent-workman by the Inquiry Officer. It is not understood that how Inquiry Officer could compel the delinquent employee to produce evidence. It is not the case of the respondent-workman that he was prevented by the Inquiry Officer for leading evidence in his support, rather perusal of record suggests that Inquiry Officer afforded reasonable opportunity to respondent-workman to produce the evidence, which he failed to produce. But delinquent official himself stated that he does not want to produce any evidence.

37. Now, adverting to another illegality having been pointed out by Tribunal that Inquiry Officer was not examined, this Court is of the view that once Management by way of placing on record Ex.RD-1 to RD-16 had made available complete inquiry proceedings before the Tribunal, which was admittedly signed by the respondent-workman, there was no necessity, if any, for Management to site Mr.Yatish Khurana as a witness in the case. Respondent-workman in his statement has categorically admitted that he appended his signatures on each and every day's proceedings and he identified all the signatures of Mr.Yatish Khurana in inquiry proceedings Ex.RD-1 to RD-16 as such there was no question of adverse inference having been drawn against the petitioner-Company for not citing Mr.Yatish Khurana as witness. This Court, while perusing inquiry proceedings, also found that respondent-workman has signed all the exhibits in English. Similarly, leave application (Ex.R-20) sent by petitioner is also written and signed in English and as such this Court finds it difficult to be in agreement with the findings returned by the learned Tribunal below that the petitioner-Company knowing fully well that respondent-workman did not know English, conducted inquiry proceedings in English. Rather, petitioner-Company by placing on record certain documents, especially Ex.R-20 has been able to prove on record that respondent-workman use to write, sign and could read English and was aware about the documents, which were in English and similarly second show cause notice dated 6.1.1999, which was issued to the respondent-workman, was in English. But interestingly at no point of time, during proceedings of the case, respondent-workman raised issue with regard to conducting of proceedings in English or making available the services of Defence Assistant. It stands admitted in his cross-examination by respondent-workman that charge-sheet was received and reply was made by him and he signed every day inquiry proceedings.

38. In view of his specific admission that he had not made any written request to make available the services of Defence Assistant and to conduct inquiry in Hindi, this Court really finds it difficult to accept the findings returned by the learned Tribunal below and this Court after perusing the record made available is of the view that learned Tribunal below has misread and misinterpreted the evidence led on record which was sufficient to conclude that petitioner-Company dismissed the respondent-workman after following due procedure of disciplinary proceedings.

39. This Court, after carefully perusing the evidence available on record as well as submissions having been made on behalf of learned counsel representing the parties, is not in a position to concur with the findings returned by the Tribunal below that Inquiry Officer committed illegalities while conducting disciplinary proceedings because bare perusal of statement made by PW-1 i.e. respondent-workman, itself suggests that at no point of time he raised issue, if any, with regard to holding of inquiry in Hindi during proceedings. He categorically admitted in cross-examination that he had not sent any communication to Inquiry Officer praying therein for providing Defence Assistant as well holding of inquiry proceedings in Hindi and as such this Court is of the view that learned Tribunal below failed to appreciate the evidence on record in its right perspective, rather it drawn its own inferences and conclusions which are admittedly contrary to the records as has been discussed in detail hereinabove.

40. Otherwise also, Defence Assistant cannot be claimed as a matter of right by the delinquent official. Rather, decision, if any, with regard to providing of Defence Assistant depends upon the standing order of a particular organization/management. In the present case, this Court was unable to lay its hands to any document placed on record by respondent-workman suggestive of the fact that management in its standing order had specific provisions of providing Defence Assistant to a delinquent official during disciplinary proceedings. Similarly, in the absence of specific prayer having been made on behalf of delinquent official to conduct proceedings in Hindi, there was no occasion for Inquiry Officer to conduct proceedings in English, on which admittedly respondent-workman appended his signatures daily without any demur. Though respondent-workman raised issue with regard to appointment of Officer of Management as Inquiry Officer but interestingly there is nothing on record suggestive of the fact that delinquent official at no point of time raised issue of malafide, if any, against Inquiry Officer and as such this Court sees no illegality in appointing officer of the Management as an Inquiry Officer.

41. At this stage, this Court, in support of aforesaid reasoning/findings returned by it while holding that impugned award passed by the learned Tribunal is not based upon correct appreciation of facts as well as law, intends to place reliance upon following judgments passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court:-

42. In South Indian Cashew Factories Workers' Union vs. Kerala State Cashew Development Corpn.Ltd. and Others, (2006) 5 SCC 302, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

> "10. Learned counsel for the appellant submitted that the fact that the enquiry officer was an officer of the management itself affected the fairness of the enquiry. Further his biased approach was evident from the unnecessary observations made by him. He, therefore, contended that the view of the learned Single Judge was the correct one and should be restored. Learned counsel for the respondent No.1 on the other hand supported the impugned order of the High Court.
>
> 11. In Delhi Cloth and General Mills Co. Ltd. v. Labour Court, (1970) 1 LLJ 23 (SC) this Court has held that merely because the Enquiry Officer is an employee of the Management it cannot lead to the assumption that he is bound to decide the case in favour of the Management.
>
> 12. In Saran Motors (P) Ltd. v. Vishwanath, (1964)2 LLJ 139 (SC) this Court held as follows: (LLJ p.141)

"It is well-known that enquiries of this type are generally conducted by officers of the employer companies and in the absence of any special bias attributable of a particular officer, it has never been held that the enquiry is bad just because it is conducted by an officer of the employer."

13. Therefore, finding of the Labour Court that enquiry was vitiated because it was conducted by an officer of the Management cannot be sustained.

14. The only other ground found by the Labour Court against the enquiry officer is that he made some unnecessary observations and, therefore, he was biased. The plea that enquiry officer was biased was not raised during the enquiry or pleadings before the Labour Court or in earlier proceedings before the High Court. The bias of the enquiry officer has to be specifically pleaded and proved before the adjudicator. Such a plea was significantly absent before the Labour Court. We also note that the Labour Court itself found that the enquiry officer relied on the evidence adduced in the enquiry and its findings were not perverse. After such a finding, even if he has stated some unwarranted observations, it cannot be stated that report is baised. In TELCO v. S.C. Prasad, (1969) 3 SCC 372 this Court held that : (SCC pp.380-81, para 13)

"13. Industrial Tribunals, while considering the findings of domestic enquiries, must bear in mind that persons appointed to hold such enquiries are not lawyers and that such enquiries are of a simple nature where technical rules as to evidence and procedure do not prevail. Such findings are not to be lightly brushed aside merely because the enquiry officers, while writing their reports, have mentioned facts which are not strictly borne out by the evidence before them."

15. In this case for finding the employee guilty, the enquiry officer relied on the evidence adduced in the enquiry and Labour Court itself found that the findings were not perverse. In such circumstances, the preliminary order of the Labour Court setting aside the enquiry on the ground that enquiry was conducted by an officer of the Management and he had made some observations in the enquiry report which were not warranted in the case is not a vitiating factor and these reasons are not sufficient to set aside the enquiry.

16. The Labour Court had earlier held that the enquiry was properly held and there was no violation of the principles of natural justice and that the findings were not perverse. The vitiating facts found by the Labour Court against the enquiry are erroneous and are liable to be set aside. If enquiry is fair and proper, in the absence of any allegations of victimization or unfair labour practice, the Labour Court has no power to interfere with the punishment imposed. Section 11A of the Act gives ample power to the Labour Court to re-appraise the evidence adduced in the enquiry and also sit in appeal over the decision of the employer in imposing punishment. Section 11-A of the Industrial Disputes Act is only applicable in the case of dismissal or discharge of a workman as clearly mentioned in the Section itself. Before the introduction of Section 11-A in Indian Iron and Steel Co. Ltd. Workmen (1958) SCR 667 this Court held that the Tribunal does not act as a Court of appeal and substitute its own judgment for that of the Management and that the Tribunal will interfere only when there is want of good faith, victimisation, unfair labour practice, etc. on the part of the management. There is no allegation of unfair labour practice, victimisation etc. in this case. The powers of the Labour Court in the absence of Section 11-A is illustrated by this Court in Workmen v. Firestone Tyre and Rubber Co.of India (P) Ltd., (1973) 1 SCC 813. When enquiry was conducted fairly and properly, in the absence of any of the allegations of victimisation or malafides or unfair labour practice, Labour Court has no power to interfere with the punishment imposed by the management. Since Section 11-A is not applicable, Labour Court has no power to re-appraise the evidence to find out whether the findings of the enquiry officer are correct or not or whether the punishment imposed is adequate or not. Of course, Labour Court can interfere with the findings if the findings are perverse. But, here there is a clear finding that the findings are not perverse and principles of natural justice were complied with while conducting enquiry."

43. Reliance is also been placed upon the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Bharat Petroleum Corporation Ltd. Vs. Maharashtra General Kamgar Union and Others, (1999)1 SCC 626, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"25. Section 10 provides for duration and modification of Model Standing Orders. The Standing Orders finally certified under the Act cannot be modified except on an agreement between the employer and the workmen or a Trade union or other representative body of the workmen until the expiry of six months from the date on which they came into operation.

26. Before coming to the core question, we may first consider the right of an employee to be represented in the disciplinary proceedings and the extent of the right.

27. The basic principle is that an employee has no right representation in the departmental proceedings by another person or a lawyer unless the Service Rules specifically provide for the same. The right to representation is available only to the extent specifically provided for in the Rules. For example, Rule 1712 of the Railway Establishment Code provides as under:

> "The accused railway servant may present his case with the assistance of any other railway servant employed on the same railway preparatory to retirement) on which he is working.

28. The right to representation, therefore, has been made available in a restricted way to a delinquent employee. He has a choice to be represented by another railway employee, but the choice is restricted to the Railway on which he himself is working, that is, if he is an employee of the western Railway, his choice would be restricted to the employees working on the Western Railway. The choice cannot be allowed to travel to other Railways.

29. Similarly, a provision has been made in Rule 14(8) of the Central Civil Services (Classification, Control & Appeal) Rules, 1965, where too, an employee has been given the choice of being represented in the disciplinary proceedings through a co-employee.

20. In N.Kalindi v. Tata Locomotive & Engineering Co.Ltd., AIR 1960 SC 914, a Three-Judge Bench observed as under:-

> "Accustomed as we are to the practice in the courts of law to skilful handling of witnesses by lawyers specially trained in the art of examination and cross-examination of witnesses, or first inclination is to think that a fair enquiry demands that the person accused of an act should have the assistance of some person, who even if not a lawyer may be expected to examine and cross-examine witnesses with a fair amount of skill. We have to remember however in the first place that these are not enquiries in a court of law. It is necessary to remember also that in these enquiries, fairly simple questions of fact as to whether certain acts of misconduct were committed by a workman or not only fall to be considered, and straightforward questioning which a person of fair intelligence and knowledge of conditions prevailing in the industry will be able to do will ordinarily help to elicit the truth. It may often happen that the accused workman will be best suited, and fully able to cross-examine the witnesses who have spoken against him and to examine witnesses in his favour.

It is helpful to consider in this connection the fact that ordinarily in enquiries before domestic tribunals the person accused of any misconduct conducts his own case. Rules have been framed by Government as regards the procedure to be followed in enquiries against their own employees. No provision is made in these rules that the person against whom an enquiry is held may be represented by anybody else. When the general practices adopted by domestic tribunals is that the person accused conducts his own case, we are unable to accept an argument that natural justice demands that in the case of enquiries into a charge-sheet of misconduct against a workman he should be represented by a member of his Union. Besides it is necessary to remember that if any enquiry is not otherwise fair, the workman concerned can challenge its validity in an industrial dispute.

Our conclusion therefore is that a workman against whom an enquiry is being held by the management has no right to be represented at such enquiry by a representative of his Union: though of course an employer in his discretion can and may allow his employee to avail himself of such assistance."

(Emphasis supplied)

31. In another decision, namely Dunlop Rubber Co. (India) Ltd. v. Workmen, AIR 1965 1392 it was laid down that there was no right to representation in the disciplinary proceedings by another person unless the Service Rules specifically provided for the same."

44. In D.G. Railway Protection Force and Others vs. K.Raghuram Babu, (2008)4 SCC 406, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:-

"9. It is well settled that ordinarily in a domestic/departmental inquiry the person accused of misconduct has to conduct his own case vide N. Kalindi v. Tata Locomotive and Engg.Co. Ltd., AIR 1960 SC 914. Such an inquiry is not a suit or criminal trial where a party has a right to be represented by a lawyer. It is only if there is some rule which permits the accused to be represented by someone else, that he can claim to be so represented in an inquiry vide Brook Bond India (P) Ltd. v. Subba Raman, (1961)2) LLJ 417(SC)."

45. In State of Haryana and Another vs. Rattan Singh, (1977)2 SCC 491, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"4. It is well settled that in a domestic enquiry the strict and sophisticated rules of evidence under the Indian Evidence Act may not apply. Ail materials which are logically probative for a prudent mind are permissible. There is no allergy to hearsay evidence provided it has reasonable nexus and credibility. It is true that departmental authorities and administrative tribunals must be careful in evaluating such material and should not glibly swallow what is strictly speaking not relevant under the Indian Evidence Act. For this proposition it is not necessary to cite decisions nor text books, although we have been taken through case law and other authorities by counsel on both sides. The essence of a judicial approach is objectivity, exclusion of extraneous materials or considerations and observance of rules of natural justice. Of course, fairplay is the basis and if perversity or arbitrariness, bias or surrender of independence of judgment vitiate the conclusions reached, such finding,even though of a domestic tribunal, cannot be held good. However, the courts below mis-directed themselves, perhaps, in insisting that passengers who had come in and gone out should be chased and brought before the tribunal before a valid finding could be recorded. The 'residuum' rule to which counsel for the respondent referred, based upon certain passengers from American jurisprudence does not go to that extent nor does the passage from Halsbury insist on such rigid requirement. The simple point is, was there some evidence or was there no evidence not in the sense of the technical rules governing regular court proceedings but in a fair common-sense way as men of understanding and wordly wisdom will accept. Viewed in this way, sufficiency of evidence in proof of the finding by a domestic tribunal is beyond scrutiny. Absence of any evidence in support of a ending is certainty available for the court to look into because it amounts to an error of law apparent on the record. We find, in this case, that the evidence of Chamanlal, Inspector of the flying squad, is some evidence which has elevance to the charge leveled against the respondent. Therefore, we are unable to hold that the order is invalid on that ground."

46. In Workmen of Balmadies Estates vs. Management, Balmadies Estates and Others, (2008)4 SCC 517, the Hon'ble Apex Court held as under:-

"10. It is fairly well settled now that in view of the wide power of the Labour Court it can, in an appropriate case, consider the evidence which has been considered by the domestic Tribunal and in a given case on such consideration arrive at a conclusion different from the one arrived at by the Domestic Tribunal. The assessment of evidence in a domestic enquiry is not required to be made by applying the same yardstick as a Civil Court could do when a lis is brought before it. The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short "the Evidence Act") is not applicable to the proceeding in a domestic enquiry so far as the domestic enquiries are concerned, though principles of fairness are to apply. It is also fairly well settled that in a domestic enquiry guilt may not be established beyond reasonable doubt and the proof of misconduct would be sufficient. In a domestic enquiry all materials which are logically probative including hearsay evidence can be acted upon provided it has a reasonable nexus and credibility."

47. In Om Parkash vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2016 LLR 683, the Hon'ble Delhi High Court has held as under:-

"17. The materials on record by way of award show that the Tribunal was unduly influenced only by the evidence of the workman who deposed on oath. Furthermore, the Tribunal doubted the statement on behalf of the DTC by its witness that the checking staff found only 16 passengers in the bus without ticket. These, in the opinion of the Tribunal, were insufficient evidence to establish guilt. The Tribunal also based its findings on the submission of the workman that if he could sign the challan under protest then he could have also put signatures on the statement of the passengers by mentioning that it was "under protest". The absence of these and the fact that the DTC examined only one witness was held to be insufficient to bring home the charge.

18. The management's witness had deposed that the passengers were divided into two groups –as noted earlier. One passenger from each of these groups – 5 and 11 respectively, had stated in writing that money had been collected from the passengers but the appellant did not issue them tickets. Copies of those statements were produced as Ex.AW-1/R1 and AW-1/R2. The challan too was exhibited as Ex.1/19. There were 16 other documents; besides, there were 16 unpunched tickets, Ex.AW-1/1 to exhibit AW-1/16. The checking staff's report dated 14.10.1991 is also on the record. The management witness clearly stated during the course of his deposition before the Tribunal that 16 passengers had boarded the bus from Kalkaji temple and that they had not been issued tickets despite having paid for them. There were two members of the checking staff, i.e. Kishan Lal Saluja, ATI and Om Prakash, ATI (not to be confused with the appellant, who was a conductor). Om Prakash, ATI deposed in the course of the proceedings under Section 33(2)(b).

19. Given the clear enunciation of law in Rattan Singh (supra) that the Court has to be alive to the realities in certain circumstances (and not insist upon the strict rules of evidence and procedure which govern other Court proceedings)the conclusion of the Tribunal that misconduct had not been proved, in our opinion, could not have been sustained. As held in Vijay Kumar Tiwari (supra), under Section 33(2)(b), the Tribunal could not have insisted on strict proof of facts – much less insisted upon production of the original passengers. The checking staff had clearly deposed in the proceedings and another member of the checking staff had clearly deposed in the domestic enquiry. The appellant did not attribute mala fideson the part of members of the checking staff. Furthermore, this Court notices that the appellant had previously been cautioned repeatedly and even censored. Apparently, on more than one occasion, disciplinary proceedings were initiated for similar charges.

20. Having regard to all these circumstances, this Court is of the opinion that the conclusion of the learned Single Judge that the Tribunal fell into error in refusing the approval, cannot be found fault with. The appeal consequently fails and is dismissed with no order as to costs."

48. In Divisional Controller, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation vs. M.G. Vittal Rao, (2012)1 SCC 442, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:-

"LOSS OF CONFIDENCE

25. Once the employer has lost the confidence in the employee and the bona fide loss of confidence is affirmed, the order of punishment must be considered to be immune from challenge, for the reason that discharging the office of trust and confidence requires absolute integrity, and in a case of loss of confidence, reinstatement cannot be directed. (Vide: Air India Corpn. v. V.A. Ravellow, (1972)1 SCC 814, Francis Kalein & Co. (P) Ltd. v. Workmen, (1972) 4 SCC 569 and BHEL v. M. Chandrashekhar Reddy, (2005)2 SCC 481).

26. In Kanhaiyalal Agrawal v. Gwalior Sugar Co.Ltd., (2001)9 SCC 609, this Court laid down the test for loss of confidence to find out as to whether there was bona fide loss of confidence in the employee, observing that, (SCC p.614, para 9) (i) the workman is holding the position of trust and confidence; (ii) by abusing such position, he commits act which results in forfeiting the same; and (iii) to continue him in service/establishment would be embarrassing and inconvenient to the employer, or would be detrimental to the discipline or security of the establishment. Loss of confidence cannot be subjective, based upon the mind of the management. Objective facts which would lead to a definite inference of apprehension in the mind of the management, regarding trustworthiness or reliability of the employee, must be alleged and proved.

(See also: Sudhir Vishnu Panvalkar v. Bank of India, (1997) 6 SCC 271).

27. In SBI v. Bela Bagchi, (2005)7 SCC 435, this Court repelled the contention that even if by the misconduct of the employee the employer does not suffer any financial loss, he can be removed from service in a case of loss of confidence. While deciding the said case, reliance has been placed upon its earlier judgment in Disciplinary Authority-cum-Regional Manager v. Nikunja Bihari Patnaik, (1996) 9 SCC 69.

28. An employer is not bound to keep an employee in service with whom relations have reached the point of complete loss of confidence/faith between the two. (Vide: Binny Ltd. v. Workmen, (1972)3 SCC 806; Binny Ltd. v. Workmen, (1974)3 SCC 152; Anil Kumar Chakraborty v. Saraswatipur Tea Co.Ltd., (1982)2 SCC 328; Chandu Lal v. Pan American World Airways Inc., (1985)2 SCC 727; Kamal Kishore Lakshman v. Pan American World Airways Inc., (1987)1 SCC 146 and Pearlite Liners (P) Ltd. v. Manorama Sirsi, (2004)3 SCC 172.

29. In Indian Airlines Ltd. v. Prabha D. Kanan, (2006)11 SCC 67, while dealing with the similar issue this Court held that: (SCC p.90, para 56)

"56.....loss of confidence cannot be subjective but there must be objective facts which would lead to a definite inference of apprehension in the mind of the employer regarding trustworthiness of the employee and which must be alleged and proved."

30. In case of theft, the quantum of theft is not important and what is important is the loss of confidence of employer in employee. (Vide: A.P. SRTC v. Raghuda Shiva Sankar Prasad, (2007)1 SCC 222).

31. The instant case requires to be examined in the light of the aforesaid settled legal proposition and keeping in view that judicial review is concerned primarily with the decision making process and not the decision itself. More so, it is a settled legal proposition that in a case of misconduct of grave nature like corruption, theft, no punishment other than the dismissal may be appropriate. (Vide: Pandiyan Roadways Corpn. Ltd. V. N.Balakrishnan, (2007) 9 SCC 755 and U.P. SRTC v. Suresh Chand Sharma, (2010) 6 SCC 555)."

49. It is well settled that in a domestic inquiry, the strict and sophisticated rules of evidence under the Indian Evidence Act may not apply. All materials, which are logically probative for a prudent mind, are permissible. It is trite law that strict rules of evidence are not applicable to the proceedings before the Industrial Tribunal/Labour Court and they are free to devise rules of procedure in accordance with principles of natural justice.

50. In the present case, factum of non-examination of Inquiry Officer by the Management during proceedings before Tribunal has weighed heavily, with the learned Tribunal, as a result of which learned Tribunal while drawing adverse inference, upheld the claim put forth on behalf of the respondent-workman. In an application under Section 33(2)(b) of the Act, it is not the requirement of law that the Tribunal will insist for proof of the inquiry conducted strictly in terms of provisions contained in Indian Evidence Act by examining the Inquiry Officer and exhibiting the report.

51. In this regard reliance is placed on Om Parkash vs. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2016 LLR 683, wherein the Hon'ble Delhi High Court has held as under:-

"10. The Labour Court, to begin with, is required to enquire if a proper, valid enquiry was conducted: whether order of the dismissal based on legal evidence adduced before domestic tribunal and is not based on extraneous considerations and the order of dismissal is not an act of victimization or unfair labour practice. In order to reach to a conclusion as regards validity of the domestic enquiry, the Labour Court has to analyze the enquiry proceedings placed on record alongwith the application. The insistence on formal proof of enquiry proceedings runs contrary to the rules of evidence governing the proceedings before Labour Courts. The Industrial Disputes Act empowers the Labour Court to formulate its own procedure with the object to do justice. The Labour Court can examine any document produce in this Court without its formal proof (where genuineness of document is not disputed).

11. This Court has also in the case of Vijay Kumar Tiwari v. Lt.Governor & Ors, LPA 394/2002 held as under:-

6. "It is trite law that strict rules of evidence are not applicable to the proceedings before the Industrial Tribunal/Labour Court and they are free to devise rules of procedure in accordance with principles of natural justice. Thus, in an application under Section 33(2)(b) ID Act, it is not the requirement of law that the Tribunal will insist proof of the enquiry conducted in accordance with Indian Evidence Act by examining the Inquiry Officer and exhibiting the report. Suffice it is that the enquiry report and the proceedings conducted by the Inquiry Officer are produced before the Industrial Tribunal/Labour Court. The Constitution Bench in JT 2010 (5) 553 Union of India v. R.Gandhi, President, Madras Bar Association noting the distinction between a Court and Tribunal held that while Courts are governed by detailed statutory procedural rules, in particular the Code of Civil Procedure and Evidence Act requiring an elaborate procedure in decision making, Tribunals generally regulate their own procedure applying the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure only where it is required, and without being restricted by the strict rules of Evidence Act."

(See: E.P. Royappa vs. State of Tamil Nadu and Another, (1974)4 SCC 3, Gulam Mustafa and Others vs. The State of Maharashtra and Others, (1976)1 SCC 800, Kumaon Mandal Vikas Nigam Ltd. Vs. Girja Shankar Pant and Others, (2001)1 SCC 182, J.K. Synthetics Ltd. Vs. K.P. Agrawal and Another, (2007)2 SCC 433, Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. Hindalco Industries Limited, (2014)11 SCC 85 and Mackinnon Mackenzie and Company Limited vs. Mackinnon Employees Union, (2015)4 SCC 544).

52. Consequently, in view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove, present petition is allowed and the impugned award passed by the learned Tribunal below is quashed and set aside. However, at this stage, it may be noticed that the petitioner-Company in the instant petition has submitted that it had made an alternate submission before the learned Tribunal below that without conceding that the inquiry is just, fair and proper, if Court comes to the conclusion that the inquiry is bad then respondent-workman be given compensation in lieu of reimbursement. Relevant portion of ground (r) of the petition is reproduced hereinbelow:

"(r) ……The petitioner company had also submitted as an alternate arguments before the Industrial Tribunal-Cum-Labour Court that without conceding that the enquiry is just fair and proper but if the court comes to the conclusion the enquiry is bad then petitioner be given compensation in lieu of reimbursement. …."

53. Accordingly, in view of aforesaid, this Court, keeping in view the fact that the respondent-workman has uninterruptedly worked w.e.f. June, 1989 till 19.1.1999 i.e. about 10 years deems it fit to award one time fair compensation amounting to Rs.3.5 lacs in terms of judgment passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Tota Ram vs. Belliss India (Private) Limited, (2016)6 SCC 406 case. Accordingly the petitioner-Company is directed to pay an amount of Rs.3.5 lacs to the respondent-workman by way of a fair compensation in lieu of 10 years service rendered by him.

54. All the interim orders are vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

Arun Kumar ...Appellant

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Respondent

Cr. Appeal No. 181 of 2015
Reserved on : 21.07.2016
Decided on: 21st October, 2016

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 1 kg. charas- he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecution version regarding the recovery was duly proved by oral testimonies and the documents – minor contradictions in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses are not sufficient to discard them- link evidence is also established – recovery was effected without any prior information and provision of Section 42 is not applicable – charas was found to be 920 grams in the FSL, which is less than commercial quantity – sentence modified – proceedings ordered to be initiated against the conductor for making a false statement in the Court.(Para-12 to 24)

Cases referred:

Dharam Pal Singh V. State of Punjab (2010) 9 SCC 608
Jagdish Raj V. State of Punjab (2011) 4 SCC 571
Kulwinder Singh and another V. State of Punjab (2015) 6 SCC 674
State of Rajasthan V. Parmanand and another (2014) 5 SCC 345
Yashihey Yobin and another V. Department of Customs, Shillong (2014) 13 Supreme Court Cases 344
Ratto V. State of H.P. 2003(2) Shim.L.C. 161.

For the appellant: Mr. Anoop Chitkara, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. D.S. Nainta, Addl. A.G.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, Judge.

Appellant Arun Kumar herein is a convict. He has been convicted by learned Special Judge Mandi, District Mandi under Section 20 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act (hereinafter referred to as the 'NDPS Act' in short) vide judgment dated 17.04.2015 passed in Sessions Trial No. 51/2010 and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of 10 years and to pay Rs. 1,00,000/- as fine.

2. On 26.04.2010, a Police party comprising lady PSI Reeta Devi, PW-9 ASI Mohan Lal (II), PW-1 Head Constable Kamal Kant, HHC Prakash Chand and Constable Puran Chand of Police Station, Balh District Mandi left towards village Nagchala side at about 3.00 p.m. for laying 'nakka' and conducting traffic checking. Rapat Ext. PW-5/A in this regard was entered in daily diary. They laid 'nakka' at Nagchala and started traffic checking there. Around 4.15 p.m. HRTC bus bearing registration No. HP65-1768 enroute Manali to Delhi reached at the place of 'nakka'. The bus was got stopped at the place of 'nakka'. The police party started checking the bus. The convict allegedly occupying seat No. 36 was found to be holding a black, red and grey coloured rucksack (bag) on his legs. On seeing the police party, he became nervous and behaved in a suspicious manner. Looking such behaviour of the convict, the I.O PW-9 suspected some incriminating substance in his possession. Therefore, his antecedents were inquired into in the presence of Shri Hari Singh, driver of the bus and PW-6 Bakshi Ram its conductor. Thereafter, the police personnel offered their search first, however, nothing incriminating was recovered from their possession. Memo Ext. PW-6/C was prepared in this regard. It is thereafter the rucksack, the convict was holding on his legs was searched and one polythene packet wrapped in a white colour cloth was recovered therefrom. On opening the said packet, charas in the shape of sticks was recovered in presence of S/Shri Hari Singh and Bakshi Ram aforesaid. The recovered charas was weighed and found one kilogram. PW-9 resorted to the sampling and sealing process and sealed the recovered charas in a parcel with 15 impressions of seal 'D'. The sample of seal Ext. PW-9/A was drawn separately. The recovered charas was taken in possession vide seizure memo Ext. PW-6/A. The NCB-I forms Ext. PW-7/E were filled in on the spot in triplicate. The facsimile of seal 'D' was also put on these forms. It is thereafter rukka Ext. PW-7/A was prepared and sent to the Police Station through HC Kamal Kant, PW-1. On the basis of rukka FIR Ext. PW-7/B came to be recorded by PW-7 Surinder Pal, the then Station House Officer, Police Station, Balh. PW-7 had also made endorsement Ext. PW-7/C over the rukka. The case file was taken to the I.O on the spot by PW-1. The I.O. PW-9 had prepared the spot map Ext. PW-8/B. The ticket of bus Ext. PA was recovered from the convict and taken into possession vide memo Ext. PW-6/C. The grounds of arrest were disclosed to the convict vide memo Ext. PW-6/D and he was arrested. The personal search of the convict was also conducted vide memo Ext. PW-6/B.

3. On the completion of investigation at the spot, the convict along with case property was brought to Police Station, Balh. The IO PW-9 has produced the case property along with sample of seal, NCB forms and seizure memo etc., before PW-7 the Station House Officer. Rapat Ext. PW-5/B was entered in this regard in daily diary. PW-7, the Station House Officer has re-sealed the parcels containing the recovered charas with seal 'A'. He has also drawn the sample of seal, which is Ext. PW-7/D. It is thereafter the case property along with sample of seals, NCB forms and seizure memo was handed over to PW-4 Head Constable Prabhakar, the then additional MHC, Police Station, Balh for safe custody in the Malkhana. Rapat Ext. PW-5/C in this regard was also entered in daily diary. A memo Ext. PW-4/A to this effect was also prepared. PW-4 has received the case property and entered the same at Serial No. 116 of the Malkhana register. The extract whereof is Ext. PW-4/B. On 29.04.2010, the parcel containing the case property was sent to State Forensic Science Laboratory, Junga for analysis vide RC No. 100/10, Ext. PW-2/A through PW-2 Constable Vijay Kumar. The special report Ext. PW-8/A was prepared and forwarded to D.S.P. Mandi, the Supervisory Officer. The entry qua receipt of the special report in the office of D.S.P. Mandi in the relevant register is at Serial No. 90, Ext. PW-8/B. The detail of other articles forwarded to the Laboratory along with the parcel containing charas find mention on the reverse of RC Ext. PW-2/A. The case property forwarded to the laboratory vide RC Ext. PW-2/A was received there duly sealed with seals 'D' and 'A', however, when weighed the same was found to be 928grams, whereas, the actual weight of the exhibit was found to be 972grams. The recovered charas was analyzed in the laboratory and as per report Ext. PW-3/A found to be extract of cannabis and as such the sample of charas.

4. On the completion of investigation, report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was filed against the convict in the Court of learned Special Judge, Mandi, Distt. Mandi. Learned Special Judge after observing all the codal formalities and hearing the prosecution as well as learned defence counsel has prima-facie found the involvement of the convict in the commission of an offence punishable under Section 20 of the NDPS Act. The charge against him was, therefore, framed accordingly.

5. The accused on hearing and understanding the charge has not admitted the same to be correct nor pleaded guilty and as such, learned trial Court has proceeded further in the trial by calling upon the prosecution to produce evidence in support of its defence against the convict. The prosecution in turn has examined nine witnesses in all. The material prosecution witnesses are HC Kamal Kant PW-1, Sh. Bakshi Ram, the conductor of the bus PW-6 and the Investigating Officer the then ASI Mohan Lal of Police Station, Balh PW-9. The remaining prosecution witnesses are formal because they remained associated in one way or the other during the investigation of the case. Any how, the evidence as has come on record by way of their testimony can be looked into as link evidence.

6. Learned trial Court after holding full trial and affording opportunity of being heard to the parties on both sides as well as taking into consideration the evidence available on record and also the law applicable has arrived at a conclusion that the charas weighing one kilogram has been recovered from the conscious and physical possession of the convict. He was accordingly convicted and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of 10 years and to pay Rs. 1,00,000/- as fine.

7. The convict, however, being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the findings of his conviction recorded by learned trial Court has preferred this appeal in this Court with a prayer to quash and set aside the same and to set him free by acquitting from the charge under Section 20 of the NDPS Act.

8. The legality and validity of the impugned judgment though has been questioned on several grounds, however, mainly that it was a case of prior information and the Investigating Officer has failed to report compliance to the provisions contained under Sections 42 of the NDPS Act. The story has been concocted as the police has been doing in such like cases in the State of Himachal Pradesh. The allegations leveled against the convict have been concocted and engineered and the convict was illegally apprehended and searched without there being any search warrant. Without conceding or admitting the recovery of alleged substance, it is pointed out that same has not been proved to be charas within the meaning of NDPS Act. The chemical examiner's report is in admissible. The findings recorded by learned trial Court are vitiated on account of placing reliance on the testimony of official witnesses. In order to hold the convict guilty, corroboration to the prosecution story from some independent source was required. The proceedings also vitiated on account of non-compliance of Section 50 of the NDPS Act. The link evidence is also missing since the independent witness PW-6 has not supported the prosecution case, therefore, two possible views as emerges on record, the benefit of doubt has erroneously been withheld from the convict. It is also claimed that some incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution evidence have not been put to the convict in his statement recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. The evidence of official witnesses highly contradictory has erroneously been relied upon to record the findings of conviction. Being so, the impugned judgment has been claimed to be not legally sustainable and as such, sought to be quashed and set aside and in the alternative keeping in view the charas when weighed in the laboratory was found to be 972grams, the quantity thereof being less than commercial quantity, the sentence imposed upon the convict has been sought to be reduced.

9. Mr. Anoop Chitkara, learned counsel representing the appellant-convict has strenuously contended that the present is a case of recovery of contraband allegedly charas below commercial quantity in view of its weight when weighed in the State Forensic Science Laboratory was found to be 972grams. Therefore, according to Mr. Chitkara, the convict could have not been sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of 10 years and pay Rs. 1,00,000/- as fine. The recovery of charas from the exclusive and physical possession of the convict is stated to be not proved because as per the evidence produced by the prosecution itself, few of the passengers ran away from the spot where the bus was stopped. The contradictions qua arrival of the bus at the place of 'nakka' have also been pointed out. It is also contended that when the ticket was issued at 16:07:37 hours (04:07:37), how the bus could have reached at Nagchala at 4.00 p.m. The trend of writing of seizure memo Ext. PW-6/A, memo Ext. PW-6/B qua personal search of the accused, memo Ext. PW-6/C whereby the police officials were searched and arrest memo Ext. PW-6/D has also been pointed out to urge that initially the spacing while writing these memos was quite wide, however, in the end squeezed considerably. According to Mr. Chitkara this shows that the signatures of the witnesses were obtained on blank papers. The version of conductor PW-6 that they were made to sign document, therefore, according to learned counsel is true and correct. The contradictions in the testimony of the I.O. PW-9 and that of HC Kamal Kant PW-1 have also been pointed out. It has, therefore, been urged that no findings of conviction could have been recorded against the convict in this case.

10. On the other hand, Mr. D.S. Nainta, learned Additional Advocate General has pointed out from the record that all the documents bear the signatures of Hari Singh and also that of PW-6 Bakshi Ram. There was no pressure on them of any kind, which according to learned Additional Advocate General shows that the search and seizure has taken place in the manner as claimed by the prosecution. The contradictions as pointed out are stated to be minor in nature and have rightly been ignored. it is also argued that variation in weight of recovered charas seems to have occurred on account of the same when recovered was weighed with a traditional weighing scale and weights, whereas, in the laboratory the same was weighed with electronic scale. Therefore, according to Mr. Nainta, the judgment passed by learned trial Court is absolutely legal and valid, hence calls for no interference.

11. What could be gathered from the grounds of appeal and also the arguments addressed on behalf of the appellant-convict is that the findings of conviction and sentence recorded against the convict are sought to be quashed and set aside allegedly being not legally sustainable for want of cogent and reliable evidence in support of the prosecution case qua recovery of charas weighing one kilogram from the exclusive and physical possession of the convict, for want of compliance of the provisions contained under Sections 42 and 50 of the NDPS Act and that the quantity of charas allegedly recovered being 928grams is not commercial quantity and rather greater than the small quantity and lesser than the commercial quantity.

Being so, the sentence awarded does not commensurate with the offence allegedly committed. The testimony of PW-6 who has not supported the prosecution case and the alleged contradictions in the statements of prosecution witnesses PW-1 and PW-9 have also been pressed in service to assail the impugned judgment.

12. Now if coming to the first point urged on behalf of the appellant-convict, admittedly he was traveling in HRTC bus bearing registration No. HP65-1768 enroute Manali to Delhi. PW-6 Bakshi Ram is the conductor of the bus, whereas, Hari Singh was its driver. As per prosecution case which even has been admitted by the convict also while answering question No. 3 in his statement recorded under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the bus reached at village Nagchala where the police had laid the 'nakka' at 4.15 p.m. No doubt, PW-6 Bakshi Ram who has been associated as an independent witness has stated that the bus reached at the place of 'nakka' i.e. Nagchala at 4.00 p.m., however, when he had already issued the ticket to the convict at 16:07:37 hours (04:07:37 pm) well before the arrival of the bus at Nagchala, as is apparent from the xeroxed copy of the original ticket Ext. PA allowed to be placed on record by learned defence counsel, how the bus could have reached at Nagchala at 4.00 p.m. The ticket has been recovered from the convict vide memo Ext. PW-6/C. PW-6 though has denied this aspect of the prosecution case, however, in the same breath when he has admitted that ticket Ext. PA was issued by him, his testimony to the contrary is absolutely false. It would not be improper to conclude that he has deposed falsely in connivance with the convict may be for some extraneous considerations. The bus was fully packed because as per admitted case of the parties on both sides, some passengers were even standing also in the bus. The prosecution case that during the checking of the bus the convict occupying seat No. 36 was found to be holding a bag on his legs find support from the documentary evidence such as seizure memo Ext. PW-6/A and the rukka Ext. PW-7/A. Such version even finds corroboration from the testimony of PW-1 HC Kamal Kant and the I.O. PW-9. The seizure memo Ext. PW-6/A and other documents such as Ext. PW-6/B, Ext. PW-6/C and Ext. PW-6/D bear signature of Hari Singh, the driver of the bus and its conductor Bakshi Ram PW-6. Bakshi Ram PW-6 has admitted so while in the witness box. Sh. Bakshi Ram in his cross-examination conducted on behalf of the prosecution has stated that the contents of these documents were not gone into by him when put his signatures thereon. He admits that he is matriculate and can read as well as understand Hindi language. He is a conductor, therefore, he is not expected to have signed the documents, that too, in a case of this nature involving the freedom and liberty of an individual without going through the contents thereof. Being so, to our mind he is a liar and to the reasons best known to him, he has concealed the factual position from the Court. Neither in his examination-in-chief nor in his cross-examination conducted on behalf of the prosecution, he has no-where stated that papers on which aforesaid documents i.e. Ext. PW-6/A, Ext. PW-6/B, Ext. PW-6/C and Ext. PW-6/D have been reduced into writing were blank. However, when cross-examined by learned defence counsel, he has come-forward with altogether different story that on the recovery of charas from a bag brought down by the police party from the shelf of the bus, the police inquired as to whom the bag belongs and when all the passengers did not claim the bag to be theirs, the police officials directed the driver of the bus to drive the same to Police Station and on their request that few of the passengers are foreign nationals traveling in the bus had to board flights to their nation, the bus was allowed to be driven from the police station to its destination, however, only after obtaining his signatures and that of driver of the bus Hari Singh on blank papers as well as on piece of cloth. Such plea raised by the convict in his defence is an afterthought because had the signatures of PW-6 Hari Singh been obtained on blank papers, similar suggestions should have also been given to Kamal Kant PW-1. No such suggestions, however, were given to this witness and the suggestions to this effect given to PW-9, however, were denied being wrong. The suggestions that the police directed the driver to drive the bus to police station at such stage when the recovered charas remained unclaimed are contradictory to the suggestions given to PW-1 that when on being signaled the driver stopped the bus at the place of 'nakka', the I.O. PW-9 proclaimed that he had information of illicit trafficking of some drug or narcotic substance in the bus and asked the driver to drive the bus to police station. Also that the I.O. PW-9 had conducted the checking of the bus at the place of 'nakka' for 35-40 minutes. The bus on long route like Manali Delhi could have not been driven by its driver to the police station without seeking permission from his superiors for the reasons that police station Balh does not situate on Manali Delhi highway but on Ner Chowk-Kalkhar Jahu road at village Ratti i.e. at a distance of about one kilometer from Ner Chowk from where the road bifurcates from the national highway to village Ratti. Therefore, it cannot be believed by any stretch of imagination that search and seizure did not take place at the place of 'nakka' in the presence of PW-6 and rather false case was foisted on the convict by fabricating the documents in the police station. The convict has not produced any evidence to show that there was animosity of the police with him and it is for this reason the charas weighing one kilogram has been falsely planted on him.

13. If coming to the testimony of PW-1 Head Constable Kamal Kant and the I.O. PW-9, they both in one voice tell us that rucksack in which the recovered charas found to be kept in a white coloured polythene bag was being held by the convict on his legs. The suggestions to the contrary put to them in their cross-examination have been denied being wrong. The contradictions that as per I.O. PW-9 by the time the bus in question arrived at the place of 'nakka' the police party had already checked 25-30 vehicles, whereas, as per that of PW-1, only 2-3 vehicles were checked and that as per the testimony of PW-9 the I.O. Ritta Devi the lady PSI was searched by a lady passenger traveling in the bus, whereas, as per that of PW-1 she was searched by a police official are not of such a nature so as to belie the prosecution case qua the recovery of charas from the bag which was being held by the convict. The recovery of charas form the exclusive and physical possession of the convict stands satisfactorily proved from the evidence available on record. Learned trial Judge has, therefore, rightly held that the prosecution in this case has successfully established the culpable mental state of the convict to commit the offence while placing reliance on the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Dharam Pal Singh V. State of Punjab (2010) 9 SCC 608 and in Jagdish Raj V. State of Punjab (2011) 4 SCC 571.

14. The link evidence in this case is also complete because it is satisfactorily proved that the parcel containing the recovered charas was sealed with 15 impressions of seal 'D' by the I.O. PW-9, whereas, re-sealed with 5 impressions of seal 'A' by the Station House Officer, PW-7 from the testimony of PW-1, the I.O. PW-9 and that of the Station House Officer, PW-7 and also the seizure memo Ext. PW-6/A, rapat Ext. PW-5/B, rapat Ext. PW-5/C and the re-seal certificate Ext. PW-4/A. The facsimile of seals 'D' and 'A' have even been put on the NCB forms and the sample thereof Ext. PW-9/A and Ext. PW-7/D have also been drawn. The entries Ext. PW-4/B in the malkhana register reveal that the case property duly sealed with seals 'D' and 'A' was handed over to PW-4, the Moherer Head Constable for safe custody in the malkhana along with sample of seal 'D' and sample of seal 'A' and also the NCB forms in triplicate on 26.04.2010 itself at 7.35 p.m. The case property was sent to Forensic Science Laboratory, Junga on 29.04.2010 through PW-2 Constable Vijay Kumar vide RC Ext. PW-2/A. The docket, samples of seals 'D' and 'A', copy of FIR, copy of seizure memo, re-sealing memo and NCB-I forms in triplicate were also sent to Forensic Science Laboratory. The report of chemical examiner Ext. PW-3/A reveals that the parcel containing recovered charas was duly sealed with seals 'D' and 'A' when received in the laboratory along with NCB-I forms and other documents as aforesaid. The endorsement in the extract of malkhana register Ext. PW-4/B reveals that the parcel containing the case property duly sealed with the seal of laboratory after analysis was returned to the malkhana in safe custody through HHC Pritam Lal, PW-3. The report Ext. PW-3/A reveals that the exhibit (recovered charas) on analysis was found to be the extract of cannabis and being so charas. Not only this but when as per rapat Ext. P-X the case property was produced by HHC Ram Lal in the trial Court, the same was duly sealed with six seals of Forensic Science Laboratory. In this case, the prosecution case qua prepration of special report Ext. PW-8/A and its delivery to the D.S.P. (HQ), Mandi is also proved from the testimony of Narender Kumar, PW-8.

15. Now if coming to the second limb of arguments addressed on behalf of the convict-appellant, the present is not a case of prior information and rather a case of chance recovery because as per the rapat in daily diary Ext. PW-5/A, the police party headed by ASI Mohan La PW-9 and PSI Ritta Devi being on routine traffic checking duty had laid 'nakka' at village Nagchala. True it is that PW-1 in his examination-in-chief has stated that the I.O. PW-9 had told them that he had information qua trafficking of some narcotic drug and psychotropic substance in the HRTC bus, however, in the very opening sentence in his cross-examination by learned defence counsel he has expressed his inability to tell that the I.O. had told the other police officials that he had prior information qua transportation of contraband in HRTC bus, whereas, as per the version of the I.O. PW-9 in his cross-examination he had no prior information regarding transportation of charas in the bus. No such suggestion was, however, given to Bakshi Ram PW-6. Therefore, the only sentence in the examination-in-chief of PW-1 that the I.O. told the police party about he was having prior information qua charas being carried in the bus cannot be believed as gospel truth to conclude that the I.O. PW-9 had prior information that the charas was being carried by the convict in HRTC bus. Being so, there is no question of violation of the provisions contained under Section 42 of the NDPS Act.

16. Now if coming to the alleged violation of the provisions under Section 50 of the NDPS Act. The plea so raised on behalf of the appellant-convict is again without any substance for the reason that firstly the present is a case of chance recovery and the charas has been recovered from the bag being carried by the convict with him and secondly that charas has not been recovered during personal search of the convict and rather during the search of the bag he was carrying with him. In a case of this nature, the compliance of Section 50 of the NDPS Act is not required. We can draw support in this regard from the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Kulwinder Singh and another V. State of Punjab (2015) 6 SCC 674, wherein it has been unequivocally held that Section 50 applies only in a case where the personal search of the accused is required to be conducted for recovery of incriminating circumstance, if any, from him. The same as per ratio of this judgment cannot be extended to the search of a vehicle or container or bag or premises. Since, in the case in hand, it is only the search of rucksack the convict was holding with him has been conducted and the charas recovered therefrom, hence there was no question of compliance of Section 50 of the Act. True it is that personal search of the accused has also been conducted, however, after the recovery of charas from the rucksack he was carrying with him i.e. after his arrest vide memo Ext. PW-6/B. The same was only for the purpose to ascertain the personal belongings with him before lodging him in lockup. The relevant portion of the judgment reads as follows:

> "20. The next contention that has been raised by the learned counsel for the appellants relates to non-compliance of Section 50 of the NDPS Act. It is undisputed that the bags containing poppy husk were seized from the truck. Thus, it is not a case of personal search of a person. In Megh Singh v. State of Punjab, it has been held that Section 50 only applies in case of personal search of a person, but it is not extended to a search of a vehicle or a container or a bag or premises.
>
> 21. In State of H.P. v. Pawan Kumar, it has been held that:-
>
> > "10. We are not concerned here with the wide definition of the word "person", which in the legal world includes corporations, associations or body of individuals as factually in these type of cases search of their premises can be done and not of their person. Having regard to the scheme of the Act and the context in which it has been used in the section it naturally means a human being or a living individual unit and not an artificial person. The word has to be understood in a broad common-sense manner and, therefore, not a naked or nude body of a human being but the manner in which a normal human being will move about in a civilised society. Therefore, the most appropriate meaning of the word "person" appears to be — "the body of a human being as presented to public view usually with its appropriate coverings and clothing". In a civilized society appropriate coverings and clothings are considered absolutely essential and no sane human being comes in the gaze of others without appropriate coverings and clothings. The appropriate coverings will include footwear > also as normally it is considered an essential article to be worn while moving outside one's home. Such appropriate coverings or clothings or footwear, after being worn, move along with the human body without any appreciable or extra effort. Once worn, they would not normally get detached from the body of the human being unless some specific effort in that direction is made. For interpreting the provision, rare cases of some religious monks and sages, who, according to the tenets of their religious belief do not cover their body with clothings, are not to be taken notice of. Therefore, the word "person" would mean a human being with appropriate coverings and clothings and also footwear.

>
> 11. A bag, briefcase or any such article or container, etc. can, under no circumstances, be treated as body of a human being. They are given a separate name and are identifiable as such. They cannot even remotely be treated to be part of the body of a human being. Depending upon the physical capacity of a person, he may carry any number of items like a bag, a briefcase, a suitcase, a tin box, a thaila, a jhola, a gathri, a holdall, a carton, etc. of varying size, dimension or weight. However, while carrying or moving along with them, some extra effort or energy would be required. They would have to be carried either by the hand or hung on the shoulder or back or placed on the head. In common parlance it would be said that a person is carrying a particular article, specifying the manner in which it was carried like hand, shoulder, back or head, etc. Therefore, it is not possible to include these articles within the ambit of the word "person" occurring in Section 50 of the Act."

Similar view has been expressed in Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab and Ram Swaroop v. State (Government of NCT of Delhi)

> 22. In view of the aforesaid, the submission that non-compliance of Section 50 vitiates the conviction, leaves us unimpressed."

17. Similar is the view of the matter taken by the Hon'ble Apex Court in State of Rajasthan V. Parmanand and another (2014) 5 SCC 345 and in Yashihey Yobin and another V. Department of Customs, Shillong (2014) 13 Supreme Court Cases 344. The relevant extract of this judgment reads as follows:

> "9. The Trial Court and the High Court while answering the aforesaid issues have concurrently come to the conclusion that accused No.2 was not searched by the custom officers but it was only the bag in possession of A2 containing contraband which was searched and seized. The language employed "any person" under Section 50 of the Act would naturally mean a human being or a living individual unit and not an artificial person. It would not bring within its ambit any non-living creature viz.; bags, containers, briefcase or any such other article. They are given a separate name and are identifiable as such. They cannot even remotely be treated to be a part of the body of a human being. The scope and ambit of Section 50 was examined in considerable detail in the case of State of Haryana v. Suresh, AIR 2007 SC 2245 and in a three judges bench decision in State of Himachal Pradesh v. Pawan Kumar, 2005 4 SCC 350, wherein it is observed that when a person is not searched, only the bag, container or the suitcase is searched, the provisions of Section 50, cannot be pressed into service. The items like bag, briefcase, or any such article or container, etc. are not a part of a human being as it would not normally move along with the body of the human being unless some extra or special effort is made. Either they have to be carried in hand or hung on the shoulder or back or placed on the head. In common parlance it could be said that a person is carrying a particular article, specifying the manner in which it was carried like hand, shoulder, back or head, > etc. but it is not possible to include these articles within the ambit of the word "person" defined in Section 50 of the Act.

>
> 10. This position in law is settled by the Constitution Bench in the case of State of Punjab v Baldev singh, AIR 1999 SC 2378 and in Megh Singh v State of Punjab, 2003 8 SCC 666, where application of Section 50 is only in case of search of a person as contrasted to search of premises, vehicles or articles. But in cases where the line of separation is thin and fine between search of a person and an artificial object, the test of inextricable connection is to be applied and then conclusion is to be reached as to whether the search was that of a person or not. The above test has been noticed in the case of Namdi Francis Nwazor v. Union of India and Anr.,(1998) 8 SCC 534, wherein it is held that if the search is of a bag which is inextricably connected with the person, Section 50 of the Act will apply, and if it is not so connected, the provisions will not apply. It is when an article is lying elsewhere and is not on the person of the accused and is brought to a place where the accused is found, and on search, incriminating articles are found therefrom it cannot attract the requirements of Section 50 of the Act for the simple reason that the bag was not found on the accused person."

18. We, however, find considerable force in the arguments addressed on behalf of the convict-appellant that quantity of recovered charas is not at all commercial for the reason that the charas when weighed in the laboratory its actual weight was found to be 928grams, whereas, that of the exhibit i.e. the parcel, 972grams. The explanation that the charas when recovered was weighed by the I.O with traditional scale and weights, whereas, in the laboratory with electronic scale is neither reasonable nor plausible for the reason that the I.O. while in the witness box has said that the recovered charas was weighed by him with scale available in the I.O. kit. It cannot be believed by any stretch of imagination that in the I.O kit a traditional scale and weights could have been kept and taken with him by the I.O to the spot. One can understand that with the passage of time on account of the substance get dried, its weight may decrease, however, in the case in hand, the charas which was recovered on 26.04.2010 was dispatched to the laboratory after 2-3 days i.e. on 29.04.2010. The present as such is not a case of recovery of charas weighing commercial quantity and rather the quantity of the recovered charas being less than one kilogram is no doubt greater than small quantity, however, lesser than the commercial quantity. Even if it is believed that the recovered charas was one kilogram, in that event also, in terms of Section 2(viia) of the NDPS Act "commercial quantity", in relation to narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, means any quantity greater than the quantity specified by the Central Government by notification in the Official Gazette. Now if Notification issued by the Central Government is seen, charas weighing one kilogram has been shown therein as commercial quantity. However, within the meaning of Section 2(viia), in order to constitute the quantity of the recovered charas as commercial, its weight should have been greater than one kilogram. Therefore, on this score also, the recovered charas by any stretch of imagination cannot be termed to be commercial quantity. We find support in this regard from the judgment of a Full Bench of this Court in Ratto V. State of H.P. 2003(2) Shim.L.C. 161. This judgment reads as follows:

> "40. We feel that there is no ambiguity in the language of Section 2(viia), supra. As such, simple and literal meaning has to be given to the words 'quantity greater than', so as to hold what would he the commercial quantity.
>
> 41. As already noted there is hardly any ambiguity, muchless conflict between Section 2(viia) and the notification as extracted here-in-above for determination of what would be the commercial quantity, By virtue of powers conferred under sub-section (viia) of Section 2, Central Government is authorized to notify as to what would be the commercial quantity. Because the "commercial quantity" on a plain reading of its definition amongst other things has to be "...greater than the quantity specified by the Central Government by notification.....". Under 2001 Act notification supra was issued specifying the quantity for the purpose of > Section 2(viia) of the Act. A perusal of this notification indicates that quantity specified is one kilogram. Various columns of the notification extracted hereinabove have to be read in conjunction with the substantive provision of Section 2(viia) of the Act. This also puts a harmonious construction on both, notification as well as Section 2(viia). While determining the quantity under this sub-section, it has to be greater than One Kg. There is hardly any doubt regarding either the words one kg.", or the "commercial quantity" which has to be 'greater than", which in our considered view would always mean any quantity more than/bigger than/larger than one kg. We are further of the view that this provision, and for that matter, notification admits of no other interpretation on its reading. Thus, it cannot be said that one Kg. would be the commercial quantity for the purpose of Section 2(viia), as added by 2001 Act.

>
> 42. Another reason to take this view is, that substantive and main provision of the Act is Section 2(viia) which is subject matter of the discussion in this judgment. It is also well known and accepted rule of interpretation of statutes that rules, regulations as well as notifications issued thereunder are meant to sub-serve the purpose of main provision of law and not other way round. Notification in the instant case, as extracted hereinabove, is a delegated legislation. Therefore, it can in no case bye-pass or over-ride the substantive provision of law and in case of conflict, delegated legislation has to give way to the main provision of law.
>
> 43. In this behalf, we may also observe that legislature in its wisdom has used the words in this sub-section knowing there significance, as well as import and at the cost of repetition, it needs to be noted that when language is clear, then ordinary meaning to the words needs to be given. As such, no aids either internal or external need to be pressed into service as was urged on behalf of the respondent to give another meaning."

19. In view of the above, the appellant-convict could have not been sentenced under Section 20(b)i) of the Act and rather under (ii) of Clause (b) of Section 20 of the Act. We, therefore, are in agreement with Mr. Chitkara, learned counsel representing the appellant-convict that sentence awarded against the convict is required to be reduced. Having regard to the age of the convict i.e. approximately 23 years on 26.04.2010 when he was arrested in connection with the case registered against him under Section 20 of the NDPS Act and also that he remained in custody during the pendency of the trial and after his conviction and sentence is serving out sentence in jail and he is in custody for a period over six years, we find the present a case where the sentence already undergone by the convict would serve the ends of justice. As such, he needs to be set free from the custody forthwith if not required in any other case. So far as the sentence of fine is concerned, in the given facts and circumstances, we reduce the same also to Rs. 10,000/-

20. In view of the findings recorded hereinabove, we sentence the convict to the imprisonment he has already undergone and to pay Rs. 10,000/- as fine. The convict as such be set free and released from custody forthwith, if not required in any other case. However, on his failure to pay the amount of fine, he shall have to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a further period of three months. Accordingly the appeal is partly allowed and stands disposed of.

21. Before parting with the case, we would be failing in our duty, if ignore the manner in which PW-6 Bakshi Ram, the conductor of the bus has conducted himself while in the witness box. Taking note of the statement, he made while in the witness box, we have prima-facie formed an opinion that he is a liar and has not disclosed true facts to the Court. Admittedly, he was on duty as conductor with HRTC bus intercepted by the police at the place of 'nakka' at village Nagchala. As per the prosecution case, during the checking of luggage charas was recovered from the bag which the convict was holding on his legs. As we already observed in earlier part of this judgment, PW-6 is a liar and has deposed falsely to help the convict to the reasons best known to him, may be for some extraneous considerations. In our opinion, he while in the witness box has made a false statement, most probably, at the behest of the convict. When he has issued the ticket Ext. PA at 16:07:37 hours (04:07:37 pm) i.e. in all probability at Mandi or on the way at a place behind Nagchala, how he could have said while in the witness box that the bus reached at Nagchala at 4.00 p.m. that too, well before the issuance of ticket to the convict. According to him, the charas was recovered from the bag on the spot itself. When no evidence to the contrary that the police had enmity with the convict has come on record, it is proved that the charas was recovered from the bag which the convict was carrying with him. His denial to this part of the prosecution case itself speaks in plenty about his conduct and credibility. In his cross-examination conducted on behalf of the convict, he has introduced a new story that when the bag from which the charas recovered was not claimed by any passenger, the police directed the driver to take the bus to police station. Such plea in his defence raised by the convict is an afterthought because had it been so, he could have examined someone to substantiate this aspect of this matter. Had the bus been taken to police station, some record like entries in the log book of the bus etc., would have been there with the HRTC. Otherwise also, some evidence that permission was sought by the driver to take diversion from Ner Chowk for driving the bus to police station should have been there and produced during the course of trial. He has admitted the issuance of ticket, however, denied the same having been taken into possession in his presence, irrespective of he has admitted his signature on the recovery memo Ext. PW-6/C. It was no-where his version in his examination-in-chief or in his cross-examination conducted on behalf of the prosecution that he along with the driver of bus Hari Singh were made to sign blank papers. Interestingly enough, in his cross-examination conducted on behalf of the prosecution, he has admitted his signature on the seizure memo Ext. PW-6/A, personal search of accused vide memo Ext. PW-6/B, search of police officials given vide memo Ext. PW-6/C and arrest of accused vide memo Ext. PW-6/D. When he tells us that he has not gone through the contents of these documents, it leads to the only conclusion that contents were duly written in these documents. He is a matriculate and as per his version, not only he can read and write Hindi but he can also understand the same. When he is conductor, it cannot be expected that he would have signed blank papers, that too, at the instance of police and in a case of recovery of charas involving the freedom and liberty of an individual. Therefore, to our mind PW-6 has intentionally and deliberately made a false statement with a view to screen the evidence and to save the convict from the prosecution and as such liable himself to be dealt with in accordance with law.

22. Section 340 of the Code of Criminal Procedure takes care of such a situation. The provisions contained under the Section ibid reveal that if on an application made to it or otherwise, the Court is of the opinion that it is expedient and in the interest of justice that an inquiry should be made into any offence referred to in clause (b) of sub-Section (1) of Section 195 of the Code, which appears to have been committed in relation to proceedings of a case in that Court, the Court shall hold a preliminary inquiry and after recording a finding that by producing a document or giving a statement in evidence, an offence referred to in clause (b) of sub-Section (1) of Section 195 of the Code is made out, order to make a complaint in writing to a Magistrate of the first class having jurisdiction over the matter.

23. Section 340 of the Code of Criminal Procedure Code contemplates a preliminary inquiry to be conducted by the Court to form an opinion that it is expedient and in the interest of justice to hold inquiry into the offence which appears to have been committed. It is not mandatory for the trial Court to hold preliminary inquiry, because it has the opportunity to see the witness while in the witness box and to observe his demeanour. We, however, feel that the appellate Court, having no such opportunity to observe the demeanour of the witness, should hold an inquiry and give an opportunity of being heard to him, before forming an opinion that an offence within the meaning of clause (b) of sub-Section(1) of Section 195 of the Code of Criminal Procedure appears to have been committed by him. It is only thereafter, an order qua filing a complaint, as contemplated under Section 340 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, should be passed.

24. Therefore, before initiating any action against PW-6 Bakshi Ram, we deem it expedient and in the interest of justice to call upon him to show cause as to why an action be not initiated against him in the light of the observations in this judgment. Consequently, there shall be a direction to the Registry to issue show cause notice to PW-6 Bakshi Ram for 30.12.2016 and the proceedings be registered against this witness separately. A copy of judgment be also sent to him alongwith show cause notice. Office of learned Advocate General to collect notice from the Registry of this Court for onward transmission to the Superintendent of Police, Mandi, for effecting service thereof upon the witness aforesaid well before the date fixed. The record of the trial Court be retained for being referred to at the time of further consideration of the matter, after taking on record the version of the witness, to be referred to as 'the respondent' in the proceedings ordered to be drawn separately against him.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Karam Chand .....Petitioner.
Versus
State of H.P. .... Respondent.

Cr. Revision No. 155 of 2011.
Date of Decision: 21st October, 2016.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 304-A- Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 181- Accused was driving a motorcycle and hit A, who died in the hospital – the accident had taken place due to rash and negligent driving of the accused – he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in revision that post mortem report shows that cause of death was head injury leading to subdural haematoma, which could have been caused by striking with the motorcycle – PW-1 proved that motorcycle was being driven in high speed and on inappropriate side – his testimony was not shaken in cross-examination- the prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt and accused was rightly convicted – revision dismissed.(Para- 9 to 12)

For the Petitioner: Mr. Naveen K. Bhardwaj, Advocate.
For the Respondent: Mr. R.S. Thakur, Addl. A.G.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (Oral).

The learned trial Court convicted the accused/revisionist for his committing offences punishable under Sections 279, 304-A of the Indian Penal Code and under Section 181 of the Motor Vehicles Act. It also imposed upon the accused/convict consequent sentences for his committing the afore referred penal misdemeanors. The learned trial Court proceeded to hence sentence him to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of six months and to pay a fine of Rs.1000 for commission of an offence punishable under Section 279 of the IPC. In default of payment of fine amount, he was sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of one month. He was further sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of six months and to a pay fine of Rs.500/- for commission of an offence under Section 337 of the IPC. In default of payment of fine he was sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of one month. He was further sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of six months and to pay a fine of Rs.500/- for commission of an offence punishable under Section 304-A of the IPC and in default of payment of fine he was sentenced to undergo further imprisonment for one month. He was further sentenced to pay a fine of Rs.500/- for commission of an offence punishable under Section 181 of the Motor Vehicles Act and in default of payment of fine he was sentenced to undergo further imprisonment for one month All the sentences were directed to run concurrently. The accused/convict preferred an appeal therefrom before the learned Sessions Judge, Kullu, H.P. The Appellate Court rendered a judgment in affirmation to the verdict of conviction and consequent sentences recorded against him by the learned trial Court. The accused/convict has been hence led to therefrom institute the instant revision petition before this Court seeking therein the setting aside of the concurrently recorded findings of convictions and consequent sentences imposed upon him by both the learned Courts below.

2. The facts relevant to decide the instant case are that on 23.11.2009 an information was received from the Hospital that one person had succumbed to his injuries sustained in an accident. PW7 alongwith HHC Gautam visited Mission Hospital, Kullu in connection with the investigation of the present case and recorded statement of PW1 Sunny Kumar under Section 154, Cr.P.C. As per statement of PW-1, he had gone in his taxi along with a passenger towards Bahang on 20.11.2009. At about 9 a.m., he was taking tea at Bahang. At the relevant time, one person came on motor cycle from Palchan side and deceased Angchuk was hit with the motor cycle bearing No. HP34A-833. The injured Angchuk was shifted to hospital by PW1 in his taxi. The deceased died in the Mission Hospital on 22/23/11/2009. The Investigating Officer sent the statement to the police station and FIR Ex.PW6/A was prepared. The documents of the motor cycle were seized and mechanical report was procured. Statements of the witnesses were recorded as per their version. In the investigation the police came to the conclusion that due to rash and negligent driving of the motor cyclist the accident has occurred, hence, the accused was arrested on 25.11.2009. The police completed all the codel formalities.

3. On conclusion of investigations, into the offences, allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed before the learned trial Court.

4. The accused was charged by the learned trial Court for his committing offences under Sections 279, 304-A of the IPC and Section 181 of the Motor Vehicles Act. In proof of the prosecution case, the prosecution examined 8 witnesses. On conclusion of recording of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused/convict under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was recorded by the learned trial Court in which the accused claimed innocence and pleaded false implication in the case.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of conviction against the accused/convict. In an appeal preferred by the accused/revisionist before the learned Sessions Judge, Kullu, the latter affirmed the verdict of conviction and consequent sentences recorded against the accused/convict by the learned trial Court for his committing offences punishable under Sections 279, 304-A of the IPC and under Section 181 of the Motor Vehicles Act.

6. The accused/convict is aggrieved by the judgments of conviction recorded by both the learned courts below. The learned counsel for the accused/convict has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by both the learned Courts below standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of conviction standing reversed by this Court in the exercise of its revisional jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of acquittal.

7. On the other hand, the learned Additional Advocate General has with considerable force and vigour, contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by both the Courts below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. The deceased, one Angchuk, in sequel to his standing struck with the motor cycle driven at the relevant time by the accused/revisionist sustained injuries on his person, injuries whereof stand depicted in MLC, Ex.PW5/A. For receiving treatment for the injuries gained by him in the alleged occurrence, he was taken to Mission Hospital, Kullu whereat he succumbed to them. In sequel thereto PW-4 Dr. Raj Kumar conducted postmortem examination on the body of deceased Angchuk. Postmortem report is comprised in Ex.PW4/A. A perusal whereof discloses qua the demise of Angchuk standing sequelled by a head injury leading to subdural haematoma intracesebral haematoma. The aforesaid cause as stands ascribed in Ex.PW4/A qua the demise of Angchuk holds a nexus with the injuries depicted in MLC, Ex.PW5/A, injuries wehreof stand proven to be suffered by him in sequel to his person standing struck with a motor cycle allegedly driven in a rash and negligent manner by the accused/revisionist. A careful perusal of the statement of the accused recorded under Section 313, Cr.P.C., specifically with his answering in the affirmative, the apposite question No.2 occurring therein wherewithin recitals occur of his on the relevant day driving motorcycle bearing No. HP-34A-833, is per se a pronounced portrayal of his acquiescing to the factum of his at the relevant time driving the aforesaid motorcycle. However, the learned counsel appearing for the accused/revisionist contends of the aforesaid acquiescence of the accused/revisionist would not ipso facto beget a conclusion qua the charge for which accused/revisionist stood tried standing unflinchingly proven. He contends of with PW-1 Sunny Kumar making a report qua the ill-fated occurrence which took place on 20.11.2009 belatedly on 23.11.2009 also when no sound tangible explanation stands purveyed by the prosecution in explication of the aforesaid delay, concomitantly renders the belated recording of the statements of PW-1 Sunny Kumar and PW-8 Vikas Thakur by the Investigating Officer being construable to be a clever ploy deployed by the Investigating Officer for falsely implicating the accused/revisionist, whereupon, he contends qua their depositions qua the ill-fated occurrence recorded before the learned trial Court also losing their creditworthiness.

10. The aforesaid submission addressed by the learned counsel appearing for the accused/revisionist ought to suffer the ill-fate of it warranting negation significantly when PW-1 in his examination-in-chief has made vivid echoings therewithin qua the accused/revisionist while driving his motorcycle at the relevant time his being negligent in driving it, negligence whereof stands bespoken therein to stand comprised in his driving his vehicle at an excessive brazen pace besides his being unmindful to the fact of the deceased occupying the road while his concerting to cross over to its other side. The aforesaid ascription by PW-1 qua hence the accused/revisionist despite sighting the deceased to occupy the road his hence abandoning to adhere to the standards of due care and caution, abandonment whereof qua his enjoined duty to adhere to the standards of due care and caution stands pronounced by his omitting to apply the brakes of the motorcycle whereat he was atop whereupon, hence, the ill-fated mishap may stand obviated, has remained unconcerted to be repulsed by the learned defence counsel while holding him for cross-examination, significantly when therewithin there is no apposite suggestion put to PW-1 by the learned defence counsel while subjecting him to cross-examination in portrayal of the accused/revisionist in the manner aforesaid concerting to obviate the ill-fated mishap. Contrarily, in the cross-examination to which PW-1 stood subjected to by the learned defence counsel a suggestion stood put to him qua his at the relevant time standing positioned at the dhaba of a Nepali located adjoining a curve. PW-1 answered the aforesaid suggestion in the affirmative. The effect of the aforesaid suggestion answered in the affirmative by PW-1 when read in coagulation with the further affirmative suggestion put to him by the learned defence counsel while his standing held to cross-examination by the learned defence counsel, suggestion whereof stands couched in a phraseology qua the deceased while standing by the side of the curve his being sightable from the dhaba whereat he stood positioned, suggestion whereof stood answered affirmatively, is a magnifying display of the defence conceding to the factum of PW-1 rendering a credible ocular account qua the occurrence. Furthermore, the effect of the aforesaid inference is of the delay, if any, occurring in the lodging of the FIR holding no consequence, especially when PW-1 pronounces in his examination-in-chief qua in sequel to the deceased standing struck with the motorcycle allegedly driven rashly by the accused/revisionist his suffering injuries on his person, for treatment whereof his carrying him to hospital wherefrom it can be concluded qua his hence standing precluded to promptly report the incident. Consequently, reinforcingly it can be concluded qua the Investigating Officer not by sheer contrivance introducing PW-1 as a witness to the occurrence also his belatedly recording his statement qua the occurrence holds no element of his employing a stratagem for falsely implicating the accused nor it can be concluded therefrom of PW-1 being an invented witness to the occurrence.

11. The learned counsel appearing for the accused/revisionist has contended of with another eye witness to the occurrence, who deposed as PW-8 making communications in his testification qua the deceased proceeding to tread upon the road without holding any awareness qua the occupation of the road at the relevant time by the motorcycle on which the accused/revisionist was atop also his exculpating the purported penal misdemeanor of the accused/revisionist, scuttling the effect of the testimony of PW-8. However, even if, the aforesaid communication qua the occurrence stand testified by PW-8, nonetheless, the counsel for the accused cannot make any capitalization therefrom, significantly when for the reasons aforestated (a) the learned counsel while holding PW-1 to cross-examination has been unable to tear the efficacy of his testimony qua the ill-fated occurrence comprised in his examination-in-chief; (b) when for reasons aforestated the defence concedes to the factum of PW-1 at the relevant time sighting the occurrence and (c) even if, PW-8 has not deposed a version qua the occurrence with omnibus parameteria affinity vis-a-vis the testimony rendered qua it by PW-1 yet with the motorcycle driven by the accused/revisionist standing proven to at the relevant time occupy the road also with his at the relevant time provenly striking the deceased, who thereat was attempting to cross the road, the accused/revisionist was obliged to by applying the brakes of the motorcycle ensure obviation of the accident whereas he has evidently omitted to do so significantly when it was not incumbent upon the deceased pedestrian, who was concerting to cross the road, to obviate the mishap, especially when no evidence surges forth qua the deceased abruptly appearing on the road without giving any opportunity to the accused to apply the brakes of his motorcycle, contrarily is a omnibus display of the accused wantonly wandering astray from adhering to the standards of due care and caution. In aftermath his penal inculpation for the penal misdemeanors is warranted.

12. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that both the learned Courts below have appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by both the learned Courts below does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of evidence on record.

13. Consequently, there is no merit in the instant petition and the same is dismissed. In sequel, the judgments impugned hereat are maintained and affirmed. Records be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J.

Sh. Bhagat Ram. .....Appellant.

Versus

Smt. Kanta Devi. .....Respondent.

FAO (HMA) No. 516 of 2008.
Date of decision: October 24, 2016.

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 13- Husband pleaded that wife had left her matrimonial home two months after giving birth to a child – she refused to accompany her husband despite requests to do so – she had abandoned the company of the husband without any reasonable cause – wife pleaded that husband had re-married during the subsistence of the marriage- four children were born to the husband from the marriage – husband had turned the wife out of the matrimonial home at the instance of the second wife – the petition was dismissed by the Trial Court- held in appeal that husband had failed to prove the cruelty, rather it was proved that husband had treated the wife with cruelty – documents established the second marriage of the husband – wife has a reason to live separately from the husband as no lady would reside with another lady – the trial Court had properly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed.

(Para-10 to 13)

For the appellant : Mr. Neeraj Gupta, Advocate.
For the respondent : Mr. G.R. Palsra, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, J. (Oral)

This appeal is directed against the judgment and decree dated 22.3.2005 passed by learned Additional District Judge, Mandi in a petition under Section 13 of Hindu Marriage Act registered as HMP No. 10 of 2005 whereby the petition has been dismissed and the decree for grant of divorce on the ground of cruelty sought by the appellant (hereinafter referred to as 'petitioner') against his wife the respondent has been declined.

2. The parties to the present lis have solemnized marriage on 13.10.1984 in accordance with Hindu customs and ceremonies. One son is born to them out of this wedlock in the year 1986. According to the petitioner the respondent allegedly left the matrimonial home after two months of the birth of child and started living in her parents' house at village Dehar, Tehsil Sundernagar District Mandi. He visited the place of his in-laws to bring her back to the matrimonial home, however she refused to do so. He accompanied by one Beli Ram and Kushal again went to the place of his in-laws and asked her to accompany him to the matrimonial home but she refused to do so. She is working as JBT teacher and posted as such in Govt. Primary School, Saul (Salapar). The complaint, therefore, is that respondent has abandoned his company without any justifiable cause and thereby treated him with cruelty. He, therefore, has sought the dissolution of his marriage with respondent by a decree of divorce.

3. The respondent when put to notice had contested the petition on the grounds, inter-alia, that the petitioner during subsistence of a valid marriage with her has remarried with another lady namely Tripta Devi. Four issues i.e. three daughters and one son is born to Tripta Devi from the loins of the petitioner. On merits, it is denied that she has abandoned the company of the petitioner without any justifiable cause as according to her it is rather the petitioner who himself has turned out her from the matrimonial home along with her son in the year 1988 and since then she is residing at her parental house along with her son. It is rather the petitioner who allegedly treated her with cruelty because according to her she has been turned out from the matrimonial home at the behest of Tripta Devi, his second wife.

4. On the pleadings of the parties, the following issues were framed:

1.Whether the petitioner is entitled for the decree of divorce as alleged? OPP

2.Whether this petition is not maintainable? OPR

3.Relief.

5. The petitioner-husband has stepped into the witness box as PW1 and examined Shri Beli Ram PW2. He has placed reliance on Ext.P1, birth certificate of Master Banti born to him out of his wedlock with the respondent, Ext.P2 the order passed by learned Sub Divisional Judicial Magistrate, Sundernagar dismissing thereby the complaint under Section 406 IPC filed by the respondent against the petitioner and his father, Ext.P3 the petition for seeking divorce which was filed previously by the petitioner against the respondent and Ext.P4 the order passed in the petition Annexure-P3 consequent upon the compromise arrived at between the parties.

6. The respondent on the other hand has examined RW1 Smt. Sharda Devi, Centre Head Teacher, Government Central School, Naulakha who has produced the admission certificate and proved the extract thereof Ext.RW1/A. RW2 Shri Khub Ram was Election Kanungo in the office of SDM, Sundernagar. He has proved the voter list Ext.RW2/A. RW3 Dassu Ram is a witness examined by her in support of her case. She herself has stepped into the witness box as RW4.

7. Learned trial Judge on appreciation of the oral as well as documentary evidence has arrived at a conclusion that the petitioner has failed to prove that he has been treated with cruelty by the respondent, the petition as such has been dismissed.

8. The legality and validity of the impugned judgment and decree has been questioned on the grounds, inter alia, that learned trial Court has not appreciated the evidence available on record in its right perspective and placed undue reliance on the documents Ext.RW1/A and Ext.RW2/A while answering issue No. 1 against the petitioner. It is pointed out that Ext.RW1/A and Ext.RW2/A are not proved on record in accordance with the provisions contained under the Evidence Act. The same as such could have been ignored. No reliance could have also been placed on the testimony of RW3 and RW4.

9. Mr. Neeraj Gutpa, Advocate, learned counsel representing the petitioner has vehemently argued that the respondent as per the cogent and reliable evidence available on record has abandoned the company of the petitioner without any justifiable cause and thereby treated him with cruelty. Therefore, according to learned Counsel the petition in all probability was required to be allowed and the decree of divorce as sought by the petitioner granted in his favour. Mr. G.R. Palsra, learned Counsel representing the respondent has pointed out from the record that the another lady Smt. Tripta Devi is residing with the petitioner in the capacity of his wife and that four issues have been born to her from his loins. Therefore, according to Mr. Palsra it is rather the petitioner who has treated the respondent with cruelty.

10. On analyzing the rival submissions and also reappraisal of the evidence available on record, in the considered opinion of this Court learned trial Judge has not committed any illegality or irregularity while declining the decree of divorce for the reasons that he has miserably failed to prove that his wife the respondent has treated him with cruelty. The evidence as has come on record by way of own testimony of the petitioner and also by that of RW1 and RW2 as well as that of the respondent herself while in the witness box as RW4 make it crystal clear that it is rather the petitioner who has treated the respondent with cruelty because irrespective of the petitioner himself and PW2 Beli Ram having denied the suggestion that the petitioner has solemnized marriage with Tripta Devi, denied being wrong. It is proved from the documents Ext.RW1/A and Ext.RW2/A that Tripta has been shown the wife of the petitioner in the record of Govt. Central School, Naulakha, Tehsil Sundernagar District Mandi. Ext.RW1/A is the extract of the admission and withdrawal register which has been maintained in the school. As per the entries in this document Kumari Dimple is daughter of Bhagat Ram, though name of her mother is not there in this document. It has not been put to RW1 in her cross-examination that Dimple is not born to Tripta Devi from his loins. The extract of voter list Ext.RW2/A reveals that Tripta Devi has been shown wife of Bhagat Ram. No suggestion was given to RW2 that Tripta Devi in this document is some other lady and Bhagat Ram also is someone else. Such documentary evidence substantiates the claim of the respondent that Tripta Devi is living with the petitioner as his wife. Although the petitioner while in the witness box has denied the suggestion that the petitioner has brought to his house another lady Tripta Devi in the year 1986 and that they both are residing together as husband and wife. Similarly, the suggestion that from the loins of petitioner said Tripta Devi has given birth to three daughters and one son and that Dimple and Rajni two girls are residing with him in his house. Yet the documentary evidence discussed hereinabove reveal that he is treating Tripta Devi as his wife and she is living with him in his house. Kumari Dimple is born to said Tripta Devi from his loins. He has admitted that compromise was arrived at between him and the respodent in the divorce petition, HMP No. 2 of 1990 previously filed by him against the respondent and that the condition of the compromise was that in future he will not live in the company of some other lady. This also lead to the only conclusion that Tripta Devi is living with the petitioner in the capacity of his wife. Admittedly the respondent is residing since 1987 in village Dehar at the place of her parents. She however, had abandoned the company of the petitioner for justifiable reasons because no wife will tolerate that during subsistence of the marriage her husband is having relations with some other lady.

11. True it is that a complaint under Section 406 IPC filed by the respondent against the petitioner has been dismissed at initial stage itself vide order Annexure-P2 because the preliminary evidence was not suggestive of that the respondent has entrusted the dowry articles to the petitioner and his father Dhungal Ram. The another complaint she filed under Section 494 of the Indian Penal Code has also been dismissed by learned Judicial Magistrate Ist Class vide judgment dated 26.11.2010 and the appeal she preferred also stand dismissed being not maintainable vide order dated 25.6.2016 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge-I, Mandi Camp at Sundernagar. However, it is not known that any appeal is preferred by the respondent in this Court or not. Anyhow, the judgment Ext.P2 and the judgment of acquittal in complaint which was filed by the respondent against the petitioner and Tripta Devi under Section 494 of the Indian penal code cannot be taken to arrive at a conclusion that the petitioner is not living with Tripta Devi nor four issues born to her from his loins. It is a separate matter that respondent has failed to prove the solemnization of marriage by the petitioner with Smt. Tripta Devi because it is not so easy to prove the factum of solemnization of 2nd marriage. However, there cannot any bearing of dismissal of complaint under Section 494 of Indian Penal code, the respondent had filed against the petitioner in the preset proceedings.

12. The present as such is a case where the respondent has not treated the petitioner with cruelty and rather it is he who has subjected her to mental as well as physical cruelty because in view of he is living in the company of Tripta Devi in his house and four issues are born to them, the possibility of the respondent having been tortured by him and turned out from the matrimonial home cannot be ruled out. Learned trial Judge, therefore, has appreciated the evidence available on record in its right perspective. The findings recorded by learned trial Court cannot be said to be legally and factually unsustainable. Being so, the impugned judgment and decree deserves to be affirmed.

13. In view of what has been said hereinabove, this appeal fails and the same is accordingly dismissed. No order so as to cost.

14. Pending application(s), if any, also stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Col. Pawan Kumar Sharma .....Appellant/Petitioner.

Versus

Smt. Bhavna Sharma .....Respondent.

FAO No. 420 of 2009.
Reserved on : 05.10.2016.
Decided on : 25th October, 2016.

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 13- The marriage between the parties was solemnized according to Hindu Rites and Custom- two children were born from the wedlock – husband was posted as a captain in the army – the wife used to leave her matrimonial home on arrival of the husband and used to reside with her parents – wife left matrimonial home without any reasonable cause and did not join despite efforts- the wife pleaded that she was thrown out of her matrimonial home after her parents failed to fulfill the demand of dowry – the husband used to beat the children – the petition was dismissed by the Court- held in appeal that the wife had left her matrimonial home without any reasonable cause and had not returned despite the efforts made by the husband – the relationship between the parties had irretrievably broken down - the wife is not willing to join the company of the husband – therefore, appeal allowed and the marriage between the parties ordered to be dissolved. (Para-9 to 14)

Cases referred:

Durga Parasanna Tripathy versus Arundhati Tripathy, AIR 2005 SC 3297
Naveen Kohli v. Neelu Kohli, AIR 2006 SC 1675
K. Vengadachalam versus K.C. Palanisamy and others, (2005)7 SCC 352
Statish Sitole v. Ganga, AIR 2008 SC 3093

For the Appellant: Mr. Bhupender Gupta, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Ajit Jaswal, Advocate.
For the Respondent : Mr. N.S. Chandel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge.

The instant appeal stands directed against the judgment rendered by the learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Chamba, Himachal Pradesh, on 14.07.2009 in H.M.A. Petition No. 27 of 2008, whereby it refused the according qua the petitioner, a decree for dissolution of his marital ties with the respondent.

2. The petitioner/appellant herein standing aggrieved by the rendition of the learned Additional District Judge, hence concerts to reverse it by preferring an appeal therefrom before this Court.

3. The brief facts of the case are that the petitioner claimed the respondent to be his legally wedded wife. Out of their wedlock two female children have born in the years 1986 and 1990 respectively and they are living with the respondent. It is averred that the petitioner was captain in Indian Army and the respondent was a regular Govt. servant in Education department at the time of her marriage. When he was posted in Hussainiwala Border in Firozpur in "operational Trident" and the family was not allowed to be kept there due to which, the respondent started living with her mother and occasionally visited his house. He provided each and every necessities of life to the respondent but she was not at all interested in him. Whenever, he used to come to Chamba on holidays, the respondent used to go to her parents' house on the same day or some times one day prior to his coming at Chamba and thus due to her this act, he had to stay alone at his own house during the holidays and only on his repeated requests she used to come back to the matrimonial house but that too not for more than two days. The petitioner has further pleaded and claimed that the second child was born in the year 1990 and after her birth, the respondent without any reasonable cause and without his consent left the matrimonial house and started living with her mother. However, the petitioner and his mother tried to bring her back and convince her that she should live in her matrimonial house. It is averred that in May, 1996, his nephew Chandan Koushik expired in an accident due to which the people from the locality and society used to come to his house to condole but she used to watch TV in her bedroom and did not participate in the mourning. The matter was reported to her mother but on next day, her brother came to his house and took all her belongings without his consent and she also left the matrimonial house without any reasonable cause and his consent. Since then she has failed to join his company and completely deserted him, although, he and his family members tried to reconcile the matter. It is further averred that his other nephews died in the years 1999 and 2001 but the respondent or her family members did not come to his house. On 15.9.2006 his mother also died but nobody from the respondent's house came to his house. It is further claimed that in the year 2003, on his persuasion, a meeting with the respondent was organized through one Shri Chaman Sharma for conciliation of the matter but in vain. It is averred that he has retired from the Indian Army on 1.2.2002 as Colonel and undergone mental pain and suffering due to the acts of the respondent, who has failed to join his company since 1996 and as such, the marriage has broken down irreparably. Hence, he sought decree for divorce for dissolution of his marital ties with the respondent.

4. The respondent contested the petition and filed reply. In the reply, the respondent has admitted the relationship between the parties including the off spring as pleaded in the petition, however, the respondent has further pleaded and claimed that she had been living at her matrimonial house alongwith her daughters till date she was forcibly thrown out from the matrimonial house by the petitioner and his family members. She has pleaded that she being loyal Hindu wife served the petitioner as well as his family members like a humble daughter-in-law. It is also alleged that she maintained her daughters as well as her mother in law from her own hard earned money. It is alleged that she was maltreated by the petitioner and his family members. Her second daughter was born to her in the year 1991 and after her birth, the petitioner got annoyed as she had not given birth to a male child. It is alleged by her that the petitioner used to demand dowry by saying that since he is a captain in Army, her parents must provide good car alongwith diamond button on his coat. She has also alleged that the petitioner had given beatings to her elder daughter and in that process, her ear and face were hurt so badly that she had to be rushed to the District Hospital, where she was treated for her injuries by the lady doctor. She has further alleged that Chandan Koushik expired in May, 1996 and at that time relatives of the petitioner advised her not to disclose it to her mother in law who was an old lady and then the relatives along with her mother in law went to Nahan for condolence where the respondent also0 arrived but she was assigned the job of caretaker of house at Chamba. It is also alleged by her that after return from Nahan to Chamba, the petitioner and his family members started harassing and maltreating her and gave beatings to her and turned her and her minor daughters out from the matrimonial house. Thereafter, she requested number of times to the petitioner to allow her to live in the matrimonial house, but all efforts went to vain as the petitioner and his family members did not allow her to live in the matrimonial house. She has further alleged that one of the petitioner's cousin sister namely Rajnish Sharma invited her to Hotel Irawati, where the petitioner was present who forced her to sign customary divorce papers, which she flatly refused. Even prior to that, two notices along with customary divorce deed were sent to her which were never answered by her. She has denied the allegations of cruelty and desertion as pleaded by the petitioner and prayed for the dismissal of the petition.

5. The petitioner/appellant herein filed rejoinder to the reply of the respondent, wherein, he denied the contents of the reply and re-affirmed and re-asserted the averments, made in the petition.

6. On the pleadings of the parties, the learned trial Court struck the following issues inter-se the parties at contest:-

1. Whether the respondent has failed to join the company of the petitioner and completely deserted him as alleged? OPP

2. Whether the respondent after solemnization of the marriage has treated the petitioner with cruelty as alleged? OPP

3. Whether the petitioner has suppressed the material facts from the court, as alleged, if so, its effects? OPR

4. Relief.

7. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned Additional District Judge, he dismissed the petition of the petitioner/appellant herein.

8. Now the petitioner/appellant herein has instituted the instant appeal before this Court wherein he assails the findings recorded by the learned Addl. District Judge in his impugned judgment and decree.

9. The appellant herein/petitioner tied nuptial marital knots with the respondent herein in September, 1985. Two female children were born from their wedlock respectively in the year 1986 and 1991. The alienation of the respondent from the matrimonial company of the appellant herein/petitioner, stands averred to commence in the year 1991 whereat the respondent herein delivered a female child whereafter she is averred to without any reasonable cause besides without the consent and against the wish of the petitioner/appellant herein, depart to her parental home. Apart from the aforesaid factum of the respondent herein deserting the matrimonial company of the appellant herein, the latter has averred qua in May, 1996 when his nephew met his end in an accident, hers remaining confined to a room whereat she continued to watch television rather than attend to people who had come to his residence for condoling the demise of his nephew Chandan Koushik. Though the apathetic attitude of the respondent herein was complained by the petitioner to her mother yet it sequeled the respondent's brothers to come to the matrimonial home of the respondent whereat they without the consent of the petitioner/appellant herein along with her belongings took the respondent with them to her parental home. Since, the departure of the respondent herein from her matrimonial home in May, 1996, the petitioner avers of the respondent, despite his concerting to regain her matrimonial company, she portraying stark obduracy in joining his company at her matrimonial home. Even in the years 1999 and 2001 whereat the demise of the nephews of the petitioner occurred, the latter avers qua neither the respondent nor her family members visiting him to condole their demise. He continues to aver of on 15th September, 2006, whereat the demise of his mother occurred neither the respondent nor her family members visiting his home to condole her demise. He also avers qua the respondent not permitting him to meet his children. He avers qua in the year 2003, on his persuasion through the aegis of one Chaman Sharma, a meeting with the respondent stood organized, for bringing amity in their relations yet his efforts in the aforesaid regard proving abortive. The prolonged separation since the year 1996 upto the date of institution of the instant petition, of the respondent from the matrimonial company of the petitioner stands espoused by him to ipso facto connote of their marital relations standing irretrievably broken down, whereupon he seeks dissolution of his marital ties with the respondent besides obviously contends qua, on score of desertion besides concomitant mental cruelty perpetrated upon him, his thereupon standing entitled to a decree of dissolution of his marital relations with the respondent.

10. The aforesaid averments constituted in the petition by the petitioner also stand communicated by him in his testification. His testification as also the averments constituted in the petition also stand corroborated by PW-2 and PW-3. The respondent herein for succoring her repudiation to the averments constituted in her reply to the apposite petition has testified as RW-1. For meteing corroboration thereto she has depended upon the testimonies of RW-2, RW-3 and RW-4. Since, the evidence adduced by the contestants herebefore does succor their respective espousals hence this Court is enjoined to with discerning circumspect care unearth therefrom the truth carried therein. However, before proceeding to discern the respective veracities of the evidence adduced herebefore by the contestants in substantiation of their respective espousals encapsulated in their respective pleadings, the effect of the alleged apathy of the respondent herein emanable from hers purportedly not attending to mourners, who visited the house of the appellant herein/petitioner, for condoling the demise of his nephew which occurred in the year 1996 besides her apathy emanable from hers not visiting her matrimonial home in the years 1999 and 2001 whereat also the demise of the nephews of the appellant herein occurred, lastly the effect of the apathy of the respondent herein to in September, 2006 not visit the house of the petitioner/appellant herein to mourn the demise of his mother, has to be pronounced upon, significantly when the aforesaid purported misdemeanors of the respondent herein beset the appellant herein with mental trauma. The effect of the aforesaid purported misdemeanors of the respondent herein even if assumingly carry any vigorous sinew, their tenacity omnibusly wanes with an imminent display of the appellant herein instituting the instant petition in the year 2007. The immense hiatus since the purported misdemeanors of the respondent herein vis-a-vis the institution of the instant petition by the appellant herein brings to the fore an inevitable inference of the appellant herein thereupon condoning the aforesaid purported misdemeanors which he ascribes to the respondent herein. Also as a corollary, their effect, if any, upon the mental psyche of the petitioner cannot be construed to be holding any enormity or gravity in both potency or in sinewed vigour wherefrom a deduction is derivable of theirs not hence purveying to the appellant herein a formidable weapon for seeking dissolution of his marital ties with the respondent. Contrarily, for reasons aforestated the appellant herein is to be construed to be condoning the purported misdemeanors of the respondent herein besides at the time of institution of the petition at hand their concomitant bearing upon his psyche losing effect.

11. Dehors the aforesaid, the appellant herein has conceived a ground for annulling his marital ties with the respondent herein on the score of the respondent for an inordinately prolonged duration of time alienating herself from his matrimonial company whereupon he concerts to erect an argument qua his marital ties with the respondent herein standing irretrievably broken down wherefrom he on the anvil of a decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in Durga Parasanna Tripathy versus Arundhati Tripathy, AIR 2005 SC 3297 wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court on surging forth of evidence therebefore of the marital partners thereat living separately for 14 years besides prevalence thereat of evidence in portrayal of concerts made by the husband to retrieve his errant spouse to her matrimonial home proving abortive had thereupon construed qua their marriage standing irretrievably broken down, leading it to conclude of thereupon the husband proving the animus deserdendi of the errant spouse beside concluded qua given the prolonged estranged embittered relations inter se them, the refusal of a decree of dissolution of their marital ties begetting no fruitful purpose significantly when their matrimony was irreparable. Also he has depended upon a judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in Naveen Kohli v. Neelu Kohli, AIR 2006 SC 1675 wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has held qua with proof emanating qua irretrievable break down of marriage, besides proof erupting qua it standing damaged beyond repair warranting incorporation thereof in the relevant statute as a ground for dissolution of marriage, for incorporation whereof it made recommendations also it on emanation of proof aforesaid concluded qua the prolonged separation of the spouses ipso facto purveying succor to an inference of their marital ties standing irretrievably broken down whereupon it annulled the marital ties inter se the contestants thereat. The aforesaid pronouncements also stand pronounced by the Hon'ble Apex Court in K. Vengadachalam versus K.C. Palanisamy and others, (2005)7 SCC 352 and Statish Sitole v. Ganga, AIR 2008 SC 3093. The factum of prolonged separation of the spouses thereat provided impetus to the Hon'ble Apex Court to conclude of any concert to beget continuation of marital relations inter se spouses thereat by refusing to annul their marital ties per se tantamounting to cruelty whereupon it proceeded to annul the marital ties inter se the contesting parties thereat.

12. The learned trial Court by delving deep into the evidence adduced therebefore by the parties at contest had hence distinguished the ratio decidendi propounded by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the aforesaid citations whereupon it concluded of the version propounded in the testification of the petitioner/appellant herein standing gripped with falsity whereas the contentions reared by the respondent holding a virtue of truth. It also concluded of with the petitioner/appellant herein not adducing cogent evidence in display of the respondent herein while hers holding an animus deserdendi hers hence separating from his company, constraining it to hold of hence the petitioner/appellant herein contriving besides engineering a ground for divorce. The inference recorded by the learned trial Court of the petitioner/appellant herein inventing a ground for divorce stood anvilled upon the factum of his transmitting a notice, comprised in Ex.RB, to the respondent wherewithin he beseeched her to facilitate annulment of their marital ties by by their conjointly resorting to customary law also with enunciations occurring therein of the petitioner/appellant herein aspiring to solemnize a second marriage, reiteratedly whereupon it erected an inference of the petitioner contriving a ground for divorce. The aforesaid exhibits do bely the espousal of the petitioner/appellant herein qua his concerting to reclaim the matrimonial company of the respondent herein. Further more the deposition of RW-4, an adult daughter begotten from the wedlock of the contesting parties hereat wherewithin she succors the contentions held in the pleadings of the respondent herein beside imputes fault to the petitioner/appellant herein, provided impetus to the learned trial Court to form a conclusion of the appellant herein/petitioner derelicting to preserve his matrimony with the respondent herein, rather his aberrant behaviour bolstering the departure of the respondent herein to her parental home wherefrom it concluded of the appellant herein failing to prove the trite factum of the respondent herein with an animus deserdendi departing to her parental home.

13. Be that as it may, dehors the tenacity of the conclusion formed by the learned trial Court also dehors the factum of the petitioner/appellant herein assumingly contriving a ground for annulment of his marital ties with respondent herein nonetheless the prolonged separation of the respondent from the matrimonial company of the appellant herein when stands unflinchingly proven also when their relations have developed acute estrangement besides stand painfully embittered also with the adult daughter of the contestants hereat imputing cruelty to the petitioner/appellant herein constitute hard realistic evidentiary data for bolstering a deduction qua the marriage inter se the parties at contest standing irretrievably broken down also it hence being unevacuable whereupon qua refusal of a decree of divorce would be a futile attempt to revive their capsized matrimony rather would perpetuate torment upon both of them. The learned trial Court has remained oblivious to the hard evidentiary realities as stand evinced from the record existing hereat rather it by drawing certain subtle distinctivities inter se the factual scenario prevailing hereat vis-a-vis the scenario prevailing in the citations relied upon by the learned counsel appearing for the appellant, has refused to annul their marital ties, refusal whereof is a futile attempt to preserve their dismantled marital relation.

14. The refusal by the learned trial Court to accord a decree qua annulment of martial ties inter se the petitioner and the respondent has erupted on its remaining unmindful of (a) suggestion put to the petitioner/appellant by the counsel for the respondent while holding him to cross-examination, wherewithin articulations are held qua existence of temperamental inconsistencies inter se them, suggestion whereof stood answered in the affirmative by the petitioner; (b) the effect of the aforesaid suggestion and the consequent answers in affirmation thereto rendered by the petitioner blunts the effect of the suggestion subsequently put to the petitioner by the counsel for the respondent during the course of his subjecting him to cross-examination qua his willingness to accept the respondent at her matrimonial home, besides the answer in the negative purveyed thereto by the petitioner holds no leverage to the respondent herein to contend qua the petitioner contriving a ground to annul his marital ties with her. The effect of the aforesaid evidentiary data existing herebefore is qua their existing mental incompatibility inter se the married spouses whereas mental compatibility is imperative for flourishing conviviality in matrimony. Since the institution of marriage would flourish only on survival of affability inter se married spouses whereas with affability inter se both provenly ebbing given their prolonged embittered estranged relations also when the adult daughter of the petitioner imputes cruelty to the petitioner whereas she along with her sister besides with her mother are enjoined to stay in harmony with the petitioner/appellant herein at his home, matrimonial harmony whereof when has suffered a deep fracture beside fissure, any refusal of a decree for annulment of marital ties inter se the petitioner/appellant and the respondent herein would be a futile exercise also would perpetuate agony and torment upon both. For obviating the aforesaid causality, it is deemed fit and proper to disregard the subtle distinctivities prevaling in the factual matrix propounded in the citations of the Hon'ble Apex Court vis-a-vis the factual matrix prevailing hereat rather with the predominant fact of both holding prolonged estranged relations whereupon their marriage has foundered constitute the solitary consideration for annulling their martial ties. Also it appears of the respondent not willing to join her matrimonial home significantly when despite this Court ordering on 6.9.2016 for hers recording her presence herebefore for facilitating this Court to beget a reconciliation inter se her and the appellant, hers omitting to record her presence hereat on 20.9.2016, omission whereof spurs an inference qua hers being uninterested in reviving her marital ties with the petitioner/appellant herein hence her aspiration also warrants vindication.

15. For the foregoing reasons, it is apt to clinchingly conclude of with the marital ties of the petitioner/appellant herein with the respondent herein standing broken down irretrievably hence, the rendition of a decree of severance of their marital ties would be both just and expedient. Consequently, the instant appeal is allowed. Accordingly, the marriage inter se the petitioner/appellant and the respondent herein is ordered to be dissolved subject to the appellant herein/petitioner paying from 1st November, 2016 per mensem permanent alimony to her to the extent of 35% of the pensionary benefits received by him, defrayment whereof be made by his remitting per mensem in her savings bank account the aforesaid quantum of alimony assessed vis-a-vis the respondent herein, particulars whereof be supplied within one week from today by the learned counsel for the respondent herein to the learned counsel for the petitioner/appellant herein, further subject to his within two months from today preparing FDRs in the name of his adult daughters respectively each in a sum of Rs.5,00,000/- (Rs. Five lacs Only) towards the expenses of their marriage, FDRs whereof shall be deposited by the appellant herein in the Registry of this Court. In sequel, the judgment and decree impugned before this Court is quashed and set aside. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly. All pending applications also stand disposed of. No order as to costs.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

National Insurance Company Ltd. ....Appellant.

Versus

Smt. Puran Dei and others ....Respondents.

FAO No. 153 of 2016.
Decided on : 25th October, 2016.

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was engaged as a cleaner- he died in an accident- a claim petition was filed for seeking compensation- an amount of Rs.6,71,389/- was awarded along with interest @ 12% per annum- held in appeal that Commissioner had taken the income of the deceased as Rs.3,000/- per month- PW-1 had stated that deceased was earning Rs.3,000/- per month and Rs.50/- per day as diet money- therefore, income of Rs.3,000/- per month cannot be said to be excessive - driving licence remains effective for a period of 30 days from the date of expiry- therefore, it cannot be said that licence was not valid- appeal dismissed.

(Para-4 to 6)

For the Appellant: Mr. Rajiv Jiwan and Mr. Ajit Sharma, Advocates.
For Respondents No.1 and 2: Mr. Manoj Thakur, Advocate.
For Respondents No.3 to 5: Mr. T.S.Chauhan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (Oral).

The instant appeal arises from the impugned order of the learned Commissioner, under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, Bilaspur, District Bilaspur, H.P. (for short the "Commissioner"), whereby he allowed the application preferred thereat by the claimants/respondents No.1 and 2 wherein they claimed grant of compensation vis-a-vis them under the Workmen's Compensation Act (for short the "Act").

2. The claimants/respondents No.1 and 2 herein are successors-in-interest of deceased Chaterpal, whose demise occurred in an ill-fated accident involving truck bearing No. HP-24-5291, whereon he stood at the relevant time engaged as a cleaner by respondents No.3 and 4. They had instituted a petition before the Commissioner staking a claim therein for assessment of compensation under the Act qua them. The learned Commissioner on standing seized with the relevant evidence, pronounced an award wherein he assessed compensation in a sum of Rs.6,71,389/- along with interest @ 12% per annum vis-a-vis the claimants/respondents No.1 and 2 herein besides liability thereof stood fastened upon the insurance company.

3. The Insurance company-appellant herein standing aggrieved by the rendition of the learned Commissioner hence concerts to assail it by preferring an appeal therefrom before this Court.

4. The learned Commissioner had while concluding qua the deceased drawing wages in a sum quantified @ Rs.3000/- per month had depended upon the testimony of PW-1 Puran Dei, the mother of deceased Chaterpal. She had therein pronounced qua the deceased drawing from his employment under his employer wages @ Rs.3000/- per month besides his employer defraying to him diet money quantified at Rs.50 per day. Though, the aforesaid articulations made by PW-1 in her testification qua hence deceased Chaterpal, the predecessor-in-interest of the claimants/respondents No.1 and 2 herein cumulatively drawing wages @ Rs.4500/- per month, yet the learned Commissioner concluded of the amount of wages per month drawn by the deceased from his employment as a cleaner in the truck owned by respondents No.3 and 4 standing comprised in a sum of Rs.3000/- whereon he applied the relevant statutory principles for determination of compensation vis-a-vis the claimants/respondents No.1 and 2 herein. Since, the learned Commissioner has taken only a sum of Rs.3000/- to be the per mensem wages drawn by the deceased from his employment as a cleaner under his employers, the aforesaid sum is visibly a just and reasonable sum of wages per mensem drawn by the deceased while his standing engaged as a cleaner in the ill-fated vehicle by his employers. In aftermath the aforesaid computation of wages per mensem drawn by the deceased while his standing engaged as cleaner in the ill fated vehicle by his employers does not warrant any interference. Even otherwise the Insurance company has not adduced the relevant best evidence comprised in its concerting to lead into the witness box the employers of the deceased wherefrom the apposite elicitations may have upsurged qua the deceased drawing wages per mensem in a figure lesser than Rs.3000/-. Consequently, reiteratedly, the conclusion drawn by the learned Commissioner qua the deceased drawing wages constituted in a sum of Rs.3000/- per mensem while his serving in the ill-fated vehicle as a cleaner under his employer warrants deference.

5. The learned counsel appearing for the Insurance Company has contended of with the driving licence held by the driver, who at the relevant time was driving the ill-fated vehicle, licence whereof stands comprised in Ex. RW1/A holding reflections therewithin qua it authorizing him to drive a heavy transport vehicle, validity whereof enduring upto 30.12.2006. whereas with the ill-fated occurrence taking place on 17.01.2007, qua hence thereat the driving licence held by the driver of the ill-fated vehicle not holding any valid subsisting force, whereafter, he contends qua the fastening of the relevant liability upon it by the learned Commissioner in the impugned rendition warranting interference. However, the aforesaid contention also warrants its standing discountenanced in the face of the provisions encapsulated in Section 14 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, the relevant provisions whereof stand extracted hereinafter, mandating qua on an application standing preferred by a holder of a driving licence before the licencing authority concerned whereupon he on its validity expiring seeks its renewal therefrom, it holding an empowerment to renew it, renewal whereof holding validity besides effect from the date of its expiry. However, the aforesaid mandate held therewithin is subject to the mandate held in its proviso. The relevant provisions of Section 14 of the Motor Vehicles Act read as under:-

> " 14. Currency of licences to drive motor vehicles:-
>
> (1).....
>
> (2). A driving licence issued or renewed under this Act Shall,-
>
> (a) in the case of a licence to drive a transport vehicle, be effective for a period of three years"

The relevant provisions of Section 15 of the Motor Vehicles Act read as under:_

> "15. Renewal of driving licences.- (a) Any licensing authority may, on application made to it, renew a driving licence issued under the provisions of this Act with effect from the date of its expiry:

> Provided that in any case where the application of the renewal of a licence is made more than thirty days after the date of its expiry, the driving licence shall be renewed with effect from the date of its renewal:
>
> Provided further that where the application is for the renewal of a licence to drive a transport vehicle or where in any other case the applicant has attained the age of forty years, the same shall be accompanied by a medical certificate in the same form and in the same manner as is referred to in sub-section (3) of section 8 and the provisions of sub-section (4) of section 8 shall, so far as may be apply in relation to every such case as they apply in relation to a learner's licence."

The proviso to Section 15 wherewithin a mandate is held qua on more than 30 days elapsing since its expiry whereupon its renewal stands concerted by its holder, the renewal of his driving licence by the licencing authority concerned holding effect from the date of its renewal and not from the date of its expiry wherefrom the inevitable conclusion is of unless the holder of a driving licence within 30 days elapsing since its expiry prefers an application before the licencing authority concerned wherein he asks for its renewal therefrom, the renewal of the relevant driving licence by the licencing authority concerned being construable to hold effect from the date of its renewal. In other words, if only when the holder of a driving licence on expiry of his driving licence prefers an application within 30 days elapsing since its expiry concerting therein its renewal by the licencing authority concerned thereupon alone its renewal by the licencing authority concerned relating back to the date of its expiry otherwise not. Consequently, with reflections occurring in Ex.RW1/A qua the driving licence of the driver of ill-fated vehicle surviving upto 30.12.2006 whereas the vehicle which he was driving at the relevant time suffering an accident on 17.01.2007 hence with the ill-fated occurrence taking place with less than 30 days elapsing vis-a-vis the date of expiry of the apposite driving licence also when thereupto not more than 30 days elapsed therefrom, it cannot be concluded of hence (a) the relevant driver not preferring within 30 days since its expiry an apposite application before the licencing authority concerned for obtaining its renewal therefrom (b) of qua it holding force and validity at the time of the ill-fated occurrence significantly when its renewal stood concerted within 30 days elapsing since its expiry (c) besides its renewal relating back to the date of its expiry. Consequently, when only on 30 days elapsing since 30.12.2006 besides therewithin his omitting to seek its renewal from the licencing authority concerned, a conclusion was garnerable of hence renewal of his driving licence by the licencing authority concerned being effective from the date of its renewal. Contrarily, reiteratedly when RW-1 in his testification has not made any communication qua the driver of the ill-fated vehicle seeking renewal of his driving licence from the licencing authority concerned on more than 30 days elapsing since 30.12.2006, it has to be concluded qua hence his seeking renewal of the apposite driving licence within 30 days from the date of its expiry also therefrom it has to be concomitantly concluded qua his driving licence being construable to be effective vis-a-vis the date of its expiry i.e. 30.12.2006. In sequel, whereof it is to be concomitantly concluded qua at the time contemporaneous to the occurrence of the ill-fated incident, his holding a valid driving licence to drive the relevant vehicle. In aftermath, the findings recorded by the learned Commissioner on the aforesaid apt issue do not merit any interference.

6. For the reasons recorded hereinabove, no substantial question of law much less a substantial question of law arises for determination in the instant appeal. Consequently, there is no merit in the instant appeal and it is accordingly dismissed. In sequel, the order impugned hereat is maintained and affirmed. All pending applications also stand disposed of. No order as to costs.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Satish Chander .....Appellant-Plaintiff.
Versus
Jagdish and others .....Respondents/defendants.

RSA No. 383 of 2007.
Reserved on : 06.10.2016.
Decided on : 25th October, 2016.

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiff pleaded that suit land was earlier owned by his mother V – she had executed a Will in favour of the plaintiff and defendant No.1- the other land was given to proforma defendants No. 2 and 3- defendant taking advantage of the absence of the plaintiff got executed a gift deed – the suit land was ancestral in the hands of V – the defendant pleaded that the Will and gift deed were executed in a free and disposing state of mind – the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held in second appeal that the execution of the Will was not disputed – the gift deed was executed after the execution of the Will- the gift deed was registered and there is presumption of its due execution – however, it was recorded by the revenue officer that possession was delivered after receiving an amount of Rs.5,000/- - therefore, it has not been proved that the gift was executed without any consideration- the donee had failed to prove that no undue influence was exercised by him upon the donor – further, the scribe and the witnesses were common – the Sub Registrar was also not examined – the Courts had not properly appreciated the evidence – appeal allowed- judgments of the Courts below set aside and the suit of the plaintiff decreed. (Para-7 to 14)

Case referred:
Krishna Mohan Kul alias Nani Charan Kul and another versus Pratima Maity and others (2004)9 SCC 468

For the Appellant: Mr. G.D. Verma, Senior Advocate with Mr. B.C. Verma, Advocate.
For Respondent No.1: Mr. Ashok Sharma, Senior Advocate with Ms. Sukarma Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge.

The instant Regular Second Appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement and decree recorded by the learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Kangra at Dharamshala in Civil Appeal No. 147-J/05/03, whereby he in affirmation to the verdict recorded by the learned trial Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiff wherein he had sought a declaration qua gift deed comprised in Ex.DW2/A being quashed and set aside. The plaintiff/appellant herein stands aggrieved by the concurrently recorded renditions of both the learned Courts below wherefrom he has instituted the instant appeal herebefore.

2. The brief facts leading to the lis inter se the parties were that the plaintiff sought declaration that he is joint owner to the extent of 435/924 shares in the suit land since the suit land was earlier owned by the mother of the parties Smt. Vidya Devi wife of late Dharam Vir. It had been averred that a Will was executed by Vidya Devi in favour of the plaintiff and defendant No.1 in full disposing mind on 9.4.1991 and as per that Will, the land to the extent of 0-02-85 hectares was given to defendant No.1 and 0-03-84 hectares was given to the plaintiff. The deceased had also executed a Will in respect of other land vide which the land had been given to the proforma defendants NO.2 and 3. The plaintiff was earlier residing at Patiala and thereafter shifted to Shimla as he was in government service. The defendant taking advantage of the absence of the plaintiff by playing fraud upon Vidya Devi got a false and fictitious gift deed executed. The suit land in the hands of Vidya Devi was ancestral qua the plaintiff and defendant No.1 and proforma defendants who are governed by custom in the matter of alienation being agriculturists. It had also been averred that the land being ancestral property was to devolve upon the plaintiff and defendants but by way of Will executed by Vidya Devi the reversionary rights of the plaintiff got effected and he got deprived of his share in the suit land. It had also been averred that the gift deed is not valid and the plaintiff is not bound by the gift deed. The plaintiff had further averred that Vidya Devi had also constructed a house over the suit land about two years back and there was another old house existing on the suit land constructed by the forefathers of the parties. The plaintiff and the defendants have got their shares in both the house since the parties are in joint possession of both the houses. The defendant NO.1 in connivance with the revenue staff got mutation sanctioned on the basis of the alleged gift deed in his favour without notice to any of the interested parties or to deceased Vidya Devi. The defendant No.1 was asked time and again that he should not claim anything as per the alleged gift deed but in vain, hence the instant suit.

3. Defendant No.1 contested the suit and taken preliminary objections inter alia maintainability, locus standi, estoppel, cause of action. It had been averred that the plaintiff was regularly visiting to his house. It had also been averred that Vidya Devi was not a simple lady. She executed a valid gift deed in faovur of defendant No.1 out of her free will and undue influence. The gift was registered with the Sub Registrar, Jawali. Thus there was no question of fraud. Defendant NO.1 has become owner of 558 shares out of 924 shares out of which 285 shares were due on account of the gift deed. The houses constructed by defendant No.1 by raising loan from the financial institution. Thereby the plaintiff and proforma defendants have got no share over that house. The plaintiff is owner to the extent of 366 shares out of 924 shares. It had been averred that the parties are not governed by custom in the matters of alienation. Vidya Devi had every right to alienate suit land by way of gift being owner-in-possession of the suit land. The deed is valid and a legal document. Thereby the plaintiff is not entitled to any relief.

4. On the pleadings of the parties, the learned trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties in contest:-

1. Whether the plaintiff is joint owner to the extent of 435/924 share i.e. 0-04-57 HM, out of the suit property, as alleged? OPP

2. Whether the gift deed dated 23.4.1991 executed by Vidya Devi in favour of defendant No.1, is result of fraud , as alleged? OPP

3. Whether the suit of the plaintiff is not maintainable in the present form, as alleged? OPD

4. Whether the plaintiff has no locus stnadi to file the present suit, as alleged? OPD

5. Whether the plaintiff is estopped to file the present suit, as alleged? OPD.

6. Whether the plaintiff has no enforceable cause of action, as alleged? OPD.

6-A. Whether the property is ancestral and parties are governed by customs in the matter of alienation of such property, as alleged? OPP

7. Relief.

5. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, it dismissed the suit of the plaintiff/appellant herein. In an appeal, preferred therefrom by the plaintiff/appellant herein before the learned first Appellate Court, the latter Court while dismissing the defendant's appeal, affirmed the findings recorded by the learned trial Court.

6. Now the plaintiff/appellant herein has instituted the instant Regular Second Appeal before this Court assailing therein the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 24.08.2007, this Court, admitted the appeal instituted by the plaintiff/appellant against the judgment and decree of the learned first Appellate Court, on the hereinafter extracted substantial questions of law:-

a) Whether misreading of oral as well as documentary evidence which goes to the root of the matter has vitiated the findings of the ld. Courts below.

b) Whether the Ld. Courts below have arrived at wrong conclusion by the misreading of documents Ex.P1, Ex.DW2/A and ExPW3/F?

c) Whether the learned Courts below were right in holding that the documents Ex.DW2/A, the gift deed was not in violation of Section 122 of the |Transfer of Property Act?

d) Whether the learned Court below is wrong in holding that the suit property is not an ancestral property and could have been alienated in the matter it has been done so?

e) Whether the learned Court below erred in holding that the property is not ancestral and is not governed by local custom.

f) Whether the learned Court below is right in holding that the gift deed Ex.DW2/A dated 23.4.91 is not a result of fraud?

Substantial questions of Law No.1 to 6:

7. The plaintiff/appellant and the contesting defendant/respondent are the off springs of deceased Vidya Devi. Vidya Devi, the predecessor-in-interest of the contestants herebefore had prior to the execution qua her property of Ex.DW2/A executed a testamentary disposition whereby she devised her estate vis-a-vis the parties at contest in the manner enshrined therein. The testamentary disposition of Vidya Devi, the predecessor-in-interest of the contesting parties hereat stands comprised in Ex.P-1. It stood executed on 9.4.1991. It also stood registered by the Sub Registrar concerned. It stood scribed by one Tilak Raj, Advocate and marginal witnesses thereto are Sadhu Ram and Shiv Singh. In quick succession thereto gift deed comprised in Ex.DW2/A stood executed by the predecessor-in-interest of the contesting parties hereat vis-a-vis defendant No.1/respondent No.1 herein. The factum of valid and due execution of Will comprised in Ex.P-1 has remained uncontroverted. However, an acerbic contest has erupted qua the valid and due execution of gift deed comprised in Ex.DW2/A. With execution of gift deed by the predecessor-in-interest of the parties at contest occurring in a short span vis-a-vis execution of a testamentary disposition comprised in Ex.P-1 by her, obviously the factum aforesaid stands highlighted by the learned counsel appearing for the appellant/plaintiff to constitute a suspicious circumstance impinging upon its volitional execution by the donor vis-a-vis the contesting defendant No.1. The validity of gift deed comprised in Ex.DW2/A stands pronounced by the testimony of its scribe also by the witnesses thereto. Apart therefrom, the factum of gift deed embodied in Ex.DW2/A standing presented for registration by the predecessor-in-interest of the contesting parties hereat before the registering authority concerned whereupon it stood accepted for registration also with occurrence of an endorsement qua its contents standing readover and explained to the donor, does strip the vigour of the contention of the learned counsel for the plaintiff/appellant of the donor since deceased standing beguiled by the donee to execute it in his favour. Contrarily, a tentative inference is erectable of it constituting a volitional disposition of her estate vis-a-vis the contesting defendant/respondent herein.

8. Be that as it may, even if, the recitals embodied in Ex.DW2/A do unveil the factum of its execution by the donor being bereft of any consideration passing from the donee to the donor whereupon it dons the mantle of a validly executed instrument of gift yet the order of mutation comprised in Ex.PW3/F attested by the revenue officer concerned on its presentation before him by the donor, who thereat stood accompanied by Shri Tilak Raj, Advocate, brings to the fore the factum of the donor on therebefore recording her appearance acquiescing tot he factum of hers receiving a sum of Rs.5000/- in lieu of her transferring possession of the corpus of the property enunciated in Ex.DW2/A vis-a-vis contesting defendant No.1/respondent No.1.

Both the learned Courts below had overlooked the occurrence of the aforesaid recitals in the order of the mutation recorded by the revenue officer on presentation of Ex.DW2/A before him, whereat Shri Tilak Raj, Advocate, identified the donor, who therebefore obviously had recorded her appearance on the score of it being unreadable whereas only the recitals existing in Ex.DW2/A being readable for forming a construction of it constituting a gratuitous transfer of property alienated by the donor to the donee wherewithin with no recitals occurring in display of passing of consideration from the donee to the donor constituting a conclusive pointer of it being construable to be a gratuitous alienation of the suit property by the donor to the donee. The slighting, by both the Courts below of the germane recitals embodied in Ex.PW3/F wherewithin portrayals are held of monetary consideration passing from the donee to the donor in lieu of the donor passing possession of the suit property to the donee, on the score of theirs being unreadbale, has begotten gross mis-appraisal of there impact upon the trite factum of the gift deed comprised in Ex.DW2/A being construable to be a volitional gratuitous transfer of the property by the donor to the donee. True it is that the recitals in Ex.DW2/A omit to bespeak of passing of monetary consideration from the donee to the donor also true it is of Ex.DW2/A alone constituting the instrument whereupon title qua the suit property stood bestowed upon the donee besides true it is of the order recording attestation of mutation by the Revenue officer concerned on production of Ex.DW2/A before him by the donor not conferring title qua the suit property upon the donee yet the existence of recitals therein of the donor passing possession of the suit property to the donee in lieu of hers receiving a sum of Rs.5000/- cannot be amenable to a construction of its occurrence therein being mechanical nor the aforesaid germane recital occurring therein can stand segregated from the factum of execution of Ex.DW2/A nor it can be read in isolation therefrom, conspicuously, when in pursuance thereto possession of the suit property stood received by the donee from the donor. Since delivery of possession of the suit property from the donor to the donee is imperative for a transaction of gift being construable to stand completed, imperatively, hence with the transaction of gift standing completed with the revenue officer concerned recording an order qua possession of the suit property standing delivered to the donee by the donor in lieu of the latter receiving a sum of Rs.5000/- from the former holds a natural sequel of thereupon thereat the transaction of gift standing completed besides consummated. As a corollary, though the instrument of gift comprised in Ex.DW2/A omits to hold therewithin any recital of passing of consideration from the donee to the donor rather holds communication therewithin qua conveyance of the suit property by the donor to the donee being a volitional gratuitous disposition, the aforesaid recitals occurring in Ex.DW2/A are excludable for forming a construction whether Ex.DW2/A is a volitional gratuitous transfer of the suit property significantly when they are read in entwinement with the order of mutation recorded in Ex.PW3/F whereat, for reasons aforestated, the transaction of gift stood consummated. Contrarily when order of mutation embodied in Ex.PW3/F holds traits besides elements of passing of consideration from the donee to the donor in lieu of passing of possession from the latter to the former whereupon hence with a key characteristic feature of a gift for thereupon it standing concluded to be holding tenacity in law significantly qua its standing bereft of consideration passing from the donee to the donor obviously stands diminished. In aftermath, it is apt to conclude of Ex.DW2/A being unamenable to a construction of it being an instrument of gift within the ambit of its statutory definition held in the apposite provisions of the Transfer of Property Act.

9. Also both the learned Courts below had made short shrift of an apposite recital aforesaid occurring in Ex.PW3/F on score of no suggestion in tandem thereto standing put by the learned counsel for the plaintiff to the defendant's witnesses while holding them to cross-examination. The assigning of the aforesaid reason by both the learned Courts below for theirs omitting to rid off the impact of the apposite recitals embodied in Ex.PW3/F upon Ex.DW2/A for the latter being thereupon not being construable a to be validly executed instrument of gift, has emanated on theirs holding a view of the plaintiff standing enjoined to discharge the onus of proving the factum of Ex.DW2/A standing gripped with a vice of falsity or with a vice of its execution emanating from the contesting defendant/respondent practicing deception upon his predecessor-in-interest. The aforesaid view as taken by both the learned Courts below appears to germinate from theirs fallaciously holding a view of unlike a testamentary disposition, propounder whereof stands enjoined to dispel the suspicious circumstances surrounding its execution, the plaintiff while impeaching the validity of Ex.DW2/A standing obliged to prove the factum of its execution emanating from the contesting defendant No.1 practicing deception upon the donor, onus whereof standing undischarged by the plaintiff/appellant, theirs on anvil of the testimonies of the scribe of Ex.DW2/A besides on anchor of the testification of the witness thereto also on anchor of it being a registered instrument of gift whereupon a presumption of truth is fastened, presumption whereof remaining uneroded by adduction of convincing evidence, concluded of Ex.DW2/A being free from any stain of its execution ensuing from the contesting defendant practicing deception upon the donor. However, the aforesaid view as taken by the learned Courts below is in gross transgression of the mandate of the Hon'ble Apex Court propounded in Krishna Mohan Kul alias Nani Charan Kul and another versus Pratima Maity and others (2004)9 SCC 468, the relevant paragraph 14 whereof stand extracted hereinafter:-

> "14. It is now well established that a Court of Equity, when a person obtains any benefit from another imposes upon the grantee the burden, if he wishes to maintain the contract or gift, of proving that in fact he exerted no influence for the purpose of obtaining it. The proposition is very clearly stated in Ashburner's Principles of Equity, 2nd Edn. p.229, thus:
>
> "When the relation between the donor and donee at or shortly before the execution of the gift has been such as to raise a presumption that the donee had influence over the donor, the Court sets aside the gift unless the donee can prove that the gift was the result of a free exercise of the donor's will.""
>
> (P....475)

Wherewithin a mandate stands propounded of a grantee or a donee concerting to maintain a contract or a gift each standing obliged to prove qua his in obtaining it not exerting any influence upon the granter or the donor significantly when the donee holds a fiduciary relationship with the donor also when the donor at the time contemporaneous to its execution was under the care of the donee, whereupon a presumption is erectable of his exerting influence qua its execution vis-a-vis him upon the donor, presumption whereof is enjoined to be dispelled by the donee. The essential nuance of the mandate of the Hon'ble Apex Court besets the donee with an onerous obligation to satisfy the conscience of the Court qua execution of gift deed qua him by the donor being free from his dominating the will of the donor. The concomitant effect of the rendition of the Hon'ble Apex Court is of alike a testamentary disposition whereupon its propunders standing enjoined to by cogent evidence explicate the suspicious circumstance(s) surrounding its execution for theirs thereupon satisfying the judicial conscience of the Court qua its execution being free from any suspicious circumstance(s), a donee also likewise standing enjoined to explicate the suspicious circumstance(s) surrounding its execution. Now herebefore, it is imperative to under score qua whether the donee had the opportunity to dominate the will of the donor, opportunity whereof would arise on proof emanating of his staying in her company at the stage contemporaneous to its execution. Only on the aforesaid upsurgings emanating herebefore would this Court be inclined to enjoin the donee to prove the factum of its execution being free from his dominating her will besides this Court would stand coaxed to make it incumbent upon the donee to dispel suspicious circumstance(s) surrounding its execution. In the endeavour aforesaid, an incisive perusal of the relevant record makes vivid upsurgings qua the donor staying in the company of the donee at the stage contemporaneous to the execution of Ex.DW2/A, whereupon he stood obliged, dehors his not assailing it also dehors onus standing not cast upon him to prove the factum of its execution emanating from his practicing deception upon the donor also dehors no suggestion standing put to the defendants witnesses by the learned counsel for the plaintiff hinged upon the order of mutation in succession to its execution standing attested by the revenue officer concerned holding recitals qua consideration passing from the donee to the donor in lieu of the former transferring possession of the suit land to him, whereupon for reasons aforestated the transaction of gift stood consummated also when it adversely impinged upon the trite factum of it thereupon lacking the statutorily trait of it being a volitional gratuitous transfer of the suit property by the donor to the donee, for it hence being construable to be a validly executed instrument of gift qua the suit property, to adduce evidence dispelling the factum of its execution not ensuing from his in any manner dominating the will of the donor. Reiteratedly, he was enjoined to make apposite pronouncements in dispelling the aura of suspicion surrounding the factum of purported volitional gratuitous disposition of the suit property under Ex.DW2/A by the donor to the donee. However, the aforesaid apposite bespeakings remain uncommunicated by the contesting defendant's witnesses. Since, the citation aforesaid of the Hon'ble Apex Court propagates a view qua akin to a propounder of a testamentary disposition standing enjoined to dispel the suspicious circumstance surrounding the valid and due execution of a testamentary disposition of a deceased testator, the donee likewise standing obliged to dispel the aforesaid suspicious circumstance surrounding the valid and due execution of Ex.DW2/A conspicuously when they are impinging upon the factum of its execution being not a volitional gratuitous transfer of the suit property by the donor to the donee. Since for removing the aura of suspicion ingraining the instrument of gift comprised in Ex.DW2/A, no apposite bespeakings occur in the testifications of the defendants witnesses, omissions whereof when read in coagulation with the apposite order of attestation of mutation comprised in Ex.PW3/F candidly convey qua the alienation of the suit land under Ex.DW2/A being a coloured transaction or a sham transaction also are loudly communicative under its guise the donor receiving consideration from the donee for handing over possession of the suit property to the donee whereupon the act of gift stood completed besides consummated, rendering Ex.DW2/A to be hence not construable to be a gift of the suit property. Furthermore, with a short gap occurring inter se the execution of a testamentary disposition by the predecessor-in-interest of the contesting parties hereat vis-a-vis the execution of gift deed comprised in Ex. DW2/A, is also a significant suspicious circumstance which too has remained inexplicated nor any reason stands purveyed by the donee qua the predominant prevailing reason besetting the donor to since the execution by her of a valid testamentary disposition of her estate, execute gift deed comprised in Ex.DW2/A besides with one Shri Tilak Raj scribing both the will and the gift deed besides with witnesses in both the aforesaid documents being common is connotative of the contesting defendant No.1 in tandem with the aforesaid contriving its execution.

10. Be that as it may, the commonality of scribe of both the aforestated instruments also given the commonality of the witnesses thereto begets an inference of theirs in tandem with the scribe of Ex.DW2/A besides with intra se complicity, theirs dominating the Will of the donor also theirs beguiling her to present it for registration before the Sub Registrar concerned. The shroud of the beguile practiced upon the donor by the donee in tandem with the aforesaid gets unveiled by revelations occurring in the order of mutation attested thereupon by the Revenue Officer concerned. The effect of the aforesaid conclusion is of validity imputed to a registered instrument of gift getting waned, more so, when the Sub Registrar concerned, who made an endorsement(s) therein has remained unexamined qua his in the presence of the donor making the relevant endorsement(s) thereon. In sequel, his non-examination begets an inference of the endorsement(s) occurring therein qua its contents standing readover and explained to the donor being construable to be mechanically besides perfunctorily made by the ministerial staff of his office, whereupon, no sanctity is imputable to them. Predominantly when the aforesaid inference, for reasons aforestated, stands enjoined to be explained besides to be dispelled by the donee, whereas, his omitting to examine the Sub Registrar concerned for enhancing the vigour of the relevant endorsement occurring therein bolsters a derivative of the entire act of registration of Ex.DW2/A by him, emanating on its scribe besides witnesses thereto acting in tandem with the donee bereft of the volition of the donor.

11. The concurrently recorded findings recorded by both the learned Court below qua the suit property being the self acquired property of deceased Vidya Devi are well founded especially when the predecessor-in-interest of the contesting parties received the suit land under a testamentary disposition executed in her favour by her father-in-law. Since, the suit land stood received by the predecessor-in-interest of the contesting parties under an testamentary disposition executed in her favour by her father-in-law, it obviously becomes her self acquired property, whereupon she held an indefeasible right to alienate it in the manner she chose.

12. The above discussion unfolds the fact that the conclusions as arrived by the learned first Appellate Court as also by the learned trial Court are not based upon a proper and mature appreciation of the evidence on record. While rendering the apposite findings, the learned first Appellate Court as also the learned trial Court have excluded germane and apposite material from consideration. Accordingly, the substantial questions of law are answered in favour of the plaintiff/appellant and against the defendant No.1/respondent.

13. In view of above discussion, the present Regular Second Appeal is allowed and the judgements and decrees rendered by both learned Courts below are set aside. Consequently, the suit of the plaintiff is decreed and in sequel, gift deed of 23.4.1991 comprised in Ex.DW2/A is quashed and set aside and the plaintiff/appellant is held joint owner to the extent of 435/924 shares i.e. 0-04-57 HMS in the land bearing Khata NO.235, Khatauni No.719, Khasra Nos. 2132, 2133 and Khata No.236, Khatauni No.711, Khasra Nos. 2134, 2135, Plots-4, measur4ing 0-10-34 HMs situated in village Kehrian, PO AND Tehsil Jawali, District Knagra, H.P. along with the construction existing on the said lands consisting of one old house constructed by the forefathers of the parties and the new house constructed about two years back by the deceased Smt. Vidya Devi and the defendant No.1 has got 336/924 share,measuring 0-03-58 HMS in the said land and the proforma defendants No.2 to 4 have 51/924 share each (0-00-73 HMS in the said land on the basis of the Will dated 9.4.1991 comprised in Ex.P-1. The parties are left to bear their own costs. Decree sheet be drawn accordingly. All pending applications also stand disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Sita Devi and others ..Appellants/defendants

Versus

Lekh Ram and others. ..Respondents/plaintiffs.

RSA No. 412 of 2009.
Reserved on : 18/10/2016
Date of decision: 25/10/2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit in representative capacity – the judgment and decree dated 9.12.1959 were obtained by playing a fraud in connivance with Ex-Sarpanch of the village – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that the suit land had vested in the gram Panchayat – previous suit was filed seeking declaration regarding the possession – Pardhan was authorized to defend the suit but he compromised the suit without any authorization to do so- Gram Panchayat filed a civil suit to set aside the decree but the suit was withdrawn by Pardhan – customary right was established by the plaintiffs- land had vested in Gram Panchayat- mere fact that some of the plaintiffs had died during the pendency of the suit will not result in the dismissal of the same, but the abatement shall be partial – the suit was rightly decreed by the trial Court- appeal dismissed.

(Para-9 to 13)

For the appellants: Mr. G.D.Verma, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Ashok Tyagi, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. A.K.Pathania,, Mr. R.K.Gautam and Mr. Pawan Gautam, Advocates for respondentsNo. 1, 2, and 4 to 41 and LRs of respondents No. 3, 34 and 38.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J:

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement and decree of the learned Additional District Judge, Una, H.P., whereby he affirmed the rendition of the learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Court No.I, Amb, District Una. The defendants standing aggrieved by the concurrently recorded renditions of both the learned Courts below concert, through the instant appeal constituted before this Court, to reverse the judgements and decrees of both the Courts below.

2. The facts necessary for rendering a decision on the instant appeal are that the plaintiffs filed a suit in representative capacity seeking a declaration to the effect that the judgement and decree of 9.12.1959 had been obtained by the defendants by playing a fraud on the Court and the residents of village Tiai, Tehsil Amb, District Una, having been obtained collusively and in connivance with Sant Ram the Ex-Sarpanch of the village and as such was a nullity in the eyes of law. The premises on which the suit was laid was Shamlat deh and the same stood vested in the Gram Panchayat Tiai by operation of law under the provisions of Section 3 of the Punjab Act No.1 of 1954 and mutation No. 113 had come to be sanctioned in this behalf on 18.6.1955 and since then the Shamlat was being managed by the Panchayat. The defendants had instituted a suit being Civil Suit No. 293/1959 against the Gram Panchayat Tiai seeking a declaration that land measuring 2860 Kanals and 17-1/2 marlas was owned and possessed by them. On 12.8.1959 the Gram Panchayat vide its resolution had resolved to contest the case and authorized Sant Ram to defend the case on behalf of the Panchayat. On 9.12.1959 Sant Ram Pardhan had made a statement in Court that the suit of the plaintiffs be decreed. In 1968 the defendants got the mutation in their name in pursuance to the judgement vide mutation No. 136 of 1968 and thereafter a civil suit No. 484 of 1969 titled as Gram Panchayat vs. Khoshala was filed challenging the aforesaid mutation. In the year 1972 Sarpanch Sant Ram again won the election and became the Sarpanch and again got a resolution passed on 9.3.1973 seeking to withdraw the Civil Suit No. 484 of 1969. The said suit was also dismissed as withdrawn on 23.3.1973. The present plaintiffs again in representative capacity filed suit alleging themselves to be beneficiary in the suit being Shamlat challenging the withdrawal of the suit. The matter went upto the Hon'ble High Court and in Regular Second Appeal No. 161 of 1987 Hon'ble High Court observed that as long as judgement and decree of 9.12.1959 is not challenged the plaintiffs could not succeed in getting any relief in the said suit out of which aforesaid RSA arose. The plaintiffs therein again filed review petition wherein the Hon'ble High Court had given liberty to avail the remedy of challenging the judgement and decree Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3. The plaintiffs herein, therefore, challenging the judgement and decree of 9.12.1959 have filed the present suit.

3. The defendants No.1 to 18 preferred a common written statement. They interalia raised the preliminary objections of locus standi, limitation, cause of action, maintainability, the suit being barred under the provisions of Order 2, Rule 2 CPC and the plaintiffs being estopped from bringing the suit in view of the earlier suit having been filed by them.

4. On merits, the defendants denied that any fraud was played or any mis statement of fact was ever made in the Court. It was denied that the defendants had colluded with Sant Ram the then Sarpanch. The plaintiffs were stated to be in full knowledge of the decision rendered in 1959. The suit land was stated to have never been vested either in the Gram Panchayat or in the State. As per the defendants the Gram Panchayat and the State did not claim any interest or title to the suit land. The plaintiffs were thus estopped from agitating the matter which is in the competence of Gram Panchayat or the State. The State of H.P. being defendant No.21 had preferred a separate written statement. As per the State the Shamlat lands vested in the Panchayat under the Act of 1961 and had come to be vested in the State of H.P. by virtue of H.P. Village Common Lands (Vesting and Utilisation) Act and as such the earlier decree of the Court has no effect in operation of the H.P.Village Common Land (Vesting and Utilisation) Act, 1976. On merits it was the case of the State that the decree passed in Civil Suit No. 293/59 had become a nullity in view of the Section 3 of the H.P.Act and the suit land had in fact been vested in the State of H.P.

5. Replication to the written statement stood filed wherein the averments made in the written statement were controverted and those made in the plaint were re-asserted.

6. On the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties at contest:-

1. Whether judgement and decree dated 9.12.1959 in Civil Suit No. 293 of 1959 is collusive, result of fraud and misrepresentation, as alleged? OPP.

2. If issue No.1 is proved in affirmative, whether suit land is Shamlat Deh in use of inhabitants of the village, Tiai? OPP.

3. If issue No. 1 and 2 are proved in affirmative whether the plaintiffs are entitled to the relief of injunction, as prayed, OPP.

4. Whether the suit is not within time? OPD.

5. Whether plaintiffs have no cause of action? OPD.

6. Whether suit is barred by limitation? OPD.

7. Whether suit is bad for non mentioning of particulars of fraud as required under Order 6 Rule 2 CPC? OPD.

8. Whether suit is barred by principle of res judicata under Order 2 Rule 2 CPC.

9. Whether the plaintiffs have no title either proprietary or possessory in suit land? OPD.

10. Relief.

7. On appraisal of the evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, the learned trial Court decreed the suit of the plaintiffs besides the learned Additional District Judge, affirmed the findings of the learned trial Court.

8. Now the defendants/appellants herein have instituted before this Court the instant Regular Second Appeal wherein they assail the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 30.11.2011, this Court admitted the appeal on the hereinafter extracted substantial questions of law:-

"1. Whether plaintiffs/ respondents have failed to discharge the legal onus with regard to alleged fraud and mis representation of facts in the present case as they have not pleaded the same as per order 6 Rule 2 and 3 of CPC nor have proved the same according to law?

2. Whether the suit of the plaintiffs was not abated as plaintiffs at Sr. No. 7, 8, 14, 16, 22 in the trial stage before the First Trial Court had been expired during the pendency of the suit itself and as no legal heirs had been brought on record by the plaintiffs/respondents within the time period as prescribed under law and matter as a whole had abated and suit was liable to be dismissed as a whole?

3. Whether the finding by both the Courts below are palpably illegal and erroneous on account of concurrent misappreciation and misconstruction of the pleadings of the parties, as well as oral and documentary evidence on record and the legal proposition of law as applicable to the facts of the case?

4. Whether the documents Ext.P-3, Ext.P-4, Ext.P-5, Ext.P-6, Ext.P-7, Ext.PW-1/A and Ext.PW-1/B have wrongly been ignored by the learned court below, though legally proved on record?

5. Whether the learned lower Courts below have not committed illegality in returning the findings without considering pleadings and evidence of the parties that the suit is within period of limitation on the basis of clear oral and documentary evidence on record, though it is proved on record that the suit is hopelessly barred by limitation?

6. Whether the suit of the plaintiffs/respondents has not become infructuous in view of the fact that the State Government has vide its notification No. Rev.B.A.(3)-8/2001 dated 10/09/2004 has reverted back the ownership to the legal heirs of the original owners as per their shares and as even thereafter the land has been revested in the names of the appellants and the mutation in this regard has also not been challenged by the respondents/plaintiffs till date. The notification is also placed on record of the learned Courts below but the same has not been considered hence this pure question of law is yet to be decided in the appeal."

Substantial questions of law.

9. The parties at lis are not at contest qua the factum of the suit land standing under Punjab Act No. 1 of 1954 vested in the Gram Panchayat concerned, in pursuance whereof mutation No. 113 comprised in Ext.PW-2/A stood attested/sanctioned on 18.06.1955. One Khoshala since diseased now represented by his LRs besides others instituted suit No. 293/59 against Gram Panchayat Tiai, Tehsil Amb, in 1959 wherein they staked a declaratory right qua theirs holding possession of the suit land as its owners. On the suit aforesaid standing instituted before the Civil Court concerned, notice stood issued to the Gram Panchayat concerned, whereupon it under Ext.PW-4/A resolved to defend the suit also thereunder its the then Sarpanch Sant Ram was bestowed with an authorization to defend the interests of the Gram Panchayat concerned in the suit aforesaid instituted against it, in the Civil Court concerned. A perusal of the apposite resolution, unveils of Sant Ram the then Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat Tiai, Tehsil Amb, holding thereunder an authorization to defend before the Civil Court concerned the interests of the Gram Panchayat concerned vis.a.vis the suit land qua which a suit stood instituted by the aforesaid Khoshala and others for whittling the effect of the statutory vestment of the suit land in the Gram Panchayat concerned. However, Sant Ram, the then Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat, Tiai, who held an authorization to defend the interests in litigation of Gram Panchayat Tiai also who did not hold any specific authorization, to, in derogation of the interests in the suit land of the Gram Panchayat concerned, compromise the suit significantly when qua the suit land ownership stood vested qua it under a legislative enactment whereas he despite his not holding any specific authorization to compromise the interests in litigation of Gram Panchayat, Tiai, besides obviously in transgression of Ext.PW-4/A proceeded to record a statement on 9.12.1959 before the Civil Court concerned whereupon he accepted the claim in the suit of the plaintiffs therein, statement whereof stands couched in the hereinafter extracted phraseology :-

"Bian Kiya Ke Dawa Mudai se Iqwal Hai. Decree Bahak Mudian di jawe. Kharcha Frikan Rakha Jawe. Sun Kar Darust Taslim Kiya."

10. In sequel thereto the Civil Court decreed the suit of the plaintiffs i.e Khosala and others instituted against Gram Panchayat Tiai, Tehsil Amb. The decree rendered by the Civil Court concerned vis.a.vis Khoshala and others sequelled attestation of mutation No.136 in the year 1968 qua the suit land vis.a.vis them. The aforesaid mutation stood resolved by the Gram Panchayat Tiai to face the ordeal of it standing subjected to a challenge before the Civil Court concerned whereupon Civil Suit No. 484 of 1969 stood instituted before the Civil Court concerned. However, Sant Ram, the then Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat concerned who obviously abused besides infringed the authorization previously bestowed upon him by Gram Panchayat Tiai, authorization whereof stands comprised in Ext.PW-4/A, inference of infringement thereof by him stands spurred from his transgressing the specific mandate held therewithin whereupon he stood authorized to defend the interests in the suit instituted against it by Khoshala and others besides stands pointedly communicated in his recording a statement before the Civil Court concerned holding therein articulations of the suit of Khoshala and others instituted against Gram Panchayat, Tiai, being ordered to be decreed whereupon an apposite decree stood rendered vis.a.vis Khoshala and others, on standing re-elected in 1972 as Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat Tiai, Tehsil Amb, ensured passing of a resolution on 9.3.1973 by the Gram Panchayat concerned wherewithin echoings are held qua Civil Suit No. 484 of 1969 being withdrawn. In pursuance thereto Civil Suit No. 484 of 1969 nominclatured as Gram Panchayat Tiai vs. Khosala and others stood withdrawn on 23.3.1973 by the Gram Panchayat Tiai wherein mutation No. 136 of 1968 as stood sanctioned qua the suit land vis.a.vis plaintiffs Khoshala and others was subjected to an assault standing constituted thereupon. As a corollary thereto the apposite decree in consonance therewith stood rendered by the Civil Court concerned. The plaintiffs instituted a suit on 3.4.1973 before the Sub Judge Ist class, Una whereby they claimed a declaratory decree for setting aside mutation number 136 sanctioned on 25.3.1968 also claimed a declaratory relief qua the apposite decree dismissing as withdrawn the suit of the Gram Panchayat Tiai, Tehsil Amb, being declared to be illegal and void, it standing sequelled by collusion and fraud.

11. The aforesaid civil suit stood instituted on 3.4.1973 by the plaintiffs before the Sub Judge Ist Class, Una whereby they assailed the attestation of mutation bearing No. 136 sanctioned on 25.3.1968 mutation whereof stood attested in pursuance to the rendition of the Civil Court concerned recorded in 1959 whereupon the plaintiffs therein stood declared to be owners in possession of the suit land besides therein they assailed the decree rendered on 17.3.1982 by the Civil Court concerned. The suit aforesaid suffered the fate of dismissal. In an appeal carried therefrom before the learned Addl. District Judge it suffered an alike fate. The plaintiffs therein assailed the decision recorded by the Addl. District Judge, Una by preferring an appeal therefrom before this Court whereupon this Court dismissed their Regular Second Appeal bearing No. 161 of 1987. This Court while pronouncing an adjudication upon RSA No. 161 of 1987 dismissed the appeal preferred herebefore by the plaintiffs. The reason which prevailed upon this Court to dismiss the aforesaid Regular Second Appeal preferred herebefore by the plaintiffs stood embedded in (a) the factum of the apposite decree of the Civil Court concerned rendered on 9.12.1959 acquiring finality arising from the factum of it remaining un-assailed. (b) Also for want of an onslaught standing constituted against it in the suit of the plaintiffs, their suit of 1973 for setting aside the relevant mutation recorded in the year 1968, mutation whereof stood anvilled thereupon, warranting dismissal. Significantly since no challenge stood constituted by the plaintiffs against the rendition of the Civil Court concerned pronounced on 9.12.1959 constrained this Court to dismiss the Regular Second Appeal preferred herebefore by the plaintiffs against the concurrently recorded renditions of the learned Courts below whereby they declined to interfere with the mutation recorded in the year 1968 also declined to afford a declaratory relief qua the decree of dismissal as withdrawn, pronounced qua Civil Suit No. 484 of 1969 being declared to be null and void, it standing procured by collusion and fraud. The plaintiffs therefrom preferred Civil Review No. 47 of 1997 before this Court whereupon they sought review of the judgement of this Court recorded in RSA No. 161 of 1987. This Court dismissed the aforesaid review petition yet it reserved liberty to the plaintiffs to by availing the appropriate mechanism prescribed by law constitute a challenge to the judgement and decree pronounced in 1959 by the Civil Court concerned rendition(s) whereof stand comprised in Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3. Also it ordered qua the question of limitation being sympathetically considered by the Civil Court concerned whereat the plaintiffs constitute a challenge to the judgement and decree comprised in Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3. In sequel, thereto the plaintiffs instituted Civil Suit No. 12-1 of 1998 before the Civil Judge, Jr. Division, Court No.1, Amb whereupon the latter Court decreed the suit of the plaintiffs. The learned First Appellate Court on standing seized with an appeal preferred therebefore by the aggrieved defendants dismissed it. The defendants stand aggrieved by the renditions of the learned Courts below hence for reversing them they have herebefore instituted the instant Regular Second Appeal.

12. The suit of the plaintiffs initially instituted in the year 1973 besides their successive suit instituted in the year 1998 stood instituted in a representative capacity, in latter suit whereof they obtained success by adducing cogent evidence in display qua theirs in consonance with prescriptions held in the relevant apposite records holding customary rights qua user of the suit land whereupon they canvassed qua theirs holding a concomitant leverage to unsettle the mutation recorded qua the suit land in the year 1968, mutation whereof stood anchored upon a decree of the Civil Court concerned pronounced in 1959, rendition whereof of the Civil Court is palpably in gross transgression of a legislative enactment nomenclatured as Punjab Act No. 1 of 1954 whereupon the suit land came to be vested in Gram Panchayat Tiai besides in sequel whereto mutation comprised in 113 came to be sanctioned vis.a.vis. the Gram Panchayat concerned. With the suit of the plaintiffs standing instituted in a representative capacity besides with right of customary user of the suit land by the plaintiffs standing clinchingly sustained by emphatic evidence, resultantly though on occurrence of demise of co-plaintiffs No. 7, 8, 14, 16 and 22 during the pendency of the suit before the learned trial Court, no apposite motion was made before the Civil Court concerned for theirs standing substituted by their LRs nor an order emanated therefrom qua theirs being ordered to be substituted by their LRs yet the omission on the part of the plaintiffs to beget their substitution by their LRs, would not entail a consequence of the suit of the plaintiffs abating as a whole, contrarily the suit of the plaintiffs would abate only qua deceased co-plaintiffs who died during the pendency of the trial of the suit before the learned trial Court and on occurrence of whose demise they remained unsubstituted by theirs LRs in the apposite array of co-plaintiffs. Since an order of abatement of the extant suit vis.a.vis. co-plaintiffs whose demise occurred before the learned trial Court may ipso facto bar their legal representatives to claim the benefit of an apposite decree, if any, pronounced by this Court vis.a.vis. other co-plaintiffs also when a suit stands instituted in a representative capacity whereunder the collective interest of the village proprietary body qua user by them of the suit land stands staked, hence occurrence of names of the deceased in the apposite array of litigants in the renditions of the learned Courts below would not beget a sequel qua the apposite renditions hence standing ingrained with a vice of nullity, as any pronouncement by this Court qua hence the renditions of the Court concerned standing afflicted with a vice of nullity would defeat the collective interests qua the suit land of the village proprietary body, collective interests whereof stand propagated by the plaintiffs for themselves besides for the entire village proprietary body, by theirs instituting a representative suit whereunder they claim assertion of customary rights upon the suit land, rights whereof stand espoused to ensue in their favour in pursuance of the suit land vesting in the Gram Panchayat concerned under a legislative Enactment aforesaid also predominantly when the nature of the rights asserted by the plaintiffs are res communis besides when for lack of impleadment at the apposite stage of the LRs of deceased co-plaintiffs has begotten the sequel of the suit standing ordered to abate vis.a.vis. them, concomitantly it would be in sagacious to conclude qua the renditions of the Courts below standing stained with a vice of nullity arising from occurrence of their names in the apposite array of litigants in the pronouncements made by the Courts concerned. The aforesaid view is warranted to obviate perpetuation of any mishap to the collective interests of the village proprietary body in the suit land, collective interests whereof stand concerted to be protected through the plaintiffs instituting the instant suit in a representative capacity whereon the trite assault for assailing the relevant pronouncements occurring in the relevant exhibits stand anchored upon bestowment upon them by a legislative Enactment customary rights of user of the suit land. Since the collective interests of the village proprietary body stand canvassed through a suit filed by the plaintiffs in a representative capacity before the Civil Court concerned, as a corollary when obviously the interests in the suit land canvassed by the plaintiffs are not individual interests qua property held individually as owners by them rather when the suit property was owned by the Gram Panchayat concerned whereon in consonance with prescriptions held in the relevant records they hold only customary rights qua its user, exercise of rights whereon by them stand clinchingly proven, in sequel thereto when insistence with inflexible rigidity is enjoined to be made when plaintiffs sue in an individual capacity qua suit property whereon they assert rights as owner in their individual capacity qua on demise of co-plaintiffs on an apposite motion at the apposite stage before the Court concerned theirs imperatively standing ordered to be substituted in the apposite array of litigants by theirs

LRs, want whereof rendering the apposite pronouncement of the Court concerned to stand ingrained with a vice of nullity. Contrarily for reasons aforestated when the extant suit stands contra distinctively instituted in a representative capacity qua suit property whereon they do not stake any individual right of ownership rather only espouse rights qua its customary user, the rigour of the aforesaid inflexible dictate warrants its standing relaxed significantly for protecting the collective interests in the suit land of the village proprietary body also when the pronouncement of this Court qua the suit of the plaintiffs abating in part qua deceased co-plaintiffs who at the apposite stage remained unsubstituted by their LRS would hence suffice to mete a formal deference thereto, deference aforesaid obviously wanes the effect of the aforesaid omission. Consequently, in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case prevailing hereat it is deemed fit to order qua the suit of the plaintiffs standing abated vis.a.vis. co-plaintiffs whose demise occurred during the pendency of the trial of the suit before the learned trial Court whereat they remained unsubstituted by their LRs, without ordering for the renditions of the Courts below being declared to be nonest.

13. The factual matrix of the case as aforestated underscores the factum of the rendition of the Civil Court concerned pronounced in 1959 standing pronounced vis.a.vis. the suit land also it unveils of it standing pronounced inter partes holding no congruity vis.a.vis. inter partes herebefore. Consequently, for lack of distinctivity in the litigating parties before the Civil Court concerned which pronounced a decree in the year 1959 vis.a.vis. the defendants herebefore the principle of res judicata may not stand attracted vis.a.vis. the extant suit of the plaintiffs herebefore. Tritely put the principle of res judicata encapsulated in Section 11 of the CPC is hinged upon estoppel arising from conclusivity of judicial pronouncement whereas the principle of estoppel embodied in Order 2 Rule 2 CPC is anchored upon pro active waiver besides abandonments by plaintiffs to incorporate in their previous suit, all reliefs besides causes of action which arose thereat. Significantly when the pronouncement qua the suit land occurring in the year 1959 holds analogity vis.a.vis the suit land hereat yet with the plaintiffs herebefore not being contestants therebefore whereupon hence the principle of resjudicata may not stand attracted vis.a.vis the instant suit yet it is enjoined to cross the hurdle of limitation besides the hurdle of the mandate of Order 2 Rule 2 CPC. The plaintiffs would succeed in crossing the hurdle of limitation only on theirs emphatically by sustainable relevant evidence proving the factum of theirs acquiring knowledge only in the year 1998 qua the pronouncement of the Civil Court which occurred in the year 1959 erupting on deception standing practiced upon it by the plaintiffs therein in collusion with Sant Ram the then Sarpanch of the Gram Panchayat Tiai whereupon it would concomitantly acquire a stain of nullity also would hence pave way for facilitating the plaintiffs, to, on theirs thereupon acquiring knowledge qua the pronouncement of the Civil Court concerned standing procured by collusion or fraud practiced upon the Court concerned by the plaintiffs in collusion with Sant Ram the then Sarpanch of Gram Pranchayat concerned, institute an apposite suit for assailing the decree and judgement rendered in the year 1959. The aforesaid conclusion stands erected given there being no wrangle qua the proposition qua a decree obtained by fraud being nonest also there being no quarrel with the proposition of law of it being assailable within the statutorily prescribed period of time computable from the date of acquisition of knowledge by the aggrieved qua it standing procured by fraud or collusion. However, before applying the aforesaid principle of law it is imperative to determine whether the plaintiffs acquired knowledge earlier than 1998 qua the pronouncement of the Civil Court concerned which occurred in the year 1959 standing obtained by fraud. In case this Court holds of the plaintiffs prior to 1998 holding active knowledge qua the fraud practiced upon the Civil Court concerned by the plaintiffs therein in collusion with Sant Ram the then Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat Tiai, Tehsil Amb, the inevitable sequel thereto would be of with hence the plaintiffs abandoning to in their previous suit instituted in the year 1973 incorporate therein the trite factum of the pronouncement of the Civil Court concerned rendered in the year 1959 standing obtained by fraud whereas it stood enjoined by the mandate of Order 2 Rule 2 CPC to stand embodied therein, transgression whereof would attract qua their instant suit the statutory principle of theirs standing estopped to incorporate in the extant suit a declaratory relief qua the rendition of the Civil Court concerned pronounced in 1959 emanating on fraud in the manner aforesaid standing practiced upon it. The learned counsel for the defendants/appellants contends with vigour qua with the plaintiffs' in their instant suit infracting the embargo of Order 2 Rule 2 CPC arising from the factum of theirs holding knowledge, qua the factum of rendition of the Civil Court concerned pronounced in 1959 purportedly standing vitiated with a vice of nullity it standing procured by them by theirs purportedly practicing fraud upon it in collusion with Sant Ram the then Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat concerned, at the stage contemporaneous to the trial of Civil Suit No. 484 of 1969 by the Court concerned, knowledge whereof held thereat by them is garnerable from the factum of the plaintiffs constituting apposite pleadings in the instant suit qua theirs acquiring knowledge qua the rendition of the Civil Court concerned pronounced in 1959, on the apposite judgement and decree embodied in Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 standing adduced therebefore in evidence, pleading whereof portrays their acquiescing qua the trite factum whereupon they held leverage to with the leave of the Court make apposite amendments in the plaint for hence thereat theirs assailing the aforesaid renditions comprised in the aforesaid exhibits whereas theirs omitting to do so, rendered invokable vis.a.vis the extant suit, the mandate of order 2 rule 2 CPC whereupon they stand statutorily ousted to canvas therein qua the judgement and decree of the Civil Court concerned pronounced in 1959 being declared to be null and void, it standing engineered by fraud practiced upon the Civil Court concerned by them in collusion with Sant Ram the then Sarpanch. However, the aforesaid submission holds no vigour significantly when the plaintiffs herebefore were not contestants in the Civil Suit which stood instituted before the Civil Court concerned in the year 1959 hence concomitantly when the renditions comprised in Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 stood not rendered inter partes litigants in the instant Civil Suit, as a corollary, it would be an over exacting expectation from them qua theirs thereat holding knowledge qua the pronouncement of the Civil Court concerned which occurred in the year 1959. Also the effect of the aforesaid inference is of the mere factum of adduction into evidence of the judgement and decree of the Civil Court concerned comprised in Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 not holding the effect of theirs thereupon also acquiring knowledge qua the resolution passed by the Gram Panchayat concerned, resolution whereof stands pronounced in Ext.PW-4/A whereupon its the then Sarpanch Sant Ram was authorized to defend the apposite civil suit whereas in transgression of the mandate held therewithin qua his standing enjoined to defend its interests in the Civil Suit preferred against it by the apposite plaintiffs therein, his causing mishap to the interests in the suit land of Gram Panchayat Tiai, by making a statement before it, holding echoings therein qua his concedeing to the claim staked by the apposite plaintiffs in their apposite suit, proclamation whereof held therewithin is a loud vivid display qua his for securing vis.a.vis them the decree as prayed for in their suit instituted in the year 1959 his hence colluding with the plaintiffs therein whereupon it obviously acquired a stain qua its rendition emanating from fraud standing practiced upon it by the plaintiffs in collusion with Sant Ram the then Sarpanch of the Gram Panchayat concerned. Predominantly also the judgement and decrees of the Civil Court concerned rendered in 1959 stand unaccompanied by the resolution of the Gram Panchayat concerned reflected in Ext.PW-4/A, mandate whereof stood transgressed by its the then Sarpanch Sant Ram also when no efficacious evidence stands adduced by the defendant in display of the plaintiffs earlier than 1998 acquiring knowledge qua its making by the Panchayat concerned evidence whereof stood denoted in the relevant register portraying qua theirs applying for its copies whereas it constituted the foundation for the plaintiffs efficaciously propagating qua the rendition of the Civil Court concerned comprised in Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 standing procured by collusion occurring interse the apposite plaintiffs therein and Sant Ram the then Sarpanch of Gram Panchayat Tiai. In aftermath the mere adduction into evidence of Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 during the course of trial of the civil suit instituted by the plaintiffs in the year 1973 would not ipso facto beget a conclusion of theirs thereat also acquiring knowledge qua the making of a resolution comprised in Ext.PW-4/A by the Gram Panchayat concerned nor also hence it can be concluded qua their omission, to in the extant suit assail Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 by making a motion under Order 6 Rule 17 CPC before the court concerned whereby they sought its leave to incorporate in their apposite pleadings an apposite relief qua Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 standing pronounced to suffer invalidation given theirs standing stained with a vice of nullity arising from theirs standing procured for them by Sant Ram, the then Sarpanch of Gram

Panchayat Tiai by the latter transgressing the mandate of Ext.PW-4/A besides its rendition erupting on his holding active complicity with them, conspicuously when he committed breach of resolution comprised in Ext.PW-4/A by making therebefore a statement abandoning the interests in the suit land of the Panchayat concerned whereupon the apposite judgement and decree stood pronounced, inviting qua them the bar of estoppel constituted in the provisions of Order 2 Rule 2 CPC. In other words, when Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 stood founded upon Ext.PW-4/A knowledge whereof stood for reasons aforestated unacquired by the plaintiffs till 1998 it was neither imperative for the plaintiffs to introduce in their earlier plaint the aforesaid factum of Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 standing ingrained with any vice of nullity it standing procured by fraud nor also they stood enjoined to in their earlier plaint by making a motion before the appropriate Court concerned seek its leave for incorporating an apposite relief therein qua it hence suffering invalidation nor also any omission of the plaintiffs qua the facet aforesaid would attract qua them the rigour of the bar of estoppel constituted in Order 2 Rule 2 CPC significantly when for its attraction, proven acquisition of knowledge by the plaintiffs qua the relevant germane facet, at the relevant stage qua its imperative incorporation in the plaint, is essential. However, when the aforesaid trite factum is amiss hereat, reiteratedly the bar of estoppel constituted under Order 2 Rule 2 CPC whereupon the plaintiffs stand interdicted to qua the relevant facet seek relief from the Civil Court remains unattracted qua them, thereupon the inevitable sequel is of suit of the plaintiffs for setting aside the pronouncement of the Civil Court concerned rendered in 1959 being construable to be within limitation. For reasons aforesaid this Court concludes with aplomb of the judgements and decrees of the Courts below standing sequelled by theirs appraising the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom it is obvious that the analysis of material on record by the learned Courts below not suffering from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

14. I find no merit in this appeal, which is accordingly dismissed and the judgments and decrees of both the Courts below are maintained and affirmed. Substantial questions of law are answered accordingly. No costs. However, the defendants are directed to within two weeks comply with the orders of this Court of 18.10.2014 rendered in CMP No. 11109 of 2014. The pending application(s), if any, also stand disposed of. Records of the Courts below be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Chaman Lal and others ....Appellants.

Versus

State of H.P. ....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 135 of 2008.
Date of Decision: 26th October, 2016.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306 read with Section 34- Deceased was married to the accused- she committed suicide by consuming poison- her father lodged a report with the police stating that the accused were harassing her without any reason, which led to her suicide – the accused were tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that father of the deceased has not narrated about the nature of ill-treatment – PW-2 improved upon her version – the deceased had visited her parental home with her husband and had not stated anything about the ill-treatment – the Trial Court had not properly appreciated the evidence – appeal allowed and accused acquitted. (Para-10 to 15)

For the Appellants: Mr. Dinesh Sharma and Mr. Y.Paul, Advocates.
For the Respondent: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Deputy Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed against the judgment rendered by the learned Addl. Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court, Solan, District Solan, H.P. on 7.3.2008 in Case No. 5 FTC/7 of 2007, whereby, the latter Court recorded findings of conviction against the accused/respondents qua theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 read with Section 34 of the IPC besides in consequence thereto imposed sentence of imprisonment upon them in the hereinafter extracted manner:-

"1. to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of three years each and to pay a fine of Rs.5000/- each for the commission of offence punishable under Section 306 read with Section 34 of the IPC and in case of default of payment of fine to further undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of two months each.

2. to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of one year each and to pay a fine of Rs.2000/- each for the commission of offence punishable under Section 498-A read with Section 34 IPC and in case of default of payment of fine to further undergo rigorous imprisonment for one month each."

2. Brief facts of the case which are necessary to determine the appeal are that Ranjubala, deceased, daughter of Khushi Ram, was married to accused Chaman Lal in November, 2005. On 23.10.2006 Ranjubala allegedly consumed poison in the matrimonial house and committed suicide. On 24.10.2006,Kushi Ram, father of deceased Ranjubala lodged report with the police wherein he alleged that about four months after the marriage, his daughter Ranjubala had told him that her husband Chaman Lal, mother-in-law Jai Devi and sister-in-law Sunita had been harassing her in the matrimonial house without any cause, but he made her daughter to understand and sent her to her matrimonial house. On 20.10.2006, Ranjubala had told him on telephone about the maltreatment given to her by the accused in the matrimonial house and she also told that she was fed up with that, but he had assured his daughter to send some relatives to her matrimonial house and after that he had told about it to Om Dutt Pradhan, who advised him to settle the matter through relatives. Thereafter, on 23.10.2006, he had sent his relatives Ashok Kumar, Prem Chand, Kuldeep, Anil, Kulwinder, Sandhya, Suresh and Rekha to the matrimonial house of his daughter Ranjubala, but on 23.10.2006 at about 9.30 p.m., he received a phone call from police station Nalagarh and was told that Ranjubala had consumed poison and died. Khushi Ram also stated in his statement that his daughter Arti, who had gone to the matrimonial house of Ranjubala on 22.10.2006, told him that while she was in kitchen on 23.10.2006, accused Chaman Lal had slapped her sister Ranjubala and thereafter Ranjubala had gone towards cow shed whereat she was found lying unconscious. He also stated in his statement that his daughter Ranjubala was subjected to cruelty by the accused in the matrimonial house and their conduct forced her to commit suicide. On the basis of statement of Khushi Ram, FIR was recorded at Police Station Nalagarh. Thereafter the police completed all the codel formalities.

3. On conclusion of investigations, into the offences, allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed in the competent Court.

4. The accused were charged by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 498-A, 306 read with Section 34 of the IPC to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

5. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 14 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statements of accused, under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, were recorded in which they pleaded innocence. However, they did not lead any defence evidence.

6. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of conviction against the accused/appellant for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 read with Section 34 of the IPC.

7. The accused/appellants herein are aggrieved by the judgment of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned defence counsel for the appellants has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs standing replaced by findings of acquittal.

8. On the other hand, the learned Deputy Advocate General has with considerable force and vigour, contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

9. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

10. Deceased Ranjubala was married to accused/appellant No.1 Chaman Lal in the month of November, 2005. She within less than one year elapsing therefrom committed suicide by consumption of poison, factum whereof stands unraveled in the apposite postmortem report comprised in Ex.PW8/B. Accused/respondent No.1 Chaman Lal, her husband besides accused No.2 and accused No.3, her mother-in-law and sister-in-law respectively are alleged to abet the commission of suicide by deceased Ranjubala. The prosecution had depended upon the testimonies of the relatives of deceased Ranju Bala as also upon the deposition of the Pradhan of the Gram Panchayat concerned for propagating qua the accused/appellants herein during the currency of her stay at her matrimonial home, meteing ill-treatment besides maltreatment to the deceased hence actuating besides instigating her to commit suicide. The deposition of PW-1, Khushi Ram, the father of the deceased unveils of within 2-3 months of marriage standing solemnized inter se his deceased daughter with accused Chaman Lal, the accused perpetrating ill-treatment upon her. However, he has omitted to communicate therein the nature of the ill-treatment perpetrated by the accused upon the deceased nor also he has communicated its enormity. Resultantly, he has obviously in his testification made a nebulous attribution qua perpetration of ill-treatment upon the deceased by the accused during former's stay at her matrimonial home. Given lack of enunciations with specificity qua the nature of ill-treatment besides its potency, it is hazardous to invincibly conclude therefrom qua its nature besides its gravity, in sequel wherefrom it is unbefitting to conclude qua the alleged ill-treatment perpetrated upon the deceased by the accused during the former's stay at her matrimonial home hence goading besides instigating her to commit suicide.

11. The deposition of PW-1, Khushi Ram stands corroborated by PW-2, Arti, his daughter besides by the deposition of PW-7 Anil Kumar. However, PW-2, the sister of the deceased and PW-7, the cousin brother of PW-1, both in their respective testifications comprised in their respective examinations-in-chief echoed qua after solemnization of marriage inter se the deceased and accused Chaman Lal, both once and twice visiting the parental home of the deceased. Both also deposed qua on completion of stay, of the deceased in the company of her husband, at her parental home, her husband taking her along with him to her matrimonial home. However, when PW-1 has omitted to testify the aforesaid fact as stands conjointly deposed by PW-2 and PW-7, wherefrom an inevitable conclusion is qua PW-1 inventing the factum of the deceased on hers visiting her parental home hers unraveling the factum of hers standing ill-treated by the accused at her matrimonial home. Apart therefrom, with both PW-2 and PW-7 unanimously disclosing in their respective testimonies qua on the deceased visiting her parental home hers thereat standing accompanied by her husband, who after their stay thereat retrieved her therefrom to her matrimonial home wherefrom it is befitting to conclude of hence amity prevailing inter se both besides qua when at the relevant time she stood accompanied by accused Chaman Lal to her parental home, she obviously hence not making any disclosure either to PW-1, PW-2 or PW-7 qua hers at her matrimonial home standing subjected to ill-treatment by the accused/appellants herein. Resultantly, it appears qua the close relatives of the deceased Ranjubala contriving the factum qua hers on hers visiting her parental home hers making disclosures thereat qua hers at her matrimonial home standing subjected to ill-treatment by the accused, more so, given the lack of specification in their respective testifications qua the nature of ill-treatment which stood perpetrated by the accused upon the deceased or its gravity, it is inapt to secure a conclusion of thereupon the psyche of the deceased suffering torment nor it is apt to conclude of the accused actuating or instigating the deceased to commit suicide. Moreover, the principle of proximity inter se the alleged penal misdemeanors ascribed to the accused by the prosecution witnesses vis-a-vis the ill-fated occurrence stands unsatiated significantly when each of the prosecution witnesses omit to with specificity pronounce in their respective testifications qua the time whereat deceased Ranjubala visited her parental home whereat penal ascriptions vis-a-vis the accused/appellants stood ascribed vis-a-vis them by the deceased by the latter making the apposite purported communications to them. In sequel, it is hazardous to record any firm conclusion therefrom qua at the time of the ill-fated occurrence it holding apposite proximity in time vis-a-vis the relevant purported penal misdemeanors ascribed to the accused by the prosecution witnesses. In aftermath, for lack of proximity inter se the alleged ascription of penal misdemeanors by the prosecution witnesses to the accused/respondents vis-a-vis the ill fated occurrence, the prosecution ought to be concluded to not succeed in proving the trite factum of the alleged penal misdemeanors ascribed by the prosecution witnesses to the accused/respondent goading deceased Ranjubala to commit suicide.

12. Be that as it may, a perusal of the record discloses of PW-1 making disclosures to the Pradhan of the Gram Panchayat concerned, who has deposed as PW-3 qua the trauma which befell upon the deceased at her matrimonial home. However, the factum of PW-1 making disclosures to PW-3 qua the trauma gripping the deceased Ranjubala at her matrimonial home appears to be engineered also it is visible of PW-3 in collusion with PW-1 contriving the factum of the deceased making a disclosure to PW-1 qua the woes or sufferings befalling upon her at her matrimonial home significantly when PW-2, the daughter of PW-1 in her cross-examination has voiced therein qua the alleged penal misdemeanors perpetrated at her matrimonial home by the accused upon the deceased, not standing reported either to the panchayat or to the police. In sequel, thereto, it is also apt to conclude qua hence PW-1 engineering the factum qua penal misdemeanors standing perpetrated by the accused upon the deceased at the latter's matrimonial home.

13. Though PW-2, a purported eye witness to the incident of cruelty which purportedly occurred in immediate proximity to the ill-fated occurrence wherefrom the prosecution assays of its proving the charge against the accused, testifies qua the accused in immediate proximity to the ill-fated occurrence in her presence slapping the deceased wherefrom it is befitting to conclude qua the findings of conviction recorded against the accused by the learned trial Court warranting no interference. However, the testimony of PW-2 is to construed conjointly with the testimony of PW-7 for ascertaining qua hence PW-2 deposing a truthful version qua the factum of the accused in immediate proximity to the ill fated occurrence slapping deceased Ranjubala in her presence. Though, PW-2 deposes qua at the relevant time the deceased serving tea to her besides to PW-7 yet PW-7 has not voiced in his testification qua thereat accused Chaman Lal slapping deceased Ranjubala. Also PW-7 has omitted to testify qua the eruption of an altercation inter se the deceased Ranjubala and accused Chaman Lal at the site besides at the venue whereat PW-2 was also present. However, contrarily besides contradistinctively vis-a-vis PW-7, PW-2 deposes qua an altercation occurring inter se deceased Ranjubala and accused Chaman Lal. She in contradiction to PW-7 also deposes, qua accused Chaman Lal slapping deceased Ranjubala in his presence. Obviously, when both were conjointly present at the relevant time at the site of occurrence, the omission by PW-7 to depose the trite factum aforesaid renders the testimony of PW-2 qua it being construable to be wholly engineered besides contrived, whereupon, no credence can be fastened. In aftermath, the aforesaid testification of PW-2 holds no vigour wherefrom the ensuing conclusion is of the relevant act of cruelty imputed to accused Chaman Lal by PW-2 being discardable.

14. Furthermore, PW-2 deposes qua an altercation over telephone taking place inter se the deceased and accused Chaman Lal yet the factum aforesaid appears to be contrived significantly when precedingly thereto she falsely deposes of accused Chaman Lal slapping deceased Ranjubala, whereupon an inference spurs qua hence when accused Chaman Lal at the relevant time being available in his house, whereupon it is difficult to conclude of both holding any opportunity to hold a telephonic communication, especially when an inference qua possibility of a telephonic conversation occurring inter se both Chaman Lal and deceased Ranjubala would stem only when they were at the relevant time present at different locations, whereas, theirs being available together at the site of occurrence there was no opportunity for both to hold a telephonic conversation or also the testification of PW-2 qua theirs thereon holding an altercation vis-a-vis each other is bereft of credence. Tritely put the purported incident of cruelty which purportedly occurred in close proximity to the ill-fated occurrence does not hold any formidability nor hence it can be concluded of the prosecution succeeding in proving its charge against the accused.

15. The learned Deputy Advocate General has contended with force of with the ill-fated occurrence taking place within less than one year elapsing since the solemnization of a marriage inter se deceased Ranjubala and accused Chaman Lal, the presumption embodied in Section 113 of the Indian Evidence Act standing attracted, wherefrom, it would be befitting for this Court to sustain the findings of conviction recorded against the accused. However, the anchor for drawing succor from the aforesaid presumption embodied in Section 113 of the Indian Evidence Act is of proven cruelty standing perpetrated upon the deceased by the accused. Since, for reasons aforestated, there is no proven evident cruelty perpetrated upon the deceased by the accused, the benefit of the statutory presumption is unavailable for it standing attracted qua the accused.

16. The summom bonum of the aforesaid discussion is that the learned trial Court below has not appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court suffers from a gross perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of the evidence on record.

17. Consequently, the instant appeal is allowed and the accused are acquitted for the commission of offences punishable under Section 498-A and 306 read with Section 34 of the IPC. In sequel, the judgment impugned before this Court is set aside. Fine amount, if deposited, be refunded to the accused/appellants. Records be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE AJAY MOHAN GOEL, J.

Kewal Krishan and others .....Appellants.

Vs.

Surjeet Singh and another .....Respondents.

RSA No.: 120 of 2007
Date of Decision: 26.10.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff pleaded that he is owner in possession of the suit land – defendants threatened to interfere in the suit land and to demolish the Chhapar situated over the same without any right to do so – defendants pleaded that they were licencees and had constructed a chhapar under the licence – suit was decreed by the trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that findings were recorded by Appellate Court on the basis of conjectures and not on the basis of the facts- the Court can record the findings on the basis of the facts and not on the basis of presumption- it was obligatory for the Appellate Court to take into consideration the reasoning of the trial Court and thereafter to record its own findings- appeal allowed – case remanded to the Appellate Court for a fresh decision.

(Para- 10 to 15)

For the appellants: Mr. N.K. Thakur, Sr. Advocate with Ms. Jamuna Pathik, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. R.P. Singh, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, Judge (oral) :

By way of this appeal, the appellants/plaintiffs have challenged the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Una in Civil Appeal No. 133/98 RBT No. 123/04/98 dated 21.12.2006, vide which, learned appellate Court while allowing the appeal filed by the present respondents, has set aside the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Senior Sub Judge, Una, in Civil Suit No. 119/1986 dated 29.06.1998, whereby the learned trial Court had decreed the suit for permanent injunction filed by the present appellants.

2. This appeal was admitted on 29.12.2007 on the following substantial questions of law:

> "1. Whether the licence can be legally proved to have been created without there being any writing or non-producing the licensor/owner?
>
> 2. Whether the entry of possession reflected after deleting the name of the earlier possessor without serving any notice or without affording any opportunity to such owner, can raise the presumption of truth to him and contrary approach of the learned lower appellate Court is not legally sustainable"

3. Brief facts necessary for the adjudication of the present case are that predecessor in interest of present appellants/plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as 'the plaintiffs') filed a suit praying for a decree of permanent injunction restraining the defendants from interfering in any manner and from taking forcible possession of land measuring 1KL.-5MLs. being 25/37th share, out of land measuring 1KL.-17MLs. bearing Khewat No. 92, Khatauni No. 130, Khasra No. 1123, as per jamabandi for the year 1981-82, situated in village Jankaur, Tehsil and District Una (hereinafter referred to as 'suit land') and further restraining the respondents/defendants from demolishing the 'Chhapar' in the suit land. The case of the plaintiff (since expired) was that he was owner in possession of the suit land and defendants had no right, title or interest over the same. As per the plaintiff, defendants who were headstrong persons threatened the plaintiff to interfere and to take forcible possession of the suit land and further to demolish the 'Chhapar' which was situated over the same. It was further the case of the plaintiff that he had requested the defendants many a times not to interfere, not to take forcible possession of the suit land and not to demolish the 'Chhapar' existing on the suit land but defendants refused to accede to the requests of plaintiff and accordingly, on these bases, suit was filed by the plaintiff.

4. Defendants contested the claim of the plaintiff and stated in the written statement that the plaintiff was not the owner in possession of the suit land. According to the defendants, they were coming in possession of the suit land as licensee under the owners/pre-empter (not the plaintiff) and had constructed a 'Chhapar' over the suit land which was being used by them only, to the exclusion of the plaintiff. It was further the case of the defendants that earlier plaintiff alongwith his sons had made an attempt to take forcible possession over the suit land for which criminal proceedings were also initiated. On these bases, claim of the plaintiff was denied by the defendants

5. On the basis of pleadings of the parties, learned trial Court framed the following issues:

"1. Whether the defendants are licensees over the suit land as alleged? OPD

2. Whether the suit is not maintainable in the present form? OPD

3. Whether the plaintiff has no locus-standi to file the suit? OPD.

4. Whether the suit is time barred? OPD

5. Whether the suit is not properly valued? OPD

6. Relief."

6. On the basis of evidence adduced by the respective parties in support of their respective claims, the following findings were returned by learned trial Court on the issues so framed:

"Issue No. 1:	No.
Issue No. 2:	No.
Issue No. 3:	No.
Issue No. 4:	No.
Issue No. 5:	No.
Relief:	Suit decreed for permanent injunction against the defendants as per operative part of judgment."

7. It was held by the learned trial Court that plaintiff who entered the witness box as PW1 stated that he had purchased the suit land from Roshan Lal and had constructed a shed thereupon. Learned trial Court further held that PW1 Brahma Nand had deposed in the Court that Roshan Lal had filed a suit for preemption which was decided in favour of plaintiff and he remained in possession of the suit land and Roshan Lal had filed an execution petition for possession of the suit land which was dismissed. In his cross examination, he stated that he had paid the sale price to daughter of Roshan Lal and the factum of any case having been registered against him was also denied. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that this witness deposed that after the preemption suit, Roshan Lal had obtained the money from Surjeet Singh and given possession of the suit land to Surjeet Singh. Learned trial Court further held that in rebuttal , defendant Surjeet Singh had examined himself as DW-1 and also examined Kishan Singh, Ravinder Kumar, Mohabat Rai and Bishan Dass. Learned trial Court took note of the fact that DW1 Surjeet Singh stated that suit land was owned by Roshan Lal which was sold by him to Brahma Nand but Smt. Rakesh Kumari, daughter of Roshan Lal had filed a suit for preemption in the year 1968 which was decided in her favour and preemption amount was received by Brahma Nand. As per defendants, thereafter Roshan Lal gave this land to them who constructed a house over the same and also paid the amount of said land to Roshan Lal. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that defendants were never dispossessed by Roshan Lal from the suit land and the plaintiff never came in possession of the suit land. It was taken note of by the learned trial Court that defendants stated that when plaintiff and his sons came to dispossess defendants from the suit land forcibly by demolishing the house, a case under Section 325 of IPC was registered against them. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that DW2 Kishan Singh had stated that defendant was in possession of the suit land and plaintiff never came in possession of the same. It was also taken note of by the learned trial Court that in cross examination this witness admitted that there was civil litigation between him and Brahma Nand. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that plaintiff had produced copy of jamabandi for the year 1981-82 Ext. P-1, as per which, suit land was shown to be in joint ownership and possession of Rattan Chand s/o Pratap Singh and Brahma Nand s/o Salig Ram and Ext. P-2 was the copy of khasra girdawari for the years 1982 to 1986, contents of which were almost similar. It was also taken note of by the learned trial Court that defendants had filed copy of Khatauni Ext. D-1, in which the suit land was shown in the joint ownership of Rattan Chand and Brahma Nand and in the possession of Surjeet Singh and Ram Parkash. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that Ext. D-2 was the copy of judgment of Sub Judge 2nd Class, Una. In the said suit, Smt. Rakesh Kumari, daughter of Roshan Lal had filed suit for possession through preemption which was decreed and plaintiff was directed to deposit Rs. 400/- on or before 28.02.1967, failing which suit of the plaintiff shall stand dismissed. Learned trial Court also took note of Ext. D-3, copy of khasra girdawari for the years 1982 to 1986 and Ext. D-4, copy of MIsal Hakiat Bandobast Jadid for the year 1987-88 in which suit land was shown in joint ownership of plaintiff Rattana and in possession of defendant. It was held by learned trial Court that oral and documentary evidence on record proved that the suit land was owned and possessed by Sh. Roshan Lal and the same was purchased from him by plaintiff Brahma Nand and a suit was filed by Kumari Rakesh d/o Roshan Lal for possession by way of preemption which was decreed subject to depositing preemption amount of Rs. 400/- on or before 28.02.1967, but there was nothing on record to show that this amount had ever been paid or deposited on or before 28.02.1967 by the plaintiff Brahma Nand nor there was any order of dismissal of suit. Learned trial Court further held that execution petition filed by Rakesh Kumari was dismissed in default on 17.11.1984. It was held by the learned trial Court that Kumari Rakesh had not obtained the possession of the suit land from the plaintiff through preemption, which established that plaintiff was in possession of the suit land and the same was never delivered to Rakesh Kumari. It was held by the learned trial Court that the plea of defendants that they are licensees of the suit land was not proved on record. Learned trial Court further held that the defendants did not examine Roshan Lal or his daughter Rakesh Kumari nor there was any record to prove as to how and when possession of the suit land was given to the defendants. Learned trial Court further held that though plaintiff in his statement had mentioned that the suit for preemption was decided in his favour but a perusal of statement of plaintiff revealed that he was an illiterate person and on these bases, it was held by the learned trial Court that it could not be said that plaintiff was aware of legal complications of the decision. It was further held by the learned trial Court that the plaintiff in fact was in possession of the suit land since possession thereof had not been taken from him by the true owner i.e. Smt. Rakesh Kumari nor the true owner stepped into witness box to deny this fact that possession of the suit land was not with the plaintiff. Accordingly, on these bases, the suit so filed by the plaintiff was decreed by the learned trial Court.

8. Feeling aggrieved by the said judgment passed by the learned trial Court, defendants filed an appeal. Learned Appellate Court vide its judgment and decree dated 21.12.2006 set aside the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court and allowed the appeal by dismissing the suit so filed by the plaintiff. A perusal of the judgment passed by the learned Appellate Court demonstrates that while coming to the conclusion that the suit land was not in possession of the plaintiff but rather was in possession of the defendant, it took note of the fact that the plaintiff had not disclosed in his pleadings as to how he had become owner of the suit land and had not come to the Court with clean hands as the factum of Roshan Lal being the owner of the suit land and the factum of suit for preemption having been filed by the daughter of Roshan Lal, which was decided on 19.12.1986, was not disclosed in the plaint. Learned Appellate Court took note of the fact that rather in his statement plaintiff (PW1) was claiming that the said suit was decided in his favour. On these bases, it was held by the learned Appellate Court that such like conduct of the plaintiff created a doubt in the mind of the Court as to whether plaintiff was entitled to be granted the relief of injunction. It was further held by the learned Appellate Court that in the plaint, plaintiff had not explained his source of ownership but while appearing as PW1 he had deposed about his source of ownership and previous litigation between the parties. Learned Appellate Court observed that it was strange that he had not deposed even a single word qua accruing of cause of action against the defendants. It was further held by the learned Appellate Court that it was nowhere mentioned in the plaint that defendants were threatening to take forcible possession of the suit land or were threatening to interfere with his possession. It was further held that there was no other evidence on record to prove the cause of action as plaintiff had not examined any other witness except himself. It was further held by the learned Appellate Court that nowhere execution petition filed by daughter of Roshan Lal for possession was dismissed in default but simply because of this it could not be said that possession was still with the plaintiff. Learned trial Court observed that there was always a possibility of out of Court settlement. It further held that plaintiff in his examination in chief had stated that he had received money and if he had received the preemption money, the possibility of handing over possession by him to the daughter of owner may also be there. On these bases it was held by learned Appellate Court that that was why the entry came in favour of defendants in the latest revenue record as discussed above. It further held that there was nothing on record to show that plaintiff ever challenged the entries mentioned in Ext. D-X and, therefore, it was difficult to say that plaintiff was still in possession of the suit land. On these bases, it was concluded by the learned Appellate Court that learned trial Court had not properly appreciated the evidence on record and accordingly learned Appellate Court while settling aside the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court allowed the appeal and dismissed the suit so filed by the plaintiff.

9. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the records of the case as well as the judgments passed by both the learned Courts below.

10. It is clearly borne out from the findings which have been returned by the learned Appellate Court while concluding that the suit land was in possession of the defendants and not the plaintiff that the same are based on conjectures and not based on material on record. The relevant extract of the findings so returned by the learned Appellate Court are reproduced below:-

- No doubt the execution petition filed by the daughter of Roshan Lal for possession was dismissed in default but simply because of it, it cannot be said that the possession is still with the plaintiff. There is always a possibility of out of the Court settlement and it is not necessary to take possession through Court.
- He as stated in his chief examination even that he had received the preemption money. If he had received the money then possibility of handing over possession by him to the daughter to owner may also be there.
- It is pertinent to note that there is nothing on the record to show that the plaintiff ever challenged these entries in Ext. DX. So it is very difficult to say that the plaintiff is still in possession of the suit land.

11. I am afraid that the findings so arrived at by learned appellate Court are not sustainable. The findings of fact by a Court of law cannot be based on presumptions. On the basis of material adduced on record by both the parties, the Court has to give a definite finding.

12. Learned trial Court after appreciating material on record held that the plaintiff had proved that he was in exclusive possession of the suit land and on these bases, learned trial Court decreed the suit in favour of the plaintiff. This Court is not making any observation as to whether the finding so returned by learned trial Court was correct or not. However, in my considered view, in case the finding arrived at by learned trial Court was to be set aside or distinguished by learned appellate Court, then it was obvious that after taking into consideration the reasonings behind the findings so arrived at by learned trial Court, learned appellate Court should have had returned its independent findings which were to be arrived at on the basis of material on record and not on the basis of conjectures, surmises or presumptions. However, this has not been done by the learned appellate Court in the judgment under challenge.

13. It is well settled law that the first appellate Court is the final Court of fact ordinarily and therefore a litigant is entitled to a full, fair and independent consideration of the evidence at the appellate stage and anything less than this is unjust to him. The appellate Court has jurisdiction to reverse or affirm the findings of the trial Court and first appeal is a valuable right of the parties and unless restricted by law, the whole case is therein open for rehearing both on question of fact and law. It is settled law that while reversing a finding of fact, the appellate Court must come into close quarters with the reasoning assigned by the trial Court and then assign its own reasons for arriving at a different finding. This would satisfy the Court hearing a further appeal that the first appellate court had discharged the duty expected of it. The judgment of the appellate Court must, therefore, reflect its conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons on all the issues involved in the case alongwith the contentions put forth and pressed by the parties for decision by the appellate Court.

14. In view of the above salutary principles, I am of the considered view that the learned appellate Court has failed to discharge the obligation placed on it as first appellate Court by deciding the appeal on presumptions rather than returning its findings by coming close quarters with the reasoning assigned by the learned trial Court and thereafter assigning its own reasons for arriving at a different finding.

15. In view of the discussion held above, the appeal is allowed and judgment and decree dated 21.12.2006 passed by the Court of learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Una, in Civil Appeal No. 133/98 RBT No. 123/04/98 are set aside. The case is remanded back to learned appellate Court i.e. Fast Track Court, Una with a direction to decide the appeal afresh on merits. Parties through their counsel are directed to put in appearance before the learned appellate Court on 12.12.2016. Keeping in view the fact that case pertains to the year 1986, this Court hopes and trusts that learned appellate Court shall adjudicate upon the appeal as expeditiously as possible. No order as to costs. Miscellaneous application(s), if any, also stands disposed of. Registry is directed to return back the records of the case to learned appellate Court forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE AJAY MOHAN GOEL, J.

Shri Pratap Singh and others .....Appellants.

Vs.

Shri Ram Rattan, son of Shri Lachhmi Singh
(since deceased) through his legal representatives and others .....Respondents.

RSA No.: 336 of 2007
Reserved on: 01.09.2016
Date of Decision: 26.10.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34 and 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit pleading that they were co-owners in possession of the suit land – D had executed sale of his share but mutation could not be attested- the sale deed was mistakenly executed regarding the whole land, which was not permissible- revenue entries were not correctly recorded- defendants started digging the suit land to raise structure over the same- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- held in second appeal that copy of jamabandi shows that D was co-sharer to the extent of 1/4th share – revenue record does not substantiate the fact that entire land was exclusively owned and possessed by D- therefore, he could not have parted with more land than was owned by him- the plea that defendants had become owners by way of adverse possession was not proved as no evidence was led that D was in possession of the entire land to the exclusion of the other co-owners - it was also not proved that D had denied the title of the other co-owners – appeal allowed- judgment and decree passed by District Judge set aside.

(Para-12 to 27)

Cases referred:

P. Lakshmi Reddy Vs. L. Lakshmi Reddy AIR 1957 SC 314

MD. Mohammad Ali (dead) by LRs. Vs. Jagadish Kalita and others, 2004 (1) SCC 271

Mohammad Baqar and others Vs. Naim-un-Nisa Bibi and others, AIR 1956 SC 548

For the appellants: Mr. Bhupender Gupta, Senior Advocate, with Mr. Janesh Gupta, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. K.D. Sood, Sr. Advocate, with Mr. Rajnish K. Lal, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 to 3.

None for respondents No. 4 to 10.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, Judge :

By way of this appeal, the appellants/plaintiffs have challenged judgment passed by the Court of learned District Judge, Solan, H.P. in Civil Appeal No. 60-S/13 of 2006 dated 01.06.2007 vide which, learned appellate Court has allowed the appeal filed by the present respondents/defendants against the judgment passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kandaghat, District Solan, H.P. in Civil Suit No. 5-K/1 of 2002 dated 03.05.2006.

2. Brief facts necessary for the adjudication of the present case are that the appellants/plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as 'the plaintiffs') filed a suit for declaration and injunction against the defendants on the grounds that plaintiffs and proforma defendant No. 4 were co-owners in joint possession of half share in 8 plots of land measuring 13 bighas and 5 biswas, comprised in Khasra Nos. 15, 23, 55, 57, 73, 81, 95 and 109, Kitas 8, entered at Khewat No. 4, Khatoni No. 5, situated in village Mahog, Pargna Chail, Tehsil Kandaghat, District Solan, H.P. as per Jamabandi for the year 1996-97 alongwith the defendants. As per the plaintiffs, the suit land was in joint possession and ownership of Shri Dhingia to the extent of 1/4th share, Shri Mehar Singh to the extent of 1/4th share and Shri Motia, who was owner to the extent of ½ share in the year 1966-67 Bikrami. Shri Dhingia, who was co-owner of the suit land to the extent of 1/4th share sold his share by way of a registered sale deed dated 18 Kartika, 1967 Bikrami in favour of Shri Biru, son of Shri Haria. Shri Dhingia expired after the execution of the sale deed and the factum of the sale could not be incorporated in the revenue records during the life time of Shri Dhingia. Mutation No. 6 on the basis of the said sale deed was attested on 11th Maghar, Samvat 1967 Bikrami. Further, as per the plaintiffs, Dhingia died issueless and his estate was inherited by Shri Mehar Singh, son of Shri Shonku vide mutation No. 9 attested on 16th Jaisth, 1969 Bikrami. It was further the case of the plaintiffs that it appeared from the records that Dhingia, who was owner only of 1/4th share in the land measuring 13 bighas and 5 biswas, i.e. the suit land appeared to have executed the deed of sale by mistake with respect to the entire suit land. According to the plaintiffs, Dhingia could not have sold the land in its entirety as he had no right, title or interest of any kind over the entire suit land save and except his share. It was further the case put up by the plaintiffs that from the records it appeared that Mehar Singh, who was to inherit the estate of Shri Dhingia objected to the attestation of mutation, but revenue officer attested the same by exceeding his jurisdiction. As per the plaintiffs, Biru could not have purchased the land through sale deed dated 11th Maghar, Samvat 1967 Bikrami in excess of 1/4th share in the suit land. It was further the case of the plaintiffs that Motia who was co-owner in joint possession to the extent of ½ share died in the year 1968 Bikrami and his estate devolved upon his son Shri Jash Ram through mutation No. 8 attested on 16th Jaisht, 1969 Bikrami. As per the plaintiffs, though after the death of Shri Dhingia and Motia the suit land should have been shown to be owned and possessed by Shri Biru to the extent of 1/4th share, Shri Mehar Singh to the extent of 1/4th share and Shri Jash Ram to the extent of ½ share, but the revenue entries did not depict the correct position. According to the plaintiffs, on the basis of the said wrong revenue entries, the defendants were trying to derive undue advantage. It was further the case of the plaintiffs that after the death of Shri Biru, his estate devolved upon Smt. Niharikhi his wife, who died issueless and her estate devolved upon Shri Jonki, who was brother of Biru. After the death of Shri Jonki, his estate devolved upon his son Jhamtu. According to the plaintiffs, though the revenue entries should have reflected Jhamtu to be owner to the extent of 1/4th share, Shri Mehar Singh to the extent of 1/4th share and Jash Ram to the extent of ½ share, yet the revenue record rather than depicting the factual position, reflected wrong position and the entries so recorded which were factually incorrect did not affect the right, title or interest of the plaintiffs or proforma respondent No. 4 and their predecessors adversely. According to the plaintiffs, during his life time, Mehar Singh adopted Jagat Ram as his son and after the death of Mehar Singh, Jagat Ram acquired right, title and interest to the extent of 1/4th share qua the estate of Mehar Singh. Jagat Ram was succeeded by his widow Subda, who executed a registered sale deed dated 21st May, 1954 in favour of Shri Bijnu, son of Shri Totu and after the execution of gift deed, revenue records should have depicted Jagat Ram as owner to the extent of 1/4th share, Shri Bijnu to the extent of 1/4th share and Shri Jash Ram to the extent of ½ share, but the entries continued to be recorded contrary to the factual position. Further as per the plaintiffs, Bijnu sold his share to the defendants through a registered sale deed dated 1st October, 1962 and after the death of Jagat Ram, his estate devolved upon his widow Smt. Gauri, his son Shri Siri Ram and daughters Smt. Kaushalya, Smt. Satya and Smt. Bimla. Siri Ram was succeeded by his son Shri Joginder Singh and Shri Sat Pal and daughters Smt. Sumitra and Smt. Indira Devi. After the death of Jash Ram, his estate was succeeded by Smt. Chainu, Smt. Kaushalya and his sons Dada Nand, Brij Lal, Partap Singh and Ishwar Chand. According to the plaintiffs, mutation of sale which was made by Shri Dhingia in favour of Shri Biru was incorrectly attested and the same led to wrong entries in the revenue record which were contrary to the factual position. Thus, as per the plaintiffs, transfer of interest by Shri Dhingia in excess of his share was illegal, null and void. It was further contended by the plaintiffs that defendants had started digging the suit land with an intention to raise structure over the property. The plaintiffs objected and made requests to defendants to desist from the same, but they did not accede to their request, hence the suit was filed by the plaintiffs.

3. The suit was contested by defendants No. 1 to 3, who in their written statement denied the claim as was set forth by the plaintiffs. According to the defendants, the revenue entries showing plaintiffs and proforma defendants as co-owners were wrong and illegal and were not binding on the rights of defendants No. 1 to 3. As per them, since they had purchased the suit land from Shri Bijnu Ram, s/o Totu through registered sale deed dated 01.10.1962, the revenue entries to the contrary were not binding upon them. According to the defendants, even the mutation of inheritance of Smt. Kasaulaya, widow of Shri Jash Ram in favour of her son Sh. Kuldeep was wrong. It was further the case of the defendants that they exclusively possessed the suit land as owners. It was further mentioned in the written statement that Bijnu acquired ownership and possession of land on the basis of registered gift deed from Smt. Subdha, wife of Shri Jhamtu and Jhamtu acquired ownership from his father Shri Chungi, who had become owner by succession from Smt. Thagi. According to the defendants, Thagi acquired ownership and exclusive possession from Shri Biru and Biru had purchased the suit land from Dhangia, predecessor-in-interest of Shri Mehar Singh, son of Shankru @ Shangu. On these bases, it was stated by the defendants that Dhangia was in exclusive possession of the entire suit land. It was further the case of the defendants that defendants No. 1 to 3 after purchase of the suit land by way of registered sale deed dated 01.10.1962 treated themselves to be exclusive owners in possession of the suit land and their possession over the suit land was peaceful, continuous and hostile to the knowledge of the plaintiffs and their family members and defendants No. 1 to 3 never admitted the plaintiffs and their brother Shri Ishwar Chand to be owners nor they were allowed to participate in the profits of the property. According to the defendants, there was complete ouster of plaintiffs and Ishwar Chand from the suit land and defendants No. 1 to 3 had otherwise also become owners of the suit land by way of adverse possession, which started from 01.10.1962. On these bases, it was contended by defendants No. 1 to 3 that they were absolute owners in possession of the suit property from 01.10.1962 and were enjoying exclusive possession of the suit land to the exclusion of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants. On these bases, the defendants No. 1 to 3 denied the claim of the plaintiffs.

4. Learned trial Court on the basis of the pleadings of the parties, framed the following issues:

> "1. Whether the plaintiffs and proforma defendants No. 4 to 11 are joint owners in possession of suit land to the extent of ¾ share as alleged? OPP
>
> 2. Whether the sale deed Sh. Dingia in favour of Sh. Biru beyond his share is illegal and not binding, as alleged? OPP.
>
> 3. If Issue No. 2 is proved in favour of the plaintiff, whether the plaintiff is entitled for declaration regarding correction of revenue entries? OPP.

4. Whether the subsequent transfers by Sh. Biru are not binding, as alleged? OPP

5. Whether the possession of defendants No. 1 to 3 over the suit land has ripened into ownership by way of adverse possession, as alleged? OPD.

6. Whether the present suit is liable to be stayed in view of Section 10 C.P.C.? OPD.

7. Whether the suit is barred by limitation, as alleged? OPD.

8. Relief."

5. On the basis of the evidence led by the respective parties, learned trial Court returned the following findings against the issues so framed:

"Issue No. 1:	Yes.
Issue No 2:	Yes.
Issue No. 3:	Yes.
Issue No. 4:	Yes.
Issue No. 5:	No.
Issue No. 6:	No.
Issue No. 7:	No.
Relief:	Suit of plaintiffs decreed as per operative part of judgment.

6. Learned trial Court held that from the evidence led by the parties both ocular as well as documentary, it was evident that Dhingia was owner to the extent of 1/4th share, Sh. Mehar Singh to the extent of 1/4th share and Motia was owner to the extent of ½ share. It further held that there was no jamabandi placed on record by the defendants which could prove that Dhingia was owner to the extent of 13 ½ bighas of land. Learned trial Court further held that the sale deed which was executed by Dhingia in Samvat 1967 Bikrami, as per the revenue record available pertaining to the relevant time also reflected that Dhngia was owner of 1/4th share only. It further held that there was admission on the part of the defendants that plaintiffs were residing at village Mahog and further on the issue of complete ouster of co-sharers, the defendants themselves were not sure about the ouster of co-sharer from the suit land. Learned trial Court held that co-owner had no duty cast upon him to watch the conduct of other co-owners and to be on the look out to find out the extent of share purported to be transferred by the other co-sharer. It further held that co-sharer was entitled to assume that the permissive nature of possession had passed on to his co-owners transferee, who now became the co-owners in place of original owner. It further held that if subsequent purchaser asserts his title over the entire land and brings it to the knowledge of other co-owners, only then the issue of adverse possession can be raised. Learned trial Court further held that mere fact that co-owners were seeking partition of joint property would not amount to adverse possession. It further held that it was basic law that no vendor can pass a better title than what he possesses and on these bases, it was held by the learned trial Court that as Dhingia was having title qua 1/4th share in the suit land and was not having any right to execute sale deed qua entire 13 ½ bighas of land in favour of Biru, therefore, the sale pertaining to 3/4th share of the entire property was meaningless. It further held that ouster has to be expressly proved and possession of one party over the joint property cannot be treated as adverse possession until and unless there was clear cut disclaiming on the part of co-sharer in possession of right, title and interest of other co-sharer. It further held that there has to be an intention of excluding other co-sharer from possession and such intention has to be expressed by assertion or otherwise. On these bases, it was held by the learned trial Court that in the case in hand, defendants had purchased the suit land from Bijnu but there was no evidence on record to show that either Dhingia or Biru ever claimed ouster of other co-sharer and it was no where pleaded by defendants No. 1 to 3 that right from their purchase date, i.e. 01.10.1962, they asserted their title hostile as to the other co-owners whose names appeared in the revenue records. On these bases, it was held by the learned trial Court that in absence of such assertion and overt act, it could not be said that defendants No. 1 to 3 had become owners of the suit land by way of adverse possession by ouster of other co-sharers. Learned trial Court declared the plaintiffs and proforma defendant No. 4 as co-owners in joint possession qua ½ share and defendants No.1 to 3 as co-owners in joint possession to the extent of 1/4th share and proforma defendants No. 5 to 11 to the extent of rest 1/4th share in the land measuring 13 bighas and 5 biswas in village Mahog. It further held that transaction of sale and gift showing the devolution of interest in excess of the share of Sh. Dhingia over the suit land to be illegal, null, void and in operative over the right, title or interest over the suit property. Learned trial Court further restrained the defendants No. 1 to 3 from changing the nature of the suit land in any manner whatsoever till the same was partitioned by metes and bounds according to the shares mentioned above.

7. Feeling aggrieved by the judgment and decree so passed by the learned trial Court, defendants No. 1 to 3 filed an appeal. Learned appellate Court while accepting the appeal so filed by defendants No. 1 to 3, set aside the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court and dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs. It was held by the learned appellate Court that in the jamabandi of 1963-64, Dhingia had been shown in possession through mortgagee which was redeemed in 1967 B.K. and sold in the same year to Biru and there was no Jamabandi on record showing name of Biru, but upon his death, his wife's name appeared in subsequent jamabandi Ex. PW2/B and thereafter possession had passed in succession from one hand to another. Learned appellate Court further held that these long entries of over 100 years had shown the vendee through his successor in exclusive possession under the successors in interest of original owners. Though evidence had been led by the plaintiffs to show that they were cultivating the land jointly, but this appeared to be far from satisfactory as it was unlikely that the land was jointly possessed physically by the parties. Learned appellate Court further held that the suit land comprised of different khasra numbers and there was no evidence as to which khasra number was in possession of which party. It further held that it cannot be possible that both the parties were in joint possession of all the Khasra numbers. It further held that it was common sense that one co-sharer could mortgage the joint land only when others consented to it or when one was in exclusive possession. It further held that similarly no person would become mortgagee or purchaser of land which is in joint possession. Learned appellate Court held that the very fact that neither Biru nor his successors had applied for partition went to show that possession of the suit land was with them. It further held that had Dhingia not been in exclusive possession, there was no reason for the authorities to record his separate possession way back 100 years ago through a mortgagee and thereafter through a vendee. Learned appellate Court thus held that had the said three co-owners been in joint possession, their possession would have been recorded, which went to show that Dhingia was in exclusive possession of the suit land and this was the reason for him to sell whole of the suit land to Biru, predecessor-in-interest of the present appellants. Learned appellate Court further held that there was reference of partition in the remarks column of jamabandi for the year 1966-67 Bikrmi and may be the predecessor-in-interest of the parties had effected partition of joint land and suit land having come to the share of Dhingia. It further held that otherwise Dhingia could not have had sold whole the suit land to Biru when he had only 1/4th share in it. It further held that Mehar Singh, one of the co-owners with Dhingia after succeeding to his trial had never challenged during his life time the sale and had also not sought partition of the suit land. As per the learned appellate Court other co-owner Jash Ram had also not done so, which meant that they had accepted Dhingia to be exclusive owner of the suit land. Learned appellate Court further held that other co-sharers and their successors could be assumed to be having knowledge of the exclusive possession of Biru and his successors in view of entries in the revenue records on account of various mutations of inheritance etc. attested from time to time. Learned appellate Court further held that possession of land was not a secret affair and every one is aware of it especially the persons who have any interest in it. It was thus held by the learned appellate Court that long and uninterrupted possession of Dhingia and his successors due to an invalid sale deed was certainly adverse to the true owners and they being in possession for more than 12 years continuously to the knowledge of the true owners, had become its owners by way of adverse possession. On these bases, it was held by the learned appellate Court that even if Dhingia had only 1/4th share in the suit land, the predecessor of defendants No. 1 to 3 and defendants No. 1 to 3 had become owners of the suit land by way of adverse possession being in exclusive and hostile possession of the suit land to the knowledge of other co-owners and the findings recorded by the learned trial Court were thus not sustainable in law and on facts. On these basis, learned appellate Court while accepting the appeal filed by defendants No. 1 to 3 dismissed the suit so filed by the plaintiffs by setting aside the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court.

8. Mr. Bhupender Gupta, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the appellants has argued that the findings returned by the learned appellate Court, whereby learned appellate Court set aside the well reasoned judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court were not sustainable either on facts or law. It was argued by Mr. Gupta that it stood proved on record that share of Dhingia over the suit land was only to the extent of 1/4th and this fact was duly borne out from the records of the case. Mr. Gupta argued that the learned trial Court after carefully appreciating the evidence on record had come to the conclusion that because Dhingia was having only 1/4th share in the entire suit land, he could not have had passed title better than what he himself possessed. In other words, according to Mr. Gupta, Dhingia could not have had alienated more than what his share was in the suit land. On these bases, it was urged by Mr. Gupta that while learned trial Court had rightly come to the conclusion that the sale deed in favour of the defendants pertaining to 13 ½ bighas of land was of no consequence, however, learned appellate Court committed an illegality by setting aside the said findings and that too by completely misreading and mis-construing the evidence on record. It was further argued by Mr. Gupta that keeping in view the fact that the appellants/plaintiffs were co-sharers over the suit land and their ouster from the same was not proved in accordance with law, it could be contended by defendants No. 1 to 3 in the alternative that from the date the suit land was purchased by them, they had become owners in possession over the same by way of adverse possession. Mr. Gupta argued that the learned appellate Court failed to appreciate that in case a party exerts its rights over the suit land by way of adverse possession, then the said party besides proving its possession over the land in issue has to demonstrate by leading cogent evidence that said possession is; (a) open; (b) peaceful; and (c) hostile to the knowledge of real owner. According to Mr. Gupta, it cannot be that defendants No. 1 to 3 on one hand contend that they are owners in possession over the suit land by virtue of a sale deed and at the same time they say that alternatively they have become owners over the suit land by way of adverse possession. On these bases, it was urged by Mr. Gupta that the judgment passed by the learned appellate Court vide which it dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs was perverse and was liable to be set aside.

9. Mr. K.D. Sood, learned Senior Counsel appearing for respondents No. 1 to 3 argued that there was no merit in the present appeal and the findings returned by the learned appellate Court were correct both on facts and on law and learned appellate Court had rightly set aside the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court and had dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs. Mr. Sood argued that it stood proved on record that Dhingia had in fact parted 13 ½ bighas of suit land and said suit land ultimately vested in defendants No. 1 to 3 by virtue of a duly registered sale deed executed on 01.10.1962 and since then defendants No. 1 to 3 were in exclusive possession over the suit land in their capacity as owners to the knowledge of everyone including the plaintiffs and proforma defendants. Mr. Sood further argued that since 01.10.1962, the plaintiff and proforma defendants even otherwise stood ousted from the suit land and there was no merit in the contention of the plaintiffs that Dhingia could not have sold more than his share over the suit land as Dhingia had alienated 13 ½ bighas of land long time back and the same was not objected to by the predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiffs and it was on these bases that defendants No. 1 to 3 had urged that even if it is proved that Dhingia alienated land in excess of his share, even then, keeping in view the fact that defendants No. 1 to 3 were in possession over the suit land w.e.f. 01.10.1962 and their possession over the same was open, peaceful and hostile as to the plaintiffs and proforma defendants, they had accordingly become owners of the same by way of adverse possession. It was further argued by Mr. Sood that the conclusions arrived at by the learned trial Court that as per the revenue entries, the plaintiffs and proforma defendants continued to be reflected as owners of the suit land and were co-owners in possession of the suit land were totally contrary to the spot and revenue records in which exclusive possession of vendees had been recorded. According to Mr. Sood, learned appellate Court had after correct appreciation of the material on record rightly set aside the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court and the same did not warrant any interference. On these bases, it was argued by Mr. Sood that there was no merit in the appeal and the same be dismissed.

10. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the records as well as the judgments passed by both the Courts below.

11. This appeal was admitted on 10.03.2008 on the following substantial questions of law:

> "1. When the defendants-respondents did not produce the Sale Deed allegedly executed by Shri Dhingia in favour of Shri Biru, the predecessor-in-interest of defendants-respondents, are not the findings of Lower Appellate Court that defendants-respondents have become owners of the suit land by adverse possession on the basis of such invalid sale?
>
> 2. When Shri Dhingia was admittedly owner of ¼ share in the land in dispute, has not the Lower Appelate Court acted in erroneous and perverse manner in raising inferences of consent by other co-owners acknowledging such sale of their shares, when no registered document evidencing such fact was produced in evidence by defendants?
>
> 3. Has not the Lower Appellate Court committed grave error of law and jurisdiction in ignoring settled proposition of law that possession of one co-owner is possession of all and unless specific plea of ouster is made and substantiated by specific and cogent evidence, the co-owners in exclusive possession cannot acquire title by prescription merely by afflux of time?"

12. Records demonstrate that the case which was set up by the plaintiffs was that Dhingia being owner in possession of 1/4th share qua the suit land could not have passed on more land to his successors-in-interest in excess of what his share in the suit land was. The factum of his being owner in possession of 1/4th share in the suit land and his being capable of passing of 1/4th share over the suit land in favour of his successors-in-interest is not disputed even by the plaintiffs. Defendants No. 1 to 3 had come in possession of the suit property having purchased the same by way of sale deed dated 01.10.1962 from Bijnu. The sale deed is on record as Ex.-P-Z (12). As per this sale deed, Bijnu sold the land vide sale deed dated 01.10.1962 in favour of Ram Ratan, Rikhi Ram and Balak Ram. As per the said sale deed, Bijnu sold 13.5 bighas of land in favour of defendants No. 1 to 3. As per the plaintiffs, as Bijnu is one of the successors-in-interest of Dhingia, therefore, it has to be seen as to how and how much property actually devolved upon Bijnu. However, according to defendants No. 1 to 3, Mehar Singh did not succeed the interest of Dhingia qua suit land and the same was transferred by Dhingia during life time to Biru and it appeared that Dhingia owned some other land in village Mahog and village Damdar in addition to what he sold to Biru, which might be in possession of other co-owners and in fact Dhingia sold entire Khata qua suit land to Biru, which thereafter was exclusively possessed by him. According to them, as Dhingia was in exclusive possession of suit land being owner, he could sell the entire Khata to Biru and exclusive possession thereof was given to Biru.

13. In Ex. PW2/A, which is Hindi translation of Ex.-PA, i.e. copy of jamabandi for the year 1966-67 Bikrami, Mauza Mahog, Tehsil and District Sirmaur, Dhingia is reflected in the column of ownership as co-owner alongwith Mehar Singh and Motia. Whereas the share of Dhingia and Mehar Singh is reflected therein as "Charam" i.e. 1/4th, the share of Motia in the same is reflected as "Nisaf", i.e. ½. One thing which is evident from the said jamabandi is that Dhingia was co-sharer with regard to the suit land measuring 13 ½ bighas and his share in the same was to the extent of 1/4th. As per the case set up by defendants No. 1 to 3 in the written statement, Dhingia sold the land to Biru, Biru was succeeded by Smt. Thagi, Smt. Thagi was succeeded by Shri Chunghi, Shri Chunghi was succeeded by Jhamtu and Jhamtu was succeeded by his wife Subdha. Subdha by way of registered gift deed bequeathed the land to Bijnu and Bijnu sold the suit land to defendants No. 1 to 3.

14. The plea of adverse possession taken in the written statement as it finds mention in para-1 of the same is in the following words:

> "1.....In fact Shri Dhangia son of Shri Kapuria was in exclusive possession of the entire land detailed in the para. Even in the year Samvat 1965 and right from the time of Shri Dhangia the property in question remained in exclusive possession of aforesaid person. The other co-owners, illegally shown in the revenue record never remained in possession of the land right from the time of Shri Motia, predecessor in interest of plaintiffs and their brothers, mother and Shri Ishwar Chand defendant No. 4 and replying defendants after purchase of the land through registered sale deed dated 01.10.1962 treated themselves to be exclusive owner in possession and their possession is peaceful, continuous and hostile to the knowledge of the plaintiffs and their family members and replying defendant never admitted the plaintiffs, their brother Shri Ishwar Chand to be owner nor they were allowed to participate in the profits of the property and there is complete ouster of the plaintiffs, Shri Ishwar Chand and their family members from the time of Shri Dhangia aforesaid and the adverse possession of the defendants which started on 01.10.1962 from the purchase of the land and possession, which is continuous, have ripened into ownership and thus the replying defendants are owner in possession of the suit land."

15. No revenue record has been produced by defendants No. 1 to 3 to substantiate their contention that the entire suit land measuring 13.5 bighas was either exclusively owned and possessed by Dhinga or was exclusively possessed by him to the exclusion of other co-sharers. Keeping in view this fact that there is no material on record to demonstrate that the suit land was exclusively owned and possessed by Dhingia, the findings returned by the learned trial Court to the extent that Dhingia could not have parted with more land than what he owned were correct findings. A perusal of the judgment passed by the learned appellate Court in general and para-8 in particular of the same demonstrates that the line of arguments of defendants No. 1 to 3 who were appellants before the learned appellate Court was that though Dhingia had 1/4th share in the suit land, however, Biru, the vendee was put in possession of whole of the land of Dhingia and the possession of Biru in respect of ¾ share became adverse to other co-sharers the moment he came to possess it. Incidentally, the finding to this effect returned by learned trial Court that Dhingia had 1/4th share in the suit land has not been interfered with by the learned appellate Court and in its conclusions even the learned appellate Court has held that even if Dhingia had only 1/4th share in the suit land, the predecessors of defendants No. 1 to 3 have become owners of the suit land by way of adverse possession. Therefore, the factum of Dhingia being owner of only 1/4th share in the suit land has attained finality. The findings returned to this effect by the learned first appellate Court have not been assailed by defendants No. 1 to 3. In other words, they have accepted the findings returned by the learned appellate Court that though Dhingia was owner of the suit land only to the extent of 1/4th share, however, the predecessors-in-interest of defendants No. 1 to 3 had become owners of 3/4th share of the suit land by way of adverse possession.

16. In this background, the issue which now remains to be adjudicated is whether the findings returned by learned appellate Court to the effect that the predecessors-in-interest of defendants No. 1 to 3 had become owners-in-possession of the entire suit land by way of adverse possession are sustainable on the basis of material produced on record by the parties or not?

17. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in P. Lakshmi Reddy Vs. L. Lakshmi Reddy AIR 1957 SC 314 has held that in order to establish adverse possession of one co-heir as against another, it is not enough to show that one out of them is in sole possession and enjoyment of the profits of the properties. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that ouster of the non-possessing co-heir by the co-heir in possession who claims his possession to be adverse should be made out. It further held that possession of one co-heir is considered in law as possession of all the co-heirs. It further held that when one co-heir is found to be in possession of the properties, it is presumed to be on the basis of joint title. A co-heir in possession cannot render his possession adverse to the other co-heir, not in possession, merely by any secret hostile animus on his own part in derogation of the other co-heir' title. The Hon'ble Supreme Court further held that as between co-heirs there must be evidence of open assertion of hostile title, coupled with exclusive possession and enjoyment by one of them to the knowledge of the other so as to constitute ouster. It further held that burden of making out ouster is on the person claiming to displace the lawful title of a co-heir by his adverse possession. Therefore, it is evident that assertion of hostile title amongst co-owners must be to the knowledge of the plaintiffs and this is exactly the distinction between the case of adverse possession between co-owners and adverse possession between strangers.

18. In MD. Mohammad Ali (dead) by LRs. Vs. Jagadish Kalita and others, 2004 (1) SCC 271, the Hon'ble Supreme Court while dealing with a case where a co-sharer in exclusive possession set up the plea of adverse possession held that long and continuous possession by itself, would not constitute adverse possession and even non-participation in the rent and profits of the land to a co-sharer does not amount to ouster so as to give title by prescription. It further held that a co-sharer becomes a constructive trustee of other co-sharer and the right of the appellant and/or his predecessors-in-interest would thus be deemed to be protected by the trustees.

19. A three Judges Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mohammad Baqar and others Vs. Naim-un-Nisa Bibi and others, AIR 1956 SC 548 has held that as under the law, possession of one co-sharer is possession of all co-sharers, it cannot be adverse to them, unless there is a denial of their right to their knowledge by the person in possession and exclusion and ouster following thereon for the statutory period.

20. Learned appellate Court while returning the findings that the successors-in-interest of Dhingia had become owners in possession of the entire suit land to the exclusion of other co-owners held that there were long entries over 100 years showing vendee through his successor in exclusive possession under the successors-in-interest of the original owners and that it was unlikely that the land was jointly possessed physically by the parties. It further held that the suit land comprised of different khasra numbers and there was no evidence which of khasra numbers were in possession of which particular party. On these bases, it held that it could be possible that both the parties were in joint possession of all Khasra numbers and if this be so, then how were they cultivating the land and appropriating the produce. Learned appellate Court further held that had Dhingia not been in exclusive possession, there was no reason for the authorities to record his separate possession for over 100 years and had three of the co-owners been in joint possession, then their possession would have been recorded as such. On these bases, it was held by the learned appellate Court that Dhingia was in exclusive possession of the suit land and for this reason, he sold the entire suit land to Biru, predecessor-in-interest of present appellants. It was further held by learned appellate Court that Mehar Singh, one of the co-owners with Dhingia never challenged during his life time the sale and also did not try to seek partition of suit land. It further held that other co-owner Jash Ram also had not done so, meaning thereby he accepted Dhingia to be exclusive owner of the suit land. It further held that other co-sharers and their successors can also be assumed having knowledge of exclusive possession of Biru and his successors in view of such entries in the revenue record. On these bases, it concluded that long and uninterrupted possession of Dhingia and his successors due to an invalid sale deed was certainly adverse to the true owners and they being in possession for more than 12 years continuously to the knowledge of true owners had become its owners by way of adverse possession.

21. In my considered view, the findings so returned by the learned appellate Court are not sustainable either on facts or on law. While coming to the conclusions that defendants No. 1 to 3 have become owners of the entire suit land by way of adverse possession, learned appellate Court concluded that Dhingia had gained possession of the entire suit land to the exclusion of other co-sharers and his possession as such qua other co-sharers had ripened into adverse possession. I am afraid the findings so returned by the learned appellate Court are not based on records but are based on mere conjectures and surmises. There is no evidence to substantiate the findings returned by the learned appellate Court to the effect that other co-sharers had accepted the exclusive possession of Dhingia to their express ouster qua the entire suit land. There is no material to decipher that Dhingia denied the right of other co-sharers to their knowledge. There is no evidence that Dhingia asserted his hostile title coupled with exclusive possession and enjoyment vis-à-vis the other co-sharers to their express knowledge. The findings so returned by learned appellate Court are based on assumptions.

22. It is well settled law that the first appellate Court is the final Court of fact ordinarily and therefore a litigant is entitled to a full, fair and independent consideration of the evidence at the appellate stage and anything less than this is unjust to him. The appellate Court has jurisdiction to reverse or affirm the findings of the trial Court and first appeal is a valuable right of the parties and unless restricted by law, the whole case is therein open for rehearing both on question of fact and law. It is settled law that while reversing a finding of fact, the appellate Court must come into close quarters with the reasoning assigned by the trial Court and then assign its own reasons for arriving at a different finding. This would satisfy the Court hearing a further appeal that the first appellate court had discharged the duty expected of it. The judgment of the appellate Court must, therefore, reflect its conscious application of mind and record findings supported by reasons on all the issues involved in the case alongwith the contentions put forth and pressed by the parties for decision by the appellate Court. In the present case, while setting aside the findings returned by the learned trial Court, the appellate Court has not based its findings on evidence on record, but has justified its findings on assumptions.

23. Incidentally, a perusal of the cross-examination of DW-1 Rikhi Ram demonstrates that he has admitted therein that the plaintiffs were residing where suit property was situated. He has also admitted that no partition of the suit land has taken place. In fact a minute perusal of the written statement filed by defendants No. 1 to 3 and the affidavit filed by DW-1 Rikhi Ram which is on record as Ex. D-1 also demonstrates that it is not in so many words that it has been stated by the defendants that Dhingia was owner of the entire suit land. According to them, the entire suit land was in fact in possession of Dhingia, but this contention of their's is belied from the documents.

24. There is one more important fact which learned appellate Court did not appreciate while relying upon entries in favour of the successors-in-interest of Dhingia to the effect that the entire suit land was in their possession, which fact is that how these entries were initially recorded in the revenue records. As I have already mentioned above, there is no evidence on record to substantiate that Dhingia was either owner of the entire suit property or was in possession of the entire property. Therefore, subsequent entries to this effect in favour of his successors-in-interest are non est as defendants No. 1 to 3 have not been able to substantiate from records as to how the entire suit land came to be recorded in ownership and possession or in possession of the successors-in-interest of Dhingia when Dhingia was neither owner-in-possession of the entire property nor was he in possession of the entire property.

25. The contention of the learned counsel for the respondents that presumption of truth is attached with the latter revenue entries is a rebuttable presumption because if the genesis of the entries so made in the revenue records is not substantiated and is doubtful, then the presumptions so attached with the revenue records stands rebutted.

26. The version of defendants No. 1 to 3 of complete ouster of other co-sharers of Dhingia is not substantiated from the records. It is settled law that he who acquires title from a co-owner or a co-sharer enters into the foot steps of co-owner does not acquires a title better than that of co-owner/co-sharer. The factum of one of the co-sharer selling a portion of joint property would not amount to adverse possession and as Dhingia was having no right, title or interest over 3/4th portion of the suit land, he had no right in law to alienate the same in any manner whatsoever. Once the successors-in-interest of Dhingia entered into his foot steps, then they acquired the status of co-sharer and their possession over the suit property was on behalf of all the co-sharers. As far as defendants No. 1 to 3 are concerned they had purchased the suit land vide sale deed dated 01.10.1962. There is no material on record from which it can be inferred that from 01.10.1962, they asserted their title hostile to the other co-owners, whose names admittedly were existing in the revenue records. There is no material on record to substantiate that defendants No. 1 to 3 after they came in possession of the suit land became owners of the same by way of adverse possession by ouster of other co-sharers. In these circumstances, learned trial Court had rightly held plaintiffs and proforma defendant No. 4 as co-owners in joint possession qua ½ share and defendants No. 1 to 3 as co-owners in joint possession to the extent of 1/4th share and proforma defendants No. 5 to 11 to the extent of rest 1/4th share in the suit land measuring 13 bighas and 5 biswas in village Mahog and learned appellate Court erred in setting aside the findings so returned by the learned trial Court. Substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

27. In view of the discussion held above, the present appeal is allowed with costs and the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned District Judge, Solan in Civil Appeal No. 60-S/13 of 2006 dated 01.06.2007 is set aside, whereas the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kandaghat, District Solan in Civil Suit No. 5-K/1 of 2002 dated 03.05.2006 is upheld. Miscellaneous applications, if any, also stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE AJAY MOHAN GOEL, J.

Revti Devi ... Appellant

Versus

Hari Singh & Anr. ... Respondents

RSA No. 257 of 2008
Reserved on: 14.09.2016
Date of decision:26.10.2016

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Plaintiff filed a civil suit claiming that he is the owner in possession on the basis of the Will executed by G – the Will propounded by defendant No. 1 is the result of mis-representation, deception, undue influence and fraud – the revenue entries on the basis of the same are illegal, null and void- the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed – held in second appeal that the Will propounded by the plaintiff was held to be shrouded in suspicious circumstances – plaintiff was not able to dispel those circumstances – the defendant No. 1 was able to prove the execution of the Will by the deceased- no fault can be found with the judgment of Appellate Court- appeal dismissed.

(Para-15 to 19)

Cases referred:

H. Venkatachala Iyengar Vs. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443

Adivekka and others Vs. Hanamavva Kom Venkatesh (Dead) by LRS. and another, (2007) 7 Supreme Court Cases 91

For the appellant: Mr. Vijay Chaudhary, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. Praneet Gupta, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, Judge:

This appeal has been filed by the appellant/ plaintiff against the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Presiding Officer Fast Track Court, Mandi, in Civil Appeal Nos. 58/2004, 135/2005 dated 31.03.2008, vide which, learned Appellate Court dismissed the appeal filed by the present appellant against the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Jr. Division), Sundernagar, in Old Civil Suit No. 144/1990, New Civil Suit No. 99/2002, dated 15.06.2004 and allowed the cross objections filed on behalf of the respondents/defendants under Order 41 Rule 22 C.P.C. against findings returned by learned trial Court on Issues No. 1(a) and 2.

2. This appeal was admitted on 02.06.2008 on the following substantial questions of law:-

"1. Whether any prudent and reasonable man would create tenancy after coming into force the HP Tenancy & Land Reforms Act, 1974 knowing fully well that the said tenant would acquire proprietary rights by operation of law?

2. Whether the learned courts below have erred in recording the findings to the effect that there was minor contradictions in the statements of plaintiff's witnesses without taking into consideration the fact that their statements were being recorded after a gap of 8-10 years and such minor contradictions were necessary outcome of passage of time?

3. Whether the learned courts below erred in concluding that the appellant/plaintiff has failed to prove the Will dated 14/5/86 (Ex. PW.2/A) and 4/11/86 (Ex.PW.2/B)?"

3. Brief facts necessary for the adjudication of the present case are that the appellant/plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as the 'plaintiff') filed a suit for declaration to the effect that land comprised under khewat No. 43, Khatauni No. 61, Khasra No. 1898/1454 old and present Khasra No. 1151 measuring 3-1-15 bighas, situated at village Bhour, Tehsil Sundernagar, District Mandi, HP (hereinafter referred to as 'suit land') was owned and possessed by the plaintiff as per Will dated 04.11.1986 which was the last Will of deceased Ganga Ram made by him in her favour and entries qua the same in favour of defendant No. 1 as owner thereof and in favour of defendant No. 2 as non occupancy tenant thereupon were wrong, illegal, null and void. It was further prayed that as the defendants had taken over the forcible possession over the suit land on the basis of said wrong and illegal revenue entries, possession of suit land be also delivered to the plaintiff as a consequential relief. According to the plaintiff, suit land was owned and possessed by one Shri Ganga Ram who during his lifetime was looked after and maintained by the plaintiff and out of love and affection and in lieu of services rendered to him by the plaintiff, Ganga Ram bequeathed the suit land in her favour by way of a registered Will dated 14.05.1985, which Will was later on revived and confirmed by him vide his last and final Will dated 04.11.1986, which Will was also executed by Ganga Ram in her favour. As per the plaintiff, Ganga Ram died on 07.11.1986 and after his death, she inherited and succeeded to the suit land on the basis of said Will and was in possession of the suit land in her capacity as owner. Further as per the plaintiff, Ganga Ram had not executed any other Will except the abovementioned two Wills in her favour, however, defendant No. 1 managed to obtain one Will in his favour from the deceased which was result of misrepresentation, deception, undue influence and fraud etc.. As per the plaintiff, the forged Will had no weight in the eyes of law. It was her case that in November, 1988, when she had sown wheat crop in the suit land, defendants in connivance with each other re-ploughed the suit land forcibly and changed the crop sown by her and instead had sown their own wheat seeds. As per plaintiff, she requested them not to do so and not to take law in their hands, however, defendant No. 1 disclosed to her that he was recorded as owner of the suit land while defendant No. 2 was non-occupancy tenant in possession under defendant No. 1. It was further the case put up by the plaintiff that thereafter she approached the Patwari Halqa and obtained the copies of revenue record from him and after getting them 'visualized' from her counsel, the disclosure of defendant came to light. It was further stated by the plaintiff that mutation, if any, concerning the suit land in favour of defendant No. 1 and on the basis of same, subsequent entries in revenue record were wrong, illegal, null and void and inducting defendant No. 2 as non-occupancy tenant over the suit land was also wrong and illegal and without any authority. It was on these bases, the suit was filed by the plaintiff seeking the relief as mentioned above.

4. The suit filed by the plaintiff as contested by the defendants. As per defendants, suit land was recorded in the ownership of defendant No. 1 and was in possession of defendant No. 2 as non occupancy tenant and thereafter defendant No. 2 had become owner of the suit land by virtue of operation of law. Though, it was admitted by the defendants that the suit land was previously owned and possessed by Ganga Ram, however, it was denied that Ganga Ram was looked after and maintained by the plaintiff during his lifetime. It was further denied that Ganga Ram executed Will in favour of plaintiff out of love and affection. According to the defendants, Will dated 04.11.1986 was not genuine but was a fake and fictitious Will obtained by the plaintiff. According to the defendants though Will dated 14.5.1985 was executed by Ganga Ram in favour of plaintiff, however, the same was subsequently cancelled and in fact Ganga Ram, who was a close relative of defendant No. 1, during his lifetime had executed a registered Will dated 18.5.1985 in favour of defendant No. 1, out of love and affection in lieu of services rendered by defendant No. 1 to Ganga Ram, with regard to his entire moveable and immoveable property. It was further the case of the defendants that Ganga Ram had already inducted defendant No. 2 in possession of the suit land who was in actual possession of the suit land and defendant No. 2 had become owner of the same by operation of law and thereafter the suit land was in ownership and possession of defendant No. 2. It was denied by the defendants that Ganga Ram had not executed Will in favour of defendant No. 1 and as per defendants Will dated 18.05.1985 was the last valid Will executed by Ganga Ram in favour of defendant No. 1. As per the defendants, Will dated 18.05.1985 which was executed by Ganga Ram in favour of defendant No. 1 was his last valid Will and in fact the plaintiff after she came to know about said last Will of Ganga Ram having been executed in favour of defendant had managed to manufacture and obtain a fictitious Will allegedly executed in her favour by Ganga Ram in order to grab the suit property. It was denied that any revenue entries have been wrongly entered into in favour of defendant No. 1 in connivance of revenue officials or mutation sanctioned in favour of defendants was bad. According to the defendants, mutation proceedings were in full knowledge of the plaintiff and in fact plaintiff had not remained in possession of the suit land at any point of time. It was denied that plaintiff had ever sown any wheat crop over the suit land or she was forcibly dispossessed from the suit land in November, 1988, as alleged. According to the defendants, it was defendant No. 2 who had been cultivating the suit land during the lifetime of deceased Ganga Ram in his capacity as tenant and thereafter he had become owner in possession of the same by operation of law. On these bases, the case of the plaintiff was denied by the defendants.

5. On the basis of the pleadings of the parties, learned trial Court framed the following issues:-

> "1. Whether Ganga Ram executed valid wills dated 14-5-1985 and 4-11-1986 in favour of the plaintiff, if so its effect? … OPP
>
> 1(a) Whether the defendant No. 1/2 was tenant over the suit land and has become owner by operation of law and if so its effect? … OPD 2
>
> 1(b) Whether the plaintiff has been forcibly dispossessed from the suit land by defendants in November, 1988 as alleged and plaintiff is entitled for relief of possession as claimed? … OPP
>
> 2. Whether Ganga Ram executed a valid will dt. 18-5-1985 in favour of defendant No. 1? … OPD
>
> 3. Whether the plaint is liable to be rejected for non-furnishing of particulars of fraud as alleged? … OPD

4. Relief."

6. On the basis of material placed on record both ocular as well as documentary by the respective parties, learned trial Court dismissed the suit filed by the plaintiff after holding that perusal of record demonstrated that plaintiff has failed to prove that deceased Ganga Ram had executed 'Will' in favour of plaintiff. It was held by learned trial Court that the case of the plaintiff was that initially Ganga Ram executed a Will PW2/A in her favour which was later on revived and confirmed vide Will Ext. PW2/B dated 04.11.1986. Learned trial Court held that the first suspicious circumstance regarding the execution of Will Ext. PW2/B was the sitting arrangement of scribe, attesting witnesses and the testator. It further held that statements of plaintiff (PW1) and the attesting witnesses were contrary to each other which rendered the presence of all of them at one place to be doubtful. It was further held by the learned trial Court that the second suspicious circumstance was the contention of the plaintiff that the later Will in fact revived the earlier Will executed by Ganga Ram in her favour and also confirmed the same. Learned trial Court held that PW2 Shiv Lal, who was one of the attesting witnesses of the later Will, deposed that Will Ext. PW2/A was read over and thereafter Will Ext. PW2/B was scribed whereas PW3 Nek Ram other attesting witness deposed that no reference of the earlier Will i.e. Ext. PW2/A was made at the time of execution of second Will i.e. Ext. PW2/B. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that the third suspicious circumstance surrounding the purportedly Will executed by Ganga Ram in favour of plaintiff was that a school boy was engaged to scribe the Will who had no knowledge about scribing the same. Learned trial Court further held that this witness also admitted that neither earlier Will was shown to him nor any reference was made of the same at the time of execution of Will Ext. PW2/B. Learned trial Court took note of the fact that as per admission of PW5 Lekh Ram, scribe of the Will Ext. PW2/B, he was himself not aware about the meaning of word 'Sanad Patra' which was mentioned on the top of the Will Ext. PW2/B and he also admitted that he had not scribed such words on the top of Will Ext. PW2/B. Learned trial Court further held that the fourth suspicious circumstance which shrouded the Will Ext. PW2/B being propounded by deceased Ganga Ram was thumb impression of deceased Ganga Ram. Learned trial Court held that the thumb impression of testator of Will Ganga Ram was not on the documents of Will Ext. PW2/B but was completely on the revenue stamp which was appended on the Will Ext. PW2/B. Said thumb impression nowhere touched paper Ext. PW2/B. In other words, affixation of thumb impression on revenue stamp at the bottom of the document and mentioning of 'Sanad Patra' on the top of the same made the existence of genuineness of such Will doubtful as per the learned trial Court. On these bases, it was held by the learned trial Court that the execution of Will Ext. PW2/B was not proved by the plaintiff.

7. As far as issue pertaining to defendant No. 2 having become owner by operation of law by virtue of defendant No. 2 earlier being tenant over the suit land is concerned, the same was answered against the defendants by the learned trial Court.

8. It was further held by the learned trial Court that plaintiff had failed to prove that she was in possession of the suit land and had been dispossessed from the same.

9. Issue to the effect that Ganga Ram had executed Will DW1/A in favour of defendant was answered against the defendants by the learned trial Court.

10. The issue whether the plaint was liable to be rejected on account of non-furnishing of particulars of fraud was decided against the plaintiff and in favour of defendants.

11. The judgment and decree so passed by the learned trial Court was challenged by the plaintiff by way of appeal. Cross-objections were filed by the defendants against the findings returned against the defendant on issues No. 1(a) and Issue No. 2.

12. Learned Appellate Court while dismissing the appeal filed by the plaintiff allowed the cross-objections which were filed by the defendants.

13. Learned Appellate Court confirmed the findings returned by the learned trial Court that deceased Ganga Ram had not executed any valid Will in favour of plaintiff, however, it set aside the findings returned by the learned trial Court that Ganga Ram had not executed valid Will dated 18.05.1985 in favour of defendant No. 1. Learned Appellate Court also set aside the findings of the learned trial Court that defendant No. 2 was not tenant over the suit land and had not become owner by operation of law over the same. On the basis of material on record, the learned Appellate Court came to the conclusion that execution of Will purportedly executed by Ganga Ram in favour of plaintiff, Ext. PW2/B, dated 04.11.1986 was not proved by the plaintiff in accordance with law. It was held by the learned Appellate Court that said Will was shrouded with grave and suspicious circumstances and execution thereof had not been duly prove and hence the findings returned by the learned trial Court on issue No. 1 were correct and it could be safely held that the said findings given by the learned trial Court were not liable to be set aside. Learned Appellate Court further held that it was a matter of record that after 3-4 days of the purported execution of alleged Will Ext. PW2/B, Ganga Ram died. It further held that said Will Ext. PW2/B was no Will in the eyes of law whereas Will Ext. DW1/A dated 18.05.1985, which was executed by deceased in favour of defendant No. 1, fulfilled all the necessary requirements as provided under Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act and it was a valid Will as both the attesting witnesses had seen the testator putting thumb impression on the Will Ext. DW1/A. The scribe of the Will Asif Khan appeared as DW1 and Govind Ram (DW5), one of the attesting witnesses of the said Will, had clearly proved the execution of said Will and these witnesses were not interested witnesses and their statements remained unshattered. Learned Appellate Court also took note of the fact that the other attesting witness of Will Ext. DW1/A was stated to be dead and DW 5 Shri Nirmal Singh, Additional District Magistrate, Hamirpur, who at the relevant time was posted as Sub Registrar at Sundernagar categorically stated that Will in question was read over and explained to Ganga Ram who admitted its correctness. Learned Appellate Court further held that he also proved endorsement qua the registration of the documents Ext. PW5/A to Ext. PW5/C on the Will in question. It was further held by the learned Appellate Court that the statement of Nirmal Singh further proved that deceased Ganga Ram was in his senses and was in sound state of mind when he had executed Will Ext. DW1/A and on these bases, it could be safely held that said Will was not shrouded with suspicious circumstances as defendant No. 1 was real nephew of deceased Ganga Ram and he was looking after deceased Ganga Ram and his last rites were also performed by him (defendant No. 1). It was further held by learned trial Court that Rewati Devi who belonged to a different caste was not even adopted by deceased Ganga Ram as alleged. Learned Appellate Court further held that the findings returned by the learned trial Court to the effect that thumb impression of testator on the Will Ext. DW1/A was not identified by the defendants, was not based on the material on record as the defendants had proved the valid execution of Will Ext. DW1/A in favour of Hari Singh, on the basis of which, he had become owner of the suit land. Learned Appellate Court set aside the findings of learned trial Court to this effect. It further held that the factum of defendant No. 2 being a non-occupancy tenant earlier under Ganga Ram and thereafter under defendant No. 1 had been categorically stated by defendant No. 1 Hari Singh and his statement had not been shattered by plaintiff and moreover, the factum of said defendant being in possession of the suit land also proved prima facie that he was inducted as tenant over the suit land during the lifetime of deceased Ganga Ram. On these bases, the findings returned to the contrary by the learned trial Court were set aside. It was on these bases that the appeal filed by the plaintiff against the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court was dismissed by the learned Appellate Court whereas cross-objections filed by the defendants against the same were allowed.

14. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the records of the case as well as the judgments passed by both the learned Courts below.

15. The factum of Will Ext. PW2/B having been executed by Ganga Ram in favour of plaintiff stands concurrently decided against the plaintiff by both the learned Courts below. After taking into consideration the entire evidence on record it was held by the learned trial Court that the purported Will Ext. PW2/B was shrouded with suspicious circumstances. The findings so returned by the learned trial Court have been affirmed by the learned Appellate Court. Findings so returned by both the learned Courts below are duly borne out from the records of the case.

Therefore, it cannot be said that on the basis of statements of plaintiff witnesses plaintiff had proved the execution of Will Ext. PW2/B by Ganga Ram in her favour.

16. Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act clearly lays down that every testator shall execute his Will according to the following rules:-

> "(a) The testator shall sign or shall affix his mark to the will, or it shall be signed by some other person in his presence and by his direction.
>
> (b) The signature or mark of the testator, or the signature of the person signing for him, shall be so placed that it shall appear that it was intended thereby to give effect to the writing as a will.
>
> (c) The will shall he attested by two or more witnesses, each of whom has seen the testator sign or affix his mark to the will or has seen some other person sign the will, in the presence and by the direction of the testator, or has received from the testator a personal acknowledgment of his signature or mark, or of the signature of such other person; and each of the witnesses shall sign the will in the presence of the testator, but it shall not be necessary that more than one witness be present at the same time, and no particular form of attestation shall be necessary."

17. It has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in H. Venkatachala Iyengar Vs. B.N. Thimmajamma, AIR 1959 SC 443, that in the cases in which execution of the Will is surrounded by suspicious circumstances, it may raise a doubt as to whether the testator was acting of his own free will. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has further held that in such circumstances, the initial onus is on the propounder to remove all reasonable doubts in the matter. The presence of suspicious circumstances makes initial onus heavier. Such suspicion cannot be removed by the mere assertion of the propounder that the will bears signature of the testator or that the testator was in a sound and disposing state of mind at the time when the will was made.

18. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in Adivekka and others Vs. Hanamavva Kom Venkatesh (Dead) by LRS. and another, (2007) 7 Supreme Court Cases 91, that where there are suspicious circumstances, the onus would be on the propounder to remove suspicion by leading appropriate evidence. Section 63 of the Succession Act lays down the mode and manner in which an unprivileged Will is to be executed. Section 68 of the Evidence Act postulates the mode and manner in which proof of execution of document is required by law to be attested. It in unequivocal terms states that execution of Will must be proved at least by one attesting witness, if an attesting witness is alive subject to the process of the Court and capable of giving evidence. The proof of Will is not required as a ground of reading the document but to afford the judge reasonable assurance of it as being what it purports to be. In the present case, propounder of Will Ext. PW2/B i.e. the appellant was not able to dispel the suspicious circumstances shrouding the execution of Will Ext. PW2/B. She was not able to discharge this initial onus which is on the propounder of the Will. It could not be proved by her that the Will was executed in the mode and manner as is laid down under Section 63 of the Succession Act. Besides this, as has been taken note by the learned trial Court and in appeal by the learned Appellate Court, the said will was shrouded with suspicious circumstances which were not satisfactorily explained by the plaintiff.

19. Similarly, the findings which have been returned by the learned Appellate Court to the effect that Will Ext. DW1/A was proved to have been validly executed by deceased Ganga Ram in favour of defendant No. 1 cannot be faulted with. In my considered view, the findings returned by the learned trial Court that execution of Will Ext. DW1/A which was executed by Ganga Ram in favour of defendant No. 1 stood duly proved as per law are the correct findings. The execution of said Will by Ganga Ram in favour of defendant No. 1 has been duly substantiated by the statements of DW1 Arif Khan, the scribe of the Will and DW5 Govind Ram, one of the attesting witness. It has come in the statement of DW1 that Will Ext. DW1/A was scribed at the instance of Ganga Ram and was read over to him and that at the relevant time he was in a sound disposing state of mind. He also stated that the other attesting witnesses of the said Will were Dila Ram and Govind Ram. In his cross examination, he categorically stated that after the Will Ext. DW1/A was scribed, firstly thumb impression on the same was put by Ganga Ram and thereafter signatures of the attesting witnesses were obtained on the same. He also stated in his cross examination that on the day when the Will Ext. DW1/A was scribed, Ganga Ram was in a sound state of mind and the Will was executed at his instance. Similarly, Govind Ram, one of the attesting witness of Will Ext. DW1/A, who entered the witness box as DW5, has clearly stated that Will Ext. DW1/A was written at the instance of Ganga Ram and when said Will was written, Ganga Ram was in sound state of mind and he (Govind Ram) and Dila Ram were present when said Will was executed. He further deposed that after the Will was executed it was read over to Ganga Ram who admitted it to be correct and thereafter he (Ganga Ram) appended his thumb impression over the same and thereafter attesting witness signed the same. He also stated that Will Ext. DW1/A was taken before the Tehsildar for the purpose of registration and he was also present there at that time. He further stated that Ganga Ram had stated even before the Tehsildar that the Will was correct. Nirmal Singh who entered the witness box as DW6 proved the factum of registration of Will Ext. DW1/A and he also stated that the will was read over to Ganga Ram who admitted the contents of same to be correct. Therefore, on the basis of said evidence produced on record by the defendants, the findings returned by the learned Appellate Court to the effect that execution of Will Ext. DW1/A was duly proved by defendant No. 1 as per the provisions of Indian Succession Act are the correct findings and findings to the contrary recorded by the learned trial Court were rightly set aside by the learned Appellate Court. Similarly, the factum of defendant No. 2 having been initially inducted as a tenant over the suit land by late Shri Ganga Ram and thereafter his continuing to be as such under defendant No. 1 and the factum of defendant No. 2 becoming owner of the suit land by operation of law and thereafter his being in possession of the suit land in his capacity as owner of the same has been duly proved by defendant No. 1. The statement of defendant No. 1 could not be shattered by the plaintiff and there is no reason as to why the same should be disbelieved. The findings returned in this regard by the learned Appellate Court in favour of defendants are also duly borne out from the records of the case and the conclusion arrived at by the learned trial Court was contrary to the material on record. Therefore, learned Appellate Court correctly returned said findings in favour of defendants by allowing the cross objections. During the course of arguments, learned counsel for the appellant could not point out as to how the findings returned by the learned Appellate Court to this effect were perverse and not borne out from the records of the case.

Therefore, in my considered view, no fault can be found with the judgment and decree passed by the learned appellate Court whereby it dismissed the appeal filed by the appellant/plaintiff against the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court and simultaneously allowed the cross objections filed by the defendants against the said judgment and decree. The substantial questions of law are answered accordingly and the appeal being devoid of any merit is dismissed. No order as to costs. Pending application(s), if any, also stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

State of H.P. .....Appellant.

Versus

Chaman Lal and another .....Respondents.

Cr. Appeal No. 113 of 2007
Decided on : 26.10.2016

Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954- Section 16(1)(a)(i)- Samples of glucose biscuits were taken, which were found to be misbranded- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court – held in appeal that Food Inspector deposed about the taking of the sample and completion of codal formalities – his testimony was not shaken in cross-examination- respondent No. 1 had purchased the food item from respondent No. 3, who had died during the pendency of the appeal- respondent No. 1 and 2 were convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 16(1)(a)(i) read with Section 7(ii) of Prevention of Food Adulteration Act. (Para-10 to 14)

For the Appellant: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Dy. A.G.
For the Respondent: Mr. Virender Kanwar, with Mr. Raman Prashar, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge, Oral

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of Himachal Pradesh against the impugned judgment rendered on 26.9.2006 by the learned Sub Divisional Judicial Magistrate, Arki, District Solan, H.P. in Criminal Case No. 32/3 of 2001, whereby the learned trial Court acquitted the respondents (for short 'accused') for the offences charged.

2. The brief facts of the case are that on 16.12.2000, Food Inspector, S.C. Joshi inspected the premises of Chaman Lal Malhotra, proprietor of General Merchant and Confectionary Works at Kunihar at about 1.20 p.m. where he was found conducting the business of the shop and at the time of inspection he was having 170 sealed packets of Glucose-V-Biscuits of 250 grams each in his possession meant for sale to the general public for human consumption, which were manufactured by 'Surya Food and Agro Limited, Noida, Priya Gold Industries (India) Ltd, Noida'. After disclosing his identity being Food Inspector, he served notice to accused No. 1 declaring his intention to take the sample of sealed Glucose-V-Biscuits out of these sealed packets and purchased six sealed packets of Glucose-V Biscuits of 250 grams each against the payment of Rs. 48/- as a sample for analysis. At the time of taking sample, accused No. 1 disclosed to the Food Inspector that he has purchased the said biscuits from M/s Shashank Enterprises, The Mall, Solan vide Bill No. 3521, dated 25.11.2000 under Section 14-A. So, a subsequent notice under Section 14-A was sent to accused No. 2 under the registered cover. After completing all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offence, allegedly committed by the accused challan was prepared and filed in the Court.

3. Notice of accusation stood put to the accused by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 16(1)(a)(i) read with Section 7(ii) of the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954 (hereinafter referred to as the Act) to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 3 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, were recorded in which they pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. They did not choose to lead any evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused.

6. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation by it of the relevant material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. The learned counsel appearing for the respondents has with considerable force and vigour contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record by the learned trial Court and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. The accused respondent No.3 Purshotam Julka died during the pendency of the appeal before this Court. Hence, the prosecution case against him stands abated.

10. The Food Inspector concerned during the course of his inspecting the commercial premises of accused/respondent No.1 purchased from him six packets of biscuits weighing 250 grams each, purchase whereof stands displayed in Ext.P-2. The aforesaid food item was dispatched to the public analyst concerned whereupon he recorded an opinion of the batch number borne thereon being illegible besides the month and year of the manufacture or its packing remaining un-recited therein. Consequently, under the apposite report prepared by the public analyst concerned recorded in sequel to his subjecting the aforesaid food item to examination, he concluded qua it being misbranded, in sequel thereto the accused respondent No.1 besides respondents No.2 and 3 respectively the retailer besides forwarding agent and the manufacturer of the relevant food item stood arrayed as accused. A notice of accusation stood put to them qua theirs infringing the provisions of Section 16(1)(a)(i) read with Section 7(ii) of the Act. A thorough examination of the entire cross-examination to which the prosecution witnesses stood subjected to by the learned defence counsel unveils of theirs not standing put any apposite suggestion nor obviously any response upsurging in personification of the Food Inspector concerned on inspecting the commercial premises of respondent No.1 his not under Ext.P-2 purchasing from respondent No.1 the relevant food product/food item in sequel whereto it is inevitable to conclude qua the defence neither concerting to repudiate nor it concerting to controvert the trite factum of the Food Inspector visiting the relevant commercial premises nor also it concerting to belie the factum of purchase of the relevant food item by the Food Inspector concerned from accused/respondent No.1. Also the evidentiary material as exists herebefore makes a loud pronouncement qua accused No. 2 and 3 respectively the forwarding agent and manufacturer of the misbranded food item not concerting to repudiate the factum of theirs being respectively the manufacturer or the forwarding agent qua the relevant food item vis.a.vis. accused respondent No.1. Consequently, the derivative therefrom is of theirs acquiescing to the factum of theirs respectively manufacturing besides being the forwarding agent qua the relevant food item vis.a.vis. respondent No.1. The learned trial Court on visiting the entire record had concluded qua with availability of independent witnesses in proximity to the relevant commercial establishment of accused respondent No.1 yet their association in the relevant proceedings remaining unsolicited by the Food Inspector concerned staining the purchase by the Food Inspector concerned of the relevant food item from accused/respondent No.1. In sequel, thereto he concluded of the prosecution not succeeding in proving the charge against the accused. However, the aforesaid reason as purveyed by the learned trial Magistrate in his impugned order is ridden with gross perversity arising from his mis-appreciating the impact of purchase of the relevant food item by the Food Inspector concerned from the relevant Commercial premises occurring under Ext.P-2 also its overlooking the trite factum of the defence not adducing any evidence in denial of the aforesaid purchase standing ridden with a vice of compulsion or duress standing exercised upon accused No.1 by the Food Inspector concerned. For unavailability of the aforesaid evidence on record it was wholly inapt for the learned trial Magistrate to conclude qua with evident availability of independent witnesses in proximity of the relevant site of occurrence whereas theirs remaining unjoined at the time contemporaneous to his purchasing the relevant food item from accused respondent No.1, ingraining the entire prosecution version with a blemish of untruthfulness qua the relevant facet predominantly when the probative sinew for reasons aforestated of Ext.P-2 remained unshattered. In sequel, thereof, the aforesaid reason as assigned by the learned trial Magistrate for recording an order of acquittal vis.a.vis the accused warrants interference.

11. Be that as it may, the learned trial Magistrate had while recording an order of acquittal vis.a.vis. the accused had postulated a reason qua the prosecution standing enjoined by the mandate of Section 17(1)(a)(i) and Section 17(1-a)(ii) to display with specificity in the apposite complaint the factum of commission of offences by the Company itself and/or any nominated person or any other person who was incharge and was responsible to the Company for conducting its business wherefrom it concluded of with accused respondent No.1 standing neither averred in the apposite complaint nor evidence standing adduced qua his at the relevant time holding any authorization as a nominee of the manufacturer of the relevant food item who stood arrayed as accused No.3 or his being incharge of its business besides responsible to the Company for conducting its business, recorded a conclusion of thereupon the charge against the accused respondent warranting its being construable to stand jettisoned. However, the aforesaid reason as stands assigned by the learned trial Magistrate is also extremely legally frail as it emanates on a gross mis appreciation by him of the relevant provisions engrafted in Section 17 of the Act, provisions whereof are applicable where the relevant purported misbranded or adulterated food item stands purchased or stands seized from the premises of Company (M/s Surya Food and Agro Limited, Sector-2, Noida) besides only in the event of the aforesaid display there would be an onerous obligation cast upon the Food Inspector concerned to while concerting to prove charges framed vis.a.vis. the accused under Section 17 of the Act, to aver in the apposite complaint the relevant ingredients encapsulated in Section 17 of the Act whereas with contra distinctivity herebefore qua the relevant purchase/seizure of the mis branded food product or food item occurring on the Food Inspector concerned visiting/inspecting the retail commercial outlet of accused respondent No.1 who uncontrovertedly made its purchase/received it from accused No.2 latter whereof had received it from its manufacturer arrayed as respondent No.3, concomitantly did not entail upon the Food Inspector concerned to mete compliance to the provisions of Section 17 of the Act nor obviously he was enjoined to embody therein the ingredients thereof nor obviously any evidence in display of satiation thereof standing begotten was enjoined to be adduced by the prosecution. In sequel thereto the aforesaid reason as stands assigned by the learned trial Court to record an order of acquittal vis.a.vis. the accused suffers from a vice of infirmity arising from its misappraising the provisions of Section 17 of the Act.

12. The learned trial Magistrate on the anvil of a verdict of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in Dwarka Nath and another vs. Municipal Corporation of Delhi, 1971 AIR 1844 wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court had declared ultra vires Rule 32(b) of the Prevention of Food Adulteration Rules, relevant portion whereof stands extracted hereinafter,

> "23. We are not inclined to accept the contention of Mr. Manchanda that Clause (b) of Rule 32 is beyond the rule making power of the Central Government under Section 23(1)(d) of the Act. It is well known that in many cases in business the name and address of a manufacturer or importer or vendor or packer has become associated with the character, quality or quantity of the article and as such we are of the opinion that Clause (b) of Rule 32 is a valid rule."

On anvil of its enactment being beyond the ambit of the rule making power of the relevant authority vice whereof ingraining it emanating on emergence of transgression of the mandate of Section 23 of the Act whereupon the trial Magistrate recorded a conclusion of the report of the public analyst concerned holding therewithin portrayals of the relevant food item/food product holding a vice of misbranding, not warranting acceptance, wherefrom it concluded of the accused standing entitled to an order of acquittal. The reliance as placed by the learned Magistrate upon the aforesaid verdict of the Hon'ble Apex Court emanates on his grossly misappreciating its subtle nuance tritely the one qua the relevant Rule 32(b) (e) of the 'Rules' enjoining upon the relevant manufacturer to on the label of the relevant food product item disclose therein the name and business address of the importer or packer also enunciate therein the batch number either in English or in Hindi or in combination, not carrying forward the salutary spirit of the Act qua its informing the consumer qua the purity or the freshness of the product, qua factum whereof the relevant customer would become enlightened only when the label of the relevant food product holds portrayals qua the date and year of its manufacture besides holds reflections therein qua the date of expiry of the food product wherefrom reiteratedly the relevant consumer would stand apprised qua the freshness of the product besides would be baulked to purchase it for precluding injury to his health. Consequently, with contra distintivity occurring in the relevant Food Adulteration Rules vis. a vis. the nature of misbranding indulged by accused respondent No.3 wherefrom respondent No.1 purchased the misbranded food item/food product without his concerting to discover the factum of misbranding renders, all the accused from whom the relevant food item stood transmitted in an unbroken chain upto accused respondent No.1 wherefrom the Food Inspector purchased the relevant food product, to be vicariously liable for infringement of the relevant penal provisions.

13. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Magistrate has not appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned Magistrate suffers from perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of evidence on record. In sequel thereto, I find merit in this appeal, which is accordingly allowed and the judgement of acquittal rendered by the learned trial Magistrate is quashed and set-aside. Accordingly, the accused No. 1 and 2 are held guilty for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 16(1)(a)(i) read with Section 7(ii) of the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, 1954.

14. Let the accused/respondents No. 1 and 2 be produced before this Court on 16/11/2016 for theirs being heard on the quantum of sentence.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

State of H.P. .....Appellant.
Versus
Tej Ram & others ....Respondents.

Cr. Appeal No. 602 of 2008.
Date of Decision: 27th October, 2016.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 325, 323 and 506 read with Section 34- Accused restrained the informant and caused simple and grievous hurt to her and simple hurt to her daughter- the accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that informant admitted the pendency of the Civil litigation - PW-2confined the incriminatory role to accused T only –PW-3 improved upon his version – the prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt - appeal dismissed.(Para-9 to 12)

For the Appellant: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Dy. A.G.
For the Respondent: Mr. Karan Singh Kanwar, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (Oral).

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of H.P. against the judgment of the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sirmaur District at Nahan rendered on 31.0.3.2008 in Cr. Case No. 62/2 of 2006, whereby, he acquitted the accused/respondents herein for theirs allegedly committing offences punishable under Sections 341, 325, 323 and 506(1) read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code.

2. The facts relevant to decide the instant case are that on 16.06.2006 at about 7.00 p.m. at village Meerpur Kotla, the accused in furtherance of common intention wrongfully restrained the complainant Smt. Debo Devi from proceeding to the direction, to which she has right to move and the accused in furtherance of common intention, caused simple hurt to complainant Smt. Debo Devi and her daughter while Smt. Debo Devi also sustained grievous injuries due to the blows of danda given by the accused and the accused also criminally intimidated the complainant and her family members with dire consequences, with a view to raise alarm on their persons. Smt. Devi Devi was rescued by her husband Anup Singh from the clutches of the accused and the accused also gave beatings to him. The complainant lodged FIR Ex.PW1/A at P.S.Nahan and during the investigation, the police visited the spot and the accused produced three dandas, which were taken into possession vide recovery memos Ex.PW1/B, Ex.PW1/C and Ex.PW1/D. The police also took into possession blood stained shirt of injured vide memo Ex.PW2/A. The complainant Smt. Debo Devi was medically examined at R.H., Nahan and her MLC is Ex.PW9/A and Kumari Pinki was also medically examined and her MLC Ex.PW10/A was obtained by the IO and the IO during the investigation prepared site plan Ex.PW12/A and recorded the statements of the witnesses. He also arrested the accused and later on released them on bail.

3. On conclusion of investigations, into the offences, allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed in the Court.

4. The accused were charged by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 341, 323, 325 and 506(1)read with Section 34 of the IPC. In proof of the prosecution case, the prosecution examined 12 witnesses. On conclusion of recording of prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded by the trial Court, in which they claimed innocence. However, they did not lead any defence evidence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused/respondents herein.

6. The State of H.P. is aggrieved by the judgment of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned Deputy Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation by it of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs standing replaced by findings of conviction.

7. On the other hand, the learned defence counsel has with considerable force and vigour, contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. With the user of dandas, Ex.P-1, P-2 and P-3, recovered under memos Ex.PW1/B to Ex.PW1/D, the accused/respondents are alleged to commit offences constituted in the relevant FIR comprised in Ex.PW1/A. The reflections in the apposite MLCs respectively comprised in Ex. PW9/A besides in Ex.PW10/A also the factum of the blood stained shirt of Debo Devi taken into possession under memo Ex.PW 2/A, stand contended by the learned Deputy Advocate General to make a vivid display qua hence the prosecution succeeding in proving its case against them. He contends qua the discarding by the learned trial Court of the aforesaid evidentiary material has sequeled gross perversity seeping qua its verdict arising from the factum of its not appraising their probative worth vis-a-vis the prosecution case.

10. The anvil of the prosecution version is in its entirety hinged upon the deposition of PW-1, who lodged FIR Ex.PW1/A. She in her testification comprised in her examination-in-chief has therein unveiled a version in corroboration to the embodiments occurring in Ex.PW1/A, yet her testification comprised in her cross-examination belittles the credibility of her testification occurring in her examination-in-chief, conspicuously, when she therewithin testifies qua a civil litigation inter se her and accused/respondent Tej Ram pending before the Civil Court concerned. Also with hers making a communication therein qua after the institution of the aforesaid suit against her by accused/respondent Tej Ram, her family members also she vowing to teach a lesson to the accused. She has also pronounced therein of the instant complaint standing reared by a vendetta nursed by her vis-a-vis the accused, vendetta whereof arising from the factum aforesaid. The aforesaid communications existing in the cross-examination of the complainant graphically display of the FIR comprised in Ex.PW 1/A being contrived for falsely implicating the accused. Even otherwise, the testification of PW-1 qua the ill-fated occurrence as held in her examination-in-chief is bereft of probative worth in the face of an injured child witness PW-2 in her testification contradicting the testification of her mother, the complainant herein, who deposed as PW-1, wherein PW-2 has ascribed an incriminatory role vis-a-vis accused Tej Ram, whereas, obviously she has excluded the participation of Mito Devi and Tarsem Singh in the occurrence wherefrom the ensuing sequel is qua the entire genesis of the prosecution version testified by PW-1, wherein she has ascribed an incriminatory role also to accused No.2 and 3 in the alleged occurrence losing its credibility.

11. Be that as it may, PW-3 in his testification qua the occurrence comprised in his examination-in-chief has deposed in corroboration to the deposition of PW-1, his wife, nonetheless his deposition occurring therein is rid of sanctity in the evident face of his in his cross-examination to which he stood subjected to by the learned defence counsel unveiling the factum of his making immense improvements vis-a-vis his previous statement recorded in writing, improvements whereof stand comprised in the factum of his testifying of the accused chasing him with dandas whereupon he ingressed his house to obviate the assault assayed to be perpetrated on his person by the accused also stands constituted in his testifying qua blood oozing from the leg of his wife besides hers sustaining fracture on her arm, testifications whereof remained unembodied in his previous statement recorded in writing. Resultantly, when the aforesaid testifications rendered by PW-1 visibly stand stained with a vice of embellishments besides improvements vis-a-vis his previous statement recorded in writing, his testification in purported corroboration to the testification of his wife, PW-1, loses credibility. In aftermath, the recovery of weapons of offence Exts. P-1, P-2 and P-3 under memos Ext.PW-1/B to Ext.PW-1/D hold no efficacy nor also the reflections in the apposite MLCs comprised in Ext.PW-9/A and Ext.PW-10/A hold no probative sinew. Consequently, on anvil thereof, the accused cannot be concluded to stand connected with the offences for which they stood charged.

12. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Court below has appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of material on record by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

13. Consequently, I find no merit in the instant appeal which is accordingly dismissed and the judgment of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court is affirmed in favour of the accused/respondents herein. Records be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Dr. Dev Raj ....Petitioner.

Versus

Smt. Sandhya Sharma ....Respondent.

Cr. Revision No. 373 of 2014.
Reserved on: 24th October, 2016.
Date of Decision: 28th October, 2016.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 500- A criminal case was instituted against the petitioner, which resulted in his acquittal – an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- the petitioner filed a complaint for defamation on the basis of news items – Magistrate ordered the summoning of the accused- a revision was preferred, which was allowed and the summoning order was set aside – held in revision that a period of three years has been prescribed for filing the complaint for the commission of offence punishable under Section 500- present complaint was filed after more than three years – defamation is not a continuing wrong – the petitioner has also instituted a suit for malicious prosecution – the complaint to the police is privileged and no action lies on the same – the Magistrate had wrongly summoned the accused and the order was rightly set aside by the Additional Sessions Judge- revision dismissed.(Para- 5 to 10)

Cases referred:
Dambarudhar Panda vs. Mahendranath Saran, 1992 CriLJ 2213
Uadi Shankar Awasthi versus State of U.P. & another, 2013(2) RCR (Criminal) 503
V. Narayana Bhat v. E. Subbanna Bhat, AIR 1975 Karnataka 162

For the Petitioner: Mr. Ajay Sharma, Advocate.
For the Respondent: Mr. Anirudh Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge .

The respondent herein had instituted a complaint against the complainant/petitioner herein before the State Vigilance and Anti-Corruption Bureau, Solan qua the complainant/petitioner herein demanding illegal gratification for meteing transport expenses for visiting various places for verifying the position, status and tagging of cows purchased by the members of Self Help Group, Badhal, headed by the respondent herein. Consequently, FIR No. 11 of 2010 of 21.06.2010 stood registered against the complainant/petitioner herein constituting therein commission of offences by him under Sections 7 and 13 of the Prevention of Corruption Act. In sequel to the registration of the FIR, the complainant/petitioner herein faced prosecution before the learned Special Judge, Solan. The Charge for which he came to be tried stood concluded by the learned Special Judge, Solan to remain unsubstantiated whereupon it pronounced an order acquitting the accused/complainant/ petitioner herein. In an appeal carried therefrom by the State of Himachal Pradesh before this Court, this Court pronounced a judgment in affirmation to the judgment recorded by the learned Special Judge, Solan.

2. The pronouncement of the learned Special Judge, Solan in Corruption Case No.10-S/7 of 2010 occurred on 29.07.2011 whereas the pronouncement of this Court in Criminal Appeal No. 445 of 2011 as arouse therefrom whereupon this Court rendered findings in concurrence to the findings rendered by the learned Special Judge, Solan, stood rendered on 13.07.2012. The complainant/petitioner herein, accused in Corruption Case No.10-S/7 of 2011, embedded upon a complaint instituted by the respondent herein before the Police Station SV &ACB, Solan, whereupon he by concurrent verdicts stood pronounced to be not guilty, instituted a complaint against the respondent herein on 6.11.2013 before the learned trial Court. In the aforesaid complaint instituted by the petitioner herein before the learned trial Court he alleged therein of publications in daily newspaper "Divya Himachal", occurring in its edition of 22.06.2010, relevant portion whereof stands extracted hereinafter besides a publication occurring in Hindi newspaper "Punjab Kesari", in its edition of 22.06.2010, relevant portion whereof also stands extracted hereinafter also publications occurring in "Amar Ujala", "The Tribune" and "The Hindustan Times" wherewithin echoings stand encapsulated qua in pursuance to a complaint instituted against him by the respondent herein before the SV & ACB, Solan, his standing caught red handed while receiving illegal gratification besides theirs holding revelations of his coming to be arrested constituted libelous material whereupon his reputation in society stood lowered.

The relevant portion of a news item published in "the Divya Himachal" edition of 22.06.2010 reads as under:-

> ".....Pashu Chikatshak ko 5000/- Rupay ki rishpat letey rangey hathon giraftarr kar liya. Giraftaar kiyey gai Doctor ka naam Dr. Dev Raj Sharma hai, Solan Vigilance Viobhag main ek mahila Sandhya Sharma ney rapat daraz karwai thi ki Darlaghat Pashu Chikatsalya main Karyarat Ek Chikatsak ney kisi kaam ke badley 5000/- ki mang kar raha hai..... Taig lagwaney key liye karyarat veterinary Dr. Dev Raj Sharma ney ussey 5000/- ki mang ki hai"

The relevant portion of a news item published in daily newspaper Punjab Kesari reads as under:

> "....Pashu Chikatshak Dr. Dev Raj ki Rs.5000/- ki Rishpat Letey Rangey Hathon Giraftar Kar Liba Hai .....Pashuo Ko Tag Laganey ke awaiz kai dino sey pasey ki maang kar raha tha ....Sandhya Sharmaney iski Shikayat....."

The relevant portion of a news item published in daily newspaper Amar Ujala reads as under:-

> "Sandhya ka aarop hai ki Pashu Chikatsak Dev Raj Sharma Gai key kkan par tag laganey ke badley 10,000/- maang rahey they, baad me baat 5000/- per razi ho gai"

3. On consideration of preliminary evidence adduced before the learned trial Court, it proceeded to order for the summoning of accused/respondent herein. Against the summoning orders pronounced by the learned Magistrate, she preferred a revision petition before the revisional Court, revision petition whereof came to be accepted whereupon the summoning orders impugned therebefore stood quashed and set aside. The complainant/petitioner herein stands aggrieved by the rendition of the revisional Court whereupon he stands constrained to institute the instant petition before this Court, wherein he concerts to reverse the findings recorded by the Additional Sessions Judge-II, Solan in Revision Petition No. 3-ASJ-II/10 of 2014. The learned Additional Sessions Judge, Solan had meted deference to the provisions of Section 468 of the Cr.P.C. holding therewithin a dictat of the apposite period of limitation for an aggrieved setting in motion the criminal machinery qua offences punishable with imprisonment for a term exceeding one year but not exceeding three years, being a period of three years, in conjunction therewith it concluded qua with the maximum term of imprisonment prescribed qua proven commission of an offence under Section 500 of the IPC, being a period of three years besides in tandem thereof with evidently the apposite complaint standing instituted before the trial Court after three years elapsing since the publication of purported libelous matter(s), he concluded of the complaint being barred by limitation besides it being not maintainable.

4. The reasoning aforesaid afforded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge for dismissing the apposite complaint not being maintainable stands espoused by the learned counsel for the petitioner to suffer from a gross infirmity arising from the fact of his omitting to revere the mandate of the non obstante clause occurring in Section 473 of the Cr.P.C., wherewithin a mandate is held qua with availability therebefore of material in evident portrayal of the apposite delay standing properly explained, the Court concerned holding leverage to hence concomitantly draw affirmative satisfaction qua the facet aforesaid, rendering hence the apposite complaint to be maintainable even if it stands instituted before the competent Court of criminal jurisdiction beyond the statutorily prescribed period of limitation conspicuously with the apposite delay standing explicated it warranting condonation besides empowering the Court concerned to take cognizance on the apposite complaint. Moreover, he contends on the anvil of a judgment of the Orissa High Court reported in Dambarudhar Panda vs. Mahendranath Saran, 1992 CriLJ 2213 wherein it is mandated of no application within the ambit of the non obstante clause to Section 473 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (hereinafter referred to as the Cr.P.C.), being enjoined to be preferred by the aggrieved complainant before the trial Magistrate for constraining attraction of its provisions vis-a-vis the maintainability of the apposite complaint significantly when the delay which has occurred in its institution stands displayed by the material as exists before the Court concerned to evidently stand explained whereupon it warrants its condonation, for obtaining benefit whereof he espouses herebefore of the relevant averments recorded in the apposite complaint which stand alluded herein-after activating besides renewing the cause of action vis-a-vis the aggrieved complainant also hence theirs evidently explicating the delay thereupon warranting the Court below to order for cognizance being taken thereon rather on anvil of the provisions of Section 468 Cr.P.C. it being ordered to be dismissed. The relevant provisions of Section 473 read as under:-

> "473. Extension of period of limitation in certain cases:- Notwithstanding anything contained in the foregoing provisions of this Chapter, any Court make take cognisance of an offence after the expiry of the period of limitation, if it is satisfied on the facts and in the circumstances of the case that the delay has been properly explained or that it is necessary so to do in the interests of justice."

Moreover, he in coagulation thereof vis-a-vis the mandate of the Hon'ble Apex Court occurring in its verdict reported in Uadi Shankar Awasthi versus State of U.P. & another, 2013(2) RCR (Criminal) 503 wherein a pronouncement occurs qua an offence where an enduring injury from the alleged misdemeanor of the accused accrues to the aggrieved, the relevant misdemeanor being construable to be constituting a "continuing offence" whereupon he espouses qua the mandate of Section 472 of the Cr.P.C. being applicable vis-a-vis the apposite complaint recording therein commission of offences by the respondent herein under Section 500 IPC significantly when the relevant offence constituted therein begets an enduring injury to the reputation of the complainant in the society, in sequel whereof he canvasses qua the computation of the apposite period of limitation for cognizance standing taken by the Magistrate concerned upon a complaint holding therewithin commission of a continuing offence commencing or beginning or running every moment, during the continuation of the enduring injury arising from the penal misdemeanor ascribed to the accused by the aggrieved, ensuingly he proceeds to contend of the petitioner herein in tandem thereto holding a right to initiate criminal prosecution against the respondent herein not only from the date of institution of a false complaint against him by the latter, significantly when in pursuance thereto his image in society stood lowered rather also when injury to his reputation in society endured continuously throughout the pendency of the trial against him for the charge arising from the complaint instituted by the respondent herein also when damage to his reputation endured during the pendency of the appeal preferred thereagainst herebefore by the State, rendered hence the penal ascriptions held vis-a-vis him in the apposite complaint to be construable to be constituting a continuing offence besides his standing perennially aggrieved wherefrom he contends of his throughout the aforesaid period whereon harm to his reputation endured besides even when on termination of the aforesaid proceedings against the petitioner herein injury to his image in society subsists perenially, the petitioner herein holding a leverage throughout the currency of the aforesaid trial to which he stood subjected to besides during the currency of the apposite appeal before this Court to nurse a grievance vis-a-vis the respondent herein besides obviously on culmination thereof his holding an empowerment to at any moment of time institute a complaint against the respondent herein. He hence espouses qua the view formed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge qua attraction qua the complaint the principles enshrined in Section 468 of the Cr.P.C., being inappropriate.

5. The aforesaid espousal made by the learned counsel for the petitioner herein openly militates against the principle constituted in Section 468 of the Cr.P.C., wherein a mandate stands encapsulated of the apposite period of limitation for enabling the Court concerned to take cognizance upon the apposite complaint being a period of three years significantly when the period of limitation aforesaid stands statutorily prescribed qua offences qua which a prescription is held in the relevant penal provisions qua imposition upon an accused a sentence of imprisonment for a term not exceeding three years whereupon with a proven offence under Section 500 IPC enjoining upon the Magistrate concerned to impose upon the relevant accused a sentence of imprisonment not exceeding three years, obviously renders the instant complaint instituted after more than three years elapsing since the institution of an FIR against the petitioner herein on a complaint of the respondent herein to be beyond limitation hence cognizance thereon standing barred. Moreover, likewise with the institution of the apposite complaint occurring after more than three years elapsing since publication of purported libelous matter(s) also renders it to be time barred besides concomitantly it being not maintainable.

6. Be that as it may, the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner contends qua with an offence of defamation being a continuing offence hence the apposite complaint falling within the frontiers of the pronouncements of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2013(2) RCR (Criminal) 503. However, the aforesaid submission is unacceptable to this Court given the injury or harm to the reputation of a person arising from publication of a purportedly libelous matter being an instantaneous harm caused to the image of the aggrieved in society whereupon he stands enjoined to with utmost promptitude prefer a complaint before the court concerned. However, with the aggrieved procrastinating the reporting of a grievance arising from publication of a purported libelous matter, especially when on its publication he has acquired immediate knowledge thereof, he is to be construed to condone the damage or harm as purportedly befalls upon his reputation in society Moreover, any delay therefrom in his instituting a complaint before the Magistrate concerned would invite an inference of the purported libelous matter holding truth whereupon obviously any inculpation of the accused would be unwarranted. Necessarily when the aforesaid inferences stand invited by delay occurring on the part of the aggrieved to promptly report his grievance qua damage accruing to his reputation in society arising from publication of a purportedly libelous matter, it would be inappropriate to conclude qua his holding a leverage, to, on the anvil of the offence of defamation being a continuing one, institute a complaint beyond three years elapsing since the publication of a purportedly libelous matter. Predominantly also when damage or injury to his image or reputation in society arises from publication of a purportedly libelous matter, the apt concomitant thereof is qua with his apposite sensitivities standing instantaneously impaired his standing enjoined to with utmost promptitude therefrom galvanize the criminal machinery contrarily any procrastination on the part of the aggrieved in instituting the apposite complaint cannot be brooked. In sequel, it is held that the offence of defamation inflicts an instantaneous apposite injury upon the aggrieved whereupon it is to be construable for reasons aforestated to be not constituting a continuing offence nor it can be deduced qua the apposite injury to the reputation of the aggrieved in society perennially enduring nor also hence the counsel for the petitioner can draw benefit from the mandate of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2013 RCR(Criminal) 503 to espouse herebefore qua his throughout the currency of the criminal proceedings against him standing inflicted with subsisting damage to his reputation in society besides he is baulked to canvass qua the apposite damage or injury to his esteem in society perennially continuing nor he holds any leverage to at any time prefer the apposite complaint before the Magistrate concerned. Any acceptance of the aforesaid submission of the learned counsel for the petitioner would negate the effect of the afore-referred inference drawn by this Court inferences whereof stand spurred for want of the aggrieved not galvanizing with promptitude the criminal machinery.

7. The learned counsel appearing for the petitioner has contended qua on the date of of the respondent herein arriving in the Court premises for giving evidence she outside the Court room in the presence of many persons passing sarcastic remarks qua him whereupon he contends qua a fresh cause of action standing spurred rendering hence his complaint to fall within limitation. Also thereupon, he contends on the anvil of a verdict of the Orissa High Court holding a pronouncement therein qua no application, for exercise of powers within the ambit of the non obstante clause of Section 473, Cr.P.C., by the Magistrate concerned, standing enjoined to be preferred thereat whereas the Court concerned on existence therebefore of circumstances in explanation of delay, holding an empowerment to condone the delay in the preferment of the apposite complaint therebefore. He also espouses herebefore of the aforesaid factum constituting a formidable explication within ambit of the non obstante clause of Section 473 of the Cr.P.C., whereupon the delay, if any, in the preferment of the apposite complaint before the Magistrate concerned standing explained besides renewing the cause of action rendering hence his complaint to be maintainable. However, as aptly concluded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, the aforesaid espousal in purported explanation of the delay which has occurred in the preferment of the apposite complaint warrants its rejection significantly for omission in the complaint of the date whereon the apposite derogatory remarks stood proclaimed by the respondent herein besides given absence of an averment therein besides lack of testification by the complainant qua the persons in whose presence the purported sarcastic remarks stood pronounced by the respondent herein. Consequently, the aforesaid submission holds no vigour and stands rejected.

8. Uncontrovertedly, the petitioner herein in sequel to a Court of law pronouncing an order of acquittal vis-a-vis the charge to which he stood subjected to besides tried, has instituted a suit for malicious prosecution vis-a-vis the respondent herein. The aforesaid institution of a suit for malicious prosecution by the petitioner herein against the respondent herein constituted the apposite remedy for redressing his grievance arising from his standing subjected to prosecution by the respondent herein, prosecution whereof he avers to arise from malice. Obviously, hence, the criminal complaint instituted under Section 500 of the IPC by the petitioner herein against the respondent herein on his standing acquitted by Courts of law is an inappropriate remedy besides its availment stands prohibited by a judgment recorded by the Karnataka High Court reported in V. Narayana Bhat v. E. Subbanna Bhat, AIR 1975 Karnataka 162 wherein a mandate is held of a complaint made to the police even if it stands stained with vice of falsity, it being construable to be privileged whereupon even if the aggrieved accused therein stands subjected to unsuccessful prosecution, his holding no empowerment to prosecute the complainant therein for an offence under Section 500 IPC. The relevant paragraph No.7 of the judgment aforesaid stands extracted hereinafter:-

> "7. The reason why absolute privilege is extended to the statement of a witness made prior to the commencement of a judicial proceeding is based on public policy as stated by Lord Halsbury in 1905 AC 480. There is no reason why the principle stated in the said decision should not be extended to a party and the absolute privilege confined only to the statement of a witness under such circumstances. Of the two instances referred to by Blagden J. in ILR (1943) 1 Cal 250 the first refers to the editor of a newspaper as stated above. But it is doubtful whether the editor of the newspaper in such circumstances can claim absolute privilege on the basis of the principle laid down in 1905 AC 480. With regard to the second illustration referred to by Blagden J., if the complaint to the police results in an unsuccessful prosecution then the person defamed can only claim damages for malicious prosecution and not for defamation. In case the complaint to the police does not result in a prosecution, then also the persons defamed have no remedy in respect of defamatory statements made in such a complaint to the police. But if a false complaint is made to the police, the person who makes such a false complaint would be punishable either under Section 182 or Section 211 of the Indian Penal Code. It cannot therefore be said that a person against whom false charges are made in a complaint to the police, even if no further action is taken by the police authorities on such complaint, goes scot-free. I would, therefore, prefer to follow the earlier view of the Division Bench of the same High Court in AIR 1939 Cal 477 and the other decisions referred to above which take the view that a complaint to a police officer is absolutely privileged."

In view of the mandate held therewithin especially when the petitioner has extantly launched an inappropriate remedy against the respondent herein comprised in his instituting the instant complaint against her, it hence warrants its dismissal. Furthermore, permitting availment of the remedy canvassed herebefore by the petitioner herein would entail an unbefitting smothering of penal misdemeanors also would stifle prosecution of an accused for serious offences holding loud pronouncements of his indulging in moral turpitude. Necessarily, for obviating the aforesaid casualties to prosecuting an accused for serious offences, the remedy to him on his unsuccessful prosecution cannot be the one agitated in the extant complaint.

9. Lastly, the learned counsel appearing for the petitioner has canvassed of the impugned order rendered by the learned Additional Sessions Judge being an interlocutory order whereupon it is unamenable for interference by this Court. However, the aforesaid contention is meritless. The order summoning the respondent herein as pronounced by the learned trial

Magistrate, for reasons aforesaid, when arises from gross mis-appreciation by him of the import of the provisions of Section 468 of the Cr.P.C. also when the apposite complaint for the reasons aforestated is not maintainable, any holding of the respondent to prosecution would tantamount to a gross abuse of process of law. In aftermath the summoning order is to be construed to be substantially affecting the rights of the respondent herein to not stand subjected to a frivolous prosecution whereupon it is to be construable to be interfereable by the revisional Court.

10. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, there is no merit in the instant petition, accordingly it is dismissed. The order impugned hereat is maintained and affirmed. All pending applications also stand disposed of. Records be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Paras Ram alias Govind .....Appellant-Plaintiff.

Versus

Smt. Jasmati and others ....Respondents/defendants.

RSA No. 33 of 2007.
Reserved on : 24.10.2016.
Decided on : 28th October, 2016.

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 20- Defendant No.1 had agreed to sell half share of his land to the plaintiff for a sum of Rs.20,000/- - an amount of Rs.19,000/- was paid as earnest money- the balance amount was to be paid at the time of execution and registration of the sale deed – defendant assured to execute the sale deed after his return from abroad - when the plaintiff asked the defendant to execute the sale deed, defendant No.1 told him that sale deed was registered in favour of defendant No.2, which is illegal- hence, the suit was filed for seeking specific performance – the defendants denied the execution of the agreement – the suit was partly decreed by the Trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that no evidence was led to prove that the defendant No.2 is bona-fide purchaser for consideration – no evidence was led to prove that the compromise between the plaintiff and defendant No.1 was collusive in nature – the Trial Court and Appellate Court had ignored the material evidence- hence, appeal allowed and the suit of the plaintiff decreed for specific performance. (Para-8 to 10)

For the Appellant: Mr. Dinesh Sharma and Y. Paul, counsel for the appellant.

For Respondents No.1,3 to 8 and 10: Mr. G.R. Palsra, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge.

The instant Regular Second Appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement and decree recorded by the learned Presiding Officer, Fast Track Court, Mandi, District Mandi in Civil Appeal Nos.38/2004, 167 of 2005 whereby he in affirmation to the verdict recorded by the learned trial Court partly decreed the suit of the plaintiff qua damages to the tune of Rs.50,000/- wherein he had sought a decree for the specific performance of agreement to sell of 18.12.1991. The plaintiff/appellant herein stands aggrieved by the concurrently recorded renditions of both the learned Courts below wherefrom he has instituted the instant appeal herebefore.

2. The brief facts leading to the lis inter se the parties were that the defendant No.1 agreed to sell ½ share of the land comprised in Khasra No.1060 and 1072, khata and khatouni No.37/48, measuring 7-10-16 bighas, situated in village Bhiarta, I 11, Rajgarh Balh, Tehsil

Sadar, District Mandi, H.P. to the plaintiff through an agreement to sell on 18.12.1991 for a consideration of Rs.20,000/- in presence of independent witnesses. It is averred that on the day of execution of the aforesaid agreement to sell, defendant No.1 received a sum of Rs.19,000/- as an earnest money from the plaintiff in presence of the witnesses and duly acknowledged the receipt thereof. The balance amount of consideration was to be paid by the plaintiff to the defendant at the time of execution and registrtion of the sale deed. It is claimed that the plaintiff is in possession of the suit land for the last 20 years. The defendants have admitted the possession of the plaintiff over the suit land in the said agreement to sell and it has been written in the agreement to sell that whenever the plaintiff will ask the defendant No.1 for execution and registration of the sale deed, then the defendant No.1 will get the sle deed executed and registered. It is claimed that in the month of August, 1992, the plaintiff told defendant No.1 that he is going to Foreign country, Saudi Arabia and after returning from that country, the sale deed qua the suit land will be executed and registered to which defendant No.1 agreed. It is further averred by the plaintiff that when the plaintiff returned from the aforesaid country in the month of May, 1995, he requested defendant No.1 to perform his part of the agreement to sell and get the sale deed executed and registered in his favour but defendant No.1 avoided to do so. Thereafter when the plaintiff pressed defendant No.1 to do the needful, then it was disclosed to him that defendant No.1 has sold the aforesaid suit land to defendant No.2 though a sale deed registered and executed on 9.7.1993 which sale is illegal and void. It is also claimed that the plaintiff was always ready to perform his part of agreement to sell and was ready to bear entire expense of registration of the said sale deed. It is further averred by the plaintiff that on the basis of the aforesaid sale deed, the defendants are interfering with the possession of the plaintiff over the suit land since 10.01.1996 and are bent upon to alienate the suit land. The defendants are also trying to change the nature of the same. The plaintiff asked the defendants to admit his claim and get the aforesaid sale deed canceled but the defendants refused to do so. Hence, the present suit has been filed. It is prayed that a decree for specific performance of agreement dated 11.12.1991 be passed in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendants and a decree for permanent prohibitory injunction in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendant and other persons for restraining them from causing any interference with the suit land has also been sought.

3. Defendants No.1 and 2 contested the suit and filed joint written statement, wherein they have taken preliminary objections inter alia limitation, maintainability, and cause of action. It is claimed by the defendants that the defendant No.1 had not entered into the alleged agreement to sell of ½ share out of the suit land on 18.12.1991. The said agreement is forged, fake and void ab initio and not enforceable in the eyes of law. It is further claimed that defendants did not receive Rs.19000/- as an earnest money from the plaintiff for consideration of the agreement to sell. It is further claimed that the plaintiff is not in possession of the suit land rather the suit land is in possession of the defendants. It is further claimed that the plaintiff was fully aware of the transaction of the suit land entered into inter se defendants No.1 and 2, which sale is perfectly legal, valid and defendant No.2 is owner in possession of the suit land. It is denied by the defendants that they are interfering over the suit land.

4. Defendant No.2 has filed amended written statement wherein, preliminary objection has been taken to the effect that a compromise deed dated 16.7.1999 executed by defendant No.1 in favour of the plaintiff is collusive one and the same has been filed only with a motive to defeat his claim and the said deed does not effect the valuable rights of defendant No.2 nor defendant No.2 is bound by it and the same be declared null and void. On merits, it is claimed that defendant No.1 is a bona fide purchaser and she made necessary inquiry about the title of defendant No.1 before purchasing the suit land. Defendant No.1 was in possession of the suit land prior to execution of the sale deed dated 9.7.1993 in favour of defendant No.2. Defendant No.2 has purchased the suit land for a sum of Rs.50,000/- from defendant No.1 and since then, defendant No.2 is owner in possession of the suit land. She has prayed for the dismissal of the suit of the plaintiff.

5. On the pleadings of the parties, the learned trial Court struck the following issues inter-se the parties at contest:-

1. Whether the defendant No.1 entered into an agreement to sell the suit land for consideration of Rs.20,000/- on 18.12.1991 in favour of the plaintiff, as alleged? OPP

2. Whether the plaintiff has performed and is still ready to perform his part of agreement, as alleged? OPP

3. If issue Nos. 1 and 2 are proved, whether the plaintiff is entitled for the relief of specific performance of contract, as prayed? OPP

4. Whether the sale deed executed by defendant No.1 in favour of defendant No.2 is wrong and illegal? OPP

4(a). Whether compromise deed dt. 16.7.1999 executed by defendant NO.1 in favour of the plaintiff is collusive as alleged? If so its effect? OPD-2

4(b). Whether defendant No.2 is a bonafide purchaser for consideration, as alleged, if so its effect? OPD-2

5. Whether the suit is barred by limitation? OPD

6. Whether the suit is not maintainable? OPD

7. Whether the plaintiff has no cause of action? OPD

8. Relief.

6. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, it partly decreed the suit of the plaintiff/appellant herein. In an appeal, preferred therefrom by the plaintiff/appellant herein before the learned first Appellate Court, the latter Court while dismissing the plaintiff's appeal, affirmed the findings recorded by the learned trial Court.

7. Now the plaintiff/appellant herein has instituted herebefore the instant Regular Second Appeal assailing therein the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 22.12. 2008, this Court, admitted the appeal instituted by the plaintiff/appellant against the judgment and decree of the learned first Appellate Court, on the hereinafter extracted substantial question of law:-

a) Whether the Courts below were correct in declining the relief of specific performance to the appellant herein?

Substantial question of Law No.1:

8. Defendant No.2 despite prevalence at the relevant time of an agreement to sell qua the suit land executed inter se the plaintiff and defendant No.1 acquired title thereto under a registered deed of conveyance executed in her faovur by defendant No.1. Initially, the learned trial Court omitted to on the contentious pleadings of the parties at contest strike issues No.4(a) and 4(b). Both the aforesaid issues stood added under an order recorded on 8.10.2002 by the learned trial Court. The onus to adduce evidence thereupon was cast upon defendant No.2. She was directed to lead evidence thereupon on 17.12.2002. However, on 17.12.2002, the learned counsel appearing on behalf of defendant No.2 recorded a statement before the learned trial Court holding a communication therein of his not intending to lead evidence thereupon, whereupon the learned trial Court closed opportunity to defendant No.2 to adduce evidence in support of additional issues No. 4(a)and 4(b), whereupon onus in discharge thereof stood cast upon her. Imperatively, hence, defendant No.2 who during the currency of the relevant agreement to sell qua the suit land executed inter se the plaintiff and defendant No.1 had acquired titled thereto in pursuance to a registered deed of conveyance executed vis-a-vis her by defendant No.1, was enjoined to protect the relevant sale deed by making vivid pronouncements held in cogent evidence of probative worth qua hers being an ostensible owner qua the suit land. The apposite pronouncements qua the acquisition of title by her qua the suit land under a registered deed of conveyance executed vis-a-vis her by defendant No.1 holding validation were enjoined to hold invincible display qua hers being a bonafide purchaser of the suit land for value, the imperative necessary proven ingredients whereof by adduction of unflinching evidence were qua hers preceding hers acquiring title qua the suit land hers holding an in depth incisive inquiry vis-a-vis the suit land specifically qua the trite factum qua existence thereat of a binding contractual agreement inter se the plaintiff and defendant No.1 qua the suit land, inquiry whereof unraveling disaffirmative elicitations whereupon alone she could be construed to be a bonafide purchaser of the suit land for value also thereupon she could hold an empowerment to validate the registered deed of conveyance executed qua the suit land during the currency inter se her and defendant No.1 a binding contractual agreement qua the suit land inter se them. However, she omitted to discharge the onus cast upon her qua issues No.4(a) and 4(b) which stand extracted hereinafter:-

> "4(a) Whether compromise deed dt. 16.7.1999 executed by the defendant No.1 in favour of the plaintiff is collusive, as alleged? OPD-2
>
> 4(B) Whether the defendant No.2 is a bonafide purchaser for consideration, as alleged, if so, its effect?OPD-2.

Her omission to adduce evidence on the aforesaid issues warranted a natural conclusion from both the learned Courts below qua hence hers not proving the trite factum qua hers preceding hers acquiring title to the suit land under a registered deed of conveyance executed vis-a-vis her by defendant No.1, hers holding an incisive in depth inquiry qua the suit land specifically qua the prevalence thereat of the relevant binding agreement to sell executed inter se the plaintiff and defendant No.1, yet hers standing disabled to unearth the aforesaid factum wherefrom the concomitant derivative is qua hers being not construable to be a bonafide purchaser qua the suit land for value nor hers being an ostensible owner thereof. Contrarily, for omission aforesaid she is to be construed to acquiesce to the factum of hers holding knowledge qua the prevalence at the relevant time of the relevant binding agreement to sell qua the suit land recorded inter se the plaintiff and defendant No.1. Corollary whereof, is qua hence, the registered deed of conveyance executed qua the suit property inter se her and defendant No.1 warranting invalidation. Both the learned Courts below even without defendant No.2 discharging onus qua additional issues No.4(a) and 4(b) subsequently struck under the orders of the learned trial Court had inaptly pronounced qua hers being construable to be a bonafide purchaser of the suit land for value. The compromise deed executed inter se the plaintiff and defendant No.1(since deceased) comprised in Ex. Px, whereupon both enjoined the learned trial Court to decree the suit of the plaintiff, though apparently stands coloured with a stain of collusiveness also visibly it stands recorded to defeat the interests of defendant No.2 in the suit land, especially when she acquired title thereto under a registered deed of conveyance recorded inter se her and defendant No.1, she dehors Ext.PX was also obliged to adduce the relevant germane evidence on trite issues No.4(a) and 4(b) qua hers hence being construable to be a bonafide purchaser of the suit land for value. Reiteratedly when she omitted to do so, the effect, if any of collusiveness occurring inter se the plaintiff and deceased defendant No.1 in the drawing up Ex. Px is rendered frail, whereas the omission of defendant No.2 to discharge the onus cast upon her qua additional issues aforesaid assumes paramount relevance. Since, onus thereto stood undischarged by her, the apt sequel thereof is qua defendant No.2 being not construable to be an ostensible owner of the suit land nor the registered deed of conveyance executed inter se the deceased defendant No.1 and defendant No.2 holding any validation. Also subsequent alienations of the suit land made by defendant No.2 in favour of respondents No. 3 to 10 herein also suffer from an alike stain of invalidation. All the aforesaid subsequent sale deeds are also quashed and set aside.

9. The above discussion unfolds the fact that the conclusions as stand arrived at by the learned first Appellate Court as also by the learned trial Court standing not based upon a proper and mature appreciation of the evidence on record. While rendering the apposite findings, the learned first Appellate Court as also the learned trial Court have excluded germane and apposite material from consideration. Accordingly, the substantial question of law is answered in favour of the plaintiff/appellant and against the defendants/respondents.

10. In view of above discussion, the present Regular Second Appeal is allowed and the judgements and decrees rendered by both learned Courts below are set aside. Consequently, the suit of the plaintiff is decreed for specific performance of contract of 18.12.1991 and the legal representative of deceased defendant No.1 i.e. respondent No.2 is directed to execute sale deed qua the suit land comprised in Khata Khatuni No. 37/48, khasra Nos. 1060, 1072 measuring 7-10.16 bighas situated in village Bhiarta, Illaqua Hatgarh Balh,Tehsil Sadar, District Mandi, H.P. in favour of the plaintiff within two months from today. The sale deed executed by defendant No.1 in favour of defendant No.2 is quashed and set aside. In sequel, subsequent alienations of the suit land made by defendant No.2/respondent No.1 herein in favour of respondents No.3 to 10 herein are also quashed and set aside. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh .....Appellant.
Versus
Kamlesh Kumar & others. .....Respondents.

Cr. Appeal No. 434 of 2011.
Reserved on: 29.7.2016.
Date of decision: 28.10.2016.

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused K and M were found in possession of 2.5 k.g and 2.2. kg. charas, respectively – accused K had facilitated transportation of charas by accused M and accused S had facilitated transportation of charas by other accused - accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that acquittal was recorded on the basis of omissions, procedural irregularities and contradictions – the prosecution version was proved by the testimonies of the police officials- recovery was effected from the bag and there was no need of compliance with Section 50 of N.D.P.S. Act – I.O. should have filled NCB form separately but no such guidelines were formulated at the time of recovery and the omission to do so will not make the prosecution case doubtful- I.O. specifically stated in cross-examination that he had prepared only one NCB form- the link evidence was proved- merely, because the parcels were not marked will not lead to the acquittal of the accused – the defence version was not probable – any defect in the investigation will not result in the acquittal of the accused- no evidence was brought on record to show that accused S had facilitated the transportation of charas – appeal allowed- accused K and M convicted for the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of N.D.P.S. Act.(Para-12 to 34)

Cases referred:
Girija Prasad vs. State of M.P., (2007) 7 SCC 625
Makhan Singh vs. State of Haryana, (2015) 12 SCC 247
Rakesh Kumar vs. State of H.P. 2005 (2) Sim. L.C. 332
Noor Aga vs. State of Punjab, (2008) 16 SCC 417

For the appellant :Mr. D.S. Nainta and Mr. Virender Verma, Addl. AGs.
For the respondents :Mr. Ajay Chandel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, J.

The learned Special Judge, (Fast Track Court) Kullu, Himachal Pradesh, has acquitted accused Kamlesh Kumar and accused Mahender Singh of the charge under Section 20(b)(ii) (c) read with Section 29 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985

(hereinafter referred to as 'the Act' in short), whereas their co-accused Swaru Ram under Section 20(b)(ii) (c) read with Section 29 of the Act, vide impugned judgment dated 17.5.2011, passed in sessions trial No. 43 of 2010.

2. The allegations against accused Kamlesh Kumar, in a nut shell, are that on 22.3.2010, around 2:00 AM (midnight) at Khalara-nullah, District Kullu, during the course of checking of the bag he was carrying with him, charas weighing 2.500 kgs was recovered therefrom him whereas charas weighing 2.200 kgs from his co-accused Mahender Singh. Since accused Kamlesh allegedly was found to be in the possession of charas whereas facilitated the illicit trafficking of charas by his co-accused Mahender Singh, therefore stated to have committed an offence punishable under Section 20(b)(ii) (c) read with Section 29 of the Act. Similarly, charge against Mahender Singh is that he was not only found to be in possession of charas weighing 2.200 kgs but also facilitated the illicit trafficking of charas weighing 2.500 kgs. by his co-accused Kamlesh Kumar and thereby he has also committed an offence punishable under Section 20(b)(ii) (c) read with Section 29 of the Act. If coming to the allegations against their co-accused Swaru Ram, he allegedly facilitated the transportation of 2.500 kgs charas by accused Kamlesh Kumar and 2.200 kgs. of charas by accused Mahender Singh and thereby abetted the commission of offence by his co-accused and committed the offence punishable under Section 20(b)(ii) (c) read with Section 29 of the Act.

3. The record reveals that on 22.3.2010 around 1:00 AM in the midnight, a police party headed by PW-4 ASI Hem Raj of Police Station Sadar Kullu left towards village Bhadai on Lag Valley road for laying naka to detect the crimes. Rapat Ext. PW-2/A was entered in rapat Rojnamcha by PW-2 Constable Narender. The other members of the raiding party were PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand, HC Parmender Singh and Const. Khoob Ram. The official vehicle No. HP-34-A-9986 was being driven by HHG Aadh Nath. At about 2:00 AM, when the police party was present at Khalara nullah bridge, three persons were spotted coming down from village Bhadai towards Kullu side. They were seen with the help of search light. Accused Kamlesh and accused Mahender Singh were found to be carrying bags on their back whereas accused Swaru Ram was empty handed. They were spotted by the police and their antecedents ascertained. Accused Kamlesh Kumar was carrying military coloured bag with him whereas accused Mahender Singh was carrying cream coloured bag. The I.O. PW-4 ASI Hem Raj suspected that the accused might be carrying some narcotic drugs or psychotropic substance with them, therefore, the option was given to them for being searched either before a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer, vide memos Ext. PW-3/A, PW-3/B and PW-3/C. They allegedly opted for being searched by the police officials present on the spot. On this, the I.O. first offered his own search vide memo Ext. D-1, however, nothing incriminating was recovered from him. Being odd hours and the place an isolated one, it was not possible to associate someone as independent witness, therefore, I.O. PW-4 ASI Hem Raj has associated Krishan Chand (PW-3) and HC Parminder as witnesses and conducted personal search of all the three accused. Nothing incriminating was found in their possession during their personal search. However, during the course of search of the bag allegedly military coloured, being carried by accused Kamlesh Kumar, one yellow coloured polythene bag was found kept therein. On search of the polythene bag, charas in the shape of sticks was found kept therein. The recovered charas was weighed and it was found to be 2.500 kgs. The same was again put in the same polythene envelope and in the same bag. Thereafter, the bag was wrapped in a piece of cloth (pulinda), which was sealed with seven seals of seal impression "A". During the course of checking of the bag being carried by accused Mahender Singh, one polythene bag was recovered therefrom. On the search of the said polythene bag, charas weighing 2.200 kgs. was recovered in the shape of sticks. The polythene envelope was put in the same bag and thereafter wrapped in pulinda, which was also sealed with seven impressions of seal "A". NCB-I form Ext. PW-1/C was filled in triplicate. Sample of seal Ext. PW-3/E was separately drawn on a piece of cloth. The parcels containing the recovered charas were thereafter taken into possession vide recovery memo Ext. PW-3/D. It is thereafter, rukka Ext. PW-4/A was prepared and sent through PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand to Police Station, Kullu for registration of the case. Site plan Ext. PW-4/B was also prepared and the statements of the witnesses recorded as per their version.

4. The accused were interrogated. The case file was brought to spot by PW-3 Constable Krishan Chand and received by IO PW-4 ASI Hem Raj at 6:15 AM. It is thereafter, the accused were arrested at 6:30 AM. Information qua the offence they committed and the provision for punishment therefor was given to all the three accused vide memos Ext. PW-3/F to Ext. PW-3/H and it is thereafter they were arrested.

5. On the completion of investigation on the spot, the I.O. along with the case property and accused came to Police Station, Kullu. The case property was produced before SHO Tej Ram (PW-7) along with sample of seal and NCB-I form in triplicate. PW-7 SHO Tej Ram has resealed both the pulindas with 3-3 impressions of seal "T". The relevant columns of NCB-I form Ext. PW-1/C were also filled in. The sample of seal "T" Ext. PW-7/B was also drawn separately. Thereafter, PW-7 SHO Tej Ram had handed over the case property along with documents to Ram Krishan, the then MHC, Police Station, Kullu. PW-1 has made the entries Ext. PW-1/A qua receipt of sealed pulindas in the malkhana register at Sr. No. 48. He handed over the case property vide RC No. 90/2010 Ext. PW-1/B to Const. Inder Dev PW-5 with a direction to deposit the same at FSL, Junga. Before that, the entries against sr. No. 12 of NCB-I form Ext. PW-1/C were made by him. Constable Inder Dev (PW-5) had deposited the case property in safe custody in the laboratory and produced the receipt on RC before PW-1, the MHC. The special report Ext. PW-6/A was prepared and handed over to Addl. SP, Kullu. PW-6, the then Reader to DSP (Hqs.) Kullu, has made entries Ext. PW-6/B in the relevant register in this regard.

6. On receipt of the report of the Chemical Examiner Ext. PW-8/A and on completion of the investigation, report under Section 173 Cr.P.C. was filed against all the three accused in the trial Court.

7. Learned trial Court, on consideration of the report and the documents annexed therewith as well as hearing the learned Public Prosecutor and also the defence counsel, has found a prima-facie case for the commission of offence punishable under Section 20(b)(ii) (c) read with Section 29 of the Act against all the three accused. The charge against them was, therefore, framed accordingly.

8. Since the accused persons have pleaded not guilty and claimed trial, therefore, the prosecution in order to sustain the charge framed against each of them, has produced on record oral as well as documentary evidence. The material prosecution witnesses are PW-3 Constable Krishan Chand and I.O PW-4 ASI Hem Raj. The remaining prosecution witnesses being police officials are also formal as they remained associated with the investigation of the case in one way or the other. Their testimony as such, at the most, can be used as a link evidence.

9. The learned Special Judge, after holding full trial and on analyzing the oral as well as documentary evidence available on record, has arrived at a conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove its case against the accused beyond all reasonable doubt. They all have, therefore, been acquitted of the charges framed against each of them. The State, being aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned judgment has questioned the legality and validity thereof on the grounds, inter alia, that the prosecution evidence has been appreciated by the learned trial Court in a slip shod and perfunctory manner. The trial Court has allegedly set unrealistic standards to evaluate the cogent and reliable evidence produced by the prosecution. The testimony of the prosecution witnesses has been discarded for untenable reasons in the absence of any proof of their enmity with the accused. The findings recorded by the Court below are stated to be based upon conjectures and surmises. Being so, the impugned judgment has been sought to be quashed and set aside and all the accused have been sought to be convicted and sentenced.

10. Learned Addl. Advocate General has vehemently argued that the testimony of police officials is as much good as that of any other independent person. Also that PW-3 Constable Krishan Chand and PW-4 IO ASI Hem Raj, while in the witness box, have made consistent statements qua material aspects of the case. Their testimonies have erroneously been brushed aside by learned trial Court and undue weightage has been given to non-joining of independent witnesses by the I.O. The contradictions, minor in nature, are stated to be given undue weightage.

11. On the other hand, Mr. Ajay Chandel, learned defence counsel, has pointed out from the record that the contradictions in the statements of the prosecution witnesses as taken note of by learned trial Judge goes to the very root of the prosecution case. Therefore, in order to bring guilt home to the accused, it is not safe to place reliance upon the testimonies of official witnesses PW-3 Constable Krishan Chand and PW-4 IO ASI Hem Raj.

12. The only point need adjudication in this case is as to whether irrespective of prosecution having proved its case against the accused beyond all reasonable doubt, they have been erroneously acquitted of the charge framed against them.

13. In order to decide the fate of this case, the reappraisal of the evidence produced by the prosecution and the accused in their defence is required. However, before that it is desirable to note that an offence under the Act is not only heinous but serious in nature. An offence under the Act is not against an individual but against the Society, as a whole, because the illicit trafficking of drugs not only affects a particular individual but the public at large and in particular our young generation. The NDPS Act is a piece of social legislation enacted with the sole idea to curb illicit trafficking of drugs. A case registered under the Act, therefore, needs consideration, keeping in mind the above factors. At the same time, keeping in view there being provision of deterrent punishment against an offender, if ultimately held guilty, the provisions contained under the act to safeguard an offender from conviction and sentence also need to be looked into thoroughly so that any innocent person may not be convicted and sentenced.

14. The statute casts a duty upon the prosecution not only to prove beyond all reasonable doubts the commission of an offence by an offender, but additionally the compliance of various provisions mandatory in nature enshrined thereunder. Thus, law casts a duty on the Courts, seized of the case registered under the Act, to deal with it with all circumspect and caution and before recording the findings of conviction against an offender to satisfy itself about the compliance of procedural requirements and also the availability of cogent and reliable evidence connecting the accused with the commission of the offence.

15. The perusal of the judgment under challenge reveals that the pleas raised by the accused in their defence that the options under Section 50 of the Act has not been given to them in accordance with law and that on account of no independent person having been associated as a witness, they cannot be held guilty for the commission of the alleged offence, have been rejected by learned trial Court while concluding that there is no ambiguity in the matter of option for their search given by the I.O. ASI Hem Raj (PW-4), vide memos Exts. PW-3/A, PW-3/B and PW-3/C. Also that, being odd hours i.e. 2:00 AM (midnight) and the place where the accused were apprehended an isolated as well as witnesses PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4 ASI Hem Raj, both have stated that no one was available for being associated as independent witness, the non-joining of the independent witness in the instant case is stated t be not fatal to the prosecution case. The findings, so recorded by learned trial Court, have attained the finality, being not challenged by the accused persons by filing appeal(s) in this Court.

16. Learned trail Judge has recorded the findings of acquittal of the accused on being influenced by so called omissions and procedural irregularities and contradictions i.e. filling up of NCB-I form separately, availability of only one set of NCB-I form on record, there being no mention of parcel No. 1 and parcel No. 2 by the I.O. when the same were sealed after the recovery effected from accused Kamlesh and accused Mahender Singh whereas there is mention of parcel No. 1 and parcel No. 2 in the report of the chemical examiner Ext. PW-8/A, the I.O. failed to put any specific mark on the parcels to show as to which parcel contains the charas recovered from each of the accused and that in the NCB-I form, total weight of the charas has been mentioned and there is no mention as to how much charas was recovered from the bag recovered from the possession of accused Kamlesh and how much from that of accused Mahender Singh. The so called discrepancies in the statements of the witnesses PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4

ASI Hem Raj qua the colour of the bag recovered from accused Kamlesh and one from accused Mahender Singh also weighed with learned trial Judge while recording the findings of acquittal against them. The plea in defence that one ITBP jawan had teased wife of 'rehriwala' and that said Jawan was summoned to the Police Station where compromise was arrived at and it is accused Kamlesh who was one of the signatory to the compromise deed, as emerges from the trend of cross-examination of PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4 ASI Hem Raj, raised by the accused persons also weighed with learned trial Judge while acquitting the accused persons. Learned trial Judge after noticing such lapses, procedural irregularities and discrepancies in the prosecution evidence has acquitted all the accused from the charges framed against each of them. As regards the commission of offence punishable under Section 29 of the Act, learned trial Judge has concluded that no investigation was made to show the nexus, if any, between all the three accused. The evidence that there was meeting of mind and accused Kamlesh as well as accused Mahender Singh conspired with accused Swaru Ram and it is said accused Swaru Ram who had abetted the other co-accused in the commission of the offence under the Act is not available on record. The I.O. even is stated to have not recorded any confessional statement of accused Kamlesh and accused Mahender Singh regarding involvement of their co-accused Swaru Ram. It has rather been observed that merely accompanying accused Kamlesh and accused Mahender Singh in odd hours does not make accused Swaru Ram liable for the recovery of charas effected from them.

17. It is seen that learned trial Judge has rightly emphasized that the confessional statements of accused Kamlesh and accused Mahender Singh regarding involvement of accused Swaru Ram has not been recorded and as such no case under Section 29 of the Act has been found to be made out against accused Swaru Ram.

18. The present is a case of recovery of charas weighing 2.500 kgs. from the bag in possession of accused Kamlesh whereas 2.200 kgs from the bag in the possession of accused Mahender Singh during odd hours i.e. 2:00 AM (midnight). Learned trial Judge, after taking note of the procedural irregularities, discrepancies and contradictions in the prosecution evidence has concluded that the recovery of charas from the conscious and physical possession of the accused is not proved.

19. Be it stated that the recovery of the contraband from the exclusive and conscious possession of the accused is sine qua non to bring guilt home to him. This aspect needs evidence, cogent and reliable. The joining of independent persons to witness the search and seizure is always in the interest of fair trial. Anyhow, in this case learned trial Judge, has already concluded that it was not possible to join the independent person as a witness and also observed that the testimony of official witnesses, if inspire confidence, can also be relied upon to bring the guilt home to the accused. The Apex Court in Girija Prasad vs. State of M.P., (2007) 7 SCC 625 has held that the testimony of official witnesses is as much good as that of independent person, however, the same is required to be examined with all circumspection and caution. Similar is the ratio of the judgment of the apex Court in Makhan Singh vs. State of Haryana, (2015) 12 SCC 247. Being so and the findings recorded by learned trial Judge that it was not possible for the I.O to have associated independent person as witness in this case, the testimony of official witnesses, who are PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4 ASI Hem Raj, is worthy of credence or not, has to be adjudged vis-à-vis given facts and circumstances of the case and also the documentary evidence available on record.

20. The present is a case of recovery of huge quantity of charas from the conscious and physical possession of accused Kamlesh and accused Mahender Singh. They were apprehended along with their co-accused Swaru Ram during odd hours. We can make reference to Ext. PW-2/A, daily diary report to arrive at a conclusion that the police party headed by PW-4 ASI Hem Raj left the Police Station at 1:00 AM (midnight) for laying nakka towards village Badhai side on the Lag valley road. All the three accused were nabbed by the police at Khalara-nullah at 2:00 AM. It is not their defence that they were not nabbed at Khalara-nullah in the manner as claimed by the prosecution. The plea in defence that on 21.3.2010 accused Kamlesh Kumar was present in the Police Station and that he had witnessed compromise-deed in a case of teasing of wife of some 'rehriwala' by an ITBP jawan rather reveals that the accused were present in the Police Station for the reason that such suggestion was made to PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4 ASI Hem Raj on their behalf by the learned defence counsel representing them. Had they not been apprehended in the manner as claimed by the prosecution, they would have explained the reason of their presence in the Police Station. The plea of accused Swaru Ram that he was waiting for arrival of bus at bus stand Kullu also reveals that the said accused has also admitted his presence at Kullu. Since all the accused belong to different villages in Tehsil Padhar, Distt. Mandi, it is not known as to why they had gone to Kullu and more particularly why they were in the Police Station on 21.3.2010. As a matter of fact, recovery of the charas has also been made from them during the night intervening 21/22.3.2010. Therefore, it would not be improper to conclude that the accused were nabbed by the police party headed by PW-4 ASI Hem Raj during the night intervening 21/22.3.2010 at Khalara-nullah around 2:00 AM. Spot map Ext. PW-4/B can also be relied upon to substantiate the prosecution case in this regard.

21. Now, if coming to the search and seizure, there is no need to go into the question of compliance of Section 50 of the Act because the findings recorded by learned trial Judge qua this aspect of the matter has attained finality. The search memo Ext. PW-3/D, rukka Ext. PW-4/A, FIR Ext. PW-7/A and the special report Ext. PW-4/C substantiate the prosecution case qua accused Kamlesh was carrying military coloured bag whereas accused Mahender Singh cream coloured bag. True it is that the cream coloured bag is Ext. P-2 whereas military coloured bag is Ext. P-6. No doubt, PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand has identified the bag Ext. P-2 to be the same which according to him was recovered from accused Kamlesh Kumar whereas bag Ext. P-6 from accused Mahender Singh. However, he seems to have confused himself because cream coloured bag Ext. P-2 as per the prosecution case supported by his own testimony in his examination-in-chief and the documents, search memo Ext. PW-3/D, rukka Ext. PW-4/A, FIR Ext. PW-7/A and the special report Ext. PW-4/C, was being carried by accused Mahender Singh whereas military coloured bag Ext. P-6 by accused Kamlesh. If coming to the testimony of PW-4 ASI Hem Raj, he has specifically stated that military coloured bag Ext. P-6 was being carried by accused Kamlesh whereas cream coloured bag Ext. P-2 by accused Mahender Singh. Therefore, the statement of PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand that cream coloured bag was being carried by accused Kamlesh whereas green (military) coloured bag by accused Mahender Singh is not a contradiction of such a nature to belie the prosecution case, which finds support from the testimony of PW-4 ASI Hem Raj and also the documentary evidence referred to hereinabove. Therefore, it would not be improper to conclude that the bag Ext. P-6 was being carried by accused Kamlesh Kumar whereas cream coloured bag Ext. P-2 by accused Mahender. We are, therefore, not in agreement with the findings to the contrary recorded by learned trial Judge.

22. This very set of evidence i.e. search memo Ext. PW-3/D, rukka Ext. PW-4/A, FIR Ext. PW-7/A and the special report Ext. PW-4/C as well as testimonies of PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4 ASI Hem Raj leave no manner of doubt that charas weighing 2.500 kgs. was recovered from a green coloured polythene bag i.e. rucksack (bag) Ext. P-6 which was being carried by accused Kamlesh Kumar with him. Also that charas weighing 2.200 kgs. was recovered from a polythene white coloured bag which was found to be kept in the rucksack (bag) Ext. P-2 being carried by accused Mahender Singh. The recovered charas was weighed by the I.O. and thereafter put in the same polythene bag and thereafter in the rucksacks (bags) Ext. P-6 and P-2, which were sealed in a parcel of cloth with 7-7 seals of impression "A".

23. If coming to filling up of NCB-I form, the findings recorded by learned trial Judge that two separate NCB-I forms were filled in are misconceived for the reason that no doubt in the seizure memo Ext. PW-3/D and rukka Ext. PW-4/A, there is mention of filling up of NCB-I form twice i.e. firstly after recovery of charas from the bag which was being carried by accused Kamlesh and secondly after the recovery of charas from the bag which was with accused Mahender Singh. NCB-I form Ext. PW-1/C also reveals that against column No. 2, name of both the accused numbering them as 1 & 2 i.e. 1-Kamlesh Kumar and 2- Mahender Singh, also find mention in the same form. However, it cannot be inferred from the above documentary evidence that NCB-I forms were filled in separately. Merely that the I.O. has made reference of making entries in NCB-I form, in the seizure memo and also other documents referred to hereinabove at two different occasions i.e. firstly on the recovery of charas from the bag of accused Kamlesh and secondly after the recovery of charas from the bag of accused, could have not taken to infer that the NCB-I form qua recovery of charas from both the accused were filled in separately and that one set of NCB-I form is missing. True it is that the I.O. in order to rule out every doubt should have filled in NCB-I form separately, as though of late, directed by this Court in a recent judgment dated 2.8.2016 rendered in Cr. Appeal No. 332 of 2011, titled State of H.P. vs. Vijender Singh. However, such requirement of law in the given facts and circumstances should have not been given undue weight age for the reason firstly that no such guidelines were formulated for being followed by the I.Os. at the relevant time and secondly in view of cogent and reliable evidence which supports the recovery of charas from the bags accused Kamlesh and Mahender were carrying with them. Therefore, one set of NCB-I form which is Ext. PW-1/C was filled by the I.O and both accused numbered as 1 & 2 with necessary particulars, such as their name, parentage and address etc. therein. Against column No. 4, the quantity of charas recovered from them has been mentioned as 4.700 grams whereas its shape like sticks (batties). The non-mentioning of the quantity of the charas recovered from both the accused separately in the NCB-I form in view of the discussion hereinabove is also not fatal to the prosecution case for the reason that in the documentary evidence, as discussed hereinabove, the total quantity of charas i.e. 4.700 grams finds mention. Even the I.O. PW-4 ASI Hem Raj has clarified this aspect of the matter in his cross-examination that no separate NCB-I forms were prepared after effecting recovery from accused Kamlesh Kumar but both recoveries were mentioned in the single NCB-I form. The I.O. even has clarified that after making recovery from accused Mahender, NCB-I form was not filled in as a whole and rather few entries were added consequent upon such recoveries in the same form.

24. PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand has taken the rukka Ext. PW-3/D to the Police Station. It is thereafter FIR Ext. PW-7/A was registered. All the documents prepared before registration of the case find mention of the number of FIR in red ink.

25. The production of parcels containing case property along with sample of seal “A” and NCB-I form in triplicate stands proved from the perusal of daily diary rapat Ext. PW-2/B and also from the testimony of I.O. PW-4 ASI Hem Raj as well as that of the SHO Tej Ram (PW-7). Not only this, such evidence, if available on record, also substantiate the prosecution story qua resealing of the case property by SHO Tej Ram (PW-7) with 3-3 impressions of seal “T”. The impression of seal “T” has also been drawn and the same is Ext. PW-7/B. PW-1 HC Ram Krishan is MHC. It is with whom the SHO Tej Ram (PW-7) has entrusted the sealed parcels containing the recovered charas along with the NCB-I form in triplicate, sample of seals “A” and “T” and also the copy of seizure memo. He had received the same and entered at Sr. No. 48 of the malkhana register. The extract of such entries is Ext. PW-1/A. The parcels of case property were deposited with PW-1 Ram Krishan on 22.3.2010. The same were forwarded by him to Forensic Science Laboratory on 22.3.2010 through PW-5 Constable Inder Dev vide RC No. 90 of 2010 Ext. PW-1/B. The case property was received in the laboratory on 23.3.2010 as per the endorsement encircled red at point ‘A’ on the R.C. This aspect of the prosecution case finds support from the testimony of PW-1 MHC Ram Krishan and also PW-5 Constable Inder Dev. Now, if coming to the report of Forensic Science Laboratory Ext. PW-8/A, two parcels sealed with seals “A” and “T” along with samples of seals and NCB-I form were received in the laboratory. Merely that in the report against column No. 7, there is mention that parcels were marked as 1 & 2, is again not fatal to the prosecution case.

26. Above all, both the accused have been numbered as 1 & 2 in the NCB-I form as noticed, hereinabove. The I.O. may have numbered the parcels also as 1 & 2, however, omitted to make mention thereof in the documentary evidence i.e. seizure memo and recovery memo etc. Such a lapse, in our opinion, is not of such a serious nature so as to render the recovery of charas from the accused doubtful. At the most, it is a procedural lapse and also is the result of faulty investigation. If coming to the result of the chemical analysis, the report Ext. PW-8/A reveals that the exhibits 1 & 2 which were sent for chemical analysis were found containing the extracts of cannabis and as such were samples of charas.

27. The non-mentioning of some specific marks on the parcels has also weighed with learned trial Judge, as in his opinion, without there being any such marks, it cannot be inferred as to which parcel contained the charas recovered from accused Kamlesh Kumar and which parcel from accused Mahender Singh. We, however, are not in agreement with such findings recorded by learned trial Judge also for the reason that the charas recovered from accused Kamlesh was 2.500 kgs. whereas from accused Mahender Singh, 2.200 kgs. In the Forensic Science Laboratory when both the exhibits were weighed, the same were found to be 2.188 kgs & 2.492 kgs which is 12 grams short so far as charas recovered from accused Mahender Singh and 8 grams short from accused Kamlesh. Such minor variation in weight on account of weighing the same at two different occasions and with two different set of scales and weights, is bound to occur. Therefore, the report of chemical examiner also indicate the separate quantity of charas, sealed in the parcels hence, it would not be improper to conclude that the exhibits sent for analysis i.e. 2.188 kgs in weight was the charas recovered from accused Mahender Singh whereas 2.492 kgs. from accused Kamlesh Kumar. The law laid down by a Single Bench of this Court in Rakesh Kumar vs. State of H.P. 2005 (2) Sim. L.C. 332 relied upon by learned trial Judge is not applicable in this case and rather in the given facts and circumstances of the case, distinguishable.

28. True it is that a suggestion was given on behalf of accused to the prosecution witnesses i.e. PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4 ASI Hem Raj that one ITBP jawan was brought to the Police Station, Sadar Kullu as he allegedly had teased the wife of one 'rehriwala' on 21.3.2010 and that the compromise was arrived at and accused Kamlesh was associated as one of the signatory thereto. The SHO Tej Ram (PW-7) though had admitted that one ITBP jawan was brought to Police Station, however, as per his version not in connection with some complaint against him qua teasing wife of 'rehriwala' rather on account of there being an altercation of that jawan with the police personnel in the hospital. As per his further version, a compromise was effected and written at the Police Station. He also made the statement while in the witness box as PW-7 that he can produce the said compromise before the Court during the course of trial. Therefore, he was examined by the accused in their defence as DW-1. In his examination-in-chief as DW-1, he expressed his inability to produce that compromise as according to him, no such record was available in the Police Station. The suggestion that the compromise is available, however, he has withheld the same was denied, being wrong. In his cross-examination conducted on behalf of accused Swaru Ram, he expressed his inability to tell that accused Kamlesh was one of the marginal witness to the compromise, however, the suggestion that he is withholding the said document from the Court initially and that all the accused were present in the Police Station as they were brought there for interrogation regarding some unclaimed bag, have been denied by this witness, being wrong. Interestingly enough, the suggestions, so given, amply demonstrate that all the accused were brought by the police to the Police Station and present there, however, in connection with their interrogation regarding unclaimed bag is a false plea raised only during the cross-examination of SHO Tej Ram (PW-7) aforesaid, because no such suggestion was given to PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and the I.O. PW-4 ASI Hem Raj during their cross-examination. The accused belong to Mandi district and if it is believed that there was some unclaimed bag, it was at Kullu. Where was the occasion to the police to have called them for interrogation in connection with that bag. Therefore, the plea the accused raised in their defence is hardly of any help to them and rather implicates them in the commission of the offence.

29. This Court is oblivious to the legal principle that in a case of this nature, where there is stringent provision qua punishment of offenders, if held guilty, the Court must look forward for cogent and reliable evidence and the prosecution is under obligation to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt. This Court is also alive to the legal principle that more serious is the offence, the stricter degree of proof is required to hold the offender guilty. However, in view of the evidence discussed hereinabove, we find the present a case where the prosecution has proved its case against accused beyond all reasonable doubt. The findings hereinabove recorded by us on re-appraisal of the evidence available on record, brings this case out of the purview of the judgment of the apex Court in Noor Aga vs. State of Punjab, (2008) 16 SCC 417, relied upon by learned trial Judge to form an opinion that the evidence produced by the prosecution is not cogent and reliable and that the same rather suffers from discrepancies as well as contradictions. We rather find the present a case where the prosecution has been able to bring guilt home to accused Kamlesh and accused Mahender Singh with the help of cogent and reliable evidence. The minor discrepancies and procedural irregularities, as we noticed hereinabove, neither goes to the very root of the prosecution case nor can be treated fatal to it. As a matter of fact, the present at the most, can be said to be a case of faulty investigation, hence does not render prosecution story doubtful. The testimonies of both the witnesses i.e. PW-3 Const. Krishan Chand and PW-4 ASI Hem Raj are consistent and corroborate the entire prosecution case. Mere confusion that which of the bag was being carried by which of the accused, as highlighted hereinabove, is also of no help to the accused for the reason that the documentary evidence and also the testimony of PW-4 ASI Hem Raj, the I.O amply demonstrate that bag Ext. P-6 was being carried by accused Kamlesh whereas bag Ext. P-2 by accused Mahender Singh. Both the bags, when taken out from the parcels, were found to be green (military) coloured and creamish in colour. The prosecution case is also that accused Kamlesh was carrying military coloured bag i.e. green and accused Mahender Singh was carrying cream coloured bag.

30. The prosecution has been able to prove the recovery of charas weighing 2.500 kgs. from the exclusive and conscious possession of accused Kamlesh whereas 2.200 kgs. from that of accused Mahender Singh. Therefore, it was for the accused persons to have explained their innocence as envisaged under Section 35 and 54 of the Act. The present, as such, is a case where presumption as envisaged under Sections 35 and 54 of the Act has to be drawn against accused and as they failed to explain their innocence, hence on this score also, it would not be improper to conclude that the charas weighing 2.500 kgs and 2.200 kgs. has been recovered from their exclusive and physical possession. The findings to the contrary, as recorded by learned trial Judge, are neither legally nor factually sustainable.

31. Now if coming to the involvement of accused Swaru Ram in the commission of offence punishable under Section 29 of the NDPS Act, no evidence is forth coming to show that the said accused has abetted the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of the NDPS Act by his co-accused Kamlesh Kumar and Mahender Singh. As a matter of fact, in order to bring the guilt home to an accused for the commission of offence under Section 29 of the NDPS Act, some positive evidence to show that all the accused conspired with each other and as a result of such conspiracy, abetted the commission of offence under the Act, can be said to have committed the offence punishable under Section 29 of the Act. In the case in hand, the I.O., PW-4 ASI Hem Raj, in his examination-in-chief, has not uttered even a single word that any such evidence with regard to meeting of mind having taken place in this matter and all the accused conspired with each other and as a result thereof, accused Swaru Ram agreed to accompany them to arrange for a buyer, to whom his co-accused could have sold the charas in their possession. True it is that in the cross-examination of this witness and also constable Krishan Chand PW-3, all the three accused during the course of their interrogation had canvassed that accused Swaru Ram agreed to arrange for a buyer so that his co-accused could sell the charas in their possession and for that his co-accused had agreed to pay Rs. 2,000/- to him. The I.O. in his cross-examination conducted on behalf of the accused Swaru Ram has admitted that no statement in this regard was recorded during the course of the investigation. Had it been so, it is not understandable as to what prevented the I.O. PW-4 ASI Hem Raj from recording such confession, if made by the accused persons. Learned trial Judge has also taken into consideration the provisions contained under Section 10 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 and also the case law attracted in such a situation. Therefore, in our opinion, the findings so recorded, call for no interference in the present appeal.

32. A perusal of the evidence available on record and also the given facts and circumstances as well as law cited at the Bar, make it crystal clear that the present is not a case where it can be said that the prosecution has failed to prove its case against accused Kamlesh

Kumar and Mahender Singh, beyond all reasonable doubts. No doubt, the witnesses are police officials, because as rightly observed by learned trial Judge, it was not possible to associate independent person as witness being odd hours of the night. However, the evidence as has come on record by way of testimony of official witnesses is consistent, categoric, cogent as well as reliable. The prosecution, as such, has discharged the onus to prove that the charas has been recovered from the exclusive and conscious possession of accused Kamlesh Kumar and Mahender Singh. As already observed, the present is a fit case where the presumption as envisaged under Section 35 and 54 of the Act can also be drawn against the accused because onus to prove otherwise that they were neither apprehended nor charas recovered from them stood shifted on them.

33. Both the accused, the residents of District Mandi have failed to explain as to what they were doing at Khalara-nullah and that too in odd hours during the night intervening 21/22.3.2010. The trend of the cross-examination of the prosecution witnesses and also that of DW-1 reveal that on that day, they were present in the Police Station. Why they would have been called from their native place in district Mandi for interrogation in connection with recovery of the so called unclaimed bag also remained unexplained. The accused, as such, have failed to discharge the onus upon them. Therefore, in view of the ratio of the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Noor Aga's case (supra), the presumption under Sections 35 and 54 of the Act is drawn against both of them. It being so, the only inescapable conclusion would be that the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of the Act is proved against accused Kamlesh Kumar and accused Mahender Singh. They are, therefore, convicted accordingly. However, no case for the commission of offence punishable under Section 29 of the Act is made out against accused Swaru Ram. The findings of his acquittal as recorded by learned trial Judge are thus upheld. His personal bond is cancelled and surety discharged.

34. Convict Kamlesh Kumar and convict Mahender Singh, however, to surrender to their bail bonds and appear before this Court on 17.11.2016 at 10:00 AM for being heard on the quantum of sentence. Learned counsel representing the convicts submits that it may not be possible for him to contact them and ensure their presence in this Court on the date fixed. Being so, issue production warrants against convict Kamlesh Kumar and convict Mahender Singh for the date fixed and the Superintendent of Police, Kullu District to ensure the execution of the same upon them. List on 17.11.2016.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

The State of H.P. and another .....Petitioners

Versus

Sh. Parveen Kumar .....Respondent

CWP No. 4073/2012
Reserved on : October 24, 2016
Decided on : October 28, 2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- The workman pleaded that he was not allowed to complete 240 days in the calendar years except 1997 and 1998- his services were disengaged without following the procedure under Industrial Disputes Act – employer contended that the workman was engaged subject to availability of the work and funds – the Tribunal held the workman entitled to re-engagement as fitter Grade-II and issued direction to re-engage him after giving the benefit of seniority and continuity of service – held, that the workmen was engaged as daily wage fitter where he continued to work till 2000, when his services were dis-engaged- State had failed to adhere to the principle of 'last come first go' because two persons junior to the workman were retained - the Tribunal had rightly issued the direction of re-engagement – writ dismissed. (Para-9 to 19)

Cases referred:
Central Bank of India v. S. Satyam, (1996) 5 SCC 419
Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. M/s Hindalco Industries Ltd. 2014 AIR SCW 3157

For the petitioners	Mr. P.M. Negi, Additional Advocate General with Mr. Ramesh Thakur, Deputy Advocate General.
For the respondent	Mr. Bhuvnesh Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, Judge:

Petitioner-State (hereinafter, 'State') being aggrieved with passing of Award dated 15.6.2011 by the learned Presiding Judge, Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Dharamshala, HP in Ref. No. 207/2007, has preferred the instant petition under Articles 226/227 of the Constitution of India, praying therein for the following reliefs:

> "(a). That the impugned award may be quashed and set aside on limitation grounds.
>
> (b). That seniority and continuity of service from the date of termination awarded vide judgment passed by the Labour Court-Cum-Industrial Tribunal in Reference No. 207/2007 decided on 15.6.11 may kindly be quashed and set aside.
>
> (c). The relevant record be called from Labour Court-Cum-Industrial Tribunal for perusal.
>
> (d). The cost of petition may kindly be awarded to the petitioners."

2. Briefly stated the facts as emerge from the record are that the appropriate Government vide reference under Section 10(1) of the Industrial Disputes Act (herein after, 'Act'), framed following terms of reference for adjudication:

> "Whether the termination/retrenchment of Mr. Parveen Kumar S/o Mr. Ishwar Dass Village-Nangal Chowk, P.O. Guranwar, Tehsil Dehra, Distt. Kangra, H.P. by the Executive Engineer, I&PH, Division, Dehra, District Kangra, vide Assistant Engineer, I&PH, Sub division, Dada Siba letter No. 709-10 dated 31.07.2000 is legal and justified, if not, what amount back wages, seniority, past services benefits and compensation the above worker is entitled to?"

3. Respondent-workman (herein after, 'workman'), by way of statement of claim, filed before the learned Tribunal below, claimed that he was engaged by the Executive Engineer as daily wage Fitter in 1994 in Dada Siba Division, Tehsil Dehra, District Kangra, and as such, he continued to work till 2000. Workman further stated that he was a diploma holder in Fitter trade from ITI Nadaun and State had sufficient work available with it but despite that he was not allowed to complete 240 days in all calendar years except 1997 and 1998. On 31.7.2000, his services were disengaged by the State without any rhyme or reason, that too, without following procedure envisaged under Section 25 of the Act. Workman further claimed that the department had sufficient work of fitter at the time of illegal disengagement of his services and junior persons were retained. It is further averred that the Department has engaged other junior persons on daily wages on the said post. Workman also averred that for the redressal of his grievances, he earlier filed OA No. 3032/2000 before the Himachal Pradesh Administrative Tribunal, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction. Workman by way of aforesaid claim, as discussed herein above, claimed reengagement with consequential benefits including seniority and continuity.

4. State refuted the claim of the workman by way of a detailed reply by stating therein that services of the workman were not utilized by the State till 31.7.2000 as claimed by workman, rather he was engaged subject to availability of work and funds and thereafter, vide letter dated 31.7.2000, workman was informed that his services were not required due to non-availability of work. State further claimed that services of petitioner were disengaged by resorting to the principle of 'last come, first go' and no junior, as claimed by workman, was retained at the time of his retrenchment. In the aforesaid background, State prayed for dismissal of the claim put forth by the workman. The learned Tribunal below framed following issues for determination on 22.10.2008:

"1. Whether the termination of services of the petitioner by the respondent is unlawful. If so, what relief of service benefits and the amount of compensation the petitioner is entitled to? OPP

2. Whether the petitioner was engaged on daily wages basis subject to availability of work and funds. If so, whether there existed no work or funds at the time of termination of his services. OPR.

3. Relief."

5. However, the fact remains that on the basis of pleadings of the parties as well as evidence adduced on record by the respective parties, learned Tribunal below held workman entitled to reengagement as Fitter Grade II and accordingly issued directions to the department to reengage the workman as Fitter Grade II forthwith and to give benefit of seniority and continuity in service from the date of illegal termination but without back wages. In the aforesaid background, State approached this Court, by way of instant petition, praying therein for quashing and setting aside of Award dated 15.6.2011 passed by the Tribunal below.

6. Mr. P.M. Negi, Ld. Additional Advocate General duly assisted by Mr. Ramesh Thakur, Ld. Deputy Advocate General, vehemently argued that impugned award is not sustainable in the eyes of law since it is not based on correct appreciation of evidence available on record as well as law and as such same deserves to be set aside being contrary to the record as well as law. Mr. Negi, with a view to substantiate his aforesaid argument, invited attention of the Court to impugned Award passed by the Tribunal below to demonstrate that learned Tribunal has misread and mis-interpreted the evidence adduced on record by the department, as a result of which, undue benefit has been extended to the workman, who at no point of time was able to prove that his services were not disengaged by department by resorting to the provisions of the Act. Mr. Negi further contended that the department by way of leading cogent and convincing evidence proved on record that workman was appointed on daily wage basis subject to availability of work and funds and as such his services were rightly disengaged after 31.7.2000, due to non-availability of work and funds. Mr. Negi, while concluding his arguments also stated that findings recorded that principle of 'last come, first go', was not adhered to by the department while disengaging services of workman, is also contrary to the record because no person junior to the workman was engaged as fitter, after disengagement of the workman and as such, Award being contrary to the record is liable to be set aside.

7. Mr. Bhuvnesh Sharma, counsel appearing for the workman, supported the impugned award. Mr. Sharma, while referring to the award passed by the Tribunal below strenuously argued that the Award is based on correct appreciation of evidence adduced on record by the respective parties. There is no scope for interference by this Court, especially in view of the findings of fact recorded by the learned Tribunal below. Mr. Sharma, further argued that bare perusal of award suggests that each and every aspect of the matter has been dealt meticulously by the Tribunal below while upholding the claim of the workman. Mr. Sharma, while concluding his arguments forcefully contended that there is ample evidence on record suggestive of the fact that services of workman were disengaged without resorting to Section 25 of the Act. Similarly, principle of 'last come, first go' was bid goodbye while disengaging services of the workman because it stands duly proved on record that one Shri Ajay Kumar, who was junior to the workman was retained as Fitter Grade II in the Department.

8. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record carefully.

9. After perusing the record made available to this Court, it is undisputed that workman was appointed as daily wage fitter in 1994 in Sub Division Dada Siba, Tehsil Dehra, District Kangra, by Executive Engineer of the Department, where he continued to work till 2000. It is also not disputed that at that point of time, workman was having required qualification of diploma in fitter trade from ITI Nadaun. State, while refuting the claim put forth on behalf of the workman, stated that workman was engaged subject to availability of work and funds but it nowhere refuted the claim of the workman that he kept on serving the Department till 31.7.2000, when his services were illegally dispensed with, without resorting to the provisions contained in Section 25 of Act. State claimed that services of workman were not required due to non-availability of work and funds and principle of 'last come, first go' was adhered to. But this Court carefully perused impugned Award as well as documents available on record, which clearly suggests that Department was not able to prove on record that services of the workman were disengaged on 31.7.2000 after following due procedure as prescribed under the Act. Similarly, this Court found that State failed to adhere to the principle of 'last come, first go' because it stands duly proved on record that two persons junior to the workman were retained against the post of Fitter after disengagement of workman. State has nowhere disputed that workman was engaged as Fitter Grade II in 1994. Department, with a view to substantiate that no junior person was retained after disengagement of the workman, placed on record seniority list of Fitters and Beldars as RW-1/D, which shows that Ashok Kumar son of Om Prakash and Ajay Kumar son of Vidya Sagar, were engaged as Fitter Grade II in 1987-88 and regularized w.e.f. 1.1.1998, whereas, admittedly, workman was appointed as daily wage fitter in 1994. As per Department, workman was disengaged strictly on the principle of 'last come, first go', as per Section 25-G of the Act, whereas learned Tribunal below, on the basis of record made available by the workman, i.e. photocopy of muster roll pertaining to 1994, wherein person namely Ajay Kumar, son of Vidya Sagar, has been reflected as Pipeline Man in 1994, came to conclusion that juniors to workman were retained at the time of illegal disengagement of workman.

10. Workman by leading cogent and convincing evidence before learned Tribunal below established beyond doubt that Ajay Kumar son of Vidya Sagar, was initially engaged as Pipeline Man in 1987-88 and thereafter he was engaged as Fitter Grade II in 1998 i.e. after workman, who was admittedly appointed as Fitter Grade II in 1994. Since workman by way of placing copy of muster roll pertaining to 1994 successfully proved on record that Ajay Kumar son of Vidya Sagar was initially appointed as Pipeline Man in 1987-88, meaning thereby, his retention, if any, as Fitter Grade II, after disengagement of workman i.e. 31.7.2000, was completely in violation of Section 25-G of the Act and principle of 'last come, first go'.

11. Perusal of Award clearly suggests that it had occasion to peruse the original record produced by the department, wherein, in para-14 of the Award, learned Tribunal below has clearly stated that perusal of muster roll of Ajay Kumar son of Vidya Sagar, clearly suggests that he was engaged as Beldar. Similarly, muster roll of 1994 shows that till 1994, Ajay Kumar was reflected as Pipeline Man and muster roll of 1998 further demonstrates that Ajay Kumar was Fitter Grade II meaning thereby Ajay Kumar became Fitter Grade II in 1998 i.e. definitely after the workman, who was appointed as Fitter Grade II in the year 1994.

12. Hence, this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the findings returned by Tribunal, which are based on correct appreciation of record made available to it that Ajay Kumar was initially engaged as Beldar and till December, 1998, he was working as Pipeline Man. Since, Ajay Kumar, referred to herein above, was made Fitter in 1998, learned Tribunal below, while placing reliance upon the muster roll pertaining to 1994, placed on record by the respondent workman, has rightly come to the conclusion that Ajay Kumar was junior to the respondent workman, in the category of Fitter Grade II.

13. At the cost of repetition, it may be again stated that it is undisputed that respondent workman was engaged as Fitter Grade II in 1994 i.e. prior to Ajay Kumar, learned Tribunal below, on the basis of record made available, has returned categorical findings that initially Ajay Kumar son of Vidya Sagar, was engaged as Beldar and thereafter, he was working as Pipeline Man till December, 1994. Record further reveals that aforesaid Ajay Kumar was engaged as Fitter Grade II in the year 1994, hence, this Court sees no force in the contentions put forth by the State that findings returned by the Tribunal are contrary to records.

14. Similarly, perusal of the Award passed by Tribunal below suggests that State was not able to prove on record by way of convincing evidence that services of respondents were disengaged for want of work and funds. Shri Rohit Dubey, while appearing as RW-1 though stated that no fresh hand was engaged after disengagement of respondent but failed to render explanation, if any, as far as retention of Ajay Kumar, Fitter Grade II, after disengagement of workman, is concerned. To demonstrate that services of workman were disengaged for want of funds, State has placed reliance upon Ext. RW-1/E but the Tribunal below has categorically concluded that perusal of extract RW-1/E shows that total budgetary allocation under the repair and maintenance head during the financial year 2000-01 was Rs.345.00 Lakh, which was inclusive of the expenditure i.e. labour, material and vehicles. As per the said extract, the scheme was still being run under repair and maintenance head since the time of its completion.

15. Close scrutiny of pleadings as well as findings returned in the Award makes it crystal clear that the workman was appointed as Fitter Grade II in 1994, whereas, Shri Ajay Kumar though was appointed as daily wager in 1987-88 but, admittedly, he was appointed as Fitter Grade II in 1998 i.e. after the appointment of workman. Since workman was senior to Ajay Kumar in the cadre of Fitter Grade II, his services could not have been disengaged by retaining Ajay Kumar, who was admittedly junior to workman, rather, retention of Ajay Kumar, Fitter Grade II, strengthens the claim of the workman that at the time disengagement of workman, work of Fitter Grade II was available with the Department and services of workman were illegally dispensed with, in violation of the principle of 'last come, first go'.

16. It is well settled by now that principle of 'last come, first go', as contained in Section 25G of the Act, is not confined to the workmen, who have been in continuous service for not less than one year. Reliance is placed upon the judgment rendered by their lordships of Hon'ble Apex Court in Central Bank of India v. S. Satyam, reported in (1996) 5 SCC 419, wherein it has been held as under:

> "8. Rule 77 requires the employer to maintain a seniority list of workmen in that particular category from which retrenchment is contemplated arranged according to the seniority of their service. The category of workmen to whom Section 25-F applies is distinct from those to whom it is in applicable. There is no practical difficulty in maintenance of seniority list of workmen with reference to the particular category to which they belong. Rule 77, therefore, does not present any difficulty. Rule 78 speaks of retrenched workmen eligible to be considered for filling the vacancies and here also the distinction based on. The category of workmen-can be maintained because those falling in the category of Section 25-F are entitled to be placed higher than those who do not fall in that category. It is no doubt true that persons who have been retrenched after a longer period of service which places them higher in the seniority list are entitled to be considered for re- employment earlier than those placed lower because of a lesser period of service. In this manner a workman falling in the lower category because of not being covered by Section 25-F can claim consideration for re-employment only if an eligible workman above him in the seniority list is not available. Application of Section 25-H to the. Other retrenched workmen not cove-red by Section 25-f does not, in Any manner, prejudice those covered by Section 25-F because the question of consideration of any retrenched workman not covered by Section 25-F would arise only, if and when, no retrenched workman covered by Section 25-F is available for re-employment. There is, thus, no reason to curtail the ordinary meaning of 'retrenched workmen' in Section 25-H because of Rules 77 and 78, even assuming the rules framed- under the Act could have that effect.
>
> 9. The plain language of Section 25-H speaks only of re- employment of 'retrenched workmen'. The ordinary meaning of the expression 'retrenched workmen must relate to the wide meaning of 'retrenchment' given in Section 2(oo). Section 25-F also uses the word 'retrenchment' but qualifies it by use of the further words 'workman' who has been in continuous service for not less than one year'. Thus, Section 25-F does not restrict the meaning of retrenchment but qualifies the category of retrenched workmen covered therein by use of the further words workman. Who has been in continuous service for not less than one year. It is clear that Section 25-F applies to the retread a workman who has been in continuous service for not less: one year and not to any workman who has bean in continuous service for less than one year; and it does not restrict or curtail the meaning of retrenchment merely because the provision therein is made only for the retrenchment of a workman who has been in continuous service for not less the one year. Chapter V-A deals with all retrenchments while Section 25-F is confined only to the mode of retrenchment of workmen in continuous service for not less than one year. Section 25-G prescribes the principle for retrenchment and applies ordinarily the principle of 'last come first so' which is not confined only to workmen who have been in continuous service for not less than one year, covered by Section 25-F.

10. The next provision is Section 25-H which is couched in wide language and is capable of application to all retrenched workmen not mere; covered by Section 25-F. It does not require curtailment of the ordinary meaning of the word 'retrenchment' used therein. The Provision for re-employment of retrenched workmen merely gives performance to a retrenched workmen in the matter of re-employment over other persons. It is enacted for the benefit of the retrenched workmen and there in no reason to restrict its ordinary meaning which promotes the object of the enactment without causing any prejudice to a better placed retrenched workman.

17. In view of aforesaid, this Court sees no reason to disagree with the findings of learned Tribunal below which appear to be based on correction appreciation of evidence, led on record by the respective parties.

18. Hence, this Court, after carefully examining the Award passed by the Tribunal below, sees no reason to interfere in the findings recorded by the Tribunal, which are otherwise also based on correct appreciation of evidence led on record by the parties, as such, impugned award deserves to be upheld. It is well settled law that the Courts while examining correctness and genuineness of award passed by Tribunal have very limited powers to re-appreciate the evidence led before the Tribunal below, especially the findings of fact recorded by the Tribunal below. Apart from above, findings of fact recorded by learned Tribunal below on the basis of appreciation of evidence cannot be questioned in writ proceedings and writ court cannot act as an appellate court. In this regard, reliance is placed upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in case titled Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. M/s Hindalco Industries Ltd. 2014 AIR SCW 3157. It is profitable to reproduce paras 16, 17 and 18 of the judgment herein:

> "16. .....The question about the limits of the jurisdiction of High Courts in issuing a writ of certiorari under Article 226 has been frequently considered by this Court and the true legal position in that behalf is no longer in doubt. A writ of certiorari can be issued for correcting errors of jurisdiction committed by inferior Courts or tribunals: these are cases where orders are passed by inferior Courts or Tribunals without jurisdiction, or is in excess of it, or as a result of failure to exercise jurisdiction. A writ can similarly be issued where in exercise of jurisdiction conferred on it, the Court or Tribunal acts illegally or improperly, as for instance, it decides a question without giving an opportunity to be heard to the party affected by the order, or where the procedure adopted in dealing with the dispute is opposed to principles of natural justice. There is, however, no doubt that the jurisdiction to issue a writ of certiorari is a supervisory jurisdiction and the Court exercising it is no entitled to act as an Appellate Court. This limitation necessarily means that findings of fact reached by the inferior court or Tribunal as result of the appreciation of evidence cannot be reopened for questioned in writ proceedings. An error of law which is apparent on the face of the record can be corrected by a writ, but not an error of fact, however grave it may appear to be. In regard to a finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal, a writ of certiorari can be issued if it is shown that in recording the said finding, the Tribunal had erroneously refused to admit admissible and material evidence, or had erroneously admitted inadmissible evidence which has influenced the impugned finding. Similarly, if a finding of fact is based on no evidence, that would be regarded as an error of law which can be corrected by a writ of certiorari. In dealing with this category of cases, however, we must always bear in mind that a finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal cannot be challenged in proceedings for a writ of certiorari on the ground that the relevant and material evidence adduced before the Tribunal was insufficient or inadequate to sustain the impugned finding. The adequacy or sufficiency of evidence led on a point and the interference of fact to be drawn from the said finding are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Tribunal, and the said points cannot be agitated before a writ Court. It is within these limits that the jurisdiction conferred on the High Courts under Article 226 to issue a writ of certiorari can be legitimately exercised.

17. The judgments mentioned above can be read with the judgment of this Court in Harjinder Singh's case (supra), the relevant paragraph of which reads as under:

> 21. Before concluding, we consider it necessary to observe that while exercising jurisdiction under Articles 226 and / or 227 of the Constitution in matters like the present one, the High Courts are duty bound to keep in mind that the Industrial Disputes Act and other similar legislative instruments are social welfare legislations and the same are required to be interpreted keeping in view the goals set out in the Preamble of the Constitution and the provisions contained in Part IV thereof in general and Articles 38, 39(a) to (e), 43 and 43-A in particular, which mandate that the State should secure a social order for the promotion of welfare of the people, ensure equality between men and women and equitable distribution of material resources of the community to subserve the common good and also ensure that the workers get their dues. More than 41 years ago, Gajendragadkar, J. opined that:
>
> > 10.... The concept of social and economic justice is a living concept of revolutionary import; it gives sustenance to the rule of law and meaning and significance to the ideal of welfare State.

18. A careful reading of the judgments reveals that the High Court can interfere with an order of the Tribunal only on the procedural level and in cases, where the decision of the lower Courts has been arrived at in gross violation of the legal principles. The High Court shall interfere with factual aspect placed before the Labour Courts only when it is convinced that the Labour Court has made patent mistakes in admitting evidence illegally or have made grave errors in law in coming to the conclusion on facts. The High Court granting contrary relief under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution amounts to exceeding its jurisdiction conferred upon it. Therefore, we accordingly answer the point No. 1 in favour of the appellant." [Emphasis added]

19. Consequently, in view of the aforesaid discussion, there is no merit in the present petition and the same is dismissed. Pending applications, if any, are also dismissed.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Tikka Maheshwar Chand ..Appellant/Defendant
Versus
Ripudaman Singh ..Respondents/plaintiff.

RSA No. 441 of 2004.
Reserved on : 25/10/2016
Date of decision: 28/10/2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit, which was compromised – a mutation was sanctioned on the basis of compromise – an appeal was filed, which was dismissed – a civil suit was filed against these orders – the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to go into the question, where adequate remedy has been provided under the H.P. Land Revenue Act is barred – a remedy of approaching Financial Commissioner was available to the plaintiff – the Appellate Court had wrongly discarded this reasoning of the trial Court- appeal allowed – the judgment of the Appellate Court set aside and that of the trial Court restored. (Para- 7 and 8)

For the appellant: Mr. Aman Deep Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. Bhupender Gupta, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Janesh Gupta, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J:

This appeal stands directed against the impugned rendition of the learned District Judge, Hamirpur, whereby he reversed the decree of dismissal of suit of the plaintiff wherein the plaintiff had claimed a decree for declaring valid the order pronounced by the Assistant Collecto 2nd Grade, Nadaun, whereby under the latters' orders mutation stood attested qua the suit property, orders whereof recorded by the Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun stood anvilled on a compromise decree comprised in Ext.P-1, orders whereof recorded by the Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun, stood rescinded by the Sub Divisional Collector, Nadaun, orders whereof of the Sub Divisional Collector, Nadaun, attained affirmation from the Divisional Commissioner under the latters' orders recorded on 6.8.1992, latter orders whereof stand canvassed to be declared to be null and void. The effect of the judgement of the learned District Judge, Hamirpur pronounced in reversal to the verdict of the learned trial Court is qua mutation qua the suit property attested on 10.02.1983 by the Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun, on anvil of Ext.P-1 acquiring validation.

2. The facts necessary for rendering a decision on the instant appeal are that the plaintiff filed Civil Suit No. 45 of 1978 against the defendant which was compounded by the parties leading to compromise decree dated 3.11.1981 by the learned Sub Judge(I), Hamirpur. On the basis of compromise decree Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun, sanctioned mutation qua the suit property in favour of the plaintiff. The plaintiff was exclusively possessing the suit land as owner but the defendant later on filed an appeal against the mutation order before the Sub Divisional Collector, Hamirpur, who set-aside the mutation wrongly on the ground that mutation could not have been sanctioned qua 'Gair Mumkin Land because the suit property never formed part of the compromise decree in Civil Suit No. 45 of 1978. Against it, the plaintiff went in appeal before the Divisional Commissioner, who also rejected the appeal vider order dated 6.8.1992. Both the orders of the Sub Divisional Collector and Divisional Commissioner are claimed to be wrong, illegal and against the law by the plaintiff in this appeal.

3. The defendant admitted passing of compromise decree in a suit brought by the plaintiff. He claimed that the mutation on the basis of compromise decree was wrongly sanctioned by the A.C. IInd Grade, Nadaun and has rightly been reversed in appeal by the Sub Divisional Collector and also affirmed rightly by the Divisional Commissioner and claimed that the defendant is exclusive owner in possession of Gair Mumkin land of Patwar Circle, Dhaneta, Nauhngi, Choru and Sproh i.e. the suit property nor it was subject matter of previous suit. As the suit property never formed part of the suit, so it could not have been transferred without registration under Section 17 of the Registration Act. Therefore, orders of the Collector and Divisional Commissioner are legal and binding and suit deserves to be dismissed.

4. On the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties at contest:-

1. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to the relief of declaration, as prayed? OPP.

2. Relief.

5. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, the learned trial Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiff whereas the learned First Appellate Court allowed the appeal preferred therefrom before it by the plaintiff.

6. Now the defendant/appellant herein has instituted before this Court the instant Regular Second Appeal wherein he assails the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 22.03.2005, this Court admitted the appeal on the hereinafter extracted substantial questions of law:-

"1. Whether the facts as established and proved on record of the case particularly the compromise decree Ext.PC and the statements of the parties Ext.PA and Ext.PB do establish the creation of new rights in favour of the plaintiff.

2. Whether during the pendency of the lis before the Revenue Courts, the Civil Courts have jurisdiction qua the same subject matter.

3. Whether the suit of the plaintiff/respondent is within limitation?"

Substantial questions of law.

7. Uncontrovertedly, Ext.P-1 holds therein a compromise decree recorded inter partes thereat who likewise are contestants hereat besides is qua suit property which is also the subject matter of contest in the instant suit. Also uncontrovertedly Ext.P-1 stands recorded not only qua suit property which fell for contest inter se the litigating parties thereat rather holds therewithin depictions besides reflections qua property which was not the subject matter of contest in the previous civil suit inter se the parties at lis hereat. Even though before the learned First Appellate Court an argument stood espoused qua the mandate of Section 17 of the Registration Act ordaining compulsory registration of instruments other than testamentary instruments besides instruments of gifts especially when the relevant instruments other than testamentary dispositions or instruments of gifts, operate to create, declare, assign limit or extinguish, whether vested or contingent of the value of Rs.100/- and upwards, to or in immovable property mandate whereof held therewithin stood enjoined to be read in conjunction with the provisions embodied in clause (Vi) of sub section (2) of Section 17 of the Registration Act (hereinafter referred to as the Act) wherein though a mandate stands encapsulated qua the diktat of the provisions engrafted in sub section (1) of Section 17 of the Act standing excluded qua any decree or order of the Court as is Ext.P-1 nonetheless with it also therewithin carving an exception to the exclusion of the mandate of sub section (1) of Section 17 of the Act qua any decree or order of a Civil Court, wherewithin a compromise stands enunciated interse the combatants therein qua a suit property vis.a.vis whereof no relief apposite to it stood canvassed therebefore whereupon a concomitant espousal was made qua with Ext.P-1 standing pronounced qua property whereupon the contestants thereat were not at lis, it hence warranting compulsory registration, whereas it remaining unregistered rendered the order of attestation of mutation of the Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun, when read in consonance therewith warranting its standing pronounced to be set-aside, contrarily the orders recorded by the Collector, concerned whereupon he rescinded the relevant orders of mutation attested by the Assistant Collector 2nd

Grade, Nadaun, orders whereof attained affirmation from the Commissioner concerned rather warranting validation. The provisions of the Registration Act are extracted hereinafter:

> 17. Documents of which registration is compulsory
>
> 1. (b) other non-testamentary instruments which purport or operate to create, declare, assign, limit or extinguish, whether in present or in future, any right, title or interest, whether vested or contingent, of the value of one hundred rupees, and upwards, to or in immovable property;
>
> xxx. xxx.. xxx...
>
> 2. (vi) any decree or order of a court [except a decree or order expressed to be made on a compromise and comprising immovable property other than that which is the subject-matter of the suit or proceeding;] or

8. On analogy of various judicial pronouncements the learned First Appellate Court discounted the submission addressed herebefore by the learned counsel for the defendants. However, the reasoning as stands assigned by the learned First Appellate Court to on anvil thereof dispel the vigour of the aforesaid contention addressed herebefore by the learned counsel for the defendant, lacks in legal sinew nor also any dependence by it upon judicial pronouncements is apt, given the attraction hereat with aplomb, the relevant mandate of the provisions of the Registration Act, provisions whereof evidently extantly stand infringed. Irrefutably the mandate of Order 23 Rule 3 of the CPC, which stands extracted hereinafter:

> (3). Compromise of suit:
>
> Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the court that a suit has been adjusted wholly or in part by any lawful agreement or compromise (in writing and signed by the parties), or where the defendant satisfies the plaintiff in respect of the whole or any part of the subject matter of the suit, the Court shall order such agreement, compromise or satisfaction to be recorded, and shall pass a decree in accordance therewith so far as it relates to the parties to the suit, whether or not the subject matter of the agreement, compromise or satisfaction is the same as the subject matter of the suit."

empowers the Civil Court concerned to pronounce a compromise decree not only qua a subject matter which stands espoused in the apposite plaint besides qua a subject matter which remains unespoused in the apposite plaint constituted therebefore by the plaintiff. Though the mandate of the Order 23 Rule 3 of the CPC does hold leverage to a Civil Court to in the manner aforesaid record a verdict compromising the lis inter se the relevant contestants also the mandate of the apposite decree recorded by the Civil Court concerned when put therebefore for execution is enjoined to be meted deference by the authority concerned, nonetheless the mandate of the aforesaid provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure are enjoined to be read in conjunction with the mandate of clause (VI) of sub section(2) of Section 17 of the Act wherewithin a preemptory dictate is held qua a compromise decree being enjoined to be compulsorily registered predominantly when it holds therewithin recitals qua immoveable property whereagainst no contest occurred inter se the relevant contestants thereat. The learned First Appellate Court has excluded from consideration the mandate of clause (VI) of sub section (2) of Section 17 of the Act whereas it enjoined compulsory registration of Ext.P-1 significantly when it held therewithin pronouncements qua its recording a compromise vis.a.vis. the parties hereat qua immoveable property which was not in litigation inter se the contestants thereat. The reliance placed on judicial pronouncements by the learned First Appellate Court stands belittled by the aforesaid trite factum besides when the authority concerned on standing seized with an execution petition constituted therebefore stood enjoined to mete deference to Ext.P-1 yet meteing of deference thereto by it would stand sparked only when preceding thereto the parties to the lis mete deference also to the mandate of the relevant provisions of the Registration Act besides thereupon alone the relevant authority concerned held empowerment to record an order attesting mutation qua the suit property whereas evidently with Ext.P-1 standing unregistered prior to the Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun, recording an order attesting mutation qua the suit property, naturally rendered the relevant pronouncement recorded by the Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun, to stand afflicted with a malady of invalidation fostered by non adherence of the apposite statutory mandate by the relevant contestants. Contrarily, the pronouncement in reversal thereto recorded thereon by the Sub Divisional Collector concerned, pronouncement whereof attained affirmation on 6.8.1992 from the Divisional Commissioner concerned warranted vindication, whereas the learned First Appellate Court holding contrarily has committed an illegality in undermining the impact of the relevant provisions of the Registration Act vis.a.vis. Ext.P-1 besides by slighting the impact of the relevant provisions of the Registration Act vis.a.vis the provisions of the Order 23 Rule 3 of the CPC significantly when both the statutory provisions aforesaid are complementary also when hence both warrant meteing of deference thereto, whereas evidently with deference remaining unmeted to the relevant provisions of the Registration Act, the impugned order of the Assistant Collector 2nd Grade, Nadaun, warranted interference. Contrarily it standing pronounced to be valid enjoins this Court to interfere with the verdict of the learned First Appellate Court. Dehors the aforesaid discussion, the learned trial Court concluded qua the suit of the plaintiff being barred by the mandate of Section 171 of the H.P.Land Revenue Act, mandate whereof excludes the jurisdiction of the Civil Court qua a lis qua which the aforesaid Act prescribes a remedy under Section 14 thereof, remedy prescribed therein is qua the plaintiff instituting before the Financial Commissioner an appeal against the order recorded by the Divisional Commissioner, remedy whereof remaining un-availed, whereupon it concluded of the suit of the plaintiff being statutorily barred. The aforesaid reasoning is well merited. The learned First Appellate Court in discarding the aforesaid reasoning has committed an illegality comprised in its misappreciating the aforesaid statutory provisions of the H.P.Land Revenue Act. The effect of the above discussion is of substantial questions of law No.1, 2 and 3 warranting theirs standing answered in favour of the appellant herein. Consequently, the appeal preferred by the defendant/appellant herein is allowed. The judgement and decree rendered by the learned first Appellate Court is set-aside and the judgement and decree rendered by the learned trial Court is maintained and affirmed. Consequently, the suit of the plaintiff is dismissed. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly. The parties are left to bear their own costs. All pending applications also stand disposed of accordingly. Records be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Balkar Singh ...Appellant.

Versus

Babar and others ...Respondents.

FAO No.502 of 2010.
Reserved on : 19.10.2016.
Decided on: 01.11.2016.

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Claimant sustained injuries in an accident – MACT awarded compensation of Rs.5,60,000/- to him – held in appeal that Medical Officer stated that left leg of the claimant had become short by 1½ inch – he had suffered muscular injury to the left leg, right patella and right ankle – the petitioner shall not be able to commute long distance and carry weight – the Tribunal had rightly taken the disability to the extent of 25% to 35% - compensation of Rs. 2,75,000/- cannot be said to be excessive – the MACT had not awarded any interest – hence, interest awarded @ 7.5% per annum. (Para-9 to 12)

Case referred:

Raj Kumar vs. Ajay Kumar and another (2011) 1 Supreme Court Cases, 343

For the appellant : Mr. Jagdish Thakur, Advocate.
For the respondents : Nemo for respondent No.1.

Respondent No.2 stands deleted.
Mr. Ratish Sharma, Advocate, for respondent No.3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge.

The present appeal under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, is maintained by the appellant/claimant/petitioner (hereinafter referred to as the 'petitioner') for enhancing the amount awarded by learned Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Una, H.P, in MAC Petition No.18 of 2008, vide award dated 10.9.2010.

2. Brief facts giving rise to the present appeal are that the petitioner maintained a petition under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, for compensation on account of the injuries he suffered due to rash and negligent driving by respondent No.2 of the vehicle owned by respondent No.1, in an accident on 26.2.2008. As per the petitioner, respondent No.2, who was driving the offending vehicle rashly and negligently and struck it against the front right side of the tanker being driven by the petitioner, as a result of which, he suffered multiple injuries on his left femur right knee, right ankle and multiple fractures. The petitioner had been taken to local hospital for medical aid, thereafter referred to PGI, Chandigarh on 27.2.2008 and discharged on 9.4.2008. The petitioner had again been admitted in PGI, Chandigarh, on 22.4.2008. The petitioner had been under continuous medical treatment and spent a sum of Rs. 1 lac. Even after medical treatment of months together, the petitioner had not been keeping fit. The petitioner had not been able to earn after the alleged accident. He stood crippled for the rest of his life and had turned dependent on others. Respondent No.1 was registered owner of the truck bearing No. UP11T0884. Respondent No.1 was vicariously liable for rash and negligent act of his driver. Respondents No.1 and 2 have resisted the petition. They have admitted the ownership and possession of respondent No.1 of vehicle bearing No. UP11T0884. As per them, on 26.2.2008 respondent No.2 driving the truck with due care and caution and the accident had not taken place on account of rash and negligent driving of respondent No.2. The petitioner had not suffered any injury due to the act of respondent No.2. Respondent No.3 also resisted and contested the petition. Respondent No.3 provided insurance cover to vehicle bearing No. UP11T0884 for the period from 24.8.2007 to 23.8.2008. It has been averred that respondent No.2 had not been in possession of a valid and effective driving licence at the time of accident. Respondent No.1 plying his vehicle in contravention of the terms and conditions of the insurance policy.

3. The learned Tribunal below framed the following issues on 18.1.2010 :

"1. Whether Sh. Balkar Singh had suffered injuries on account of rash and negligent driving of vehicle bearing No.UP11T0884 by respondent No.2 ? OPP.

2. If Issue No.1 is proved to what amount and from whom is the petitioner entitled to ? OPP.

3. Whether the respondent No.2 had not been in possession of a valid and effective driving licence, if so with what effect? OPR-3.

4. Whether the respondent No.1 had contravened the conditions of the insurance policy and registration certificate, if so with what effect ? OPR-3.

5. Relief."

4. After deciding Issue Nos.1 and 2 in favour of the petitioner, Issue Nos.3 and 4 against the respondents, the learned Tribunal below awarded compensation of Rs.5,60,000/- to the petitioner.

5. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner has argued that the compensation as awarded by the learned Tribunal below is in on very lower side, as the learned Tribunal below has not taken the disability qua the petitioner correctly. He has further argued that the disability was 100% qua the petitioner.

6. On the other hand, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent No.3 has argued that the disability as per the Doctor in Ex.PW4/B was not permanent disability and the same was temporary disability of 25%. As per the Doctor, it would have reduced to 10% later on. He has further argued that the impugned award is on the higher side, but he has admitted that no appeal has been filed by the Insurance Company.

7. In rebuttal, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner has argued that no interest on the awarded amount has been granted by the learned Tribunal below.

8. To appreciate the arguments of learned counsel appearing on behalf of the parties, I have gone through the record of the case carefully.

9. The only question which requires determination is that whether the disability for the purpose of calculating the compensation has been rightly taken by the learned Tribunal below or not. The income of the driver is proved to be Rs.4,000/- per month. Now, coming to the disability, PW-4, Dr. N.S. Dogra, Orthopedic Surgeon, had medically examined the petitioner on 20.6.2009 and 21.8.2010. He has issued disability certificates Ex.PW4/A and Ex.PW4/B. He has stated that the left leg of the petitioner had turned short by 1 ½ inch. The petitioner had suffered muscular injury to left leg, right patella and right ankle. The petitioner shall not be able to commute long distance and carry weight. In his cross-examination, he has stated as follows :

> "It is correct that disability assessed by me on 21.8.2010 is temporary in character. Voluntarily stated that even after second operation disability of left femur would persist in any case upto 10%. Now the petitioner is on crutches and had been so observed by me on 21.8.2010 and today. After the rod implanted to the left femur had broken the petitioner is on crutches. It is wrong that the petitioner would be completely cured of the injury after second operation. Voluntarily stated that reduction of disability after second operation would depend upon the nature and successful character of the operation. In case the second operation fails the disability would persist or may increase as well. It is wrong that disability is of left femur alone. Voluntarily stated that disability of both lower limbs."

10. Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the petitioner has relied upon the judgment in Raj Kumar vs. Ajay Kumar and another (2011) 1 Supreme Court Cases, 343, wherein it has been held that in case the right hand was amputated and vision was affected of a person, who is a Engineering student is permanent disablement to be assessed as 70%. Considering the above judgment to the facts of the present case, this Court finds that even if, the disability is not permanent and is likely to be reduced in future, but taking into consideration the nature of job performed by the petitioner, no interference is required with a view of learned Tribunal below taking the disability of 35%.

11. From the above, it is clear that the disability can be reduced with a passage of time. The learned Tribunal below has taken disability from 25% to 35% and awarded an amount of Rs.2,75,000/-, on account of the loss of future income, loss of amenities of life and loss of expectation of life. Even if, the income of the petitioner is Rs.4,000/- per month, as claimed by him and is permanently disabled to the extent of 35%, the multiplier of 15 is applied. The amount of compensation for loss of income comes to Rs.2,52,000/-, but the learned Tribunal below has awarded an amount of Rs.2,75,000/-, so this Court finds that the impugned award is reasonable and requires no interference. At the same point of time, this Court finds that the learned Tribunal below has not granted any interest on the impugned award. The petitioner is definitely entitled for the interest, which is required to be granted to the petitioner. No other points argued so, needs no consideration.

12. Accordingly, the petition is partly allowed. Since, the vehicle was admittedly insured by respondent No.3, as such, respondent No.3 is directed to deposit the amount of interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum on the awarded amount from the date of filing the petition, till the deposit of the award amount to the petitioner. The appeal is accordingly disposed of. In the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, parties are left to bear their own costs. Pending application (s), if any, shall also stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Dola Ram & others. .....Appellants.

Versus

Ganga Singh & others. .....Respondents.

RSA No. 378 of 2004 and Cross Objection No. 583 of 2004
Reserved on: 05.10.2016
Decided on: 01.11.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for declaration pleading that the land is wrongly recorded to be in joint ownership of the parties – it has been partitioned in a family partition- the deceased plaintiff was taken to document writer and was told to sign on the papers for correcting the revenue entries and in this manner his signatures were obtained on the gift deed – the suit was filed to set aside the gift deed- the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred and the case was remanded – the suit was again dismissed by the trial Court- judgment and decree were partly modified in appeal- held in second appeal that no document regarding the family partition was placed on record – partition was also not recorded in the revenue record – it was proved by the evidence that gift deed was got executed by representing it to be a document of family partition – the evidence was rightly appreciated by the Courts - no relief of possession was sought and could not have been granted – appeal dismissed.

(Para-13 to 50)

Cases referred:

Venkati Rama Reddi and others vs. Pillati Ram Reddi and others, AIR 1917 (4) Madras 27 (Full Bench)

P. Venkatachalam Chetty vs. P.S. Govindasawmi Naicker, AIR 1924 Madras 605

Murikipudi Ankamma vs. Tummalacheruvu Narasayya and others, AIR (34) 1947 Madras 127

Subhas Chandra Das Mushib vs. Ganga Prosad Das Mushib and others, AIR 1967 Supreme Court 878

Amarsing Ratansing and another vs. Gosai Mohangir Somvargir and others, AIR 1972 Gujarat 74 (V 59 C 14)

Mst. Samrathi Devi vs. Parasuram Pandey and others, AIR 1975 Patna 140

Afsar Shaikh Devi vs. Parasuram Pandey and others, AIR 1975 Patna 140

P. Saraswathi Ammal vs. Lakshmi Ammal alias Lakshmi Kantam, AIR 1978 Madras 361

Munni Devi vs. Smt. Chhoti and others, AIR 1983 Allahabad 444

Savithramma vs. H. Gurappa Reddy and others, AIR 1996 Karnataka 99

Upasna & others vs. Omi Devi, 2001(2) Current Law Journal (Himachal Pradesh) 278,

Kripa Ram and others vs. Smt. Maina, 2002(2) Shimla Law Cases 213

N.V. Srinivasa Murthy vs. N.V. Gururaja Rao and others, (2005) 10 Supreme Court Cases 566

Jeet Kumar and another versus Jai Chand and another, 2013 (3) Him L.R. 1463

Moti vs. Roshan and others, AIR 1971 Himachal Pradesh 5 (V 58 C2)

Ku. Sonia Bhatia vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1981 Supreme Court 1274

Mallo vs. Smt. Bakhtawari and others, AIR 1985 Allahabad 160,

Digambar Adhar Patil vs. Devram Girdhar Patil (died) and another, AIR 1995 Supreme Court 1728
Rajendra Tiwary vs. Basudeo Prasad and another, AIR 2002 (89) Supreme Court 136
Krishna Mohan Kul alias Nani Charan Kul and another vs. Pratima Maity and others, (2004) 9 Supreme Court Cases 468
Ashwani Kumar Rana vs. Gaur Hari Singhania and others, 2005(2) SLJ 1243
Hari Shankar Singhania and others vs. Gaur Hari Singhania and others, (2006) 4 Supreme Court Cases 658,
Ramdev Food Products (P) Ltd. Vs. Arvindbhai Rambhai Patel and others, (2006) 8 Supreme Court Cases 726
M. Venkataramana Hebbar (Dead By LRs vs. M. Rajagopal Hebbar and others, (2007) 6 Supreme Court Cases 401
Bhagwan Krishan Gupta (2) vs. Prabha gupta and others, (2009) 11 Supreme Court Cases 33

For the appellants: Mr. K.D. Sood. Sr. Advocate, with Mr. Rajnish K. Lall, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. G.D. Verma, Sr. Advocate, with Mr. B.C. Verma, Advocate, for respondents No. 1, 3(a), 3(f), 4 to 6 & 14(a) to 14(g).

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge.

The present regular second appeal is maintained by the appellants/defendants (hereinafter referred to as "the defendants") laying challenge to the judgment and decree passed by the learned Additional District Judge, Mandi, in Civil Appeal No. 40 of 2002, dated 29.06.2004, whereby the learned District Judge, Mandi, has partly modified the judgment and decree, dated 31.12.2001, passed by learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Karsog, District Mandi, H.P., in Civil Suit No. 60-1 of 1994.

2. Brief facts giving rise to the present appeal are that the plaintiffs/respondents (hereinafter referred to as "the plaintiffs") filed a suit for declaration against the defendants. As per the plaintiffs, land comprised in Khatta No. 4, Khatauni No. 4, 5 to 7, Kita 54, measuring 63-12-2 bighas, situate at Village Shoungi, Illaqua Janubi Pargna, Tehsil Karsog, District Mandi, H.P. is recorded in joint ownership of the parties and the same has been wrongly recorded so. The land stands partitioned, in a family partition prior to 1940. It is further contended that as per the private partition, the land, as entered against Khewat Khatauni No. 4/4, Kitta-2, measuring 0-1-16 bighas in Khasra No. 140 & 142 and land entered against Khatauni No. 5, Khasras No. 6, 7, 29, 31, 32, 34, 63, 72, 143, 153, 164, 169, 180, 192, 199, 201, 207, 226, 236, 249, 262, 274, 276, 288, measuring 30-1-1 bighas fell to the share of the defendants. Consequent upon the private partition, the defendants have been recorded in separate possession of this land and the plaintiffs are not recorded in possession of the above land. On account of partition of the land, the defendants are in exclusive ownership of the land and the entries contrary to the claim of the plaintiffs are wrong and illegal. It is further contended that the land entered in Khata No. 4, Khatauni No. 6, Khasras No. 18, 20, 27, 28, 18, 65, 66, 68, 76, 152, 154, 155, 177, 178, 179, 188, 222, 223, 230, 235, 245, 247, 257, 275, 284, 289, Kitta 26, measuring 31-2-5 bighas and the land entered against Khewat Khatauni No. 7/7, Khasras No. 96, measuring 1-19-4 bighas and Khasra No. 75 measuring 0-8-16 bighas fell in the share of plaintiffs and now they are absolute owners-in-possession of this land and the adverse revenue entries are wrong and illegal. After the private partition, the plaintiffs and defendants have been put to their exclusive and separate possession of the shares.

3. The plaintiffs have further pleaded that deceased, plaintiff Ragu Ram, remained ill and was not able to move and walk. Defendants No. 1 and 2 by taking undue advantage of ill health of deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram, swayed him that the suit land has since been partitioned, but the revenue record has not been corrected to that extent in harmony with private partition. Defendants No. 1 and 2 took deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram, to Tehsil office at Karsog and got some papers prepared, contents whereof were not disclosed. The papers were prepared on the pretext that revenue entries qua the joint Khatta were to be corrected. The deceased plaintiff, Raghu Ram, was taken to a Document Writer and under the bona fide belief that the revenue record is to be corrected consequent upon the private partition, he signed the requisite papers. Thus, defendants No. 1 and 2 executed a gift deed No. 414, dated 17.08.1993, through which 1/6th share of the land in Kheweat Khatauni No. 4/4 to 8, Kita 54, measuring 63-13-2 bighas was gifted to defendants No. 1 and 2. The gift deed, so executed, was the result of misrepresentation and fraud being played by defendants No. 1 and 2 on deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram. As per the plaintiffs, deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram, neither had an occasion to make a gift deed to defendants No. 1 and 2, nor he was competent, as the property is ancestral property and the deceased was not in possession of the land entered in Khewat Khataunis No. 4 and 5. Thus, the possession could not be delivered. Lastly, the plaintiffs prayed for a decree of declaration, declaring them as owners-in-possession of the land, mentioned in Khewat Khatauni No. 4, 6, 7 and 8, Kitta 28, measuring 33-10-5 bighas at Kauja Shoungi, Tehsil Karsog, District, Mandi, H.P., (hereinafter referred to as "the suit land"). A simultaneous prayer for correction in the revenue entries and declaring the gift deed No. 414, dated 17.08.1993 null and void, is also made.

4. The defendants, by filing the written statement, resisted the claim of the plaintiffs and took preliminary objections viz., valuation of the suit and estoppel. On merits, the defendants contended that the revenue entries are correct and the suit land is still joint and unpartitioned. The factum qua private partition has been denied and it is further contended by them in case there had been a private partition then a separate Khewat would have been created during the settlement operation. As per the defendants, the revenue entries, depicting the plaintiffs in possession of the suit land are not correct. The deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram, executed a gift deed with his own free will and he was not ever tempted by the defendants. In fact, deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram, himself asked the defendants to come to Karsog and he came with the revenue record from the Patwari. The gift deed was the result of love and affection. The deed was prepared through a Document Writer and the deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram, also acknowledged the execution of the deed before the Sub Registrar, Karsog, who attested the same. The defendants have contended that deceased, plaintiff Raghu Ram, was having every right qua execution of a valid gift deed, which he had exercised voluntarily.

5. The learned Trial Court on 20.10.1994 framed the following issues for determination and adjudication:

> "1. Whether the plaintiff is absolute owner in possession of the suit land by way of private family partition between the parties, as alleged? OPP
>
> 2. Whether the gift deed No. 414 dated 17.08.1993 is illegal, wrong and void as alleged due to mis-represendation/fraud and fraud played upon the plaintiff? OPP
>
> 3. Whether the suit has not been properly valued for the purpose of court fee and jurisdiction? OPD
>
> 4. Whether the plaint has not been prop0erly signed and verified as alleged? OPD
>
> 5. Whether the plaintiff is estopped to file the present suit by his own act and conduct? OPD
>
> 6. Relief."

6. It will be apt to highlight that initially the suit was dismissed by the Trial Court, vide its judgment dated 31.05.1996. The said judgment and decree were assailed and the learned First Appellate Court, vide judgment dated 11.05.2001 remanded the matter back to the learned Trial Court for recording the findings on the following two additional issues:

"5-A Whether the suit property inherited by plaintiff is ancestral in nature? OPP

5-B If issue No. 5-A is proved in affirmative, whether plaintiff was not competent to execute gift deed in favour of respondents No. 1 & 2 (defendants) as alleged? OPP."

After deciding the issues No. 1 and 2 against the plaintiffs, issues No. 3 and 4 against the defendants, issue No. 5 against the plaintiff and issues No. 5-A and 5-B against the plaintiffs, the suit of the plaintiffs was dismissed. Consequently, the plaintiffs laid challenge to the judgment and decree of the learned Trial Court before the learned First Appellate Court and the learned First Appellate Court vide its judgment and decree dated 29.06.2004, partly accepted the appeal qua issue No. 2 and the impugned judgment and decree of the learned Trial Court was modified to that extent, hence the present regular second appeal, which was admitted for hearing on the following substantial question of law:

"1. Whether the findings of the Court below are perverse, based on mis-reading of oral and documentary evidence, pleadings of the parties and the basic document of title Ex. DA?"

7. After the filing of the appeal by the appellants herein, the respondents herein filed Cross Objections (Cross Objections No. 583 of 2004) which were also admitted for hearing on the following substantial questions of law:

"1. Whether plea of private partition of the property in suit as raised on behalf of the Objectors has not been decided in accordance with Law and findings on this account are as a result of mis-reading and mis-construction of the pleadings of the parties and oral and documentary evidence on record?

2. Whether the findings as recorded by the learned District Judge against the Objectors are vitiated on account of mis-construction and misreading of oral as well as documentary evidence on record?

3. Whether the presumption of correctness as attached to the entries in the revenue record with respect to land in suit have been rebutted and in any case, the claim of the appellants about the partition of land in suit stand proved."

8. I have the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the record in detail.

9. The learned Senior counsel for the appellants has argued that the findings recorded by the learned Lower Appellate Court are against the evidence which has come on record and the same are perverse. The law is not correctly applied by the learned Lower Appellate Court and, therefore, the present regular second appeal is required to be allowed. To support his arguments, the learned Senior counsel has relied upon the law, as settled by the Hon'ble Courts in the following judicial pronouncements:

1. Venkati Rama Reddi and others vs. Pillati Ram Reddi and others, AIR 1917 (4) Madras 27 (Full Bench),
2. P. Venkatachalam Chetty vs. P.S. Govindasawmi Naicker, AIR 1924 Madras 605,
3. Murikipudi Ankamma vs. Tummalacheruvu Narasayya and others, AIR (34) 1947 Madras 127,
4. Subhas Chandra Das Mushib vs. Ganga Prosad Das Mushib and others, AIR 1967 Supreme Court 878,
5. Amarsing Ratansing and another vs. Gosai Mohangir Somvargir and others,AIR 1972 Gujarat 74 (V 59 C 14),
6. Mst. Samrathi Devi vs. Parasuram Pandey and others, AIR 1975 Patna 140,
7. Afsar Shaikh and another vs. Soleman Bibi and others, AIR 1976 Supreme Court 163 (Patna),

8. P. Saraswathi Ammal vs. Lakshmi Ammal alias Lakshmi Kantam, AIR 1978 Madras 361,
9. Smt. Munni Devi vs. Smt. Chhoti and others, AIR 1983 Allahabad 444,
10. Savithramma vs. H. Garappa Reddy and others, AIR 1996 Karnataka 99,
11. Upasna & others vs. Omi Devi, 2001(2) Current Law Journal (Himachal Pradesh) 278,
12. Shri Kripa Ram and others vs. Smt. Maina, 2002(2) Shimla Law Cases 213,
13. N.V. Srinivasa Murthy vs. N.V. Gururaja Rao and others, (2005) 10 Supreme Court Cases 566 and
14. Jeet Kumar and another vs. Jai Chand and another, 2013(3) Himachal Law Reporter 1463.

10. On the other hand, the learned Senior counsel representing respondents No. 1, 3(a), 3(f), 4 to 6 and 14(a) to 14(g) has argued that the gift was never executed by the plaintiff, Raghu Ram, and in fact, the defendants by their cleverness had made plaintiff, Raghu Ram, to understand that some documents are to be executed with respect to family partition, which took place in the year 1940, and on that basis they persuaded him (Raghu Ram) to execute a gift deed without making him to understand the contents of the same. Learned Senior counsel has further argued that the cross-objections filed by the respondents are required to be allowed and the suit may be decreed in toto. To support his arguments the learned Senior Counsel has relied upon the law, as laid down in the following judicial pronouncements:

1. Moti vs. Roshan and others, AIR 1971 Himachal Pradesh 5 (V 58 C 2),
2. Ku. Sonia Bhatia vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1981 Supreme Court 1274,
3. Smt. Mallo vs. Smt. Bakhtawari and others, AIR 1985 Allahabad 160,
4. Digambar Adhar Patil vs. Devram Girdhar Patil (died) and another, AIR 1995 Supreme Court 1728,
5. Rajendra Tiwary vs. Basudeo Prasad and another, AIR 2002 (89) Supreme Court 136,
6. Krishna Mohan Kul alias Nani Charan Kul and another vs. Pratima Maity and others, (2004) 9 Supreme Court Cases 468,
7. Ashwani Kumar Rana vs. Balsharan Gautham and others, 2005(2) SLJ 1243,
8. Hari Shankar Singhania and others vs. Gaur Hari Singhania and others, (2006) 4 Supreme Court Cases 658,
9. Ramdev Food Products (P) Ltd. Vs. Arvindbhai Rambhai Patel and others, (2006) 8 Supreme Court Cases 726,
10. M. Venkataramana Hebbar (dead) By LRs vs. M. Rajagopal Hebbar and others, (2007) 6 Supreme Court Cases 401 and
11. Bhagwan Krishan Gupta (2) vs. Prabha Gupta and others, (2009) 11 Supreme Court Cases 33.

11. In rebuttal, the learned Senior Counsel for the appellant has argued that the gift deed was executed by the plaintiff, Raghu Ram, in favour of the defendants out of love and affection, as they were his nephews. He has further argued that the plaintiff, Raghu Ram, was fully aware about the consequences of the gift. He purchased the stamp papers and took the defendants to the Tehsil office at Karsog and executed a gift deed. He has argued that the appeal may be allowed.

12. To appreciate the arguments of the learned Senior counsel for the parties, I have gone through the record in detail.

13. At the very outset, as far as gift deed is concerned, the same is admitted by the plaintiffs, but it is argued that the defendants took undue advantage of the old age of deceased plaintiff (Raghu Ram) and they make him to understand that the document executed is with respect to family partition, which took place prior to the year 1940. This is how the defendants got the gift deed executed from deceased plaintiff (Raghu Ram).

14. In order to prove their case, the plaintiffs have examined nine witnesses, including Raghu Ram, who had executed a gift deed, Gauria, Man Singh, Shyam Singh, Lachmi Ram, Ganga Singh, H.Y. Sharma, Meer Singh and Prem Lal. On the other hand, the defendants, in order to prove their case, have examined four witnesses, namely, Dola Ram, Harish Chand, Chet Ram and D.S. Chandel.

15. The parties are co-owners of the suit land, however, they are in exclusive possession over certain portions of the land. Mere exclusive possession without the khata being dismembered is nothing, but it is still a joint possession of other co-owner.

16. The original deceased plaintiff, Shri Raghu Ram, has appeared in the witness-box as PW-1 and deposed that he is under treatment from P.G.I., Chandigarh. The defendants, who are from his in-laws' family, and the land, which is 63-64 bighas was partitioned 60 years ago, during the time of the ancestors. The defendants on the pretext that the partition will be given effect in the record got his signatures on the gift deed by mis-representation/fraud and when he came to know about this, he immediately filed the civil suit. In his cross-examination, nothing favourable to the defendants has come with regard to the gift deed. PW-2, Shri Gauria, had deposed with respect to separate possession of the parties after the settlement. PW-3, Shri Man Singh, has corroborated the statement of PW-2, Gauria. PW-4, Shri Shyam Singh, has also deposed with regard to the separate possession of the parties. PW-5, Shri Lachmi Ram, deposed that though he has signed gift deed, Ex. DA, as a witness, but the same was with respect to the settlement of the partition. In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that he does not know whether Ex. DA was read-over to Raghu Ram (deceased plaintiff). PW-6, Shri Ganga Singh, is the son of the plaintiff, who substituted the plaintiff. He has further stated that the land was partitioned during the time of the ancestors and he has produced on record the pedigree table to prove that he is successor. PW-8, Shri Meer Singh, is also one of the co-sharer, who has stated that they had separate possession on the land. He has shown his ignorance with respect to Ex. DA. PW-9 Shri Prem Lal, who has translated the documents from Urdu to Hindu.

17. On the other hand, the defendants have examined four witnesses, namely, Dola Ram, Harish Chand, Chet Ram, D.S. Chandel and Dola Ram was also re-examined.

18. DW-1, Shri Dola Ram (defendant No. 1), has stated that Raghu Ram has given 10½ bighas of land by making a gift deed. This witness tried to prove Ex. DA. To the similar effect he has examined other witnesses, that is, DW-2 Shri Harish Chand (Document Writer), DW-3 Chet Ram (Clerk) and DW-4, Shri D.S. Chandel (sub Registrar). DW-3, Shri Chet Ram, Clerk, sub Treasury, Karsog, was examined to prove the registration of the gift deed. From the above, it is clear that there was no occasion for Raghu Ram (deceased plaintiff) to have filed the civil suit after executing gift deed, Ex. DA, had he executed the gift deed.

19. Now this Court is faced with two situations, firstly, there is a registered gift deed and on the other hand the donor is claiming that he signed the documents taking into consideration the fact that the document is with regard to family partition, which took place 60 years before, as the defendants made him understand that by executing this document their position on the land, as per the family partition, will be recorded.

20. Adverting to the available revenue record, it unequivocally demonstrate that the parties are recorded as co-owners, however, it further reveals that the contesting parties are recorded in exclusive possession over some portions of the land. The land can be partitioned legally through an instrument of partition and the status of co-sharer in the revenue record is treated in the legal parlance as "community of possession and unity of title of all co-sharers", although they are depicted in the revenue record in exclusive possession over the separate portions of the land. Precisely, exclusive possession of the contesting parties cannot at all be termed/treated as "family partition", which is contended to have taken place inter se the predecessor-in-interest of the parties about 60 years back. As a matter of fact, no documentary evidence qua family partition has come on record. Moreover, even if we presume that "khangi taksim" took place between the predecessor-in-interest of the parties, then for such a long period of 50-60 years any of the parties should have taken steps to legally validate the same. Admittedly, there is no evidence on record which demonstrates that at any point of time steps were taken for recording the alleged private partition. Even the law mandates for legal validation of the private partition. No overt act is shown which proves that steps were taken for recording that private partition (Khangi taksim). In case the said private partition was legally validated, then the entries qua that should have been recorded in the revenue record, however, it is not so. For this reason only, the parties are still litigating. Khangi taksim is to be affirmed as per the provisions mandated by law. Separation of khata inter se the co-owners is the only mode to effect severance.

21. In the case in hand, as Khangi taksim was not recorded in the revenue record, the version of the plaintiff (deceased Raghu Ram), who appeared as PW-1, that papers of Ex. DA was signed by him assuming that the family partition is to be registered in the revenue record, has force. The original plaintiff (deceased Raghu Ram) immediately maintained a suit before the Court of law, by engaging an Advocate, when he came to know about the Ex. DA (gift deed). In these circumstances, the law, as cited by the learned Senior Counsel for the appellants, is required to be examined.

22. The Hon'ble Full Bench of Madras High Court in case titled as Venkati Rama Reddi and others vs. Pillati Ram Reddi and others, AIR 1917 (4) Madras 27 (Full Bench), has held that registration of a gift deed after the death of the donor is valid and the registration by the donor is not at all necessary. It has also been held in the judgment (supra) that execution of instrument duly signed is sufficient and the gift on registration takes effect from the date of its execution. However, this judgment is not applicable to the facts of the case in hand, as the executant has himself immediately maintained a suit with respect to mis-represendation/fraud made by the defendants, which he has also proved on record by leading cogent and convincing evidence.

23. The Hon'ble High Court of Madras in yet another case titled as P. Venkatachalam Chetty vs. P.S. Govindasawmi Naicker, AIR 1924 Madras 605, has held that a deed which disposes of any immediate interest in property is not a gift but a will, relevant text of the judgment is extracted as under:

> " … …It is contended that it is in effect a deed of gift operating in presenti and not a will at all and that as it is a deed of gift in respect of immoveable property which has not been registered, it is void and has no effect. A will is defined in Section 3 of the Probate and Administration Act (V of 1881), as "the legal declaration of the intentions of the testator with respect to his property, which he desires to be carried into effect after his death." This document which, as I have said, is described as a gift deed purports to dispose of part of a house. The relevant portions of the document are as follows:
>
> "You shall yourself after my lifetime use and enjoy the two rooms built on the ground of the house Municipal No. 11……I shall myself enjoy the rent in respect of those two rooms as long as I may be alive. You shall yourself use and enjoy after my lifetime that rent and that ground and the two rooms from son to grandson and so on in succession with power to gift, mortgage, exchange and sale. No one has any right to or interest in those rooms. To this effect is the gift deed document executed and given in respect of the aforesaid two rooms and their grounds."
>
> In the form it is a deed of gift and not a will, but in fact it is a declaration of the intentions of the donor with respect to her property which she desires to be carried into effect after he death, because there is no disposal of any immediate rights of possession or any immediate interest in the property. The fact that the document purports to reserve a life interest in the property to the donor is an argument against its being a will, but as was pointed out by the Privy Council in Thakur Ishri Singh vs. Thakur Baldeo, (1884) 10 Cal 792 (P.C.), no great attention need be paid to that, because it is a frequent thing in this country to find documents which are in fact wills in terms making clear that the person disposing of the property reserves a life or immediate interest in the property."

This judgment is not applicable to the facts of the present case.

24. The Hon'ble High Court of Madras in Murikipudi Ankamma vs. Tummalacheruvu Narasayya and others, AIR (34) 1947 Madras 127, has held that without there being any express reservation of a power of revocation in the gift deed, a donor does not have any right to revoke the gift and the only custody by the donor of the gift deed does not lead to any adverse conclusion against the donee, especially where the entire conduct of the donee shows that he accepted the gift and the document was kept in the family box to which the donee also had access. It has also been held that where the donor has the power to revoke and he validly exercises the same, he becomes the absolute owner of the property in question and in case he has no power of revocation, he ceases to have any interest or right in the property in question. However, this judgment is also not applicable to the facts of the present case, as the plaintiffs have proved mis-representation/fraud of the defendants and the deed writer with respect of Ex. DA (gift deed).

25. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Subhas Chandra Das Mushib vs. Ganga Prosad Das Mushib and others, AIR 1967 Supreme Court 878, has held that in cases of undue influence the Court must consider relations between the donor and the donee and has the donee used that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the donor, Court must also scrutinise the pleadings to ascertain whether undue influence was exercised or not. In the judgment (supra) the meaning of expression 'collusion' was expounded as "secret agreement for illegal purposes or a conspiracy and implies that a man does something evil designedly". Apt paras of the judgment are reproduced below:

"3. Under s. 16 (1) of the Indian Contract Act a contract is said to be induced by undue influence where the relations subsisting between the parties are such that one of the parties is in a position to dominate the will of the other and uses that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the other. This shows that the court trying a case of undue influence must consider two things to start with, namely, (1) are the relations between the donor and the donee such that the donee is in a position to dominate the will of the donor and (2) has the donee used that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the donor'?

... ...

7. The three stages for consideration of a case of undue influence were expounded in the case of Ragunath Prasad v. Sarju Prasad and others, 51 Ind App 101: (AIR 1924 PC 60) in the following words :-

"In the first place the relations between the parties to each other must be such that one is in a position to dominate the will of the other. Once that position is substantiated the second stage has been reached - namely, the issue whether the contract has been induced by undue influence. Upon the determination of this issue a third point emerges, which is that of the onus probandi. If the transaction appears to be unconscionable, then the burden of proving that the contract was not induced by undue influence is to lie upon the person who was in a position to dominate the will of the other.

Error is almost sure to arise if the order of these propositions be changed. The unconscionableness of the bargain is not the first thing to be considered. The first thing to be considered is the relations of these parties. Were they such as to put one in a position to dominate the will of the other?

… … … … … …

10. Before, however, a court is called upon to examine whether undue influence was exercised or not, it must scrutinise the pleadings to find out that such a case has been made out and that full particulars of undue influence have been given as in the case of fraud. See Order 6, Rule 4 of the Code of Civil Procedure. This aspect of the pleading was also given great stress in the case of Ladli Prasad Jaiswal, (1964) 1 SCR 270: (AIR 1963 SC 1279) above referred to. In tht case it was observed (at p. 295) (of SCR): (at p. 1288 of AIR):

"A vague or general plea can never serve this purpose; the party pleading must therefore be required to plead the precise nature of the influence exercised, the manner of use of the influence, and the unfair advantage obtained by the other."

… … … … … …

12. It will at once be noted from the above that the two portions of the extracts from paragraph 4 are in conflict with each other. According to the first portion the plaintiff's father Prasanna colluded with his sister on the advice of his brother to execute the deed of gift. The word "collusion" means a secret agreement for illegal purposes or a conspiracy. The use of the word "collusion" suggests that Prasanna knew what he was about and that he did it secretly or fraudulently with the object of depriving the plaintiff. According to the second portion of the extract, Prasanna, because of his old age, was subject to senile decay and could not discriminate between good and evil. This hardly fits in with the case of collusion which implies that a man does something evil designedly. There is no suggestion in this paragraph of the plaint that Prasanna was under the domination of Balaram and that Balaram exercised his power over Prasanna to get the document executed and registered by Prasanna. It will be remembered that nominally the property stood in the name of the sister who was also a party to the document and according to the extract quoted above Balaram had exercised undue influence over her also.

… … … … … …

25. There was practically no evidence about the domination of Balaram over Prasanna at the time of the execution of the deed of gift or even thereafter. Prasanna, according to the evidence, seems to have been a person who was taking an active interest in the management of the property even shortly before his death. The circumstances obtaining in the family in the year 1944 do not show that the impugned transaction was of such a nature as to shock ones conscience. The plaintiff had no son. For a good many years before 1944 he had been making a living elsewhere. According to his own admission in cross- examination, he owned a jungle in his own right (the area being given by the defendant as 80 bighas) and was therefore possessed of separate property in which his brother or nephew had no interest. There were other joint properties in the village of Parbatipur which were not the subject- matter of the deed of gift. It may be that they were not as valuable as the Lokepur properties. The circumstance that a grand -father made a gift of a portion of his properties to his only grandson a few years before his death is not on the face of it an unconscionable transaction. Moreover, we cannot lose sight of the fact that if Balaram was exercising undue influence over his father he did not go to the length of having the deed of gift in his own name. In this he was certainly acting very unwisely because it was not out of the range of possibility that Subhas after attaining majority might have nothing to do with his father."

This judgment is not applicable to the present case, as mis-representation/fraud on the part of the defendants stands cogently proved by the plaintiffs.

26. The Hon'ble High Court of Gujarat in Amarsing Ratansing and another vs. Gosai Mohangir Somvargir and others, AIR 1972 Gujarat 74 (V 59 C 14), has held that in cases of gift or will where the executant of the same intended to convey and confer immediate title on a person subject to his right of resident for the life time and no right of revocation was reserved, the document is "gift" and not a "will". Relevant paras of the judgment are reproduced below:

> "6. Applying the twin tests to the document Ex. 45, what we find is that the said document is engrossed on a stamp-paper of the erstwhile State of Baroda and it was registered with the Registrar of document, the suit property was given in gift to the plaintiff No. 3, but the said deceased Bai Andar reserved a right to reside in the said property till her lifetime. It was, therefore, further directed that the plaintiff No. 3 and his heirs or assignees were entitled to use and enjoy and to transfer the same by mortgage, sale, gift or otherwise after her death and at that time the other heirs of the executant would have no relation or concern with it. The plaintiff No. 3 further directed to mutate the suit property in the Municipals office after her death and the plaintiff No. 2 should pay the taxes thereafter. On these conditions the suit property was given in gift to the plaintiff No. 3 and in spit of this document, if any heir or person claiming interest caused any obstruction or raise any objection, the executant would at her cost and expense remove the said objection or obstruction. It was further directed that the documents constituting title in respect of the said property were to be collected by the plaintiff No. 3 after the death of Bai Andar. On considering the above gist of the document, it is very clear that the deceased Bai Andar intended to convey and confer the title on plaintiff No. 3 immediately subject to her right of residence for the lifetime. It was, therefore, nothing more than reservation of life interest in the property. The mere fact of reservation of life interest in property would not convert a deed of gift into a testamentary instrument. The other test. Viz, there is any right of reservation, impliedly or expressly, for revocation of an instrument, I have been able to find none and Mr. Shah has not been able to point out any relevant provision in the document, Ex. 45, from which it could be suggested, remotely, that there was an intention to reserve the right of revocation. It was, however, contended by Mr. Shah that if it is held that this is a sill, then right of revocation is implicit in it. I am of the opinion that the last contention does not reserve any consideration because in order to determine that the instrument is a testamentary instrument, the various tests as suggested by the High Court of Bombay. AIR 1947 Bom 49, should be satisfied and the two main tests were, whether the arrangement was to be effective in praesenti and whether there is any right of revocation express or implied. On both these tests Mr. Shah has not been able to satisfy me that the document. Ex. 45, was in nature of a will I am therefore, of opinion that both the learned Judges were right in holding that the document, Ex. 45, was not a will but a deed of gift.
>
> 7. The second contention of Mr. Shah that even if it is assumed that Ex. 45 is a deed of gift, it was not validly and legally attested also should be rejected. In the first place, in the written statement the defendants have not raised this plea of want of proper and legal attestment of the document in question. No issue has been raised by the trial Court, secondly no material has been brought out in cross-examination of the attesting witness which would show that the attestation was not legal and proper, I have been taken through the evidence of attesting witness and I have not been able to find any material from which it could be said that the attestation by the witnesses was not made as required by Section 3 of the Transfer of Property Act. On the contrary the evidence of the attesting witness Chandulal Bapalal, Ex. 41, shows that the persons signing on behalf of the executant as well as the other attesting witness, viz. Chimanlal Shyamlal, had put their signatures in his presence. The other attesting witness Chimanlal Shyamlal has died and therefore, it was not possible for the plaintiffs to examine him. In the cross-examination nothing has been brought out which would show that the attestation was not according to the law. Both the Courts below have also found that the document was attested and executed. The learned trial Judge has further found from the evidence that the defendant No. 1 has admitted in his cross-examination that he knew that Bai Andar had made a will in favour of plaintiff No. 3 and, therefore, apart from the question; whether the nature of document was a gift or a will, it was found by the Court that the deceased Bai Andar had executed the document. According to Section 68 of the Evidence Act the necessity of examining an attesting witness would arise only when a document which is required by law to be attested is sought to be used in evidence and the execution thereof is questioned. Here, it has been found by the learned trial Judge that the defendant No. 3 and had admitted that such a document was in fact executed in favour of plaintiff No. 3. In that view of the matter, therefore, the second contention of Mr. Shah should fail."

The judgment is not applicable to the facts of the present case.

27. The Hon'ble High Court of Patna has held as under in Mst. Samrathi Devi vs. Parasuram Pandey and others, AIR 1975 Patna 140, that the fact of the deed being handed over by the donor to the donee is sufficient evidence of his having accepted the gift and the acceptance of the said document is a relevant fact to prove the acceptance of the gift by him. In the judgment (supra) it has also been held that in second appeal matter relating to realm of fact, which was not raised earlier, cannot be permitted to be raised. Apt paras of the judgment are extracted below:

"7. Before proceeding to consider the various contentions raised by learned counsel appearing for the respective parties, I do not feel any difficulty to hold that the reason of the learned Munsif for holding that defendant No. 1 had, no right to execute the deed of gift in favour of the plaintiff as she was only a maintenance holder is unsustainable in law. In view of his own finding that defendant No. 1 was in adverse possession over the suit properties and had acquired a title thereby in her own rights, her status from a mere maintenance holder had changed, she having already perfected her title on that account. Accordingly, she was perfectly competent to deal with the properties in question in whatever manner she liked as the full owner of the same. The deed of gift executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of the plaintiff was, therefore, not correctly considered and appreciated. The only ground on which the said document was challenged by the defendants was fraud and coercion exercised on defendant No. I. In this court, Mr. Prem Lal, learned counsel appearing for the respondents, also invited my attention to the various recitals of fact in the said document, such as, the description of the plaintiff as the own daughter of defendant No. 1 and that she was living with her and nursing her which, according to the learned counsel, were not factually correct. Be that as it may, as already stated, the deed in question was not challenged by the defendants on these grounds at any stage. These are all matters relating to the realm of fact; and, if the defendants wanted to challenge the document on these materials, it was open to them to challenge this document on these grounds also and to establish as a fact that the testamentary disposition by defendant No. 1 was intended to take place and motivated due to the said factors. In this court, it is too late for them to urge these questions of fact for which no material was brought on the record.

8. Mr. Premlal, however, contended that the transfer by way of gift in favour of the plaintiff purported to have been made under the document (Ext. 5) was not complete as the same was not accepted by the plaintiff, and she herself had stated to this effect in the impugned document (Ext. D). It is true that a transaction of gift in order to be complete must be accepted by the donee during the lifetime of the donor. The fact of acceptance, however, can be established by different circumstances, such as by the donee's taking possession of the property or by possession of the deed of gift alone. There are numerous authorities in support of the proposition that if a document of gift after its execution or registration in favour of the donee is handed over to him by the donor which he accepts, it should amount in law to be valid acceptance of the gift. In support of this proposition, Mr. J. C. Sinha relied upon a decision of the Judicial Committee in the case of Kalyanasundaram Pillai v. Karuppa Mooppanar*, (AIR 1927 PC 42). In this case, their Lordships approved the view of the Full Bench of the Bombay High Court in* Atmaram Sakharam v. Vaman Janardhan*, (AIR 1925 Bom 210) (FB) that where the donor of immovable property handed over to the donee an instrument of gift duly executed and attested, it would amount to the acceptance of the gift by the donee, and the donor had no power to revoke the gift even if the registration of the instrument had not taken place. This court also in* Ram Chandra Prasad v. Sital Prasad*, (AIR 1948 Pat 130) took a similar view and held that the fact of the deed being handed over by the donor to the donee was sufficient evidence of his having accepted the gift, and that the acceptance of the said document was a relevant fact to prove the acceptance of the gift by him. To the same effect is the view of the High Court of* Travancorc and Cochin in the case of Esakkimadan Pillai v. Esakki Amma, (AIR 1953 Trav-Co 336). It is not necessary to multiply authorities in support of this proposition. From the above, discussion, it must be held that the deed of gift executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of the plaintiff was a valid and binding document resulting in a complete transfer of the interest of defendant No. 1 in respect of the suit properties to the plaintiff."

The judgment is not applicable to the facts of the present case, as no new matter is raised by the in the present regular second appeal.

28. The Hon'ble High Court of Patna in Afsar Shaikh Devi vs. Parasuram Pandey and others, AIR 1975 Patna 140, has held it is question of fact where a person is in a position to dominate the will of another and procure certain deed by undue influence and the same cannot be reopened in second appeal, if decided in accordance with prescribed procedure. Separate pleadings qua "undue influence" are necessary and general allegation cannot spell out undue influence. Apt paras of the judgment (supra) are reproduced hereinbelow:

"15. While it is true that `undue influence', `fraud', `misrepresentation' are cognate vices and may, in part, overlap in some cases, they are in law distinct categories, and are in view of Order 6, Rule 4, read with Order 6, r.2, of the Code of Civil Procedure, required to be separately pleaded, with specificity, particularity and precision. A general allegation in the plaint, that the plaintiff was a simple old man of ninety who had reposed great confidence in the defendant, was much too insufficient to amount to an averment of undue influence of which the High Court could take notice, particularly when no issue was claimed and no contention was raised on that point at any stage in the trial court, or, in the first round, even before the first appellate court.

16. The High Court has tried to spell out a plea of undue influence by referring to paragraph 7 of the written statement in which the defendant inter-alia stated that he was "looked after and brought up by the plaintiff as his son and he became very much attached to the plaintiff and since his infancy till the middle of this year this defendant always lived with the plaintiff and used to treat him as his father helped him and looked after all his affairs." This paragraph, according to the learned Judge, contains "a clear admission of the intimate relationship between the two indicative of the position of dominating the will of the plaintiff by defendant No. 1".

17. We are, with due respect, unable to appreciate this antic construction put on the defendants' pleading. All that has been said in the written statement is that the relationship subsisting between the plaintiff and the defendant was marked by love and affection, and was akin to that of father and son. Normally, in such paternal relationship, the father, and not the son, is in a position of dominating influence. The defendant's pleading could not be reasonably construed as an admission, direct or inferential, of the fact that he was in a position to dominate the will of the plaintiff. In spelling out a plea of undue influence for the plaintiff by an `inverted' construction of the defendants' pleading, the High Court overlooked the principle conveyed by the maxim secundum allegatae probata, that the plaintiff could succeed only by what he had alleged and proved. He could not be allowed to travel beyond what was pleaded by him and put in issue. On his failure to prove his case as alleged, the court could not conjure up a new case for him by stretching his pleading and reading into it something which was not there, nor in issue, with the aid of an extraneous document. Thus considered, the High Court was in error when by its judgment, dated October 16, 1963, it remanded the case to the first appellate Court with a direction to determine the question of undue influence "on material already on record."

... ...

19. It is well settled that a question whether a person was in a position to dominate the will of another and procured a certain deed by undue influence, is a question of fact, and a finding thereon is a finding of fact and if arrived at fairly, in accordance with the procedure prescribed, is not liable to be reopened in second appeal (Satgur Prasad v. Har Narain Das, 59 Ind App 147 = (AIR 1932 PC 89); Ladli Parshad v. Karnal Distillery Co. Ltd., (2964) 1 SCR 270 = (AIR 1963 SC 1279).

... ...

21. The law as to undue influence in the case of a gift inter vivos is the same as in the case of a contract. It is embodied in s. 16 of the Indian Contract Act. Sub-section (1) of s. 16 defines 'undue influence' in general terms. It provides that to constitute 'undue influence' two basic elements must be cumulatively present. First, the relations subsisting between the parties are such that one of the parties is in a position to dominate the will of the other. Second, the party in dominant position uses that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the other. Both these conditions must be pleaded with particularity and proved by the person seeking to avoid the transaction.

22. In view of this sub-section, the Court trying a case of undue influence of the kind before us, must, to start with, consider two things, namely, (1) are the relations between the donor and the donee such that the donee is in a position to dominate the will of the donor? and (2) has the donee used that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the donor ? (Subhas Chandra v. Ganga Prasad). 1 SCR 331 at p. 334 = (AIR 1967 SC 878 at p. 880).

23. Sub-section (2) of s. 16 is illustrative as to when a person is considered to be in a position to dominate the will of the other. It gives three illustrations of such a position, which adapted to the facts of the present case, would be (a) whether the donee holds a real or apparent authority over the donor, (b) whether he stands in a fiduciary relation to the donor, or (c) whether he makes the transaction with a person whose mental capacity is temporarily or permanently affected by reason of age, illness or mental or bodily distress.

24. Sub-section (3) contains a rule of evidence. According to this rule, if a person seeking to avoid a transaction on the ground of undue influence proves-

(a) that the party who had obtained the benefit was, at the material time, in a position to dominate the will of the other conferring the benefit, and

(b) that the transaction is unconscionable, the burden shifts on the party benefitting by the transaction to show that it was not induced by undue influence. If either of these two conditions is not established the burden will not shift. As shall be disussed presently, in the instant case the first condition had not been established, and consequently, the burden never shifted on the defendant.

25. In Subhas Chandra's case (ibid), this Court quoted with approval the observations of the Privy Council in Raghunath Prasad v. Sarju Prasad, 51 Ind App 101 = (AIR 1924 PC 60) which expounded three stages for consideration of a case of undue influence. It was pointed out that the first thing to be considered is, whether the plaintiff or the party asking relief on the ground of undue influence has proved that the relations between the parties to each other are such that one is in a position to dominate the will of the other. Upto this point 'influence' alone has been made out. Once that position is substantiated, the second stage has been reached - namely, the issue whether the transaction has been induced by undue influence. That is to say, it is not sufficient for the person seeking the relief to show that the relations of the parties have been such that the one naturally relied upon the other for advice, and the other was in a position to dominate the will of the first in giving it. "More than mere influence must be proved so as to render influence in the language of the law, 'undue' (Poosathurai v. Kappanna Chettiar, 47 Ind App 1 = (AIR 1920 PC 65)). Upon a determination of the issue at the second stage, a third point emerges, which is of the onus probandi". If the transaction appears be unconscionable, then the burden of proving that it was not induced by undue influence is to lie upon the person who was in a position to dominate the will of the other.

"Error is almost sure to arise if the order of these propositions be changed. The unconscionableness of the bargain is not the first thing to be considered. The first thing to be considered is the relations of the parties. Were they such as to put one in a position to dominate the will of the other".

… … … … … …

28. Thus, even the slander shred in the plaint from which the High Court tried to spell out a whole pattern of fiduciary relationship between the parties and a position of dominant influence for Afsar, was torn and destroyed by the plaintiff himself in the witness-stand.

29. In the context of the first-stage consideration, the District Judge found on the basis of the evidence on record, that although the plaintiff was an old man-and he had intentionally, far overstated his age yet he was quite fit to look after his affairs. On this point, the District Judge accepted the version of the plaintiff's own witness (PW 7) which was to the effect, that the plaintiff himself yokes the bullocks, and unaided by anybody else, ploughs his lands. In the face of such evidence, the District Judge was right in holding that Ebad plaintiff, though old, was physically fit to carry on his affairs. There was no evidence to show that the mental capacity of the donor was temporarily or permanently affected or enfeebled by old age or other cause, so that he could not understand the nature of deed or the effect and consequences of its execution. The mere fact that he was illiterate and old, was no proof of such mental incapacity. None of the circumstances mentioned in sub-section (2) of s. 16, had been proved from which an inference could be drawn that the donee was in a position to dominate the will of the donor."

As mis-representation/fraud on the part of the defendants stands cogently proved by the plaintiffs, the judgment is not applicable to the facts of the present case.

29. The Hon'ble High Court of Madras in P. Saraswathi Ammal vs. Lakshmi Ammal alias Lakshmi Kantam, AIR 1978 Madras 361, has held that 'bargain is tainted by undue influence and it is only after particulars are made available and a reasonable proof thereof has been given, the onus would shift on the so called 'person of domination'. Until then the burden is on the complainant to establish it is so. The Court must scrutinize the pleadings and evidence to ascertain undue influence or coercion. Relevant paras of the judgment are reproduced hereinabove in extenso:

> "11. The plea of undue influence as raised in the pleadings rests upon the following facts urged by the plaintiff. According to the plaintiff she came to understand that the defendants have taken undue advantage of the dominant position which they and the first daughter and the husbands of both the sisters occupied with reference to her and it was in that atmosphere she was compelled to execute the challenged sale deed. The second objection is that the consideration said to have been paid under the document is ridiculously low, the third contention is that the document is a sham one not intended to be acted upon. To further this contention, the plaintiff would allege that she was told that the mother was taking a loan and that she should attest the document and she believed her mother and signed the same. She would also add that the document on the face of it is unconscionable and gives the first defendant unfair advantage. But the telling irreconcilable part of it is that in the alternative, the plaintiff accepts the document partially and she is prepared to redeem the properties without payment of the consideration mentioned therein, if the Court ultimately holds that the money was lent under the document. She claims that she is not liable to pay any amount for such redemption, since the first defendant was in possession and enjoyment of the properties till the date of suit. In a case where a litigant intends to overlook and bypass a registered document under which prima facie certain rights have become vested and under which third parties have acquired indefeasible rights, then the challenging party should be in a position to give such particulars about such undue influence which should form the basis of her complaint. The primary ground on which the plea of undue influence is founded is based on relationship. It is axiomatic that mere proof of relationship however near it may be, is not sufficient for a Court to assume that one relation was in a position to dominate the will of the other. Such bonds of kinship which are universally felt should not be mistaken as equivalent to saying that one kinsman could unduly influence the other in the circuit of such bondage. Even if any advice is given it may be influence but not undue influence. The tie of relationship need not necessarily be used unwisely, injudiciously and unhelpfully so as to gain an unfair advantage by the relation who is advising the other relation. Particularly in a Hindu family a widowed mother, who would rather be fairly and affectionately inclined to an unmarried daughter would not make undue preferences in favour of a married one who has already been provided for and who was well set in life. The sentiment, the traditional features of a Hindu Home, the love and affection of a mother towards her natural and last child which is a always in one way unless there are very extraneous circumstances to assume otherwise should always prompt a Court to raise the reasonable presumption that any advice or influence which a parent brought to bear on his own child is not to gain an advantage for herself or to see that an unfair advantage is gained by another child of hers in preference to the challenging child. There is also one other important and salient feature which ought to be established on materials pleaded and acts established that the 'bargain is tainted by undue influence' and it is unconscionable that it could reasonably be said that the person to obtain unfair advantage for himself and so as to cause injury to the person sought relying upon his authority or aid. It is only after such particulars are made available and a reasonable proof thereof has been given, the onus probandi would shift on the so-called 'person of domination'. Until then the burden is on the complainant to establish it is so.

12. In the instant case, the particulars given are not so appealing and telling. It is essential that in a case where fraud, undue influence or coercion is put at the forefront the complaining party should set forth the facts in full and give such essential particulars instead of making general allegations. That this is the legal requirement as provided for in Order 6, Rule 4, C.P.C. is reiterated by the Supreme Court in Subhas Chandra v. Ganga Prosad (AIR 1967 SC 878) . The Supreme Court said that the Court must scrutinize the pleadings to find out that a plea has been made out and that full particulars thereof have been given before examining Whether undue influence was exercised or not. In the light of this, the pleadings and the evidence let in should be scrutinized.

13. Before doing so, it would be convenient to refer to the plaintiff herself and her ability and capability. She had her early education in an Anglo Indian School and studied up to Pre-University Class in the Nirmala College, Coimbatore. She is, therefore, an educated lady and not an illiterate or a person, who could be said to be incapable of acting on her own. In cases where a person suffers from an infirmity or backwardness, then standards of proof regarding undue influence or coercion may be slightly different. The case cited by the learned counsel for the respondent in Nibaran v. Nirupama (AIR 1921 Cal 131) deals with the transaction of a Pardanashin lady. They divided the decisions on the subject under two groups as follows:

> "..... First, cases where the person who seeks to hold the lady to the terms of her deed is one who stood towards her in fiduciary character or in some relation of personal confidence; and secondly, cases where the person who seeks to enforce the deed was an absolute stranger and dealt with her at arm's length. In the former class of cases, the Court will act with great caution and will presume confidence put and influence exerted; in the latter class of cases, the Court will require the confidence and influence to be proved intrinsically".

A fortiori therefore, in a case where the challenging litigant is capable and literate and the parties are parent and child, the Courts, must be doubly careful and would certainly demand strict proof of the misuse of confidence and influence said to have been exercised by the other party when the other party is none else than the mother. P. Ws. 1, 2 and 3 do not convincingly refer to any unfair practice indulged in by the mother when she joined with the plaintiff to sell the property to the sister of the plaintiff. P. W. 4, the plaintiff's father-in-law, does not even wisper about undue influence having been exercised by the mother or any other member of the family. He would only ask us to draw some inference from surrounding facts. He would say that Dr. Punnaivanam, the husband of the first defendant took active part in arranging the marriage of the plaintiff and that the husband chosen was according to the choice of the plaintiff herself and that considerable sums were spent for her marriage. It is in this background of total lack of particulars of undue influence that we should read the evidence of P. W. 5, the plaintiff herself. She admits that she might have read the document Ex. B-2. This necessarily means that she has read it, since there is no denial of it. Her case is that she was not aware that she was executing a sale deed. Her specific particulars which she gives in the witness box about the practice of undue influence are that her mother, the second defendant, her elder sister, the first defendant, and Punnaivanam, the husband of the first defendant, informed her that another family house had been brought to sale in Court auction and that in order to save the property she must sign the document. There is no corroboration about this extraordinary version. The first defendant as D. W. 6 speaking to the contrary would say that the property had to be sold in order to secure money for purpose of the marriage of the plaintiff and since she was inclined to purchase the property she bargained for and fixed a fair price of Rs. 10,000/- and purchased the property under Ex. B-2. No doubt the mother whose act has been challenged and who is obviously in an embarrassing position, did not choose to get into the box. D. W. 5 is characterised by the lower court as a respectable person. He deposed that Ex. B-2 was read over and after it was so read over only, the plaintiff signed Ex. B-2, But the trial Judge thought that D. W. 5 should have expressed an opinion besides having spoken the truth. He was of the view that D. W. 5 should have specifically stated that the plaintiff signed the document after knowing the true nature of it. We are unable to share the view of the trial court in this behalf. When once a person placed in the position of the plaintiff who is not an illiterate and who could be said to have such experience in life and matters to understand things it is very difficult to infer that the plaintiff has discharged her burden. She would say in the witness box that she signed because she wanted to avoid a sale of another property of the family. She improves her case in the witness box so as to satisfy the legal requirement about the particulars of undue influence by saying that she believed her mother and her elder sister and signed the document. She would pretend that she signed as a witness to some document. She also would say that there was no necessity for sale, since there were family jewels and other monies of her father which was available for celebrating her marriage. The document is of the year 1964. Her mother was sending her regularly some amounts by way of pocket money and there was therefore no ill-feelings or any difference of opinion in the family. It is only in 1969, when she was in Coimbatore, she came to know that her property has been sold. Excepting for this evidence that it was P. W. 3 who told her about it no other speak about it, P. W. 3 was examined on 23-3-1971 and P. W. 5 was examined on 24-3-1971. There is no consistent version which is acceptable even as regards the information said to have been given by P. W. 3 in 1969. P. W. 3 would not specifically refer to the meeting at Coimbatore in 1969, whilst P. W. 5 the plaintiff refers to it very vaguely. In the suit notices which were exchanged under Exs. A-4 and A-2 there is no specific reference to the plaintiff having been unduly influenced by her mother. One other important feature Which has to be borne in mind in the instant case is that the plaintiff should be deemed to have understood the challenged deed and signed it. The plea of non est factum is therefore not available to her. She says "PADITTHU ERUKKALAM" but she does not say " PADIKKAVILLI". The fair assumption is that she read it, understood it and signed it. To quote the observations of the Privy Council in Martin Cashin v. Peter j. Cashin (AIR 1938 PC 103):

"In a case where the person executing the deed is neither blind nor illiterate, Where no fraudulent misrepresentation is made to him, where he has ample opportunity of reading the deed and such knowledge of its purport that the plea of non est factum is not open to him, it is quite immaterial whether he reads the deed or not. He is bound by the deed because it operates as a conclusive bar against him not because he has read it or understands it, but because he has chosen to execute it".

Mr. Thiagarajan referred to various decisions. Narayanadoss Balakrishna Doss v. Buchrai Chordia Sowcar (53 Mad LJ 842) : (AIR 1928 Mad 6); Rama Patter v. Lingappa Gounder (69 Mad LJ 104) : (AIR 1935 Mad 726); Mannankatti Ammal v. Vaiyapur Udayar (1961-2 Mad LJ 367); Abdul Malick Sahib v. Md. Yousuf Sahib and other cases to show that this is a case where the plaintiff should be deemed to have been unduly influenced. In all those cases the following principles were laid down.

"(1) Where confidential relations exist, those standing in such relations cannot entitle themselves to hold benefits unless they can show that the persons who have conferred the benefits had competent and independent advice. In this case, neither does the age nor the capacity of the person conferring the benefit affect the principle".

"(2) Age and capacity are considerations which may be important in cases where no confidential relation exists".

There can be no quarrel relating to such accepted and general proposition. But each case has to depend upon its facts. In the instant case, the parties are parent and child. The document was executed at a time when the marriage negotiations of the plaintiff were going on. According to us, the plaintiff understood that it was sale of her property for consideration. The story that there were other moveable properties such as jewels and cash which ought to have been sufficient for the conduct of her marriage though spoken to vaguely has not been established. No such evidence has been placed before us either. The normal circumstance of securing competent and independent advice would not enter for consideration in this case because it was all arranged in a family council in which there was no distrust or mistrust as between the one and the other. What was sold did not belong to the plaintiff at all on the date of sale. She had only a bare right of expectancy; it may be a vested right. The subject-matter of the sale was not fully appreciated by the trial court. Both life interest of the mother as well as the ultimate remainder vested in the plaintiff were act (sic) of the second defendant after freely exercising her independent will and mind. The case relied on by Tyagarajan in Lancashire Loans Ltd. v. Black (1934-1 KB 380) which, of course, is a case as between a daughter and a mother, is certainly distinguishable. There, the daughter, who did not understand the transaction, signed the document at the request of her mother. The only advice which the daughter received was that of a Solicitor, who also acted for the mother and the money-lenders, who duped the daughter and who prepared the documents. It was in those circumstances the Court of Appeal held that the daughter was under the undue influence of her mother when she entered into the transaction in question and as the money-lenders had notice of the facts which constituted undue influence on the part of the mother, the transaction must be set aside. The facts of our case are entirely different.

14. Learned counsel for the first respondent rests his case in the alternative on the inadequacy of consideration which was more or less the sole ground on which the lower Court found a case of undue influence. The Court thought that the price paid under Ex. B-2 was ridiculously low. We have already referred to the fact that the plaintiff came to Court with inconsistent plea and she was not able to substantiate her case of undue influence, by concrete evidence. The sale is both the life estate and the vested remainder. But the lower court did not have this in mind and went on evaluating the property on some uncertain evidence regarding the income which it fetched and came to the conclusion that the price paid was ridiculously low, and therefore, the document should be set aside. Ex. A-17 dated 3-3-1965 furnished data with reference to some other property but said to be similar. This was proved by P. W. 2, who asserts that the suit land would fetch an annual rent of Rs. 5,000/-. Reliance is also placed on Ex. A-37 which is a diary said to have been written by the second defendant. Apart from the fact that this diary appears to be a book, which cannot be relied upon in a Court of law, the entry therein does not show that the amount mentioned therein related to one year's period only. But according to the Court below Ex. A-41 dated 1'4-12-1950 and Exs. A-60 dated 25-1-1962 and A-61 provided clinching evidence about the income. The mother was a party to Exhibits A-60 and A-61. The lower Court accepted the materials furnished under Exs. A-41, A-60 and A-61 and came to the conclusion that the annual rent yield from the property would be about Rs. 3,500/- to Rs. 4,250/-. Prima facie it appears that a sale of a property for a sum of Rs.

10,000/- when its annual yield is in the range of Rs. 3,000/- to Rs. 4,000/-is not a fair transaction. But as we said, the second defendant, who is a party to Ex. B-2 had a life-interest over the property and she was selling her life-interest also under it. The second defendant is still alive. The document is of the year 1964, Even now she is reported to be hale and healthy. For six years, therefore, that is, six years before the suit, she lost her annual income of Rs. 4,000/- subsequent to the institution of the suit, she has lost another like sum. In cases where it is necessary to take subsequent events into consideration, the Court is not powerless to view those events also and weigh the reality of the situation or the equity of the bargain. If the mother has lost Rs. 48,000/- so far which ought to form part of the consideration, then the property should be deemed to have been sold for a sum of Rs. 60,000/- in 1964. This is not an unfair price even if the annual yield was about Rs. 4,000/-. This was not borne in mind by the learned Judge. The lower Court apparently was of the view that it was the plaintiff and the plaintiff alone who was entitled to the property on the date of sale and it is in that light, it considered the issue whether the price paid was ludicrously low. The plaintiff's case is that the property could have fetched only a sum of Rs. 40,000/-. Even on the date of suit, the consideration which should be deemed to have passed under the sale was very near that amount. But this is not all. The entirety of the transaction must be taken into consideration and the necessity for the sale, are all factors which should necessarily be borne in mind before a transaction could be set aside on the ground that the price paid therein is so low that it could be said to have been tainted by undue influence. In A. S. No. 644 of 1972 this Division Bench held :

"When once it is proved that the properties in question were sold for a consideration by the vendor without being influenced either by coercion or by undue influence then the question as to why he had sold the property may not loom large. More so in the instant case when the father of the vendor himself had attested the said document ... ..."

For the above reasons, we are unable to share the view of the trial court that Ex. B-2 should automatically fail and be held as an inoperative document on the only ground that prima facie the consideration is not adequate.

... ...

16. On the ground that what was sold was the life-interest and the ultimate remainder of the plaintiff in the property and that the price, therefore, paid therein cannot be said to be inadequate, for the mother parted with her life-interest, the value of which is considerable and on the ground that the mother cannot be said to have exercised any undue influence over her daughter and lastly on the ground that the suit itself should be held to be barred by limitation, we accept the dismissal of the suit made by the court below and would also hold that the plaintiff has failed to prove that Exhibit B-2 has to be set aside or cancelled on the ground that her mother or any of her near relations unduly influenced her to be a party to it."

The above referred judgment is also not applicable to the facts of the present case, as the alleged gift deed, Ex. DA, was executed by Raghu Ram (deceased original plaintiff) presuming that the same is a document giving effect to private family partition and when he came to know about the mis-representation/fraud committed by the defendants on him, he immediately maintained a suit by engaging an Advocate.

30. The Hon'ble High Court of Allahabad in Smt. Munni Devi vs. Smt. Chhoti and others, AIR 1983 Allahabad 444, has held that promise is not enforceable in law where a gift deed of property executed by mother in favour of only daughter with promise by daughter of being looked after and maintained throughout her life. Apt para of the judgment is reproduced hereinbelow:

"7. The plaintiff-respondent's allegation that the defendant-appellant was residing with her and was solicitous of her comfort and assured to look after her and maintain her throughout her life was probably true, for the defendant-appellant was the plaintiff-respondent's only daughter, so too the desire of the defendant-respondent to settle her property on the defendant-appellant by way of gift-deed which was executed on 6th Dec. 1963. There was nothing unnatural or improbable in the plaintiff-respondents' expectation that in case of need the defendant-appellant would look after her and maintain her though at the same time the plaintiff-respondent hoped that she would never have to look to her daughter for maintenance and for that purpose she had four bighas of land reserved with her. It, however, appears that some two years before the suit the defendant-appellant shifted to her husband's place. Probably, that was the proper thing for her to do. But the plaintiff-respondent transferred the remaining four bighas of land to her brother. It may be that her brother got that sale-deed executed by some sort of undue influence or it may be that the plaintiff-respondent thought that that was the best thing for her to do. Nevertheless, this act of the sale of the remaining property by the plaintiff-respondent to her brother seems to have annoyed the defendant-appellant, at any rate her husband and that seems to have led to the litigation. The facts so far did not admit of much controversy. The question is of their legal effect and the rights of the parties. The plaintiff-respondent undoubtedly had the right to sell off the remaining four bighas of land to whomsoever she pleased. That sale could not detract from her right to maintenance against the defendant-appellant in case she had any such right in law. So far as the plaintiff's claim for cancellation of the gift-deed was concerned, that was clearly barred by limitation. Under the circumstances, the only claim that could properly be considered by the Court was the plaintiffs claim for maintenance that was made in the alternative. The foundation of that claim is to be found in S. 20 of the Hindu Adoptions and Maintenance Act, 1956. The assurance or the promise, which the plaintiff might have had or might have believed to have had from the defendant-appellant of being looked after and maintained throughout her life when she made the gift is not enforceable as such in law, because the gift must have been made on account of natural love and affection and not in consideration of the said assurance or promise."

The judgment is applicable to the facts of the present case.

31. The Hon'ble High Court of Karnataka in Savithramma vs. H. Gurappa Reddy and others, AIR 1996 Karnataka 99, has held allegation of fraud and misrepresentation are high allegations and it can be rated on par with criminal trial. Relevant para of the judgment (supra) is extracted below:

"8. In need to dispose of this aspect of the matter which 1 propose to do on a very clear cut consideration. The position that emerged was that after the death of Kalappa Reedy, it was necessary that the legal heirs be brought on record. The wife and the sons were infact impleaded and it is true that the remaining family members were not impleaded, particularly the four married daughters. The position would have been entirely different if the remaining family members were impleaded and only the present applicant was not in which case there might have been some basis for the allegations that have been made. Furthermore, what needs to be stated is that the matter came to be negotiated and it is impossible for any court to attribute dishonesty, mala fides or any other such imputations to the parties in the absence of very strong and cogent material. To my mind, had the matter been compromised in a manner whereby only the land belonging to the present applicant was conceded to Gurappa Reddy, there might have been some warrant for the allegations. On an examination of the facts, I find that an even larger portion of the land belonging to the other heir has been made a part of the compromise. This clearly indicates that there was neither any hostility, ill will nor any form of involvement but that the negotiation for whatever it was worth, was carried on and that it was according to the best judgment of the parties who were before the Court at that time that the compromise was carved out and recorded. It is a well settled law that even within the province of civil litigation when an allegation of misrepresentation or fraud is made, that the level of proof required is extremely high and is rated on par with a criminal trial. On the basis of the material before the Court here, it would therefore be impossible to uphold the charge that the compromise decree stood vitiated on grounds of either misrepresentation or fraud. To my mind, therefore that contention cannot be upheld."

In the case in hand, the allegation of mis-representation/fraud has been sufficiently proved by the plaintiff without any doubt, therefore, the judgment is not applicable to the present case.

32. The Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh in Upasna & others vs. Omi Devi, 2001(2) Current Law Journal (Himachal Pradesh) 278, document of gift deed has been found to be valid and proper. Apt text of the judgment is as under:

"17. …. … … … …the allegation of fraud, coercion and undue influence could not be proved by the plaintiffs and as such both the Courts below have rightly held that the plaintiffs have failed to prove that the gift deed was as a result of fraud, coercion and undue influence. The possession of the land in dispute was given to the defendant and the mutation of entry in the revenue record in her name was made by the Patwari in the presence of Beli Ram during his life time. The execution of the gift deed was the personal right of the donor and since Beli Ram had not assailed the gift made by him in favour of the defendant during his life time, the plaintiffs have failed to establish that the donee had not rendered any service to the donor during his life time. The gift has been validily made by the donor in favour of the donee voluntarily and with his free will and accepted by the donee it cannot be said that the gift was induced by undue influence under Section 16(2) & (3) of the Indian contract Act, 1872 and was as a result of fraud as defined under Section 1 of the Act. The ratio of the judgment in Ladli Parshad Jaiswal vs. The Karnal Distillery Co., Ltd. Karnal & ors.. Air 1963 Supreme Court 1279 strongly relied on by the learned counsel for the plaintiffs in my view does not advance the case of the plaintiffs that the gift in question was as a result of undue influence under S. 16(2) & (3) of the Contract Act, 1872. In Subhas Chandra Das Mushib v. Ganga Prasad Das Mushib & ors., AIR 1967 Supreme Court 878, it has been observed that law under Section 122 of the Transfer of Property Act, 1882 as to undue influence is the same in case of a gift inter vivos as in case of a contract. It has further been held that the court trying a case of undue influence under Section 16 of the Contract Act, 1872 must consider two things to start with, namely, (1) are the relations between the donor and the donee such that the donee is in a position to dominate the will of the donor, and (2) has the donee used that position to obtain an unfair advantage over the donor? Upon the determination of these issues a third point emerges, which is that or the onus probandi. If the transaction appears to be unconscionable, then the burden of proving that the contract was not induced by undue influence is to lie upon the person who was in a position to dominate the will of the other. The judgment further proceeded to observe that merely because the parties were nearly related to each other or merely because the donor was old or of weak character, no presumption of undue influence can arise. In this view of the matter, as noticed hereinabove, the plaintiffs have miserably failed to establish that the gift deed was executed by donor in favour of the donee under undue influence or fraud. … …

In the present case, the plaintiffs have proved on record that gift deed, Ex. DA, was the result of mis-representation/fraud, therefore, the judgment is of no help to the defendants.

33. The Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh in Shri Kripa Ram and others vs. Smt. Maina, 2002(2) Shimla Law Cases 213, has held there is presumption of correctness of endorsement on a document. Relevant paras of the judgment are extracted hereunder:

> "10 Section 60 of the Registration Act specifically provides that certificate endorsed on the document, registered by the Registrar, shall not only be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving that document has duly been registered in the manner provided under the Act but also that the facts mentioned in the document referred to in Section 59 have taken place as mentioned therein.
>
> It is now well settled that presumption of due execution of a document arises from the endorsement of the Sub Registrar under Section 60 of the Act. As far back as in 1928 Privy Council in Sennimalai Goundan and another v. Sellappa Goundan and others, AIR 1929 Privy Council 81, interpreting the provisions of Section 60 (2) read with Section 115 of the Evidence Act held that where a person admits execution before the Registrar after the document has been explained to him, it cannot subsequently be accepted that he was ignorant of the nature of transaction. In that case, the plaintiff alleged that his father and brothers, with an intention of defrauding the plaintiff of his legitimate share in the family properties, entered into a fraudulent collusive partition. The trial Court found that plaintiff's case was proved and he decreed the suit. In appeal, it was held that the plaintiff failed to make out the alleged fraud and allowed the appeal. The decree of the trial Court was set aside. The Subordinate Judge had found that the partition was unequal because the land allotted to the plaintiff was less than allotted to other brothers. It was found that contemporaneously with the partition, some land that fell into the share of plaintiff Karuppa were conveyed to his second wife Nachakkal by a registered sale deed. Nachakkal gave evidence that the transaction was bogus, as she never paid the consideration for the sale though she admitted execution of the sale deed before the Registrar. Her story that she was ignorant of the nature of the transaction, it was held, cannot be accepted as she had admitted the execution of the sale deed before the Registrar.
>
> … … … … …
>
> 13. A Single Judge of this Court in Rewat Ram Sharma v. Munish Ram (RSA No. 242 of 1994) decided on December 13, 2001, relying upon Kanwarani Madna Vati, Sennimalai Goundan (supra) and Dinesh Chauhan Chandra Guha v. Satchindannanda Mukhereji, AIR 1972 Orissa 235, held that admission of signatures on the endorsement made by the Registrar by an executant of the document in the absence of anything else to the contrary, would lead to the inference that the plaintiff was present before the Sub Registrar when the document was presented for registration and the onus to rebut the presumption under Section 60(2) of the Registration Act was heavily on the plaintiff which the plaintiff did not discharge. In that case, the case of the plaintiff was that he had borrowed some money from the defendant and had agreed to mortgage his property in favour of the defendant. The plaintiff was taken to the Tehsil Headquarters for the purpose of execution of the mortgage deed. His signatures were obtained by the defendant by making him to believe that it was a mortgage deed and later on, the defendant proclaimed that the property has been gifted to the defendant and plaintiff realized that instead of mortgage deed, gift deed was executed from him fraudulently by the defendant. He repudiated the gift deed and filed a suit that the gift deed was a result of misrepresentation, fraud and undue influence on the part of the defendant. It is in this context that the Court held that Section 60(2) of the Evidence Act raises presumption as to the correctness of the endorsements made on the document by the Registering Officer."

Again, the judgment referred hereinabove is of no help to the defendants as the alleged gift deed, Ex. DA, has been found to be tainted with mis-representation/fraud.

34. The Hon'ble Apex Court in N.V. Srinivasa Murthy vs. N.V. Gururaja Rao and others, (2005) 10 Supreme Court Cases 566, has held that jurisdiction under Section 100 can only be exercised in second appeal on the basis of said question of law framed at the time of admission or modified or substituted later, then the appeal is to be heard and decided only on the basis of such duly framed substantial question of law. As the mis-representation/fraud is a question of fact and now of law, so the judgment referred to hereinabove is of no help to the defendants.

35. In Jeet Kumar and another versus Jai Chand and another, 2013 (3) Him L.R. 1463, this Hon'ble High Court held as under:

"24. The learned Single Judge in Subramanian Asari and another Vs. Kanni Ammal Velamma*, A.I.R. 1953 T.C. has held that to attract Section 126 of the Transfer of Property Act, the conditions to be satisfied are: (1) that the donor and the done must have agreed that the gift shall be suspended or revoked on the happening of a specified event; (2) such event must be one which does not depend on the will of the donor; (3) that the donor and the done must have agreed to the condition at the time of accepting the gift and (4) that the condition should not be illegal or immoral and should not be repugnant to the estate created under the gift. The learned Single Judge has held as under:*

"2. It is not disputed that if an absolute and indefeasible estate was created in favour of the done under Ex. II, the sole heir to succeed to that estate on the death of the done is the plaintiff. But it is argued on behalf of the appellants that the documents read as a whole will show that only a life estate was intended to be created in favour of the done. This contention does not gain any support from the clear and definite expressions used in Ex.II. The donor has unequivocally stated in the document that he is transferring all his right over the property to the done and that she is being put in possession of the property forthwith. It is also stated that from the date of the gift the done is to enjoy the property for ever with absolute powers to deal with the same and that she is to obtain Pattah for the property in her own name and to pay the tax due in respect of the property. No rights of any kind have been reserved in favour of the donor. Thus there is no scope for contending that only a life estate was created in favour of the done. On the other hand, it is clear that the demise under Ex. II was absolute. The gift was accepted by the done and she obtained Pattah for the property and continued to pay the tax in her own name. Reference to these facts is made in the hypothecation bond Ex. I to which the donor was also a party and as such it is clear that the gift came into effect.

All the same it is seen from the gift deed Ex. II that after conveying the property absolutely to the done, the donor has inserted a clause in the document intending to regulate the devolution of the property on the death of the done. That clause is to the effect that on the death of the done, the property shall not devolve on any of her heir but that it is to revert back to the donor himself. It is argued on behalf of the appellants that this provision amounts to a condition subsequent and that a demise subject to such a condition can be validly made. Section 126, Transfer of Property Act, is relied on in support of this contention. That section lays down that "the donor and the done may agree that on the happening of any specified event which does not depend on the will of the donor, a gift shall be suspended or revoked."

In order to attract this provision, the conditions to be satisfied are: (1) that the donor and the done must have agreed that the gift shall be suspended or revoked on the happening of a specified event, (2) such event must be one which does not depend on the will of the donor, (3) that the donor and the done must have agreed to the condition at the time of accepting the gift and (4) that the condition should not be illegal or immoral and should not be repugnant to the estate created under the gift."

25. The learned Single Judge in M. Venkatasubbaiah Vs. M. Subbamma and others, AIR 1956 Andhra 195 has held that gift cannot be revoked for neglecting to maintain donor under Section 126 of the Transfer of Property Act. The learned Single Judge has held as under:

"9. The present case cannot be brought within the ambit of the section firstly for the reason that there is no agreement between the parties that the gift should be either suspended or revoked; and secondly this should not depend on the will of the donor. Again, the failure of the donee to maintain the donor as undertaken by him in the document is not a contingency which could defeat the gift under Ex. A-4.

All that could be said is that the default of the done in that behalf amounts to want of consideration of a document of gift for failure of consideration. If the donee does not maintain the donor as agreed to by him, the latter could take proper steps to recover maintenance etc. It is not open to a settler to revoke a settlement at his will and pleasure and he has to get it set aside in a Court of law by putting forward such pleas as bear on the invalidity of gift deed."

29. In Mst. Samrathi Devi Vs. Parasuram Pandey and others AIR 1975 Patna 140, the learned Single Judge has held that handing over a gift deed to done amounts to valid acceptance of gift. The learned Single Judge has held as under:

"8. Mr. Premlal, however, contended that the transfer by way of gift in favour of the plaintiff purported to have been made under the document (Ext. 5) was not complete as the same was not accepted by the plaintiff, and she herself had stated to this effect in the impugned document (Ext. D). It is true that a transaction of gift in order to be complete must be accepted by the donee during the lifetime of the donor. The fact of acceptance, however, can be established by different circumstances, such as by the donee's taking possession of the property or by possession of the deed of gift alone. There are numerous authorities in support of the proposition that if a document of gift after its execution or registration in favour of the donee is handed over to him by the donor which he accepts, it should amount in law to be valid acceptance of the gift. In support of this proposition, Mr. J. C. Sinha relied upon a decision of the Judicial Committee in the case of Kalyanasundaram Pillai v. Karuppa Mooppanar, (AIR 1927 PC 42). In this case, their Lordships approved the view of the Full Bench of the Bombay High Court in Atmaram Sakharam v. Vaman Janardhan, (AIR 1925 Bom 210) (FB) that where the donor of immovable property handed over to the donee an instrument of gift duly executed and attested, it would amount to the acceptance of the gift by the donee, and the donor had no power to revoke the gift even if the registration of the instrument had not taken place. This court also in Ram Chandra Prasad v. Sital Prasad, (AIR 1948 Pat 130) took a similar view and held that the fact of the deed being handed over by the donor to the donee was sufficient evidence of his having accepted the gift, and that the acceptance of the said document was a relevant fact to prove the acceptance of the gift by him. To the same effect is the view of the High Court of Travancorc and Cochin in the case of Esakkimadan Pillai v. Esakki Amma, (AIR 1953 Trav-Co 336). It is not necessary to multiply authorities in support of this proposition. From the above, discussion, it must be held that the deed of gift executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of the plaintiff was a valid and binding document resulting in a complete transfer of the interest of defendant No. 1 in respect of the suit properties to the plaintiff."

30. The learned Single Judge in Kasi Ammal Vs. Vellai Gounder and another 1980 Vol. 2 Madras Law Journal 232 has held that first requirement is that a gift of immovable property should be made by a registered instrument signed by or on behalf of the donor and attested by at least two witnesses and the second requirement is that there must be acceptance of the gift by the done. The learned Single Judge has held as under:

"2. Under Section 123 of the Transfer of Property Act, a gift of immovable, property should be mad(c) by a registered instrument signed by or on behalf of the donor and attested by at least two witnesses. The second requirement is there must be acceptance of the gift by the donee. In the instant case there is no dispute regarding the compliance of the first condition. Regarding the compliance of the second condition viz., acceptance of the gift by the donee, the plaintiff herein, the appellate Court has held, that there, is no acceptance of the gift by the donee and even the original of Exhibit A-1 was not handed over to her. Exhibit A-4 recites: (Editor: The text of the vernacular matter has not been reproduced. Thus Exhibit A-1 clearly recites that the possession of the property covered under it has been handed over to the donee, the plaintiff herein. Apart from the recitals in Exhibit A-1, P.Ws. 2 and 3, the attestors to Exhibit A-1 have also given evidence that plaintiff has accepted the gift under Exhibit A-l. Thus the twin requirements of valid execution of the gift deed and acceptance of the gift by the decree, are clearly established by the evidence on record. Exhibit A-1 shows that it is an irrevocable deed and the plaintiff's husband Seetharama Goundar has not reserved any power of revocation under Exhibit A-l. On the other hand, Seetharama Goundar has clearly stated in Exhibit A-1, that he would not revoke the settlement deed (Exhibit A-l) for any reason whatsoever. The recitals in Exhibit A-1, thus clearly establish that it is an unconditional, absolute gift in favour of the plaintiff. When there is a valid gift under Exhibit A-1 and the property has vested in favour of the plaintiff, Seetharama Goundar is not competent to execute Exhibit B-5 and revoke the settlement deed which he had executed under Exhibit A-1. Exhibit B-5, is therefore an invalid instrument and has been rightly ignored as not affecting the rights of the plaintiff to the suit property which she got under the original of Exhibit A-l."

As noticed hereinabove, in this case, the donee, i.e. Jai Chand has also signed the gift, i.e. Ex. PW2/A.

32. In Smt. Shakuntla Devi Vs. Smt. Amar Devi, AIR 1985 Himachal Pradesh 109, the Division Bench of this Court has held that the gift not based on fraud, undue influence or misrepresentation, the cancellation of the same is not valid. Their Lordships have further held that the acceptance of a gift can be either expressed or implied. The Division Bench has held as under:

"6. It is contended by Shri D.D. Sud, vice Shri Chhabil Dass, learned counsel for the appellant that the gift made by Shri Sansar Singh being void, he as also his legal representatives were entitled to redeem the mortgage. It is stated by him that the gift was rightly cancelled by Shri Sansar Singh as the donees failed to fulfil the conditions contained in the gift deed. It is also urged that the possession of the property was not delivered to the donees as also the gift was not accepted by them. He has placed reliance on a decision in Mt. Anandi Devi V. Mohan Lal, AIR 1932 All 444. It is convenient to extract relevant observations made in the said decision:

".....We accept the findings of the learned Judge as regards the value to be attached to the oral evidence called on behalf of the plaintiff and his finding that an express acceptance by Mt. Kapuri has not been proved. The learned Judge however merely finds acceptance not proved, because he disbelieves the actual case set up by the plaintiff as regards express acceptance. He never directed his mind to the vital question as to whether there was proof of acceptance within the meaning of S. 3, Evidence Act. It has been argued here by counsel for the respondents that the only acceptance under S. 122, T.P. Act, contemplated by that section is an express acceptance. We however do not find anything in the section to limit acceptance to an express acceptance, and we must take it that acceptance may be either express or implied. As the learned Judge has not considered the question of an implied acceptance based upon circumstantial evidence at all, we must consider it. It has been argued by counsel for the appellant that the law in India based upon S. 122, T.P. Act, is similar to the Common Law of England with regard to acceptance. There is no doubt that in England the law is that acceptance of a gift will be presumed unless dissent is shown. That would mean that in this case, it would be for the defendants to prove that Mt. Kapuri had dissented from the gift. Lord Halsbury in his Laws of England (Vol. 15, P. 418) says:

"Express acceptance by the done is not necessary to complete a gift. It has long been settled that the acceptance of a gift by the done is to be presumed until his dissent is signified, even though he is not aware of the gift, and this is equally so although the gift be of an onerous nature or of what is called an onerous trust."

This rule of law has been applied to India by a Single Judge of the Patna High Court in the case of Muhammad Abdul Nayeem V. Jhonti Mahton. We however are not prepared to go so far. If S. 122 stopped short at saying that the gift must be accepted by or on behalf of the done as it would be natural for any person to accept a non-onerous gift, we might be prepared to hold that the English law applied in India."

The aforesaid observations in the above quoted decision do not help the appellant. The acceptance of a gift can be either express or implied. In fact, there is no evidence on record to show that the donees had dissented from accepting the gift."

33. The learned Single Judge of this Court in Mool Raj Vs. Jamna Devi and others, AIR 1995 Himachal Pradesh 117 has held that failure of donee to render services to donor or to maintain donor not specified to be a condition for revocation, in gift deed, the same cannot be revoked being not conditional. The learned Single Judge has held as under:

"27. Thus, the present gift deed, whether considered as an outcome of custom or of general law, cannot be said to be revocable one on the ground that it was executed for past and future services. When no specific condition for revocation has been made in the deed itself in the event of failure of the donee to render services to the donor or maintain the donor, the gift cannot be revoked.

29. As held above, the gift under reference was not a conditional one and could not be revoked. But on the other hand the donor could ask for maintenance from the defendants. To the donor to get maintenance through the Court would amount to perpetuate her agony in case the donees were not rendering any service and were not maintaining donor. The donees in the present case are none else but donor's husband's brother's sons. It is expected of them to look after the donor who happens to be their uncle's wife. Under the circumstances, it would be essential, in the interests of justice, to direct the donees to maintain and look after the donor properly throughout her life. Such an obligation, otherwise also rested upon the defendants and their father and this obligation becomes legal when the defendants have bound down themselves to render services to the donor throughout her life on account of the averments made in the gift deed. The defendants, as such, are directed to render proper services and maintain the plaintiff-donor throughout her life failing which the donor shall be at liberty to take such legal action against the donees as would be permissible to her under the law."

34. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Khushal Chand Swarup Chand Zabak Jain, Jalgaon Vs. Sureshchandra Kanhaiyalal Kochar and another*, 1995 Supp. (2) Supreme Court Cases 36 have held that once execution of the gift deed is admitted, due execution under Registration Act is presumed to have been done, it being a registered document. Their Lordships have further held that the testator having divested herself of her title to the property by gift in favour of respondent after due execution and registration of the gift deed, subsequent will executed by her in favour of the appellant would not confer any right in the bequeathed property on the appellant. Their Lordships have held as under:*

"4. Section 68 of the Evidence Act prescribes proof of execution of the document required by law to be attested. It says that if a document is required by law to be attested, it shall not be used as evidence until one attesting witness at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there by an attesting witness alive and subject to the process of the Court and capable of giving evidence: Provided that it shall not be necessary to call the attesting witness in proof of execution of any document, not being a Will, which has been registered in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Registration Act, unless its execution by the person by whom it purports to have been executed is specifically denied.

5. It is seen from the pleadings that the execution of the document has not been denied. On the other hand the recitals in the Will executed by Raja Bai establish that she admitted the execution. However, she stated therein that it has been obtained by fraud and misrepresentation. Fraud and misrepresentation have been specifically dealt with and rejected by the learned Single Judge of the High Court as well as by the Division Bench. Once the execution of the document has been specifically admitted, the due execution under the Registration Act is presumed to have been done as the gift is admittedly a registered document. Moreover in this case, as seen from paragraph 7 of the judgment of the High Court, one attesting witness has been examined on behalf of the appellant who admitted in the cross-examination that he attested the document. Son of another attesting witness and also the son of the scribe of the document have also been examined on behalf of the respondent. That evidence was considered and the High Court found that the document has been duly proved. Under these circumstances it must be concluded that due execution of the gift deed has been proved by the respondent. It is no doubt clear from the evidence that Raja Bai retained the possession of the property. Obviously the beneficial enjoyment of the property has been retained by her for her lifetime. Under these circumstances Raja Bai having divested (sic herself) of her title to the property after due execution and registration of the gift deed, she has been divested of her right and interest except her beneficial right to enjoyment of the property during her lifetime. Therefore, the Will executed in favour of the appellant is a document which does not confer any right in the bequeathed properties on the appellant and is inconsequential. The appeal is, therefore, dismissed with costs."

35. In Kamakshi Ammal Vs. Rajalakshmi and others, AIR 1995 Madras 415 the Division Bench has held that when there is a specific recital in deed that possession is given, the presumption of acceptance arises. The Division Bench has held as under:

"21 Further, paragraphs 3 and 4 of the plaint specifically says that Pavunambal accepted the settlement. Further, the plaint also says that the original settlement deeds are also filed along with the plaint. As against this particular allegation regarding the original settlement deeds being filed by the plaintiff, the written statement only states that the original settlement deeds were always with the 7th defendant and they were never in the custody of Pavunambal or plaintiff or defendants 1 to 6. In other words, there was no allegation a all in the written statement that the original settlement deeds were stolen by the plaintiff's father (1st defendant) from the 7th defendant. The suggestion comes in only when PW 1 is examined. Further, DW 1, the 8th defendant does not at all depose so. We cannot accept the story of plaintiff's father or the plaintiff stealing away the original settlement deed from the 7th defendant. Once that story is not acceptable there could be the necessary inference that the original settlement deeds were given over to the donee Pavunambal at the time of the gifts. In Samrathi v. Parasuram (AIR 1975 Pat 140) also it has been held, relying on Kalyana-sundaram Pillai v. Karuppa Moopanar (AIR 1927 PC 42) and Atmaram Sakharam v. Vaman Janardhan (AIR 1925 Bom 210 (FB)), that the fact of the gift deed being handed over by the donor to the donee, was sufficient evidence of his having accepted the gift. Learned counsel for the appellant was vehemently contending that despite the settlement deed, the 7th defendant alone continued to possess and enjoy the property and that there was also no mutation of names in the Municipal register pursuant to the settlements. According to him, from this, it can be inferred that there was no acceptance of the gift by the donee. But, we are unable to accept this contention. Even assuming that the 7th defendant continued to possess and enjoy the property alter the above referred to settlements, that by itself would not necessarily lead to the inference that there was no acceptance by the donee of the gifts. Even after accepting the gifts, the donee Pavun-ambal could have allowed her father, the 7th defendant to enjoy the income from the properties settled in view of the relationship of father and daughter between the donor and donee. Further, Exs.A.3 and A.4 specifically recite that possession has been handed over to the donee. When such recital is there, a presumption arises that possession has been handed over to the donee. (Vide Fatima Bibi v. Khairum Bibi (AIR 1923 Mad 52). No doubt, it may be rebuttable presumption. But, in the present case, delivery of possession of the gifted property is not absolute requirement, for the completeness or the validity of the gift as found in Muslim Law of Gifts. All that we have to find in the present case is whether there was acceptance of the gift by the donee. Even assuming that the donor continued to be in possession and enjoyment of the property gifted, from that alone, it cannot be necessarily inferred that acceptance by the donee of the gift was not there. No doubt in Venkatasubbamma v. Narayana-swami (1954) 1 Mad LJ 194: (AIR 1954 Mad 215) it was held that the facts relied on to draw an inference of acceptance must be by acts of positive conduct on the part of the donee, and not merely passive acquiescing such as standing by when the deed was executed or registered. But, the facts in the present case are different as mentioned above and there are enough features as mentioned above to at least hold that there was implied acceptance of the gifts in question. Even (1954) 1 Mad LJ 194 (supra) has held that law requires acceptance, which may even be implied. Therefore, we concur with the Court below in holding that Exs.A.3 and A.4 settlements are valid."`

36. In Naramadaben Maganlal Thakker Vs. Pranjivandas Maganlal Thakeer & Ors*. 1997(1) S.L.J. 80, their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court have held that execution of a registered gift deed, acceptance and delivery of property together make the gift complete. Their Lordships have held as under:*

"3. It is now well settled legal position that a document has to be read harmoniously as a whole giving effect to all the clauses contained in the document which manifest the intention of the persons who execute the document. The material part of the gift deed reads as under:

"The said immovable property as described above with the ground floor and with the ways to pass and with the water disposal and with all other concerned rights, titles is gifted to you and the possession whereof is handed over to you under the following conditions to be observed by you and your heirs and legal representatives as long as the Sun and the Moon shine. Therefore, now I or my heirs or legal representatives have no right on the said property. You and your heirs and legal representatives have no right on the said property. You and your heirs and legal representatives have become the exclusive owners of the same. You and your heirs and legal representatives are entitled to enjoy, to transfer or to use the said property as you like under the conditions mentioned in this deed. id immovable property as described above with the ground floor and with the ways to pass and with the water disposal and with all other concerned rights, titles is gifted to you and the possession whereof is handed over to you under the following conditions to be observed by you and your heirs and legal representatives as long as the Sun and the Moon shine. Therefore, now I or my heirs or legal representatives have no right on the said property. You and your heirs and legal representatives have no right on the said property. You and your heirs and legal representatives have become the exclusive owners of the same. You and your heirs and legal representatives are entitled to enjoy, to transfer or to use the said property as you like under the conditions mentioned in this deed. Except myself, there is nobody's right, title, interest or share on the said property: I have not mortgaged the same by any document. Yet however anybody comes forward to claim the fight, I shall remove the same. The said property is gifted to you on such conditions that and you are made owners by the gift deed of said property on such conditions that there are 15 rooms on the said property at present. I am rightful to receive the rents and the mesne profit whatsoever accused from the said rooms throughout my life. I am only entitled to receive the mesne profit of the said property till I live. Therefore, I, the executants, shall be entitled to let out the said buildings (rooms), to receive the rent amount to make all the other arrangement throughout my life. Similarly, the said property shall be in my possession till I live. Therefore, I have gifted this property to you by reserving permanently my rights to collect the mesne profit of the existing rooms throughout my life. And by this gift deed the limited ownership right will be conferred to you till I live. After my death you are entitled to transfer the said property. I shall not give in any way my right to anybody to collect the mesne profit. You may get transferred the said property in your name in support of this deed. This gift deed is executed to you under the aforesaid conditions."

4. The material part of the cancellation deed reads as under:-

"I have, on 15.5.65, executed a conditional gift deed of Rs.9,000/- in words Rupees nine thousand in favour of you. The said deed has been presented in the office of the Sub Registrar, Baroda at Sr. No. 2153 of the book no. 1 and it is registered on 15.5.65. The description of the property mentioned in the said deed is as under:

"I executed to you a conditional gift deed of the said property from sky to earth. You had promised me to fulfil the oral conditions between us. But immediately after making the gift accordingly, you denied to fulfil the said conditions. The possession of the gifted property is not handed over to you. So in fact you have not accepted the conditional gift of the property and I am also not willing to act according to the conditional gift. It is also mentioned in the said conditional gift deed that the possession shall be kept with me. And so accordingly my possession is continued. My possession is from the beginning and it is permanent. You are not ready to act according to our conditions. Therefore, I have to execute immediately this deed of cancelling the conditional gift deed between us. Therefore, I hereby cancel the conditional gift deed dated 15.5.65 of Rs.9,000/- in words rupees nine thousand presented at the serial no. 2153 on 15.5.65 in the office of the Sub Registrar Baroda for registration. Therefore, the said conditional gift deed dated 15.5.65 is hereby cancelled and meaningless. The property under the conditional gift has not been and is not to be transferred in your name."

6. Acceptance by or on behalf of the done must be made during the life time of the donor and while he is still capable of giving.

7. It would thus be clear that the execution of a registered gift deed, acceptance of the gift and delivery of the property, together make the gift complete. Thereafter, the donor is divested of his title and the done becomes the absolute owner of the property. The question is: whether the gift in question had become complete under Section 123 of the TP Act? It is seen from the recitals of the gift deed that Motilal Gopalji gifted the property to the respondent. In other words, it was a conditional gift. There is no recital of acceptance nor is there any evidence in proof of acceptance. Similarly, he had specifically stated that the property would remain in his possession till he was alive. Thereafter, the gifted property would become his property and he was entitled to collect mesne profits in respect of the existing rooms throughout his life. The gift deed conferred only limited right upon the respondent-donee. The gift was to become operative after the death of the donor and he was to be entitled to have the right to transfer the property absolutely by way of gift or he would be entitled to collect the mesne profits. It would thus be seen that the enjoyment of the property during his life time. The recitals in the cancellation deed is consistent with the recitals in the gift deed. He had expressly stated that the respondent had cheated him and he had not fulfilled the conditions subject to which there was an oral understanding between them. Consequently, he mentioned that the conditional gift given to him was cancelled. He also mentioned that the possession and enjoyment remained with him during his life time. He stated, " I have to execute immediately this deed of cancelling the conditional gift deed between us. Therefore, I hereby cancel the conditional gift deed dated 15.5.65 of Rs. 9000/- in words rupees nine thousand presented at the Serial no. 2153 on 15.5.65 in the office of the Sub-Registrar Baroda for registration. Therefore, the said conditional gift deed dated 15.5.65 is hereby cancelled and meaningless. The property under the conditional gift has not been and is not to be transferred in your name." Thus, he expressly made it clear that he did not hand over the possession to the respondent nor did the gift become complete during the life time of the donor. Thus the gift had become ineffective and inoperative. It was duly cancelled. The question then is: whether the appellant would get the right to the property? It is not in dispute that after the cancellation deed dated June 9, 1965 came to be executed, duly putting an end to be conditional gift deed dated May 15, 1965, he executed his last Will on May 17, 1965 and died two days thereafter."

In the instant case, the gift deed is registered and the possession as per recital contained in the gift has been handed over to the done, i.e., Jai Chand.

37. The learned Single Judge in Tokha Vs. Smt. Biru and others AIR 2003 Himachal Pradesh 107 has held that once the possession of immovable property viz land delivered to done, the gift is complete and when no condition of revocation in gift deed in case services were stopped to be rendered by done, the gift deed cannot be termed as conditional and revocable one. The learned Single Judge has held as under:

> "22. In the case in hand there is no specific condition either for giving maintenance or for revoking of the gift deed in case services are stopped to be rendered by the donee. Anyway, the fact remains, as has been stated in the deed of gift that the gift was in lieu of services meaning thereby that the donee had to render services to the donor-plaintiff but in the absence of any specific condition in the event of failure of the donee to render services, the gift could not be revoked. Thus, the deed of gift Ext. D-1 if considered as an outcome of general law cannot be said to be revocable one when no specific condition for its revocation has been made in the deed Itself in the event of failure of the donee to provide services to the donor or maintain the donor, the gift cannot be revoked.
>
> 23. In that view of the matter, and in the light of the above said decisions of various High Courts, the first appellate Court acted illegally in considering the document of gift to be conditional and revocable one. The above first question of law accordingly stands answered in favour of the defendants and as a consequence thereof it is held that deed of gift Ext. D-1 was unconditional, it could not be revoked on account of the failure of donee (since deceased) to render services or to maintain the plaintiff.
>
> 29. In Thakur Raghunath Ji Maharaj v. Ramesh Chandra, (2001) 5 SCC 18 : AIR 2001 SC 2340 the facts were that land was gifted for a specific charitable purpose for constructing a Degree College building thereon with the condition attached to it that if the building was not constructed within six months the deed would come to an end and donor would become entitled to the property. An agreement was also executed on the same day when the deed of gift was executed. In the facts of that case their Lordships held that relationship between the donor and donee was fiduciary nature, donee continued to be trustee and donor could claim back the property on breach of the conditions mentioned therein and donee having failed to fulfil the conditions the suit for possession filed by the donor was rightly decreed by the first appellate Court. The ratio of this judgment is not applicable in the facts of the present case. In the case on hand the agreement Ext. PW-3/A was not executed on 12-1-1984 when the deed of gift was executed by the plaintiff in favour of donee Singh whereas the alleged agreement was only executed on 5-3-1984 just one day prior to the registration of the deed of gift on 6-3-1984 and in these circumstances the deed of gift and the agreement would not form part of the same transaction and cannot be read together and given effect to as held by the first appellate Court."

38. The learned Single Judge in Balai Chandra Parui Vs. Smt. Durga Bala Dasi and others, AIR 2004 Calcutta 276 has held that in the absence of coercion, fraud and undue influence, the gift deed could not be revoked. The learned Single Judge has held as under:

"31. Now, let me come to the submissions of the learned counsel for the respective parties as well as the document on record. From the evidence on record and from the judgments and decrees passed by the Court-be-low it appears that there are some facts which are admitted. Such as Smt. Durga Bala Devi executed the deed of gift in favour of Mr. Balai Chandra Parul that is the defendant/said Balai Chandra Parui accepted the deed of gift. In the said deed of gift there remains three attesting witnesses. One Sri Ganesh Chandra Das, the deed writer, another Sri Patitosh Chakraborty and the third is Sri Sarada Charan Das. In the last line of the deed it has been written in Bengali Sri Balai Chandra Parui read and explain the purport of the deed of gift to Smt. Durga Bala Devi the donor herein. Up to this stage everything is admitted and/or comes out of record. Now, let me see the provisions of Section 42 and Section 126 of the Transfer of property Act, Both the Sections are quoted hereinbelow :-

"42. Transferred by person having authority to revoke former transfers - where a person transfers any immovable property, reserving power to revoke the transfer, and subsequently transfers the property for consideration to another transferee, such transfer operates in favour of such transferee (subject to any condition attached to the exercise of the power) as a revocation of the former transfer to the extent of power."

"126. When gift may be suspended or revoked -the donor and donee may agree that on the happening of any specified which does not depend on the Will of the donor a gift shall be suspended or revoked; but a gift which the parties agreed shall be irrevocable wholly or impart, at the mere Will of the donor, is void wholly or impart, as the case may be.

Gift may also be revoked in any of the cases (save want or failure of consideration) in which, if it were a contract it might be rescinded. Save as aforesaid, a Gift cannot be revoked. Nothing contained in this section shall be deemed to effect the rights of transferees for consideration without notice."

33. The above being the position there I is no scope in normal course for revocation of a deed of gift when the said deed of gift i was executed by the donor accepted by the ! donee and registered by the registering authority. From the provisions of Registration Act it is clear that the registering authority I shall enquire . This term "shall Enquirer" is really important and most relevant here. The Transfer of Property Act also provides that normally a deed of gift cannot be revoked. The Registration Act as referred to above also provides that the registering officer will satisfy himself about the identity of the parties. Therefore, identification and enquiry about the execution of deed of gift completes the deed.

34. Reading the provisions of Section 42 and Section 126 of the Transfer of Property Act the ratio which comes out is that the deed of gift can be revoked if there is an agreement for revocation. In such circumstances the deed of gift is not at all a gift because if somebody agrees to gift some property to anybody at the same time the donor retains the power to revoke the deed then it cannot be termed to be a deed of gift.

34A. The deed of gift however can be revoked :-

(i) If there is any prior condition that the gift can be revoked or if the deed of gift has been executed under undue influence or donee commits fraud. The Registration Act also give support to the conditions that Registration or execution of the deed-is done after the satisfaction of the registered regarding identification.(ii) If the donee obtain the deed of gift executing under influence or committing fraud. These are the three conditions 'in which the deed of gift can be revoked. Let me now see whether either of the three conditions successfully prevailing over the first deed of gift which was executed and registered.

35. Second question remains the question of coercion. This coercion is not the point involved in the instant case inasmuch as it is nobody's case that the first deed 'of gift executed in favour of the defendant was done under undue influence."

39. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Asokan Vs. Lakshmikutty and others (2007) 13 Supreme Court Cases 210 have held that in order to constitute a valid gift acceptance thereof is essential. Their Lordships have further held that there may be various means to prove acceptance of a gift. The document may be handed over to a done, which in a given situation may also amount to a valid acceptance. The fact that possession had been given to the donee also raises a presumption of acceptance. Their Lordshps have also held that once a gift is complete, the same cannot be rescinded. And for any reason whatsoever, the subsequent conduct of a done cannot be a ground for rescission of a valid gift. Their Lordships have further held that when a registered document is executed and the executors are aware of the terms and nature of the document, a presumption arises in regard to the correctness thereof. Their Lordships have held as under:

"11. Mr. M.P. Vinod, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant, submitted that the first Appellate Court as also the High Court committed a serious error in arriving at the aforementioned findings insofar as they failed to take into consideration the fact that the deeds of gift being not onerous ones and the factum of handing over of possession of the properties which were the subject matter of the gift, having been stated in the deeds of gift themselves, it was not necessary for the appellant to prove that he accepted the same. It was furthermore urged that keeping in view the provisions of Sections 91 and 92 of the Indian Evidence Act, no plea contrary to or inconsistent with the recitals made in the deeds of gift is permissible to be raised.

13. We have noticed the terms of the deeds of gift. Ex facie, they are not onerous in nature.

The definition of gift contained in Section 122 of the Transfer of Property Act provides that the essential elements thereof are:

(i) the absence of consideration;

(ii) the donor;

(iii) the donee;

(iv) the subject matter

(v) the transfer; and

(vi) the acceptance.

14. Gifts do not contemplate payment of any consideration or compensation. It is, however, beyond any doubt or dispute that in order to constitute a valid gift acceptance thereof is essential. We must, however, notice that the Transfer of Property Act does not prescribe any particular mode of acceptance. It is the circumstances attending to the transaction which may be relevant for determining the question. There may be various means to prove acceptance of a gift. The document may be handed over to a donee, which in a given situation may also amount to a valid acceptance. The fact that possession had been given to the donee also raises a presumption of acceptance. [See Sanjukta Ray v. Bimelendu Mohanty AIR 1997 Orissa 131, Kamakshi Ammal v. Rajalakshmi, AIR 1995 Mad 415 and Samrathi Devi v. Parsuram Pandey AIR 1975 Patna 140]

16. While determining the question as to whether delivery of possession would constitute acceptance of a gift or not, the relationship between the parties plays an important role. It is not a case that the appellant was not aware of the recitals contained in deeds of gift. The very fact that the defendants contend that the donee was to perform certain obligations, is itself indicative of the fact that the parties were aware thereabout. Even a silence may sometime indicate acceptance. It is not necessary to prove any overt act in respect thereof as an express acceptance is not necessary for completing the transaction of gift.

18. Mr. Iyer, however, submitted that it would be open to the donors to prove that in fact no possession had been handed over. Strong reliance in this behalf has been placed on S.V.S. Muhammad Yusuf Rowther and another v. Muhammad Yusuf Rowther and other [AIR 1958 Madras 527] and Alavi v. Aminakutty & Others [1984 KLT 61 (NOC)].

22. Section 91 of the Indian Evidence Act covers both contract as also grant and other types of disposal of property. A distinction may exist in relation to a recital and the terms of a contract but such a question does not arise herein inasmuch as the said deeds of gift were executed out of love and affection as well as on the ground that the donee is the son and successor of the donor and so as to enable him to live a good family life.

23. Could they now turn round and say that he was to fulfill a promise? The answer thereto must be rendered in the negative. It is one thing to say that the execution of the deed is based on an aspiration or belief, but it is another thing to say that the same constituted an onerous gift.

What, however, was necessary is to prove undue influence so as to bring the case within the purview of Section 16 of the Indian Contract Act. It was not done. The deeds of gift categorically state, as an ingredient for a valid transaction, that the property had been handed over to the donee and he had accepted the same. In our opinion, even assuming that the legal presumption therefore may be raised, the same is a rebuttable one but in a case of this nature, a heavy onus would lie on the donors.

26. It will bear repetition to state that we are in this case concerned with the construction of recitals made in a registered document.

30. Once a gift is complete, the same cannot be rescinded. For any reason whatsoever, the subsequent conduct of a donee cannot be a ground for rescission of a valid gift."

40. The learned Single Judge in Bakhtawar Singh and others Vs. Jagdish and another, Himachal Law Reporter 2012 (2) 6 has held that delivery of possession is only one of the means but not the sole mean of accepting the gift. The learned Single Judge has held as under:

"9. Be that as it may, for the reasons stated above I am of the considered view that delivery of possession is only one of the means but not the sole mean of accepting the gift. This answers the third question now framed."

The judgment referred to hereinabove is of no help, as the gift deed, Ex. DA, here in the present case is proved to be the result of mis-representation/fraud.

36. Now the law, as cited by the learned Senior Counsel for respondents No. 1, 3(a), 3(f), 4 to 6 & 14(a) to 14(g), is required to be scanned in depth.

37. In Moti vs. Roshan and others, AIR 1971 Himachal Pradesh 5 (V 58 C2), this Hon'ble High Court has held that the Trial Court should not only ascertain the matters really at issue between the parties but also see that the evidence given by each of the parties corresponds to the claim or right pleaded by them. Apt para of the judgment (supra) is extracted hereinbelow:

"11. The Trial Court should not only ascertain the matters really at issue between the parties, but it should also take care to see that the evidence given by each party corresponds to the claim or right pleaded by the party. In other words, it has to see that the pleadings and proof correspond. In the instant case, the trial Court failed to perform that elementary duty. The plaintiff cannot take advantage of it and ask this Court to hold that the gap in evidence had been filled up because neither the plaintiffs nor the defendants had seen it earlier."

In the present case, the plaintiff has convincingly and conclusively proved on record that the original plaintiff (Raghu Ram) was mis-represented/defrauded by the defendants in execution of alleged gift deed, Ex. DA.

38. In Ku. Sonia Bhatia vs. State of U.P. and others, AIR 1981 Supreme Court 1274, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held gift is a transfer without consideration and in fact where there is consideration it ceases to be a gift. Love, affection spiritual benefit etc. are held to be filial considerations and not the legal considerations as understood by law. Monetary consideration are held to be completely foreign to the concept of gift having regard to the nature, character and the circumstances under which such a transfer takes place. Relevant para of the judgment is extracted below:

"20. from a conspectus, therefore, of the definitions contained in the dictionaries and the books regarding a gift or an adequate consideration, the inescapable conclusion that follows is that 'consideration' means a reasonable equivalent or other valuable benefit passed by the transferor to the transferee, similarly, when the word 'consideration' is qualified by the word 'adequate', it makes consideration stronger so as to make it sufficient and valuable having regard to the facts, circumstances and necessities of the case. It has also been seen from the discussions of the various authorities mentioned above that a gift is undoubtedly a transfer which does not contained any element of consideration in any shape or form. In fact, where there is any equivalent or benefit measured in terms of money in respect of a gift the transaction ceases to be a gift and assumes a different colour. It has been rightly pointed out in one of the books referred to above that we should not try to confuse the motive or the purpose of making a gift with the consideration which is the subject matter of the gift. Love, affection, spiritual benefit and many other factors may enter in the intention of the donor to make a gift but these filial considerations cannot be called or held to be legal considerations as understood by law. It is manifest, therefore, that the passing of monetary consideration is completely foreign to the concept of a gift having regard to the nature, character and the circumstances under which such a transfer takes place. Furthermore, when the legislature has used the word 'transfer' it at once invokes the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act. Under Section 122 of the Transfer of Property Act, gift is defined thus:

> " 'Gift' is the transfer of certain existing moveable or immoveable property made voluntarily and without consideration, by one person, called the donor, to another, called the donee, and accepted by or on behalf of the donee.
>
> Such acceptance must be made during the lifetime of the donor and while he is still capable of giving.
>
> If the donee dies before acceptance, the gift is void."

In the present case, there is no question with respect to donee not accepting the gift, so the judgment is of no help to the plaintiffs.

39. The Hon'ble High Court of Allahabad in Smt. Mallo vs. Smt. Bakhtawari and others, AIR 1985 Allahabad 160, has held that mere admission by executant donor about the existence of gift deed obtained by fraud did not dispense with proof of attestation. Apt para of the judgment (supra) is reproduced below:

> "13. In AIR 1972 Gauh 44 it was held that the 'Attestation' and 'Execution' are two different acts, one following the other in the order stated. Attestation is meant to ensure that the executant was a free agent, and not under pressure nor subject to fraud while executing the same.
>
> 13.A. In view of law laid down it has now to be seen as to whether the witnesses for attestation were required to be produced. In the present case the validity of the gift deed was specially denied, in the sense that the document had no effect in law. In such circumstances it was necessary for the donee to have produced the attesting witnesses of the gift-deed. The appellate Court on the assessment of evidence found that the attestation of gift deed in question was not proved rather it was dispro9ved. In view of that finding the Appellate Court correctly held that the gift-deed in question did not confer any right on donee the defendant-appellant in respect to the property in question."

The judgment referred to hereinabove is applicable to the facts of the present case, as the plaintiff has proved on record that the alleged gift deed, Ex. DA, was the result of mis-representation/fraud.

40. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Digambar Adhar Patil vs. Devram Girdhar Patil (died) and another, AIR 1995 Supreme Court 1728, has held that entries in records of rights maintained in official course of business is a relevant piece of evidence in case where there is requirement of proof qua factum of partition. Relevant para of the judgment is extracted hereunder:

> "5. We find no force in the contention. Section 32B clearly postulates that the land held as an owner or as a tenant alone should be taken into consideration to determine ceiling limit and if the land held as owner or tenant is within the ceiling limit, he shall be entitled to purchase the land held by him as a tenant. Admittedly, the respondent held the land as an owner to the extent of 36 acres 1 gunta. The area of dispute is only in respect of the land held by his minor son and the land allotted at a partition to his brother Ram Chander. With regard to the land held by the son, even assuming that it is a joint family property for the purpose of the Act and it is includable in his holding yet he is within the ceiling limit, namely, 43 acres 35 guntas. As rightly held by the High Court he cultivated it on behalf of his minor son. As to the land allotted to the brother of the respondent, the Tribunals below negatived it on two grounds, namely, in the cultivation column of the Revenue records, it was shown that the respondent had cultivated the land and no documentary evidence of partition was produced before the authorities. The Tribunals below did not advert to the entries in the Record of Rights or to the factum of partition, while the High Court has taken this factor into consideration, which in our considered view had rightly been taken into account. The entries in the Record of Rights regarding the factum of partition is a relevant piece of documentary evidence in support of the oral evidence given, by the respondent and his brother to prove the factum of partition. Even in the evidence of Ram Chander, he dearly stated that there was a partition but he could not give the date and year in which the partition was effected nor the deed of the partition was produced. Under the Hindu Law, it is not necessary that the partition should be effected by a registered partition deed. Even a family arrangement is enough to effectuate the partition between coparceners and to confer right to a separate share and enjoyment thereof. Under those circumstances, when the factum of partition was evidenced by entries in the Record of Rights, which was maintained in official course of business, the correctness thereof was not questioned, it corroborates the oral evidence given by the brother and lends assurance to accept it."

The judgment is not applicable to the facts of the present case.

41. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in another case titled as Rajendra Tiwary vs. Basudeo Prasad and another, AIR 2002 (89) Supreme Court 136, has held that where the relief prayed for in the suit is a larger relief and if no case is made out for granting the same but the facts, as established, justify granting of a smaller relief, Order VII, Rule 7 permits granting of such a relief to the parties. However, under the said provisions a relief larger than the one claimed by the plaintiff in the suit cannot be granted. Apt para of the judgment (supra) is extracted in extensor as under:

"14. Where the relief prayed for in the suit is a larger relief and if no case is made out for granting the same but the facts, as established, justify granting of a smaller relief, Order VII, Rule 7 permits granting of such a relief to the parties. However, under the said provisions a relief larger than the one claimed by the plaintiff in the suit cannot be granted."

The judgment (supra) is not applicable to the facts of the present case as the relief of possession to the plaintiffs is a separate relief, which the plaintiffs have not claimed and it has come on record that the land was in the possession of the defendants, therefore, it is correct that relief can be enlarged, but a new relief of possession cannot be granted in a suit for declaration. In this context, I had considered the arguments of the learned Senior counsel for the plaintiffs that the relief is required to be enlarged for the plaintiffs, but as the relief of possession was not prayed for in the suit, this relief cannot be granted. Therefore, without their being pleadings and evidence to that effect, this Court cannot grant the relief of possession. Thus, the findings recorded by the learned Lower Appellate Court on this account, needs no interference.

42. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Krishna Mohan Kul alias Nani Charan Kul and another vs. Pratima Maity and others, (2004) 9 Supreme Court Cases 468, has held that a person in a fiduciary relation has a duty to protect the interest of the person under his care and when the party complaining shows such relation, the law presumes everything against the transaction and the onus is cast upon the person holding the fiduciary relation to show that the transaction is perfectly fair and reasonable and no advantage has been taken of his position. This principle is embodied in Section 1 of the Evidence Act, 1872, and the corollary to this principle is incorporated in Section 16(3) of the Contract Act, 1872. Relevant paras of the judgment is extracted as under:

"12. As has been pointed out by the High Court, the first Appellate Court totally ignored the relevant materials and recorded a completely erroneous finding that there was no material regarding age of the executant when the document in question itself indicated the age. The Court was dealing with a case where an old, ailing illiterate person was stated to be the executant and no witness was examined to prove the execution of the deed or putting of the thumb impression. It has been rightly noticed by the High Court that the courts below have wrongly placed onus to prove execution of the deed by Dasu Charan Kul on the plaintiffs. There was challenge by the plaintiffs to validity of the deed. The onus to prove the validity of the deed of settlement was on defendant No. 1. When fraud, mis-represendation/fraud or undue influence is alleged by a party in a suit, normally, the burden is on him to prove such fraud, undue influence or misrepresentation. But, when a person is in a fiduciary relationship with another and the latter is in a position of active confidence the burden of proving the absence of fraud, misrepresentation or undue influence is upon the person in the dominating position, he has to prove that there was fair play in the transaction and that the apparent is the real, in other words, that the transaction is genuine and bona fide. In such a case the burden of proving the good faith of the transaction is thrown upon the dominant party, that is to say, the party who is in a position of active confidence. A person standing in a fiduciary relation to another has a duty to protect the interest given to his care and the Court watches with zealously all transactions between such persons so that the protector may not use his influence or the confidence to his advantage. When the party complaining shows such relation, the law presumes everything against the transaction and the onus is cast upon the person holding the position of confidence or trust to show that the transaction is perfectly fair and reasonable, that no advantage has been taken of his position. This principle has been engrained in Section 111 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short the 'Evidence Act'). The rule here laid down is in accordance with a principle long acknowledged and administered in Courts of Equity in England and America. This principle is that he who bargains in a matter of advantage with a person who places a confidence in him is bound to show that a proper and reasonable use has been made of that confidence. The transaction is not necessarily void ipso facto, nor is it necessary for those who impeach it to establish that there has been fraud or imposition, but the burden of establishing its perfect fairness, adequacy and equity is cast upon the person in whom the confidence has been reposed. The rule applies equally to all persons standing in confidential relations with each other. Agents, trustees, executors, administrators, auctioneers, and others have been held to fall within the rule. The Section requires that the party on whom the burden of proof is laid should have been in a position of active confidence. Where fraud is alleged, the rule has been clearly established in England that in the case of a stranger equity will not set aside a voluntary deed or donation, however, improvident it may be, if it be free from the imputation of fraud, surprise, undue influence and spontaneously executed or made by the donor with his eyes open. Where an active, confidential, or fiduciary relation exists between the parties, there the burden of proof is on the donee or those claiming through him. It has further been laid down that where a person gains a great advantage over another by a voluntary instrument, the burden of proof is thrown upon the person receiving the benefit and he is under the necessity of showing that the transaction is fair and honest.

… … … … … …

14. It is now well established that a Court of Equity, when a person obtains any benefit from another imposes upon the grantee the burden, if he wishes to maintain the contract or gift, of proving that in fact he exerted no influence for the purpose of obtaining it. The proposition is very clearly started in Ashburner's Principles of Equity, 2nd Ed., p. 229, thus :

"When the relation between the donor and donee at or shortly before the execution of the gift has been such as to raise a presumption that the donee had influence over the donor, the Court sets aside the gift unless the donee can prove that the gift was the result of a free exercise of the donor's will.

15. The corollary to tht principle is contained in sub-section (3) of Section 16 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. "

The judgment is fully applicable to the facts of the present case, as the defendants have mis-represented/defrauded the original plaintiff (deceased Raghu Ram), so the gift deed, Ex. DA, is non est and non-existent in the eyes of law.

43. The Hon'ble High Court of Punjab and Haryana in Ashwani Kumar Rana vs. Gaur Hari Singhania and others, 2005(2) SLJ 1243, has held that the tenant has no right to challenge the family settlement. Apt para of the judgment (supra) is extracted in extensor as under:

"5. After hearing the learned counsel for the parties, I am of the considered view that the tenant-petitioner has no right to challenge the family settlement as has been held by this Court in the case of Ram Lal vs. Harbhagwan Dass 1995(2) Rent Law Reporter 557. It has been repeatedly held by the Supreme Court that even oral partition of Hindu Undivided Family property is not prohibited. Reference in this regard could be made to the judgments of the Supreme Court in the cases of Nani Bai vs. Gita Bai AIR 1958 SC 706 and Roshan Singh vs. Zile Singh AIR 1988 SC 881 and Hans Raj Agarwal vs. CII 2003(2) SCC 295. Moreover, oral partition to which reference has been made has been implemented as is evident from the fact that landlord-respondent No. 1 has to run his clinic from the passage and that father of landlord-respondent No. 1 has not been paid rent by the tenant-petitioner after 7.4.1995 i.e. after the judgment and decree passed on the basis of family settlement. In such a situation no doubt can be entertained with regard to the genuineness of the oral partition. Moreover, both the Courts below have concurrently found that the need of the landlord-respondent No. 1 is bona-fide and it has to be considered as covered by Section 13(3)(a)(i) of the Act as interpreted by the Supreme Court in the case of Harbilas Rai Bansal vs. State of Punjab (1996) 1SCC 1. In Harbilas Rai Bansal's (supra) it was categorical held that the amendment incorporated by Punjab Act No. 29 of 1956 was ultra vires of Article 14 of the Constitution as it deleted the right of occupation of commercial building on the ground of personal necessity while retaining the same in respect of residential building."

The judgment (supra) is not applicable to the facts of the present case.

44. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Hari Shankar Singhania and others vs. Gaur Hari Singhania and others, (2006) 4 Supreme Court Cases 658, has held that a family settlement is treated differently and it meets with approval of the Courts and they are also governed by a special equity principle where the terms are fair and bona fide, taking into account the wellbeing of a family. Relevant paras of the judgment are reproduced as under:

"Family Arrangement/Family Settlement:-

42. Another fact that assumes importance at this stage is that, a family settlement is treated differently from any other formal commercial settlement as such settlement in the eyes of law ensures peace and goodwill among the family members. Such family settlements generally meet with approval of the Courts. Such settlements are governed by a special equity principle where the terms are fair and bona fide, taking into account the well being of a family.

43. The concept of 'family arrangement or settlement' and the present one in hand, in our opinion, should be treated differently. Technicalities of limitation etc should not be put at risk of the implementation of a settlement drawn by a family, which is essential for maintaining peace and harmony in a family. Also it can be seen from decided cases of this Court that, any such arrangement would be upheld if family settlements were entered into ally disputes existing or apprehended and even any dispute or difference apart, if it was entered into bona fide to maintain peace or to bring about harmony in the family. Even a semblance of a claim or some other ground, as say affection, may suffice as observed by this Court in the case of Ram Charan v. Girijanandini Devi, AIR 1966 SC 323.

… … … … … …

53. Therefore, in our opinion, technical considerations should give way to peace and harmony in the enforcement of family arrangements or settlements."

The judgment referred hereinabove, is also not applicable to the facts of the case in hand.

45. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in yet another case titled as Ramdev Food Products (P) Ltd. Vs. Arvindbhai Rambhai Patel and others, (2006) 8 Supreme Court Cases 726, has held as under:

"35. We may proceed on the basis that the MoU answers the principles of family settlement having regard to the fact that the same was actuated by a desire to resolve the disputes and the courts would not easily disturb them as has been held in S. Shanmugam Pillai vs. K Shanmugam Pillai, (1973) 2 SCC 312, Kale vs. Dy. Director of Consolidation, (1976) 3 SCC 119 and Hari Shankar singhania vs. Gaur Hari Singhania, (2006) 4 SCC 658."

The judgment (supra) is also not applicable to the facts of the present case.

46. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in M. Venkataramana Hebbar (Dead By LRs vs. M. Rajagopal Hebbar and others, (2007) 6 Supreme Court Cases 401, has held that before the court rejects a claim for partition of joint family property, at the instance of all the co-owners, it must be established that there had been a partition by metes and bounds. Apt para of the judgment (supra) is as under:

"11. For the purpose of this case, we will proceed on the assumption that the said deed of family settlement was not required to be compulsorily registered, in terms of Section 17 of the Registration Act as by reason thereof, the relinquishment of the property was to take effect in future. But there cannot be any doubt whatsoever that before the court rejects a claim of partition of joint family property, at the instance of all the co-owners, it must be established that there had been a partition by metes and bounds. By reason of the family settlement, a complete partition of the joi9nt family property by metes and bounds purported to have taken place. One of the co-sharer, however, did not join in the said purported family settlement."

The judgment (supra) is applicable to the facts of the present case, as the family partition was not validated/affirmed legally by effectuating the entries in the revenue record, it stands fully established by the plaintiffs, by leading cogent evidence, that the original plaintiff (deceased Raghu Ram) had signed alleged gift deed, Ex. DA, taking it as a document for enforcing the private family partition, which was contended to be entered into between the predecessor-in-interest of the parties 60 years ago.

47. The Hon'ble Apex Court in Bhagwan Krishan Gupta (2) vs. Prabha gupta and others, (2009) 11 Supreme Court Cases 33, has held that the doctrine of family settlement may not be applicable in stricto sensu in cases of property being self-acquired one. However, where both brother declare each other to be owners of the property having equal shares, arrangement like family settlement is permissible in law, such settlement was not only in relation to the title of the property, but also to the use and possession thereof. Relevant paras of the judgment (supra) is extracted as under:

"12. To the Revenue Authority for the purpose of mutation in respect of the premises in question, the testator issued a letter which reads as under:

"I, Murari Lal Gupta S/o Late Sri Ganga Ram hereby informed that I and late Girdhari Lal Gupta are real brothers from late Shri Ganga Ram, House No. C-11, Green Park Extension, New Delhi-110016 is owned jointly by myself and my aforesaid brother Late Sri Girdhari Lal Gupta. My share in the aforesaid house is one half i.e. ground floor and the other one half share i.e. Ist floor and Barsati Floor belongs to my brother late Sh. Girdhari Lal Gupta. The completion plan of the house showing the details is enclosed herewith. The share belonging to me has been shown in red whereas the share belonging to my brother Late Shri Girdhari Lal Gupta has been shown in green.

It is requested that the division of property be made in my name & in the name of my brother's wife Smt. Subz Kali since my brother has expired. The house tax bill of the property be sent separately in future.

... ...

15. Although when a property is a self-acquired one, the doctrine of family settlement stricto sensu may not be applicable but in a case of this nature where both the brothers declare each other to be owners of the property having equal share therein, an arrangement between them by way of a family settlement is permissible in law. Such a family settlement was not only in relation to the title of the property but also in relation to the use and possession thereof."

The above referred judgment is not applicable to the facts of the case in hand.

48. In the light of what has been discussed hereinabove, this Court finds that the findings arrived at by the learned Lower Appellate Court are after appreciating the oral and documentary evidence, pleadings etc. to their right and true perspective and the findings call for no interference, hence the only substantial question of law, which was framed by this Court for determination and adjudication of the present appeal and substantial questions of law framed in cross-objections are answered as under:

Substantial question of law:

The findings of the learned Courts below are just and reasoned and gift deed, Ex. DA, has been properly appreciated by the Court below. It stands convincingly proved on record that the original plaintiff (deceased Raghu Ram) was mis-represented/defrauded by the defendants in making him believe that Ex. DA, is a document for recording private family partition. The substantial question of law is answered accordingly.

Substantial question of law No. 1 in Cross-objection::

The plea of family partition has been rightly decided by the learned Court below, as the plaintiffs have failed to prove the partition and it is the case of the plaintiffs themselves that document was executed to record partition, though they have proved that the parties are enjoying separate possession. A coparcener can be at separate possession without any partition, so the plaintiffs have failed to prove the partition, the cross-objection is answered holding that the Court below has appreciated the pleadings, oral and documentary evidence to their right and true perspective and law has been rightly applied.

Substantial question of law No. 2 in Cross-objection::

As the pleadings and documents have been properly appreciated, so the judgment and decree, passed by the learned Lower Appellate Court is just and reasoned and needs no interference.

Substantial question of law No. 3 in Cross-objection::

As the factum of family partition has not been proved conclusively, the cross-objection is answered accordingly.

49. One more substantial question of law arises for determination and adjudication in the cross-objection, which is as under:

"Whether the Court below should have passed a decree for possession after enlarging the claim."

It is found that there was no pleadings/prayer/suit for possession and simple in the suit for declaration, the Lower Appellate Court was right in dismissing the prayer of the appellant for possession.

50. In view of what has been discussed hereinabove, the judgment of the learned Lower Appellate Court does not suffer from any infirmity and the same is legally sustainable. Thus, the net result of the discussion made hereinabove is that the appeal and cross objection, being devoid of merits, deserve dismissal and are accordingly dismissed. However, parties are left to bear their own costs in the facts and circumstances of the case. Pending application(s), if any, stand(s) disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J.

Sh. Jagdish Raj and another .....Petitioners.
Versus
Smt. Dhali Devi .....Respondent.

CMPMO No. 210 of 2016
Date of decision: 1st November, 2016

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 27- A civil suit was dismissed by the trial Court – an appeal was filed during which an application for bringing on record the documents was filed, which was allowed – held, that no explanation was given for non-production of the documents at the time of the trial – further, the application for the additional evidence was to be considered along with the appeal and not in isolation- the order set aside and the case remanded to the Appellate Court with the direction to consider the application along with the main appeal.

(Para-7 to 9)

Case referred:
State of Rajasthan V. T.N. Sahani and others (2001) 10 Supreme Court Cases 619

For the petitioners: Mr. Bimal Gupta, Senior Advocate with Mr. Vineet Vashisth, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. Rajiv Jiwan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, Judge (Oral).

Order dated 10.05.2016 passed by learned District Judge, Kullu in an application under Order 41 Rule 27 read with Section 151 of the Code of Civil Procedure registered as Civil Miscellaneous Application No. 144 of 2015, is under challenge in this petition. Learned lower appellate Court has allowed the application and permitted the respondent-plaintiff to produce the documents i.e. sale deeds and gift deeds executed by Poshu, a co-sharer in the suit land measuring 4-4-0 bighas entered in Khasra No. 576, Khata Khatauni No. 104/166 to the extent of 68/672 shares situated at Phati Balh Kothi Maharaja, Tehsil and District, Kullu.

2. The respondent (hereinafter referred to as the 'plaintiff') claims herself to be the owner in possession of the suit land, as according to her Shri Poshu has gifted away the same to her. The petitioners (hereinafter referred to as the 'defendants') when allegedly started causing interference in the suit land, she filed a suit in the Court of learned Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kullu, District Kullu, Himachal Pradesh for the decree of permanent prohibitory injunction on several grounds, however, mainly that in view of alienation of the suit land by said Shri Poshu, partly in favour of defendant No. 2 and partly in favour of Sunita Kumari, Dushyant Thakur and Khekh Ram by way of sale deeds and also the gift deeds, he was not left with any land for being gifted away to the plaintiff.

3. On the pleadings of the parties issues including as to whether plaintiff is neither owner nor in possession of the suit land came to be framed in the suit in the trial Court. The parties were put to trial. After having taken on record the evidence produced by the parties on both sides and affording opportunity of being heard, learned trial Judge has dismissed the suit.

4. The plaintiff is now in appeal before learned lower appellate Court. It is during the pendency of the appeal, an application under Order 41 Rule 27 of the Code of Civil Procedure has been filed, which has been accepted by learned lower appellate Court vide order under challenge in this petition.

5. On behalf of the petitioners-defendants, it is canvassed that onus to prove issue No. 4, no doubt, was on them and they discharged the same satisfactorily. The plaintiff, however, has failed to produce any rebuttal evidence at an appropriate stage during the course of proceedings in the suit. Now the application having been filed at a belated stage, that too, without any explanation as to what prevented her from producing the evidence at an appropriate stage, the application has been sought to be dismissed. Mr. Bimal Gupta, learned Senior Advocate has also urged that otherwise also, the application should have been considered along with the main appeal at the time of final hearing and not in isolation.

6. On the other hand, Mr. Rajiv Jiwan, learned counsel representing the plaintiff has contended that the documents being certified copies of the sale deeds and gift deeds have rightly been allowed to be produced in additional evidence by learned lower appellate Court. According to Mr. Jiwan, the order under challenge calls for no interference in these proceedings.

7. Having gone through the record of the case and also analyzing the rival submissions, no doubt, a party to the lis can be allowed to produce additional evidence, however, before the commencement of trial. The proviso to Order 41 Rule 27 provides for seeking such permission even after the commencement of trial also, however, before allowing the application the Court ceased of the matter should record its satisfaction that the party seeking the permission to produce additional evidence failed to do so at an appropriate stage despite due diligence. In the application Annexure P-2, no plausible explanation except for that it is despite due diligence, the plaintiff has failed to produce the evidence, has come on record. Any how, without going into this controversy, I switch over to the alternative submissions made on behalf of the petitioners-defendants that the application should have been considered and decided at the time of final hearing of the appeal. The submissions so made find support from the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court in State of Rajasthan V. T.N. Sahani and others (2001) 10 Supreme Court Cases 619.

> "4. It may be pointed out that this Court as long back as in 1963 in K. Venkataramiah v. Seetharama Reddy pointed out the scope of unamended provision of Order 41 Rule 27 (c) that though there might well be cases where even though the court found that it was able to pronounce the judgment, on the state of the cord as it was, and so, additional evidence could not be required to enable it to pronounce the judgment, it still considered that in the interest of justice something which remained obscure should be filled up so that it could pronounce its judgment in a more satisfactory manner. This is entirely for the court to consider at the time of hearing of the appeal on merits whether looking into the documents which are sought to be filed as additional evidence, need be looked into to pronounce its judgment in a more satisfactory manner. If that be so, it is always open to the court to look into the documents and for that purpose amended provision of Order 41 Rule 27(b) CPC can be invoked. So the application under Order 41 rule 27 should have been decided along with the appeal. Had the Court found the documents necessary to pronounce the judgment in the appeal in a more satisfactory manner it would have allowed the same; if not, the same would have been dismissed at that stage. But taking a view on the application before hearing of the appeal, in our view, would be inappropriate. Further the reason given for the dismissal of the application is untenable. The order under challenge cannot, therefore, be sustained. It is accordingly set aside. The application is restored to its file. The High Court will now consider the appeal and the application and decide the matter afresh in accordance with law."

8. In the given facts and circumstances of this case also, the appropriate course available to learned lower appellate Court was to have considered the application along with the main appeal at the time of final hearing and not to decide the same in isolation. Therefore, subject to the rights and contentions of the parties with respect to the merits of the case, the impugned order is quashed and set aside. There shall be a direction to learned lower appellate Court to consider and decide the application afresh at the time of final hearing of the appeal. The parties through learned counsel representing them are directed to appear in learned lower appellate Court on 5th December, 2016. The record of the case be sent back so as to reach there well before the date fixed.

9. The petition stands disposed of accordingly. Pending application(s), if any, shall also stand disposed of.

10. The observations hereinabove shall remain confined to the disposal of this petition and have no bearing on the merits of the case.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Papinder Singh ...Appellant.

Versus

Gokal Chand (Now deceased) through his LR's and others. ...Respondents.

RSA No.53 of 2007.
Reserved on : 19.10.2016.
Decided on: 01.11.2016.

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff claimed to be the owner in possession of the suit land- there is a gali, which is being used an approach to reach the ground floor of the building – the defendants denied any right of the plaintiff to use the gali – the suit was dismissed by the trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal that gali is owned and possessed by defendant No. 1 and owner has right to raise construction over the same – the plaintiff does not have any right to claim the demolition of the wall – plaintiff has an alternative passage to approach his building – appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 11)

For the appellants Mr. Bhupender Gupta, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Ajeet Jaswal, Advocate.
For the respondent : Mr. G.D. Verma, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Vipul Sharda, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge.

The present Regular Second Appeal under Section 100 of the Code of Civil Procedure is maintained by the appellant against the judgment and decree passed by learned Additional District Judge (Presiding Officer, Fast Track Court) Solan, District Solan, H.P, in Civil Appeal No.22FT/13 of 2006, dated 17.11.2006, vide which the learned Appellate Court has partly modified the judgment and decree passed by learned Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kasauli, District Solan, H.P, in Civil Suit No.303/1 of 2002, dated 20.6.2006.

2. Briefly stating facts giving rise to the present appeal are that appellant/plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as 'the plaintiff') has succeeded to the original plaintiff Neelam, maintained a suit against the respondents/defendants (hereinafter referred to as 'the defendant') claiming that plaintiff is owner-in-possession of land and building comprised in Khata/Khatauni No.19/40 and 41, Khasra Nos.853, 854, 855, Kitas 3, measuring 144.33 sq. meters, situated in mauza Dangyar, Tehsil Kasauli, District Solan, H.P (hereinafter referred to as 'the suit land'). The alleged property was owned and possessed by Fakir Chand, who sold it to the plaintiff in the year 1985. It is alleged that the plaintiff is owner-in-possession of the same since 1979, but the sale deed was executed in the year 1985. The dispute is with regard to 'gair mumkin gali' of defendant No.1 in Khasra No.850, which is in the shape of staircase of the plaintiff, which is being used by the plaintiff as approach to reach the ground floor of his building. So, the 'gali' is claimed as path on the ground of easement of necessity as well as on the basis of easement by prescription. As per the defendants, the plaintiff purchased only two biswas of vacant land denoted as Khasra No.80/2/2/1 (6 karms x 6 karams) from Fakir Chand through sale deed No.186, dated 6.8.1985. The husband of the plaintiff, who is property dealer manipulated the things and instead of showing the measurement of two biswas, which is 84 square meters, shown 144 sq. meters of the land in her ownership and possession. The existence of building on the spot for the last more than 50 years is denied. It is further submitted that the plaintiff has constructed the building and the same has been renovated and the staircase from the first floor to the ground floor has been removed. The door and windows from the back side of the building have been closed and additional godown has been added in the back side of the building towards the vacant land. It is further alleged that defendant No.1 is owner-in-possession of said 'gair mumkin gali' situated in Khasra No.850. Defendants constructed his building in the year 1971-72 and they had left the vacant space, as the set back which was duly fenced and possessed by the defendants and their family members. The plea of easementary rights through the 'gali' by way of necessity is denied. Further submitted that the plaintiff does not reside in Parwanoo and settled in Mumbai with her family, her husband occasionally visits Parwanoo. As per the defendants, the plaintiff recently removed the staircase, which was on the back side of the first floor and is claming the 'gali' on the basis of easement.

3. The learned trial Court framed following issues on 21.5.2003 :

"1. Whether the plaintiff is owner-in-possession of the property i.e. land and building, as alleged?

2. Whether the building and the suit property is existing for the last more than 50 years, as alleged? OPP

3. Whether the suit property was owned and possessed by Sh. Fakir Chand s/o Sh. Bhagi Ram, who had sold the same to the plaintiff in the year 1985, as alleged ? OPP

4. Whether in the year 1985 the plaintiff has renovated and reconstructed the building at the spot, as alleged? OPP

5. Whether the defendants are stranger to the suit property and have no concern with the suit property? OPP

6. Whether the disputed gali is the only path which leads to the ground floor of the building of the plaintiff and without which path/gali the plaintiff cannot approach and reach to the ground floor, as alleged? OPP

7. Whether the plaintiff has been using the disputed gali as path for the last more than 50 years by herself and through her predecessors in interest openly, continuously and without any interruption, obstruction, as alleged? OPP

8. Whether the plaintiff has been using the disputed gali as easement of necessity for going to the ground floor of the building, as alleged? OPP

9. Whether the defendants in connivance and in collusion with each other had illegally constructed a brick wall towards eastern side of the disputed gali touching Khasra No. 628, as alleged? OPP

10. Whether the defendants have also put up a grill gate towards western side of the disputed gali and had put up a lock on the said grill gate, as alleged? OPP

11. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to a decree of mandatory injunction directing the defendants to open the lock of the grill gate and remove the grill gate from the western side of the disputed gali and also to dismantle and remove the brick wall from the eastern side of the disputed gali, as alleged? OPP

12. Relief."

4. The learned trial Court has decided Issue No.1 partly in favour of the plaintiff, Issues No.2, 6, 7, 8, 10 and 11 against the plaintiff, Issue No.3 in favour of the plaintiff, Issue No.4 and 9 not pressed and dismissed the suit. Thereafter, the appeal was maintained before learned Addl. District Judge, (Presiding Officer Fast Track Court), Solan, has partly allowed the appeal of the plaintiff and set aside the judgment and decree of the learned Court below, but upheld the findings of learned Court below to the extent that the plaintiff has no easementary right to use the 'gali' of the defendants. Against the findings of the learned lower Appellate Court that the plaintiff has no easementary right to use the 'gali' of the defendants, the plaintiff has come in appeal before this Court. No cross appeal is maintained by the defendants. Hence, the present regular second appeal, which was admitted on the following substantial question of law:

> "Whether the Courts below have misappreciated and misconstrued the evidence and the provisions of law?"

5. Mr. Bhupinder Gupta, learned Senior Counsel for the plaintiff has argued that report of Local Commissioner clearly shows that there is no other path to go to the lower storey of the house of the plaintiff and the findings of the learned lower Appellate Court to this extent holding that the plaintiff has no right to use the 'gali' is required to be set aside. He has further argued that these perverse findings are required to be set aside.

6. On the other hand, Mr. G.D. Verma, learned Senior Counsel for the defendants has argued that there was a staircase from the back side of his house in the first floor to go to the lower side, which he has removed and claiming the 'gali' of the defendants on the basis of easement of necessity, therefore, the appeal deserves to be dismissed.

7. In rebuttal, learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the plaintiff has argued that the easement of necessity still subsists, as per the report of Local Commissioner, therefore, the appeal requires to be allowed and suit be decreed in totality.

8. To appreciate the arguments of learned Senior Counsel for the parties, I have gone through the record in detail.

9. The only question which arises determination in this appeal is that whether the findings of the learned Appellate Court are perverse in not holding that the plaintiff has easementary right to use the 'gali' in the nature of staircase for going to his ground floor, as rest of the suit of the plaintiff is decreed by the learned lower Appellate Court and no cross objections or cross appeal is there and rest of the findings attained finality. Now, as far as the staircase in the form of 'gali' is concerned, the same is admittedly on the land of the defendants. It is proved on record that the plaintiff is neither entitled to claim the path by way of necessity nor by prescription. The plaintiff is not entitled for claiming the easementary rights either by necessity or by prescription. It is admitted fact that the said 'gali' is owned and possessed by defendant No.1. Once the property is owned by defendants, it is the 'sweet will' of the defendants to raise construction as desire by them. The defendants illegally constructing the brick wall towards eastern side of the disputed 'gali' touching Khasra No.628, does not give any fruitful purpose to the plaintiff to claim demolition of the said wall. The case of the plaintiff fails by its own force and has no right to point against the defendants those had constructed the wall upon their own land. Further, there is no deposition of plaintiff and her witnesses to show the illegality in the said wall.

10. From the above, it is clear that the plaintiff was having stairs from inside the house and also an alternative path through the plot from its back side of the plaintiff's building. So, in these circumstances the findings of the learned Appellate Court to the extent that the plaintiff has no right to use the staircase/'gali' of the defendants, needs no interference, as the same have been arrived at after appreciating the facts to its true perspective and the law has been applied correctly. It is again reiterated that rest of the suit of the plaintiff was decreed by the learned lower Appellate Court. There is neither any cross objections nor any appeal has been filed against the said decree, therefore, the same has attained finality. The substantial question of law, as framed by this Court, is answered holding that the findings arrived at by the learned lower Appellate Court are just, reasoned and after appreciating the facts, which has come on record, to its true perspective and the law has been correctly applied.

11. With these observations, the appeal of the appellant/plaintiff being without any merit deserves dismissal, hence the same is dismissed. However, in the peculiar facts and circumstances of this case, parties are left to bear their own cost (s). Pending application (s), if any shall also stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE TARLOK SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Sh. Shiv Singh and others ...Petitioners

Versus

State of H.P. and others . ...Respondents.

CWP No. 2159 of 2016
Judgment reserved on: 22.10.2016
Date of Decision : 01 November, 2016.

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners had been continuously representing to the Government to construct link road- they also donated their lands by executing gift deeds – no objection certificates were issued by various authorities – family of Pardhan objected to the construction of the road- a notification was issued by the Government proposing to acquire the land for the construction of the road through different village – representations were filed but in vain - respondents stated that two factions of the villagers want the road to be constructed from different areas – it would not be proper to construct the road from the place specified by the petitioners- held, that the Government has issued the instructions that road would be constructed only if the land is donated by the Villagers – Government can deviate from the instructions on the basis of valid reasons – the decision to construct road from different place was taken to save the trees from being axed, which is in the larger public interest – family of Pardhan was not arrayed as party and no order can be passed without hearing them- the Court cannot examine the correctness of the decision, unless, it is arbitrary or contrary to the statute – the petition has been filed to satisfy the ego and not in the larger public interest- petition dismissed. (Para-9 to 18)

Case referred:
Rajan Singh and others vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others 2016 (3) Him. L.R. 1571

For the Petitioners	Mr. Ramakant Sharma Senior Advocate, with Mr. Basant Thakur, Advocate.
For the respondents	Mr. Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General, with Mr. Anup Rattan, Mr. Romesh Verma, Addl. Advocate Generals and Mr. J.K.Verma, Dy. Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Tarlok Singh Chauhan, Judge

The instant writ petition has been filed seeking direction against the respondents to construct the link road from Saur-Ruhil Dhar via Guttu and not via Kuper as is proposed in the notifications dated 8.12.2015 (Annexure P-18) and 29.7.2016 (Annexure P-25) issued for some other land under the 'Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation and Resettlement Act, 2013 (for short 2013 Act) and have further sought quashment of such notifications.

2. It is averred that the petitioners had been continuously representing to the Government for construction of link road from Saur-Ruhil Dhar via Guttu and had even donated their lands by executing gift deeds in favour of Public Works Department annexed with the petition as Annexures P-1 to P-8, respectively. It is averred that the 'No Objection Certificate' by Forest Rights Committee had been issued on 7.6.2014 and even the Deputy Commissioner in the meeting held on 9.9.2014 had recommended the aforesaid road. Thereafter, the other authorities including the Gram Panchayat have also issued No Objection Certificates. However, when the proceedings were conducted by the Sub Divisional Officer, Rohru on 4.11.2015 for arriving at a consensus for construction of this link road all except one family of the Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, Nandpur objected to this construction as he was interested to see that the road instead of passing via 'Guttu' is constructed through Kuper.

3. On 8.12.2015 the respondents issued a notification under Section 11 of the 2013 Act proposing to acquire the land for construction of the Saur –Ruhil Dhar road via Kuper, constraining the petitioners to make a representation to their elected representatives i.e. MLA, Jubbal and Kotkhai –cum- Chief Parliamentary Secretary (Agriculture) to the Government of H.P., who in turn, vide his communication dated 3.5.2016 wrote to respondent No.1 and requested him to intervene and withdraw the notification in view of the fact that the petitioners had already executed gift deeds for construction of the link road via Guttu.

4. Respondent No.1, in turn, vide its communication dated 9.5.2016 informed respondent No.2 that as per the Government Policy, objections would be entertained only where the land owners offer or gift the land free of cost to the Government and, therefore, follow up decision be taken up strictly in accordance with the instructions already issued on 12.6.2001.

5. It is averred that despite the petitioners having repeatedly objected to the construction of the link road via 'Kuper', the respondents proceeded to issue notification under Section 19 of the 2013 Act, whereby it proposed to acquire 250 meters of land which is contrary to the policy issued by the Government on 12.6.2001 and is further against the H.P. Road Construction Policy framed by the respondent pursuant to the directions issued by this Court in CWPIL No. 9 of 2013.

6. The respondents have opposed the petition by filing reply wherein it has been stated that there are two groups of local people in Village Ruhil, who are in conflict with each other with respect to alignment and survey of the road. One group of the local inhabitants wants the road to be constructed from Bus Stand Ruhil to Village Ruhil via Guttu, whereas the other faction wants the road to be constructed via Kuper. It was after analyzing the various factors like distance of the road from Bus Stop Ruhil Dhar to Village Ruhil , impact on environment, involvement of forest area, number of land holdings of the villagers and other factors that the respondents decided to construct the road from Ruhil Dhar Bus Stoppage to Ruhil via Kuper. This decision has been taken keeping in view the fact that no forest area is involved in construction of road via Kuper, whereas there is thick forest of various species of trees on the alignment/land towards place via Guttu. In case the road is constructed through place Guttu, the same will destroy and damage the ecology of the area as large number of trees will be required to be axed. On the other hand, there are no trees on the land via Kuper through which the road is proposed to be constructed.

7. It is further averred that all the local inhabitants whose land will be used for construction of the road via Kuper have surrendered their land in favour of the respondents for construction of the road and only a path of 250 mtr. in length at the initial point has been objected by its owner and for the purpose of acquiring the said small portion of the land, proceedings under the 2013 Act have already been initiated.

8. It is lastly averred that it would not be in larger public interest to construct the road in question via Guttu and such decision of the respondents is uninfluenced by any extraneous factors and the same has been taken only in the larger public interest.

We have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the material placed on record.

9. A perusal of the notification dated 12.6.2001 shows that the same was issued in the backdrop of the Budget Speech of 1998-99 wherein the Hon'ble Chief Minister had announced as under:

> "New Roads to be constructed only if communities give land free of cost, work to start only after the land is transferred to the Government. Alternative land to be allotted to those who become landless or otherwise eligible, subject to availability of land with the Government."

10. It was as a follow up of this speech that these instructions were issued and the relevant portion of the instructions is extracted below:

> "As you are already aware of the fact that the Government has been following the policy since the budget 1998-99 to the fact that the rural/arterial roads are to be constructed only if the rural community contribute the land free of cost. However, for the period prior to 1.4.98 back of cases for acquisition of land under Land Acquisition Act, 1894 are being received in the Department. These cases are required to have much stiffer scrutiny with a view to ensuring that land under the Act ibid is not required for acquisition in those cases where the work was started by the Public Works Department on the assurance of the people of the area that the land required for the road would be transferred free of cost to the Government.
>
> In view of the above, you are requested to examine all the cases prior to 1.4.98 pertaining to rural/arterial roads on case to case basis and the land acquisition proceedings would be initiated only when these are found to be absolutely necessary.
>
> These instructions would be complied with meticulously."

11. Similarly, the Clause 8 (b) of the H.P. Road Construction Policy (for short Policy), reads as under:

> "8(B). Construction stage:
>
> 1. For construction of new roads, the alignment finalised earlier during the planning stages should strictly be followed. However, in private land, alignment may be changed, if necessary, provided alternate land is made available by the land owners free of cost."

Therefore, the moot question that arises for consideration is as to whether the respondents can in the larger public interest be permitted to deviate from its policy.

12. It cannot be disputed that once the Government has laid down the norms and policy, there must be valid reasons to deviate from that as it is the salutary duty cast upon it to comply with the terms of the policy. However, even then the Government is entitled to make pragmatic adjustments after all the extraordinary situations require extraordinary remedies and if so required, the Government can deviate from the letter and spirit of the instructions and provide relief in cases where it is so warranted. To hold as a matter of law that the Government cannot deviate even minutely from the policy would be to ignore the realities of life. The Government can always pass orders which would best serve the interest of the people and further qualify the test of reasonableness and non-arbitrariness as these are the core of our constitutional scheme and structure.

13. It is more than settled that the action by the State, whether administrative or executive, has to be fair, reasonable and non-arbitrary and even if there are no rules in force to govern the executive action still such action is stated functional, should be just, fair and transparent. The exercise of discretion, in line with principles of fairness and good governance, is an implied obligation upon the authorities. There has to be reasonableness and the State cannot be bogged down in every minuscule detail of a subordinate legislation, like a policy decision and it is open for it to depart, provided it fulfills the aforesaid test. The courts cannot be expected to presume the alleged irregularities, illegalities or unconstitutionality in the respondents' action nor can the Court substitute their opinion for the bona fide opinion of the State executive. The Courts are not concerned with the ultimate decision, but only with the fairness of the decision making process.

14. Adverting to the facts, it would be noticed that the decision to have the road constructed via Kuper, has been taken to avoid axing of large number of trees that exist on the alignment/land towards via Guttu and this fact has not even been denied by the petitioners. There cannot be any denying of fact that the people have long referred to the trees as 'Earth's lungs' as they play a crucial role in our existence, consuming large quantities of carbon dioxide and producing oxygen which enables us to breathe. Apart from providing oxygen, they also cleanse the air and improve its quality, control climate, protect soil and support vast varieties of wildlife. It is universally accepted that deforestation is major contributing factor of climate change and that is why it is so important to protect trees and secure our natural landscapes for future generations.

15. In case the respondents have chosen to protect the pristine forest, obviously then the same has definitely been taken in the larger public interest and individual interest(s) has to give way. Though, the learned counsel for the petitioners would vehemently argue that the decision taken by the respondents is malafide and has taken to protect the interest of one family. However, we do not find it to be so, more particularly, when it has come on record that there are two groups of local people in Village Ruhil, who are in conflict with each other with respect to alignment and survey of the road. Whereas, the respondents have taken the decision to construct the road via Kuper in larger public interest after keeping in view the factors like distance of the road from Bus Stop Ruhil Dhar to Village Ruhil, impact on environment, involvement of forest area, number of land holdings of the villagers etc.

16. That apart, the petitioners have not even chosen to array the said family or any of its members as party-respondent and, therefore, no order can be passed behind the back of such family adversely affecting it and such an order if passed, is liable to be ignored being not binding on such party as the same would be passed in violation of the principles of natural justice.

17. In addition to the above, it is not for the Court to sit in appeal and examine correctness of decision taken by the respondents, more particularly, when the same has not been shown to be unfair, arbitrary or against any statutory or non-statutory policy or tainted with malafide intent. It is trite law that the power of judicial review under Article 226 of the Constitution of India is not directed against the decision but is confined to the decision making process. The judicial review is not an appeal from a decision, but a review of the manner in which the decision is made and the Court sits in judgment only on the correctness of the decision making process and not on the correctness of the decision itself. The Court confines itself to the question of legality and is only concerned with, whether the decision making authority exceeded its power, committed an error of law, committed a breach of the rules of natural justice, reached an unreasonable decision or abused its powers. There is a long line of decision of the Hon'ble Supreme Court on the subject and which has been followed and reiterated by this Court from time to time and reference in this regard can conveniently be made to a recent decision rendered by this Court in Rajan Singh and others vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others 2016 (3) Him. L.R. 1571.

18. It is evident from the pleadings as well the material placed on record that the instant petition has been filed out of ego problem rather than on the ground of violation of any right and we observe so because despite the pressure sought to be exercised by the petitioners through their elected representative, the respondents have stood their ground and taken decision in the larger public interest without succumbing to such pressure.

19. In view of the aforesaid detailed discussion, we find no merit in this petition and the same is accordingly dismissed, so also the pending applications, leaving the parties to bear their own costs.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE TARLOK SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Uttam Singh ...Appellant.

Versus

Tej Ram and others ...Respondents.

LPA No. 64 of 2011
Decided on: 01.11.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Writ Petitioner remained absent and the petition should have been dismissed in default but the Writ Court granted the petition without hearing the petitioner – further, the appointment was quashed after recording the findings that experience certificate does not seem to be genuine- however, no inquiry was conducted to ascertain the facts- hence, appeal allowed, order passed by Writ Court set aside and Case remanded to Administrative Tribunal for a fresh decision. (Para-3 to 7)

For the appellant: Mr. Maan Singh, Advocate, vice Mr. Tek Chand Sharma, Advocate.

For the respondents: Nemo for respondent No. 1.
Mr. Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General, with Mr. Anup Rattan & Mr. Romesh Verma, Additional Advocate Generals, and Mr. J.K. Verma, Deputy Advocate General, for respondents No. 2 to 4.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

In terms of the note of the Registry, respondent No. 1 has been served after admission, has chosen not to appear. Hence, he is set ex-parte.

2. Challenge in this appeal is to judgment and order, dated 21st February, 2011, made by the learned Single Judge/Writ Court in CWP (T) No. 7364 of 2008, titled as Tej Ram versus State of Himachal Pradesh and others, whereby the writ petition filed by writ petitioner-respondent No. 1 herein was allowed and the appointment of writ respondent No. 4-appellant herein as Takniki Sahayak in Gram Panchayats Thachi, Murah, Kau came to be quashed (for short "the impugned judgment").

3. The writ record does disclose that the writ petitioner-respondent No. 1 herein has chosen to remain absent on 9th December, 2010 and 6th January, 2011. In terms of the mandate of Order IX of the Code of Civil Procedure (for short "CPC"), the writ petition was to be dismissed in default and the Writ Court had no occasion to grant the writ petition without hearing the writ petitioner. But despite the fact that nobody appeared on behalf of the writ petitioner-respondent No. 1 herein, the writ petition was allowed and the appointment of writ respondent No. 4-appellant came to be quashed.

4. Only on this count, the impugned judgment merits to be quashed.

5. It is also apt to record herein that the Writ Court, in para 4 of the impugned judgment, while recording the findings that "The experience certificate produced by respondent No. 4 does not seem to be genuine", has quashed the appointment of writ respondent No. 4-appellant herein without ordering for any inquiry or obtaining any expert opinion qua the genuineness of the experience certificate, which, on the face of it, is illegal and without any basis.

6. Having said so, the impugned judgment is set aside, the appeal is allowed, the writ petition is ordered to be restored to its original number and is transferred to the H.P. State Administrative Tribunal (for short "the Tribunal") with a request to the Tribunal to decide the matter on merits after hearing the parties.

7. Parties to cause appearance before the Tribunal on 28th November, 2016. The Tribunal is requested to issue notice to the writ petitioner-respondent No. 1 herein.

8. Pending applications, if any, are also disposed of accordingly.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Court on its own motion ...Petitioner.

Versus

The Chief Secretary and others ...Respondents.

CWPIL No. 21 of 2016
Decided on: 02.11.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- A decision was taken to house the corporate office under one roof- in view of this decision, writ petition is disposed of with liberty to challenge the same, if so advised. (Para-2 to 5)

For the petitioner: Mr. Dilip Sharma, Senior Advocate, as Amicus Curiae, with Ms. Nishi Goel, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General, with Mr. Anup Rattan & Mr. Romesh Verma, Additional Advocate Generals, and Mr. J.K. Verma & Mr. Kush Sharma, Deputy Advocate Generals, for respondents No. 1 to 3.

Mr. Satyen Vaidya, Senior Advocate, with Mr. Vivek Sharma, Advocate, for respondents No. 4 and 5.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

A letter was received by the Secretariat of the Chief Justice, suo motu cognizance was taken by this Court on 8th September, 2016, and Mr. Dilip Sharma, learned Senior Counsel, was requested to assist this Court as Amicus Curiae.

2. Respondents No. 4 and 5 have filed the reply. It is apt to reproduce relevant portion of Annexure R-4/H herein:

> "Item No. 54.23 Shifting of Corporate Office, HPPCL along-with its allied offices from existing location to HIMFED Building at BCS, New Shimla.
>
> The Memorandum was discussed at length. The Director (Personnel) informed that presently, the offices of the Corporation at Shimla are housed in three/four buildings situated at different locations of the city. The access and approach to each other official hampers the working, while disposing off different issues particularly of urgent nature. Further, the congestion and traffic jams also add to poor efficiency.
>
> It was further explained that the accommodation presently occupied by the SJVNL at Himfed Building, Shimla is likely to be vacated by them after 6-8 months, which can be taken over by HPPCL on rent. The issue was discussed with the Himfed as well as with the SJVNL authorities. The SJVNL authorities have decided to shift the furniture lying in this building to their new office except fixed work stations and wood work etc. carried out by them. These work stations except a few, being in a dilapidated condition need replacement for which additional cost has to be borne by HPPCL. Further, appropriate cost of fixtures and other immovable fittings has to be negotiated with the SJVNL authorities.
>
> Various issues including concerns of the staff, data center, additions in the form of work stations and installation of elevator etc. by HPPCL in the existing Himfed Bhawan, on account of shifting of offices were also deliberated threadbare.
>
> Considering the proposal, the Board deemed it appropriate that to house the Corporate Office under one roof. The Board also debated that though the rent amount shall be more, shifting to Himfed Building shall infuse operational expediency in working apart from reducing maintenance/administrative expenditure and transactional cost. Accordingly, the Board agreed and approved the proposal. It was, however, decided that a committee of the HPPCL officers be constituted to interact with SJVNL in order to assess the cost of the fixtures and fittings, which need to be retained by the HPPCL in case of taking possession of the premises.
>
> The Managing Director/Director (Personnel) HPPCL was authorised to take further necessary action in this regard."

3. It appears that the Board of Directors has taken the decision. We are not expressing any opinion on the correctness of the said decision. We leave this question open. If any person(s) is/are aggrieved, can seek appropriate remedy. In case any officer is involved here and there, it is for the concerned authority to draw action, if required.

4. In view of the above, these proceedings are dropped.

5. We place on record our gratitude for the valuable assistance rendered by Mr. Dilip Sharma, learned Amicus Curiae.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Hem Raj ...Appellant.

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh and another ...Respondents.

LPA No. 374 of 2011
Decided on: 02.11.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner had filed original application, which was disposed of with the direction to give the appointment of T.G.T. (Arts)- petitioner was appointed in the year 1994- his past services were not counted- he filed another writ petition claiming the benefit of past services- held, that the petitioner is caught by the principle of Order 2 Rule 2 and also by the doctrine of estoppel and res-judicata – the writ Court had rightly held that reliefs cannot be granted to the petitioner, when they were not granted earlier- appeal dismissed.

(Para- 2 to 7)

For the appellant: Mr. Jitender P. Ranote, Advocate, vice Mr. B.S. Thakur, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General, with Mr. Anup Rattan, Additional Advocate General, and Mr. J.K Verma & Mr. Kush Sharma, Deputy Advocate Generals.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Challenge in this appeal is to judgment and order, dated 5th May, 2011, made by the Writ Court in CWP (T) No. 8453 of 2008, titled as Hem Raj versus State of H.P. and another, whereby the writ petition filed by the appellant-writ petitioner came to be dismissed (for short "the impugned judgment").

2. The appellant-writ petitioner had invoked the jurisdiction of the H.P. State Administrative Tribunal (for short "the Tribunal") in the year 1992 by the medium of OA No. 1111 of 1992, which came to be disposed of vide order, dated 17th September, 1992. It is apt to reproduce the relevant portion of the said order herein:

> "The averments made in the application make out a case for giving service to the applicant in consonance with the judgments of the Tribunal in case No. OA-162/90 Lalita Kumari versus State of H.P. and OA-364/87 Joginder Singh versus State of H.P. and other similar cases.
>
> The respondents are directed to give him the appointment as T.G.T. (Arts) within a period of two months from today if found eligible.
>
> In view of the above, the application is disposed of accordingly."

3. It appears that thereafter, having found eligible, the appellant-writ petitioner was appointed afresh in the year 1994. It is apt to record herein that there was no direction to the respondents, in terms of the order (supra), for appointment of the appellant-writ petitioner in continuation of the services rendered by him in the year 1989. He accepted the said appointment.

4. In the year 2002, he filed another Original Application, being OA No. 1042 of 2002, before the Tribunal, which, on the abolition of the erstwhile Tribunal, was transferred to this Court and came to be diarized as CWP (T) No. 8453 of 2008, seeking the following reliefs amongst others:

"a) That the respondents may be directed to count for the services as TGT (Art) of applicant at Rani Ratna Memorial High School, Gharwasra w.e.f. 9.1.87 till he was appointed on regular basis vide office order dated 28.10.1994 for seniority, promotion as well as monitory benefits and other benefits as provided under law for which the applicant is entitled to.

b) That the applicant be given all consequential benefits after counting for his services as TGT (Arts) at Rani Ratna Memorial High School, Gharwasra for which he is legally entitled to."

5. The appellant-writ petitioner is caught by the principle of Order II Rule 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure (for short "CPC") and also by the doctrine of estoppel and res judicata.

6. The Writ Court has rightly held that the appellant-writ petitioner cannot seek the said reliefs again when the same were not granted to him in the earlier Original Application.

7. Having said so, the impugned judgment is legal one and well reasoned, needs no interference.

8. Accordingly, the impugned judgment is upheld and the appeal is dismissed alongwith all pending applications.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANJAY KAROL, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE P.S. RANA, J.

Sohan Lal ...Appellant.

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Respondent.

Criminal Appeal No.305 of 2014
Reserved on : 31.8.2016
Date of Decision: November 2, 2016

N.D.P.S. ACT, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 3 kg. charas- he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that accused had admitted the presence of police party in the bus, search of the bag and recovery of charas – he claimed that bag did not belong to him but was unclaimed – independent witnesses did not support the prosecution version but that by itself is not sufficient to discard the prosecution version – testimonies of police officials can be relied upon if supported by other materials- the testimonies cannot be discarded on the ground that police officials are interested in the success of their cases- police officials consistently proved the prosecution version – there are no contradictions in their testimonies- police has no enmity with the accused - link evidence was proved - non-production of malkhana register to establish the movement of contraband from the FSL to Police Station and thereafter to Court will not make the prosecution case doubtful in absence of any prejudice- similarly, absence of reference in NCB form, sample seal and the road certificate will not render the prosecution case doubtful; when there is no discrepancy regarding the number and nature of seal or their tampering or breaking-non-production of seal will also not make the prosecution case suspect – recovery was effected from the bag and there was no necessity to comply with Section 50 of N.D.P.S. Act- the prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal dismissed. (Para-16 to 74)

Cases referred:

Deepak Kumar son of Late Shri Satveer Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2015(1) SLC 579
State of H.P. v. Kurban Khan, 2015 Cr.LJ 183
State v. Anil Kumar, Latest HLJ 2015(HP) 341
Shashi Kumar and another v. State of H.P., Latest HLJ 2015(HP) 596

Gurmeet Singh v. State of H.P., 2015(2) Him.L.R.766
Surender Kumar alias Teena and another v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(1) Him L.R. (DB) 566
Mohan Lal V. State of Rajasthan, (2015) 6 SCC 222
Kulwinder Singh and another V. State of Punjab, (2015) 6 SCC 674
Dharampal Singh v. State of Punjab, (2010) 9 SCC 608
Madan Lal and another vs. State of H.P., 2003 (7) SCC 465
Dehal Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1139
Gian Chand & others v. State of Haryana, (2013) 14 SCC 420
Raj Kumar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2014) 5 SCC 353
Dangra Jaiswal vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2011) 5 SCC 123
Yomeshbhai Pranshankar Bhatt vs. State of Gujarat, (2011) 6 SCC 312
Bhajju alias Karan Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2012) 4 SCC 327
Ramesh Harijan vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 5 SCC 777
Govindaraju alias Govinda v. State by Srirampuram Police Station and another, (2012) 4 SCC 722
Tika Ram v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2007) 15 SCC 760
Girja Prasad v. State of M.P., (2007) 7 SCC 625)
Aher Raja Khima v. State of Saurashtra, AIR 1956 SC 217
Tahir v. State (Delhi), (1996) 3 SCC 338
Sanjeev Kumar v. State of H.P., 2016(3) Him.LR (DB) 1529
Rishi Pal v. State of Himachal Pradesh & connected matters, 2016(3) Him LR (DB) 1336
Des Raj & another v. The State of H.P. & connected matter, 2016(3) Him LR (DB) 1455
Sanju v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(2) Him LR 1210
Kartik v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(2) Him LR 1217
State versus N.S. God, (2013) 3 SCC 594
Dilip and another v. State of M.P., (2007) 1 SCC 450 (two Judges)
Union of India v. Shah Alam and another, (2009) 16 SCC 644 (two Judges)
State of H.P. v. Pawan Kumar, (2005) 4 SCC 350
State of Punjab v. Baldev Singh, (1999) 6 SCC 172
Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja v. State of Gujarat, (2011) 1 SCC 60
State of Rajasthan v. Ratan Lal, (2009) 11 SCC 464
Union of India and another v. K.S. Subramanian, 1976 (3) SCC 677
Pyare Mohan Lal v. State of Jharkhand and others, 2010 (10) SCC 693
P. Ramchandra Rao v. State of Karnataka, 2002 (4) SCC 578

For the Appellant : Mr. Rajesh Mandhotra, Advocate.
For the Respondents : Mr. R.S. Verma, Additional Advocate General, Mr. Vikram Thakur, Deputy Advocate General and Mr. J.S. Guleria, Assistant Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sanjay Karol, Judge

Primarily, the following question of law arises for consideration in the present appeal:

As to whether this Court is obliged to follow the earlier decisions rendered by larger Bench(s) (three Judges), on identical facts, specifically laying down the principle of law, as against a different view taken subsequently by smaller Benches (two Judges) of the apex Court or not?

2. Appellant-convict Sohan Lal, hereinafter referred to as the accused, assails the judgment dated 19.6.2014/28.6.2014, passed by Special Judge, Solan, Distirct Solan, Camp at Nalagarh, Himachal Pradesh, in Sessions Trial No.13-S/7 of 2012, titled as State of Himachal Pradesh v. Sohan Lal, whereby he stands convicted for offence punishable under the provisions of Section 20 of the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as the NDPS Act) and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of ten years and pay fine of Rs. 1,00,000/- and in default thereof, to further undergo simple imprisonment for a further period of one year.

3. It is the case of prosecution that on 7.8.2012, when SI Narain Singh, alongwith HC Om Parkash (PW-1), Constable Ram Krishan (PW-2) and other police officials, was on patrol duty. At about 10 p.m., a transport vehicle (HRTC Bus) bearing No. HP-10A-3968, which came from Rohru, was stopped for checking. Police party entered the Bus and SI Narain Singh instructed all the passengers to identify their luggage. Accused was found sitting on Seat No.17 and from the bag, so kept by him on his lap, police recovered 3 kgs of Charas, which was taken into possession vide Memo (Ex.PW-1/B) in the presence of a co-passenger Surinder Singh (PW-3), sitting on the adjoining Seat No.18, and Pramod Singh (PW-4) Conductor of the Bus. The recovered stuff was packed into a parcel and sealed with seal of impression 'M' and NCB form (Ex.PW-11/A) filled up in triplicate. Impression of the seal was taken on a piece of cloth (Ex.PW-1/A). Rukka (Ex. PW-11/C) taken by Constable Ram Krishan (PW-2), led to the registration of FIR No.156, dated 7.8.2012 (Ex.PW-10/A), for commission of offence, punishable under the provisions of Section 20 of the Act, at Police Station, Solan Sadar, District Solan, Himachal Pradesh. With the completion of proceedings on the spot, which were photographed and videographed, the case property entrusted to SHO Chaman Lal, who resealed the same with his own seal 'R' and deposited it with MHC Narender Parkash (PW-8). Kuldeep Kumar (PW-9) took the case property for analysis and deposited it at the Forensic Science Laboratory, Junga. On receipt of the report of the Chemical Examiner (Ex.PW-13/C) and with the completion of investigation, which prima facie revealed complicity of the accused in the alleged crime, challan was presented in the Court for trial.

4. The accused was charged for having committed an offence punishable under the provisions of Section 20 of the Act, to which he did not plead guilty and claimed trial.

5. In order to establish its case, prosecution examined as many as 13 witnesses and statement of the accused, under the provisions of Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, was also recorded, in which he took plea of innocence and false implication.

6. Based on the testimonies of witnesses and the material on record, trial Court convicted the accused of the charged offence and sentenced him as aforesaid. Hence, the present appeal by the accused.

7. Assailing the judgment, learned counsel for the accused submits that – (a) in the search/recovery memo (Ex.PW-1/B), Om Parkash was introduced as a witness only to falsely implicate the accused. Such fact stands fortified from the absence of his name in Ruka (Ex.PW-11/C), wherein presence of only two independent witnesses Surinder Singh (PW-3) and Pramod Singh (PW-4) stands recorded. In support, reliance is placed on Deepak Kumar son of Late Shri Satveer Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2015(1) SLC 579. (b) Search Memo (Ex.PW-11/H) is illegal, as search carried out is in violation of law laid down by the apex Court in State of Rajasthan v. Parmanand and another, (2014) 5 SCC 345. (c) Prosecution case is rendered doubtful also by way of link evidence, for in the Malkhana Register, reference of the case property is in the shape of two bags and a sample seal, whereas recovery memo reveals recovery of only one bag, which, in any event, does not refer to the sample seal. (d) Absence of reference of NCB form and sample seal in the Road Certificate (Ex.PW-8/B) further renders the prosecution case to be doubtful. (e) Non-production of the original seal in the Court has rendered the prosecution case to be fatal. Reliance is sought on State of H.P. v. Kurban Khan, 2015 Cr.LJ 183; State v. Anil Kumar, Latest HLJ 2015(HP) 341. (f) There is no proof as to how the contraband substance, after analysis, was brought first to the Police Station and thereafter produced in Court. Absence of such entries in the Malkhana Register renders the prosecution case to be fatal, in view of the decisions rendered by this Court in Shashi Kumar and another v. State of H.P., Latest HLJ 2015(HP) 596; Gurmeet Singh v. State of H.P., 2015(2) Him.L.R.766; and Surender Kumar alias Teena and another v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(1) Him L.R. (DB) 566.

8. On the other hand Mr. R.S. Verma, learned Additional Advocate General, has supported the judgment for the reasons set out therein.

9. We have minutely gone through the testimonies of the witnesses and other incriminating material on record.

10. It is a settled proposition of law that presumption of culpable mental state, under Section 35 of the Act, arises only when prosecution has proved recovery of the contraband substance from the conscious possession of the accused. That such fact is to be proved beyond reasonable doubt is now well settled. (Mohan Lal V. State of Rajasthan, (2015) 6 SCC 222; and Kulwinder Singh and another V. State of Punjab, (2015) 6 SCC 674).

11. In Dharampal Singh v. State of Punjab, (2010) 9 SCC 608, the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India, held that the initial burden of proof of possession lies on the prosecution and once it is discharged, legal burden would shift on to the accused. Standard of proof expected from the prosecution is to prove possession beyond all reasonable doubt but what is required to prove innocence by the accused would be preponderance of probability. Once the plea of the accused is found probable, discharge of initial burden by the prosecution will not nail him with offence.

12. Offences under the Act, being more serious in nature higher degree of proof is required to convict an accused. It needs no emphasis that the expression "possession" is not capable of precise and completely logical definition of universal application in context of all the statutes. "Possession" is a polymorphous word and cannot be uniformly applied, it assumes different colour in different context. In the context of Section 18/20 of the Act once possession is established, the accused who claims that it was not a conscious possession has to establish it because it is within his special knowledge. Section 54 of the Act raises presumption of possession of illicit articles.

13. Act creates legal fiction and presumes the person in possession of illicit articles to have committed the offence in case he fails to account for the possession satisfactorily. Possession is a mental state and Section 35 of the Act gives statutory recognition to culpable mental state. It includes knowledge of fact. The possession, therefore, has to be understood in the context thereof and tested on this anvil. Once possession is established, the Court can presume that the accused had culpable mental state and committed the offence.

14. In somewhat similar facts, the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India, had the occasion to consider this question in Madan Lal and another vs. State of H.P., 2003 (7) SCC 465, wherein it has been held that once possession is established, the person who claims that it was not a conscious possession has to establish it, because how he came to be in possession is within his special knowledge. Section 35 of the Act gives a statutory recognition of this position because of the presumption available in law. Similar is the position in terms of Section 54 where also presumption is available to be drawn from possession of illicit articles. (See also: Dehal Singh v. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 1139); Gian Chand & others v. State of Haryana, (2013) 14 SCC 420; and Kulwinder Singh (supra).

15. The Apex Court in Mohan Lal (supra) has held that that the term "possession" for the purpose of Section 18 of the NDPS Act could mean physical possession with animus, custody or dominion over the prohibited substance with animus or even exercise of dominion and control as a result of concealment. The animus and the mental intent which is the primary and significant element to show and establish possession. Further, personal knowledge as to the existence of the "chattel" i.e. the illegal substance at a particular location or site, at a relevant time and the intention based upon the knowledge, would constitute the unique relationship and manifest possession. In such a situation, presence and existence of possession could be justified, for the intention is to exercise right over the substance or the chattel and to act as owner to the exclusion of others.

16. Now let us apply the law to the given facts. Significantly, the accused in his statement, recorded under the provisions of Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, has admitted the prosecution case, so put to him in Questions No.2 to 15, about the presence of the police party on National Highway No.22, near Saproon; stopping of HRTC Bus bearing registration No.HP-10A-3968 of Rohru Depot for checking; entering of police officials into the bus from the front and the rear gates; checking of luggage of the passengers by Sub Inspector Narain Singh; his sitting on seat No.17 of the said bus; search of bag (Pithoo) and recovery of the incriminating articles, i.e. red and green coloured micron bag (Ex.P-6), Parcel (Ex.PW-7) and Charas (Ex.P-8) in the shape of wicks and balls; arranging of electronic weighing scale and weighing of contraband substance; placing of the contraband substance in the micron bag (Ex.P-6) and thereafter in a cloth parcel, and sealing of the parcel with seal of seal impression 'M'; preparation of NCB form (Ex.PW-11/A) in triplicate; taking into possession of the incriminating articles, including his clothes (Ex.P-3 to P-5) vide Memo (Ex.PW-1/B); conduct of videography (Ex.PW-1/C-1 to Ex. PW-1/C-7) of the proceedings on the spot; preparation of Rukka (Ex.PW-11/C), registration of FIR (Ex.PW-10/A), preparation of site plan (Ex.PW-11/D), recording of statements of witnesses, taking into possession and release of the HRTC Bus; his arrest vide Memo Ex.PW-11/G and intimation given to his wife; and taking into possession of his ticket (Ex.PW-4/A). But however, the accused has denied possession of any bag from him, stating that the bag (Pithoo) was recovered from the rack of the bus.

17. Hence, he only wants the Court to believe that such recovery came to be effected not from his personal possession but from an unclaimed bag which was kept on the rack above the seat over which he was sitting.

18. In Raj Kumar v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2014) 5 SCC 353, Hon'ble the Supreme Court of India, held as under:-

> "22. The accused has a duty to furnish an explanation in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. regarding any incriminating material that has been produced against him. If the accused has been given the freedom to remain silent during the investigation as well as before the court, then the accused may choose to maintain silence or even remain in complete denial when his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is being recorded. However, in such an event, the court would be entitled to draw an inference, including such adverse inference against the accused as may be permissible in accordance with law. [Vide: Ramnaresh vs. State of Chhattisgarh, (2012) 4 SCC 257; Munish Mubar vs. State of Haryana, (2012) 10 SCC 464: AIR 2013 SC 912; and Raj Kumar Singh vs. State of Rajasthan, (2013) 5 SCC 722.]
>
> 23. In the instant case, as the appellant did not take any defence or furnish any explanation as to any of the incriminating material placed by the trial court, the courts below have rightly drawn an adverse inference against him. The appellant has not denied his presence in the house on that night. When the children were left in the custody of the appellant, he was bound to explain as under what circumstances Gounjhi died.
>
> 24. In Prithipal Singh vs. State of Punjab, (2012) 1 SCC 10, this Court relying on its earlier judgment in State of W.B. vs. Mir Mohammad Omar, (2000) 8 SCC 382, held as under:
>
> > "53..... if fact is especially in the knowledge of any person, then burden of proving that fact is upon him. It is impossible for the prosecution to prove certain facts particularly within the knowledge of the accused. Section 106 is not intended to relieve the prosecution of its burden to prove the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. But the section > would apply to cases where the prosecution has succeeded in proving facts from which a reasonable inference can be drawn regarding the existence of certain other facts, unless the accused by virtue of his special knowledge regarding such facts, failed to offer any explanation which might drive the court to draw a different inference. Section 106 of the Evidence Act is designed to meet certain exceptional cases, in which, it would be impossible for the prosecution to establish certain facts which are particularly within the knowledge of the accused."

>
> (Emphasis supplied)
>
> [Also: Neel Kumar vs. State of Haryana, (2012) 5 SCC 766; and Gian Chand vs. State of Haryana, (2013) 14 SCC 420]"

19. Independent of the aforesaid admissions, we have examined the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses.

20. Noticeably, independent witnesses, namely Surinder Singh (PW-3) and Pramod Singh (PW-4) have not supported the prosecution case. They were declared hostile and extensively cross-examined by the learned Public Prosecutor. Before we deal with their testimonies, we shall first discuss how testimony of a hostile witness is to be appreciated. The law in this regard is now well settled.

21. The apex Court in Ashok alias Dangra Jaiswal vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2011) 5 SCC 123, has held that seizure witnesses turning hostile may not be very significant by itself, as it is not an uncommon phenomenon in criminal trials, particularly in cases relating to NDPS Act.

22. Further in Yomeshbhai Pranshankar Bhatt vs. State of Gujarat, (2011) 6 SCC 312, the apex Court has held that evidence of a hostile witness may contain elements of truth and should not be entirely discarded. Their Lordships have held that:

> "22. The learned counsel for the appellant further submitted the doctor had not given his written opinion that the deceased was fit enough to give her statement. Though orally, the doctor said so. Relying on this part of the evidence especially the evidence of the husband of the deceased, the learned counsel for the appellant submitted that even though the husband may have been declared hostile, the law relating to appreciation of evidence of hostile witnesses is not to completely discard the evidence given by them. This Court has held that even the evidence given by hostile witness may contain elements of truth.
>
> 23. This Court has held in State of U.P. vs. Chetram and others, AIR 1989 SC 1543, that merely because the witnesses have been declared hostile the entire evidence should not be brushed aside. [See para 13 at page 1548]. Similar view has been expressed by three-judge Bench of this Court in Khujji alias Surendra Tiwari vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, [AIR 1991 SC 1853]. At para 6, page 1857 of the report this Court speaking through Justice Ahmadi, as His Lordship then was, after referring to various judgments of this Court laid down that just because the witness turned hostile his entire evidence should not be washed out." (Emphasis supplied)

23. Further in Bhajju alias Karan Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2012) 4 SCC 327 the Court held that evidence of hostile witnesses can also be relied upon by the prosecution to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version of the incident. It further held that:

> "36. It is settled law that the evidence of hostile witnesses can also be relied upon by the prosecution to the extent to which it supports the prosecution version of the incident. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as washed off the records, it remains admissible in trial and there is no legal bar to base the conviction of the accused upon such testimony, if corroborated by other reliable evidence. Section 154 of the Act enables the Court, in its discretion, to permit the person, who calls a witness, to put any question to him which might be put in cross-examination by the adverse party.

37. The view that the evidence of the witness who has been called and cross-examined by the party with the leave of the court, cannot be believed or disbelieved in part and has to be excluded altogether, is not the correct exposition of law. The Courts may rely upon so much of the testimony which supports the case of the prosecution and is corroborated by other evidence. It is also now a settled cannon of criminal jurisprudence that the part which has been allowed to be cross-examined can also be relied upon by the prosecution. These principles have been encompassed in the judgments of this Court in the cases:

(a) Koli Lakhmanbhai Chanabhai v. State of Gujarat (1999) 8 SCC 624

(b) Prithi v. State of Haryana (2010) 8 SCC 536

(c) Sidhartha Vashisht @ Manu Sharma v. State (NCT of Delhi) (2010) 6 SCC 1

(d) Ramkrushna v. State of Maharashtra (2007) 13 SCC 525"

(Emphasis supplied)

24. In Ramesh Harijan vs. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2012) 5 SCC 777 the Court held that seizure/recovery witnesses though turning hostile, but admitting their signatures/thumb impressions on recovery memo, could be relied on by prosecution and that:

"23. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of a prosecution witness cannot be rejected in toto merely because the prosecution chose to treat him as hostile and cross examine him. The evidence of such witnesses cannot be treated as effaced or washed off the record altogether but the same can be accepted to the extent that their version is found to be dependable on a careful scrutiny thereof. (Vide: Bhagwan Singh v. The State of Haryana, AIR 1976 SC 202; Rabindra Kumar Dey v. State of Orissa, AIR 1977 SC 170; Syad Akbar v. State of Karnataka, AIR 1979 SC 1848; and Khujji @ Surendra Tiwari v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1991 SC 1853).

24. In State of U.P. v. Ramesh Prasad Misra & Anr., AIR 1996 SC 2766, this Court held that evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused but required to be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence can be relied upon. A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Balu Sonba Shinde v. State of Maharashtra, (2002) 7 SCC 543; Gagan Kanojia & Anr. v. State of Punjab, (2006) 13 SCC 516; Radha Mohan Singh @ Lal Saheb & Ors. v. State of U.P., AIR 2006 SC 951; Sarvesh Narain Shukla v. Daroga Singh & Ors., AIR 2008 SC 320; and Subbu Singh v. State by Public Prosecutor, (2009) 6 SCC 462. Thus, the law can be summarised to the effect that the evidence of a hostile witness cannot be discarded as a whole, and relevant parts thereof which are admissible in law, can be used by the prosecution or the defence. (See also: C. Muniappan & Ors. v. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2010 SC 3718; and Himanshu @ Chintu v. State (NCT of Delhi), (2011) 2 SCC 36)" (Emphasis supplied)

25. We now proceed to examine the prosecution case from the version so disclosed by the independent witnesses. Surinder Singh admits to be the passenger, sitting on seat No.18, at the time of checking of the bus by the police party. He also admits that accused was sitting as a passenger over seat No.17. He admits that the bus was searched by the police party. Only on the point of recovery, he states that police found one bag on the upper carriage of the bus, from which Charas was recovered. We do not find this version of his to be true, as we shall discuss hereinafter. He admits having signed recovery memo (Ex.PW-1/B) and parcel (Ex.P-2). He tries to explain the same by clarifying that since he was puzzled on account of illness of his child, reluctantly he appended his signatures, but crucially he admits that the police had photographed the entire proceedings and the photographs Ex.PW-1/C-1 to Ex.PW-1/C-7 are the ones which were taken on the spot. He admits that in the photographs, accused is seen with a bag on his lap. Now significantly, this witness does not state that the police intimidated or threatened him of false implication in the case or that the documents were forged or falsely prepared. After all, luggage of all the passengers, including his, was checked. If he was puzzled, he could have refused to participate in the proceedings conducted by the police. For the first time in Court, he has narrated the factum of illness of his child. He admits recovery of Charas in the form of wicks and balls from the bag recovered by the police. This Charas kept in a micron bag was wrapped. He also did not make any complaint to any person of having signed the papers without knowing contents thereof, or his statement so recorded by the police, with which he was confronted to be unture.

26. We are of the considered view that only to help the accused, to a limited extent, he deposed contrary to the factual position. Hence, this part of his testimony can be discarded safely.

27. Pramod Singh is a Government employee. He was posted as a Conductor of the bus owned by a Public Sector Undertaking. He admits the police to have checked the bus at the relevant time. He admits that police instructed the passengers to identify their luggage. He also admits the police to have checked the luggage of the passengers. He tries to save the accused by deposing that from one unclaimed bag, which was lying on the shelf, Charas was recovered and when none claimed ownership thereof, under suspicion, since the accused was sitting immediately below such unclaimed baggage, police falsely implicated him. The witness is obviously not telling the truth. We find that the witness was cross-examined by the learned Public Prosecutor. He admits to have signed all the papers after noting contents thereof. He has studied upto 12th class and writes and reads in Hindi. He admits his signatures on the recovery memo. This was not under threat, pressure or coercion. He voluntarily signed the same. Also, he never made any complaint for unnecessary harassment of the passengers by the police. His statement (Mark-B), which he denies in Court, wherein he admits recovery of the contraband substance from the conscious possession of the accused, stands duly proved by the Investigating Officer. The witness is bound to disclose the truth, more so being a public servant. That he was associated by the police in the recovery proceedings, he does not deny. Why is it that he did not report false implication of the accused to any one? Why is it that he did not protest against false implication of an innocent person? Why is it that he immediately did not report the incident being false or fabricated, to any one of his superior officers? Why is it that he did not inform his superior officers of any unnecessary harassment caused, if any, on account of checking by the police officials? He was duty bound to do so. Under these circumstances, it would be only appropriate that action be taken against this witness, in terms of the judgment and order passed by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in Criminal Appeal No.417 of 1996, titled as State of Himachal Pradesh v. Balak Ram.

28. Even from the testimony of independent witnesses, it cannot be said that a case other than the one which the prosecution wants the Court to believe has emerged. It is not a case where we find two views to have emerged on record.

29. It is also a settled proposition of law that sole testimony of police official, which if otherwise is reliable, trustworthy, cogent and duly corroborated by other admissible evidence, cannot be discarded only on the ground that he is a police official and may be interested in the success of the case. It cannot be stated as a rule that a police officer can or cannot be a sole eye-witness in a criminal case. It will always depend upon the facts of a given case. If the testimony of such a witness is reliable, trustworthy, cogent and if required duly corroborated by other witnesses or admissible evidences, then the statement of such witness cannot be discarded only on the ground that he is a police officer and may have some interest in success of the case. It is only when his interest in the success of the case is motivated by overzealousness to an extent of his involving innocent people, in that event, no credibility can be attached to the statement of such witness.

30. It is not the law that Police witnesses should not be relied upon and their evidence cannot be accepted unless it is corroborated in material particulars by other independent evidence. The presumption applies as much in favour of a police officer as any other person. There is also no rule of law which lays down that no conviction can be recorded on the testimony of a police officer even if such evidence is otherwise reliable and trustworthy. Rule of prudence may require more careful scrutiny of their evidence. If such a presumption is raised against the police officers without exception, it will be an attitude which could neither do credit to the magistracy nor good to the public, it can only bring down the prestige of police administration.

31. Wherever, evidence of a police officer, after careful scrutiny, inspires confidence and is found to be trustworthy and reliable, can form basis of conviction and absence of some independent witness of the locality does not in any way affect the creditworthiness of the prosecution case. No infirmity attaches to the testimony of the police officers merely because they belong to the police force and there is no rule of law or evidence which lays down that conviction cannot be recorded on the evidence of the police officials, if found reliable, unless corroborated by some independent evidence. Such reliable and trustworthy statement can form the basis of conviction. [See: Govindaraju alias Govinda v. State by Srirampuram Police Station and another, (2012) 4 SCC 722; Tika Ram v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2007) 15 SCC 760; Girja Prasad v. State of M.P., (2007) 7 SCC 625); and Aher Raja Khima v. State of Saurashtra, AIR 1956 SC 217].

32. Apex Court in Tahir v. State (Delhi), (1996) 3 SCC 338, dealing with a similar question, held as under:-

> "6. ... .In our opinion no infirmity attaches to the testimony of the police officials, merely because they belong to the police force and there is no rule of law or evidence which lays down that conviction cannot be recorded on the evidence of the police officials, if found reliable, unless corroborated by some independent evidence. The Rule of Prudence, however, only requires a more careful scrutiny of their evidence, since they can be said to be interested in the result of the case projected by them. Where the evidence of the police officials, after careful scrutiny, inspires confidence and is found to be trustworthy and reliable, it can form basis of conviction and the absence of some independent witness of the locality to lend corroboration to their evidence, does not in any way affect the creditworthiness of the prosecution case."

33. In the aforesaid background, we now proceed to examine the testimonies of police officials and the case unfurling on record.

34. Simply put, it is the case of the Investigating Officer Narinder Singh (PW-11) that on 7.8.2012, he alongwith other police officials, was on a patrol duty at Saproon (NH-22). At about 10 p.m., one bus bearing No.HP-10A-3968 was stopped for checking. Police officials entered the bus from both the gates, when he instructed the passengers to identify their luggage and keep it with them for checking. Accused, who was sitting on Seat No.17, was found having kept one Khaki colour "Pithu" (carry bag) on his lap. It was opened for checking, in the presence of the Conductor (PW-4) of the Bus and passenger (PW-3) sitting on Seat No.18. The Pithu contained a micron bag, from which another transparent envelope, wrapped in an adhesive tape, was found. This parcel contained black coloured substance, in the form of wicks and balls. On checking, it appeared to be Charas. As instructed, Ram Krishan (PW-2) brought the scales. When weighed, Charas was found to be 3 kgs. Entire stuff was packed in the very same manner, in which it was opened and sealed with four seals of seal impression 'M'. NCB form (Ex.PW-11/A) was filled up in triplicate and impression of seal 'M' embossed thereupon. Sample of the seal was separately taken on a piece of cloth (Ex.PW-1/A), which was signed by both the independent witnesses and Om Parkash as also the accused. Original seal was handed over to witness Pramod Singh. Contraband substance was taken into possession vide Memo (Ex.PW-1/B). Entire proceedings were got photographed (photographs are Ex.PW-1/C-1 to C-7) and videographed (video CD is Ex.PW-1/C-8). Ram Krishan took Rukka (Ex.PW-1/C), which led to registration of the FIR (Ex.PW-10/A). Witness has testified to have recorded statements of independent witnesses Surinder Singh (Mark-A)(Ex.PW-11/E) and Pramod Singh (Mark-B)(Ex.PW-11/F). Accused was arrested vide Memo (Ex.PW-11/G) and as per his desire, information furnished to his wife over telephone. Thereafter, personal search of the accused was conducted vide Memo (Ex.PW-11/H) and certain articles taken into possession. Case property was produced before the SHO, who resealed it by affixing his own seal of impression 'R', whose signatures he has identified. Special Report (Ex.PW-2/A) so prepared was sent to the Superior Officer through Ram Krishan. He identifies the Charas parcel (Ex.P-2) and Pithu (Ex.P-1) to be the one which stood recovered by him, from the conscious possession of this accused. He has also identified the micron bag (Ex.P-6), Khaki tape (Ex.P-7) and other belongings of the accused.

35. The witness has clearly withstood the test of cross-examination. His statement is natural, clear, convincing and cogent. Suggestion put to this witness of having influenced other witnesses for appending signatures on various documents stands denied by him, so also the fact that police recovered Charas from the unclaimed bag, which was kept on the rack, above the seat and the accused having been falsely implicated.

36. We notice, police officials Om Parkash (PW-1) and Ram Krishan (PW-2) to have fully corroborated such version. Their testimonies are clear, cogent and consistent.

37. Having minutely observed the testimonies of the police officials, we do not find defence of the accused to have been probablized. Why would police officials falsely implicate the accused? There is no prior animosity. He was not the only passenger in the bus. Entire luggage, of all the passengers, was checked and recovery effected from the bag kept by him on his lap.

38. Rajinder Kumar (PW-5) testifies Ram Krishan (PW-2) to have brought the scales from his Dhaba.

39. Ram Krishan also testifies having carried the Rukka to the Police Station, which led to the registration of FIR by Hem Ram (PW-10), to which effect, even testimony of this witness is evidently clear.

40. SHO Chaman Lal (PW-13) has also testified having resealed the contraband substance with his own seal 'R', impression whereof, was taken on a piece of cloth (Ex.PW-1/A). Both Narinder Singh (PW-11) and Chaman Lal testify having filled up the NCB forms in triplicate.

41. Case property stood entrusted to Narender Parkash (PW-8), who clarifies that on 8.8.2012, one cloth parcel, having four seals of seal impression 'M' and three seals of seal impression 'R', one bag, sample seals of seals 'M' and 'R', NCB form in triplicate and one Pithu, containing clothes were entered in Malkhana register (Ex.PW-8/A). The parcel of Charas, containing seals 'M' and 'R', as also the NCB form were sent to the Forensic Science Laboratory, Junga through Kuldeep Kumar (PW-9), vide Road Certificate (Ex.PW-8/B). He has identified the parcel (Ex.P-2) to the one which stood deposited with them. Kuldeep Kumar (PW-5) has also deposed that the parcel handed over to him was deposited, as it is, with the Laboratory. Now significantly, both these witnesses have identified the case property, which remained with them untampered.

42. We also find that Special Report, so prepared by Narinder Singh (PW-11) came to be received in the office of Deputy Superintendent of Police by Devender Kumar (PW-7).

43. Hence, the prosecution case remains fully established, beyond reasonable doubt. It is in this backdrop, we observe that accused has failed to even probablize his defence, much less dislodge the statutory burden, so cast upon him, both under the provisions of the Act and Indian Evidence Act.

44. It is not the requirement of law that names of all the persons/witnesses, in whose presence search and seizure operations took place, must necessarily be mentioned in the Ruka. Deepak Kumar (supra) also does not lay down such a proposition.

45. That Om Prakash was present on the spot is evident from other ocular/documentary evidence on record. It definitely cannot be the case of the accused that prior to the filing of the challan, the Investigating Officer was already aware about the fact that independent witnesses would not support the prosecution. Hence, plea of Om Prakash being introduced as a witness only to falsely implicate the accused is farfetched.

46. Reliance upon the decisions rendered by learned Single Judge and a Coordinate Bench of this Court in Gurmeet Singh (supra) and Shashi Kumar (Supra), for the reason that malkhana register does not establish movement of the contraband substance from the Forensic Science Laboratory to the Police Station and thereafter to the Court is misconceived. Not only the decision is clearly distinguishable on facts, inasmuch as the Court found the genesis of the prosecution case to be extremely doubtful, but also the Bench subsequently took a different view in Cr.A No.201 of 2016, titled as State of Himachal Pradesh v. Kishori Lal, decided on 1.9.2016. Hence, earlier decisions rendered in Sanjeev Kumar v. State of H.P., 2016(3) Him.LR (DB) 1529; Rishi Pal v. State of Himachal Pradesh & connected matters, 2016(3) Him LR (DB) 1336; Des Raj & another v. The State of H.P. & connected matter, 2016(3) Him LR (DB) 1455; Sanju v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(2) Him LR 1210; and Kartik v. State of Himachal Pradesh, 2016(2) Him LR 1217 are also of no use to the accused.

47. It was for the accused to have established the prejudice caused to him on account of non-establishment of the movement of the contraband substance, after it came to be analyzed by the experts at the Forensic Science Laboratory. Now, once the prosecution has been able to establish the factum of recovery and seizure of the contraband substance from the conscious possession of the accused, beyond reasonable doubt, which after analysis was found to be Charas, onus to disprove the same heavily lied upon the accused, which in the instant case was not so done.

48. Police officials have deposed that on the spot two bags, i.e. one Pithu and one micron bag, were taken into possession. Their testimonies do not reveal such version to be false. In fact, these bags stand produced in Court. Simply because there is discrepancy in the number of bags in the Malkhana Register, that fact itself would not be sufficient enough to acquit the accused, more so when there is nothing on record to establish as to in what manner it has caused prejudice to him. Similar view stands taken by a Coordinate Bench of this Court in *Kishori Lal (supra) (*Cr.A No.201 of 2016).

49. A Coordinate Bench of this Court, by relying upon the decision rendered by the apex Court in State versus N.S. God, (2013) 3 SCC 594, further clarified its judgment, rendered in Shashi Kumar (supra) and Gurmeet Singh (supra), that mere absence of entry of a particular fact in the Malkhana Register would not render the prosecution case to be fatal. Significantly, one of the Judges and author of Surender Kumar alias Teena (supra) was himself a party to the decision rendered in Kishori Lal (supra).

50. Absence of reference of NCB form as also the sample seal in the Road Certificate (Ex.PW-8/B), in no manner, renders the prosecution case to be doubtful. It has not caused any prejudice to the accused.

51. According to the accused, the bag was recovered from the rack immediately above his seat. It certainly did not belong to the co-passenger sitting on the adjoining seat. All the passengers, even according to the accused and witness Pramod Singh (PW-4), had identified their luggage. Under these circumstances, it was necessary for the accused to have explained, on the spot, that the bag did not belong to him.

52. Non-production of original seal in the Court also cannot be said to be fatal, for the police officials have fully established their case of having sealed the case property, both on the spot and at the Police Station. There is no discrepancy about the number and nature of the seals. Also, there is no iota of evidence that they were either broken or tampered with. Report of the FSL (Ex.PW-13/C) is also evidently clear to such effect.

53. On this issue much reliance is placed on a decision rendered us in Kurban Khan (supra) and Anil Kumar (supra), wherein it is held that non-production of original seals does render the prosecution case to be fatal. As authors of the said decisions, we ourselves clarify them to have been rendered in the given facts and circumstances, which fact, also subsequently stands clarified by another Coordinate Bench of this Court, by relying upon a judgment rendered by the apex Court in State represented by Inspector of Police, Chennai v. N.S. Gnaneswaran, (2013) 3 SCC 594, in Kishori Lal (supra) (Criminal Appeal No.201 of 2016), that the said decisions were rendered in the given facts and circumstances. Not only that, they further clarified that it was incumbent upon the accused to have established prejudice caused to him on account of non-production of the original seal(s) in the Court, particularly when otherwise there was sufficient evidence, linking the seal affixed on the sample and embossed on the documents to be the same and the case property to be the one so recovered from the conscious possession of the accused. The Court observed that "availability of other sufficient evidence renders non-production of originals seal as a technical defect, which does not vitiate trial unless prejudice is caused.....". "Purpose of production of original seal in the Court is to compare it with seal affixed on parcels of contraband and sample in the Court so as to prove that the parcels produced in the Court are the same which were prepared and sealed on the spot at the time of recovery from the accused and also to ensure that parcel sent for chemical examination and received back were the same which were seized and sealed on the spot."

54. In the instant case, the contraband substance came to be recovered not from the person, but from the Pithu of the accused. It is a matter of record that no notice in compliance of Section 50 of the Act came to be issued to the accused. It is also a matter of record that both the person, i.e. the body of the accused as also Pithu were searched by the police party.

55. The Apex Court in State of H.P. v. Sunil Kumar, (2014) 4 SCC 780, has extensively dealt with the issue of chance recovery. It stands clarified that mere suspicion, even if it is "positive suspicion" or "grave suspicion", cannot be equated with "reason to believe", as the concepts are completely different. Only where there is "reason to believe", the Investigating Officer is duty bound to follow the procedure, so prescribed under the Act. The Court was dealing with a case where the police officials accidently or unexpectedly came across drug carried by the passenger, travelling in the bus, of which there was no prior information or suspicion with regard thereto.

56. In the instant case, undisputedly, police had no prior information of the accused either dealing with or possessing the contraband substance. The police party per chance stumbled upon the recovery of the contraband substance from the bag held by the accused.

57. While contending that there has been infraction of provisions of Section 50 of the Act, our attention is invited to the decision rendered in Parmanand (supra)(two Judges.

58. The said decision is squarely inapplicable in the given facts and circumstances. In the said case, the Court was dealing with a case where though two persons were arrayed as accused, but recovery of the contraband substance came to be effected from a polythene bag carried by one of them. Though police had informed the accused of their statutory right and also issued notices, but the accused from whom such recovery came to be effected, contested, of not having independently consented for being searched by the police party, as the document did not bear his signatures. While holding that there was infraction of Section 50 of the Act, the Court referred to and relied upon its earlier decisions rendered in Dilip and another v. State of M.P., (2007) 1 SCC 450 (two Judges); and Union of India v. Shah Alam and another, (2009) 16 SCC 644 (two Judges). What also weighed with the Court was the fact that the accused stood acquitted by the High Court.

59. Now, when we peruse the decision rendered in Shah Alam (supra), we find the same to have been rendered in the given facts and circumstances, which is quite evident from Para-16 of the Report. Also what weighed with the Court was the otherwise uninspiring testimonies of the police officials, which never came to be corroborated by independent witnesses, who also were not examined in Court.

60. When we peruse the decision of Dilip (supra), we find that though actual recovery of the contraband substance came to be effected from the Scooter, but the person of the accused was also searched. The Court found provisions of Section 50 of the Act to have been breached. Hence, the Court specifically did not deal with the proposition that though no recovery came to be effected, from the person/body but from a place/object under conscious control and possession of the accused, and the accused was searched, failure to comply with the provisions of Section 50 of the Act, would ipso facto vitiate the trial. We find the decision to have been rendered in the given facts and circumstances and thus clearly distinguishable having no binding effect to the instant facts. Observations made in Para-16 of the Report to the following effect, are moreso obiter in nature, considering the fact that earlier decision rendered by a three-Judge Bench of the Apex Court in State of H.P. v. Pawan Kumar, (2005) 4 SCC 350, was never brought to their Lordships notice. Also, such observations came to be made in the backdrop of the fact that the accused originally stood acquitted and there was serious infraction of Section 42 of the Act.

> "16. In this case, the provisions of Section 50 might not have been required to be complied with so far as the search of scooter is concerned, but, keeping in view the fact that the person of the appellant was also searched, it was obligatory on the part of PW 10 to comply with the said provisions. It was not done."

61. At this juncture, it would be appropriate to reproduce the principles laid down by a Constitution Bench (Five-Judges), of the apex Court in State of Punjab v. Baldev Singh, (1999) 6 SCC 172, as under:

> "57. On the basis of the reasoning and discussion above, the following conclusions arise :
>
> (1) That when an empowered officer or a duly authorised officer acting on prior information is about to search a person, it is imperative for him to inform the person concerned of his right under sub-sec. (1) of Sec. 50 of being taken to the nearest Gazetted Officer or the nearest Magistrate for making the search. However, such information may not necessarily be in writing.
>
> (2) That failure to inform the person concerned about the existence of his right to be searched before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate would cause prejudice to an accused.
>
> (3) That a search made by an empowered officer, on prior information, without informing the person of his right that if he so requires, he shall be taken before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate for search and in case he so opts, failure to conduct his search before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate, may not vitiate the trial but would render the recovery of the illicit article suspect and vitiate the conviction and sentence of an accused, where the conviction has been recorded only on the basis of the possession of the illicit article, recovered from his person, during a search conducted in violation of the provisions of Sec. 50 of the Act.
>
> (4) That there is indeed need to protect society from criminals. The societal intent in safety will suffer if persons who commit crimes are let off because the evidence against them is to be treated as if it does not exist. The answer, therefore, is that the investigating agency must follow the procedure as envisaged by the statute scrupulously and the failure to do so must be viewed by the higher authorities seriously inviting action against the official concerned so that the laxity on the part of the investigating authority is curbed. In every case the end result is important but the means to achieve it must remain above board. The remedy cannot be worse than the disease itself. The legitimacy of the judicial process may come under a cloud if the Court is seen to condone acts of lawlessness conducted by the investigating agency during search operations and may also undermine respect for the law and may have the effect of unconscionably compromising the administration of justice. That cannot be permitted. An accused is entitled to a fair trial. A conviction resulting from an unfair trial is contrary to our concept of justice. The use of evidence collected in breach of the safeguards provided by Sec. 50 at the trial, would render the trial unfair.

(5) That whether or not the safeguards provided in Sec. 50 have been duly observed would have to be determined by the Court on the basis of the evidence led at the trial. Finding on that issue, one way or the other, would be relevant for recording an order of conviction or acquittal. Without giving an opportunity to the prosecution to establish, at the trial, that the provisions of Sec. 50 and, particularly, the safeguards provided therein were duly complied with, it would not be permissible to cut short a criminal trial.

(6) That in the context in which the protection has been incorporated in Sec. 50 for the benefit of the person intended to be searched, we do not express any opinion whether the provisions of Sec. 50 are mandatory or directory, but hold that failure to inform the person concerned of his right as emanating from sub-sec. (1) of Sec. 50, may render the recovery of the contraband suspect and the conviction and sentence of an accused bad and unsustainable in law.

(7) That an illicit article seized from the person of an accused during search conducted in violation of the safeguards provided in Sec. 50 of the Act cannot be used as evidence of proof of unlawful possession of the contraband on the accused though any other material recovered during that search may be relied upon by the prosecution, in other proceedings, against an accused, notwithstanding the recovery of that material during an illegal search.

(8) A presumption under Sec. 54 of the Act can only be raised after the prosecution has established that the accused was found to be in possession of the contraband in a search conducted in accordance with the mandate of Sec. 50. An illegal search cannot entitle the prosecution to raise a presumption under Sec. 54 of the Act.

(9) That the judgment in Pooran Mal case (supra), cannot be understood to have Lald down that an illicit article seized during a search if a person, on prior information, conducted in violation of the provisions of Sec. 50 of the Act, can by itself be used as evidence of unlawful possession of the illicit article on the person from whom the contraband has been seized during the illegal search.

(10) That the judgment in AH Mustaffa case (supra), correctly interprets and distinguishes the judgment in Pooran Mal case, and the broad observations made in Pirthi Chanel case (supra) and Jasbir Singh case (supra), are not in turn with the correct exposition of law as Lald down in Pooran Mal case."

62. The said decision came to be considered by another Constitution Bench (five-Judges) in Vijaysinh Chandubha Jadeja v. State of Gujarat, (2011) 1 SCC 609, wherein the Court laid the following principles:

"29. In view of the foregoing discussion, we are of the firm opinion that the object with which right under Section 50(1) of the NDPS Act, by way of a safeguard, has been conferred on the suspect, viz. to check the misuse of power, to avoid harm to innocent persons and to minimise the allegations of planting or foisting of false cases by the law enforcement agencies, it would be imperative on the part of the empowered officer to apprise the person intended to be searched of his right to be searched before a gazetted officer or a Magistrate. We have no hesitation in holding that in so far as the obligation of the authorised officer under sub-section (1) of Section 50 of the NDPS Act is concerned, it is mandatory and requires a strict compliance. Failure to comply with the provision would render the recovery of the illicit article suspect and vitiate the conviction if the same is recorded only on the basis of the recovery of the illicit article from the person of the accused during such search. Thereafter, the suspect may or may not choose to exercise the right provided to him under the said provision."

"31. We are of the opinion that the concept of "substantial compliance" with the requirement of Section 50 of the NDPS Act introduced and read into the mandate of the said Section in Joseph Fernandez (supra) and Prabha Shankar Dubey (supra) is neither borne out from the language of sub-section (1) of Section 50 nor it is in consonance with the dictum laid down in Baldev Singh's case (supra). Needless to add that the question whether or not the procedure prescribed has been followed and the requirement of Section 50 had been met, is a matter of trial. It would neither be possible nor feasible to lay down any absolute formula in that behalf." (Emphasis supplied)

63. In Pawan Kumar (supra), the apex Court was specifically dealing with an accused where both the accused and the bag carried by him were searched and even though no recovery was effected from the person but Charas was recovered from the bag. With these facts, the Court observed as under:

11. Section 50 of the Act prescribes the conditions under which search of a person shall be conducted. Sub-sec. (1) provides that when the empowered officer is about to search any suspected person, he shall, if the person to be searched so requires, take him to the nearest Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate for the purpose. Under sub-sec. (2) it is Lald down that if such request is made by the suspected person, the officer who is to take the search, may detain the suspect until he can be brought before such Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate. Sub-sec. (3) lays down that when the person to be searched is brought before such a Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate and such Gazetted Officer or the Magistrate finds that there are no reasonable grounds for search, he shall forthwith discharge the person to be searched, otherwise he shall direct that the search be made.

12. On its plain reading, Sec. 50 would come into play only in the case of a search of a person as distinguished from search of any premises etc. However, if the empowered officer, without any prior information as contemplated by Sec. 42 of the Act makes a search or causes arrest of a person during the normal course of investigation into an offence or suspected offence and on completion of that search, a contraband under the N.D.P.S. Act is also recovered, the requirements of Sec. 50 of the Act are not attracted."

"14. The above quoted dictum of the Constitution bench shows that the provisions of Section 50 will come into play only in the case of personal search of the accused and not of some baggage like a bag, article or container, etc. which he may be carrying."

"27. Coming to the merits of the appeal, the high Court allowed the appeal on the finding that the report of the Chemical Examiner had to be excluded and that there was non compliance of Section 50 of the Act. The learned Judges of this Court, who heard the appeal earlier, have recorded a unanimous opinion that the report of the chemical Examiner was admissible in evidence and could not be excluded. In view of the discussion made earlier, Section 50 of the Act can have no application on the facts and circumstances of the present case as opium was allegedly recovered from the bag, which was being carried by the accused. The High Court did not examine the testimony of the witnesses and other evidence on merits. Accordingly, the matter has to be remitted back to the High court for a fresh hearing of the appeal." (Emphasis supplied)

64. The said decision came to be reiterated by another three-Judge Bench of the apex Court in State of Rajasthan v. Ratan Lal, (2009) 11 SCC 464.

65. Apart from the fact that the decision rendered in Pawan Kumar (supra) is squarely applicable to the given facts, there is yet another reason for us to follow the same and that being the law of binding precedents. The apex Court in Union of India and another v. K.S. Subramanian, 1976 (3) SCC 677, also observed as under:

> "12. We do not think that the difficulty before the High Court could be resolved by it by following what it considered to be the view of a Division Bench of this Court in two cases any by merely quoting the views expressed by large benches of this Court and then observing that these were insufficient for deciding the point before the High Court. It is true that, in each of the cases cited before the High Court, observations of this Court occur in a context different from that of the case before us. But, we do not think that the High Court acted correctly in skirting the views expressed by larger benches of this Court in the manner in which it had done this. The proper course for a High Court, in such a case, is to try to find out and follow the opinions expressed by larger benches of this Court in preference to those expressed by smaller benches of the Court. That is the practice followed by this Court itself. The practice has now crystallized into a rule of law declared by this Court. If, however, the High Court was of opinion that the views expressed by larger benches of this Court were not applicable to the facts of the instant case it should have said so giving reasons supporting its point of view." (Emphasis supplied)

66. The principle stands reiterated by a three-Judge Bench of the apex Court in Pyare Mohan Lal v. State of Jharkhand and others, 2010 (10) SCC 693, as under:

> "24. In view of the above, the law can be summarized to state that in case there is a conflict between two or more judgments of this Court, the judgment of the larger Bench is to be followed……."

67. Further, the Constitution Bench (five-Judge) of the Apex Court in P. Ramchandra Rao v. State of Karnataka, 2002 (4) SCC 578, has observed that:

> "……..Even where necessities or jurisdiction , if any were found therefore, there could not have been scope for such liberties being taken to transgress the doctrine of administration of justice and what is permissible even under such circumstances being only to have had the matter referred to for reconsideration by a Larger Bench of this Court and not to deviate by any other means……"
>
> [Also : Pyare Mohan Lal (supra); Union of India v. Raghubir Singh, AIR 1989 SC 1933; N S Giri v. Corporation of City of Mangalore, AIR 1999 SC 1958; Director of Settlement, AP v. M.R. Apparao, AIR 2002 SC 1598; Hyder Consulting (UK) Ltd. V. Governor, State of Orissa and others, (2015) 2 SCC 189]

68. Hence, we are bound by the decisions rendered by three Hon'ble Judges of the Apex Court in Pawan Kumar (supra) & Ratan Lal (supra), and not Parmanand (supra), Shah Alam (supra) & Dilip (supra), rendered by two Hon'ble Judges of the same Court.

69. Hence, the contention that the search is illegal or that there has been violation of mandatory provisions of Section 50 of the Act is untenable in law.

70. In our considered view, prosecution has been able to establish the guilt of the accused, beyond reasonable doubt, by leading clear, cogent, convincing and reliable piece of evidence.

71. From the material placed on record, it stands established by the prosecution witnesses that the accused is guilty of having committed the offence charged for. There is sufficient, convincing, cogent and reliable evidence on record to this effect. The chain of events stand conclusively established and lead only to one conclusion, i.e. guilt of the accused. It cannot be said that accused is innocent or not guilty or that he has been falsely implicated or that his defence is probable or that the evidence led by the prosecution is inconsistent, unreliable, untrustworthy and unbelievable. It cannot be said that the version narrated by the witnesses in Court is in a parrot-like manner and hence is to be disbelieved.

72. For all the aforesaid reasons, we find no reason to interfere with the judgment passed by the trial Court. The Court has fully appreciated the evidence placed on record by the parties. There is no illegality, irregularity, perversity in correct and/or in complete appreciation of the material so placed on record by the parties. Hence, the appeal is dismissed.

73. We have noticed that the Courts below are often faced with the dilemma of dealing with different/various decisions rendered by this Court. As such, we direct the Registrar General of this Court to immediately send a copy of this judgment to every Judicial Officer of the State as also the Director, H.P. Judicial Academy, for appraisal, compliance and necessary action.

74. A copy of this judgment be also sent to the accused.

75. Assistance rendered by Mr. Rajesh Mandhotra, learned Legal Aid Counsel, is highly appreciable.

Appeal stands disposed of, so also pending application(s), if any.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

State of H.P. .....Appellant.
Versus
Rajesh Kumar @ Bati .....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 311 of 2008
Decided on: 2nd November, 2016.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 324, 325 and 341 read with Section 34- Informant along with P was attending the marriage - when they were coming out of the hotel, 5-6 boys who were drunk started abusing them – P inquired as to why they were abusing on which they starting beating P- informant tried to rescue P on which he was beaten - R was identified at the spot- R was convicted while other accused were acquitted- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, that medical evidence proved that informant had sustained grievous injuries – mere fact that independent witnesses had not supported the prosecution version is not sufficient to discard the same- PW-3 had supported the prosecution version, which was duly corroborated by his previous statement – the recovery memo of weapon of offence was also proved - Appellate Court had wrongly acquitted the accused- appeal allowed – judgment of Appellate Court set aside and that of the trial Court restored. (Para-10 to 20)

For the Respondent: Mr. R.S Thakur, Additional Advocate General.
For the Respondent: Mr. Surender Verma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgment of 26.11.2007 rendered by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Mandi, District Mandi, H.P. in Criminal Appeal No. 30/2003, whereby the learned Additional Sessions Judge while reversing the findings of conviction recorded qua the respondent herein by the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sundernagar, District Mandi, acquitted him for the offences charged.

2. The brief facts of the case are that on 24.7.1996 the complainant Suresh Kumar alongwith Pal @ Dharam Singh were attending marriage at Sundernagar. In the evening they went to the hotel of Ram Singh situated at Bhojpur for dinner. When both of them came out of the hotel, 5-6 boys, who were drunk started abusing them and when Pal asked them as to why they are abusing them, the aforesaid 5-6 boys started beating Pal. When Suresh Kumar intervened and tried to rescue his friend Pal, they started beating Suresh Kumar. His friend Pal ran away. The boys aforesaid were beating Suresh kumar with a grip, broken bottle and knife on his head, face and shoulder. Suresh Kumar could identify only Rajesh Kumar @ Bati as one of the assailants as he was already known to him. The complainant also escaped himself from the assailants and ran away to his house situated at village Dhaneshari. Som Krishan, brother of the complainant took him to SDH, Sunderngar for medical treatment. On 25.7.1996 the Medical Officer informed the police on telephone that injured Suresh Kumar had been assaulted and was admitted in the hospital. ASI Suram Singh alongwith C Amar Singh went to SDH Sunderngar where he recorded statement of Suresh Kumar under section 154 Cr.P.C. FIR stands registered against the accused. On completion of all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offence allegedly committed by Rajesh Kumar @ Batti (accused/respondent herein), Gagan and Surinder Kumar @ Sidhu challan was prepared and filed in the Court.

3. The accused Rajesh Kumar @ Batti, Gagan and Surinder Kumar @ Sidhu stood charged by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 324, 325, 341 readwith Section 34 I.P.C to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 8 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded in which they claimed false implication. However they did not choose to lead any evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of conviction against the respondent herein for offences punishable under Section 325, 341 readwith Section 34 of IPC. Remaining accused stand acquitted by the learned trial Court.

6. In an appeal preferred therefrom by the respondent herein before the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Mandi, the latter Court while allowing the appeal preferred therebefore by the respondent herein reversed the findings of the conviction recorded qua the respondent herein by the learned trial Court.

7. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned Appellate Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs standing replaced by findings of conviction.

8. The learned counsel appearing for the respondent has with considerable force and vigor contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned Appellate Court standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

9. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel for the parties has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

10. PW-3 Suresh Kumar (injured/complainant) had lodged an apposite report qua the occurrence before the police station concerned comprised in Ex. PW-3/A wherein he named Bati @ Rajesh Kumar to be one of the assailants in the assault perpetrated on his person. He received injuries as stand reflected in MLC comprised in Mark-Y. A recital occurring in Mark Y reflects qua the Doctor, who prepared it referring the complainant for examination to the Radiologist.

11. PW-7 Dr. S.K Malhotra on a reference made to him by the Doctor who prepared Mark Y subjected the complainant to X-Ray examination, in sequel whereto X-Ray films comprised in Ex.PW-7/A to PW-7/C stood prepared, on discernment whereof he rendered his opinion comprised in Ex.PW-7/D holding a communication qua occurrence of fracture of left side frontal bone of skull of the complainant/injured. The Doctor who prepared MLC (Mark Y) on receiving the report of the Radiologist pronounced therein an opinion qua injury No.3 reflected in Mark Y being grievous.

12. The learned Appellate Court while reversing the findings of conviction recorded qua the respondent herein by the learned trial Court had assigned a reason, qua with PW-4 (Kashmir Singh) and PW-5 (Ram Singh) independent witnesses to the ill-fated occurrence not supporting the prosecution case also with PW-1 (Som Krishan) a witness to recovery memo Ext.PA whereunder grip allegedly wielded by the accused for inflicting injuries on the person of victim/complainant stood recovered, omitting to lend corroboration to the recitals occurring in the relevant memo, hence it standing prodded to record findings of acquittal qua the respondent herein.

13. The learned Appellate Court had concluded of with Dr. V.K Kapil who had prepared MLC Mark Y in sequel to his subjecting the complainant to medical examination not stepping into the witness box rendered the enunciations occurring therein to stand unproved. For all the reasons assigned hereinafter the reasons as stand propounded by the learned appellate Court are extremely feeble in legal vigor whereupon this Court is constrained to reverse the findings of acquittal recorded qua the respondent herein.

14. True it is that the independent witnesses to the occurrence omit to lend vigor to the prosecution case. However the mere factum of independent witnesses to the occurrence who testified as PWs 4 and 5 not supporting the prosecution version would not constrain this Court to omit to revere the testimony of the complainant who deposed as PW-3 unless his testification if read in its entirety displays qua his propagating therein a version ridden with falsity besides with a vice of his improving as well as embellishing upon his previous statement recorded in writing. A close and circumspect reading of the testification of PW-3 occurring both in his examination-in-chief also in his cross-examination discloses qua his in tandem with his previous statement comprised in Ex.PW-3/A making echoings therein qua the respondent herein whom he proceeded to identify in Court being a participant in the ill-fated occurrence. He also identified grip which stood recovered by the investigating Officer under memo Ex. PA.

15. The witnesses to recovery memos (Ex. PA and PB) who testified as PW-1 and PW-2 in their respective testifications unequivocally deposed qua grip standing taken into possession by the police on its standing produced at the Police Station by accused Rajesh @ Batti. The aforesaid unrebutted testifications of PW-1 and PW-2, the witnesses to the recovery memo Ext.PA whereunder grip stood produced by accused Rajesh before the Investigating Officer concerned, naturally hence hold visible loud unveilings of thereupon the efficacy of its recovery under the memo aforesaid holding vigor besides immense formidability also the effect of the aforesaid inference drawn by this Court is qua omission of PW-1 and PW-2 to lend succor to the prosecution case and the effect of theirs reneging from their pervious statements recorded in writing standing omnibusly subsumed besides the factum of independent witnesses not supporting the prosecution case also wanes and gets scuttled. Since the counsel for the respondent herein did not subject PW-1 and PW-2 witnesses to the relevant recovery memo to an efficacious cross-examination for thereupon his concerting to project qua grip recovered under memo Ex.PA sanding not produced by him before the police rather it prior to its recovery in the manner reflected in Ext.PA being available in the police station concerned. Consequently, omission of the aforesaid concert by the learned defence counsel to thereupon tear the efficacy of Ex. PA fosters an inference of the accused Rajesh at the relevant time wielding grip recovered under Memo Ext.PA also the factum of his producing it before the Investigating Officer concerned being free from any taint of the investigating Officer concerned contriving the recitals occurring in Ex.PA.

16. The learned appellate Court while discounting the vigor of the prosecution case had unnecessarily emphasized upon the imperative requirement of independent witnesses to the ill-fated occurrence supporting the prosecution case whereas theirs not supporting it, it concluded of the prosecution failing to prove the charge against the respondent herein. However, the aforesaid reason as stands assigned by the learned appellate Court is for reasons afore-stated per se flimsy besides weak. Conspicuously, with proven efficacious recovery of grip recovered under memo Ext.PA concomitantly bespeaking the factum of its user upon the victim by the accused/respondent herein.

17. Be that as it may with the complainant deposing in tandem with his previous statement recorded in writing wherein he named the accused/respondent herein to be one of the assailants who perpetrated an assault upon him, in sequel whereto he suffered grievous injuries though was sufficient for the learned Additional Sessions Judge to proceed to affirm the findings of conviction rendered against the respondent herein by the learned trial Court yet he for specious reasons discounted its effect also his verdict for reasons ascribed herein-after suffers from an inherent fallacy. Since the learned defence counsel while holding the complainant to cross-examination had put suggestions to him holding portrayals therein qua availability of the complainant at the relevant site of occurrence also when the learned defence counsel while holding PW-3 to cross-examination put suggestions to him wherewithin echoings are held qua the respondent herein also being available at the relevant site of occurrence yet his concerting to proclaim therein qua there occurring no scuffle thereat inter-se him with the complainant, suggestions whereof obviously personify qua the defence acquiescing to the factum of the accused/respondent herein at the relevant time being available at the relevant site of occurrence. In aftermath, the effect of the defence hence acquiescing to the presence of the accused herein at the relevant time at the site of occurrence when read in conjunction with the proven efficacious recovery of the relevant weapon of offence under memo Ex.PA by the Investigating Officer on its standing produced before him by the accused concerned also when PW-3 in his previous statement recorded in writing wherein he has named the accused/respondent herein to be one of the assailants has testified in consonance therewith, consistent testimony whereof of PW-3 qua the aforesaid facet remaining un-concerted to be shred of its efficacy by the defence, is of its therein holding a visible imminent display qua the defence conceding to the testification of PW-3 occurring in his examination-in-chief wherein he makes an imputation qua accused Rajesh Kumar perpetrating an assault upon him.

18. The learned appellate Court had discounted the vigor of Mark Y merely on the score of the Doctor who prepared it remaining un-examined by the prosecution. The aforesaid reason as stands propounded by the learned Additional Sessions Judge while recording an order of acquittal, is permeated with a legal frailty, significantly when PW-7 to whom a reference was made by the Doctor who prepared mark Y to hold the victim to X-Ray examination, in sequel whereto Ex.PW-7/A to PW-7/C stood prepared wherewithin pronouncements are held qua the victim suffering fracture of left side frontal bone of skull, injury whereof stands opined by him to be grievous in nature also the Doctor who prepared Mark Y on receiving the opinion prepared by PW-7 comprised in Ex.PW-7/D, opining qua the relevant injury being grievous in nature, was hence a sufficient portrayal of the injuries sustained by the victim in sequel to his standing assaulted by the accused being grievous in nature, without any insistence being made upon the doctor who prepared the apposite MLC standing examined for his hence proving it. Consequently the insistence made by the learned Additional Sessions Judge qua Mark-Y which stands prepared by the Doctor concerned standing proven by the latter for hence sustaining the prosecution case of the complainant sustaining grievous injuries, is ridden with gross absurdity besides perversity.

19. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned appellate Court has not appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by it suffers from a perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of the evidence on record.

20. In view of the above, the impugned judgment is set aside. The conviction and sentence imposed upon the accused/respondent herein by the learned trial Court is maintained and affirmed. The pronouncement of this Court be put into execution with utmost promptitude. The records be sent back.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Surinder Singh ...Appellant.
Versus
New India Assurance Company Ltd. and another ...Respondents.

FAO No.: 297 of 2009.
Date of Decision : 02/11/2016

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Claimant was engaged as driver – he sustained 40% disability when the truck being driven by him met with an accident – the claim petition was dismissed by Workmen Compensation Commissioner- held, that the claimant had sustained injuries in an accident - disability certificate shows 40% disability of right ankle due to which he would not be able to work as driver – disability certificate was prepared after five years of the incident – the Doctor who issued the MLC was also not examined – the claim petition was rightly dismissed, in these circumstances- appeal dismissed. (Para- 3)

For the Appellant: Mr. Nimish Gupta, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. B.M.Chauhan, Advocate, forrespondent No.1.
Mr. Vikas Rathore, vice counsel for respondent No.2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (Oral)

The instant appeal stands directed against the order of the learned Commissioner Workmen Compensation, Chamba, District Chamba, pronounced in 15/Compen/06 whereby the claim for compensation preferred therebefore by the claimant for his standing afflicted with 40% permanent disability in sequel to his suffering injuries during the course of his driving truck bearing No. HP-48-2827, truck whereof met with an accident near Tunnuhati while his standing engaged thereupon as a driver by respondent No.2, stood dismissed by the learned Commissioner.

2. This Court while hearing the learned counsel for the parties has framed for adjudication the following extracted substantial question of law:

> "Whether the learned Commissioner has erred in coming to the conclusion that the petitioner/appellant has failed to prove that the disability has been caused because of the accident."

3. Uncontrovertedly, the claimant/workman during the course of his performing employment as a driver in truck No. HP-48-2827 suffered injuries on his person in sequel to the truck aforesaid suffering an accident at Tunnuhati. In sequel to his sustaining injuries the apposite MLC stood prepared by the doctor concerned. The factum of the ill-fated occurrence also the factum of the claimant/workman in sequel thereto suffering injuries ear-marked in the apposite claim petition, stand acquiesced by the contesting respondents in their reply furnished to the claim petition. However, thereupon it is unbefitting to conclude, of disability certificate comprised in Ext.PW-2/A, which stood prepared belatedly since the ill fated occurrence wherewithin pronouncements are held qua the claimant/workman standing entailed with 40% disability of right ankle whereupon he stands precluded to henceforth perform the avocation of a driver which hitherto he was performing, holding any vigour, for on anvil thereof assessing compensation qua the claimant, conspicuously when reiteratedly it stands prepared with gross in-proximity occurring vis.a.vis. the ill fated occurrence. The pleaded acquiescence of the contesting respondents qua the factum of the appellant suffering injuries on his person in the ill fated occurrence, cannot sustain the reflections occurring in Ext.PW-2/A especially when it stood prepared besides issued with an inordinate procrastinated delay occurring since the ill-fated occurrence. Even if the preparation of Ext.PW-2/A has occurred with gross improximity vis.a.vis. the ill-fated occurrence, yet the claim of the appellant would not thereupon stand ousted unless evidence stood adduced before the Commissioner in portrayal of the initial injury suffered by the claimant/workman in the ill fated occurrence ultimately sequelling the entailment upon him of a 40% disability of his right ankle, disability whereof stands pronounced in Ext.PW-2/A. However, the claimant workman has not adduced before the learned Commissioner the aforesaid relevant best evidence qua the initial injury suffered by him in the ill fated occurrence which occurred five years prior to the issuance of Ext.PW-2/A ultimately holding a nexus with the entailment upon him of a 40% disability of his right ankle, disability whereof stands pronounced in Ext.PW-2/A. Leaving aside the aforesaid lapse on the part of the claimant/workman, he has aggravated his omission to discharge the onus of proving the prime factum of a nexus occurring vis.a.vis. the initial injury sustained by him in the ill fated occurrence with the pronouncements occurring in Ext.PW-2/A prepared on five years elapsing therefrom, by his even failing to examine the doctor who initially issued the apposite MLC. Also the apposite MLC has remained unexhibited, whereform it is apt to conclude qua the revelations occurring therein remaining unsubstantiated wherefrom the ensuing sequel is qua the pleaded acquiescence if any of the employer of the claimant/workman qua the latter sustaining injuries in the ill fated occurrence holding no communication qua the injured workman also thereat suffering fracture of his right ankle, fracture whereof stands pronounced in the MLC which exists on record especially with its remaining unexhibited wherefrom it is apt to conclude of it remaining unproven by the doctor who issued it whereupon any reliance upon it is unwarranted. Consequently, the pleaded acquiescence if any of the employer of the claimant/workman qua the latter suffering injuries in the ill fated occurrence is not construable to hold the effect of it also proving the unexhibited MLC which exists on record and which stood prepared in prompt sequel to the ill fated occurrence. It is also apt to conclude qua the pronouncements occurring in Ext.PW-2/A not holding any co-relatability or nexus with the pleaded acquiescence of the employer of the injured/ workman qua his also suffering those injuries in the ill fated occurrence nor also it can be concluded of the injured claimant at the initial stage suffering any fracture of his right ankle besides its ultimately begetting the disability pronounced in Ext.PW-2/A. I find no merit in the appeal, which is accordingly dismissed. The substantial question of law is answered against the appellant. No costs.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Oriental Insurance Company .....Appellant

Versus

Shri Ram Prashad & Anr. .....Respondents.

FAO No. 336 of 2009
Decided on: 3.11.2016

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased died during the course of the duties- a claim petition was filed, which was allowed – held, that Workmen Compensation Commissioner had taken the wages of the deceased as Rs.7,000/- - the employer did not file the wages register to prove the exact income – insurance cover was not adduced in the evidence – however, the penalty reduced from 25% to 5% of the compensation amount- appeal partly allowed.

(Para- 2 to 5)

For the Appellant: Ms.Shilpa Sood, Advocate.
For the Respondents: Ms. Tim Saran, Advocate for respondent No.2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J

The respondent No. 1 being the dependent of deceased Pratap Sharma, on occurrence of demise of the latter during the course of his employment under his employer, preferred a petition for compensation against the relevant employee wherein he impleaded the appellant herein as a respondent. It is not controverted qua the demise of deceased occurring during the course of his employment under his employer nor also it is in dispute qua the employer of the deceased workman at the relevant time holding an insurance cover from the appellant herein covering the relevant liability towards compensation arising from occurrence of demise of workman/workmen during the course of his/their performing employment under his/their employer.

2. The learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant Insurance Company has contended qua the quantification by learned Commissioner of the deceased workman drawing wages in the sum of Rs.7000/- per mensem is not borne out from the evidence on record. She submits that the employer had in his apposite reply furnished to the claim petition made an espousal therein of the deceased workman drawing wages quantified at a rate of Rs.5000/- per mensem, amount whereof stands contended to be the relevant sum of money whereto the relevant statutory principles were enjoined to be applied for arriving at the compensation amount payable to the father of the deceased workman whereas the learned Commissioner in his impugned award depending upon the relevant testifications adduced in support of the claim petition wherewithin bespeakings occur of the deceased workman drawing from his employment under his employer wages quantified at a rate of Rs.7000/- per mensem his hence committed an illegality. However, the aforesaid submission is unacceptable to this Court as the mere occurrence of the aforesaid factum in the pleadings of the appellant herein unless testified would not hold any probative worth nor would it constrain this Court to on anvil thereof reverse the findings recorded by the learned Commissioner qua the deceased workman drawing wages quantified at a rate of Rs.7000/- per mensem. Also the employer has omitted to adduce the relevant register of wages maintained by him personifying his defraying to the deceased workman wages quantified at a rate of Rs.5000/- per mensem whereas it constituted the best evidence for dispelling the testification of the claimant qua his deceased son drawing wages quantified at a rate of Rs.7000/- per mensem from his employment as a driller under respondent No.1, omission whereof renders the testification of the claimant qua the facet aforesaid to be credible also reliance thereupon being warranted. Consequently, this Court holds qua the learned Commissioner not moving astray while relying upon the testifications of AW-1 and AW-2 qua the aforesaid factum.

3. The learned counsel for the appellant contends qua the fastening in the impugned order of liability of interest upon the appellant not warranting its standing countenanced by this Court. The best evidence to succor her submission was constituted in the relevant insurance cover executed inter se respondent No.1 with the appellant herein. However, the aforesaid insurance cover holding manifestations therein qua the liability of interest qua the compensation amount assessed under the Act being unfastenable upon the appellant remained un-adduced in evidence whereupon this Court is constrained to conclude of the relevant liability of interest fastened upon the appellant herein by the learned Commissioner not warranting any interference. Nonetheless, for want of the appellant not discharging within the time mandated therein the relevant liability fastened upon it, the learned Commissioner had quantified the relevant penalty imposable upon it @ 25% of the compensation amount. The aforesaid portion of the award hence fastening an exorbitant liability of penalty upon the insurer for want of its within the time mandated therein discharging the apposite liability fastened upon it in the impugned award warrants interference.

4. Consequently, the delay, if any, on the part of the appellant to discharge the apposite liability fastened upon it under the impugned award shall entail upon the insurer, liability of penalty at the rate 5% of the compensation amount.

5. In view of the above, the present appeal stands partly allowed. Impugned order/award is to the extent aforestated modified. All pending applications stand disposed of accordingly.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Bakhtawar Singh ....Appellant.

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh .....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 295 of 2015.
Decided on : 3/11/2016

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Accused was found in possession of 230 grams charas – he was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that independent witness was not associated, although witnesses were available- the charas was found to be in the form of sticks and one ball in FSL but was found in the form of sticks in the Court- the prosecution version is doubtful, in these circumstances- appeal allowed- accused acquitted. (Para-9 to 13)

For the Appellant: Mr. Sanjeev K. Thakur, Advocate.
For the Respondent: Mr. R.S.Thakur, Addl. A.G.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge, Oral

The instant appeal is directed against the judgement rendered on 30.5.2015 recorded by the learned Special Judge, Ghumarwin, District Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh, Camp at Bilaspur, in Sessions trial No. 11/3 of 2013, whereby the appellant stands convicted and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for four years and to pay a fine of Rs.25,000/- and in default to undergo simple imprisonment for six months for commission of an offence punishable under Section 20(b) (ii)(B) of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985.

2. The prosecution story, in brief, is that Lakvir Singh, Inspector alongwith police party were present near Kali Mata Temple on patrolling duty on 18.4.2013 in an official vehicle. At about 1.15 p.m. the accused came from the opposite side wearing a purple coloured T-shirt and a black pant. On seeing the police party he turned back and tried to flee away. On suspicion, the accused was chased by the police party and was nabbed. On inquiry the accused disclosed his name as Bakhtawar Singh. The personal search of the accused was conducted. From the right pocket of the pant, a plastic envelop was recovered. On being opened, it was found to be containing a black coloured substance in stick shapes. Inspector Lakhvir Singh had tested the said substance by burning a small piece and it was found to be charas. Memo regarding identification of charas was prepared. Thereafter the case property was taken into possession and after completing all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offence, allegedly committed by the accused challan was prepared and filed in the Court.

3. Charge stood put to the accused by the learned trial Court for his committing offence punishable under Section 20 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 7 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, was recorded in which he pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. He chose to lead evidence in defence and examined three witnesses in defence.

5. On an appraisal of the evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of conviction against the accused/appellant herein.

6. The appellant stands aggrieved by the judgement of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned counsel for the appellant has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation by it of the evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of the material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of conviction being reversed by this Court, in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and being replaced by findings of acquittal.

7. On the other hand, the learned Additional Advocate General, has, with considerable force and vigour, contended that the findings of conviction, recorded by the Court below, standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and hence theirs not necessitating interference rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. Charas weighing 230 grams stood purportedly recovered from the conscious and exclusive possession of the accused under memo Ext.PW-2/B. A perusal of the aforesaid memo whereunder charas stood recovered unveils of its recovery standing effectuated from the pocket of the pants worn by the accused. The learned trial Court on traversing the evidence on record had concluded of the prosecution successfully substantiating the trite factum aforesaid. The conclusion aforesaid formed by the learned trial Court stood anvilled upon the factum of the prosecution witnesses deposing in tandem unbereft of any inconsistency qua the preparation of recovery memo Ext.PW-2/B whereunder recovery of charas stood effectuated in the manner delineated therein, occurring at the site of occurrence divulged therein. However, the learned counsel appearing for the appellant has submitted with force that the recitals disclosing therein qua the preparation of Ext.PW-2/B occurring at the site of occurrence standing belied by the factum of (i) a communication occurring in the testimony comprised in the cross-examination of PW-2 qua a temple existing in close proximity to the site of occurrence, temple whereof stands testified by him to be manned by its priest Raja Ram who is echoed therein to remain present thereat till 6.00 in the evening whereas the relevant occurrence taking place at 1.15 p.m warranted his association in the relevant proceedings whereas his standing omitted to be associated thereat renders suspect the preparation of Ext.PW-2/A. (ii) With occurrence of a communication in the deposition comprised in the cross-examination of PW-2 qua the accused after his standing nabbed and searched his standing taken to his house besides his also voicing therein qua the Investigating Officer also holding the search of his house likewise rendering suspect the factum of recovery of the relevant item of contraband in the manner reflected in the relevant memo aforesaid.

10. Even though there is no imperative necessity for the Investigating Officer to associate independent witnesses in the relevant proceedings also non association of independent witnesses by the Investigating Officer in the relevant proceedings would not scuttle the vigour of the prosecution version rather conspicuously, when the testifications of official witnesses omit to unravel any occurrence therein of any blatant interse or intra se contradictions, the factum of non solicitation of independent witnesses by the Investigating Officer in the apposite proceedings despite their availability would not assume any paramount significance. However, when a police official PW-2 has in his testimony made an unequivocal articulation qua the accused after standing nabbed at the relevant site of occurrence his standing accosted by the Investigating Officer to his house besides his also testifying qua the house of the accused also standing subjected to search, significantly when thereupon the testifications of official witnesses stand stained with a vice of intra se contradiction, it was a peremptory obligation cast upon the investigating officer concerned to for belying the efficacy of intra se contradictions occurring in the testifications of official witnesses qua the facet aforesaid, to hence associate independent witnesses in the relevant proceedings which purportedly occurred at the site mentioned in the relevant memo whereat the accused stood subjected to a search whereupon the vigour of the prosecution case would stand enhanced. Moreover, the aforesaid articulation made by PW-2 in his cross-examination did for dispelling, the factum qua the effectuation of recovery of the relevant item of contraband from the conscious and exclusive possession of the accused in the manner reflected in the relevant memo not hence occurring at the relevant site of occurrence, warrant the association by the Investigating Officer of independent witnesses in the relevant proceedings, especially when for reasons aforesaid they were available in close proximity thereof. However, he omitted to do so. The prosecution witnesses consistently in their testifications denied the factum of DW-1 owner of a Dhaba adjoining the relevant site of occurrence not holding his commercial establishment in proximity to the site of occurrence whereupon it is submitted by the learned Additional Advocate General of his association in the relevant proceedings being unsolicitable rendering hence his non association in the relevant proceedings to be insignificant. Also he contends qua with the prosecution witnesses consistently denying the suggestion put to them of Tarsem Singh and Dina Nath taking tea at the Dhaba of Sodhi Ram similarly rendered their non association in the apposite proceedings to be irrelevant. However, Sodhi Ram and Dina Nath stepped into witness box as defence witnesses. They in their respective testifications deposed with intra se corroboration qua the relevant factum qua effectuation of recovery of the relevant item of contraband pronounced in the relevant memo not occurring in proximity to the Dhaba of DW-1 contrarily they proceeded to consistently pronounces in their depositions qua theirs witnessing the police officials to accost the accused to his house. The aforesaid testifications unraveled by defence witnesses acquire a virtue of veracity also their testimonies are undiscardable given their relevant testifications remaining unrepulsed during the course of an inexorable cross-examination to which they stood subjected to besides when the testifications of defence witnesses stand on a pedestal coequal to the testifications of prosecution witnesses whereupon conspicuously when their relevant propagations for reasons aforesaid acquire sinew in sequel thereto the depositions of defence witnesses warrant imputation of credence thereto preeminently when PW-2 in his cross-examination has also supported the aforesaid factum wherefrom imperatively the ensuing sequel is of a pervasive doubt seeping the prosecution version qua recovery of the relevant item of contraband standing effectuated in the manner propagated in the relevant memo. Significantly also given the evident availability of the aforesaid witnesses in proximity to the relevant site of occurrence when stands unbelied by the prosecution rendered hence imperative their association in the relevant proceedings whereas theirs standing unassociated in the relevant proceedings spurs an inference of the prosecution failing to dispel the factum of the relevant seizure occurring at a place other than pronounced in the relevant memo. The prosecution case would stand on a solemn pedestal only when the Investigating Officer concerned had associated in the relevant proceedings the priest of the temple who as deposed by PW-2 was available at the relevant time in proximity to the relevant site of occurrence. However, with the priest of the temple located in close proximity to the site of occurrence remaining unassociated by the Investigating Officer concerned in the relevant proceedings begets an inference qua the Investigating Officer hence concerting to smother the truth of the prosecution version. Also therefrom an inference arises qua his concealing besides camouflaging the factum of effectuation of recovery of the relevant item of contraband not occurring at the relevant site of occurrence rather its recovery occurring elsewhere whereupon the propagation made by the prosecution qua its recovery standing effectuated in the manner spelt in the relevant memo loosing its vigour and credibility. The learned trial Court while relying upon the depositions of the prosecution witnesses has omitted to appreciate the import of the aforesaid testifications. Consequently its discarding the import of the aforesaid echoings occurring in the testification of PW-2 besides in the testifications of defence witnesses has sequelled its drawing erroneous findings qua the accused.

11. Also a perusal of the report of FSL concerned comprised in Ext.PW-4/D reveals of its standing detected to be in the form of sticks and one ball. However, when the relevant case property stood produced in Court for its standing shown to PW-1 theirs occurs a testification of it being only in the form of sticks. Consequently, when PW-1 to whom the case property stood shown in Court has omitted to testify in tandem with the manifestations occurring in the report of the FSL concerned comprised in Ext.PW-4/D prods an inference qua the case property as produced in Court not constituting the one whereupon an opinion stood rendered by the FSL nor it can be concluded of its constituting the relevant case property which stood purportedly recovered under memo Ext.PW-2/B from the alleged conscious and exclusive possession of the accused. Consequently, reinforcingly, it can be formidably concluded, that, the findings of the learned trial Court merit interference.

12. In view of above discussion, the appeal is allowed and the impugned judgment rendered by the learned Special Judge, Ghumarwin, is set aside. The appellant/accused is acquitted of the offence charged. The fine amount, if any, deposited by the accused is ordered to be refunded to him. Since the accused is in jail, he be released forthwith, if not required in any other case.

13. The Registry is directed to send the record forthwith, prepare forthwith in conformity with the judgment the release warrants of the accused and send the same to the Superintendent of the jail concerned.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE P.S.RANA, J.

Smt. Deepika Vashisht daughter of Dharam Dutt and another. .....Revisionists/Defendants.

Vs.

Rakesh Singh son of late Sh Des Raj and another .....Non-revisionists/Plaintiffs.

Civil Revision No. 3 of 2016.
Order reserved on: 22.9.2016.
Date of Order: November 3,2016.

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 23 Rule 1- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for seeking injunction – parties were directed to maintain status quo – defendants filed an application for initiating criminal proceedings for filing false affidavit, which was dismissed- a petition was filed before High Court and High Court directed the trial Court to consider and decide the application in accordance with law- plaintiff sought withdrawal of the suit- permission was granted and the suit and application were dismissed- held in revision that the allegations were made that plaintiff had filed a false affidavit – the plaintiff had a right to withdraw the civil suit unconditionally – all miscellaneous applications except the counter-claim will become infructuous on dismissal of suit- the order of the trial Court is not perverse- revision dismissed. (Para- 10 to 13)

Cases referred:

M/s Hulas Raj Vs. K.B.Bass, AIR 1968 SC 111
Masjid Kacha Tank Nahan Vs. Tuffail Mohammed, AIR 1991 SC 455
Indore Municipality Vs. K.N.Palsikar, AIR 1969 SC 580
P.Udayani Devi Vs. V.V.Rajeshwara Prasad Rao, AIR 1995 SC 1357

Gurdial Singh Vs. Raj Kumar Aneja, AIR 2002 SC 1003

For revisionists: Mr. Tara Singh Chauhan, Advocate.
For Non-revisionists. Mr. Rahul Mahajan, Advocate.

The following order of the Court was delivered:

P.S.Rana, Judge.

Present revision petition is filed under Section 151 of Code of Civil Procedure 1908 against order dated 29.9.2015 passed by learned Civil Judge Junior Division Court No.1 Una HP in civil suit No. 232 of 2014 whereby civil suit filed by plaintiffs was dismissed as withdrawn unconditionally under order XXIII rule I code of civil procedure 1908 and consequently application filed under section 151 CPC by defendants was also dismissed by learned Trial Court.

BRIEF FACTS OF CASE:

2. Rakesh Singh and another plaintiffs filed suit for permanent injunction restraining defendants from raising any sort of construction over suit land. In alternative relief of mandatory injunction also sought. It is pleaded that co-defendant No.1 is co-sharer in suit land and co-defendant No.2 is stranger to the suit land and co-defendant No.1 has no right to change existing nature of suit land by way of raising construction over suit land. It is further pleaded that co-defendant No.1 is daughter-in-law of co-defendant No.2. It is further pleaded that defendants are threatening to raise construction over suit land forcibly. It is further pleaded that plaintiffs have requested the defendants not to raise construction over suit land but defendants did not accept the request of plaintiffs. Prayer for decree of suit as mentioned in relief clause of plaint sought.

3. Per contra written statement filed on behalf of defendants pleaded therein that plaintiffs have no cause of action to file suit and plaintiffs have suppressed the material facts from Court. It is further pleaded that co-defendant No.1 is in separate possession of suit land. It is further pleaded that plaintiffs did not file correct site plan. It is further pleaded that plaintiffs lavelled false allegation against defendants. Prayer for dismissal of suit sought.

4. During the pendency of civil suit plaintiffs also filed application under Order XXXIX rules 1 and 2 code of civil procedure 1908 for grant of ad interim injunction. Learned Trial Court granted ad interim injunction on dated 18.9.2014 and directed the parties to maintain status quo qua raising construction causing interference in any manner over suit land. Learned Trial Court further directed that compliance of order XXXIX Rule 3 CPC be effected and thereafter show cause notice be issued to revisionists as to why order be not made absolute till disposal of civil suit.

5. Defendants filed response to application under order XXXIX rules 1 and 2 code of civil procedure 1908 and also filed application under section 151 code of civil procedure for initiating legal proceedings against plaintiffs for filing false affidavit in judicial proceedings. On dated 15.1.2015 learned Trial Court held that it is not expedient in the larger interest of justice to initiate any criminal proceedings against plaintiffs for few omissions and learned Trial Court restrained itself from passing any order under section 151 code of civil procedure 1908 and disposed of the application filed under section 151 CPC by defendants.

6. Feeling aggrieved against order passed by learned Trial Court dated 15.1.2015 upon application filed by defendants under section 151 code of civil procedure 1908 defendants filed CMPMO No. 80 of 2015 before Hon'ble High Court of HP and the same was disposed of on 23.7.2015. Hon'ble High Court of HP vide order dated 23.7.2015 quashed order and directed learned Trial Court to consider and decide application filed under section 151 CPC by defendants afresh in accordance with law. Hon'ble High Court of HP also directed parties to appear before learned Trial Court on 3.9.2015. Thereafter parties appeared before learned Trial Court and thereafter learned Trial Court fixed application filed under section 151 CPC by defendants for consideration. On 29.9.2015 learned Advocate appearing on behalf of plaintiffs sought permission of Court to withdraw civil suit under order XXIII rule 1 CPC unconditionally. Learned Advocate appearing on behalf of defendants submitted that although civil suit filed by plaintiffs be permitted to be withdrawn unconditionally but application filed under section 151 CPC by defendants in civil suit be kept pending for order. Learned Trial Court did not agree with the submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of defendants. Learned Trial Court held that if civil suit is withdrawn unconditionally under order XXIII rule I CPC then pending applications filed in civil suit would automatically be deemed to be dismissed. Thereafter learned Trial Court dismissed the application filed under section 151 CPC by defendants.

7. Feeling aggrieved against the order dated 29.9.2015 whereby learned Trial Court dismissed application of defendants filed under section 151 CPC in civil suit defendants filed present revision petition.

8. Court heard learned Advocate appearing on behalf of revisionists and learned Advocate appearing on behalf of non-revisionists and also perused entire record carefully.

9. Following points arise for determination in present revision petition:

1. Whether revision petition filed by revisionists is liable to be accepted as mentioned in memorandum of grounds of revision petition?.

2. Relief.

Findings upon point No.1 with reasons:

10. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of revisionists that non-revisionists filed false affidavit in judicial proceedings and learned Trial Court has committed grave illegality by way of not initiating legal proceeding against non-revisionists for filing false affidavit in judicial proceedings and on this ground revision petition be accepted is rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. The allegations against non-revisionists are that non-revisionists have committed offence of perjury by way of filing false affidavit in judicial proceedings. It is well settled law that whenever any false affidavit is filed in judicial proceedings then criminal complaint for perjury can be filed by concerned Judicial Officer only before competent authority of law. It is proved on record in present case that before passing order upon application filed under section 151 CPC on merits in civil suit plaintiffs have withdrawn civil suit under order XXIII rule 1 CPC unconditionally.

11. It is well settled law that right of withdrawal of suit unconditionally under order XXIII rule 1 CPC is unfettered right of plaintiffs. It is well settled law that defendants cannot insist that plaintiffs must be compelled to proceed with suit. Party which has initiated judicial proceedings is entitled to withdraw judicial proceedings at any stage of case unconditionally. It is well settled law that counter claim filed by defendants would be proceeded despite withdrawal of suit by plaintiffs under order VIII rule 6-D of CPC vide amendment in CPC w.e.f. 1.12.1977. It is well settled law that when main civil suit is withdrawn unconditionally under order XXIII rule 1 of code of civil procedure 1908 by plaintiffs then all miscellaneous applications filed in civil suit either by plaintiffs or defendants automatically becomes infructuous except counter claim filed by defendants under order VIII rule 6-A code of civil procedure 1908 as per provision of order VIII rule 6-D vide amendment w.e.f. 1.2.1977. Defendants did not file any counter claim under order VIII rule 6-A in the present suit. See AIR 1968 SC 111 title M/s Hulas Raj Vs. K.B.Bass.

12. It is well settled law that in revision petition High Court cannot set aside the order of learned Trial Court unless order of learned Trial Court is perverse ipso facto. See AIR 1991 SC 455 title Masjid Kacha Tank Nahan Vs. Tuffail Mohammed. See AIR 1969 SC 580 title Indore Municipality Vs. K.N.Palsikar. See AIR 1995 SC 1357 title P.Udayani Devi Vs. V.V.Rajeshwara Prasad Rao. See AIR 2002 SC 1003 title Gurdial Singh Vs. Raj Kumar Aneja. In view of above stated facts and case law cited supra it is held that order of learned Trial Court is not perverse nor illegal. Point No.1 is answered in negative.

Point No.2 (Relief).

13. In view of findings on point No.1 revision petition is dismissed. Parties are left to bear their own costs. File of learned Trial Court along with certify copy of order be sent back forthwith. Revision petition is disposed of. Pending application(s) if any also disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE AJAY MOHAN GOEL, J.

Himachal Pradesh General Industries Corporation Ltd. ....Appellant.

Versus

M/s Hari Singh Harpal Singh ... Respondent.

RSA No. 320 of 2008.
Reserved on: 28.10.2016.
Decided on: 03.11.2016.

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for recovery pleading that contract for transportation of rectified spirit was awarded to it – some amount remained unpaid – hence, the suit was filed for recovery – the defendant pleaded that defective spirit was supplied and the amount was adjusted against the losses caused by the plaintiff – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- it was contended in second appeal that the suit was not maintainable as the plaintiff had failed to plead that partnership was registered- held, that no objection was taken regarding maintainability- it was specifically asserted in the plaint that plaintiff was a partnership concern – registration of the partnership firm was proved- the plea that suit was barred by limitation was also not established- appeal dismissed. (Para- 14 to 18)

For the appellant. : Mr. Hemant Vaid, Advocate.
For the respondent : Mr. Satya Vrat Sharma, Advocate for the respondent.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, Judge.

By way of this second appeal, the appellant/defendant has challenged the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Senior Sub Judge, Shimla in Civil Case No. 182/1 of 1997, dated 27.09.2001, vide which said Court decreed the suit of respondent-plaintiff for recovery of Rs. 1,52,464.80/- alongwith interest as well as judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Additional District Judge, Shimla in Civil Appeal No. 13-S/13 of 2007 dated 25.03.2008 vide which learned Appellate Court while dismissing the appeal filed by the present appellant upheld the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court.

2. Brief facts necessary for the adjudication of this case are that respondent/plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as 'plaintiff') filed a suit for recovery of amount of Rs. 1,52,464.80/- with interest on the grounds that the plaintiff which was a partnership concern was awarded contract for transportation of Rectified Spirit fort for the year 1993-94 from various Distilleries to the Country Liquor Bottling Plant, Mehatpur, District Una, H.P by the defendant for which an amount of Rs. 50,000/- was deposited by the plaintiff towards security which was refundable. As per the plaintiff, it transported alcohol/Rectified Spirit from various distilleries to Bottling Plant at Mehatpur during the year 1994 and submitted its bills/G.Rs to the General Manager of the Country Liquor Bottling Plant of the defendant, a part of which remained unpaid. Further as per the plaintiff, the outstanding amount was claimed by it vide notice dated 01.03.1995 and payment of the same was delayed by the defendant on one pretext or the other and despite assurance no payment was made. In these circumstances, plaintiff filed suit for recovery of an amount of Rs. 1,52,464.80/- which included outstanding amount alongwith interest as well as refund of security deposit and earnest money.

3. The claim of the plaintiff was contested by the defendant interalia on the ground that plaintiff had failed to comply with clause 6 of the contract and had supplied defective spirit to the defendant Country Liquor Bottling Plant, Mehatpur which was unfit for human consumption. As per the defendant, the amounts which were due from them to plaintiff were adjusted against the losses which were caused by the plaintiff to the defendant and on these bases, the claim of the plaintiff was refuted.

4. In replication, the stand so taken by the defendant was denied by the plaintiff. It was stated therein by the plaintiff that one tanker bearing No. HR-01-2991 belonging to the plaintiff loaded with the rectified spirit met with an accident and defendant was reimbursed by the Oriental Insurance Company for the loss caused to it on account of said accident. On these bases, it was stated by the plaintiff that the defendant/Corporation could not withhold the payment of the plaintiff on the said pretext as it had already recovered the insured amount from the insurance company. Rest of the averments of the written statement were also not admitted in the replication by the plaintiff.

5. Before proceeding further, it is pertinent to mention here that paragraph 5 of the plaint, contained contents with regard to cause of action and the same is being reproduced as under:-

> "5. That the cause of action arose to the plaintiff against the defendant on 3.6.94, 22.7.94 and 1.3.95 onwards on each date of demand within the jurisdiction of this court where also the defendant works for gain and hence this court is competent to try this suit."

6. The reply to the said paragraph of the plaint as it find mention in the written statement is reproduced as under:-

> "Calls for no reply."

7. On the basis of pleadings of the parties, learned trial Court framed the following issues:-

> "1.Whether the plaintiff is entitled for the recovery of the suit amount as alleged? OPP.
>
> 2. Whether the suit is within limitation? OPP.
>
> 3. Relief."

8. On the basis of evidence led by the parties both ocular as well as documentary in support of their respective cases, the issues so framed were answered by the learned trial Court in the following manner:-

> "Issue No.1 : Yes.
>
> Issue No. 2 : Yes.
>
> Relief :Suit decreed as per operative part of the Judgment."

9. Learned trial Court vide its judgment and decree dated 27.09.2001 decreed the suit of the plaintiff for recovery of Rs. 1,52,464.80/- alongwith interest at the rate of 6% per annum. Learned trial Court held that plaintiff had proved on record that it had sent bills to the defendant/Corporation and receipt of same was not denied by the defendant. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that as per the contention of the defendant, the bills in question were withheld as the plaintiff firm had not complied with terms and conditions laid down in Clause 6 of the contract/agreement entered into between the plaintiff and defendant. Learned trial Court also took note of the fact that DW-1 Shri J.K. Lakhanpaul stated that plaintiff had agreed to get adjusted the loss suffered by the defendant on account of accident of the tanker out of the security amount of Rs. 50,000/-. It was held by the learned trial Court that neither defendant examined anyone from the Excise Department to either certify or prove that spirit which was transported by the plaintiff firm was not fit for human consumption nor it was controverted by the defendant that it (defendant) had received the claim on account of loss suffered by it from the Insurance Company. It was further held by the learned trial Court that no Counter Claim was filed by the defendant to claim any damages or losses allegedly suffered by it due to accident of the tanker. On these bases, it was held by the learned trial Court that defendant had failed to substantiate its contention that the plaintiff had violated the terms and conditions of the agreement. It was further held by the learned trial Court that even if plaintiff had violated the terms of the agreement then also the proper course for the defendant was not to withhold the outstanding payment, security amount and earnest money but right course was to file a suit for recovery of damages allegedly suffered by it. On these bases, learned trial Court allowed the suit for recovery so filed by the plaintiff alongwith interest @ 6% per annum. On the issue of limitation, it was held by the learned trial Court that during the course of arguments it was not explained on behalf of defendant/Corporation as to how the suit was not within limitation. It further held that in the written statement no such objection was raised that the suit was time barred. It was accordingly held by the learned trial Court that the suit was within limitation.

10. In appeal, learned Appellate Court while upholding the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court, dismissed the appeal filed by the present appellant against the judgment and decree of the learned trial Court. It was held by the learned Appellate Court that defendant had not disputed that a sum of Rs. 50,000/- was received as security and a sum of Rs. 10,000/- as earnest money by it from the plaintiff. Learned Appellate Court further held that it was also not disputed that plaintiff had submitted bills for an amount of Rs. 39,120/- on account of transportation of spirit which bills were not paid by the defendant on the ground that plaintiff caused loss to it and therefore, it had adjusted the loss against the amount of security etc. It was further held by the learned Appellate Court that the onus to prove loss caused to defendant by the plaintiff was upon the defendant and defendant had failed to prove the same. Learned Appellate Court held that the factum of 16,000/- litres of spirit having been spilled in the accident was not in dispute. It further held that it was contemplated in clause 9 of the agreement Ext. DW1/A that transit insurance of rectified spirit was to be arranged by the defendant, which meant that it was agreed that if any loss is caused to the spirit during the transit, plaintiff shall not be liable to pay for the same and that defendant would get itself indemnified by the Insurance Company. Learned Appellate Court further held that contention of the defendant that the spirit was found unfit for human consumption could not be accepted because if that was the case, then there was nothing on record to suggest as to what happened to the spirit and where had the said spirit gone and whether or not it was destroyed. It further held that it was not so stated that the defendant has handed over the same to the plaintiff. On these bases, it was held by the learned Appellate Court that no loss on account of alleged contamination of spirit was proved and as the defendant had failed to prove any loss caused to it by the plaintiff, it was not justified in realizing the same out of security amount, earnest money and payment of bills which were due to the plaintiff. On these bases, learned Appellate Court while upholding the judgment and decree passed by the learned trial Court, dismissed the appeal of the defendant.

11. Feeling aggrieved by the findings so returned by both the learned Courts below, defendant has filed the present appeal.

12. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the records of the case as well as the judgments passed by both the learned Courts below.

13. This appeal was admitted on following substantial questions of law on 28.07.2008:

> "1. Whether is the effect of the absence of the pleading in the plaint regarding the respondent/plaintiff firm having been registered and whether the court will have the right to exercise the jurisdiction in the matter in the absence of such pleading in the plaint and whether in such circumstances the suit was required to be dismissed?

2. Whether in the facts and circumstances of the case the suit of the respondent/plaintiff was barred by time?"

14. I will deal with both these questions separately.

Question No. 1:-

"1. Whether is the effect of the absence of the pleading in the plaint regarding the respondent/plaintiff firm having been registered and whether the court will have the right to exercise the jurisdiction in the matter in the absence of such pleading in the plaint and whether in such circumstances the suit was required to be dismissed?"

15. Copy of partnership deed dated 01.04.1993 is on record as Ext. PW1/A. Certificate of Registration of the said partnership firm under Section 58(1) of the Indian Partnership Act dated 08.08.1996 is on record as PW1/B. There is no objection taken in the written statement to the effect that plaint filed was not maintainable it its present form. No issue was framed with regard to maintainability of the suit on the ground on which substantial question No. 1 has been framed. There was definite averment in the plaint that the plaintiff was a partnership concern and memo of parties demonstrated that the suit was filed in the name of partnership concern through its partner Harpal Singh. Not only this, the factum of a contract having been entered into between the defendant and plaintiff firm has also not been disputed by the defendant. Accordingly, in my considered view, there is no merit in the contention which has been raised by the appellant in the present second appeal by way of substantial question No. 1 especially when it is a matter of record that the plaintiff firm was a registered concern and as such, it had the locus to file and maintain the case and that the trial Court was having both pecuniary and territorial jurisdiction to adjudicate upon the same. There is no averment made in the written statement that the suit filed was not maintainable on the ground that trial court had not jurisdiction to try the same. Not only this, it is a matter of record that partnership firm is a duly registered firm and same stood registered before the suit was filed by the partnership firm. Therefore also, not only the suit was maintainable on behalf of partnership firm but the learned trial Court was having the jurisdiction in the matter to adjudicate upon the same on merit. The substantial question of law is answered accordingly.

Question No. 2:-

"2. Whether in the facts and circumstances of the case the suit of the respondent/plaintiff was barred by time?"

16. As I have already mentioned above with regard to accrual of cause of action, the plaintiff had stated about the same in paragraph 5 of the plaint which is being reproduced as under:-

"5. That the cause of action arose to the plaintiff against the defendant on 3.6.94, 22.7.94 and 1.3.95 onwards on each date of demand within the jurisdiction of this court where also the defendant works for gain and hence this court is competent to try this suit."

17. The reply to the said paragraph of the plaint as it find mention in the written statement is reproduced as under:-

"Calls for no reply."

18. While deciding Issue No. 2 it was held by the learned trial Court that at the time of arguments it was not explained as to how the suit was not within limitation and in the written statement there was no such objection that the suit was time barred. In my considered view, the findings so returned by the learned trial Court cannot be faulted with. This Court is not oblivious to the fact that the question of limitation can be raised at any stage but then there has to be some foundation laid by a party who is challenging the maintainability of a suit on the basis of limitation in the written statement. Coming to the facts of this case, as I have already mentioned above, the factum of plaint/suit being within limitation has been admitted in the written statement by the defendant. Even during the course of arguments, learned counsel for the appellant could not point out as to how the suit was barred by limitation when it stood admitted in the written statement that cause of action accrued in favour of plaintiff 3.6.94, 22.7.94 and 1.3.95 onwards. Even from the evidence which has been led by the defendant both ocular as well as documentary it could not be substantiated by the learned counsel for the appellant that the suit filed by the plaintiff was barred by limitation. Therefore, in my considered view, it cannot be said that in the facts and circumstances of the case, suit of the plaintiff was barred by time. The substantial question of law is answered accordingly.

In view of the discussion held above, I do not find any merit in the present appeal and the same is dismissed with costs, so also pending miscellaneous application(s), if any.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE TARLOK SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Karam Chand .....Petitioner.

Versus

Prem Sagar Marwah .....Respondent.

CMPMO No.289 of 2016.
Date of decision: 03.11.2016.

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 17 Rule 1- Five adjournments were granted to the petitioner – he could not produce the evidence on the date fixed as his mother fell ill – his evidence was closed by the order of the Court- held, that time and place of illness cannot be predicted – adjournment was sought on the ground of unavoidable reason – the Court should have been more compassionate - the fact that five adjournments had already been granted should not have been the sole ground to decline the adjournment – petition allowed- the order set aside on the payment of cost of Rs. 5,000/-. (Para-3 to 8)

For the Petitioner : Mr.G.R.Palsra, Advocate.
For the Respondent : Mr.Dheeraj Vashisht, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Tarlok Singh Chauhan, Judge (Oral).

This petition under Article 227 of the Constitution of India is directed against the order passed by the learned Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kullu, District Kullu, on 30.06.2016 (for short 'impugned order') whereby the evidence of the petitioner came to be closed by order of the Court.

2. It is not in dispute that the petitioner has already been granted as many as five opportunities. However, his explanation for not leading evidence on the date fixed was that his mother, who is more than 100 years old, was seriously ill and as such he stayed at Mandi to look after her and was, therefore, unable to appear before the Court.

3. A perusal of the order passed by the learned Court below would go to show that the version put-forth by the petitioner for not leading his evidence was not even doubted by the Court, yet his evidence was closed only on the ground that as many as five opportunities had already been granted to him to lead his evidence and despite this he had not led his evidence even though the order had been made subject to cost of Rs. 1,000/-.

4. To say the least, the order passed by the learned trial Court is clearly unsustainable. The learned trial Court has erred in not taking into consideration that no one has the volition in the matter of falling ill. The time and place of illness cannot be predicted.

Admittedly, the petitioner has sought adjournment only on the ground of unavoidable reason. The same ought to have been dealt with more compassion and the mere fact that the petitioner had already been granted five opportunities to lead his evidence could not have been the sole ground to reject the application, more particularly, when the Court itself did not disbelieve the ground of illness set up by the petitioner.

5. It has to be remembered that the Judiciary is respected not only on account of its powers to legalize justice on technical grounds, but because of it being capable of removing injustice and is expected to do so.

6. Having said so, the impugned order passed by the learned Court below cannot withstand judicial scrutiny and is accordingly set aside.

7. However, since the respondent has been dragged un-necessarily and otherwise in an avoidable litigation, he is required to be compensated by the petitioner. Though, the petition has been allowed, however, the same shall be subject to cost of Rs. 5,000/- which shall be paid by the petitioner to the respondent on or before the next date of hearing.

8. The parties through their counsel(s) are directed to appear before the learned trial Court on 21.11.2016 on which date the Court would fix a date for recording the entire evidence of the petitioner and shall also provide all necessary assistance for summoning the witnesses proposed to be examined. It is made clear that no further opportunity under any circumstance shall be provided to the petitioner for this purpose.

9. The petition is allowed in the aforesaid terms. Pending application, if any, also stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

State of H.P. ....Appellant.
Versus
Sandeep Kumar .....Respondent.

Cr.Revision No.38 of 2010
Decided on: 3.11.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Prosecutrix was grazing her goats in a jungle- juvenile came and raped her – he was tried and acquitted by Juvenile Justice Board- held in appeal that the prosecutrix had stated that she had no knowledge about the identity of the person – eye witness did not corroborate the testimony of the prosecutrix- in these circumstances, juvenile was rightly acquitted – revision dismissed. (Para-9 to 11)

For the Appellant: Mr.R.S.Thakur, Additional Advocate General.
For the Respondent: Mr.Lakshay Thakur, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (oral)

The instant revision petition stands directed by the State of Himachal Pradesh against the impugned judgment rendered on 05.10.2009, by the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Una, District Una, H.P. in Criminal Inquiry No. 10/03 whereupon he announced an order of acquittal qua the respondent herein for his allegedly committing an offence under Section 376 of the Indian Penal Code.

2. Briefly stated the case of the prosecution is that on 16.5.2003, at about 4.00 p.m. the prosecutrix PW-1 (name not disclosed) was grazing her goats in the jungle near her house. In the meanwhile, Sandeep @ Gollu (hereinafter referred to as the juvenile) came there and caught hold of her arm. The prosecutrix PW-1 tried to raise hue and cry, however, the juvenile gagged her mouth and took her to nearby bushes and opened the string of her Salwar and forcibly committed rape on her. The juvenile was seen by BImla Devi PW-5, the grand mother of the prosecutrix PW-1 while leaving the spot. On inquiry, the prosecutrix disclosed the incident to her grand mother, Bimla Devi PW-5. Bimla Devi took her to house. The father of the prosecutrix namely Parvesh Kumar had gone to Pathankot. Parvesh Kumar PW-2 came late in the night as such the prosecutrix PW-1 as well as her grand mother Bimla Devi PW-5 disclosed the incident to him in the next morning whereafter, Parvesh Kumar PW-2 took her to hospital at Nurpur, however, the doctor asked them to report the matter to the police. Thereafter, Parvesh Kumar PW-2 alongwith prosecutrix PW-1 rushed to P.S.Nurpur where the prosecutrix PW-1 lodged FIR Ex.PW-1/A against the juvenile. After completing all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offence, allegedly committed by the respondent challan was prepared and filed in the Board.

3. Notice of accusation stood put by the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Una to the respondent for his committing an offence punishable under Section 376 of I.P.C, to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed inquiry.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 11 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the respondent under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was recorded in which he pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. He did not choose to lead any evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of the evidence on record, the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Una returned findings of acquittal in favour of the juvenile/respondent herein.

6. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Una standing not based on a proper appreciation by him of the evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. The learned counsel appearing for the respondent has with considerable force and vigor contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. The prosecutrix by cogent evidence comprised in Ex. PW-4/A stands provenly subjected to forcible sexual intercourse. However, the embodiments occurring in Ex. PW-4/A would not constrain this Court to reverse the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board qua the respondent herein unless evidence of immense probative sinew emanates qua the respondent herein provenly holding the relevant inculpatory role. Contrarily, the factum of the respondent purportedly holding any inculpatory role in the ill fated occurrence stands negated by the prosecutrix who in her testification has made an unequivocal deposition therein qua hers holding no knowledge qua the identity of the respondent herein, rather she testifies qua hers acquiring knowledge qua his name and identify from revelations made to her by Smt. Bimla Devi, who however, has omitted to corroborate the aforesaid factum testified by the prosecutrix by hers deposing qua hers not being aware of the name of the respondent nor hers recognizing any person except her son. The factum of the prosecution hence failing to establish the identity of the respondent herein gets fortifyingly established by the prosecutrix testifying qua hers not recognizing the respondent on the date of occurrence. In sequel thereof, the preeminent conclusion is of the prosecution version qua inculpation of the respondent in the alleged offence being wholly surmisal besides arising from concoction and invention on the part of the Investigating Officer concerned.

10. A wholesome analysis of the evidence on record portrays that the appreciation of evidence as done by the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Una not suffering from any perversity and absurdity nor it can be said that the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Una in recording findings of acquittal has committed any legal misdemeanor, in as much, as, his mis-appreciating the evidence on record or his omitting to appreciate relevant and admissible evidence. In aftermath this Court does not deem it fit and appropriate that the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board merit any interference.

14. In view of the above discussion, I find no merit in this petition, which is accordingly dismissed and the judgment of the learned Principal Magistrate, Juvenile Justice Board, Una, District Una, H.P. is maintained and affirmed. Record of the learned trial Court be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh .....Appellant.
Versus
Devi Lal .....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 453 of 2011
Date of decision: November 03, 2016.

Indian Penal code, 1860- Section 409, 420, 467, 46 and 471- PW-7 had invested a sum of Rs. 40,000/- for a period of three years in TD Account and entrusted this amount to the accused who was posted as Branch Post Manager (BPM)- PW-7 produced the pass-book before PW-1 who found on verification that pass-book was issued against vague and fictitious amount- no opening form was filled nor any receipt was issued – the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that PW-7 had not supported the prosecution version regarding entrustment of money to the accused in the month of July, 2002- he did not support the prosecution version that pass-book was handed over by the accused to him- the specimen handwriting was obtained during the investigation and not during the trial – therefore, the same is not admissible – the Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

(Para-9 to 14)

Case referred:
State of Himachal Pradesh vs. Laje Ram and ors., 2011(2) Him. L.R (DB) 597

For the appellant Mr. Virender Verma, Addl. AG.
For the respondent Mr. Ramakant Sharma, Sr. Advocate with Ms. Anita Dogra, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, J. (Oral)

The prosecution is aggrieved by the judgment dated 4.6.2011 passed by learned Judicial Magistrate, First Class, Court No. 2, Nalagarh, District Solan in Criminal Case No. 10/2 of 2009/04, whereby the respondent (hereinafter referred to as the accused) has been acquitted of the charge framed against him under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468 and 471 of the Indian Penal Code.

2. The record reveals that a case under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468 and 471 of the Indian Penal Code was registered against the accused in Police Station Ramshahar, District Solan vide FIR No. 62/2003 on 8.9.2003 with the allegation that in the month of July, 2002, one Devi Ram (PW-7) has invested a sum of Rs. 40,000/- for a period of three years in TD account and entrusted this amount to the accused, who at the relevant time, was Branch Post Master (BPM) at Post Office Mitian. On being requested time and again, the accused made over one TD Pass book of MSY Account in January, 2003 stamped with date and seal dated 26.1.2003 to PW-7 Devi Ram. In the pass-book, there were entries qua deposit of Rs. 40,000/-. PW-7 Devi Ram allegedly produced the said pass-book on 26/27.8.2002 before the complainant PW-1 Rupinder Singh, Inspector Post Offices, who had come to Branch Post Office, Mitian for inspection. PW-1 Rupinder Singh on verification of the record had found the pass-book having been issued against vague and fictitious account No. 555243. The date of deposit was manually written as 26/27.8.2002. No opening form i.e. 3 T.D. account was filled in nor any SB-26 receipt issued. No entries were found to be made in T.D. Journal and DO Account regarding the deposit of Rs. 40,000/-. Subsequently, the sum of Rs. 40,000/- plus Rs. 4,000/- as interest was credited by the accused into UCR on 11.7.2003. PW-1 Rupinder Singh after checking the records found that the accused had issued a fictitious pass-book and misappropriated the government money and thereby cheated Postal Department. He allegedly used the forged and fictitious pass-book as genuine document. Therefore, application Ext. PW-1/B was made by PW-1 Rupinder Singh to the police of Police Station Ramshahar, District Solan for registration of the case against the accused. Consequently, FIR Ext. PW-9/B came to be registered against the accused.

3. The I.O. PW-9 Surinder Pal, the then SHO Police Station Ramshahar, has conducted the investigation in the case. The reports Ext. PW-2/A and PW-2/B were taken into possession in the presence of the witnesses vide seizure memo Ext. PW-2/C. The appointment letter Ext. PA and declaration form Ext. PB in respect of accused were also taken into possession vide seizure memo Ext. PW-2/D. The B.O. account Ext. PC to PF were also taken into possession vide seizure memo Ext. PW-2/E. The forged pass-book Ext. PG and TD journal Ext. PH were also taken into possession vide seizure memo Ext. PW-2/F. The receipt Ext. PW-4/A was taken into possession in the presence of the witnesses vide seizure memo Ext. PW-4/B. The receipt Ext. PW-1/A was also taken into possession vide seizure memo Ext. PW-5/A. The specimen signatures and hand writing of the accused were also taken during the investigation of the case. Admitted signatures, hand writing and question documents sent for examination to State Forensic Science Laboratory, Junga were found to be in the hands of the same person vide report Ext. PW-9/A. The reasons in support of the report are Ext. PW-11/A. The statements of the witnesses associated by the Investigating Officer were also recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

4. On perusal of the report under Section 173 Cr.P.C. filed against the accused and the documents annexed therewith as well as finding a prima-facie case having been made out against the accused under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468 and 471 of the Indian Penal Code, charge against him was framed accordingly.

5. The prosecution in order to sustain the charge against the accused has examined 11 witnesses in all. The material prosecution witnesses are the complainant Rupinder Singh (PW-1), PW-2 Naresh Sood, PW-7 Devi Ram and I.O. PW-9 Surinder Pal. Learned trial Magistrate, on appreciation of the evidence available on record, has arrived at a conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove its case against the accused beyond all reasonable doubt. He has, therefore, been acquitted of the charge as pointed out at the outset.

6. The legality and validity of the impugned judgment has been questioned by the respondent-State on the grounds, inter alia that the prosecution evidence has been appreciated in a slipshod and perfunctory manner. As a result thereof, the findings recorded are based on hypothesis, surmises and conjectures. The testimony of the material prosecution witnesses has been discarded for untenable reasons. No reason has been assigned while discarding the prosecution evidence. The entrustment of Rs. 40,000/- during the year 2002-03 to accused for deposit in the Post Office stands satisfactorily proved from the oral as well as documentary evidence available on record. Such evidence, however, is stated to be erroneously ignored since the accused had received this amount from PW-7 Devi Ram, therefore, it is for this reason he had deposited the same together with interest in the Post Office. Irrespective of such evidence, the findings that no case against the accused is made out, are stated to be highly illegal and erroneous.

7. Learned Addl. Advocate General, while taking us through the evidence available on record has vehemently argued that the testimony of PW-7 Devi Ram as well as that of the complainant PW-1 Rupinder Singh, supported by documentary evidence i.e. the reports Ext. PW-2/A and PW-2/B and also the pass-book Ext. PG leave no manner of doubt that the accused has misappropriated a sum of Rs. 40,000/- invested by PW-7 Devi Ram for three years in TD account for depositing the same with the accused, who at the relevant time was working as Branch Post Master (BPM), Mitian. According to Mr. Verma, the entrustment of Rs. 40,000/- with the accused stands satisfactorily explained and as he has forged the record and also issued fictitious pass-book, therefore, there was ample evidence warranting his conviction in the instant case.

8. On the other hand, Mr. Ramakant Sharma, Sr. Advocate, while inviting our attention to the statement of PW-7 Devi Ram, has pointed out that the entrustment of Rs. 40,000/- with the accused in July, 2002 is not at all proved. PW-7 Devi Ram has expressed his ignorance that this amount was deposited by him with the accused in July, 2002 rather as per his version, this amount was most probably deposited by him on 11.7.2003. The pass-book Ext. PG was also not handed over to him by the accused and rather received through bus. It has, therefore, been urged that the testimony of PW-7 Devi Ram demolishes the entire prosecution case and as such, no findings of conviction can be recorded against him.

9. What constitutes an offence punishable under Sections 409, 420, 467, 468 and 471 of the Indian Penal Code has been discussed in detail by learned trial Magistrate in the impugned judgment. That part of the judgment reads as follows:

> "25. To hold a person guilty u/s 409 of IPC, Prosecution has to establish that accused was either a Public Servant, a Banker, a merchant, or broker or Attorney, or agent. Further, it has to be established by the prosecution that he was enthused with the property in question with any domain over it. Lastly, prosecution has to establish that he committed criminal breach of trust with respect to the amount so entrusted. To make out a case for criminal breach of trust, it has to be proved that there was a entrustment of property or a domain over property. It must be proved that there was dishonest misappropriation or conversion by a person to his own use of that property or that there was dishonest use or disposal of that property in violation of any direction of law prescribing the mode in which such trust was to be discharged, or of any legal contract expressed or implied, which he has made touching the discharge of such trust, or that he willfully suffered any other person to do so. To hold a person guilty under Section 420 of IPC, Prosecution has to establish that 1) That there should be fraudulent or dishonest inducement of a person by deceiving him, 2) that the person so deceived should be induced to deliver any property to any person or to consent that person shall retain any property, 3) the person so deceived should be intentionally induced to do so or omit to do anything, 4) the act for omission should be one which causes or is likely to cause damage or harm to the person induced and the person induced to deliver the property or valuable security. To establish a case under 467 of IPC prosecution has to prove that document in question was a forgery; that the accused forged if and that document is one of the kinds mentioned in the section. For proving a case under section 468 of IPC apart from forgery it has to be established that in forging accused intended that it shall be used for the purpose of cheating. In order to prove a case under section 471 of IPC the prosecution require to prove that there must be a fraudulent or dishonest user of a document as genuine and the knowledge or reasonable belief on the part of the person using the document that it is a forged one."

10. Admittedly, the accused at the relevant time was serving as Branch Post Master (BPM) at Mitian. His appointment letter is Ext. PA and the declaration form, he filled in, is Ext. PB. The prosecution case that PW-7 Devi Ram has deposited a sum of Rs. 40,000/- with the accused in the month of July, 2002 is not at all proved beyond all reasonable doubt for the reason that said Sh. Devi Ram himself, while in the witness-box as PW-7, did not support the prosecution case qua this aspect the of the matter at all and rather expressed his ignorance qua date etc. as to when this amount was deposited by him with the accused. If coming to his cross-examination, the amount in question was stated to be deposited by him with the accused about 2 ½ years ago. Since he was examined on 20.4.2006, therefore, if his testimony is believed to be true, the amount in question was deposited somewhere in the end of year 2003 or beginning of the year 2004. In his cross-examination, he further tells us that he did not recollect the date and month when such deposit was made by him, however, as per his version, most probably the amount in question was deposited by him on 11.7.2003.

11. Now, if coming to the issuance of pass-book Ext. PG by the accused, this aspect of the matter is also not at all proved beyond all reasonable doubt because the testimony of PW-7 Devi Ram reveals that the pass-book was not handed over to him by the accused on the same date when he had made the deposit of Rs. 40,000/- with him. The same, according to him, was sent to him by someone and he expressed his inability to disclose the identity of that person who had sent the pass-book to him. He has denied the issuance of receipt Ext. PW-1/A by the official of the Postal Department to whom he had handed over the pass-book Ext. PG. According to him, he did not hand over any document to the police during the investigation of the case nor he was interrogated. He expressed his ignorance as to who had prepared the pass-book Ext. PG and also that pass-book Ext. PG is the same which was handed over by him to the police.

12. True it is that the complainant PW-1 Rupinder Singh, while in the witness-box, has supported the prosecution case qua entrustment of Rs. 40,000/- by PW-7 Devi Ram to the accused in the month of January, 2002 and while in the witness-box has also deposed that the accused failed to account for this amount in the records of the Post Office and thereby not only cheated the Postal Department and rather caused wrongful loss to the department and wrongful gain for himself. He further tells us that the pass-book Ext. PG was produced before him by PW-7 Devi Ram and on enquiry, the same was found to be not genuine and rather forged and fictitious. The record produced by PW-2 Naresh Sood was also pressed into service in order to substantiate this part of the prosecution case. However, when PW-7 Devi Ram himself has not supported the prosecution case qua entrustment of a sum of Rs. 40,000/- to the accused in the month of July, 2002, nor that the pass-book Ext. PG was handed over to him by the accused, such evidence as has come on record by way of the testimony of PW-1 Rupinder Singh and PW-2 Naresh Sood, is hardly of no help to the prosecution case. The report Ext. PW-2/A does not pertain to the present case. If coming to the report Ext. PW-2/B, in view of the statement of PW-7 Devi Ram on the basis thereof also, it cannot be said that a sum of Rs. 40,000/- was deposited by PW-7 Devi Ram with the accused in the month of July, 2002.

13. As per the scientific investigation got conducted during the investigation of the case, the pass-book Ext. PG is in the hands of the accused. We can make a reference here to the report Ext. PW-9/A qua this aspect of the matter and also the reasoning Ext. PW-11/A in support thereof given by Mr. Visheshwar Sharma, Asstt. Director, Regional Forensic Science Laboratory, Dharamshala (PW-11). However, such evidence is hardly of any help to the prosecution case for the reason that the specimen hand writing of the accused was obtained during the investigation of the case and not during the course of trial of the accused. As a matter of fact, in order to place reliance on the report of the hand writing expert, the specimen hand writing of the accused as well as questioned documents are required to be obtained during the course of proceedings in the case before the trial Court and not during the investigation of the case. Learned trial Magistrate, while placing reliance on the judgment of this Court in State of Himachal Pradesh vs. Laje Ram and ors., 2011(2) Him. L.R (DB) 597, has rightly discarded such evidence as has come on record by way of testimony of PW-11 Visheshwar Sharma and also the report Ext. PW-9/A as well as the reasons in support thereof Ext. PW-11/A.

14. Therefore, in view of the re-appraisal of the evidence available on record and for the reasons stated hereinabove, it would not be improper to conclude that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case against the accused beyond all reasonable doubt. The accused has, therefore, rightly been acquitted of the charge framed against him.

15. Consequently, the judgment under challenge, being legally and factually sustainable, is hereby affirmed. In view of what has been stated hereinabove, this appeal fails and the same is accordingly dismissed. Personal and surety bonds are cancelled/discharged.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Des Raj @ Raj Kumar ...Appellant.
Versus
State of Himachal Pradesh ...Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No.: 81 of 2016.
Date of Decision: 04.11.2016.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 324 and 506- Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- Section 4-The prosecutrix went for grinding maize along with her brother – accused came and gave money to the brother of the prosecutrix to bring some sweets from the shop - when he refused, the accused slapped him on which brother of the accused went to the shop while crying -the accused bolted the door of the Gharat and raped the prosecutrix – the accused threatened to do away with the life of the prosecutrix – the accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that the prosecutrix was proved to be aged 13 years at the time of incident – prosecutrix and her parents had not supported the prosecution version – her statement was recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C in which she had narrated the incident – the medical evidence also supported the prosecution version – the prosecution case was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused was rightly convicted- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 12)

For the Appellant: Mr.Sat Parkash, Advocate vice Mr.Naveen K.Bhardwaj, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr.R.S.Thakur, Additional Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (Oral)

The instant appeal is directed against the judgement rendered on 30.12.2015 by the learned Special Judge, Chamba, District Chamba, Himachal Pradesh in Sessions Trial No.30 of 2015, whereby the appellant stands convicted and sentenced to undergo imprisonment in the following manner:-

Sr.No.	Section	Sentence imposed.
1.	342 IPC	The appellant/accused was sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for one year and to pay a fine of Rs.1000/- and in default of payment of fine, the convict was to undergo further imprisonment for one month;
2.	506 IPC	The appellant/accused was sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of two years and to pay a fine of Rs.2000/- and in default of payment of fine, the convict was to undergo further imprisonment for two months; and

3.	Section 4 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012.	The appellant/accused was sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for a period of seven years and to pay a fine of Rs.5000/- and in default of payment of fine, the convict was to undergo further imprisonment for six months.

All the sentences were ordered to be run concurrently.

2. The prosecution story, in brief, is that on 24.3.2015, the victim along with her parents reported the matter to the police that on 23.3.2015 at about 10 AM, she went to Shakti Nallah for grinding maize grain along with her brother Sunil Kumar aged 5 years. The victim went to the Gharat of Shri Firozu where one person named Singh R/o village Saloga was grinding his maize grain. Thereafter, the maize grain of the victim was poured in the Gharat for grinding. After some time, accused also came there and gave money to her brother for bringing some sweet from the shop. When the brother of the victim refused, he slapped him and thereafter her brother went to the shop while weeping. Then accused bolted the door of the Gharat and forcibly put off the Pajami as also his Pants and thereafter committed wrong act with her (sexual intercourse). It was 12 noon when the victim cried, accused gagged her month with his hand. Thereafter, accused tried to give her money not to disclose the incident. When she refused to take money, then the accused threatened her to do away with her life in case she discloses the incident to any one. It is further story of the prosecution that thereafter the accused went to the Gharat of one Mussadi. When the victim was weeping, one Deep son of Shri Chatter Singh R/o village Kathla came there and asked her as to why she was weeping. Then she narrated the incident to him. Thereafter, she went to her house with the flour and narrated the incident to her uncle and aunt. The victim again came with her uncle and aunt towards Shakti Nallah where her parents met them. However, due to night, they returned to their house and only then the matter was reported to the police on the next day and showed their willingness for medical examination of the victim. On this complaint, FIR came to be registered against the accused. Case was investigated. Victim as well as accused were got medically examined. Sttement of victim was also got recorded before the learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class, Chamba and on completion of investigation, challan was prepared for the aforesaid offences against the accused.

3. On completion of investigation into the offences allegedly committed by the accused a report under Section 173 Cr.P.C. stood prepared and filed in the competent Court.

4. The accused-appellant herein stood charged for his allegedly committing offences punishable under Sections 342, 376, 506 of the Indian Penal Code and Section 3(a) read with Section 4 of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012. The accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

5. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 17 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure stood recorded wherein he pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. He did not adduce any evidence in defence.

6. The accused-appellant stands aggrieved by the judgment of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned counsel appearing for the appellant, has concerted to vigorously contend before this Court qua the findings of conviction, recorded by the learned trial Court, standing not anvilled on a proper appreciation by it of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of conviction being reversed by this Court, in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of acquittal.

7. On the other hand, the learned Additional Advocate General appearing for the State has with considerable force and vigour contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the Court below being based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating any interference rather meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. Ext.PW-13/A and Ext.PW-13/B respectively constitute the birth certificate and an abstract of the Parivar Register of the prosecutrix wherewithin a display occurs qua the prosecutrix at the relevant time holding an age of 13 years. Consequently, consent, if any, meted by her to the penal misdemeanors perpetrated upon her by the accused holds no vigour.

10. The learned counsel for the appellant has contended of with the prosecutrix besides her parents not supporting the prosecution case, it was grossly inapt for the learned trial Court to record an order of conviction upon the accused/appellant herein. True it is that qua the prosecutrix besides her parents omitting to support the prosecution case yet the aforesaid factum cannot override the testification of PW-16 who recorded her statement made before him under Section 164 Cr.P.C., statement whereof stands comprised in Ext.PW-16/A wherein the prosecutrix has explicitly inculpated the accused/appellant. The vigour of the testification of PW-16 besides of the reflections occurring in Ext.PW-16/B would stand belittled only when the defence had emphatically established qua the recitals occurring in Ext.PW-16/B not emanating from a pure volition of the prosecutrix arising from the factum of her standing pressurized by the Investigating Officer concerned to record it before the Magistrate concerned. However, a close reading of the deposition of PW-16 unveils qua the recording of Ext.PW-16/B by him being free from any stain of it not emanating from the pure volition of the prosecutrix besides it unveils of the prosecutrix in recording it her standing bereft of any exertion upon her of any duress by the Investigating Officer. The aforesaid testification of PW-16 occurring in his examination-in-chief has remained uneroded of its sinew even when he faced the ordeal of a rigorous cross-examination. Consequently, the recitals occurring in Ext.PW-16/B acquire probative worth of immense sinew whereupon efficacy of the deposition of the prosecutrix besides of the deposition of her parents stands benumbed. It appears qua in the prosecutrix reneging from the recitals embodied in the relevant F.I.R. while hers testifying in Court also in her parents not lending sustenance to the prosecution version theirs standing prodded by extraneous considerations whereupon their testifications do not hold any sway nor their testifications countervail the taintfree deposition of PW-16 wherebefore whom Ext.PW-16/B evidently stood volitionally recorded by the prosecutrix, corollary whereof is qua no conclusion other than qua the prosecution hence succeeding in proving the charge stands generated.

11. The further reason for this Court to conclude of the recitals occurring in Ext.PW-16/B holding a paramount virtue of truth ensues from the factum of the relevant MLC prepared qua the prosecutrix comprised in Ext.PW-8/A making vivid unfoldments of the prosecutrix standing subjected to forcible sexual intercourse. Apart therefrom, the report of the FSL concerned comprised in Ext.PX makes a loud communication therein of human semen standing detected in Ext.1a, the Pajami of the prosecutrix, also it pronounces qua human semen standing detected in Ext.3a, the underwear worn by the accused. However, though there occurs no pronouncement therein qua human semen borne thereon being relatable to the accused, yet any omission qua the aforesaid pronouncement therein would not negate the factum of Ext.1a whereon it occurs not at the relevant time not standing worn by the prosecutrix or of Ext.3a not belonging to the accused unless there occurred visible display in cogent evidence qua the exhibits aforesaid not respectively standing worn by the aforesaid. An inference qua the aforesaid pronouncements standing blunted would spur on the defence concerting to assail the efficacy of the relevant recovery memos whereunder they stood recovered. However, the aforesaid concert remained un-assayed by the defence whereupon obviously the relevant best evidence for benumbing the aforesaid inferences is amiss. Consequently, the existence of human semen thereon is to stand concluded to belong to the accused thereupon it is apt to conclude of the accused at the relevant time perpetrating forcible sexual intercourse upon the prosecutrix.

12. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Court below has appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

13. In view of the above, there is no merit in this appeal which is accordingly dismissed. The judgment impugned before this Court stands maintained and affirmed. Record of the learned trial Court be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE TARLOK SINGH CHAUHAN, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Cr.A. No. 408 of 2014 with
Cr.A. No. 507 of 2015
Judgments reserved on: 21.10.2016
Date of decision: 4th November, 2016

Cr.A. No. 408 of 2014

Gaurav Rana ...Appellant

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Respondent

Cr.A. No. 507 of 2015

Rajesh Singh ...Appellant

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Respondent

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302 and 392 read with Section 34- An information was received that a woman had been stabbed by some unknown persons – dead body of woman was found – her husband reported that two persons had injured the woman and had stolen the cash lying in the cash box – the accused were arrested- recoveries were effected on the basis of disclosure statements made by them- the accused were tried and convicted by the trial Court- held in appeal that the evidence of the witnesses cannot be discarded on the ground that they are related to each other, if their testimonies are found to be truthful and reliable - the presence of the accused was established by the statements of the witnesses- all the witnesses to the incident are not to be examined – mere failure to conduct test identification parade will not result in the acquittal- minor discrepancies need not be given undue importance- the accused had given beatings to PW-6 and had snatched his mobile – mobile was sold to PW-21- testimony of hostile witness cannot be discarded on the ground that he has turned hostile – the prosecution case was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused were rightly convicted- appeal dismissed.

(Para-59 to 94)

Cases referred:

U.P. vs. Krishna Gopal and Anr, 1988 4 SCC 302

State of Punjab Vs. Jagir Singh, 1974 3 SCC 277.

Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade & Anr. Vs. State of Maharashtra, 1973 2 SCC 793

Appabhai and Anr. Vs. State of Gujarat, 1988 Supp1 SCC 241

Lakhwinder Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab AIR 2003 Supreme Court 2577

Ravi alias Ravichandran vs. State represented by Inspector of Police, (2007) 15 Supreme Court Cases 372

OMA @ Omparkash & Anr. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2013 (3) SCC 440

Motilal Yadav Vs. State of Bihar, (2015) 2 SCC 647
C.Muniappan and Others Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2010 9 SCC 567

For the Appellants	:	Mr. Y.P.S. Dhaulta, Advocate for the appellant In Cr. Appeal No. 408 of 2014 and Mr. Chander Sekhar Sharma, Advocate, for the appellant in Cr. A. No. 507 of 2015.
For the Respondent	:	Mr. Vikram Thakur, Deputy Advocate General with Mr. J.S. Guleria, Assistant Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Tarlok Singh Chauhan, Judge.

These appeals are directed against the judgment of conviction and sentence passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge-II, Una, District Una, in Session Trial No. 30/2011, whereby the appellants have been convicted and sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life and to pay fine Rs.10,000/- each under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code (for short 'Code') and in default of payment to further undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of one year. They are further sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of five years and pay fine Rs.3000/- each under Section 392 of the Code and in default to further undergo simple imprisonment for six months. All the sentences shall run concurrently and the period of detention undergone has been ordered to be set of under Section 428 Cr.P.C.

2. The prosecution story, in brief, is that on 26.4.2011, at about 11:30 p.m., Pardhan of Gram Panchyat, Bathri telephonically informed the police that a woman had been stabbed by some unknown persons who came on motorcycle and after stabbing the lady had fled away towards Punjab side. On the basis of this information rapat Ex.PW2/A entered in Police Station, Haroli and SI/SHO Shakti Singh Pathania (PW48) alongwith ASI Ashok Kumar, PSI Nishant Kumar, C. Deepak Kumar and HHG Piare Lal proceeded to the spot in the government vehicle No. HP-20C-0507 and visited the spot. They found a woman stained with blood and injuries on her stomach and other parts of the body lying on the bed box in the verandah of sweet shop of Chaman Lal (PW1) by that time the woman had already died. Chaman Lal, husband of deceased got his statement Ex.PW1/A recorded under Section 154 Cr.P.C. to the effect that he is running a shop of halwai in bus stand, Bathri for the last 12-13 years and he used to sleep in the shop daily during the night. On 26.4.2011, at around 9:30 p.m. his wife (deceased) had come to the shop for providing dinner to him and after taking dinner he had gone to answer the call of nature at the distance of about 100 meters from the shop and while he was washing his hands at a distance of about 50 meters from the shop, he heard the cries of his wife Swarni Devi and he rushed to the shop where he saw two boys coming out of the shop who then fled away on motorcycle towards Garhshankar side. He went inside the shop and found his wife lying in blood stained condition and the Galla (chest) of the shop was opened and on checking it was found that Rs. 2000/- to Rs.2500/- were missing from the Galla. Thereafter, his Babhi Bholi Devi came on the spot and they both put Swarni Devi on the bed box but she had died. Lateron, the villagers and Pardhan of lower panchayat also came to the spot. On the statement of complainant case under Sections 392, 302 read with 34 of the Code was registered vide FIR Ex. PW33/A at Police Station, Haroli. SHO Shakti Singh Pathania conducted the investigation of the case on 27.4.2011. Ashok Kumar Videographer (PW13) visited the spot and conducted the videography of the spot. Site plan was prepared by the I.O. Ex.PW48/B on the identification of the witnesses. The blood stained leaves, ball pen, one coin of 50 paise and currency note of Rs.10/- were found and put in plastic container and were taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW2/A. Control sample of concrete was lifted from the spot and put in plastic contained vide memo Ex.PW2/B. The blood was lifted from the shop and verandah and taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW2/C. The wooden box (galla) was taken into possession vide Ex.PW2/D. Specimen of the seal Ex.PW2/E was taken on piece of cloth and seal after use was handed over to witness Satish Kumar (PW2).

Dead body was examined through LC. Ramana (PW26) and form Nos. 25, 35 A & B Ex.PW4/A and application for postmortem Ex.PW25/A was prepared. The postmortem was conducted by PW29 Dr. Sanjay Mankotia, which reveal that deceased died due to hemorrhagic shock subsequent to multiple wounds and duration between death and postmortem was within 18 hours. The probable duration between injury and death was few minutes to an hour. The doctor had preserved the viscera in a jar and blood sample and clothes for chemical examination were separately packed in a parcel and handed over to the police and the doctor had issued PMR Ex.PW29/A. The doctor on receipt of FSL report Ex.PW29/B has given final opinion Ex.PW29/C. HC Vipan Kumar (PW32) on 27.4.2011 had received viscera, clothes of deceased from LC Ramana Devi and entered the same at Sl. No. 575/11 of Malkhana register. He further received case property from the I.O. and entered at Sl. No. 576/11 of Malkhana register.

3. On this very day i.e. 26.4.2011, information had been received that in lower Bathri two boys who were on motorcycle had caused injuries to one person with sharp edged weapon and had snatched Rs.400/- and one mobile. On receipt of such information ASI Prem Chand (PW44) had been deputed for investigation of the case FIR No. 91/2011, dated 27.4.2011, registered under Section 392, 326, 323 read with 34 of the code at Police Station, Haroli. SI Prem Chand visited the spot and recorded the statement of Rajnish and thereafter the mobile phone was put under observation for tracking its location and on 12.5.2011 location of the mobile was found in the village Samundra, District Hoshiarpur and the Mobile was found to have been issued in the name of Amrit Pal, resident of Chak Guru, District Hoshiarpur. Regarding the investigation of this fact, team comprising police officials HC Suresh Kumar (PW23), HC Sanjay (Pw20) were sent to village Samundra and during investigation Amrit Pal revealed that mobile phone being used for Sim No. 98035-91723 had been purchased by him from the appellant Gaurav Rana for Rs. 200/- and after minor repair, Amrit Pal had further sold the mobile to Jagtar Singh for Rs. 400/-. During investigation, it was found that both the appellants – Gaurav Rana and Rajesh were in judicial lock-up in Punjab as they were involved in FIR No. 34/2011, dated 27.4.2011, registered under Section 394/34 IPC, registered in P.S. Nurpur Bedi. Production warrants of both the appellants were obtained from the Court and on 20.5.2011, both the appellants were produced before the Court and police remand was obtained. During police custody, the appellant Rajesh on 20.5.2011 made disclosure statement Ex.PW14/A and appellant Gaurav Rana made disclosure statement Ex.PW14/B in presence of witnesses Jaswant Singh and C. Ram Gopal and on 21.5.2011 appellant Gaurav Rana got recovered Capri and T-shirt from his house at Samundra which were packed in a cloth parcel Ex.PW15/A and sealed with three seals of 'J' and sample of seal 'J' was handed over to witness Vijay Singh. On the same day appellant-Rajesh got recovered from his house a lower (Pyjama) of blue colour and T-shirt black in colour which were kept in a parcel Ex.PW20/B after sealing the same and taking into possession vide memo Ex.PW20/A. On 26/27.4.2011, the appellants after committing the murder and causing injuries to a person at lower Bathri had stayed in the hotel named Oasis, Garhshankar and had paid Rs.1000/- for staying their. On 23.5.2011, Rs.1000/- paid by the appellants to the waiter was got recovered and taken into possession vide Ex.PW16/A. The medical examination of both the appellants was got conducted and their blood on FTA cards was handed over to MHC. Articles recovered from the appellants and other case property had been deposited with MHC.

4. On 31.5.2011, an application was moved to SDJM, Anandpur Sahib for taking case property and custody of the appellants and on 5.6.2011 MHC Nurpur Bedi handed over motorcycle without number, one Kritch sealed with seal impression DS and photocopy of register No. 19, which had been taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW24/A. On the same day, ASI Darshan Singh produced copy of Zimini order dated 17.5.2011, photocopy of sketch of Kritch, Photocopies of disclosure statements, recovery memo of motorcycle and photocopies of MLCs of both the appellants which had been taken into possession vide Ex.PW24/B.

5. The appellants on 21.5.2011 had led the police party to the place of occurrence and had identified the place where they committed crime and memo Ex.PW4/B as per disclosure statement was prepared.

6. Statements of the witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded and finally on receipt of the chemical reports Ex.PW48/J to Ex.PW48/L challan was prepared and presented in the Court of learned Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Una on 23.8.2011 and copy of the challan was supplied to the appellants and committed the case to the Court of learned Sessions Judge, Una vide order dated 13.9.2011 and the learned Sessions Judge, Una, thereafter vide order dated 20.9.2011 assigned the case for trial to the Court of learned Additional Sessions Judge-II, Una. The charges were framed and the appellants were made to stand trial for the commission of offence under Sections 392, 302 read with 34 IPC, in which trial appellants were eventually convicted as aforesaid.

7. The prosecution in order to prove its case examined as many as 49 witnesses and closed its evidence on 4.3.2013. Thereafter, the appellants were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which they pleaded innocence and claimed to be falsely implicated. As per them, they have not committed any murder and robbery. The appellants in defence examined one witness Varinder Singh DW1 and closed the evidence.

8. Learned counsel for the appellants S/Shri Chander Sekhar Sharma and Y.P.S. Dhaulta have vehemently argued that the instant case is a case of no evidence where the so-called eye witnesses i.e. PW1, PW3, PW5 and PW39 are none other then the close relatives of the deceased, whereas no independent witness has been examined in the case. That part, they have vehemently argued that once it is the admitted case of the prosecution that the appellants were unknown persons, then it was imperative upon the prosecution to have conducted an identification parade and in absence thereof the entire trial stand vitiated. It is further argued that apart from their being material inconsistency in the statements of the witnesses examined by the prosecution, they have been marked improvement and padding in the prosecution case on the basis of which conviction cannot be sustained. Lastly, it is vehemently argued that the prosecution has failed to establish the presence of the appellants at the scene of the crime and this fact in itself is sufficient to acquit the appellants.

9. On the other hand, Shri Vikram Thakur, Deputy Advocate General assisted by Shri J.S. Guleria, Assistant Advocate General, vehemently argued that the identification parade is not sine qua non can definitely for convicting a person, more particularly, when the prosecution has led clear, cogent and convincing evidence to establish not only the identity of the appellants but their acts of committing crime, which has been duly proved in the statement of PW1, PW3, PW5 and PW39 and there is no reason whey the statements should be discarded only on the ground that they were related to deceased, especially, when their credibility remains intact. It is further argued that in such scenario there is no necessity to have examined independent witnesses. Before appreciating the rival contentions of the parties, it would be necessary to advert to the evidence led by the prosecution.

10. PW1 Chaman Lal, husband of the deceased, who lodged the FIR, in question, stated that on 26.4.2011 at about 9:30 p.m. his wife came to shop with dinner and after taking dinner he had gone to answer the call of nature at a distance of 100 meter. While he was washing his hands at a distance of about 50 meters from the shop, he heard cries of his wife and accordingly rushed to the shop and found two boys one of whom was tall and other of medium height running out of his shop, who went towards Garhshankar side on a black motorcycle. He raised hue and cry upon which Bholi, Raghnandan, Leela Devi came on the spot and later on the Pardhan Suman Devi also came there. He identified the appellants in the Court as being the same who had fled away on the motorcycle. He further stated that he found Rs.2000/- to Rs.2500/- missing from the Galla and claimed that the appellants had murdered his wife. Up-Pardhan had informed the police and he had reported the matter to the police vide Ex.PW1/A. The police recovered various items like ball pen, blood stained leaves, coin of 50 paisa and blood stained concrete pieces from the spot. He further deposed that on 21.5.2011, the police had brought the appellants to his shop and appellants had identified the shop. He also stated that body of his wife has been taken to the hospital for postmortem and he identified the clothes of his wife Ex.P1 to Ex.P6. During cross-examination, he stated that his house is at a distance of about half kilometer from the shop and admitted that thresher was working in nearby field at the distance of 40 meters. He further stated that he had chased the boys up to 10 meters. He denied that the appellants were seen by him for the first time on 21.5.2011. He did not dispute that there was no street light, however, there was a light in the shop.

11. PW3 Rajinder Kaur alias Bholi identified the appellants in the Court and stated that she had seen two boys aged about 20-22 years and 25-26 years respectively. She claimed that the younger boy was wearing green colour T-shirt and small pant whereas the other boy was wearing black colour T-shirt and blue lower. She on hearing the cries of Swarna Devi had rushed to the shop alongwith Leela Devi, the appellants had fled away on the motorcycle towards Garhshankar side and the taller boy was possessing black colour type article. They found Swarna Devi in an injured condition on the floor as she had sustained injuries on her abdomen and arms. The appellants, as per information given by PW1 Chaman Lal, had taken away money from the cash box. During examination, she had stated that except khokha of vegetable of Piare Lal, no other shop was opened at the time of occurrence. She denied that she had not visited the shop or that she had not seen the appellants on the spot.

12. PW5 Master Jaswinder, the Court after being convinced that this witness was mature enough to give statement, recorded his statement on 21.1.2012. This witness has stated that on 26.4.2011, he alongwith his younger sister was sitting in the shop of his father at Bathri. At about 10:30 p.m, the appellants, whom he identified in the Court came on the motorcycle. They went towards Garhshankar side and thereafter came back. His uncle Chaman Lal left his shop to answer the call of nature, however, his wife Swarna Devi remain in the shop. The appellants purchased a bottle of soda from Smt. Swarna Devi and gave her Rs.500/- currency note. She went inside the shop to give balance to the appellants, in the meanwhile, the taller appellant went inside the shop and other remain outside the shop. When Swarna Devi was giving balance amount to the appellant the taller boy got hold of the wooden cash box and Smt. Swarna Devi tried to snatch the same, thereafter taller appellant stabbed Swarna Devi with some sharp edged object and thereafter both the appellants fled away on the black motorcycle. Smt. Swarna Devi had been crying and this witness claimed to have seen the entire incident from his shop and raised noise and call his father. He further stated that the motorcycle was without number and he had seen the occurrence as there was electricity bulb in his shop and also in the shop of Chaman Lal. During cross-examination, he denied that he had been directed by Bholi Devi to give the statement in the Court. He also denied that there was no witness to the scene of the crime and he was deposing falsely.

13. PW 39 Smt. Leela Devi stated that on 26.4.2011, she alongwith her Devrani Rajinder Kaur were returning to their house after threshing wheat around 10:30-11:00 p.m. While they were near the Panchayat ghar, they have heard noise from the shop of Chaman Lal. The cries were of Swarna Devi (deceased). They went to shop and found two boys coming out of the shop out of whom one was of medium height and while the other one was tall in stature. The medium stature boy had worn green T-shirt and capri (half pant) while the other boy had worn the blue lower and black T-shirt. The taller boy was having black colour weapon in his hand. She further stated that Chaman Lal had gone to answer the call of the nature and was washing his hands near the well. Chaman Lal had raised noise and they had found Swarna Devi in the floor of the shop and blood was spreading on the spot and because of the attack Swarna Devi had become unconscious. She was lifted and laid on the wooden bed. She further stated that appellants had parked the motorcycle near the kokha and had fled away towards the Garhshankar side on a motorcycle, which was without number and black in colour. She claimed that Swarna Devi received injuries on the chest, arm and stomach. The articles were lying here and there in the shop and the Galla (wooden chest) was empty. The appellants had fled away after taking the money from the Galla by attacking Swarna Devi with some weapon. She identified both the appellants in the Court and stated that they were the same who attacked/murdered Swarna Devi in the shop and had taken money from the Galla. She further deposed that she had seen the kritch which the taller appellant in stature was having in his hand. During cross-examination, she stated that she and her Devrani were carrying bags of 40-40 kgs each at that time and all the lights of the Panchayat ghar, shops and houses were on. She claimed to be at a distance of about 50 meter from the Panchayat ghar and 100 meter away from the shop when they heard noise. She denied that the shop of Chaman Lal was not visible from the Panchayat ghar and voluntarily stated that at that time they were near the Panchayat ghar. She denied the suggestion that she alongwith her Devrani had not visited the shop or not seen the appellants who eventually fled from the spot. She further denied that she had identified appellants in the Court at the instance of the police.

14. PW2 Satish Kumar, ex Pardhan stated that he had been associated in the investigation and on 27.4.2011 he alongwith Sansar Chand had visited the shop of PW1 where the police had taken into possession ball pen, blood stained leaves, coin of 50 paise, currency note of Rs.10/-, concrete etc. These articles were put in a plastic container and thereafter taken into possession vide Ex.PW2/A which bore his signature. Similarly, the police had also taken into possession concrete and tar coal vide memo Ex.PW2/B and likewise the stain of blood lying on the spot vide Ex.PW2/C. The police also took into possession currency note and coin from the cash box amounting to Rs. 123.50 paise and wrapped in cloth parcel vide memo Ex.PW2/D. However, this witness denied that the seal had been given to him by the police and thereafter this witness was declared hostile. In cross-examination by the defence counsel, the witness denied that seal 'P' was affixed by the police on the parcels and claimed that all the recovery memos were prepared on 27.4.2011. He further stated that Rs.10/- currency note and 50 paise coin were recovered by the police out of which the currency note was recovered near the electric pole near the shop of the complainant whereas 50 paise coin was recovered in front of khokha on the road about 10 meters away from the shop of the complainant. He admitted that there are many shops in the market and people frequently visit there as it was main Bathri-Garhshankar road. However, he denied the suggestion of appellants that no recovery had been effected nor any memo have been prepared and that his signature has been obtained on a blank paper.

15. PW4 Balbir Singh, Up-Pardhan was at the relevant time in village Bathri and stated that about 10:30 p.m. he had heard noise of cries from the shop of Chaman Lal. When he reached there he found Chaman Lal, Bholi Devi, Leela Devi and many other persons were present at the spot. He saw Swarna Devi in an injured condition and clothes were blood stained. She was kept on wooden kot and he touched the body and found that she was dead. Chaman Lal had told him that two boys had killed his wife and had thereafter fled away on the motor cycle. He informed the police on telephone about the occurrence and on reaching the spot had prepared the inquest report Ex.PW4/A, which was signed by him and by Chaman Lal. Police took the dead body for postmortem to R.H., Una and he alongwith Chaman Lal and other family members accompanied the police. Subsequently on 21.5.2011, the police brought the appellants, who were present in the Court and had stopped vehicle at a distance of 50 meters from the shop and thereafter the appellants had identified the spot and narrated the entire exercise made by them while committing the offence. They also identified the place where the motorcycle was parked by them. Memo Ex.PW4/B was prepared by the Investigating Officer which bore his signature and also the signatures of Sansar Chand and the appellants and one police official also signed the memo. In cross-examination, this witness stated that there are many shops in the abadi in and around the place of occurrence. There were 4-5 halwai shops, three confectionary shops, two barber shops, two clothes shops and two mechanic shops, however, at the time of occurrence none of the shop was opened except the shop of Chaman Lal. He did not dispute that Panchayat ghar is towards western side from the rain shelter, however, it is denied that shop of Chaman Lal is not visible from panchyat ghar. He further reiterated that police had prepared the site plan at the spot on the basis of the information given by the appellants.

16. PW6 Jarnail Singh is the person who claimed to have been attacked by the appellants on 26.4.2011 while he was walking at village Keluan near Bathri. He stated that at about 8:30 p.m. he had gone inside the shop to recharge his mobile alongwith Rajnish, Pawan and one another boy and while going back to their quarter two boys i.e. appellants present before the Court came on their motorcycle and hit him with the motorcycle and thereafter inflicted injuries with the sharp edged weapon on his right arm, back and chest duly shown to the Court below, the appellants had abused him and asked him to give whatever he had. Thereafter the appellants had taken away his mobile bearing No. 98160-63345 and Rs. 400/- and because of the injuries this witness had become unconscious. When he regained the conscious, he was in the hospital at Una and thereafter got registered FIR. During cross-examination, he denied that due to darkness he had failed to recognize the appellants and rather voluntarily stated that he identified them with the help of the light of the motorcycle. He further stated that appellants were not got identified by the police and were identified by him in the Court.

17. PW7 Swaran Singh stated that Sim Card No. 98160-63345 was in the name of his mother and he had given the same to Jarnail Singh who had come to Una for service. During cross-examination, he stated that the same had been purchased by him from M/s Rana General Store, Durana.

18. PW8 Sansar Chand has proved recovered memo Ex.PW2/A, PW2/D and identified Galla Ex.P1, Ball Pen Ex.P7, currency note of Rs.10/- Ex.P8, coin 50 paise Ex.P9, bandage pieces Ex.P10, concrete Ex.P11, leaves Ex.P12, concrete Ex.P13, bandage Ex.P14, currency notes of Rs.20, Ex.P15 and P16 and articles Ex.P1 to Ex.P7 which had been taken into possession by the police. In cross-examination, he did not dispute that there were many shops in and around the area and even buses halt there at night. However, it is denied that pilgrims stayed during the night.

19. PW9 HC Rajesh Kumar stated that on 22.9.2011 case property, in case, FIR No. 91/2011, dated 27.4.2011 of Police Station, Haroli was deposited with him by HHG Dilbagh Singh vide R.C. No. 284/2011 alongwith packet containing mobile, keypad and two sim cards. The parcels were sealed with seals M & J and entered in Malkhana register at Sl. No. 3204/11. During cross-examination, he denied the suggestion that no parcel had been deposited with him and he had been deposing falsely.

20. PW 10 Amrit Pal Singh is running mobile repair shop in the name and style of M/s Jaskaran Telecom at village, Samundra, Garhshankar. He deposed that in the year 2011 the appellant Gaurav Rana present before the Court had come to his shop saying that he is in need of money and wanted to sell mobile model Nokia 1202, which he checked and purchased for Rs.200/-. He thereafter changed the key pad and put in sim card of Aircel bearing No. 98035-91723, which was a demo sim. He later on sold the mobile phone to Jagtar Singh for Rs.400/- and he had handed over the mobile phone to the police Ex.P18, keypad Ex. P19 and sim card Ex.P20. During cross-examination, he admitted that he did not give any receipt for the purchase of the mobile and however, he denied the suggestion that the appellant Gaurav had not visited and stated that he had sold the mobile after replacing its keypad but had not issued any receipt of sale while selling the same to the Jagtar Singh.

21. PW11 HC Surjeet Singh had stated that on 17.5.2011, he alongwith ASI Darshan Singh remained associated in investigation of case FIR No. 34/11, registered against the appellants under Section 394 IPC at Police Station Nurpur Bedi. Appellant Gaurav Rana in his presence had made a disclosure statement Ex.P24/E before ASI Darshan Singh of P.P. Kalma to the effect that on 26.4.2011 during night he alongwith appellant Rajesh at lower Bathri had injured one person with Kritch and snatched Rs.400/- and a mobile and thereafter murdered a woman with Kritch and snatched Rs.2500/- from the Galla (chest) at a shop at Bathri. He alongwith Nasib Singh Lambardar and Sarpanch Harket Singh had put signatures on the memo Ex.PW24/F and later on Gaurav Rana had got recovered the Kritch and Rs.20,600/-, which were taken into possession vide Ex.PW24/F. Rough sketch of Kritch Ex.PW24/D was prepared. The motorcycle used for the commission of the crime was recovered vide memo Ex.PW24/G. During cross-examination, he stated that he had joined investigation on 17.5.2011 and denied that at that time appellants were in custody. He also denied that no statement had been given by the appellant Gaurav Rana on the basis no recovery had been effected. He also denied that no recovery of currency notes had been effected at the instance of the disclosure statement of appellant Gaurav Rana.

22. PW12 Suman Kumari is Pardhan of Gram Panchayat Bathri and has stated that the shop had been given to Chaman Lal without rent as he was a poor person and in the shop on 26.4.2011 his wife was murdered. During cross-examination, she denied that there was no shop in the Sarai.

23. PW 13 HC Ashok Kumar deposed that he on 27.4.2011 on the directions of the superior officers had conducted photography of the spot at village Bathri. He found dead body lying in the verandah of the shop and there was blood lying outside the shop, on the road and on the leaves. He further stated that there were Rs.10/- note, 50 paise coin and ball pen lying outside the shop. He photographed these articles and handed over the CD to I.O. in a sealed condition with seal 'R'.

24 PW14 Jaswant Singh ex-Pardhan of Gram Panchayat Bhadiaran, deposed that on 20.5.2011 appellant Rajesh had disclosed to the police in his presence and in presence of C. Ram Gopal that on 26.4.2011, he alongwith Gaurav Rana during the night had murdered a woman with Kritch (Dagger) and identified such place and the place where they parked the motorcycle. He also disclosed that he can get recovered his T-shirt and lower from his house, which he had been wearing at the time of murder. Disclosure statement of the appellant Gaurav Rana was Ex.PW14/A. During cross-examination, he denied that the statement of the appellants had already been recorded by the police and he had only put his signatures. He admitted that the appellants had disclosed to the police that they could identify the place of murder, however, this witness was confronted with the memo Ex.PW14/A and Ex.PW14/B, wherein, this fact has not been mentioned. He further denied that neither any statement was made by the appellants nor he was present with the police on the said date.

25. PW15 Vijay Singh deposed that the clothes had been recovered at the instance of the mother of appellant Gaurav Rana and he was also present there. He was declared hostile and during cross-examination conducted by the learned P.P., he admitted that he had put his signature on memo Ex.PW15/A after going through the contents. Appellant Gaurav Rana had taken the police party to his house and got recovered his Capri and T-shirt from his house. These clothes were put in a parcel and sealed with seal 'J' and sample of seal had been taken separately. He further admitted that sample of seal Ex.PW15/B had been taken on a piece of cloth, which bore his signature and memo Ex.PW15/A had been signed by him, the appellant and another witness. He also admitted that the clothes shown to him were the same which had been taken in possession by the police from the house of appellant Gaurav Rana. During cross-examination by the learned defence counsel, he had stated that police had called him after taking into possession recovered clothes. He denied that he had put his signature on memo and other documents at the instance of the police and further denied that the seal had not been affixed in his presence.

26. PW16 Omkar Sharma is the Manager of Oasis Hotel and Restaurant, who has stated that he comes to the hotel at 8:00 a.m. and returns to his house around 10:30 p.m., however, during night one waiter Mukesh remain in the hotel and the details of the visitors who visit hotel after his duty, are entered in the register by the waiter. On 26.4.2011, he had left the hotel around 11:00 p.m. and in the morning the waiter had disclosed that two boys had stayed in the hotel during night and he charged Rs.1000/- from them, which the waiter handed over to him. As per waiter, these boys had left the hotel without getting their names entered in the register in the morning. The amount of Rs. 1000/- was handed over to the police vide Ex.PW16/A. During cross-examination, he stated that the appellants were not known to him, therefore, he cannot say that there were the appellants who had stayed in the hotel.

27. PW17 Mukesh Kumar is waiter in hotel Oasis and stated that on 26.4.2011 at around 12:00 midnight two boys came to the hotel and demanded room for stay. He opened the room and charged Rs.1000/-. He further deposed that these boys came on motorcycle and assured him to make entry in the register in the morning, however, in the morning both the boys had fled away without making entry in the register. He also stated that on the arrival of Manager, he handed over Rs.1000/- to him. On 23.5.2011, police came to the hotel and he had identified the boys, who had been staying in the hotel in the night of 26/27.4.2011. He produced Rs.1000/- notes to the police, which were taken into possession vide Ex.PW16/A. He also identified the appellants before the Court. During cross-examination, he denied that without consent of the Manager he had no authority to allow anybody to stay in the hotel during night hours. He further denied that the appellants had not stayed in the hotel.

28. PW18 C. Jasbir Singh stated that on 30.4.2011, he had received five parcels, two samples of seals and one docket containing viscera, clothes, sealed with Una mortuary seal from MHC Vipan Kumar and other parcels sealed with seal 'P' alongwith sample seal, which were containing blood stained leaves, blood stained crushed stones, Rs.10 note and 50 paise coin and deposited the same at FSL, Junga. On 27.6.2011, he again carried three parcels sealed with seals T, J, DS, CHC, Haroli, 2 FTA cards, one parcel containing lower and T-shirt and one containing Kritch sealed with seal DS alongwith seal sample to FSL, Junga and deposited the same there on 28.6.2011.

29. PW19 C. Deepak Kumar had joined investigation on 27.4.2011 and as per his statement at about 1:25 a.m., I.O. Shakti Singh recorded statement of Chaman Lal which he had carried to P.S., Haroli on the basis of which FIR had been registered. On 5.7.2011 he had gone to Junga for collecting result and handed over the same to MHC on 7.7.2011.

30. PW20 HC Sanjay Kumar alongwith HC Naresh Kumar, HC Dharam Pal, C.Deepak Kumar and C. Ram Gopal remained associated in the investigation of the present case with SHO Shakti Singh of P.S., Haroli. The appellants during police custody had taken the police party to the spot at village, Bathri in Chaman Lal Sweet Shop and got identified the places from where they had snatched the money from the wife of Chaman Lal and stabbed her to death. They had also identified the place where they had parked the motorcycle. Regarding this memo Ex.PW4/B had been prepared which bore his signatures, as well as of Balbir Singh and the appellants. On the same day, the appellants took the police party to village Dhamai where PW Balbir Singh of village Dhamai was associated in the investigation and appellant Rajesh had led the police party to his house where his mother was present. The appellant from the room where iron petty (box) was lying over which, one brief case of black colour was kept and from the brief case, the appellant had taken out one lower suit (Pyjama) over which there were two cuts on right side of leg. He also got recovered T-shirt of black colour over which Amar Icon mark was written. Above said T-shirt and lower were packed in cloth parcel and parcel was sealed with seal T and seal after use was given to Balbir Singh and parcel had been taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW20/A. The sample of seal Ex.PW20/B had been retained. He has also identified T-shirt Ex.P35 and one lower Ex.P36 in the Court which had been recovered at the instance of appellant Rajesh from his house. During cross-examination, he has denied that they had called ward panch Balbir after recovery and nothing was recovered at the instance of appellant Rajesh.

31. PW21 Jagtar Singh has stated that he had purchased one old mobile Nokia 1202 from the shop of Amrit Pal Singh (PW10) for a consideration of Rs.400/- in the fifth or sixth month of 2011. After about 15-20 days of purchase of mobile, police had come to his shop where he was working and police had taken said mobile from him. He had inserted sim No. 94655-53283 in the mobile. During cross-examination, he has admitted that there is no specific identification on mobile Ex.P18.

32. PW22 ASI Prem Chand had produced Kritch in the Court which was deposited with him in Malkhana of P.S. Anandpur Sahib by SHO, P.S. Nurpur Bedi. He had already produced Kritch before learned SDJM, Anandpur Sahib as well as before learned JMIC (I), Una. During cross-examination, he has admitted that Kritch Ex.K1 had not been recovered in his presence by the I.O.

33. PW23 is HC Naresh Kumar. He has stated that he remained associated with the investigation of this case with SI Shakti Singh. As per his statement, on 21.5.2011 they had gone to village Samundra with both the appellants. The witness Vijay Kumar had also been associated and appellant Gaurav Rana took them to his house where his brother was present. Appellant from his room got recovered T-shirt Ex.P23 and Capri Ex.P24 from small trunk which was lying on big iron box (petty). T-shirt, Capri which the appellant was wearing at the time of occurrence, had been taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW15/A. Clothes had been packed in a cloth parcel and parcel had been sealed with three seals of impression J and sample of seal Ex.PW15/B had been taken on a piece of cloth. On 12.5.2011 he alongwith HC Sanjay Kumar and other police officials as per orders of Superintendent of Police, Una had gone to village Samundra in connection with investigation of case FIR No. 91/2011. One Amrit Pal, son of Ajmer Singh who was running mobile shop was associated in the investigation. On the basis of call details as the mobile was under observation and mobile had been snatched from Jarnail Singh, the mobile had been sold to Amrit Pal by appellant Gaurav and after repair he further sold that mobile to Jagtar Singh. On the same day, Jagtar had produced mobile and sim which were put in cloth parcel and sealed with three seals of J and taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW23/B. During cross-examination, he has denied that they had purchased new mobile and other articles from the shop of Amrit Pal and no recovery of mobile had been made from Jagtar Singh. He has denied that parcel had been sealed in the police station. He has denied that no recovery had been effected at the instance of appellant Gaurav Rana.

34. PW24 SI Nishant Bhardwaj had also visited the spot alongwith SI Shakti Singh. In the shop of Chaman Lal dead body of Swarni was lying on the wooden cot and blood had been on the floor. The articles in the shop were scattered here and there. The I.O. got the spot videographed from HC Ashok Kumar and prepared site plan and took in possession articles for evidence. I.O. had filled in 25, 35(a)(b) forms and deputed ASI Ashok Kumar and L.C. Ramana for taking the dead body of Swarni for postmortem to D.H., Una. On 5.6.2011 he alongwith I.O. and other police officials had visited P.S., Nurpur Bedi (Punjab) where they had shown order dated 31.5.2011 of SDM, Anandpur Sahib, to MHC Balbir Singh, MHC had produced case property of case FIR No. 34/2011 dated 27.4.2011 which was required in the present case. The case property including one motorcycle pulsar of black colour and cloth parcel sealed with seal DS stated to be containing Kritch (sharp edged weapon) had been taken in possession. They had also procured copy of Malkhana register No. 19 of P.s. Nurpur Bedi bearing Mad No. 202 dated 17.5.2011. The motorcycle, parcel and abstract of Malkhana register had been taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW24/A by the I.O. Copy of order of learned SDJM, Anandpur Sahib had been given to MHC Balbir Singh of Nurpur Bedi. On the same day, he alongwith the I.O. and other police officials with the case property had gone to P.P. Kalma where ASI Darshan Singh had produced record of case FIR No. 34/2011 dated 27.4.2011 under Section 394 IPC registered at P.S. Nurpur Bedi including copy of disclosure statement of appellant Gaurav Rana, copy of memo regarding Kritch and cash Rs.20,600/-, copy of memo of motorcycle pulsar of black colour, copy of sketch of Kritch, zimini No. 16, dated 17.5.2011, two applications moved to Medical Officer, PHC Singhpur for medical examination of appellants, which were taken in possession by the I.O. vide memo Ex.PW24/B. copy of Malkhana register is Ex.PW24/C, copy of sketch of kritch is Ex.Pw24/D, copy of disclosure statement of appellant Gaurav Rana is Ex.PW24/E, copy of recovery memo of kritch and cash is Ex.PW24/F, copy of recovery memo of motorcycle is Ex.PW24/G, copies of applications moved to Medical Officer, PHC, Singhpur are Ex.PW24/I, copy of order issued by learned SDJM, Anandpur Sahib is Ex.PW24/J. During cross-examination, he had admitted that at the time of taking in possession copies of above documents, appellants were not present.

35. PW25 ASI Ashok Kumar had got conducted postmortem of the dead body of Swarna Devi and after postmortem, dead body had been handed over to Chaman Lal vide memo Ex.PW25/B in the presence of L.C. Ramna Devi and Balbir Singh. He had obtained postmortem report and handed over the same to I.O.

36. PW26 L.C. Ramna Devi had been deputed to village Bathri from where she and ASI Ashok Kumar had been deputed for D.H., Una for getting the postmortem of Swarni conducted through doctor. After postmortem, the doctor had handed over to her one parcel containing viscera, parcel containing clothes of deceased, one parcel of ornaments, one seal sample, one envelope sealed with Una mortuary seal and she had handed over all these articles to MHC.

37. PW27 HHC Dharam Pal on 4.6.2011 had been deputed to FSL, Junga. He accordingly collected envelop containing FSL report No. 670B-SFSL, PHY-88/2011 and had handed over envelope to MHC on 5.6.2011.

38. PW28 is HHC Jagtar Singh who on 5.8.2011 had been deputed to collect FSL report from Junga and he collected report No. 1025/A, SFSL, B10-149/2011 contained in a sealed envelope which he had deposited with MHC on 6.8.2011.

39. Postmortem of the deceased had been conducted by PW29 Dr. Sanjay Mankotia on 27.4.2011 on the application Ex.PW25/A moved by the police. At the time of postmortem, he had noticed;

(1) sharp edged wound on right breast 3cm x 2cm with deep tissues and fat visible 4cm below right nipple and 3cm deep.

(2) sharp edged wound below right breast 4cm deep in between 7th and 8th ribs.

(3) sharp edged wound on the joining right axilla and iliac crest 4cm x 2cm penetrating in abdominal cavity 4cm deep mid way between this line. Right plurae and lung punctured at leviel of 7th and 8th ribs.

As per his opinion, the deceased had died due to hemorrhagic shock subsequent to multiple wounds. The probable duration between death and postmortem was within 18 hours and duration between injury and death was few minutes to an hour. The doctor had preserved viscera in a jar, blood sample and clothes, brazier, dupatta, pranda for chemical examination in separate parcels sealed with Una mortuary seal and handed over the parcels to the police and issued report Ex.PW29/A. On 19.9.2011, SHO P.S., Haroli had moved application Ex.Pw29/D and produced one parcel sealed with FSL seals. There were two signatures on both sides of the parcel and parcel had been opened and Kritch Ex.K had been found in it. The injuries observed on the person of deceased Swarni Devi were possible with the kritch and injuries present on the dead body were sufficient to cause her death. Kritch Ex.K1 had been sealed with Una mortuary seal and returned to the police with sample seal Ex.PW29/E. During cross-examination, he has admitted that there was no blood on the kritch when it was shown to him by the police.

40. PW30 Dr. Shingara Singh is Medical Officer, posted at PHC, Basdehra and on 22.5.2011 the police had moved application Ex.PW30/A for medical examination and collection of blood samples on FTA cards for DNA profiling of appellants Gaurav and Rajesh. He has firstly conducted medical examination of appellant Gaurav Rana at about 12:40 p.m. and on examination there was healed scar mark curved over base of left hand forefinger. His blood sample in FTA cards was collected, sealed and sample was sealed for further investigation at FSL, Junga. The parcel was sealed with hospital seal. He had taken seal sample on FTA form Ex.PW30/B. On the same day, he had also conducted medical examination of appellant Rajesh and had noticed infected wound on his left thigh just above knee joint. The wound was already stitched and as stated by the appellant. He had got the wound stitched on 26.4.2011 from some private practitioner. He had issued MLCs of appellant Rajesh Ex.PW30/C and that of appellant Gaurav Ex.PW30/D. The blood sample of appellant Rajesh had been taken on FTA cards and sealed with hospital seal for further investigation at FSL, Junga. He had filled in FTA form Ex.PW30/E of appellant Rajesh and obtained his right and left thumb impressions and signatures.

41. PW31 Surinder Pal Singh is Patwari posted in Patwar circle, Bathri. On 16.8.2011 on application Ex.PW31/A, the Tehsildar had given orders of demarcation of T-shop of Chaman Lal and accordingly he had conducted demarcation of shop in the presence of police and shop had been identified by the police. He had prepared Tatima Ex.PW31/B and copy of Jamabandi Ex.PW31/C. On 17.8.2011 report had been produced before the police after counter signatures of Kanungo and report is Ex.PW31/D which is in his hand and bears his signatures. The shop of Chaman Lal had been found on Khasra No. 2397.

42. PW32 HC Vipan Kumar is MHC and he had received case property from LHC Ramana Devi on 27.4.2011 containing viscera, clothes, ornaments alongwith sample seals. On the same day, he had also received four parcels from SI/SHO Shakti Singh and he had entered all the articles at Sl. No. 576/2011 of Malkhana register. On 21.5.2011, SHO Shakti Singh had deposited one parcel sealed with three seals of impression J and he had entered the same at Sl. No. 574/2011 of Malkhana register. On 22.5.2011, he had received an envelope sealed with two seals of CHC, Haroli stated to be containing blood samples on FTA cards of appellant Gaurav Rana and another envelope sealed with two seals of CHC, Haroli containing blood sample on FTA cards of appellant Rajesh and he had entered the same at Sl. No. 598/2011 of Malkhana register. On 23.5.2011 he had received one unsealed envelope containing 10 notes of 100 denomination each and entry has been made by him at Sl. No. 600/2011. On 5.6.2011 he had also received one parcel from SHO Shakti Singh containing kritch sealed with seal DS and entered the same at Sl. No. 608/2011 of Malkhana register. On 30.4.2011, articles mentioned at Sl. Nos. 575/2011 and 576/2011 had been sent to FSL, Junga through C.Jasbir Singh. On 27.6.2011 articles mentioned at Sl. No. 594/2011, 598/2011 and 608/2011 had been sent to FSL, Junga through C.Jagtar Singh. On 5.6.2011 HHC Dharam Singh had brought one parcel sealed with two seals of FSL, Junga alongwith result which he had entered in Malkhana register and handed over the same to I.O.

43. PW33 Baldev Ram had got entered FIR Ex.PW33/A on the basis of statement of Chaman Lal Ex.PW1/A and made endorsement Ex.PW33/B on reverse of Ex.PW1/A and thereafter the file had been sent to the spot through C.Deepak Kumar. On receipt of file and expert opinion he had prepared supplementary challan. During cross-examination, he has denied that FIR was registered later on at the instance of I.O. and he has wrongly prepared supplementary challan.

44. PW34 is Dr. Vivek Sehajpal, Assistant Director (DNA), FSL, Junga. He has stated that in the present case, he had received nine parcels for DNA analysis in sealed condition vide R.C. No. 135/2011 dated 30.4.2011, R.C. No. 189/2011 dated 27.6.2011. He had carried DNA profiling of the exhibits and had given opinion as report No. 670/D/SFSL /DNA-52/2011 and 1025B/SFSL/DNA-89/11 Ex.PW34/A (nine sheets).

45. PW35 C/ Gurbax had only collected SFSL report in FIR No. 90/2011 on 28.6.2011. PW36 Naseeb Chand is Nambardar of village Ajampur. On 17.5.2011 in his presence and in the presence of Harket Singh appellant Gaurav Rana had made disclosure statement that on 26.4.2011 in the area of Himachal Pradesh in lower Bathri, he alongwith appellant Rajesh had inflicted injuries on pedestrian and snatched Rs.400/- and mobile and thereby, they had murdered one woman at village, Bathri and taken away Rs.2500/-. Copy of disclosure statement is Ex.PW24/E. Appellant Gaurav had also made disclosure statement that he had kept kritch and Rs. 2500/- in his house and accordingly, led the police party to his house and got recovered currency notes and kritch from the trunk which were taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW24/F. As per his version, copy of sketch of kritch is Ex.PW24/D. During cross-examination, he has stated that signatures of appellants were not taken in his presence. He has denied that no disclosure statement had been made by appellant Gaurav in his presence nor any recovery had been effected.

46. PW37 Balbir Singh has stated that on 21.5.2011 he remained associated with the police in this case and nothing was recovered in his presence at the instance of appellants. He was declared hostile and during cross-examination by learned P.P. he has admitted that on 21.5.2011 he and HC Sanjay had joined investigation but has denied that appellant Rajesh had taken the police party to his house and recovery of lower and T-shirt had been effected. He has admitted that seal sample Ex.PW20/B bore his signatures.

47. PW38 Navjeet is Nodal Officer, AIR Cell, Shimla. On 12.5.2011 on the request of Superintendent of Police, Una, he had provided call details of mobile No. 98035-91723 bearing IMEI No. 351529041336850 through e-mail to Superintendent of Police, Una copy of which is Ex.PW38/B and call details are Ex.PW38/B and IMEI No. is encircled red in Ex.PW38/B. During cross-examination, he has stated that as per record, mobile No. 9803591723 belongs to Amrit Pal Singh son of Ram Lal.

48. PW40 HC Balbir Chand of P.S. Nurpur Bedi has stated that on 5.6.2011 on the directions of learned SDJM, Anandpur Sahib, he had produced one parcel containing kritch sealed with seal DS and motorcycle pulsar without number to SHO, Shakti Singh of P.S. Haroli which had been taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW24/A and memo bears his signatures as producer. He has brought original Malkhana register and Ex.PW24/C abstract of Malkhana register is correct as per original record. During cross-examination, he has denied that articles mentioned by him in examination-in-chief were not in his possession and he had not produced kritch and motorcycle to SHO, P.S. Haroli.

49. HC Balbir Singh (PW41) of P.P. Daulatpur has stated that on 23.5.2011 he had gone to Garhshankar alongwith SHO Mukesh Kumar had produced Rs. 1000/- who is working as waiter in hotel Oasis and currency notes had been put in an envelope and taken in possession vide memo Ex.PW16A. He had translated memos Ex.PW24/E, Ex.PW24/F, Ex.PW24/A which were in Punjabi and translation of the same is Ex.PW41/A to Ex.PW41/C which is true version of memos which are in Punjabi.

50. PW42 is C. Rajesh Kumar and he has proved rapats Ex.PW42/A to Ex.PW42/C from the original record and as per him, rapat Nos. PW42/A to Ex.PW42/C had been entered at the instance of SI Shakti Singh. During cross-examination, he has denied that rapats had been written later on.

51. PW43 is Megha Kanwar, Criminal Ahlmad of Court of learned JMIC-I, Una and she had produced challan pertaining to FIR No. 91/2011 of P.S. Haroli.

52. PW44 ASI Prem Lal is I.O. of P.S. Haroli and he had conducted investigation in case FIR No. 91/2011 dated 27.4.2011 registered under Section 392, 323, 326 read with 34 IPC. Information of murder at Bathri had been received and accordingly, rapat Ex.PW17/A had been entered which is lying in case file No. RBT-22-11-12/11 of the Court of learned JMIC-I, Una. He alongwith SI Shakti Singh, PSI Nishant, ASI Ashok Kumar and other police officials had visited the spot. He had received information that two boys were also assaulted by the appellants at Bathu village and he accordingly alongwith C. Ashok Kumar had been deputed to verify the facts at Bathu. He had recorded statement of Rajnish son of Prakaram Singh Ex.Pw1/A lying in the file of lower court and statement had been sent to P.S., Haroli through C. Ashok Kumar on the basis of which case had been registered against the appellants. He recorded statements of the witnesses and procured production warrants of the appellants on 23.5.2011 and they had produced the appellants before learned JMIC, Court No. 2, Una on 25.5.2011. During police custody, appellants had identified the place of occurrence and injured. During cross-examination, he has admitted that no investigation in case FIR No. 90/2011 had been conducted by him. He has denied that in case No. 91/2011 false investigation had been conducted by him.

53 PW45 HC Shakti Nandan on 14.9.2011 had received kritch sealed with seal of FSL, Junga from C. Yash Pal in P.S. Haroli and entered the same at Sl. No. 608/2011 of Malkhana register. Kritch had been given to SHO on 19.9.2011 for taking opinion of the doctor and on the same day, kritch bearing Una mortuary seal had been received by him alongwith sample seal from the SHO. On 22.9.2011 parcel of kritch had been sent through C.Jagtar to P.S. Nurpur Bedi and entry to this effect had been made at Sl. No. 608/2011.

54. PW46 C. Yash Pal on 12.9.2011 had gone to FSL, Junga for collecting result of case FIR No. 90/2011 and had brought kritch alongwith FSL report and deposited the same with MHC. The parcel was bearing FSL seals.

55. PW47 Devinder Verma is Nodal Officer of Bharti Airtel, Kasumpati, Shimla. He has stated that on the request of police he had emailed billing address of Mobile No. 98160-63345, copy of which is Ex.PW47/A. During cross-examination, he has stated that sim No. 98160-63345 had been issued in the name of Rekha Devi.

56. PW48 SI Shakti Singh Pathania is an Investigating Officer, who conducted investigation in this case. He stated that on 26.4.2011 at about 11:20 p.m. Pardhan, Gram Panchayat, Bathri telephonically informed at Police Station, Haroli that at Bathri bus stand in a tea stall two persons had stabbed woman in the shop and fled away towards Punjab on motorcycle. Regarding this rapat No. 37-A Ex.PW42/A had been entered. He thereafter alongwith PSI Nishant Sharma, ASI Ashok Kumar, ASI Prem Lal, C. Ashok Kumar, C. Deep Kumar and HHG Piare Lal proceeded to the spot in a government vehicle. On reaching spot, a dead body of woman, namely, Swarna Devi lying on wooden bench (takhtposh) and other local people were present there. The dead body was stained with blood and there were injuries on the stomach, arm and other parts of the body. During this period, he received one more information that at village Bathri two persons who were riding motorcycle had inflicted injuries to one person and snatched his money and mobile etc. and fled away. On this information, ASI Prem Lal alongwith C.Ashok Kumar were deputed to visit the spot to verify the facts. Thereafter, PW1 Chaman Lal got recorded his statement Ex.PW1/A under Section 154 Cr.P.C. On the basis of a statement, he prepared a Rukka and sent the same to the Police Station, Haroli through C. Deepak Kumar, on the basis of which FIR Ex.PW33/A under Sections 392, 302 read with Section 34 IPC had been registered. In the meanwhile, photographer HC Ashok Kumar and LHC Ramana reached on the spot and videography of this spot was conducted and CD Ex.P.22 was prepared, which was handed over to him after sealing the same with three seals of impression R. Specimen of impression was taken on separate piece of cloth Ex.PW48/A. The site plan Ex.PW48/B of the spot as per identification of complainant and witnesses was prepared. Dead body of the deceased was examined through LHC Ramana and local lady/witnesses and filled up form 25:35 A & B and form 25:39 (inquest report) Ex.PW4/A, which was signed by Chaman Lal and Balbir Singh. He then prepared application Ex.PW25/A for the postmortem of deceased Swarna Devi and sent the dead body alongwith inquest report and connected documents through ASI Ashok Kumar and LHC Ramana Devi to R.H., Una. After postmortem ASI Ashok Kumar handed over the report Ex.PW29/A to him. One ball pen, coin of 50 paise, currency note of Rs.10/- and blood stained leaves were found on the spot which were put in a plastic container and sealed with three seals of seal impression P and taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW2/A. The control sample of concrete was lifted from the spot and put in a plastic container and seal with three seals of seal impression P and was taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW2/B. Thereafter the blood was also lifted from inside the shop and verandah with the help of cotton bandage and put in a plastic container which was put in a cloth parcel and sealed with three seals of impression P and taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW2/C. Wooden box lying inside the shop, which was stated to be containing Rs. 2000/- to Rs.2500/- was checked and one currency note was found of Rs.20/-, one note of Rs.5/- and coins, total amount Rs. 123.50 and remaining amount had been allegedly taken away by the appellants. This amount was put in same wooden cash box and sealed with seal impression of P and taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW2/D. Specimen seal was taken on a piece of cloth Ex.PW2/F. Vide said memos, parcel and sample seals were signed by the witnesses, namely, Satish Kumar and Sansar Chand and the seal after use was handed over to PW Satish Kumar. The statements of PWs were also recorded and after conducting the investigation on the spot as well as in the area. He came back to the police station. Case property was handed over to MHC. The mobile phone, which was stated to be snatched by the appellants in case FIR No. 91/2011 was put on observation for tracking the location of mobile No. 98160-63345. On 12.5.2011, the mobile location was found in village Samundra, District Hoshiarpur in Aircel Sim No. 98035-91723, which was found to have been issued in the name of Amrit Pal, resident of Chack Guru, District Hoshiarpur. Regarding the investigation of this fact, a team comprising of police officials HC Naresh and HC Sanjay was sent to village Samundra and during investigation, it was revealed that the mobile phone being used for Sim No. 98035-91723 had been purchased by Amrit Pal from the repair shop. However, he again stated that he purchased the above said mobile from appellant Gaurav Rana, which has been taken into possession in case FIR No. 91/2011. During investigation, it was also found that appellants Gaurav and Rajesh were in judicial lock-up in Punjab. Production warrants of the accused were obtained from the Court and on 19.5.2011 both the appellants were arrested and produced before the Court on 20.5.2011 and their police remand was obtained. On 20.5.2011, while in police custody, the appellant Rajesh made disclosure statement Ex.PW14/A, whereas appellant Gaurav made disclosure statement Ex.PW14/B in the present of witnesses Jaswant Singh and C. Ram Gopal and also on 21.5.2011 appellant Gaurav Rana got recovered Capri (short pant) and T-shirt from his house at Samundra, which were packed in a parcel of cloth and parcel was sealed with three seals of J and sample of specimen J Ex.PW15/B was retained on a piece of cloth and seal after use was handed over to witness Vijay Singh and these articles were taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW15/A. On the same day, at village Dhamai accused Rajesh got recovered from his house a lower (pajama) of blue colour and T-shirt and specimen of seal Ex.PW20/B was retained on a piece of cloth and taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW20/A. Seal after use was handed over to the witness Balbir Singh. The witnesses had also put their signatures on the memo. After investigation, the case property was handed over to MHC. On 22.5.2011, medical examination of both the appellants were conducted and the blood on FTA card was taken and two FTA cards, two envelopes were handed over to MHC. On 23.5.2011, at hotel Oasis in Punjab near Garhshankar, Rs.1000/-, which the appellants had given to waiter Mukesh were recovered and taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW16/A in the presence of witnesses. On 31.5.2011, application was moved to SDJM, Anandpur Sahib for taking case property in custody. On 5.6.2011, MHC Nurpur Bedi handed over motor cycle without number (Pulsar), one kritch sealed with seal impression DS, photocopy of register No. 19, which had been taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW24/A. On the same day, in P.P. Kalma, ASI Darshan Singh produced copy of Zimini order dated 17.5.2011, photocopy of sketch of kritch, photocopy of disclosure statement, photocopies of recovery memo of motorcycle, kritch, photocopies of MLC of both the accused which were taken into possession vide memo Ex. PW24/B in the presence of the witnesses. Earlier to this, on 21.5.2011, both the accused had led the police party to the places of occurrence and they identified the place where they had committed the crime and memo Ex.PW4/B as per disclosure statements had been prepared. Statements of the witnesses were recorded as per their version. Photocopy of FIR No. 91/2011 is Ex.PW48/C, application for medical is Ext. PW48/D, MLC of Jarnail Singh is Ext.PW48/D and call detail is Ex.PW48/F. Statements of witnesses Satish, Vijay and Balbir Ex.PW48/G to I, were recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C., as per their version and nothing had been added or omitted from the statements. On receiving FSL report Ex. PW48/J to L, the challan was prepared by him and presented in the Court. Prior to this on 19.9.2011 weapon had been shown to M.O. concerned for taking his opinion and final opinion of doctor had been taken. The supplementary challan had been prepared by SI Baldev Ram. He had seen kritch Ex.K1 and case property Ex.P1 to P34, which were same. He further testified that both the appellants in the case were present in the Court on that date. In cross-examination, he had admitted that near the alleged place of occurrence, there is abadi and shops and towards the north west in front there is a Panchayat ghar and passage go in front of the panchayat ghar as well as in the back side of the Panchayat ghar. He also admitted that in the night, shops were closed, however, self stated that the alleged shop was open and one khokha was also open. He stated that the phone had been received at 11:20 p.m. was of Pardhan and he could not tell the name of the Pardhan. He voluntarily stated that rapat No. 37 has been entered on the basis of such information. Dead body of Swarna Devi was lying at taktposh in the verandah of the shop which had been placed by the husband and other relatives of the deceased. He had recorded the statements of persons about the identification of the assailants. He denied the suggestion that the currency note and other articles had not been sealed on the spot and such seal had not been handed over to anyone. He further denied that the statement of Chaman Lal, Rajinder Kaur, Jaswinder Singh were recorded lateron to give correct shape to the occurrence. He further denied that Mobile No. 98160-63345 is common and voluntarily stated that the phone was identified on the basis of IMEI number. He denied that the appellants had not made any disclosure statements or that the same had been recorded by using pressure on them. He stated that he had visited Samundra and Dhamai alongwith appellants and witnesses and had gone there in government vehicle as well as in private vehicle though he does not remember the number of such vehicle. He could not recollect the name of the witnesses who claimed that he had offered his personal search to the witnesses. He denied that Capri and T-shirt had not been recovered and also suggests that the appellants Gaurav Rana had not got effected recovery of Capri and T-shirt. Similar, suggestions regarding Pajama and T-shirt by appellant Rajesh was denied and it is also denied that no parcel had been prepared at the spot and sealed. It is further denied that recovery memo Ex.PW16/A had been prepared falsely. It was also denied that no identification of the place of occurrence had been made by the appellant and that he had recorded the statement of the witnesses at his own. Lastly, it was denied that since the accused had been arrested in Punjab, therefore, they had been falsely implicated in the present case.

57. PW49 ASI Darshan Singh deposed that he had remained posted as at In-charge, P.P. Kalman, Police Station Nurpur Bedi from 2010-2011 and on 26.4.2011 had received file for investigation in case FIR No. 34/2011, registered under Section 394 IPC at Police Station Nurpur Bedi. Both the appellants were arrested by SHO on 26.5.2011 and on 17.5.2011 file had been handed over to him. That the accused had been interrogated on 18.5.2011 when appellant Gaurav Rana made disclosure statement Ex.PW24/E about the injuries inflicted to a person at Bathri with kritch and snatched a mobile and currency notes of Rs. 400/- on 26.4.2011 and murdered a lady at Bathri in shop with kritch and snatched Rs. 2500/- from the cash box in the same night. The statement had been given in the presence of witness Karam Chand, Lambardar and Harket Singh and HC Surjeet Singh. On 17.5.2011, the appellant Gaurav Rana had got recovered kritch and currency notes of Rs. 20,600/- from his house and on the basis of the statement appellant Rajesh, currency notes of Rs. 19,400/- alongwith mobile phone had been recovered from his house at village Dhamai, Police Station Nawansahar. The motorcycle used in the commission of the crime, which was without number had also been recovered from traffic staff Nawansahar. On 5.6.2011, he handed over the photocopies of memos Ex.PW24/e, PW24/F, PW24/G, PW24/H, PW24/I and sketch of kritch Ex.PW24/D to SHO, P.S. Haroli, which had been taken into possession vide memo Ex.PW24/B, which was duly signed by him. After seeing the kritch, Ex.K1, he claimed that he had deposited the same with MHC. In cross-examination, he denied the suggestions that the accused had not given any statement that he had procured their signatures on various memos by pressurizing them. He further denied that no witness was present on the spot or no recovery was effected at the instance of the appellants. He claimed to have gone to the village of the accused in government vehicle and its No. PB-12L-5231, the kritch was sealed with seal DS. He denied that the memo had been prepared in the police post and clarified that though he had called the local witnesses of the villages of appellants but nobody had turned up.

58. Learned Court thereafter recorded the statement of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and thereafter examined one witness Varinder Singh DW1 who had stated that he was an agriculturist and for this purpose he kept tractor and threshing machine. In 2011, he had started threshing work of wheat from 15th April and work remained in progress for about one month. The appellants were known to him and had been engaged for threshing of wheat and this work remained in force continuously for 24 hours. The appellants had worked with him continuously for a period of one month for threshing of the wheat and they never remained absent during that period and they had also not availed any leave during that period. In cross-examination, he admitted that he did know the name of the father of accused Gaurav. He admitted that the labour take rest.. He further denied that threshing work start late in Himachal. He further denied that in the year, 2011, the threshing work had started late. He feigned ignorance that appellants had stabbed one boy on 26.4.2011. Similarly, he feigned ignorance about the accused having stabbed one lady in the same night at around 10:00 p.m. and snatching money from the owner of the shop at Bathri. He voluntarily stated that the appellants were with him on that day for threshing the wheat. He did not know that the appellants had been arrested by the Punjab Police on 27.4.2011 and recovery had been effected at their instance.

I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the records of the case.

59. Having dealt with the evidence led on record by the parties, its now time to consider and evaluate the arguments of either side. As observed earlier learned counsel for the appellants have vehemently argued that the instant case is a classical example, which is bereft of any evidence to connect the appellants with the alleged crime. PW1, PW3, PW5 and PW-39 are the close relatives of the deceased whereas no independent witness has been examined in this case.

60. Before proceeding to consider the submissions made by the appellants, it has to be remembered that the cardinal principal of criminal jurisprudence is that guilt of the accused must be proved beyond reasonable doubts. However, the burden on the prosecution is only to establish his case beyond reasonable doubt and not all doubts. In this context, it is apt to reproduce the following observations made by Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of U.P. vs. Krishna Gopal and Anr, 1988 4 SCC 302:-

> "25. Doubts would be called reasonable if they are free from a zest for abstract speculation. Law cannot afford any favourite other than truth. To constitute reasonable doubt, it must be free from an overemotional response. Doubts must be actual and substantial doubts as to the guilt of the accused person arising from the evidence, or from the lack of it, as opposed to mere vague apprehensions. A reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely possible doubt; but a fair doubt based upon reason and common sense. It must grow out of the evidence in the case.
>
> 26. The concept of probability, and the degrees of it, cannot obviously be expressed in terms of units to be mathematically enumerated as to how many of such units constitute proof beyond reasonable doubt. There is an unmistakable subjective element in the evaluation of the degrees of probability and the quantum of proof. Forensic probability must, in the last analysis, rest on a robust common sense and, ultimately on the trained intutions of the judge. While the protection given by the criminal process to the accused persons is not to be eroded, at the same time, uninformed legitimization of trivialities would make a mockery of administration of criminal justice."

61. It is clearly settled that the rule regarding the benefit of doubt does not warrant acquittal of accused by resorting to surmises, conjectures and fanciful considerations as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Punjab Vs. Jagir Singh, 1974 3 SCC 277.

62. Earlier to that, Hon'ble Supreme Court in Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade & Anr. Vs. State of Maharashtra, 1973 2 SCC 793 had observed that excessive solicitude reflected in the attitude that a thousand guilty men may go but one innocent martyr shall not suffer is a false dilemma and only reasonable doubts belong to the accused. It is apt to reproduce the following observations:-

> "The cherished principles or golden thread of proof beyond reasonable doubt which runs through the web of our law should not be stretched morbidly to embrace every hunch, hesitancy and degree of doubt. The excessive solicitude reflected in the attitude that a thousand guilty men may go but one innocent martyr shall not suffer is a false dilemma. Only reasonable doubts belong to the accused. Otherwise any practical system of justice will then break down and lose credibility with the community."

63. As regards the contentions of the appellants that the prosecution has only examined the interested witnesses, who were none other than the close relatives of the deceased, identical contentions have been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Criminal Case No. 1482 of 2013, Yogesh Singh Vs. Mahabeer Singh & Ors., decided on 20.10.2016 wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:-

> "24. On the issue of appreciation of evidence of interested witnesses, Dalip Singh vs. State of Punjab, 1953 AIR (SC) 364, is one of the earliest cases on the point. In that case, it was held as follows:-
>
> "A Witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge alongwith the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth."

25. Similarly, in Piara Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab, 1977 AIR (SC) 2274, this Court held:-

"It is well settled that the evidence of interested or inimical witnesses is to be scrutinised with care but cannot be rejected merely on the ground of being a partisan evidence. If on a perusal of the evidence the Court is satisfied that the evidence is creditworthy there is not bar in the Court relying on the said evidence."

26. In Hari Obula Reddy and Ors. Vs. The State of Andhra Pradesh, 1981 3 SCC 675, a three-judge Bench of this Court observed:

"..It is well settled that interested evidence is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony. Nor can it be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subject to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, if may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the further case, to base a conviction thereon."

27. Again, in Ramashish Rai Vs. Jagdish Singh, (2005) 10 SCC 498, the following observations were made by this Court:

"The requirement of law is that the testimony of inimical witnesses has to be considered with caution. If otherwise the witnesses are true and reliable their testimony cannot be thrown out on the threshold by branding them as inimical witnesses. By now, it is well-settled principle of law that enmity is a double-edged sword. It can be a ground for false implication. It also can be a ground for assault. Therefore, a duty is cast upon the court to examine the testimony of inimical witnesses with due caution and diligence."

28. A survey of the judicial pronouncements of this Court on this point leads to the inescapable conclusion that the evidence of a closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon. (See Anil Rai Vs. State of Bihar, (2001) 7 SCC 318; State of U.P. Vs. Jagdeo Singh, (2003) 1 SCC 456; Bhagalool Lodh & Anr. Vs. State of U.P., (2011) 13 SCC 206; Dahari & Ors. Vs. State of U. P., (2012) 10 SCC 256; Raju @ Balachandran & Ors. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, (2012) 12 SCC 701; Gangabhavani Vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy & Ors., (2013) 15 SCC 298; Jodhan Vs. State of M.P., (2015) 11 SCC 52).

64. In view of the ratio of judgments laid in Yogesh Sing's case (supra), this court is only required to carefully scrutinise and appreciate the evidence of closely related witnesses before arriving at any conclusion. However, evidence cannot be disbelieved on the ground that these witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased and evidence has a ring of truth to it is cogent, credible and trustworthy.

65. If the testimony of these witnesses i.e. PW1, PW3, PW5 and PW39, which has been reproduced in extenso above, is gone through, the presence of the appellants at the spot has clearly been established and they have been so identified by these witnesses. Moreover, the prosecution is not bound to produce all the witnesses said to have seen the occurrence. The material witnesses necessary by the prosecution unfolding the prosecution story alone need to be produced without any un-necessary and redundant multiplication of the witnesses and in this connection general reluctance of average villager to appear as witness and get himself involved has also to be considered. In this background, it shall be worthwhile to reproduce the following observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Appabhai and Anr. Vs. State of Gujarat, 1988 Supp1 SCC 241:-

> "52. Experience reminds us that civilized people are generally insensitive when a crime is committed even in their presence. They withdraw both from the victim and the vigilante. hey keep themselves away from the Court unless it is inevitable. They think that crime like civil dispute is between two individuals or parties and they should not involve themselves. This kind of apathy of the general public is indeed unfortunate, but it is there everywhere whether in village life, towns or cities. One cannot ignore this handicap with which the investigating agency has to discharge its duties. The Court, therefore, instead of doubting the prosecution case for want of independent witness must consider the broad spectrum of the prosecution version and then search for the nugget of truth with due regard to probability, if any, suggested by the accused."

66. The learned counsel for the appellants then contended that in absence of identification parade the appellants could not have been convicted and in support of such contentions, has placed reliance on following judgments:-

1. Lakhwinder Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 2003 Supreme Court 2577;
2. Ravi alias Ravichandran vs. State represented by Inspector of Police, (2007) 15 Supreme Court Cases 372
3. OMA @ Omparkash & Anr. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2013 (3) SCC 440
4. Motilal Yadav Vs. State of Bihar (2015) 2 SCC 647

67. In Lakhwinder Singh and Ors. Vs. State of Punjab AIR 2003 Supreme Court 2577, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that on the basis of the facts of that case observed that since the assailants were not known to the witness by name, therefore, there was no reason why the test of identification parade was not held and this was a serious lacuna in the case of the prosecution. It is apt to reproduced para 36, which reads thus:-

> "36. It is not in dispute that one the date of occurrence i.e. 24th December, 1996 the informant PW.14 did not know the names of any of the gunmen who had taken part in the assault. Similarly, PW.15 also did not know the names of the gunmen of Ranjit Singh and his father. Admittedly PW.14 came to know of their names 3-4 days later. We have earlier noticed that despite the fact that they did not know the names of any of the gunmen, the name of Paramjit Singh finds place in the first information report as well as in the marginal notes of the site plan, both prepared at the instance of PW.14. That apart, since the assailants were not known to this witness by name, there appears to be no reason why a test identification parade was not held. It is not in dispute that no test identification parade was held to identify the assailants and this also is a serious lacuna in the case of the prosecution. "

68. In Ravi alias Ravichandran vs. State represented by Inspector of Police, (2007) 15 Supreme Court Cases 372, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that the substantive evidence of identification parade is the one made in the Court and judgment of conviction can be arrived at even if no test identification parade has been held. But when first information report has been lodged against unknown persons, a test identification parade in terms of Section 9 of the Evidence Act, is held for the purpose of testing veracity of the witness in regard to his capability of identifying the persons who were unknown to him. It is apt to reproduce the relevant observations, which read thus:-

> "18. It is no doubt true that the substantive evidence of identification of an accused is the one made in the court. A judgment of conviction can be arrived at even if no test identification parade has been held. But when a first information report has been lodged against unknown persons, a test identification parade in terms of Section 9 of the Evidence Act, is held for the purpose of testing the veracity of the witness in regard to his capability of identifying persons who were unknown to him. The witnesses were not only sure as to whether they had seen the appellant before. Had the accused been known, their identity would have been disclosed in the first information report. PW1 for the first time before the Court stated that he had known the accused from long before, but did not know their names earlier, although he came to know of their names at a later point of time.
>
> 19. In case of this nature, it was incumbent upon the prosecution to arrange a test identification parade. Such test identification parade was required to be held as early as possible so as to exclude the possibility of the accused being identified either at the police station or at some other place by the witnesses concerned or with reference to the photographs published in the newspaper. A conviction should not be based on a vague identification."

69. In OMA @ Omparkash & Anr. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2013 (3) SCC 440, it was observed by Hon'ble Supreme Court that where the witness did not know the accused earlier, the accused could be identified through test identification parade, which had not been done in case of one of the accused, it is apt to reproduce the following observations:-

> "30. We may indicate that in the instant case, FIR was registered against unknown persons. A2, as already stated, was arrested after ten years on 26.02.2005 in connection with some other crime. We fail to see how PW1 and PW2 could identify A2 in the court at this distance of time. They were guided by the photographs repeatedly shown by the police.
>
> 31. Evidently, the witnesses did not know the accused earlier, hence the accused could be identified only through a test identification parade which was not done in this case, so far as A-2 is concerned. In this connection we may refer to the judgment of this court in Mohd. Iqbal M. Shaikh vs. State of Maharashtra (1998 4 SCC 494 wherein this Court held that"
>
> > "If the witness did not know the accused person by name but could only identify from their appearance then a test identification parade was necessary, so that, the substantive evidence in court about the identification, which is held after fairly a long period could get corroboration from the identification parade. But unfortunately the prosecution did not take any steps in that regard."

70. In Motilal Yadav Vs. State of Bihar, (2015) 2 SCC 647, which is heavily relied upon by the learned Counsel for the petitioner held otherwise as would be evident from paras 10 to 14 of the judgment, which reads thus:-

> "10.Another argument advanced before us is that no test identification parade in the present case was held, as such, the conviction and sentence, recorded by the trial court, has been wrongly upheld by the High Court. In this connection, our attention is drawn to the case of Kanan and others v. State of Kerala[5]. In said case, this Court has opined that failure to conduct test identification parade raises serious doubt about the testimony of the witnesses. On going through said case, we find that this Court doubted evidence of a particular witness (PW-25 of said case) who told the Court that he could identify the accused persons (not known to him) who were running away from the scene of occurrence. Contrary to that, in the present case the testimony of PW-3 Sourav Kumar is natural as he explained in what manner he reached Haldwani, and he had enough time to identify the accused who accompanied him to the persons who took money from him whereafter the victim was released.

11.The evidence as to the identity of a person is admissible under Section 9 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. In the case of Ravi Kumar v. State of Rajasthan[6], this Court has opined in paragraph 35 as follows: -

"35.... The court identification itself is a good identification in the eye of the law. It is not always necessary that it must be preceded by the test identification parade. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. In one case, it may not even be necessary to hold the test identification parade while in the other, it may be essential to do so. Thus, no straitjacket formula can be stated in this regard."

12. In the case of R. Shaji v. State of Kerala[7], regarding the evidential value of the test identification parade, this Court has stated in paragraph 58 as under: -

".... The identification parade is conducted by the police. The actual evidence regarding identification is that which is given by the witness in court. A test identification parade cannot be claimed by an accused as a matter of right. Mere identification of an accused in a test identification parade is only a circumstance corroborative of the identification of the accused in court. "

13. In Ashok Debbarma alias Achak Debbarma v. State of Tripura[8], this Court has made following observations in para 20 which are reproduced below: -

"20..... The primary object of the test identification parade is to enable the witnesses to identify the persons involved in the commission of offence(s) if the offenders are not personally known to the witnesses. The whole object behind the test identification parade is really to find whether or not the suspect is the real offender. In Kanta Prasad v. Delhi Admn.[9], this Court stated that the failure to hold the test identification parade does not make the evidence of identification at the trial inadmissible. ...."

14. In view of the above principle of law laid down by this Court, we are unable to accept the submission of learned amicus curiae that not holding of test identification parade in the present case is fatal for the prosecution."

71. On the basis of aforesaid conspectuous of law, it can be conveniently held that the court identification is a good identification in the eyes of law and it is not always necessary that it must be proceeded by test identification parade. This would always depend upon the facts and circumstances of the given case. In one case, it may not necessary to hold the test identification parade while in the other it may be essential to do so. Thus, no strait jacket formula can be stated in this regard, after all the actual evidence regarding identification is that which is given by the witnesses in court and moreover a test identification parade cannot be claimed by an accused as a matter of right. Mere identification of accused in a test identification parade is only a circumstance corroborative of the identification of the accused in court. The primarily object of test identification parade is to enable the witnesses to identify the persons involved in the commission of offence(s) if the offenders are not personally known to the witnesses. The whole object behind the test identification parade is really to find whether or not the suspect(s) is / are the real offender(s). Moreover, the failure to hold the test identification parade per se does not make the evidence of identification at the trial inadmissible.

72. As observed earlier, PW1, PW3, PW5 and PW39 have identified the accused not only by their physical frame but also on the basis of clothes worn by them, which have been recovered on the basis of their disclosure statements and such recovery have been duly proved on record. Even if, the identification parade is not conducted, the same can only be a lapse in investigation. It is then required to be examined as to whether due to such lapse any benefit should be given to the accused. The law on the subject is well settled that the defective investigation itself cannot be a ground for acquittal. Here it shall be apt to reproduce the observations made by Hon'ble Supreme Court in C.Muniappan and Others Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, 2010 9 SCC 567, which read thus:

> "30.There may be highly defective investigation in a case. However, it is to be examined as to whether there is any lapse by the IO and whether due to such lapse any benefit should be given to the accused. The law on this issue is well settled that the defect in the investigation by itself cannot be a ground for acquittal. If primacy is given to such designed or negligent investigations or to the omissions or lapses by perfunctory investigation, the faith and confidence of the people in the criminal justice administration would be eroded. Where there has been negligence on the part of the investigating agency or omissions, etc. which resulted in defective investigation, there is a legal obligation on the part of the court to examine the prosecution evidence dehors such lapses, carefully, to find out whether the said evidence is reliable or not and to what extent it is reliable and as to whether such lapses affected the object of finding out the truth. Therefore, the investigation is not the solitary area for judicial scrutiny in a criminal trial. The conclusion of the trial in the case cannot be allowed to depend solely on the probity of investigation."

73. It is thereafter argued by the appellants that PW5 is a minor, who is an interested witness and has made marked improvements in his statement before the court. How the testimony of a child witness is to be appreciated has again been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Yogesh Singh's case (supra), wherein it was held as under:-

> "22. It is well-settled that the evidence of a child witness must find adequate corroboration, before it is relied upon as the rule of corroboration is of practical wisdom than of law. (See Prakash Vs. State of M.P., (1992) 4 SCC 225; Baby Kandayanathi Vs. State of Kerala, 1993 Supp (3) SCC 667; Raja Ram Yadav Vs. State of Bihar, (1996) 9 SCC 287; Dattu Ramrao Sakhare Vs. State of Maharashtra, (1997) 5 SCC 341; State of U.P. Vs. Ashok Dixit & Anr., 2000) 3 SCC 70; Suryanarayana Vs. State Of Karnataka, (2001) 9 SCC 29).
>
> 23. However, it is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is a found reliable. The law is that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated more carefully and with greater circumspection because a child is susceptible to be swayed by what others tell him and thus a child witness is an easy prey to tutoring. [Vide Panchhi Vs. State of U.P., (1998) 7 SCC 177]."

74. Adverting to the testimony of PW5, it would be noticed that he has not only established the presence of the appellants at the spot but has also narrated in detail the sequence of events how the taller appellant went inside the shop while other remained outside the shop and how thereafter the taller appellant stabbed Swarna Devi with some sharp edged object while she was giving the balance amount to the appellant who had purchased a Soda bottle from her. He also described in detail how both the appellants had fled away from the spot and how Smt. Swarna Devi ultimately succumbed to the injuries. He has identified the motor cycle, which was without number and being an eye-witness his testimony cannot be easily discarded as this witness has withstood the test of cross-examination.

75. The so-called improvement only relates to the purchase of Soda bottle which did not find mention in the statement given to the police and also with regard to beating being given to Swarna Devi prior to her being stabbed.

76. The learned counsel for the appellants then argued that there are number of contradictions, embezzlement and improvement and therefore the prosecution must fail.

77. As regards the so-called discrepancies in evidence, the legal position has been long settled that minor discrepancies are not to be given undue emphasis and the evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness and whether the same inspire confidence in the mind of the Court.

78. The legal position has been scantly summed up by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Yogesh Singh's case (supra), wherein it was held as under:-

> "29. It is well settled in law that the minor discrepancies are not to be given undue emphasis and the evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. The test is whether the same inspires confidence in the mind of the Court. If the evidence is incredible and cannot be accepted by the test of prudence, then it may create a dent in the prosecution version. If an omission or discrepancy goes to the root of the matter and ushers in incongruities, the defence can take advantage of such inconsistencies. It needs no special emphasis to state that every omission cannot take place of a material omission and, therefore, minor contradictions, inconsistencies or insignificant embellishments do not affect the core of the prosecution case and should not be taken to be a ground to reject the prosecution evidence. The omission should create a serious doubt about the truthfulness or creditworthiness of a witness. It is only the serious contradictions and omissions which materially affect the case of the prosecution but not every contradiction or omission. (See Rammi @ Rameshwar Vs. State of M.P., (1999) 8 SCC 649; Leela Ram (dead) through Duli Chand Vs. State of Haryana and Another, (1999) 9 SCC 525; Bihari Nath Goswami Vs. Shiv Kumar Singh & Ors., (2004) 9 SCC 186; Vijay @ Chinee Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 8 SCC 191; Sampath Kumar Vs. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124; Shyamal Ghosh Vs. State of West Bengal, (2012) 7 SCC 646 and Mritunjoy Biswas Vs. Pranab @ Kuti Biswas and Anr., (2013) 12 SCC 796)."

79. In the present case, we do not find any major contradiction in the evidence of the witnesses, which may tilt the balance in favour of the appellants. The minor improvement and embezzlement etc. apart from being far yielded of human faculties are insignificant and to be ignored since the evidence of the witnesses otherwise overwhelmly corroborate each other in material particulars.

80. It is established on record that prior to committing the murder of Swarna Devi, the appellants had given beating to PW6 Jarnail Singh at lower Bathri and had also snatched mobile having sim No. 98160-63345 and Rs.400/- from him and he duly identified the appellants in the court. This mobile phone was then sold by appellant Gaurav Rana to PW10 Amrit Pal at village Samundra, who had further sold the same to Jagtar Singh PW21 for Rs. 400/-. The appellants had been arrested by the Punjab Police on 16.5.2011 in case FIR No. 34/11, registered under Section 394, 34 IPC, P.S. Nurpur Bedi. The investigation had been conducted by ASI Darshan Singh PW49. Appellants had made disclosure statement Ex.PW24/E and had disclosed that they had committed the murder of lady at village Bathri and snatched currency notes. No doubt, much reliance cannot be placed on such statement as the same is hit by Section 26 of the Evidence Act, however, the recovery of the kirtch, currency notes of Rs. 20,600/- and Rs.19,400/- with mobile on the basis of the statement, cannot be discarded. More particularly, when there is no iota of evidence to suggest that the prosecution witness had any enmity with the appellants or for any other reason wanted to involve them in a false case.

81. Learned counsel for the appellants would then argue that once the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the motive behind the murder, the conviction of the appellants cannot be sustained.

82. It is a settled legal proposition that even any absence of motive, as alleged, is accepted, that is of no significance and pales into insignificance when direct evidence establishes the crime. Therefore, in case, there is direct trustworthy evidence of witnesses as to the commission of offence, motive losses it significance.

83. Here again it shall be apt to reproduce the following observation made by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Yogesh Singh's case (supra):-

> " 46. It has next been contended by the learned counsel for the respondents that there was no immediate motive with the respondents to commit the murder of the deceased. However, the Trial Court found that there was sufficient motive with the accused persons to commit the murder of the deceased since the deceased had defeated accused Harcharan in the Pradhan elections, thus putting an end to his position as Pradhan for the last 28-30 years. The long nursed feeling of hatred and the simmering enmity between the family of the deceased and the accused persons most likely manifested itself in the outburst of anger resulting in the murder of the deceased. We are not required to express any opinion on this point in the light of the evidence adduced by the direct witnesses to the incident. It is a settled legal proposition that even if the absence of motive, as alleged, is accepted that is of no consequence and pales into insignificance when direct evidence establishes the crime. Therefore, in case there is direct trustworthy evidence of witnesses as to commission of an offence, motive loses its significance. Therefore, if the genesis of the motive of the occurrence is not proved, the ocular testimony of the witnesses as to the occurrence could not be discarded only on the ground of absence of motive, if otherwise the evidence is worthy of reliance. [Hari Shankar Vs. State of U.P., (1996) 9 SCC 40; Bikau Pandey & Ors. Vs. State of Bihar, (2003) 12 SCC 616; State of U.P. Vs. Kishanpal & Ors., (2008) 16 SCC 73; Abu Thakir & Ors. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu, (2010) 5 SCC 91 and Bipin Kumar Mondal Vs. State of West Bengal; (2010) 12 SCC 91]."

84. Learned counsel for the appellant have thereafter vehemently contended that the entire evidence of the prosecution is full of contradictions and discrepancies which creates a serious doubt about the truthfulness and credit worthiness of the witnesses, and therefore, the appellants could not have been convicted on the basis of such evidence.

85. As regards discrepancies, this issue has again been considered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Yogesh Singh's case (supra), and the legal position was summed up as under:-

> "29. It is well settled in law that the minor discrepancies are not to be given undue emphasis and the evidence is to be considered from the point of view of trustworthiness. The test is whether the same inspires confidence in the mind of the Court. If the evidence is incredible and cannot be accepted by the test of prudence, then it may create a dent in the prosecution version. If an omission or discrepancy goes to the root of the matter and ushers in incongruities, the defence can take advantage of such inconsistencies. It needs no special emphasis to state that every omission cannot take place of a material omission and, therefore, minor contradictions, inconsistencies or insignificant embellishments do not affect the core of the prosecution case and should not be taken to be a ground to reject the prosecution evidence. The omission should create a serious doubt about the truthfulness or creditworthiness of a witness. It is only the serious contradictions and omissions which materially affect the case of the prosecution but not every contradiction or omission. (See Rammi @ Rameshwar Vs. State of M.P., (1999) 8 SCC 649; Leela Ram (dead) through Duli Chand Vs. State of Haryana and Another, (1999) 9 SCC 525; Bihari Nath Goswami Vs. Shiv Kumar Singh & Ors., (2004) 9 SCC 186; Vijay @ Chinee Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 8 SCC 191; Sampath Kumar Vs. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124; Shyamal Ghosh Vs. State of West Bengal, (2012) 7 SCC 646 and Mritunjoy Biswas Vs. Pranab @ Kuti Biswas and Anr., (2013) 12 SCC 796)."

86. The appellants have failed to point out any major contradictions though it is vehemently argued that PW1 in his examination-in-chief has stated that on checking of chest, he had found an amount of about Rs.2000/- -Rs.2500/- to be stolen, however, in his cross-examination, he had stated that he had kept his purse in the cash box. This fact had not been stated before the police in his statement Ex.PW1/A, and had only stated that he had not counted the remaining currency in cash box, which were found to be Rs.123/-.

87. We really do not find any discrepancies in the aforesaid statement as the statement regarding Rs.2000/- to Rs.2500/- is the one which pertains to the amount stolen by the appellants whereas the later part of the statement relates to the balance of Rs.123/-, and therefore, has no connection with the earlier part of the statement.

88. The appellants would then claim that there is major discrepancies with regard to the time of incident, as PW4 has stated that the incident took place at 10:30 p.m. whereas as per the police record, the incident took place at about 11:20 p.m. when the Pardhan, Gram Panchyat, Bathri informed the police.

89. We have considered this submission and find that the same is based upon complete mis-reading of the statements of PW4 and PW48. PW4 in his statement has categorically stated that on 26.4.2011 at about 10:30 p.m., he had heard noise of cries from the shop of Chaman Lal and thereafter reached the spot. As regards the testimony of PW48 Shakti Singh Pathania, who is an Investigating Officer. He has stated that on 26.4.2011 he had received a telephonic information about the incident at 11:20 p.m but nowhere has this witness stated that the incident itself took place at 11:20 p.m. It is obvious that when the incident took place people had assembled at the spot as otherwise stated by PW4 and it is after that, he informed the police and obviously the same would have taken some time.

90. That apart, the timing of the alleged occurrence is duly proved in the testimony of PW5 who categorically stated that the appellants came on a motorcycle at about 10:30 p.m. on 26.4.2011, when the committed the crime.

91. Learned counsel for the appellants would then contended that no reliance could be placed on the testimony of PW6, who in his cross-examination has categorically stated that the appellants were not got identified by the police and these were identified on the basis of photographs. We have gone through the statement of PW6 and find that the submissions made by the appellants is based upon mis-reading of the statement of PW6 who though has stated that the appellants were not got identified by the police but then he had identified them in the Court.

92. It is lastly contended that appellants' conviction cannot be sustained as it is based upon the testimony of PW14 who is a stalk witness whereas PW37, who is alleged to be an eye-witness to the recovery of the clothes worn by the appellant Rajesh, had turned hostile and had not supported the prosecution case.

93. Even this contention of the appellants cannot be accepted as there is nothing in the testimony of the statement of PW14 which may establish that he is stock witness rather this witness has clearly proved the disclosure statement of appellant Rajesh Singh PW14/A and of Gaurav Rana Ex/PW14/B. He has categorically denied that his village was 18 kilometers away from village Bathri. The mere fact that he has been frequently visiting the police station is of no consequence as he has explained the reason thereof. He being an ex Pardhan, obviously had good relations with the police, but that in any manner cannot be a reason to discard his testimony.

94. AS regards the statement of PW37 Balbir Singh, who is the ward panch of village Dhamai, Tehsil Garhshankar, no doubt he was declared hostile, however, in the cross-examination conducted by the Public Prosecutor, he clearly admitted that the sealed sample Ex. PW20/B bore his signature and also of HC Sanjay Kumar and accused. He further admitted that the parcel of clothes was taken into possession in his presence vide memo Ex.Pw20/A, which again bore his signature.

95. More importantly, he has categorically admitted that Banyan (T-shirt) Ex.P35 shown to him in the court was the same which had been sealed. That apart, the reason for this witness turning hostile was obvious because the appellant Rajesh Singh was his nephew.

96. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we find no reason to interfere with the judgment passed by the learned trial Court, which has correctly analyzed the material on record in the factual as well as legal perspective to arrive at its conclusion. Accordingly, there is no merit in this appeal, the same is accordingly dismissed and the judgment and order of conviction and sentence passed by the learned Sessions Judge is upheld.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

FAO (MVA) No. 171 of 2012 and FAO No. 397 of 2012.
Judgment reserved on 28.10.2016.
Date of decision: 4th November, 2016.

1. FAO No. 171 of 2012.

ICICI Lombard General Insurance Co. Ltd. .....Appellant.

Versus

Smt. Satya Devi and others .....Respondents

2. FAO No. 397 of 2012.

Smt. Satya Devi and others .....Appellant.

Versus

Sh. Parkash Chand and another .....Respondents

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Deceased was a government employee and was drawing salary of Rs. 37,279/- - he was aged 57 years at the time of accident and was to retire within one year – compensation is to be assessed keeping in view this fact and that after retirement, he would be receiving pension and would be doing some part time job- 1/3rd was to be deducted towards personal expenses and the loss of dependency will be Rs. 25,000/- per month- multiplier of 7 is applicable out of which multiplier of 1 was to be applied on the salary and multiplier of 6 was to be applied on the pension- loss of dependency for one year will be 25,000/- x 12 x 1= Rs. 3,00,000/-- the deceased would have been receiving pension to the extent of 50% of the basic pay plus dearness allowance, which comes to Rs. 18,500/- - 1/3rd is to be deducted towards personal expenses and loss of dependency will be Rs. 12,500/- - claimants have lost source of dependency of Rs. 12,500/- X 12 X 6= Rs. 9,00,000/- - the deceased would have worked for sometime after getting part time job and the monthly income would not be less than Rs. 6,500/- per month- 1/3rd was to be deducted and the loss of dependency will be Rs. 4,500 x 12 x 6= Rs. 3,24,000/-, in addition to this, claimants are entitled to Rs. 10,000/- each under the heads loss of love and affection, loss of estate, funeral expenses and loss of consortium – thus, the claimants are entitled to Rs. 3,00,000/-+Rs. 9,00,000+ Rs. 3,24,000/- + Rs. 40,000/-.= Rs.15,64,000/-, with interest at the rate of 7.5%. (Para-16 to 26)

Cases referred:

Sarla Verma and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, AIR 2009 SC 3104
Reshma Kumari and others versus Madan Mohan and another, 2013 AIR SCW 3120

T.T. Narayanan and another versus Mrs. P. Bridget and others II (1991) ACC 120 (DB)

For the appellant(s):	Mr.Jagdish Thakur, Advocate, for the appellant in FAO No. 171 of 2012 and Mr. Suneet Goel Advocate, for appellant in FAO No. 397 of 2012.
For the respondent(s):	Mr. Suneet Goel, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 to 3 in FAO No. 171 of 2012. Mr. Lovneesh Kanwar, Advocate, for respondent No. 4 in FAO No. 171 of 2012 and for respondent No.1 in FAO No. 397 of 2012. Mr. Jagdish Thakur, advocate, for respondent No.2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice.

Both these appeals are outcome of judgment and award dated 15.2.2012, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal Hamirpur, H.P., for short "the Tribunal", in MAC Petition No. 07 of 2010, titled Satya Devi and others versus Shri Parkash Chand and another, whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.19,90,000/- alongwith interest @ 7.5% came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and insurer was saddled with the liability, hereinafter referred to as "the impugned award", for short.

2. Feeling aggrieved, the claimants have questioned the impugned award by the medium of FAO No. 397 of 2012, on the ground of adequacy of compensation and the insurer has questioned the same by the medium of FAO No. 171 of 2012, on the grounds that the Tribunal has fallen in an error in saddling it with the liability and the amount awarded is excessive.

3. The owner-cum-driver has not questioned the impugned award on any ground. Thus, the same has attained the finality so far as it relates to him.

4. Both these appeals arise out of a common award thus; I deem it proper to determine both these appeals by this common judgment.

5. The claimants being the victims of a vehicular accident, filed claim petition before the Tribunal, for the grant of compensation to the tune of Rs.25,00,000/- as per the break-ups given in the claim petition on account of death of Shri Piar Chand who died in a motor vehicle accident on 3.1.2010. He was teacher by profession. He had gone to Ramehra alongwith Azad Singh and others to purchase household articles. It is averred that when they reached at place Simal-ka-Rihra, a Santro car bearing Registration No. HP-22-B-6667, being driven by respondent No. 1 Parkash Chand, came from the side of Ramehra in a very high speed due to which the driver could not control it, hit the deceased, who was on extreme left side of the road, as a result of which he fell down on the road, sustained the injures and succumbed to the same. FIR under Sections 279, 337 and 304-A of IPC was registered against driver Parkash Chand in police Station Bhoranj, District Hamirpur, H.P.

6. The claim petition was resisted by the respondents by filing the replies and following issues came to be framed by the Tribunal.

1. Whether the death of Piar Chand was caused due to use/rash and negligent driving of Santro Car No. HP-22B-6667 by respondent No.1 as alleged? OPP
2. If Issue No.1 is proved in affirmative, whether the petitioners/claimants are entitled to compensation, if so, to what amount and from which of the respondents? OPP
3. Whether the petition is not maintainable as alleged? OPRs.
4. Whether the respondent No.1 was not holding a valid and effective driving licence to drive the vehicle in question at the relevant time, if so, its effect? OPR-2.

5. Relief.

7. Claimants examined five witnesses, namely Jaswant Singh as PW1, Arun Katna as PW2, Uttam Singh as PW3, Ramesh Kumar as PW4 and Satya Devi claimant No. 1 herself stepped into the witness-box as PW5.

8. Respondents have examined three witnesses, namely, Vijay Kumar as RW2, Criminal Ahlmad of the Court of Judicial Magistrate 1st Class Court No. II Hamirpur as RW3 and respondent No. 1 Parkash Chand stepped into the witness-box as RW1.

9. The Tribunal, after scanning the evidence held that the driver had driven the offending vehicle rashly and negligently and caused the accident, in which Piar Chand sustained the injuries and succumbed to the same. The driver and insurer have not questioned the said findings. Thus, the same have attained the finality so far as the same relate to them. However, I have gone through the record. Claimants have proved that the driver had driven the offending vehicle rashly and negligently and caused the accident in which Piar Chand lost his life. Thus, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No. 1 are upheld.

10. Before I determine issue No.2, I deem it proper to determine issues No. 3 and 4.

Issue No.3.

11. The Tribunal has rightly decided issue No. 3 and the findings returned on this issue are not questioned by the insurer, are accordingly upheld.

Issue No. 4.

12. It was for the insurer to prove that the driver was not having a valid and effective driving licence, has failed to prove the said fact. The Tribunal has rightly decided this issue in favour of owner-cum-driver and against the insurer. The insurer, in fact, has not questioned the said findings. However, I have gone through the driving licence which does disclose that the driver was having a valid licence. Accordingly, findings returned on this issue are also upheld.

13. During the course of hearing on 21.10.2016, learned counsel for the appellant in FAO No. 171 of 2012 was asked to seek instructions to settle the claim by paying Rs.15,52,000/- with 7.5% interest from the date of filing the claim petition till its realization. He sought instructions and stated at the Bar that award be made accordingly. His statement was taken on record. Learned counsel for respondents/claimants No. 1 to 3 sought time to seek instructions and case was posted for 28.10.2016. It is apt to reproduce order dated 21.10.2016 herein.

> "Learned counsel for the appellant in FAO No. 171 of 2012 was asked to seek instructions to satisfy the award in a lump sum of Rs.15,52,000/- with 7.5% interest from the date of filing the claim petition till its realization. He stated that the award be made accordingly. Mr. Suneet Goel, learned counsel for respondents No. 1 to 3, sought time to seek instructions. Granted. List on 28th October, 2016."

14. On 28th October, 2016 Mr. Suneet Goel, learned counsel for the appellant in FAO No. 397 of 2012, stated that he has sought instructions and his clients were not ready to settle the claim. It is also apt to reproduce order dated 28th October, 2016 herein.

> "Learned counsel for the appellant in FAO No. 397 of 2012 stated that he has sought instructions but his client is not ready to settle the claim in a lump sum of Rs.15,52,000/- as recorded in order dated 21.10.2016, as agreed by the insurer in FAO No. 171 of 2012. His statement is taken on record."

15. Thus, the only dispute involved in these appeals is-whether the amount awarded is adequate or otherwise.

16. The entire controversy revolves around Issue No. 2. The deceased was a government employee and was drawing gross salary to the tune of Rs.37,279/- per month as per the LPC Ext. PW3/A, was 57 years of age at the time of the accident and had to retire at the age of 58 years. Keeping in view of the 2nd Schedule attached to the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 for short "the Act", read with Sarla Verma and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another reported in AIR 2009 SC 3104 and upheld in Reshma Kumari and others versus Madan Mohan and another, reported in 2013 AIR SCW 3120.1/3rd was to be deducted towards his personal expenses. Thus, the source of pendency lost by the claimants comes to Rs.25,000/-, per month till the age of retirement, i.e., for one year only.

17. The compensation under the head 'loss of income' is to be assessed while keeping in view the fact that the deceased had to retire within one year and thereafter he would have been receiving pension and may be also doing some part time job.

18. In support of the aforesaid observations, reliance is placed on the judgment delivered by the Kerala High Court in case titled T.T. Narayanan and another versus Mrs. P. Bridget and others reported in II (1991) ACC 120 (DB). It is apt to reproduce para 3 of the said judgment herein.

> "3. On the date of the occurrence and death deceased had 46 months more service left as headmaster. He was in a pensionable job and he would have drawn pension for fifteen years, namely, till he attains 70 years. The Tribunal computed pay and allowances due for 46 months and the pension due for 15 years and deducted 20% for personal expenses of the deceased and 10% for uncertainties of life and thus arrived at the compensation payable to the claimants. The only submission urged by learned Counsel for the appellants in this regard is that on account of premature death of U. Vincent, the amount of family pension for the period of 15 years has to be deducted from the amount awarded. This submission appears to be correct. Family would be entitled to maximum family pension of Rs. 150/- per month. Computing this for 15 years and deducting 30% the amount of family pension would be Rs. 18,900/-. This amount has to be deducted from Rs. 1,28,688/- awarded by the Tribunal. The correct quantum payable therefore would be Rs. 1,09,788/-."

19. In view of the Sarla Verma's case supra, multiplier applicable is '7' and is applied accordingly.

20. It is worthwhile to record herein, at the cost of repetition that the deceased had to retire within one year and thereafter had to get pension. The Tribunal has fallen in an error in assessing the compensation. The assessment was to be made while keeping in view the gross salary of the deceased till the age of retirement, thereafter, pension payable and other income which he would have earned.

21. The multiplier '1' was applicable for assessing loss of dependency/income under the head 'gross salary' and multiplier '6' was applicable, i.e., (after deducting multiplier '1' out of multiplier '7') for assessing loss of dependency/income under the head 'pension and other income.'

22. The claimants have lost source of dependency and are entitled to compensation to the tune of Rs.25,000/-x12x1 =Rs.3,00,000/-, under the head loss of income for one year as the deceased had to retire within one year from the date of accident.

23. The deceased would have been receiving pension to the tune of 50% of the basic pay plus dearness allowance which comes to Rs.18,500/- per month roughly. 1/3rd was to be deducted keeping in view the 2nd Schedule of the Act read with Sarla Verma's case supra, the source of dependency comes to Rs.12500/-. Thus, it can be safely held that the claimants have lost source of dependency to the tune of Rs.12500/-x12x6= Rs.9,00,000/-.

24. The deceased would have worked for some period after retirement and would have been earning not less than Rs.6500/- per month by getting part time job and from other vocations. 1/3rd was to be deducted in view of the law referred to supra. Thus, it can be safely held that the claimants have also lost source of income roughly to the tune of Rs.4500x12x6= Rs.3,24,000/-.

25. In addition, the claimants are also held entitled to compensation under the four head as follows.

(i)	Loss of love and affection:		Rs.10,000/-
(ii)	Loss of estate	:	Rs.10,000/-
(iii)	Funeral expenses	:	Rs.10,000/-
(iv)	Loss of consortium	:	Rs.10,000/-
		Total	Rs.40,000/-

26. Thus, in all, the claimants are entitled to compensation to the tune of Rs.3,00,000/-+Rs.9,00,000+ Rs.3,24,000/- + Rs.40,000/-.= Rs.15,64,000/-, with interest at the rate of 7.5% as awarded by the Tribunal.

27. Accordingly, the appeal being FAO No. 171 of 2012, filed by the insurer is allowed, the impugned award is modified as indicated hereinabove and the appeal being FAO No. 397 of 2012 filed by the claimants for enhancement is dismissed.

28. Registry is directed to release the amount in favour of the claimants, strictly, in terms of the conditions contained in the impugned award, through payees' cheque account or by depositing the same in their bank accounts and excess amount be released in favour of the insurer alongwith interest, through payees' cheque account, after proper verification.

29. Send down the record forthwith, after placing a copy of this judgment.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Kartara ....Appellant

Versus

Smt.Sinno Devi & Others ....Respondents

RSA No.75 of 2007
Judgment Reserved on: 09.09.2016
Date of decision: 04.11.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit seeking declaration that the suit land is in possession of the plaintiff as tenant on the payment of the rent – he has become owner by operation of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act – he and his predecessor were never evicted – the entry in favour of the defendant is wrong – the civil suit was decreed by the Trial Court – an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held in second appeal that predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff was recorded but defendants No.1 , 2 to 4 have been recorded to be in possession as gairmaurusidoem while predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff has been recorded as gairmaurusiavwal- the plaintiff admitted that entries were existing since 1979 – the suit was filed after 11 years – the witness of the plaintiff admitted that shops were constructed by the defendants – defendants proved that suit land is in their possession and they have constructed shops over the same- a road has also been constructed by PWD- the entries were changed during consolidation and correction was carried out as per the position on the spot- land is not under cultivation – no document was brought on record to show that the plaintiff was inducted as gairmaurusi tenant whereas, the defendants were able to prove that they were inducted as tenants over the suit land by the original owner- Trial Court had wrongly concluded that plaintiff is in possession of the suit land and entries were wrongly changed in favour of the defendants- on the other hand, the Appellate Court had rightly concluded that change in entries was in accordance with the procedure and the factual position at the spot – appeal dismissed.

(Para-13 to 32)

Case referred:
Durga (deceased) and Others vs. Milkhi Ram and Others, 1969 P.L.J. (SC), 105

For the Appellant: Mr.Ajay Sharma, Advocate,
For the Respondents: Mr.N.K. Thakur, Senior Advocate with Ms.Jamuna, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma,J.

Instant Regular Second Appeal filed under Section 100 of the Code of Civil procedure, is directed against the judgment and decree dated 29.11.2006, passed by learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court Una, District Una, H.P., reversing the judgment and decree dated 20.9.2000, passed by learned Sub Judge Court No.II, Una, in Civil Suit No.215/1990.

2. The brief facts of the case, as emerged from the plaint, are that the appellant-plaintiff filed suit for declaration to the effect that the land measuring 2 kanal 10 marlas bearing khewat No.929, 480 min, khatauni No.851, 789, bearing khasra Nos. 3198(7511/3208 old), 3203 (9206/3207 old), situated in village Haroli, Sub-Tehsil Haroli, District Una, HP., as per Missal Hakiat for the year, 1986-87 is in possession of the plaintiff as tenant under the owners on payment of rent since the time of his ancestors and the entry changed in favour of defendants showing them as tenants over the suit land are illegal, unauthorized, null and void and without any order of competent authority and have no binding effect on the rights of the plaintiff with a consequential relief of permanent injunction restraining the defendants from interfering in any manner in the peaceful possession of the plaintiff in the suit land. Plaintiff averred in the plaint that he is in possession of the suit land as tenant on payment of rent since the time of his ancestors and he never surrendered the possession of the suit land. The plaintiff averred in the plaint that he came in possession over khasra No. 3188, 3190 alongwith the suit land and he became owner of the land by operation of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act and Khasra Nos., 3191, 3202 is also in his tenancy alongwith the suit land. Plaintiff further averred that he or his predecessor were never dispossessed or evicted by the competent Authority from the suit land and the defendants never came in possession over the suit land and the alleged entry changed during the consolidation in the year, 1986-87 is without any basis, null and void and have been procured behind the back of the plaintiff. Plaintiff further averred that the defendants were never inducted as tenants over the suit land either by the plaintiff or anybody else and the plaintiff never relinquished the tenancy rights over the suit land. Plaintiff also averred that the defendants are very headstrong persons and on the basis of wrong entry of their names in revenue record have now started illegal threats of interference and changing the nature of the suit land by raising construction over the same and also dispossess the plaintiff from the suit land for the last one week. The plaintiff requested the defendants many times to desist from their illegal acts and to admit the claim of the plaintiff, but they are evading from the same.

3. Defendants by way of filing written statement raised various preliminary objections qua locus-standi, cause of action, suit bad for mis-joinder and non-joinder of necessary party, civil court has no jurisdiction to try the present suit and maintainability. On merits, defendants averred that the plaintiff or his predecessor-in-interest was neither inducted as tenant nor he is in possession of the suit land in any capacity and has no concern with the same. Defendants averred that defendants No.1 and 2 are in physical possession over the suit land as tenant at will under the owners for the last more than 25 year and they are having their abadi over the suit land in the shape of shops and part of the suit land bearing khasra No. 3203 is under H.P.PWD Road. Defendants further averred that the plaintiff and his predecessor were never in possession of the suit land in any capacity, so question of dis-possessing or their eviction does not arise. However, the entries in the name of the plaintiff and his predecessor-in-interest as tenant-at-will were wrong, illegal, unauthorized and against the factual possession at the spot, which were duly corrected by the Revenue agency after due verification of the suit land as per the spot situation. Defendants further averred that the plaintiff has no right, title or any interest, whatsoever, over the suit land. In the aforesaid background, the defendants prayed for the dismissal of the suit.

4. By way of replication, plaintiff while denying the allegations made in the written statement, re-affirmed and reasserted the stand taken in the plaint.

5. Learned trial Court on the basis of aforesaid pleadings, framed the following issues:-

"1. Whether the plaintiff has been coming in possession of the suit land as tenant-at-will as alleged? OPP.

2. Whether plaintiff is entitled to the relief of injunction prayed for? OPP

3. Whether the suit is not maintainable on the grounds mentioned in para No.1 of the preliminary objection? OPD.

4. Whether plaintiff has got no cause of action to file this suit? OPD.

5. Whether civil court has no jurisdiction to try this suit? OPD

6. Whether suit is bad for non-joinder and mis-joinder of necessary parties? OPD.

7. Relief."

6. The learned trial Court on the basis of the evidence adduced on record by the respective parties, decided issues No.1 and 2 in favour of the plaintiff and issues No.3 to 6 were decided against the defendants.

7. Feeling aggrieved and dissatisfied with the impugned judgment and decree dated 20.9.2000, passed by learned trial Court, respondents/defendants filed an appeal in the Court of learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Una, H.P. i.e. Civil Appeal No.169/2000 RBT No.216/04/2000, however fact remains that learned Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Una vide judgment and decree dated 29.11.2006 accepted the appeal preferred by the respondents-defendants and quashed and set-aside the judgment and decree, dated 22.9.2000, passed by learned trial Court. In the aforesaid background, present appellant-plaintiff being aggrieved and dis-satisfied with the impugned judgment and decree, passed by learned lower Appellate Court, has approached this Court by way of instant Regular Second Appeal, praying therein for quashing and setting-aside the judgment and decree dated 29.11.2006, passed by learned lower Appellate Court.

8. This Regular Second Appeal was admitted on the following substantial questions of law No. 2 and 3:-

"(1) Whether the learned first appellate court below misread and misappreciated the documentary and oral evidence more specifically Ex.P-5 and D-5 thereby vitiating the impugned judgment and decree?

(2) Whether change of revenue entry being contrary to para 9.8 of H.P. Land Record Manual in law is void abinitio and could not have been looked into in favour of party, learned first appellate court below having heavily relied upon the same to non-suit the plaintiff in impugned judgment and decree thereby vitiating the same?"

9. Mr. Ajay Sharma, Advocate, representing the appellant–plaintiff vehemently argued that the judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court is not sustainable in the eye of law as the same is not based upon the correct appreciation of the evidence adduced on record by the parties, rather, same is based upon the conjectures and surmises and as such, same deserves to be quashed ad set-aside. Mr. Sharma, further contended that learned first appellate Court has erred in not appreciating the well settled provisions of law applicable, pleadings of the parties and evidence adduced by them in its right perspective, as a result of which, great prejudice has been caused to the present appellant-plaintiff. As per Mr. Sharma, close scrutiny of the revenue record made available on record by the parties, clearly suggests that predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff i.e. Melu, was tenant at will over the suit land and after his death, plaintiff entered into his shoes and was reflected/shown as "Gair Maurusi" on payment of rent in revenue record. With a view to substantiate his aforesaid argument, Mr. Sharma also invited attention of this Court to the oral evidence adduced on record by the plaintiff to demonstrate that the plaintiff witnesses unequivocally stated before the learned trial Court that after the death of Sh. Melu i.e. father of the plaintiff, plaintiff is in possession of the suit land as "Gair Maurusi" on payment of rent, and as such, judgment passed by the first appellate Court deserves to be set-aside being contrary to facts as well as law on record. Mr. Sharma, forcefully contended that learned first appellate Court miserably failed to take note of the fact that change as ordered in Rabi 1979 in Ext.D5 was made at the back of the plaintiff and as such, same could not be relied upon by the court below, especially, in view of para 9.8 of HP Land Record Manual, wherein specific procedure has been provided for change of revenue entry. Mr. Sharma, strenuously argued that revenue record, as available on record, clearly suggests that the defendants stood entered vide Ext.D5 as "Gair Maurusi Doem" and "Gair Murusi Doem" either could have been inducted by the plaintiff or by original owner. Neither defendants themselves nor any witness adduced by them in their defence uttered a word that who inducted them as "Gair Maurusi tenant". He also stated that neither original owners were produced nor agreement etc., if any, was placed on record by the defendants to suggest that they were inducted as "Gair Maurusi Doem" as reflected in Ext.D5. Mr. Sharma, further contended that no receipt of payment of rent has been adduced on record by the defendants to prove that they were inducted as "Gair Maurusi tenant", rather close scrutiny of revenue record suggests that defendants procured entry qua the "Gair Maurusi Doem" at the back of the plaintiff without there being any order of competent authority and as such, same were rightly held void-abinitio by the trial Court. Moreover, careful perusal of the evidence available on record suggests that the plaintiff by way of leading cogent and convincing evidence was able to prove that he is coming in possession as tenant and entry in the name of defendants is procured at the back of the plaintiff and as such, same deserves to be declared null and void. Mr.Ajay Sharma vehemently argued that the latest revenue entries showing the defendants in possession are wrong and illegal and any change made without resorting to the procedure as prescribed in clause 9.8 supra, is not binding upon the plaintiff and as such, same were rightly rejected by the trial Court below while decreeing the suit of the plaintiff.

10. In this regard, reliance is placed on judgments passed by this Court as well as other High Courts:-

1. Kanshi Ram v. Nikka Ram, 1988, SLJ, 264.
2. Tulsa Singh V. Agya Ram and others, 1994(2) Sim.L.C. 434 and 1995 (10) SLJ 428.
3. Lal Chand and Ors. v. Pala, 1998 (2) SLJ 1526.
4. Satya Devi v. Raghubir Singh and Others, 1998(1) SLJ, 263.
5. Chanda v. Ram Chander, Punjab & Haryana High Court, 1980, 561."

11. Per contra, Mr. N.K. Thakur, Senior Advocate, duly assisted by Ms. Jamuna, Advocate, supported the judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court. Mr. Thakur, contended that bare perusal of the impugned judgment passed by the appellate Court clearly suggests that the same is based upon the correct appreciation of evidence available on record by the respective parties and it calls for no interference, whatsoever, of this Court and as such, present appeal deserves to be dismissed. While referring to the judgment passed by the learned first appellate Court, Mr. Thakur, strenuously argued that learned first appellate Court has dealt with each and every aspect of the matter very meticulously and there is no scope of interference whatsoever, of this Court in the findings returned by the first appellate Court, which are based upon the correct appreciation of facts as well as law. Mr. Thakur, also invited attention of this Court to the judgment passed by the learned trial Court to demonstrate that learned trial Court mis-directed itself while deciding the actual controversy at hand. As per Mr. Thakur, bare perusal of the plaint filed by the plaintiff itself suggests that plaintiff was not able to prove its case by way of leading cogent and convincing evidence. With a view to substantiate his aforesaid argument, he invited attention of this Court to the statements of witnesses adduced on record by the plaintiff to demonstrate that bare perusal of the depositions made by the plaintiff witnesses nowhere proves the case of the plaintiff, rather all the witnesses proved the case of defendants that he is in possession over the suit land and he has constructed 6-7 shops over the same. Mr. Thakur, made this Court to travel through the depositions made by the plaintiff witnesses to specifically point out that plaintiff witnesses admitted that there are shops constructed over the suit land, whereas plaintiff in his plaint never claimed that shops, if any, ever exist upon the suit land. Mr. Thakur, contended that bare perusal of the written statement filed by the defendants clearly suggests that stand of defendant from day one has been that he was inducted as tenant about 20-25 years back by the original owners and he has already constructed 6-7 shops over the suit land. Apart from this, defendant by way of leading cogent and convincing evidence successfully proved on record that abadi exists over the suit land because all the defendant witnesses as well as plaintiff witnesses specifically stated /admitted while making depositions before the Court below that shops as well as PWD road exist over the suit land. Mr. Thakur, strenuously argued that during consolidation proceedings, entries were got changed illegally by the defendants rather, plaintiff claimed himself to have acquired the status of owner with the conferment of proprietary rights of the H.P. Tenancy & Land Reforms Act. Mr. Thakur further added that if for the sake of argument, it is presumed that no procedure in terms of aforesaid para 9.8 was followed by authorities concerned, remedy, if any, for the plaintiff to get the revenue entries corrected was somewhere else not by way of civil suit.

12. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and carefully gone through the record.

13. Now this Court would be making an attempt to explore the answer to aforesaid substantial questions of law framed by this Court at the time of admission of appeal by looking into evidence adduced on record by the parties to the lis. Perusal of documents Ext.P1 to 10 though suggests that the predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff was entered as "Gair Maurasi Deom" over the suit land but latest revenue entries prepared after year 1979 reflects defendants No.1 and 2 to 4 in possession of the suit land as "Gair Maurasi Doem" on payment of rent while late Sh. Melu i.e. predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff, has been shown as "Gair Maurasi Abal".

14. Careful perusal of the judgments, as have been referred herein above, clearly provides that presumption of truth is attached to the latest revenue entry but same is rebuttable in case there is evidence to suggest that latest entry was not recorded in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Clause 9.8 of the H.P. Land Records Manual. However, this Court after carefully going through the pleadings, especially plaint filed by the plaintiff, is of the view that learned trial Court, while allowing the suit of the plaintiff, mis-directed itself because close scrutiny of plaint, as perused by this Court, clearly suggests that plaintiff claimed himself to be in possession of the suit land as tenant- at-will and sought permanent injunction restraining the defendants from interfering in his peaceful possession but interestingly, while proving the contents of the plaint neither plaintiff himself nor any of witnesses produced by him stated qua the possession, if any, of the plaintiff over the suit land, rather all the PWs admitted the factum of the shops having been constructed on the suit land as claimed by the defendants in the written statement. Moreover, plaintiff himself admitted that entries are coming in favour of the defendants after year, 1979; meaning thereby that the plaintiff was fully aware of the fact that the entries, if any, were changed in the year, 1979, whereas present suit admittedly was filed in the year, 1990 i.e. after 11 years. Interestingly, there is no explanation either in the plaint or in the depositions having been made on behalf of the plaintiff before the trial Court that what prevented him from filing appropriate proceedings in accordance with law for correction of revenue entries, which, as per him, were allegedly changed in favour of the defendants without following due procedure as has been referred herein above.

15. During the proceedings of the case, this Court had an occasion to peruse the entire evidence led on record by the parties. Revenue Record available on record itself suggests that suit land comprising of khasra No. 3198 is measuring 0-18 marlas, out of which 0.16 marlas is abadi and 0-2 marlas is vacant land. It clearly reflects from the revenue record that major portion of the suit land is in the shape of abadi, wherein defendants have been shown in the possession. Similarly, khasra No. 3202 is measuring one kanal 12 marlas, out of which one kanal is Banjar Jadid and 0-12 marlsa is "Gair Mumkin Sarak" i.e. road. Perusal of record, as discussed herein above, clearly corroborates the version put forth on behalf of the defendants in the written statement or witnesses adduced by them that they have constructed abadi over the suit land in the shape of shop and there exits one road of Himachal Pradesh Public Works Department (for short 'HPPWD').

16. Plaintiff, with a view to prove its case, examined himself as PW-1 and stated that suit land is measuring 2 kanals 12 marlas and the real owner of the suit land is Sheela etc. He further stated that after that Melu, his father became non-occupancy-tenant. He further stated that after the death of Melu, he has come into possession of the suit land. He specifically stated that he never surrendered the possession of the land and no one else cultivated the suit land. Though he stated that batai is being paid tothe owners, but he nowhere stated to whom he paid batai. He also stated that at no point of time Patwari informed him regarding entries made in favour of defendants showing them non-occupancy tenants over the suit land, rather, he came to know about the same in the year 1989. But in his cross-examination he admitted that suit land is in the shape of two Khasra Numbers, i.e. one, 1 kanal 12 marlas and another, 0-18 marlas and both the Khasra Numbers are abutting to each other. He further stated in his cross-examination that the land was taken on batai from Natha Mal prior to 1947. However, he admitted that no writing was executed to this effect and batai was paid till 1971. He also admitted that there is no receipt. However, he denied the suggestion put to him that they never remained in possession of the suit land and never cultivated the same. He also denied that suit land remained in possession of the defendants and shops, which are existing on Khasra No.398, belong to the defendants. However, he categorically admitted that shops are existing on the spot. He also admitted that shops have been rented out by Gurbachan Singh and Rattan Singh. He also admitted that there is road on Khasra No.3203, however, he denied that remaining part of Khasra No.3203 is in possession of the defendants. He also admitted that he never objected regarding Girdawari before the Consolidation Officer because he did not know about the wrong entries.

17. Similarly, PW-2 Mohinder Singh, Patwari, stated that Khasra Girdawari of Khasra No.9206/3207 was changed on 24.3.1979 in the names of Gurbachan Singh and Rattan Chand sons of Partapa and similarly Khasra Girdawari of Khasra No.7511/3208 was also changed in the name of Gurbachan Singh. However, he stated that he can not tell whether this change was being made by any order or not because there is no mentioning with regard to the same on the record. He also stated that there is no order of any Court regarding this change in Rapat Roznamcha and the presence of Kartara is not recorded in Rapat Roznamcha dated 24.3.1979. In his cross-examination, he admitted that Girdawari is first made by the Kanoongo after conducting inquiry, thereafter the same is confirmed by the Tehsildar.

18. PW-3 Sarwan Singh also deposed that the parties are known to him and he has seen the suit land and the plaintiffs are in possession of the suit land since long from the time of their father. But in his cross-examination he admitted that shops of Gurbachan Singh are in his own number and are not abutting the road. He denied that the defendants are in possession of the suit land and their shops are existing for the last 30 years.

19. PW-4 Kaka Ram also stated that parties are known to him and he has seen the suit land which is in possession of Kartara i.e. plaintiff from the time of ancestors. However, in his cross-examination, he admitted that some of the suit land is vacant and on some part, 6-7 shops have been constructed abutting the road which is in occupation of the shop-keepers. He further stated that he does not know who has given the shops on rent. In his cross-examination, he expressed his inability to state that who is owner of the shops. Conjoint reading of the statements of aforesaid plaintiff witnesses clearly establishes on record that there is no cultivation on the suit land. Rather, there exist 5-6 shops and one road, which has been constructed by 'HPPWD'.

20. On the other hand, if the written statement of defendants is perused in its entirety, it clearly emerge from the same that they claimed that there exists abadi and shops over the suit land and one road of PWD passes through the same. Defendants specifically denied the contention put forth on behalf of the plaintiff that suit land is cultivable land.

21. DW-1 Satnam Singh specifically stated before the Court that suit land is 2½ kanals, which is in possession of the defendants since 30-35 years. He also stated that their shops exist on the suit land and a part of it is vacant and on some part there is road constructed by HPPWD. He also stated that they are tenants over the suit land. DW-1 also denied that suit land ever remained in possession of the plaintiff and they have no concern with the same. He also stated that revenue entries in the name of plaintiff were wrong and they neither remained in possession nor used to pay batai to the owners. In cross-examination, he expressed his inability to tell the measurement of each Khasra number of the suit land. However, he stated that their abadi is about 50 meters away from the suit land. He was also unable to tell whether any notice was given to the plaintiff regarding change in the entries in their names. However, he further stated that shops were constructed 35-40 years ago. However, in cross-examination he denied that the shops belong to the plaintiff and had been constructed by him.

22. DW-2 Mulaba Singh also deposed that parties are known to him and he has seen the suit land measuring 2½ kanals. He specifically stated that suit land is coming in defendants' possession for the last 40 years and Gurbachan Singh and Rattan Chand have constructed shops on the suit land. He also stated that plaintiff never remained in possession of the suit land. However, in his cross-examination, he stated that there are shops towards the eastern side of the suit land which belong to Jullahas and Jats. He further stated that earlier, the suit land was owned by Shiva and after that Rattna. He denied that the shops belong to Kartara and he is coming in possession since the time of his ancestors. He also denied that defendants never remained in possession of the suit land and the plaintiff is coming in possession of the suit land as non-occupancy-tenant since the time of his ancestors.

23. DW-3 Kushal Singh also deposed that he is co-sharer of the suit land, which is 2½ kanals and is in possession of Gurbachan Singh and Rattan Chand. He also stated that Gurbachan Singh and Rattan Chand had expired and now their sons are in possession. He also stated that he is witnessing the possession of the defendants since 35 years and the defendants have constructed shops on the suit land. He also stated that defendants are in possession of the suit land as tenants and now they have become owners under the Act. He categorically stated that the shops are existing for the last 30 years. In cross-examination, he stated that the suit land was owned by him, Sheela Devi and Nathu Ram etc. It has also come in his statement that the consolidation was completed in their village in 1986-87 and settlement was conducted in 1997-98. He stated that correct record has been prepared by the consolidation staff as per the spot. Gurbachan, Rattan Chand and Partapa have taken this land for cultivation before he gained consciousness. He stated that the entries are coming in favour of the defendants for the last 30 years, prior to 1970 and the defendants used to pay 1/4th share to the owners.

24. DW-4 Surjit Singh prepared the site plan Ex.DW-4/A. In his cross-examination, he stated that while preparing site plan, he has not seen the revenue papers. He admitted that he prepared the site plan as per instructions of his client.

25. Careful perusal of aforesaid evidence led on record by the defendants clearly suggests that defendants were able to prove on record that suit land, description whereof has been given hereinabove, is in their possession and they have constructed shops over the same. It also emerges from their depositions, referred hereinabove, that on a part of the suit land there exists a road constructed by PWD. All these defence witnesses have categorically denied the possession, if any, of the plaintiff. Rather they in unequivocally terms stated before the Court that they have seen defendants in possession of the land. More importantly, DW-3 Kushal Singh, who claimed himself to be co-sharer of the suit land, categorically stated that the suit land was owned by him, Sheela Devi and Nathu Ram, etc., which clearly corroborates the version put forth by the plaintiff. He himself stated before the Court that original owner of the land was Sheela Devi. DW-3, while claiming himself to be co-owner alongwith Sheela Devi and Nathu Ram, categorically stated that shops exist over the suit land for the last 30 years. He also stated that consolidation was completed in their village in 1986-87 and settlement was conducted in 1997-98, which admission on his part corroborates the revenue record placed on record by the defendants, which suggests that entries were changed during consolidation and correction, if any, was carried out by consolidation staff as per spot. He specifically stated that the defendants used to pay 1/4th share to the original owners. Conjoint reading of aforesaid witnesses of both the parties clearly suggests that land is not under cultivation, as claimed by the plaintiff, rather there exists shops as well as road on the suit land as have been admitted by the plaintiff himself and witnesses adduced by him on record also. It is not understood as to how, on the basis of evidence as has been discussed in detail, learned trial Court came to conclusion that plaintiff was able to prove that he has been coming in possession of the suit land as tenant-at-will. Similarly, it is not understood that how learned trial Court came to conclusion that plaintiff is entitled to relief of injunction when it stands duly proved on record that possession, if any, over the suit land is of defendants, who have constructed their shops over the suit land. Moreover, cross-examination conducted upon DW-1, nowhere suggests that plaintiff at any point of time ever put suggestion to him that he is not tenant-at-will over the land or he has never raised shops over the suit land. Though plaintiff stated that alongwith Sheela, Mansho Devi was also owner, but admittedly neither original writing nor receipt were placed on record by the plaintiff to prove on record that they were inducted as "Gair Maurusi Tenant" over the suit land by the original owner, as named above. Whereas, defendants, while citing DW-3 Kushal Singh, were able to prove on record that they were inducted as tenants. Kushal Singh, who claimed himself to be co-sharer, successfully proved on record that defendants were inducted as a tenants over the suit land by the original owner. Once Kushal Singh himself stated that defendants are in possession of the suit land as tenants and now they have become owners under the Act, findings returned by the learned trial Court that defendants were not able to produce on record by leading cogent evidence to demonstrate that they were inducted as tenants by the original owners does not appears to be correct on its face value.

26. In view of detailed discussion made hereinabove, this Court is unable to accept the findings recorded by the learned trial Court below that the plaintiff is in possession of the suit land and being so the change of entries in favour of defendants from Rabi, 1979, during consolidation, was wrongly made in favour of the defendants. Rather, this Court, after perusing the entire evidence led on record, is fully convinced and satisfied that learned first appellate Court rightly came to the conclusion that change of entries in favour of defendants from Rabi, 1979 during consolidation was rightly made by the revenue officials as per factual position at the spot because prior to change there were only paper entries in the revenue record in favour of plaintiff, which did not create any right in his favour. This Court, while exploring answer to substantial question of law, as referred above, also perused Ex.P-5 and Ex.D-5. Ex.P-5 is the copy of Misalhaquiat Istemal for the year 1986-87, wherein name of plaintiff has been entered as "Gair Maurusi Doem". But, in the column of area and category of land, it has been specifically recorded over Khasra Nos.3188, 3190, there is "Gair Mumkin Abadi" and "PWD Road", which itself belies the stand taken by the plaintiff that they are cultivating the suit land. Similarly, if this Ex.P-5 is perused juxtaposing Ex.P-1, i.e. Misalhaquiat Istemal for the year 1986-87, Mohal Haroli, the defendants have been recorded as "Gair Maurusi Soem". Similarly, if Ex.D-1, copy of Jamabandi placed on record by the defendants, is seen, that also pertains to the the year 1986-87 for Mauza Haroli, which also suggests that names of defendants stand recorded in the column of cultivation and possession as "Gair Maurusi Deom". Similarly, perusal of Ex.D-5 also reflects the names of defendants in the column of cultivation and rent for the year 1978-79 and moreover in Ex.P-6 names of Smt.Sheela Devi, Manso Devi have been shown as owners. Whereas, name of plaintiff Kartara son of Melu has been shown as "Gair Maurusi" in Ex.P-7, Khasra Girdawari for the year 1978-79, qua Khasra No.3207, but name of the owner has been reflected as Smt.Thakri widow of Shri Sant Ram.

27. After perusing the aforesaid documents, as indicated in substantial question of law, this Court is unable to accept the contention put forth on behalf of plaintiff that learned first appellate Court below misread and mis-appreciated the documentary and oral evidence, more particularly Ex.P-5 and Ex.D-1, while coming to the conclusion that entries in favour of defendants from Rabi, 1979 was rightly made by revenue official as per factual position on spot. Hence, substantial question of law is answered accordingly.

28. It is well settled that presumption of correctness is attached to the latest revenue entries and whenever there is conflict, it is the latest entry which would prevail. Where the earlier revenue entries were changed in the later revenue entries and the change was effected without there being any order of the revenue authorities showing how the change was made, the presumption would be in favour of the later entries but that presumption was a rebuttable one and it would stand rebutted by the fact that the alteration in the later entries was made unauthorisedly or mistakenly, there being no material to justify the change of entries.

29. In this regard reliance is placed on Durga (deceased) and Otheers vs. Milkhi Ram and Others, 1969 P.L.J. (SC), 105, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

> "3. Relying on Shri Raja Durga Singh of Solan v. Tholu (1963) 2 S.C.R. 693, 700 = 1962 P.L.J. 88), it was urged before the High Court, as before us, that the lower appellate court had wrongly relied on the earlier revenue entries placing the burden on the defendants, whose names appeared in the later entries, to rebut the presumption. This Court observed in that case as follows:
>
> > "It was urged before us that there are prior entries which are in conflict with those on which the learned District Judge has relied. It is sufficient to say that where there is such a conflict, it is the later entry which must prevail. Indeed from the language of Section 44 itself it follows that where a new entry is substituted for an old one it is that new entry which will take the place of the old one and will be entitled to the presumption of correctness until and unless it is established to be wrong or substituted by another entry."
>
> Grover j.,observed as follows:
>
> > "It is clear from the pedigree-table set out in its judgment that Mathar Mal had three sons Jiwan, Amin Chand and Relu. Durga and Sidhu are the descendants of Jiwan whereas the plaintiff and defendant No. 3 are the descendants of Amin Chand and Relu. Now, in the entries prior to 1929-1930 each one of the descendants of the three sons of Mathar Mal had been shown to have 1/3rd share and without any mutation the entries were changed in 1929-30. Admittedly there is no order of the revenue authorities showing how the change was made. Thus although the presumption would be in favour of the latter entries but that presumption was a rebuttable one and it would stand rebutted by the fact that the alteration in the entries in 1929-30 was made unauthorisedly or mistakenly, there being no material to justify the change of entries."
>
> Grover, J. distinguished Shri Raja Durga Singh of Solan v. Tholu (1963) 2 S.C.R. 693, 700 = 1962 P.L.J.88) thus:
>
> > "There is nothing to indicate that in the case decided by their Lordships such was the position. More-over, the decision in that case proceeded largely on the finding of fact arrived at by the District Judge on a consideration of the evidence being not open to interference in second appeal. The finding in the present case of the lower appellate Court is also based on evidence from which it has been inferred that the later entries are not the correct ones."

30. In the instant case, admittedly, later entries are in favour of defendants and presumption of correctness is attached to the same because plaintiff nowhere succeeded to prove them to be wrong. Apart from above, plaintiff in the instant case woefully failed to prove his tenancy, consent of owners and payment of rent and as such it can be safely concluded that plaintiff was unable to prove that he was inducted as tenant over the suit land by the original owners. Since plaintiff failed to prove his tenancy over the suit land, there is no point in relying upon the entries made in his favour prior to 1979, which were admittedly paper entries and nothing more than that. Judgments, as have been relied upon by the learned counsel representing the plaintiff, as have been noted above, may not be of any help in the present case, especially in view of the failure on the part of the plaintiff to prove his tenancy over the suit land and as such same are not being referred herein.

31. At this stage, it may be observed that learned first appellate Court, while accepting the appeal of defendants, has not solely relied upon the entries made in the revenue record in favour of defendants, rather plaintiff was non-suited on account of his failure to prove his tenancy over the suit land and as such there is no force in the contention put forth on behalf of the counsel representing the plaintiff that change of revenue entries being contrary to para 9.8 of the H.P. Land Records Manual could not have been looked into in favour of the parties. Therefore, the question is answered accordingly.

32. Consequently, in view of the aforesaid detailed discussion, this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the judgment passed by learned first appellate Court and as such same deserves to be upheld. Hence, present appeal fails and the same is, accordingly dismissed.

33. Interim direction, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

Kashmiri Lal .....Appellant
Versus
Rajni Devi and others .....Respondents

FAO No.80 of 2012
Decided on : 04.11.2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Driver had a valid licence to drive light motor vehicle – offending vehicle was a tempo, which falls within the definition of Light Motor Vehicle – the Tribunal had wrongly held that driver did not possess a valid licence – the deceased was a photographer, who had gone to a Mela and was returning in the offending vehicle – he was rightly held to be a gratuitous passenger- the insurer directed to satisfy the award with the right to recovery. (Para- 5 to 15)

Cases referred:

S. Iyyapan versus United India Insurance Company Limited and another, (2013) 7 Supreme Court Cases 62

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Versus K.M. Poonam and others, 2011 ACJ 917

Manager, National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Saju P. Paul and another, 2013 ACJ 554

Dev Raj versus Shri Krishan Lal and others, I L R 2016 (III) HP 2288

For the appellant: Mr.R.R. Rahi, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr.Vinay Thakur, Advocate, for respondents No.1 to 6.
Mr.Ratish Sharma, Advocate, for respondent No.8.
Nemo for respondents No.7 and 9.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (Oral)

This appeal is directed against the award, dated 21st November, 2011, passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-II, Mandi, District Mandi, H.P., (for short, the Tribunal), whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.7,40,000/, with interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the petition till deposit, came to be awarded in favour of the claimants, and the insured and the driver were saddled with the liability, (for short, the impugned award).

2. The claimants, the driver and the insurer have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, the same has attained finality so far as it relates to them.

3. Feeling aggrieved, the insured has challenged the impugned award by way of instant appeal, on the grounds taken in the memo of appeal.

4. Learned counsel for the appellant/insured argued that the Tribunal has fallen into an error in determining issues No.1A, 2A and 3A and has wrongly saddled the owner with the liability. Thus, the controversy in the instant appeal revolves around issues No.1A, 2A and 3A, framed by the Tribunal, which are reproduced below:

> "1A. Whether the driver was not holding a valid driving license at the time of accident, if so its effect? OPR
>
> 2A. Whether Devinder Kumar was sitting as a gratuitous passenger in the vehicle bearing registration No.PB-32-8826, if so its effect? OPR
>
> 3A. Whether the driver was driving the vehicle in violation of terms and conditions of insurance policy and Motor Vehicle Act, if so its effect? OPR"

5. Heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record. A perusal of the record shows that the driver of the offending vehicle was having a valid and effective driving licence to drive a light motor vehicle. The offending vehicle, in the instant case, was a tempo, which, admittedly, falls within the definition of Light Motor Vehicle. The Tribunal has fallen into an error in holding that the driver of the offending vehicle was not having a valid and effective driving licence. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No.1A are set aside and it is held that the driver of the offending vehicle was having a valid and effective driving licence at the time of accident.

6. Coming to issue No.2A, the claimants, in paragraph 24 of the Claim Petition, have specifically pleaded that the deceased was a photographer by profession and, on the fateful day, had gone to Dussehra festival, and while returning, came back in the offending vehicle, met with the accident and succumbed to the injuries. The offending vehicle was a goods vehicle. Thus, the Tribunal has rightly determined issue No.2A and held that the deceased was traveling in the offending vehicle as gratuitous passenger. Accordingly, findings on issue No.2A are upheld.

7. As far as issue No.3A is concerned, admittedly, the offending vehicle was a goods vehicle, was being driven in violation of the terms and conditions contained in the insurance policy, as discussed above. Thus, the findings on issue No.3A are also upheld.

8. However, the Tribunal has fallen into an error in not directing the insurer to satisfy the award at the first instance, with right of recovery. The mandate of Sections 146, 147 and 149 of the MV Act is to protect the rights of third parties and that is why, compulsory duty has been imposed on the owners to get the vehicles insured, so that, claim of third parties cannot be defeated.

9. The Apex Court has also discussed this aspect in a case titled as S. Iyyapan versus United India Insurance Company Limited and another, reported in (2013) 7 Supreme Court Cases 62. It is apt to reproduce para 16 of the judgment herein:

> "16. The heading "Insurance of Motor Vehicles against Third Party Risks" given in Chapter XI of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (Chapter VIII of 1939 Act) itself shows the intention of the legislature to make third party insurance compulsory and to ensure that the victims of accident arising out of use of motor vehicles would be able to get compensation for the death or injuries suffered. The provision has been inserted in order to protect the persons travelling in vehicles or using the road from the risk attendant upon the user of the motor vehicles on the road. To overcome this ugly situation, the legislature has made it obligatory that no motor vehicle shall be used unless a third party insurance is in force."

10. The same principle has been laid down by this Court in a series of cases.

11. In view of the above, the claimants, who are third party, cannot be left in lurch and cannot be dragged from pillar to post and post to pillar in order to get compensation. Thus, it is the duty of the Court to ensure that the compensation is paid to the claimants by directing the insurer to satisfy the award with right of recovery.

12. My this view is fortified by the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case titled as United India Insurance Co. Ltd. Versus K.M. Poonam and others, reported in 2011 ACJ 917. It is apt to reproduce paras 24 and 26 of the judgment herein:

> "24. The liability of the insurer, therefore, is confined to the number of persons covered by the insurance policy and not beyond the same. In other words, as in the present case, since the insurance policy of the owner of the vehicle covered six occupants of the vehicle in question, including the driver, the liability of the insurer would be confined to six persons only, notwithstanding the larger number of persons carried in the vehicle. Such excess number of persons would have to be treated as third parties, but since no premium had been paid in the policy for them, the insurer would not be liable to make payment of the compensation amount as far as they are concerned. However, the liability of the Insurance Company to make payment even in respect of persons not covered by the insurance policy continues under the provisions of sub-section (1) of Section 149 of the Act, as it would be entitled to recover the same if it could prove that one of the conditions of the policy had been breached by the owner of the vehicle. In the instant case, any of the persons travelling in the vehicle in excess of the permitted number of six passengers, though entitled to be compensated by the owner of the vehicle, would still be entitled to receive the compensation amount from the insurer, who could then recover it from the insured owner of the vehicle.
>
> 25. .....
>
> 26. Having arrived at the conclusion that the liability of the Insurance Company to pay compensation was limited to six persons travelling inside the vehicle only and that the liability to pay the others was that of the owner, we, in this case, are faced with the same problem as had surfaced in Anjana Shyam's case (supra). The number of persons to be compensated being in excess of the number of persons who could validly be carried in the vehicle, the question which arises is one of apportionment of the amounts to be paid. Since there can be no pick and choose method to identify the five passengers, excluding the driver, in respect of whom compensation would be payable by the Insurance Company, to meet the ends of justice we may apply the procedure adopted in Baljit Kaur's case (supra) and direct that the Insurance Company should deposit the total amount of compensation awarded to all the claimants and the amounts so deposited be disbursed to the claimants in respect to their claims, with liberty to the Insurance Company to recover the amounts paid by it over and above the compensation amounts payable in respect of the persons covered by the Insurance Policy from the owner of the vehicle, as was directed in Baljit Kaur's case."

13. It would also be profitable to reproduce paras 19 to 21 and 25 of the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case titled as Manager, National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Saju P. Paul and another, reported in 2013 ACJ 554, herein:

> "19. The next question that arises for consideration is whether in the peculiar facts of this case a direction could be issued to the insurance company to first satisfy the awarded amount in favour of the claimant and recover the same from the owner of the vehicle (respondent no. 2 herein).
>
> 20. In National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Baljit Kaur and others, 2004 ACJ 428 (SC), this Court was confronted with a similar situation. A three-Judge Bench of this Court in paragraph 21 of the Report held as under :
>
> "(21) The upshot of the aforementioned discussions is that instead and in place of the insurer the owner of the vehicle shall be liable to satisfy the decree. The question, however, would be as to whether keeping in view the fact that the law was not clear so long such a direction would be fair and equitable. We do not think so. We, therefore, clarify the legal position which shall have prospective effect. The Tribunal as also the High Court had proceeded in terms of the decision of this Court in Satpal Singh. The said decision has been overruled only in Asha Rani. We, therefore, are of the opinion that the interest of justice will be subserved if the appellant herein is directed to satisfy the awarded amount in favour of the claimant, if not already satisfied, and recover the same from the owner of the vehicle. For the purpose of such recovery, it would not be necessary for the insurer to file a separate suit but it may initiate a proceeding before the executing court as if the dispute between the insurer and the owner was the subject-matter of determination before the Tribunal and the issue is decided against the owner and in favour of the insurer. We have issued the aforementioned directions having regard to the scope and purport of Section 168 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, in terms whereof, it is not only entitled to determine the amount of claim as put forth by the claimant for recovery thereof from the insurer, owner or driver of the vehicle jointly or severally but also the dispute between the insurer on the one hand and the owner or driver of the vehicle involved in the accident inasmuch as can be resolved by the Tribunal in such a proceeding."
>
> 21. The above position has been followed by this Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. v. Challa Bharathamma, 2004 ACJ 2094 (SC), wherein this Court in para 13 observed as under:
>
> "(13) The residual question is what would be the appropriate direction. Considering the beneficial object of the Act, it would be proper for the insurer to satisfy the award, though in law it has no liability. In some cases the insurer has been given the option and liberty to recover the amount from the insured. For the purpose of recovering the amount paid from the owner, the insurer shall not be required to file a suit. It may initiate a proceeding before the executing court concerned as if the dispute between the insurer and the owner was the subject-matter of determination before the Tribunal and the issue is decided against the owner and in favour of the insurer. Before release of the amount to the claimants, owner of the offending vehicle shall furnish security for the entire amount which the insurer will pay to the claimants. The offending vehicle shall be attached, as a part of the security. If necessity arises the executing court shall take assistance of the Regional Transport Authority concerned. The executing court shall pass appropriate orders in accordance with law as to the manner in which the owner of the vehicle shall make payment to the insurer. In case there is any default it shall be open to the executing court to direct realisation by disposal of the securities to be furnished or from any other property or properties of the owner of the vehicle i.e. the insured. In the instant case, considering the quantum involved, we leave it to the discretion of the insurer to decide whether it would take steps for recovery of the amount from the insured."

22 to 24. .....

25. The pendency of consideration of the above questions by a larger Bench does not mean that the course that was followed in Baljit Kaur, 2004 ACJ 428 (SC) and Challa Bharathamma, 2004 ACJ 2094 (SC) should not be followed, more so in a peculiar fact situation of this case. In the present case, the accident occurred in 1993. At that time, claimant was 28 years' old. He is now about 48 years. The claimant was a driver on heavy vehicle and due to the accident he has been rendered permanently disabled. He has not been able to get compensation so far due to stay order passed by this Court. He cannot be compelled to struggle further for recovery of the amount. The insurance company has already deposited the entire awarded amount pursuant to the order of this Court passed on 01.08.2011 and the said amount has been invested in a fixed deposit account. Having regard to these peculiar facts of the case in hand, we are satisfied that the claimant (Respondent No. 1) may be allowed to withdraw the amount deposited by the insurance company before this Court along-with accrued interest. The insurance company (appellant) thereafter may recover the amount so paid from the owner (Respondent No. 2 herein). The recovery of the amount by the insurance company from the owner shall be made by following the procedure as laid down by this Court in the case of Challa Bharathamma, 2004 ACJ 2094 (SC)."

14. The same principle has been laid down by this Court in a batch of FAOs, FAO No. 353 of 2012, titled as Dev Raj versus Shri Krishan Lal and others, being the lead case, decided on 24th June, 2016.

15. Having said so, the impugned award is modified to the extent that the insurer has to satisfy the impugned award at the first instance with right of recovery. The insurer is directed to deposit the amount, alongwith interest, as awarded by the Tribunal, within eight weeks from today, in the Registry of this Court, and the Registry is directed to release the same in favour of the claimants through their respective bank accounts, strictly in terms of the impugned award. The insurer is at liberty to lay motion for recovery before the Tribunal.

16. The appeal stands disposed of accordingly, alongwtih pending CMPs, if any.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

New India Assurance Company Ltd. .....Appellant.

Versus

Lakshmi Devi & Others ....Respondents.

FAO No. 552 of 2009
Decided on: 4.11.2016

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 4- Deceased was a driver who died in an accident – compensation was awarded by the Commissioner- it was contended that the deceased was son of the owner and therefore it cannot be accepted that the deceased was employed by the owner – held, that there is no principle of law that a father cannot employ his son as a driver – it was duly proved that the owner had employed the deceased as driver on a monthly salary of Rs.2,600/- per month- receipts were also produced to this effect- therefore, Commissioner had rightly awarded the compensation- however, the interest was to be levied from the one month after the accident. (Para-2 to 6)

For the appellant: Mr. B.M Chauhan, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. B.S Chauhan, Sr.Advocate with Mr. Munish, Advocate for respondents No. 1 to 4.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J (Oral)

The instant appeal came to be admitted on 28.12.2009 on the hereinafter extracted substantial question of law:-

"1. Whether the workmen's compensation Commissioner was justified in hold that the deceased Rajinder Singh was working as an employee on the tractor in question?

2. Whether the interest has been awarded by the workmen's Compensation Commissioner in accordance with the provisions of the workmen's Compensation Act, 1923?"

2. The learned counsel for the appellant has submitted with much vigor before this Court that the predecessor-in-interest of the claimants who uncontrovertedly is the son of the owner of the ill-fated vehicle and who met his end in an accident involving the ill-fated vehicle cannot per se hence render him to be construable qua his standing engaged as a driver in the ill-fated vehicle by his father nor he can be concluded to be drawing wages quantified in a sum of Rs.2600/- whereupon he contends of the impugned order recorded by the learned Commissioner warranting interference significantly when the trite factum of the deceased Rajinder Singh performing employment as a driver in the relevant vehicle under his father stands un-proven.

3. The aforesaid submission warrants its standing discountenanced as there is no inflexible proposition of law of a father not employing his son nor is it a rigid proposition of law qua the relevant employee/workman not drawing wages from his father, his employer.

4. Be that as it may the evidence on record was enjoined to pronounce qua the factum of the father of one Rajinder Singh who died in the ill-fated accident involving tractor Number HP21-0528 not receiving from his father wages per mensem constituted in a sum of Rs.2600/-. The relevant best evidence in portrayal thereof stood constituted in the appellant during the course of his holding the owner of the relevant vehicle to cross-examination endeavoring to make elicitations from his qua his maintaining receipts qua the amount of wages defrayed to his deceased son while his performing duties as a driver in the relevant vehicle.

5. However, the aforesaid evidence has remained unemerged as the owner of the vehicle died before the relevant trite issue standing put to trial, inevitable corollary whereof is qua this Court standing not seized with the relevant best evidence, for its hence accepting the contention addressed herebefore by the learned counsel for the appellant also hence for want thereof the impugned order recorded by the Commissioner while accepting the depositions of the claimants qua their predecessor-in-interest drawing from his employment under his father wages per mensem constituted in a sum of Rs.2600/-, holds field. Consequently, the finding qua the facet aforesaid warrants its acceptance by this Court. Substantial question of law answered accordingly.

6. In the impugned order the learned Commissioner on the compensation amount assessed qua the dependents/claimants of deceased Rajinder Singh had levied thereon interest @ 6%, liability whereof stood fastened upon the appellant herein also the aforesaid per centum of interest levied upon the compensation amount, stood mandated in the impugned order to accrue from 2.11.2003 whereas liability qua levy of 6% interest on the compensation amount was peremptorily enjoined to accrue thereon from one month elapsing since the date of accident. Consequently, the order impugned hereat is modified to the extent indicated above. In sequel the rate of interest levied on the compensation amount assessed qua the claimants of one Rajinder Singh would accrue thereon from one month elapsing since the date of accident. The impugned order is modified accordingly.

In view of the above, present petition stands disposed of alongwith all pending applications if any.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

Oriental Insurance Company Ltd. ...Appellant.

Versus

Sh. Jai Kumar and others ...Respondents.

FAO No. 47 of 2012
Decided on: 04.11.2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- It was contended that the driver did not have a valid and effective driving licence at the time of accident- Insurer had not led any evidence to prove this plea- the burden of proving the breach of the terms and conditions of the policy was upon the insurer- the insurer was rightly saddled with liability, in these circumstances - appeal dismissed. (Para-13 to 17)

Cases referred:

National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Swaran Singh & others, AIR 2004 Supreme Court 1531
Pepsu Road Transport Corporation versus National Insurance Company, 2013 AIR SCW 6505

For the appellant:	Mr. Ashwani K. Sharma, Senior Advocate, with Mr. Jeevan Kumar, Advocate.
For the respondents:	Mr. Rajiv Rai, Advocate, for respondent No. 1. Mr. Sanjeev Kuthiala, Advocate, for respondent No. 2. Mr. Umesh Kanwar, Advocate, for respondent No. 3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

This appeal is directed against award, dated 1st October, 2011, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Ghumarwin, District Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh (for short "the Tribunal") in M.A.C. No. 44 of 2006, titled as Jai Kumar versus Smt. Sunita Devi and others, whereby compensation to the tune of ₹ 2,85,000/- with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of the petition till its realization came to be awarded in favour of the claimant-injured and the insurer was saddled with liability (for short "the impugned award").

2. The claimant-injured, owner-insured and driver of the offending vehicle have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, has attained finality so far it relates to them.

3. Appellant-insurer has called in question the impugned award on the ground that the Tribunal has fallen in an error in saddling it with liability.

4. Learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant-insurer argued that the owner-insured of the offending vehicle has committed a willful breach as there was no fitness certificate of the offending vehicle at the time of the accident and that the driver was not having a valid and effective driving licence to drive the same at the relevant point of time.

5. The claimant-injured had claimed compensation to the tune of ₹ five lacs, as per the break-ups given in the claim petition, on the ground that he became the victim of the vehicular accident, which was caused by the driver, namely Shri Vijay Kumar, while driving tractor, bearing registration No. HP-69-0314, rashly and negligently, on 4th August, 2006, at about 11.00 A.M., at Village Padyalag, Tehsil Ghumarwin, in which he sustained multiple injuries.

6. The respondents in the claim petition resisted the same on the grounds taken in the respective memo of objections.

7. On the pleadings of the parties, following issues came to be framed by the Tribunal on 28th May, 2009:

"1. Whether the petitioner suffered injuries due to rash and negligent driving on account of accident which took place on 4.8.2006 as alleged? OPP

2. If issue No. 1 is proved in affirmative, whether the petitioner is entitled for compensation and if so from whom and to what extent? OPP

3. Whether the petition is bad for non-joinder of necessary parties? OPR

4. Whether the petition is not maintainable? OPR-3

5. Whether the petition is bad for mis-joinder of necessary parties? OPR-3

6. Whether the vehicle in question was being driven without R.C., insurance and valid route permit? OPR-3

7. Whether the vehicle was being driven without any effective driving licence? OPR-3

8. Whether the vehicle was being run in contravention of the terms of the Motor Vehicles Act? OPR-3

9. Whether there was contributory/ composite negligence of the driver of vehicle HP-23B-1052 and HP-69- 0314? OPR-3

10. Relief."

8. Parties have led evidence.

9. The Tribunal, after scanning the evidence, oral as well as documentary, awarded compensation in terms of the impugned award. Hence, the instant appeal.

Issue No. 1:

10. The Tribunal has held that the claimant-injured has proved that he sustained injuries due to the rash and negligent driving of the offending vehicle by its driver on 4th August, 2006 and decided issue No. 1 in favour of the claimant-injured. The said findings are not in dispute in this appeal. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No. 1 are upheld.

11. Before dealing with issues No. 2 and 6 to 8, I deem it proper to determine issues No. 3 to 5 and 9.

Issues No. 3 to 5 and 9:

12. It was for the insurer to prove issues No. 3 to 5 and 9, has not led any evidence to this effect, thus, has failed to discharge the onus. The Tribunal has made discussion that the insurer has not led any evidence and failed to discharge the onus. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issues No. 3 to 5 and 9 are upheld.

Issues No. 6 to 8:

13. The insurer has not led any evidence to the effect that the driver of the offending vehicle was not having a valid and effective driving licence, the offending vehicle was being driven without valid documents and in contravention of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act"), and the owner-insured has committed a willful breach, thus, has failed to prove issues No. 6 to 8. The Tribunal has rightly decided the said issues while making discussion in paras 25 to 27 of the impugned award.

14. Even otherwise, it was for the insurer to plead and prove that the owner-insured of the offending vehicle has committed willful breach as per the mandate of Sections 147 and 149 of the MV Act read with the terms and conditions of the insurance policy.

15. My this view is fortified by the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case titled as National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Swaran Singh & others, reported in AIR 2004 Supreme Court 1531. It is apt to reproduce relevant portion of para 105 of the judgment herein:

"105. .....

(i) .....

(ii) .....

(iii) The breach of policy condition e.g. disqualification of driver or invalid driving licence of the driver, as contained in sub-section (2) (a) (ii) of Section 149, have to be proved to have been committed by the insured for avoiding liability by the insurer. Mere absence, fake or invalid driving licence or disqualification of the driver for driving at the relevant time, are not in themselves defences available to the insurer against either the insured or the third parties. To avoid its liability towards insured, the insurer has to prove that the insured was guilty of negligence and failed to exercise reasonable care in the matter of fulfilling the condition of the policy regarding use of vehicles by duly licensed driver or one who was not disqualified to drive at the relevant time.

(iv) The insurance companies are, however, with a view to avoid their liability, must not only establish the available defence(s) raised in the said proceedings but must also establish 'breach' on the part of the owner of the vehicle; the burden of proof wherefore would be on them.

(v).....

(vi) Even where the insurer is able to prove breach on the part of the insured concerning the policy condition regarding holding of a valid licence by the driver or his qualification to drive during the relevant period, the insurer would not be allowed to avoid its liability towards insured unless the said breach or breaches on the condition of driving licence is/are so fundamental as are found to have contributed to the cause of the accident. The Tribunals in interpreting the policy conditions would apply "the rule of main purpose" and the concept of "fundamental breach" to allow defences available to the insured under Section 149 (2) of the Act."

16. The Apex Court in another case titled as Pepsu Road Transport Corporation versus National Insurance Company, reported in 2013 AIR SCW 6505, has laid down the same principle. It is profitable to reproduce para 10 of the judgment herein:

"10. In a claim for compensation, it is certainly open to the insurer under Section 149(2)(a)(ii) to take a defence that the driver of the vehicle involved in the accident was not duly licensed. Once such a defence is taken, the onus is on the insurer. But even after it is proved that the licence possessed by the driver was a fake one, whether there is liability on the insurer is the moot question. As far as the owner of the vehicle is concerned, when he hires a driver, he has to check whether the driver has a valid driving licence. Thereafter he has to satisfy himself as to the competence of the driver. If satisfied in that regard also, it can be said that the owner had taken reasonable care in employing a person who is qualified and competent to drive the vehicle. The owner cannot be expected to go beyond that, to the extent of verifying the genuineness of the driving licence with the licensing authority before hiring the services of the driver. However, the situation would be different if at the time of insurance of the vehicle or thereafter the insurance company requires the owner of the vehicle to have the licence duly verified from the licensing authority or if the attention of the owner of the vehicle is otherwise invited to the allegation that the licence issued to the driver employed by him is a fake one and yet the owner does not take appropriate action for verification of the matter regarding the genuineness of the licence from the licensing authority. That is what is explained in Swaran Singh's case (supra). If despite such information with the owner that the licence possessed by his driver is fake, no action is taken by the insured for appropriate verification, then the insured will be at fault and, in such circumstances, the insurance company is not liable for the compensation."

17. Viewed thus, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issues No. 6 to 8 are upheld.

Issue No. 2:

18. The quantum of compensation is not in dispute. However, I have gone through the record and the impugned award, the awarded amount cannot be said to be excessive or meagre in any way. Thus, it is held that the Tribunal has rightly awarded ₹ 2,85,000/- to the claimant-injured and saddled the insurer with liability. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No. 2 are also upheld.

19. Viewed thus, the impugned award is well reasoned and legal one, needs no interference.

20. Having glance of the above discussions, the impugned award is upheld and the appeal is dismissed.

21. Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimant-injured strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payee's account cheque or by depositing the same in his bank account.

22. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on the Tribunal's file.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

Sh. Rameshwar and another ...Appellants.

Versus

Smt. Reshmi Devi and another ...Respondents.

FAO No. 55 of 2012
Decided on: 04.11.2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 163-A and 167- Deceased was in the employment of owner/insured – claimants have right to claim compensation in terms of Workmen Compensation Act- they had an option to file the claim petition either before the Commissioner or MACT – the claim petition was maintainable- however, the driving licence is not on record – case remanded for adjudication of the dispute afresh. (Para-9 to 11)

For the appellants: Mr. Deepak Kaushal, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. Amit Jamwal, Advocate, vice Mr. Ajay Sharma, Advocate, for respondent No. 1.
Mr. Virender Sharma, Advocate, for respondent No. 2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Subject matter of this appeal is award, dated 17th December, 2011, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-I, Sirmaur District at Nahan, H.P. (for short "the Tribunal") in MAC Petition No. 40-MAC/2 of 2009, titled as Rameshwar and another versus Reshmi Devi and another, whereby the claim petition filed by the appellants-claimants came to be dismissed (for short "the impugned award").

2. Appellants-claimants had invoked the jurisdiction of the Tribunal under Section 163-A of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act") for grant of compensation, as per the break-ups given in the claim petition, was resisted by the respondents and the following issues came to be framed by the Tribunal on 6th April, 2010:

"1. Whether Pawan Kumar had died on account of use of tractor No. HP-18-4506 on 10-5-2009 at about 7.20 AM near Tribhuwan, Shambhuwala, as alleged? OPP

2. In case issue No. 1 is proved in affirmative, to what amount of compensation the petitioners are entitled to and from whom? OPP

3. Whether the petition is not maintainable in the present form, as alleged? OPR-1&2

4. Whether the vehicle was being plied in violation of the terms and conditions of insurance policy? OPR-2

5. Relief."

3. The Tribunal has only determined issues No. 1 to 3 and dismissed the claim petition without returning findings viz-a-viz issue No. 4.

4. The claimants have specifically pleaded that the deceased was engaged/employed as a driver by the owner-insured of the offending vehicle. The owner-insured, while filing reply to the claim petition, has denied the said fact, but has stated in para 4 of the reply that the deceased was not a driver, but was a labourer.

5. Thus, the deceased was in the employment of the owner-insured of the offending vehicle whether as a labourer or a driver. So, the claimants have a legal right to claim compensation in terms of the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 (for short "WC Act") without getting involved in the niceties of rashness, negligence and other legal grounds.

6. Section 167 of the MV Act provides another option to the claimants, other than filing a claim before an authority under the WC Act, to file a claim petition before the Claims Tribunal enabling them to have the compensation more than what is provided in terms of WC Act.

7. The factum of deceased being a labourer and his death are admitted. It is also proved that the deceased had sustained injuries and succumbed to the said injuries because he was crushed under the offending vehicle. Having said so, the claimants have proved that the deceased had died on account of use of the motor vehicle, i.e. the offending vehicle. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No. 1 are set aside and it is decided in favour of the claimants and against the respondents.

8. Now, the question is – whether the claimants are entitled to compensation, if so, from whom and in which proportion?

9. The Tribunal had to determine issue No. 4 before dealing with issue No. 2. The Tribunal has held that the claim petition was not maintainable. The said findings are not legally correct for the simple reason that the claimants are the victims of a vehicular accident and, as discussed hereinabove, were entitled to compensation as per the mandate of WC Act or Section 167 of the MV Act. Thus, the claim petition was maintainable. Accordingly, the findings recorded by the Tribunal on issue No. 3 are set aside and it is held that the claim petition was maintainable.

10. The Tribunal has not returned any finding on issue No. 4, which requires determination. The driving licence of the deceased, as it has been averred that he was working as a driver, is not on the record. The final report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (for short "CrPC") is also not on record.

11. In the given circumstances, the impugned award is set aside and the case is remanded to the Tribunal for determining issues No. 2 and 4 with a direction to the Tribunal to provide four opportunities with effect from 1st December, 2016 to 31st December, 2016 to the claimants for leading evidence, two opportunities to the owner-insured of the offending vehicle with effect from 1st January, 2017 to 15th January, 2017, thereafter, two opportunities to the insurer with effect from 16th January, 2017 to 31st January, 2017 and to conclude the proceedings by or before 1st March, 2017, after hearing the parties.

12. Parties are directed to cause appearance before the Tribunal on 1st December, 2016.

13. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on the Tribunal's file.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE TARLOK SINGH CHAUHAN, J.

Sateesh Chander Kuthiala .....Petitioner.
Versus
State of Himachal Pradesh and another. .....Respondents.

Cr. MMO No. 256 of 2015
Judgment reserved on: 27.10.2016
Date of decision : November 4th , 2016.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 294 and 311- An application was filed for seeking permission to tender in evidence certified copies of the judgments passed by the Civil Courts, which was allowed- aggrieved from the order, present petition was filed contending that informant does not have a right to file the application directly without associating public prosecutor- held, that legislature has recognized importance and relevance of victim in the process of investigation, inquiry and trial as well as in appeal, revision etc. – he has a right to engage an advocate of his choice to assist the prosecution - permission was sought to assist the prosecution, which was allowed as not opposed – there is difference between assisting and conducting the prosecution– the permission can be granted by Magistrate to conduct the trial but such permission has to be expressly obtained by filing a written application- the permission was granted to assist the prosecution and therefore, it was not permissible to file the application to place the document on record- petition allowed- order passed by Magistrate set aside, however, liberty granted to file an application for conducting the trial. (Para- 6 to 22)

Cases referred:
Dhariwal Industries Ltd. vs. Kishore Wadhwani and others AIR 2016 SC 4369
M/s Tata Steel Ltd vs. M/s Atma Tube Products Ltd. and others, 2014 (173) Pun.LR 1

For the Petitioner	Mr. K.D.Sood, Senior Advocate, with Mr. Dushyant Dadwal and Mr. Rajnish K.Lal, Advocates.
For the Respondents	Ms. Meenakshi Sharma and Mr. Rupinder Singh, Additional Advocate Generals, for respondent No.1. Mr. Gautam Sood and Mr. Dheeraj K.Vashisht, Advocate, for respondent No.2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Tarlok Singh Chauhan, Judge

The moot question that falls for consideration in this petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is as to whether the complainant can conduct the trial when admittedly he has only sought and granted permission by the learned trial Court to assist and not conduct the trial.

2. This petition arises out of the order passed by learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Shimla, H.P. in Cr.M.A. No. 6-4 of 2015 on 21.7.2015 whereby the application filed by the complainant/respondent under Sections 294 and 311 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973, through his counsel, seeking permission to tender in evidence certified copies of the judgment passed by learned Sub Judge (II), Shimla in Case No. 62/I of 1985 titled Shri Radha Krishan Kuthiala versus Shri Gian Chand Kuthiala and copy of judgments dated 31.3.1998 passed by learned Additional District Judge, Shimla passed in Civil Appeal No.105/S/13 of 88/86 in case titled Shri Hari Krishan and others versus Shri Radha Krishan and others, came to be allowed.

3. Mr. K.D. Sood, Senior Advocate, assisted by Mr. Dushyant Dadwal, Advocate, would vehemently contend that even if permission had been granted by the learned trial Magistrate to the respondent to assist the Public Prosecutor in the trial, it did not in any manner authorise the complainant/respondent to directly file the application in question, through his counsel, that too, without even associating the Public Prosecutor as this would not be assisting but would amount to conducting the trial itself.

4. On the other hand, Mr. Gautam Sood, learned counsel for the complainant/respondent would strenuously argue that once the permission has been granted to the complainant under Sections 301 and 302 Cr.P.C., then the complainant was not only entitle to assist the Public Prosecutor, but he could even conduct the trial independently.

5. Both the parties have placed reliance on the latest judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Dhariwal Industries Ltd. vs. Kishore Wadhwani and others AIR 2016 SC 4369 to contend that the point in issue is squarely answered in their favour.

I have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the material placed on record carefully.

6. It would be noticed that prior to 31.12.2009 the concept of "victim" was virtually alien to the Code of Criminal Procedure. However, the Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 2008, brought about widespread amendments not only by introducing the definition of victim as Section 2 (wa) w.e.f. 31.12.2009, but various other provisions were also included in the Code for benefit of the victim. Thereby recognizing the importance and relevance of a "victim" in not only the process of investigation, enquiry, trial, but even in matters relating to appeal, revision etc.

7. The statement of objects and reasons for introducing the amendment inter alia mentions that "At present, the victims are the worst sufferers in a crime and they don't have much role in the Court proceedings. They need to be given certain rights and compensation, so that there is no distortion of the criminal justice system."

8. The definition of "victim" as found in Section 2(wa) reads as under:

> "Section 2 (wa) "victim" means a person who has suffered any loss or injury caused by reason of the act or omission for which the accused person has been charged and the expression "victim" includes his or her guardian or legal heir."

9. The new clause introduces a definition of "victim" to confer certain rights on the guardians and legal heirs of the victim like to engage an Advocate under Section 24 (8), right to file an appeal under proviso to Section 372, to claim compensation under new Section 357-A.

10. The Scheme behind the insertion of this new definition of "victim" is also apparent from the insertion of a proviso to Section 24 (8) of Cr.P.C., so as to enable a victim, or those who are covered by this definition, to engage an advocate of his/their choice to assist the prosecution. Since the entire criminal justice machinery is set into motion on the asking of or due to the sufferings of the victim, the law makers have deemed it fit to enable the victim to actively participate in the judicial process. There can be no manner of doubt that right from the occurrence of the incident till the ultimate decision by the highest Court of law, the "victim" is as much interested in the decision as is the accused or the State. In fact, the "victim" on account of his being the sufferer/injured, has to be recognized as the most aggrieved party in a crime.

11. The rights of a "victim", who can be said to be a "victim", whether the same would include the complainant, what are his rights etc. have been subject matter of a Full Bench of the Punjab and Haryana High Court in M/s Tata Steel Ltd vs. M/s Atma Tube Products Ltd. and others, 2014 (173) Pun.LR 1 and it shall be worthwhile to extract some portions of the judgment, which reads thus:

"(7). The universalist views on criminal justice system emphasize on the norms collectively recognized and accepted by all of humanity. The internationally accepted norms whereunder an individual's criminal act(s) is accountable are universally binding and applicable across national borders on the premise that crimes committed are not just against individual victims but also against mankind as a whole. The crime against an individual thus transcends and is taken as an assault on humanity itself. It is the concept of the humanity at large as a victim which has essentially characterized 'crimes' on universally- accepted principles. The acceptability of this principle was the genesis of Criminal Justice System with State dominance and jurisdiction to investigate and adjudicate the 'crime'. For long, the criminal law had been viewed on a dimensional plane wherein the Courts were required to adjudicate between the accused and the State. The 'victim' - the de facto sufferer of a crime had no participation in the adjudicatory process and was made to sit outside the Court as a mute spectator. The ethos of criminal justice dispensation to prevent and punish 'crime' would surreptitiously turn its back on the 'victim' of such crime whose cries went unnoticed for centuries in the long corridors of the conventional apparatus. Various international Declarations, domestic legislations and Courts across the world recognized the 'victim' and they voiced together for his right of representation, compensation and assistance. The UN Declaration of Basic Principles of Justice for the Victims of Crime and Abuse of Power, 1985, which was ratified by a substantial number of countries including India, was a landmark in boosting the pro-victim movement. The Declaration defined a 'victim' as someone who has suffered harm, physical or mental injury, emotional suffering, economic loss, impairment of fundamental rights through acts or omissions that are in violation of criminal laws operative within a State, regardless of whether the perpetrator is identified, apprehended, prosecuted or convicted and regardless of the familial relationship between the perpetrator and the 'victim'.

(8). European Union (EU) also took great strides in granting and protecting the rights of 'victims' through various Covenants including the following:-

i. The position of a victim in the framework of Criminal Law and Procedure, Council of Europe Committee of Ministers to Member States, 1985;

ii. Strengthening victim's right in the EU communication from the Commission to the European Parliament, the Council, the Economic and Social Committee and the Committee of the Reasons, European Union, 2011;

iii. Proposal for a Directive of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing "Minimum Standards on the Rights, Support and Protection of Victims of Crime, European Union, 2011".

(9). The United States of America (USA) had earlier made two enactments on the subject i.e. (i) The Victims of Crime Act, 1984 under which legal assistance is granted to the crime-victims; and (ii) The Victims' Rights and Restitution Act of 1990, followed by meaningful amendments, repeal and insertion of new provisions in both the Statutes through an Act passed by the House of Representatives as well as the Senate on April 22, 2004.

(10). In Australia, the Legislature has enacted South Australia Victims of Crime Act, 2001 while in Canada there are two legislations known as Victims of Crime Act, Prince Edward Island and Victims of Crime Act, British Columbia. Most of these legislations have defined the 'victim' of a crime liberally and have conferred varied rights on such victims.

Indian Perspective:*

(11). Much before the United Nations stepped into or the other developed nations legislated for the protection and promotion of victims' rights, the Supreme Court in Rattan Singh vs. State of Punjab, (1979) 4 SCC 719, lamented against complete desertion of a victim in our criminal jurisprudence observing that "The victimization of the family of the convict may well be a reality and is regrettable. It is a weakness of our jurisprudence that the victims of the crime, and the distress of the dependants of the prisoner, do not attract the attention of the law. Indeed, victim reparation is still the vanishing point of our criminal law. This is a deficiency in the system which must be rectified by the Legislature. We can only draw attention to this matter. Hopefully, the Welfare State will bestow better thought and action to traffic justice in the light of the observations we have made".

(12). The Legislature though did not come forward to address the issue but the Law Commission of India, nonetheless, in its 154th Report attributed Chapter-XV on "Victimology" made radical recommendations on the aspect of compensatory justice through a Victim Compensation Scheme. Thereafter came the report of a Committee on the Reforms of Criminal Justice System, commonly known as "Malimath Committee Report, 2003". The Committee was constituted by Government of India with an avowed object of suggesting ways and means for developing a cohesive system in which all the parts work in coordination to achieve the common goal as the people by and large have lost confidence in the criminal justice system and the bewildered victim is crying for attention and justice. The Committee recommended the right of the victim or his legal representative 'to be impleaded as a party in every criminal proceeding where the charge is punishable with seven years imprisonment or more'; the right of voluntary organizations for impleadment in court proceedings in select cases; the victim's right to be represented by an advocate of his choice and if he is not in a position to afford, to provide an advocate at the State's expenses; victim's right to participate in criminal trial; the right to know the status of investigation and take necessary steps in this regard and to be heard at crucial stages of the criminal trial including at the time of grant or cancellation of bail. The Committee further recommended that "the victim shall have a right to prefer an appeal against any adverse order...; he should be provided legal services and that 'victim compensation' is a State obligation in all serious crimes, whether the offender is apprehended or not, convicted or acquitted" and for this object a separate legislation be enacted.

(13). Soon after the Malimath Committee report came the verdict in Jahira Habibullah H. Sheikh & Anr. vs. State of Gujarat & Ors., (2004) 4 SCC 158, ripping apart the ailing criminal justice system in India and ordering re-trial of Best Bakery Case and desirability of further investigation in terms of Section 173(8) CrPC due to the factors like dishonest and faulty investigation, holding of trial in a perfunctory manner, non-production of vital witnesses, prosecuting agency acting unfairly and forcing eye-witnesses to turn hostile, resulting into the acquittal of several accused suspected to be involved in the gruesome murder of as many as 14 people as a result of communal frenzy.

(14). Before we proceed further, let there be a special reference to those decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court which built up the victim's right brick by brick, revolutionalised the conventional criminal justice system and sensitized its stakeholders, notwithstanding the fact that statutory initiatives through the desired amendments in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (in short, 'the Code') were still illusory.

(15). In PSR Sadhanantham vs. Arunachalam & Anr., (1980) 3 SCC 141, the Constitution Bench considered the question whether the brother of a victim who had been murdered, possessed the right to petition under Article 136 of the Constitution for special leave to appeal against the acquittal of the accused? After noticing that under the Code, the right of appeal vested in the State is subject to leave to be granted by the High Court and a complainant's right to appeal was also subject to his obtaining 'special leave' to appeal from the High Court, it was held that a petition filed by the private party other than the complainant should be entertained "in those cases only where it is convinced that the public interest justifies an appeal against the acquittal and that the State has refrained from petitioning from special leave for reasons which do not bear on the public interest but are prompted by private influence, want of bona fide and other extraneous considerations".

(16). In Bhagwant Singh vs. Commissioner of Police, (1985) 2 SCC 537, the right of the complainant to be heard before the acceptance of a cancellation report submitted by the police after investigation of the FIR, was accepted laying down that the informant must be given an opportunity of hearing so that he could make his submissions to persuade the Magistrate to take cognizance of the offence and issue due process.

(17). In M/s JK International vs. State Government of NCT of Delhi, (2001) 3 SCC 462, the Supreme Court recognized the right of the complainant at whose instance the police-case was registered, to be heard by the High Court in the proceedings initiated by the accused for quashing those proceedings. It held thus:-

> "9. The scheme envisaged in the Code of Criminal procedure (for short the Code) indicates that a person who is aggrieved by the offence committed, is not altogether wiped out from the scenario of the trial merely because the investigation was taken over by the police and the charge sheet was laid by them. Even the fact that the court had taken cognizance of the offence is not sufficient to debar him from reaching the court for ventilating his grievance. Even in the sessions court, where the Public Prosecutor is the only authority empowered to conduct the prosecution as per Section 225 of the Code, a private person who is aggrieved by the offence involved in the case is not altogether debarred from participating in the trial..."

(18). In Puran Shekhar and Anr. vs. Rambilas & Anr., (2001) 6 SCC 338, the locus standi of father of the deceased in a dowry death case, to move the High Court and seek cancellation of bail granted by the Sessions Court was upheld as he was not a stranger.

(19). In Delhi Domestic Working Women's Forum vs. Union of India & Ors, (1995) 1 SCC 14, the Supreme Court in exercise of its PIL jurisdiction directed the National Commission for Women to evolve a Scheme to protect rape victims through various measures and cast obligation on the Union of India to implement the Scheme so evolved by the Commission.

(20). Rama Kant Rai vs. Madan Rai & Ors., (2003) 12 SCC 395 was a case where against an order of acquittal passed by the High Court in a murder case, the right of the private party to file an appeal under Article 136 of the Constitution was eloquently recognized especially to meet the pressing demands of justice.

(21). In Sakshi vs. Union of India & Ors, (2004) 5 SCC 518, mandatory guidelines for the recording of evidence of victim of offence under Sections 354, 375, 367 & 377 IPC were laid down.

(22). In Mosiruddin Munshi vs. Mohammad Siraj & Ors., (2008) 8 SCC 434, the right of the complainant to be heard before an order affecting the criminal proceedings initiated at his instance was recognized and it was held that the FIR could not be quashed by the High Court at the instance of the accused without notice to the original complainant.

(23). Some of the High Courts also dutifully espoused the cause of 'victims' and expanded the jurisprudence to create a space for them at one or the other stage of Court hearings. We may usefully quote the following observations made by a Division Bench of Assam High Court in NC Bose vs. Prabodh Dutta Gupta, AIR 1955 (Assam) 116:-

> "[I]t seems to me that the person vitally interested in the issue of the prosecution or the trial is the person aggrieved who 'initiates' the proceedings. He may be both civilly and criminally liable if, on account of any unfairness or partiality, the trial or the proceeding ends in wrongful acquittal or discharge of the accused. The Legislature therefore could not have intended to shut out such a person from coming to the High Court and claiming redress under Section 526 of the Code. The words should be construed to have the widest amplitude so long as the effect of the interpretation is not to open the door to frivolous applications at the instance of intermeddlers or officious persons having no direct interest in the prosecution or trial".

Evolution of Right to Appeal:

(24). Since the issues to be determined by three-Judge Bench, as mentioned in para 6, are hedging around the 'right to appeal' given to a 'victim', we may briefly notice the evolution of that right under the Indian legal regime.

(25). The Code of Criminal Procedure when originally enacted in the year 1861 did not provide for any right to appeal against acquittal to anyone including the State. It was in the Code of Criminal Procedure of 1898 that Section 417 was inserted enabling the Government to direct the Public Prosecutor to present an appeal to the High Court from an original or appellate order of acquittal passed by any Court other than a High Court. The Law Commission of India in its 41st Report given in September, 1969 as also in 48th Report pertaining to the Criminal Procedure Bill, 1970, however, recommended to restrict the right of appeal given to the State Government against an order of acquittal by introducing the concept of 'leave to appeal' and that all appeals against acquittal should come to the High Court though it rejected the right to appeal to "the victim of a crime or his relatives".

(26). The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 came into being on January 25, 1974 repealing the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898. The recommendations made by the Law Commission of India, referred to above, largely found favour with the Parliament when it inserted an embargo in sub-Section (3) to Section 378 against entertainment of an appeal against acquittal "except with the leave of the High Court". Sub- section (4) of Section 378 retained the condition of maintainability of an appeal at the instance of a complainant against an order of acquittal passed in a complaint-case only if special leave to appeal was granted by the High Court. Save in the manner as permitted by Section 378, no appeal could lie against an order of acquittal in view of the express embargo created by Section 372 according to which "no appeal shall lie from any judgement or order of a Criminal Court except as provided for by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force". The Code of Criminal Procedure (Amendment) Act, 2005:

(27). Hon'ble Supreme Court in a string of decisions a few of which are already cited, has recognized time and again one or the other right of the 'victim' including locus standi of his/her family members to appeal against acquittal in the broadest sense. Notwithstanding these decisions or the chorus of such like rights being heard in all civic societies, the Legislature in its wisdom did not deem it necessary to permit a 'victim' to appeal against the acquittal of his wrong-doer even while carrying out sweeping amendments in the Code in the year 2005....."

12. Before adverting to the relative merits of the case, it would be necessary to first make note of the application filed by the complainant/respondent under Sections 301 and 302 Cr.P.C., which reads thus:

"Application under Section 301 and 302 of Cr.P.C., 1973 on behalf of Sh. Radha Krishan Kuthiala, with a prayer for assisting prosecution in the above titled case.

1. That the above titled case is pending of adjudication before this Ld. Court for offences U/s 420, 468, 467 of IPC.
2. That the complainant Sh. Radha Krishan Kuthiala had filed a complaint in the said case with regard to said offences.
3. That the undersigned wants to assist the prosecution in the said case through the undersigned counsel.

It is, therefore, prayed that the present application may very kindly be allowed and the undersigned counsel be permitted to assist the prosecution as per the provisions of Cr.P.C."

13. A perusal of the aforesaid application would reveal that not only in the prayer clause, but even in the heading of the application the only relief prayed for by the respondent was that he through his counsel, be permitted to assist the prosecution and had not sought any permission to conduct the trial of the case. It was perhaps for this reason that even the petitioner had not opposed the application as is evident from order dated 4.8.2012, the relevant portion thereof, reads as under:

"At this stage, Sh. Gautam Sood, Advocate, moved an application U/s 301 & 302 Cr.P.C, the same is considered and allowed as not opposed by Ld. APP."

14. Notably, there is an ocean of difference between assisting the Public Prosecutor under Section 301 and conducting the prosecution on the basis of a permission granted under Section 302. A Public Prosecutor is not actuated by any personal interest in the case. Whereas, the pleader engaged by a person, who is a de facto complainant has a personal interest in the case.

15. Now, adverting to the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Dhariwal Industries Ltd. vs. Kishore Wadhwani and others AIR 2016 SC 4369, it would be noticed that the learned Single Judge of the Bombay High Court had modified the order passed by the Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, whereby he had permitted the appellant before the Hon'ble Supreme Court (Dhariwal Industries) to be heard at the stage of framing of charge under Section 239 of the Code of Criminal Procedure by expressing the view that the role of the complainant was limited under Section 301 Cr.P.C. and that he could not be allowed to take control over the prosecution by directly addressing the Court, but can only act under the directions of the Assistant Public Prosecutor in charge of the case.

16. The Hon'ble Supreme Court not only upheld the order passed by the Bombay High Court, but it even explained the distinction between Sections 301 and 302 Cr.P.C. as would be evident from the following observations:

"8. Section 301 CrPC reads as follows:-

"Appearance by Public Prosecutors.-(1) The Public Prosecutor or Assistant Public Prosecutor in charge of a case may appear and plead without any written authority before any court in which that case is under inquiry, trial or appeal.

(2) If in any such case any private person instructs a pleader to prosecute any person in any Court, the Public Prosecutor or Assistant Public Prosecutor in charge of the case shall conduct the prosecution, and the pleader so instructed shall act therein under the directions of the Public Prosecutor or Assistant Public Prosecutor, and may, with the permission of the Court, submit written arguments after the evidence is closed in the case."

9. In Shiv Kumar (supra), the Court has clearly held that the said provision applies to the trials before the Magistrate as well as Court of Session.

10. Section 302 CrPC which is pertinent for the present case reads as follows:-

> "Permission to conduct prosecution-(1)Any Magistrate inquiring into or trying a case may permit the prosecution to be conducted by any person other than police officer below the rank of Inspector; but no person, other than the Advocate-General or Government Advocate or a Public Prosecutor or Assistant Public Prosecutor, shall be entitled to do so without such permission:
>
> Provided that no police officer shall be permitted to conduct the prosecution if he has taken part in the investigation into the offence with respect to which the accused is being prosecuted.
>
> (2) Any person conducting the prosecution may do so personally or by a pleader."

11. In Shiv Kumar (supra) interpreting the said provision, the Court has ruled:-

> " 8. It must be noted that the latter provision is intended only for magistrate courts. It enables the magistrate to permit any person to conduct the prosecution. The only rider is that magistrate cannot give such permission to a police officer below the rank of Inspector. Such person need not necessarily be a Public Prosecutor.
>
> 9. In the Magistrate's Court anybody (except a police officer below the rank of Inspector) can conduct prosecution, if the Magistrate permits him to do so. Once the permission is granted the person concerned can appoint any counsel to conduct the prosecution on his behalf in the Magistrate's Court.
>
> Xxx xxx xxx
>
> 11. The old Criminal Procedure Code (1898) contained an identical provision in Section 270 thereof. A Public Prosecutor means any person appointed under Section 24 and includes any person acting under the directions of the Public Prosecutor,(vide Section 2(u) of the Code).
>
> 12. In the backdrop of the above provisions we have to understand the purport of Section 301 of the Code. Unlike its succeeding provision in the Code, the application of which is confined to magistrate courts, this particular section is applicable to all the courts of criminal jurisdiction. This distinction can be discerned from employment of the words any court in Section 301. In view of the provision made in the succeeding section as for magistrate courts the insistence contained in Section 301(2) must be understood as applicable to all other courts without any exception. The first sub-section empowers the Public Prosecutor to plead in the court without any written authority, provided he is in charge of the case. The second sub-section, which is sought to be invoked by the appellant, imposes the curb on a counsel engaged by any private party. It limits his role to act in the court during such prosecution under the directions of the Public Prosecutor. The only other liberty which he can possibly exercise is to submit written arguments after the closure of evidence in the trial, but that too can be done only if the court permits him to do so."

12. It is apt to note here that in the said decision it hasalso been held that from the scheme of CrPC, the legislative intention is manifestly clear that prosecution in a Sessions Court cannot be conducted by anyone other than the public prosecutor. It is because the legislature reminds the State that the policy must strictly conform to fairness in the trial of an accused in a Sessions Court. The Court has further observed that a public prosecutor is not expected to show the thirst to reach the case in the conviction of the accused somehow or the other irrespective of the true facts involved in the case.

13. In J.K. International (AIR 2001 SC 1142) (supra), a three-Judge Bench was adverting in detail to Section 302 CrPC. In that context, it has been opined that the private person who is permitted to conduct prosecution in the Magistrate's Court can engage a counsel to do the needful in the court in his behalf. If a private person is aggrieved by the offence committed against him or against any one in whom he is interested he can approach the Magistrate and seek permission to conduct the prosecution by himself. This Court further proceeded to state that it is open to the court to consider his request and if the court thinks that the cause of justice would be served better by granting such permission the court would generally grant such permission. Clarifying further, it has been held that the said wider amplitude is limited to Magistrate's Court, as the right of such private individual to participate in the conduct of prosecution in the sessions court is very much restricted and is made subject to the control of the public prosecutor.

14. Having carefully perused both the decisions, we do not perceive any kind of anomaly either in the analysis or ultimate conclusion arrived by the Court. We may note with profit that in Shiv Kumar (supra), the Court was dealing with the ambit and sweep of Section 301 CrPC and in that context observed that Section 302 CrPC is intended only for the Magistrate's Court. In J.K. International (supra) from the passage we have quoted hereinbefore it is evident that the Court has expressed the view that a private person can be permitted to conduct the prosecution in the Magistrate's Court and can engage a counsel to do the needful on his behalf. The further observation therein is that when permission is sought to conduct the prosecution by a private person, it is open to the court to consider his request. The Court has proceeded to state that the Court has to form an opinion that cause of justice would be best subserved and it is better to grant such permission. And, it would generally grant such permission. Thus, there is no cleavage of opinion.

15. In Sundeep Kumar Bafna (AIR 2014 SC 1745) (supra), the Court was dealing with rejection of an order of bail under Section 439 CrPC and what is meant by "custody". Though the context was different, it is noticeable that the Court has adverted to the role of public prosecutor and private counsel in prosecution and in that regard, has held as follows:-

> "... in Shiv Kumar v. Hukam Chand (supra), the question that was posed before another three - Judge Bench was whether an aggrieved has a right to engage its own counsel to conduct the prosecution despite the presence of the Public Prosecutor. This Court duly noted that the role of the Public Prosecutor was upholding the law and putting together a sound prosecution; and that the presence of a private lawyer would inexorably undermine the fairness and impartiality which must be the hallmark, attribute and distinction of every proper prosecution. In that case the advocate appointed by the aggrieved party ventured to conduct the cross-examination of the witness which was allowed by the trial court but was reversed in revision by the High Court, and the High Court permitted only the submission of written argument after the closure of evidence. Upholding the view of the High Court, this Court went on to observe that before the Magistrate any person (except a police officer below the rank of Inspector) could conduct the prosecution, but that this laxity is impermissible in the Sessions by virtue of Section 225 CrPC, which pointedly states that the prosecution shall be conducted by a Public Prosecutor. ..."

> 16. Mr. Tulsi, learned senior counsel, has drawn inspiration from the aforesaid authority as Shiv Kumar (supra) has been referred to in the said judgment and the Court has made a distinction between the role of the public prosecutor and the role of a complainant before the two trials, namely, the sessions trial and the trial before a Magistrate's Court.
>
> 17. As the factual score of the case at hand is concerned, it is noticeable that the trial court, on the basis of an oral prayer, had permitted the appellant to be heard along with the public prosecutor. Mr. Tulsi, learned senior counsel submitted such a prayer was made before the trial Magistrate and he had no grievance at that stage but the grievance has arisen because of the interference of the High Court that he can only participate under the directions of the Assistant Public Prosecutor in charge of the case which is postulated under Section 301 CrPC.
>
> 18. We have already explained the distinction between Sections 301 and 302 CrPC. The role of the informant or the private party is limited during the prosecution of a case in a Court of Session. The counsel engaged by him is required to act under the directions of public prosecutor. As far as Section 302 CrPC is concerned, power is conferred on the Magistrate to grant permission to the complainant to conduct the prosecution independently.
>
> 19. .We would have proceeded to deal with the relief prayed for by Mr. Tulsi but, no application was filed under Section 302 CrPC and, therefore, the prayer was restricted to be heard which is postulated under Section 301 CrPC. Mr. Singh, learned senior counsel appearing for the respondents would contend that an application has to be filed while seeking permission. Bestowing our anxious consideration, we are obliged to think that when a complainant wants to take the benefit as provided under Section 302 CrPC, he has to file a written application making out a case in terms of J.K. International (supra) so that the Magistrate can exercise the jurisdiction as vested in him and form the requisite opinion."

17. It would be clear from the aforesaid that the role of the informant or the private party is limited during the prosecution of a case in a Court of Session. The counsel engaged by him is required to act under the directions of public prosecutor. However, as far as Section 302 Cr.P.C. is concerned, power is conferred on the Magistrate to grant permission to the complainant to conduct the prosecution independently. However, such permission has to be expressly obtained by filing a written application.

18. At this stage, it also needs to be clarified that though the application was filed by the respondent invoking both the provisions as contained in Sections 301 and 302 Cr.P.C. and even the learned Magistrate considered and allowed the same vide his order dated 4.8.2012. However, the permission so granted by the learned Magistrate has essentially to be read and considered in light of the prayer contained in the application.

19. Once the respondent had specifically sought permission that his counsel be permitted to assist the prosecution, he cannot turn around to contend that such permission included a right to conduct the trial. Therefore, the petitioner at this stage has every right to object against the filing of the application directly by the counsel engaged by the respondent, instead of the same having been filed by the Public Prosecutor.

20. Adverting to the facts, it would be noticed that the application filed by the complainant/respondent under Sections 294 and 311 Cr.P.C. was opposed by the petitioner by filing reply wherein number of preliminary objections had been raised including the maintainability of the application on the ground that the complainant was granted permission to assist the Public Prosecutor but he was overstepping his limits by moving the application directly through his counsel.

21. Strangely enough, the learned trial Magistrate somehow assumed that the application had been filed by the complainant/State which finding is contrary to the record.

Before allowing the application, it was obligatory on the Magistrate to have first gone into the question of maintainability of the application and only thereafter could the same have been allowed, more particularly, when the petitioner had questioned the locus-standi of the complainant/respondent. Having failed to take into consideration all these facts and law on the subject, the order passed by the learned Magistrate cannot be sustained.

22. In view of the aforesaid discussion, there is merit in the petition and the same is accordingly allowed and the order dated 21.7.2015 passed by the learned Magistrate is quashed and set-aside. However, it shall not prevent the respondent, if so advised, from filing an application under Section 302 Cr.P.C. before the learned Magistrate and as and when the same is filed, the learned Magistrate shall consider the same in accordance with law.

23. With the aforesaid observations, the petition is disposed of in terms of the liberty aforesaid, so also the pending application(s) if any.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh .....Appellant.

Versus

Ashwani Kumar .....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 345 of 2007
Decided on : 4.11.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 279 and 304-A- Accused was driving a bus in a rash and negligent manner and caused death of B – he was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal that P was a passenger in the bus she was getting down from the bus, when the bus was started by the accused – all the eye witnesses except PW-8 resiled from their earlier testimonies – record shows that P had tried to get down the bus at a place, which was not a bus stop- thus, the prosecution version that the bus was stopped and thereafter started suddenly is doubtful- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed.(Para-9 to 12)

For the Appellant: Mr. R.S.Thakur, Advocate.
For the Respondent: Mr. N.K.Sood, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Aman Sood, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge, Oral

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of Himachal Pradesh against the impugned judgment rendered on 1.5.2007 by the learned Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Dehra, District Kangra, Himachal Pradesh, in Criminal Case No. 49-II/2003, whereby the learned trial Court acquitted the respondents (for short 'accused') for the offences charged.

2. The brief facts of the case are that on 31.12.2002 at around 10.50 a.m. on the public highway at Kiryada Chowk, the accused Ashwani Kumar was driving bus No. HP-36-0398 in a rash and negligent manner and caused the death of Ms. Pooja due to his negligent driving. The matter was reported to the police by the complainant Hardayal Singh vide his statement under Section 154 Cr.P.C. Ex. PA, in which it was mentioned by him that on 30.12.2002 he had gone to the house of his sister Babita Devi at Muhal and on 31.12.2002 at about 10.30 a.m. he alongwith his sister Pooja boarded the bus and at around 10.50 at Kiryada Chowk the bus was stopped and he came out from the bus and his sister Pooja tried to came out from the bus from front window and bus driver all of a sudden started the bus, as a result of which Pooja fell on the road and received multiple injuries. The bus driver did not stop the bus and he accordingly arranged van and took Pooja to hospital at Sub Divisional Hospital, Dehra but Pooja succumbed to her injuries at around 11.30 a.m. It was also stated by the complainant in his statement that accident in question occurred due to rash and negligent driving of bus driver. On the statement of complainant, FIR Ex. PW-1/B was registered and investigation conducted by SI/SHO Daulat Ram. The photographs of deceased Ex. P-1 to Ex. P-6 alongwith negatives Ex. P-6 to Ex. P-12 were obtained and postmortem of deceased Pooja was conducted at Sub Divisional Hospital, Dehra and report of concerned Doctor Ex. PD was obtained. The investigating officer during the course of investigation, prepared site plan of spot of occurrence Ex. PW-7/A and also took into possession bus involved in the accident alongwith its documents vide memo Ex. PA in presence of witnesses Baldev Raj and Chandel Singh. Inquest report of Ms. Pooja was prepared. The mechanical examination of the bus was conducted and report of mechanic Ex. PE was produced. The statements of the witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. were recorded by the investigating officer. After completion of investigation, the police found prima facie case against the accused for offences under Sections 279 and 304-A I.P.C. and Sections 184 and 187 of Motor Vehicles Act. After completing all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offences, allegedly committed by the accused, a challan was prepared and filed before the learned trial Court.

3. Notice of accusation stood put to the accused by the learned trial Court for his committing offences punishable under Sections 279, 304-A IPC and under Section 187 of the Motor Vehicles Act to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 8 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, was recorded in which he pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. He did not choose to lead any evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused.

6. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation by it of the relevant material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. The learned counsel appearing for the respondents has with considerable force and vigour contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record by the learned trial Court and theirs not necessitating any interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. Uncontrovertedly the deceased was a passenger on board of bus bearing No. HP-36-0398. At the relevant time, the aforesaid bus was driven by the accused/respondent herein. The accused is alleged to without facilitating a safe egress therefrom of the deceased abruptly galvanize the relevant bus into motion whereupon the deceased is alleged to fall onto the road, in sequel whereto, she sustained a fatal injury. The post mortem report comprised in Ext.PA unravels qua the demise of deceased being ascribable to 'hemorrhagic shock leading to cardiac respiratory arrest'. Apparently the demise of one Pooja an occupant of bus aforesaid occurred on hers suffering fracture of pelvis sequelled by hers purportedly falling onto the road from a moving bus.

10. The learned trial Court while recording an order of acquittal upon the accused/respondent herein had alluded to the testimonies of eye witnesses to the occurrence, all of whom except PW-8 reneged from their previous statements recorded in writing. Necessarily hence the learned trial Court concluded of with the testification of purported eye witnesses to the occurrence not lending vigour to the prosecution case, the genesis of the prosecution story propagated in the F.I.R. comprised in Ext.PW-1/B not warranting any acceptance. As aforestated all eye witnesses to the illfated occurrence except PW-8 omitted to lend succor to the prosecution version. The efficacy of the testimony of PW-8 brother of deceased stood concluded by the learned trial Court to stand undermined by the factum of his being an interested witness. The aforesaid reason as stands assigned by the learned trial Court to dispel the vigour of the testification of PW-8 may not be sufficient to affirm the findings of acquittal recorded by it upon the accused/respondent herein preeminently when the learned defence counsel while subjecting him to cross-examination has not put any suggestion to him personifying the factum of his not being an eye witness to the occurrence. Absence of the aforesaid suggestions to PW-8 rather despite other eye witnesses to the occurrence not supporting the prosecution case was sufficient to record a conclusion qua the prosecution succeeding in proving the genesis of the occurrence comprised in the F.I.R. embodied in Ext.PW-1/B. Even if the defence has by not putting apposite suggestions to either PW-8 or to the Investigating Officer concerned hence efficaciously not propagated its defence qua the ill fated demise of an occupant of the bus driven at the relevant time by the accused/respondent herein arising not from hers suffering fatal injuries on hers falling onto the road from a moving bus given the accused respondent herein galvanizing it in motion without permitting hers safely egressing therefrom rather her demise occurring on hers colliding with a tractor which arrived at the relevant site of occurrence. Nonetheless omissions in support of the aforesaid defence does not empower the learned Additional Advocate General to contend of with hence the defence not concerting the aforesaid espousals its hence acquiescing to the factum of the ill fated demise of an occupant of bus aforesaid occurring during the course of hers alighting therefrom nor also he stands empowered to canvass qua the defence hence acquiescing to the factum of the accused respondent herein while not facilitating her safe egress therefrom his hence apparently negligently driving the bus nor thereupon it would be imperative for this Court to conclude of the penal liability constituted in the charge standing convincingly established against the accused respondent herein.

11. Otherwise too, though the aforesaid submission addressed before this Court by the learned Additional Advocate General is extremely impressive also may constrain this Court to thereupon record an inference of the accused respondent herein by proactively waiving in the manner aforesaid his defence, his hence acquiescing to the relevant propagations made by the prosecution. Nonetheless the stark imminent fact which emerges from a perusal of Ext.PW-7/A embodying therein the site plan whereat the relevant occurrence took place is qua PW-8 alighting from the relevant bus at point “G” whereas the deceased at a distance of 70 meters therefrom stands unravelled therein to suffer her demise. The aforesaid graphic depictions occurring in Ext.PW-7/A which stands relied upon by the prosecution visibly overcome the efficacy, if any, of the testimony of PW-8 also thereupon rather the testimonies of other eye witnesses to the occurrence wherein they reneged from their previous statements recorded in writing do assume vigour besides the espousal made herebefore by the learned Additional Advocate General of the sole testimony of a credible eye witness to the occurrence comprised in the deposition of PW-8 being sufficient to constrain this Court to reverse the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court is also concomitantly bereft of any legal sinew. The reason for benumbing the arguments addressed before this Court by the learned Additional Advocate General apparently stands foisted upon the trite factum of the aforesaid revelations occurring in Ext.PW-7/A wherein a graphic articulation stands pronounced qua PW-8 alighting from the relevant bus at a stage prior to the deceased alighting therefrom. The aforesaid factum leads to a further concomitant inference of both not simultaneously alighting therefrom besides thereupon also an inference is erectable qua at the stage where PW-8 alighted from the bus, its driver thereat stopping it, it being an ear marked place for its stoppage whereas the deceased at an unear-marked place for its stoppage voluntarily concerting to thereat disembark therefrom, wherefrom it is apt to conclude of the accused respondent herein neither by his not applying the brakes of the bus hence prohibiting her safe egress therefrom nor it can be concluded of the accused respondent being penally inculpable for the charges for which he stood tried. Contrarily reiteratedly it has to be concluded of the deceased at the relevant unearmarked place for the stoppage of the bus voluntarily trying to egress therefrom. In aftermath, no imputation of penal negligence can be ascribed to the accused/respondent herein. Accentuated strength to the aforesaid inference stands marshaled from the factum of the testimony of PW-8 holding no veracity, inference whereof stands spurred by the factum of his evidently alighting from the bus not simultaneously alongwith his deceased sister rather his alighting therefrom earlier to the departure therefrom of his deceased sister whereupon he stood disabled to sight the factum of hers gaining fatal injuries in the manner he espouses in his testification besides thereupon his testification in disconcurrence to the testifications of other eye witnesses to the occurrence looses credibility.

12. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Court below has appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

13. In view of the above, I find no merit in this appeal, which is accordingly dismissed. In sequel, the impugned judgement is affirmed and maintained. Record of the learned trial Court be sent back forthwith.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh .....Appellant
Versus
Paramjeet Singh @ Bangu .....Respondent

Cr. Appeal No. 272 of 2014
Decided on: 4th November, 2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 323, 506 and 376 read with Section 511- Prosecutrix was going home from School after appearing in examination – the accused caught her, dragged her inside a maize field and started kissing her – he put his hand on the string of her salwar- prosecutrix raised hue and cry on which PW-7 arrived at the spot- the accused was tried and acquitted by the Trial Court- held in appeal that there is discrepancy in the name of the accused- prosecutrix mentioned that she was restrained by B, son of N, whereas, the name of the accused is P, son of H - prosecutrix admitted in cross-examination that the name of the boy who assaulted her was not known to her – the photographs of the spot do not corroborate the prosecution version- the age of the prosecutrix was not properly proved – the Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-7 to 12)

For the appellant: Mr. Virender Verma, Addl. A.G.
For the respondent: Mr. Gaurav Gautam and Ms. Megha Kapur Gautam, Advocates.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, Judge (Oral)

State of Himachal Pradesh is in appeal before this Court. The complaint is that learned trial Court has acquitted the respondent (hereinafter referred to as the 'accused') of the charge under Sections 341, 323, 506 and 376 read with Section 511 of the Indian Penal Code vide judgment dated 11.03.2014 passed in RBT Sessions Case No. 3-J/VII/14/12 erroneously without appreciating the prosecution evidence in its right perspective. The evidence as has come on record by way of testimony of the prosecutrix who has stepped into the witness box as PW-5 and that of her mother PW-6 and her uncle PW-7. The evidence as has come on record by way of testimony of PW-1, the Pradhan of Gram Panchayat is also stated to be erroneously ignored. The evidence qua age of the prosecutrix as has come on record by way of birth certificate Ext. PW-9/A and PW-11/K have also been erroneously brushed aside.

2. The charge against the accused in a nut shell is that on 1.9.2012 around 1.00 p.m. at village Papahan under Police Station, Jawali, District Kangra he wrongfully restrained the prosecutrix from proceeding ahead on her way to home from school after appearing in examination. He asked her to disclose the name of her parents and when she was about to disclose name their names to him, he put his hand on her shoulder. She objected to such unbecoming behaviour of the accused and asked him as to what he was doing. Instead of letting her free, he dragged her inside the maize field situated nearby and asked her to kiss him, failing which, threatened to torn out her clothes. She objected to such behaviour of the accused and on this he put his hand on the string of her salwar. On hearing that someone is going on motorcycle, she raised an alarm. The motorcyclist, none-else but her uncle Praveen Kumar (PW-7) on hearing her cries entered inside the maize field and noticed that the accused had caught hold the prosecutrix and was kissing her. On observing the presence of someone (PW-7) there, the accused set the prosecutrix free and fled away. PW-7 could not caught hold him. It is with these allegations, a case under Sections 341, 323, 354 and 506 IPC was registered against him in Police Station, Jawali, District Kangra vide FIR Ext. PW-11/A, on the basis of application Ext. PW-1/A made by PW-6 Sandla Devi, the mother of the prosecutrix to Smt. Santosh Kumari (PW-1) Pradhan Gram Panchayat, Papahan.

3. The investigation in the case was conducted by Sub Inspector Ashwani Kumar, PW-11. It is pertinent to note that the prosecutrix and her mother both have refused for getting the medical examination of the prosecutrix conducted. Any how, the prosecutrix was medically examined by PW-2 Dr. Sulekha Gupta vide MLC Ext. PW-2/A. No injury except for an abrasion was noticed on right wrist and on right knee joint. The Radiologist PW-4 Dr. Raman Sharma and Dr. Sulekha Gupta PW-2 both have disclosed the radiological age of the prosecutrix as 16 to 18 years. Such opinion Ext. PW-4/B was formed by them on the basis of X-ray films Ext. P-3 to Ext. P-8. The date of birth certificate Ext. PW-9/A was produced in evidence by PW-9 Rajinder Singh, Trained Graduate Teacher, Government Senior Secondary School, Guglara. Birth certificate Ext. PW-11/K was also obtained by the I.O from Secretary, Gram Panchayat, Papahan. The mother of the prosecutrix and her uncle Praveen Kumar were associated during the course of investigation and their statements under Section 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded.

4. Learned trial Court after holding trial and on analyzing the evidence available on record has arrived at a conclusion that the prosecution has failed to prove its case against the accused beyond all reasonable doubt. The accused has, therefore, been acquitted of the charge as pointed out at the very out set.

5. On behalf of the appellant-State, Mr. Virender Verma, learned Additional Advocate General has forcefully contended that in view of own statement of the prosecutrix supported by that of her mother PW-6 and uncle PW-7 as well as corroborated by the link evidence available on record, the prosecution has been able to bring the guilt home to the accused. Therefore, according to Mr. Verma, the findings of acquittal recorded by learned trial Court being beyond pleadings of the parties and evidence available on record are legally unsustainable.

6 On the other hand, Mr. Gaurav Gautam, learned counsel representing the accused-respondent has urged that what to speak of cogent and reliable evidence produced by the prosecution, the present is a case of no evidence and as such, according to him the impugned judgment calls for no interference by this Court.

7. As pointed out hereinabove, the charge framed against the accused is under Sections 341, 323, 506 and 376 read with Section 511 of the Indian Penal Code. In order to infer the commission of an offence punishable under Section 341, the restraint should be wrongful and in a manner so as to prevent a person from proceeding beyond the circumscribing limits. For example, if a person walking within a vacant space, which is blocked by another person and thereby prevented him from proceeding in any direction beyond the circumscribing line of wall such another person can be said to have committed an offence within the meaning of Section 341 of the Indian Penal Code and rendered himself liable to be punished under Section 341 of the Code. Similarly, in order to infer the commission of an offence punishable under Section 323 of the Indian Penal Code, there must be material available on record that the offender has voluntarily caused the hurt to the victim and as regards the offence punishable under Section 376 read with Section 511 of the Code, the essential ingredients are that the offender must found to have done any act towards the commission of substantive offence viz. in the case in hand an offence punishable under Section 376 of the Code. The first and foremost question which needs adjudication in the present case is that it is the accused alone who restrained the prosecutrix wrongfully and voluntarily caused hurt to her as well as did any act to be treated a step towards the commission of an offence punishable under Section 376 of the Indian Penal Code within the meaning of Section 511 of the Code.

8. The first version qua the manner in which the occurrence has taken place find mentioned in the application Ext. PW-1/A addressed to the Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, Papahan. In this application, the name of the accused has been disclosed as Baggu son of Shri Nana Ram. His name as per the prosecution case is Paramjeet Singh @ Bangu, whereas, name of his father is Harnam Singh. The prosecutrix while in the witness box as PW-5 tells us that it is the accused who met her and asked to disclose the name of her parents and that when she was about to disclose their names, he put his hand on her shoulder. When she objected to such conduct and behaviour of the accused, he dragged her to nearby maize fields. She was asked to give kiss to him and that in case he is not allowed to kiss her, he would tear her clothes. On this, he put his hand on the string of her salwar, however, her uncle PW-7 Praveen Kumar came there for her rescue. The accused ran away from the place. She revealed the occurrence to her uncle Praveen Kumar and also disclosed that the person who had been outraging her modesty was having beard. According to her, accused was seen by her outside the liquor vend and it is her uncle who disclosed that he was resident of nearby village. In order to connect the accused with the commission of offence, the prosecutrix has further stated that when she accompanied by other women folks visited the house of the accused on the same day, he was found to have ran away therefrom. Interestingly enough, in her cross-examination, she has stated that the name of the boy who had assaulted her was not known to her. Not only this but she has admitted the suggestion that the accused was arrested on the basis of suspicion. It is as such the identity of the accused was disclosed by them to the police. Her testimony also reveals that test identification parade was not got conducted by the police during the investigation of the case. In view of the statement made by the prosecutrix while in the witness box, the ingredients of an offence punishable under Section 341 of the Indian Penal Code nor that of Section 323 IPC are made out for the reason that the present is not a case where she was restrained wrongfully by the accused from moving in a particular direction or voluntarily caused hurt to her. At the most the accused/assailant has applied force and taken the prosecutrix inside the maize fields. The testimony of another material prosecution witness Sandla Devi to the extent that it is the accused who had taken the prosecutrix inside the maize field is hearsay. Though, in the application Ext. PW-1/A, it is she who had disclosed the name of accused as Baggu son of Nana Ram and while in the witness box she has stated that it is her daughter the prosecutrix who told her that accused Baggu had met her on the way from the school to the house. The prosecutrix was not knowing the name of accused as she has said while in the witness box, who told PW-6 that the name of the boy who dragged her daughter inside the maize fields is Baggu remained unexplained. Not only this but in her cross-examination, she has denied that it is her daughter who has disclosed the physical features of person who assaulted her. Though, it is stated by her voluntarily that her daughter has disclosed only that the boy was having beard, however, in the application Ext. PW-1/A this witness has not disclosed that boy was having beard. She admits that when the accused was apprehended by the police, he was clean shaved and also that he was arrested only on suspicion. Therefore, the testimony of the prosecutrix and that of her mother PW-6, if scrutinized minutely, it is not at all established that it is the accused alone and none else who dragged the prosecutrix inside the maize fields and outraged her modesty.

9. Now if coming to the testimony of Praveen Kumar who allegedly came for the rescue of the prosecutrix is seen, he seems to have deposed falsely that the accused was seen by him while dragging the prosecutrix and pressing her mouth because the prosecutrix has also not said so while in the witness box as according to her on observing the presence of someone there, the accused set her free and ran away. She has not said that her uncle Praveen Kumar has tried to caught hold that boy, therefore, his testimony to this effect is also false. When as per his version in cross-examination he did not notice the colour of the clothes worn by the assailant, how he could have deposed that he noticed the boy while dragging the prosecutrix or that he tried to caught hold him. As per his version, he had disclosed the identifying features of the person to the police, however, PW-6 has denied the disclosure of such features to the police except for that the boy was having beard. As per further version of PW-7, he was not knowing the name and father's name of the boy who had assaulted the prosecutrix nor test identification parade was got conducted by the police. Therefore, his testimony is also not suggestive of that it is the accused who was the assailant. According to prosecutrix, it is PW-7 who had revealed to her that the boy who had assaulted her belongs to nearby village. However, the accused is not a resident of any other village and rather resident of village Papahan itself, to which the prosecutrix and PW-6 as well as PW-7 belong. Meaning thereby that the accused is the resident of the same village. As per version of the prosecutrix, he had noticed the accused sitting outside a liquor vend, however, no-one i.e. salesman etc., has neither been associated nor examined during the course of investigation. The present in the light of what has been said hereinabove is, therefore, a case where the identity of the accused is not at all proved. He, therefore, cannot be said to have assaulted the prosecutrix and outraged her modesty, in the manner as claimed by the prosecution.

10. Be it stated that the photographs Ext. P-8 to Ext. P-15 pertain to the fields. One hair clip is visible in the photograph Ext. P-14. The photographs Ext. P-9, P-10 and P-15 show the grass and maize field in badly crushed condition. The grass and crop in such a condition do not match with the prosecution case because had the prosecutrix been only taken inside the fields and within no time PW-7 appeared there for her rescue, this would have not been the condition of the grass and also the maize crop in the field. In this regard, without commenting any further qua this aspect of the matter, suffice would it to say that the factual position has been concealed by the I.O for the reasons best known to him. Any how, the prosecutrix seems to have been taken inside the maize crop and an attempt to assault her sexually also seems to have been made, however, it is not at all proved beyond all reasonable doubt that the assailant was the accused alone and none else. Therefore, the link evidence as has come on record from the photographs and also the recovery of broken pieces of bangles from the place of occurrence is hardly of any help to the prosecution case. The injuries on the neck and wrist of the prosecutrix were found simple in nature, as is evident from the perusal of MLC Ext. PW-2/A. Her age has been claimed below 16 years, however, the evidence i.e. the school certificate Ext. PW-11/K issued by the Secretary, Gram Panchayat, Chalwara cannot be treated as a validly proved proof qua the date of birth of the prosecutrix recorded therein has to be treated as correct for the reason that the birth and death register has not been produced nor the Secretary, Gram Panchayat, Chalwara examined during the course of trial. The certificate has simply been produced in evidence by the I.O. while in the witness box. Therefore, the same cannot be treated as a valid proof qua the date of birth of the prosecutrix. The extract of parivar register Ext. PW-11/H cannot also be treated as legal and valid proof qua the age of the prosecutrix. The another certificate Ext. PW-9/A proved by PW-9 TGT, Government Senior Secondary School, Guglara, District Kangra cannot also be said to be treated as valid proof so as to the date of birth of the prosecutrix is concerned for the reason that the same has not been proved to be issued on the basis of school record i.e. the admission and withdrawal register maintained in the primary school which could have only been treated as the primary evidence qua the date of birth of the prosecutrix and not the certificate issued from the record of Senior Secondary School, that too, without producing the admission and withdrawal register. On the other hand, the radiological age of the prosecutrix in the opinion of Radiologist PW-2 at the relevant time was between 16 to 18 years. While determining the age of a person radiologically, margin of two years on either side is always there. Therefore, if such margin is taken into consideration, the prosecutrix may have been 18 years or 20 years of age also on the day of occurrence. The benefit of such error as per settled legal principles always available to the accused and not to the prosecution.

11. In view of the re-appraisal of the evidence hereinabove and examining the prosecution case from each and every angle, the only irresistible conclusion would be that the prosecution has failed to prove its case against the accused beyond all reasonable doubt. The accused has rightly been acquitted by learned trial Court. We, therefore, find no illegality, irregularity or infirmity in the impugned judgment. The same, as such, is hereby affirmed.

12. For all the reasons discussed hereinabove, this appeal fails and the same is accordingly dismissed. Personal bonds furnished by the accused shall stand cancelled and surety discharged.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

The New India Assurance Co. Ltd. .....Appellant
Versus
Kamlesh Kumari and others ..... Respondents

FAO No.90 of 2012
Decided on : 04.11.2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Insurer had limited grounds available to file an appeal – it can seek permission to contest the claim petition on all the grounds after seeking permission under Section 170 of the Act- no such permission was obtained by the Insurer and appeal cannot be filed on the ground of adequacy of compensation. (Para-3 to 10)

Cases referred:
United India Insurance co. Ltd. Versus Shila Datta & Ors., 2011 AIR SCW 6541
Josphine James versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., 2013 AIR SCW 6633

For the appellant: Mr.B.M. Chauhan, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr.O.C. Sharma, Advocate, for respondents No.1 to 4.
Nemo for other respondents.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (Oral)

This appeal is directed against the award, dated 30th March, 2011, passed by Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-II, Solan, H.P., (for short, the Tribunal), whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.15,17,600/, with interest at the rate of 9% per annum from the date of filing of the petition till realization, came to be awarded in favour of the claimants, and the insurer was saddled with the liability, (for short, the impugned award).

2. The claimants, the owner and the driver have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, the same has attained finality so far as it relates to them.

3. The insurer has filed the instant appeal on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

4. It is moot question whether the insurer can question the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of compensation?

5. The answer is in the negative for the following reasons. In terms of the mandate of Sections 147 and 149 of the MV Act read with the terms and conditions contained in the insurance policy, the insurer has limited grounds available, but, it can contest the claim petition on other grounds provided permission in terms of Section 170 of the MV Act has been obtained.

6. The insurer can seek permission to contest the claim petition on all grounds available to it and in case permission has not been sought and granted, it is precluded from questioning the award on adequacy of compensation or any other ground, which is not otherwise available to it.

7. This question arose before the Apex Court in the case titled as United India Insurance co. Ltd. Versus Shila Datta & Ors., reported in 2011 AIR SCW 6541, and the matter was referred to the larger Bench.

8. The question again arose before the Apex Court in the case titled as Josphine James versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 6633. It is apt to reproduce paras 8, 17 and 18 of the judgment herein:

> "8. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and award passed by the High Court in MAC Appeal no. 433/2005 and the review petition, the present appeal is filed by the appellant urging certain grounds and assailing the impugned judgment in allowing the appeal of the Insurance Company without following the law laid down by this Court in Nicolletta Rohtagi's case and instead, placing reliance upon the Bhushan Sachdeva's case. Nicolletta Rohtagi's case was exhaustively discussed by a three judge bench in the case of United India Insurance Company Vs. Shila Datta, 2011 10 SCC 509. Though the Court has expressed its reservations against the correctness of the legal position in Nicolletta Rohtagi decision on various aspects, the same has been referred to higher bench and has not been overruled as yet. Hence, the ratio of Nicolletta Rohtagi's case will be still applicable in the present case. The appellant claimed that interference by the High Court with the quantum of compensation awarded by the Tribunal in favour of appellant and considerably reducing the same by modifying the judgment of the Tribunal is vitiated in law. Therefore, the impugned judgments and awards are liable to be set aside.
>
> 9. to 16. .....
>
> 17. The said order was reviewed by the High Court at the instance of the appellant in view of the aforesaid decision on the question of maintainability of the appeal of the Insurance Company. The High Court, in the review petition, has further reduced the compensation to Rs. 4,20,000/- from Rs. 6,75,000/- which was earlier awarded by it. This approach is contrary to the facts and law laid down by this Court. The High Court, in reducing the quantum of compensation under the heading of loss of dependency of the appellant, was required to follow the decision rendered by three judge Bench of this Court in Nicolletta Rohtagi case (2002) 7 SCC 456 : AIR 2002 SC 3350 : 2002 AIR SCW 3899, and earlier decisions wherein this Court after interpreting Section 170 (b) of the M. V. Act, has rightly held that in the absence of permission obtained by the Insurance Company from the Tribunal to avail the defence of the insured, it is not permitted to contest the case on merits. The aforesaid legal principle is applicable to the fact situation in view of the three judge bench decision referred to though the correctness of the aforesaid decision is referred to larger bench. This important aspect of the matter has been overlooked by the High Court while passing the impugned judgment and the said approach is contrary to law laid down by this Court.
>
> 18. In view of the aforesaid reasons, the Insurance Company is not entitled to file appeal questioning the quantum of compensation awarded in favour of the appellant for the reasons stated supra. In the absence of the same, the Insurance Company had only limited defence to contest in the proceedings as provided under Section 149 (2) of the M.V. Act.

Therefore, the impugned judgment passed by the High Court on 13.1.2012 reducing the compensation to 4,20,000/- under the heading of loss of dependency by deducting 50% from the monthly income of the deceased of Rs. 5,000/- and applying 14 multiplier, is factually and legally incorrect. The High Court has erroneously arrived at this amount by applying the principle of law laid down in Sarla Verma v. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2009 6 SCC 121 instead of applying the principle laid down in Baby Radhika Gupta's case regarding the multiplier applied to the fact situation and also contrary to the law applicable regarding the maintainability of appeal of the Insurance Company on the question of quantum of compensation in the absence of permission to be obtained by it from the Tribunal under Section 170 (b) of the M.V. Act. In view of the aforesaid reason, the High Court should not have allowed the appeal of the Insurance Company as it has got limited defence as provided under section 149(2) of the M.V. Act. Therefore, the impugned judgment and award is vitiated in law and hence, is liable to be set aside by allowing the appeal of the appellant."

9. Thus, the insurer can question the adequacy of compensation only if it has sought permission under Section 170 of the MV Act.

10. In the present case, the application filed by the insurer under Section 170 of the MV Act was dismissed by the Tribunal vide order, dated 8th September, 2010. Thus, the insurer is precluded from questioning the adequacy of compensation.

11. It appears that the amount awarded is excessive and the rate of interest is also on the higher side.

12. At this stage, Mr.O.C. Sharma, learned counsel for the claimants/respondents No.1 to 4 herein, stated that he is under instructions to settle the dispute for a sum of Rs.14.00 lacs alongwith interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till deposit. His statement is taken on record. The said offer is acceptable to Mr.B.M. Chauhan, learned counsel for the insurer.

13. Accordingly, with the consent of the learned counsel for the parties, the impugned award is modified by providing that the claimants are entitled to a sum of Rs.14.00 lacs, with interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till deposit, as compensation. The Registry is directed to release the entire amount alongwith interest in favour of the claimants, through their respective bank accounts, and the excess amount alongwith interest be released in favour of the insurer through payees' account cheque.

14. The impugned award is modified and the appeal is disposed of as settled.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

The New India Assurance Company .....Appellant

Versus

Smt. Urmila Devi and others ...Respondents.

FAO (MVA) No. 160 of 2011.
Date of decision: 4th November,2016.

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- It was contended that the driver did not have a driving licence at the time of accident- insurer had not led any evidence to prove that driver did not have a valid and effective driving licence and the owner had committed willful breach – RW-1 proved that driver had driving licence issued by R & LA, Bilaspur, which was renewed by R & LA, Sarkaghat after getting confirmation from R & LA, Bilaspur- the insurer had failed to discharge the onus placed upon it and was rightly saddled with liability- MACT had awarded interest @ 9% per annum, which is reduced to 7.5% per annum. (Para- 4 to 13)

Cases referred:

National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Swaran Singh and others, AIR 2004 Supreme Court 1531

Pepsu Road Transport Corporation versus National Insurance Company, (2013) 10 Supreme Court Cases 217

United India Insurance Co. Ltd. and others versus Patricia Jean Mahajan and others, (2002) 6 SCC 281

Santosh Devi versus National Insurance Company Ltd. and others, 2012 AIR SCW 2892

Amrit Bhanu Shali and others vs National Insurance Company Limited and others, (2012) 11 SCC 738

Smt. Savita versus Binder Singh & others, 2014 AIR SCW 2053

Kalpanaraj & others versus Tamil Nadu State Transport Corpn., 2014 AIR SCW 2982

Amresh Kumari versus Niranjan Lal Jagdish Pd. Jain and others, (2015) 4 SCC 433

Mohinder Kaur and others versus Hira Nand Sindhi (Ghoriwala) and another, (2015) 4 SCC 434

Oriental Insurance Company versus Smt. Indiro and others, ILR 2015 (IV) HP 1149

For the appellant: Mr. B.M. Chauhan, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. Vivek Chandel, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 and 2.
Mr. Baldev Singh Negi and Ashwani Negi, Advocates, for respondents No. 3 and 4.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice, (Oral).

This appeal is directed against the judgment and award dated 7.2.2011, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-II, Una, H.P. hereinafter referred to as "the Tribunal", for short, in MACP No.2 of 2009, titled Smt.Urmila Devi and another versus Sh. Hem Raj and others, whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.2,87,000/- alongwith interest @ 9% per annum with counsel fee assessed at Rs.1,000/- came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and insurer was saddled with the liability, for short "the impugned award", on the grounds taken in the memo of appeal.

2. Claimants, owner and driver have not questioned the impugned award on any ground, thus it has attained the finality, so far as it relates to them.

3. The insurer has questioned the impugned award on the grounds taken in the memo of appeal.

4. Learned counsel for the appellant argued that the driver was not having a valid and effective driving licence at the time of the accident. Thus, the only question to be determined in this appeal is-whether the driver was having a valid and effective driving licence and the owner has committed willful breach?

5. The insurer has examined only one witness, i.e., Kamlesh Kumar RW1, who is licence Clerk, from the office of S.D.M. Sarkaghat. The insurer has not led any evidence to the effect that the driver was not having a valid and effective driving licence and the owner has committed willful breach.

6. It was for the insurer to plead and prove that the owner has committed any willful breach in terms of Sections 147 and 149 of the Motor Vehicles Act read with the judgment rendered by the apex Court in case titled National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Swaran Singh and others, reported in AIR 2004 Supreme Court 1531. It is apt to reproduce relevant portion of para 105 of the judgment herein:

"105. .....

(i) .....

(ii) .....

(iii) The breach of policy condition e.g. disqualification of driver or invalid driving licence of the driver, as contained in sub-section (2) (a) (ii) of Section 149, have to be proved to have been committed by the insured for avoiding liability by the insurer. Mere absence, fake or invalid driving licence or disqualification of the driver for driving at the relevant time, are not in themselves defences available to the insurer against either the insured or the third parties. To avoid its liability towards insured, the insurer has to prove that the insured was guilty of negligence and failed to exercise reasonable care in the matter of fulfilling the condition of the policy regarding use of vehicles by duly licensed driver or one who was not disqualified to drive at the relevant time.

(iv) The insurance companies are, however, with a view to avoid their liability, must not only establish the available defence(s) raised in the said proceedings but must also establish 'breach' on the part of the owner of the vehicle; the burden of proof wherefore would be on them.

(v).....

(vi) Even where the insurer is able to prove breach on the part of the insured concerning the policy condition regarding holding of a valid licence by the driver or his qualification to drive during the relevant period, the insurer would not be allowed to avoid its liability towards insured unless the said breach or breaches on the condition of driving licence is/are so fundamental as are found to have contributed to the cause of the accident. The Tribunals in interpreting the policy conditions would apply "the rule of main purpose" and the concept of "fundamental breach" to allow defences available to the insured under Section 149 (2) of the Act."

7. It would also be profitable to reproduce para 10 of the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in Pepsu Road Transport Corporation versus National Insurance Company, reported in (2013) 10 Supreme Court Cases 217, herein:

"10. In a claim for compensation, it is certainly open to the insurer under Section 149(2)(a)(ii) to take a defence that the driver of the vehicle involved in the accident was not duly licensed. Once such a defence is taken, the onus is on the insurer. But even after it is proved that the licence possessed by the driver was a fake one, whether there is liability on the insurer is the moot question. As far as the owner of the vehicle is concerned, when he hires a driver, he has to check whether the driver has a valid driving licence. Thereafter he has to satisfy himself as to the competence of the driver. If satisfied in that regard also, it can be said that the owner had taken reasonable care in employing a person who is qualified and competent to drive the vehicle. The owner cannot be expected to go beyond that, to the extent of verifying the genuineness of the driving licence with the licensing authority before hiring the services of the driver. However, the situation would be different if at the time of insurance of the vehicle or thereafter the insurance company requires the owner of the vehicle to have the licence duly verified from the licensing authority or if the attention of the owner of the vehicle is otherwise invited to the allegation that the licence issued to the driver employed by him is a fake one and yet the owner does not take appropriate action for verification of the matter regarding the genuineness of the licence from the licensing authority. That is what is explained in Swaran Singh case. If despite such information with the owner that the licence possessed by his driver is fake, no action is taken by the insured for appropriate verification, then the insured will be at fault and, in such circumstances, the Insurance Company is not liable for the compensation."

8. RW-1 Kamlesh Kumar has deposed that the driver was having driving licence No. 151 /1999 dated 10.2.1999, issued by the R & LA, Bilaspur and it was renewed vide renewal No.

991/2010 dated 16.12.2010 by R& LA, Sarkaghat after getting confirmation from the R& LA Bilaspur that the driving licence was genuine and valid.

9. Having said so, the insurer has failed to prove that the driver was not having a valid and effective driving licence at the time of accident. The Tribunal has made discussion in para 23 of the impugned award, needs no interference.

10. The Tribunal has awarded interest @ 9% per annum. However, interest was to be awarded at the rate of 7.5% per annum, for the following reasons.

11. It is a beaten law of the land that the rate of interest should be awarded as per the prevailing rates, in view of the judgments rendered by the Apex Court in cases titled as United India Insurance Co. Ltd. and others versus Patricia Jean Mahajan and others, reported in (2002) 6 SCC 281; Satosh Devi versus National Insurance Company Ltd. and others, reported in 2012 AIR SCW 2892; Amrit Bhanu Shali and others versus National Insurance Company Limited and others reported in (2012) 11 SCC 738; Smt. Savita versus Binder Singh & others, reported in 2014, AIR SCW 2053; Kalpanaraj & others versus Tamil Nadu State Transport Corpn., reported in 2014 AIR SCW 2982; Amresh Kumari versus Niranjan Lal Jagdish Pd. Jain and others, reported in (2015) 4 SCC 433, and Mohinder Kaur and others versus Hira Nand Sindhi (Ghoriwala) and another, reported in (2015) 4 SCC 434, and discussed by this Court in a batch of FAOs, FAO No. 256 of 2010, titled as Oriental Insurance Company versus Smt. Indiro and others, being the lead case, decided on 19.06.2015.

12. Accordingly, interest @7.5% per annum is awarded from the date of claim petition till realization of the amount.

13. The insurer is directed to deposit the amount alongwith interest @ 7.5% per annum, within eight weeks from today in the Registry. The Registry, on deposit, is directed to release the amount in favour of the claimants, strictly in terms of the conditions contained in the impugned award, through payees' cheque account, or by depositing the same in their bank accounts, after proper verification and excess amount, if any, be refunded to the insurer/appellant through payees' cheque account.

14. Viewed thus, the impugned award is modified as indicated hereinabove and appeal is disposed of alongwith pending applications.

15. Send down the record forthwith, after placing a copy of this judgment.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Shri Babu Ram. .....Appellant/non-objector/non-applicant.

Versus

Shri Santokh Singh & another. .....Respondent/Objector/applicant(Santokh Singh).

CMP(M) No. 1118 of 2014 in Cross Objection No. 50 of 2014 in RSA No. 457 of 2002-F
Reserved on: 02.11.2016
Decided on: 07 .11.2016

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 22- Limitation Act, 1963- Section 5- The cross-objections are barred by eleven years eight months and 17 days – no actual date of hearing was issued – the Court has discretion to entertain the cross-objections, even after the expiry of 30 days – the objector was not asked to file the cross-objections within 30 days and he being illiterate, rustic and old person could not file them within the period of 30 days- there are sufficient grounds to condone the delay- held, that limitation will start running from the first date of hearing – the date of hearing will start from the day when the objector and his pleader appeared in the Courts- the appeal is yet to be decided and the interest of justice will be served, if the objector is heard on merits- application allowed and the delay in filing the cross-objections condoned.(Para- 7 to 11)

Case referred:
Mahadev Govind Gharge and others vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer, Upper Krishna Project, Jamkhandi, Karnataka, (2011) 6 Supreme Court Cases 321

For the appellant/ non-objector:	Mr. Ashwani K. Sharma, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Nishant Kumar, Advocate.
For respondent No. 1/ Objector:	Mr. G.C. Gupta, Sr. Advocate, with Mr. Ramakant Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge.

The present application has been filed by the applicant/respondent/objector, Santokh Singh (now deceased, represented through legal representatives) (hereinafter referred to as 'the objector') under Order 41, Rule 22 CPC read with Section 5 of the Indian Limitation Act for condoning the delay in moving the cross-objections.

2. As per the objector, he has moved the cross-objections, which are barred by eleven years, eight months and seventeen days, but, in fact, the objections were filed within a year after fixing the date of hearing by this Hon'ble Court. It is further contended by the objector that he has preferred the cross-objections, in the present regular second appeal (RSA No. 457 of 2002), which is pending adjudication, against judgment dated 15.05.2002, passed by the learned District Judge, Hamirpur, in Civil Appeal No. 86 of 1994, whereby findings recorded by the learned Sub Judge, 1st Class(2), Hamirpur, in Civil suit No. 194/91, decided on 04.05.1994, were partly set-aside. As per the objector, the cross-objections have been filed within time, as no actual date notice of hearing was ever issued to him. As per Order 41, Rule 22 CPC, the Court has discretion to entertain the cross-objections, even after the expiry of thirty days. The objector was an old, illiterate and ailing person and he did not understand the intricacies of law. The objector further contends that he was never advised to file the cross-objections, till the last date of hearing, so the same could not be filed within thirty days from the date of admission. Even otherwise also, the period of thirty days, as per the provision of CPC would start from the date when actual date notice of hearing is issued by the Court. As per the objector, there are sufficient grounds for condoning the delay in filing the cross-objections and the same may kindly be condoned. The application is duly supported with an affidavit.

3. Reply to the application stands filed and it is averred therein that the regular second appeal was admitted on 08.10.2002. No objections were filed within the stipulated time of one month or extended period, therefore, the application deserves dismissal.

4. I have heard the learned Senior counsel for the parties and gone through the record in detail.

5. The learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the objector/respondent/applicant has argued that the matter was listed for the first time for hearing on 14.12.2012 and the period of one month is to be taken from 14.12.2012. Taking this into consideration, the cross-objections cannot be said to be too much time barred. He has further argued that even Under Order 41, Rule 33 CPC, the objector (respondent) has a right to argue and assail the judgment, as against him. He has prayed that the delay, in moving the cross-objections, may be condoned. To fortify his arguments, he has relied upon a judgment rendered by the Hon'ble Apex court in case titled as Mahadev Govind Gharge and others vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer, Upper Krishna Project, Jamkhandi, Karnataka, (2011) 6 Supreme Court Cases 321.

6. Conversely, the learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant/non-objector/non-applicant (hereinafter referred to as 'the non-objector') has also relied upon the judgment (supra) referred by the learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the objector. He has argued that as the delay has not been sufficiently explained, the application for condonation of delay is required to be dismissed. He has further argued that the objector is taking contradictory pleas and first he should decide whether he want to pursue the present cross-objections under Order 41, Rule 22 CPC or want to argue the matter under Order 41, Rule 33 CPC. However, he has argued that the application deserves dismissal and may be dismissed.

7. Precisely, the grounds, which the objector has taken in the application, are that he is an old, illiterate and ailing person having no knowledge of the intricacies of law and more so he was never advised to file cross-objections till the last date of hearing.

8. The judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court in Mahadev Govind Gharge and others vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer, Upper Krishna Project, Jamkhandi, Karnataka, (2011) 6 Supreme Court Cases 321, has been relied upon by both the parties, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court in para 60 has held as under:

> "60. Having analytically examined the provisions of Order 41 Rule 22, we may now state the principles for its applications as follows:
>
> (a) The respondent in an appeal is entitled to receive a notice of hearing of the appeal as contemplated under Order 41 Rule 22 of the Code.
>
> (b) The limitation of one month for filing the cross-objection as provided under Order 41 Rule 22 of the Code shall commence from the date of service of notice on him or his pleader of the day fixed for hearing the appeal.
>
> (c) Where a respondent in the appeal is a caveator or otherwise puts in appearance himself and argues the appeal on merits including for the purposes of interim order and the appeal is ordered to be heard finally on a date fixed subsequently or otherwise, in presence of the said respondent/caveator, it shall be deemed to be service of notice within the meaning of Order 41 Rule 22. In other words the limitation of one month shall start from that date."

9. Further the Hon'ble apex Court in the judgment (supra) has also held as under:

> " 24. Rule 22 is not only silent on the consequences flowing from such default from filing appeal within one month, from the period fixed hereunder, but it even clothes the court with power to take on record the cross-objections even after the expiry of the said period. Thus, the right of the cross-objector is not taken away in absolute terms in case of such default. The courts exercise this power vested in them by virtue of specific language of Rule 22 itself and thus, its provisions must receive a liberal construction.
>
> ... ... ...
>
> 28. In Kailash v. Nanhku ((2005) 4 SCC 480), a Bench of three Judges of this Court while —interpreting the provisions of Order 8 Rule 1 of the Code, which has more stringent language and provides no such discretion to extend the limitation as provided to the courts in Order 41 Rule 22, had observed that despite the use of such language in the provisions of Order 8 Rule 1 of the Code, the judicial discretion to extend the limitation contained therein has been a matter of legal scrutiny for quite some time but now the law is well settled that in special circumstances, the court can even extend the time beyond the 90 days as specified therein and held as under: (SCC pp. 494-95, paras 27-28)

"27. ... The object is to expedite the hearing and not to scuttle the same. The process of justice may be speeded up and hurried but the fairness which is a basic element of justice cannot be permitted to be buried. ...

28. ... In an adversarial system, no party should ordinarily be denied the opportunity of participating in the process of justice dispensation. Unless compelled by express and specific language of the statute, the provisions of CPC or any other procedural enactment ought not to be construed in a manner which would leave the court helpless to meet extraordinary situations in the ends of justice."

... ...

37. Procedural laws, like the Code, are intended to control and regulate the procedure of judicial proceedings to achieve the objects of justice and expeditious disposal of cases. The provisions of procedural law which do not provide for penal consequences in default of their compliance should normally be construed as directory in nature and should receive liberal construction. The court should always keep in mind the object of the statute and adopt an interpretation which would further such cause in light of attendant circumstances. To put it simply, the procedural law must act as a linchpin to keep the wheel of expeditious and effective determination of dispute moving in its place. The procedural checks must achieve their end object of just, fair and expeditious justice to the parties without seriously prejudicing the rights of any of them.

... ...

54. In Rashida Begum (AIR 2008 Rajasthan 131) the Delhi High Court had noticed that limitation for filing the cross-objection would start from the date of service of notice of hearing of the appeal. A notice containing only the date of hearing of the stay application but not the appeal would not be "notice" as contemplated under Order 41 Rule 22 of the Code.

55. The view taken by the Delhi High Court is more in line with the intent of the provisions of Order 41 Rule 22 while the decision of the Rajasthan High Court was on its own facts and cannot be treated to be stating a proposition of law. The application of law would always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case and what is the true and correct construction of Order 41 Rule 22 we shall shortly proceed to state."

10. From the above referred judgment it is amply clear that the limitation will start from the date the objector has given the first date of hearing. Taking this into consideration, it cannot be said that the cross-objections are hopelessly time barred, as as per the record, the date of one month will start from the date the objector or his pleader appears in the Court on the date fixed for hearing of the appeal, hearing in appeal was fixed on 14.12.2012, on which date the case was listed for hearing on 25.02.2013. It is clear from the record that earlier the case was not listed for hearing by this Hon'ble Court. Even if this Court takes that the cross-objections are barred by eleven years, eight months and seventeen days, then also the objector can request this Court to hear and give findings against the portion of the judgment which is against him. As the appeal is still to be heard and the Court under Order 41, Rule 33 CPC may render findings in favour of the objector, this Court finds that the interests of justice would be subserved if the objector (respondent) is heard on cross-objections. Moreover, the delay in moving the cross-objections has been sufficiently and satisfactorily explained, which, in the opinion of this Court, is the ill advice of the Advocate and when the objector was advised, he maintained the cross-objections.

11. Applying the law, this Court finds that the interest of justice would be met, in case the delay is condoned in moving application under Order 41, Rule 22 CPC. Accordingly, the delay in moving the cross-objections is allowed and the cross-objections are taken on record. The application stands disposed of accordingly.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE P.S. RANA, J.

Khem Chand son of Shri Jagdish Chand ....Revisionist/Landlord

Versus

Kuldeep Chand son of Shri Khem Chand ....Non-Revisionist/Tenant

Civil Revision No. 188 of 2006
Order Reserved on 17th August 2016
Date of Order 7th November 2016

H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987- Section 14- An eviction petition was filed on the ground that the tenant is in arrears of rent, premises is in dangerous condition and may collapse at any time, the same is required bona-fide for re-construction, which cannot be carried out without vacating the building - the premises, is required bona-fide for personal use and the same is required for being demolished at the instance of Municipal Committee, Palampur- the petition was allowed by Rent Controller on the ground of non-payment of arrears of rent- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held in revision that Rent Controller had recorded that issue No. 3 was not pressed, however, the Statement of Counsel was not recorded to this effect – Appellate Court held that premises is commercial in nature and cannot be vacated for non-occupation- however, the law was amended during the pendency of the proceedings and this ground became available to the landlord – Revision allowed and the case remanded to the Appellate Authority to decide the same afresh in accordance with law. (Para-11 to 15)

Case referred:
Hari Dass Sharma vs. Vikas Sood and others, 2013(5) SCC 243

For the Revisionist: Mr. K.D. Sood Sr. Advocate with Mr.Mukul Sood Advocate
For the Non-Revisionist: Mr. Bhupender Gupta Sr. Advocate with Mr.Janesh Gupta Advocate.

The following order of the Court was delivered:

P.S. Rana, Judge.

Order of Limited remand:- Present civil revision petition is filed under Section 24(5) of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act 1987 against order of learned Appellate Authority(III) Kangra dated 13.10.2006 whereby order of learned Rent Controller dated 30.3.2002 affirmed.

Brief facts of the case

2. Khem Chand landlord filed eviction petition under Section 14 of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act 1987 for eviction of tenant. It is pleaded that premises is commercial premises situated in Shop No. M/257 main market Palampur. It is pleaded that monthly rent is Rs.100/- (Rupees one hundred) per month and premises was let out in the year 1971. It is pleaded that electricity bill is paid by tenant. It is pleaded that tenant has not paid rent of premises w.e.f. 1.12.1993 and premises is in dangerous condition and would collapse at any time. It is pleaded that premises is required by landlord for rebuilding into three stories structure after demolition of existing structure. It is pleaded that tenant could not carry out rebuilding without vacation of premises by tenant. It is pleaded that landlord requires the premises for his own use as landlord did not own any building within urban area and landlord has not vacated any such building within five years of filing the eviction petition. It is pleaded that back portion of demised premises has collapsed and partially demolished at the instance of Municipal Committee Palampur in consequence of notice. Prayer for acceptance of eviction petition sought.

3. Per contra response filed on behalf of tenant pleaded therein that eviction petition is not legally and factually maintainable. It is pleaded that act and conduct of landlord bars the landlord to file present petition. It is pleaded that landlord is estopped by his act, conduct and acquiescence to file the present eviction petition. It is pleaded that present petition has been filed just to harass the tenant. It is pleaded that present eviction petition is barred on concept of resjudicata. It is denied that premises has become unsafe and unfit for human habitation. It is pleaded that landlord can raise three stories structure/building without demolition of existing structure and without eviction of tenant. It is also denied that landlord requires the building for his own occupation. It is pleaded that earlier also eviction petition was filed on same ground and earlier eviction petition was dismissed upto the level of High Court. Prayer for dismissal of eviction petition sought.

4. Landlord also filed rejoinder and re-asserted the allegations mentioned in eviction petition. As per pleadings of parties following issues were framed by learned Rent Controller on 22.7.2001:-

1. Whether tenant has not paid rent of premises from December 1993 uptil now if so its effect? ....OPA

2. Whether premises in question/building is in a dangerous condition and unsafe which would collpase at any time and same cannot be re-build without the building being vacated, as alleged? ....OPA

3. Whether building in question is required by landlord for his own occupation as alleged? If so, its effect? .....OPA

4. Whether petition is not maintainable? .....OPR

5. Whether petitioner is estopped by his act and conduct to file the present petition? ...OPR

6. Whether petition is barred under the principle of resjudicata? .....OPR

7. Relief.

5. Learned Rent Controller decided issue No.1 in affirmative and decided issues Nos. 2, 4, 5 and 6 in negative. Learned Rent Controller held that issue No.3 was not pressed at the time of arguments. Learned Rent Controller decided issue No. 3 as not pressed. Learned Rent Controller allowed the petition of landlord partly on the ground of non-payment of arrears of rent w.e.f. 1.12.1993 at the rate of Rs.100/- per month. Learned Rent Controller dismissed the eviction petition on other grounds. Learned Rent Controller further directed that if tenant would pay the arrears of rent plus interest at the rate of 9% per annum within a period of thirty days w.e.f. 30.3.2002 plus costs assessed at Rs.200/- then tenant would not be evicted from demised premises.

6. Thereafter Khem Chand landlord filed appeal under Section 24 of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act 1987 against order of learned Rent Controller and learned Appellate Authority dismissed the appeal filed by landlord on dated 13.10.2006 and affirmed the order of learned Rent Controller.

7. Feeling aggrieved against order of learned Appellate Authority landlord filed present revision petition.

8. Court heard learned Advocate appearing on behalf of revisionist and learned Advocate appearing on behalf of non-revisionist and Court also perused entire record carefuly.

9. Following points arise for determination in civil revision petition:-

Point No.1 Whether revision petition filed under Section 24(5) of Urban Rent Control Act 1987 is liable to be accepted as mentioned in memorandum of grounds of civil revision petition?

Point No.2 Relief.

10. Findings upon point No.1 with reasons

10.1. AW1 Khem Chand has stated that premises is situated in main market Palampur. He has stated that premises was rented out at the rate of Rs.100/- per month. He has stated that tenant did not pay the arrears of rent w.e.f. December 1993. He has stated that shop is 75-80 years old and some portion of shop was burnt in the year 1954-55. He has stated that application was filed before SDM with allegations that premises would fall at any time and would cause damage to human beings. He has stated that thereafter SDM issued notice to him and he also filed response. He has stated that thereafter back portion of shop was demolished. He has stated that he consulted the expert and expert had given the opinion that for re-construction eviction of tenant is essential. He has stated that he would spend Rs. 5 to 7 lacs for reconstruction purpose and he is drawing pension of Rs.6461/-(Rupees six thousand four hundred sixty one). He has stated that he is also owner of three hundred kanal of land in Una and he used to earn rupees three lacs annually from that land. He has stated that banks have also agreed to give loan to him. He has stated that copy of notice issued by SDM is Mark A-3 and further stated that he has also prepared site plan of proposed construction. He has denied suggestion that after December 1993 tenant offered rent but he declined to accept the rent. He has denied suggestion that wall of demised premises is constructed with cement. He has denied suggestion that demised premises did not require any major repair. He has denied suggestion that demised premises is safe for commercial purpose. He has admitted that he and Manohar Lal were joint owners of four shops. Self stated that family partition effected between him and Manohar. He has denied suggestion that three stories building could be constructed without eviction of tenant. He has denied suggestion that he is in possession of other shops also. He had admitted that his earlier eviction petition was dismissed upto High Court level. He has denied suggestion that no notice was given to him by SDM. He has denied suggestion that he did not obtain the opinion of any expert engineer. He has stated that he is not income tax assessee because his income is from agriculture product. He has denied suggestion that documents Mark 1 to 3 have been prepared in fraudulent manner. He has denied suggestion that eviction petition filed by him in order to harass the tenant in illegal manner.

10.2 AW2 Ajay Sharma has stated that he is civil engineer consultant at Palampur since 6-7 years and he has seen the demises premises. He has stated that basement of demised premises is damaged and premises is unsafe for commercial purpose. He has stated that no construction could be raised upon the old demised premises and demolition of demised premises is required for new reconstruction purpose. He has stated that he has filed report Ext.AW2/A placed on record. He has denied suggestion that he has not personally visited the demised premises. He has denied suggestion that report Ext.AW2/A is not written by him. He has denied suggestion that foundation and walls of demised premises are of permanent nature. He has denied suggestion that two stories structure could be raised upon the upper roof of demises premises. He has denied suggestion that he has prepared report Ext.AW2/A in his house.

10.3 AW3 Kishori Lal Ahlmad SDM Court Palampur has stated that he has brought the record. He has stated that copy of notice issued under Section 133 Cr.P.C. is Ext.AW3/A which is correct as per original record.

10.4 AW4 Rakesh Kumar Clerk Municipal Committee Palampur has stated that he is posted as Clerk in Municipal Committee and he did not bring the summoned record.

10.5 AW5 Mool Chand has stated that his shop is given upon tenancy to Shiv Kumar proprietor Janta Sweet shop. He has stated that Shiv Kumar informed him that shop of Khem Chand would demolish at any point of time and would damage his shop. He has stated that he told Shiv Kumar tenant to take necessary action. He has stated that thereafter Shiv Kumar filed application before SDM and thereafter official of committee demolished the wall. He has stated that demised premises is not in proper condition. He has stated that his house is situated at a distance of 90 K.m. from Palampur. He has denied suggestion that he is not owner of any shop at Palampur. He has denied suggestion that demised premises is in proper condition. He has denied suggestion that walls of demised premises are in proper condition. He has denied suggestion that he came from 100 K.m. because he is friend of landlord.

10.6 AW6 Mahesh Dutt has stated that he is posted as executive officer at Municipal Committee Palampur. He has stated that municipal committee has written request letter to SDM with allegations that if back portion of house would fall then path would be blocked. He has stated that SDM was requested to take necessary action.

10.7 AW7 Mohinder Singh has stated that he is posted as Manager in KCC bank. He has stated that bank used to pay loan for construction of house. He has stated that landlord came to him for loan sanction. He has stated that he told the landlord that loan would be sanctioned after completion of loan formalities and he issued letter Ext.AW7/A. He has denied suggestion that landlord did not file any application for loan. He has denied suggestion that revenue papers were not perused. He has denied suggestion that he has issued wrong certificate Ext.AW7/A. He has denied suggestion that he has issued letter against the rules and regulations.

10.8 AW8 Vinay Sharma has stated that he is architect at Palampur. He has stated that he has prepared site plan Ext.AW8/A at the instance of landlord. He has stated that cost of structure would be 3-4 lacs. He has stated that he has prepared document Ext.AW8/A after perusal of tatima and after inspection of site. He has stated that he could not state that plinth of demised premises and shop of Manohar are same.

10.9 RW1 Khem Chand has stated that he is special attorney of tenant and same is Ext.R-1. He has stated that demised premises is constructed of permanent concrete bricks and further stated that walls are also concrete and lintel is raised upon roof. He has stated that floors are also cemented. He has stated that demised premises was taken in the year 1974 from Manohar Lal. He has stated that SDM did not pass any order relating to demised premises. He has stated that in family partition demised premises came to share of revisionist. He has stated that landlord did not receive the rent despite tendered by tenant. He has stated that expert also visited the demised premises and submitted reports Mark R-1 and Mark R-2. He has denied suggestion that back portion of demised premises fallen. He has stated that he did not see the basement of demised premises. He has stated that he did not visit the back portion of demised premises. He has admitted that tenant did not pay rent after 1993 and self stated that tenant is ready to pay rent after 1993.

10.10 RW2 Surender Kumar has stated that he is a member of Municipal Committee Palampur since 1974 and he also remained as President and as of today he is also member of Municipal Committee. He has stated that he has seen the demised premises and further stated that demised premises is constructed of concrete bricks. He has stated that floors are also concrete and lintel is raised upon the premises. He has stated that demised premises did not require any repair. He has stated that a room which was situated behind the shop was demolished and demised premises and rooms are two different portions. He has stated that house was 70-80 years old and demised premises was constructed in the year 1954-55. He has stated that shop of Manohar Lal is also situated adjoining to demised premises. He has stated that there is common wall of demised premises and shop of Manohar Lal. He has stated that demised premises was constructed in his presence. He has stated that two shops came in share of landlord and two shops came in share of Manohar Lal. He has stated that Manohar Lal has constructed two stories building upon his shop. He has stated that two stories building could also be constructed upon demised premises. He has stated that his shop is situated in front of demised premises. He has denied suggestion that cracks have developed in walls of demised premises. He has denied suggestion that 2-3 stories building could not be constructed upon the demised premises.

10.11 RW3 Raj Kumar has stated that he is posted in Agriculture University as Assistant Engineer and he has acquired diploma in civil engineering. He has stated that he was appointed as Junior Engineer and he worked as Junior Engineer for 17 years and now he is working as Assistant Engineer since 11 years. He has stated that he also used to do construction work and repair work of buildings and he has inspected the demised premises twice and submitted the report. He has stated that report is Ext.RW3/A. He has stated that entire demised premises is cemented. He has denied suggestion that walls of demised premises have tilted. He has denied suggestion that cracks have developed in demised premises.

11. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of revisionist that learned Appellate Authority did not decide ground No. 5 of appeal relating to issue No. 3 in accordance with law and caused grave miscarriage of justice to revisionist and on this ground case be remitted back to Appellate Authority is accepted for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. Learned Rent Controller has specifically mentioned in order that issue No. 3 was not pressed during the course of arguments by learned Advocate and learned Rent Controller decided issue No. 3 as not pressed. Thereafter landlord filed appeal before learned Appellate Authority and took specific ground in paragraph 5 of appeal that learned Rent Controller gravely erred in not deciding issue No. 3 on merits. Landlord pleaded in paragraph 5 of grounds of appeal that Advocate was not authorised to give any statement relating to issue No.3. Learned Rent Controller did not record statement of learned Advocate in writing to the effect that issue No. 3 was not pressed at the time of arguments. Learned Appellate Court decided ground No. 5 of appeal with observations that demised premises is commercial in nature and landlord cannot seek eviction of tenant in commercial premises on the ground of requirement for own occupation as per H.P. Urban Rent Control Act 1987. Section 14 of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act 1987 was amended vide H.P. Urban Rent Control Amendment Act 2009 (Act No. 8 of 2012) which received assent of President of India on 28.2.2012 and published in H.P. Gazetted on 16.3.2012. Vide amendment in Section 14 of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act 1987 landlord can seek eviction of tenant in residential and non-residential premises for his own occupation. It is well settled law that Court can take judicial notice of amendment in law at subsequent stage.

12. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of non-revisionist that amendment in Section 14 of H.P. Urban Rent Control Act 1987 is prospective in nature and not retrospective in nature and on this ground revision petition be dismissed is decided accordingly. It is well settled law that when legislature enacts a statute then whether its operation would be prospective or retrospective would depend upon the provision of statute. It is well settled law that amendment in statute is always prospective in nature unless it is expressly made retrospective in nature. There is no recital in H.P. Urban Rent Control Amendment Act 2009 (Act No. 8 of 2012) that its operation would be retrospective in nature.

13. It is well settled law that when Hon'ble Apex Court of India gives any decision declaring law then Hon'ble Apex Court of India declares pre-existence rights and obligations. It is well settled law that decision of Hon'ble Apex Court of India is always binding upon all Courts situated in India as per Article 141 of Constitution of India. It is well settled law that decision of Hon'ble Apex Court of India is binding upon pending cases of similar nature. Hon'ble Apex Court of India in case reported in 2013(5) SCC 243 titled Hari Dass Sharma vs. Vikas Sood and others made operative amended provision of Section 14 of H.P. Urban Rent Control Amendment Act 2009 (Act No. 8 of 2012) upon pending cases also. In view of decision of Hon'ble Apex Court of India cited supra it is held that provision of H.P. Urban Rent Control Amendment Act 2009 (Act No. 8 of 2012) will also operative in present case.

14. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of revisionist that in view of disposal of civil revision No. 335 of 1997 by Hon'ble H.P. High Court on dated 6.3.1998 present revision petition be dismissed is rejected being devoid of any force for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. It is held that when civil revision No. 335 of 1997 was disposed of by Hon'ble H.P. High Court on dated 6.3.1998 at that time ground for eviction of tenant on the basis of requirement of premises for own occupation in commercial premises was not available to landlord as per law. But now due to subsequent change in law vide H.P. Urban Rent Control Amendment Act 2009 (Act No. 8 of 2012) landlord can seek eviction of tenant from commercial premises on ground that landlord requires demised premises for his own occupation. Point No.1 is decided accordingly.

Point No. 2 (Relief)

15. In view of findings upon point No.1 order passed by learned Appellate Authority-III Kangra at Dharamshala dated 13.10.2006 is set aside and case is remanded back to learned Appellate Authority-III Kangra at Dharamshala for limited purpose only with direction to decide ground No. 5 of appeal upon merits afresh in accordance with law and thereafter dispose of entire appeal afresh in accordance with law. Parties are left to bear their own costs. Parties are directed to appear before learned Appellate Authority-III Kangra at Dharamshala on 25.11.2016. Observations will not effect merits of case in any manner and will be strictly confined for disposal of present revision petition. Learned Appellate Authority-III Kangra at Dharamshala will dispose of appeal expeditiously within three months from today. Record of learned Rent Controller and learned Appellate Authority-III Kangra at Dharamshal be sent back forthwith along with certified copy of order. Revision petition is disposed of. All pending miscellaneous application(s) if any also stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Rajeev Kumar ....Petitioner.

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh. ...Respondent.

Cr. MP (M) No.1293 of 2016
Decided on: 7th November, 2016

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offence punishable under Section 302 of I.P.C – the petitioner applied for bail- the petitioner was last seen by the witnesses with the deceased – therefore, it is not a fit case, where judicial discretion to admit the petitioner on bail is required to be exercised -petition dismissed. (Para-4)

For the petitioner : Mr. N.S. Chandel, Advocate.

For the respondent : Mr. Virender Kumar Verma, Addl. AG, with Mr. Rajat Chauhan, Law Officer.
ASI Ravinder Singh, P.S. Jawalamukhi, District Kangra, H.P.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge (oral).

The present bail application is maintained by the petitioner under Section 439 of the Code of Criminal Procedure for releasing him on bail in case FIR No.60/2016, dated 14.06.2016, under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, registered at Police Station Jawalamukhi, District Kangra, H.P.

2. As per the petitioner, he is innocent and has been falsely implicated in the present case. He is behind the bars and there is nothing against him, so he may be released on bail.

3. Police report filed. As per the prosecution case, on 13.06.2016 complainant, Shri Basant Kumar, was on his way to Village Muhal to labour work. At about 6 p.m. he was telephonically informed by his mother, Smt. Sheela Devi, that his brother, Shri Nirmal Kumar, went with the present petitioner towards Beas river, but did not return. The complainant came back and reported the matter to Pradhan of the Gram Panchayat, who informed the police. Both, police and Pradhan visited the spot where the mother of the complainant gave application to the police. The complainant came to know that the deceased took drinks with the petitioner and was with him around 3-4 p.m. On the subsequent day, divers were called by the police and they started searching the deceased and the dead body of the deceased was taken out. There were bruises on nose and forehead of the deceased. Around 2-3 months ago the petitioner thrashed the deceased and few days prior to reporting the matter, the deceased was beaten by the accused. Thus, as per the prosecution story, there is strong suspicion that the petitioner might have taken the deceased by alluring him for drinks and thereafter pushed him in the river. On this, FIR No. 60 of 2016, dated 14.06.2016, was registered under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code, at Police Station Jawalamukhi.

4. Heard. At this stage, this Court finds that it has come on record that the petitioner was last seen by the witnesses with the deceased. Keeping in view overall facts and circumstances into mind, the present is not a fit case where the judicial discretion to admit the petitioner on bail is required to be exercised. Therefore, the petition, being devoid of merits, deserves dismissal and is accordingly dismissed.

5. In view of the above, the petition stands disposed of.

****

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J..

State of H.P. .....Appellant.
Versus
Sukh Dev .....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 107 of 2012.
Decided on : 7/11/2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 506- Informant was married to the accused- the accused demanded Rs.4 lacs and gave her beatings- the accused threatened to throw her in Pandoh dam, in case of non-payment of dowry– the accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, that the marriage was not disputed- informant had not disclosed the beatings to any person- medical examination was not conducted to corroborate her version – material witnesses were not examined- the accused was rightly acquitted by the Appellate Court- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 15)

For the Appellant: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Dy. A.G.
For the Respondent: Mr. Vivek Chandel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of Himachal Pradesh against the judgement recorded by the learned Sessions Judge, Kullu, Himachal Pradesh, whereby he reversed the verdict of conviction recorded by the learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class, Manali, qua the commission by the respondent herein of offences constituted under Sections 498A and 506 IPC borne in F.I.R Ext.PW-5/A.

2. The brief facts of the case are that on the basis of application filed by the complainant Hira Devi FIR was registered at Police Station Manali. The complainant had alleged that her marriage was solemnized with the accused on 20.10.2008 by exchange of affidavits.

Thereafter they cohabitated together. Thereafter, the accused demanded dowry of Rs. four lacs and gave her beatings. The accused told her that marriage will not be registered until Rs. four lacs is paid to him. On 18.7.2009 she was given merciless beatings by the accused and demanded dowry of Rs. four lacs. She came in a Government bus alongwith accused and she was threatened that in case dowry amount was not paid to him the accused will throw her in the Pandoh Dam. It was further alleged that when she reached near a place known as 17 miles, she noticed Gokal Chand who is her cousin. She called him and at the relevant time the accused was also sitting with her. He inquired from the accused who told him that he wanted four lacs rupees dowry. Thereafter she fled away from the spot. The matter was investigated and after completing all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offence, allegedly committed by the accused challan was prepared and filed in the Court.

3. A charge stood put to the accused by the learned trial Court for his committing offences punishable under Sections 498A and 506 IPC to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 7 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, was recorded in which he pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. He did not choose to lead any evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of the evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of conviction against the accused whereas the learned Sessions Judge returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused.

6. The learned Deputy Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned Sessions Judge standing not based on a proper appreciation by him of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. The learned counsel appearing for the respondent has with considerable force and vigour contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. Ext.PW-1/A embodies an affidavit holding therewithin recitals qua marriage standing solemnized inter se the complainant and the accused/respondent herein whereafter both stayed for two days at Manali thereafter both cohabitated at Jahu. The accused/respondent herein in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.PC. admitted the factum of the complainant being his wife. However, despite the accused, in his statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. admitting the factum of the informant being his legally wedded wife would not per se render open an inference qua the charge to which he stood tried standing efficaciously proven. The complainant in F.I.R. borne on Ext.PW-5/A has voiced therein qua the accused/respondent by belabouring her hence subjecting her to cruelty. She therein also ascribes to the accused an inculpatory role qua his demanding Rs. four lacs as dowry from her. Necessarily hence the factum of the accused/respondent belabouring her also his making a demand upon her for dowry stood enjoined to be proven by creditworthy evidence. Though in her testification the complainant has supported the recitals constituted in Ext.PW-5/A yet PW-2 wherefromwhom she concerts to lend corroborative vigour to her testimony has not rendered the required efficacious corroboration to her testification. Even though in his examination in chief he has testified qua on 18.7.2009 while he was standing at a place called 17 miles for alighting a bus therefrom his thereat noticing the complainant travelling in a bus alongwith the accused whereafter he testifies qua the complainant weeping in his presence and disclosing to him qua the accused belabouring her also his demanding four lacs as dowry from her. He in his examination in chief has testified qua earlier to 18.07.2009 also the complainant twice or thrice disclosing to him of the respondent herein belabouring her besides making a demand of dowry. The aforesaid disclosures embedded in the examination of PW-2 for theirs being construable to lend corroborative vigour to the testification of PW-1 were enjoined to not suffer any erosion qua their probative sinew arising from contradictions thereto occurring in his cross-examination to which he subjected to by the learned defence counsel yet when therewithin he has been unable to disclose with precision the time(s) whereat revelations earlier to 18.07.2009 stood purportedly made to him by the complainant qua the latter standing belaboured by the accused, is an abundant portrayal of his relevant testifications in his examination in chief wherewithin he has made the aforesaid disclosures not warranting imputation of credence thereon also when he in his cross-examination concedes to the suggestion put to him by the learned defence counsel qua the accused not in his presence demanding dowry from the complainant besides his admitting qua the respondent herein not threatening the complainant in his presence also predominantly his admitting the suggestion put to him by the learned defence counsel qua his deposing in Court at the instance of PW-1, with aplomb fosters an inference of his not rendering a voluntary deposition in purported corroboration to the testification of PW-1 rather his rendering a version qua the relevant fact only at the behest besides at the instance of PW-1. In sequel thereto his testifying a tutored besides a concocted version qua the incident renders it to not stand imbued with any virtue of truth.

10. Be that as it may, the factum of the relevant disclosure standing made to him on 18.07.2009 at a place called 17 miles whereat he was standing for alighting a bus whereupon he noticed both the accused and the complainant to be travelling together is unbelievable given in his cross-examination his deposing qua the relevant revelations standing made to him at 15 miles. Since the anvil of the prosecution case is qua the relevant disclosure purportedly made by PW-1 to PW-2 occurring at 17 miles whereas PW-2 in his cross examination unraveling therein qua the relevant disclosures standing made to him by PW-1 at 15 miles distance inter se both location stands conceded by him to be two and half kilometers ipso facto renders the factum of the relevant disclosure occurring at 15 miles to be stained with a gross vice of inveracity also thereupon a conclusion is erected qua his contriving the factum of PW-1 making any disclosure to him on 18.7.2009. Consequently, the testification of PW-2 in purported corroboration of the testification of PW-1 is unworthy of reliance. In aftermath, the sole uncorroborated testimony of PW-1 cannot acquire any formidable vigour.

11. The complainant in her testification embodied in her examination in chief voices therein qua hers disclosing the factum probandum to her mother who despite her name occurring in the list of prosecution witnesses was given up by the learned APP concerned. Though her examination would have lent corroborative vigour to the testification of PW-1 yet the prosecution chose to not examine her as its witness rather it proceeded to examine PW-2 who however has for reasons aforesaid not lent any vigour to the prosecution version. Cumulatively hence the omission of the prosecution to examine the mother of the complainant as its witness whereas with the complainant making a communication qua hers unveiling the relevant disclosures to her mother constrains a conclusion of the prosecution failing to prove the charges to which the accused stood subjected to.

12. The accused respondent herein and the complainant both resided together at Jahu whereat she alleges qua hers standing belaboured by the former. However, she did not make any disclosure qua the purported belabourings perpetrated upon her person by the accused at Jahu to any of the inhabitants of the homesteads existing in the vicinity of her homestead rather she proceeded to make a disclosure to her mother and to PW-2 the latter of whom for reasons aforestated had not supported the prosecution case whereas the former stood unexamined by the prosecution. In sequel thereto the complainant is to be concluded to contrive the factum of the accused respondent herein belabouring her at Jahu.

