Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff had taken a parking lot in the fourth floor - he was assured that access would be provided to the same - he had given a bid for Rs. 13.50 lacs, whereas, fifth floor was auctioned for Rs.9.5 lacs- possession of fourth floor was never given to the plaintiff- amount of Rs. 2,21,000/-was wrongly forfeited as possession was never delivered- suit was opposed by filing a written statement pleading that plaintiff had seen the particular area and had offered the highest bid of Rs. 13.50 lacs-, amount was forfeited on failure to take possession by the plaintiff as per terms and conditions of the auction notice - suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held in second appeal, plaintiff admitted that he had gone through the terms and conditions of the tender notice- it was specifically provided in Clause 2 that the bidder was required to deposit 20% of the bid amount at the fall of hammer and remaining amount would be paid within 30 days and in case of failure, initial amount would be forfeited- amount was forfeited strictly according to terms and conditions of the bid auction notice- appeal dismissed. Title: Sudershan Singh Rana Vs. Municipal Corporation, Shimla and another Page-447

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Plaintiff underwent tubectomy- the operation was unsuccessful and she gave birth to a male child- she filed a civil suit for the recovery of Rs.2 lacs with costs- the defendants asserted that there was no negligence in the operation- there are chances of failure which were explained to the plaintiff- the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- the appeal was allowed and a decree of Rs. 70,000/- along with interest was passed- held, in second appeal that facts are not disputed- it was not disputed that plaintiff had undergone tubectomy operation and had delivered a male child within two years of the operation – assertion of the plaintiff that defendant No. 3 had assured that operation was successful and plaintiff would not conceive again was not denied specifically- the fact that plaintiff had conceived after the operation was not in accordance with the promise made to her – consent form is in English and plaintiff was unable to understand the same- sum of Rs. 70,000/- is not sufficient to bring up the child and to compensate the plaintiff for the pain and sufferings- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. and another Vs. Sushma Sharma and another Page-550

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Section 100- Suit for recovery was filed pleading that work was awarded to the defendant- defendant executed a part of the work and had not completed the same- sum of Rs.1,64,124/- was recoverable from the defendant- defendant denied the claim of the plaintiffs and stated that plaintiffs had failed to make regular monthly payments- defendant was prevented from executing the work by the acts, conduct, omission and commission of the plaintiffs- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that Clause 2 of the agreement provided that defendant will ensure good progress during the execution of the work – site was handed over the site on 11.12.1996 and work was to be completed by 10.6.1997, but he failed to do so- defendant was informed that he was nothing to pay compensation for failure to complete the work in accordance with the time schedule – plaintiffs called the defendant before the Superintending Engineer before determination of compensation- however, he had chosen remain absent and was rightly held liable to pay compensation- appeal dismissed. Title: Madan Gopal Sharma Vs. Himachal Pradesh Housing Board and anr. Page-297

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 6 Rule 17- An application for amendment of the plaint was filed pleading that photostat copy of agreement of sale was found in a box where the deceased used to keep his documents- the deceased used to remain under the influence of liquor and could not produce photocopy at the time of filing of the civil suit- production of the photocopy will not change the nature of the suit- the application was dismissed by the trial Court- held, in revision that application has been filed by widow and minors who are rustic villagers – tracing of copy of agreement is a subsequent event and the Court can take notice of the same – proposed event is essential to avoid multiplicity of proceedings – no prejudice would be caused to the defendants by allowing application- revision allowed - order of trial Court set aside and application allowed subject to the payment of cost of Rs. 3,000/-. Title: Saroj Devi widow of late Sh. Achhar Singh & others Vs. Gurinder Singh son of Smt. Surinder Kaur & another Page-1073

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 6 Rule 17- An application for amendment of written statement was filed for pleading that agreement to sell was not valid as no sanction was taken under Section 118 of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act and Section 17 of the Companies Act – suit has been filed for specific performance and question of competency of the executant will be relevant in such a suit- therefore, application allowed. Title: M/s Mukut Hotels and Resorts (Pvt) Ltd. Vs. M/s Khuller Resorts & others Page-386

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 6 Rule 17- Different wills were set up by the parties- however, plaintiff had not given the detail of the property in the plaint- hence, application for impleadment of the plaint was filed- application was allowed by the trial Court- held, that detail of the property would be essential for passing the judgment and the same is clarificatory in nature- it does not alter the nature, construction or complexion of the pleadings- therefore, application was rightly allowed- petition dismissed. Title: Deepak Bhatia Vs. Komal Bhatia & others Page-294

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 8 Rule 1A(3)- An application was filed for placing on record the original Will of the deceased, which was the allowed- aggrieved from the order, the present application has been filed- held, that both the parties are claiming right over the property originally belonging to J- the question is whether his property was inherited by the plaintiff on the basis of natural succession or on the basis of Will- the parties hail from the rural background and are not well conversant with the procedure of law- serious prejudice would be caused to the defendants by refusing the application – the petition dismissed. Title: Kiran Bala and others Vs. Mansha Devi and others Page-986

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 35- Warrant of possession was ordered by the Executing Court- petition for execution of decree of possession was filed- J.D. preferred objection pleading that plaintiff had not taken permission under Section 118 of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- objections were rejected- held, in revision that Executing Court cannot go behind the decree and it cannot decide that decree is void – however, Court is bound to look into the fact that mandatory permission was not taken from the State of Government- evidence is to be taken in support of the same – Executing Court had not taken the evidence and had rejected the objections- petition allowed and trial Court directed to frame the issue on objections preferred by J.D. Title: Hardeep Kaur Gandhi and others Vs. Ajit Lajwanti Gujral Trust and others Page383

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 23 Rule 1- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for possession – application to withdraw the suit with liberty to file a fresh suit on the same cause of action was filed- application was allowed by the trial Court- application was filed on the ground that J had executed a valid Will- he was missing for last three years and his whereabouts were not known - a decree seeking declaration regarding civil death of J was not obtained, which is a technical defect- held, that Will would come into operation after the death of J and when proof of the death of J was not filed, suit was liable to be dismissed- no prejudice would be caused to the defendants by permitting the plaintiff to withdraw the suit- petition dismissed. Title: Vidya Devi alias Lachhi & anr. Vs. Om Prakash Page-574

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 26 Rule 9- Suit was decreed as having been compromised- parties were directed to maintain status quo qua the suit land till its partition- suit land has not been partitioned and the parties are in possession of the their respective shares- petitioner initiated proceedings pleading that path in existence was blocked by the respondent by laying slate tiles – respondent denied the existence of any such path- application for appointment of Local Commissioner was filed to determine the blockade of path- application was dismissed by the trial Court- held, that it was for the petitioner to prove the existence of the path and its blockage- allowing the application will amount to collection of the evidence by Court, which is not legally permissible- trial Court had rightly dismissed the application- petition dismissed. Title: Ved Parkash Vs. Mool Raj Padha Page-493

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for seeking specific performance of the contract- application for interim relief was filed, in which order of status quo was granted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred and Appellate Court reversed the findings of the trial Court- Appellate Court observed that defendant No. 1 was not holding the title of the property and was not competent to execute the agreement- held, that this fact was to be proved during the course of the trial – defendant No. 1 was an ostensible owner- petition allowed, order of the Appellate Court set aside and the parties directed to maintain status quo qua the nature. Title: Vinay Kumar Vs. Sangeeta Cheetu & another Page-46

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for declaration pleading that they are in joint possession of the suit land- suit land is coparcenery in which plaintiffs has a right by birth - defendant No. 1 had executed a gift deed in favour of defendants No. 2 and 5, which is illegal, null and void- suit was opposed by the defendants asserting that suit property was self acquired property of defendant No. 1- application was allowed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- it was contended that documents proved on record that ancestral land of the parties was acquired for the construction of Bhakra Dam and the land was purchased from the proceeds of such acquisition- however, no such plea was made in the pleading of the parties- documents cannot be considered in absence of the pleadings - Appellate Court had rightly held that in absence of the pleadings, documents cannot be considered to establish the ancestral nature of the property- petition dismissed. Title: Vivek Sharma and others Vs. Ram Rakha and others Page-495

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 1- A civil suit was filed for seeking injunction, which was decreed- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed but the order of the trial Court was modified and 173.99 square metres area was incorporated in the decree- a second appeal was filed in which it was observed that Appellate Court had not specified in which part of khasra number area of 173.99 square metres is located and it was further held that remedy available to the defendants to file a review petition before the Appellate Court- a review petition was filed, which was dismissed- aggrieved from the order, present revision has been filed- held, that petitioner has challenged the judgment and decree passed by the trial Court which has attained finality- it was not specified as to what is an error apparent on the face of record- hence, review petition was rightly dismissed by the Appellate Court- petition dismissed. Title: Harpreet Singh and another Vs. Subhash Chand Page-933

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 41 Rule 33 - Plaintiff filed a civil suit for seeking permanent prohibitory injunction – suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred- a Local Commissioner was appointed by the Appellate Court- Appellate Court held that the area under the house is to be presumed to be that of the person who owns the house- it was further held that it can be further presumed that stairs might have been constructed jointly by the parties- user of the stairs has been denied to the plaintiff by the construction of latrine and bath room by the defendants - held, in second appeal that finding of fact by the Court cannot be based on presumptions- Appellate Court should have taken into consideration the reasoning behind the findings reached by the trial Court and should have returned its independent findings- whole case is open in appeal for rehearing on question of fact and law - judgment of the Appellate Court must reflect its conscious application of mind – Appellate Court should record findings supported by reasons along with the contentions put forth and pressed by the parties – appeal allowed and case remanded to the Appellate Court for decision in accordance with law. Title: Bhupinder Singh and another Vs. Devinder Singh and others Page-631

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 125- Wife filed a petition seeking maintenance pleading that marriage between the parties was solemnized as per Hindu Rites and Custom- her husband and his family members started maltreating and abusing her for bringing insufficient dowry- matter was reported to police- a compromise was effected between the parties, but the maltreatment continued - wife has no source of income while husband was earning Rs. 15,000/- per month- maintenance of Rs. 7,000/- per month was sought- husband pleaded that wife had left the home voluntarily without any reason – she has independent source of income- it was prayed that petition be dismissed- petition was allowed and the maintenance of Rs. 3,500/- per month was awarded from the date of the order- a revision was filed, which was dismissed- held, that District Judge had dissolved the marriage on the ground of cruelty and desertion on the part of wife- hence, she is not entitled to maintenance- it was duly proved that wife had resided in her matrimonial home for 3-4 days and had left the same without any reason- petition allowed and maintenance granted to the wife ordered to be cancelled. Title: Tota Ram s/o Sh. Balak Ram Vs. Kanchan Lata d/o Sh. Balak Ram Page- 868

Title: Amar Nath Vs. State of HP & others Page-375

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 256- Complaint filed by the appellant was dismissed in default by the trial Magistrate for want of appearance - complaint was listed for filing of process fee and correct address of the accused- Court had not come to the conclusion that presence of the complainant was absolutely essential and had straightaway dismissed the complaint under Section 256 of Cr.P.C- dismissal of the complaint for non-appearance is not automatic- there has to be an application of mind to determine whether order of dismissal should be passed or not- the Court has to see whether personal attendance of the complainant is essential and whether the situation does not justify the adjournment of the complaint-, dismissal of the complaint is not proper on singular default in appearance on the part of the complainant - order set aside. Title: M/s Gorsi Construction Pvt Ltd. Vs. Vinod Kumar Page-661

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 299- Application was filed against the accused S and L- accused S absconded and was declared proclaimed offender- trial Court continued against accused L- accused L was convicted - in the meantime accused S was apprehended- statement was made on his behalf that statements of prosecution witnesses recorded in his absence be read against him- held, that statement recorded in the absence of the proclaimed offender can only be read in the event of deponents being dead, incapable of giving evidence, being not found and their presence being not procurable without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which under the circumstances of the case, appears to be unreasonable- it was not permissible to rely upon statements recorded in absence of the accused without satisfying the ingredients of Section 299 of Cr.P.C. – judgment passed by the trial Court set aside- case remanded for disposal in accordance with the law. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Shiv Chand (D.B.) Page-484

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 311- Application for recalling PW-6 was filed on the ground that he had given statement contradictory to what was stated by him before Learned District Judge, Shimla - application was opposed on the ground that complainant had no locus standi to file the application- application was dismissed by the trial Court- held, that PW-6 was examined by Learned Public Prosecutor and was cross examined on behalf of the accused- application has not been signed by Public Prosecutor- mere change of counsel cannot be a ground for recalling a witness- witnesses cannot be expected to face the ordeal of appearing in the Court repeatedly- there is no perversity or illegality in the order passed by the trial Court- petition dismissed. Title: Mohd. Tariq Vs. Jaspal Singh and others Page-301

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 311- Petitioner and her husband approached respondent for providing financial assistance of Rs. 2 lacs- petitioner issued a cheque of Rs. 2 lacs, which was dishonoured by the Bank- a legal notice was issued but the amount was not paid- complaint was filed- an application was filed by the respondent for placing on record certified copy of notice and postal receipt exhibited in other complaint- application was allowed by the trial Court- aggrieved from the order, present petition was filed- held, that respondent had dispatched two legal notices - one to the petitioner and other to R- inadvertently, notice issued to R was placed on record of present complaint along with postal receipt – notice which was issued to the petitioner was placed on record of other complaint filed against R- notices were not placed on record inadvertently - there is no illegality in the order passed by the trial Court- there is no merit in the petition and the same is dismissed. Title: Poonam Sharma Vs. Kamal Dev Sharma Page-192

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 319- Principal offenders were charge sheeted for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 302, 341, 323 read with Section 34 IPC- application for impleading the petitioner was filed, which was allowed - held, that prosecution witnesses had stated the name of the petitioner- the Court is not to see whether statements are sufficient to record the conviction as only a prima facie inquiry has to be made at the stage of impleadment - trial Court had rightly exercised the discretion - petition dismissed. Title: Sunil Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-121

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- Accused was found in possession of 18 bottles of Corex, each containing 100 ml and one box containing 144 Capsules of Spasmo Proxyvon plus- held, that petitioner was previously involved in the similar kind of offence- he will temper with the prosecution evidence, therefore, discretion, to admit the petitioner on bail cannot be exercised- petition dismissed. Title: Deepak Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-125

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR has been registered against the petitioner for carrying 104 grams charas- he applied for bail- held, that petitioner is a permanent resident of District Mandi- there are no chances of tempering with the prosecution evidence and to flee from justice- application allowed- petitioner ordered to be released on bail of Rs. 50,000/- with one surety to the like amount. Title: Abhay Walia Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-975

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR has been registered against the petitioner for carrying 104 grams charas- he applied for bail- held, that petitioner is a permanent resident of District Kangra- there are no chances of tempering with the prosecution evidence and to flee from justice- application allowed- petitioner ordered to be released on bail of Rs. 50,000/- with one surety to the like amount. Title: Abhinay Rana Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-976

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 read with Section 34 of I.P.C.- petitioner filed a bail application- held, that mere release of female co-accused is not sufficient to release the petitioner on bail as special provision of bail are applicable to female accused- innocence or guilt of the accused will be seen at the time of conclusion of trial and not at this stage- while granting bail, Court has to see the nature and seriousness of offence, character and behavior of the accused, circumstances peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial and investigation, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with and the larger interest of the public and State- in case of release of petitioner on bail, he can induce or threaten the prosecution witnesses- keeping in view the gravity of offence and interest of the public; it is not expedient to release the petitioner on bail- petition dismissed. Title: Anil Khan s/o Sh. Manir Khan Vs. State of H.P. Page-459

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- An FIR was registered against the petitioner for the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of N.D.P.S. Act- petitioner filed a petition seeking bail on the ground that he was falsely implicated- held, that question of guilt or innocence cannot be determined while considering the bail application but will be determined at the conclusion of trial- while granting bail, Court has to see the nature and seriousness of offence, character and behavior of the accused, circumstances peculiar to the accused, reasonable possibility of securing the presence of the accused at the trial and investigation, reasonable apprehension of the witnesses being tampered with and the larger interest of the public and State- quantity of contraband recovered from the accused is less than commercial quantity- refusal of bail will affect the personal liberty of individual – petition allowed- bail granted subject to furnishing personal bonds of Rs. 5 lacs with two sureties. Title: Sher Bahadur Singh son of Shri Bhim Bahadur Singh Vs. State of H.P. Page-780

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 456- Five vehicles loaded with Oxen were checked- it was found that oxen were loaded in a cruel manner- drivers of vehicles did not give satisfactory answer- petitioner filed an application for releasing the oxen on the ground that these were purchased by him- application was dismissed by the trial Court- a revision was preferred, which was also dismissed- held, that certificate has been given by Chief Agriculture Officer Haridwar (Uttrakhand) that petitioner is an agriculturist by profession and had purchased the oxen from Ropar for agricultural purposes- no other person had filed application for releasing the oxen - the plea that oxen were being carried for slaughtering or for the purpose of agricultural is to be determined by taking evidence - petition allowed- oxen released on supardari of Rs. 1 lac with one surety subject to the conditions. Title: Vijay Kumar son of Sh. Babu Ram Vs. State of H.P. Page-576

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- A complaint was filed for the commission of offence punishable under Section 27 (b) (ii) of Drugs and Cosmetics Act 1940 before Ld. C.J.M. who issued summons- it was contended that cognizance can be taken only by the Court of Sessions and C.J.M. was not competent to take cognizance - held, that C.J.M. committed irregularity by recording pre-charge evidence- he was bound to send the complaint to the Sessions Judge- however, it cannot be determined, whether accused persons were in-charge of and were responsible to the company for its conduct as it is a complicated question of fact, which cannot be determined at this stage- sanction for prosecution will be required at the time of framing of charge and not prior to that - petition partly allowed- Complaint withdrawn from the Court of C.J.M. and assigned to the Court of Sessions Judge for disposal in accordance with law. Title: Varun Samra son of Shri Vijay Kumar and others Vs. State of H.P. Page-697

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 341, 392, 323, 324, 504, 506, 149 and 120-B of I.P.C.- car was purchased on a hire purchase basis- possession was taken in accordance with the terms and conditions of the agreement- complainant filed a private complaint, in which a cancellation report was filed - objections were made to the cancellation report, which were accepted- further investigation was conducted and another cancellation report was filed- Court rejected the cancellation report and ordered the issuance of summons - petition was filed for quashing the order- held, that hire purchase agreement shows that complainant had not acquired absolute title over the vehicle- financer had right to retake the possession, in case of default- however, financer cannot take forcible possession on the basis of this condition- petition dismissed. Title: Nipun Jain & others Vs. State of H.P & others Page-308

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 452, 307 and 34 of I.P.C- it was pleaded that matter has been settled between the parties- according to informant, FIR was got registered due to some misunderstanding but the matter has now been settled amicably- held, that petitioner is involved in heinous crime of putting respondent No. 3 on fire- FIR cannot be quashed, merely on the ground that parties have settled the matter- offence punishable under Section 307 of I.P.C. falls in the category of heinous and serious offences and is to be treated as crime against the society- possibility of putting pressure on respondent No. 3 to compromise the matter cannot be ruled out- petition dismissed. Title: Mazid Deen Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others Page-234

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered against the accused pleading that accused had forged the blank cheque and had wrongly filled the amount of Rs 5 lacs- police filed a cancellation report- objections were filed- Court accepted the objection and sent the case for re-investigation- again a cancellation report was filed- complaint was treated as a private complaint- accused was summoned on the basis of the evidence- petition has been filed for cancellation of the summoning order and order framing charge- held, that merely because second appeal is pending before High Court is no ground to quash the proceeding as Civil and Criminal proceedings can continue simultaneously – offences punishable under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act and Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 and 474 of I.P.C. are separate and the proceedings cannot be quashed on the ground of pendency of criminal proceedings- innocence or guilt cannot be determined at this stage- petition dismissed. Title: Bal Krishan Rawat s/o Sh. Kewal Ram Vs. Mohan Lal s/o Sh. Shyama Nand and another Page-289

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 409, 467, 468, 471 and 120(B) IPC- present petition has been filed for quashing the same and the consequent proceedings- held, that question of fact cannot be decided in the proceedings for quashing the FIR- inquiry report in departmental proceedings is not sufficient to quash the proceedings as nature of departmental and criminal proceedings is different- there are sufficient grounds to proceed against the accused on the basis of the statements made by the witnesses- truth or falsity of the prosecution version will be seen at the conclusion of the trial- petition dismissed. Title: Shyam Lal son of late Shri Jai Ram Vs. State of H.P. & others Page-663

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- Application for maintenance was filed by V and U, which was partly allowed and maintenance of Rs. 500/- per month was awarded in favour of V- he filed an application for enhancement of maintenance allowance from Rs. 500/- per month to Rs. 10,000/- per month- Court appointed P, maternal aunt of V as next friend of minor- aggrieved from the order, present petition was filed- held, that notice was issued to V, natural mother of minor- she appeared and filed an affidavit regarding no objection for appointment of P, next friend of minor- proceedings under Section 127 are quasi civil and next friend can be appointed in these proceedings - there is no evidence that P had adverse interest to the minor, thus, Court had rightly appointed her as next friend- petition dismissed. Title: Sunder Lal s/o Sh. Mishroo Ram Vs. Master Vikas (Minor) s/o Sh. Sunder Lal through next friend Smt.Pushpa Devi Page-618

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- Petition was filed for cancellation of FIR registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 389 and 411 read with Section 34 of I.P.C on the ground of false implication- held, the plea whether petitioner has been falsely implicated or not cannot be gone into at this stage but it will be decided after the trial- complicated question of fact cannot be determined while quashing the FIR- the power to quash FIR should be exercised sparingly by the High Court with circumspection- normal process of criminal trial should not be cut short in a casual manner- FIR should not be quashed when charge-sheet has been filed - settlement between the informant and the co-accused will not help in quashing of the FIR as offence has been committed against the society- petition dismissed. Title: Ashish Bhuppal @ Gigi son of Shri Yuvraj Bhuppal Vs. State of H.P. Page-497

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- Present petition has been field for quashing the complaint for the commission of offence punishable under Section 18 (a) (i) of Drugs & Cosmetics Act 1940 pending before C.J.M.- - held, the fact that accused was in-charge or responsible for day to day affairs and conduct of business of company cannot be seen in the proceedings for quashing the complaint but will be seen during the trial - similarly effect of guidelines of CDSCO will be determined after the trial- question of delay is complicated question of fact, which cannot be determined at this stage- there is sufficient material on record to proceed against the accused and the accused was rightly summoned by the trial Court- petition dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Ranjan Lama & another (D.B.) Page-613

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 304- Husband of the informant had gone to bazaar- his mobile was switched off- a missing report was lodged- his dead body was found in the khad- it was found on investigation that deceased had gone with the accused and had consumed liquor- a quarrel took place and the accused pushed the deceased into a nallah- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that there was no eye witness to the incident- prosecution has relied upon the fact that accused and the deceased were last seen together, motive for the commission of crime and the details of the mobile calls- however, it was not proved that accused was last seen with the accused- motive was also not established- recovery of mobile phone of the deceased from PW-4 does not prove that accused had pushed the deceased into the nallah- informant had improved upon her earlier version- trial Court had taken a reasonable view – appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Raj Kumar (D.B.) Page-792

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 306 and 498-A- Deceased was married to the accused for 17-18 years prior to the commission of suicide by her- relationship between the parties was cordial for 8-10 years but the accused started harassing and torturing the deceased by giving beating to her under the influence of liquor- deceased committed suicide- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that allegations levelled by the prosecution witnesses are general in nature, which are not sufficient to hold the accused guilty of cruelty - accused and deceased were living together for 17-18 years and they were blessed with one son and one daughter – matter was never reported to Police, Panchayat or any other Authority- a single instance of quarrel, 2-3 days prior to the commission of suicide will not amount to cruelty - words uttered in quarrel or anger cannot be termed as cruelty sufficient to drive a person to commit suicide- instigation to commit suicide was also not established- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Vijay Kumar (D.B.) Page- 1

Indian penal Code, 1860- Section 307 read with Section 34- Informant had gone to bring medicine for his ailing wife along with his son- when they reached a little ahead of his courtyard near the house of the accused, accused T, her son and her daughter attacked the informant- son of the T gave danda blow on his head, whereas, T and her daughter gave beating with fist and kick blows- son of the informant told his mother about the incident- father and wife of the informant reached at the spot and rescued the informant from the clutches of the accused- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that there are discrepancies in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses- witnesses have also made improvement in their statement- recovery of danda was not proved satisfactorily- prosecution version that accused had given beating to the informant was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Taro Devi & another (D.B.) Page-919

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 323 and 307 read with Section 34- Informant along with his daughter-in-law was irrigating his field when his cousin (accused No. 1) came to the spot armed with the spade along with his wife (accused No.2) who was armed with the sickle – they inflicted injuries on the person of the informant- he was taken to hospital – the accused No.1 was convicted for the commission of offences punishable under Section 324 of I.P.C, whereas, accused No. 2 was acquitted by the trial Court – aggrieved from the judgment, present appeal has been filed- held, that the accused had given one blow of spade in a spur of moment- there was no person to stop the accused and he could have inflicted a graver injury, if he so wanted – there is nothing on record to show that accused had an intention of causing death – a compromise was effected between the parties, which shows that injury was not considered serious enough or dangerous to life- the trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused of the commission of offence punishable under Section 307 of I.P.C.- the conduct of the accused is not such as to deny the benefit of Probation of Offenders Act to him- appeal dismissed. Title: Balwant Rai Vs. Ramesh Chand and another (D.B.) Page-648

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 326, 307, 504 and 506 read with Section 34- PW-4 was present at Gurdawara chowk along with his friends- he called A to inquire as to why latter was calling N, a girl known to PW-4- A abused PW-4, came out of his shop armed with the cutter in his hands and stabbed him in the abdomen – K was taken to hospital- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that incident had taken place as accused was unnecessarily calling N- however, N denied having any acquaintance with the informant and the accused – the genesis of the prosecution version is made doubtful by this fact- nature of injury was not established – it was admitted in cross-examination that possibility of injury being sustained by a sharp edged weapon concealed in the loin area could not be ruled out – Medical Officer admitted that 2 c.m. wide wound could not be caused by paper cutter- the prosecution version regarding the infliction of injury was not proved in view of material contradictions and inconsistencies in the testimonies of the prosecution witnesses- the trial Court had correctly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Arun Soni and another (D.B.) Page-1017

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 323 and 325 read with Section 34- Informant had gone to drop her daughter and was returning thereafter- accused attacked her- she raised cries on which her daughters came to spot- accused also gave beatings to both the daughters of the informant- they sustained injuries- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that FIR was received late from which an inference can be drawn that it was lodged belatedly- prosecution witnesses deposed contrary to each other- recovery was effected after one month and the evidence to support the same is not satisfactory- trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Arun Kumar & another Page-313

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 353, 332, 333 and 302- Deceased was employed as Assistant Lineman with H.P. State Electricity Board- he was asked to attend a complaint pertaining to a transformer - thereafter deceased did not report to the office- R and deceased had consumed liquor and a quarrel had taken place between them- this fact was reported to police- police help was sought- accused walked into the police Station and informed the police about the quarrel- deceased was bleeding from the cheek- deceased was admitted in the hospital on the next day- he had informed earlier that he was beaten by the accused- deceased expired subsequently- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that deceased was not certified to be competent to make statement- he was admitted in semiconscious state and was unable to speak- it was not proved that deceased was fit to make statement- deceased was not taken to hospital after altercation but was taken to home- when deceased walked into police station, no FIR was registered- he was allowed to go away with the accused- statement made by the deceased to his relatives is not believable - disclosure statement and the consequent recovery were also doubtful as witnesses have not supported the same- it was also not established that blood on the recovered articles matched the blood group of the accused or the deceased- police has suppressed the genesis of the crime- accused was rightly acquitted in these circumstances- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Rahul Kumar Sharma (D.B.) Page-643

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 353, 332 and 506 read with Section 34- Informant was plying bus- when bus reached near Ghora Hospital Cart Road, one of the accused appeared on a motorcycle- he was signaled by the police to stop the same- informant stopped his bus but the accused failed to stop the motorcycle and fell in front of the bus- accused came to the driver window and tried to pull out the driver and gave beatings to him- friend of the accused also tore the shirt of the informant- informant was saved by the conductor and passengers- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecution witnesses had consistently deposed about the incident - their testimonies are corroborated by site plan and MLC- suggestions given to PW-3 in cross-examination show the role of the accused and their presence- Court had not appreciated the evidence properly- appeal allowed- accused convicted for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 332 and 506 of the IPC read with Section 34 of the IPC. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Vikas Sood and another Page-316

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 363, 366-A and 376- Prosecutrix went for tuition but did not return- accused told the father of the prosecutrix that she had been taken away by some boys- he was going to search for her - subsequently he informed father of the prosecutrix that she was with him – matter was reported to police- accused and prosecutrix were found in Khad- prosecutrix told that accused had sexual intercourse with her at Chintpurni without her consent and against her will- some documents were prepared at Nadaun- she was taken to Jawalamukhi, where she was again assaulted sexually by the accused- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecutrix had talked to her mother on telephone- despite this complaint was lodged after 4 days- justification given by the informant that he had reported the matter to panchayat was not substantiated from any material on record – the fact that matter was not reported to the police immediately is highly unnatural- an inference which can be drawn from his conduct is that he was aware of the fact that the prosecutrix had not been kidnapped by the accused and that she had gone with him out of her free will and volition- prosecutrix was taken in public transport to various places - no attempt was made by her to escape from wrongful custody- prosecutrix had not raised any hue and cry at the public place- no external injuries were found on the person of the prosecutrix, which falsifies her version that she had resisted the attempt of molestation - conviction can be based on the sole testimony of the prosecutrix, if found reliable- however, where there are contradictions and improvements in the testimony, it requires corroboration- evidence of the prosecutrix in the present case is not satisfactory or creditworthy- prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Prithvi Raj @ Joull (D.B.) Page-675

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 366, 376 and 120-B- Prosecutrix received telephonic call from the accused that he had arranged a party at Pin Valley Hotel- accused offered a cup of coffee to the prosecutrix- accused had sexual intercourse with her- she was subsequently informed that her obscene video clip was sent- matter was reported- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that PW-3 did not support the prosecution version regarding the obscene video clip – matter was reported after the delay of two months- trial Court had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. V. Ajay Soni & another (D.B.) Page-105

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 366, 376, 212, 109 and 417- accused R kidnapped the prosecutrix and kept her in the house of his Aunt – prosecutrix was admitted in the hospital with the suspicion that she had consumed poison - she made a statement that she was taken by accused R with the assurance that he would marry her- she had consumed wrong medicine by mistake and was brought to hospital- accused had not completed his promise to marry her-other accused had abetted the commission of crime by R - accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that it was custom in the tribe of the parties to perform customary marriage with the consent of the male and female by leaving their houses- accused R had left their village as per custom- FIR was lodged after the marriage of accused with another girl- prosecutrix and accused were 20-25 years old respectively- prosecutrix admitted that she had knowledge about the engagement of the accused – accused was proclaiming to marry the prosecutrix- prosecutrix was accompanying him in accordance with the prevailing custom in the belief that accused was her husband or would be her husband- her consent was not free consent- accused R held guilty of the commission of offences punishable under Sections 366 and 376 of I.P.C - Respondent No. 3 had allowed R to continue with the drama and abetted him in committing crime- appeal partly allowed- accused R held guilty for commission of offences punishable under Sections 366 and 376 of I.P.C and respondent No.3 held guilty for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 366 and 376 IPC read with Section 109 IPC. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Pawan Kumar (D.B.) Page-482

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Informant had engaged the services of the accused for painting her house – accused found the prosecutrix alone at home and raped her - accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal, Medical Officer stated that no signs of struggle or violence were found on the body of the prosecutrix- it was not possible for Medical Officer to ascertain whether any act of sexual intercourse was committed or not - Chemical examiner found human semen on the vaginal swabs/slides- Doctor opined after the report of chemical examiner that the possibility of sexual intercourse could not be ruled out- DNA examination was not conducted to link the semen with the accused- prosecutrix was found to be having the mental age of 12 years and 6 months- however, Doctor had found the victim to be capable of understanding and responding to the queries- prosecution witnesses also stated that prosecutrix was a normal person- Court had also found her to be a competent witness - prosecutrix had not supported the prosecution version in cross-examination- she was not re-examined/cross-examined by the public prosecutor - there was delay in reporting the matter to the police- prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the Court had wrongly convicted the accused- appeal allowed and accused convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 376 of I.P.C. Title: Dalip Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-327

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Informant had gone to field for bringing the grass- her daughter(prosecutrix) was in the house – when the informant returned, prosecutrix started crying and told that accused had done something in her private part due to which she felt severe pain- informant checked and found that blood was oozing out from the private part of the prosecutrix - accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that there was no delay in reporting the matter to police- informant admitted that she had taken the prosecutrix to the Doctor but no medical record was produced- there are contradictions in the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2- medical officer stated that prosecutrix was a virgin – injuries noticed by her were possible by scratching and by fall- medical evidence does not prove the commission of rape- trial Court had considered all the circumstances and had arrived at the right conclusion that prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Bal Krishan (D.B.) Page-428

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Prosecutrix was residing with her children in her home – accused came to the room of the prosecutrix and raped her- incident was narrated by prosecutrix to her father- accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecutrix had supported the prosecution version- there are no significant contradictions in her testimony- her version was duly supported by her father- medical evidence also corroborated the version of the prosecutrix- delay was properly explained- prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt- trial Court had rightly convicted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: Bholu Ram Vs. State of H.P (D.B.) Page-33

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376, 506 and 417- Accused used to commit sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix with an assurance to marry her- prosecutrix was taken to Solan, where accused married her and filed an application for registration of marriage- marriage was not accepted by the family of the accused- accused and the prosecutrix stayed in Rest House, Subathu, where accused committed sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix with the assurance to keep her happy- prosecutrix was taken to Parwanoo, where she was tortured physically and mentally- accused left the prosecutrix on Subathu Road Solan after telling her that the accused would not marry her- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecutrix had admitted that application for registration of marriage was submitted to SDM, Solan who had asked them to come after one month- she further admitted that she had filed a complaint prior to the expiry of period of one month- she further admitted that her father was not liking the accused as the accused was not earning anything- statement of PW-7 also shows that father of the prosecutrix was not happy with the marriage of the deceased with the accused and was worried about future of his daughter- there are lots of contradictions, discrepancies and improvements in material facts which render the genesis of the prosecution version doubtful- version of the defence that false case was filed by the prosecutrix at the instance of her father is probable - contradictions and discrepancies cast doubt on the veracity of the prosecutrix- conduct of the prosecutrix makes her statement doubtful- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: Archana Chauhan Vs. Ashwani Kumar alias Biru & another (D.B.) Page-133

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376, 506(B), 34 - Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- Section 8 and 12- Accused raped the prosecutrix aged 15 years and threatened to kill her- accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecutrix had supported the prosecution version- there are no major contradictions in her testimony – she was minor and could not have consented to the act- medical evidence supported the prosecution version- DNA profile taken from Salwar of the prosecutrix matched DNA profile of the accused- prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused was rightly convicted by the trial Court- appeal dismissed. Title: Inder Singh Vs. State of H.P (D.B.) Page- 90

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 419, 466, 468, 471 and 120B- Copy of an order passed by Hon'ble Supreme Court of India was received by Government of Himachal Pradesh along with a letter from Rasharapati Bhawan, New Delhi, appointing the accused to the post of Joint Secretary- letter of recommendation was signed by accused S as Authorized Signatory – no official intimation was received by the Government on which inquiries were made and it was found that no such recommendation was ever made in favour of the accused – FIR was registered against the accused- accused were tried - accused S was acquitted while accused A and J were convicted- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held, in revision that it was not stated by PW-11 and PW-12 that J had visited Shimla or the offices along with accused A- PW-4 did not state that J was seen with accused A- PW-3, PW-5 and PW-6 did not support prosecution version- mere production of documents does not prove the criminal conspiracy between A and J- accused S who was another signatory was acquitted- it was not permissible to convict against the accused J on the basis of same evidence- I.O. admitted that he had never confronted accused J with his signatures- handwriting expert had not examined the original document but had only examined carbon copy- further, opinion of handwriting expert is a weak kind of evidence and is corroborative in nature, which cannot be used for convicting the accused in absence of the substantive evidence- trial Court had wrongly convicted the accused J- petition allowed. Title: Jogesh Kumar Gomber Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-469

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 420, 120-B and 511- Accused S produced two General Power of Attorneys for registration- S appeared as L- FIR was lodged against the accused- he was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that incident had taken place in the presence of 'M' but he was not examined as witness- no identification parade was conducted- trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Sarwan Kumar & anr. (D.B.) Page-673

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 452 and 302- PW-1 heard the cries from the house of S, he went to the spot and saw the accused, who tried to run away - efforts were made to apprehend him but he ran away from the spot- PW-1 went inside the house and saw that 'K' was set on fire – she revealed that accused had poured kerosene on her and had set her on fire- she was taken to Hospital- she made a statement to the police in the presence of Medical Officer- subsequently, K succumbed to the injuries- accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that accused had forced K to marry him and on her refusal, accused poured kerosene oil on her and set her on fire- prosecution witnesses proved that K had told them about being set on fire by the accused- K had also made statement to the police- she was found fit to make the statement- she had also made statement before Tehsildar- dying declarations were consistent - minor contradictions cannot be ground to acquit the accused- prosecution version was duly proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused was rightly convicted by the trial Court- further, directions issued not to mention the caste of accused, victim and witnesses in the police papers. Title: Krishan Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh (D.B.) Page-653

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306- Deceased was married to the accused M as per Hindu Rites and Custom – she was subjected to maltreatment, harassment and cruelty - she was not allowed to contact her parents telephonically – she was also not allowed to visit her relatives during family function and festival- accused R tried to molest the deceased- accused also demanded dowry- a compromise was effected but accused continued to maltreat the deceased – she committed suicide by pouring kerosene oil on her- she was taken to Hospital but she succumbed to her injuries- accused were tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that father of the deceased has supported the prosecution version and stated that deceased had told him about the harassment and torture in her matrimonial home- his testimony was corroborated by PW- 2 and PW-3 - PW-13 also stated that deceased had committed suicide as she was fed up with the act and conduct of the accused – she had made a dying declaration, in which she deposed about attempt to molest her and demand of dowry – these circumstances clearly established the cruelty on the part of the accused- acts of the accused had led the deceased to commit suicide- minor contradictions are bound to come with the passage of time – testimonies of prosecution witnesses corroborated each other and are corroborated by dying declaration- however, name of accused N did not figure in the dying declaration or in the statements of witnesses- hence, appeal partly allowed- accused N acquitted of the commission of offence punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 of I.P.C- appeal dismissed regarding rest of the accused. Title: Manoj Kumar son of Shri Roop Singh & others Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh Page-340

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306- Deceased was married to the accused- when she was coming on motorcycle with accused, accused pushed her from the motorcycle causing injuries to her- accused used to torture the deceased without any reason - the deceased consumed poison due to maltreatment - accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that parents and brother of the deceased had stated that deceased was residing with them for two months prior to commission of suicide- it was also admitted that they had asked the deceased 5-7 times to compromise the matter- forcing the deceased to compromise the matter could be a possible cause for committing the suicide – it cannot be said with certainty that behaviour of the accused was responsible for the death of the deceased - when two views are possible, the view favourable to the accused has to be preferred- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Vijay Singh (D.B.) Page-193

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306 read with Section 34- Deceased was married to the accused J- accused S and J started beating and maltreating the deceased for bringing less dowry - deceased was left at her parental house on the pretext that accused could not bear the expenses of the delivery of a child by her - she gave birth to a dead child but no one came from the side of the accused to meet the deceased- after 1¼ month, deceased was sent to the house of her in-laws- she disclosed that accused were demanding Rs. 50,000/-- deceased asked her brother to arrange five more suits in addition to 7 suits already agreed to be presented at the time of marriage of sister's son of accused S- she subsequently consumed poison and died- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that it was admitted by PW-1 that no dowry was demanded at the engagement and marriage- it was admitted that husband of the deceased had given Rs. 20,000/- to bear expenses of delivery- it was admitted that he had brought a nurse and had stayed at the time of delivery - this fact was also admitted by PW-2- all these contradictions and inconsistencies made prosecution version doubtful- trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Jatinder Paul and Another (D.B.) Page-198

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306 read with Section 34- Deceased was married to the Accused A- accused started maltreating her and leveled allegations qua her chastity- she was not allowed to attend the function in the house of her in-laws- subsequently, she committed suicide by hanging herself- accused were acquitted by the Trial Court- held, in appeal that specific acts of cruelty were not mentioned by PW-1- testimony of PW-3 is not credible as same suffers from improvement – mere presumption is not sufficient to implicate the accused- prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt - Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Samshya Devi & others (D.B.) Page-112

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A, 315, 323 and 506 read with Section 34- Informant was married to accused R- accused K is mother-in-law, accused S is father-in-law and accused Surinder is brother-in-law of the informant- accused started torturing the informant mentally and physically- they used to demand dowry as well as Rs. 50,000/- from the informant- informant was forced to leave her matrimonial home while she was pregnant- accused came to the parental house of the informant and gave her beatings - matter was reported to police- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecution had led tangible evidence to prove that accused were demanding dowry from the family of the informant- trial Court had erred in law by holding that family of the informant owed Rs. 50,000/- for undertaking repairs of the vehicle- father of the informant specifically denied that accused had incurred expenses for the repair of the vehicle – it was also wrongly held that there was civil dispute between the parties- Medical Officer had found 14-16 weeks old dead fetus in yellow coloured blood stained underwear – miscarriage could have taken place due to beatings - accused admitted their presence in the parental home of the informant- prosecution version was duly proved- appeal allowed- accused R convicted of the commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A, 323 and 314- accused K convicted of the commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 506(I) read with Section 34 of I.P.C. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Ramesh Chand and others (D.B.) Page-753

Indian Succession Act, 1925- Section 63- Suit land was earlier owned by K who died intestate- defendants No. 1 and 2 got attested mutation of inheritance on the basis of bogus Will stated to have been executed by K- suit was opposed by the defendants by filing written statement pleading that K had executed a Will in favour of the defendants No. 1 and 2- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that propounder of the Will had played an active role in the execution of the Will- PW-4 stated that Will was already written prior to his arrival and the testator had not put his signatures in his presence- it was upon the propounder to remove the suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the Will- original Will was not produced and the reason for withholding it was also not satisfactory- no presumption can be drawn by the registration of the Will- Courts had rightly held that execution of the Will was not proved- appeal dismissed. Title: Chander Dev Vs. Roshan Lal & others Page-825

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Petitioner was working as daily wage Road Inspector and Mason w.e.f. 01.10.1994 to 31.10.1994- he was disengaged on 1.11.1995 by oral orders- original application was filed before the Administrative Tribunal, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction- a reference was made to the Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal, which dismissed the petition- held, that employer had not placed on record any muster roll and a reasonable inference can be drawn that the workman was not allowed to perform duties- plea of abandonment taken by the employer cannot be accepted- petition allowed- award passed by Labour Court set aside- direction issued to re-engage the workman with continuous service without any back wages or monetary relief. Title: Ajeet Kumar Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh & Ors. Page-161

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Petitioners were appointed as Fire and Safety Supervisors in the month of September, 1993 by the respondents – they continued till 1997 when their services were disengaged by the respondents – they raised an industrial dispute- the Tribunal dismissed the reference holding that petitioners had not proved themselves to be the employees of the respondents – held, in the writ petition that no appointment letters have been placed on record to demonstrate that petitioners were engaged by the respondents- no salary slip was placed on record- petitioners themselves stated before the Tribunal that they were not employees/workers of respondent No. 2- hence the Tribunal has rightly concluded that the dispute does not fall within the definition of industrial dispute- further, the finding of the fact recorded by the Tribunal cannot be interfered with in exercise of writ jurisdiction- petition dismissed. Title: Agya Ram Vs. State of H.P. & others. (D.B.) Page-762

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Respondent filed a claim petition before the Labour Court contending that she was engaged on muster roll /daily wage basis in the month of May, 1999 and was working as such till 31.10.1999- her services were terminated orally – matter was referred to Labour Court, which directed the continuation of service with all consequential benefits, except back-wages- it was further directed that she be considered for regularization as per policy of the State Government- held, that there is no illegality or perversity in the award passed by the Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal – petition dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh and Ors Vs. Padma Youdan Page-196

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Rosin & Turpentine Factory Employees Union had been demanding remote locality/special compensatory allowance at par with the Central Government employees serving at different areas- this demand was not accepted by H.P. Forest Corporation- a dispute arose, which was referred to Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla- claim was allowed and corporation was directed to grant special compensatory allowance- aggrieved from the order, present writ petition has been filed- held, that there are two types of establishments in factory namely ministerial establishment and industrial establishment- ministerial establishment is governed by the pay and allowances of the Himachal Pradesh Government and Industrial establishment is governed by central pattern of pay scales and other allowances- evidence of the Union proved that they are governed by the Central Government pay pattern and allowances and have been getting remote locality/compensatory allowances on Central Government pattern- earlier this allowance was not revised- plea that special compensatory allowance was being paid unauthorizedly is not acceptable- Tribunal had rightly passed the award on the basis of the evidence- finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal on the basis of appreciation of evidence cannot be questioned in writ proceedings- petition dismissed. Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- Land of the father of the petitioner was acquired for the purpose of setting up a tube well- an award was passed- petitioner sought reference but no reference was made- respondents stated that no person had objected to the award and the petition is not maintainable- held, that amount was received without any bill – attempts made subsequently to get something more without any basis and foundation- petitioner is not explained the delay, which cannot be brushed aside without any reason- mere participation will not assist the petitioner- petition dismissed with cost of Rs.10,000/-. Title: Gurbachan Singh Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh & another (D.B.) Page-508

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- Land was acquired for the construction of Una-Talwara railway line- Collector determined the value of acquired land as Rs. 640 to Rs. 24005/- depending upon the category of land- a reference was filed and the Reference Court determined the market value as Rs.76,000/- per Kanal- held, in appeal that whole of the acquired land was used and no area was left for carrying any developmental activities- claimants are entitled to compensation for entire acquired land at the uniform rate regardless of categorization- there was no error in uniform determination of the market value of the acquired land- Reference Court had re-determined the market value on the basis of the award pertaining to the very same Up-Mohal-similarity of the acquired land with the land regarding which award was passed was never disputed - the Court had rightly re-determined the market value by placing reliance upon the award - appeal dismissed. Title: Nirmala Devi Vs. Land Acquisition Collector (Railways) & another Page-187

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- Land was acquired for the construction of Parvati Hydro Electric Project- compensation was awarded by the Land Acquisition Collector – separate references were made and the Reference Court enhanced the compensation - sale deeds produced by the respondent were not taken into consideration by the trial Court on the ground that vendor and vendee were not examined - held, in appeal that sale deeds can be taken into consideration without examination of the vendor and vendee but the similarity of the land sold by the deeds has to be established with the land sought to be acquired – respondent had only examined the clerk to prove the execution of the exemplar sale deed- he is not local resident of the area- he was not aware of the area, nature or category of land- hence, exemplar sale deed could not be taken into consideration for adjudicating the rights and contentions of the parties- three exemplar sale deeds were produced by the claimants - witnesses examined by the claimants deposed that acquired land is just adjacent to exemplar land having similar potentiality with regard to the use, nature and similarity of classification and value- it was not proved that sale transaction was made or executed only in anticipation of the project coming in the near future- acquired land was put for a public use and no area was left for carrying any developmental activity- claimants are entitled for compensation for the acquired land, at uniform rates, regardless of its categorization- exemplar award had determined the market value at Rs. 4,00,000/- per bigha or Rs.20,000/- per biswa- trial Court had rightly re-determined the market value at Rs. 17,800/- per biswa or Rs.3,56,000/- per bigha- appeal dismissed. Title: United India Insurance Company Ltd. Vs. Mansa Devi & others Page-571

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- It was admitted that claimant had sustained injuries in the motor accident- he was taken to zonal hospital, Bilaspur, where he remained admitted for 17 days- income of the claimant can be taken as Rs. 5,000/- per month – claimant is entitled to Rs. 2500/- under the head 'loss of income'- Doctor stated that claimant could not have worked for about six months due to the injury sustained by him - he must have spent about Rs.1 lac on his treatment and medicines- he is also entitled to Rs. 50,000/- under the head 'pain and sufferings', Rs. 50,000/- under the head 'future pain and sufferings' and Rs. 50,000/- under the head of 'loss of amenities of life'- thus, total compensation of Rs. 2,62,500/- awarded along with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of the claim petition till its realization. Title: Mohinder Kumar Vs. Shakuntla Devi and others Page-530

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- The age of the deceased was 31 years at the time of the accident- multiplier of '15' was applicable – the claimants are entitled to the compensation of Rs.2500 x 12 x 1= Rs.4,50,000/- under the head 'loss of dependency'- claimants are also entitled to Rs.10,000/- each under the heads ' loss of love and affection', 'loss of consortium' , 'loss of estate' and 'funeral expenses' – claimants are thus entitled to Rs.4,50,000 +40,000= 4,90,000/- with interest. Title: Oriental Insurance Company Limited Vs. Jeewan Singh & others Page-1058

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- The claimant has undergone pain and suffering and will have to undergo the same throughout the life- he remained under treatment for about one year and suffered 10% permanent disability- thus, the claimant is entitled to Rs. 50,000/- under the head 'pain and suffering' – the Tribunal had awarded Rs. 20,000/- under the head 'loss of enjoyment of life', which is too meager – the amount enhanced to Rs. 50,000/- - claimant held entitled to Rs. 1,90,029/- along with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till realization. Title: Oriental Insurance Company Limited Vs. Jeewan Singh & others Page-1058

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Tribunal dismissed the claim petition after holding that accident had taken place due to the negligence of the deceased- respondent No. 1 had not driven the truck rashly and negligently at the relevant point of time- FIR was got registered against the deceased- a closure report was filed against him, which was accepted after hearing the complainant- claimants have to plead and prove that accident was outcome of the rash and negligent driving of the respondent No. 1, in which they failed, however, claimants are entitled to Rs. 50,000/- under no fault liability. Title: Bholi Devi and others Vs. Avtar Singh and others Page-500

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Tribunal held that accident was caused by Scooterist himself- an FIR was lodged against him- even Criminal Court had recorded the findings to the effect that accident was outcome of rash and negligent driving of the scooterist- no interference is called for- appeal dismissed. Title: Atma Ram Vs. Veena Kumari and others Page- 221

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Tribunal held that accident had not taken place due to any negligence but due to inept handling of the vehicle by the mechanic or some inherent manufacturing defect existing in the vehicle- findings recorded by the Tribunal are not proper – claimants had specifically pleaded that deceased was travelling in the vehicle as conductor- one tyre of the vehicle was being repaired when another tyre burst- its rim hit the deceased, who sustained injuries – owner/insured and the driver have not denied these facts- strict proof is not required in the motor accident case, discrepancies in the pleadings cannot be made ground to dismiss the claim petition- Tribunal has to follow the principles of justice, equity and good conscience – deceased had sustained injuries out of the use of the motor vehicle- income of the deceased was claimed to be Rs. 8,000/- per month - by guess work, it can be safely held that deceased was not earning less than Rs. 4,000/- per month- 1/4th amount was to be deducted towards his personal expenses- thus, it can be held that claimants have lost source of dependency of Rs. 3,000/- per month- deceased was 29 years of age- multiplier of 16 is just and appropriate- compensation of Rs. 3,000 x 12 x 16= Rs. 5,76,000/- awarded towards loss of dependency- claimants are also entitled to Rs. 10,000/- each under the head loss of 'love and affection', 'loss of estate' and 'funeral expenses'- insurance was admitted and insurer is liable to indemnify the insured - claimants are entitled to compensation of Rs. 6,06,000/- with interest @

7.5% per annum from the date of filing the claim petition till its realization. Title: Bimla Devi and others Vs. The Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. and others Page-501

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Tribunal held that there was no sufficient material on record to prove that motorcyclist had driven the vehicle rashly and negligently- held, that HHC Om Swaroop, who conducted the investigation specifically stated that FIR was lodged against the motorcyclist who was driving the vehicle rashly and negligently- standard of proof in criminal case is different from the standard of proof in claim petition - proof beyond reasonable doubt is required in a criminal case while a prima facie proof is required in a claim case- there is sufficient prima facie proof that motorcyclist had driven the vehicle rashly and negligently- insurer had examined RW-4 who deposed that driving licence of motorcyclist was not issued by Licensing Authority, Khandur Sahib, District Taran Taaran, Punjab but he admitted that register was not relating to the series of 9000- insurer has not proved breach of the terms and conditions of the insurance policy- claimant remained under treatment for two months and had suffered 5% permanent disability- claimant is entitled to Rs.1 lac under the head 'loss of amenities of life', Rs. 50,000/- under the head 'pain and suffering' and Rs. 50,000/- under the head 'medical expenses'- thus, claimant is entitled to Rs. 2 lacs along with interest @ 7.5% per annum till realization. Title: Palvi Vs. Rajneesh Kumar & others Page-542

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 171- Tribunal had awarded interest from the date of the claim petition, whereas, it was to be awarded from the date of the award- order modified and interest awarded from the date of the award till realization. Act, 1985- Section 20 and 29- Vehicle was signaled to stop – driver stopped the vehicle and fled away- search of the vehicle was conducted during which 14.750 kg was recovered- it was found after investigation that accused was driving the vehicle - owner of the vehicle was also arrested by the police- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecution version was duly supported by official witnesses- no independent witness could be associated as the place was lonely- passbook of the accused was found in the dashboard of the vehicle- back portion of the accused was seen by the police- name of the accused was specifically mentioned in the ruqqa and NCB form- there was no enmity between the accused and the police- accused had not given any explanation regarding presence of his passbook in the dashboard- it was duly proved that accused was driving the vehicle from which charas was recovered- however, there is no evidence to connect the owner with the commission of offence- appeal partly allowed and driver convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of N.D.P.S. Act. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Khekh Ram and another (D.B.) Page-733

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Car was signaled to stop- 1 kg. charas was recovered- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- according to prosecution, a bag was found in the back side of rear seat of the car covered by a seat cover having zip- however, no such bag was found in the car- front glass of the car was also found to be broken when it was produced in the Court- there are material contradictions and discrepancies in the statements of witnesses making the prosecution version doubtful- trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Suresh Kumar & others (D.B.) Page-370

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Car was stopped and searched- 14.5 kg. charas was recovered- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that accused were travelling the car- charas was recovered from below the seat- all the codal formalities were completed on the spot- case property was produced before PW-3 who had resealed the same- mere fact that independent witnesses had not supported the prosecution version is not sufficient to doubt the prosecution version when they had admitted their signatures on the seizure memo - there are no major contradictions in the statements of official witnesses- statements of officials witnesses are inspiring confidence and are trustworthy - presumption that person acts honestly applies as much in favour of police personnel as in favour of any other persons- trial Court had erred in giving undue importance to the fact that no personal belongings of accused were found in the car- it was not necessary for the prosecution to prove that accused were travelling with their personal belongings- ownership of the car was also not proved- accused were travelling in the same car and they hail from the same District- possession of charas was duly proved and the trial Court had wrongly acquitted the accused- appeal allowed and accused convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of N.D.P.S. Act. Title: State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Jai Bhagwan and others (D.B.) Page-319

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Police party noticed one boy standing on the bridge- he tried to run away on seeing the police- he was apprehended- his search was conducted during which 250 grams charas was recovered- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that there are contradictions in the testimonies of official witnesses- no independent witness was associated- explanation was given that place was isolated and no vehicle passed through the bridge- further, PW-1 admitted that he had taken lift in the private vehicle to police station, Banjar- this shows that road was busy- independent witness could have been associated at the time of search, seizure and sealing- prosecution version was not proved and the trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. Vs. Mohan Lal (D.B.) Page-737

N.D.P.S. Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for declaration, permanent prohibitory injunction and mandatory injunction pleading that his grandfather M had migrated from District Ambala- he started business which was carried by his son and thereafter by his grandson – partition had taken place between grandsons, in which suit land had fallen to the share of S, father of the plaintiff- S disappeared in 1979 and was presumed to be dead- plaintiff became owner in possession of the suit land- suit land could not have been alienated except for legal necessity- defendants no. 1 and 2 started interfering with the suit land and it was found on inquiry that suit land was alienated to P through registered sale deed- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was also dismissed- held, in second appeal that particulars of fraud and misrepresentation have to be given specifically - it is not enough to allege fraud without stating particulars- pleadings of the plaintiff are deficient and the facts constituting fraud or misrepresentation were not pleaded- suit was filed after 25 years of the registration of the sale deed- mere mutation will not extend the period of limitation- partition had taken place and the suit land was allotted to the S - appeal dismissed. Title: Rameshwar Dass (deceased) through his LRs: Subhash Jain and others Vs. Dayawanti (deceased) through her LRs: Manoj Bansal and others Page-847

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that G, M, J and D were previous owners of the land- G mortgaged the suit land with the possession - mortgage was redeemed - plaintiffs and proforma defendants had purchased the land from G- land was mentioned as Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa- consolidation authorities without any right to change or convert the ownership of the land- suit was opposed by the defendants pleading that land had vested in the State- Consolidation Authorities were competent to consolidate the holding and then to divide it amongst the owners- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that G and M etc. were recorded as owners of the suit land in the jamabandi for the year 1955-56- Khasra No. 514 was recorded in the ownership of Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa but it was recorded in the possession of plaintiffs and proforma defendants- subsequently, land was recorded in the ownership of the State and the possession of Bartandarans- nature of land was also changed- there is an entry regarding redemption of mortgage- there was no reason to record the ownership of the State and possession of Bartandarans- entry was changed without hearing the plaintiffs and without any order a person can challenge the revenue entries when he feels aggrieved- Appellate Court had rightly allowed the appeal- appeal dismissed. Title: State of H.P. and anr. Vs. Govind Singh and ors. Page-129

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that he is owner in possession of the suit land being legal heir of deceased R – mutation attested on the basis of the Will stated to have been executed by R is wrong and illegal- deceased had left the village when he was aged 12 years- his whereabouts are not known to any person for 60 years, therefore, he was presumed to be dead- a false Will was propounded by the defendant- suit was opposed by filing a reply pleading that Will was executed by R- land was partitioned by the Settlement Authority- defendant is in possession of the suit land- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, that presumption regarding documents, which are thirty years old, does not apply to a Will and the Will has to be proved in terms of Succession Act and Evidence Act- Will was shrouded in suspicious circumstances- defendant was not able to dispel those circumstances- Will was rightly held to be not proved- appeal dismissed. Title: Hans Raj Vs. Ramesh Chand and others Page-582

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for declaration pleading that he along with proforma defendants are co-owners in possession of the suit land- mutation sanctioned in favour of the predecessor-in-interest of the defendants was illegal, null and void- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that H was owner in possession of the suit property – father of plaintiffs and father of defendants are sons of late H- no evidence was led to prove family settlement-no daily diary report was lodged with the patwari to prove that family settlement was given effect in the revenue record- limitation begins to run not from the date of the entry but from the date when a person feels aggrieved by the entry – thus, suit was within limitation. Title: Chaman Singh & ors. Vs. Prabhat Singh & anr. Page- 57

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for seeking declaration that they were in possession of the suit property as non-occupancy tenants and had become owners after the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- defendant denied the tenancy of the plaintiff and claimed that he was the tenant- proprietary rights were rightly conferred upon the defendant- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was also dismissed- held, in appeal that dispute was between two tenants and the jurisdiction of the Civil Court was not barred- name of the father of the plaintiff was recorded as tenant in the year 1964-65 which continued till 23.4.1971- earlier suit land was shown in the ownership and possession of A- owners had not challenged the entry nor had they appeared before the trial Court to challenge the same- no order for recording defendant No. 1 as gair maurusi was placed on record- application to bring on record the proceedings of Revenue Court was rightly dismissed, as proceedings were initiated after filing the suit- appeal dismissed. Title: Prita Vs. Baldev Singh & ors Page-595

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for restraining the defendant from interfering with their possession and to remove construction over the parts of the land and to restore the possession pleading that plaintiff No. 1 is owner of the suit land and defendant was appointed as Manager- defendant failed to produce the register containing the inventory of the property qua income and expenditure - plaintiff No. 1 terminated the agency of the defendant and asked him to hand over the charge of the property- defendant had constructed structure without the consent of the plaintiffs - suit was partly decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that oral evidence does not prove that defendant was appointed as Manager – witnesses examined by the plaintiffs are either interested witness or they do not inspire confidence- appointment letter was not produced on record – PW-1 also admitted in cross-examination that his servant used to collect rent from the defendant- witnesses of the defendant also proved that defendant was tenant- it was also established on record that plaintiffs used to receive galla batai from the defendant- defendant was tenant who has become the owner after the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act – Appellate Court had given perverse findings and had misconstrued, misread and misinterpreted the pleadings of the parties as well as the evidence- appeal allowed - judgment and decree passed by the Appellate Court set aside and that of the trial Court affirmed. Title: Shiv Ram (since dead) through LRs. Vs. Partap Singh (since dead) through LRs & others Page-722

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a suit for declaration that they are owners of the property left behind by late H- they came to know that mutation was attested in favour of the defendants- defendants pleaded that deceased had made a specific statement that plaintiff no. 1 was not his son and he had no claim over him before the Court- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that H was married to M but he had disputed the paternity of plaintiff No. 1- however, there is irrebuttable presumption regarding the legitimacy of the child born during the continuance of a valid marriage- plaintiff No. 1 was not party to the matrimonial proceedings- decree of divorce was passed on the basis of statements of the parties but there was no proof of recognized custom of divorce - decree is contrary to law and will not operate as res judicata- plaintiffs came to know about the wrong revenue entries in the year 1994- suit was also filed in the year 1994 and is within limitation- appeal dismissed. Title: Lekh Ram deceased, through his LRs. & others Vs. Vidya Sagar and Another Page-835

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- The suit land was owned by N, the husband of the plaintiff- plaintiff inherited the same on his death- revenue entries are in the name of brother of the plaintiff- plaintiff made an application to Land Reforms Officer for correction of the entries – the application was partly allowed directing the correction of 2/3rd share and observing that plaintiff can file a suit for remaining 1/3rd share – the suit was opposed by the defendant- the suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that plaintiff had inherited the suit land from her previous husband L- she died during the pendency of the appeal- the children of second husband are not entitled to inherit the suit land- plaintiff had lost her rights in the suit land on her re-marriage prior to commencement of Hindu Succession Act- the suit land was required to be recorded in the ownership and possession of her previous husband L or that of her father-in-law – therefore, neither the successors of the plaintiff nor the defendant is entitled to succeed to the land – direction issued to the Deputy Commissioner to mutate the land in favour of legal heirs of L and in the absence of the legal heirs to initiate the proceedings for escheat. Title: Ishwar Dass Vs. Neem Dassi deceased through her LRs Shesh Ram and others Page-946

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34, 38 and 39- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for declaration, possession and injunction pleading that G was father of plaintiff No. 1, proforma defendant and one S- plaintiff No. 2 was sister of G- G, S and plaintiff No. 2 were owners in possession of the suit land- G had mortgaged his share to predecessor-in-interest of the defendants No. 1 to 4 - revenue petition was filed for redemption, which was dismissed on the death of G- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that mortgage was proved by Rojnamcha Vakyati - possession was delivered to predecessor-in-interest of the defendants- defendants had failed to prove their adverse possession- suit was filed within a period of 30 years and is within limitation- petition before revenue Authorities was summary in nature and will not bar the civil suit- appeal dismissed. Title: Sardar Singh and another Vs. Puran Chand and others Page-479

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for injunction pleading that suit land was jointly owned and possessed by the plaintiff and her son - defendant was threatening to raise construction on the suit land without any right to do so- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that no tatima of the suit land was filed- suit land was not got demarcated before filing the suit- plaintiff was not even aware of the khasra number of the suit land- PW-2 admitted that latrine of the defendant was constructed within his property- plaintiff had alleged that construction was raised on her land – therefore, burden was upon her to prove this fact- a Local Commissioner cannot be appointed to collect the evidence, especially when Court was satisfied on the basis of material that no construction was raised- appeal dismissed. Title: Roshni Devi Vs. Man Chand Page-418

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for restraining the defendant from interfering with the suit land pleading that plaintiff had purchased the suit land to the extent of one biswa – defendant is interfering in the possession of the plaintiff without any right do so - suit was decreed by the trial Court-an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that defendant had categorically deposed that he had not encroached upon the land of the plaintiff- plaintiff stated that he had taken demarcation but no copy of the same was produced on record- plaintiff was required to prove the encroachment, which he had failed to do- Appellate Court had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. Title: Uma Dutt Vs. Goverdhan Dass Page-219

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for seeking permanent prohibitory injunction for restraining the defendant from interfering in the flow of water for irrigation purpose- it was pleaded that land of the plaintiff was being irrigated from the source named Jaral Bain- defendants threatened to tap the water of source forcibly and without consent of the plaintiff- suit was opposed by filing a reply pleading that water source is owned and possessed by State of Himachal Pradesh- Department was going to dig the well in Khasra No. 283 on the request of the public at large- plaintiff cannot restrain the owner from digging well in their land- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held, in second appeal that no prescriptive right can be acquired regarding the water flowing in underground channel- there was no evidence that by tapping the water, plaintiff would be deprived of the use of the water for irrigating his land- injunction was rightly refused in these circumstances- appeal dismissed. Title: Paras Ram Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh and others Page-30

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a suit for permanent prohibitory injunction for restraining the defendants from interfering with the suit land- it was pleaded that suit land was allotted to the plaintiff in partition- defendants started interfering with the suit land without any right to do so- defendants pleaded that they had purchased 1/4th share of J and S and were put in possession- the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that J and S had filed a civil suit claiming ownership and possession but the suit was dismissed- therefore, it was not permissible for them to put the defendants in possession – it was duly proved that joint land was partitioned and plaintiff was put in possession- the Courts had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. Title: Lekh Raj & ors. Vs. Inder Dev Page-93

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit seeking permanent prohibitory and mandatory injunction pleading that they are son and daughter of defendant No. 1- suit land is ancestral in nature- defendant No. 1 threatened to alienate the suit land and to raise construction on the same- defendants denied the claim of the plaintiffs – the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- a second appeal was preferred, which was allowed and the case was remanded to the Appellate Court- the District Judge allowed the appeal- held, in second appeal that as per the record defendant No. 1 is recorded to be father of the plaintiffs- there is no evidence of divorce and the plaintiffs are to be presumed to be the legitimate children of defendant No. 1- the nature of the suit land was proved to be ancestral- injunction can be granted against the manager in case of waste or ouster – there is nothing on record to show that sale is to be made for legal necessity – defendant No. 1 has disowned the plaintiffs and will oust them from the ancestral land as well- the Appellate Court had wrongly allowed the appeal- appeal allowed judgment and decree passed by the Appellate Court set aside and that passed by trial Court restored. Title: Kuldeep Kumar & another Vs. Ishwari Parshad & others Page-988

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit seeking injunction pleading that they are owners in possession of the suit land and defendant started raising construction of Gharat forcibly without any right to do so- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that PW-4 had found the encroachment of 0-0-9 Biswansis on the land of the plaintiffs - defendant could not explain on which khasra number gharat was constructed by him- DW-3 admitted that Gharat was constructed over the land of the plaintiffs- plaintiffs have proved the encroachment on the suit land- defendant could not prove the plea of adverse possession- Appellate Court had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. Title: Darsho Ram Vs. Nidhia and another Page-138

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for permanent prohibitory injunction pleading that they are owners in possession of the suit land- defendants started interfering with the same without any right to do so- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that plaintiffs and their witness had specifically stated that plaintiffs are owners in possession of suit land and defendants are interfering with the same without any right to do so- defendants relied upon the judgment but the judgment does not show that plaintiffs were restrained - version of the plaintiffs that they are owners in possession and defendants are stranger has to be accepted- Courts had rightly decreed the suit- appeal dismissed. Title: Majalsi & Others Vs. Zulmi Ram (since deceased) through his LRs Page-37

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for permanent prohibitory injunction pleading that their predecessor-in-interest, D was in possession of the suit land as tenant at will- his tenancy right was inherited by the plaintiffs- they became owners on the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- defendants had filed a wrong application for correction of wrong entry pleading that predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiffs, D had surrendered/relinquished his tenancy rights- suit was opposed by filing a reply denying the contents of the plaint and pleading that D had surrendered the tenancy in the year 1959- he was not the tenant thereafter- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that defendants had not given the date when they came into possession- application for bringing on record certain documents were filed but it was not shown that these documents could not be traced earlier despite exercise of due diligence- application was filed to fill up the lacuna and was rightly dismissed- it was for the Revenue Authorities to carry out necessary correction after the death of D- no evidence was led to prove that D had relinquished/surrendered his rights over the suit land- tenancy has devolved upon the plaintiffs - landlord-tenant relation never came to an end in the year 1959- plaintiffs became owners on the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act automatically- appeal dismissed. Title: Dile Ram (since deceased through LRs Tikam Devi & ors.) Vs. Sidhu Ram & ors. Page- 636

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for possession and mesne profit pleading that he had purchased the property by sale deed and defendants had illegally opened the lock of the suit property- a criminal complaint was filed against them- suit was decreed by the trial Court for possession and for the recovery of Rs. 15,200/- along with interest @ 9% per annum- two appeals were filed before the Appellate Court- Appellate Court decreed the suit for recovery of Rs. 51,200/-- held, in second appeal that plaintiff has been recorded in the ownership column of the suit property- names of the defendants have neither been recorded in the ownership column nor in the possession column- sale deed was duly proved- title of the defendants was not established- there was nothing on record to show that defendants are owners- Appellate Court had rightly decreed the suit- appeal dismissed. Title: Khem Chand son of late Sh. Prem Dutt and another Vs. Prem Lal Bhambra son of Gopal Dass Page-163

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for possession pleading that plaintiff had purchased the same for consideration of Rs. 70,000/-- one temporary Dhara was constructed on a portion of land, whereas rest of the land was vacant- predecessor-in-interest of the defendants entered into an agreement to purchase the suit land but he was not an agriculturist and was not competent to purchase the property- agreement was declared to be void in a civil suit- possession of the defendants was illegal, hence, suit was filed for possession along with mesne profits- suit was partly decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred- cross objections were filed, which were allowed and the suit was decreed for recovery of Rs. 68,000/- along with future interest @ Rs. 50 per day till possession- held, in second appeal that agreement was held to be not enforceable in view of Section 118 of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- possessors could not have been ejected except in accordance with the law- no appeal was filed against the judgment and decree- plaintiff being owner is entitled for possession of the land and mesne profit @ Rs. 50/- per day cannot said to be excessive – judgment passed by the Court below calls for no interference- appeal dismissed. Title: Krishna Devi and others Vs. Raj Kumari Page-140

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiff filed a civil suit seeking possession of the suit land pleading that he is successor of P- defendant had taken illegal possession of the suit land on the basis of Will, stated to have been executed by P- no Will was executed by the deceased- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- it was held by the Courts that original Will was not proved at the time of examination of the witnesses- held, in second appeal that original Will was submitted to Sub Judge 1st Class but was not exhibited- application to lead additional evidence was filed, in which it was prayed that witnesses be recalled for proving the original Will, which was not exhibited and whose photocopy was exhibited – another application for leading additional evidence was filed, in which it was stated that Will could not be exhibited due to mistake of Lower Court, which is not correct- original Will was not exhibited at the time of examination of the witness and the findings recorded by the Court that original Will was not proved on record cannot be said to be perverse- appeal dismissed. Title: Kuldeep Chand and another Vs. Bhagi Rath Page-588

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for seeking possession of the land pleading that they are owners and defendants are in possession without any right to do so- they were asked to deliver the possession but in vain- suit was opposed by filing a reply pleading that their predecessor was recorded in possession and defendants are in possession since then – earlier a suit was filed by the plaintiffs, which was dismissed- defendants have become owners on the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed – held, in second appeal that Assistant Collector 2nd Grade had held the predecessor-in-interest of the defendants to be a tenant - he was not competent to decide the dispute under Section 104(4) and his order is nullity- defendants have not proved that any rent was paid to the landlord- tenancy is a bilateral act and will not come into existence without payment of rent - copy of the plaint in earlier suit was not filed- order made in favour of predecessor-in-interest of the defendant is nullity and without jurisdiction- Appellate Court had rightly allowed the appeal- appeal dismissed. Title: Padama @ Mathra Devi & ors. Vs. Bhagat Ram & ors. Page-389

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 6- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for restoration of the possession and for permanent prohibitory injunction for restraining the defendants from using any portion of the cabin by making additions and alterations- it was pleaded that plaintiffs were put in possession – plaintiff No. 1 had gone out of station and when he returned, he found that locks were changed- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- held, that plaintiff had not disclosed the name of the employee who had told him about the possession- plaintiff No. 3 had left the country- FIR was registered after 6 days – trial Court had rightly come to the conclusion that plaintiff No. 3 had delivered the possession and it was not a case of forcible dispossession- petition dismissed. BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE RAJIV SHARMA, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Appellant
Versus
Vijay Kumar ...Respondent

Criminal Appeal No. 4072 of 2013
Reserved on : 24.06.2016
Date of Decision: 01.08.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 306 and 498-A- Deceased was married to the accused for 17-18 years prior to the commission of suicide by her- relationship between the parties was cordial for 8-10 years but the accused started harassing and torturing the deceased by giving beating to her under the influence of liquor- deceased committed suicide- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that allegations levelled by the prosecution witnesses are general in nature, which are not sufficient to hold the accused guilty of cruelty - accused and deceased were living together for 17-18 years and they were blessed with one son and one daughter – matter was never reported to Police, Panchayat or any other Authority- a single instance of quarrel, 2-3 days prior to the commission of suicide will not amount to cruelty - words uttered in quarrel or anger cannot be termed as cruelty sufficient to drive a person to commit suicide- instigation to commit suicide was also not established- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-4 to 23)

For the appellant : Mr. Neeraj Kumar Sharma, Deputy Advocate General.
For the respondent : None.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge.

Aggrieved by acquittal of respondent/accused vide judgment, dated 01.05.2013, passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge-II, Kangra at Dharamshala, District Kangra, H.P. in RBT Sessions Case No. 75-G/VII/2010/2009 in case FIR No. 168/2007 registered under Sections 498-A and 306 of Indian Penal Code, in P.S. Jawalamukhi, District Kangra, the State has preferred present appeal.

2. In present case, deceased Krishna Devi was married with respondent Vijay Kumar about 17-18 years prior to committing suicide by her. Couple was blessed with one son and a daughter out of their wedlock. As per prosecution story after marriage relation of husband and wife were cordial for 8-10 years. Thereafter respondent had started harassing and torturing deceased by giving beatings under influence of liquor and by not providing any maintenance to her. Due to harassment and maltreatment by respondent, deceased had committed suicide on 23.10.2008. Respondent had telephonically informed his father-in-law about death of deceased. On the basis of statement of father of deceased FIR under Sections 498-A and 306 IPC was registered. After completion of investigation challan was presented in the Court and respondent was charge sheeted under Sections 498-A and 306 IPC. On conclusion of trial respondent has been acquitted by trial Court.

3. We have heard learned counsel for parties and also have gone through record.

4. PW-1 Gian Chand father of deceased had deposed that his deceased daughter was married with Vijay Kumar about 17-18 years back and they were blessed with two children. After 8-10 years of marriage, respondent had left his job and had come to his house. He had stated that respondent was not paying any maintenance to his daughter and had started beating her. On reporting matter to Panchayat, a compromise was effected between parties on intervention of Panchayat, but after few days, respondent had again started beating his daughter which was telephonically conveyed to him by his daughter. Thereafter, his wife (mother) of deceased had visited to advise respondent. He had further stated that about two years back at about 8.00 pm respondent informed about death of his daughter on telephone whereupon they informed the police and gone to house of respondent where they found that deceased had committed suicide by consuming poison. He has alleged that deceased had consumed poison because of torture of respondent.

5. PW-4 Rajender Kumar, real brother and PW-5 Ranjeet Singh cousin had stated that after marriage respondent used to beat and torture their sister and she used to tell them about this. They had not stated even a single instance of torture, beating or harassment and also not about any reason for beating deceased by respondent.

6. PW-6 Madan Lal (Jija) and PW-8 Pritam Chand Cousin had also deposed in the like manner except adding incident of quarrel between deceased and respondent at the time of marriage of Vinod son of PW-6 Madan Lal.

7. In cross-examination, PW-1 Gian Chand, PW-4 Rajinder Kumar and PW-8 Pritam Chand had admitted that after marriage, deceased and respondent had been visiting their houses on every function. PW-1 and PW-8 had admitted that at the time of death of deceased and thereafter her children were residing with respondent. PW-1 had also admitted that respondent had left his job on account of old age and sickness of his parents. He had also admitted that respondent used to drink on occasion of marriage function. He had stated that he had not made any written complaint before Pradhan and police and no Panchayat had ever called respondent. He had admitted that respondent deceased and their children had attended one marriage three-four days prior to death of his daughter. PW-8 had stated that respondent had made a telephonic call to PW-1 informing death of deceased by saying that he himself also was going to consume poison.

8. PW-3 Chander Kanta was Ward Panch of Gram Panchayat Pihari. She was declared hostile for resiling from her previous statement recorded by Police but in examination-in-Chief she had stated that PW-15 Roshni Devi mother of respondent had come to her and told that her daughter-in-law (Krishna deceased) and her son Vijay were saying to consume poison and both of them would die. Thereupon, she had tried to contact Pradhan and had visited house of respondent where Krishna was found lying dead in bed.

9. PW-9, Tarlok Chand, a Private RMP Practitioner, was called by PW-6 Madan Lal to house on 21.10.2008 at about 8.30. PM by telling that respondent had consumed 'Phenol' but on checking it was found that respondent had not consumed 'Phenol' but beer.

10. Allegations levelled by PW-1 PW-4, PW-5, PW-6 and PW-9 are general in nature which cannot be treated sufficient to hold respondent guilty for cruelty under Section 498-A and/or also to convict respondent under Section 306 of IPC.

11. Respondent and deceased were living together for 17-18 years and were blessed with one son and one daughter and there was not even a single instance when matter was reported to Police, Panchayat or any other Authority. Prosecution witnesses had also failed to point out any specific instance of quarrel, harassment or beating to deceased by respondent.

12. A single instance of quarrel amongst couple in the marriage of son of PW-6 that too 2-3 days prior to committing suicide by deceased cannot be treated as cruelty, harassment or torture so as to force deceased to commit suicide. Prosecution has to establish that instigation by respondent was so directly co-related and proximate with act of suicide that it could be safely inferred that deceased had committed suicide only on account of such instigation. General allegations of harassment and torture however strong may be do not made out any case of abetment to commit suicide.

13. To prove cruelty subjected to deceased by respondent, prosuection has relied upon statement of PW-1 Gian Chand father of deceased, PW-4 Rajender Kumar brother, PW-5 Ranjit Singh cousin PW-6 Madan Lal brother in law and PW-8 Pritam Chand cousin of deceased. Prosuection has also examined PW-2 Arjun Singh son, PW-7 Usha Devi daughter and PW-15 Roshni Devi mother in law of deceased. Besides this, PW-3 Chander Kanta Ward Panch of Pihari Panchayat has also been examined by prosuection.

14. PW-2 Arjun Singh, PW-7 Usha Devi and PW-15 Roshni Devi were declared hostile on resiling from their statements recorded by police under Section 161 Cr. P.C. These witnesses were subjected to cross examination by learned public prosecutor. These witnesses were present in the house on the day on which deceased had committed suicide and were also residing with deceased and respondent prior to day of incident. In their statements it had emerged that respondent Vijay Kumar, deceased PW-2 Arjun Singh and PW-7 Usha Devi had attended marriage of Vinod Kumar son of PW-6 Madan Lal brother in law of deceased (Jija) w.e.f. 18.10.2008 to 20.10.2008. On 21st October, 2008 some altercations had taken place between husband and wife and respondent had pretended that he had consumed poison where upon deceased had called PW-6 Madan Lal (her Jija), her sister Saroj and PW-9 Tarlok Chand, a private RMP Practitioner. However, on check up it was fond that respondent had not consumed poison but beer.

15. There is no specific incident on record indicating quarrel between husband and wife amounting cruelty for which respondent could be held liable for subjecting deceased to cruelty driving her to commit suicide. There is also no evidence of even general behaviour attracting provisions of Sections 498-A and/or 306 IPC.

16. PW-2 had also admitted suggestions of Public Prosecutor that when his mother started weeping, respondent had come there and said that if she would die then he would also die.

17. On the basis of evidence, available on record it can only be said that there was some quarrel between husband and wife on 21.10.2008 and both of them were expressing desire to commit suicide but at the same time both of them were also trying to save each other as on doubt of consumption of poison by respondent, deceased had called private RMP Practitioner and her sister and brother-in-law (Jija) to save life of respondent. Respondent had also expressed his desire to die in case of death of deceased.

18. The words uttered in quarrel or in spur of moment or in anger cannot be treated as a cruelty driving a person to commit suicide. As discussed above, there is no allegation of demand of dowry or any other valuable article of property nor there is any willful conduct of such a nature as was likely to derive deceased to commit suicide. Therefore, there is no evidence to convict respondent under Section 498-A IPC. Before parting with this case it is necessary to held that observations of learned trial Court that 'mere harassment by itself is not cruelty and it is only when harassment is shown to have been given for the propose of coercing a woman to meet the demand of dowry is cruelty' is contrary to provision of law and cruelty can be there even in absence of demand of dowry as provided in explanation (a) to Section 498-A. However, in present case, there is no evidence to bring case under ambit and scope of explanation (a) and (b) in proviso to Section 498-A IPC.

19. For convicting a person under Section 306 of IPC prosecution has to establish that instigation by a person was so direct, co-related and proximate with the act of suicide that it can be safely inferred that deceased had committed suicide only on account of such instigation. Mere harassment or every quarrel between husband and wife would not constitute the offence under Section 306 of Indian Penal Code. Mere fact that some quarrel had taken place between deceased and respondent with threatening to each other to commit suicide cannot be treated as abetment to commit suicide so as to attract conviction of respondent under Section 306 IPC.

20 In present case, prosecution evidence is lacking evidence so as to hold respondent guilty under Sections 498-A and 306 of Indian Penal Code.

21. Prosecution has failed to prove any omission or commission on the part of respondent beyond reasonable doubt so as to attract provision of Sections 498-A and Section 306 of Indian Penal Code.

22. Prosecution has failed to prove guilt of accused beyond all reasonable doubt and there is no merit in the appeal. There is no illegality or perversity in impugned judgment. Learned trial Court has appreciated evidence on record completely and correctly.

23. Allegations as made against respondent are not trustworthy, believable, convincing and therefore cannot be treated as cogent, reliable and convincing to convict the respondent under Sections 498-A and 306 of the Indian Penal Code.

24. The present appeal, devoid of any merit, is dismissed, so also the pending applications, if any. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged. Records of the Court below be sent back forthwith.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

The H.P. State Forest Development Corp. & Anr. .....Petitioners.

Versus

Rosin & Turpentine Factory Employees Union & Anr. .....Respondents.

Date of Decision:05.08.2016.

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Rosin & Turpentine Factory Employees Union had been demanding remote locality/special compensatory allowance at par with the Central Government employees serving at different areas- this demand was not accepted by H.P. Forest Corporation- a dispute arose, which was referred to Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla- claim was allowed and corporation was directed to grant special compensatory allowance- aggrieved from the order, present writ petition has been filed- held, that there are two types of establishments in factory namely ministerial establishment and industrial establishment- ministerial establishment is governed by the pay and allowances of the Himachal Pradesh Government and Industrial establishment is governed by central pattern of pay scales and other allowances- evidence of the Union proved that they are governed by the Central Government pay pattern and allowances and have been getting remote locality/compensatory allowances on Central Government pattern- earlier this allowance was not revised- plea that special compensatory allowance was being paid unauthorizedly is not acceptable- Tribunal had rightly passed the award on the basis of the evidence- finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal on the basis of appreciation of evidence cannot be questioned in writ proceedings- petition dismissed.

Case referred:
Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. M/s Hindalco Industries Ltd. 2014 AIR SCW 3157

For the petitioners: Mr. Prany Partap Singh,Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Nimish Gupta, Advocate, for respondent No. 1.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, J.

Petitioner being aggrieved with the award dated 27.07.2010 passed by Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla, camp at Nahan in Reference No. 213 of 2002, has approached this Court by way of instant petition filed under Article 226 of Constitution of India, praying therein for following main relief:-

> "a) That the award of the learned H.P. Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla in Ref. No. 213 of 2002 in the reference titled The General Secretary, Mazdoor Union Sharmik Sanghthan Biroja Factory, Nahan, District Sirmaour, H.P. versus The General Manager, Rosin & Turpentine Factory, Nahan, District Sirmaur, H.P. be quashed and set aside.

2. Briefly stated facts as emerged from the record are that Rosin & Turpentine Factory Employees Union through its General Secretary, District Sirmaur (here-in-after to be referred as 'Respondent-Union') have been demanding remote locality/special compensatory allowance at par with the Central Government employees serving in/at different places in the State of Himachal Pradesh like the employees of the Telephone Department, MES and Nahan Foundry etc. Since H.P. Forest Corporation did not concede to the demand of the Respondent-Union, dispute arose between Respondent-Union as well as petitioner and ultimately reference was made to the Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla. Reference for adjudication sent by the appropriate Government to the Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court is as under:-

> "Whether the workmen of Rosin & Turpentine Factory, Nahan are entitled to the compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985 as given by the Central Government to its employee? If yes, from which date such allowance is admissible to workmen of above Factory?"
> "If not, then whether the workmen of above factory are entitled to the compensatory allowance as given by the H.P. Government to its clerical staff? If so, from which date such allowance is admissible?"
> "If not, then what type of compensatory allowance the above workmen are entitled to and from which date?"

3. Pursuant to aforesaid reference having been made to the Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla, Respondent-Union filed statement of claim stating therein that in Rosin & Turpentine Factory at Nahan (here-in-after to be referred as 'Factory) there are two types of establishments (1) Ministerial establishment governed by the pay and allowances of the Himachal Pradesh Government; (2) Industrial establishment comprising of the industrial workers in the manufacturing process and governed by the central pattern of pay scales and other allowances. Respondent-Union also stated in their claim petition that as far as members of the respondent-Union are concerned they fall in the second category i.e. industrial establishment. Respondent-Union also averred in their claim that the Government of India granted locality/special compensatory allowance to the Central Government Employees posted at Shimla and its suburbs @ Rs. 75/- per month (minimum) and Rs. 300/- (maximum) as per pay range of the employees w.e.f. 1.10.1985 and the said allowance was increased to Rs. 150/- per month (minimum) and Rs. 650/- maximum w.e.f. 1.1.1986 on the revision of the pay scales of the Central Government employees. It also emerges from the claim petition that Central Government employees posted at Kasuali had challenged the notification of the Central Government before Central Administrative Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as "CAT') on the ground that same was violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India because the grant of such benefit only to the employees posted at Shimla is discriminatory and in violation of 14 of the Constitution of India. CAT allowed the aforesaid petition filed by Central Government Employees of Kasauli, as a result of which, Central Government Employees posted at various places in H.P. also claimed the said benefits and they were granted the benefits w.e.f. 1.10.1985. Respondent-Union also stated that employees posted at Nahan also claimed the said benefit and they were also allowed the same. Similarly, other employees posted in telephone department as well as civilians posted at the Army Headquarters were also granted these benefits.

4. It is also averred in the claim petition that even the Nahan Foundry employees, who were about 400 in number were also granted these benefits on having approached the Administrative Tribunal. It is also averred that the Nahan Foundry employees were also governed by the same terms and conditions as employees of the Factory, at Nahan were also governed by the Central Government patterns of the pay scales and allowances before their services were taken over by the HPPWD & IPH Departments. Respondent-Union also claimed that ministerial establishment of the Factory has also got compensatory allowance at par with the H.P. Government employees w.e.f. 1967 but the same has been denied to the workers of factory establishment on the ground that they were governed by the Central Government pattern of pay scales & allowances. In the aforesaid background, respondent-Union claimed that aforesaid discrimination amounts to unfair labour practice and employees serving in the same establishment cannot be discriminated on the ground of different establishments. Respondent-Union claimed that when the special compensatory allowance was granted to the other Central Government Employees posted at Nahan, they also approached the management for the grant of the same but nothing was done and ultimately they approached Administrative Tribunal by way of filing an O.A., which was sent to Managing Director as a representation of the petitioner. But Managing Director failed to accept the request of the respondent-Union and as such Union was to approach learned Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court by filing application under Section 33-C(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, but the same was dismissed on the ground that matter could have been agitated by way of dispute. Accordingly, respondent-Union further claimed that since member of Union are also governed by Central pattern of pay scales and other allowances, they cannot be denied the said benefits but they are entitled to the benefits of special compensatory allowance at par with the Central Government employees posted at Nahan w.e.f. 1.10.1985. Petitioner also claimed that in the application filed under Section 33-C(2), General Manager had admitted that the Factory establishment is also governed by the central pattern of pay scales and other allowances at par with the other Central Government Employees. In the aforesaid background, respondent-Union requested the management to pay remote locality/special compensatory allowance to the members of the petitioner at par with other Central Government employees w.e.f. 1.10.1985 @ Rs.75/- to Rs.300/- per month upto 31.12.1985 as per their pay ranges and Rs. 150/- to Rs. 650/- w.e.f. 1.1.1996 with all consequential benefits.

5. Present petitioner by way of detailed reply refuted the claim of the respondent-Union on the ground of maintainability, cause of action and that the members of the Union are not workmen as per the Act. Similarly, on merits, respondent-department claimed that employees of the Factory are not at par with the Central Government employees because they are governed by the pay scale pattern, at par with the Ministry of Railways as per Clause 32 of the Standing Order. Respondent also averred that ministerial staff working in the factory is governed by the pay scale of the H.P. government and compensatory allowance, as given by the H.P. government, is also being given to them. Respondent further stated that since the Factory workers are on the pattern of Railway workshop for the purpose of pay/allowances, compensatory allowance cannot be given to them. Respondent further stated that as far as special compensatory allowance is concerned, the same is not admissible to the employees of workshop staff. As per respondent, Ministry of Finance, Department of Expenditure, Government of India had issued notification dated 31.5.1991 for the grant of special compensatory (remote locality) allowance to only the Central Government employees posted in H.P. within the various pay ranges and as such workers of factory are drawing remote locality allowance w.e.f. May, 1991 and revised rates from 1.8.1997. As per respondent, all the benefits in terms of notification are meant for Central Government Employees, whereas members of respondent-Union are employees of State Forest Corporation, drawing pay and allowances on the pattern of Railway Workshop and as such no allowance, as being claimed by them, can be granted to them. Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court on the basis of pleadings framed following issues:-

> "1. Whether the workmen are entitled to the compensatory allowance as given by the Central Government to its employees or at par with State Government clerical staff or any other type of compensatory allowance? OPP
> 2. If yes, from which date and to what amount the workmen are entitled? OPP

3. Whether the claim of the petitioners is not maintainable in view of objections raised from para 1 to 4 of preliminary objections? OPP"

6. Learned Tribunal on the basis of oral as well as documentary evidence adduced on record, allowed the claim of the petitioner and directed the Corporation to grant special compensatory allowance to members of the union with its revision from time to time on the pattern of Central Government Employees, as per their respective pay scales w.e.f. 1.10.1985.

7. Feeling aggrieved and dis-satisfied with the award dated 27.7.2010 passed by Industrial Tribunal, present petitioner approached this Court by way of instant writ petition praying therein relief as has been reproduced here-in-above.

8. Shri Pranay Partap Singh, counsel representing the petitioner vehemently argued that the impugned award passed by Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Shimla is not sustainable as the same is based upon the mis-appreciation of the evidence adduced on record completely ignoring the statements as well as documentary evidence placed on record by the Department. It is also contended on behalf of petitioner that members of Union had been getting special compensatory allowance at old rates previously because of bona-fide mistake on the part of the petitioners and as such they were paid un-authorisedly and learned Tribunal failed to acknowledge that it has come in evidence that earlier special compensatory allowance/remote locality allowance was paid due to bona-fide mistake.

9. With a view to substantiate his arguments that impugned award is not based upon the correct appreciation of the evidence adduced on record by the Department, Mr. Pranay Partap Singh, counsel representing the petitioner made this Court to travel through the statements of RW1 Swaran Singh, General Manager of Petitioner No. 2, wherein he categorically stated that special compensatory /remote locality allowance was paid to the respondent-Union by bona-fide mistake, un-authorisedly at local level. Mr. Pranay Partap Singh also contended that Industrial Tribunal has fallen in grave error in not acknowledging the fact that petitioner No. 2 is bound by Standing Order of the Factory. As far as service conditions are concerned, in Clause 32(a), it has been provided that pay and allowances of labour and supervisory staff would be as per orders of Ministry of Railway issued for their workshop staff from time to time. The aforesaid counsel also invited the attention of this Court to Ex. RB, wherein clarification was given by the Railway workshop Jagadhari wherein, it has been stated that no compensatory allowance was being paid to its employees. He also contended that nearest workshop Jagadhari does not pay any special compensatory allowance/remote locality allowance to its employees and this clarification was on record before the learned Tribunal in the shape of Ex. RB and in the aforesaid background, he prayed for quashing of impugned award.

10. It clearly emerges from the record that there are two types of establishments in factory i.e. Ministerial establishment and Industrial establishment. Ministerial establishment is governed by the pay and allowances of the Himachal Pradesh Government and Industrial establishment comprising of the industrial workers in the manufacturing process are governed by the central pattern of pay scales and other allowances. As per petitioner, they are governed by pay scale pattern at par with the Ministry of Railway. Petitioner has also stated that factory workers are governed by the pay scale pattern at par with the Ministry of Railway and as far as the grant of special compensatory allowance is concerned, factory workers are not entitled for the grant of special compensatory allowance. And as such members of respondent-Union cannot be granted special compensatory allowance as the same is not admissible as per the pay-scale pattern of Ministry of Railway. PW1 Shashi Kant Kalia specifically stated before the learned Tribunal that employees of factory were being paid remote allowances on the Central Government pattern @ Rs. 20/- per month (minimum) and Rs. 60 (maximum) as per the pay range of the employees but now they are claiming this allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985 on the Central Government pattern as is being paid to the Central Government employees of the various departments such as MES, P&T, Army Station Headquarters etc. Aforesaid PW1 also placed on record Ex. PW1/A, Ex. PW1/B & Ex. PW-1/C, copies of notification issued by the Central Government as well as orders passed by Central Administrative Tribunal, in the case of Central Government employees posted at Nahan Foundry, wherein their claim for allowance at par with the Central Government employees was allowed. PW1 also stated that in terms of order passed by Central Administrative Tribunal, Union made representation to the management, who asked them to produce documents whereby Central Government employees posted at Nahan were granted the revised rates of the said allowances. PW1 further stated that relevant documents were supplied but nothing was done by the management. He also placed on record representation Ex. PW1/D, wherein, it is stated that Nahan Foundry, the Jagadhri Railway workshop pattern was applicable and employees of said Foundry were also granted the said allowances w.e.f. 1.10.1985 at the revised rates. The Rules & Regulations in respect of Nahan Foundry Employees are the same as applicable to the members of the petitioner. PW1 also stated that Ministerial staff, serving in the same premises is getting compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1970 @ Rs.150/- per month (minimum) and maximum as per their pay range. PW1 also stated that in the earlier application filed under Section 33-C(2) of the Act, General Manager admitted that members of the petitioner are governed by the Central Government pay pattern and allowances. Similarly, PW2 Shri Saleem Ahmed, General Secretary of Nahan Foundry stated that they had claimed remote locality allowance/compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985, on the ground that they are governed by Central Government pattern pay-scale and allowances and the same was paid to them @ Rs. 150/- per month (minimum) and Rs. 650/- (maximum) as per pay range. He also stated that in the matter of pay and allowances they had similarity with the employees of the Factory since both were governed by the Jagadhri workshop pattern/central pattern of pay and allowances.

11. PW3 Shri Mohinder Singh, a Central Government Employee stated that vide notification dated 31.05.1991, they were paid the remote locality/ compensatory allowance @ Rs.20/- to Rs.120/- per month as per their entitlement of pay. He has also stated that for getting the revised benefits, they filed an Original Application before Central Administrative Tribunal, titled Sumer Chand & others. vs. Union of India and vide Ex.PW1/C, CAT issued directions to the Department to revise the allowance at par with the Central Government Employees posted at Shimla and paid revised arrears of allowances w.e.f.1.10.1985.

12. PW4 Shri Balbir Singh, General Secretary of Mazdoor Union, Resin & Turpentine Factory, Nahan stated that members of Union were getting remote locality/compensatory allowance since. 1.1.1986 but till date same has not been revised. He also stated that Central Government Employees are getting revised rates w.e.f. 1.1.1986 @ Rs. 150/- to Rs. 650/- as per their pay-scale. Similarly, revised rates were being paid to the employees of MES, Post Office, Army station Headquarter, Telecom and also Nahan foundry Employees. In cross-examination, he denied that they are the employees of the State Government undertaking and as such they are not entitled to remote locality allowance @ Rs.20-40-60 but specifically vide notification dated 6.11.1985 they demanded the rates at par with the allowance paid to the employees posted at Shimla. PW4 further stated that since they were not given the revised rates of allowances, Union filed OA before the CAT and the same was allowed vide Ex.PW2/A and, since then, they are getting the allowance at par with the Shimla employees ranging between 150-650 per months w.e.f. 1.10.1986.

13. Conjoint reading of the aforesaid evidence led on record by respondent-Union clearly suggests that they have been able to prove on record by leading cogent and convincing evidence that they are governed by the Central Government pay pattern and allowances and have been getting remote locality/compensatory allowances on Central Government pattern @ Rs. 20/- (minimum) and Rs.60/- (maximum) as per pay range of the employees and they had been demanding the aforesaid allowances w.e.f. 1.10.1985 on Central Government patterns as being paid to the Central Government employees of the various departments in terms of notification Ex.PW1/A as well as various directions issued by CAT in this regard. All the aforesaid witnesses led on record by the respondent-Union have categorically stated that earlier they were being paid remote locality/compensatory allowance @ Rs.20/- to 120/- per month as per their entitlement but subsequently on the basis of notification issued by Government of India dated 3.5.1991 for grant of special compensatory allowance as well as the directions passed by CAT in the Original Application filed by various Central Government Employees, they have been getting revised rates w.e.f. 1.1.1986 @ Rs.150 to Rs. 650/- as per their pay scale.

14. Careful perusal of the aforesaid statements as well as documents available on record clearly suggests that w.e.f 1.1.1986 revised rates are being paid to the employees of MES, Post Office, Army Station Head Quarter, Telecom and also Nahan Foundry employees. RW1 Shri Swaran Singh, General Manager of the Factory also stated that the workers of the Factory are governed by the pay-scale of Railway workshop staff and that the members of the Union were appointed as per conditions shown in Ex. RA & Ex. RB. As per aforesaid RW1 Shri Swaran Singh, benefits of remote locality allowance was not extended by the Railway to its workshop staff as per Ex. RB and as such members of the Union are also not entitled for the same since their service conditions are also governed in terms of Ex. RA and Ex.RB.

15. RW1 also stated that since there was no instruction to pay this allowance, to the members of petitioner, by any competent authority, earlier this allowance was being paid un-authorisedly at the local level. He also admitted in his cross examination that audit is conducted every year and report is furnished to the Headquarter. He also admitted that remote locality/special compensatory allowance is being paid to the employees serving in Himachal Pradesh.

16. It is undisputed as clearly emerge from the statements given by PWs that members of respondent-Union were getting compensatory allowance/remote locality allowance on old rates @ Rs. 20/- (minimum) and Rs. 60/- (maximum) per month as per their pay-scale and they have been claiming revised rate w.e.f. 1.1.1986 @ Rs.150/- to Rs.650/- as per their pay scale in terms of notification issued by Central Government as well as orders passed by CAT in the cases filed by the employees of MES, Post Office, Army Station Headquarters, Telecom and Nahan Foundry employees. Similarly, RW1 Also admitted that aforesaid allowance is being paid to the employees of the factory, however, he stated that same was being paid un-authorisedly at local level and, as such, steps were taken to stop the same. However, perusal of the statement given by RW1 clearly suggests that he was unable to offer plausible explanation that under what authority compensatory/ remote locality allowance was being paid to the employees of the factory un-authorisedly and when the same was pointed out to the authorities by the audit authorities. In his cross-examination, he admitted that audit is conducted every year and report is furnished to headquarter but in this regard, apart from the oral statement, nothing was placed on record by the RW1 to substantiate that on being pointed out by the audit authorities, steps were taken to correct the mistake, which was committed by the Department, by un-authorisedly paying allowance in question to the members of the respondent-Union. Whereas, respondent-Union has been successful in demonstrating that they are also entitled to enhancement in the allowance in terms of revision made by the Central Government. It also stands proved on record that as per revision made by Central Government employees posted at Nahan are getting revised compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985 on the Central Government pay scale pattern. It has also come in the statement of PW3 that remote locality/compensatory allowance is being paid to the employees of Nahan Foundry w.e.f. 1.10.1985. It has also come in the statement of aforesaid witness that there is similarity between the employees of Nahan Foundry and that of the Rosin & Turpentine Factory Employees, who were also governed by Jagadhri workshop pattern / central pattern of pay allowances.

17. In this background, if the statement of RW1 is seen, who has categorically stated that workers of the factory are governed by the pay scale of Railway workshop staff and members of respondent-Union were appointed as per conditions shown in Ex.RA and Ex.RB, it clearly emerges that there is force in the contention put-forth on behalf of the members of the Union that they are also entitled to remote/compensatory allowance in terms of revised notification issued by Central Government, whereby all the Central Government Employees posted at Nahan are getting revised compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985 on the Central Government pattern pay scale. Respondent-Union by leading cogent and convincing evidence has proved on record that employees of Nahan Foundry are being paid revised remote locality/compensatory allowance on revised rates w.e.f. 1.10.1985, hence, members of respondent-Union are also entitled to remote locality/compensatory allowance at revised rates w.e.f. 1.10.1985 as is being paid to employees of Nahan Foundry, who are also governed by Jagadhri workshop pattern/central pattern of pay allowance. Similarly, PW2 also stated that employees of Nahan Foundry are also governed by Jagadhri workshop pattern and they are being paid remote locality/compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985. Aforesaid statements of PW2 and PW3 have been further supported by the statement of Shri Shashi Kant Kalia, who has specifically stated that employees of Nahan Foundry are governed by Jagadhri workshop and are getting remote locality/compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985 at the revised rates. Moreover as has been discussed above, RW1 Swaran Singh categorically stated that members of the respondent-Union are governed by Railway workshop staff in terms of Ex. RB and they are not entitled to remote locality/special compensatory allowance. But aforesaid contention put-forth on behalf of RW1 cannot be accepted solely for the reason that employees of Nahan Foundry who were governed by Jagadhri workshop pattern/central pattern as applied to the central establishment of factory are getting special compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985 at the revised rate and as such there is no justification, if any, to deny the aforesaid benefit to the members of the respondent-Union, who were admittedly governed by the Railway workshop staff pattern. Moreover, learned Tribunal has rightly observed that since the ministerial staff working in the factory is paid compensatory allowance as per the pay scale of H.P. Government, members of respondent-Union cannot be denied the payment of such allowance on the ground that they were governed by Jagadhri workshop pattern. Hence, this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the findings of the learned Tribunal that all the Central Government employees working at Nahan Foundry are being granted compensatory allowance on revised rate w.e.f. 1.10.1985 and as such members of respondent-Union cannot be discriminated as far as entitlement of revised special compensatory allowance as per Central Government pattern.

18. After careful perusal of the evidence led on record by the members of respondent-Union, this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the impugned award passed by the learned Tribunal, which appears to be based upon the correct appreciation of the evidence on record. In the present case, respondent-Union has been successful to prove on record that they are entitled for payment of special compensatory allowance with revised rates w.e.f. 1.10.1985 as being paid to the Central Government employees as per Central Government pattern. Whereas, petitioner department has not been able to demonstrate that how members of respondent-Union are not entitled to special compensatory allowance w.e.f. 1.10.1985 on the revised rates when admittedly they are governed by the pay-scale of Railway workshop staff and the employees at Nahan Foundry who have been getting remote locality/ compensatory allowance on revised rates w.e.f. 1.10.1985. Hence, this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the award passed by the learned Tribunal, which is based on correct appreciation of the document available on record.

19. Apart from above, findings of fact recorded by learned Tribunal below on the basis of appreciation of evidence cannot be questioned in writ proceedings and writ court cannot act as an appellate court. In this regard, reliance is placed upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in case titled Bhuvnesh Kumar Dwivedi vs. M/s Hindalco Industries Ltd. 2014 AIR SCW 3157. It is profitable to reproduce paras 16, 17 and 18 of the judgment herein:

> "16. .....The question about the limits of the jurisdiction of High Courts in issuing a writ of certiorari under Article 226 has been frequently considered by this Court and the true legal position in that behalf is no longer in doubt. A writ of certiorari can be issued for correcting errors of jurisdiction committed by inferior Courts or tribunals: these are cases where orders are passed by inferior Courts or Tribunals without jurisdiction, or is in excess of it, or as a result of failure to exercise jurisdiction. A writ can similarly be issued where in exercise of jurisdiction conferred on it, the Court or Tribunal acts illegally or improperly, as for instance, it decides a question without giving an opportunity to be heard to the party affected by the order, or where the procedure adopted in dealing with the dispute is opposed to principles of natural justice. There is, however, no doubt that the jurisdiction to issue a writ of certiorari is a supervisory jurisdiction and the Court exercising it is no entitled to act as an Appellate Court. This limitation necessarily means that findings of fact reached by the inferior court or Tribunal as result of the appreciation of evidence cannot be reopened for questioned in writ proceedings. nA error of law which is apparent on the face of the record can be corrected by a writ, but not an error of fact, however grave it may appear to be. In regard to a finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal, a writ of certiorari can be issued if it is shown that in recording the said finding, the Tribunal had erroneously refused to admit admissible and material evidence, or had erroneously admitted inadmissible evidence which has influenced the impugned finding. Similarly, if a finding of fact is based on no evidence, that would be regarded as an error of law which can be corrected by a writ of certiorari. In dealing with this category of cases, however, we must always bear in mind that a finding of fact recorded by the Tribunal cannot be challenged in proceedings for a writ of certiorari on the ground that the relevant and material evidence adduced before the Tribunal was insufficient or inadequate to sustain the impugned finding. The adequacy or sufficiency of evidence led on a point and the interference of fact to be drawn from the said finding are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Tribunal, and the said points cannot be agitated before a writ Court. It is within these limits that the jurisdiction conferred on the High Courts under Article 226 to issue a writ of certiorari can be legitimately exercised.

17. The judgments mentioned above can be read with the judgment of this Court in Harjinder Singh's case (supra), the relevant paragraph of which reads as under:

> 21. Before concluding, we consider it necessary to observe that while exercising jurisdiction under Articles 226 and / or 227 of the Constitution in matters like the present one, the High Courts are duty bound to keep in mind that the Industrial Disputes Act and other similar legislative instruments are social welfare legislations and the same are required to be interpreted keeping in view the goals set out in the Preamble of the Constitution and the provisions contained in Part IV thereof in general and Articles 38, 39(a) to (e), 43 and 43-A in particular, which mandate that the State should secure a social order for the promotion of welfare of the people, ensure equality between men and women and equitable distribution of material resources of the community to subserve the common good and also ensure that the workers get their dues. More than 41 years ago, Gajendragadkar, J. opined that:
> 10.... The concept of social and economic justice is a living concept of revolutionary import; it gives sustenance to the rule of law and meaning and significance to the ideal of welfare State.

18. A careful reading of the judgments reveals that the High Court can interfere with an order of the Tribunal only on the procedural level and in cases, where the decision of the lower Courts has been arrived at in gross violation of the legal principles. The High Court shall interfere with factual aspect placed before the Labour Courts only when it is convinced that the Labour Court has made patent mistakes in admitting evidence illegally or have made grave errors in law in coming to the conclusion on facts. The High Court granting contrary relief under Articles 226 and 227 of the Constitution amounts to exceeding its jurisdiction conferred upon it. Therefore, we accordingly answer the point No. 1 in favour of the appellant."[Emphasis added]

20. The Division Bench of this High Court while deciding batch of writ petition, CWP No. 4622 of 2013, titled as M/s Himachal Futuristic Communications Ltd. V. State of HP and another also held that question of fact determined by the Tribunal cannot be made subject matter of writ petition.

21. Reliance is also placed on judgment rendered by Hon'ble Apex Court titled Ishwarlal Mohanlal Tshakkar v. Paschim Gujarat Vij Company Ltd. And another. It is profitable to reproduce para 9 of the judgment herein:

> "9. We find the judgment and award of the Labour Court well reasoned and based on facts and evidence on record. The High Court has erred in its exercise of power under Article 227 of the Constitution of India to annul the findings of the Labour Court in its Award as it is well settled law that the High Court cannot exercise its power under Article 227 of the Constitution as an Appellate Court or reappreciate evidence and record its findings on the contentious points. Only if there is a serious error of law or the findings recorded suffer from error apparent on record, can the High Court quash the order of a lower Court. The Labour Court in the present case has satisfactorily exercised its original jurisdiction and properly appreciated the facts and legal evidence on record and given a well reasoned order and answered the points of dispute in favour of the appellant. The High Court had no reason to interfere with the same as the Award of the Labour Court was based on sound and cogent reasoning, which has served the ends of justice."

22. Consequently, in view of detailed discussion as well as laws referred here-in-above, this Court sees no reason to interfere in well reasoned award passed by learned Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court and as such present petition is dismissed being devoid of merit.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR.

Sanjay Kumar ....Appellant

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh and another ....Respondent

Date of decision : 16.08.2016

Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- Section 5 (m) and 5 (n)- Charge was framed by Special Judge for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 5 (m) and 5 (n) of Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- it was contended that according to medical evidence charge should have been framed for attempting to commit offence and not for the commission of offence- held, that prosecutrix had specifically stated in her statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C that she felt hard object and pain in her urinary organ- she cried on which her mother woke up and blood was also detected on vaginal slides, coronal, glans slides and pubic hair of victim- medical evidence clearly shows that there was penetration- prosecutrix was less than 12 years of age- slightest penetration is sufficient to bring the offence under the purview of committing 'penetrative sexual assault' – charge was rightly framed- revision dismissed. (Para- 7 to 15)

For the Petitioner : Mr. Suresh K. Advocate.
For the respondent No.1: Mr. Pankaj Negi, Deputy Advocate General.
For respondent No.2 : Ms. Ravinder Sandhu, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge(Oral)

Charge under Section 5 (m) and 5 (n) of the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act') has been framed by Special Judge, Kangra at Dharamshala vide order dated 30.12.2015 against petitioner for committing sexual assault with his less than 12 years old daughter. Hence present petition.

2. I have heard learned counsel for parties and also gone through summoned record of trial Court. Learned counsel for petitioner submitted that without admitting guilt of petitioner even if it is considered that there was any material available on record to frame charge against petitioner, charge could have been framed only for attempt to commit alleged offence. He referred opinion of Doctor given in MLC of victim Ex. P-4 stated as under:-

"I am of opinion that there is a finding suggestive of possibility of attempt of forceful sexual intercourse cannot be ruled out."

3. Learned counsel for petitioner submitted that ocular evidence was to be considered at final stage of trial whereas medical evidence suggesting that there was attempt of forcible sexual intercourse was to be considered at present at the time of framing of charge and therefore framing charge only under Sections 5 (m) and (n) read with Section 6 of the Act is not sustainable and the charge under Section 18 of the Act for attempt to commit offence under Sections 5 (m) and 5 (n) read with Section 6 of the Act was required to be framed.

4. Learned counsel for petitioner also submitted that semen was not detected in vaginal swabs and vaginal slides of victim and also in underwear, coronal and glans swabs and pubic hair of petitioner and on the basis of chemical analysis and examination conducted by him, Doctor had opined possibility of attempt of forceful sexual intercourse.

5. Learned counsel for respondent No.2 argued that of semen was detected in Pajami and underwear of victim and human blood was also detected in clothes (frock, Pajami and underwear), vaginal swab and slides of victim, coronal and glan slides and pubic hair of petitioner, therefore charge has rightly been framed against petitioner and there is no illegality or perversity in impugned order passed by learned Special Judge.

6. Learned Deputy Advocate General submitted that Section 6 of the Act provides punishment for 'aggregative penetrative sexual assault' whereas opinion referred by learned counsel for petitioner is that 'attempt of forcible sexual intercourse cannot be ruled out' and complete sexual intercourse is not necessary for charging petitioner under Sections 5(m) and 5 (n) of the Act punishable under Section 6 of the Act as the offence of 'sexual assault' has been made punishable.

7. Section 2(f) of the Act provides that 'penetrative sexual assault' has the same meaning as assigned to it in Section 3 of the Act. Section 3 states that a person is said to commit 'penetrative sexual assault' if he penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a child or makes the child to do so with him or any other person. Section 5(m) states that 'penetrative sexual assault' on a child below twelve years of age will be 'aggravated penetrative sexual' assault. Further Section (n) provides that 'penetrative sexual assault' committed on a child by a relative of child being a guardian will be in the category of 'aggravated penetrative sexual assault'. Section 6 provides Punishment for 'aggravated penetrative sexual assault' committed on a child.

8. Victim in her statement recorded under Section 161 of the Code of Criminal Procedure placed before the learned Special Judge alongwith challan stated that in the intervening night between 19-20th March, 2015 during her sleep, she felt pain at her urinary organ and she cried. She felt hard object being inserted in her urinary organ and on her crying her mother woke up.

9. As per medical evidence blood group of victim was of Group 'A'. Blood of same Group was found on Pajami, underwear, vaginal swab of victim and underwear of petitioner. Blood was also detected on vaginal slides of victim, coronal, glans slides and pubic hair of petitioner.

10. On medical examination of victim observations of Doctor with regard to 'Vulva hymen, vagina, perineum and ervix in MLC of victim (Ex. P-4 to petitioner) were as under:-

Volva	:	Erythmatous tender.
Hymen	:	Erythmatous inflamed remarks seen.
Vagina	:	Inflamed Tenderness
Perineum

11. At the time of consideration for farming charge, court has to consider entire material including ocular and medical evidence, placed before it. However, in my considered opinion, in present case even if medical and ocular evidence is ignored and only medical evidence considered then also there was sufficient material in MLC indicating that there was peniteration, may be to a small extent not amounting to complete sexual intercourse but definitely 'penetrative sexual assault' for purpose of the Act. As per Section 3 (a) peniteration to any extent is 'penetrative sexual assault'.

12. A certificate issued by Registrar Birth and Death Gram Panchayat Vindravan was also placed on record with challan. As per this certificate victim was daughter of petitioner and her date of birth was 14.11.2004 and thus her age was less than 12 years on day of incident. Therefore alleged offence fulfilled ingredients of Section 5 (m) and 5(n) of the Act. Section 18 of the Act is not attracted at all because there was sufficient ocular evidence corroborated by medical evidence that there was penetration.

13. Absence of semen in vaginal swabs and slides of victim and underwear, coronal glan slides and pubic hair of petitioner was not sufficient to negate evidence of 'penetrative sexual assault' by petitioner because offence under Sections 5(m) and 5 (n) was not to be treated as complete only on ejaculation in vagina. Slightest penetration for a shortest time was sufficient to bring the offence under the purview of committing 'penetrative sexual assault' on a child as defined in the Act.

14. In view of above discussion, I find no illegally, irregularity, perversity or infirmity in impugned order passed by learned Special Judge, Kangra at Dharamshala in framing charge against petitioner and as such no interference is warranted at this stage by this Court and petition is dismissed alongwith pending applications, if any.

15. Observations made in this judgment are for disposal of present petition and shall not be construed as expression of opinion on the merits of the case.

16. Records of the Court below alongwith copy of this Judgment be sent back immediately.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Tej Ram .....Petitioner.

Versus

Prem Lata .....Respondent.

Cr. Revision No. 25 of 2011.
Date of Decision: 16.08. 2016.

Protection of women for Domestic Violence Act, 2005- Section 12- Marriage between parties was solemnized on 26.11.2007- a daughter was born on 17.11.2008- husband used to threaten to kill her unborn child and oust her from her matrimonial home- she was compelled to take shelter in her parent's home- she filed a petition seeking maintenance and rent for separate residence- respondent denied the factum of marriage- trial Court awarded the maintenance of Rs. 1200/- per month and Rs. 700/- per month as rent of the residence- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in revision that petitioner had examination herself to prove her version- her version was corroborated by her witnesses- version of the respondent is self contradictory- plea of the petitioner that she was married to the respondent and had given birth to a daughter was duly proved- it was also proved that respondent had treated the petitioner with cruelty- maintenance and rent awarded by Court cannot be said to be excessive- petition dismissed. (Para-10 to 22)

Case referred:
Krishnan and another Versus Krishnaveni and another, (1997) 4 Supreme Court Case 241

For the petitioner: Mr. Naveen K. Bhardwaj, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. Peeyush Verma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, J.(Oral)

The instant criminal revision petition filed under Sections 397 and 401 of Cr.P.C. is directed against judgment dated 30.11.2010, passed by learned Sessions Judge, Kullu, District Kullu in Criminal Appeal No. 8 of 2009, affirming the judgment dated 29.1.2009 passed by learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class, Manali in Criminal Case No. 310-I/08, whereby learned Trial Court below while allowing the application preferred on behalf of petitioner - Smt. Prem Lata filed under Section 12 of the Protection of women for Domestic Violence Act, 2005 (here-in-after referred to as the 'Act'), awarded maintenance of Rs.1200/- per month and Rs.700/- per month as rent of the residence. For the sake of convenience, the parties as referred to in the judgment of the trial Court has been referred as such.

2. Briefly stated facts as emerged from the pleadings are that petitioner filed an application under Section 12 of the Act, stating therein that she is legally wedded wife of the respondent. Perusal of the contents contained in application under Section 12 of the Act suggests that marriage was solemnized on 26.11.2007 and thereafter both the parties lived under one roof as husband and wife at village Haripur, Tehsil Manali, District Kullu and out of their wedlock a daughter, namely, Kaushlaya was born on 17.11.2008. As per petitioner, during her pregnancy, the respondent used to threaten her to kill her unborn child and ousted her from the house after gave beatings to her. Due to aforesaid ill behavior of her husband, she was compelled to take shelter in her parents' house. In the aforesaid background she moved an application under Section 12 of the Act, praying therein for monthly maintenance as well as rent for separate residence. Respondent while filing reply to the petition stated that petitioner is not his legally wedded wife and there is no question of living together. He further stated that petitioner is married to one Joginder, r/o village Simsa, Tehsil Manali, District Kullu and the petitioner has filed the application in order to harass him.

3. Petitioner by way of rejoinder while denying allegation contained in reply asserted that she had moved an application before Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, Haripur and Gram Panchayat taking cognizance of the averments made in the application summoned both the parties with a view to explore the possibility of amicable settlement, if any, between the parties, however, Petitioner's husband remained adamant not to take her to house. Since, no amicable settlement could take place between the parties, Pradhan, Gram Panchayat referred the application to Police Post, Prini where both the parties were summoned and a compromise was effected between the parties on 14.9.2008. In the aforesaid background, petitioner filed an application, as referred to here-in-above, in the Court of Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Manali, District Kullu, which was ultimately allowed vide order dated 29.01.2009, whereby, respondent was directed to pay an amount of Rs. 1200/- as maintenance and Rs.700/- per month as rent of the residence.

4. Being aggrieved and dis-satisfied with the order dated 29.1.2009 passed by Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Manali, District Kullu, respondent filed an appeal in the Court of learned Sessions Judge, Kullu, District Kullu, which came to be registered as Criminal Appeal No. 8 of 2009, however, learned Sessions Judge, Kullu, District Kullu, on the basis of record available, dismissed the appeal and upheld the order passed by learned Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Manali, District Kullu. Hence, present Criminal Revision Petition before this Court laying challenge to the impugned judgment passed by Sessions Judge, Kullu, H.P.

5. Shri Naveen Bhardwaj, counsel representing the petitioner herein, vehemently argued that order passed by both the Courts below granting maintenance and rent to the respondent herein is not sustainable as the same is not based on correct appreciation of law and the same deserves to be quashed and set aside. Mr. Bhardwaj further contended that bare perusal of the impugned orders passed by the Courts below suggests that same are based upon surmises and conjectures without there being any material on record. Mr. Bhardwaj forcefully contended that both the Courts below have not acknowledged the fact that petitioner-Tej Ram wife was married to another person, namely, Joginder and living with him and as such petition filed under Section 12 of the Act was not maintainable. During arguments having been made on behalf of the petitioner herein, Mr. Bhardwaj also made this Court to travel through the statements of the witnesses to demonstrate that Courts below have not read evidence in its right perspective and has wrongly held petitioner herein liable to grant maintenance as well as rent to the respondent herein. Mr. Bhardwaj invited the attention of this Court to the Statement of RW2, who stated that Prem Lata is married to one Joginder and not to the Tej Ram. Mr. Bhardwaj also stated that a bare perusal of the statement made by the petitioner herein suggest that there is no violence on his part, rather both the Courts have failed to take note of overwhelming evidence available on record clearly establishing that respondent herein was married to another person Joginder and had been living with her during filing of the application. While concluding his arguments, Mr. Bhardwaj forcefully contended that both the Courts below have fallen in grave error in not appreciating the fact that petitioner herein is a labourer and is not earning more than Rs.15,00/- per month and he won't be in a position to pay maintenance and rent of residence in terms of orders passed by both the Courts below. In the aforesaid background, Mr. Bhardwaj prayed for quashing of the impugned order passed by Courts below.

6. Mr. Peeyush Verma, counsel representing the respondent herein supported the judgments passed by both the Courts below and prayed for dismissal of the present revision petition being devoid of merit. Mr. Verma strenuously argued that bare perusal of the orders passed by both the Courts below suggests that same are based upon the correct appreciation of the evidence on record and no interference whatsoever of this Court is warranted in the facts and circumstances of the present case. Mr. Verma further contended that it stands duly proved that relationship between the parties as husband and wife and a child was born on 17.11.2008 out of their wedlock, whose name stands registered with the Registrar of Death and Birth Ex.PW5/A and as such arguments having been made by counsel representing the petitioner herein (Tej Ram) deserves out-rightly rejection. He also invited the attention of this Court to Ex.PW3/B, a certificate to demonstrate that name of husband of Prem Lata has been clearly mentioned as Tej Ram. Mr. Peeyush Verma also stated that this Court has very limited jurisdiction under Section 397 (1) to re-appreciate the evidence especially when the Courts below has recorded concurrent findings on the basis of evidence adduced on record by the respective parties. The reliance has also been placed on the following Hon'ble Apex Court judgments:-

State of A.P. versus Rajagopal Rao (2000) 10 SCC 338.

"4. The High Court in exercise of its revisional power has upset the concurrent findings of the courts below without in any way considering the evidence on the record and without indicating as to in what manner the courts below had erred in coming to the conclusion which they had arrived at. The judgment of the High Court contains no reasons whatsoever which would indicate as to why the revision filed by the respondent was allowed. In a sense, it is a non-speaking judgment."

State of Kerala versus Puttumana Illath Jathavedan (1999) 2 SCC 452

"Having examined the impugned Judgment of the High Court and bearing in mind the contentions raised by the learned counsel for the parties, we have no hesitation to come to the conclusion that in the case in hand, the High Court has exceeded its revisional jurisdiction. In Its revisional jurisdiction, the High Court can call for and examine the record of any proceedings for the purpose of satisfying itself as to the correctness, legality or propriety of any finding, sentence or order. In other words, the jurisdiction is one of Supervisory Jurisdiction exercised by the High Court for correcting miscarriage of justice. But the said revisional power cannot be equated with the power of an Appellate Court nor can it be treated even as a second Appellate Jurisdiction. Ordinarily, therefore, it would not be appropriate for the High Court to re-appreciate the evidence and come to its own conclusion on the same when the evidence has already been appreciated by the Magistrate as well as the Sessions Judge in appeal, unless any glaring feature is brought to the notice of the High Court which would otherwise tentamount to gross miscarriage of justice. On scrutinizing the impugned Judgment of the High Court from the aforesaid stand point, we have no hesitation to come to the conclusion that the High Court exceeded its jurisdiction in interfering with the conviction of the respondent by re-appreciating the oral evidence. The High Court also committed further error in not examining several items of evidence relied upon by the Additional Sessions Judge, while confirming the conviction of the respondent. In this view of the matter the impugned Judgment of the High Court is wholly unsustainable in law and we, accordingly set aside the same. The conviction and sentence of the respondent as passed by the Magistrate and affirmed by the Additional Sessions Judge in appeal is confirmed. This appeal is allowed. Bail bonds furnished stand cancelled. The respondent must surrender to serve the sentence."

7. I have heard learned counsel for the parties as well carefully gone through the record of the case.

8. True, it is that this Court has very limited powers under Section 397 Cr.P.C. while exercising its revisionary jurisdiction but in the instant case, this Court solely with a view to ascertain that the judgments passed by learned Courts below are not perverse and same are based on correct appreciation of the evidence on record, undertook an exercise to examine the case.

9. As far as scope of power of this Court while exercising revisionary jurisdiction under Section 397 is concerned, the Hon'ble Apex Court in Krishnan and another Versus Krishnaveni and another, (1997) 4 Supreme Court Case 241; has held that in case Court notices that there is a failure of justice or misuse of judicial mechanism or procedure, sentence or order is not correct, it is salutary duty of the High Court to prevent the abuse of the process or miscarriage of justice or to correct irregularities/ incorrectness committed by inferior criminal court in its judicial process or illegality or sentence or order. The relevant para of the judgment is reproduced as under:-

8. The object of Section 483 and the purpose behind conferring the revisional power under Section 397 read with Section 401, upon the High Court is to invest continuous supervisory jurisdiction so as to prevent miscarriage of justice or to correct irregularity of the procedure or to mete out justice. In addition, the inherent power of the High Court is preserved by Section 482. The power of the High Court, therefore, is very wide. However, the High Court must exercise such power sparingly and cautiously when the Sessions Judge has simultaneously exercised revisional power under Section 397(1). However, when the High Court notices that there has been failure of justice or misuse of judicial mechanism or procedure, sentence or order is not correct, it is but the salutary duty of the High Court to prevent the abuse of the process or miscarriage of justice or to correct irregularities/ incorrectness committed by inferior criminal court in its judicial process or illegality of sentence or order."

10. Careful perusal of evidence led on record leaves no doubt that petitioner is the legally wedded wife of the respondent - Tej Ram. As per Petitioner, her marriage was solemnized on 26.11.2007 and thereafter they lived under one roof at village Haripur, Tehsil Manali, District

Kullu, H.P. and out of their wedlock she gave birth to a daughter on 17.11.2008. However, aforesaid factum of marriage as well as birth of daughter was specifically denied by the respondent. Petitioner in her application stated that during her pregnancy respondent gave beatings to her and threatened to kill her unborn baby and she was forcibly ousted from the house. Thereafter, she moved an application before Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, Haripur with a view to settle the matter amicably but the respondent did not agree to take the petitioner to house and, as such, Pradhan, Gram Panchayat referred the matter to the Police Post, Prini where both the parties entered into compromise dated 14.9.2008. Since respondent failed to take the petitioner to house, she was compelled to file an application Under Section 12 of the Act as referred here-in-above. Perusal of reply filed by the respondent clearly suggests that he denied that petitioner is legally wedded wife and as such there is no question of living together. Respondent also denied of extending threats to petitioner as claimed by the petitioner in the application under Section 12 of the Act.

11. Petitioner in order to prove her case examined herself as PW1, in which she stated that her marriage was solemnized on 26.11.2007 with the respondent and lived under one roof at VPO Haripur, Tehsil Manali, District Kullu. She also stated that during pregnancy her husband gave beating and threatened to kill her unborn baby. She also stated that she presented application before Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, Haripur but respondent refused to resolve the matter amicably. She further stated that Pradhan, Gram Panchyat referred the application to the Incharge, Police Post, Prini, where parties entered into a compromise on 14.9.2008 but despite compromise her husband neither took her to house nor provided any maintenance. She further stated that at present she resides with her mother. Bare perusal of cross-examination conducted on this witness clearly suggests that nothing contrary to what has been stated in examination-in-chief. It is safely concluded that respondent was unable to shatter the testimony of PW1. In her cross-examination, she specifically denied that she is not married to respondent and she is married to one Joginder, resident of village Simsa. She also denied the suggestion put to her that she never resided with the respondent, rather self stated that she resided with the respondent.

12. PW2 Rakesh Kumar also stated that he recognizes the aggrieved person and the respondent. He further stated that he is brother-in-law of the petitioner. It also came in his statement that aggrieved person and respondent are husband and wife in relation, who resided at Haripur. He specifically stated that he used to visit them and they used to visit him. He also stated that petitioner and respondent had quarrel and thereafter petitioner started residing with her mother. PW2 further stated that whenever he visited the house of respondent, he saw respondent was quarreling with aggrieved person. Perusal of cross-examination conducted on this aforesaid witness also suggests that respondent was unable to shatter the testimony of PW2, who has been very very consistent and candid in stating the facts. Careful perusal of the cross-examination conducted on this witness clearly suggests that he stuck to his statement made in examination-in-chief. PW2 in his cross-examination also asserted the factum of marriage of aggrieved person with the respondent, which was soleminised at place Dungri, where about ten people attended the marriage. He also identified the respondent being a resident of Siraj. Close scrutiny of the statement given by PW2 clearly suggests that he fully corroborated the version put-forth by PW1 in her application as well as statement made before the Courts below. It clearly emerges from the statements of PW1 and PW2 that before living separately, petitioner was residing with her husband Shri Tej Ram.

13. PW3 Smt. Bina, Anganwari Worker also stated that she recognized aggrieved person as well as respondent and they are husband and wife in relation. She further stated that during her pregnancy, the aggrieved person visited the Anganbari and she got herself registered there for nutrient food. PW3 also tendered into evidence the copy of attendance register of the aggrieved person as Ex.PW-3/A and stated that same are correct as per original. Copy of attendance register Ex.PW3/A clearly suggests that Prem Lata is recorded as wife of respondent (Tej Ram), which clearly corroborates the statements of PW1 and PW2.

14. PW4 Devia Ram, M.C., Police Post, Prini, Tehsil Manali, Distt. Kullu stated that Prem Lata had moved an application before the Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, Haripur qua ousting of her from matrimonial house. He further stated that Pradhan, Gram Panchyat forwarded the application to Police Post, Prini, wherein aggrieved person Prem Lata and Tej Ram visited the Police Post, Prini alongwith other persons and compromise was effected on 14.09.2008 and thereafter no proceedings were carried by the police. Statement of PW4 corroborates the statement of PW1 in which she has stated that she had reported the matter to Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, who further forwarded the complaint to Police Post, Prini and ultimately compromise was effected on 14.09.2008.

15. PW 5 Narinder Kumar, Assistant Secretary, Panchayat Soyal, Tehsil Manali, District Kullu came present in Court alongwith requisitioned record i.e. certified copy of certificate Ex. PW5/A and stated that this birth certificate is correct as per original record. In his cross-examination, he stuck to his statement made in the examination-in-chief. Perusal of Ex.PW5/A suggest that Kaushalya Devi was born on 17.11.2008 at village Haripur and her father and mother names are recorded as Tej Ram and Prem Lata. Ex.PW5/A clearly corroborates the statement of PW1 in which she stated that she gave birth to a baby on 17.11.2008. The recording of the name of Tej Ram as father and Prem Lata as mother in the register establish that they are husband and wife in relation.

16. Careful perusal of the statements of aforesaid witnesses clearly suggests that petitioner is wife of respondent and after her marriage they resided as husband and wife under one roof at village Haripur. It also stands proved that she gave birth to a child on 17.11.2008 out of the aforesaid wedlock. Respondent while appearing as RW1 stated that he resides with his mother and his mother works as servant with Lovekishore Gupta. He also stated that he does not recognize aggrieved person personally and she has filed present case falsely against him. He stated that he works as labourer and Prem Lata is married to one Joginder, r/o Simsa and he never resided with the petitioner. In his cross-examination stated that he had not been called at Police Post, Prini and no compromise was effected.

17. Interestingly, careful reading of the aforesaid statement of RW1 clearly suggests that RW1 has not disclosed true facts to the Court, rather his statement is self contradictory and as such cannot be relied upon. In his examination-in-chief he stated that he does not recognize the aggrieved person Prem Lata but In his cross-examination he stated that he was not called at Police Post, Prini and no compromise was affected, whereas PW4 Devia Ram categorically stated that Prem Lata and Tej Ram were summoned to Police Post, Prini alongwith other persons on 14.9.2008, where they effected compromise. Statement of PW4 stands fully corroborated by statement of PW1 wherein she categorically stated that compromise could not be effected in Gram Panchayat, then Pradhan of the Gram Panchayat referred the matter to the Police Post, Prini and compromise was effected on 14.9.2008 at Police Post, Prini. This Court has no reason to disbelieve the testimony of PW4, who is an independent witness, rather this Court after perusing the statement of RW1 sees sufficient reasons to conclude that statement of RW1 is not trustworthy and confidence inspiring and as such same has been rightly not appreciated by the Courts below. RW2 Roop Chand also stated that he recognized Prem Lata and she resides with her mother. RW2 is maternal cousin of the petitioner. He stated that Prem Lata is married with one Joginder. RW2 further stated that Tej Ram resides with her mother and he is not married.

18. Careful perusal of statement made by RW2 clearly suggests that it will not be of any help to the RW1 since he did not utter a word with regard to the factum of residing of the petitioner with respondent as wife. RW2 only stated that Prem Lata is married to one Joginder but he did not utter a word with regard to residing of Prem Lata with RW1.

19. Conjoint reading of evidence led on record by aggrieved person Prem Lata clearly establish that she was married to respondent, namely, Tej Ram and she also gave birth to a baby daughter on 17.11.2008, whose name stands mentioned with the Registrar of Death & Birth i.e. Ex.PW5/A. Further perusal of Ex. PW5/A clearly establishes that name of the father and mother of child stands mentioned as Tej Ram and Prem Lata. All the witnesses adduced on record by petitioner corroborated version of the petitioner and have been candid and straightforward in making their depositions. Whereas, respondent has not been able to extract anything contrary in their cross-examination. RW1 while deposing before Court below has not been able to prove that petitioner-Prem Lata was not his legally wedded wife and no marriage was solemnised on 26.11.2007. Though, RW1 in his statement, stated that no marriage was solemnized with the petitioner and he does not recognise her but he also stated in her statement that petitioner is married to one Joginder, resident of Simsa, which itself falsify the earlier part of the statement given by RW1, wherein he stated that he does not recognize the petitioner. Similarly, RW2 stated that petitioner is married to one Joginder but he nowhere stated that petitioner never used to reside with RW1 Tej Ram.

20. Close scrutiny of statement of PW1-Prem Lata clearly establish that she was married to RW1-Tej Ram on 26.11.2007 and she resided with him in the house of one Lovekishore Gupta of Haripur. She also proved that she was ousted from the house during her pregnancy and respondent used to give beatings to her. Aforesaid factum of beatings and mis-behaviour stands corroborated with the statement of PW2 Rakesh Kumar. He categorically stated that he used to visit the house of petitioner and respondent and respondent oftenly use to quarrel with the petitioner. Factum of giving birth to daughter on 17.11.2008 duly stand proved on record with the production of Ex.PW5/A i.e. Death & Birth Register, wherein, Kaushlaya Devi, a female child was born on 17.11.2008 at village Haripur is recorded as daughter of Tej Ram and Prem Lata. Similarly, PW1 has been able to prove that before filing the present application under Section 12 of the Act, she reported the matter to the Pradhan, Gram Panchayat, who summoned the parties for amicable settlement but respondent remained adamant in not taking her to house. Similarly, factum with regard to effecting of compromise dated 14.9.2008 stands duly proved on record with statement of PW4 M.C. Devia Ram, who categorically stated that petitioner had moved an application against her husband Tej Ram in the Gram Panchayat, Haripur and thereafter Pradhan referred the application to Police Post, Prini. He categorically stated that Tej Ram and Prem Lata alongwith other persons came present on 14.9.2008 and they effected the compromise.

21. Hence, it can be safely concluded that PW1-Prem Lata successfully proved that she was legally wedded wife of the respondent - Tej Ram, who threw her out of house after giving beatings. It also stands proved on record that out of their wedlock a baby child was born. Hence, this court has no hesitation to conclude that petitioner-Prem Lata was able to prove her case by leading cogent and convincing evidence that she was legally wedded wife of the respondent - Tej Ram and they lived under one roof at Haripur and out of their wedlock a child was born and she was subjected to domestic violence by her husband, as such she is entitled for maintenance and rent of residence. PW1 stated that respondent works as labourer and earns Rs. 12,000/- per month. Since, respondent has failed to refute the aforesaid statement of PW1 before the Courts below, it can be rightly presumed that respondent has sufficient source of income keeping in view the fact that he is able bodied person.

22. Consequently, in view of the aforesaid discussions, there is no illegality and infirmity in the orders passed by learned Courts below as such the same are upheld and the present petition is dismissed being devoid of merit.

For the respondents: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Dy. A.G.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J:

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement and decree of the learned District Judge, Solan, Himachal Pradesh, whereby he affirmed the rendition of the learned Civil Judge (Senior Division), Kandaghat. The plaintiffs standing aggrieved by the concurrently recorded renditions against them by both the learned Courts below concert through the instant appeal constituted before this Court, to reverse the judgements and decrees of both the Courts below.

2. The facts necessary for rendering a decision on the instant appeal are that plaintiffs claimed to be owner in possession of 2 biswas of land comprised in Khata/Khatauni No. 179 min 314, old khasra No. 1500/1186/2 and new Khasra No. 1053 situated in Mauja Sirinagar, Pargana Baguri-khurd, Tehsil Kandaghat being part of the land measuring 6 bighas 5 biswas recorded as Abadi Deh in the revenue record. The respondents/defendants who claimed to be owner of this land on account of having escheated to it as its owner Tara Chuhru Tailor had died issueless initiated ejectment proceedings under Section 163 of the H.P.Land Revenue Act alleging that predecessor in interest of the appellants/plaintiffs had encroached upon this land, the Collector Kandaghat who ordered the ejectment of the predecessor in interest of the appellants from this land. It was also alleged that he land was being auctioned and predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs had also made a bid in the year 1970 but his bid being lost was not accepted and it was leased out to Pritam Singh. The appeal by the predecessor in interest of the appellants against this order had been dismissed up to the level of Financial Commissioner, consequently a suit was filed by the present appellants who in the alternative claimed to be owner by adverse possession and that the suit land was not a Nazul land was coming in possession of the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs since long and provisions of Section 163 of the H.P.Land Revenue Act are not applicable to the suit land being Abadi Deh and Financial Commissioner having no jurisdiction to declare the revenue entries being wrong. Consequently, the suit for declaration and injunction.

3. The suit of the plaintiffs was resisted by defendants whereby they have taken preliminary objections that the plaintiffs are estopped from filing the present suit due to their own act and conduct. On merits, the defendants have denied the averments made by the plaintiffs in their plaint and specifically pleaded that the defendants have every right to evict the unauthorized occupants from the Government land under Section 163 of the H.P.Land Revenue Act. It is averred that the plaintiffs or their predecessor in interest had never been in its possession and they have grabbed the possession of the suit land being the adjoining land owner in possession.

The State has every right to initiate the proceedings under Section 163 of the H.P.Land Revenue Act against the plaintiffs.

4. On the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties in contest:-

1. Whether the plaintiffs are owners in possession of the suit land, as claimed? OPP.

2. Whether the provisions of Section 163 of the Land Revenue Act are not applicable to the suit land and as such the plaintiffs are entitled for the declaration that the order passed by the Revenue Authorities is illegal and inoperative, as alleged? OPP.

3. Whether the plaintiffs are entitled for the relief of permanent prohibitory injunction, as alleged? OPP.

4. Whether the plaintiffs have are estopped from filing the present suit due to their own acts and deeds, as alleged? OPD.

5. Whether the plaintiffs have no cause of action, as alleged? OPD.

6. Whether late Shri Duni Chand has filed a suit in the year 1986 having suit No. 51 of 1986, if so, its effect? OPD.

7. Relief.

5. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, the learned trial Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs besides the learned First Appellate Court dismissed the appeal preferred therefrom before it by the plaintiffs.

6. Now the plaintiffs have instituted the instant Regular Second Appeal before this Court, assailing the findings in its impugned judgment and decree recorded by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 26.4.2006, this Court admitted the appeal on the hereinafter extracted substantial question of law:-

"Whether the first appellate Court has erred in dismissing the appeal when it has specifically been observed in para 11 of its judgement that the land in question is not shown to have belonged to Tara Chuhra, on whose death the respondent-defendant claimed that it escheated to the State and became Wazud Land?"

Substantial question of law.

7. The predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs/appellants had purchased the 'Abadi' of one Dharam Dutt. Tersely the lawful possession of the plaintiffs of the contentious portion of two biswas of land adjoining the 'Abadi land' of the plaintiffs as stood purchased by their predecessor in interest from one Dharam Dutt, is the nerve centre of the controversy engaging the parties at lis. Proven lawful possession of Abadi land by Abadi holder(s) vests in the latter an indefeasible right qua continuance of possession thereof also preempts any onslaught qua usurpation of its possession standing constituted either by the State or by any holder of Abadi land adjoining it. PW-1 had concerted to establish theirs provenly holding possession qua the contentious parcel of two biswas of land by testifying qua a portion of their residential house beside their saw mill standing installed thereon. However, the aforesaid assertion made by the plaintiffs qua theirs holding possession thereof per se stands ingrained with a vice of falsity, falsity whereof emanates from theirs in a previous suit in contradiction besides in variance with the afore referred manner of espousal by them qua theirs holding its lawful possession, theirs therein ventilating, of, the aforesaid contentious parcel of two biswas of land which adjoins their Abadi standing used by them as an orchard. The effect of the aforesaid loud contradiction is of an inference standing garnered qua the espousal by the plaintiffs qua theirs holding possession of the suit land standing whittled. Contrarily, the propagation of the defendants/respondents qua the suit land constituting the Abadi of one Tara who died issueless hence on his demise it standing escheated to them appears to hold vigour. Significantly, the plaintiffs have not even adduced any cogent evidence in display of their predecessor in interest while purchasing 'Abadi land' from one Dharam Dutt his also purchasing from the latter the contentious tract of two biswas of land for hence theirs holding a leverage to espouse of theirs holding its lawful possession. However, the learned counsel appearing for the appellants has contended of the propagation aforesaid of the defendants of the suit land being construable to be Nazul land is unamenable to its holding any legally vigorous clout arousable from non existence any cogent evidence comprised in the Revenue Officer concerned on demise of Tara attesting mutation qua its standing vested by escheat in the defendants. The aforesaid submission holds legal worth only to a limited extent of the defendants not producing the relevant mutation attested qua the suit land by the Revenue Officer concerned with manifestations therein of on the demise of one Tara who purportedly held it as 'Abadi' it standing escheated to the defendants. However, the non adduction of the relevant mutation would not in its entirety disrobe the efficacy of the propagation of the defendants of given the plaintiffs provenly not ever holding its lawful possession theirs yet holding a right to stake a claim for ousting the defendants to seek their eviction therefrom. The reason for this Court proceeding to with invincible vigour conclude of dehors the defendants not adducing the relevant mutation attested on demise of Tara by the Revenue Officer concerned personificatory of the suit land hence standing escheated to them, theirs hence proving the aforesaid factum probandum stands harbored upon the acquiescence made by their predecessor in interest qua his not holding its lawful possession whereas with lawful possession of 'Abadi land' constituting the indispensable sine qua non for a 'Abadi' holder standing entitled to repulse the defendants from dislodging his possession thereto, acquiescence whereof contrarily belies the espousal of the plaintiffs qua theirs holding its lawful possession rendering open an inference of hence theirs not holding any right to restrain the defendants from seeking their eviction therefrom. The inference of acquiescence made by the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs stands constituted in Ext.DW-1/A embodying a communication made to the authorities concerned by the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs wherein an articulation exists qua the suit land standing located in vicinity to his 'Ara machine' qua whose allotment to him by way of lease he made a request therein to the authority concerned. Furthermore the defendants had put to auction the contentious parcel of two biswas of land. On conclusion of the relevant auction proceedings of the suit land as stood conducted by the authority concerned one Pritam Singh as manifested by Ext.DW-1/D stood declared to be the successful bidder whereupon it stood allotted to him on lease. An order for its allotment to him by lease was made by the authority concerned. Moreover in the aforesaid proceedings as divulged by Ext.DE comprising a copy of an order rendered by Sub Judge Ist Class, Kandaghat, in an application preferred therebefore by the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs under Order 39 Rule 1 and 2 CPC, a communication occurs of the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs participating in the auction held qua the suit land by the authority concerned, reiteratedly the effect of the aforesaid acquiescence is of (a) neither the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs nor the plaintiffs ever holding lawful possession of the contentious suit land; (b) with evidently neither the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs nor the plaintiffs holding lawful possession of the 'Abadi land' theirs acquiescing to the propagation of the defendants of on the demise of one Tara who hitherto held it, it given the aforesaid Tara dying issueless, it standing escheated in the State besides benumbs the effect if any of non adduction by the defendants of the relevant attestation of mutation qua it by the revenue officer concerned on demise of Tara (c) the defendants proving the factum of the suit land on demise of Tara vesting by escheat vis-à-vis them; (d) defendants holding a right to evict the plaintiffs therefrom. The learned counsel appearing of the plaintiffs has contended that the vigour of the aforesaid acquiescence neither estopps the plaintiffs to stake a claim qua their entitlement to the suit land nor relieves the defendants from adducing the relevant mutation pronouncing the factum of its standing escheated to them. In making the aforesaid submissions he relies upon a judgement of the Apex Court reported in A.C.Jose Vs. Sivan Pillai and others *(1984) 2 SCC 656 , parapgraph 38 whereof stands extracted hereinafter:

> "38. Lastly, it was argued by the counsel for the respondents that the appellant would be estopped from challenging the mechanical process because he did not oppose the introduction of this process although he was present in the meeting personally or though his agent. This arguments is wholly untenable because when we are considering a constitutional or statutory provision there can be no estoppel against a statute and where or not the appellant agreed or participated in the meeting which was held before introduction of the voting machines, if such a process is not permissible or authorized by law he cannot be estopped from challenging the same."

He also places reliance upon a judgement of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in Commissioner of Income-tax (Central) vs. B.N.Bhattacharjee and another *(1979) 4 SCC 121, relevant paragraphs No. 56 to 59 whereof stand extracted hereinafter:

"56. Now we came to the meat of the matter - the plea of estoppel or its variants. The C. I. T's objection to the jurisdiction of the Commission to proceed with the matter has been shot down by the artillery of estoppel. The order under appeal proceeds to hold that a conspectus of the circumstances of the case compels the conclusion that an understanding had been reached between the assessee and the C. I. T., evidenced by mutual withdrawal of their respective appeals before the I. T. A. T., that the Commission would be permitted to explore a settlement; and so, the statutory veto available to the C. I. T. to interdict the enquiry by the Commission could not be exercised because he was estopped from so doing, resiling from his earlier stand. The argument has an attractive veneer or cosmetic charm but law is more than skin-deep and courts peep beneath to see the principle of equity and justice thereby promoted.

57. What, in essence, is estoppel? Estopeel is a rule of equity which for bids truth being pleaded or representation, on which faith, another has acted to his detriment, being retracted. Even extending the rule into the newfangled empire of promissory estoppel, it cannot go beyond the limits of the Law Revision Committee in England which Lord Denning allowed to blossom in the High Trees case, 1947 (1) KB 130 - also see "Discipline of Law by Lord Denning" p. 202.

"We therefore recommend that a promise which the promisor knows, or reasonably should know, will be relied upon by the promisee, shall be enforceable if the promisee has altered his position to his detriment in reliance on the promise."

58. The soul of estoppel is equity, not facility for inequity. Nor is estoppel against statute permissible because public policy animating a statutory provision may then become the casualty. Halsbury has noted this sensible nicety.

"Where a statute, enacted for the benefit of a section of the public, imposes a duty of positive kind, the person charged with the performance of the duty, cannot by estoppel be prevented from exercising his statutory powers."

[Maritime Elec. Co. Ltd. v. General Diaries Ltd. 1937 AC 610 and Halsburys Laws of England para 1515.]

"A petitioner in a divorce suit cannot obtain relief simply because the respondent is estopped from denying the charges, as the court has a statutory duty to inquiry into the truth of a petition." [Hudson v. Hudson (1948) P. 292 and Halsburys Laws of England Para 1515].

The luminous footnote cites rulings and states that

"This rule probably also applies where the statute bestows a discretion rather than imposing a duty." [Halsbury, 4th Edn. pp. 1019.]

To sum up, where public duties cast by statute are involved, private parties cannot prevent performance by invoking estoppel. We do not discuss further since the facts here exclude estoppel.

59. In the present statutory situation Section 245D by the 2nd Proviso, casts a public duty on the Commissioner of Income-tax to consider, in the light of the case made out in the assessee's application, whether "concealment of particulars of income on the part of the applicant or perpetration of fraud by him for evading any tax or other sum chargeable or imposable under the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922 (11 of 1922), or under this Act, has been established or is likely to be established by any Income-tax authority, in relation to the case", and exercise his veto power to prevent escape of macro-criminals prima facie guilty of grave economic crimes. He cannot bargain over this interdict in advance or barter away a legal mandate in anticipation. He may permit or even assist the filing of a conciliation motion by the assessee but when the Commission intimates him under S. 245D (1) he shall, with statutory seriousness, exercise his discretion. He cannot enter into a 'deal' over this power without betraying the statutory trust. We cannot, therefore, accept the plea that the Commissioner of Income-tax, by conduct and 'under-standings' has 'irredeemably, mortgaged' his statutory duty to object if the case deserves such objection. Estoppel then is both odious and ominous and discretion the door to corruption."

8. However, the reliance placed by the learned counsel for the plaintiffs/appellants herein upon the aforereferred verdicts, relevant portions whereof stands extracted hereinabove, do not confer any legal leverage upon him to contend of the aforesaid acquiescence if any not estopping the plaintiffs/appellants to claim possession qua the suit land nor relieving the defendants from adducing the relevant mutation magnifying the factum of its on demise of Tara standing escheated to them. The reason for forming the aforesaid conclusion stands founded upon the factum of acquiescences made by a litigant operating as an estoppel against him unless acquiescences are qua a fact or a procedure, adoption/ acquiescence whereof is impermissible or barred by law. Also any representation made by the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs to the authority concerned qua the suit land would not operate as an estoppel vis-à-vis the plaintiffs for hence barring them to stake a right of retaining possession of the suit land unless they provenly by vigorous evidence establish the trite factum of theirs holding its lawful possession evidence whereof stood comprised in the factum of their predecessor in interest while acquiring the 'Abadi land' of one Dharam Dutt his also acquiring the contentious tract of two biswas of land. Since the relevant best evidence stands unadduced, the plaintiffs cannot claim the benefit of the renditions aforesaid nor obviously can contend of their acquiescences of their predecessor in interest not estopping them to claim possession of the suit land. Furthermore any acquiescence by a litigant in derogation of his inherent rights would also not estop him to subsequently stake a claim for their bestowment upon him. However, none of the aforesaid legal expostulations for excepting the plaintiffs from any attraction qua them the principle of estoppel awakened by the acquiescences made by their predecessor in interest occurring in the aforereferred exhibits is available to them, rendering hence inapt any reliance by the learned counsel for the appellants upon the citations aforesaid. The reason for this Court concluding of the counsel for the plaintiff making an inapt reliance upon the judicial verdicts aforesaid rest upon the trite factum of the suit land standing nomenclatured as 'Abadi' for continuance of possession whereof they stood enjoined to prove by forthright evidence qua theirs continuously since their predecessor in interest besides uptill now holding its lawful possession. However, the aforesaid trite factum for theirs thereupon concomitantly standing vested with a right to forestall the defendants in usurping their possession if any thereupon hence stands unestablished besides unproven by them, as a corollary when proof of the aforesaid factum probandum is imperative it remaining unsubstantiated, cannot bestow in them any right to contend of the acquiescences aforesaid qua the suit land made by their predecessor in interest not estopping them to oust the defendants to stake their eviction therefrom.

9. The result of the above discussion is that the appeal preferred by the appellants/plaintiffs is dismissed and the substantial question of law is answered against them. The judgements and decrees rendered by the both the Courts below are maintained and affirmed. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly. The parties are left to bear their own costs. All pending applications also stand disposed of accordingly. Records be sent back forthwith.

Kuldeep Chand ..Appellant/defendant.
Versus
Satya Devi and another ..Respondents/plaintiffs.

RSA No.545 of 2002
Date of decision: 20/08/2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 15- Plaintiff filed a suit for possession claiming that defendants had encroached upon the suit land- suit was opposed by the defendants by filing a reply denying the contents of the plaint- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that defendants had purchased the land from the plaintiff- he had encroached upon the suit land, which fact was established by demarcation report- it was contended that Local Commissioner was not examined and no reliance could have been placed on the report- no evidence was led by the defendants in support of the objection- demarcation was conducted in accordance with law- appeal dismissed. (Para-7 to 11)

For the appellant: Mr. Anand Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Ajay Sharma, Advocate for respondent No.1.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J:

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement and decree of the learned District Judge, Una, H.P., whereby he affirmed the rendition of the learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Court No.II, Amb, District Una. The defendant standing aggrieved by the concurrently recorded renditions of both the learned Courts below against him concerts through the instant appeal constituted before this Court, to reverse the judgements and decrees of both the Courts below.

2. The facts necessary for rendering a decision on the instant appeal are that plaintiff was the owner in possession of land measuring 10 Kanals 7 marlas comprising of Khasra No. 1980 as per copy of the jamabandi for the year 1980-81 situate in village Amb, Tehsil Amb. Out of the above said land, the plaintiff is said to have sold the land measuring 10 karams x 18 karams shown by khasra No. 1980/1 in favour of the defendants. The defendants were alleged to have constructed their house on the aforesaid land. However, at the time of raising construction of their house, the defendants are said to have encroached upon 98 sq.mtrs. the land of the plaintiff. The defendants are said to have raised wall between points ABCD and have also installed a gate at points A and B on the eastern side of their house. The defendants are further shown to have encroached upon some other land of the plaintiff on the western side of their house as shown by letters FGHI. The possession of the defendants over the disputed land was stated to be that of trespassers and the plaintiff claimed the possession of the disputed land against the defendants on the allegation that the defendants have refused to vacate this land despite being asked to do so.

3. The suit of the plaintiff was resisted by defendants who have filed written statement in the case. The defendants have denied that they have encroached upon any land of the plaintiff. It was averred that the land purchased by the defendants from the plaintiff was demarcated and shown to the defendants in presence of the plaintiff and the defendants have raised the construction of their house on this very land and they have not encroached upon any further land of the plaintiff.

4. On the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties in contest on 10.01.1994:-

1. Whether plaintiff is entitled to the possession of suit land marked as ABCED and FGHI in the site plan attached with the plaint? OPP.

1A. Whether defendants have encroached upon an area 98 Sq.mtrs. marked by letters ABCDE and FGHI in the site plan? OPP.

1B. Whether the possession of defendants over portion marked ABCDE and FGHI is that of trespasser? OPP.

2. Whether plaintiff has no locus-standi to file the present suit? OPD.

3. Whether suit is bad for non-joinder of necessary parties? OPD.

4. Whether plaintiff is estopped by her act and conduct as alleged to file the present suit? OPD.

6. Relief.

On 19.2.1996 the learned trial Court framed another issue:

"Whether the report of the Local Commissioner is liable to be set-aside."

5 On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, the learned trial Court decreed the suit of the plaintiff besides the learned First Appellate Court dismissed the appeal preferred therefrom before it by the defendants.

6. Now defendant Kuldeep Chand has instituted the instant Regular Second Appeal before this Court, assailing the findings recorded by the learned first Appellate Court in its impugned judgment and decree. When the appeal came up for admission on 25.08.2004, this Court admitted the appeal on the hereinafter extracted substantial question of law:-

"Whether the relief granted to the plaintiff by the Courts below was beyond the scope of the pleadings."

Substantial question of law.

7. Uncontrovertedly, the appellant purchased an area measuring 1 kanal from the plaintiff. He raised construction beyond the area sold to him by the plaintiff sequelling his hence encroaching upon the land of the plaintiff. The factum of the defendant encroaching upon the land of the plaintiff stands vividly pronounced by the Revenue Officer concerned in his demarcation report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D. The learned counsel appearing for the defendant/appellant has made a vigorous attempt before this Court to scuttle the efficacy of demarcation report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D on the anvil of the Local Commissioner concerned not stepping into the witness box for proving the trite factum of his holding demarcation of the relevant site in consonance with the relevant procedure encapsulated in the H.P.Land Code Manual. Furthermore, the learned counsel for the defendant has made a vehement espousal herebefore of the non rendition of a verdict by both the Courts below upon the objections reared by the defendant against the tenacity of the findings recorded by the local commissioner in his report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D renders his relevant report when construed in coagulation with the purported infirmity aforereferred to hence stand gripped with an aggravated vice of invalidation. He also contends of the findings pronounced by both the Courts below bereft of theirs pronouncing a verdict upon their objections qua it hence stains them with a vice of theirs standing pronounced in a summary besides in a post haste manner also obviously bespeaks of non application of their judicial mind qua the tenacity of Ext.PW-3/D rendering them it to be wanting in any legal vigour. Furthermore, the learned counsel appearing for the defendant has made loud echoings hereinbefore qua the emanation upsurging from the depositions of the plaintiffs' witnesses marking their stark acquiescence qua the construction raised by him upon the suit land especially with communications occurring therein of the defendant raising construction within the precincts of the area earmarked by the plaintiff at the time of his purchasing it from the latter estops the plaintiff to inordinately proclaim hereinbefore of the defendant in his subjecting the suit land to construction his proceeding to do so without her consent. Initially the foremost onslaught constituted by the defendant to the report of the demarcating officer constituted in Ext.PW-3/D warrants its standing rested by this Court. Even though in Ext.PW-3/D the demarcating officer has recorded of his at the stage preceding his subjecting the suit land to demarcation his not holding the Tatima pertaining to the inter se contiguous lands of the parties at lis hereat, non holding whereof at the apposite stage ensuing from its unavailability thereat. Nonetheless his proceeding to from the relevant Tatima available on the relevant mutations besides from the relevant field books, hence gauge their respective Karukans besides their respective areas. Furthermore, with the aforesaid manner of the demarcating officer making a determination of the configuration besides of the areas borne by the relevant contiguous lands of the parties at lis standing evidently concurred by both the plaintiff and the defendant under their respective statements recorded before him which stand respectively borne on Mark-A and Mark-B especially when signatures of the defendant occurring thereon stand not contested by him also with the apposite revelations manifested therein qua the displaying of satisfaction by the defendant qua the demarcation conducted by the demarcating officer of the relevant contiguous lands of the parties at lis, foments a conclusion of with the procedure adopted by the demarcating officer in gauging on the anvil of Ext.PW-3/G and Ext.PW-3/H the area besides the dimensions of the contiguous lands of the parties at lis, gauging whereof stood meted concurrence by the defendant as displayed by his statement comprised in Mark-B also with his in Mark-A displaying his concurrence with the measurements of the relevant contiguous lands of the parties at lis hence his standing estopped him from contending qua the gauging by the demarcating officer, the dimensions/areas of the relevant contiguous lands of the parties at lis while standing anvilled not upon the relevant Tatima being impermissible or hence his holding demarcation of the relevant contiguous lands of the parties at contest in purported stark departure of the procedure contemplated in the H.P.Land Manual also forestalls him from contending of the conclusions arrived by the demarcating officer in his report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D wanting in legal worth. Although it was preemptory for the demarcating officer to before his proceeding to demarcate the contiguous land of the parties at lis to hold the copy of the relevant Tatima yet with his assigning a good reason qua its unavailaibility also with his preceding thereto recording the consensus ad idem of the parties at lis qua the fixed points wherefrom he hence demarcated the contiguous lands of the parties at contest renders inconsequential the effect of unavailability of the relevant Tatima.

8. Be that as it may, with the defendant concurring with the determination by the demarcating officer of the relevant fixed points with the aid of Musabi available on the relevant mutations besides from the relevant field books renders inconsequential the effect of the demarcating officer not tendering by stepping into the witness box his report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D. Moreover, the effect if any of the learned Courts below not pronouncing upon the objections reared therebefore by the defendant qua the efficacy of the demarcation report embodied in Ext.PW-3/D is for the reasons ascribed hereinafter legally unworthwhile.

9. Although it was imperative for the demarcating officer to by stepping into the witness box tender his report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D for hence his proving it. However, the dire legal necessity qua his thereupon proving it would acquire a paramount effect for hence rendering his report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D to hold no efficacy in law only when on the apposite issue framed by the learned trial Court on 19.2.1996 qua hence his report being liable to be quashed and set-aside, the defendant had adduced therebefore sustainable evidence for sustaining besides succoring the aforesaid espousal. However, though an apposite issue struck by the learned trial Court qua the objections raised by the defendant vis-à-vis the report of the demarcating officer comprised in Ext.PW-3/D yet as openly echoed by an order of the learned trial Court recorded on 9.10.1996 of the counsel for the defendant waiving his right to lead evidence for sustaining his objections qua the report of the Local Commissioner, warrants a deduction standing derived by this Court, of the defendant not pressing his objections qua the report of the local commissioner nor also his holding any evidence in support of the objections reared by him qua the report of the local commissioner. Contrarily, an inference stands awakened from the concurrence emanating from the defendant embodied in his statement comprised in Mark-B recorded by the demarcating officer prior to his holding demarcation of the relevant site besides also from his making concurrence to the demarcation of the relevant site held by the demarcating Officer, concurrence whereof stands bespoken in his statement comprised in Mark-B signatures whereon of the defendant remain uncontested by him of hence the counsel for the defendant standing constrained to waive the apposite opportunity to lead evidence for succoring his objections to the report of the local commissioner. Also the aforesaid apposite concurrences begetting the sequel of the demarcation report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D holding legal sinew. The sequel of the aforesaid discussion is of the acquiescence if any of the plaintiff upsurging from communications occurring in the plaintiffs' evidence of the defendant holding his construction within the precincts of the area disclosed to him by the plaintiff at the time he purchased an area of 1 Kanal from the plaintiff, getting belittled. The reason for holding so, sprouts from the factum of the defendant conceding to his purchasing an area measuring 1 kanal from the plaintiff wherewithin alone he held a right to raise construction. Even if the area which stood disclosed to him by the plaintiff prior to his proceeding to raise construction fell in excess of the area alienated to him by the plaintiff yet it was enjoined upon him to get ascertained from the competent revenue officer the relevant dimensions of the land alienated to him. He omitted to do so. Contrarily for his omission he cannot merely on a surmisal assessment by the plaintiff of the area wherewithin the dimensions of 1 kanal of land occurred, forestall her from canvassing her vested rights to usurp his possession therefrom predominantly when the concert of the plaintiff to usurp his possession therefrom stands squarely anchored upon a valid demarcation report.

10. The learned counsel for the defendant has made a vociferous address before this Court qua the omission of the plaintiff to step into the witness box for corroborating the averments constituted in the plaint whereas the averments constituted in the plaint standing testified by her power of attorney who in his cross-examination makes communications of his holding an estate located at a distance of 20 km from the suit land also his showing ignorance qua the dimensions of the suit land rendered him while hence his unveiling the factum of his holding no personal knowledge qua the entire gamut of the controversy engaging the parties at lis also his unveiling his ignorance qua the averments testified by him in proof of the averments constituted in the plaint whereas in case he held personal knowledge qua the relevant facets embedded in the plaint would facilitate him to prove them dehors the plaintiff not stepping into the witness box for proving the averments, contrarily his unveiling his ignorance qua the entire gamut of the controversy besetting the parties at lis renders proof if any adduced by him qua the averments constituted in the plaint to hold no legal worth. He contends of the averments constituted in the plaint standing unsubstantiated. He also contends qua the omission of the plaintiff to step into witness box for proving the averments constituted in the plaint constraining a conclusion from this Court of theirs remaining unsubstantiated whereupon he contends of the suit of the plaintiff warranting dismissal. To succor his submission he relies upon judgements reported in 2002(3) SLC-285, 1999(3) SCC 576, 2000(2) SLJ-1736, 2002(3) SLC-478 and 2001(1) SLJ 463. The effect of the aforesaid submissions stand effaced in the light of this Court pronouncing with formidability of the demarcation report comprised in Ext.PW-3/D standing not bereft of any validity. With the entire gravamen of the lis engaging the parties at lis standing hinged upon the encroachment made by the defendant upon the land of the plaintiff factum whereof enjoined adduction of best evidence comprised in the report of the demarcating officer concerned, imperatively when the relevant best evidence stands adduced also when it for reasons aforestated holds sinew besides when the attorney of the plaintiff did not hold the relevant demarcation nor was hence required to prove it hence his ignorance if any qua the entire gamut of the controversy embodied in the plaint also hence the effect of his testimony being discardable gets subsumed in the trite factum of the fulcrum of the controversy warranting its standing clinched by best evidence comprised in the report of the local commissioner, report whereof when holds validity also vigorously clinches the apt controversy it would be legally insagacious to on the plaintiff omitting to step into the witness box, draw any adverse inference qua her from her omission to step into the witness box, also it would be legally inapt to from ignorance if any of the power of attorney qua the entire gamut of the controversy embodied in the plaint, conclude of hence the averments constituted in the plaint remaining unproved nor it would be apt to conclude of the suit of the plaintiff warranting dismissal prominently when the factum probandum or the fulcrum of the controversy hinged upon the demarcation report Ext.PW-3/D stands thereupon clinched.

11. The result of the above discussion is that the appeal preferred by the defendant/appellant herein is dismissed and the substantial question of law is answered against him. The judgements and decrees rendered by the both the Courts below are maintained and affirmed. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly. The parties are left to bear their own costs. All pending applications also stand disposed of accordingly. Records be sent back forthwith.

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for seeking permanent prohibitory injunction for restraining the defendant from interfering in the flow of water for irrigation purpose- it was pleaded that land of the plaintiff was being irrigated from the source named Jaral Bain- defendants threatened to tap the water of source forcibly and without consent of the plaintiff- suit was opposed by filing a reply pleading that water source is owned and possessed by State of Himachal Pradesh- Department was going to dig the well in Khasra No. 283 on the request of the public at large- plaintiff cannot restrain the owner from digging well in their land- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was also dismissed- held, in second appeal that no prescriptive right can be acquired regarding the water flowing in underground channel- there was no evidence that by tapping the water, plaintiff would be deprived of the use of the water for irrigating his land- injunction was rightly refused in these circumstances- appeal dismissed. (Para-7 and 9)

Case referred:
Het Singh and others vs. Anar singh and others AIR 1982 Allahabad 468

For the appellant: Mr. Ankush Dass Sood, Sr. Advocate Ms. Shweta Julka, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Dy. A.G. for respondents No. 1 and 2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J:

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement and decree of the learned District Judge, Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh, whereby he affirmed the rendition of the learned Senior Sub Judge, Bilaspur. The plaintiff standing aggrieved by the concurrently recorded renditions against him by both the learned Courts below concert through the instant appeal constituted before this Court, to reverse the judgements and decrees of both the Courts below.

2. The facts necessary for rendering a decision on the instant appeal are that plaintiffs filed a suit for permanent injunction as against the respondents restraining them from interfering in the flow of water for irrigation purpose from a source named Jaral Bain. It was alleged by the plaintiffs that they were owner in possession of the irrigated land comprised in Khasra No. 130, 142, 258, 169, 287, 144, 141, 170, 145, 278, 82 and 155. It was alleged that this land was being irrigated from the water of the source named as Jaral and Bain Bawari situated in village Sayar. It was alleged that there is a water source situated in Khasra No. 283 from where the water for irrigation flows to the land of the plaintiffs who used to irrigate their land by the said water and that the lands of the plaintiffs situated downward from the said water source. It was alleged that the defendants had started threatening the plaintiffs to tap the water of the said source forcibly and without the consent of the plaintiffs and to take it to other villages for drinking purposes and have started digging a well near the source. It was alleged that in case the water is tapped in this manner, the plaintiffs would be put to a great loss hence the suit for injunction.

3. The suit of the plaintiffs was resisted by defendants whereby they have taken preliminary objections that of maintainability, cause of action and locus standi. On merits, they pleaded that there is water source situated in Khasra No. 276 owned and possessed by State of H.P. which was described in the revenue record as Gair Mumkin Bowli as Rafaiam i.e. for the benefit of the public at large. In regard to Khasra No. 283 it was pleaded by the defendants that this Khasra number is owned and possessed by Sant Ram alongwith Devku and the department was going to dig the well in this land on the request of the public at large. It was pleaded that the plaintiffs cannot restrain other owners from digging wells in their respective land and defendants were exercising their legal rights with consent of owners of Khasra No. 283. Thus, it was pleaded that the suit is liable to be dismissed.

4. On the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties in contest:-

1. Whether the suit in the present form is not maintainable, as alleged? OPD.
2. Whether the plaint does not disclose any cause of action and if so its effect? OPD.
3. Whether the plaintiffs have been in the user of the water of the of the source known as Jaral and Bain Bowri for irrigation of their land and exclusively as of right? OPP.
4. If issue No.1 is proved in affirmative whether by tapping the water source by the defendants for bringing water supply to the inhabitants in Khasra No. 283 caused interference in this user of the water by the plaintiffs for irrigation by diminishing the flow of the water? OPP.
5. Whether the plaintiffs are entitled for the relief of permanent injunction? OPP.
6. Relief.

5. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, the learned trial Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs besides the learned First Appellate Court dismissed the appeal preferred therefrom before it by the plaintiff.

6. Now the plaintiff has instituted the instant Regular Second Appeal before this Court, assailing the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 30.11.2004 this Court admitted the appeal on the hereinafter extracted substantial question of law:-

> "Whether the findings of the learned trial Court as affirmed by the learned First Appellate Court are dehors the evidence on record?"

Substantial question of law.

7. Water tapped, in, Jaral and Bain Bowri, stands contended by the plaintiffs to be the source for irrigating their fields. The aforesaid source of water occurs in Khasra No. 276, khasra number whereof stands not owned by the plaintiffs. The defendants by theirs tapping the water of Jaral and Bain Bowri stand espoused by the plaintiffs to cause deprivation of water to them though meant for irrigating their fields which occur below khasra No. 276. They claims a relief for injuncting the defendants from tapping the water of Jaral and Bain Bowri on the anvil of theirs since time immemorial using its water for irrigating their fields. Obviously they contend qua even when its location occurs on Khasra No. 276, khasra number whereof stands not owned and possessed by them it yet constituting a servient heritage for facilitating the user of its water by them for irrigating their fields occurring below it given its relevant user holding continuity for 20 years hitherto, whereupon they statutorily stand vested with a prescriptive right qua its user for irrigating their fields, fields whereof constitute the dominant heritage. However, for pronouncing upon the sinew of the aforesaid contention an allusion to the provisions of Section 17 of the Indian Easements Act, 1882, which stand extracted hereinafter, is imperative.

> "17. Rights which cannot be acquired by prescription – Easements acquired under Section 15 are said to be acquired by prescription and are called prescriptive rights.
> None of the following rights can be so acquired:-
>
> (a) a right which would tend to the total destruction of the subject of the right, or the property on which, if the acquisition were made, liability would be imposed;
>
> (b) a right to the free passage of light or air to an open space of ground:
>
> (c) a right to surface water not flowing in a stream and not permanently collected in a pool, tank or otherwise;
> (d) a right to underground water not passing in a defined channel."

A perusal of the aforesaid provisions portray of clause (d) thereof standing constituted therein to be one of the prescriptive rights being not amenable for acquisition by way of prescription, prescriptive right whereof is qua right to user of underground water not passing in a defined channel. However for determining whether hence the prescriptive right of easement staked by the plaintiffs qua user by them of the water held in Jaral and Bain Bowri for irrigating their fields falls within the ambit besides within the precincts of the domain of clause (d) of Section 17 whereupon hence they would stand baulked to claim any relief against the defendants, standing forestalled by an injunctive decree from tapping its water for providing drinking water to co-villagers an allusion qua the factum probandum of the water source standing nomenclatured as Jaral and Bain Bowri is a vivid besides visible pronouncement of the Bowri aforesaid obviously therewithin holding underground water also is a loud bespeaking of hence it standing held therewithin in a defined channel. Consequently, given the occurrence of underground water in a defined channel forestalls the plaintiffs to stake any prescriptive right qua its user by them for irrigating their fields which occur below it. Reiteratedly, hence when water if held not in a defined channel would empower the plaintiffs to stake a prescriptive right qua its user by them for irrigating their fields contrarily when it is held in a defined channel emasculates the concert of the plaintiffs to stake any prescriptive right qua its user by them for irrigating their fields which occur below it.

8. Be that as it may, the water which flows to the fields of the plaintiffs from Jaral and Bain Bowri, Bowri whereof apparently holds therewithin underground water in a defined channel rendering its flow therefrom onto the fields of the plaintiffs to be a subterranean flow whereupon also the plaintiffs would hold a right to injunct the defendants from tapping its water for providing drinking facilities to co-villagers only on upsurgings of cogent evidence personificatory of the defendants in tapping the underground water of Jaral and Bain Bowri theirs making an excessive drawal of water therefrom sequelling the subterranean flow of water therefrom onto the fields of the plaintiffs to stand diminished besides reduced with a concomitant effect of reducing the crop yielding capacity of their fields which occur below it. In coming to the aforesaid conclusion this Court finds succor from a judgement of the Allahabad High Court reported in Het Singh and others vs. Anar singh and others *AIR 1982 Allahabad 468, paragraph 3 whereof stands extracted hereinafter:-

> "Without going into the merits of the that finding and accepting it as a fact that the plaintiffs had been irrigating their fields by taking water from the well in dispute for more than 20 years, the question that arises in this Second Appeal is whether a right to do so by way of easement could be acquired by prescription in view of the provisions contained in Section 17 of the Easement Act which is to the effect that a right to underground water not passing in a defined channel cannot be acquired as an easementary right by prescription under Section 15 of the Act. A right to draw water from a well is surely a right to underground water and it is not the case that the plaintiffs right to enjoy water from their well was interrupted by something done by the defendants to the source of water in the well which was through a defined channel, by doing something, such as drawing an excessive supply of water from their own well from the same underground source."

9. Apposite evidence in personification of the aforesaid principle of law stood constituted in the report of the hydrologist wherein he made loud echoings in consonance with the aforesaid principles encapsulated hereinabove. Though PW-2 stepped into the witness box wherein he has made a pronouncement of his measuring the discharge of water from Jaral and Bain Bowri in sequel whereto he prepared Ext.PW-2/A, exhibit whereof holds pronouncements of the tapping of the relevant underground water by the defendants begetting the consequence of dwindling the subterranean flow of underground water onto the fields of the plaintiff rendering them hence to stand deprived of water in plentiful for facilitating theirs irrigating their fields, fields whereof stand depicted in the revenue records to be irrigated land. However, the aforesaid pronouncements do not hold any vigour given his making echoings in his cross-examination qua his at the time of his visiting the 'Jaral and Bain Bowri' his not holding any equipments to measure the depth of water occurring therein. Also his voicing in his cross-examination of his making measurements of surplus water at the relevant site and not of ground water besides his acquiescing to the suggestion put to him by the learned defence counsel while holding him to cross-examination of wells as, is, Jaral and Bain Bowri holding underground water, constrains a conclusion of his not measuring either the depth of the under groundwater occurring therein nor his determining by applying scientific methods the trite factum qua the consequence of the defendants in tapping its water for supplying it to co-villagers entailing a diminution of its subterranean supply to the fields of the plaintiffs. In sequel, with the plaintiffs not proving the factum qua the subterranean supply of its water onto their fields standing diminished, in sequel to the defendants tapping it therefrom also with the plaintiffs not cogently proving by adducing best evidence in display of on the defendants tapping its water the crop yielding capacity of the relevant fields facing diminution, fosters a conclusion of act of the defendants in tapping the water of Jaral and Bain Bowri not begetting the consequence of its subterranean flow therefrom onto the fields of the plaintiffs either reducing or diminishing. As a corollary the injunction as claimed by the plaintiffs against the defendants from restraining them for tapping its water warrants its standing refused dehors the factum of theirs holding a right to claim its subterranean flow therefrom onto their fields. The substantial question of law is answered against them. The judgements and decrees rendered by the both the Courts below are maintained and affirmed. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly. The parties are left to bear their own costs. All pending applications also stand disposed of accordingly. Records be sent back forthwith.

Cr. Appeal No. 189 of 2016
Reserved on : 4.8.2016
Decided on : 22-08-2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Prosecutrix was residing with her children in her home – accused came to the room of the prosecutrix and raped her- incident was narrated by prosecutrix to her father- accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecutrix had supported the prosecution version- there are no significant contradictions in her testimony- her version was duly supported by her father- medical evidence also corroborated the version of the prosecutrix- delay was properly explained- prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt- trial Court had rightly convicted the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 13)

For the Appellant: Mr. Lovneeesh Kanwar, Advocate.
For the Respondent: Mr. P.M Negi, Deputy Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgment of 24.12.2015 rendered by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Ghumarwin District Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh (Camp at Bilaspur) in Sessions trial No. 4/7 of 2015, whereby the learned trial Court convicted the appellant (hereinafter referred to as "accused") for his committing an offence punishable under Sections 376 of the Indian Penal Code also sentenced him as under:-

> ".....he is sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of ten years and fine of Rs.10,000/- (Rupees Ten Thousand Only) for the commission of offence punishable under Section 376 of the Indian Penal Code. In default of payment of fine he shall further suffer rigorous imprisonment for a period of six months....."

2. Brief facts of the case are that the prosecutrix is the wife of Amit Chand (PW-7) and was residing in village Khungan. Her husband is a driver by profession and he seldom visits home. Accused alongwith the prosecutrix and her three daughters and one son had been residing together. On the intervening night of 9/10.9.2014 at about 12.30 a.m. accused came to the room of the prosecutrix and forcibly committed sexual intercourse upon her. The prosecutrix had communicated qua the aforesaid act of the accused to her father by her mobile phone. In the company of her father (PW-5) she had gone to the police station for lodging a report. The accused for the past 15-16 days had regularly been teasing the prosecutrix. Earlier also on 3-4 occasions the accused had forcibly made physical relations with the prosecutrix. On 8.9.2014 during the night time the accused by entering in her room had made physical relation with her forcibly. The accused on each and every occasion holding out threats to the prosecutrix to kill her if she made a disclosure to anyone. Out of fear, except for her husband, the prosecutrix had not disclosed anything to anyone. Her husband had been abusing her. Owing to the threatening meted by the accused the prosecutrix had not reported the matter to the police earlier. On the matter being reported to the police, FIR Ex.PW-10/A came to be registered. Medical examination of the prosecutrix was conducted on an application. Dr. Shilpa (PW-9) conducted her medical examination and observed that the possibility of sexual intercourse and rape could not be ruled out. The accused was also medically examined and on his examination it stands found that there was nothing to suggest that the accused was not capable of performing sexual acts. Site plan Ex. PW-12/A was prepared. Vaginal swabs, pubic hair and slides of the prosecutrix were preserved by the medical officer and handed over to the police. The underwear, sample of blood, pubic hair and semen of the accused were also taken and sealed. Further the case of the prosecution is that the prosecutrix had handed over to the police her shirt (Ex.P-2) and salwar (Ex.P-3), which were sealed in a parcel and seized vide seizure memo Ex.PW-2/A. A khandolu (Mattress) (Ex.P-5) was also produced by the prosecutrix which was seized under memo Ex.PW-2/B. Mobile phone alongwith sim card was also taken into possession by the police vide seizure memo Ex.PW-3/A. The case property was handed over to the MHC, who sent the same to the Regional Forensic Science Laboratory, Mandi. On receipt of RFSL report comprised in Ex. PW-

8/C and completion of all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offence, allegedly committed by the accused challan was prepared and filed in the Court.

3. The accused stood charged by the learned trial Court for his committing offences punishable under Sections 376 and 506 of IPC to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 13 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was recorded in which he pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. However he did not choose to lead evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of conviction against the accused for his committing an offence punishable under Section 376 of the IPC.

6. The learned counsel appearing for the accused has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record rather theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence he contends qua the findings of conviction being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of acquittal.

7. The learned Deputy Advocate General has with considerable force and vigour contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference rather meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side has with studied care and incision evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. An FIR stood lodged with the police station concerned qua the ill-fated incident which occurred in the intervening night of 9/10.9.2014 at 12.30 a.m. wherein a narrative is held of the prosecutrix standing subjected to forcible sexual intercourse by the accused/her father-in-law. The sole deposition qua the ill-fated occurrence of the prosecutrix when bereft of any vice of any visible inter-se contradiction vis-à-vis her respective examination-in-chief with her cross-examination would ipso facto constitute sinewed evidence of probative worth for constraining this Court to return findings of conviction against the accused. For disinterring the factum aforesaid an incisive reading of her deposition is imperative. She has in her deposition made both loud and vivid underscorings therein qua on the relevant date hers standing subjected to forcible sexual intercourse by the accused. She with utmost promptitude made a revelation qua the occurrence to PW-5, her father. PW-1 (Ashwani Kumar) has deposed a version corroborative to the version qua the occurrence spelt out by the prosecutrix in her testification. PW-1 who alongwith PW-5 on the latter receiving a cellular communication from the prosecutrix proceeded to the matrimonial home of the latter has recorded a vivid pronouncement in his testification qua theirs thereat noticing the prosecutrix sitting in the courtyard of her house alongwith her three daughters whereas the accused stands testified by them to be noticed by them to be hurling abuses from the room of the upper storey of his house. The aforesaid pronouncement occurring in the testification of the PWs aforesaid holds the effect of theirs countervailing the concert of the defence to herebefore espouse of with the prosecutrix not raising outcries for inviting the presence of the inhabitants of the homesteads located in close vicinity to the relevant site of occurrence apparently unveiling of hers holding consent to the accused for his subjecting her to sexual intercourse. Even otherwise reiteratedly the factum of hers purveying with utmost promptitude a communication qua the occurrence to her father by holding a communication with him over a cell phone, factum whereof stands vigorously corroborated by call detail reports Ex.PC and PE, unfolds the imminent factum of hers not contriving the implication of her father-in- law/ the accused nor also it can be concluded of hers by omitting to raise outbursts not rendering herself amenable to an inference standing foisted qua hers consensually succumbing to the sexual misdemeanors of the accused given hers holding a perception qua her reputation standing stigmatized by hers, during the ordeal of hers standing subjected to forcible sexual intercourse by the accused, raising outcries inviting thereat the presence of the neighbors, hence hers deeming it fit to on its conclusion make an intimation thereof to her father. Also the perpetration of sexual intercourse upon her person by the accused for it to be not amenable to a construction of its standing committed by hers purveying consent to the accused did not entail upon her to during its course or during the ordeal which beset her to raise outcries especially when as manifested by hers on consummation of the occurrence making a prompt cellular communication to her father rather tellingly bespeaks of hers not meteing consent to the sexual misdemeanors of the accused moreso when the aforesaid concert would stand unresorted to by her given its distracting her married life, as a corollary, dehors hers not during the ordeal which beset her, hers not raising outbursts for inviting the presence thereat of the neighbours holding residences in proximity thereof, is, consequential, given the prevalence hereat of singularly peculiar facts nor it can hence be concluded of hers by omitting to raise shrieks held consent to the accused qua his subjecting her to sexual intercourse.

10. The defence has assayed qua the implication of the accused by the prosecutrix holding an aura of falsity it standing reared by the accused holding a desire to alienate a part of his land to his sister whereas the prosecutrix and her father insisting upon the accused qua his transferring his land in their names, resistance whereof of the accused evoking an altercation inter-se the accused and the father of the prosecutrix wherefrom the latter nursed a vendetta vis-à-vis the accused, vendetta whereof found its outlet in his in collusion with her father falsely implicating the accused. However the aforesaid defence gets stifled by the factum of the prosecutrix acquiescing to the suggestion put to her by the learned defence counsel while holding her to cross-examination qua her husband not expending any money on her maintenance besides on the maintenance of her children rather her acquiescing to the apposite suggestion put to her by the learned defence counsel when holding her to cross-examination of the accused maintaining her besides her children. The effect of the aforesaid acquiescences is of there being no estrangement in the relationship inter-se the accused and the prosecutrix rather both living harmoniously together thereat the accused during the absence from home of the husband of the prosecutrix given the latter standing engaged as a driver callings whereof of his profession entailing his not staying regularly at his house. Also the aforesaid acquiescence blunts the factum of both holding animosity, with a concomitant effect of the defence making an engineered espousal on anvil aforesaid of the prosecutrix in connivance with her father falsely implicating the accused. Apart therefrom the effect of the prosecutrix leveling grave allegations upon her father-in-law begetting the ill-sequel of her image standing tarnished, protection whereof is the cherished aspiration of any married lady, she hence cannot at all be inferred to hold false allegations against the accused unless the latter had sexually exploited her.

11. The medical evidence on record held in Ex.PW-9/B holding manifestations of the prosecutrix standing subjected to sexual intercourse being not overrule able also the report of the FSL concerned holding unveilings of the vaginal slides of the prosecutrix sent therebefore holding semen, lends succor to the deposition of the prosecutrix. Even though the husband of the prosecutrix while appearing as PW-7 has deposed of his on the relevant date holding coitus with the prosecutrix hence concerts to repel the prosecutrix version yet his testimony is unworthwhile to oust the credible testimony of both PW-1 and PW-5 the brother and father respectively of the prosecutrix both of whom in prompt sequel to the latter making a cellular communication to them qua the occurrence proceeded to her matrimonial home whereat they testify qua theirs not noticing PW-7. The un-shattered testimony of both PW-1 and PW-5 qua theirs on theirs visiting the matrimonial home of the prosecutrix not noticing thereat the husband of the prosecutrix is amplifying display of the endeavor of the defence to thereupon repel the participation of the accused in the forcible coitus to which she stood held by the accused being both feeble besides fragile. Consequently, also with the opinion of the FSL concerned qua the vaginal slides of the prosecutrix as sent to it for examination holding semen is to be concluded to be connecting the accused in as much as the relevant vaginal slides holding the semen of the accused.

12. The effect of delay, if any, of the prosecutrix reporting the occurrence to the police station concerned stands effaced given its standing explicated in the factum of the police station Ghumarwin standing located at a distance of 28 kms from the relevant site of occurrence wheretoat she in the company of PW-5 in the morning of 10.9.2014 made a visit. Consequently when the alleged incident occurred in the intervening night of 9/10.9.2014 also when in prompt sequel thereto she made a cellular communication to her father who visited her matrimonial home rather renders hers holding a prompt communication qua the occurrence to her father also the factum aforesaid entwined with the evident factum of the relevant police station standing located at a distance of 28 kms from the site of the occurrence wheretoat given the darkness of the relevant time besides unavailability of means of transport she could not be expected to in prompt sequel to the occurrence visit it renders the delay, if any, to be inconsequential.

13. A wholesome analysis of the evidence on record portrays that the appreciation of evidence as done by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity and absurdity nor it can be said that the learned trial Court in recording findings of conviction has committed any legal misdemeanor, in as much, as, its mis-appreciating the evidence on record or its omitting to appreciate relevant and admissible evidence. In aftermath this Court does not deem it fit and appropriate that the findings of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court merit interference.

14. In view of the above discussion, I find no merit in this appeal, which is accordingly dismissed and the judgment of the learned trial Court is maintained and affirmed. Record of the learned trial Court be sent back forthwith.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Majalsi & Others .....Appellants-Defendants

Versus

Zulmi Ram (since deceased) through his LRs .....Respondents-Plaintiffs

Regular Second Appeal No.178 of 2006.
Judgment Reserved on: 02.08.2016.
Date of decision: 22.08.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for permanent prohibitory injunction pleading that they are owners in possession of the suit land- defendants started interfering with the same without any right to do so- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that plaintiffs and their witness had specifically stated that plaintiffs are owners in possession of suit land and defendants are interfering with the same without any right to do so- defendants relied upon the judgment but the judgment does not show that plaintiffs were restrained - version of the plaintiffs that they are owners in possession and defendants are stranger has to be accepted- Courts had rightly decreed the suit- appeal dismissed. (Para-14 to 25)

Case referred:
Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264

For the Appellants: Mr. Ajay Sharma, Advocate.
For Respondent No.1(a): Mr. Sanjay Kumar Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma,J.

This appeal has been filed by the appellants-defendants (hereinafter referred to as the `defendants') against the judgment and decree dated 10.2.2006, passed by learned District

Judge, Hamirpur, H.P., affirming the judgment and decree dated 29.1.2004, passed by learned Civil Judge(Junior Division), Court No.1, Hamirpur, H.P., whereby the suit filed by the Respondent-plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as the `plaintiff) has been decreed.

2. The facts necessary, as emerged from the record, necessary for adjudication of the case are that the plaintiff filed a suit for permanent prohibitory injunction against the defendants on the allegation that he had been owner in possession of land comprised in Khata No.51, Khatauni No.127, Khasra Nos.901, 903, 909, 911, 916, 917, 918, 932, 933, 934, 935, 937, 941, 942, kitta 14, measuring 10 Kanals 9 Marlas, as per Jamabandi for the year 1990-91, situated in village Rathwani, Mauza Mehlta, Tehsil Bhoranj, District Hamirpur, H.P. (hereinafter referred to as the `suit land'). It is averred that the suit land had been allotted to the plaintiff by the State of Himachal Pradesh on which the defendants had started interfering with the ownership and possession of the plaintiff over the suit land w.e.f. Ist week of May, 2000. They had been requested not to do so, but without any result. The defendants are sought to be restrained from interfering in the ownership and possession of the plaintiff over the suit land by issuance of a decree of permanent injunction.

3. Defendants, by way of filing written statement, raised preliminary objections on the grounds of maintainability, estoppel, non-joinder, limitation, want of cause of action, principles of resjudicata and valuation in preliminary objections. On merits, the defendants had admitted the allotment of the suit land in favour of the plaintiff by the State of Himachal Pradesh. It is alleged that the possession of the suit land had not been delivered to the plaintiff and the defendants and other estate right holders had been in possession of the suit land. It is further alleged that the defendants had instituted a Civil Suit regarding the suit land against the plaintiff and the State of Himachal Pradesh, which was dismissed by both the Courts below and against the said judgments and decrees, the defendants had instituted Regular Second Appeal bearing RSA No.488 of 1990 against the plaintiff and State of Himachal Pradesh before this Court. It is further alleged that the said RSA No.488 of 1990 was allowed by this Court vide judgment and decree dated 22.07.1999 (mark `A'), in which this Court had observed that "the plaintiffs-appellants (defendants herein) shall not be dispossessed from the suit land, unless already dispossessed, except, in due course of law". It is further alleged by the defendants that this Court had directed the Collector to dispose of the proceedings under the H.P. Village Common Land (Vesting & Utilisation) Act, 1974, (hereinafter called the `Act'). As such, the plaintiff was not entitled to any relief much less to the discretionary relief of permanent prohibitory injunction and the defendants were entitled to special costs under Section 35-A of the Code of Civil Procedure from the plaintiff.

4. The learned trial Court, on the basis of pleadings, settled inasmuch as 9 issues and except Issue No.1, which is partly decided in favour of the plaintiffs, decided all the issues in favour of the plaintiffs and accordingly decreed the suit of the plaintiffs. An appeal preferred before the learned Appellate Court was dismissed.

5. This second appeal was admitted on the following substantial questions of law:

> "(1) Whether the finding of the two Courts below that the respondent-plaintiff is in possession is not sustainable, in view of the statement of PW-1 Julmi Ram and PW-2 Lakhu Ram in which it is stated that the suit is for recovery of possession?

6. As emerged from the record, plaintiff filed a suit for permanent prohibitory injunction against the defendants specifically stating that he is owner in possession of the suit land, as described above, which was allotted to him by the State of Himachal Pradesh. It is averred that the defendants started interfering in the ownership and possession of the plaintiff over the suit land w.e.f. Ist week of May, 2000 and as such they have filed suit praying for permanent prohibitory injunction against the defendants from interfering in the ownership and possession of the plaintiff over the suit land by way of decree of permanent injunction.

7. Defendants by way of written statement resisted the claim of the plaintiff. Though they admitted the allotment of the suit land in favour of plaintiff by State of Himachal Pradesh but denied his possession over the same and stated that defendants and other estate right holders had been in possession of the suit land. Defendants specifically denied that the plaintiff is in possession of the suit land, rather they set up a case that they had instituted a suit against the plaintiff and the State, which was dismissed. However, in Regular Second Appeal, this Court observed that the defendants cannot be dispossessed, except, in accordance with law, and a direction was issued to the Collector to dispose of the proceedings under the H.P. Village Common Land (Vesting & Utilization) Act, 1974.

8. Being aggrieved with the concurrent findings returned by both the Courts below, present appellants-defendants filed instant appeal on various grounds. However, main contention, which emerges from the grounds of the appeal as well as arguments having been made by learned counsel for the plaintiffs, is that no suit for permanent prohibitory injunction could be entertained or allowed by the Courts below filed by the true owner without being in possession of the suit land. As per defendants, plaintiff and his witnesses unequivocally admitted that the plaintiff had filed suit for possession, meaning thereby that the plaintiff is not in possession, as such, both the Courts below have erred in passing decree for permanent prohibitory injunction.

9. Apart from above, defendants have also placed reliance on mark `A', judgment passed by this Court in RSA No.488 of 1990, wherein directions were issued that appellants-defendants herein be not dispossessed from the suit land, unless already dispossessed, except in accordance with law. As per defendants-appellants, in the present case, bare perusal of plaint nowhere suggests that the plaintiff pleaded that the defendants stand dispossessed by the earlier judgment of this Court and as such they are estopped from filing the present suit and this aspect has not been looked into by the learned Courts below while rendering the judgments. Appellants-defendants also contended that bare perusal of the averments made in the written statement, which have not been denied by filing replication, would suggest that defendants are in possession of the suit land and as such no suit, if any, for permanent prohibitory injunction could be filed by true owner without being possession of the suit land and prayed that the judgments and decrees passed by both the Courts below be quashed and set aside.

10. Mr.Ajay Sharma, learned counsel appearing for the appellants-defendants, invited the attention of this Court to the statement made by the plaintiff's witnesses wherein, in cross-examination they admitted that they have filed suit for possession, meaning thereby that at the time of filing of the suit, plaintiff was not in possession and the suit is not maintainable. Mr.Sharma contended that as per provisions of Order 8 Rule 5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, when there is no specific denial to a fact pleaded, the same is taken to be admitted and, as such, no further evidence was required but despite that courts below having rendered contrary decision to the well settled principle of law and have violated the provisions of Order 8 Rule 5 CPC.

11. Mr.Sharma also stated that both the Courts below have fallen in error while relying upon the Jamabandies for the years 1985-86 (Ex.P-1), 1990-91 (Ex.P-2) and even in Khasra Girdawari (Ex.P-3), while holding plaintiff to be in possession of the suit land because plaintiff himself as well as witnesses adduced by him specifically stated on record that the plaintiff filed suit for possession, whereas evidence led on record by appellants-defendants clearly proves that they are in possession of the suit land and as such both the Courts below have erred in holding the plaintiff to be in possession of the suit land.

12. Mr.Sanjay Kumar Sharma, learned Counsel appearing for the respondents-plaintiffs, supported the judgments passed by both the Courts below and vehemently argued that no interference, whatsoever, is warranted in the present facts and circumstances of the case, especially in view of the fact that both the Courts below have very meticulously dealt with each and every aspect of the matter. He also urged that scope of interference by this Court is very limited especially when two Courts have recorded concurrent findings on the facts as well as law.

In this regard, to substantiate the aforesaid plea, he placed reliance upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264.

13. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record of the case.

14. Plaintiff, with a view to prove his case, examined two witnesses. PW-1 Zulmi Ram, plaintiff himself, categorically stated in his examination-in-chief that he is owner in possession of the suit land and defendants have no right, title or interest over the same. He also stated that defendants want to take forcible possession of the suit land will not allow the plaintiff to become owner of the suit land. Plaintiff also tendered in evidence Jamabandies for the year 1985-86 and 1990-91, wherein he has been recorded owner in possession of the suit land. Moreover, entries of these Jamabandies have been repeated in Khasra Girdawari w.e.f. 30.10.1998 to 13.3.2000.

15. PW-2 Shri Lakhu Ram also supported the statement given by PW-1 Zulmi Ram by stating that plaintiff is owner in possession of the suit land and defendants have no right, title or interest in the suit land. He also stated that defendants want to take forcible possession of the suit land. However, both the plaintiff witnesses in their cross-examination, while answering to the suggestions that they have filed suit for possession, admitted that they have filed suit for possession of the land. Otherwise also, careful perusal of the cross-examination of these PWs nowhere suggests that the defendants have been able to discard the testimony of these witnesses who have been very specific and candid in stating that PW-1 is owner in possession of the suit land. PW-1 in his cross-examination stated that he has filed suit for taking possession but if his statement is read in its entirety, it can be safely concluded that he was candid enough in stating that he is owner in possession of the suit land and as such statement/admission, if any, made in cross-examination cannot be read in isolation. Whereas PW-2, in his cross-examination, stated that he has also filed suit for taking possession, meaning thereby, that while making statement he was referring to the suit which he filed for taking possession. Conjoint reading of aforesaid deposition made by the plaintiff witnesses, if read with Jamabandies for the years 1985-86 and 1990-91, which are duly proved on record, clearly demonstrate that they are owners in possession of the suit land.

16. DW-1 Meena Kumari, Patwari, who had come with the record of the proceedings under the Act, categorically stated that a case under Section 3(5) of the H.P. Village Common Land (Vesting and Utilization) Act is pending for inquiry before Revenue Department in terms of the order of the High Court of Himachal Pradesh. She also stated that report of Tehsildar has not been received as yet. However, in her cross-examination, she stated that inquiry is not going on regarding the land of Shri Zulmi, meaning thereby that, at the time of filing of the suit for permanent prohibitory injunction by the plaintiff, no proceedings, if any, qua the suit land were pending in the SDM Court under Section 3(5) of the Act.

17. DW-2 Milkhi Ram stated that he and villagers are possessing the suit land and that the plaintiff never possessed the suit land. He also stated that he had filed the suit when the suit land was allotted to the plaintiff, but the same was dismissed. He also stated that they had filed an appeal before the learned District Judge which was also dismissed. It has also come in his statement that the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh allowed his second appeal being RSA No.488 of 1990, wherein SDM was directed to conduct an inquiry in the matter which is still pending. In his cross-examination, he has shown his ignorance whether the mutation of the suit land has been entered in the name of the plaintiff.

18. DW-3 Chaudhary Ram also deposed that the plaintiff is not in possession of the suit land and that the villagers are possessing the suit land. He also stated that they had filed a suit against the plaintiff. It has also come in his statement that after the decision of Hamirpur Courts, the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh sent the file to the SDM with the direction to conduct an inquiry and that at present the matter is pending before the SDM. He showed his ignorance whether the mutation has been entered in the name of the plaintiff qua the suit land.

19. DW-4 Gurcharan Singh also stated that the defendants are possessing the suit land and cases are going on between the parties regarding the suit land and that the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh sent the case to SDM for inquiry. Defendants also tendered in evidence copy of order passed by this Court mark `A'.

20. Careful perusal of aforesaid statements made by defendants' witnesses suggests that defendants made an attempt to set up a case that the plaintiff was never in possession of the suit land at the time of filing of the suit for permanent prohibitory injunction but conjoint reading of the depositions made by defendants' witnesses nowhere proves that the plaintiff was not in possession at the time of filing of the suit for permanent prohibitory injunction because all the defendants witnesses stated nothing with regard to dispossession, if any, of the plaintiff from the suit land. Rather, they all stated that defendants as well as villagers are in possession of the suit land, but interestingly none of the defendants' witnesses was able to state something with regard to entry of the name of the plaintiff in the mutation i.e. Jamabandies for the years 1980-85 and 1990-91. Apart from this, defendants led no documentary evidence suggestive of the fact that their names have been recorded as owners qua the suit land, though defendant by way of placing the judgment passed by this Court mark `A' tried to persuade the Courts below that he could not be dispossessed, save and except, in accordance with law. But this Court, while examining the record, could lay its hand to the judgment mark `A' which nowhere suggests that suit, if any, was filed by the defendants against the plaintiff and as such it cannot be accepted that by way of aforesaid judgment being relied upon by the defendants, plaintiff was estopped from dispossessing the defendants from the suit land. Apart from above, bare perusal of order passed by this Court in mark `A' suggests that appeal preferred by present defendants was dismissed with the direction to the State not to dispossess the plaintiff from the suit land, unless already dispossessed, except in due course of law. Rather perusal of the aforesaid judgment mark `A' clearly suggests that defendants filed suit for permanent prohibitory injunction in representative capacity on the pleadings that suit land was shown in the Jamabandi for the year 1973-74 as "Shamlat Tikka' and had thus vested in the Gram Panchayat under the Punjab Village Common Lands Act and thereafter in the State of Himachal Pradesh on coming into force of H.P. Village Common Lands (Vesting & Utilization) Act, 1974. The defendants, alongwith other right-holders of their village, approached this Court by way of filing a Civil Writ Petition bearing CWP No.297 of 1975 challenging the vires of the said statues as well as the vesting of the land in the State of Himachal Pradesh on the ground that the suit land had been in individual cultivating possession of the villagers, including the defendants, since before January, 1950. However, fact remains that this Court dismissed the writ petition vide order dated 21.4.1978 with a direction to the Collector concerned to enquire into the claim of the defendants under Rule 9 of the Rules framed under the Act, referred to above. Record further reveals that the Collector concerned neither complied with the directions given by this Court nor he conducted any inquiry, as envisaged under Rule 9 ibid. Record further suggests that Collector never gave any decision regarding the vesting of the suit land or otherwise, in the State of Himachal Pradesh.

21. After perusing the aforesaid judgment, mark `A', relied upon by the defendants, it nowhere emerges that plaintiff was restrained at any point of time by this Court to dispossess the defendants from land owned and possessed by them and as such this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the judgments passed by both the Courts below.

22. While exploring the answer to the substantial question of law framed at the time of admission, this Court had an occasion to peruse the entire evidence led on record by respective parties and this Court sees no force in the contention put forth on behalf of appellant that Courts below mis-appreciated the statement of PW-1 and PW-2.

23. At the cost of repetition, it is once again stated that PW-1 plaintiff Zulmi Ram and PW-2 Lakhu Ram in their examination-in-chief categorically stated that they are owners in possession of the suit land and they have filed suit for permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants from causing interference. PW-1 admittedly in cross-examination, while answering the suggestion put forth to him, admitted that he has filed suit for possession but, as has been discussed above, the aforesaid admission, if any, cannot be read in isolation by defendants ignoring the documentary evidence i.e. Jamabandies for the years 1985-86 (Ex.P-1), 1990-91 (Ex.P-2) and Khasra Girdawari (Ex.P-3), which clearly suggests that plaintiff Zulmi Ram is the exclusive owner in possession of the suit land. This Court had also an occasion to go to through the statement of PW-2 Lakhu Ram, who unequivocally stated that PW-1 Zulmi Ram is owner in possession of the suit land. However, in his cross-examination, he stated that he has also filed suit for possession of his land against the defendants. Whereas, defendants have not been able to lead sufficient evidence, be it ocular or documentary, to rebut the entries as contained in Jamabandies Ex.P-1 and P-2. Hence, this Court, after close scrutiny of the documentary evidence, is fully convinced that the plaintiff has been able to establish on record that he has been recorded owner in possession of the suit land and defendants are strangers to the suit land and as such this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the judgments and decrees passed by both the Courts below. Admittedly, in the present case, defendants though claimed to be in possession of the suit land, but did not lead any cogent, convincing evidence suggestive of the fact that they are in possession of the suit land and as such both the Courts below have rightly held that defendants interfered in the suit land which belongs to the plaintiff.

24. Consequently, in view of detailed discussion made hereinabove, this Court has no hesitation to conclude that judgments passed by both the Courts below are based upon the correct appreciation of record/evidence available on record. To answer the substantial question, reproduced hereinabove, this Court traveled through entire evidence led on record by the parties to the lis and it can be safely concluded that both the Courts below have rightly returned the concurrent findings of facts as well as law after dealing with the evidence on record meticulously. Hence this Court is of the view that this is not a fit case wherein exercise of powers/jurisdiction under Section 100 CPC concurrent findings returned by both the Courts below cannot be upset, especially when the defendants have failed to prove that judgments are perverse. In this regard, it would be apt to reproduce the relevant contents of judgment rendered by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma's case supra, wherein the Court has held as under:

> "16. Based on oral and documentary evidence, both the courts below have recorded concurrent findings of fact that the plaintiffs have established their right in A schedule property. In the light of the concurrent findings of fact, no substantial questions of law arose in the High Court and there was no substantial ground for reappreciation of evidence. While so, the High Court proceeded to observe that the first plaintiff has earmarked the A schedule property for road and that she could not have full-fledged right and on that premise proceeded to hold that declaration to the plaintiffs' right cannot be granted. In exercise of jurisdiction under Section 100 CPC, concurrent findings of fact cannot be upset by the High Court unless the findings so recorded are shown to be perverse. In our considered view, the High Court did not keep in view that the concurrent findings recorded by the courts below, are based on oral and documentary evidence and the judgment of the High Court cannot be sustained." (p.269)

25. Hence, in view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court is persuaded to conclude that the impugned judgments passed by both the Courts below are based on proper appreciation of the evidence, be it ocular or documentary on the record and, as such, substantial question of law, framed above, is answered accordingly. Hence, present appeal fails and the same is, accordingly dismissed.

26. Interim direction, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

Cases referred:
Secretary, State of Karnataka and others versus Uma Devi (3) and others, (2006) Vol 4 SCC 1
Nihal Singh versus state of Punjab, (2013) 14 SCC 65

For the petitioners: Mr. Yudhvir Singh Thakur, Advocate vice counsel.
For the Respondents: Mr. Ashok Sharma, Assistant Solicitor General of India with Mr. Angrej Kapoor, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

In sequel to the petitioners successfully clearing a competitive examination conducted on a all India basis for filling up the relevant advertised vacancies also in consequence to theirs successfully clearing the viva-voce they stood selected against the relevant vacancies in sequel whereto they undertook training at Jaipur. Further more their contractual appointments against the relevant vacancies stood preceded by their character standing affirmatively verified by the agency concerned also on theirs standing subjected to medical examination. The respondent concerned issued advertisement/notice comprised in Ex. P-18 for filling up the post of Investigator(s) on a permanent basis. The petitioners herein claim a direction being rendered upon the respondents by this Court to offer appointments to them against the post of investigator(s) as stands advertised by them to be filled up on a permanent basis.

2. The rendition of the Central Administrative Tribunal comprised in Annexure P-20 palpably ousts the claim reared by the petitioners. The aforesaid rendition of the Central Administrative Tribunal while ousting the claim generated therebefore by the petitioners wherein they sought a mandate being issued upon the respondents to on eruption of apposite vacancies in the cadre of investigator(s) regularize their hitherto contractual appointments had in the relevant paragraphs which stands extracted hereinafter concluded of the judgment of Orissa High Court, Cuttack, which stood affirmed by the Hon'ble Apex Court holding a view qua on eruption of apposite contractual vacancies contractual appointees holding a status at par with a retrenched employee whereupon they hold an entitlement to stake a claim for their appointment against contractual vacancies, whereas with the respondents issuing advertisement for filling up the relevant post on a permanent basis rendered the petitioners claim for theirs being offered appointment against a regular vacancy suffering the ill fate of it standing ousted, yet a right stands reserved qua the petitioners qua their standing entitled on eruption of contractual vacancy(s) for theirs being considered for appointment thereto.

> "In view of the above mentioned statutory provisions which have been made applicable in the case of contractual appointments and since the opposite parties of the instant review petition were already working on contract basis and again the post are going to be filled up on contract basis, the opposite parties can be termed as retrenched person and the review petitioners may very well consider the relaxing in age for that category of persons.
> 8. Having heard learned counsel representing the applicant and examining the record of the case with his assistance, we are of the considered view that the applicant is not entitled to regular appointment. At the most he is a retrenched employee and he would e entitled to re-employment, if vacancy may arise with the respondents, on the same terms and conditions on which he was earlier appointed."

3. The legal vigor of the aforesaid pronouncement of the Central Administrative Tribunal comprised in Annexure P-20 is to be tested on the anvil of a conjoint reading of the trite factum of the petitioners after undergoing the rigor of successfully facing a competitive examination also theirs successfully facing a viva-voce besides theirs undergoing training, on completion whereof they stood appointed against the relevant posts on a contractual basis preceding whereof the relevant agency after holding the apposite verifications proclaiming them to hold not a stained character also given theirs preceding to theirs standing appointed theirs standing declared medically fit vis-à-vis the availability of apposite post(s) on a permanent basis with the respondents, availability whereof bespeaks of hence the respondents holding a perception qua continued necessity of engagement of investigator(s) whereupon the renditions of the Hon'ble Apex Court occurring in (2006) Vol 4 SCC 1 and in (2013) 14 SCC 65 warrants their respective application hereat.

4. Initially the principle constituted in a verdict of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in (2006) Vol 4 SCC 1 Secretary, State of Karnataka and others versus Uma Devi (3) and others, ousting the right of a temporary employee or an employee appointed against the relevant vacancy on a purely contractual basis to on eruption of a permanent vacancy vis-à-vis the hitherto post stake any indefeasible entitlement for his regularization thereto unless his hitherto appointment either on a contractual basis or a temporary basis stands preceded by the employer meteing reverence to the relevant rules also the apposite appointment standing preceded by a competitive examination. Relevant portion of the judgment supra is extracted as under-

> " 43. Thus, it is clear that adherence to the rule of equality in public employment is a basic feature of our Constitution and since the rule of law is the core of our Constitution, a court would certainly be disabled from passing an order upholding a violation of Article 14 or in ordering the overlooking of the need to comply with the requirements of Article 14 read with Article 16 of the Constitution. Therefore, consistent with the scheme for public employment, this Court while laying down the law, has necessarily to hold that unless the appointment is in terms of the relevant rules and after a proper competition among qualified persons, the same would not confer any right on the appointee. If it is a contractual appointment, the appointment comes to an end at the end of the contract, if it were an engagement or appointment on daily wages or casual basis, the same would come to an end when it is discontinued. Similarly, a temporary employee could not claim to be made permanent on the expiry of his term of appointment. It has also to be clarified that merely because a temporary employee or a casual wage worker is continued for a time beyond the term of his appointment, he would not be entitled to be absorbed in regular service or made permanent, merely on the strength of such continuance, if the original appointment was not made by following a due process of selection as envisaged by the relevant rules. It is not open to the court to prevent regular recruitment at the instance of temporary employees whose period of employment has come to an end or of ad hoc employees who by the very nature of their appointment, do not acquire any right. High Courts acting under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, should not ordinarily issue directions for absorption, regularization, or permanent continuance unless the recruitment itself was made regularly and in terms of the constitutional scheme. Merely because, an employee had continued under cover of an order of court, which we have described as 'litigious employment' in the earlier part of the judgment, he would not be entitled to any right to be absorbed or made permanent in the service. In fact, in such cases, the High Court may not be justified in issuing interim directions, since, after all, if ultimately the employee approaching it is found entitled to relief, it may be possible for it to mould the relief in such a manner that ultimately no prejudice will be caused to him, whereas an interim direction to continue his employment would hold up the regular procedure for selection or impose on the State the burden of paying an employee who is really not required. The courts must be careful in ensuring that they do not interfere unduly with the economic arrangement of its affairs by the State or its instrumentalities or lend themselves the instruments to facilitate the bypassing of the constitutional and statutory mandates."

5. Similarly in a verdict of the Hon'ble Apex Court occurring in (2013) 14 SCC 65 Nihal Singh versus state of Punjab, wherein the Hon'ble Apex Court has held of where an employee holds a post excepting on a regular basis he would thereupon not perse stand debarred to on occurrence of a permanent vacancy claim a right for his regularization thereto unless his initial appointment on a temporary basis was arbitrary also his initial selection besides appointment occurred in ouster of participation of all eligible candidates. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment supra stands extracted hereinafter.

> "[29] The abovementioned process clearly indicates it is not a case where persons like the appellants were arbitrarily chosen to the exclusion of other eligible candidates. It required all able bodied persons to be considered by the SSP who was charged with the responsibility of selecting suitable candidates.
> [30] Such a process of selection is sanctioned by law under section 17 of the Act. Viewed in the context of the situation prevailing at that point of time in the State of Punjab, such a process cannot be said to be irrational. The need was to obtain the services of persons who had some experience and training in handling an extraordinary situation of dealing with armed miscreants.
> [31] It can also be noticed from the written statement of the Assistant Inspector General of Police (Welfare & Litigation) that preference was given to persons who are in possession of licensed weapons. The recruitment of the appellants and other similarly situated persons was made in the background of terrorism prevailing in the State of Punjab at that time as acknowledged in the order dated 23.4.2002 of the SSP. The procedure which is followed during the normal times of making recruitment by inviting applications and scrutinising the same to identify the suitable candidates would itself take considerable time. Even after such a selection the selected candidates are required to be provided with necessary arms and also be trained in the use of such arms. All this process is certainly time consuming. The requirement of the State was to take swift action in an extra-ordinary situation.

> [32] Therefore, we are of the opinion that the process of selection adopted in identifying the appellants herein cannot be said to be unreasonable or arbitrary in the sense that it was devised to eliminate other eligible candidates. It may be worthwhile to note that in Umadevi's case, this Court was dealing with appointments made without following any rational procedure in the lower rungs of various services of the Union and the States."

6. A gauging of the factual matrix thereat unveils of the appointees therein standing appointed after compliance by the employer with the relevant procedure besides upsurgings occurring therein qua the dire necessity of continuance of their employment whereupon the Hon'ble Apex Court formed a conclusion akin to the one formed in the judgment reported in (2006) Vol 4 SCC 44 qua a candidate/aspirant standing debarred on occurrence of a permanent vacancy to stake any entitlement for his regularization thereto if his initial appointment is bereft of scrupulous adherence by the employer with the statuary procedure also is bereft of his employer prior thereto eliciting the participation of all eligible candidates. However it stands mandated therein of when the relevant appointment(s) of an aspirant stand preceded by his standing declared successful in a competitive examination he stands bestowed with a right to on occurrence of a permanent vacancy stake a claim for his regularization thereon. Preponderantly it has also been mandated therein qua the continued necessity of engagement of appointees being a relevant factor for entitling the appointees against the relevant post to claim regularization thereon.

7. Be that as it may having culled out the relevant legal postulations from the aforesaid renditions of the Hon'ble Apex Court enjoins this Court to apply them qua the factual scenario existing thereat. Uncontrovertedly as aforestated the petitioners had secured appointments against the relevant advertised contractual posts after theirs clearing all the statutory rigors. Consequently, their initial appointment emanated on a scrupulous compliance by their employer with the apposite relevant rules, the petitioners hereupto continue to render service under the employer other than on a regular basis, however extant occurrence of a permanent vacancy(s) holds loud bespeakings of the respondents holding a contemplation qua the dire necessity of continuous engagements of qualified appointees against the relevant posts whereagainst the petitioners stood appointed on a contractual basis hence whereupon the petitioners befittingly stand empowered to hold a right to stake a claim for theirs standing regularized thereon preponderantly when there was no ouster of participation of all eligible candidates at the stage contemporaneous to their standing appointed on a contractual basis. Further more given their long standing experience which is both an asset and an qualification vis-à-vis new entrants amplifyingly gives a vigorous force to their claim as stands reared hereat.

8. In view of the above, the petitions are allowed and the respondents are directed not to terminate the services of the petitioners rather they are directed to consider them for regularization against available vacancy(s) or to consider them for appointment against contractual post(s), if available with them.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Vinay Kumar .....Petitioner

Versus

Sangeeta Cheetu & another .....Respondents.

CMPMO No. 326 of 2014
Date of Decision: 22.8.2016

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 39 Rules 1 and 2- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for seeking specific performance of the contract- application for interim relief was filed, in which order of status quo was granted by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred and Appellate Court reversed

the findings of the trial Court- Appellate Court observed that defendant No. 1 was not holding the title of the property and was not competent to execute the agreement- held, that this fact was to be proved during the course of the trial – defendant No. 1 was an ostensible owner- petition allowed, order of the Appellate Court set aside and the parties directed to maintain status quo qua the nature. (Para-2 to 4)

For the petitioner: Mr. Ajay Kumar, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Dheeraj K Vashishta, Advocate.
For the Respondents: Mr. Y.P Sood, Advocate, for respondent No.2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J (oral)

Alongwith the suit for specific performance instituted by the petitioner herein (for short "the plaintiff") against the respondents herein (for short "the defendants"), the former instituted an application under Order 39 Rule 1 & 2 CPC before the learned trial Court. Thereupon the learned trial Court directed the contesting parties to maintain status quo qua the nature, possession, construction and alienation over the suit land. However the aggrieved defendant instituted an appeal therefrom before the learned District Judge, Una who reversed the findings recorded by the learned trial Court. The plaintiff on standing aggrieved by the order of the learned District Judge has preferred the instant petition before this Court.

2. The learned District Judge while interfering with the order recorded by the learned trial Court on an application preferred therebefore under Order 39 Rule 1 and 2 of the Code of Civil Procedure had dwelt upon the factum of inefficacious recording of an agreement to sell qua the suit property by the plaintiff with the defendant concerned. The anvil qua the assigning by the learned District Judge of legal inefficacy embodying the agreement to sell stood underscored by it to spur from the trite factum of the contesting defendant No.1 not holding title to the suit property also it stood hinged upon the factum of hers not prima-facie holding any authorisation from its owner to either enter into any agreement to sell with the plaintiff qua the suit property detailed therein nor any suit for specific performance was hence institutable by the plaintiff besides no decree for specific performance was renderable against the defendant No. 1 Sangeeta Cheetu. Even though the aforesaid factum does bring forth qua the essential rubric for affording of relief in the application at hand may be hence not standing satiated yet certain facts surrounding it palpably the one of Sangeeta Cheetu subsequent thereto obtaining title qua the suit property from its owner was also enjoined to be revered. However, the learned District Judge slighted the aforesaid factum probandum whereas on the suit progressing to the stage of adduction of evidence whereat the plaintiff may succeed in establishing by resorting to the apposite procedure embodied in the CPC, of, Sangeeta Cheetu holding a Power of Attorney from the title holder of the suit property whereupon he may also establish the factum of hers standing entitled to execute with him an agreement to sell qua the suit property. However, the learned District Judge in a pedantic fashion has paid reverence merely to the factum of Sangeeta Cheetu not prima-facie holding title to the suit property whereupon it concluded of no decree of specific performance being renderable upon her whereas the aforesaid attendant circumstance also the afore-referred factum of the plaintiff concerting to during the course of trial of the suit establish qua hers holding authorization from the true owner for hers hence holding empowerment to with the plaintiff record an agreement to sell was also enjoined to be revered. The aforesaid omission of the learned District Judge has stifled the endeavor of the plaintiff to during the course of trial of the suit establish the factum probandum aforesaid. Consequently, the learned District Judge in a pedantic besides cursory and mechanical manner precluded the plaintiff from succeeding in his suit for specific performance.

3. Further more with the plaintiff impleading the subsequent alienees of the suit property also portrays underlinings qua the subsequent alienations thereof not prima-facie holding legal validation. At this stage prima-facie the subsequent alienees when may contest qua the validity of the sale deeds recorded in their favour by defendant No.1 Sangeeta Cheetu by relying upon the factum of theirs being ostensible owners, in concert whereof by the alienees, to validate theirs acquiring title to the suit property upsurgings of the relevant evidence would occur for enabling the learned trial Court to conclude qua the alienation of the suit property initially qua Sangeeta Cheetu by its true owner and subsequently by her to the subsequent alienees standing or not clouded with a vice of complicity occurring inter-se the contesting defendant with the title holder of the suit property whereupon the learned trial Court may or may not conclude of Sangeeta Cheetu by legal maneuvering baulking the plaintiff to obtain a decree for specific performance qua the suit property constituted by hers contemporaneous to the drawing of the contentious agreement to sell, hers making a contrived guise therein of hers holding an authorization to record it with the plaintiff, pretence whereof of the contesting defendant when may stand either falsified or may acquire a virtue of truth yet with the aforesaid endeavor obviously standing thwarted by the learned District Judge rather his under the impugned rendition making a pronouncement analogous to non-suiting the plaintiff has hence committed a patent illegality besides gross impropriety. Preeminently the rendition of the learned trial Court qua the contesting parties maintaining status quo qua the suit property was both just besides expedient given its forestalling the impleadment thereafter of successive alienees of Sangeeta Cheetu also given its thwarting the occurrence thereafter of its alienations. However the impugned rendition has given latitude to the aforesaid obviable occurrence rather has begotten the obviable consequence of the plaintiff standing compelled to implead the subsequent alienees of the suit property whereupon the contest would be rendered both complex besides cumbersome, necessarily it warrants interference.

4. Be that as it may the decree of specific performance as claimed in the suit by the plaintiff enjoined the contesting parties if rendered to execute a deed of conveyance qua it, however subject to the learned trial Court also pronouncing qua the invalidity of its subsequent alienations. However the aforesaid initial right of the plaintiff to obtain a decree of specific performance also stands stifled by the learned District Judge by his holding of the plaintiff standing entitled to, in case a decree of specific performance is un-renderable to the alternative relief of damages from the contesting defendant, conclusion whereof is a visible display of a dichotomy standing underscored by the learned District Judge constituted in the factum of with his holding qua the purported agreement to sell holding no legal formadibility his yet pronouncing qua the aggrieved plaintiff if establishing the factum of the contesting defendant standing authorized to execute it with him his standing entitled to the relief for damages. In view of the above, the present petition stands allowed and the impugned order is quashed and set aside. The parties are directed to maintain status quo qua the suit land described in the agreement specifically qua plot No. 34 and 92.

5. Parties are directed to appear before the learned trial Court on 21.9.2016.

6. Any observation made herein above shall not be taken as an expression of opinion on the merits of the case and the trial Court shall decide the matter uninfluenced by any observation made herein above.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Smt.Muni ....Appellant-Defendant

Versus

Sh.Jhanku & Another ....Respondents-Plaintiffs

Regular Second Appeal No.506 of 2007.
Judgment Reserved on: 15.07.2016.
Date of decision: 23.08.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34 and 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for declaration and injunction pleading that P was joint owner in possession of the suit land- he died issueless- he had executed a Will in favour of the plaintiffs- defendant manipulated a forged Will in her favour- defendant claimed to be the widow of deceased- she stated that Will was executed in her favour- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that plaintiffs had successfully proved the Will- defendant was not able to dispel the suspicious circumstances- execution of the Will in favour of the defendant was not proved- Courts had decreed the suit on the basis of the Will of the plaintiff- there is no infirmity in the same- appeal dismissed. (Para-21 to 39)

For the Appellant: Mr.Ajay Kumar, Senior Advocate with Mr.Dheeraj Vashisht, Advocate.
For Respondents: Mr.G.R. Palsra, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma,J.

This appeal has been filed by the appellant-defendant (hereinafter referred to as the `defendant') against the judgment and decree dated 13.7.2007, passed by learned Additional District Judge, Mandi, Camp at Karsog, H.P., affirming the judgment and decree dated 21.6.2004, passed by learned Civil Judge(Junior Division), Karsog, District Mandi, H.P., whereby the suit filed by the Respondents-plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as the `plaintiffs') has been decreed.

2. The brief facts of the case are that the plaintiffs filed a suit for declaration and injunction against the defendant. It is averred that Paras Ram alias Parsu was joint owner in possession of 6/32 share of land comprised in Khata/Khatauni No.57/114 to 117, measuring 51-19-17 bighas, situated in village Kahleni, Tehsil Karsog, 3/16 share of land comprised in Khata/Khatauni No.181/361 to 363, measuring 3-4-18 bighas situated in village Lower Karsog, and 3/16 share of Khata/Khatauni No.40/91-92, measuring 16-13-5 bighas. It is alleged by the plaintiffs that they are the nephews of late Shri Paras Ram, who died issueless on 9.1.1999. It is further averred that said Parsu was looked after and maintained by the plaintiffs during his old age and in lieu of the services rendered by them, said Parsu had executed a Will dated 22.12.1980 (Ex.PW-2/A) in their favour. Thus, on the death of Parsu his estate was inherited by the plaintiffs and as such they are owners in possession of the share of deceased Parsu in the suit land. It is further alleged that the defendant is widow of one Juhru and not the widow of deceased Parsu. It is alleged that the defendant manipulated a forged will dated 11.9.1987 (Ex.DW-6/A) of deceased Parsu in her favour, whereas said Parsu never executed any will in favour of the defendant and the said will is result of fraud and undue influence. It is further alleged that the plaintiffs have become owners in possession of the suit land and prayed that they be declared owners in possession of the suit land on the basis of valid will dated 22.12.1980 (Ex.PW-2/A) executed by deceased Parsu and that the will dated 11.9.1987 (Ex.DW-6/A), as claimed by the defendant, be declared null and void and that the defendant be restrained from interfering with their possession over the suit land.

3. Defendant, by way of filing written statement, raised preliminary objections on the grounds that the suit is bad for non-joinder of necessary parties and the same is not in proper form. On merits, the defendant has admitted the ownership and possession of late Shri Parsu alongwith other co-sharers. It is averred by the defendant that she is legally wedded wife of late Shri Parsu, who was looked after and maintained by her during his old age. It is also alleged by the defendant that she performed all religious obsequies on the death of her husband Parsu. It is alleged by the defendant that said Parsu had executed a valid will dated 11.8.1987 in her favour, which was also registered. The defendant refuted the case of the plaintiffs that Parsu had executed a will dated 22.12.1980 in their favour and prayed for dismissal of the suit.

4. By way of replication the plaintiffs, while denying the allegations made in the written statement, reaffirmed the averments made in the plaint.

5. The learned trial Court, on the basis of pleadings, settled inasmuch as 6 issues and decided all the issues in favour of the plaintiffs and accordingly decreed the suit of the plaintiffs. An appeal preferred before the learned Appellate Court was dismissed.

6. This second appeal was admitted on the following substantial questions of law:

> "(1) Whether once the execution of Will had been admitted unequivocally by the plaintiffs/respondents, whether the onus with regard to alleged fraud and alleged undue influence in the execution of the Will was not on the plaintiffs.
> (2) Whether the Will Ext.DA/Ex.DW6/A has wrongly been ignored by the learned court below, though legally proved on record?
> (3) Whether the Courts below correctly recorded the finding that the appellant was legally wedded wife of late Shri Parasia as established by Ex.DA, Ex.DB, Ex.DC and Ex.DW7/A?

7. Needless to say that law regarding nature and onus of the proof of the will is by way of propounder and in that regard the manner in which the evidence is required to be appreciated has been duly prescribed in the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Apex Court in H.Venkatachala Iyengar vs. B.N. Thimmajamma and others, AIR 1959 SC 443.

8. Guidelines framed in H.Venkatachala Iyengar case (supra) were further reiterated by Constitutional Bench of Hon'ble Apex Court in Shashi Kumar Banerjee and Others vs. Subodh Kumar Banerjee since deceased and after him his legal representatives and others, AIR 1964 SC 529. The Court held:

> "4. The principles which govern the proving of a will are well settled; (see H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B. N. Thimmajamma, 1959 (S1) SCR 426 : 1959 AIR(SC) 443) and Rani Purniama Devi v. Khagendra Narayan Dev, 1962 (3) SCR 195 : 1962 AIR(SC) 567). The mode of proving a will does not ordinarily differ from that of proving any other document except as to the special requirement of attestation prescribed in the case of a will by S. 63 of the Indian Succession Act. The onus of proving the will is on the propounder and in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the will, proof of testamentary capacity and the signature of the testator as required by law is sufficient to discharge the onus. Where however there are suspicious circumstances, the onus is on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the Court before the Court accepts the will as genuine. Where the caveator alleges undue influence, fraud and coercion, the onus is on him to prove the same. Even where there are no. such pleas but the circumstances give rise to doubts, it is for the propounder to satisfy the conscience of the Court. The suspicious circumstances may be as to genuineness of the signature of the testator, the condition of the testator's mind, the dispositions made in the will being unnatural improbable or unfair in the light of relevant circumstances or there might be other indication in the will to show that the testator's mind was not free. In such a case the Court would naturally expect that all legitimate suspicion should be completely removed before the document is accepted as the last will of the testator.

> If the propounder himself takes part in the execution of the will which confers a substantial benefit on him, that is also a circumstance to be taken into account, and the propounder is required to remove the doubts by clear and satisfactory evidence. If the propounder succeeds in removing the suspicious circumstances the Court would grant probate, even if the will might be unnatural and might cut off wholly or in part near relations. It is in the light of these settled principles that we have to consider whether the appellants have succeeded in establishing that the will was duly executed and attested. (Page-531)

9. Mr.Ajay Kumar, learned Senior Counsel representing the appellant-defendant, submitted that the judgment and decree passed by both the Courts below deserves to be quashed and set aside being contrary to law and facts. Learned Senior counsel, vehemently argued that the inference and conclusions as drawn by both the Courts below are neither supported by material on record nor by provisions of law. He contended that both the learned Courts below have misread, mis-construed and mis-interpreted the evidence led on record which has resulted in returning of erroneous findings. Mr.Ajay Kumar further contended that the Courts below failed to consider the fact and the settled proposition of law that once execution and registration of Will dated 11.9.1987 in favour of present appellant had been admitted by the plaintiffs-respondents, as such, the onus of proof to the effect that the said will was a result of fraud, undue influence etc. was on plaintiffs-respondents. During arguments having been made, Mr.Ajay Kumar made this Court to travel through the statement adduced on record by the plaintiffs witnesses to demonstrate that not even a single word had been stated by the plaintiffs witnesses that will dated 11.9.1987 is a result of fraud, undue influence and as such both the Courts below have fallen in grave error while discarding duly registered will dated 11.9.1987. It is also contended on behalf of the appellant that finding of the Courts below that execution of will in favour of appellant-defendant has not been proved is contrary to law because defendant by way of leading cogent and convincing evidence duly established on record that will dated 11.9.1987 Ex.DW-6/A was duly executed by late Shri Parsu in favour of defendant Smt.Muni.

10. Mr.Ajay Kumar strenuously argued that both the Courts below have failed to take note of provisions of Section 70 of the Indian Successions Act while returning the findings qua the genuineness of will Ex.DW-6/A. As per Mr.Ajay Kumar, if the provision of Section 70 of the Indian Successions Act is read, bare perusal of the same would suggest that if second will has been executed by any person, in that eventuality, the first will shall be deemed to be revoked/cancelled automatically. Hence, findings of both the Courts below that there is no mention of earlier will executed by late Shri Parsu in will dated 11.9.1987 Ex.DW-6/A and as such same cannot be relied upon, rather the same is erroneous and illegal. Mr.Ajay Kumar further contended that Courts below failed to frame proper issue, keeping in view the controversy at hand and as such grave injustice has been caused to the appellant-defendant also. As per Mr.Ajay Kumar, learned Senior counsel, Courts below ought to have framed following issue:

> "Whether the Will executed and registered by late Parsu dated 11.9.1987 is result of fraud, undue influence etc.?

11. While concluding his arguments, Mr.Ajay Kumar invited the attention of this Court to the findings returned qua issue No.3 to demonstrate that findings returned qua the aforesaid issue deserve to be quashed and set aside being contrary to law applicable to the facts of the present case. Mr.Ajay Kumar vehemently argued that both the Courts below have not appreciated the fact that the allegations of fraud and undue influence etc. were levelled against the petition writer and Sub Registrar, Karsog, who allegedly registered the will dated 11.9.1987 and as such all these persons were required to be impleaded as party in the present suit and no suit was competent and maintainable in the present form without there being any impleadment of aforesaid persons.

12. Mr.Ajay Kumar, while adverting to the evidence adduced on record by the plaintiffs, forcefully contended that both the Courts below have wrongly placed reliance upon the aforesaid witnesses because bare perusal of deposition made by them clearly suggests that they are miserably failed to prove the case of the plaintiffs and as such judgment and decree passed by both the Courts below deserves to be quashed and set aside being totally perverse.

13. Mr.G.R. Palsra, learned Counsel appearing for the respondents-plaintiffs, supported the judgments passed by both the Courts below and vehemently argued that no interference, whatsoever, is warranted in the present facts and circumstances of the case, especially in view of the fact that both the Courts below have very meticulously dealt with each and every aspect of the matter. He also urged that scope of interference by this Court is very limited especially when two Courts have recorded concurrent findings on the facts as well as law. In this regard, to substantiate the aforesaid plea, he placed reliance upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264.

14. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record of the case.

Question Nos.1 to 3.

15. With a view to answer substantial questions, referred hereinabove, this Court now would be adverting to the evidence led on record by the respective parties to substantiate their claims made in the pleadings. Plaintiffs in the present case, with a view to prove that will dated 22.12.1980 was duly executed by late Shri Parsu in their favour, examined six witnesses.

16. Plaintiff Janku, while appearing as PW-1, categorically stated that Parsu was brother of their father and Smt.Prakarmu was his wife, who had passed away during his life time. He specifically stated that during old age of Parsu, he and his brother looked after him and in lieu of services rendered by them, said Parsu executed a valid will (Ex.PW-2/A) in their favour in the year 1980. It has also come in his statement that will propounded by defendant is a forged will and she is not a wife of Parsu, rather she is wife of one Juhru. In his cross-examination he further reiterated that the will in favour of defendant is a forged will.

17. PW-2 Asha Ram also deposed that the will Ex.PW-2/A was scribed by one Harish at the instance of Parsu in favour of the plaintiffs, on which he and another witness Khyali Ram Pradhan had appended their signatures.

18. Similarly, PW-3 Khyali Ram, Pradhan, who was attesting witness of the will Ex.PW-2/A, stated that the plaintiffs are the nephew of Parsu, who had bequeathed his estate in favour of the plaintiffs. He categorically stated that Parsu executed will Ex.PW-2/A in favour of the plaintiffs. It has specifically come in his statement that he and Asha Ram were attesting witnesses of the will and they had signed the will Ex.PW-2/A, which was signed by the testator Shri Parsu.

19. PW-4 Daru Ram stated that plaintiffs are nephews of Parsu, who lived with them till his death. He categorically stated that Parsu was looked after by the plaintiffs and after his death all his rites were performed by them. He specifically stated that the plaintiffs are in possession of land of deceased Parsu.

20. PW-6, Harish Sharma, document writer, categorically stated before the trial Court that will Ex.PW-2/A was scribed by him on 22.12.1980 on the instruction of late Parsu in favour of the plaintiffs in the presence of attesting witnesses; namely; Asha Ram and Khyali Ram. He also stated that the witnesses had signed the will in his presence.

21. Conjoint reading of aforesaid evidence, led on record by the plaintiffs in shape of PW-1 to PW-6, leaves no doubt that the plaintiffs were successful in proving that will Ex.PW-2/A was duly executed by late Shri Parsu in their favour. All the plaintiff witnesses have specifically stated that late Shri Parsu was looked after during his old age by the plaintiffs and as such he executed will Ex.PW-2/A in their favour in the year 1980. Since plaintiffs led cogent and convincing evidence in the shape of PW-2 and PW-3, who were attesting witnesses to the will Ex.PW-2/A, have discharged their onus by proving that will was duly executed by late Shri Parsu in their favour. Rather, PW-4 Daru Ram, specifically stated that plaintiffs are in possession of the land of late Shri Parsu. Similarly, if statement of PW-6, Harish, document writer, who scribed the will Ex.PW-2/A, is seen in its totality, he has specifically stated that he scribed the will on the instructions of late Shri Parsu in favour of the plaintiffs that too in the presence of attesting witnesses; namely Asha Ram and Khyali Ram.

22. Whereas, careful perusal of cross-examination conducted on these witnesses nowhere suggests that the defendant has been able to shatter the testimony of aforesaid plaintiffs witnesses, who have been very-very candid, specific and straight forward, while stating that late Parsu executed a will Ex.PW-2/A on 22.12.1980 in favour of the plaintiffs.

23. Interestingly, learned counsel for the defendant put a suggestion to PW-1 that Parsu had executed a will in favour of Munni Devi in the year 1987, but PW-1 by self stating termed the same as forged one. Interestingly, cross-examination conducted on these plaintiffs witnesses nowhere suggests that any suggestion worth the name with regard to genuineness and correctness of Ex.PW-2/A, whereby Parsu executed a will in favour of plaintiffs, was ever put to them. Moreover, there is no whisper, if any, in the cross-examination with regard to execution, of will Ex.PW-2/A by Parsu in favour of the plaintiffs. Rather, defendant instead of putting suggestion with regard to Ex.PW-2/A asked the plaintiffs' witnesses with regard to will allegedly made by Parsu in the year 1987 in favour of defendant Munni.

24. Conjoint reading of aforesaid witnesses brought on record by the plaintiffs clearly suggests that plaintiff was successful in proving that will Ex.PW-2/A was validly executed by late Shri Parsu in their favour in accordance with law. Since plaintiffs specifically brought on record attesting witnesses in shape of PW-2 and PW-3, who have categorically proved that will Ex.PW-2/A was signed by late Parsu in their presence and they had also signed the same as marginal witnesses, this Court is of the view that both the Courts below rightly came to the conclusion that plaintiffs were successful in proving that will Ex.PW-2/A was validly executed in their favour by the testator late Shri Parsu. Whereas, apart from perusing the statements of plaintiffs witnesses, this Court had also an occasion to peruse will Ex.PW-2/A which itself suggests that late Parsu had no issue and wife and was residing with the plaintiffs, who used to look after and maintain him during his old age. Plaintiffs also proved on record that will Ex.PW-2/A was registered with Sub Registrar, Kasauli and as such this Court has all the reasons to accept that will Ex.PW-2/A was validly executed by late Parsu in favour of the plaintiffs.

25. Now, question which remains to be decided is, "Whether Parsu had executed a will Ex.DW-6/A in favour of the defendant or not?

26. In the present case, defendant, with a view to prove that Parsu had executed a will Ex.DW-6/A in her favour, examined as many as 9 witnesses

27. DW-1 defendant herself stated that she was married with Parsu about 22 years back and since then had been living with him till his death. She further stated that Parsu had executed a valid will in her favour about 11 years back in the presence of one Sangat Ram and Dagi.

28. Sangat Ram DW-3, with a view to prove execution of the will, stated that Parsu had executed will in favour of Smt.Muni Devi which was scribed by Diwakar on the instruction of Parsu in his and Dagi's presence. DW-3 specifically stated that mark `X' is photocopy of will executed by Parsu but interestingly in the present case DW-3, who was again made to depose as DW-6 in order to prove the execution of will Ex.DW-6/A, stated that will Ex.DW-6/A bears his signature. He also stated that he signed the said will in presence of the Tehsildar. Interestingly, second attesting witness Dagi Ram was not examined by the defendant for the reasons best known to her. Defendant, with a view to prove will Ex.DW-6/A, examined herself as well as Sangat Ram, who allegedly signed the will in presence of the Tehsildar. But interestingly when this Sangat Ram appeared as DW-3, he stated that he was the attesting witness to the will Ex.DW-6/A, but when appeared as DW-6 he admitted his signatures on photocopy of will mark `X'. This Court had an occasion to peruse the documents mark `X' and Ex.DW-6/A, which clearly show that mark `X' is not true copy of Ex.DW-6/A. Though perusal of both i.e. mark `X' and Ex.DW-6/A, suggests that same were executed and registered on 11.9.1987 with Sub Registrar, Kasauli on same date, but interestingly if the contents of both these documents are read, juxtaposing each other, it clearly emerge that document mark `X' is not true copy of Ex.DW-6/A. It has been mentioned in document mark `X' that defendant Munni Devi is wife of Juhru and she was residing as a keep of Parsu, whereas Ex.DW-6/A shows that defendant was legally wedded wife of Parsu, hence both the Courts below have rightly concluded that perusal of mark `X' as well as DW-6/A clearly suggest that the same are highly doubtful and suspicious. Moreover, original of mark `X' was never produced in Court and as such Courts below rightly recorded the findings that since mark `X' has not been proved at all, it cannot be concluded that late Parsu had executed mark `X' in favour of defendant. Similarly, execution of will Ex.DW-6/A has also not been proved at all because DW-3 Sangat Ram, who lateron appeared as DW-6 stated that Ex.DW-6/A was signed by him. But careful perusal of his statement either as DW-3 or DW-6 clearly suggests that at no point of time he stated that Ex.DW-6/A was scribed on the instruction of Parsu in presence of Sangat Ram and Dagi and that Parsu signed Ex.DW-6/A in their presence. He also not stated that they also signed Ex.DW-6/A in presence of Parsu. Careful perusal of statement, made by Sangat Ram as DW-3 and DW-6, nowhere suggests that Diwakar, scribed the will on the instructions of Parsu, and he alongwith Dagi signed the same in presence of Parsu. Rather, perusal of both the documents mark `X' and Ex.DW-6/A certainly indicates towards suspicious circumstance because at first instance defendant, with a view to prove that Parsu had executed will Ex.DW-6/A in her favour, produced will mark `X' , but lateron original copy of will allegedly executed by Parsu was also produced which was exhibited as Ex.DW-6/A. But, as has been observed above, if both the documents mark `X' and Ex.DW-6/A are seen juxtaposing each other, it clearly emerge that recital made in the same is not similar, meaning thereby that mark `X' cannot be termed to be a photocopy of Ex.DW-6/A at this stage. It is not understood if will Ex.DW-6/A was executed by Parsu in favour of DW-1 Muni Devi, why she did not produce the same at first instance before the Court to prove her claim that Parsu bequeathed his share in suit land by way of will Ex.DW-6/A. Interestingly in the present case, PW-3 attesting witness at first instance stated that he signed Mark `X' but when he appeared as DW-6 he only contended that Ex.DW-6/A was signed by him but has not stated at all that Ex.DW-6/A was scribed on the instructions of Parsu in presence of Sangat Ram and Dagi and that Parsu signed Ex.DW-6/A in their presence and they also signed the testament in presence of Parsu. The aforesaid statements of defendants witnesses compelled this Court to accept the findings returned by both the Courts below whereby Ex.DW-6/A as well as mark `X' have been termed to be shrouded by suspicious circumstance.

29. It clearly emerges from the evidence led on record by the defendant that two different wills were written on the same day but defendant has miserably failed to prove that which will was actually executed by deceased Parsu in her favour before his death bequeathing his share of property in her favour.

30. Apart from above, another attesting witness Dagi was never produced and in his absence statements made by Sangat Ram, who appeared as DW-3 and DW-6, cannot be accepted on its face value, especially when he admitted his signatures on both the documents i.e. Mark `X' and Ex.DW-6/A. Otherwise also Sangat Ram nowhere stated that Parsu signed Ex.DW-6/A in his presence.

31. Though normally onus to prove the execution and validity of the will lies upon the propounder but in case when it is alleged by the opposite party that will is not genuine document, onus shifts on the person who alleges the will as being forged, to prove the same.

32. In Daulat Ram and Others vs. Sodha and Others, (2005)1 SCC 40, the Hon'ble Apex Court held:

> "10. Will being a document has to be proved by primary evidence except where the Court permits a document to be proved by leading secondary evidence. Since it is required to be attested, as provided in Section 68 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, it cannot be used as evidence until one of the attesting witnesses at least has been called for the purpose of proving its execution, if there be an attesting witness alive, and subject to the process of the Court and capable of giving evidence. In addition, it has to satisfy the requirements of Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925. In order to assess as to whether the Will has been validly executed and is a genuine document, the propounder has to show that the Will was signed by the testator and that he had put his signatures to the testament of his own free will; that he was at the relevant time in a sound disposing state of mind and understood the nature and effect of the dispositions and that the testator had signed it in the presence of two witnesses who attested it in his presence and in the presence of each other. Once these elements are established, the onus which rests on the propounder is discharged. But where there are suspicious circumstances, the onus is on the propounder to remove the suspicion by leading appropriate evidence. The burden to prove that the will was forged or that it was obtained under undue influence or coercion or by playing a fraud is on the person who alleges it to be so." (Page 43)

33. Definitely onus to explain suspicious circumstances, if any, lies on propounder but onus shifts to a person who alleges/level allegations of undue influence, fraud or coercion on the propounder of the will.

34. In Sridevi and Others vs. Jayaraja Shetty and Others, (2005)2 SCC 784, the Hon'ble Apex Court held:

"11. It is well settled proposition of law that mode of proving the will does not differ from that of proving any other document except as to the special requirement of attestation prescribed in the case of a will by Section 63 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925. The onus to prove the will is on the propounder and in the absence of suspicious circumstances surrounding the execution of the will, proof of testamentary capacity and proof of the signature of the testator, as required by law, need be sufficient to discharge the onus. Where there are suspicious circumstances, the onus would again be on the propounder to explain them to the satisfaction of the court before the will can be accepted as genuine. Proof in either case cannot be mathematically precise and certain and should be one of satisfaction of a prudent mind in such matters. In case the person contesting the will alleges undue influence, fraud or coercion, the onus will be on him to prove the same. As to what are suspicious circumstances have to be judged in the facts and circumstances of each particular case. {For this see H. Venkatachala Iyengar v. B.N. Thimmajamma & Ors. (1959) Supp.1 SCR 426 and the subsequent judgments Ramachandra Rambux v. Champabai & Ors.(1964) 6 SCR 814; Surendra Pal & Ors. v. Dr. (Mrs.) Saraswati Arora & Anr. (1974) 2 SCC 600]; Smt. Jaswant Kaur v. Smt. Amrit Kaur & Ors.(1977) 1 SCC 369; and Meenakshiammal (Dead) thr. LRs. & Ors. v. Chandrasekaran & Anr. [(2005) 1 SCC 280]" (Page-789)

35. Consequently, in view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove, this Court has no hesitation to conclude that the plaintiffs' discharged their onus to prove that will Ex.PW-2/A was duly executed by late Parsu in their favour by leading cogent and convincing evidence. Plaintiffs specifically brought on record attesting witnesses PW-2 and PW-3, who categorically stated that Parsu got the will scribed by one Harish in favour of the plaintiffs and he signed the same in their presence. Similarly, scribe Harish also stated that he scribed the will on 22.12.1980 at the instance of Parsu in favour of the plaintiffs in presence of attesting witnesses Asha Ram and Sangat Ram, as such, this Court sees no force in the contention put forth on behalf of the defendant that will Ex.PW-2/A is a result of fraud. Whereas, defendant has miserably failed to prove that will Ex.DW-6/A was allegedly executed by Parsu in favour of defendant, because none of the witnesses prodeuced by the defendant was able to prove that Ex.DW-6/A was executed by late Parsu in their presence. None of the defendant witnesses stated that Parsu got the will scribed by Diwakar in favour of defendant. Similarly, none of the defendant witnesses stated that Parsu signed in their presence on the will Ex.DW-6/A. Hence, both the Courts below have not committed any illegality and irregularity while holding that defendant has failed to prove that Ex.DW-6/A was legally executed in her favour, rather, this Court, after perusing the documents mark `X' and Ex.DW-6/A, is compelled to draw adverse inference against the conduct of the defendant, where defendant, with a view to prove due execution of will, produced two documents terming one i.e. mark `X' to be photocopy of Ex.DW-6/A, which lateron was not found to be the photocopy of Ex.DW-6/A.

36. In view of above, this Court sees no illegality, whatsoever, in the judgments passed by the Courts below, whereby both the Courts have decreed the suit of the plaintiffs on the strength of will Ex.PW-2/A, ignoring the will Ex.DW-6/A set up by the defendant. Apart from above, perusal of the evidence led on record nowhere suggests that at any point of time plaintiffs admitted the claim of the defendant that will Ex.DW-6/A and mark `X' were executed by Parsu in her favour. Whereas, documents as well as evidence available on record by the plaintiffs clearly suggests that they refuted the claim of the defendant that she was legally wedded wife which stands duly proved and corroborated in pursuance to production of document mark `X' wherein it has been specifically stated that defendant was wife of Juhru. Hence this Court sees no illegality and infirmity in the judgment passed by both the Courts below which appears to be based upon correct appreciation of the evidence on record. All the questions are answered accordingly.

37. This Court is fully satisfied that both the courts below have very meticulously dealt with each and every aspect of the matter and there is no scope of interference, whatsoever, in the present matter. Since both the Courts below have returned concurrent findings, which otherwise appear to be based upon proper appreciation of evidence, this Court has very limited jurisdiction/scope to interfere in the matter. In this regard, it would be apt to reproduce the relevant contents of judgment rendered by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma's case supra, wherein the Court has held as under:

> "16. Based on oral and documentary evidence, both the courts below have recorded concurrent findings of fact that the plaintiffs have established their right in A schedule property. In the light of the concurrent findings of fact, no substantial questions of law arose in the High Court and there was no substantial ground for reappreciation of evidence. While so, the High Court proceeded to observe that the first plaintiff has earmarked the A schedule property for road and that she could not have full-fledged right and on that premise proceeded to hold that declaration to the plaintiffs' right cannot be granted. In exercise of jurisdiction under Section 100 CPC, concurrent findings of fact cannot be upset by the High Court unless the findings so recorded are shown to be perverse. In our considered view, the High Court did not keep in view that the concurrent findings recorded by the courts below, are based on oral and documentary evidence and the judgment of the High Court cannot be sustained." (p.269)

38. In the facts and circumstances discussed above, this Court is of the view that findings returned by the trial Court below which was further upheld by the first appellate Court do not warrant any interference of this Court as findings given on the issues framed by the trial Court below as well as specifically taken up by this Court to reach the root of the controversy appears to be based on correct appreciation of oral as well as documentary evidence. Moreover, as has been discussed in detail above, appellant-defendant has not been able to make out a case to persuade this Court that Ex.PW-2/A is a fake and forged document, got executed by the plaintiffs forcibly using undue influence. Defendant also failed to indicate any circumstance which could compel this Court to return the finding that Ex.Pw-2/A was shrouded by suspicion. Hence, present appeal fails and is dismissed, accordingly.

39. Interim order, if any, is vacated. All the miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE RAJIV SHARMA, J.

Chaman Singh & ors. .....Appellants.

Versus

Prabhat Singh & anr. .....Respondents.

RSA No. 464 of 2015.
Reserved on: 23.08.2016.
Decided on: 24.08.2016.

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for declaration pleading that he along with proforma defendants are co-owners in possession of the suit land- mutation sanctioned in favour of the predecessor-in-interest of the defendants was illegal, null and void- suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that H was owner in possession of the suit property – father of plaintiffs and father of defendants are sons of late H- no evidence was led to prove family settlement-no daily diary report was lodged with the patwari to prove that family settlement was given effect in the revenue record- limitation begins to run not from the date of the entry but from the date when a person feels aggrieved by the entry – thus, suit was within limitation. (Para-12 to 16)

Case referred:
Shiam Singh and others vs. Chaman Lal and others, 2011(Suppl.) Him. L.R. 2065

For the appellant(s): Mr. Ramakant Sharma, Sr. Advocate with Ms. Soma Thakur, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Bhupender Pathania, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Justice Rajiv Sharma, J.

This regular second appeal is directed against the judgment and decree of the learned District Judge, Chamba, H.P., dated 22.4.2015, passed in Civil Appeal No. 3/2015.

2. "Key facts" necessary for the adjudication of this regular second appeal are that the respondent-plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as the plaintiff), has instituted a suit for declaration to the effect that he along with proforma defendant, namely, Sardar Singh, is co-owner in possession over the land as detailed in the plaint to the extent of half share and mutation No. 388 dated 26.03.1978 sanctioned and attested in favour of Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants was illegal, null and void and not binding upon the rights of the plaintiff and proforma defendant. The plaintiff has also filed suit for permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants from changing the nature, alienating or dispossessing the plaintiff from the suit land on the basis of wrong and illegal revenue entries. According to the averments made in the plaint, late Hira Singh son of Nihala was recorded as owner-in-possession over the suit land. After the death of Hira Singh, his entire estate was inherited by late Sh. Prithi Singh, predecessor-in-interest of plaintiff, proforma defendant and Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants. One Sh. Chand son of Suchetu cultivated the suit land for some time as tenant but abandoned the land in the year 1966 and thereafter, late Sh. Prithi Chand and Chando Ram, both sons of late Sh. Hira Singh came in the possession of the suit land and started cultivating the same. Both late Sh. Prithi Chand and Chando Ram were in peaceful possession over the suit land in equal shares and were cultivating the suit land without any interruption, however, the entries continued to be in favour of Chand son of Suchetu as tenant. On the basis of revenue entries, mutation No. 314 dated 22.2.1976 was entered and attested in favour of Chand son of Suchetu under the Himachal Pradesh Land Reforms Act. Thereafter, Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants filed an appeal before the learned Sub

Divisional Officer (Civil), Dalhousie against the mutation No. 314 dated 22.2.1976 attested in favour of Chand son of Suchetu wherein late Sh. Prithi Singh, predecessor-in-interest of plaintiff was also arrayed as respondent No. 2. However, he was not summoned or called. During the pendency of the appeal, Chand son of Suchetu who was brother-in-law of late Sh. Chando Ram son of Hira Singh entered into an agreement in connivance with each other on 21.6.1977 and presented the same before the SDO(C) Dalhousie, on the basis of which, the appeal of Chando Ram son of Hira Singh was allowed and the case was remanded to the learned Assistant Collector, IInd Grade, Bhattiyat on 21.6.1977. The learned Assistant Collector, IInd Grade, Bhattiyat attested the mutation No. 388 dated 26.03.1978 in favour of Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants without the knowledge and behind the back of late Sh. Prithi Singh, predecessor-in-interest of plaintiff. Accordingly, Chando son of Hira Singh alone was recorded as owner of the suit land. Sh. Prithi Singh died on 12.1.2003. He remained in continuous possession over the suit land till his death. After his death, plaintiff and proforma defendant are in continuous possession over the suit land being sons of late Sh. Prithi Singh. The cause of action accrued to the plaintiff in the month of March, 2010 when defendants started threatening the plaintiff to alienate the suit land and to dispossess him.

3. The suit was contested by the defendants by filing written statement. The defendants admitted that earlier late Sh. Hira Singh son of Sh. Nihala was owner-in-possession over the suit land. The relationship of the parties shown in the pedigree table in the plaint was also admitted, however, it was denied that after the death of late Sh. Hira Singh, his entire estate was inherited by late Sh. Prithi Singh and late Sh. Chando Ram. According to them, suit land was given to Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants in a family settlement. Sh. Chando Ram and after his death the contesting defendants are in peaceful cultivatory possession over the suit land. It is also admitted by the defendants in the written statement that Chand son of Suchetu cultivated the suit land and abandoned the same in the year 1966. According to the defendants, late Sh. Prithi Singh or plaintiff and proforma defendant never cultivated the suit land. Though, it is admitted by defendants that an appeal was filed before SDO (C), Dalhousie by Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants, however, it is denied that late Sh. Prithi Singh was never summoned or called in those proceedings. In fact, according to the defendants, late Sh. Prithi Singh gave his consent for correction of revenue entries in favour of late Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants as the same was settled in family settlement. Late Sh. Prithi Singh never challenged the order of SDO (C), Dalhousie nor mutation No. 388 dated 26.03.1978.

4. Replication was filed and the learned Civil Judge (Jr. Divn.), Dalhousie, framed the issues on 27.8.2012. The suit was decreed to the effect that plaintiff along with proforma defendant was co-owner in possession over the suit land to the extent of half share along with defendants and mutation No. 388 dated 26.03.1978 sanctioned and attested in favour of Sh. Chando Ram, predecessor-in-interest of defendants was illegal, null and void and not binding upon the rights of plaintiff along with relief of permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants from changing the nature, alienating or dispossessing the plaintiff and proforma defendant from the suit land on the basis of wrong and illegal revenue entreis in their favour. The defendants, feeling aggrieved, preferred an appeal before the learned District Judge, Chamba. He dismissed the same on 22.4.2015. Hence, this regular second appeal.

5. The regular second appeal was admitted on 15.12.2015 on the following substantial questions of law:

> "1. Whether the impugned judgments and decrees are the result of complete mis-reading, misinterpretation as well as mis-appreciation of Ext. PA missal haquiat bandobast, Ext. PB Jamabandi for the year 1956-57 and Ext. PC Jamabandi for the year 1970-71 and order dated 21st June, 1977 Ext. D-1 and Ext. D-8, copy of Jamabandi for year 1975-76, and Ext. PA to Ext. PL?
> 2. Whether the learned Courts below are right in not dismissing the suit filed by the respondent-plaintiff being barred by time in view of the provisions of Section 3 of the Limitation Act as well as the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court?

3. Whether the impugned judgments and decrees are liable to be quashed and set aside being result of non-consideration of principle of estoppels inasmuch as the respondent-plaintiff having filed the suit against the mutation dated 26th March, 1978 after a lapse of 33 years especially when his predecessor-in-interest was alive till 2003 and did not assail the said mutation?"

6. Mr. Ramakant Sharma Sr. Advocate, appearing on behalf of the appellant, on the basis of the substantial questions of law, has vehemently argued that both the Courts below have misread the documentary evidence and the suit was barred by limitation. He also argued that though the mutation was attested on 26.3.1978, however, the suit was filed after 33 years. On the other hand, Mr. Bhupender Pathania, Advocate, has supported the judgments and decrees passed by both the Courts below.

7. Since all the substantial questions of law are inter-connected, hence are taken up together for to avoid repetition of discussion of evidence.

8. I have heard learned counsel for both the sides and have also gone through the judgments and records of the case carefully.

9. The plaintiff has appeared as PW-1. He has led his evidence by filing affidavit Ext. PW-1/A. He has supported the averments made in the plaint. According to him, Sh. Chand son of Suchetu was recorded as tenant over the suit land. He has abandoned his tenancy in the year 1966, however, revenue entries continued in his name and later on he was recorded as owner of the suit land by virtue of provisions of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act. The appeal was filed by Chando Ram son of Hira Singh before learned Sub Divisional Officer (Civil), Dalhousie. It was allowed on the basis of compromise entered in between Chand son of Suchetu and Sh. Chando Ram son of Hira Singh without the knowledge and behind the back of late Sh. Prithi Singh, predecessor-in-interest of plaintiff and proforma defendant. The cause of action arose in the month of March, 2010 when defendants started threatening the plaintiff to alienate the suit land and dispossess the plaintiff and proforma defendant from the suit land.

10. DW-1 Joginder Singh has also led his evidence by filing affidavit Ext. DW-1/A. According to him, the suit land came to the share of his father Sh.Chando Ram in family settlement and after his death, defendants were in possession over the suit land. It was testified by Joginder Singh that an appeal was decided by SDO (C), Dalhousie in favour of Chando Ram son of Sh. Hira Singh predecessor-in-interest of defendants with the conent of the parties.

11. DW-2 Rajneesh Singh has also led his evidence by filing affidavit Ext. DW-2/A. According to him, the defendants were in cultivatory possession of the suit land.

12. It is admitted fact that late Hira Singh son of Nihala Singh was owner-in-possession of the suit property. Plaintiff's father Sh. Prithi Singh and defendants' father Sh. Chando Ram are sons of late Sh. Hira Singh. As per copy of missal Hakiyat Ext. PA, Sh. Hira Singh son of Nihala was recorded as absolute owner-in-possession over the suit land. As per the remarks column of copy of jamabandi for the year 1970-71, Chand son of Suchetu was recorded as owner-in-possession over the suit land. As per remarks column of copy of jamabandi for the year 1975-76 Ext. PD, the suit land was again recorded under the ownership and possession of Chando Ram son of Sh. Hira Singh predecessor-in-interest of defendants.

13. The case of the defendants is that the suit land was partitioned by way of family settlement. However, no tangible evidence has been placed on record to prove the settlement. There is no entry of the settlement in the revenue record. The suit land was earlier entered in the name of Chand son of Suchetu vide mutation No. 314 dated 22.2.1976. This mutation was challenged by Chando Ram by filing an appeal before learned Sub Divisional Officer (Civil), Dalhousie. Sh. Prithi Singh was arrayed as respondent No. 2, however, Sh. Prithi Singh was not summoned while remanding the matter by learned Sub Divisional Officer (Civil), Dalhousie.

Chand and Chando Ram had entered into an agreement in connivance with each other on 21.6.1977 vide Ext. PJ. According to Ext. PJ also, the plaintiff's father was not present.

14. The matter was remanded by learned Sub Divisional Officer (Civil), Dalhousie on 21.6.1977. The learned Assistant Collector, IInd Grade, Bhattiyat attested mutation No. 388 dated 26.03.1978 in favour of Chando Ram. The plaintiff's father Prithi Singh ought to have been heard at the time of passing of the order on 21.6.1977 and at the time of attestation of mutation on 26.3.1978. The compromise arrived at between Chand and Chando Ram was not binding upon Prithi Singh. Thus, the entries made on the basis of mutation No. 388 dated 26.03.1978 were illegal. The name of Chando Ram could not be entered as sole owner-in-possession of the suit land. There is neither any family settlement deed nor any document in the shape of daily diary report lodged with the patwari, to prove that family settlement was given effect to in the revenue records. The learned Courts below have correctly appreciated the oral as well as documentary evidence on record.

15. The learned Single Judge of this Court in the case of Shiam Singh and others vs. Chaman Lal and others, reported in 2011(Suppl.) Him. L.R. 2065, has held that limitation begins to run not from the date of the entry affecting the right of the person concerned, but from the date when he feels aggrieved by the entry and it is the satisfaction of such person as to when does he feel aggrieved. It has been held as under:

> "It is well settled that for a suit for declaration, referred to in Section 46, limitation begins to run not from the date of the entry affecting the right of the person concerned, but from the date when he feels aggrieved by the entry and it is the satisfaction of such person as to when does he feel aggrieved. Defendant cannot be heard to say that he (the plaintiff) felt aggrieved by the entry at some earlier point of time or when the entry was actually made".

16. In the instant case, the suit was thus within limitation. The Courts below have correctly appreciated the oral as well as documentary evidence. The substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

17. Consequently, there is no merit in this appeal and the same is dismissed, so also the pending application(s), if any.

Versus

State of H.P. & Ors. ....Respondents

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner was appointed as peon and was promoted to the post of process server in the year 2000- respondents No. 3 and 4 were directly appointed as Process Servers in the year 2005- applications were invited for two posts of clerk – respondents No. 3 and 4 were promoted as clerks- petitioner pleaded that he was senior to respondent No. 3 and 4 and should have been promoted - writ petition was allowed and the appointment was quashed- held, in appeal that petitioner was initially appointed as Peon and was promoted as

Process Server against 50% quota- respondents No. 3 and 4 were directly appointed as Process Servers- since, respondents No. 3 and 4 were earlier appointed as Process Servers, therefore, they were senior to the petitioner- petitioner had not challenged seniority list- appointment could not have been made on the basis of first appointment as cadres of Process Server, Daftri, Orderly, Peon, Chowkidar, Chowkidar-cum-Sweeper, Safai Karamchari and Mali were different - their responsibilities were different and their pay was different- there is no rule that seniority is common- writ was wrongly allowed by the Learned Single Judge- appeal allowed and writ petition dismissed. (Para-21 to 31)

For the Appellants:	Mr.Ashwani Pathak, Senior Advocate with Mr.Sandeep K.Sharma, Advocate.
For Respondent No.1:	Mr.Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General with Mr.Anup Rattan, Additional Advocate General and Mr.J.K. Verma & Mr.Kush Sharma, Deputy Advocate Generals.
For Respondent No.2:	Ms.Sunita Sharma, Advocate.
For Respondent No.3:	Ms.Archana Dutt, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma,J.:

Both the above captioned appeals are being taken up together for disposal with the consent of parties, since, by both the appeals, judgment dated 25.04.2016 passed by the learned Single Judge of this Court in CWP No.206 of 2014 has been assailed, (for short 'impugned judgment').

2. Briefly stated facts, as emerged from record, necessary for adjudication of the case are that the present appellants (hereinafter referred to as `respondents No.3 and 4') being aggrieved by the impugned judgment, whereby learned Single Judge, while allowing the writ petition preferred on behalf of respondent-petitioner (hereinafter referred to as the `petitioner') quashed the promotion of writ respondents No.3 and 4 as Clerks with the direction to writ respondent No.2 to consider the petitioner as well as respondents No.3 and 4 alongwith other applicants afresh in the light of observations made in the judgment within a period of two months.

3. In nutshell, petitioner, by way of filing CWP No.206 of 2014, invoked extra ordinary jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India and prayed for following reliefs:-

> "(i) That impugned annexure P-3 may very kindly be quashed and set aside with the direction to the respondent to consider the petitioner for promotion to the post of Clerk.
> (ii) That records of the case may be summoned for the kind perusal of this Hon'ble Court."

4. Perusal of averments contained in the writ petition suggests that the petitioner was appointed as a Peon in the Court of Civil Judge (Junior Division), Ghumarwin in the year 2004 and was further promoted to the post of Process Server on 26.6.2010. Actually he was promoted as Process Server on 26.6.2010. Writ respondent No.2, while filing reply, clarified that in promotion order there was a clerical mistake and infact petitioner was promoted as Process Server on 26.6.2010 instead of 26.6.2006 from the post of Peon which is a feeder cadre post. Pleadings on the record further reveal that respondent Nos.3 and 4 were directly appointed as Process Servers on 16.7.2005 and 21.12.2005 respectively.

5. In the year 2013, learned District & Sessions Judge, Bilaspur (for short `D&SJ, Bilaspur') vide Annexure P-1 invited applications through proper channel for two posts of Clerks to be filled in by selection/promotion from amongst the Class-IV officials working in Civil & Sessions Division, Bilaspur having minimum 3 years of service as on 1.6.2013 and having passed atleast 10+2 examination.

6. Perusal of Annexure P-1 suggests that the applications were to reach in the office of learned D&SJ, Bilaspur on or before 12th June, 2013 in the prescribed format. It was also contained in the advertisement notice that the applicant/candidate had to undergo the screening test.

7. Pursuant to aforesaid advertisement, petitioner as well as respondents No.3 and 4 applied for the aforesaid posts of Clerks and on the basis of their applications they were called for screening test by the office of learned D&SJ, Bilaspur. Thereafter, office of D&SJ vide office order dated 26.9.2013 issued transfer and postings of Class-III officials of Civil & Sessions Division, Bilaspur, wherein present appellants (respondents No.3 and 4) were also shown to be promoted as Clerks vide Sr.Nos.8 & 9 and posted as Civil Ahlmad in the office of Civil Judge(Sr.Division)-cum-CJM, Bilaspur and Criminal Ahlmad in the office of Civil Judge (Jr.Division)-cum-JMIC, Court No.II, Ghumarwin, respectively against vacant posts.

8. Petitioner, being aggrieved with the promotion of respondents No.3 and 4, preferred writ petition bearing CWP No.206 of 2014 before this Court praying therein the reliefs, as reproduced above. Petitioner claimed that respondents No.3 and 4 were promoted to the posts of Clerks, pursuant to advertisement Annexure P-1, who were otherwise junior to him and as such order dated 26.9.2013 (Annexure P-3) promoting them as a Clerks is not sustainable and same deserves to be quashed and set aside. He further submitted that he was senior to the aforesaid respondents No.3 and 4 since he had joined service as Peon in the Court of Civil Judge(Jr.Division)-cum-JMIC, Court No.2, Ghumarwin in the year 2004 and thereafter he was promoted as Process Server on 26.6.2010. Petitioner contended that he was to be considered senior to respondents No.3 and 4, as he was promoted to the post of Process Server on 26.6.2010 from the post of Peon which is feeder post for the purpose of promotion to the post of Process Server. Petitioner also averred that bare perusal of advertisement issued by the office of learned D&SJ, Bilaspur, clearly suggests that employees of Class-IV categories including Peons, Chowkidars and Process Servers, who form a common cadre, were eligible for applying to the post of Clerk and they were to be offered appointment on the basis of seniority. Petitioner further claimed that for the purpose of promotion to the post of Clerk, entire service in Class-IV cadre, whether as Peon or as Process Server, was to be taken into consideration by the competent authority, while deciding seniority under the Recruitment and Promotion Rules in vogue and as such writ respondent No.2 had fallen in grave error, while ignoring the service rendered by him against the post of Peon. However, record nowhere suggests that petitioner disputed the fact that writ respondents No.3 and 4 were directly appointed as Process Servers on 16.7.2005 and 21.12.2005 respectively.

9. Writ respondent No.2 i.e. contesting party filed a detailed reply and refuted the averments contained in the petition specifically stating therein that petitioner was promoted as Process Server on 26.6.2010 and not on 26.6.2006, as is depicted in promotion order in the pay band of Rs.4900-10680+1400 (Grade Pay) against 50% quota prescribed for the promotion to the post of Process Servers from amongst the Class-IV employees of the Court as per Rule 11 of the Himachal Pradesh Subordinate Courts' Staff (Recruitment, Promotion and Conditions of Service), Rules, 1997 (for short `R&P Rules, 1997').

10. Respondent No.2 further contended that on the promotion of the petitioner as Process Server, he was junior in this category because the seniority lists of the Process Servers and Peons were prepared separately by treating them separate Unit in the cadre. Respondent No.2 further submitted that for the promotion to the post of Clerk from amongst the Class-IV employees against 25% quota, the petitioner was not liable to be treated as senior most Class-IV official. Respondent No.2 also claimed that as per seniority list of Class-III and Class-IV officials of the Civil and Sessions Division prepared on 1.6.2013, the petitioner has been shown at Sr.No.79 in the seniority list and in the category of Process Server he is junior to 21 Process Servers including writ respondents No.3 and 4 as such he was rightly denied promotion to the post of Clerk. Respondent No.2 also averred that petitioner despite being fully aware of the seniority above, never laid any challenge to the seniority list, wherein he was admittedly placed junior to the aforesaid respondents. It is contended on behalf of the writ respondents that the petitioner was the junior most candidate in the category of Process Server, who appeared in the screening test held for the post of Clerk in terms of the advertisement issued in this regard. Respondent No.2 further averred that though the Peons, Chowkidars and Process Servers are all Class-IV categories but their identity and unit are separate, as per Rule 4 of the Himachal Pradesh Subordinate Courts' Staff (Recruitment, Promotion and Conditions of Service) Rules, 2012 (for short `R&P Rules, 2012'), wherein word `Cadre' has been defined by stating that "the total strength of posts sanctioned as a separate unit as shown in schedule-I attached to these Rules". As per writ respondent No.2, bare perusal of Sr.Nos.29 to 36 of Schedule-I, which pertain to Class-IV category, clearly suggests that the categories of Peons and Process Servers form separate unit and have different grade pay and as such there is no force in the contention of the petitioner that he was to be treated senior while giving promotion to the post of Clerk from Class-IV category. Respondent No.2 has also stated that on promotion as Process Server from category of Peon, the nature of duties of Process Server altogether gets changed because the post of Process Server carries higher responsibilities than the post of Peon. Apart from above, grade pay of the post of Process Server is more than that of the post of Peon.

11. Respondent No.2 with a view to substantiate the aforesaid contention also cited example, wherein it has been stated that Process Server has an opportunity/eligibility to become a Bailiff in the hierarchy of Process Servers, whereas Peon is not eligible for promotion to the post of Bailiff.

12. Respondent No.2, with a prayer to reject the claim of the petitioner, submitted that the categories of Peons, Process Servers and Chowkidars do not form a common cadre as they are having separate unit and form separate identity and as such seniority of the petitioner could not be counted from the date of his first appointment because he had already been promoted as Process Server from the post of Peon against 50% quota reserved for the same.

13. Learned Single Judge, on the basis of aforesaid contentions and record made available to him by both the parties, came to the conclusion that authority concerned has fallen in error while ignoring the claim of the petitioner for promotion to the post of Clerk in terms of advertisement issued in this regard and has quashed the promotion of respondents No.3 and 4 as Clerks.

14. Relevant portions of Schedule-I and Schedule-II annexed with the R&P Rules, 2012 are reproduced here-in-below:

15. Careful perusal of the impugned judgment suggests that learned Single Judge, while quashing the promotions of respondents No.3 and 4, concluded that in view of R&P Rules, 2012, especially classification provided in Schedule-I and eligibility criteria for promotion as Clerk from amongst Class-IV officials provided at Sr.No.8 of Schedule-II of R&P Rules, 2012, petitioner was to be treated ahead of respondents No.3 and 4 in the seniority. It was further observed that maintaining of separate seniority list for Process Servers and Peons has no effect on the merits of the contention raised by the petitioner and an incumbent, irrespective of the fact whether he served as Peon or as Process Server or holding any other post in Class-IV cadre, his entire continuous service has to be taken into consideration for determining seniority as Class-IV official.

16. Mr.Ashwani Pathak, Senior Advocate, vehemently argued that the judgment passed by the learned Single Judge is not sustainable and same deserves to be quashed and set aside as the same is not based upon correct appreciation of the R&P Rules, 2012. Mr.Pathak also contended that learned Single Judge, while passing the impugned judgment, has fallen in grave error inasmuch as not interpreting the R&P Rules, 2012 correctly and has ignored the very vital factor with regard to maintaining of separate seniority list of the cadre of Process Servers and Peons.

17. During arguments, Mr.Pathak made this Court to go through the relevant relief clause of CWP No.206 of 2014 to demonstrate that no prayer, whatsoever, was made on behalf of the petitioner with regard to seniority list admittedly issued by the competent authority showing petitioner at Sr.No.79, whereas in the category of Process Servers, petitioner has been shown junior to 21 Process Servers including respondents No.3 and 4. Mr.Pathak strenuously argued that seniority list was prepared by the Civil & Sessions Division, Bilaspur on 1.6.2013 showing petitioner junior to respondent No.3 but no challenge, whatsoever, was ever laid to the seniority list by the petitioner. As such at this stage, he cannot be allowed to state that he ought to be treated above respondents No.3 and 4 in the seniority list.

18. Mr.Pathak also made this Court to travel through the R&P Rules, 2012 annexed with the petition to substantiate his plea that writ petitioner could not have claimed promotion alone on the strength of length of service in Class-IV category because bare perusal of the advertisement suggests that the promotion to the post of Clerk was to be made on the basis of selection/promotion from amongst Class-IV Officials, working in the Civil & Sessions Division, Bilaspur, having minimum of three years service as on 1.6.2013. It is forcefully contended on behalf of respondents No.3 and 4 that the learned Single Judge has fallen in to grave error while ignoring the fact that respondents No.3 and 4 were appointed as Process Servers directly in the year 2005, whereas petitioner was promoted as Process Server on 26.10.2010 and as such he was rightly placed below respondents No.3 and 4 in the seniority list drawn on 1.6.2013 by the Civil & Sessions Division, Bilaspur. While concluding his arguments, Mr.Pathak also invited the attention of this Court to the Notification dated 12.3.2003, wherein word `Cadre' has been defined, bare reading of which clearly suggests that though the post of Process Servers/Peons/Chowkidars/Safai Karamcharies/Malies have been prescribed as Class-IV, but the categories of Process Servers and Peons are having separate unit and different grade pay and as such it cannot be prayed that the seniority is to be reckoned on the basis of initial appointment as a Peon.

19. Mrs.Archana Dutt, learned counsel for the writ petitioner, vehemently contended that there is no illegality and infirmity in the impugned judgment as the same is based upon correct appreciation of material placed on record and calls for no interference of this Court. It is contended on behalf of the petitioner that petitioner was senior to respondents No.3 and 4, since he was appointed as Peon in the year 2004, whereas the present appellants-respondents No.3 and 4 were appointed as Process Servers directly in the year 2005 and as such by no stretch of imagination they could be termed as senior to the petitioner. Subsequently the petitioner was promoted to the post of Process Server on 26.6.2010 from the post of Peon which was the feeder cadre for the purpose of promotion to the post of Process Server. She further contended that Process Servers, Peons and Chowkidars, who form a common cadre, were to be considered for promotion to the post of Clerk by taking into account the services rendered by them from their initial appointment and as such action of respondent No.2 in promoting respondents No.3 and 4 has been rightly quashed and set aside by the learned Single Judge. Mrs.Dutt also contended that as per R&P Rules, for the post of Clerk, 75% posts were to be filled in by way of direct recruitment and 25% by way of promotion from amongst the 10+2 Class-IV Court officials on the basis of type test and since petitioner had qualified the type test and further being senior most person that too in the feeder category was required to be promoted to the post of Clerk and as such learned Single Judge has rightly quashed the impugned order whereby respondents No.3 and 4 were promoted to the post of Clerk.

20. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record of the case.

21. Close scrutiny of the pleadings available on record suggests that petitioner was appointed as Peon (Class-IV) in the year 2004 and was further promoted as Process Server in the pay band of Rs.4900-10680+1400 (Grade Pay) against 50% quota prescribed for promotion to the post of Process Servers from amongst the Class-IV employees in terms of Rule 11 of the R&P Rules, 1997. Similarly, it is undisputed that present appellants-respondents No.3 and 4 were appointed directly as Process Servers on 16.7.2005 and 21.12.2005 respectively, meaning thereby that the petitioner, who was promoted to the post of Process Server on 26.6.2010, was junior to the present appellants-respondents No.3 and 4 in the category of Process Servers. It is also undisputed before us that respondent No.2 issued seniority list of Class-III and Class-IV officials of Civil and Sessions Division, Bilaspur, prepared on 1.6.2013, wherein the petitioner had been shown at Sr.No.79 and in the category of Process Server he has been shown junior to 21 Process Servers including the present appellants-respondents No.3 and 4.

22. Before adverting to the impugned judgment, this Court is of the view that since petitioner never laid any challenge to the seniority list dated 1.6.2013, showing him at Sr.No.79 in the said seniority list and junior to the present appellants-respondents No.3 and 4, his plea with regard to his being senior to respondents No.3 and 4 cannot be accepted at all and deserves outright rejection. Otherwise also this Court sees no merit in the contention of the petitioner that since he was appointed as Peon (Class-IV) in 2004 and was promoted to the post of Process Server from the post of Peon, which was a feeder category for promotion to the post of Process Server, he was required to be treated as senior to respondents No.3 and 4, who were, admittedly, directly recruited against the post of Process Server in the year 2005. This Court is unable to accept the contention put forth on behalf of the petitioner that categories of Peons, Chowkidars and Process Servers, being Class-IV categories, form a common feeder cadre and their seniority was to be taken on the basis of their first appointment because bare perusal of Rule-4 of R&P Rules, 2012, wherein `Cadre' has been defined by stating that "the total strength of posts sanctioned as a separate unit as shown in Schedule I attached to these rules", suggests that separate cadre of all these Class-IV categories containing therein posts of Process Server, Daftri, Orderly, Peon, Chowkidar, Chowkidar-cum-Sweeper, Safai Karamchari and Mali, has been carved out.

23. It appears that learned Single Judge has failed to appreciate that though as per aforesaid R&P Rules, 2012 posts of Peons, Chowkidars and Process Servers have been shown as Class-IV categories, but further perusal of their pay band, grade pay and duties/responsibilities clearly suggests that their identity and unit are separate. It is apt to reproduce paragraph 16 of the impugned judgment hereunder:

> "16. So far as the contention raised by the counsel for the respondent No.2 with regard to maintaining separate seniority list of Process Servers and Peons are concerned, it is evident from perusal of R&P Rules that the same is maintained for the reason that there are certain posts for which all Class-IV officials are not eligible to be considered and one of such example is the post of Bailiff mentioned at Sr.No.11 of Schedule-II for which recruitment by promotion on the basis of seniority from amongst only the Process Servers serving in the Division has been provided".

24. Bare perusal of categories mentioned hereinabove in Schedule-I clearly suggests that they are having separate unit and different Grade Pay and as such nowhere it can be concluded that they form common cadre. Otherwise also for the post of Bailiff, which is a Class-III post, only Process Servers, amongst the aforesaid Class-IV employees, are eligible to be promoted in terms of Schedule-II annexed with the R&P Rules, 2012, which fact clearly suggests that posts mentioned in Schedule-I nowhere forms the common cadre but they have been only declared to be Class-IV posts by way of Rules mentioned hereinabove.

25. Learned Single Judge, while extending relief to the petitioner, failed to take note of the specific reply in this regard filed by respondent No.2, wherein it was categorically stated that though Peons, Chokidars and Process Servers are Class-IV category but their identity and unit are separate.

26. The learned Single Judge took note of the specific reply filed by respondent No.2, wherein it was categorically mentioned that Peons, Chowkidars and Process Servers fall under Class-IV category but their identity and unit are separate and as such they could not be considered at par. The learned Single Judge has failed to take note of the fact that nature of duties of Process Server carries higher responsibilities than the post of Peon and as such it could not be concluded that posts of Peon and Process Server form a common cadre.

27. Apart from above, learned Single Judge failed to take note of the fact that petitioner was promoted to the post of Process Server from the post of Peon in terms of aforesaid Rules and as such has fallen in to an error while concluding that posts of Peons and Process Servers form a common cadre.

28. After perusing the R&P Rules, 2012, this Court is of the view that categories of Peons, Process Servers, and Chokidars do not form a common cadre as they are having separate unit and identity. Moreover, there is no Rule, which provides that seniority of the petitioner could be counted from the date of his initial appointment as Peon in the year 2004 against category of Process Server to which he was admittedly promoted in the year 2010 against 50% quota reserved for in-service candidates. Since petitioner had already got promotion as Process Server for the post of Peon, taking advantage of 50% quota reserved for the category of Peon and he being junior most in the category of Process Server could not claim promotion to the post of Clerk on the basis of his seniority, to be counted from the date of his first appointment as Peon. On the top of it, when the petitioner after his promotion to the post of Process Server joined the separate cadre of Process Servers, he cannot claim seniority over and above respondents No.3 and 4, who were admittedly, appointed directly against the post of Process Server much ahead of him. Learned Single Judge, while granting the relief to the petitioner, failed to appreciate that at the first instance, petitioner got promotion as Process Server from the post of Peon against 50% quota reserved for the category of Peons and is junior most in the category of Process Server, and in case the petitioner is promoted again to the post of Clerk by counting the seniority from the date of his initial appointment as Peon, he would avail the benefit of double promotion at once i.e. for promotion to the post of Process Server and also to the post of Clerk.

29. Learned Single Judge has also failed to appreciate that candidature of the petitioner as well as respondent Nos.3 and 4 was considered by Screening Committee on the basis of seniority-cum-merit, where length of service, if any, was not the sole criterion for promotion to the post of Clerk.

30. Having glance to the above discussion, impugned judgment is illegal, bad in law and merits to be set aside. Accordingly, the same is set aside and appeals are allowed. Writ petition is dismissed.

31. Interim direction, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR.JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Satluj Jal Vidyut Nigam Contract Workers Union ...Petitioner.

Versus

Satluj Jal Vidyut Nigam Limited & others ...Respondents.

CWP No. 987 of 2016
Reserved on: 11.08.2016
Date of decision: 24th August, 2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner is a Union registered with the Labour Department- petitioner claimed that respondent had sufficient accommodation- members of the petitioner-union had awarded accommodation as sufficient vacant accommodation is available with the respondents- respondents stated that members of the petitioner are engaged by the Contractor and there is an agreement executed between contractor and respondents- there is no provision for providing accommodation to the workers engaged by the contractor- held, that members of Union are not employee of the respondents and they had been engaged by the Contractor – Allotment Rules clearly provided that accommodation can be allotted to the employees who had been appointed against the regular post- agreement between respondent and contractor does not stipulate that accommodation will be provided to the workers- availability of vacant accommodation will not confer the right to claim the accommodation- contractor is under obligation to provide and maintain rest-room or other suitable accommodation to the contract labour- petitioner had not arrayed contractors as respondents- no resolution authorizing General Secretary to file the present writ petition placed on record- petition dismissed. (Para-8 to 31)

For the petitioner: Sanjeev Bhushan, Senior Advocate with Ms. Abhilash Kaundal, Advocate, for the petitioner.

For the respondents: Ramakant Sharma, Senior Advocate, with Ms. Devyani Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, Judge

By way of present writ petition, petitioner-Union has prayed for the following main relief:-

> "(i) That the respondents may kindly be directed to allot residential quarters / accommodation to the petitioner's members to live on the principle of parity as the respondents have allotted accommodation to various other agencies and persons such as; Pujari, Contractors, Photographers, private Companies, Army, Security, Societies, private School (DPS) and ITI certificate holder apprentices etc., but the petitioner's members who are working since long for various types of maintenance works of the respondents despite their various requests are being discriminated."

2. Briefly stated, facts of the case are that the petitioner is a Union registered with the Himachal Pradesh Government Labour Department, under the Trade Unions Act, 1926, (for short, the Act), having its Registration No. 1255, in the name and style "Satluj Jal Vidyut Nigam Contract Workers Union" (for short 'Union'). Copy of registration certificate has been placed on record as Annexure P-1.

3. Present petition has been filed on behalf of the petitioner-Union through Narender Singh, son of Shri Shiv Ram, who claimed himself to be the General Secretary of the Petitioner-Union. It is averred that respondents have sufficient number of buildings, out of which some have been put to use for the offices and in some of the buildings, accommodation has been allotted to various agencies/persons, such as, Pujari, Contractors, Photographers, private Companies, Army, Security, Societies, private School (DPS) etc., and since the members of the petitioner-Union are also working for the respondents, they may also be provided residential accommodation in the buildings which are lying vacant. Petitioner-Union specifically stated that its members belong to different parts of the country, have been working in various capacities with the respondents and at present are facing number of problems including non-availability of residences. Accordingly, the petitioner-Union submitted a Demand Charter dated 12.02.2015 to the respondents (Annexure P-2), whereby, respondents were informed with regard to genuine demand of the members of the Union, but of no avail. Petitioner has procured information under Right to Information Act, 2005 (for short 'RTI Act'), (Annexure P-3), suggestive of the fact that respondents were having sufficient vacant accommodation available. Perusal of aforesaid information further reveals that respondents have allotted residential/commercial accommodation to various persons/agencies, which have no direct concern with the respondents. Petitioner-Union has also placed on record Quarter Allotment Order, dated 1.4.2016, to demonstrate that respondents have also provided accommodation to number of ITI Certificate holders who came only for a period of one year.

4. In nutshell, the case of the petitioner-Union is that since its members are working hard on meager wages for the benefit of respondents through the contractors, it is the primary duty of the respondents to provide accommodation to the poor members of the petitioner-Union. It has also been stated that due to non-availability of shelter, the members of the petitioner-Union are facing a lot of problems and respondents, despite having sufficient vacant accommodation, are not providing the same to them.

5. As noted above, since no action whatsoever was taken on the Demand Charter submitted by petitioner-Union, it was compelled to pass a Resolution dated 02.04.2016, to the following effect:

> "Unanimously resolved that about 200 residential quarters are lying vacant with the respondents, but despite having knowledge that the petitioner's members are facing problems for their shelter, the same are not being allotted to petitioner's members, hence, the petitioner's members knocked the door of Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh."

6. Since, the respondents failed to provide residential accommodation to the members of the petitioner-Union, hence the present writ petition.

7. Respondents, by way of detailed reply, refuted the claim of the petitioner-Union by stating that there is no privity of contract between the replying respondents and the petitioner-Union, inasmuch as the members of the petitioner-Union are engaged by the contractors, to whom the contract is awarded by the replying respondents for a specific period and it is the responsibility of the contractor and not of the respondents to provide accommodation to the workers employed by the contractors. With a view to substantiate aforesaid assertion, replying respondents also placed on record Annexure-RA i.e. agreement entered into between the Contractor and the respondents, which suggests that the respondents are not at all obligated to allot any kind of accommodation to the workers of the contractor and it is the responsibility of the contractor. Respondents have also stated that as per Rules framed by replying respondents called as "SJVNL Allotment of Residential Accommodation Rules" (for short, the Allotment Rules), (Annexure-RB), there is no provision for providing accommodation to the workers engaged by the contractor.

8. Respondents also sought dismissal of the petition on the ground that the petitioner-Union has already invoked the provisions of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, therefore, the present writ petition is not maintainable. It has also been stated that pursuant to demand notice dated 26.4.2016, the Assistant Labour Commissioner, Chandigarh issued a notice to the replying respondents to appear for conciliation on 08.06.2016. It has also been stated by respondents that members of the petitioner-Union being workers of the contractor do not have any right, whatsoever, to claim accommodation from respondents because all the contracts are for specific period for just one or maximum two years based on open e-tender basis and replying respondents being principal employer has to ensure that the contractors are not violating the provisions of any labour law. Apart from above, respondents sought dismissal of the present writ petition on the ground that all the contractors to whom the contract is awarded by the replying respondents are already paying HRA @ 10% of the minimum wages to all the workers, as such, any plea of providing accommodation is not sustainable and same deserves to be dismissed.

9. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record of the case.

10. Bare perusal of the documents made available on record by the respective parties, clearly suggests that members of the petitioner-Union are not employees of the respondents in any manner and they have been engaged by the contractors, who have been awarded contract by the respondents for execution of various works under Satluj Jal Vidyut Nigam Limited (for short, SJVNL). It also emerges from the record that respondents have constructed sufficient accommodation for its employees as well as for other agencies, who are rendering essential services to the respondents.

11. In the aforesaid background, this Court needs to ascertain whether members of the petitioner-Union are entitled to accommodation owned by the respondents, especially, when it stands proved on record that they have been engaged by the contractor and not by the respondents. It is an admitted case of the parties that members of the petitioner-Union have been engaged for execution of work by contractors and not by the respondents. Otherwise also, perusal of averments contained in writ petition, nowhere suggests that petitioner-Union has raised any legal grounds, which could make them entitled for allotment, if any, of the accommodation as has been referred to above. Rather plain reading of averments itself suggests that accommodation is being claimed on the basis of parity by the petitioner-Union for its members.

12. Here we may make a reference to Clause 3.0 of the Allotment Rules (Annexure-RB), which reads as under:-

"3.0 Eligibility for Allotment of Accommodation:*

3.1 All employees, except the local employees, will be eligible for allotment of residential accommodation in the township provided that if an employee is under suspension pending enquiry, he will not be eligible for allotment of any accommodation during the period of suspension.

3.2 If husband and wife are both employees of the Company and working at the same place, only one of them whosoever gets first allotment will be eligible for allotment.

3.3 If one of the spouse is employed by another government / Semi-Government Organization / Autonomous Bodies or Public Sector Undertaking and has been allotted residential accommodation from his/her employer in the same place, he/she shall not be eligible for allotment of accommodation by the Company.

3.4 If father or mother and unmarried son and/or daughter are both employed by the Company and are working at the same station, then only one of them will be eligible for allotment.

3.5 Normally bachelors will be allotted shared accommodation.

3.6 An employee who is permitted to the retention of his family accommodation in a place other than the place of posting as per separate rules will be allotted bachelor/shared accommodation only subject to the terms and conditions in force from time to time."

13. From the above Clause of the Allotment Rules, it is clear that accommodation, if any, can be allotted to the employees of SJVNL. Word 'Employee' has been defined in Clause 2.0 of the Allotment Rules, which reads as under:-

"2.0 Definition:

c) 'Employee' means a person appointed against a regular post and includes probationers and deputationists, but excludes Trainees, Apprentices, temporary, casual, Muster Roll, workcharged employees."

14. Careful perusal of Clause 2.0 of the Allotment Rules referred to above suggests that under the Allotment Rules, 'Employee' means a person appointed against regular post and includes probationers and deputationists, but excludes Trainees, Apprentices, temporary, casual, Muster Roll, workcharged employee, meaning thereby, person appointed against regular post, on probation and deputationists would be deemed as an employee for the purpose of aforesaid Rules. Bare perusal of aforesaid criteria as has been prescribed in the Rules, nowhere suggests for allotment of accommodation in favour of the workers engaged by contractors to whom work is awarded by the respondents in open tender.

15. Hence, in view of the aforesaid Allotment Rules, members of the petitioner-Union are not entitled for allotment of any residential accommodation by the respondents and, as such, this Court has no hesitation to conclude that the respondents are not under any obligation to provide accommodation to the members of the petitioner-Union.

16. Apart from the above, this Court also perused the agreement entered into between the respondents and the contractor, namely M/s Hem Power Corporation, which nowhere suggests that the respondents are under obligation to provide accommodation, if any, to the workers engaged by the contractors for the construction of project.

17. This Court is of the view that availability of vacant accommodation, if any, with the respondents cannot be a sole ground for providing accommodation to the members of the petitioner-Union, who are admittedly not the employees of the respondents in terms of the Allotment Rules and, as such, no illegality can be found with the action of the respondents in denying accommodation to the members of the petitioner-Union. Since, members of petitioner-Union have no locus and right to claim accommodation from the respondents, any plea of discrimination made on behalf of petitioner-Union deserves to be rejected outrightly. However, perusal of paragraph 4 of the reply filed by respondents clearly suggests that security agencies like CISF, HIMPESCO and Himachal Pradesh Police deployed at the site are very vital agencies for the safety and security of the project and accordingly their employees have been provided accommodation in terms of the contract entered into between the respondents and the Agencies, referred to here-in-above.

18. Similarly, employees of DPS school, which has been set-up for the wards of the employees of the respondents, have been rightly provided accommodation in terms of agreement entered into between the respondents and the Management of School.

19. After perusing various agreements having been placed on record by the respondents, this Court has no reason to conclude that the respondents have discriminated the members of the petitioner-Union viz. a viz. various agencies in not allotting residential accommodation. It would be appropriate to reproduce para 4 of the reply filed by the respondents hereunder:

> "4.That the averments made in this para of the petition so far they pertain to record, those are not disputed and the averments which are contrary to the record, those are specifically repudiated. It is submitted on behalf of the replying respondent that project of the replying respondent is fetching revenue to the State and Central Government and is a pride of the Nation. The security agencies like CISF, HIMPESCO and Himachal Pradesh Police deployed at the site are very vital agencies for the safety and security of prime project and employees working therein. As per terms and conditions of the contract with these agencies, the replying respondents are responsible and liable to provide accommodation to the employees of these agencies deployed for the safety and security of the projects. A copy of the agreement with the CISF is annexed as Annexure RD for the perusal of the Hon'ble Court. Similarly, the setting up of DPS school has proved a boon not only to the wards of the employees of the replying respondents but also to the public at large of the area. Therefore, as per terms and conditions of the agreement with the management of the DPS school, the replying respondents are responsible and liable to provide accommodation to the school staff at the project site. A copy of the Agreement with the School is annexed as Annexure RE. It is a fact that some residential accommodation has been provided to the army authorities at Jhakri as per the Rules of SJVNL. It is admitted that zero Type single room set have been provided to one contractor namely M/s Wang Gaar Infrastructure Pvt. Ltd. for office purpose only. Similarly, one zero type single room set has been provided to contractor M/s Jagdeep Aneja Paschim Vihar, New Delhi taking into consideration the specialized services being provided by the contractor for the smooth running of the project and the specialized services are not available at project site. It is also admitted that zero type accommodation has been allotted to contractor M/s Kingson Studio (photographer) as per terms and conditions of the contract between the parties, copy whereof is annexed herewith as Annexure RF. It is further admitted that residential accommodation has been allotted to the Pujaris deployed in the temples of the project vicinity keeping in view the demand of majority of the employees and the local residents of the area. Therefore, keeping in view the fact there is no justification on the part of the members of the petitioner to claim allotment of residential accommodation, more particularly, when the terms and conditions of the contract agreement with the contractor do not envisage such situation whereby the members of the petitioner can claim any such allotment of residential accommodation. It is submitted that keeping in view the above stated facts and circumstances, the demand of residential accommodation raised by the petitioner being against the terms and conditions of the contract agreement with the contractor, was rightly not considered by the replying respondents."

20. As far as, another contention put-forth by the counsel representing the petitioner-Union with regard to violation of provisions of the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Act, 1970 (for short, Act of 1970) is concerned, it would be apt to reproduce here-in-below Section 17 of the said Act:-

> "17. Rest-rooms. - (1) In every place wherein contract labour is required to halt at night in connection with the work of an establishment -
>
> (a) to which this Act applies, and
>
> (b) in which work requiring employment of contract labour is likely to continue for such period as may be prescribed,
>
> there shall be provided and maintained by the contractor for the use of the contract labour such number of rest-rooms or such other suitable alternative accommodation within such time as may be prescribed.
> (2) The rest-rooms or the alternative accommodation to be provided under sub-section (1) shall be sufficiently lighted and ventilated and shall be maintained in a clean and comfortable condition.

21. Perusal of aforesaid provisions clearly shows that contractor is required to provide and maintain rest-rooms in every place, where labour is required to halt at night in connection with work of establishment. The aforesaid provisions of the Act of 1970 relied upon by petitioner-Union, nowhere binds the respondents to provide accommodation to the members of petitioner-Union, who were admittedly engaged by the contractor.

22. Rule 41 of the Contract Labour (Regulation and Abolition) Central Rules, 1971 (for short, Rules of 1971) is also reproduced here-in-below:-

> "41.Rest Rooms.-(1) In every place wherein contract labour is required to halt at night in connection with the working of the establishment to which the Act applies and in which employment of contract labour is likely to continue for 3 months or more, the contractor shall provide and maintain rest rooms or other suitable alternative accommodation within fifteen days of the coming into force of the rules in the case of existing establishments, and within fifteen days of the commencement of the employment of contract labour in new establishments.
> (2) If the amenity referred to in sub-rule (1) is not provided by the contractor within the period prescribed the principal employer shall provide the same within a period of fifteen days of the expiry of the period laid down in the said sub-rule.
>
> (3) Separate rooms shall be provided for women employees.
>
> (4) Effective and suitable provision shall be made in every room for securing and maintaining adequate ventilation by the circulation of fresh air and there shall also be provided and maintained sufficient and suitable natural or artificial lighting.
>
> (5) The rest-room or rooms or other suitable alternative accommodation shall be of such dimensions so as to provide at least a floor area 1.1 sq. metre for each person making use of the rest room.
>
> (6) The rest-room or rooms or other suitable alternative accommodation shall be so constructed as to afford adequate protection against heat, wind, rain and shall have smooth, hard and impervious floor surface.
> (7) The rest-room or other suitable alternative accommodation shall be at a convenient distance from the establishment and shall have adequate supply of wholesome drinking water."

23. Perusal of aforesaid provisions also suggests that contractor shall provide and maintain rest-room or other suitable alternative accommodation to the contract labour where the labour is required to halt at night in connection with the work of establishment to which Act of 1970 applies. Sub-clause 2 of Rule 41 of the Rules of 1971 though suggests that, in case, contractor fails to provide amenity in terms of sub-rule 1, principal employer shall provide the same within fifteen days of the expiry of the period laid down in the said Rules. But in the present case, as has been discussed in detail, there is no privity of contract between the replying respondents and petitioner-Union. Moreover, members of petitioner-Union have been engaged by contractor to whom the contract is awarded by the replying respondents for a specific period and agreement entered into between the respondents and contractor, nowhere suggests that respondents are under obligation to provide accommodation, if any, to the members of the petitioner-Union. Moreover, as has been discussed in detail, the Allotment Rules nowhere entitle the members of the petitioner-Union to claim accommodation, which otherwise is available to the employees of the respondents.

24. Otherwise also, there is no document on record suggestive of the fact that at any point of time members of the petitioner-Union raised their claim for accommodation, if any, with the contractor, who engaged them. Even for the sake of argument, it is presumed that the respondents being principal employer is under obligation to provide accommodation to the employees engaged by the contractor, the petitioner-Union ought to have placed on record communication, if any, made by petitioner-Union or its members with the contractor, asking him to provide accommodation in terms of provisions of the aforesaid Act of 1970 and the Rules of 1971. But in the present case, we are unable to find any document which could persuade us to infer that at first instance members of the petitioner-Union raised their claim for accommodation, if any, with the contractor and as such no benefit can be claimed by the members of petitioner-Union in terms of aforesaid Act of 1970 and the Rules framed thereunder, from the respondents.

25. Even if it is presumed that the respondents being principal employer are under obligation to provide accommodation to the workers engaged by the contractor in terms of the Rule 41 of the Rules of 1971, referred to here-in-above, there is no document available on record suggestive of the fact that petitioner represented to the contractor who engaged them, for making available accommodation in terms of provisions/rules of the aforesaid Act. In terms of Section 17 of the aforesaid Act as well as Rule 40 of Rules referred here-in-above, principal employer is only bound to provide accommodation, if at the first instance contractor fails to provide the same to its workers. Interestingly, in the present case, petitioner-Union has neither represented to contractor who engaged its members for construction work nor placed on record any document suggestive of the fact that its request for providing accommodation was not acceded to by the contractor and as such the petitioner-Union was compelled to make representation to the respondents, praying therein for providing accommodation. Hence, we are unable to accept the aforesaid contention put-forth on behalf of petitioner-Union that the respondents being principal employer are under obligation to provide accommodation to the employees engaged by the contractor.

26. Sections 22, 24 & 25 of the Act of 1970 provide for punishment for contravention of any of the provisions of the Act which are reproduced below:-

> "22. Obstructions (1) Whoever obstructs an inspector in the discharge of his duties under this Act or refuses or willfully neglects to afford the inspector any reasonable facility for making any inspection, examination, inquiry or investigation authorized by or under this Act in relation to an establishment to which, or a contractor to whom, this Act applies, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both. (2) Whoever willfully refuses to produce on the demand of an inspector any register or other document kept in pursuance of this Act or prevents or attempts to prevent or does anything which he has reason to believe is likely to prevent any person from appearing before or being examined by an inspector acting in pursuance of his duties under this Act, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with a fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.
> 24. Other offences
> If any person contravenes any of the provisions of this Act or of any rules made thereunder for which no other penalty is elsewhere provided, he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

25. Offences by companies

(1) If the person committing an offence under this Act is a company, the company as well as every person in charge of, and responsible to, the company for the conduct of its business at the time of commission of the offence shall be deemed to be guilty of the offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly:

PROVIDED that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any such person liable to any punishment if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company and it is proved that the offence has been committed with the consent or connivance of, or that the commission of the offence is attributable to any neglect on the part of any director, manager, managing agent or any other officer of the company, such director, manager, managing agent or such other officer shall also be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

Explanation : For the purpose of this section-

(a) "company" means any body corporate and includes a firm or other association of individuals; and

(b) "director", in relation to a firm, means a partner in the firm.

27. Sections 26 & 27 of the Act of 1970 also provide that no court shall take cognizance of any offence except on a complaint made by, or with the previous sanction and no court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence punishable under the said Act. Sections 26 & 27 of the Act of 1970 read thus:-

"26. Cognizance of offences

No court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act except on a complaint made by, or with the previous sanction in writing of, the inspector and no court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence punishable under this Act.

27. Limitation of prosecutions

No court shall take cognizance of an offence punishable under this Act unless the complaint thereof is made within three months from the date on which the alleged commission of the offence came to the knowledge of an inspector:

PROVIDED that where the offence consists of disobeying a written order made by an inspector, complaint, thereof may be made within six months of the date on which the offence is alleged to have been committed."

28. In the present case, as has been observed above, petitioner-Union has not been able to demonstrate that at any point of time prior to filing of their claim before the respondents, it had raised the issue of accommodation with contractor.

29. In view of the specific provisions contained in the Act of 1970, as referred to here-in-above, the present petition is not maintainable.

30. Interestingly, in the present case, petitioner-Union has not arrayed respective contractors as party respondents, who are otherwise under obligation to make accommodation available to their workers in terms of the aforesaid Act of 1970 and the Rules of 1971. Bare perusal of averments contained in the writ petition itself suggests that present petition is sheer abuse of the process of law because at no point of time, petitioner has been able to prove its locus as well as right to claim accommodation, if any, from the respondents.

31. Apart from the above, petitioner-Union has miserably failed to prove its locus as far as filing of the present petition is concerned because as has been discussed in the earlier part of this judgment, no resolution whatsoever, authorising Mr. Narender Singh, General Secretary of the petitioner-Union, has been placed on record to file the present writ petition and as such the present petition is liable to be dismissed solely on the ground of maintainability.

32. We were inclined to dismiss this petition with cost, however, in the given facts and circumstances of the case, we refrain from doing so.

33. Having glance of the above discussion, we are of the considered view that the writ petition deserves to be dismissed and the same is dismissed accordingly alongwith pending CMPs, if any.

Cases referred:

Sunil Kumar versus State of Himachal Pradesh, latest HLJ, 2010 HP, 207
State of Himachal Pradesh versus Mehboob Khan 2013(3) Him.L.R. (FB) 1834

For the appellant : Mr. D.S. Nainta, Addl. A.G.
For the Respondents : Mr. Suneel Mohan Goel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, J. (oral).

State of Himachal Pradesh is in appeal before this Court. The complaint is that learned Special Judge (Presiding Officer, Fast Track Court), Kullu has erroneously acquitted the respondents, hereinafter referred to as 'the accused', from charge under Sections 20 and 29 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985, hereinafter referred to as 'the NDPS Act' in short, vide judgment dated 01.06.2010 passed in Sessions Trial No.32of 2007. The impugned judgment has thus been sought to be quashed and set aside with further prayer that both accused be convicted and sentenced for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 20 and 29 of the NDPS Act.

2. The facts in a nut-shell are that on 30.11.2006 in the midnight i.e. 1.30 a.m., a police party of Police Station, Bhunter, District Kullu, headed by ASI Bhagat Ram PW-10 intercepted both accused while on its way to Sujehni from Kalehli. Both accused were talking to each other. One was holding a torch in his hand whereas the other walking ahead of him. When both accused reached at the place where the police party had reached on its way to Sujehni, on seeing them, both accused got scared and tried to flee away. They were chased by PW-10 with the help of the other police personnel accompanying him and one of the accused was apprehended by ASI Bhagat Ram at a distance of 50 meters. The said accused disclosed his name as Hukam Singh. The other accused namely Daulat Ram, however, ran away taking advantage of darkness. Accused Hukam Singh has disclosed the particulars of accused Daulat Ram also. Being dead hours of night no one was available for being associated as independent witness. Therefore, PW-10 has associated Constable Harbans Kumar PW-8 and Constable Vikram Singh as independent witnesses. Accused Hukam Singh was apprised that the police has suspicion of his carrying some narcotic drug or psychotropic substance with him and that his search is required. He was apprised about his right of his being searched either before a nearest gazetted officer or Magistrate. He vide memo Ex. PP, however, opted for his search by the police present there. After obtaining the search of the said accused, PW-10 had offered his own search first to him in the presence of witnesses. No incriminating substance was recovered from the possession of PW-10. Memo Ex.PQ was prepared in this behalf.

3. It is thereafter the search of accused Hukam Singh was conducted in the presence of witnesses. He was holding a light sky blue coloured polythene bag in his right hand. The bag was opened and it was found to be containing charas in the shape of sticks duly wrapped in polythene. When weighed, it was found one kilogram. Two samples weighing 25 grams each were separated for the purpose of chemical analysis and wrapped in two separate parcels of cloths. The remaining charas was put in the same polythene bag from which it was recovered and wrapped in a separate parcel of cloth. Each parcel was sealed with three seals having impression 'H'. The sample of seal Ex.PR was drawn separately. NCB-I form Ex.PM/PG was filled-in in triplicate on the spot. The seal was handed over to Constable Vikram Singh for safe custody after its use. The case property was taken into possession vide seizure memo Ex.PS in the presence of both witnesses. A copy thereof was supplied to accused Hukam Singh. His signature was obtained on the seizure memo in token of supply of the copy thereof to him. The accused thereafter was apprised about the commission of the offence he committed and the provision of sentence under the NDPS Act, therefore, vide memo Ex.PT, he was arrested. Rukka Ex.P-2 was prepared and handed over to Constable Umesh Kumar with a direction to take the same to Police Station, Kullu for registration of FIR. Constable Umesh Kumar handed over the rukka to SHO Mahender Singh, who registered the FIR Ex.PK and handed over the case file to the said Constable for being taken to the Investigating Officer on the spot. The Investigating Officer prepared the site plan Ex.PZ1 and recorded the statements of the witnesses as per their version.

4. Accused Hukam Singh was produced before Mahender Singh PW-6, SHO Police Station, Kullu and he was interrogated by him. He re-sealed each parcel containing the case property with three seals having impression 'T'. He also filled-in column No.9 to 11 of NCB-I forms Ex.PM. Sample of seal 'T' was taken separately on a piece of cloth, which is Ex.PN. The SHO thereafter deposited all the three parcels with Roop Singh, the then Moherer Malkhana. The MHC made entries qua receipt of the case property in the Malkhana register, the extract whereof is Ex.PE. The sample parcels along with the seals impressions 'H' and 'T', NCB-I form in triplicate, photocopy of FIR, seizure memo and other documents were handed over by PW-4 to Constable Diwan Chand PW-1 with a direction to carry the same to CFSL, Chandigarh vide RC No.339/06, dated 30.11.2006, EX.PF. The same, however, were not accepted in the laboratory and as such brought back by PW-1 to the Police Station and handed over there to additional MHC Manoj Kumari. The sample parcels were again sent to CFSL Chandigarh vide RC No.343/06, dated 3.12.2006, Ex.PJ, through HHC Jai Kishan along with NCB-I form in triplicate, sample of seals etc. On this occasion, the parcels along with other articles were deposited in the laboratory and PW-5 on return to Police Station has handed over the receipt to MHC Manoj Kumari.

5. The special report Ex.PB was prepared. It was handed over by PW-10 to Ahmad Sayed, Dy. S.P., Kullu on 30.11.2006. The same was perused by the Dy.S.P., Kullu and made the endorsement Ex.PA thereon. The same was proved by his reader Kasmi Ram PW-2, who has further stated that the entries qua special report were made by him in the register Ex.PC.

6. Accused Daulat Ram was also arrested and his search was conduced in the presence of S/Shri Sher Singh and Suresh Kumar. At his instance torch was recovered and taken into possession vide seizure memo Ex.PW. On receipt of the reports of chemical examiner Ex.PO and PZ2, challan against both accused was prepared and presented in the Court.

7. Learned Special Judge has charge-sheeted accused Hukam Singh for the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of the NDPS Act, whereas his co-accused Daulat Ram for the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 read with Section 29 of the NDPS Act. They both pleaded not guilty and claimed trial. Therefore, the prosecution has produced evidence in order to sustain the charge against them.

8. After recording the prosecution evidence, the statements of both accused were also recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

9. On the completion of record and hearing learned Public Prosecutor as well as learned defence counsel, learned special Judge, while placing reliance on the Division Bench Judgment of this Court in Sunil Kumar versus State of Himachal Pradesh, latest HLJ, 2010 HP, 207, has arrived at a conclusion that the stuff recovered from the possession of the accused Hukam Singh has not been proved to be Charas and treating the judgment in Sunil's case supra as a binding precedent, acquitted both the accused of the charge framed against each of them with the following observations:

> "….. Therefore in view of this binding precedent when the report does not show that the sample was containing resin and its percentage, the report does not prove that stuff was charas and in absence of any such evidence, it cannot be concluded that accused was found in possession of any Charas. Thus, the case of the prosecution would not be established on the basis of the report of analysis Ex.PO.
> xxxx
>
> 15 Once it is held that, the stuff recovered from the possession of accused Hukam Singh has not been proved to be charas accused Daulat Ram cannot be held to be a party to criminal conspiracy to transport the said Charas. Moreover, there is no evidence to show that Daulat Ram accompanied Hukam Ram on the relevant day. No eye witness identified him. He was implicated on the basis of the statement made by Hukam Ram at the spot. This statement was not reduced into writing and would not be admissible. Recovery of torch would not implicate him as the torch is an innocuous article which is commonly available. Hence, the case against the accused Daulat Ram is also not proved."

10. It is worth mentioning that a Larger Bench of this Court in State of Himachal Pradesh versus Mehboob Khan 2013(3) Him.L.R. (FB) 1834 has reconsidered the law laid down by the Division in Sunil's case supra and concluded as under:- > a. After taking into consideration Section 293 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, Sections 45 and 46 of the Indian Evidence Act and the Law laid down by the apex Court as well as various High Courts discussed in detail hereinabove, we conclude that on account of non-consideration of the same by the Division Bench, which has rendered the judgment in Sunil's case, correct law on the expert opinion and the reports assigned by the scientific expert after analyzing the exhibit has not been laid down.

> b. We further conclude that on account of non-consideration of various reports of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime including Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs, 1961 and to the contrary placing reliance on the text books, which basically are on medical jurisprudence, the Division Bench in Sunil's case failed to assign correct meaning to 'charas' and 'cannabis resin', the necessary constituents of an offence punishable under Section 20 of the NDPS Act.

c. In view of the detailed discussion hereinabove, the Division Bench while deciding Sunil's case supra has definitely erred in taking note of the percentage of tetrahydrocannabinol in three forms of cannabis i.e. Bhang, Ganja and Charas and hence, concluded erroneously that without there being no reference of the resin contents in the reports assigned by the Chemical Examiners in those cases, the contraband recovered is not proved to be Charas, as in our opinion, the Charas is a resinous mass and the presence of resin in the stuff analyzed without there being any evidence qua the nature of the neutral substance, the entire mass has to be taken as Charas.

d. There is no legal requirement of the presence of particular percentage of resin to be there in the sample and the presence of the resin in purified or crude form is sufficient to hold that the sample is that of Charas. The law laid down by the Division Bench in Sunil's case that 'for want of percentage of tetrahydrocannabinol or resin contents in the samples analyzed, the possibility of the stuff recovered from the accused persons being only Bhang i.e. the dried leaves of cannabis plant, possession of which is not an offence, cannot be ruled out', is not a good law nor any such interpretation is legally possible. The percentage of resin contents in the stuff analyzed is not a determinative factor of small quantity, above smaller quantity and lesser than commercial quantity and the commercial quantity. Rather if in the entire stuff recovered from the accused, resin of cannabis is found present on analysis, whole of the stuff is to be taken to determine the quantity i.e. smaller, above smaller but lesser than commercial and commercial, in terms of the notification below Section 2 (vii-a) and (xxiii-a) of the Act.

e. We have discussed the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs, 1961 in detail hereinabove and noted that resin becomes cannabis resin only when it is separated from the plant. The separated resin is cannabis resin not only when it is in 'purified' form, but also when in 'crude' form or still mixed with other parts of the plant. Therefore, the resin mixed with other parts of the plant i.e. in 'crude' form is also charas within the meaning of the Convention and the Legislature in its wisdom has never intended to exclude the weight of the mixture i.e. other parts of the plant in the resin unless or until such mixture proves to be some other neutral substance and not that of other parts of the cannabis plant. Once the expert expressed the opinion that after conducting the required tests, he found the resin present in the stuff and as charas is a resinous mass and after conducting tests if in the opinion of the expert, the entire mass is a sample of charas, no fault can be found with the opinion so expressed by the expert nor would it be appropriate to embark upon the admissibility of the report on any ground, including non-mentioning of the percentage of tetrahydrocannabinol or resin contents in the sample.

f. We are also not in agreement with the findings recorded by the Division Bench in Sunil's case that "mere presence of tetrahydrocannabinol and cystolithic hair without there being any mention of the percentage of tetrahydrocannabinol in a sample of charas is not an indicator of the entire stuff analyzed to be charas" for the reason that the statute does not insist for the presence of percentage in the stuff of charas and mere presence of tetrahydrocannabinol along with cystolithic hair in a sample stuff is an indicator of the same being the resin of cannabis plant because the cystolithic hair are present only in the cannabis plant. When after observing the presence of tetrahydrocannabinol and cystolithic hair, the expert arrives at a conclusion that the sample contains the resin contents, it is more than sufficient to hold that the sample is of charas and the view so expressed by the expert normally should be honoured and not called into question. Of course, neutral material which is not obtained from cannabis plant cannot be treated as resin of the cannabis plants. The resin rather must have been obtained from the cannabis plants may be in 'crude' form or 'purified' form. In common parlance charas is a hand made drug made from extract of cannabis plant. Therefore, any mixture with or without any neutral material of any of the forms of cannabis is to be considered as a contraband article. No concentration and percentage of resin is prescribed for 'charas' under the Act."

11. A Larger Bench, therefore, has held that the judgment in Sunil's case supra does not lay down the correct legal position as to what is Charas and what shall be its constituents in legal parlance and as such not to be followed. Therefore, in view of the Larger Bench judgment in Mehboob Khan's case supra, the impugned judgment can not be said to be legally and factually sustainable and the same as such is quashed and set aside. The case, however, is remanded to learned trial Court for fresh disposal in accordance with law. The parties through learned counsel representing them are directed to appear before the trial Court on 19th September, 2016. Record be sent back so as to reach in the trial Court well before the date fixed.

12. The appeal is accordingly allowed and stands disposed of.

For the appellant: Mr. K.D.Sood, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Sanjeev Sood, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Bhupender Gupta, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Janesh Gupta, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J:

This appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement of the learned District Judge, Hamirpur, Himachal Pradesh, whereby it allowed the appeal preferred before it by the plaintiff who stood aggrieved by the judgement and decree of the learned trial Court whereunder the latter dismissed his suit.

2. The facts necessary for rendering a decision on the instant appeal are that the suit by virtue of amended plaint, plaintiff had claimed a decree for declaration qua the suit land on the ground that the suit land was owned and possessed by Shri Govind, father of the plaintiff. The defendant when was of 13 days old was adopted as son by one Nihala in accordance with the agricultural custom of Tappa Dhatwal, District Hamirpur, and as such the defendant was brought up by his adoptive father Nihala being adopted son and had no legal right whatsoever over the suit land which was owned and possessed by Shri Govind, natural father of defendant and father of plaintiff. It was further pleaded that after the death of Govind, plaintiff is in cultivating possession of the suit land and defendant had virtually abandoned his right in the suit land on account of property got by him from his adoptive father but inadvertently the name of defendant was also incorporated alongwith plaintiff in the revenue record showing him as co-owner of the suit land and as such the entries in favour of defendant in the revenue records are wrong.

3. The defendant filed written statement and thereby resisted and contested the suit of the plaintiff by taking preliminary objection qua maintainability, limitation, estoppel and suppression of material facts. On merits, the defendant termed the averments made in the plaint as wrong and incorrect and pleaded that the revenue entries incorporated in his favour regarding the suit land were correct. It was claimed that he is owner in possession of the land situated in Tika Ghulera, Mouza Dhatwal to the extent of ½ share. It was pleaded that the revenue entries in favour of the defendant were in the knowledge of the plaintiff. The defendant was never adopted by Shri Nihala nor any mutation of inheritance was attested of the land by Nihala in his favour. On the strength of said averments, the defendant claimed dismissal of the suit.

4. Replication to the written statement filed wherein the averments made in the written statement were controverted and those made in the plaint were re-asserted.

5. On the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court on 5.5.2000 struck following issues inter-se the parties at contest:-

1. Whether the plaintiff is the exclusive owner in possession of the suit land as alleged? OPP.

2. Whether revenue entries are wrong and illegal, as alleged? OPP.

3. Whether the defendant was adopted by Shri Nihala, as alleged. If so, its effect? OPP.

4. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to the injunction prayed for? OPP.

5. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to a decree for possession in the alterative as claimed? OPP.

6. Whether the suit is not maintainable in the present form? OPD.

7. Whether the suit is time barred? OPD.

8. Whether the plaintiff is estopped from filing the present suit by his act and conduct? OPD.

9. Whether the plaintiff has not come to the Court with clean hands as alleged. If so, its effect? OPD.

10. Whether the defendant got the property of Shri Nihala by way of gift, as alleged, if so, its effect?OPD.

11. Whether the suit has not been properly valued for the purposes of Court fees and jurisdiction? OPD.

12. Whether the defendant is entitled to special costs under Section 35-A CPC, as alleged. If so, their quantum? OPD.

13. Relief.

6. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, the learned trial Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiff. However, the learned First Appellate Court allowed the appeal preferred therefrom before it by the plaintiff.

7. Now the defendant has instituted the instant Regular Second Appeal before this Court, assailing the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 5.10.2007, this Court admitted the appeal on the hereinafter extracted substantial questions of law:-

"1. Whether the findings of the Court below are perverse, based on misreading of oral and documentary evidence as also the Kangra Customary Law which has vitiated the findings?

2. Whether the suit of the plaintiff was within limitation and the plaintiff was entitled to challenge the mutation of inheritance of Govinda which was attested on 8.2.1917 in the year 1966 when the property was in possession of the defendant and had been separted in Consolidation proceedings in 1962?

3. Whether the findings of the Court below are not sustainable in view of the fact that neither custom was pleaded nor proved and in any case on the proper construction of question No. 77 and the Kangra Customary Law, Rathis of Hamirpur were entitled to inherit the estate of both adopted father as also the natural father?

4. Whether the suit of the plaintiff was maintainable and the plaintiff was entitled to decree for injunction when admittedly appellant was separated possession of the property and the suit was not within limitation?

5. Whether the Court below has misconstrued the judgement Ext.P-16 of the District Judge, Hoshiarpur in holding that there was valid adoption of Bhagat Ram by Nihala when the same was not inter party and no reliance could be placed on the said evidence to prove the adoption of the appellant by Nihala?

Substantial questions of law.

8. One Govind the predecessor in interest of the parties at lis died on 5.12.1916. He left behind three sons, Dhian Singh, Bhagat Ram (defendant) and Inder Singh (plaintiff). On his demise mutations qua his estate comprised in Ext.D-4, Ext.D-5, Ext.D-6 stood attested on 8.2.1917 qua all his sons. Dhian Singh remained unmarried throughout his life also he died issueless on 27.3.1933. On his demise his estate stood on 24.12.1933 mutated as unveiled by Ext.D-1, Ext.D-2 and Ext.D-3 vis-à-vis plaintiff and the defendant. In the year 1962-63 on occurrence of consolidation proceedings in the area whereat the suit land stands located sequelled the consequence of the hitherto undevided Khatas of the parties standing separated. Conspicuously, the plaintiff had concerted to both erode besides disrobe the efficacy of mutation No. 23 Ext.D-4, mutation No. 20 Ext.D-5 and mutation No. 10 Ext.D-6, mutations whereof stood attested on demise of their predecessor in interest namely one Govind on 8.2.1917, in sequel whereof the estate of their predecessor in interest stood mutated respectively in favour of Dhian Singh, Bhagat Ram and Inder Singh. Also a strenuous assay was embarked upon the plaintiff to erode the effect of mutation No. 90 comprised in Ext.D-1, mutation No. 94 comprised in Ext.D-2, and mutation No. 99 comprised in Ext.D-3 mutation whereof stood attested on occurrence of demise of Dhian Singh whereby his estate given his leaving behind no surviving heir stood mutated in favour of the plaintiff and the defendant. Obviously also on occurrence of partition of the suit land during the course of holding of consolidation proceedings in the year 1962-63 in villages Ghulera, Sunani and Mundwin whereat the suit land stands located whereupon obviously the hitherto undivided Khatas of the litigating parties stood dismembered also stands concerted to hold no legal worth. Moreover an onslaught stands mounted qua the efficacy of revenue entries borne in the relevant revenue records qua the suit land conspicuously when their occurrence therein holds consonance with the aforesaid mutations. The anchor of the legal onslaught mounted by the plaintiff qua the inefficacy of the aforesaid mutations besides qua the inefficacy of the revenue entries borne on the relevant records qua the suit land rests upon the defendant Bhagat Ram while his evidently as portrayed by a conclusive rendition of the learned District Judge, Hoshiarpur comprised in Ext.P-16 standing pronounced therein to when aged 13 days old standing adopted by one Nehala concomitantly rendering him unbefitting to hold any vestige of right to claim inheritance qua the estate of his natural or putative father one Govind, estate whereof subsequently opened for succession on occurrence of his demise on 5.12.2016. The finality of the judicial verdict qua the facet aforesaid embodied in Ext.P-16 conspicuously mutes the controversy qua the trite factum of defendant Bhagat Ram standing adopted by one Nehala. The singular factum of the decision recorded in Ext.P-16 holding pronouncements therein of Bhagat Ram standing adopted by Nehala not being a rendition inter se the litigating parties hereat is inconsequential nor would not erode its finality unless the prima donna factum probandum pronounced therein stood reversed by a Court higher than the one which pronounced Ext.P-16. However, when no evidence stands adduced herebefore qua the judicial verdict comprised in Ext.P-16 standing reversed by the High Court concerned renders it to acquire conclusivity also for reiteration benumbs the espousal of the defendant of it being not inter parties vis-à-vis the litigating parties hereat its holding no efficacy. However, with the aforesaid prima donna factum standing silenced would not ipso facto countervail the submission of the counsel for the defendant Bhagat Ram qua his merely thereupon not holding any vestige of right to inherit the estate of his natural and putative father one Govind. For silencing the aforesaid facet of the controversy an allusion is enjoined to be made qua the prevalence of customary laws of inheritance in the area whereat the suit land stands located also its holding clout besides governing the inheritance by an adopted son qua the estate of his deceased putative father, customary right whereof stands proclaimed in Question No. 77 and in the apposite answer meted thereto also finds explicit expression in an apposite illustration thereof as held besides encapsulated in the Customary Law of the Kangra District (excluding Kullu) compiled by L.Middleton, Esquire, I.C.S. Settlement Officer, Kangra District, which stands extracted hereinafter:-

> "Question No. 77 – Is an adopted son entitled to succeed to his natural father in case of the latter having no other lineal issue?
> Answer- Except the Gosains of Kangra and the Gaddis and Kanets of Palampur Tehsil all the tribes say the adopted son is not entitled to succeed to his natural father."
>
> Under illustration regarding Tehsil Hamirpur in relation to Mauza Dhatwal, to which the parties to the suit belong, it is illustrated as under:
> "Mauza Dhatwal – Lachhman, adopted son of Attar Singh, Rajput, did not succeed to his natural father, who had no other lineal issues."

An incisive reading thereof when unravels qua the relevant apt portions embodied therein holding upsurgings qua an adopted son not standing entitled to stake a right to succeed to the estate of his natural father concomitantly does not bestow any right in the defendant to given his standing adopted by one Nehala to succeed to the estate of his natural father one Govind whereupon the relevant mutations besides the revenue entries qua the suit land embodied in the relevant revenue record when find their occurrence therewithin in consonance therewith garner invalidation. Moreover, the aforesaid submission addressed by the counsel for the defendant Bhagat Ram holding no legal sinew stands mobilized with heightened momentum from the unfoldments occurring in the hereinabove extracted apt illustration thereto, illustration whereof is aptly applicable with precision qua the location of the suit land also qua the caste whereto the parties belong hence with its conspicuously bespeaking of Mauja Datwal whereat the suit land stands located qua thereat an adopted son not holding any right to succeed to the estate of his natural father when the latter leaves behind lineal issues, concomitantly its vividly pronouncing the factum of a bar standing constituted under the relevant customary laws holding sway at the time contemporaneous to the opening for succession the estate of one Govind against an adopted son inheriting the estate of his natural father when the latter besides him leaves behind other lineal issues. In other words, when the natural putative father of an adoptive son besides his adoptive son leaves behind other lineal issues, the relevant customary law governing the right of inheritance of an adopted son qua the estate of his natural father extinguishes also emaciates the right of an adopted son to stake any claim to inherit the estate of his deceased natural father. Given the holding of the aforesaid principle in the relevant illustration, principle whereof pertains with specificity qua the suit land also its with specificity governing the rights of inheritance of an adopted son qua the estate of his natural father given theirs belonging to the Rajput clan conspicuously when it articulates qua an adoptive son holding no right to claim inheritance to the estate of his natural father when the latter leaves behind plurality of lineal issues, articulation whereof is befittingly applicable vis-à-vis the factual scenario hereat tritely when wherewithin on occurrence of demise of one Govind the natural father of the parties at contest he left behind three sons imperatively when besides defendant Bhagat Ram he stood succeeded by his other sons or other lineal issues, as a corollary with the aforesaid bar constituted in the relevant illustration holding applicability with aplomb qua the area whereat the suit land is located besides its holding clout qua the manner besides the right of inheritance of an adopted son vis-à-vis the estate of his natural father specifically when they belong to the apt Rajput clan hence also concomitantly renders the claim for inheritance of defendant Bhagat, adoptive son of one Nehala qua the estate of his natural father Govind to suffer effacement. However, the learned counsel for the defendant has made an unstoppable unpunctuated attempt to on anvil of a judgement of this Court reported in Sita Ram and others Vs. Bugga Ram and others 1994(2) Sim.L.C. 455, relevant paragraph 9 whereof stands extracted hereinafter:

> "9. On the other hand, Shri Gupta referring to judgment in Gainda and Anr. v. Mt. Jai Devi and Anr., 1944 AIR(Lah) 90; Inder represented by Arjan and Anr. v. Makhtar minor s\o Rai Singh and Ors., 1945 AIR(Lah) 17; Mukhtar Singh v. Nathal and Anr., 1946 AIR(Lah) 305 and Gumam Singh v. Smt. Ass Kaur and Ors., 1977 AIR(P&H) 103, has pointed out that adoption under the Punjab Customary Law is different than the adoption under Hindu Law, as under Punjab Customary Law only a personal relationship is established between the appointed heir and appointer, and there is no question of transplantation of adopted son into the family of his adopted father and the adopted son does not lose his right to inherit property of his natural father.
> The proposition of law laid down in these judgments cannot be disputed. However, in the present case it has never been the case of the Appellants-Defendants that since the adoption of Mast Ram was under the Punjab Customary Law he was only appointed heir by Jangi of his property and he did not lose his right to inherit the property of his natural father. In the written statement no custom has been pleaded and the clear stand is that, "adoption deed was executed by Jangi in favour of Mastu but the said adoption was cancelled by the then Raja Sahib of Nalagarh State and was not acted upon...and the ties of Mast Ram alias Mastu were not severed from the family of Dooru to the family of Jangi as alleged in this para." In other words, had the adoption deed not cancelled or acted upon, Mast Ram would have been transplanted in the family of adopted father. Since this Court has already held that the adoption deed was neither cancelled nor could be cancelled in law, it is held that Mast Ram stood transplanted in the family of adopted father. Therefore, this plea cannot be permitted to be advanced in this second appeal in the absence of any pleading as well as evidence on record. The adoption had taken place as far back as in the year 1920 A.D. and the parties being Hindu, the only conclusion is that they were governed by Hindu Law in the matter of adoption."

to contend of the aforesaid illustration held in the compilation made by L.Middleton, Esquire, I.C.S. Settlement Officer, Kangra District, holding no sway. The vigour of the aforesaid contention tritely stands rested qua when it stands mandated therein of under the Punjab customary law holding application in the area whereat the suit land stands located besides holding sway at the relevant time precisely at the time contemporaneous to the demise of Govind qua adoption thereunder being contradistinct vis-à-vis adoption under the statutory law, contradistinctivity inter se adoption under the Punjab Customary Law vis-à-vis adoption under the statutory law standing constituted by the factum of the Punjab Customary Law within its gamut holding a contemplation qua occurrence of transplantation of an adopted son vis-à-vis the family of his adoptive father whereupon the right of inheritance of an adopted son qua his deceased natural father's estate remains un-obliterated whereupon hence rights stand preserved in the adoptive son to inherit the estate of his natural father. He hence contends qua the rights of the defendant to succeed to the estate of his natural father one Govind neither standing effaced nor obliterated. However, the counsel for the defendant while planking his submission thereupon, has read it in segregation of the apt illustration alluded to hereinabove, illustration whereof holds therewithin with precision also with vigour the relevant custom governing the rights of inheritance of an adopted son qua the estate of his natural father. Had he read both in coagulation he would omit to make the aforesaid submission. Also the reliance as placed by him upon a judgement of this Court reported in 1994(2) Sim.L.C. 455 relevant paragraph whereof stands extracted hereinabove is wholly inapplicable hereat given its obviously standing rendered per incuriam vis-à-vis the apt applicable hereat illustration which stands extracted hereinabove wherewithin an apparent mandate ensues qua under the apposite customary rights of inheritance of an adopted son vis-à-vis the estate of his deceased putative father given his deceased putative father standing succeeded by lineal descendants his relevant right of succession to the estate of his deceased natural father hence standing scuttled. As an apt sequitur the postulation occurring in paragraph 9 of the rendition of this Court relied upon by the leaned counsel for the defendant does not hold any sway nor constitutes the relevant ratio decidendi for setting at rest the controversy qua the entitlement of defendant Bhaghat Ram, adoptive son of one Nehala to succeed to the estate of his natural father one Govind. Moreso, with the apt illustration holding sway whereat the suit land stands located besides also when it holds legal prominence at the time contemporaneous to the occurrence of demise of Govind whereat the relevant mutations stood attested stridently wanes his right, to, given deceased Govind standing succeeded by the plaintiff besides by the defendant and one Dhian Singh to hence succeed to the estate of his aforesaid natural father. The counsel appearing for the defendant appellant has contended with vigour on the anvil of a judgement of this Court reported in Smt. Shakuntala and others Vs. Surindeer Chand and others, AIR 2006 Himachal Pradesh 108 mandating therewithin a principle anvilled in concurrence with the prescription of a period of three years embodied in Article 113 of the IInd Schedule of Limitation Act, 1963 for institution by the aggrieved, a suit for declaration whereas the plaintiff, since, three years from 1917 when the relevant mutations stood attested qua his estate vis-à-vis him besides his other lineal descendants on occurrence of demise of Govind the natural father of the defendant, not, instituting an apposite suit for declaration, also his within three years since 1933 whereat on demise of Dhian Singh the brother of the parties at contest mutations qua his estate, his leaving behind no surviving heir stood attested qua the parties at lis, not, instituting a suit also with the plaintiff not instituting a suit for declaration within three years from 1962-63 whereat during the course of holding of consolidation proceedings in the relevant area their respective hitherto joint Khatas stood segregated, whereat at all the phases/eras aforesaid, a, right to sue accrued or occurred or more conspicuously when the right to sue accrued to the plaintiff on attestation of the relevant mutations renders the institution of a declaratory suit by the plaintiff after a prolonged inordinate delay of more than three years from the relevant phases aforesaid to stand barred by limitation whereupon he contends of the plaintiff standing non-suited. The aforesaid submission made herebefore by the learned counsel for the defendant stands simplistically made, his standing unmindful to the factum of an uncontested display qua the plaintiff standing aged 3 months old at the time of attestation of mutations qua the estate of Govind obviously his being a minor thereat deterred him to acquire knowledge qua attestation of mutations comprised in Ext.D-4 and Ext.D-5 qua the estate of Govind vis-à-vis him besides his brothers one of whom defendant Bhagat Ram stood thereat adopted by one Nehala. Also given his continuing to be a minor he hence stood precluded to thereat or beyond three years thereafter institute a suit for declaration for setting aside the mutations aforesaid. Also on demise of Dhian Singh which occurred in the year 1933 he deposes qua his thereat serving in the army at the frontiers besides he testifies qua his from 1939-47 during the out break of world war-2 remaining in jail in Japan. The aforesaid testifications remain unrebutted rather acquiesced by the defendant wherefrom a sequel stands derived of their holding tenacity. Since no worthwhile best evidence connoted by the plaintiff recording his presence before the Consolidation Authorities concerned at the stage whereat they in the year 1962-63 subjected the suit land to consolidation whereupon their hitherto undivided holdings stood dismembered, stands adduced nor any evidence stands adduced holding manifestations of the plaintiff earlier than 1995 applying for copies of the relevant records from the revenue agencies concerned whereas adduction of the aforesaid evidence would dispel the contention of the plaintiff qua his not prior to 1995 acquiring knowledge qua theirs holding therein the name of defendant Bhagat Ram as a co-owner alongwith him qua the suit land, conspicuously hence theirs standing unadduced would facilitate this Court to erect an inference of the plaintiff not prior to 1995 when defendant Bhagat Ram provenly started interfering with his possession qua the suit land acquiring knowledge qua the existence vis-à-vis the defendant of erroneous entries in the relevant revenue records. Also the prima donna factum of the defendant not adducing best evidence displaying the factum of the plaintiff on his acquiring majority, his holding knowledge qua the inefficacy of the relevant mutations besides the inefficacy of the revenue entries recorded in consequence therewith, is a significant pointer of the defendant holding concurrence with the plaintiff qua his not acquiring the apposite knowledge earlier than 1995 whereat the cause of action besides the apposite right to sue accrued to the plaintiff constituted by the defendant invading his rights qua the suit land. The aforestated inference erected by this Court yet entails an obligation upon this Court to scuttle the effect of the principle of law held in the judgement relied upon by the Counsel for the defendant wherein the principle of accrual of right to sue occurring on attestation of relevant mutations stands encapsulated. The principle of law aforesaid held therewithin cannot stand omnibusly applied. If it stands applied blindfoldedly it would perpetuate gross injustice. Also a rigid application of the principle held therewithin would foist rights in the defendant to stake a right qua the estate of his deceased natural father even when he at the inception or the stage of the recording of the relevant mutations he stood barred for reasons aforesaid to alongwith his brothers succeed to his estate. Concomitantly, also a mantle of legal validation would stand foisted thereupon even when they stood barred to stand attested qua the defendant. Needless to hold of the reflections in all the apt revenue records holding no validity theirs spurring from mutations, in contemporaneity qua recording whereof no vestige of right inhered in the defendant. In sequel when at the inception of the attestation of the relevant mutations they stood rendered nonest besides void, any untenable warranting qua theirs standing impeached within the period of limitation constituted in the relevant article of the Limitation Act would sequel theirs thereupon acquiring the paramount virtue of validation in law, imputation thereto of validation would strike a discordance also dichotomy vis-à-vis their initial occurrence starkly being non-est besides void. Naturally hence void besides tainted mutations also revenue entries made in consonance therewith qua the suit land when hence bereft of any legal sinew to invest qua the suit land rights in the defendant warrants theirs being set-aside and quashed, for as a corollary on anvil thereof belittling the justifications of the defendant for legitimizing his holding any tract of the suit land. For a void entry being undone significantly for disrobing the defendant to perpetuate his untenably holding any tract of the suit land it can stand impeached from the date of acquisition of knowledge by the plaintiff qua its existence in the relevant records, also when the relevant acquisition of knowledge by the plaintiff ensues from his rights upon the suit land standing threatened besides invaded, concomitantly thereupon alone the 'right to sue' accrues to the plaintiff whereafter he within three years thereafter stands entitled to institute a suit for declaration. Any leanings by this Court to take a view contrary to the one aforesaid would efface the working of justice vis-à-vis the plaintiff contrarily it would permit the defendant to perpetuate his unlawful claim qua any tract of the suit land, for undoing the occurrence of any mishap to justice also to mitigate any unwarranted prolonged efficacy standing enjoyed by void entries it is deemed fit to conclude of 'right to sue' within the ambit of the relevant article of Limitation Act, accruing to the plaintiff not from occurrence of adverse entries qua his rights qua the suit land rather conspicuously the 'right to sue' to the plaintiff emerging besides also its sprouting on the defendant making a loud, open unequivocal threat to infringe his indefeasible right qua the suit land. With this Court forming the aforesaid conclusion qua a 'right to sue' accruing to the plaintiff on his rights qua the suit land standing openly proclaimed to be infringed and invaded by the defendant, invasion whereof when stands unflinchingly proven to occur in 1995 renders the year 1995 to constitute the relevant year wherefrom the period of three years warrants its computation for hence rendering his suit to be maintainable whereas his instituting his suit within three years thereafter renders his suit to be within limitation. The effect of the aforesaid conclusion also holds coagulation with the non adduction of the relevant best evidence aforesaid in portrayal of the plaintiff earlier thereto holding knowledge qua the occurrence of erroneous reflections in the revenue records. In trite the parlance borne by the phrase 'right to sue' occurring in the relevant article of the Limitation Act is of it standing read for undoing the efficacy of void entries also its precluding a party to on stricto senso anvil thereof perpetuate his unlawful rights qua the suit land. Moreso, when the undoing of their inefficacy would rid injustice also when knowledge qua their existence in the relevant records emanates only on rights of the plaintiff standing visibly infringed by an overt act of the defendant contrarily when hence the parlance borne by the coinage aforesaid does not bear any signification of its mandating the plaintiff to pedantically, without his holding knowledge of the void entries yet preemptorily institute a suit within three years of occurrence of void entries.

9. This Court while building the aforesaid legal postulation finds succor from the decisions of the Punjab and Haryana High Court reported in Niamat Singh vs. Darbari Singh and others 1956 AIR (43) 1956 Punjab 231, Mst. Rukhmabai vs. Lala Laxminarayan and others AIR (47) 1960 SC 335 and also from Daya Singh and other Vs. Gurdev Singh (dead) by LRs and others 2010 2 SCC 194.

10. The summum bonum of the above discussion is of the declaratory suit of the plaintiff standing not barred by limitation rather it being within limitation. In aftermath, the judgement and decree of the learned First Appellate Court as stands assailed hereat does not suffer from any infirmity, hence it is maintained and affirmed. The substantial questions of law are answered accordingly. In sequel the appeal is dismissed. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly. The parties are left to bear their own costs. All pending applications also stand disposed of accordingly. Records be sent back forthwith.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

Dr. Amarjeet Singh .....Appellant/Petitioner.

Versus

Smt. Vijay Laxmi .....Respondent.

FAO No. 236 of 2010.
Reserved on : 23.08.2016.
Decided on : 29th August, 2016.

Hindu Marriage Act, 1955- Section 13- Marriage between the parties was solemnized according to Hindu Rites and Custom – husband filed a petition for divorce pleading that he was treated with cruelty by filing a complaint leveling false allegation of beating and keeping some concubine – she deserted husband for more than three years- wife filed a reply pleading that husband started picking up quarrel with her under the influence of liquor- he had sold her ornaments to satisfy his lust for liquor and to meet the expenses of his concubine- she had filed a true complaint - she would join the company of the husband, if she is treated with respect and dignity- petition was dismissed- held, in appeal that wife had not given any specific instance when she was treated with cruelty- name of the concubine was also not mentioned – filing of the complaint amounts to cruelty- further, relationship had broken down irretrievably- thus, severance of marital ties would be just and expedient- appeal allowed and marriage ordered to be dissolved. (Para-8 to 12)

Case referred:
K. Srinivas versus K. Sunita, (2014)16 SCC 34

For the Appellant: Mr. P. P. Chauhan, Advocate.
For the Respondent : Mr. Dibender Ghosh, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge.

The instant appeal stands directed against the judgment rendered by the learned District Judge, Kinnaur Civil Division at Rampur Bushahr, Himachal Pradesh, on 31.05.2010 in H.M.A. Petition No. 16 of 2007, whereby it refused the according qua the petitioner a decree for dissolution of his marital ties with the respondent.

2. The petitioner/appellant herein standing aggrieved by the rendition of the learned District Judge hence concerts to reverse it by preferring an appeal therefrom before this Court.

3. The brief facts of the case are that the petitioner claimed the respondent to be his legally wedded wife. Out of their wedlock one female child has born and the child is living with the respondent. The petitioner has further pleaded and claimed that the relations between the parties remained cordial till September, 2004 and when on 19.8.2006 to 24.8.2006 the petitioner remained on official tour and returned to his residence in District Kinnaur then he came to know that the respondent has filed some proceedings with the police by leveling false allegations of her beatings and keeping some mistress. The petitioner further claimed that he was summoned by the Superintendent of Police, Kinnaur at Reckong Peo where he filed written reply and the respondent withdrew her complaint by showing her intention not to live with the petitioner and thereby the respondent has treated the petitioner with cruelty as she did not join his company for the last more than three years and thereby the parties are living separately. Hence, he sought decree for divorce for dissolution of his marital ties with the respondent.

4. The respondent contested the petition and filed reply. In the reply, the respondent has admitted the relationship between the parties including the off spring as pleaded in the petition, however, the respondent has further pleaded and claimed that the relations remain cordial till August,2006 and thereafter the petitioner started picking up quarrel with the respondent under the influence of liquor and even the petitioner had removed the ornaments of the respondent including her Mangal Sutar and thereby sold the same to satisfy his lust for liquor and to meet out the expenses of his concubine and thereby she lodged true and correct report against the petitioner and when the petitioner assured the respondent to maintain her properly thereby she withdrew her complaint. The respondent has denied of hers making false allegations against the petitioner as pleaded in the petition and has further claimed that she is ready to join the company of the petitioner in case of his undertaking not to pick up quarrel and to maltreat her and thereby to provide all the bare necessities of the life. The respondent has denied treatment of the petitioner with cruelty as alleged in the petition and prayed for dismissal of the petition.

5. On the pleadings of the parties, the learned trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties in contest:-

1. Whether the respondent teated the petitioner with cruelty? OPP
2. Whether the respondent has deserted the petitioner, as alleged? OPP
3. Relief.

6. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned District Judge, he dismissed the petition of the petitioner/appellant herein.

7. Now the petitioner/appellant herein has instituted the instant appeal before this Court wherein he has assailed the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned District Judge.

8. In the apposite petition for divorce, the petitioner had made trite specific averments qua his psyche standing beset with mental cruelty arising from the respondent leveling false/frivolous allegations against him qua his maintaining concubine/mistress. He with specificity averred therein of the allegations aforesaid constituted against him by the respondent standing embedded in a complaint preferred by the respondent before the Superintendent of Police, Kinnaur at Recokng Peo, whereupon he stood summoned therebefore. He had contended of hence accentuated cruelty standing perpetrated upon him by the respondent. The petitioner had before the learned District Judge led evidence in support of the averments constituted in the petition, apart therefrom supplemental to his oral testimony, he therebefore adduced Ex.PB and Ex.PC holding corroborative proclamations of the respondent leveling allegations against him qua his maintaining a concubine also his belabouring her besides as averred by him, his thereupon standing constrained to furnish a reply thereto.

9. Even though, before the learned District Judge, the respondent had contested by filing a reply, the truth of the averments aforesaid cast by the petitioner in his petition. However, her reply in repudiation to the averments reared by the petitioner in his petition is both vague besides nebulous holding no specificity with precision besides is bereft of exactitude in timings whereon she stood subjected to belabourings by the petitioner also it does not hold therewithin the name of the concubine with whom the petitioner is alleged by her to maintain adulterous relations. Even otherwise, the reply furnished by the respondent to the petition for divorce instituted by the petitioner, exaggerates upon the manifestations occurring in Ex.PB. Likewise when her testimony besides the testimonies of RWs hold therewithin digressions vis-a-vis her reply to the apposite petition hence rendering them to be discardable.

10. However, the learned District Judge has in a rough shod, mechanical manner dehors his meteing reverence to exhibits aforesaid holding visible display of the psyche of the petitioner standing encumbered with immense mental turmoil dehors the factum of the depictions held therewithin holding any iota or truth whereupon hence the petitioner had categorically displayed qua his standing entitled to on the ground of cruelty to a decree for divorce, its standing refused to be accorded to him under the impugned rendition per se ingrains it with a vice of his not attending to the relevant besides germane evidence rather his untenably discarding its probative worth.

11. The factum of the respondent under Ex. PC casting aspersions qua the character of the petitioner also hers therein alleging qua his holding adulterous relations with concubines whereupon he suffered the ordeal of his standing summoned by the Superintendent of Police, Kinnaur at Reckong Peo, foments an obvious inference of the respondent subjecting him to mental cruelty hence foisting in him an entitlement to obtain a decree for dissolution of his marital ties with her. The inference aforesaid as stands drawn by this Court stands lent succor from a decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court reported in K. Srinivas versus K. Sunita, (2014)16 SCC 34, the relevant paragraph No.5 whereof stands extracted hereinafter:-

> "5. The respondent wife has admitted in her cross-examination that she did not mention all the incidents on which her complaint is predicated in her statement under Section 161 CrPC. It is not her case that she had actually narrated all these facts to the investigating officer, but that he had neglected to mention them. This, it seems to us, is clearly indicative of the fact that the criminal complaint was a contrived afterthought. We affirm the view of the High Court that th criminal complaint was "ill advised". Adding thereto is the factor that the High Court had been informed of the acquittal of the appellant husband and members of his family. In these circumstances, the High Court ought to have concluded that the respondent wife knowingly and intentionally filed a false complaint, calculated to embarrass the incarcerate the appellant and seven members of his family and that such conduct unquestionably constitutes cruelty as postulated in Section 13(1)(i-a) of the Hindu Marriage Act."

12. Furthermore with communications occurring in Ex.PB of her marriage with the petitioner standing irretrievably broken down wherefrom it is apt to clinchingly conclude of with her marital ties with the petitioner standing irretrievably broken down irretrievably hence, the rendition of a decree of severance of their marital ties would be both just and expedient.

13. For the reasons recorded hereinabove, the instant appeal is allowed. Accordingly, the marriage inter se the petitioner/appellant and the respondent herein is ordered to be dissolved under Section 13(1) (i)(i-a) (i-b) of the Hindu Marriage Act. In sequel, the judgment and decree impugned before this Court is quashed and set aside. All pending applications also stand disposed of. No order as to costs.

Inder Singh .....Appellant.
Versus
State of H.P .....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 192 of 2016
Reserved on : 5.8.2016
Decided on : 29.8.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376, 506(B), 34 - Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012- Section 8 and 12- Accused raped the prosecutrix aged 15 years and threatened to kill her- accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecutrix had supported the prosecution version- there are no major contradictions in her testimony – she was minor and could not have consented to the act- medical evidence supported the prosecution version- DNA profile taken from Salwar of the prosecutrix matched DNA profile of the accused- prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused was rightly convicted by the trial Court- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 13)

For the Appellant: Mr. Lakshay Thakur, Advocate.
For the Respondent: Mr. M.A Khan, Additional Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgment of 13.12.2013 rendered by the learned Sessions Judge, Shimla-cum-Special Judge under Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012 in Sessions trial No. 22-S/7 of 2013, whereby the learned trial Court convicted the appellant (hereinafter referred to as "accused") for his committing offences punishable under Sections 376, 506(B), 342 of the Indian Penal Code and Sections 8 and 12 of Protection of Children from Sexual offences Act, 2012 also sentenced him as under:-

> "1. 376 IPC Rigorous imprisonment for life and fine to the tune of Rs. 25,000/- (Twenty Five thousands). In default of payment of fine convicted Inder Singh shall further undergo rigorous imprisonment for two years
>
> 2. 506 B IPC Rigorous imprisonment for seven years and fine to the tune of Rs.15,000/-(Fifteen thousands). In default of payment of fine convicted Inder Singh shall furnisher undergo rigorous imprisonment for one year.
>
> 3. 342 IPC Rigorous imprisonment for one year and fine to the tune of Rs.10,000/- (Ten thousands). In default of payment of fine convicted Inder Singh shall further undergo rigorous imprisonment for two months.
> 4. Section 8 of Protection of Children from sexual offences Act, 2012
> Rigorous imprisonment for five years and fine to the tune of Rs.25,000/- (Twenty Five thousands). In default of payment of fine convicted Inder Singh shall further undergo rigorous imprisonment for one year.
> Rigorous imprisonment for three years and fine to tune of Rs.25,000/- (Twenty five thousands). In default of payment of fine convicted Inder Singh shall further undergo rigorous imprisonment for six months."

2. Brief facts of the case are that on 26.11.2012 at about 7.00 a.m. at place Galchu P.O Jagtan Tehsil and Police Station, Jubbal District Shimla inside kitchen and again at 9.00 a.m. inside room accused had committed forcible sexual intercourse upon the minor prosecutrix/his daughter aged fifteen years. It is further alleged that continuously since one year prior to the incident of 26.11.2012 the accused had committed forcible sexual intercourse upon the minor prosecutrix. It is further alleged that on the aforesaid date, time and place accused threatened the minor prosecutrix to do away with her life. The accused also threatened her that in case she narrated the incident to anybody he will kill her. It is further alleged that accused on the same date time and place wrongfully confined the minor prosecutrix in order to commit forcible sexual assault upon the minor prosecutrix. On completion of all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offences, allegedly committed by the accused challan was prepared and filed in the Court.

3. The accused stood charged by the learned trial Court for his committing offences punishable under Sections 376, 506(B), 342 of I.P.C and Sections 8 and 12 of Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act, 2012, to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 22 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was recorded in which he pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. However he did not choose to lead evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of conviction against the accused for his committing offences punishable under Sections 376, 506(B), 342 of the Indian Penal Code and Sections 8 and 12 of Protection of Children from Sexual offences Act, 2012.

6. The learned counsel appearing for the accused has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record rather theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence he contends qua the findings of conviction being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of acquittal.

7. The learned Additional Advocate General has with considerable force and vigour contended qua the findings of conviction recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference rather meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side has with studied care and incision evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. An FIR stood lodged with the police station concerned qua the ill-fated incident wherein a narrative is held of the minor prosecutrix standing subjected to forcible sexual intercourse by the accused/her father. The sole deposition of the prosecutrix qua the ill-fated occurrence when bereft of any vice of any visible inter-se contradiction vis-à-vis her examination-in-chief with her cross-examination would ipso facto constitute sinewed evidence of probative worth for constraining this Court to return findings of conviction against the accused. For disinterring the factum aforesaid an incisive reading of her deposition is imperative. An incisive reading of her testification qua the ill-fated occurrence embodied in her examination-in-chief besides also in her cross-examination upsurges unfoldments of hers consistently therein making both loud and vivid underscorings qua on the relevant date hers standing subjected to forcible sexual intercourse by the accused bereft of any inter-se contradictions whereupon this Court is coaxed to impute sanctity to her version. Also when the testification qua the ill-fated occurrence rendered by PW-11 (Rahul @ Rinku), her brother is also un-stained with any vice of its holding any contradiction with the testimony of the prosecutrix, is a forceful communication of the accused provenly perpetrating sexual intercourse upon the prosecutrix, his daughter.

10. Moreover, the factum of consent, if any, of the prosecutrix to the accused subjecting her to sexual intercourse stands benumbed by the factum of PW-4 (Rakesh Kumar) pronouncing in his deposition qua the prosecutrix standing born on 7.1.2002 hence with hers being a minor at the stage contemporaneous to the occurrence rendered her disempowered to mete consent to the accused for his subjecting her to sexual intercourse also renders the effect of consent, if any, purveyed by the prosecutrix to the accused in his subjecting her to sexual intercourse to be in consequential.

11. The deposition of the prosecutrix whereto corroborative succor stands lent by PW-11 attains corroboration from MLC (Ex. PW-3/C) wherein a pronouncement is made qua hymen of the minor prosecutrix standing torn. Obviously the tearing of the hymen of the minor prosecutrix fillips an inference of its tearing standing begotten by the accused subjecting her to forcible sexual intercourse. Even the deposition of PW-3 (Dr. Seema Atri) holding underscorings qua the DNA profile existing on the salwar of the prosecutrix on its standing subjected to DNA profiling with the blood sample of the accused begetting the sequel of hence compatibility occurring inter-se them, cogently connects the accused in the commission of the offences alleged.

12. The summom bonum of the above discussion is of the inculpation of accused by the minor prosecutrix, his daughter holding a paramount virtue of veracity. The minor prosecutrix would not have embarked upon hers inculpating her father in a heinous offence given the concomitant besetting upon her the hazardous consequence of hers standing deprived of her means of livelihood contrarily with the accused abusing his fiduciary capacity vis-à-vis his minor daughter renders him amenable to face an order of conviction from this Court.

13. A wholesome analysis of the evidence on record portrays that the appreciation of evidence as done by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity and absurdity nor it can be said that the learned trial Court in recording findings of conviction has committed any legal misdemeanor, in as much, as, its mis-appreciating the evidence on record or its omitting to appreciate relevant and admissible evidence. In aftermath this Court does not deem it fit and appropriate that the findings of conviction recorded by the learned trial Court merit interference.

14. In view of the above discussion, I find no merit in this appeal, which is accordingly dismissed and the judgment of the learned trial Court is maintained and affirmed. Record of the learned trial Court be sent back forthwith.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

Lekh Raj & ors. ..... Appellants.
Versus
Inder Dev .... Respondent.

Date of Decision: 29.08.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a suit for permanent prohibitory injunction for restraining the defendants from interfering with the suit land- it was pleaded that suit land was allotted to the plaintiff in partition- defendants started interfering with the suit land without any right to do so- defendants pleaded that they had purchased 1/4th share of J and S and were put in possession- the suit was decreed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in second appeal that J and S had filed a civil suit claiming ownership and possession but the suit was dismissed- therefore, it was not permissible for them to put the defendants in possession – it was duly proved that joint land was partitioned and plaintiff was put in possession- the Courts had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed.

(Para- 14 to 21)

Case referred:
Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264

For the Appellants: Mr. Sunil Mohan Goel, Advocate.
For the Respondent: Mr. V.S. Chauhan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sandeep Sharma, Judge

Instant Regular Second Appeal filed under Section 100 of the Code of Civil procedure is directed against the judgment and decree dated 4.1.2007, passed by learned Additional District Judge (Fast Track), Kullu, District Kullu, H.P. in Civil Appeal No. 38/05, RBT. C. Appeal No. 06/05, affirming judgment and decree dated 17.5.2005 passed by learned Civil Judge (Jr. Division), Manali, Camp at Kullu, District Kullu in Civil Suit No. 72/04/162/04, whereby suit filed by the respondent/Plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as 'Plaintiff'), for permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants (hereinafter referred to as 'Appellants') was decreed and defendants were restrained from interfering in any manner over the suit land.

2. Briefly stated facts of the case as emerged from the record are that plaintiff filed suit for permanent injunction restraining the defendants from interfering over the land measuring 4-15-0 Bigha bearing Khasra No. 5818/1, Khata Khatauni No. 1510/2126 and land measuring 1-6-0 bigha bearing khasra No. 7312/5817/2, khata khatauni No. 1509/2125 as depicted in the jamabandi for the year 1998-99 situated at Phati Shilihar, Kothi Kotkandi, Tehsil & District Kullu, H.P. Plaintiff averred in the plaint that earlier land comprising Khasra No. 7312/5817 and Khasra No. 5818 was jointly owned and possessed by the parties and later on the same was partitioned and after partition, land measuring 4-15-0 bigha bearing khasra No. 5818/1 and land measuring 1-6-0 bigha bearing Khasra No. 7312/5817/2 was allotted to the plaintiff, who became exclusive owner in possession of the suit land. Plaintiff further averred that defendants became owner in possession of land comprising Khasra No. 7312/5817/3 (1-6-0 bigha) and land comprising Khasra No. 5818/2 (1-11-0 bigha). Plaintiff further claimed that after partition mutation was effected in the revenue record. Plaintiff further contended that defendants, who are quarrelsome persons, started interfering over the suit land in the first week of July, 2004, as a result of which, he was compelled to file a suit for permanent prohibitory injunction.

3. Defendants by way of detailed written statement refuted the claim put-forth on behalf of petitioner by taking preliminary objections of locus standi, maintainability, estoppel, valuation and suppression of facts. On merits, defendants also denied the case of the plaintiff by stating that vide sale deed dated 23.01.1998, the defendants purchased 1/4th share of Shri Jagdish Chand alias Raj Kumar and Smt. Soma Devi in the land comprising Khasra No. 7312/5817 and Khasra No. 5818 and at the time of the sale of the aforesaid land, Shri Jagdish Chand alias Raj Kumar and Smt. Soma Devi put the defendants into specific possession of land measuring 4-3-0 bighas of Khasra No. 5818, as such, they became exclusive owner in possession of land measuring 4-3-0 bighas of Khasra No. 5818. Defendants claimed that they made improvements and raised the plum orchard by spending more than Rs. 3 lacs and entries in the revenue record are wrong, illegal and void. Defendants further alleged that aforesaid land was never partitioned, rather the defendants are in peaceful, open and continuous exclusive ownership and possession of land measuring 4-3-0 bighas of Khasra No. 5818 at the spot and the possession of the defendants is without any interruption and even up till today defendants have not been dispossessed from the suit land by any authority. In the aforesaid background, defendants prayed for dismissal of the suit filed by the plaintiff.

4. Learned trial Court on the basis of pleadings framed following issues:-

"1. Whether the plaintiff is the exclusive owner in possession of the suit land as alleged? …OPP

2. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to the prohibitory injunction as prayed for? …OPP

3. Whether the plaintiff has a cause of action? ….OPP

4. Whether the plaintiff has the locus standi to sue? …OPP

5. Whether the defendants have become owners of the suit property by way of adverse possession as claimed? …OPD

6. Whether the suit is not maintainable in the present form? …OPD

7. Whether the plaintiff is estopped from filing the suit by his act and conduct? …OPD

8. Whether the suit has not been properly valued for the purposes of court fee and jurisdiction? …OPD

9. Whether this court has got no jurisdiction to hear and decide the instant suit? …OPD

10. Relief."

Vide judgment dated 17.5.2005 learned Trial Court decreed the suit of the plaintiff, restraining the defendants from interfering in the suit land, description whereof is given hereinabove.

5. Being aggrieved and dis-satisfied with the impugned judgment passed by the learned Trial Court, present appellants/defendants filed an appeal under Section 96 of the Code of Civil Procedure read with Section 21 of the H.P. Courts Act before learned Additional District Judge (Fast Track), Kullu, H.P., who vide judgment dated 4.1.2007, dismissed the appeal and upheld the judgment and decree passed by the learned Civil Judge (Jr. Division), camp at Kullu. Hence, this Regular Second Appeal before this Court.

6. This Court on 6.11.2007 admitted the appeal on following substantial question of law Nos. 3 & 4:-

"Q.No.3 Whether partition proceedings entered into between plaintiff and Raj Kumar and Soma Devi vide instrument of partition dated 8.3.1999 and order dated 16.3.1999 are non est as Raj Kumar and Soma Devi were not co-owners of the land subject matter of partition on the above mentioned dates?

Q.No. 4. Whether both the learned Courts below have totally mis-read the instruments of partition and subsequent orders made by AC Ist Grade in this regard."

7. Shri Sunil Mohan Goel, counsel representing the appellants vehemently argued that impugned judgment and decree passed by both the Courts below are bad in law and not based upon the correct appreciation of evidence adduced on record and as such deserves to be quashed and set aside. Mr. Goel strenuously argued that Courts below miserably failed to appreciate the fact that it was specifically proved on record that defendants are in exclusive possession of the land measuring 4-3-0 bighas of Khasra No. 5818 out of the suit land and is an absolute owner since 23.1.1998, meaning thereby suit of the plaintiff for permanent prohibitory injunction was not maintainable at all. As per Mr. Goel, since defendants categorically stated in written statement that they are in exclusive possession of the suit land, no suit for permanent prohibitory injunction could be maintained by plaintiff in the absence of specific proof that he is in possession of suit land qua which defendants have allegedly interfered.

8. As per Mr. Goel, no suit for permanent prohibitory injunction could be filed/entertained, when admittedly possession of land qua which injunction was with the defendants. Mr. Goel forcefully contended that learned Courts below while passing impugned judgments and decree failed to take note of the fact that suit land was purchased by defendants from Shri Jagdish Chand alias Raj Kumar and Smt. Soma Devi, who had delivered peaceful possession of land measuring 4-3-0 bighas of Khasra No. 5818 at the spot in favour of appellants/defendants and since then they are in exclusive possession of the same. He also stated that both the Courts below have failed to take note of the positive evidence led on record by the appellants/defendants that after being put into possession by aforesaid Shri Jagdish Chand alias Raj Kumar and Smt. Soma Devi, defendants made improvement and raised plum orchard on the same by spending more than 3 lacs to the knowledge and notice of the respondent/plaintiff, but respondent/plaintiff at no point of time was in exclusive owner in possession of the suit land. Mr. Goel further contended that findings of both the Courts below to the extent that the appellants/defendants were not necessary party for the partition suit land as they had purchased the land in the year 1998 and the partition proceedings were of the year 1992-93, are wrong since the partition was allowed in the year 1999, which is admitted fact on record. Mr. Goel while concluding his arguments, argued with full vehemence that Courts below have failed to appreciate that the pleadings as well as evidence adduced on record by the respective parties and both the Courts below ignored the well settled principle of law that nothing in evidence beyond pleadings can be relied upon and as such he prayed for acceptance of the appeal by setting aside the impugned judgments and decree passed by both the Courts below.

9. Shri V.S. Chauhan, Advocate, counsel representing respondent/plaintiff supported the impugned judgments passed by both the Courts below. Mr. Chauhan, while referring to the impugned judgments passed by both the Courts below vehemently argued that bare perusal of the impugned judgments passed by the Courts below suggests that no interference of the Court is warranted especially, when it stands clearly established on record that judgments passed by both the Courts below are based upon the correct appreciation of the evidence available on record. Mr. Chauhan with a view to rebut the submissions having been made by counsel representing the appellants/defendants, that no suit for permanent prohibitory injunction could be filed without being in the possession of land qua which injunction is sought, referred to the statements made by plaintiff's witnesses wherein, they have unequivocally stated that plaintiff is owner in possession of suit land and defendants are causing interference by making an attempt to raise construction over the same.

10. Mr. Chauhan during arguments having been made by him also invited the attention of the Court to Ex.P/4, a copy of judgment passed by Senior Sub Judge, Lahaul & Spiti in Civil Suit No. 12/91, whereby suit filed by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar, who were co-sharer with the plaintiff in the landed property was dismissed, to substantiate his argument that appellants/defendants were never put into possession qua Khasra No. 5818. As per Mr. Chauhan, bare perusal of the aforesaid judgment passed by learned Sub Judge, Lahaul & Spiti at Kullu, clearly suggests that Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar, from whom appellants/defendants purchased the land were not absolute owner in possession of Khasra No. 5818, as such, plea taken by the appellants/defendants that possession was delivered to them is entirely false and has been rightly rejected by the Courts below. Mr. Chauhan also invited the attention of the Court to the statement given by PW3 i.e. Mohar Singh, Kanungo, who stated that warrant of possession related to suit land was executed by him on the order of Tehsildar, whereby, land in question was partitioned. PW3 categorically stated on oath that on 13.12.1999 he delivered the possession of land bearing Khasra No. 5818/1 (4-15-0), bighas and Khasra No. 7312/5817/2 (1-6-0 bigha) to plaintiff. Mr. Chauhan also invited the attention of the Court to partition instrument i.e. Ex.P/3 made available on record by plaintiff to demonstrate that property in question was partitioned and possession of respective share of the parties was delivered. While concluding his arguments, Mr. Chauhan forcefully contended that when it stands duly proved on record that Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar, from whom appellants/defendants had purchased land were not held to be absolute owner in possession of Khasra No. 5818, claim of appellants/defendants that he was put into possession of the aforesaid Khasra number in its entirety by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar deserves to be rejected, on its face value.

11. Mr. Chauhan also urged that scope of interference of this Court in the present case is very limited especially when two Courts have recorded concurrent finding of facts as well as law. To substantiate the aforesaid plea he placed reliance upon the judgment passed by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma and Others vs. Ranganath and Others, (2015)4 SCC 264.

12. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record of the case carefully.

13. This Court admitted the present appeal on the substantial questions of law as has been reproduced hereinabove. Keeping in view the text and contents of both the substantial questions of law, this Court would be taking up both the questions together for consideration.

14. In nutshell, the case of the plaintiff is that he became owner in possession of the suit land on the basis of partition having been effected inter se the parties in the court of competent jurisdiction. It clearly emerged from the record that prior to partition effected vide order dated 16.3.1999 Ex.DW/2B, passed by AC Ist Grade, Kullu, plaintiff and defendants were joint owner in possession of the suit land. After aforesaid partition order passed by AC Ist Grade, Kullu, plaintiff became owner in possession of the land measuring 4-15-0 bighas bearing Khasra No. 5818/1 and land measuring 1-6-0 bighas bearing Khasra No. 7312/5817/2 situated at Phati Shilihar, Kothi Kotkandi, Tehsil & District Kullu, H.P. Similarly, defendants also became owners in possession of the land measuring 1-6-0 bighas comprising Khasra No. 7312/5817/3 and land measuring 1-11-0 bighas comprising Khasra No. 5818/2. Pursuant to aforesaid partition proceedings, necessary mutation was also effected in respect of land as mentioned above, however, defendants started undue interference in July, 2004, compelling plaintiff/respondent to file suit for permanent prohibitory injunction restraining defendants from interfering in the suit land. Defendants resisted the claim of the plaintiff by stating that they are in possession of land measuring 4-3-0 of Khasra No. 5818, in an exclusive manner and plaintiff has no right, whatsoever, to claim any part of the same. To substantiate his aforesaid stand, appellants/defendants stated that they have purchased this piece of land from Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar and Smt. Soma Devi vide sale dated 23.1.1998. Defendants claimed that at the time of purchase of land from aforesaid persons, they were also delivered specific possession of land measuring 4-3-0 bighas comprising Khasra No. 5818 and as such they are in the exclusive possession of the aforesaid land. Defendants also claimed that they spent sufficient amount on the land in order to raise orchard and the revenue entries to the contrary are wrong, illegal and void. But, interestingly this Court while examining the aforesaid stand taken by the defendants/appellants was unable to lay its hand on any document available on record suggestive of the fact that they were put into possession of land measuring 4-3-0 bigha comprising Khasra No. 5818 by Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar and Smt. Soma Devi, who allegedly sold the land measuring 1-5-15 bighas out of Khasra No. 7312/5817 and land measuring 1-11-0 bighas being 1/4th share out of land measuring 6-6-0 bighas in Khasra No. 5818. To the contrary, plaintiff placed on record judgment Ex.P4, suggestive of the fact that Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar, from whom defendants had purchased land as referred above, filed suit before Senior Sub Judge, Lahaul & Spiti at Kullu to the effect that they are owner in possession of Khasra No. 5818, but aforesaid plea of Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar was rejected outrightly by the learned Senior Sub Judge vide judgment dated 3.6.1997. Hence, contention put-forth on behalf of appellants/defendants that they were put into specific possession of land measuring 4-3-0 bighas of Khasra No. 5818, by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar from whom defendants have purchased land vide sale deed dated 23.1.1998 has been rightly rejected by the Courts below.

15. Since, Smt Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar were not held to be in possession of Khasra No. 5818 by the Court of Senior Sub Judge, Lahaul & Spiti, which was decided on 6.3.1997, it is not understood how aforesaid persons could put appellants/defendant in possession of Khasra No. 5818 in its entirety vide sale deed dated 23.1.1998, as such, this Court sees no force in the contention put-forth on behalf of counsel representing the appellants/defendants and accordingly the same is rejected. But, in this regard perusal of evidence adduced on record by the plaintiff clearly establishes that he became owner in possession of land measuring 4-15-0 bighas bearing Khasra No. 5818/1, Khata Khatauni No. 1510/2126 and land measuring 1-6-0 bighas bearing khasra No. 7312/5817, khata khatauni No. 1509/2125 as depicted in the jamabandi for the year 1998-99 situated at Phati Shilihar, Kothi Kotkandi, Tehsil & District Kullu, H.P. Pursuant to partition order dated 16.3.1999 i.e. Ex.DW2/A, passed by Assistant Collector Ist Grade, Kullu, PW3 Mohar Singh, Kanungo executed warrant of possession relating to suit land. PW3 Mohar Singh, Kanungo, specifically stated on oath that warrant of possession relating to suit land was executed by him on the order of Tehsildar and land in question was partitioned as per order. It clearly emerges from the statement of PW3 that on 13.12.1999, he delivered the possession of land measuring 4-15-0 bighas comprising Khasra No. 5818/1 and land measuring 1-60 bighas bearing Khasra No. 7312/5817 to plaintiff, namely, Inder Dev. Similarly, this Court had an occasion to peruse instrument of partition placed on record by the plaintiff to demonstrate that suit land was partitioned and delivery of possession of the land to the respective parties was delivered pursuant to issuance of warrant of possession by Assistant Collector Ist Grade, Kullu. At this stage, contention put-forth on behalf of counsel representing the appellants/defendants that the Courts below gave undue credence to the statement of PW3 Mohar Singh, Kanungo, who nowhere stated in his statement that he delivered warrant of possession in the presence of some independent parties, may be examined. As per Mr. Goel, bare perusal of statement of PW3 Mohar Singh, Kanungo suggests that he never delivered warrant of possession in presence of parties and, as such, version put-forth on behalf of him could not be relied by the Courts below in the absence of some independent witnesses corroborating his statement with regard to delivery of possession. The aforesaid contention put-forth on behalf of appellants/defendants deserves to be rejected outrightly solely for the reason that bare perusal of instrument of partition Ex.P3 clearly suggests that partition was effected on 8.4.1999 by Assistant Collector Ist Grade, Kullu and pursuant to that parties to the partition proceedings were put to possession qua the land by warrant of possession. Moreover, defendants have not been able to extract anything contrary in cross-examination conducted on PW3, who categorically stated in his examination-in-Chief that pursuant to issuance of warrant of possession, he delivered possession of suit land to the plaintiff as well as other co-sharers. Rather, careful perusal of cross-examination conducted on this witness, nowhere suggests that appellants/defendants were able to shatter the testimony of PW3, who was candid enough to state that pursuant to warrant of possession issued by Tehsildar, he put plaintiff in the possession of the land measuring 4-15-0 bighas comprised in Khasra No. 5818/1.

16. Apart from above, appellants/defendants instead of pointing out discrepancies, if any, in the evidence adduced on record by the plaintiff, was expected to lead positive evidence on record to prove that plaintiff was never put into possession pursuant to issuance warrant of possession issued by Tehsildar after conclusion of partition proceedings. Rather conjoint reading of statements given by PW1, PW2 and PW3 leaves no doubt that joint land was partitioned by the revenue authorities and the possession of the which was delivered to plaintiff by PW3 pursuant to warrant of possession issued by Tehsildar. Careful perusal of the cross-examination conducted on these aforesaid plaintiff witnesses, clearly suggests that defendants were not able to shatter the testimony of this aforesaid plaintiff witnesses, who unequivocally stated that after passing of order dated 16.3.1999 by Assistant Collector Ist Grade, plaintiff was put into possession of Khasra No. 5818 by PW3. Moreover, PW3, in his cross-examination categorically denied the suggestion put to him by the defendants that actual possession was not delivered to the plaintiff. Whereas statement of DW3 Lekh Ram itself falsifies the stand taken by defendants that possession of Khasra No. 5818 was delivered to him by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar on 23.1.1998 and since then he is in possession of the suit land, because as has been discussed above, when Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar were not held to be in possession by the learned Senior Sub Judge in Civil Suit filed by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar, where was the occasion for them to put appellants/defendants in possession of the land as claimed by the appellants/defendants.

17. Similarly, DW1 Lekh Raj while making statement before the Court below stated that neither suit land has been partitioned nor possession has been disturbed. Moreover, close scrutiny of the cross-examination conducted on DW1suggests that he did not make truthful disclosure to the Court while making his statement because in his cross-examination he stated that prior to 1998 his father was in possession of suit land and thereafter he became owner of the suit land on the basis of sale deed. If the statement given by DW1 is read in its entirety, it clearly emerges that defendant No. 1 has not taken consistent stand rather he has taken contrary please with regard to sale and possession of the suit land. Though, DW1 Lekh Raj while making statement in his examination-in-chief, feigned ignorance with regard to partition proceedings conducted by Assistant Collector Ist Grade, Kullu, but in his cross-examination he categorically stated that he had not filed appeal against the partition, meaning thereby, property in question stand partitioned in accordance with law and parties were put to possession of respective shares in terms of order passed by Assistant Collector Ist Grade, Kullu, in the partition proceedings. This Court after perusing instrument of partition dated 8.4.1999 i.e. Ex.P3 and order dated 16.3.1999 is fully convinced that suit land was partitioned between the co-sharers strictly in terms of Section 122 of H.P. Land Revenue Act and pursuant to order dated 16.31999, plaintiffs were put into possession qua land measuring 4-15-0 bighas bearing Khasra No. 5818/1 and land measuring 1-6-0 bighas bearing Khasra No. 7312/5817/2. Perusal of instrument of partition dated 8.3.1999, clearly suggests that Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish @ Raj Kumar were impleaded as party in the partition proceedings since they were recorded as joint owner in the revenue record at the time of initiation of partition proceedings in the year 1992. It is admitted fact that appellants/defendants purchased share of land from Shri Jagdish @ Raj Kumar and Smt. Soma Devi in the year 1990, as such, there was no occasion for plaintiff to implead them as a party in partition proceedings in the year, 1993. When admittedly partition proceedings were initiated for the partition of land jointly owned by plaintiff and other co-owners and Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar were arrayed as party to partitioned proceedings, appellant-defendants cannot be allowed to claim that partition proceedings were conducted at their back because admittedly after the purchase of the suit land, appellants/defendants entered into the shoe of Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish Chand @ Rajkumar. Hence, this Court is of view that there is no illegality and infirmity in the instrument of partition dated 8.3.1999 passed by Assistant Collector, pursuant to which plaintiff was put into the possession of the suit land vide warrant of possession 16.3.1999. Moreover, perusal of Ex.P3 i.e. instrument of partition, nowhere suggests that during partition proceedings said Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar ever disclosed factum of sale, if any, made in favour of the appellants/defendants with regard to land measuring 4-3-0 bighas comprised in Khasra No. 5818. Since, Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar were recorded as a joint owners in the revenue record pertaining to year, 1993, when the partition proceeding was initiated, this Court sees no illegality and irregularity in impleading Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar as a party respondents in the partition proceedings. Careful perusal of the pleadings as well as evidence led on record by both the parties, clearly suggests that vide instrument of partition dated 8.3.1999, joint land owned by plaintiff as well as Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar, who were recorded as joint owners, were ordered to be partitioned vide order dated 16.3.1999. Plaintiff was put into possession of land measuring 4-15-0 bighas baring Khasra No. 5818/1 and land measuring 1-6-0 bighas bearing Khasra No. 7312/5817/2, as such, this Court sees no force in the contention put-forth by counsel representing the appellants/defendants that Courts below have misread the instrument of partition while passing impugned judgment.

18. In view of the detailed discussion made hereinabove, this Court sees no merit in the present appeal and accordingly substantial questions of law as referred to hereinabove are answered accordingly.

19. While exploring the answer to the substantial questions of law referred to hereinabove, this Court perused entire pleadings and record, it clearly emerges that though appellants/defendants while refuting the claim of the plaintiff stated that suit for permanent prohibitory injunction could not be filed by plaintiff since possession of suit land was with him. But as has been discussed in detail, appellants/defendants at no point of time were able to prove on record that they are in possession of the suit land. Though by placing reliance on the sale deed dated 23.1.1998, defendants made an attempt to demonstrate that at the time of sale, they were put into possession of suit land by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar but no document whatsoever was placed on record to substantiate the plea, whereas plaintiff by leading cogent and convincing evidence was successful in proving that after the partition of the land, which was jointly owned and possessed by plaintiff and defendants, he was put into possession of land measuring 4-15-0 bighas baring Khasra No. 5818/1 and land measuring 1-6-0 bighas bearing Khasra No. 7312/5817/2. Plaintiff specifically placed on record judgment Ex. P4 to prove that at no point of time defendants were put into exclusive possession of Khasra No. 5818 as claimed by them because suit filed by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar was dismissed by learned Senior Sub Judge, Lahaul & Spiti rejecting their claim that they are exclusive owner of the Khasra No. 5818. Moreover, written statement filed by the defendants nowhere suggest that claim of the plaintiff that he is in exclusive possession of Khasra No. 5818 was ever refuted, rather careful perusal of the averments made in the written statement suggest that though defendants claimed themselves to be in possession of Khasra No. 5818, but nowhere specifically denied the claim of the plaintiff that he is in possession of Khasra No. 5818. Rather perusal of the pleadings suggests that defendants took contradictory pleas to prove their case. At the first instance, defendants claimed to be owner in possession of the suit land in term of sale deed executed in their favour by Smt. Soma Devi and Shri Jagdish alias Raj Kumar, thereafter, they claimed themselves to be owner in possession by way of adverse possession. But admittedly, on both counts, as referred to above, defendants were unable to substantiate their pleas of becoming owner of suit land either by adverse possession or on the basis of sale deed, by leading cogent and convincing evidence. DW1 though stated that he became owner of the suit land by way of adverse possession but statement made by him nowhere suggests that he stated anything with regard to continuous possession qua suit land.

20. Consequently, in view of detailed discussion made hereinabove, this Court has no hesitation to conclude that judgments passed by both the Courts below are based upon the correct appreciation of record/evidence available on record. To answer the substantial questions, reproduced hereinabove, this Court traveled through entire evidence led on record by the parties to the lis and it can be safely concluded that both the Courts below have rightly returned the concurrent findings of facts as well as law after dealing with the evidence on record meticulously. Hence this Court is of the view that this is not a fit case wherein exercise of powers/jurisdiction under Section 100 CPC, concurrent findings returned by both the Courts below can be upset, especially when the defendants have failed to prove that impugned judgments are perverse. In this regard, it would be apt to reproduce the relevant contents of judgment rendered by Hon'ble Apex Court in Laxmidevamma's case supra, wherein the Court has held as under:

"16. Based on oral and documentary evidence, both the courts below have recorded concurrent findings of fact that the plaintiffs have established their right in A schedule property. In the light of the concurrent findings of fact, no substantial questions of law arose in the High Court and there was no substantial ground for reappreciation of evidence. While so, the High Court proceeded to observe that the first plaintiff has earmarked the A schedule property for road and that she could not have full-fledged right and on that premise proceeded to hold that declaration to the plaintiffs' right cannot be granted. In exercise of jurisdiction under Section 100 CPC, concurrent findings of fact cannot be upset by the High Court unless the findings so recorded are shown to be perverse. In our considered view, the High Court did not keep in view that the concurrent findings recorded by the courts below, are based on oral and documentary evidence and the judgment of the High Court cannot be sustained." (p.269)

21. Hence, in view of the aforesaid discussion, this Court is persuaded to conclude that the impugned judgments passed by both the Courts below are based on proper appreciation of the evidence, be it ocular or documentary on the record and, as such, substantial questions of law, framed above, are answered accordingly. Hence, present appeal fails and the same is, accordingly dismissed.

22. Interim direction, if any, is vacated. All miscellaneous applications are disposed of.

Date of decision: 29/08/2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 13- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for restraining the defendants from interfering with the suit land- it was pleaded that plaintiffs had purchased the suit land from one D for a consideration of Rs. 24,300/- possession of whole land except one small field was delivered to the plaintiffs - defendants took the possession of the suit land forcibly- defendants denied the sale of the suit land in favour of the plaintiffs- it was asserted that D was not competent to sell the suit land as it was in excess of the permissible limits under the provisions of the H.P. Ceiling Act- defendants are in possession of 13-13 bighas of land as tenants since the time of their father- they have constructed four shops at the cost of Rs. 25,000/-- suit was partly dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was partly allowed- held, in second appeal that plaintiffs have acquired title of the suit land by sale deed- Courts had held defendants to be in possession of 13-13 bighas of land – the Land Reforms Officer had also found that predecessor-in-interest of the defendants was holding the land as a tenant and the land was given to him in lieu of personal services - proprietary rights were conferred upon the predecessor in interest of the defendants – Civil Court does not have jurisdiction to go into question of conferment of proprietary rights- the appeal dismissed and the judgment and decree of Appellate Court confirmed. (Para-8 to 11)

For the appellants: Mr. G.D.Verma, Sr. Advocate with Mr. B.C.Verma, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Bhupender Gupta, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Janesh Gupta, for respondents No. 1 & 2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J:

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgement and decree of the learned Additional District Judge, Shimla, Himachal Pradesh, whereby, he reversed the verdict recorded by the learned trial Court qua the defendants holding ownership of 13.13 bighas of land comprised in Khasra No. 304/236/85/2 situated in Mauza Anu, Tehsil Theog, District Shimla. However, it maintained the verdict of the learned trial Court whereby it refused to accord injunction qua the aforesaid land qua the plaintiffs. The plaintiffs' standing aggrieved by the rendition of the Learned Additional District Judge concert through the instant appeal to seek reversal of the judgement and decree of the learned Additional District Judge, Shimla.

2. The facts necessary for rendering a decision on the instant appeal are that the plaintiffs filed suit for permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants from interfering in any manner whatsoever with the ownership and possession of the plaintiffs over the land measuring 19 bighas 14 biswas, comprised in Khata Khatauni No. 2/2, Khasra No. 304/236/85/2 min, measuring 13.1 bighas and Khasra No. 92 min measuring 6.13 bighas as per jamabandi for the year 1977-78 of Mauza Annu, Tehsil Theog, District Shimla, Himachal Pradesh. There are also averments in the plaint that plaintiffs purchased the aforementioned suit land from Shri Devinder Chand son of Sh. Randhir Chand vide registered sale deed for consideration of Rs.24,300/- and possession of the whole land was delivered to the plaintiffs except one small field. Plaintiffs are in peaceful possession of the suit land since 28th March, 1981. The defendants tried to interfere with the peaceful possession of the plaintiffs on 10th April, 1981 when they were ploughing the fields and at that time threatened the plaintiffs to take forcible possession of the suit land.

3. The suit of the plaintiffs was resisted and contested by the defendants and they filed written statement wherein the defendants have denied that the plaintiffs had purchased land in suit from Davinder Chand. The defendants specifically denied the possession of the plaintiffs over the suit land. It has also been alleged that Davinder Chand, the original owner was not competent to sell the land in suit, as the land in suit is in excess of the permissible limits under the provisions of the H.P. Ceiling Act. Hence, the same is in contravention of the provisions of the said Act and same is void and inoperative. It was also alleged on behalf of the defendants that out of 49 bighas 13 biswas of land belonging to Davinder Chand, the defendants are in possession of 13-13 bighas of land comprised in Khasra No. 304/236/85/2 since the time of their father as tenant in lieu of services as rent. The defendants also annexed the Tatima of this parcel of land. The defendants have constructed four shops at the cost of Rs.25,000/- The shops are also over this parcel of land. The defendants have sowing and cultivating the part of the suit land mentioned above. The defendants have also denied the other allegations made in the plaint and it has also been alleged that the police had also visited the spot and maize which was sown by the defendants was found damaged. The defendants have also filed an application under Section 37 of the H.P.Land Revenue Act before the Tehsildar, Theog for correction of entries.

4. On the pleadings of the parties, the trial Court struck following issues inter-se the parties at contest:-

(1) Whether the defendants are owners in possession of the land in dispute, as alleged? OPD.

(2) Whether the plaintiffs are entitled to the relief of injunction, as prayed for, OPP.

(3) Whether the sale in favour of the plaintiffs is void, as alleged. OPD.

(4) Relief.

5. On an appraisal of evidence, adduced before the learned trial Court, the learned trial Court partly dismissed the suit of the plaintiffs besides the learned First Appellate Court partly modified the appeal preferred therefrom before it by the plaintiffs.

6. Now the plaintiffs/appellants instituted the instant Regular Second Appeal before this Court, assailing the findings recorded in its impugned judgment and decree by the learned first Appellate Court. When the appeal came up for admission on 09.09.2003, this Court admitted the appeal on the hereinafter extracted substantial question of law:-

1. Whether the learned Additional District Judge misread and misinterpreted the ratio in Chuniya Devi's case to hold that the question of tenancy was to be determined by the Land Reforms Officer and Civil Court has no jurisdiction?

Substantial question of law.

7. The plaintiffs/appellants acquired title to the suit land under sale deed Ext.PW-1/A executed interse them and one Devinder Chand. Both the Courts below on traversing through the evidence on record concluded of the defendants/respondents holding possession of 13.13 bighas of land comprised in Khasra No. 304/236/85/2 sitliuated in Mauza Anu, Tehsil Theog, District Shimla. In the Courts below concluding of the defendants holding possession of 13.13 bighas of land had thereupon ousted the play of depictions in the revenue entries qua the plaintiffs/appellants holding recorded possession of the aforesaid tract of land. Needless to say of both the learned Courts below in concluding qua the prima donna factum aforesaid had repelled besides belied the presumption of truth garnered by the apposite revenue entries wherein a display to the contrary is held. The learned counsel for the appellants/plaintiffs has contended qua the inference drawn by the learned Courts below in disimputing sanctity to the reflections occuring in the apposite revenue records qua the plaintiffs/appellants holding possession of a tract of 13.13 bighas of the suit land standing untenably anchored upon Ext.DW-5/A comprising an affidavit sworn by one Kirpa Ram an attorney of Mathura Devi, Rani Sahiba of Dhandi wherein revelations stand displayed of one Budhi Singh standing inducted as a tenant in the suit land in lieu of personal services rendered to her. He contends qua the untenability of reliance placed thereupon by the learned First Appellate Court being garnerable from the factum of there existing no evidence in portrayal of Rani Sahiba of Dhandi constituting Kirpa Ram as her attorney whereupon he concerts to foist an inference of his affidavit Ext.DW-5/A holding no succor. The contention aforesaid reared by the counsel for the appellants for concomitantly rearing a formidable clout qua hence reliance placed thereupon by the learned First Appellate Court for dis-imputing sanctity to the apposite reflections in the revenue records vis-à-vis the plaintiffs suffering enfeeblement, enjoined upon them to adduce conclusive evidence emanating from the relevant records held with the Sub Registrar concerned magnificatory of Kirpa Ram not under any registered power of attorney executed by Rani Sahiba of Dhandi standing constituted therein as her attorney. However, the aforesaid evidence stands unadduced. Conspicuously, hence an apt conclusion warranting ensual therefrom is of Kirpa Ram standing constituted as an attorney by Rani Sahiba of Dhandi. In aftermath, reliance placed by the learned First Appellate Court upon Ext.PW-5/A holding pronouncements therein by Kirpa Ram while his holding the capacity of an attorney of Rani Sahiba of Dhandi qua the latter inducting one Budhi Ram father of the defendants as a tenant in the suit land in lieu of personal services rendered by him qua her standing not divested of any efficacy. Also reliance thereupon by the learned First Appellate Court to displace the sanctity of the apposite reflections in the apposite revenue records depictive of the plaintiffs holding as owners possession of the suit land obviously not suffering from any vice of its meteing reverence to a discardable piece of evidence. Furthermore in his testification even PW-1 Devinder Chand has not made any proclamation qua Kirpa Ram who swore affidavit Ext.DW-5/A not holding the relevant capacity to pronounce therein qua his standing constituted by Rani Sahiba of Dhandi as her attorney. His reticence qua the prima donna factum aforesaid read in coagulation with non adduction of the aforesaid best evidence stamps a firm inference of Kirpa Ram who swore Ext.DW-5/A standing constituted by Rani Sahiba of Dhandi as her attorney also his while making communications therein of his principal inducting Budhi Ram as a tenant in the suit land standing clothed with a virtue of solemnity.

8. Dehors the leanings by the First Appellate Court upon Ext.DW-5/A for belittling the credence of the apposite reflections in the relevant revenue records, it had also ridden them of their truth rather had falsified them by placing reliance upon Ext.DW-9/C comprising the apposite registration by the authority concerned of a small scale industrial unit set up by the defendant in a part of the contentious tract hereat of the suit land. Also the learned First Appellate Court in concluding of the defendants holding possession of the contentious tract of the suit land placed reliance upon Ext.DW-11/A exhibit whereof stands issued by the Divisional Forest Officer vis-à-vis the defendant No.2. Accentuated vigour to the aforesaid conclusion drawn by the learned First Appellate Court qua the defendants holding physical possession of 13.13 bighas of land is lent by the testification of DW-2 who has made articulations therein qua the defendant Jeet Singh holding his house upon the suit land also his saw mill standing located thereupon. Furthermore a loud display is made in Ext.D-1 exhibit whereof comprises the order of the Tehsildar concerned rendered on an application laid therebefore by the aggrieved for correction of revenue entries for manifesting therein the factum of the defendants holding physical possession of 13.13 bighas of land depicted in Tatima D-2. His affirmative findings qua the facet aforesaid vis-à-vis the defendants remained un-assailed nor stood concerted to stand bereft of veracity by the plaintiffs adducing cogent evidence in rebuttal thereto. Consequently, depictions occurring in Ext.D-1 and Ext.D-2 qua the defendants holding physical possession of land measuring 13.13 bighas held in Khasra No. 304/236/85/2 acquire conclusivity. Reliance by the learned First Appellate Court on Ext.DW-5/A when stands concluded by this Court to stand not ingrained with any infirmity would not foist this Court to erect a conclusion of the defendants succeeding in firmly clinching the trite prima donna factum of their predecessor in interest Budhi standing inducted as a tenant in the suit land in lieu of personal services rendered by him to its erstwhile owner nor would this Court even if it finds the relevant entries displayed in the apposite revenue records holding no congruity with Ext.DW-5/A hence proceed to order for vestment of proprietary rights qua the land measuring 13.13 bighas comprised in Khasra No. 304/236/85/2 vis.a.vis the defendants, conspicuously when a statutory bar stands constituted in sub-section (4) of Section 104 of the H.P.Tenancy and Land Reforms Act against this Court rendering any adjudication qua the factum of the defendants holding the suit land as tenants given their predecessor in interest purportedly standing inducted as a tenant therein by its erstwhile owner also significantly when any rendition of a verdict thereupon stands vested within the exclusive jurisdictional domain of the Land Reforms Officer besides when the Land Reforms Officer concerned alone holds jurisdictional competence, to, on his concluding qua the defendants establishing the occurrence of continuance of tenancy qua the suit land in their favour since their predecessor-in-interest, confer upon them concomitant vestment of proprietary rights qua it whereafter the Civil Court concerned may on its standing motioned by the aggrieved, on existence of palpable evident display qua in his making his rendition qua the facets aforesaid his making a gross departure from the principles of natural justice, may hence interfere with his findings. Consequently, when there occurs before this Court no rendition of the Land Reforms Officer qua the facet aforesaid significantly also when he stands exclusively vested with the apposite jurisdictional domain to clinch findings qua the facet of the defendants since their predecessor in interest holding the suit land as tenants also qua thereupon their standing entitled to statutory conferment of proprietary rights thereon, fetters this Court to place any reliance thereupon for foisting any conclusion qua hence the defendants sustaining their espousal qua their predecessor in interest standing inducted as a tenant in the relevant tract of the suit land by its erstwhile owner in lieu of personal services rendered by him to her, contrarily this Court would obviously leave the aforesaid facet of controversy to be open for adjudication before the Land Reforms Officer concerned on the defendants constituting an apposite application there-before.

9. As an apt sequitur this Court would restrain to render a decree upon the defendants qua theirs delivering vacant possession of the suit land, as any rendition thereof would frustrate any endeavour of the defendants to before the Land Reforms Officer concerned sustain their plea qua theirs since their predecessor in interest holding the relevant tract of the suit land as tenants also would forestall theirs staking on theirs succeeding therebefore qua the facet aforesaid of hence theirs standing entitled to vestment of statutory proprietary rights thereupon. Also the further constraint which precludes this Court to render upon the defendants a decree of possession qua the suit land hereat rests upon the plaintiffs/appellants not in the suit making an apposite prayer for a decree of possession being rendered qua the suit land vis-à-vis them. The rigour of the aforesaid constraint though stands canvassed by the learned counsel for the plaintiffs to stand both relaxed also its tenacity standing whittled down by his resting a contention herebefore, of this Court holding a plenary implicit jurisdiction to mould relief of possession qua the suit land vis-à-vis the plaintiffs. However, the aforesaid submission is ill-founded also is in gross transgression of the apposite statutory mechanism contemplated in the Code of Civil procedure wherewithin he held a right at the apposite stage to make resort thereto for begetting an apposite amendment to the relief clause of the plaint. In giving leverage to the contention for the plaintiffs/appellants qua this Court holding a plenary implicit jurisdiction to mould the apposite relief vis.a.vis the plaintiffs would detract the manifest salutary purpose behind the enactment of the relevant mechanism in the Code of Civil Procedure also would beget infraction of its relevant apposite provisions prominently when resort thereto by the plaintiff for the relevant purpose is preemptory, contrarily any whittling down of their statutory vigour qua the facet aforesaid would render them to stand relegated to the realm of obscurity besides redundancy, legal mishap whereof stands enjoined to be obviated by this Court. The further reason for this Court dispelling the contention of the plaintiffs/appellants for moulding qua the plaintiffs relief of possession qua the suit land stands founded upon the factum of the plaintiffs/appellants despite moving an application before the First Appellate Court for begetting an amendment to the relief clause by incorporating therein the relief of possession qua the suit land yet theirs not perseveringly pursuing the aforesaid application rather theirs as pronounced by an order rendered by the First Appellate Court on 4.4.1988 theirs evincing therebefore gross un-interestedness in prosecuting it, constraining it to dismiss it. The proclamation occurring in the order of the First Appellate Court pronounced on 4.4.1988 upsurges a visible display of the plaintiffs/appellants abandoning the aforesaid concert whereupon they are estopped to ventilate herebefore qua theirs holding any leverage to ask for affording qua them any relief of possession qua the suit land. Since the aforesaid statutory mechanism vested in the plaintiffs for begetting an amendment to the relief clause of the suit stood availed by them whereafter it stood abandoned also constitutes an estoppel against them arising from theirs waiving the relevant statutory mechanism, mechanism whereof alone foisted in them a right to claim a relief of possession qua the suit land whereas theirs extantly herebefore in the garb of making a specious plea of this Court holding an inherent jurisdiction to mould relief of possession vis-à-vis them qua the suit land make an espousal qua it standing granted qua them, conspicuously when any imputation of validation to the aforesaid contention would bring an avoidable conflict with the apt statutory mechanism. Upshot of the above discussion is of an inherent right vesting in a Court to mould relief only when the moulded relief as asked for does not either change the complexion or nature of the suit nor infringe the settled rights acquired under a conclusive judicial rendition by the opposite party. However, when hereat the complexion besides the structure of the suit stands concerted to be materially altered also when a settled right acquired by the opposite party under a conclusive judicial verdict is strived to be unsettled, obviously this Court holds no jurisdiction to mould the relief qua the plaintiff also when the apt mechanism contemplated in the Civil Procedure Code for moulding of relief though stood resorted to whereafter it stood waived, cannot clothe in the plaintiff any legal bestowment qua his espousal for moulding the relief of possession qua the suit land warranting vindication. In sequel, when the relief of possession stood not asked for in the plaint rather when the apt venture for its being asked was by theirs resorting to the apt mechanism incorporated in the Civil Procedure Code, mechanism whereof despite resort thereto by them stood waived, forestalls the plaintiffs to canvass qua this Court holding jurisdiction to modify relief of possession vis-à-vis the plaintiffs.

10. In view of the above discussion, I find no merit in this appeal, which is accordingly dismissed and the judgment and decree rendered by the learned Additional District Judge is maintained and affirmed. Substantial question of law is answered against the plaintiffs. Decree sheet be prepared accordingly. No costs.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE RAJIV SHARMA, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, J.

State of H.P. .....Appellant.
Versus
Ajay Soni & another .....Respondents.

Cr. Appeal No. 280 of 2012.
Reserved on : 20th August, 2016.
Date of Decision: 29th August, 2016.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 366, 376 and 120-B- Prosecutrix received telephonic call from the accused that he had arranged a party at Pin Valley Hotel- accused offered a cup of coffee to the prosecutrix- accused had sexual intercourse with her- she was subsequently informed that her obscene video clip was sent- matter was reported- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that PW-3 did not support the prosecution version regarding the obscene video clip – matter was reported after the delay of two months- trial Court had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 13)

For the Appellant: Mr. P.M. Negi, Deputy A. G.
For the Respondents: Mr. Adarsh Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of H.P. against the judgment of the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Ghumarwin, District Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh, rendered on 03.12.2011 in Sessions trial No. 18/7 of 2010, whereby, it acquitted the accused/respondents for offences punishable under Sections 366, 376 and 120-B of the Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as the "IPC").

2. The facts relevant to decide the instant case are that the law enforcing machinery was set out in motion in this case pursuant to the statement given by the prosecutrix under Section 154 Cr.P.C. stating that she is running a Beauty Parlor under the name and style of Mona Beauty Parlor and the Karyana shop of accused Saurabh Mehta alias Rauni is situated near the Beauty Parlor due to which she is having talking terms with Rauni. On 03.01.2010, she received a telephonic call from Rauni informing that today is his birthday and he has arranged a party at Pin Valley Hotel, as such, she accompanied Rauni in his Wagnor-R to Hotel Pin Vally at about 3.00 p.m. Both of them were in the vehicle. At Pin Valley Hotel Rauni offered a cup of coffee to her. But, no party was organized there. Thereafter, she was brought to room and he requested to have sexual intercourse with him. But, she refused. Accused Saurabh Mehta promised to marry her. Thereafter, he committed sexual intercourse with her. After 15 minutes Rauni left the room and when she was coming out of the room she noticed that from bathroom of the said room, Ajay Soni alias Aju who is running a Mobile shop at Gurudwara chowk, Bilaspur came out and she inquired from him as to how he came here but Aju did not reply. She asked him as to how whether they are blackmailing her. She received a telephonic call from Shankey bhaiya who is running computer shop at Daira sector informing her that he has seen her obscene video clip with Rauni on the mobile of a boy. Rauni committed rape with her by making a false promise to marry her after conspiring with Aju and prepared her obscene video clip and blackmailed her. On the basis of aforesaid statement of the prosecutrix, the FIR was registered in the police station concerned against the accused. The police started investigations in the matter. During the course of investigations, the police completed all the codal formalities and arrested the accused. Report of the FSL was procured. Statements of the witnesses were recorded.

3. On conclusion of investigations, into the offences, allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed in the competent Court.

4. The accused were charged by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 366, 376 and 120-B of the IPC. In proof of the prosecution case, the prosecution examined 24 witnesses. On conclusion of recording of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded by the trial Court, in which the accused claimed innocence and pleaded false implication. However, they did not lead any defence evidence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused/respondents herein.

6. The State of H.P. stands aggrieved by the judgment of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. On the other hand, the learned defence counsel has with considerable force and vigour, contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. The prosecutrix alleged in her statement recorded under Section 154 of the Cr.P.C., comprised in Ex.PW2/A of accused Saurabh Mehta alias Rauni under a false allurement of marriage eliciting her consent for holding her to sexual intercourse. She alleges therein of her consent to the accused for his holding her to sexual intercourse when emanated from a false pretentious allurement of marriage, it holds no legal worth. Also, she alleges therein of the penal sexual misdemeanors perpetrated on her person by the accused rendering him liable for punishment. The relevant evidence which is enjoined to be delved into for disinterring therefrom the germane trite factum of the accused holding a false promise to marry her stands embedded in the testification of the prosecutrix. She in her testification makes a loud echoing therein of hers on 3.01.2010 on receiving a telephonic call from accused Saurabh Mehta, whereby he intimated her qua his birthday falling on the day aforesaid also requested her to join him at a party at Pin Valley Hotel, request whereof stood acceded to by her leading her to in the Wagnor-R of accused Saurabh Mehta accompany him to Pin Valley Hotel. On their arrival at 3.00 p.m. at the place aforesaid, whereat after theirs sipping coffee, they proceeded to room No. 703 of the Hotel, wherein she testifies of the accused requesting her to sexually access her, request whereof initially stood refused by her, whereafter accused Saurabh Mehta stands testified by her to promise to marry her leading her to succumb to his sexual misdemeanor. She proceeds to testify of on 15 minutes elapsing since her departure from room No.703 of Pin Valley Hotel, hers noticing the factum of co-accused Ajay Soni egressing from the bath room attached to room No.703 wherefrom whom she inquired the reason of his occupying the bathroom, endeavour whereof did not evince any satisfactory reply from co-accused Ajay rather his maintaining silence. On 3.3.2010, she received a telephonic call from Shankey alias Akshay apprising her qua his sighting on the mobile of a boy her obscene video clippings with accused Saurabh Mehta, whereupon she lodged the FIR qua the occurrence of 3.1.2010 on 3.3.2010. Since a hiatus of two months has apparently occurred since the alleged incident of 3.1.2010, factum aforesaid is per se a visible display of the prosecutrix concocting the factum of hers succumbing to the sexual overtures of the accused on the accused holding a false allurement of marrying her. She has not made any loud echoings in her testification of the accused despite holding her to sexual intercourse on 3.1.2010 under his holding a false allurement of marriage to her, his thereafter on her beseechings upon him to marry her, his making a refusal. The absence of the aforesaid echoings in her testification renders waned the ascription by her in the FIR of hers succumbing to the sexual overtures of the accused on the latter holding a false allurement of marrying her, contrarily, the occurrence in her testification qua hers proceeding to lodge an FIR qua the occurrence which allegedly took place on 3.1.2010 only on Shankey alias Akshay apprising her qua his sighting on the mobile of a boy a video clip holding portrayals of her comprising her chastity vis-a-vis accused Saurabh Mehta, also her testifying qua dehors the aforesaid intimation qua the facet aforesaid purveyed to her by Shankey she would not have lodged the FIR is a forthright display of hers prevaricating the factum of hers succumbing to his sexual overtures under any pretext of marriage offered to her by the accused. Also PW-6, her father conceding to the factum of theirs lodging the FIR merely to salvage their prestige also his conceding to the factum of theirs lodging the FIR qua the incident of 3.1.2010 merely on hear say, amplifyingly scuttles the sinew of the revelations constituted by the prosecutrix in the apposite FIR comprised in Ex.PW21/A.

10. Be that as it may Shankey alais Akshay, PW-3, who on 3.3.2010 apprised the prosecutrix qua his sighting obscene video clipings of the prosecutrix with accused Saurabh, not supporting the prosecution case also with the father of the prosecutrix feigning ignorance qua the purported obscene video clippings contained in the CD besides PW-7, the mother of the prosecutrix making a communication in her deposition qua theirs proceeding to lodge the apposite FIR on information purveyed by Akshay alias Shankey is a loud display of the lodging of the FIR standing prodded by PW-3 Akshay Kumar alias Shankey, who too has not supported the prosecution case, on his purportedly purveying a false information to the prosecutrix qua his sighting the obscene video clippings of the prosecutrix with accused Saurabh Mehta. The aforesaid train of events foment an inference from this Court of the FIR lodged qua the occurrence of 03.01.2010 on 03.03.2010 hence with a procrastinated inordinate delay of more than two months elapsing therefrom standing not stirred by the prosecutrix succumbing to the sexual overtures of accused Saurabh Mehta on his holding a false allurement of marriage to her rather its institution standing stimulated by as deposed by PW-6 besides deposed by the prosecutrix to salvage their prestige, prestige whereof stood bruised by the afore-referred information purveyed by Shankey to the prosecutrix. Concomitantly the truth of the allegations constituted therein stands eroded.

11. Moreover, the prosecutrix has also conceded qua the factum of accused Saurabh Mehta holding her to sexual intercourse in the month of December, 2009 whereat she did not lodge the apposite FIR qua the incident aforesaid. Her omission to lodge the apposite FIR qua the incident of sexual intercourse to which she stood subjected to by accused Saurabh Mehta in the month of December, 2009, foists a derivative of thereat hers consensually succumbing to the sexual misdemeanors, if any, of the accused bereft of the accused holding any false allurement of marrying her. The apt sequitur ensuing from the deduction aforesaid is of this Court standing fomented to hold qua hers proceeding to room No.703 of Pin Valley Hotel on 3.1.2010 along with the accused, with hers holding knowledge of the accused leading her thereat with an intention to hold her to sexual intercourse, given both previously consensually holding sexual intercourse in the month of December, 2009. Also the factum of hers in the company of the accused proceeding to the aforesaid room of Pin Valley Hotel gives momentum to a deduction of thereby hers holding consent to the accused to hold her to sexual intercourse bereft of hers standing purveyed a false pretence of marriage by the accused. Furthermore, with no echoings occurring in her testification of the accused subsequent to 3.1.2010 refusing to marry her rather as aforestated the stimulation for hers to lodge the FIR standing afforded by a false information purveyed to her by PW-3 Akshay Kumar alias Shankey qua the aforesaid purportedly sighting on the mobile of a boy her obscene video clippings with accused Saurabh Mehta, is for reiteration a categorical display of hers, alike in the month of December, 2009 to also on 3.1.2010 proceeding to consensually hold sexual intercourse with the accused bereft of any elements or traits of the accused holding any false allurement of marrying her. Predominantly, with the prosecutrix conceding in her deposition of hers standing engaged with one Vivek Sankhyan of Sarkaghat is a vivid display of hers contriving the factum of accused Saurabh Mehta purveying a false offer to marry her whereupon she goaded to succumb to his sexual overtures, conspicuously when given hers standing engaged with one Vivek Shankhyan also when there is no evidence of her betrothal with the aforesaid standing severed, he hence holding no intention to tie the nuptials knot with her, stains hence with a vice of falsity the offer of the accused to marry her wherefrom she purportedly stood prodded to succumb to his sexual overtures, prominently when hence the impact of the purported allurement of marriage proffered to her by the accused would naturally gain no impact upon her nor she would hence stand influenced by it contrarily she is to be construed to consensually succumb to the sexual overtures of accused Saurabh Mehta. Moreover, with the prosecutrix testifying qua accused Saurabh Mehta requesting her to permit his friend to hold coitus with her, bespeaks the trite factum of the accused Saurabh Mehta not holding any false allurement of marrying her. Contrarily, the aforesaid testification is magnificatory of the factum of the prosecutrix when hence acquiesces qua hers thereupon holding the capacity to discern the genuineness of the allurement of marriage purveyed to her by accused Saurabh Mehta, obviously, when she hence overlooked the spuriousness of the offer of marriage purveyed to her by accused Saurabh Mehta, she is defacilitated to espouse of hers succumbing to the sexual overtures of the accused under his purveying a false allurement of marriage to her rather her succumbings to his sexual overtures emanating from hers volitionally meteing consent to him.

12. The sequel of the aforesaid discussion is of hence the charge of conspiracy framed against co-accused Ajay Soni under Section 120-B of the IPC also staggering besides foundering. Even though there is a ascription to him of an inculpatory role of his capturing on his cell/mobile phone obscene postures of the prosecutrix with accused Saurabh Mehta alias Rauni given his occupying the bathroom attached to room No.703 of the Pin Valley Hotel, which he purportedly circulated amongst his friends yet the aforesaid inculpatory role ascribed to him stands demolished by the factum of the prosecutrix and her father testifying qua theirs not sighting the aforesaid purported obscene video clippings also with PW-3, who purveyed intimation to the prosecutrix qua his sighting her purported obscene video clipping with accused Saurabh Mehta, not supporting the prosecution case besides PW-4 denying the factum of his receiving any obscene video clipping on his cell phone, whereas both the aforesaid stand postured by the Investigating Officer to be the only persons who held knowledge qua the purported circulation by co-accused Ajay Kumar of the purported obscene video clippings of the prosecutrix with accused Saurabh Mehta, nails a conclusion of the charge of conspiracy framed against co-accused Ajay Soni under Section 120-B falling apart.

13. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Court below has appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of the evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

14. Consequently, there is no merit in the instant appeal and it is accordingly dismissed. In sequel, the impugned judgment is maintained and affirmed. Records be sent back forthwith.

Date of Decision: 29th August, 2016.

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Police party signaled a motor cycle to stop - jacket of accused A was slightly lifted– his search was conducted during which one packet containing 985 grams charas was recovered - accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that provision of Section 50 of N.D.P.S. Act was not complied with- accused were not apprised of their legal right to be searched before a Magistrate or Gazetted Officer- recovery cannot be relied upon- Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 14)

For the Appellant: Mr. P.M. Negi, Deputy A. G.
For the Respondents: Mr. N.S. Chandel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of H.P. against the judgment of the learned Special Judge (I), Kangra at Dharamshala, Himachal Pradesh, rendered on 15.10.2011 in Sessions Case No. 42-D/VII-2009, whereby, it acquitted the accused/respondents for an offence punishable under Section 20-61-85 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act (hereinafter referred to as the "NDPS Act").

2. The facts relevant to decide the instant case are that on 4.10.2009 PW-7 Inspector Rajeev Attri along with other police officials of P.S. Dharamashala were on patrol duty. At about 9.45, when they were present near bus stand on Sudher road a motor cycle bearing No. HP-39A-7144, occupied by two persons on sighting their vehicle, the rider of the motor cycle increased the speed of it. On suspicion they chased it and stopped it at some distance. On inquiry, the rider and the pillion rider of the motorcycle disclosed their names as Dharam Dhoj and Anil respectively. Both of them were not possessed with the documents of the motor cycle. The police noticed that the jacket worn by the pillion rider, namely, Anil Kumar, was slightly lifted from right side upon which suspicion regarding some objectionable article raised. On this, the Investigating Officer after complying with the provisions of Section 50 of the NDPS Act, the police conducted their personal search. Nothing was recovered from accused Dharam Dhoj. However, on conducting the personal search of accused Anil Kumar by the Investigating Officer, a packet concealed inside the jacket worn by him stood recovered. The said packet was found containing charas weighing 985 grams. Thereafter, other codal formalities were completed and the accused were arrested. Report of the FSL was procured. Statements of the witnesses were recorded.

3. On conclusion of investigations, into the offence, allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed in the Court.

4. The accused were charged by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offence punishable under Section 20-61-85 of the NDPS Act. In proof of the prosecution case, the prosecution examined 7 witnesses. On conclusion of recording of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded by the trial Court, in which the accused claimed innocence and pleaded false implication. However, they did not lead any defence evidence.

5. On an appraisal of the evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused/respondents herein.

6. The State of H.P. stands aggrieved by the judgment of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of the evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. On the other hand, the learned defence counsel has with considerable force and vigour, contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. The depositions of the official witnesses comprised in their respective examinations-in-chief qua effectuation of recovery of charas, under memo Ex.PW1/E by the Investigating Officer at the site of occurrence from the purported exclusive and conscious possession of accused Anil Kumar, are manifestly shorn off any vice of inter se contradictions vis-a-vis their respective cross-examinations. Also their respective depositions qua effectuation of recovery of charas, under memo Ex.PW1/E by the Investigating Officer at the site of occurrence from the exclusive and conscious possession of accused Anil Kumar are bereft of any vice of any intra se contradictions. Consequently, when the respective depositions of the prosecution witnesses when remained unstained with any vice of any inter se contradictions or any blemish of any intra se contradictions, hence, coax an inference from this Court of their respective versions qua effectuation of recovery of charas under memo Ex.PW1/E by the Investigating Officer at the site of occurrence from the purported exclusive and conscious possession of accused Anil Kumar being truthful as well as credible. Even when the testimonies of the official witnesses qua effectuation of recovery of charas under memo Ex.PW1/E by the Investigating Officer at the site of occurrence from the purported exclusive and conscious possession of accused Anil Kumar, when for reasons aforestated, remain unblemished with any stain of any intra se or inter se contradictions whereupon hence sanctity is imputable to their respective depositions.

10. Be that as it may, even if the official witnesses render a credible version qua the factum of recovery of charas weighing 980 grams under memo Ex.PW1/E by the Investigating Officer at the site of occurrence from the purported exclusive and conscious possession of accused Anil Kumar would not yet constrain this Court to reverse the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court vis-a-vis the accused. The reason for disimputing sanctity to the testimonies of the official witnesses spurs from the factum of the Investigating Officer proceeding to effectuate recovery of charas from Anil Kumar in sequel to his holding his personal search. The aforesaid effectuation of recovery of the relevant item of contraband weighing 980 grams stood made by the Investigating Officer on the right side of the Jacket adorned by accused Anil Kumar standing searched, wherefrom the relevant item of contraband stood retrieved therefrom while its standing enclosed in paper foil. Obviously since the effectuation of recovery of the aforesaid item of contraband stood effectuated on the Investigating Officer holding a personal search of accused Anil Kumar hence peremptorily entailed upon him to mete strict compliance to the mandatory statutory provisions encapsulated in Section 50 of the NDPS Act whereupon a mandate stood enjoined upon him to preceding his holding the personal search of accused Anil Kumar his under an apposite consent memo purveying to him intimation qua his holding a vested statutory right qua his initially opting for his personal search standing conducted before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate, option whereof in case foregone by the accused also with the accused consenting to his personal search standing held by the Investigating Officer, would both empower him to hold his personal search also would validate the recovery of the relevant item of contraband by the Investigating Officer in sequel to his holding a personal search of accused Anil Kumar. Contrarily, the aforesaid intimation qua the facet aforesaid remained undisclosed besides unrecited by the Investigating Officer in the apposite consent memo comprised in Ex.PW1/A.. In aftermath, the mandate of Section 50 of the NDPS Act stood infracted whereas its mandate enjoining strict compliance thereto hence renders the entire proceedings relating to search besides on its consummation, the effectuation of recovery of the relevant item of contraband from co-accused Anil Kumar to be vitiated.

11. For making an ad nauseam determination whether the Investigating Officer meted reverence to the statutory mandate of Section 50 of the Act, an allusion to consent memo Ex.PW1/A is imperative. An incisive reading thereof makes a display of the Investigating Officer therein not enunciating the trite factum of accused Anil Kumar holding a vested statutory right to primarily besides initially opt for his personal search being held before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate. Withholding of the aforesaid intimation by the Investigating Officer in Ex.PW1/A to accused Anil Kumar renders Ex.PW1/A to not hold any legal significance rather renders its recitals to digress from the mandate of Section 50 of the NDPS Act. The sequel of the aforesaid non compliance by the Investigating Officer, non compliance whereof stands constituted in his not drawing Ex.PW1/A within the mandate of Section 50 of the NDPS Act begets an inference of his subjecting the accused to personal search standing both stained besides vitiated whereupon hence a conclusion is foisted of recovery of the relevant item of contraband by the Investigating Officer on his holding a personal search of accused Anil Kumar, holding no statutory sinew. In aftermath, with hence the entire relevant proceedings getting vitiated, leeway is opened for an inference of the accused as aptly concluded by the learned trial Court standing entitled to acquittal. Furthermore, the salutary solemn principle behind the engraftment of the mandatory statutory provisions embedded in Section 50 of the NDPS Act, whereupon the Investigating Officer stands fastened with a statutory duty to purvey in the apposite consent memo to the accused qua theirs holding a primary vested statutory right for their personal search standing initially held by an Executive Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer, is of its sequeling awakenings in the accused qua an indefeasible primary statutory right inhering in them qua theirs opting for their personal search standing initially held by an Executive Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer, right whereof unless stands foregone by the accused would dis-empower the Investigating Officer to hold their personal search. Holding of unequivocal communications in the apposite consent memo qua the apposite statutory right vesting in the accused is also a safe deterrent for them to refrain from opting for their personal search standing held by the Investigating Officer. It is also to inspire confidence in the accused to withhold their consent to their personal search standing carried by the Investigating Officer which may otherwise stand stained with an aura of false implication besides concoction. Since the recitals embodied in Ex.PW1/A flagrantly depart from the solemn salutary principle engrafted in Section 50 of the NDPS Act, the invincible conclusion therefrom is of an uncreditworhty legally frail personal search of the accused standing held by the Investigating Officer. Furthermore, amplifying vigour to the aforesaid inference of the salutary principle underlying Section 50 of the NDPS Act standing blunted by the Investigating Officer is lent by his mis-phrasing the recitals of consent memo Ex.PW1/A. Also, with the Investigating Officer intentionally blunting the play of Section 50 of the NDPS Act, reiteratedly his conducting the personal search of the accused in the guise of a vitiated consent memo cannot hold any formidability.

12. Be that as it may, a perusal of Ex.PW1/A makes a disclosure of the Investigating Officer concerned concerting to obtain thereunder a joint apposite consent of both the accused. The manifestations in Ex.PW1/A of the Investigating Officer thereunder concerting to elicit the joint apposite consent of both the accused qua his proceeding to subject them to personal search renders it to apart from the infirmity afore referred gripping it to also infract the mandate of law foisting an obligation upon the Investigating Officer to obtain under the apposite consent memo, the individual rather than the collective consent of the accused. In aftermath, with the Investigating Officer under Ex.PW1/A endeavouring to obtain the collective or the joint apposite consent of both the accused also stains it with a legal infirmity. Consequently, a collective contrived consent obtained by the Investigating Officer from the accused qua his holding their personal search cannot stand clothed with any tinge of its holding any statutory validation.

13. Furthermore, PW-7 Inspector Rajeev Attri, who recorded a complaint qua the occurrence, proceeded to also carry out investigations in the matter. Consequently, besides cumulatively even the mandate of law interdicting him to hold investigations in the matter given his recording a complaint stands infracted prodding a sequel of the investigations as conducted by him being partisan whereupon no reliance can be imputed.

14. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Court below has appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of the evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

15. Consequently, there is no merit in the instant appeal and it is accordingly dismissed. In sequel, the judgment impugned before this Court is affirmed and maintained. Records be sent back forthwith.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306 read with Section 34- Deceased was married to the Accused A- accused started maltreating her and leveled allegations qua her chastity- she was not allowed to attend the function in the house of her in-laws- subsequently, she committed suicide by hanging herself- accused were acquitted by the Trial Court- held, in appeal that specific acts of cruelty were not mentioned by PW-1- testimony of PW-3 is not credible as same suffers from improvement – mere presumption is not sufficient to implicate the accused- prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt - Trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 14)

For the Appellant: Mr. M.A. Khan, Additional A.G.
For the Respondents: Mr. Nareshwar Chandel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of H.P. against the judgment of the learned Additional Sessions Judge (II), Kangra at Dharamshala, Himachal Pradesh, rendered on 24.08.2013 in RBT S.C. No.51-K/VII/2010, whereby, it acquitted the accused/respondents for the offences punishable under Sections 498-A, 306 and read with Section 34 of the IPC.

2. The facts relevant to decide the instant case are that on 17.05.2010 at village Lakhamandal, Arti wife of accused Ajay Kumar had committed suicide by hanging herself from rope from ceiling of a room inside the house of the accused. The Police investigation reveals that marriage of accused Ajay Kumar with Arti (since deceased) was solemnized on 7th December, 2009 according to Hindu rites and custom and thereafter all the accused who are of the same family being mother-in-law, father-in-law and husband started maltreating the deceased. The accused also alleged to have given beatings to her as also leveling allegations upon her qua chastity. It has also come in the evidence that on 3rd May, 2010, retirement of father of complainant PW-1 Rakesh Kumar was to be organized in which deceased Arti alongwith her in-laws was invited but she was not allowed to attend the function on the pretext of some domestic problem. When said Arti informed complainant Rakesh Kumar that her in-laws did not allow her to attend function and she also narrated maltreatment and beatings given to her by the accused. It has also come in evidence that due to persistent beatings given to Arti, she had requested the complainant to accompany her to house of accused. It has come in the investigation that a telepehonic information was received at 3.15 p.m. on 17.05.2010 at the residence of complainant whereby he was informed that deceased had committed suicide whereupon complainant Rakesh Kumar along with his wife reached at the house of the accused and found the dead body of Arti hanging with rope tied with wooden beam of the roof of the house. Since the complainant suspected that deceased was harassed and tortured by accused persons as narrated by her prior to her death, he made a statement under Section 154 Cr. P. C. to the police on the basis of which FIR was registered in the Police Station concerned against the accused. The police carried out investigations in the matter, during the course whereof, recorded the statements of the witnesses, prepared the site plans, procured the postmortem report etc.

3. On conclusion of investigations, into the offences, allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed in the Court.

4. The accused were charged by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 498-A, 306 read with Section 34 of the IPC. In proof of the prosecution case, the prosecution examined 13 witnesses. On conclusion of recording of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded by the trial Court, in which the accused claimed innocence and pleaded false implication. However, they did not lead any defence evidence.

5. On an appraisal of the evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused/respondent herein.

6. The State of H.P. stands aggrieved by the judgment of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of the evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. On the other hand, the learned defence counsel has with considerable force and vigour, contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. The marriage inter se deceased Arti and accused Ajay Kumar was solemnized on 7.12.2009. Within six months of hers solemnizing marriage with accused Ajay, she committed suicide by hanging from a rope tethered to a wooden beam of her room as depicted in site plan Ex.PW13/A. Her hanging, as unraveled by postmortem report Ex.PW5/C, sequelled asphyxia leading to her demise. For the prosecution to succeed qua its proving the factum probandum of the accused abetting her suicide, it was enjoined to adduce cogent proof qua both mental and physical cruelty as stood purportedly perpetrated upon her by the accused holding proximity in time vis-a-vis the suicide committed by the deceased also it was enjoined to adduce potent proof holding loud articulations with specificity qua the timing of perpetration of acts of physical besides mental cruelty by the accused upon the deceased.

10. For gauging from the prosecution evidence qua the prosecution succeeding in adducing the aforesaid relevant besides germane evidence for constraining this court to clinch findings of conviction qua the accused, an allusion to the testimony of PW-1 is imperative. PW-1 is the complainant, who recorded Ex.PW1/A, comprising his statement under Section 154, Cr.P.C. For ensuring the trite factum of his testification in Court holding concurrence with Ex.PW1/A hence its standing bereft of any vice of improvements or embellishments vis-a-vis Ex.PW1/A, whereupon his testification would stand on a sacrosanct pedestal of veracity enjoins this Court to allude to his testification occurring in his cross-examination wherein he stood confronted with Ex.PW1/A qua the relevant facet communicated by him in his examination-in-chief for hence given its holding concurrence therewith credibility being fastenable qua the factum communicated therein qua the deceased intimating him qua hers standing belaboured by the accused besides theirs not allowing her to attend the retirement function of his father. Also thereon he stood confronted with Ex.PW1/A for with his testification therein holding concurrence with the apt echoings occurring therein credibility would stand fastened qua the echoings made by him in his examination-in-chief qua the mother of the deceased apprising him about the belabourings perpetrated upon her by the accused and of hers entreating him to accompany her to the house of the accused. However, the endeavour aforesaid for infusing credibility qua the aforesaid echoings made by PW-1 in his examination-in-chief has begotten the sequel of the facets aforesaid not finding existence in Ex.PW1/A rendering hence his testification qua the facets aforesaid to stand stained with a vice of improvements and embellishments vis-a-vis Ex.PW1/A. Consequently, his testification loses its creditworthiness. Further, his omitting to disclose with specificity the timing of perpetration of mental besides physical cruelty by the accused upon the deceased constrains an inference of the gravamen of the offence constituted under Section 306 of the IPC encapsulated in proximity with precision in timing occurring qua the perpetration of mental besides physical cruelty upon the deceased by the accused vis-a-vis the ill-fated occurrence standing grossly unsatiated leading this Court to conclude of the testimony of PW-1 holding no legal worth in concluding qua the prosecution succeeding in proving the charge against the accused.

11. PW-3 makes a testification qua the psyche of the deceased standing encumbered with mental cruelty arising from the factum of the accused suspecting her chastity. However, her testification is bereft of creditworthiness spurrable from the factum of hers making a disclosure in Court qua the Investigating Officer not during the course of his holding investigations, recording her statement under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C. Consequently, it has to be inferred therefrom qua hers not standing joined as a witness by the Investigating Officer wherefrom the ensuing sequel is of hers hence being unamenable for standing cited as a witness besides her testimony garnering no credibility. Even otherwise the ascription by her qua perpetration of mental cruelty upon the deceased by the accused when stands founded upon the accused suspecting her fidelity is bereft of credibility arousable from the factum of PW-1 omitting to underscore the aforesaid factum in Ex.PW1/A. Consequently, with PW-3 contradicting PW-1 qua the facet aforesaid, she is to be concluded to be contriving the factum of the accused encumbering her psyche with mental cruelty arousable from theirs casting aspersions qua her chastity. Likewise with the testimony of PW-7 also standing ingrained with infirmities and discrepancies akin to the one ingraining the testimony of PW-3, warrants this Court to draw an akin inference qua hence his testimony also holding no creditworthiness.

12. However, the learned Additional Advocate General has submitted before this Court qua with evidently the commission of suicide by the deceased occurring within six months of hers contracting marriage with accused Ajay Kumar, renders drawable qua the accused the presumption encapsulated under Section 113-A of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act"), provisions whereof stand extracted hereinafter, qua hence theirs abetting the commission of suicide by the deceased whereupon he contends with force qua findings of conviction being returnable against the accused. Provisions of Section 113 of the Act read as under:

> "113-A. Presumption as to abetment of suicide by a married woman.- When the question is whether the commission of suicide by a woman had been abetted by her husband or any relative of her husband and it is shown that she had committed suicide within a period of seven years from the date of her marriage and that her husband or such relative of her husband had subjected her to cruelty, the Court may presume, having regard to all the other circumstances of the case, that such suicide had been abetted by her husband or by such relative of her husband."

13. The reliance as placed by the learned Additional Advocate General upon the provisions of Section 113-A of the Act for constraining this Court to statutorily presume the trite factum of the accused abetting the commission of suicide by the deceased prominently with her suicide occurring within six months of her marriage standing solemnized with accused Ajay Kumar warrants it standing discountenanced by this Court, given this Court standing stirred to invoke the presumption embedded in Section 113-A of the Act only on the prosecution adducing cogent evidence in satiation of the indispensable condition precedent for its arousal inasmuch as qua the accused subjecting the deceased to both mental besides physical cruelty, conspicuously, when satiation thereof stands statutorily embedded there within to constitute the imperative statutory precursor for warranting its awakening. In aftermath, when only on emanation of forthright proof qua the condition precedent aforesaid would give play to the presumption embedded in Section 113-A of the Act, contrarily with the prosecution abysmally failing to adduce cogent evidence in display of the accused perpetrating physical besides mental cruelty upon the deceased hence renders the condition precedent aforesaid qua the workability of the statutory presumption engrafted in Section 113-A of the Act to stand unsatiated whereupon the provisions of Section 113-A of the Act remain un-attracted vis-a-vis the accused.

14. The summon bonum of the aforesaid discussion is that the learned trial Court below has appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of the evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

15. Consequently, there is no merit in the instant appeal and it is accordingly dismissed. In sequel, the judgment impugned before this Court is maintained and affirmed. Records be sent back forthwith.

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302 read with Section 34- Dead body was found in a room of Dharamshala in a blanket tied with a cloth- subsequently it was identified to be that of M - it was found during investigation that the deceased was murdered by the accused- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecution case is based upon circumstantial evidence- signatures of accused were not present against his name in the register- an inference can be drawn that name was written by the Investigating Officer for implicating the accused- merely because, accused had not participated in the test identification parade cannot lead to an adverse inference - finger prints lifted from the spot tallied with the finger prints of the accused but the recovery memo was written in different handwriting – possibility of planting them in relevant room cannot be ruled out- photographs were also printed with different papers- recoveries of golden ring, bag and mobile phone at the instance of the accused were not proved- trial Court had appraised the evidence in whole some and harmonious manner- conclusion returned by the trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity – appeal dismissed.

(Para-9 to 14)

For the Appellant: Mr. P.M. Negi, Dy. A.G.
For the Respondent: Nemo.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of H.P. against the judgment of the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Ghumarwin, District Bilaspur, H.P. rendered on 30.12.2009 in Sessions Trial No. 17/7 of 2006, whereby, it acquitted the accused/respondent for an offence punishable under Section 302/34 of the IPC.

2. The facts relevant to decide the instant case are that 17.08.2005 at about 10.30 a.m. M.C. Amar Nath, No. 97 of P.P. Sri Naina Devi Ji, gave information in Police Station Kot Kehloor that as per telephonic message received from press reporter Sh. Rakesh Gautam, a dead body of a person was lying in Devraj Dharamshala. On this information SHO, P.S. Kot Kehloor visited the spot and found that an unidentified dead body was lying wrapped in the blanket in the room of the Dharamshala. On inquiry made from Smt. Anuradha Sharma, owner of the Dharamshala, it was revealed that on 15.8.2005 at about 10.00 a.m., 2 males and 2 females had approached her to hire one room and she accordingly let out one room to them upto 17.8.2005 on payment of Rs. 100/- per day. On 17.8.2005 when Smt. Anuradha went to the said room to check and lock it and when she unlocked the chain and opened the door she found that one person was lying with a blanket on him. When she called him he did not respond. Thereafter, the SHO took photographs of the spot and inspected the dead body and found that the hands of the dead body were tied with a piece of the cloth and were placed on the stomach. The throat of the dead body was also tied tightly with a cloth. After inspection of the spot and the dead body the SHO concluded that the unidentified person aged about 55 years had been murdered. Upon this he scribed a rukka containing the aforesaid information and sent the same to P.S. Kot Kehloor, on the basis of which FIR No.106/2005, under Section 302/34 IPC was registered. During investigating the deceased was identified as Mohan Singh son of Sh. Dalip Singh, resident of Saundha Lehran, District Bhatinda (Punjab). The investigation further revealed that deceased Mohan Singh came to pay obeisance to goddess Sri Naina Devi Ji along with accused Bhajan Singh, Rani Kaur and Ramandeep Kaur on 15.8.2005 and stayed in Devraj Dharamshala in a room which was booked by the accused from 15.8.2005 to 17.8.2005. All of the three accused persons committed the murder of deceased Mohan Singh and left the aforesaid Dharamshala on 16.8.2005.

3. On conclusion of investigations, into the offence, allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed in the Court.

4. The accused was charged by the learned trial Court for his committing an offence punishable under Section 302/34 of the IPC. In proof of the prosecution case, the prosecution examined 22 witnesses. On conclusion of recording of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was recorded by the trial Court, in which the accused claimed innocence and pleaded false implication. However, he led defence evidence and tendered in evidence copy of judgment of 6.12.2006 (Ex. D1) rendered by the Juvenile Justice Board, Una.

5. On an appraisal of the evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused/respondent herein.

6. The State of H.P. stands aggrieved by the judgment of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned Additional Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of the evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. This Court with the able assistance of the learned Deputy Advocate General, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

8. The prosecution case rests upon circumstantial evidence. For the prosecution to succeed in a case hinged in its entirety upon circumstantial evidence, it stood enjoined to adduce conclusive evidence in display of each of the links in the pack of circumstances standing unflinchingly proven. Contrarily, with any of the links in the chain of circumstances getting dismembered, the prosecution case would suffer the ill-fate of its collapsing.

9. The initial circumstance relied upon by the prosecution to clinch the guilt of the accused /respondent herein stands anvilled upon the testimony of PW-4, Kuldeep Singh, who testified in corroboration to the prosecution version qua the accused/respondent along with Ramandeep Kaur visiting the dhaba of deceased Mohan Singh on 13th day of Savan whereto on the date aforesaid he had also proceeded given his brother serving in the dhaba of aforesaid deceased Mohan Singh. He has also testified in corroboration to the prosecution version of the aforesaid after remaining present at the dhaba of deceased Mohan Singh for 3-4 hours, theirs along with deceased Mohan Singh proceeding to Sri Naina Devi Ji. His testification qua the aforesaid facet occurring in his examination-in-chief has remained unshattered during the ordeal of the rigorous cross-examination to which he stood subjected to. Consequently, the prosecution has succeeded in proving the initial link in the chain of circumstances constituted in the factum of PW-4 noticing at the dhaba of deceased Mohan Singh, the accused/respondent herein along with Ramandeep Kaur also its on the anvil of the testimony of PW-4 proving the further factum of theirs after remaining for 3 to 4 hours at the dhaba of deceased Mohan Singh, theirs along with deceased Mohan Singh proceeding to Sri Naina Devi Ji. However, proof of the aforesaid link would not be sufficient to record findings of conviction vis-a-vis the accused/respondent herein unless the further links in the chain of circumstances also stand cogently proven.

10. The demise of Mohan Singh occurred in Devraj Dharamshala owned by PW-1. Obviously vigorous proof was enjoined to be adduced by the prosecution in portrayal of on the ill-fated day the accused along with the deceased occupying Devraj Dharamshala. In proof of the aforesaid factum, the prosecution has relied upon the testimony of PW-1 Smt. Anuradha Sharma. She in her testification makes underscorings of on 15.8.2005 four persons including the accused/respondent along with Rani Kaur, along with the deceased and one minor girl visiting her Sarai wheretowhom she provided a room in her Sarai on payment of rent of Rs.100/-. She deposes qua an apposite entry qua theirs occupying a room in the Sarai owned by her standing recorded at serial No.26 of the apposite register comprised in Ex.P-1. She has also made communications therein qua hers noticing the accused to be staying in the Sarai. She proceeds to depose of on 16.8.2005 accused Bhajan Singh and Rani Kaur after apprising her qua theirs intending to visit Baba Balak Nath, theirs departing from the Sarai. On 17.8.2005, she testifies of hers noticing the dead body of the deceased lying in a room of the Sarai owned by her. She was subjected to the ordeal of a rigorous cross-examination, wherein, she made a disclosure of the Sarai owned by her holding eight rooms. She has also admitted the suggestion put to her by the learned defence counsel qua the remaining rooms of her Sarai having one door and one window. Furthermore, she testified qua the Sarai being a three storeyed building and of the accused occupying its ground floor wherein two rooms exist also she has disclosed in her cross-examination qua hers taken to obtain in the apposite register the signatures of the pilgrims, who occupied her Sarai. However, she has disclosed that at the time of arrival of the accused at the Sarai no entry was recorded in the register. Nonetheless, she deposes of the relevant entry in the relevant register standing recorded by her son Shashank. Also she deposes of on the relevant day no other pilgrim(s) occupying any other room in her Sarai. She pronounces in her deposition qua the non existence of the signatures of the accused in the apposite register, Ex.P-1.

11. PW-3 Sh. Shashank Kumar, the son of PW-1 makes a communication in his deposition qua his in the apposite register comprised in Ex.P-1 under the instructions of his mother recording an entry therein qua the accused occupying a room in their Sarai. He alike PW-1 underscores in his deposition qua the non existence of the signatures of the accused in the apposite register comprised in Ex.P-1. However, he contradicts PW-1 qua the factum deposed by the latter of none other than the accused along with the deceased besides others accompanying them occupying rooms in their Sarai rather he deposes of on the relevant day four persons besides the aforesaid also staying in their Sarai. Also he concedes to the factum of the signatures of the aforesaid standing obtained on Ex. P-1.

12. For the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-3 to acquire sanctity in personification of the trite factum of the accused on the relevant day along with the deceased occupying their Sarai, their respective testimonies on their mutual incisive scanning stand enjoined to be bereft of any intra se contradictions besides they imperatively stand enjoined to be bereft of any ring of unnaturalness whereupon an inference qua their testifications qua the facet aforesaid standing not stained with a vice of inveracity would stand aroused. PW-1 and PW-3 both depose qua the non existence of the signatures of the accused against the relevant entry recording his name in the apposite register comprised in Ex.P-1,. The non existence of the signatures of the accused against his name existing in Ex.P-1 would be both insignificant also would not belittle the factum of his on the relevant day along with the deceased staying in the Sarai owned by PW-1 and PW-3, factum whereof stands borne by his name standing recorded in Ex.P-1 unless forthright evidence emerged qua Ex.P-1 not also holding the signatures of all the other occupants who besides the accused along with the deceased and others accompanying them, also obviously on the relevant day stood lodged in the Sarai owned by PW-1 and PW-3. Now when PW-3 concedes to the factum qua four persons besides the deceased along with accused also on the relevant day standing lodged in their Sarai, also his further conceding qua theirs appending their respective signatures against their names recorded in Ex.P-1 does arouse suspicion qua the absence of the signatures of the accused against his name recorded in Ex. P-1. Conspicuously, PW-1 testifies of hers taken to obtain signatures of all persons who occupied her Sarai. Consequently, with momentous skepticism standing generated qua the absence of the signatures of the accused/respondent against his name occurring in Ex.P-1 dispels the factum of his on the relevant day occupying the Sarai owned by PW-1 and PW-3. Furthermore, even if the accused/respondent had not appended his signatures against the relevant entry comprised in Ex. P-1 wherein his name stands recorded yet with cogent proof emanating embedded in the report of the Handwriting Expert qua the name of the accused existing in Ex.P-1 standing scribed by him would garner vigour to the assay of the prosecution qua the accused along with the deceased on the relevant day occupying the Sarai. However, the aforesaid evidence qua the accused scribing his name in Ex.P-1 is amiss. Consequently, an apt inference which stands generated qua the recording of the name of the accused in the apposite register comprised in Ex. P-1 is of it standing scribed by a person other than the accused also an inference stands aroused qua its occurrence therein germinating from a sheer contrivance employed by the Investigating Officer for falsely implicating the accused. Even otherwise when PW-3 contradicts PW-1 qua none other than the accused purportedly along with the deceased and others accompanying them occupying room(s) in their Sarai, contradiction whereof stands underscored by his deposing of four persons other than the aforesaid on the relevant day occupying their Sarai, renders the deposition of PW-1 to stand ingrained with a pervasive vice of intra se contradictions vis-a-vis the testimony of PW-3 whereupon the vigour of the prosecution case qua the factum of the accused/respondent along with the deceased on the relevant day occupying the Dharamshala/Sarai gets frail besides emasculated. In sequel, the pivotal link in personification of the accused along with the deceased staying on the relevant day in Devraj Dharamshala stands not cogently proven. In aftermath, with the aforesaid pivotal link in the chain of circumstances standing hence severed, the vigour of the deposition of PW-4 also holds no strength.

13. Be that as it may, the prosecution had relied upon the circumstance of the accused refusing to participate in the test identification parade whereupon it espouses of an adverse inference therefrom standing generated vis-a-vis the accused. However, the aforesaid espousal made by the prosecution is unworthy of credence given the accused explicating his refusal to participate in the test identification parade by projecting qua his standing already shown by the police to the relevant witnesses. Since, the explication aforesaid purveyed by the accused for his refusal to participate in the test identification parade remains unrebutted, the inevitable sequel therefrom is of no adverse inference standing enjoined to be drawn vis-a-vis the accused qua his refusal to participate in the test identification parade also the identification, if any, in Court of the accused by PW-1 and PW-3 also hence holds no sinew prominently when their respective versions qua the ill-fated occurrence holding ascription of inculpation vis-a-vis the accused stand ingrained with a pervasive vice of inveracity. Despite the aforesaid frailties ingraining the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-3 hence rendering their testifications qua the facet aforesaid of the accused along with the deceased on the relevant day visiting their Sarai being bereft of any credence, the prosecution has depended upon the testimony of PW-5 Sh. Madan Lal to make a vigorous concert for sustaining the factum of the accused along with the deceased preceding the occurrence standing last seen in the vicinity of the Sarai owned by PW-1 and PW-3 for hence empowering it to thereupon erect a concomitant link for clinching the factum probandum of his committing the offence alleged.

14. A close scrutiny of the testimony of PW-5 unveils the factum of his identifying the accused to be the person, who along with other three visited his shop whereupon they solicited his help qua availability of rooms on rent for facilitating their stay, leading him to make an inquiry from PW-1, who stands testified by him to stand sighted to occupy her veranda adjoining his shop, inquiry whereof made by PW-5 from PW-1 qua the facet aforesaid evinced a reply in the affirmative from her, whereafter he sent them to PW-1. He has also identified the girl and the man depicted in Mark-A and Mark- B to be respectively the accused and the deceased respectively. Primarily veracity to his deposition qua a request standing made upon him by the accused qua the availability of rooms on rent for their stay at Sri Naina Devi Ji whereupon he made an inquiry from PW-1, who stands testified by him to be sightable from his shop, enjoins to be dwelt upon. In dwelling upon the veracity of the aforesaid factum, an allusion to Ex.PW21/F is imperative wherefrom an inference is garnerable of the house of PW-1 standing not located in the vicinity of the shop of PW-5. Given the non occurrence of the shop of PW-5 in the vicinity of the house of PW-1 mobilizes an apt derivative of PW-5 making a false testification qua his on an entreaty made upon him by the accused qua availability of rooms on rent at Sri Naina Devi Ji for his along with others accompanying him staying there, his making an inquiry from PW-1, who stood sighted by him from his shop, also leads to a further sequeling inference of his concocting the factum of the accused along with the deceased visiting his shop on 15.8.2005 also denudes the vigour of his testimony of his last sighting them together. Furthermore, also his identification in Court of the accused to be the same person who stood sighted byhim in the company of the deceased in proximity to the site of occurrence holds no vigour, more so, when preceding the holding of the test identification parade the accused stood evidently for reasons aforestated shown to him besides to other prosecution witnesses by the police, rendering both inefficacious besides nugatory any endeavour of the prosecution to constrain the accused to participate in the relevant test identification parade also rendering inconsequential his refusal to participate therein, rather also conspicuously, for reiteration any identification in Court by accused PW-5 is unworthy of any creditworthiness.

15. Jug, Ex. P-12 and glasses Ex.P-13 and P-14 stood recovered under memo Ex.PW2/C from the shelf of the room of the Sarai wherein the body of the deceased was found lying, finger prints existing thereon stood lifted by the Investigating Officer whereupon they stood transmitted to the Finger Print Expert who on tallying the finger prints borne on Ex.P-13 and P-14 with the finger prints of the accused opined qua occurrence of intra se compatibility. On anvil aforesaid the prosecution makes a fervent endeavour qua findings of conviction being returned against the accused. However, the factum of recovery of Ex.P-13 and P-14 under memo Ex.PW2/C from the shelf of the room of the Sarai wherefrom the dead body of the deceased was recovered is vulnerable to skepticism emanating from the factum of rukka, Ex.PW21/A which stood scribed by the Investigating Officer after his verifying the spot, omitting to make a disclosure therein qua their existence therein also inquest report, Ex.PW21/B being reticent qua their existence therein. Both rukka, Ex.PW21/A and inquest report, Ex.PW21/B stood prepared on 17.08.2005 by the Investigating Officer. Both the aforesaid exhibits stand scribed in similar handwriting also both stands scribed on papers holding a similar colour yet with Ex.PW2/C whereunder jug, Ex.P-12 and glasses, Ex.P13 and P-14 stood recovered standing scribed in a handwriting distinct from the handwriting occurring on Ex.PW21/A and Ex.PW21/B, stimulates an aggravated impetus to a formidable conclusion qua preparation of Ex.PW2/C standing imbued with a vice of concoction also with a vice of an ingenuous contrivance employed by the Investigating Officer. Also the omission of the Investigating Officer to record in both Ex.PW21/A and Ex.PW21/B, the presence of Ex.P12, Ex.P13 and Ex.P-14 in the relevant room holds an effect of its opening leeway to the Investigating Officer to subsequently plant them in the relevant room, consequently, it appears of his engineering the occurrence of Ex.P-12, P-13 and P-14 in the relevant room. Necessarily, hence their engineered occurrence in the relevant room negates any imputation of credibility qua the prima dona factum of their occurrence thereat holding contemporaneity with the visit to the relevant room of the Investigating Officer. For lack of contemporaneity qua their existence thereat vis-a-vis the visit thereat of the Investigating Officer amplifyingly begets a deduction in coagulation with the inference of their existence thereat standing stained with a vice of invention besides concoction of hence their occurrence thereat not holding any creditworthiness for ascribing any inculpatory role to the accused qua his occupying the relevant room along with the deceased. Though photographs Ex. PA to Pk pertain to the relevant spot whereamongst whom Ex. PF pertains to the location on the relevant spot of Ex. P-13 and P-14. However, the depictions in Ex.PF of Ex.P-13 and P-14 is insufficient to sway this Court of the Investigating Officer succeeding to countervail the effect of the aforesaid inferences prominently when Ex.PF stands printed on a paper nomenclatured as “Professional Colour Paper” whereas other photographs clicked by the Investigating Officer stand printed on a distinct paper nomenclatured as “ Super Cold Paper” hence leaving latitude for harbouring a deduction of the Investigating Officer in consonance with Ex.PW2/C besides to corroborate the recitals embodied in Ex.PW2/C his photographing the existence at the relevant spot of Ex.P-13 and P-14 merely as an engineered ploy or a sheer contrivance for falsely implicating the accused. Since, a pervasive aura of skepticism seeps qua the existence in the relevant room of Ex. P-13 and P-14 also this Court erecting an inference of their existence thereat standing ingenuously contrived by the Investigating Officer hence fostering an evident sequel qua the opinion of the Finger Print Expert in sequel to his tallying the finger prints existing on Ex.P-13 and P-14 with the finger prints of the accused qua both holding intra se compatibility, also holding no clout for thereupon rendering findings of conviction against the accused. Contrarily, it is apt to conclude of the Investigating Officer during the course of his holding the accused to custodial interrogation his obtaining on Ex.P-13 and P-14 the finger prints of the accused necessarily hence with the Investigating Officer under coercion obtaining on Ex.P-13 and P-14 the finger prints of the accused dispels the factum of their existence thereon being a sequel to the accused voluntarily holding them also benumbs the conclusion of his along with the deceased occupying the relevant room.

16. The last circumstance pressed into service by the prosecution for clinching the guilt of the accused is the recovery of golden ring, Ex.P-17, Bag Ex.P16 and mobile phone, Ex.P15. However, the recovery of the items aforesaid at the instance of the relevant accused respectively under recovery memos, Ex.PW 8/A, Ex.PW7/B and Ex.PW7/A, items whereof purportedly belong to the deceased would not connect the accused in the commission of the alleged offence, given non adduction of emphatic proof qua the articles aforesaid belonging to the deceased. More so, when PW-8 who identified the aforesaid items to be the property of the deceased has been unable to communicate qua his ever sighting the deceased adorning them also has omitted to vociferously articulate qua the source of knowledge qua the factum of theirs standing owned by the deceased. In aftermath, all the links in the chain of circumstances erected by the prosecution against the accused get severed besides dismembered.

17. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Court below has appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of the evidence on record, rather it has aptly appreciated the material available on record.

18. Consequently, there is no merit in the instant appeal and it is accordingly dismissed. In sequel, the judgment impugned before this Court is maintained and affirmed. Records be sent back forthwith.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 319- Principal offenders were charge sheeted for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 302, 341, 323 read with Section 34 IPC- application for impleading the petitioner was filed, which was allowed - held, that prosecution witnesses had stated the name of the petitioner- the Court is not to see whether statements are sufficient to record the conviction as only a prima facie inquiry has to be made at the stage of impleadment - trial Court had rightly exercised the discretion - petition dismissed. (Para-6 to 8)

For the petitioners: Mr.Rajiv Rai, Advocate, for petitioners in Cr. R. No. 190, 191 and 192 of 2015.
Mr. Suneet Goel, Advocate, for petitioners No. Cr.MMO No. 211 of 2015.
For the respondent: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Deputy Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge

The petitioner(s) stand(s) aggrieved by the impugned order(s) pronounced by the learned Additional Sessions Judge (II), Mandi, District Mandi, Himachal Pradesh, orders whereof occurred on an application preferred therebefore by the learned Public Prosecutor under Section 319 of the Code of Criminal Procedure whereby it allowed the application aforesaid. Consequently he/they by instituting the instant petition(s) herebefore concert to assail it.

2. The principal offenders stood charged sheeted by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences constituted under Sections 302, 341, 323 read with Section 34 IPC. The counsel for the petitioner contends of the discretion vested in the learned trial Court under Section 319 Cr.P.C. standing capriciously besides arbitrarily exercised by him arising from his proceeding to impute sanctity qua the relevant factum embodied in the incriminatory evidentiary material purportedly pronouncing upon their inculpation in the offences alleged, though it warranted ouster, it standing ridden with entrenched taints of embellishment besides improvements vis-à-vis the relevant previous statements recorded in writing of the witnesses concerned. The learned counsel appearing for the revisionist has placed reliance upon a judgement reported in Ramdhan Mali and another Vs. State of Rajasthan and another (2014) 3 SCC 92 encapsulating therewithin the principles enjoined to borne in mind by the Court concerned while pronouncing a verdict upon an application constituted therebefore under Section 319 Cr.P.C. The trite expostulation of law encompassed therein is qua the inculpatory evidence, as upsurges against the accused who initially stood not arrayed as an accused alongwith the principal accused, holding a degree of vigourous tenacity, vigour whereof if remains unrebutted would sequel findings of conviction standing returned against the accused sought to be summoned as an accused. He contends of only on evident display of reverence standing meted thereto by the Court concerned would imbue validation to its apposite order for subsequent impleadment of accused/petitioner alongwith the initially arrayed principal accused, contrarily when reverence thereto stands unmeted by the Court concerned, its rendition would stand visited with a vice of invalidation. However, the aforesaid rendition of the Hon'ble Apex Court does not hold out any straitjacket formula for guiding courts of law qua theirs therewithin exercising the discretion conferred upon them under Section 319 Cr.P.C. Consequently, on anvil thereof alone a conclusion cannot be rested by this Court of the impugned order suffering invalidation. However, the trite test for imputing sanctity qua emanation of incriminatory evidence subsequent to the principal accused standing charge-sheeted by the Court concerned emanation whereof vis-à-vis persons other than the principal accused hence warrants theirs standing joined as accused with the principal accused, is of the relevant incriminatory evidence prima facie on its objective discernment holding potent portrayals qua the penal inculpability of a person not therebefore initially arrayed as an accused alongwith the principal accused whereupon his standing joined as an accused alongwith principal accused is warranted. Also the relevant incriminatory evidence qua them if remaining unrebutted would constrain the Court concerned to record findings of conviction against them, would lend amplifying incriminatory vigour to it. Furthermore, even if the rendition of the Hon'ble Apex Court does not hold any straitjacket formula qua the facet aforesaid yet the discretion as vested in the learned trial Court under Section 319 Cr.P.C. enjoins its standing exercised on its drawing an objective satisfaction from the relevant evidentiary material qua its pronouncing with tenacity qua the purported penal culpability of the persons/person sought to be arrayed as an accused alongwith the principal accused besides the relevant evidentiary material occurring therebefore standing bereft of any stain of improvement besides embellishments vis-à-vis the previous statements of the relevant prosecution witnesses whereupon no findings of conviction are warranted to be returned against a person concerted by the Public Prosecutor concerned to be arrayed alongwith the principal accused concerned to face trial.

3. Bearing in mind the aforesaid principles it is the solemn duty of this Court to gauge from the depositions of the prosecution witnesses, the trite factum of the relevant echoings occurring therein qua the ascriptions of penal inculpability vis-à-vis the petitioners herein holding concurrence with the aforesaid principle also to conclude therefrom of in the event of the aforesaid principles standing irrevered by the learned Court concerned, its ordering for summoning the petitioner herein as co-accused for facilitating his facing trial alongwith the principal accused, warranting interference, its obviously standing rendered in gross departure by it of the legal principles governing the exercise of jurisdiction by it on an application moved therebefore under Section 319 Cr.P.C. whereupon a concomitant inference of its standing ridden with a vice of its standing rendered in a post haste manner also its suffering from a vice of thorough non application of mind would stand garnered. The ascription of an inculpatory role vis-à-vis Sunil stands deposed by Virender, Kulbhushan and Surinder. The name of Sunil does not occur in the statement of the informant recorded under Section 154 Cr.P.C. PW-8 in his previous statement recorded in writing, statement whereof stood recorded on two days elapsing since the lodging of the F.I.R, makes underlinings therein of one Bhopal unravelling to him qua his receiving a telephonic intimation from one Surinder qua the latter holding a scuffle with Kalyan, Anil and Onkar during course whereof Sunil stood struck a knife blow on his back by one Kulbhushan. In consonance therewith he made a statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. However, when in departure therefrom hence in gross improvement besides embellishment thereof PW-8 voices of Sunil snatching an axe from Kalyan Singh renders the aforesaid ascription by him of an inculpatory role vis-à-vis Sunil to be wanting in legal vigour. Consequently, the learned trial Court in relying upon the deposition of PW Virender in concluding qua its constituting an incriminatory evidence vis-à-vis Sunil appears to infract the expostulation of law cast in the rendition of the Hon'ble Apex Court qua its imperatively making an objective assessment of the degree of vigour of the inculpatory evidence adduced therebefore whereupon it would hold solemnity besides sanctity, specifically if it remains unrebutted, for recording of findings of conviction against the petitioner Sunil. Also the rendition of the learned trial Court permitting the arraying of Sunil as a co-accused alongwith the principal accused for facilitating his facing trial alongwith the latter hence suffers from an apparent vice of non -application of mind rather its standing prima facie ingrained with a taint of it standing rendered in a post haste besides mechanical manner wherefrom it prima facie formed erroneous conclusions qua the inculpatory role fastenable vis-à-vis petitioner Sunil. Likewise, the testimony of Surinder suffers from an alike infirmity. Consequently, reliance thereupon by the learned trial Court suffers from an akin infirmity. The conclusion aforesaid constrains this Court to tentatively conclude qua the order rendered by the learned trial Court qua arraying of the petitioner as co-accused alongwith principal accused may be warrant its being quashed and set-aside. Be that as it may with Surinder who had purveyed an information to Bhopal, the latter whereof conveyed the information qua the occurrence to informant Virender significantly hence when PW Surinder an ocular witness to the occurrence in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. ascribes an incriminatory role to Sunil qua his holding him by his neck besides subjecting him to beatings would yet render belittled the afore-referred infirmities gripping the respective testimonies of PW Varinder and Kulbhushan. Contrarily his deposing in tandem therewith gives succor to his testification wherein he makes ascriptions qua the incriminatory role of petitioner Sunil. Moreover when hence it is bereft of any vice of it constituting an improvement besides embellishment vis-à-vis his previous statement recorded in writing, as a corollary when the ocular testification of PW Surinder qua the occurrence embodies therein prima facie a credible ocular account qua it, it hence constitutes the prime incriminatory evidence whereupon a relevant conclusion is warranted qua hence the amenability of accused/petitioner Sunil facing trial alongwith the principal accused for the offences constituted in the F.I.R. preponderantly when the factum of its holding a prima facie virtue of truth emanates on its objective discernment. Also hence the impugned rendition of the learned trial Court vis-à-vis the petitioner Sunil is not bereft of its standing rendered in a summary manner without application of mind to the potency of the relevant evidentiary material which prima facie warrants the arraying of the petitioner Sunil as an accused alongwith the principal accused also with PW Surinder alone eye witnessing the occurrence whereas both PW Virender and Kulbhushan not witnessing it rather theirs rendering a hearsay account qua it renders their respective deposition being may be discardable even when they stand visited with any vice of any improvement or embellishment vis-à-vis their previous statements recorded in writing sequelly also with theirs respective testifications being both irrelevant to rest the relevant pivotal fact, factum whereof prima facie stands rested by the relevant ocular account qua his inculpatory role rendered by Surinder besides when the latter's ocular testification alone constitutes the relevant evidence for inculpating besides arraying him as an accused alongwith the principal accused also hence alone holds sway for the learned trial Court to on anvil thereof rest its relevant findings qua the relevant accused, imperatively warrants deference standing meted thereto.

4. Hereinafter it is imperative to allude to the tenacity of upsurgings of an incriminatory role vis-à-vis Baldev Singh subsequent to the principal accused standing subjected to face trial for the charge as stood put to them by the learned trial Court also it is an utmost obligation of this Court to determine whether the relevant incriminatory evidentiary material vis-à-vis Baldev Singh satiating the expostulation of law aforesaid. PW Surinder an ocular witness to the occurrence who purveyed an information qua it to the informant PW-Virender hence is the solitary PW warranting discernment of his testification, for constraining this Court to conclude qua his testification wherein he ascribes an incriminatory role vis-à-vis Baldev Singh prima facie holding legal worth. He in his testification in concurrence with his previous statement recorded in writing has ascribed to Baldev Singh an incriminatory role qua his belabouring him. His deposing in tandem with his previous statement recorded in writing renders the taint of improvement if any vis.a.vis his previous statement recorded in writing hence gripping the testification of PW Virender the informant to stand effaced. Moreso when the informant made a disclosure qua the occurrence on intimation standing purveyed to him by Surinder, an ocular witness thereto who occularly testifies in concurrence with his previous statement recorded in writing rendering hence his testimony to be construable to be bereft of any taint. Also reliance thereupon by the learned trial Court for ordering the summoning of Baldev is apt.

5. Also even when the testification of PW Virender the informant holds any taints of his improving upon his previous statement recorded in writing its effect stands effaced, on account of his making a disclosure qua the occurrence on intimation standing purveyed to him by Surender an ocular witness thereto, the latter whereof rather prima facie at this stage has rendered a credible ocular account qua it bereft of any taint. In sequel, when the relevant test encapsulated in the rendition of the Hon'ble Apex Court (supra) qua the relevant incriminatory evidence qua the petitioners herein holding on their objective discernment a degree of vigour when for reasons aforestated stands satiated. In aftermath, the order of the learned trial Court summoning them as accused does not suffer from any infirmity.

6. Likewise, the inculpation of Sansar Chand by PW- Virender and PW Kulbhushan when may suffer from taints of improvements or embellishment vis-à-vis their respective previous statements recorded in writing nonetheless effect thereof stands subsumed by PW-Surinder an ocular witness to the ill-fated occurrence testifying in tandem with his previous statement recorded in writing.

7. The ascription of an inculpatory role qua Rajesh and Satish Kumar occurs in the statement recorded under Section 154 Cr.P.C. wherein the informant narrates of petitioner accused Rajesh in association with Satish assaulting her family. However, in her statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. she exculpates the penal inculpation in the occurrence of accused Rajesh and Satish. She in her testification on oath in departure from her previous statement recorded in writing ascribes an incriminatory role to them comprised in theirs alongwith Surinder, Kulbushan and Bhopal exchanging hot words with Kalyan Singh and of accused Surrender holding him from his collar. Even if PW Shreshta Devi has by improving also by embellishing vis-à-vis her previous statement recorded in writing rendered her testimony to be tainted hence standing imbued with a taint of uncreditworthiness. However, the deposition of PW Kalyan Singh warrants its not standing slighted prominently when therein he makes an incriminatory ascription vis-à-vis accused Rajesh and Satish qua theirs alongwith other co-accused holding and pushing him towards the house of one Punjab Singh. The prosecution version qua the occurrence for it to attain a virtue of credibility is enjoined to be bereft of any inter se contradictions, contradictions whereof occur in the testimonies of PW Shreshta Devi. However, with PW Kalyan Singh while testifying qua the inculpation of accused Rajesh Kumar has deposed in tandem with his previous statement recorded in writing renders the rendition by him of an ocular account qua the occurrence wherein he makes echoings of penally inculpable participation of petitioner Rajesh in the alleged occurrence, to be not discardable also the factum of his rendering a deposition qua the occurrence with rife intra se contradictions vis-à-vis testifications qua the occurrence rendered by Shreshta Devi also with the latters testification standing ingrained with an inherent vice of improvement besides embellishment vis.a.vis Rajesh and Satish Kumar would not deter this Court to not interfere with the impugned rendition of the learned trial Court as the incriminatory evidence aforesaid is open to rebuttal by the learned counsel for the aforesaid or by the Public Prosecutor by his subjecting PWs aforesaid to cross-examination on completion whereof alone it would be appropriate to conclude of their respective depositions standing unrebutted whereupon alone it would be apt to conclude of any renditions by PWs aforesaid qua the occurrence wanting or not wanting in legal vigour for hence the learned trial Court founding or not founding thereupon findings of conviction vis-à-vis Rajesh and Satish. However, when the stage aforesaid has not arrived it would be inexpedient for this Court to make a conclusion aforesaid also any making of the conclusion aforesaid by this Court would tantamount to its embarking upon a deep fishing inquiry qua the veracity of their respective depositions qua the occurrence, concert whereof at this stage is not warranted. Also when it is for the learned trial Court to respectively weigh the probative worth of the respective testifications of Kalyan Singh and Shreshta Devi, hence in this Court validating or invalidating herebefore the sanctity of their respective testimonies would tantamount to its arrogating to itself the primary duty of the learned trial Court also would benumb the effort if any of the learned Public Prosecutor concerned to from Shreshta Devi unearth revelations qua the occurrence in support of the prosecution case.

8. Accordingly, all the petitions are dismissed. However, it is made clear that any observation made hereinabove shall not be taken as an expression of opinion on the merits of the case and the learned trial Court shall decide the matter uninfluenced by any observation made hereinabove.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Deepak Kumar ....Petitioner.

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh. ...Respondent.

Cr. MP (M) No. 1007 of 2016.
Decided on: 30th August, 2016.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 439- Accused was found in possession of 18 bottles of Corex, each containing 100 ml and one box containing 144 Capsules of Spasmo Proxyvon plus-held, that petitioner was previously involved in the similar kind of offence- he will temper with the prosecution evidence, therefore, discretion, to admit the petitioner on bail cannot be exercised-petition dismissed. (Para-4)

For the petitioner : Mr. Ajay Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondent : Mr. Virender Kumar Verma, Addl. Advocate General with Mr. Pushpinder Singh Jaswal, Dy. Advocate General.
SI Biri Singh, P.S. Jawali, District Kangra, H.P.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge (oral).

The present bail application is maintained by the petitioner under Section 439 of the Code of Criminal Procedure for releasing him on bail in case FIR No.100 of 2016, dated 20.06.2016 under Section 21 of Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act'), registered at Police Station, Jawali, District Kangra, H.P. As per the prosecution story, on 20.06.2016 around 7.20 PM, ASI Rattan Chand alongwith other police officials was on patrolling duty at place Reedi. He received secret information that accused Deepak Kumar is indulged in the trade of selling Psychotropic Substances, for which he is about to come from his home towards place Kandor. He sent this information to Police Station for registration of the case and also complied the provision of Section 42 (2) of the Act. When accused was seen coming with the bag, Police searched his bag from which 18 bottles of Corex, each containing 100 ml and one box containing 144 Capsules of Spasmo Proxyvon plus were recovered.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioner has argued that no purpose will be served by keeping the petitioner behind the bars.

3. On the other hand, learned Additional Advocate General has argued that the petitioner has committed heinous crime, spoiling the youth of the Country and the recovery has been affected from him. He has further argued that the petitioner was involved in selling the huge quantity of Narcotics Substance and the manner in which the crime has been committed makes it a fit case where the judicial discretion is not required to be exercised in favour of the petitioner.

4. Taking into consideration the above facts, it is clear that the petitioner was previously involved in the similar kind of offence. Though, the petitioner is the resident of the place, but there is reasonable apprehension that he shall tamper with the prosecution evidence. At this stage, as the petitioner is involved in the second case, the judicial discretion, to admit the petitioner on bail is not required to be exercised. Accordingly, the petition, being devoid of merits, is dismissed.

5. In view of the above, the petition stands disposed of.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J.

M/s V.S. Saini Government Contractor .....Petitioner.
Versus
State of H.P. through Principal Secretary, HP PWD and another. .....Respondents.

Arbitration Case No. 71 of 2015
Date of decision: 30th August, 2016

Arbitration and Concilation Act, 1993- Section 8- Petitioner was awarded work of construction of road under Pardhan Mantri Gram Sarak Yojna- work was to be completed in 12 months- petitioner failed to start and complete the work in time- certain concerns were raised by the petitioner, which were not redressed on which petitioner rescinded the work- petitioner filed a petition for appointment of an Arbitrator- held, that clause 24 of the agreement provides for dispute redressal mechanism by way of amicable settlement- however, respondent has failed to resort to the mechanism – further, claim of the petitioner was rejected in the meeting- hence, there is no impediment in appointment of arbitrator - petition allowed and Arbitrator appointed to adjudicate the dispute raised by the petitioner as well as counter-claim preferred by the respondent. (Para-5 to 8)

For the petitioner: Mr. Sumeet Raj Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. D.S. Nainta and Mr. Virender Verma Addl. A.Gs.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, Judge (Oral).

The petitioner is a Government Contractor. He was awarded the work namely construction of road from Jhroli to Jara Km 0/0 to 3/0 (SH: Cleaning grass, Construction of retaining wall, Breast wall, cross drainage work, Side drain, parapets, road sign boards and metalling & Tarring including construction of one Bridge as well as maintenance of the said road for a period of five years) under the Prime Minister Gram Sarak Yojna (PMGSY) Phase-9 at an estimated cost of Rs.1,20,38,241/-. The work was to be commenced after 15th day of issuance of letter of award. The letter of award was issued on 24.02.2011. The work was agreed to be completed within a period of 12 months. The agreement, Annexure P-1 came to be executed between the petitioner-Contractor and the respondent-department in this regard. It appears that for want of site clearance and the hindrances attributed to the respondent-department, the petitioner-Contractor failed to start the work well within the stipulated period. The work though commenced and even was executed partly, however, during the course of further execution of the work, certain disputes were raised by the petitioner-Contractor before the respondent-department. The Chief Engineer concerned vide Annexure P-3 to the supplementary affidavit filed on 25.04.2016 was apprised by the petitioner-Contractor about the difficulties he faced during the course of execution of the work and according to him, no one was there to hear his hue and cry, therefore, left with no other option except to rescind the work. He also made a request to the Chief Engineer concerned to convene work management meeting in his office so that the matter could be inquired into as to who is responsible in the department for causing the inordinate delay occurred on the part of the department. The letter Annexure P-3 was followed by another letter Annexure P-4 dated 24.04.2015, highlighting therein his claims against the respondent-department by the petitioner-Contractor. No action was taken by the respondent-department on the letters, AnnexureP-3 and P-4. This has led in issuance of a legal notice, Annexure P-2 on 08.07.2015 by the petitioner-Contractor to the respondent-department through its Chief Engineer, H.P.P.W.D, Kangra Zone, Dharamshala. The notice, Annexure P-2 was received by the respondent-department and in reply thereto i.e. Annexure R-3 dated 14.08.2015 to its counter-affidavit filed on 30th May, 2016, the petitioner-Contractor was advised to resort to Disputes Redressal Mechanism provided under Clause 24 of the agreement, Annexure P-1. The petitioner-Contractor instead of resorting to Clause 24 of the contract agreement has, however, filed this petition for appointment of Arbitrator by this Court.

2. In reply to the petition, there is no dispute qua awarding of work in question to the petitioner-Contractor. There is also no dispute qua execution of the agreement, Annexure P-1. The petition has only been resisted and contested on the ground that the petitioner-Contractor has not resorted to Clause 24 of the contract agreement before seeking appointment of the Arbitrator by the Court.

3. Mr. Sumeet Raj Sharma, learned counsel has contended that the petitioner-Contractor has resorted to the redressal mechanism provided under Clause 24 of the agreement. He has pressed in service in this regard the correspondence, Annexure P-3 and Annexure P-4 made by the petitioner-Contractor with the Chief Engineer (Kangra Zone) and Superintending Engineer, 9th Circle Nurpur, H.P.P.W.D. District Kangra. According to Mr. Sharma when there was no response for sufficient long time, the petitioner-Contractor was forced to serve the competent authority i.e. Chief Engineer, Kangra Zone at Dharamshala with legal notice, Annexure P-2 and as the respondent-department has already missed the opportunity of making appointment of the Arbitrator in terms of Clause 25 of the contract agreement, the petitioner-Contractor was not left with any other and further remedy to approach this Court by way of this petition for seeking appointment of the Arbitrator.

4. Mr. Virender Verma, learned Additional Advocate General while drawing the attention of this Court to the provisions contained under Clause 24 of the agreement has strenuously contended that now the Chief Engineer, Kangra Zone, Dharamshala has rejected the claim of the petitioner-Contractor and as such in terms of Clause 24.2, he is at liberty to prefer an appeal to the Standing Empowered Committee as contemplated under Clause 24.3 of the agreement.

5. Having gone through the record and also analyzing the rival submissions, true it is that Clause 24 of the contract agreement provides for disputes redressal mechanism by way of amicable settlement, however, the respondent-department has failed to resort to the mechanism as provided irrespective of the petitioner-Contractor approached the competent authority i.e. Chief Engineer (Kangra Zone) H.P.P.W.D Dharamshala long back on 12.08.2014 vide Annexure P-3 to the counter affidavit filed by the petitioner-Contractor. Not only this but Annexure P-3 was followed by a detailed representation, Annexure P-4 highlighting therein his claims by the petitioner-Contractor against the respondent-department which was addressed to the Superintending Engineer concerned. The correspondence so made by the petitioner-Contractor well before he having served the competent authority with legal notice, Annexure P-2 should have been dealt with in terms of Clause 24 of the contract agreement. However, no explanation is forthcoming as to why efforts were not made to settle the disputes, if any, between the parties in terms of Clause 24 of the agreement. Even if the Superintending Engineer was not the competent authority, he should have made a reference of Annexure P-4 to the Chief Engineer concerned and initiated the process to deal with the matter in terms of Clause 24 of the agreement. True it is that in reply Annexure R-3 to the legal notice, Annexure P-2, the petitioner-contractor was advised to have recourse in terms of Clause 24 of the agreement, however, in the given facts and circumstances and also that no action was taken by the respondent-department on the receipt of Annexure P-3 and Annexure P-4 the petitioner-Contractor has rightly approached this Court for seeking appointment of the Arbitrator to adjudicate the disputes having arisen between the parties during the execution of the work.

6. It is worth mentioning that during the course of proceedings in this petition, learned Additional Advocate General has drawn the attention of this Court qua disputes settlement mechanism provided under the agreement. Learned counsel for the petitioner, however, had informed this Court that despite representation made, the respondent-department never came forward to get the disputes settled amicably. It is recorded so in the order passed in this petition on 08.01.2016. Being so and taking into consideration such submissions, the petitioner-Contractor was directed to file a supplementary affidavit to substantiate that irrespective of he having approached to get the disputes settled amicably, the authorities in the respondent-department failed to do so. The supplementary affidavit came to be filed by the petitioner-Contractor and the correspondence he made highlighting therein the disputes having arisen Annexure P-3 and Annexure P-4 also annexed thereto. Irrespective of the competent authority failed to adhere to Annexure P-3 and Annexure P-4, this Court during the course of hearing in this petition deemed it appropriate to direct the parties on both sides to sit together and chalk-out the possibility of amicable settlement. The following order in this regard came to be passed on 21.07.2016.

> "Rejoinder is not intended to be filed.
> Heard for sometime. In the nature of the claims and counter-claims as laid on both sides impending further consideration a direction to the petitioner-Contractor and Chief Engineer, Kangra zone at Dharamshala to sit together on 5.8.2016 at 11.00 AM in the office of the later and chalk out the possibility to settle the dispute amicably as provided under Clause 24 of the contract agreement. The Court be informed on the next date about the progress, if any, made in this regard. List on 10.8.2016."

7. The meeting, however, did not take place on 10.08.2016 as directed. The petitioner-Contractor as such, was directed to attend the office of Chief Engineer concerned at Dharamshala on 16.08.2016, as per order passed in this petition on the previous date. Now the meeting is already held on 16.08.2016 and learned Additional Advocate General has placed on record the copy of proceedings dated 27.08.2016, which reveals that claims of the petitioner-Contractor stood rejected. I am not in agreement with the submissions made on behalf of the respondent-State that the petitioner-Contractor should prefer an appeal against the decision of the Chief Engineer concerned for the reason that the competent authority has lost such right having failed to resort to the provisions contained under Clause 24 of the agreement at the time when the petitioner-Contractor has made the representation, Annexure P-3 and Annexure P-4.

8. Since this Court is satisfied that during the execution of the construction of road from Jhroli to Jara, disputes have arisen between the parties, therefore, such disputes in terms of arbitration agreement now can only be resolved by an Arbitrator to be appointed by this Court. Consequently, I allow this petition and appoint Mr. Mrigender Singh, District and Sessions Judge (Retd.) as Arbitrator to adjudicate the disputes raised by the petitioner-Contractor and also the counter-claim, if any, if preferred by the respondent-department. The Registry is directed to supply an authenticated copy of this judgment to learned Arbitrator forthwith. It is expected from the learned Arbitrator to enter upon the reference within two weeks from the date of receipt of a copy of this judgment under intimation to the parties on both sides. Learned Arbitrator shall be free to fix his fee, of course being guided by the schedule to the Arbitration and Conciliation Act in this regard. The fee so fixed shall be shared by the parties on both sides equally. A sum of Rs.50,000/- in equal proportion shall tentatively be paid to the Arbitrator by each party on the first date of hearing. The remaining amount, however, shall be payable to learned Arbitrator before the termination of the proceedings i.e. announcement of award.

9. The petition is accordingly allowed and stands disposed of.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE RAJIV SHARMA, J.

State of H.P. and anr. ....Appellants

Versus

Govind Singh and ors. ....Respondents

RSA No. 17/2004
Reserved on: 29.8.2016
Decided on: 30.8.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34- Plaintiff filed a civil suit pleading that G, M, J and D were previous owners of the land- G mortgaged the suit land with the possession - mortgage was redeemed - plaintiffs and proforma defendants had purchased the land from G- land was mentioned as Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa- consolidation authorities without any right to change or convert the ownership of the land- suit was opposed by the defendants pleading that land had vested in the State- Consolidation Authorities were competent to consolidate the holding and then to divide it amongst the owners- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was filed, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that G and M etc. were recorded as owners of the suit land in the jamabandi for the year 1955-56- Khasra No. 514 was recorded in the ownership of Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa but it was recorded in the possession of plaintiffs and proforma defendants- subsequently, land was recorded in the ownership of the State and the possession of Bartandarans- nature of land was also changed- there is an entry regarding redemption of mortgage- there was no reason to record the ownership of the State and possession of

Bartandarans- entry was changed without hearing the plaintiffs and without any order a person can challenge the revenue entries when he feels aggrieved- Appellate Court had rightly allowed the appeal- appeal dismissed. (Para-12 to 13)

Case referred:

For the appellants: Mr. Neeraj K. Sharma, Dy.A.G.
For the respondents: Mr. Rajneesh K. Lal, Advocate for respondents No. 1 and 2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Rajiv Sharma, Judge:

This regular second appeal is instituted against the impugned judgment and decree dated 11.7.2003 rendered by learned District Judge, Kangra at Dharamshala, H.P. in Civil Appeal No. 137-N/XIII/2002.

2 The key facts necessary for the adjudication of the appeal are that the respondents/plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as the "plaintiffs" for convenience sake) filed a suit for declaration and injunction against appellants as well as proforma respondents No.3 and 4 (hereinafter referred to as defendants and proforma defendants respectively for convenience sake) on the averments that Guro, Munshi, Jaswant and Dharam Singh, sons of Mehtab Singh were the previous owners of the land measuring 0-46-66 hectares as detailed in the plaint. Later on, Guro etc. mortgaged the suit land with possession in favour of Dinu and Tasirudin. The suit land remained under the possession of the mortgagees as per the revenue record till 1940-41. The mortgage was redeemed vide mutation No.1109 dated 18.3.1952. The suit land was mutated in the names of plaintiffs and proforma defendants because in the meantime they had purchased the suit land from the previous owner namely Guro. They started cultivating the suit land and raised orchard over it. However, during consolidation proceedings in the year 1952, the suit land, which was earlier in possession of Guro etc. was wrongly, illegally and without any notice to the plaintiffs and the proforma defendants mentioned as "Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa". The consolidation authorities had no right to change or convert the ownership of the land, which was under the ownership and possession of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants.

3 The suit was contested by the defendants. It is alleged that as per mutation No.1109, Munshi Ram, Jaswant Singh and Dharam Singh, owners/mortgagors had sold half of the land comprised in Khasra Nos. 539 and 552 to one Jai Chand and remaining half to Dhian Singh, Onkar Singh, Jaswant Singh and Govind Singh. However, during consolidation proceedings, Jai Chand and Dhian Singh etc. were given Khasra Nos. 459 and 513 in lieu of the aforesaid purchased land, which was redeemed vide mutation No.1269 dated 7.3.1956 and mutation No.1270 dated 30.5.1956. It was denied that Khasra No. 1830 of Mohal "Raja Khassa" was part of the land purchased by the plaintiffs and proforma defendants. The suit land being "Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa" was vested in the State of H.P. under the provisions of law vide mutation No.2207 dated 20.1.1983. During consolidation proceedings, the suit land was measured in old Khasra No.514 in the ownership of "Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa" and was recorded in possession of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants as co-sharers of Shamlat land and one Sardhu was non-occupancy tenant under Jai Chand, a co-sharer in the Shamlat land. The consolidation authorities were competent to consolidate the holding and then to divide amongst the owners as per the scheme framed under the consolidation. In lieu of Khasra No.539 i.e. landed property before consolidation proceedings, the land owners were given Khasra Nos.459 to 513, in which the entry of ownership as well as mortgage was made as per old entries.

4 The replication was filed by the plaintiffs. The learned trial court framed the issues on 9.2.1998 and dismissed the suit vide judgment and decree dated 29.6.2002. The plaintiffs feeling aggrieved with the judgment and decree dated 29.6.2002 preferred an appeal before the learned first Appellate Court, who allowed the same vide impugned judgment and decree dated 11.7.2003. Hence, this regular second appeal, which was admitted on following substantial questions of law on 1.3.2004:-

1. Whether the judgment and appeal under challenge is vitiated as the suit filed was barred by limitation?

2. Whether the Courts below have wrongly entertained the suit in view of the appeal pending before the learned Commissioner?

5 Mr. Neeraj K. Sharma learned Deputy Advocate General appearing for the defendants, on the basis of the substantial questions of law framed, has vehemently argued that the suit was barred by limitation and the learned first appellate court has misread and mis-appreciated the oral as well as documentary evidence.

6 Mr. Rajnish K. Lal, learned Advocate appearing for the plaintiffs, has supported the impugned judgment and decree dated 11.7.2003 passed by the learned first appellate court.

7. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the record carefully.

8. Since both the substantial questions of law are interlinked and interconnected, the same are taken together for determination to avoid repetition of discussion of evidence.

9. PW1, Govind Singh, has testified that they possessed the suit land after its purchase. They had raised an orchard over the suit land. Neither defendants nor any other person ever remained in possession of the suit land. They were maintaining the orchard.

10. PW2, Baldev Singh and PW3 Surinder Singh have corroborated the statement of PW1 Govind Singh. According to them, the plaintiffs remained in possession of the suit land and they had raised an orchard over it. The State Government never remained in possession of the suit land.

11. DW1, Om Parkash, deposed that the plaintiffs and proforma defendants had purchased half share of the land comprised in Khasra No.539 and remaining half was purchased by one Jai Chand. In consolidation proceedings, the land comprised in Khasra No.539 was assigned new Khasra Nos. 512, 513 and 514. The land comprised in Khasra Nos. 512 and 513 went to the share of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants and the land comprised in Khasra No.514 was converted into “Shamlat” land and in lieu thereof, Subedar Jai Chand was given different land by the State.

12. According to jamabandies for the years 1936-37 Ext.P18, 1940-41 Ext.P17 and 1945-46, Ext. D3, the old Khasra number of the suit land was 539. Guro, Munshi etc. were recorded as owners of the suit land comprised in Khasra No.539 measuring 11 Kanals 12 Marlas. According to jamabandi for the year 1955-56, Ext.D4, land comprised in Khasra No.539 min was entered in the ownership of “Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa” and in possession of Dhian Singh, Onkar Singh, Jaswant Singh and Govind Singh, i.e. plaintiffs and proforma defendants as non-occupancy tenants under Jai Chand, who was co-owner of half share of the land. In jamabandi of Missal Haqiayat Istemal for the year 1954-55, Ext.D-5, Khasra No.539 min was assigned new Khasra No.514 and the remaining land of Khasra No.539 was assigned Khasra Nos. 512 and 513. The land comprised in Khasra No.512 was entered in ownership and possession of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants and the land comprised in Khasra No. 513 measuring 5 Kanals 2 Marlas was entered in possession of the mortgagees. Though, later on in jamabandies for the years 1956-57 Ext. D6, 1965-66 Ext. D7, 1970-71 Ext. D8 and 1975-76 Ext. D9, the land comprised in Khasra No. 514 was recorded in ownership of the “Shamlat Taraf Raja Khassa”, however in possession of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants. Subsequently, in jamabandi for the year 1983-84, Ext.D10, this entry qua Khasra No.514 was changed. It was recorded in ownership of the State of Himachal Pradesh and in possession of bartandarans. Khasra No.514 was also assigned new Khasra No.1830 and the classification of the land was mentioned as "Charagah Darkhtan". The same entry was repeated in jamabandies for the years 1989-1990 Ext. D11 and 1994-95 Ext. D12.

13. The classification of the land comprised in Khasra No.514 was recorded as "Barani Ek Fasli" in the jamabandies for the years, 1954-55 Ext. D1, 1956-57 Ext. D6, 1965-66 Ext. D7, 1970-71 Ext. D8 and 1975-76 Ext. D9. The nature of the land was changed for the first time in the jamabandi for the year 1983-84, Ext.D10 from "Barani Ek Fasli" to "Charagah Darkhtan". Thus, it is crystal clear that prior to settlement proceedings in the year 1983-84, the plaintiffs and proforma defendants were recorded in possession of the land comprised in Khasra No.514 and the nature of the land was "Barani Ek Fasli" and in the jamabandi for the year 1970-71, Ext. D8 the classification of the land was entered as "Bagicha" (orchard). However, after settlement, the classification of the land comprised in Khasra No.514 was shown as "Charagah Darkhtan" in the ownership of the State and in possession of the "Bartandarans".

14. Guro, Munshi Ram, Jaswant Singh and Dharam Singh, sons of Mehtab Singh were owners-mortgagors of the suit land. They had mortgaged the suit land with possession in favour of the mortgagees. The mortgage was redeemed by the mortgagors. The land comprised in old Khasra No.539 measuring 33 Kanals 5 Marlas was sold to the plaintiffs and proforma defendants and one Jai Chand. There is reference of mutation to this effect in the jamabandi for the year 1945-46, Ext. D3. Khasra No.539 was subsequently converted into three new Khasra Nos. 512, 513 and 514. The land comprised in Khasra No.512 measuring 16 Kanals 8 Marlas was recorded in possession of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants and land comprised in Khasra No.513 measuring 5 Kanals 2 Marlas though recorded in the ownership of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants, but was shown in the possession of the mortgagees. The mortgage was redeemed vide mutation No.1269 dated 7.3.1956 as per entry made in jamabandi for the year 1954-55, Ext. D5 and vide mutation No.1109 dated 18.3.1952, as per jamabandi for the year 1945-46, Ext. D3, the entire land comprised in Khasra No.539 measuring 33 Kanals 5 Marlas was purchased by Jai Chand to the extent of half share and remaining half was purchased by the plaintiffs and proforma defendants.

15. It has come on record that the possession of the plaintiffs and proforma defendants qua the suit land comprised in Khasra No.514 from the year 1954-55 till 1975-76 shows that actually they were in possession of the suit land as co-owners. There was no plausible reason to record the suit land in the ownership of the State and in possession of the "Bartandarans". The classification of the land could also not be changed from "Barani Ek Fasli" and "Bagicha" to "Charagah Darkhtan". The plaintiffs have duly proved that they were in possession of the suit land. They had raised orchard there. Learned first appellate court has rightly come to the conclusion that change effected during consolidation proceedings qua nature of the land and then showing in settlement in possession of "Bartandarans" and in the ownership of the State was apparently wrong and without any justification. Moreover, entry has been changed without any order, that too, without hearing the plaintiffs. The suit was not barred by limitation. This Court in Shiam Singh vs. Chaman Lal, 2011 (Suppl.) Him. L.R. 2065 has held that the person can challenge the revenue entry when he feels aggrieved. This Court has held as under:-

> "13. Coming to substantial question of law No.4, a reading of Section 46 of the HP. Land Revenue Act shows that if any person considers himself aggrieved as to any right of which he is in possession by an entry in a record-of-rights or in a periodical record, he may institute a suit for declaration of his right under Chapter VI of the Specific Relief Act, 1963.
> 14. It is well settled that for a suit for declaration, referred to in Section 46, limitation begins to run not from the date of the entry affecting the right of the person concerned, but from the date when he feels aggrieved by the entry and it is the satisfaction of such person as to when does he feel aggrieved. Defendant cannot be heard to say that he(the plainatiff) felt aggrieved by the entry at some earlier point of time or when the entry was actually made.

15. Learned counsel for the appellants submitted that the plaintiffs-respondents were out of possession of the suit land and, hence, their suit was not covered by the provision of Section 46 of H.P. Land Revenue Act. Submission is misconceived. Section 46 does not speak of physical possession of the subject matter or the land with respect to the entry of which a person is aggrieved, but the right of the plaintiff. The person should be in possession of the right and not the land, with respect to the entry of which he is aggrieved. Predecessors-in-interest of the plaintiffs, namely Prem Singh, Kushal Singh and Nand Lal were the real brothers. They were recorded as joint tenants, though Nand Lal was being recorded in exclusive possession as Hissedaar (one of the co-sharers/co-tenants).

16. It is well settled proposition of law that possession of a co-sharer is the possession of all. A co-sharer in exclusive possession holds the property for himself and also on behalf of the co-sharers not in physical possession. Such a co-sharer is an agent of other co-sharers, who are out of possession, in regard to their shares in the joint property. In view of this legal position, plaintiffs are to be presumed to be co-sharers with the defendants. This is especially so when the defendants-appellants have not taken the plea of ouster of the plaintiffs-respondents. Question is answered accordingly."

16. Consequently, in view of analysis and discussion made hereinabove, there is no merit in the appeal and the same is dismissed. Pending application(s), if any also stands disposed of. No order as to costs.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE RAJIV SHARMA, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

Archana Chauhan .....Appellant

Versus

Ashwani Kumar alias Biru & another .....Respondents

Cr. Appeal No. 278 of 2011.
Reserved on: 17.06.2016.
Decided on: 31.08.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376, 506 and 417- Accused used to commit sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix with an assurance to marry her- prosecutrix was taken to Solan, where accused married her and filed an application for registration of marriage- marriage was not accepted by the family of the accused- accused and the prosecutrix stayed in Rest House, Subathu, where accused committed sexual intercourse with the prosecutrix with the assurance to keep her happy- prosecutrix was taken to Parwanoo, where she was tortured physically and mentally- accused left the prosecutrix on Subathu Road Solan after telling her that the accused would not marry her- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that prosecutrix had admitted that application for registration of marriage was submitted to SDM, Solan who had asked them to come after one month- she further admitted that she had filed a complaint prior to the expiry of period of one month- she further admitted that her father was not liking the accused as the accused was not earning anything- statement of PW-7 also shows that father of the prosecutrix was not happy with the marriage of the deceased with the accused and was worried about future of his daughter- there are lots of contradictions, discrepancies and improvements in material facts which render the genesis of the prosecution version doubtful- version of the defence that false case was filed by the prosecutrix at the instance of her father is probable - contradictions and discrepancies cast doubt on the veracity of the prosecutrix- conduct of the prosecutrix makes her statement doubtful- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-5 to 18)

For the appellant : Mr. Ashwani Kumar Sharma-II, Advocate.
For the respondent No. 1. : Mr. Anup Chitkara, Advocate.
For the respondent No. 2. : Mr. M.A. Khan Additional Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge

Appellant has assailed acquittal of respondent No. 1, vide judgment dated 05.10.2010, passed by Sessions Judge, Solan, H.P. in Session Trial No. 3-S/7 of 2009, under Sections 376, 506 and 417 IPC, in Case FIR No. 116/2009, registered in Police Station Dharampur, District Solan, H.P.

2. Case of Prosecutrix in brief is that respondent No. 1, had been committing sexual intercourse with her since 2008 without her consent but with assurance to marry her. An application Ex. DA was submitted by prosecutrix on 1.09.2009 to the Superintendent of Police. As per this application, prosecutrix had met respondent No.1 in the year 2007 in Subathu who had assured to marry her but she had not disclosed this fact to anyone and respondent No.1 had committed sexual intercourse with her so many times at Subathu. Thereafter respondent No.1 was out of Subathu for a long time. On noticing respondent No.1 in Subathu on 16.08.2009 prosecutrix had conveyed him that he had cheated her but respondent No.1 had again assured to marry her. On 17.08.2009 respondent had taken prosecutrix to Solan alongwith his brother-in-law Jaggi uncle. At Solan, after marrying prosecutrix, respondent had filed an application in the court of Sub Divisional Magistrate for registration of marriage. After that Ashwani Kumar brought prosecutrix to Subathu but on refusal for acceptance of marriage by family of respondent, they stayed in Rest House Subathu where respondent committed sexual intercourse with her with assurance to keep her happy. On 18.08.2009 at about 12.00 O'clock respondent took prosecutrix to Parwanoo and kept her in the house of his cousin Sohan Lal in Sector No. 4, where she resided till 28.08.2009 and during this period respondent tortured her physically and mentally. In the evening of 28.08.2009, respondent left prosecutrix on Subathu road Solan by asking her to go to her home because he was not to keep her. Thereafter he was not contacting her and had threatened her not to approach him and there was threat to her life from respondent. It is further stated that respondent had married prosecutrix with intention to develop physical relations with her resulting in physical and mental harassment to her. This application was sent to Police Post, Subathu for necessary action on 2.09.2009.

3. On 5.09.2009, prosecutrix had submitted another application Ex. PW-11/B to Superintendent of Police, Solan by giving further details stating therein that at the time of writing application on 1.09.2009, she was perplexed and could not mention complete details in the said application, and no action had been taken against respondent after submitting that application. This application was sent to SHO, Dharampur to register a case and investigate the matter as per law. Consequently, FIR Ex. PW-11/A was registered and after completion of investigation, challan was presented in Court against the respondent. On conclusion of trial respondent has been acquitted and the State has not preferred to file an appeal and present appeal has been preferred by prosecutrix.

4. Prosecution has examined 17 witnesses to prove its case. Whole case revolves around testimony of prosecutrix, who has been examined as PW-16. In the application Ex. DA, prosecutrix had claimed developing of intimacy with respondent in the year 2007 and having intercourse with her so many times in Subathu with assurance to marry her. Whereas in application Ex. PW-11/B, she had stated that in the year 2008 her neighbour (respondent) had called her to upload songs in newly purchased computer of his brother. Earlier she had already installed typing software in computer of his brother in presence of his family members. By taking such excuse, prosecutrix was called by respondent in his house but when she did not find his family members there, she tried to come back but respondent had committed forcible intercourse without her consent. On weeping of prosecutrix, respondent had assured to marry her but with threatening that in case incident was disclosed to anyone then he will defame prosecutrix and in similar manner he continued to have intercourse with her. She has stated that when respondent did not marry then she had filed an application on 11.08.2009 before Deputy Superintendent of Police, Solan and on 17.08.2009 respondent and his all family members were called in Police Post, Subathu, where respondent had agreed to marry prosecutrix. Thereafter respondent alongwith his family members had taken prosecutrix to Solan Court and in the presence of his family members had married prosecutrix and Hardev Sharma and Jagdish had witnessed the same.

5. It is further stated in the application Ex. PW-11/B that thereafter respondent had taken prosecutrix with him to his house in Subathu. Family members and other relatives of respondent, present there had stated that respondent had married without their desire and had respondent been married with their desire, they would have also received dowry. But greedy father of prosecutrix will not be able to give them anything and therefore, daughter of such person will not be allowed by them in their home. Thereupon respondent had taken prosecutrix to rest house Subathu. At that time, he was accompanied by his brother Jai, brother-in-law Sanjay and one Soni son of MalKhan. Soni had arranged for stay. On desire to have copulation prosecutrix had expressed to have such relations only after performing Sapatpati in Temple but respondent had committed forcible intercourse with prosecutrix without her desire and prosecutrix was not spared despite weeping. On next day i.e. on 18.08.2009, respondent alongwith his brother Jai, brother-in-law Sanjay and friend Soni took her to house of cousin at Parwanoo and there also till 28.08.2009, respondent had committed intercourse with prosecutrix without her desire and treated her brutally. On 22.08.2009 parents and other relatives came and abused prosecutrix alleging that she had ruined them and in case of marriage from Chandigarh they would have had sufficient dowry and had asked her to bring Rs. 1.00 lac and other articles i.e. furniture, Refrigerator, motorcycle etc. from her father for living with respondent, failing which they had threatened to arrange second marriage of respondent. She had expressed her inability to ask her father to fulfill this demand as she had married without desire of her father. Thereupon all of them threatened to oust her from house and to vanish. On 28.08.2009, prosecutrix was brought to Solan in a vehicle. Family members and relatives of respondent stopped vehicle at bypass Solan and asked to throw prosecutrix there. Father of respondent had said that father of prosecutrix will not give anything whereupon sister-in-law of respondent had pushed prosecutrix from the vehicle and all of them left the place. On approaching Deputy Superintendent of Police, prosecutrix was sent to Police Station Dharampur, but in absence of SHO, no action was taken. Prosecutrix had submitted an application on 31.08.2009 to the Superintendent of Police, who referred prosecutrix to Police Women Cell but no action was taken there also. Prosecutrix had submitted application before Deputy Superintendent of Police on 1.09.2009 by writing the same there.

6. In her deposition in the Court, prosecutrix has further stated that in the year 2008, she was working as Computer Operator in Airtel Sharma Enterprises Subathu. Respondent had purchased new computer and younger brother of respondent had borrowed software of computer and Pen drive from her. Firstly, she states that on 5th July, 2008 respondent had taken her to his house to download songs in his computer but again she states that respondent had told that his brother and bhabhi were asking for downloading songs and thereupon she had gone to house of respondent from her office for 10 to 15 minutes. There was no one in the house except respondent and respondent had bolted the door from inside and put his hand on her mouth and on attempt to speak loudly she was slapped and pushed on the bed whereupon she received injury near her eye on hitting corner of bed but the respondent asked her to keep quiet by putting his hand on her mouth and it was difficult for her to breath. She was frightened and after putting her on bed respondent had committed sexual intercourse with her without her will. On her weeping respondent asked her not to weep and put Sindoor on her forehead by saying that thereafter she was his wife and had promised to marry her.

7. She has further stated that thereafter respondent used to call her in his house to have to sexual intercourse asserting his right being her husband with assurance to marry her after marriage of his sister. She has further stated that on 4th May, 11th May and 15th May, 2009 respondent called her in Mahadev Complex Hotel and committed sexual intercourse with her against her wishes. On 11.08.2009 she was sitting on the stairs of her office and was weeping as respondent was not responding to her calls. She was noticed by PW-7 Shakun Chauhan and on her consistent inquiry prosecutrix had disclosed the matter to her. She had told Shakun Chauhan that matter had not been disclosed to anyone including her parents but one application was submitted to Deputy Superintendent of Police. Besides reiterating averments made in the complaint Ex. PW-11/B, prosecutrix has stated that family of respondent did not allow her and respondent to enter the house and they had to stay in Forest Rest House, Subathu.

8. In cross-examination, prosecutrix has stated that she had mentioned year 2007 in Ex. DA, under duress. However, she has admitted that before 1.09.2009, she had also made a complaint to the police on 11.08.2009. Police had also recorded her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. on 7.09.2009 and in that statement also she had mentioned that first intercourse was committed in the year 2007. She has tried to explain that she had stated so as she was alone and under stress. Her statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C., dated 7.09.2009 is Ex. DB. In that statement, she has stated that she had submitted complaint to Superintendent of Police, on the basis of which FIR was registered and the said complaint was drafted by Shri Arvind Kumar, who was son in law of her Aunt (Buaa), but in the Court, she has denied to have made such statement. There is also one supplementary statement Ex. DC of prosecutrix recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. In this statement, prosecutrix had stated that when she was left at Solan by respondent she had made call to her Aunt (Buaa), and after reaching home had narrated entire episode to family members. However, as per statement made in the Court prosecutrix has stated that one lady met her at Solan through whose mobile she had contacted PW-7 Shakun Chauhan and on request of Shakun Chauhan that lady had provided Rs. 50/- to prosecutrix so as to enable prosecutrix to reach Subathu. Prosecutrix has shown her ignorance regarding the place where the statement Ex. DB was recorded. She has been confronted with all improvements made in the Court, which she claimed to have been stated in FIR as well as in her statement Ex. DA but not found to be recorded. She has also stated in the Court that she was asked to sign divorce papers and on refusal to sign to such papers she was thrown out of the vehicle at Solan. But no such fact was ever stated in her earlier complaints or applications Ex. DA or Ex. PW-11/B or Ex. DB or Ex. DC.

9. It has also been admitted by the prosecutrix that application for registration of marriage was submitted to the S.D.M. Solan who had asked to come after one month. She has also admitted that prior to expiry of one month she had lodged complaint against respondent and respondent was behind the bar on the day when both of them were called by the S.D.M. for registration of marriage. She has admitted that her father wanted to marry her with more educated and better boy and was not liking respondent, who was earning nothing. She has admitted that Shakun Chauhan had also accompanied her in the Court on previous occasions. She has also admitted that respondent used to talk to her on mobile through telephone No. 98056-53934, which was in the name of prosecutrix but she has claimed that respondent had forcibly taken Sim from her but she has not disclosed in any complaint regarding forcible taking of mobile Sim by respondent.

10. Firstly prosecutrix has denied that S.D.M. had asked them after one month on 17.08.2009 to check marriage certificate. However, later on she has admitted that S.D.M. had asked them to come after one month. She has also stated so in her statement Ex. DB.

11. PW-2 Himanshu has been examined by prosecution to prove that respondent had booked rooms in Mahadev Guest House on 4th May, 11th May and 15th May, 2009 and had stayed with prosecutrix in those rooms, for 2 to 3 hours in the morning time after 10:00 AM. In cross examination, this witness has admitted that both respondent and prosecutrix had come on foot for first time and on second time the girl had come on foot earlier to boy and boy was late about 20 to 25 minutes. He has also stated that for second time payment of guest house was made by prosecutrix.

12. PW-3 father of prosecutrix has shown his ignorance about marriage of his daughter. He has admitted that they referred matter to Community Panchayat and Community Panchayat was organized on 6.09.2009. He has admitted that he had asked to marry her. He has denied that he had demanded money in the Community Panchayat for withdrawing the case.

13. PW-7 Shakun Chauhan has also admitted convening of Community Panchayat meeting on 6.09.2009. She has stated that Community Panchayat had inquired brothers of the accused regarding help they could provide respondent and prosecutrix. Brothers of respondent had responded that they will provide rented accommodation for prosecutrix and respondent and help both of them by providing daily needs. She has further stated that Secretary of Panchayat had put humiliating indecent questions to prosecutrix and therefore, prosecutrix, her father and this witness had left the Panchayat without signing proceedings. This witness has admitted that she had accompanied prosecutrix and her father in the Court on 8.03.2010. She has admitted that she had not received any summons for appearance on 8.03.2010.

14. From the statement of PW-7, it appears that father of prosecutrix was not happy with marriage of respondent and prosecutrix and was worried about future of her daughter as respondent was not having any means of income and for that reason only Community Panchayat had shown concern about future of prosecutrix and had asked question to brothers of respondent with respect to providing help to respondent and prosecutrix in future.

15. From the application, statements Ex. DA, Ex. PW-11/B, Ex. DB and DC and deposition of prosecutrix in the Court it transpires that there are lot of contradictions discrepancies and improvements on material facts which render genesis of the prosecutrix case doubtful. Veracity of prosecutrix is shrouded by suspicion.

16. Allegations of committing forcible sexual intercourse do not seem to be true. First instance of sexual intercourse as narrated by prosecutrix in her deposition in the Court is highly improbable. She has admitted developing intimacy with respondent in her application Ex. DA and has stated because of that intimacy coupled with assurance of marriage by respondent physical relations were developed. Respondent has shown his intention to marry her by submitting his application to the S.D.M. Consent of prosecutrix in maintaining physical relations is at large.

17. Defence propounded by respondent is that respondent agreed to marry with prosecutrix and for that purpose he had taken her to office of S.D.M., Solan and had submitted application for registration of marriage but father of prosecutrix did not agree for this marriage and under pressure of her father in connivance with PW-7, prosecutrix had lodged complaint prior to expiry of one month when certificate of marriage was to be issued.

18. From the admissions of prosecutrix, defence put forward by respondent is probablised than proving commission of offence by the respondent beyond shadow of all reasonable doubts.

19. Statements of other officials witnesses including doctors are not relevant to be discussed to determine guilt of respondent.

20. Contradictions and discrepancies cast doubt on the veracity of prosecutrix. Conduct of prosecutrix renders her statement under cloud of suspicion. It appears that truth is something else as is being portrayed in Court by prosecutrix, her father and PW-7. Version of prosecutrix is not credible, trustworthy and confidence inspiring so as to rely to convict respondent under Section 376, 417 and 506 IPC.

21. The accused has been acquitted by the trial Court. From perusal and scrutiny of evidence, it cannot be said that trial court has not appreciated the evidence correctly and completely and acquittal of accused has resulted into travesty of justice or has caused miscarriage of justice. After considering arguments of respective counsel for the parties and minutely examining the testimonies of the witnesses and other documentary evidence placed on record, we are of the considered view that prosecution has failed to prove the guilt of respondent accused beyond reasonable doubt and thus, no case for interference is made out.

22. The present appeal, devoid of any merit, is dismissed, as also pending applications, if any. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged. Records of the Court below be immediately sent back.

Darsho Ram .....Appellant
Versus
Nidhia and another .....Respondents

RSA No. 52/2008
Reserved on: August 30, 2016
Decided on: August 31, 2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit seeking injunction pleading that they are owners in possession of the suit land and defendant started raising construction of Gharat forcibly without any right to do so- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that PW-4 had found the encroachment of 0-0-9 Biswansis on the land of the plaintiffs - defendant could not explain on which khasra number gharat was constructed by him- DW-3 admitted that Gharat was constructed over the land of the plaintiffs- plaintiffs have proved the encroachment on the suit land- defendant could not prove the plea of adverse possession- Appellate Court had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. (Para-15 and 16)

For the Appellant : Mr. Rajnish K. Lal, vice Counsel.
For the Respondents : Mr. R.K. Sharma, Senior Advocate with Ms. Anita Parmar, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Rajiv Sharma, Judge

This Regular Second Appeal has been instituted against judgment and decree dated 22.11.2007 rendered by the learned District Judge, Chamba, District Chamba, Himachal Pradesh in civil Appeal No. 31/2007.

2. "Key facts" necessary for the adjudication of the present appeal are that the respondents-plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as 'plaintiffs ' for convenience sake) filed a suit against the appellant-defendant (hereinafter referred to as 'defendant' for convenience sake) for permanent prohibitory and mandatory injunction restraining the defendant, his agents, servants and workmen from raising any construction over the suit land as detailed in the plaint, as per Jamabandi for the year 1997-98. According to the plaintiffs they were recorded in joint ownership and possession of the suit land with other cosharers. Defendant was a complete stranger. On 10.8.2004, defendant started forcibly raising construction of Gharat on Khasra No. 30. He started collecting construction material with a view to grab the land of the plaintiffs to which he had no right. Defendant forcibly raised construction over the suit land and changed nature thereof. Thus, in these circumstances, the plaintiffs sought relief of permanent prohibitory injunction as cosharers and a decree for mandatory injunction and if the defendant forcibly raised construction over the suit land during the pendency of the suit, to restore the suit land to its original position.

3. Suit was contested by the defendant. According to the defendant, he had already constructed Gharat over Khasra No. 595 prior to the filing of the suit. Construction over Khasra No. 595 was made in the year 1980-81.

4. Plaintiffs filed replication. Issues were framed by the learned trial Court on 11.4.2005. Additional issue No. 4(A) was framed on 6.7.2006. Learned Civil Judge (Senior Division) dismissed the suit on 31.8.2006. Plaintiffs fled an appeal before the District Judge, Chamba. He allowed the same on 22.11.2007. Hence, this Regular Second Appeal.

5. The present Regular Second Appeal was admitted on 6.8.2008, on the following substantial question of law:

> "Whether in view of the fact that the Gharat was being run since the year 1980 and the construction had been made more than twenty four years before the filing of the suit, the plaintiff was entitled to a decree for mandatory injunction, possession as also permanent injunction from a portion of the land where the gharat was being run and the plaintiff could only be granted damages/ compensation even if the appellant was not found to be in adverse possession of the property.""

6. Mr. Rajnish K. Lal, Advocate, on the basis of substantial question of law framed, has vehemently argued that the first appellate Court has not correctly appreciated oral as well as documentary evidence. He has also argued that the first appellate Court could not order the defendant to deliver the possession of the suit land to the plaintiffs.

7. Mr. R.K. Sharma, learned Senior Advocate has supported the judgment and decree passed by the first appellate Court.

8. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the record carefully.

9. PW-1 Nidhia Ram testified that he was owner-in-possession of the suit land with Sukhdev and defendant was stranger, who had started construction of Gharat over Khasra No. 1276/30. He had also got the spot inspected. Defendant had encroached upon ½ Biswa of land.

10. PW-2 Janam Singh has corroborated the statement of PW-1 Nidhia Ram. According to him, Nidhia and Sukhdev were co-owners-in-possession of the suit land, which was situate at a distance of 1 km from his house. Defendant did not own any land there. He had inspected the spot when plaintiff filed the suit. Suit land was demarcated in the presence of the parties. Defendant was found to have encroached 9 Biswansis of land, under his Gharat.

11. PW-4 Shamsdeen, Kanungo testified that application titled Nidhia v/s Darsho was entrusted to him. He went to the spot and demarcated the land in suit. Tatima Ext. PW-4/B was prepared by Patwari, which was attested by him. Statements of the parties were recorded vide Ext. PW-4/C. Report is Ext. PW-4/A was correct as per spot.

12. Defendant has appeared as DW-1. He led his evidence by filing affidavit. According to him, he has installed Gharat over Khasra No. 595 about 25-26 years ago. He had not raised any construction in the year 2004. Plaintiffs dismantled his Gharat and he made a complaint to the police in this regard. He had been coming in possession of the Gharat since 1980-81. He had become owner of the suit land by way of adverse possession.

13. DW-2 Punnu has also led his evidence by filing affidavit. According to him, Gharat was constructed by the defendant about 25-26 years back. He was in possession of the same. Defendant did not raise any construction over the suit land. Defendant had become owner of the land by way of adverse possession.

14. DW-3 Budhi Singh also led his evidence by filing affidavit. In his cross-examination, he has categorically admitted that the Gharat was constructed over the land of Nidhia. He further admitted that defendant had raised construction of Gharat in August, 2004.

15. Plaintiff has led evidence that he is in possession of the suit land comprising of Khata Khatauni No. 1/1 Khasra No. 30, 34, 35, 37, 38 and 42 Kita 6 situate in Mauja Seri, Pargna Jundh, Tehsil Salooni, District Chamba, as per Jamabandi for the year 1997-98. Spot was inspected by PW-4 Shamsdeen. He prepared Ext. PW-4/A. Tatima Ext. PW-4/C was prepared by Patwari. He attested the same. According to the report of PW-4 Shamsdeen, defendant had encroached the land of the plaintiffs to the extent of 0-0-9 Biswansis. When the defendant appeared as DW-1, he could not narrate on which Khasra number, he has constructed the Gharat. He did not mention about the Khasra number in his affidavit. According to DW-2 Punnu, Gharat was constructed on the government land. He did not know whether the defendant had constructed the Gharat over the plaintiffs' land in August, 2004. Surprisingly, DW-3 Budhi Singh has admitted that the Gharat was constructed over the land of the plaintiffs by the defendant in the year 2004.

16. Thus, the plaintiffs have duly proved that the defendant has encroached upon their land measuring 0-0-9 Biswansi, in the month of August, 2004. He has started raising construction over the same. Defendant could not prove his plea of adverse possession. Plaintiffs, besides seeking mandatory injunction have also prayed that if the defendant had forcibly raised construction of Gharat during the pendency of the suit, suit land be restored to its original position. Thus, the first appellate Court has correctly appreciated the oral as well as documentary evidence on record. Mr. Rajnish K. Lal, Advocate has failed to pinpoint any discrepancy or illegality in the demarcation report of Shamsdeen. Moreover, the parties were present at the time of demarcation, as per the statement of PW-2 Janam Singh.

17. The substantial question of law is answered accordingly.

18. Accordingly, in view of the discussions and analysis made hereinabove, the present appeal has no merits and the same is dismissed. Pending application(s), if any, also stand disposed of. No costs.

M/s. Murudeshwara Ceramics Ltd. and another Vs. State of Karnataka and others AIR 2001 Supreme Court 3017

For the appellants: Mr. G.D. Verma, Sr. Advocate, with Mr. Romesh Verma, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. Ajay Kumar, Sr. Advocate, with Mr. Dheeraj K. Vashisht, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, J. :

By way of present appeal, appellants/defendants have challenged the judgment passed by the Court of learned District Judge, Shimla in Civil Appeal No. 65-S/13 of 2005/04 dated 03.03.2007 vide which, learned appellate Court while dismissing the first appeal filed by the present appellants, has upheld the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Junior Divison), Court No. (4) in Civil Suit No. 37/1 of 2001 dated 01.07.2006, vide which learned trial Court had decreed the suit of the present respondent/plaintiff.

2. For clarification of the records, it is stated that initial judgment passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Junior Division), Court No. (4), Shimla in Civil Suit No. 37/1 of 2001 dated 02.09.2004 was remanded back in appeal by learned appellate Court in Civil Appeal No. 65-S/13 of 2005/04 dated 05.08.2005 for adjudication only on Issue No. 3-A and the same culminated in judgment passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Junior Division), Court No. (4), Shimla in Civil Suit No. 37/1 of 2001 dated 01.07.2006

3. This appeal was admitted on the following substantial questions of law on 31.05.2007:

> "1. Whether agreement for sale having been arrived at between late Shri Jeet Ram, predecessor of the appellants and Shri Roop Chand, predecessor of the respondent on 18.05.1990 as later on affirmed on 05.02.1991 and the fact that appellants are still read and willing to perform their part of the agreement, therefore, respondent is not entitled to a decree for possession and recovery of mesne profits?
>
> 2. Whether agreement for sale is still enforceable between the parties, respondent having entered into the footsteps of previous owner Sh. Roop Chand, therefore, he cannot claim decree for possession and recovery of mesne profits.
> 3. Whether in view of the law as laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court as reported in AIR 2001 SC 3017, the requirement of obtaining prior permission for purchase of the land in suit was not essential and therefore, the sale deed can be executed in favour of the appellants?

4. Brief facts necessary for the adjudication of the present case are that respondent/plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as 'the plaintiff') filed a suit for possession with regard to the suit land on the ground that the suit land was previously owned by Shri Roop Chand, S/o Shri Ram Dayal and vide sale deed dated 19th December, 2000, said land had been sold by its previous owner in favour of the plaintiff for a sale consideration of Rs.70,000/-, which was duly registered before the concerned registration authority, i.e. in the office of Sub Registrar, Shimla. As per the plaintiff, on the suit land, one temporary Dhara was constructed on a portion of land about 15 sq. mtrs., whereas rest of the land was vacant. It was the case of the plaintiff that defendants were in unlawful possession of the suit property owned by her. It was further mentioned by the plaintiff that predecessor-in-interest of the defendants had entered into an agreement to sell with the predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff with respect to the suit property on 05.02.1991. However, as the predecessor-in-interest of the defendants was not an agriculturist in Himachal Pradesh and was not entitled to purchase any property in the State of Himachal Pradesh in view of the provisions of Section 118 of the Himachal Pradesh Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, the said agreement was illegal and void and in a Civil Suit filed by the defendant, i.e. Civil Suit No. 621/1 of 95/94 filed in the Court of learned Sub Judge (1), Shimla against Roop Chand, i.e. previous owner, Issue No. 2 framed therein stood decided against the defendants (plaintiffs therein) and vide this issue, the agreement to sell the suit land entered into between the predecessor-in-interest of the defendants and Sh. Roop Chand was held to be illegal and void. It was further mentioned in the plaint that in Civil Suit No. 621/1 of 95/94, it was also held that predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff will be entitled to obtain possession of the suit property by due process of law. It was further the case of the plaintiff that as the agreement for sale of the suit land previously entered into between the defendants and Roop Chand was not enforceable in law, the possession of the defendants on the suit property was illegal and on these basis, the plaintiff filed the suit for possession of the suit property by demolition of temporary shed (Dhara) alongwith a decree for recovery of Rs.6800/- and future mesne profits/damages for use and occupation of the suit land by the defendants @50/- per day from the date of filing of the suit till the recovery of possession thereof. Plaintiff also prayed for a decree of permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants from changing the nature of the suit property in any manner.

5. The suit so filed by the plaintiff was contested by the defendants, i.e. present appellants. In the written statement, defendants denied the factum of the plaintiff being owner in legal possession of the property and as per the defendants the sale deed entered into between the plaintiff and the previous owner of the suit land was a sham transaction and not binding on the defendants. Defendants denied that they were in unlawful possession of the suit land and it was also denied that predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiff was not an agriculturist, as alleged. The claim of mesne profits @ 50/- per day was also not admitted by the defendants.

6. On the basis of pleadings of the parties, learned trial Court framed the following issues:

"(i) Whether the plaintiff is entitled for possession, as alleged? OPP

(ii) In case issue NO. 1 is proved to be in affirmative, whether the plaintiff is entitled for the relief of injunction as claimed? OPP

(iii) Whether the suit is not maintainable?

(iii-A) Whether the plaintiff is entitled to mesne profits of Rs.6,800/- and also at the rate of Rs.50/- per day from the date of suit till delivery of possession of the suit property to the plaintiff, as alleged? OPP

(iv) Relief.

7. On the basis of material placed on record by way of ocular and documentary evidence, learned trial Court returned following findings to the issues so framed:

"Issue No. 1:	Yes.
Issue No. 2:	Yes.
Issue No. 3:	No.
Issue No.3-A:	No.
Relief:	The suit is partly decreed, as per the operative part of the judgment.

8. Learned trial Court while partly decreeing the suit of the plaintiff held the plaintiff entitled for possession of the property comprised in Khata Khatauni No. 108/188, Khasra No. 886, measuring 65 sq. meters, situated at Mauja Kanlog, Tehsil and District Shimla by demolition of temporary shed (Dhara) standing on the part of the suit land and learned trial Court also held the plaintiff to be entitled to a decree of permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendants from changing the nature of the suit land in any manner. However, learned trial Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiff for recovery of damages/mesne profits.

9. The judgment so passed by learned trial Court was challenged by way of an appeal by the defendants, whereas the plaintiff also filed Cross-objections under Order 41 Rules 22 and 33 of the Code of Civil Procedure feeling aggrieved by the denial of grant of mesne profits in their favour.

10. Learned appellate Court vide its judgment dated 03.03.2007 while dismissing the appeal filed by the defendants against the judgment and decree passed by learned trial Court in favour of the plaintiff, accepted the Cross-objections filed by the plaintiff. Thus, learned appellate Court while setting aside the findings of learned trial Court on Issue No. 3-A, decreed the suit of the plaintiff with costs for recovery of Rs.6800/- as damages till the filing of the suit alongwith future damages/mesne profits at the rate of Rs.50/- per day till the date of delivery of possession in her favour.

11. Findings so returned by both the learned Courts below in favour of the plaintiff are under challenge in the present appeal.

12. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the records of the case as well as the judgments passed by both the Courts below.

13. Mr. Romesh Verma, learned counsel for the appellants challenged the findings so arrived by learned trial Court on the ground that it was wrongly and erroneously presumed by learned trial Court that agreement to sell the suit property which initially entered into between the predecessor-in-interest of the present appellants and Shri Roop Chand, i.e. original owner of the suit land was illegal and void. According to Mr. Verma, this finding was perverse as there was nothing on record from which this inference could have been drawn by learned trial Court. According to Mr. Verma, the judgment passed by learned trial Court was otherwise also not sustainable in law in view of the amendment which had been subsequently carried out in the provisions of Section 118 of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act in lieu of which, the suit land could have been easily purchased by the predecessor-in-interest of the defendants without facing the embargo of Section 118 of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act. According to Mr. Verma, because the suit property was situated within the municipal limit of Shimla Town, therefore, rigours of Section 118 of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act were not attracted. His submission was that this very important aspect of the matter had been ignored both by learned trial Court as well as by learned appellate Court and further learned appellate Court had grossly erred in accepting the Cross-objections filed by the plaintiff and decreeing the suit of the plaintiff for recovery of Rs.6800/- alongwith future interest and mesne profits @50/- per day as the plaintiff had not adduced any evidence on record to substantiate or justify the amount which was claimed by the plaintiff. .

14. On the other hand, Mr. Ajay Kumar, learned Senior Counsel appearing for the respondent argued that the appeal filed by the present appellants was without any merit and the argument of Mr. Verma that argument to sell dated 05.02.1991 was still subsisting was totally unacceptable in law because keeping in view the fact that in a previous legal proceedings between the plaintiff and Shri Roop Chand, the original owner of the suit land, this issue stood decided by the Court of learned Sub Judge (1), Shimla in Civil Suit No. 621/1 of 95/94 that agreement dated 05.02.1991 was illegal and void. According to Mr. Sood, the findings so returned in Civil Suit No. 621/1 of 95/94 had attained finality (which aspect of the matter was not disputed by Mr. Romesh Verma) and therefore, as per Mr. Sood, the argument of Mr. Romesh Verma to the effect that there was no material on record from which learned trial Court could have drawn this inference that the agreement entered into between Shri Roop Chand and the predecessor-in-interest of the present defendants was a totally misconceived argument.

15. Mr. Sood also argued that substantial question of law No. 1 in fact is not borne out from the records of the case itself because it is not a case between the parties which had signed the agreement to sell dated 05.02.1991 nor it is a case where the sale deed entered into between the plaintiff and Shri Roop Chand was under challenge by way of filing of a suit for declaration by any alleged aggrieved party. It was further argued by Mr. Sood that the agreement to sell dated 05.02.1991 was not enforceable at all in view of the quietus having been given to the said agreement by the judgment passed by the Court of learned Sub Judge (1), Shimla in Civil Suit No. 621/1 of 95/94 dated 31.03.2000. Mr. Sood also argued that the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court being relied upon by the appellants was also of no assistance to the appellants and on these basis, he argued that there was no merit in the appeal and the same be dismissed with costs.

16. In my considered view, the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that the judgment and decree of possession and injunction passed in favour of the plaintiff and against the defendants by learned trial Court is not sustainable in law is without any merit.

17. Ex.-PX is the copy of judgment passed by the Court of learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Court No. 1, Shimla in Case No. 621/1 of 95/94 vide which, suit for permanent prohibitory injunction filed by the present appellants against the original owner of suit property Sh. Roop Chand and Sh. Balak Ram was dismissed. Issue No. 2 framed in the said suit reads as under:

> "2. Whether the agreement dated 05.02.91 is illegal and void as alleged? OPD

18. In the said suit, this issue was decided against the plaintiffs therein, i.e. present appellants. The findings returned by learned Court in the said suit in para-14 of the judgment passed by it read as under:

> "14. From the above discussion, it appears that the plaintiffs are in possession of the suit land, though their possession is under the agreements, which cannot be enforced by them, in view of the bar under Section 118 H.P. Land Tenancy and Land Reforms Act. The Ld. Counsel for defendants has argued that since the possession of the plaintiffs is unlawful, therefore, they are not entitled to any injunction. However, it appears that the plaintiffs have been in possession of the suit property with the consent of the defendants, therefore, they cannot be ejected from the suit land by the defendants, by using force. Even in case of a tress, the real owner cannot evict the encroacher by force, though, he can recover the possession in accordance with law. Simply because agreement, Ex. PW1/A and B are invalid in view of Section 118 H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, it will not entitle them to use force and disturb the possession of the plaintiffs."

19. It has been stated at the Bar by learned counsel for the appellants that the judgment so passed by the Court of learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Court No. 1, Shimla in Case No. 621/1 of 95/94 dated 31.03.2000 was not challenged by way of an appeal etc. In other words, the findings which have been returned with regard to agreement to sell dated 05.02.1991 to the effect that the said agreement cannot be enforced in view of the bar contained in Section 118 of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act has attained finality. The respondent herein has purchased the suit land by way of a registered sale deed from Shri Roop Chand, who was the defendant in Civil Suit No. 621/1 of 95/94. The judgment in the abovementioned Civil Suit is dated 31.03.2000, whereas the sale deed executed between the present respondent and Roop Chand is dated 19.12.2000. Therefore, as on the date when the sale deed was executed between the present respondent and Shri Roop Chand finding to the effect that the agreement to sell entered into between the predecessor-in-interest of the present appellants and Shri Roop Chand already stood returned by the Court of law. Not only this, the present appeal has arisen out of a suit which was filed by the present respondent seeking possession of the suit land and it is not as if the appellants herein had filed a suit for declaration to the effect that sale deed entered into between the present respondent and Shri Roop Chand was bad in law. Therefore, in this view of the matter, in my considered view, substantial question of law No. 1 as has been framed is not borne out from the records of the case. This is more so keeping in view the fact that even in the written statement, no such stand was taken by the appellants/defendants that the appellants/defendants were ready and willing to perform their part of the agreement. Besides this, even otherwise the appellants at this stage cannot be permitted to say that the plaintiff was not entitled for decree of possession and recovery of mesne profits on the ground that appellants are still ready and willing to perform their part of the agreement as the said agreement has already been held to be not enforceable in law vide judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Court No. 1, Shimla in Case No. 621/1 of 95/94 dated 31.03.2000. Therefore, this issue whether the agreement for sale was/is enforceable or not stands decided as far back as in the year 2000 vide judgment dated 31.03.200 passed in Case No. 621/1 of 95/94 (supra) and in this view of the fact, it cannot be said that the agreement in issue is still enforceable between the parties.

20. Keeping in view the fact that both the learned Courts below have concurrently come to the conclusion that plaintiff was entitled for possession of the suit land and the said suit land was illegally occupied by the defendants, while learned trial Court erred in granting the mesne profits in favour of the plaintiff, learned appellate Court had rightly set aside the judgment and decree passed by learned trial Court to this effect by allowing the Cross-objections filed by the plaintiff.

21. During the course of arguments, it has also been brought to the notice of this Court that the judgment and decree passed by learned trial Court of possession has also been executed and the possession of the suit land has been handed over to the present respondent. Appellants admittedly remained in possession of the suit land without any legal right and the claim of mesne profits by the owner of the suit land @50/- per day cannot be said to be unjustified. The claim of mesne profits was duly pleaded in the plaint and claimed by the plaintiff in her deposition as PW-1.

22. The judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court relied upon by the learned counsel for the appellants in M/s. Murudeshwara Ceramics Ltd. and another Vs. State of Karnataka and others AIR 2001 Supreme Court 3017, in my considered view, has no applicability in the facts of the present case. In the said case, the Hon'ble Supreme Court dealt with the provision of Karnatka Land Reforms Act and exemption contained therein with regard to transfer of land in favour of non agriculturists. In view of the facts of that case, it was held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court:

> "6. Section 109 of the Act confers power on the State Government to grant exemption in regard to a land in any area from the provisions of Sections 63, 79A, 79B and 80 of the Act to be used for industrial purposes, educational institutions, places of worship, a housing project or horticulture including floriculture or an agro based industry. Further, the Government has also the power even in the absence of such purposes to grant exemption in public interest. If the aspect that it is not with reference to any particular person or transaction such exemption is granted but it is with reference to a land such exemption is granted is borne in mind the interpretation and application of law becomes clear. It may be that such exemption could be granted before the acquisition of the land or thereafter when it is actually sought to be put to those particular uses, which are enumerated under Section 109 of the Act. Therefore, once we come to the conclusion that the Government has powers to grant exemption from the operation of the provisions of Sections 63, 79A, 79B and 80 of the Act and those provisions will be out of place insofar as the land in question is concerned, the examination by the High Court as to whether there has been contravention of the provisions thereof was totally uncalled for. The High Court need not have embarked on the investigation as to whether the sale is in contravention of the provisions of the Act and ought to have held that those provisions are not applicable in the case of the land in question in view of the exemption granted. Thus the finding recorded by the High Court in this regard is set aside."

23. However, as far as the present case is concerned, the amendment on which learned counsel for the appellants is insisting which has been carried in Section 118 of the H.P.

Tenancy and Land Reforms Act by introduction of clause (dd) in sub-section 21 of Section 118 of the said Act has been inserted by way of Section 3 of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1997. The agreement to sell entered into between predecessor-in-interest of the defendants and Shri Roop Chand is dated 05.02.1991, meaning thereby the exemption which has been inserted by way of amendment carried in the year 1997 and the same is also subject to riders. De hors this fact, in the present case, the fact of the matter still remains that the finding returned by the Court of learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Court No. 1, Shimla in Case No. 621/1 of 95/94 to the effect that the agreement in issue was not enforceable had attained finality and was not challenged by the appellants and the sale deed entered into between the present respondent and Shri Roop Chand was after the said adjudication by the Court of learned Sub Judge 1st Class, Court No. 1, Shimla in Case No. 621/1 of 95/94. Therefore, in this view of the matter, it cannot be said that the judgment and decree passed by learned trial Court and upheld by learned appellate Court in favour of respondent/plaintiff and against appellants/defendants qua the possession of suit land and injunction calls for no interference. Substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

24. In view of the discussion held above, there is no merit in the appeal and the same is dismissed. Miscellaneous application(s), if any, stand disposed of.

Mr. Markar Masih ...Petitioner
Versus
Smt. Padma Sahni ...Respondent

Civil Revision No. 2/2008
Reserved on: August 30, 2016
Decided on: August 31, 2016

H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987- Section 14- An eviction petition was filed against the tenant on the ground of arrears of rent, material alterations, impairing the value and utility of the shop in question- Rent Controller allowed the petition and ordered the eviction on the ground of arrears of rent as well as impairing the value and utility of the premises- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- held, in revision that PW-3 had found that cages were kept inside the shop, which were welded with the shutter- it was also proved that partition was constructed by the tenant after taking the premises on rent - tenant had made holes in the roof of the shop and had exposed the iron bars of lintel to hang the weighing scale- tenant admitted that he had made additions and alterations without the consent of the landlady- nature of the construction is permanent and in case of removal, damage would be caused to the premises- Courts had rightly ordered the eviction - petition dismissed. (Para-15)

For the petitioner: Mr. Bhupender Gupta, Senior Advocate with Mr. Neeraj Gupta, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. K.D. Sood, Senior Advocate with Mr. Rajnish K. Lal, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Rajiv Sharma, Judge

This civil revision petition has been filed against Judgment dated 30.10.2007 rendered by the Appellate Authority Solan, District Solan, Himachal Pradesh in Rent Appeal N. 22-S/14 of 2006.

2. "Key facts" necessary for the adjudication of the present civil revision petition are that the respondent-landlady (hereinafter referred to as 'landlady' for convenience sake) instituted a petition under Section 14 of the Himachal Pradesh Urban Rent Control Act, against the petitioner-tenant (hereinafter referred to as 'tenant' for convenience sake) for his eviction from the premises situate on Rajgarh Road, which is stated to be a shop i.e. non-residential and used by the tenant for the sale of meat. Eviction of the tenant has been sought on the ground that he has not paid rent since October, 2001 at the rate of Rs.335/- per month. Other ground taken in the petition was that the tenant without the permission of the landlady and without the permission of the Rent Controller, 10 days prior to the filing of the petition, has done material alterations and illegal acts, which have impaired the value and utility of the shop in question. Tenant has constructed room by raising one partition wall made of bricks and cement inside the shop and has made two rooms of the shop. It is further alleged that the tenant had created big holes in main walls and raised /constructed huge RCC shelves and inserted three heavy iron bars in the holes so as to construct these shelves by adding extra load on the walls. It is further alleged that the tenant has also constructed a hose (Khurli) below the retaining wall inside the shop and retaining wall has become dangerous and can fall at any time. Tenant has also raised one poultry house made of iron bars by permanently welding the same with the main shutter frame of the demised premises and thus the value and utility of the premises has been diminished. He has also changed the user and created nuisance.

3. Reply was filed by the tenant. According to the tenant, rent upto 31.1.2001 stood already paid and rent upto 30.10.2002 was sent to the landlady. It was denied that any material alterations and illegal acts have been done by him impairing the value and utility of the shop. No room has been constructed by the petitioner. Shop was already partitioned at the time when it was rented out in the year 1981. No holes have been dug in the walls. No Khurli has been constructed. It was denied that any permanent poultry house of iron bars has been raised by the tenant.

4. Issues were framed by the learned Rent Controller on 13.12.2004. He allowed the petition on 31.8.2006 and ordered eviction of the tenant by holding him to be in arrears of rent @ Rs.335/- per month from 1.10.2004 till the date of order. It was also held that the tenant has materially impaired the utility and value of the demised premise and he was ordered to be evicted on this ground also. Tenant filed an appeal before the Appellate Authority. The appellate authority also dismissed the appeal on 30.10.2007. Hence, this civil revision.

5. Mr. Bhupender Gupta, learned Senior Advocate has vehemently argued that his client has not impaired the utility and value of the shop in question. According to him, no permanent structures have been raised by his client.

6. Mr. K.D. Sood, learned Senior Advocate has supported the order and judgment passed by the authorities below.

7. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the record carefully.

8. Landlady has appeared as PW-1. She has led her evidence by filing affidavit. According to the averments made in the affidavit tenant without her consent has constructed a water tank and also constructed partition wall. He has also raised two platforms. He has also dug holes in the ceiling. He has constructed two cages to keep the poultry. Structures are permanent in nature. Permanent structures have damaged the premises. She has shown the premises to an Engineer. She has placed on record report Mark 1 and Map Mark 2.

9. PW-2 Jagmohan Suri has also led his evidence by filing affidavit. It is averred in the affidavit that he has gone to the shop in the month of December 2001. Tenant was constructing water tank and partition wall. It was on the verge of completion. He has also raised two platforms.

10. PW-3 R.P. Swami has also led his evidence by filing affidavit. According to the averments made in the affidavit, he has retired in 1994 as Junior Engineer from Irrigation & Public Health Department. He has done civil engineering diploma from Sundernagar in the year 1962. He has got many buildings constructed in his tenure. He has inspected the shop on

2.1.2005. He has proved report Ext P2 and site plan Ext P3. He has also averred that the value and utility of the building was impaired by the construction raised by the tenant.

11. PW-4 Om Parkash Sahni has also corroborated the statement of PW-1 Smt. Padma Sahni about the manner in which tenant has partitioned the shop, constructed water tank and has also inserted holes in the walls.

12. Tenant has appeared as RW-1. He has also placed on record photographs. It is averred in the affidavit that the shop was already partitioned into two parts. He has not done any alteration or addition. He has not caused damage to the shop. He has not constructed any water tank. In his cross-examination, he has admitted that the shop is 20 feet in length and 10 feet in width. He has admitted that he has constructed shelves made of bricks, cement and granite inside the shop without the consent of the landlady. He has also hanged one weighing scale with the walls. He admitted that he has inserted a bolt of 4 inches inside the wall and the hook with which the weighing scale was hanging. He further admitted that he has made hole in the roof of the shop and exposed the iron bars of lintel for hanging the goat. He has constructed shelves inside the shop made of marble. He has also inserted one iron pipe in the wall.

13. RW-2 Nand Lal deposed that he used to purchase meat from the tenant. However, in his cross-examination, he testified that he was a vegetarian. He admitted that the partition wall was raised from the floor upto lintel, however, it was not plastered.

14. RW-3 Bhag Singh deposed that he used to purchase meat from the petitioner. He has also admitted that the partition wall was touching lintel though it was not plastered.

15. Premises were visited by PW-3 RP Swami. He prepared map Ext. P3. As per the report, cages were kept inside the shop. These are welded with the shutter. He has also made minutest details of the additions carried out inside the shop like construction of water tank and construction of platforms. Landlady has duly proved that the partition was constructed by the tenant after the premises were rented to him. Tenant has made holes in the wall. He has also exposed iron bars of lintel in order to hang weighing scale. Tenant has categorically admitted that he has made additions and alterations without the consent of the landlady. Nature of the construction raised by the tenant is permanent and these are not removable. In the event of permanent structures being removed, it is bound to damage the premises. Construction of permanent structures inside the shop has definitely impaired the value and utility of the premises. Construction raised by the tenant can not be termed as temporary additions and alterations. Construction raised by the petitioner has substantially changed the character, form and structure of the building. Permanent construction is bound to make changes in the premises on permanent basis. Damage by inserting iron rods would be caused to walls. Partition is by brick wall and it is upto the lintel.

16. There is neither any illegality nor perversity in the Judgment passed by the appellate authority below as well as the order passed by the Rent Controller.

17. Accordingly, there is no merit in the present petition and the same is dismissed. Pending applications, if any, are disposed of. However, in the interests of justice, tenant is directed to vacate the premises within a period of three months from the date of this judgment and to pay use and occupation charges to the landlady, within a period of same period.

2. Case of the petitioner is that on 04.09.2009 respondents No. 1 to 3 published an advertisement in various newspapers inviting applications for appointment of retail sale outlet dealers in different locations in the State of Himachal Pradesh.

3. As per the said advertisement, the appointment was to be made for a single particular location by holding interview (viva-voce) and the parameters for evaluation of the applicants/ candidates prescribed therein were as under:-

"a)	Capability of providing land and infrastructure facility	= 35 marks
b)	Capability to provide finance	= 25 marks
c)	Capability to generate business	= 25 marks.
d)	Age	= 4 marks
e)	Experience	= 4 marks
f)	Business availability/acumen	= 7 marks
	Total Marks	= 100"

4. One of the locations so advertised by respondents No. 1 to 3 was "Fatehpur (20-22 Meel Ka Pathar Ke Beach)". This site was in District Kangra and was meant for women (open category).

5. As the petitioner fulfilled the qualification criteria laid down in the advertisement issued by the Respondent Corporation, she submitted her application alongwith all documents/affidavit etc. to the authority concerned within the stipulated period to be considered for allotment of the site in issue. Respondents No. 4 and 5 also applied for the allotment of the said location. The respective lands/sites offered by all the parties i.e. petitioner and respondents No. 4 and 5 were duly inspected by the officials of respondents No. 1 to 3 and thereafter, respondent No. 3 vide letter dated 01.04.2010 called upon the petitioner to appear before the Selection Committee for the interview which was scheduled at 10.00 A.M. on 22.04.2010.

6. This interview was conducted in the office of respondent No. 3 i.e. 21-SDA Commercial Complex, Kausmpti, Shimla-9, H.P. and alongwith petitioner, private respondents were also called for interview by respondent No. 3 on the said date at the same venue. The result of the interviews so held on 22.04.2010 were declared on 23.04.2010. Following were the marks allotted to the petitioner as well as the private respondents:-

"Petitioner	=	89.10 marks
Respondent No. 4	=	83.07 marks
Respondent No. 5	=	77.57 marks"

7. Thus, the petitioner was evaluated at number one by the Respondent Corporation in the merit panel so drawn. Respondent No. 4 filed a civil suit in the last week of April, 2010 in the Court Civil Judge (Junior Division), Jawali, District Kangra against the present petitioner as well as the Respondent Corporation seeking a decree for declaration as well as permanent injunction for cancellation of the allotment of the dealership in issue in favour of the present petitioner. The suit was dismissed in default on 05.06.2010. Thereafter, an application for restoration of the same was filed but the same was later on withdrawn vide order dated 20.06.2010.

8. It was further the case of the petitioner that village Fatehpur was situated on Pong Dam-Fatehpur-Jassur road, declared as State Highway No. 27 by the Government of Himachal Pradesh vide notification dated 19.07.2005. As per this notification, total distance of Pong Dam-Fatehpur-Jassur is 53 KMs. Thereafter, Government of Himachal Pradesh had again issued notification dated 22.05.2007 in partial modification of the earlier notification dated 19.07.2005 and the roads mentioned in the said notification were declared as State Highway and Major District Roads. In this notification Pong Dam-Fatehpur-Jassur was mentioned at serial No. 15 and the length of the same was 53 KMs. In both these notifications, the number of the said State Highway was 27 and according to the petitioner, the marking of the mile stone of the said Highway No. 27 Pong Dam-Fatehpur-Jassur road was done by the Government of Himachal Pradesh on the basis of the said two notifications. According to the petitioner, the site in issue advertised vide Annexure P-1 i.e. Fatehpur (between mile stones 20-22) was identified and indicated on the basis of the chainage of the mile stones based on the said two notifications. All the applicants i.e. the petitioner and respondents No. 4 and 5 submitted their applications indicating therein the proposed sites between mile stones 20-22 on the basis of chainage of State Highway No. 27 fixed by the Government of Himachal Pradesh as per Annexures P-6 and P-7 and as per the said chainage the mile stones was from the direction Pong Dam to Jassur via Fatehpur.

9. When the civil suit mentioned above was filed by respondent No. 4, the petitioner became apprehensive and enquired from Assistant Engineer, H.P.P.W.D., Sub Division, Fatehpur, District Kangra, who intimated her vide correspondence dated 03.05.2010 that the RDS of the State Highway-27 had been altered on account of inclusion of additional length of road in the said highway from Pong Dam to Terrace. It was mentioned in communication dated 03.05.2010 that the location of the plots earlier located from KMs 20/0 to 22/0 were now located between KMs 28/0 to 30/0 due to re-marking of the RDs additional length from Pong Dam to Terrace.

10. Similar query was also raised by respondent No. 3 from the concerned Engineer of P.W.D. Division Fatehpur and vide Annexure P-9 dated 14.06.2010, respondent No. 2 called upon the said authority to intimate the date of repainting the mile stone on above chainage and date of notification of old chainage and present chainage. In response to the said communication, Assistant Engineer, HPPWD Sub Division Fatehpur, District Kangra, intimated respondent No. 3 that the date of repainting of the miles tone was 26.02.2010 and the date of chainage of old chainage to new chainage was as per Government notification dated 22.05.2007. Vide communication dated 25.08.2010 respondent-Corporation intimated the petitioner that the Corporation had received a complaint against the dealership selection pertaining to the retail outlet subject matter of the present writ petition and the said complaint was got investigated and the investigation substantiated the substance of the complaint. On these basis, vide said communication, the petitioner was informed that the dealership selection for subject location had been cancelled.

11. This was followed by issuance of advertisement dated 15.09.2010 vide which the same site was again advertised in the following words:-

"In and around Fatehpur between miles stone 28 to 30 in District Kangra."

12. Petitioner being aggrieved by the cancellation of her allotment of retail sale outlet dealership as communicated her vide communication dated 25.08.2010 (Annexure P-11), filed CWP No. 6266 of 2010 in this Court. Said writ petition was disposed of by this Court vide its decision dated 07.03.2012 in the following terms:

> "I direct that the Corporation shall consider the complaint of respondent No. 5 in terms of the policy for which purpose both the parties herein as also respondent No. 4 Aman Kumari shall be given an opportunity of being heard. All the grounds raised herein will be open to the petitioner to be urged before the appropriate authority. The respondent will also be at liberty to place before the authority such other or further material in support of their contentions. Writ petition stands disposed of. No order as to costs. The entire proceedings shall be concluded within four months from the date when this order is presented before the Corporation. Liberty to the parties to approach this Court again."

13. As per the petitioner, in purported compliance to the directions passed by this Court in CWP No. 6266 of 2010, respondent-Corporation issued order dated 20.12.2012 (Annexure P-16) and by way of this order, the cancellation of selection of the petition and issuance of second advertisement for establishment of retail outlet dealership was justified in the following terms:

"In view of the above stated facts, the competent authority has observed that the said location has been rightfully cancelled. Decision to issue the second advertisement for the establishment of retail outlet dealership regarding the location "in or around Fatehpur (between milestone 28 to 30) in District Kangra is in accordance with the norms and policies of the respondents."

14. This was followed by declaration of the result pursuant to the second advertisement issued by the Respondent Corporation in which now respondent No. 5 was declared as the successful candidate who was allotted 90.1 marks, whereas the petitioner was placed at serial No. 2 and she had been allotted 88.9 marks. As per petitioner, perusal of the earlier marks sheet and the subsequent marks sheet would demonstrate that both the petitioner and respondent No. 5 had been allotted almost similar marks, however, now under the heading "capability to earn finance", the respondent had been granted more marks than the petitioner.

15. Feeling aggrieved by the issuance of order dated 20.12.2012 as well as the subsequent advertisement issued by respondent/Corporation, in the process initiated under which respondent No. 5 was found more meritorious than the petitioner, she filed the present petition.

16. According to the petitioner, the act of respondents No. 1 to 3 of cancelling the dealership selection of the petitioner and re-advertising of the same location was wrong and illegal. Unilateral decision taken by respondents No. 1 to 3 to cancel the selection of the petitioner without affording an opportunity was violative of the principle of natural justice. Further according to the petitioner, earlier the petitioner was at serial No. 1 over and above respondent No. 5 on the basis of the marks obtained by her in the interview and the said interview was conducted strictly as per the procedure contemplated in Annexure P-1. As per the petitioner, cancellation of the lawful selection of the petitioner was done with a malafide intent by respondents No. 1 to 3 in collusion with respondents No. 4 and 5. It was further her case that whereas on one hand the petitioner has been denied the right to have retail sale outlet dealership for a location to which she was held to have qualified, now the same site was re-advertised only with an intent to give benefit to others who were earlier found to be behind the petitioner and who otherwise were not entitled to be allotted the site in preference to the petitioner who was already selected. It was further the case of the petitioner that impugned act of respondents No. 1 to 3 otherwise was blatant abuse of powers and the said act was a result of manipulation. Respondent/Corporation in the garb of administrative power had acted in an arbitrarily and unreasonable manner to deny the petitioner her legal right and to confer upon respondent No. 5 such rights to which she was not entitled to. According to the petitioner, the reasons which had been assigned by respondents No. 1 to 3 were irrational, illegal and smack of clear malafides on the basis of which allegedly the chainage was notified to be changed on and with effect from 22.05.2007.

17. Respondents No. 1 to 3 in the reply filed by them have put forth their stand in the preliminary objections. According to the said respondents, advertisement dated 04.09.2009 was issued in which amongst other locations, the location in question, i.e. Fatehpur (between milestone 20-22, District Kangra was also advertised. As per the said respondents, they received complaints regarding the change of the chainage and in view of the complaints, they sought information from SDE PWD Division, Fatehpur, who informed them that date of repainting of the milestone was 26.02.2010 and the date of change of old chainage to new chainage was 22.05.2007. As per the above notification, milestone 20-22 was to be read as milestone 28-30 and accordingly, land of all the applicants including the petitioner lay between milestone 28-30, whereas location advertised by respondents was Fatehpur (between milestone 20-22). In view of the above, as per respondents No. 1 to 3, it scrapped the merit panel and issued fresh advertisement on 16.09.2010 for location which was now advertised as Fatehpur (between milestone 28-30). As per said respondents, petitioner alongwith private respondents No. 4 and 5 again applied for new location with the same land as was offered in the previous advertisement. In the second panel, the petitioner was declared to be number two, whereas Smt. Jyoti was found to be at number one. It was further the stand of the said respondents that in compliance of order dated 07.03.2012 passed by this Court in CWP No. 6266/2010, competent authority appointed a senior officer of the Corporation to investigate the matter and complaint of Smt. Jyoti (respondent No. 5) was reconsidered and for this purpose, all the concerned parties were given an opportunity of being heard and after hearing them, the competent authority passed the order in issue. Thus, the said respondents justified their act.

18. In the reply filed by respondent No. 5, setting aside of the selection of petitioner was justified on the grounds that respondent No. 5 had made a complaint to the respondent Corporation against the illegal selection of the petitioner and while investigating the said complaint, respondent Corporation found after physical verification of the site that advertisement dated 04.09.2009 with respect to the allotment of Retail Sale Outlet Dealership for Fatehpur location between 20-22 milestone was wrongly issued and, therefore, vide communication dated 25th August, 2010, said site location was cancelled because land of none of three applicants was falling within milestone 20-22. It was further stated in para-7 of the preliminary submission as under:

> "7. That the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed on the ground that the respondents No. 1 to 3 are well within their right to have cancelled the earlier advertisement dated 4.9.2009 and this right was reserved by respondents No. 1 to 3 in the advertisement itself as is clear from clause 10(b), therefore, no benefit can be derived by the petitioner, more particularly, when the petitioner participated in the selection in pursuance to the advertisement dated 16.9.2010. It is submitted on behalf of the replying respondent that after the order was passed by this Hon'ble Court vide judgment dated 7.3.2012, the petitioner has been granted ample opportunity by the respondents No. 1 to 3 so as to show that the earlier advertisement dated 4.9.2009 was not factually incorrect, whereas to the contrary, the replying respondent had placed ample material before the authorities of respondents No. 1 to 3, perusal of which would go to show that the earlier advertisement dated 4.9.2009 was factually incorrect and, therefore, the subsequent advertisement was issued with respect to the exact location of mile stones, which mile stones were changed from 20-22 to new mile stones 27-29. It is submitted on behalf of the replying respondent that from the information, supplied in pursuant to the application under Right to Information Act, dated 9.4.2012 from PWD Nurpur Division, copy of which is annexed as Annexure R5/B, it is clear that in State Highway No. 27, kilometers have been changed from 45/920 to 53/600 during 7/2008 and these new kilometers stand completed in all respect, that is, fixing and painting from 03/0 to 53/600 under this Division. It is further clear from Annexure R5/B that the painting of the mile stones portion 03/0 to 42/680 has been done during March 2006, May 2007, February 2008, May 2009 and portion 42/680 to 53/600 once during 2007/2008. It is submitted on behalf of the replying respondent that the Fatehpur Division falls under the Superintending Engineer 9th Circle HP PWD Nurpur. It is clear from Annexure P-16 that the authorities of respondents No. 1 to 3 have categorically come to the right conclusion after considering the material placed before them by the replying respondents and also on the basis of the investigation made by their independent investigator that there was a notification (old chainage to new chainage) prior to the date of advertisement of location of Fatehpur (between mile stones 20-22) and to that extent the advertisement was factually incorrect and, which surfaced during complete investigation. Therefore, the earlier advertisement location was cancelled and a new advertisement was made re-advertising the location with correct details as per policy guidelines. As such the writ petition is liable to be dismissed."

19. The stand so taken by respondent No. 5 was refuted by the petitioner by way of rejoinder.

20. By way of CMP No. 5448 of 2016, respondent-Corporation has placed on record the complaint filed by respondent No. 5 and the documents relating to investigation which was carried by respondents No. 1 to 3 on the said complaint and action taken thereon.

21. I have heard the leaned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the pleadings of the parties.

22. Admittedly, in the present case two advertisements were issued by the respondent-Corporation inviting applications for appointment of retail sale outlet dealers at Fatehpur in District Kangra, which was meant for women (open category). As per the earlier Notification, the details of the site were "Fatehpur (20-22 Meel Ka Pathar Ke Beach)". After the acceptance of the complaint filed by respondent No. 5, by way of second advertisement, which was issued by respondents No. 1 to 3, the site now advertised was as under:

"In and around Fatehpur between milestone 28 to 30 in District Kangra"

23. It is undisputed position that besides the petitioner, respondents No. 4 and 5 had responded to the earlier advertisement dated 04.09.2009 and the same set of parties responded to the second advertisement issued for the same location vide advertisement dated 15.09.2010. It is also an admitted position that earlier also the sites/locations which were offered by the petitioner and respondents No. 4 and 5 were the same which were subsequently offered by them in response to the subsequent advertisement dated 15.09.2010. It is evident from the documents produced on record by the parties that whereas earlier after evaluation of the respective case of the parties, present petitioner was evaluated at No. 1, but in the second evaluation carried out by respondent-Corporation pursuant to advertisement dated 15.09.2010, respondent No. 5 has been evaluated at No. 1 and the petitioner has been evaluated at No. 2. The statement of performance of the petitioner and private respondent dated 20.09.2011, which is appended as Annexure P-18 demonstrates that the following marks have been allotted to the parties by the Evaluating Committee:

Sr. No.	Name of Candida-te	Capability to provide infrastructure and facility	Capability to arrange finance	Educational qualification	Capacity to generate business	Age	Exper i-ence	Business Acumen	Personality	Total
	Max. marks	35	25	15	10	4	4	5	2	100
1.	Smt. Jyoti	33.1	25.0	10.0	9.0	4.0	4.0	3.5	1.5	90.1
2.	Ms. Aman Kumari	31.3	25.0	12.0	8.5.	2.0	2.0	2.0	1.0	83.8

3.	Ms. Nitu Sharma	33.4	21.0	12.0	9.0	4.0	4.0	3.5	2.0	88.9

24. It is apparent from the perusal of this document that petitioner has been given more marks under the head "Capability to provide infrastructure & facility" and the private respondent was found more meritorious than the petitioner as she was granted more marks under the head "Capability to arrange finance". The earlier evaluation carried out in respect of the parties which is available on record as Annexure P-3 was as under:

Sr. No.	Name of the Candi-date	Capability to provide land and infrastructure facilities (Max 35)	Capability to provide finance Max.(25)	Educational Qualification (Max. 15)	Capability to generate business-s (10 marks)	Age (4 mar-ks)	Exper-ience (4 marks)	Busine-ssability/ acumen (5 marks)	Pers o-nality(2 marks)	Total marks (100)	Merit Panel
1.	Ms. Nitu Shar-ma	33.43	21.00	12.00	8.67	4.00	4.00	4.00	2.00	89.10	I
2.	Smt. Jyoti	33.43	21.64	10.00	3.50	4.00	0.00	3.50	1.50	77.57	III
3.	Ms. Aman Kuma-ri	32.40	21.00	12.00	8.00	4.00	1.00	3.17	1.50	83.07	II

25. As I have already stated above, after the petitioner was found successful on the basis of the initial advertisement issued by the respondent-Corporation, a complaint was filed by respondent No. 5 making a grievance out about the location in issue which led to the cancellation of the selection of the petitioner and resulted in the issuance of advertisement dated 15.09.2010, but it is a matter of fact and record that same site was offered both by the petitioner as well as respondent No. 5 pursuant to advertisement dated 15.09.2010 which was earlier offered by these parties pursuant to advertisement dated 04.09.2009. It is thus apparent that the complaint which was filed by respondent No. 5 to the effect that the selection of the petitioner pursuant to first advertisement was vitiated on the ground of location was a motivated complaint. This is apparent from the fact that the location which was offered by the private respondent in response to the earlier advertisement was again re-offered by her in response to the subsequent advertisement. Had there been any merit in the complaint so filed by respondent No. 5, then obviously she would have had offered some other location pursuant to second advertisement. Besides this, both in the evaluation which was carried pursuant to the first advertisement and the second advertisement, the petitioner has been given more marks under the head capability to provide infrastructural facilities. In the evaluation which has been carried on the basis of second advertisement, respondent No. 5 has been declared successful on the basis of additional marks granted to her under the head "Capability to provide finance". Thus, it is apparent that filing of complaint by respondent No. 5 after the petitioner was initially selected for the allotment of the retail outlet and its acceptance by respondent-Corporation, resulting in setting aside the selection of the petitioner was a motivated act and an act of colourable exercise of power. This entire exercise apparently was undertaken by the respondent-Corporation at the behest of respondent No. 5 and to confer undue advantage upon respondent No. 5. The act of respondent-Corporation of accepting the complaint so filed by respondent No. 5 is arbitrary and cannot be justified on the grounds on which the said complaint was allowed. It is thus apparent that the change in the chainage of the highway in issue had in fact neither any impact nor any effect on the site of the retail outlet.

26. A perusal of order dated 20.12.2012 which has been assailed by way of present writ petition will demonstrate that this is a communication which was addressed to the present petitioner as well as respondent No. 5 on behalf of General Manager (Retail Sales) Punjab State Office, Chandigarh. The subject of the said communication was "Order in compliance of order dt. March 7th 2012 of Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh at Shimla in Civil Writ Petition No. 6266 of 2012 titled Smt. Neetu Sharma Versus Indian Oil Corporation Limited and others." Further, this communication reveals that initial selection of the present petitioner was challenged by respondent No. 5 on various grounds before respondent Corporation. These grounds find mention in order dated 20.12.2012 as Point No. 1 to Point No. 8. All these points are enumerated hereinbelow:

> "Point No. 1: The first and very important point is that the company has allocated the Retail outlet to the such candidate whose land is in the range of mile stone 29-30 km's Fatehpur and that is not as per advertisement of IOCL.
>
> Point No. 2: The offered land of the candidate is also not within 1 km both the side at Fatehpur.
>
> Point No. 3: The offered land from the candidate is in approximate Rhombus shape and also less land as required by IOCL in advertisement.
>
> Point No. 4: The selected candidate provide 4 marks for the Business experience COCO Pump, so the company also required cross checking, is the candidate really works or not, because as company provide 4 marks for the purpose.
>
> Point No. 5: All the candidates provide approximately equal works in land verification approx. 33.42. Is that possible that all the candidates offered Land is same i.e. No. tree, No filing required, No cutting required, No telephone line, No sewerage under the land, No Power Pillars in all the Land. It also conferred me some objection.
>
> Point No. 6: I have own land with square shape, No leased based land and No leased over lease land as other candidates provide, but the company has not preferred this land those provide own land and free of all the objections.
>
> Point No. 7: In the interview, the interview team provides marks 8-8.5 out of 9 to the first selected candidate and only 3-3.5 marks given to me only i.e. minimum marks 33% only may as per interview guidelines.
> Point No. 8: As per the brochure, that at the time of interview the candidate will see the field verification report and sign there, but at the time of interview no such action taken by the company.

27. A perusal of the findings which have been returned on the points so formulated demonstrate that except for Point No. 1, none of the points so formulated on the complaint of respondent No. 5 found in favour with the respondent Corporation. The perversity with regard to the findings returned on Point No.1 has already been discussed by me in the above paras of the judgment. Incidentally, it is apparent from communication dated 20.12.2012 that though the said communication is termed as an order in compliance of the directions issued by this Court in CWP No. 6266 of 2012, however, communication dated 20.12.2012 actually is not the original order, if any, passed by the competent authority, but it just conveys as to what order actually was passed by the competent authority by way of observations. Be that as it may, the fact of the matter still remains that after the initial selection of the petitioner was set aside by respondent Corporation on the basis of complaint filed by respondent No. 5 and fresh advertisement was issued, the sites which were respectively offered by the petitioner and private respondents including respondent No. 5 were the same which were earlier offered by them in response to original advertisement. This demonstrates that in fact the change of chainage was used as a tool by the respondents to cancel the initial allotment of retail outlet in favour of the petitioner, which act of the respondent Corporation is highly arbitrary, discriminatory and nothing but an act of colourable exercise of power.

28. Learned counsel for respondent Corporation has relied upon the judgment passed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sr. Divisional Retail Sales Manager, Indian Oil Corporation Ltd. through Poa Holder and Ors. Vs. Ashok Shankaral Gwalani, Civil Appeal No. 9101 of 2012 decided on 14.12.2012, in which the Hon'ble Supreme Court has been pleased to hold:

> "17. Generally, if an irregularity is detected in the matter of selection or preparation of a panel, it is desirable to have a fresh selection instead of re-arranging the panel which is found to be vitiated. The Authority empowered to appoint, is the competent authority to decide as to whether the panel should be discarded and there should be a fresh selection in view of the facts narrated above. In such circumstances, the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India ought to not have interfered with the decision of the competent authority in canceling the selection."

29. In my considered view, the finding returned by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the above mentioned judgment is of no help to the respondent Corporation because in the present case, there was no irregularity in the selection of the petitioner for the purpose of allotment of retail outlet pursuant to first advertisement issued by the respondent Corporation. The cancellation of selection of the petitioner by respondent Corporation is totally unjustified in law. Accordingly, in my considered view, the judgment so cited by learned counsel for the respondent Corporation has no applicability in the facts of the present case.

30. Respondent Corporation is a 'Public Corporation' and is 'Other Authority' within the meaning of Article 12 of the Constitution of India. Its action as far as distribution of retail outlet is concerned has to be tested for constitutional infirmities vis-à-vis Article 14 of the Constitution of India. Each and every action of the authority has to be fair, reasonable, non-discriminatory, transparent, non-capricious, unbiased, without favouritism or nepotism, in pursuit of promotion of healthy competition and equitable treatment. Each and every action of the Corporation should conform to the norms which are rational, informed with reasons and guided by public interest.

31. In the present case, it cannot be said that the impugned acts of respondent Corporation including arbitrary setting aside of selection of the petitioner for allotment of retail outlet were fair, reasonable, non-discriminatory, transparent, non-capricious, unbiased, without favouritism or nepotism, in pursuit of promotion of healthy competition and equitable treatment. It is obvious from the facts of the case that said decisions were result of favouritism and nepotism. Therefore, the impugned acts of respondent Corporation cannot be sustained in law.

32. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Centre for Public Interest Litigation and others Vs. Union of India and others (2012) 3 Supreme Court Cases 1 has held:

> "86. In Akhil Bharatiya Upbhokta Congress v. State of M.P. (2011) 5 SCC 29, this Court examined the legality of the action taken by the Government of Madhya Pradesh to allot 20 acres land to an institute established in the name of Kushabhau Thakre on the basis of an application made by the Trust. One of the grounds on which the appellant challenged the allotment of land was that the State Government had not adopted any rational method consistent with the doctrine of equality. The High Court negatived the appellant's challenge. Before this Court, learned senior counsel appearing for the State relied upon the judgments in Ugar Sugar Works Ltd. v. Delhi Administration (2001) 3 SCC 635, State of U.P. v. Choudhary Rambeer Singh (2008) 5 SCC 550, State of Orissa v. Gopinath Dash (2005) 13 SCC 495 and Meerut Development Authority v. Association of Management Studies (2009) 6 SCC 171 and argued that the Court cannot exercise the power of judicial review to nullify the policy framed by the State Government to allot Nazul land without advertisement.

87. This Court rejected the argument, referred to the judgments in Ramanna Dayaram Shetty v. International Airport Authority of India (1979) 3 SCC 489, S.G. Jaisinghani v. Union of India AIR 1967 SC 1427, Kasturilal Lakshmi Reddy v. State of J & K (1980) 4 SCC 1, Common Cause v. Union of India (supra), Shrilekha Vidyarthy v. State of U.P. (1991) 1 SCC 212, LIC v. Consumer Education and Research Centre (1995) 5 SCC 482, New India Public School v. HUDA (1996) 5 SCC 510 and held:

"What needs to be emphasised is that the State and/or its agencies/instrumentalities cannot give largesse to any person according to the sweet will and whims of the political entities and/or officers of the State. Every action/decision of the State and/or its agencies/instrumentalities to give largesse or confer benefit must be founded on a sound, transparent, discernible and well-defined policy, which shall be made known to the public by publication in the Official Gazette and other recognised modes of publicity and such policy must be implemented/executed by adopting a non-discriminatory and non-arbitrary method irrespective of the class or category of persons proposed to be benefited by the policy. The distribution of largesse like allotment of land, grant of quota, permit licence, etc. by the State and its agencies/instrumentalities should always be done in a fair and equitable manner and the element of favouritism or nepotism shall not influence the exercise of discretion, if any, conferred upon the particular functionary or officer of the State."

33. Accordingly, the present writ petition is allowed and Annexures P-11 dated 25.08.2010, Annexure P-13 dated 13.09.2010 (to the extent prayed), Annexure P-16 20.12.2012 and Annexure P-18 dated 29.09.2011 are quashed and set aside and the respondent Corporation is directed to allot the retail outlet subject matter of the writ petition in favour of the petitioner.

With this direction, the writ petition is disposed of. No order as to costs.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J.

The Oriental Insurance Company. .....Appellant.

Versus

Smt. Deeno & ors. .....Respondents.

FAO(WCA) No. 160 of 2009.
Date of decision: August 31, 2016.

Workmen Compensation Act, 1923- Section 5- Deceased was working as labourer- he met with an accident during the course of his employment- claim petition was filed by his parents- petitioners claimed that wages of the deceased were Rs. 4,500/- per month, whereas, according to respondent No. 1, wages of deceased were Rs. 2,400/- per month- compensation of Rs. 5,52,366/- along with interest was awarded- aggrieved from the order, present appeal has been filed- held, that employer had not stepped into the witness box to prove that income of the deceased was Rs. 2,400/- per month- witnesses of the petitioner stated that income was Rs. 4,500/- per month- in these circumstances, Commissioner had correctly assessed the income as Rs. 4,500/- per month- insurer was directed to pay penalty, whereas, liability is that of the employer- appeal allowed and respondent No. 1 directed to pay the penalty. (Para-3 to 8)

Cases referred:

Ved Prakash Garg versus Premi Devi and Others, (1997) 8 Supreme Court Cases 1,

For the appellant Mr. J.S. Bagga, Advocate,
For the respondents Mr. Vivek Singh Thakur, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 and 2.
Ms. Jamuna, Advocate, vice counsel for respondent No. 3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, J. (Oral)

In this appeal award dated 30.9.2008 passed by learned Commissioner under the Workmen's Compensation Act, Chamba is under challenge. The commissioner after holding full trial has assessed the compensation amounting to Rs.5,52,366/- together with interest @12% per annum payable to respondents No. 1 and 2-claimants herein against the Insurer respondent No. 2 (appellant in the present appeal). Besides on the failure of the deposit of the amount of compensation within 30 days, the appellant-Insurer was also held liable to pay the penalty @25% of the total amount i.e. Rs.5,52,366/-. The complaint, therefore, is that the amount of penalty i.e. 25% of the awarded amount should have not been imposed upon the Insurer-respondent No. 2 and rather on the employer who is respondent No. 1 Kamlesh Kumar before learned Commissioner whereas respondent No. 3 in this appeal. The further grouse of respondent No. 2-Insurer is that the monthly wages of the deceased workman i.e. Rs.4500/- have been erroneously determined as cogent and reliable evidence was not produced to substantiate the same by the petitioners-claimants.

2. The appeal has been admitted on the following substantial question of law:-

1. Whether the findings of the Court below are result of misreading, misinterpretation of the evidence on record and against settled position of law?

3. Pawan Kumar son of the petitioners has died in an accident occurred on 4.11.2006. He was working as labourer with respondent No. 1 Kamlesh Kumar. On the fateful day Pawan Kumar was on duty at Urie to Ghator road in district Chamba. He while on duty met with an accident which resulted in his death on the same day. The claimants are his parents. There claim that the wages of deceased Pawan Kumar was as Rs.4500/- in the claim petition, has been denied by his employer-respondent No. 1 being incorrect as according to him the deceased was being paid his wages @2400/- per month. On behalf of respondent No. 2-Insurer there is however, denial simplicitor qua this aspect of the matter.

3. Petitioner No. 2 Gizo while in the witness box as PW4 has stated that the wages of the deceased were Rs.4500/- per month. The suggestion given to him on behalf of respondent No. 2 that he was being paid Rs.2400/- per month as wages has been denied being wrong. PW2 Vido Ram while in the witness box has also stated that the wages of the deceased at the time of his death were Rs.150/- per day. In his cross-examination he has also denied the suggestion that the wages of the deceased at the time of accident was Rs.2400/- per month.

4. The employer respondent No. 1 no doubt has claimed that wages were being paid to deceased Pawan Kumar @ Rs.2400/- per month, however, has not stepped into the witness box. Therefore, in view of the evidence produced by the petitioner learned Commissioner below has rightly taken the monthly wages of the deceased as Rs.4500/- per month. Therefore, no case qua interference by this Court qua this aspect of the award is made out and rather learned Commissioner has assessed the monthly wages of the deceased on appreciation of the evidence in its right perspective.

5. Now, if coming to the second ground of challenge, it would not be improper to conclude that the penalty to the extent of 25% of the awarded amount could have not been imposed upon the Insurer-respondent No. 2 for the reason that Section 4-A(3) of the Act provides that if employer fails to pay the compensation within one month from the date it fall due, he shall have to pay a further sum not exceeding 50% of such amount by way of penalty.

6. The apex Court in (1997) 8 Supreme Court Cases 1, titled Ved Prakash Garg versus Premi Devi and Others qua this aspect of the matter has held as follows:

> …….But so far as the amount of penalty imposed on the insured employer under contingencies contemplated by Section 4-A(3)(b) is concerned as that is on account of personal fault of the insured not backed up by any justifiable cause, the insurance company cannot be made liable to reimburse that pat of the penalty amount imposed on the employer,. The latter because of his own fault and negligence will have to bear the entire burden of the said penalty amount with proportionate interest thereof if imposed by the Workmen's Commissioner.
> 20. In view of the aforesaid conclusion of ours the present appeals will have to be partly allowed. The impugned judgments of the High Court will stand confirmed to the extent they exonerate the respondent-insurance companies of the liability to pay the penalty imposed on the insured employers by the Workmen's Commissioner under Section 4A(3) of the Compensation Act. But the impugned judgments will be set aside to the extent to which they seek to exonerate insurance companies for meeting the claims of interest awarded on the principal compensation amounts by the Workmen's Commissioner on account of default of the insured in paying up the compensation amount within the period contemplated by Section 4A(3) of the Compensation Act. Accordingly it must be held that the respondent insurance company will be liable to meet the claim of the appellant- insured in Appeals Nos. 15698-15699 of 1996 to the extent of Rs. 88,548/- in Claim Case No.2 of 1992 with interest thereon at the rate of 6% per annum of from the date of accident till the date of payment. But the respondent- insurance company will not be liable to meet the claim of penalty of Rs.44,274/- imposed on the appellant-insured along with the interest of 6% per annum on the said amount of Rs. 44,274/-. To that extent the award of the Commissioner will stand modified. So far as the Claim No.3 of 1992 is concerned the respondent-insurance company will be liable to reimburse the compensation amount of Rs. 88,968/- with interest at the rate of 6% p.a. thereon from the date of the accident till the date of payment. But it will stand exonerated of its liability of reimbursement so far as the penalty amount of Rs.41,984/- and amount of interest at 6% p.a. thereon are concerned. To that extent the award of the Workmen's Commissioner in Claim Case No.3 of 1992 will stand modified. Similarly in Civil Appeal No. 15700 of 1996 the impugned judgment of the High Court will stand partly set aside so far as the claim for interest as imposed on appellant-insured is concerned and the award of the Workmen's Commissioner in so far as his award of Rs. 81,540/- as compensation along with interest will stand confirmed. But the further part of the award to the extent it directs that in the event of failure to pay the said amount within one month a penalty of 30% p.a. shall be payable by the insurance company, will stand set aside. Consequently the respondent-insurance company in this case will be liable to pay Rs.81,540/- by way of compensation with interest at 6% per annum thereon from the date of the accident till the date of payment to the claimants. The awards of the Commissioner will stand modified accordingly. They will obviously remain untouched so far as they are against the employers. It will be open to the claimants to enforce their claims of penalty amounts with proportionate interest thereon against employers concerned."

7. Similar is the view of the matter even taken by this Court also in a recent judgment delivered on 11.7.2016 in FAO No. 177 of 2006 titled Nirmala and others Vs. Kaushalaya Devi & another. Being so, the Insurer-respondent No. 2 is not liable to pay the penalty as imposed i.e. 25% of the awarded amount. The petitioners-claimants had therefore, to recover the amount of penalty @ 25% of the total compensation i.e. Rs. 5,52,366 from the employer-respondent No. 1 in the claim petition.

8. In view of what has been said hereinabove, this appeal is partly allowed. Consequently, the award will stand modified to the extent that the liability of respondent No. 2-Insufer shall be restricted only to the tune of Rs.5,52,366/- whereas the amount of penalty i.e. 25% of this amount, the petitioners are at liberty to recover the same from the employer-respondent Kamlesh Kumar.

9. The appeal is accordingly disposed of. Pending application(s), if any, also stands disposed of.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

Ajeet Kumar. .....Petitioners.

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh & Ors. .....Respondents.

CWP No. 11207 of 2011
Reserved on: 22.08.2016
Decided on: 01.09.2016

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Petitioner was working as daily wage Road Inspector and Mason w.e.f. 01.10.1994 to 31.10.1994- he was disengaged on 1.11.1995 by oral orders- original application was filed before the Administrative Tribunal, which was dismissed for want of jurisdiction- a reference was made to the Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal, which dismissed the petition- held, that employer had not placed on record any muster roll and a reasonable inference can be drawn that the workman was not allowed to perform duties- plea of abandonment taken by the employer cannot be accepted- petition allowed- award passed by Labour Court set aside- direction issued to re-engage the workman with continuous service without any back wages or monetary relief. (Para-7 to 9)

For the petitioner: Mr. G.R. Palsra, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Virender K. Verma, Addl. AG, with Mr. Pushpinder Jaswal, Dy. AG.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge.

The petitioner by way of the present petition has laid challenge to the award dated 31.10.2011, passed by the learned Industrial Tribunal-cum-Labour Court, Dharamshala, H.P. whereby the reference petition was dismissed.

2. Brief facts giving rise to the present petition are that the petitioner was working as daily wage Road Inspector and Mason with the respondent/department w.e.f. 01.10.1994 to 31.10.1994. On and w.e.f. 01.11.1995 he was disengaged by oral orders. Pursuant to this oral disengagement, the petitioner maintained an Original Application before the H.P. State Administrative Tribunal. However, the same was dismissed for want of jurisdiction and the liberty was reserved to the petitioner to approach the competent Forum. Thereafter, before the learned Tribunal below the petitioner sought his re-engagement with all consequential benefits.

3. On the other hand, the respondent/department resisted the reference petition by raising preliminary objection qua maintainability and that the petitioner has suppressed the material facts. As per the respondent/department the petitioner left the job on his own and he did not complete 240 days w.e.f. 01.10.1994 to 31.10.1995. Pursuant to the interim order passed by the learned H.P. State Administrative Tribunal, the petitioner continued working till October, 1998 and thereafter again abandoned the job. The respondent/department, on merits, contended that w.e.f. 01.10.1994 to 31.10.1995 the petitioner worked with the respondent in different capacities, viz., Road Inspector, Mason and beldar. However, he never completed 240 days in a calendar year during the above period. On 01.11.1995, the petitioner himself left the job. However, pursuant to the interim orders of the learned H.P. State Administrative Tribunal he continued working till October, 1998. Thereafter, he did not turn up. On 23.11.1998, a communication directing him to rejoin the duty was sent which was followed by a reminder dated 21.11.1999, but the petitioner did not resume his duty. The respondent/department prayed for dismissal of the reference petition.

4. The learned Tribunal below framed the following issues for determination:

> "1. Whether the services of the petitioner were terminated by the respondent w.e.f. 18.10.1998? OPP
>
> 2. If the above issue 1 is proved, whether the termination of services of the petitioner by the respondent is unlawful. If so, what relief the petitioner is entitled to? OPP
>
> 3. Whether the claim petition is not maintainable? OPR
> 4. Relief."

After deciding issues No. 1 and 2 against the petitioner (claimant) and issue No. 3 against the respondent/department, the reference petition was dismissed.

5. Reply to the petition, laying challenge to the award passed by the learned Labour Court below, has been filed by the respondents, whereby they have mainly reiterated the stand taken before the learned Labour Court below.

6. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record in detail.

7. The case of the employer is that the workman himself has abandoned the job, but no muster roll were placed on record. As per the employer, the workman was served with a notice, but again no copy of muster roll issued to the workman was placed on record. Since the muster rolls issued in favour of the workman were not placed on record, it can be safely assumed that respondent/department has not issued any muster roll to the workman/petitioner. Had the muster rolls been issued, the same would have been placed on record. Therefore, the possible inference could have been drawn that the workman was not allowed to perform duties. The plea of abandonment, raised by the employer, is not proved as the employer has failed to prove the delivery of notice and issuance of muster rolls. Otherwise also, from the conduct of the employer it is clear that he was pursuing the case and wanted to work. Had he abandoned the job, he would not have approached the various authorities time and again for the job.

8. In CWP No. 7162 of 2011, titled Paras Ram vs. Himachal Pradesh State Electricity Board Limited & another, the Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh, in a similar set of circumstances allowed the petition of the workman/petitioner, relevant text whereof is reproduced as under:

> "9. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in G.T. & others vs. Chemicals and Fibers India Ltd., AIR 1979 Supreme Court 582 have held as under:

6. From the connotations reproduced above it clearly follows that to constitute abandonment, there must be total or complete giving up of duties so as to indicate an intention not to resume the same. In Buckingham Co. V. Venkatiah (1964) 4 SCR 265: (AIR 1964 SC 1271), it was observed by this Court that under common law an interference that an employee has abandoned or relinquished service is not easily drawn unless from the length of absence and from other surrounding circumstances an interference to that effect can be legitimately drawn and it can be assumed that the employee intended to abandon service. Abandonment or relinquishment of service is always a question of intention, and normally, such an intention cannot be attributed to an employee without adequate evidence in that behalf. Thus whether there has been a voluntary abandonment of service or not is a question of fact which has to be determined in the light of the surrounding circumstances of each case."

9. As noticed above, the Hon'ble Apex Court has ordered reinstatement of the workman as Beldar with seniority and continuity, but without back wages for the reason as discussed above. Keeping in view the above decisions, the petition is allowed, the award of the learned Tribunal below is set aside and it is ordered that the petitioner (workman) be re-engaged by the respondent/department with continuity in service, but he will not be entitled to any back wages or any monetary benefits for the period he has not performed the duties. No orders as to costs.

10. In view of the above, the petition stands disposed of, as also pending application(s), if any.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

P.S.Rana, Judge.

Present RSA is filed under Section 100 of Code of Civil Procedure 1908 against consolidated judgment and decree dated 7.11.2008 passed by learned Additional District Judge Shimla in Civil Appeal No. 15-S/13 of 2008/2007 title Prem Lal Bhambra Vs. Smt. Shakuntla Devi and others and civil appeal No. 58-S/13 of 2007 title Smt. Shakuntla Devi and others Vs. Sh Prem Lal whereby learned Ist Appellate Court partly allowed appeal No.15-S/13 of 2008/2007 and dismissed appeal No. 58-S/13 of 2007. During pendency of RSA No. 160 of 2009 Smt. Shakuntla died and her name deleted from memo of parties vide interim order dated 21.12.2009 passed by HP High Court.

Brief facts of the case:

2. Sh. Prem Lal Bhambra plaintiff filed civil suit for decree of Rs.15200/- (Fifteen thousand two hundred) being mesne profit @ 800/- per month and also Rs.550/-(Five hundred fifty) being cost of notice dated 14.12.2001. Plaintiff also sought additional relief of interest @ 9% per annum w.e.f. 24.9.2000 from the date of filing of suit till realization. Plaintiff also sought additional relief for possession of suit property. It is pleaded that plaintiff has purchased suit property from Sh Ram Dutt on dated 6.7.2000 by way of registered sale deed Ext PW1/C in consideration amount of Rs.55000/- (Fifty five thousand) and acquired title in suit property. It is further pleaded that predecessor-in-interest of plaintiff namely Sh Ram Dutt was exclusive owner of suit property. It is further pleaded that on 24.9.2000 defendants illegally opened lock of suit property and criminal complaint was also filed in police station vide FIR No. 218 of 2000. Prayer for decree as mentioned in relief clause of plaint sought.

3. Per contra written statement filed on behalf of defendants pleaded therein that plaintiff has no locus standi to file present suit and suit is bad for non-joiner of necessary parties. It is further pleaded that suit is not properly valued for the purpose of court fee and jurisdiction and plaintiff is estopped to file suit on account of his own acts, conduct, deeds, lapses, admissions and omissions. It is further pleaded that suit filed on the basis of wrong revenue entries. It is further pleaded that Ram Dutt had no right and interest in suit property. It is further pleaded that entries in revenue record in favour of Ram Dutt are illegal. It is further pleaded that plaintiff had no right, title and interest in suit property. It is further pleaded that suit property was previously in exclusive ownership and possession of late Sh Prem Dutt predecessor-in-interest of defendants and after his death suit property is in ownership and possession of defendants. It is further pleaded that plaintiff did not remain in possession of suit property at any point of time. It is further pleaded that co-defendant No.1 Smt. Shakuntla Devi reconstructed the building in the year 1980-81 and electricity connection was also granted. It is further pleaded that defendants also inducted tenants in the premises. It is further pleaded that plaintiff did not acquire any right, title and interest in suit property. It is further pleaded that sale deed on behalf of Ram Dutt in favour of plaintiff is illegal and void. It is further pleaded that Ram Dutt had no saleable interest in suit property. It is further pleaded that defendants are in physical possession of suit property. Prayer for dismissal of suit sought. Plaintiff filed replication and reasserted allegations mentioned in plaint.

4. As per pleadings of parties learned Trial Court framed following issues on dated 16.11.2005.

1. Whether plaintiff is entitled for a decree of amount of Rs.15200/- on account of mesne profit as alleged? …OPP.

2. Whether plaintiff is entitled for interest @ 9% per annum from 24.9.2000 till the date of filing of suit and further interest from the date of suit till the date of recovery as alleged?. …OPP

3. Whether plaintiff is lawful owner of suit property as alleged? …OPP.

4. Whether defendants are in unlawful possession of suit property as alleged? …OPP

5. Whether suit in the present form is not maintainable as alleged? ...OPD.

6. Whether plaintiff is estopped to file suit on account of his own acts, deeds, conduct, lapses and admissions as alleged? ...OPD.

7. Whether plaintiff has no locus standi to file suit as alleged? ....OPD

8.Whether suit is bad for mis-joinder of parties as alleged? ...OPD.

9. Whether suit is not properly valued for purpose of court fee as alleged?....OPD

10. Relief.

5. Learned Trial Court decided issues No. 1 to 4 in affirmative and learned Trial Court decided issues No. 5 to 9 in negative. Learned Trial Court passed decree of possession in favour of plaintiff qua suit property and learned Trial Court also passed decree for recovery of Rs. 15200/- (Fifteen thousand two hundred) in favour of plaintiff and against defendants with interest @ 9% per annum w.e.f. 24.9.2000 till date of filing of suit and future interest at the rate of Rs.6% per annum from date of filing suit till realization.

He has stated that he is paying rent to the tune of Rs.50/- per month. He has stated that he is tenant for the last 18/19 years. He has stated that defendants are owners of the building. He has stated that plaintiff is not known to him. He has stated that plaintiff did not demand rent from him. He has stated that he is not familiar with plaintiff. He has stated that he is mason by profession. He has stated that he does not know that quarrel took place between plaintiff and defendants. He has denied suggestion that he deposed false in Court at the instance of defendants.

10.8 DW5 Khem Chand has stated that two storeys building is situated over suit property. He has stated that tenants have been inducted in the building. He has stated that he produced documents Ext DW5/A and Ext DW5/B. He has stated that electricity meter also installed in favour of his mother. He has stated that plaintiff tried to cut electricity connection. He has stated that defendants are in settled possession of suit property. He has stated that plaintiff did not remain in possession of suit property. He has stated that suit property is joint and no partition took place. He has stated that revenue entries relating to ownership are wrong. He has stated that defendants did not open lock forcibly at any point of time. He has stated that his father was in government service in HP Secretariat. He has stated that his father died in the year 1980. He has denied suggestion that four biswas of land was allotted to his father and eighteen biswas of land was allotted to Sh Ram Dutt in revenue records. He has stated that he is also posted in HP secretariat. He has admitted that sale deed executed in favour of plaintiff was not challenged in any civil court of law. He has admitted that FIR was filed by plaintiff. He has denied suggestion that defendants forcibly opened the locks of suit property and inducted tenants in illegal manner. He has denied suggestion that defendants have illegally occupied suit property. He has denied suggestion that defendants are legally liable to pay use and occupation charges qua suit property.

11. Following documentaries evidence adduced by parties.(1) Ext PW1/A copy of jamabandi for the year 2002-2003 qua suit property wherein Prem Lal son of Sh Gopal Dass plaintiff has been shown as owner of suit property qua khasra No. 1089 and 1095. (16) Mark X is the copy of judgment announced in criminal case No. 76/2 of 2001 title State of HP Vs. Ashok Kumar and others.

12. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of appellants that civil suit No. 93 of 1999 title Ram Dutt Vs. Shakuntla Devi and others were dismissed on 14.12.2000 on account of non prosecution and present suit by subsequent vendee namely Prem Lal for possession and recovery of mesne profit is not maintainable is rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. It is proved on record that plaintiff Prem Lal was not party in civil suit No. 93 of 1999 title Ram Dutt Vs. Shakuntla Devi. It is held that order passed in civil suit No. 93 of 1999 dated 14.12.2000 is order in personam and not order in rem. It is well settled law that subsequent suit on basis of subsequent different cause of action and different title can be filed. It is held that cause of action and title in civil suit No. 93 of 1999 and cause of action and title in civil suit No. 48-1 of 2002 are distinct. Hence concept of resjudicata will not apply. See AIR 1993 S.C 1756 title Inacio Martins Vs. Narayan Hari Naik and others. Point No. 1 of substantial question of law is decided against appellants.

Findings upon point No. 2 of substantial question of law with reasons.

13. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of appellants that earlier suit No. 93 of 1999 was dismissed for want of prosecution and subsequent suit with respect to same property bearing No. 48/1 of 2002 is not maintainable is also rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. It is held that in earlier suit No. 93 of 1999 Sh Prem Lal was not party. It is held that earlier civil suit No. 93 of 1999 was not decided on merits. It is held that present civil suit No. 48/1 of 2002 is filed on the basis of separate cause of action. It is held that in order to attract the provision of section 11 CPC the following ingredients should be established. (1) Decision should be based upon merits. (2) Party should be same (3) Cause of action should be same. It is held that in former suit and in present suit parties are different and cause of action is also distinct. Hence it is held that civil suit No. 48/1 of 2002 is maintainable. Principle of resjudicata is based upon finality to judicial decision. It is based upon concept that once res is judicata it would not be adjudged again. Primarily it applies when there are prior litigation and present litigation relating to same cause of action and title. See AIR 1976 SC 1645 title Lonankutty Vs. Thomman and another. See AIR 1960 SC 941 title Satyadhyan Ghosal Vs.Deorajin Debi and another. Hence substantial question of law No.2 is decided against appellants.

Findings upon point No.3 of substantial question of law with reasons.

14. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of appellants that Ram Dutt did not acquire any title in suit property on the basis of revenue entries and he was not legally entitled to alienate suit property in favour of plaintiff and on this ground appeal be allowed is rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. Court has carefully perused copy of jamabandi Ext PW1/A for the year 2002-2003 and copy of jamabandi Ext PW1/B for the year 1997-98 placed on record. As per jamabandi Ext PW1/A Prem Lal plaintiff has been recorded in ownership column of suit property and in possession column possession of tenants have been recorded. Court has also carefully perused jamabandi Ext PW1/B for the year 1997-98 placed on record relating to suit property. In ownership column name of Ram Dutt son of Goverdhan has been recorded and in possession column there is entry relating to tenants. In the remarks column it has been specifically recorded that vide mutation No. 347 dated 10.7.2000 the suit property has been alienated in favour of plaintiff Prem Lal. The name of appellants did not figure in ownership column as well as in possession column of revenue entry prepared by public servants in discharge of their official duties. Jamabandi Ext PW1/A and Ext PW1/B have been prepared by public servants in discharge of their official duties and are relevant fact under section 35 of Indian Evidence Act 1872. Defendants did not examine any revenue officials in order to rebut revenue entry Ext PW1/A and Ext PW1/B placed on record. It was held in case reported in AIR 2011 SC 1691 titled Murugam Vs. State of Tamil Nadu that public document can be safely relied when public documents are admissible under Section 35 of Indian Evidence Act 1872. Appellants did not examine any revenue officials who have prepared aforesaid documents in discharge of their public official duties in order to rebut the revenue entries. Hence it is held that revenue entries recorded in jamabandi Ext PW1/A for the year 2002-2003 and jamabandi Ext PW1/B for the year 1997-98 qua suit property prepared by revenue official are relevant fact. It is held that appellants did not rebut relevant fact by way of examination of revenue officials who have prepared revenue entries. Even defendants did not file any suit for declaration that revenue entries are contrary to factual position as required under section 46 of HP Land Revenue Act 1954. Even defendants did not file any civil suit for declaration under Specific Relief Act 1963 that sale deed Ext PW1/C dated 6.7.2000 in favour of plaintiff qua suit property is null and void. Even co-defendant Khem Chand has admitted when he appeared in witness box that sale deed dated 6.7.2000 executed in favour of plaintiff qua suit property was not challenged by defendants by way of declaratory suit in civil court. It is well settled law that fact admitted need not to be proved as per section 58 of Indian Evidence Act 1872. Defendants did not prove their title in suit property in accordance with law. It is held that plaintiff is legally entitle for relief of possession and mesne profit upon suit property on the basis of title i.e. sale deed dated 6.7.2000 Ext PW1/C placed on record.

15. Sale deed Ext PW1/C is proved as per testimonies of PW3 Shyam Lal who has executed sale deed as general attorney qua suit property in favour of plaintiff. Sale deed Ext PW1/C is registered under section 57 of Registration Act 1908 and same is admissible under section 57 (5) of Registration Act 1908.

16. Even executor of sale deed Ext PW1/C did not deny execution of sale deed but admit execution of sale deed Ext PW1/C when he appeared in witness box in civil suit No. 48-1 of 2002. It is held that sale deed Ext PW1/C is proved under section 68 of Indian Evidence Act 1872. It is well settled law that title passes in immovable property when sale deed is registered under Registration Act 19 08. See AIR 1961 SC 1747 title Ram Saran Lall and others Vs. Domini Kuer and others.

17. Oral testimonies of DW1 to DW5 did not prove title of defendants over suit property. Oral testimonies of DW1 to DW5 simply proved possession of defendants over suit property. Even documents filed by defendants did not prove title of defendants over suit property. Documents filed by defendants simply proved possession of defendants over suit property. Electricity bill is not sufficient to prove title in immovable property. Electricity bill simply proved possession in immovable property. Judgments of criminal courts placed on record are also not helpful to defendants to prove civil title in suit property. It is well settled law that criminal courts cannot decide civil rights of parties. Even judgment and decree passed by learned civil Judge (Senior division) Court No.II Shimla in civil suit No. 107-1 of 2000 title Prem Lal Vs. Shakuntla Devi are also not helpful to defendants because cause of action and title of civil suit No. 107-1 of 2000 and civil suit No. 48/1 of 2002 are distinct. It is well settled law that suit for possession and mesne profit can be filed on the basis of title. It is held that judgment and decree passed by learned Ist Appellate Court are based upon oral and documentaries evidence placed on record. It is held that defendants did not prove their title over suit property in accordance with law. Plea of defendants that they are owner of suit property is defeated on the concept of ipse dixit (An assertion made without proof). In view above stated facts it is held that judgment and decree passed by learned first Appellate Court are not perverse. It is held that judgment and decree passed by learned first Appellate Court are based upon proved oral as well as documentaries evidence. Point No.3 of substantial quest b ion of law is decided against appellants.

Relief.

18. In view of above findings RSA is dismissed. Copy of jamabandi Ext PW1/A for the year 2002-2003 relating to suit property, copy of jamabandi Ext PW1/B for the year 1997-98 relating to suit property and copy of sale deed Ext PW1/C dated 6.7.2000 relating to suit property will form part and parcel of decree. Parties are left to bear their own costs. Learned Registrar Judicial will prepare decree sheet as required under section 100 of Code of Civil Procedure 1908 in accordance with law forthwith. File of learned Trial Court and file of learned Ist Appellate Court be sent back forthwith along with certify copy of judgment and decree sheet. RSA No. 160 of 2003 is disposed of. Pending applications if any also disposed of.

Case referred:

Gurdwara Sahib v. Gram Panchayat Village Sirthala, (2014)1 SCC 669

For the Appellants : Mr. R.K. Sharma, Senior Advocate with Mr. Navlesh Verma, Advocate.

For the Respondent : Mr. Bhuvnesh Sharma and Mr. Ramakant Sharma, Advocates.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Rajiv Sharma, Judge

This Regular Second Appeal has been instituted against judgment and decree dated 30.7.2014 rendered by the learned District Judge, Hamirpur (HP) in Civil Appeal No. 120 of 2011.

2. "Key facts" necessary for the adjudication of the present appeal are that the appellants-plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as 'plaintiffs' for convenience sake) filed a suit against the respondent-defendant (hereinafter referred to as 'defendant' for convenience sake) for declaration to the effect that the ex parte judgment and decree obtained by the defendant in Civil Suit No. 43/96 decided on 26.12.2001 titled as District Cooperative Union vs. Munshi Ram, was illegal, null and void and not binding upon the plaintiffs as they are owners-in-possession of the land comprised in Khata No. 323, Khatauni No. 533 Khasra No. 1379 measuring 97.5 square metres with the consequential relief of permanent prohibitory injunction restraining the defendant from causing any interference over the suit land. Suit land as per Jamabandi for the year 1997-98 was wrongly and illegally recorded in the name of defendant against factual position. Predecessor-in-interest of the plaintiffs, Munshi Ram had purchased the suit land from one Jayanti Das vide registered sale deed dated 6.7.1965 pertaining to Khata No. 32 Khatauni No. 53 min. Khasra No. 646 min. 624 min. Bakadar 4 Marla 654 whole Khasra No. 969/660, 971/660, 812/655 Salam Kita 7 area 4 K 7 M share 1/3rd measuring 1 K 9 M. pertaining to the Jamabandi for the year 1960-61 and mutation No. 275 dated 18.3.1967 was sanctioned in the name of Late Major Munshi Ram and possession was given to him. It was further averred that in the year 1965, a boundary wall was raised by Munshi Ram. A gate was also installed by the plaintiffs and a house was constructed over the suit land purchased by Munshi Ram. Building was given on rent to Central Government office. Possession of the plaintiffs' predecessor-in-interest and that of the plaintiffs was never objected by anyone, which is hostile, uninterrupted, peaceful and adverse to the knowledge of all concerned. It was also averred that the ex parte proceedings against Late Major Munshi Ram dated 1.12.1999 were illegal since he was not duly served and decree had been obtained in fraudulent manner by mis-representation and suppression of material facts. Gift deed executed by Prithi Chand in favour of the defendant vide which mutation No. 387 had been sanctioned on 26.8.1994 in favour of the defendant was also illegal, null and void and not binding upon the plaintiffs.

3. Suit was contested by the defendant. On merits, the defendant stated that it is in possession of the suit land, which was gifted to the defendant vide gift deed dated 7.7.1994. It was denied specifically that the land was in possession of the plaintiffs' predecessor-in-interest. It was also denied that the ex parte judgment and decree obtained by the defendant in Civil Suit No. 43/9 dated 26.11.2001 titled as District Cooperative Union vs. Munshi Ram was illegal, null and void and Munshi Ram was wrongly proceeded ex parte and no notice under law was served upon him.

4. Plaintiffs filed replication. Learned Civil Judge (Junior Division) framed issues on 17.5.2006 and an additional issue was framed on 12.5.2011. He dismissed the suit on 22.9.2011. Plaintiffs filed an appeal against judgment and decree dated 22.9.2011 before the District Judge, Hamirpur. He also dismissed the appeal on 30.7.2014. Hence, this Regular Second Appeal.

5. The Regular Second Appeal was admitted on 3.12.2014, on the following substantial questions of law:

> "1. In Exhibit P-4 Civil Suit 43/1996, the defendant Major Munshi Ram was shown as resident of Ward No. 3. The report of the Process Server dated 22-23 February 1996 in C.S. No. 43/1996 clearly mentions that there is no person in name of Major Munshi Ram in Ward No. 3 Hamirpur. However his house is situated in Ward No. 4, but on inquiry at that house, it revealed that this house in Ward No. 4 is given on rent to Tar Ghar (Telegraph Office) and he himself is residing in Jammu. Still Notice (with wrong address of Ward No. 3 Hamirpur) under Order 5, Rule 20 was published in Himachal Time which has no circulated in Jammu and was proceeded ex-parte on 01-12-1999. Whether such service is legal and whether such ex-parte order have not been obtained by fraud and misrepresentation and such decree is not liable to be set aside in collateral proceedings?
> 2. Vide Exhibit P-8 dated 10-01-1995 the Learned Settlement Officer competent authority ordered the correction of Khasra No. 1379 measuring 97.50 Square Meters from the name of Prithi Chand to the name of Major Munshi Ram.

The nature of this land was also changed from Banjar Kadim to Gair Mumkin Sehan (Courtyard). The entry to this effect was made vide Rapat No. 233 Exhibit P-3 dated 12-1-1995 by the Patwari in the Revenue record. Whether the Learned Civil Court vide Exhibit P-4 Civil Suit No. 43/1996 dated 26-12-2001 was justified to set aside the entries of Rapat No. 233 without examining the order of the competent authority Exhibit P-8 and whether the defendant ahs not committed the fraud by obtaining the decree Exhibit P-4 without placing the present Exhibit P-8 on record and whether such a decree can not be set aside in the collateral proceedings?

3. Exhibit P-4 Civil Suit 43/1996 was instituted on 27-1-1996. The sole defendant in that case Major Munshi Ram was proceeded ex-parte on 01-12-1999. Major Munshi Ram expired on 08-08-2000 at Jammu. His LRs were never brought on record. Thereafter the case was listed and was proceeded effectively on various dates. Ultimately the suit was decreed on 26-12-2001 vide Exhibit P-4. Whether the judgment and decree Exhibit P-4 against a dead person is not a nullity and whether such decree can not be set aside in the collateral proceedings?"

6. Mr. R.K. Sharma, learned Senior Advocate, on the basis substantial questions of law framed, has vehemently argued that the Munshi Ram was served under Order 5 Rule 20 CPC in Himachal Time, which had no circulation in Jammu and was proceeded ex parte on 1.12.1999. He also contended that the entries of Rapat No. 233 could not be set aside in Civil Suit No. 43/1996. He lastly contended that the legal representatives of Munshi Ram were not brought on record. Munshi Ram expired on 8.8.2000.

7. Mr. Bhuvnesh Sharma, Advocate, has supported the judgments and decrees passed by both the learned Courts below.

8. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the record carefully.

9. Since all the substantial questions of law are interconnected and interlinked, the same are taken together for determination to avoid repetition of discussion of evidence.

10. PW-1 Suman Kumar, Superintendent testified that with effect from 1.6.1999 to 28.2.1980, the building of Lajya Devi was leased out to the Deputy Director Agriculture for a rent of Rs.6,300/-.

11. PW-3 Rattan Chand is Field Kanungo. He has proved Ext. PW-3/A. In his cross-examination, he has stated that no demarcation was carried out by him on the spot. Self stated that he had prepared the report by visiting the spot as per factual position on the spot.

12. PW-4 Mangat Ram deposed that the HPSC & ST Development Corporation remained tenant with effect from 9.1.1980 to 31.3.1981.

13. PW-5 Bishamber is the official of Telegraph Department. He testified that from 1990 onwards, building was rented to the Telegraph Department for a monthly rental of Rs.2700/.

14. PW-7 Ishwar Dass testified that the plaintiff's father Munshi Ram had purchased the land in Ward No. 4 in the year 1965 and house was constructed by him and boundary wall was also raised. Possession over the land was of Lajya Devi and her heirs. He was conversant with the signatures of Naib Tehsildar, Sharuti Prakash. Ext. PW-7/A was signed by him. Plaintiff constructed house in 1965. Boundary wall was also raised.

15. PW-8 Prakash Chand testified that land over which house of plaintiff was constructed, was purchased by Major Munshi Ram from Jayanti in 1965 and area was about 1 ½ Kanal. Plaintiffs were in possession of the land.

16. PW-11 Suresh Kumar is the son of Major Munshi Ram. He did not know that the house was situate over Khasra Nos. 1361, 1362, 1363 and 1380. According to him, old Khasra number was 812. He also admitted that the land was never demarcated in his presence. He has pleaded his ignorance about the fact that the suit land was gifted to the defendant by Prithi Chand on 7.7.1994. He has pleaded ignorance that the defendant had instituted a suit on 27.1.1996 against his father bearing Suit No. 43/1996. He denied that the summons were received by his father during the proceedings and that he deliberately did not appear before the Court.

17. DW-1 Pratap Singh testified that Khasra number of the suit land is 1379 measuring 5 Marla and Prithi Chand was its owner. The suit land was never in the possession of Munshi Ram. Munshi Ram was wrongly shown to be in possession in the revenue record. Suit was filed for correction of revenue entries, in which Munshi Ram was proceeded ex parte and suit was decreed in favour of the District Cooperative Union.

18. DW-2 Pratap Chand testified that the suit land in Khasra No. 1379 was gifted by Prithi Chand to District Cooperative Union.

19. DW-3 also deposed that the suit land over Khasra No. 1379 was in possession of Prithi Chand.

20. Collector Settlement passed an order on 10.1.1995 and entries of Khasra No. 1379 in the column of nature of the suit land were changed from Banjar Kadim to Gair Mumkin Sehan in favour of Major Munshi Ram and Rapat Rojnamcha Ext. P3 recorded change of possession in favour of Munshi Ram. Defendant challenged this entry by filing civil suit by stating that Munshi Ram was wrongly recorded as Kabiz by way of Sehan over the land in Khasra No. 1379. In that suit, Munshi Ram was proceeded ex parte and suit was decreed on 26.12.2001. Revenue entries of Khasra No. 1379 were changed vide judgment/order dated 26.12.2001.

21. Plaintiff has not led any cogent proof that the decree obtained by the defendant was obtained by playing fraud upon the Court. Civil Suit No. 43/1996 was instituted by the defendant. He was served by way of publication. Munshi Ram was proceeded ex parte on 1.12.1999. He did not appear to contest the suit. He had not furnished written statement. Though, admittedly, he died on 8.8.2000. Plaintiffs should have moved an application under Order 9 Rule 13 CPC for setting aside ex parte judgment and decree or they could file appeal against the ex parte judgment and decree. Plaintiffs have taken plea of adverse possession. However, fact of the matter is that initially Prithi Chand was owner of the suit land. He has gifted this land to the defendant on 7.7.1994. Plaintiffs could not file suit based on the plea of adverse possession. Even PW-3 Rattan Chand and PW-5 Bishamber have not deposed that the building in question was situated over Khasra No. 1379.

22. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Apex Court in Gurdwara Sahib v. Gram Panchayat Village Sirthala reported in (2014)1 SCC 669, have held that even if the plaintiff is found to be in adverse possession, it cannot seek a declaration to the effect that such adverse possession has matured into ownership. Their Lordships have held as under:

> "8. There cannot be any quarrel to this extent that the judgments of the courts below are correct and without any blemish. Even if the plaintiff is found to be in adverse possession, it cannot seek a declaration to the effect that such adverse possession has matured into ownership. Only if proceedings are filed against the appellant and the appellant is arrayed as defendant that it can use this adverse possession as a shield/defence."

23. Courts below have correctly appreciated the oral and documentary evidence. The substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

24. Accordingly, in view of the discussions and analysis made hereinabove, the present appeal has no merits and the same is dismissed. Pending application(s), if any, also stand disposed of. No costs.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANJAY KAROL, J.

Land Acquisition Collector, N.H.P.C. ...Appellant.
Versus
Shri Tedhi Singh & another ...Respondents.

RFA No. 229 of 2009 alongwith
RFA Nos.230 to 272 of 2009.
Date of Decision: September 1, 2016.

Land Acquisition Act, 1894- Section 18- Land was acquired for the construction of Parvati Hydro Electric Project- compensation was awarded by the Land Acquisition Collector – separate references were made and the Reference Court enhanced the compensation - sale deeds produced by the respondent were not taken into consideration by the trial Court on the ground that vendor and vendee were not examined - held, in appeal that sale deeds can be taken into consideration without examination of the vendor and vendee but the similarity of the land sold by the deeds has to be established with the land sought to be acquired – respondent had only examined the clerk to prove the execution of the exemplar sale deed- he is not local resident of the area- he was not aware of the area, nature or category of land- hence, exemplar sale deed could not be taken into consideration for adjudicating the rights and contentions of the parties- three exemplar sale deeds were produced by the claimants - witnesses examined by the claimants deposed that acquired land is just adjacent to exemplar land having similar potentiality with regard to the use, nature and similarity of classification and value- it was not proved that sale transaction was made or executed only in anticipation of the project coming in the near future- acquired land was put for a public use and no area was left for carrying any developmental activity- claimants are entitled for compensation for the acquired land, at uniform rates, regardless of its categorization- exemplar award had determined the market value at Rs. 4,00,000/- per bigha or Rs.20,000/- per biswa- trial Court had rightly re-determined the market value at Rs. 17,800/- per biswa or Rs.3,56,000/- per bigha- appeal dismissed. Bhagwathula Samanna and others Versus Special Tahsildar and Land Acquisition Officer, Visakhapatnam Municipality, Visakhapatnam, (1991) 4 SCC 506.

For the Appellant: Mr. K.D. Shreedhar, Sr. Advocate with Ms.Shreya Chauhan, Advocate, for the appellant in all the appeals.

For the Respondents: M/s Sunil Mohan Goel & Naveen K. Bhardwaj, Advocates, for the private respondent(s) in respective RFAs.
Mr. Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General with Mr.R.S. Verma, Additional Advocate General, for the respondent-State in all the appeals.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sanjay Karol, J (oral).

Primarily issue before this Court is as to whether in view of the law laid down by the Apex Court in Cement Corpn. of India Ltd. Versus Purya and others, (2004) 8 SCC 270, more specifically paragraphs 25 to 31 of the said report trial Court was right in not considering the sale deeds (Ex.R1, Ex.R3, Ex.R5, Ex.R7, Ex.R9, Ex.R11, Ex.R13, Ex.R15 & Ex.R17) tendered in evidence by the beneficiary/appellant herein only on account of non examination of the vendor(s) and vendee(s).

2. Also legality of the award in redetermining the market value of the acquired land varying from Rs.7,772/- to Rs.2,46,000/- per bigha to Rs.3,56,000/- per bigha (Rs.17,800/- per biswa) with respect to the acquired land in Phatti: Raila, Suchain and Manyashi, falling within the jurisdiction of Collector, Kullu, is subject matter of consideration.

3. For the public purpose, namely, construction of Parvati Hydro Electric Project, land situate in Phati Raila, Suchain and Manyashi, came to be acquired with the publication of the notification in the official dated 22.03.2003, under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as the Act). The Collector Land Acquisition in terms of his award No. 19, dated 06.01.2005, so passed under Section 11 of the Act, determined the market value of the acquired land category wise as under:-

Sr.No.	Name of Phati	Classification of land	Market price per bigha (Rs.)
I.	Raila
1.		Bathal Awwal	93,088.00
2.		Bathal Dom	69,816.00
3.		Bathal Som	46,544.00
4.		Bathal Chaharm	34,908.00
II.	Suchain
1.		Ropa	1,51,554.00
2.		Bathal Awwal	1,16,580.00
3.		Bathal Dom	97,150.00
4.		Bathal Som	73,834.00
5.		Bathal Chaharm	23,316.00
6.		Bagicha	1,16,580.00
7.		Banjar Kadeem	7,772.00

III. Manyasi

1.		Ropa Awwal	2,46,000.00
2.		Ropa Dom	2,16,480.00
3.		Ropa Som	1,72,200.00
4.		Bathal Awwal, Bagicha Bathal	1,52,520.00
5.		Bathal Dom	1,47,600.00
6.		Bathal Som	1,08,240.00
7.		Bathal Chaharm	68,880.00
8.		Banjar Kadeem	9,840.00

4. It is a matter of record that various land owners laid challenge to the award by filing separate land reference petitions under Section 18 of the Act, which came to be clubbed together by the Court below. It is also a matter of record that subsequent to the consolidation of these petitions, Reference Petition No.58/2007, titled as Sh. Tedhi Singh Versus Collector Land Acquisition and another, was taken as a lead case, wherein as mutually agreed, parties led their evidence.

5. Market value stands redetermined by the Court below by returning the following findings: (a) In the absence of the vendor and the vendee having proved the sale transactions sale deeds (Ex.R1, Ex.R3, Ex.R5, Ex.R7, Ex.R9, Ex.R11, Ex.R13, Ex.R15 & Ex.R17) tendered in evidence by the beneficiary could not be taken into consideration; (b) sale deeds (Ex.P1, Ex.P3 & Ex.P5) proved on record by the claimants established the average market value of one biswa of land to be Rs.44,500/- (Rs.8,90,000/- per bigha), over which, deduction to the extent of 65% was required to be allowed in view of the exemplar sale deeds being of small chunk of land; (c) In the award dated 29.09.2007, titled as Bhagwan Dass Versus Collector, Land Acquisition & others (Ex.P10), passed by the District Judge, pertaining to the very same acquisition proceedings, market value already stands redetermined at much higher rate.

6. A Constitution Bench of the Apex Court in Cement Corpn. of India (supra) has observed as under:-

> "26. In the acquisition proceedings, sale deeds are required to be brought on record for the purpose of determining market value payable to the owner of the land when it is sought to be acquired.
> 27. Although by reason of the aforementioned provision the parties are free to produce original documents and prove the same in accordance with the terms of the rules of evidence as envisaged under the Indian Evidence Act, the LA Act provides for an alternative thereto by inserting the said provision in terms whereof the certified copies which are otherwise secondary evidence may be brought on record evidencing a transaction. Such transactions in terms of the aforementioned provision may be accepted in evidence. Acceptance of an evidence is not a term of art. It has an etymological meaning. It envisages exercise of judicial mind to the materials on record. Acceptance of evidence by a court would be dependent upon the facts of the case and other relevant factors. A piece of evidence in a given situation may be accepted by a court of law but in another it may not be.
> 28. Section 51-A of the LA Act may be read literally and having regard to the ordinary meaning which can be attributed to the term "acceptance of evidence" relating to transaction evidenced by a sale deed, its admissibility in evidence would be beyond any question. We are not oblivious of the fact that only by bringing a documentary evidence in the record it is not automatically brought on the record. For bringing a documentary evidence on the record, the same must not only be admissible but the contents thereof must be proved in accordance with law. But when the statute enables a court to accept a sale deed on the records evidencing a transaction, nothing further is required to be done. The admissibility of a certified copy of sale deed by itself could not be held to be inadmissible as thereby a secondary evidence has been brought on record without proving the absence of primary evidence. Even the vendor or vendee thereof is not required to examine themselves for proving the contents thereof. This, however, would not mean that the contents of the transaction as evidenced by the registered sale deed would automatically be accepted. The legislature advisedly has used the word "may". A discretion, therefore, has been conferred upon a court to be exercised judicially i.e. upon taking into consideration the relevant factors.

29. In Land Acquisition Officer & Mandal Revenue Officer V. Narasaiah, (2001) 3 SCC 530, this Court correctly understood the said scope and object of insertion of Section 51-A in the LA Act when it held thus: (SCC p. 535, para 13)

> "It was in the wake of the aforesaid practical difficulties that the new Section 51-A was introduced in the LA Act. When the section says that certified copy of a registered document 'may be accepted as evidence of the transaction recorded in such document' it enables the court to treat what is recorded in the document, in respect of the transactions referred to therein, as evidence."
> … … …
> … … …

31. Thus, the reasoning of this Court in Narasaiah's case that Section 51-A enables the party producing the certified copy of a sale transaction to rely on the contents of the document without having to examine the vendee or the vendor of that document is the correct position in law. This finding in Narasaiah's case (supra) is also supported by the decision of this Court in the case of Mangaldas Raghavji Ruparel (supra).

32. Therefore, we have no hesitation in accepting this view of the Court in the Narasaiah's case as the correct view.

33. The submission of Mr. G. Chandrasekhar to the effect that the contents of a sale deed should be a conclusive proof as regard the transaction contained therein or the Court must raise a mandatory presumption in relation thereto in terms of Section 51-A of the Act cannot be accepted as the Court may or may not receive a certified copy of sale deed in evidence. It is discretionary in nature. Only because a document is admissible in evidence, as would appear from the discussions made hereinbefore, the same by itself would not mean that the contents thereof stand proved. Secondly, having regard to the other materials brought on record, the Court may not accept the evidence contained in a deed of sale. When materials are brought on record by the parties to the lis, the Court is entitled to appreciate the evidence brought on records for determining the issues raised before it and in the said process, may accept one piece of evidence and reject the other.

35. A registered document in terms of Section 51-A of the Act may carry therewith a presumption of genuineness. Such a presumption, therefore, is rebuttable. Raising a presumption, therefore, does not amount to proof; it only shifts the burden of proof against whom the presumption operates for disproving > it. Only if the presumption is not rebutted by discharging the burden, the Court may act on the basis of such presumption. Even when in terms of the Evidence Act, a provision has been made that the Court shall presume a fact, the same by itself would not be irrebuttable or conclusive. The genuineness of a transaction can always fall for adjudication, if any, question is raised in this behalf."

> (Emphasis supplied)

7. The trial Court thus erred in outrightly rejecting the exemplar sale deeds produced by the beneficiary.

8. However, in para-40 of the report itself the Apex Court clarified that comparative nature of the location, suitability or marketability of the exemplar sale deed was necessarily required to be proved by the proponent.

9. Now in the instant case, only one witness was examined by the beneficiary and that being Bishan Kashyap (RW.1), a Clerk from the office of Sub-Registrar, Sainj, who only proved execution of these exemplar sale deeds. He is not even a witness to such transactions or is aware of the parties; area; nature or category of land. No sale transaction ever took place in his presence. He is also not a local resident of the area. Hence, exemplar sale deeds (Ex.R1, Ex.R3, Ex.R5, Ex.R7, Ex.R9, Ex.R11, Ex.R13, Ex.R15 & Ex.R17) cannot be looked into for the purposes of adjudicating the respective rights and contentions of the parties in the determination of a fair market value. More so in the teeth of evidence of rebuttal led by the claimants. In the passing reference, it may only be observed that even in terms of the said sale transactions, land stood sold in different Phatis ranging Rs.5,000/- to Rs.73,500/- per bigha. These sale transactions pertain to the period December, 2001 up to August, 2002. None from the office of the Land Acquisition Collector was produced by the beneficiary. Even no revenue officer was examined to establish the comparability of the acquired land with the exemplar sale land.

10. However, it is a settled principle of law that a petition under Section 18 of the Act is to be treated as a plaint and the onus to establish the true and correct market value of the acquired land is always upon the claimants.

11. The claimants are expected to lead cogent and proper evidence in support of their claim. Onus primarily is on the claimants, which they can discharge while placing and proving on record sale instances and/or such other evidences as they deem proper, keeping in mind the method of computation for awarding of compensation which they rely upon. However, it cannot be said that there is no onus whatsoever upon the State in such reference proceedings. The court cannot lose sight of the fact that obligation to pay fair compensation is on the State in its absolute terms. Every case has to be examined on its own facts and the courts are expected to scrutinise the evidence led by the parties in such proceedings. (See: Special Land Acquisition Officer Versus Karigowda and others, (2010) 5 SCC 708).

12. Now in the instant case, one finds that the claimants have proved on record three exemplar sale deeds. Sale deed (Ex.P1), dated 19.04.1994, pertaining to sale of 1 biswa of land situate in Phati Raila, for a sum of Rs.40,000/-, stands proved on record by vendor Prittam (PW.1); sale deed (Ex.P3), dated 29.11.2002, pertaining to sale of 2 biswas of land situate in Phati Suchain, for a sum of Rs.66,000/- (Rs.33,000/- per biswa), stands proved by Bale Ram (PW.2); and sale deed (Ex.P5), dated 02.01.2003, pertaining to sale of 2 biswas of land situate in Phati Manyashi, for a sum of Rs.1,21,000/- (Rs.60,500/- per biswa), stands proved by Gian Chand (PW.3).

13. Significantly, all the aforesaid witnesses (vendors/vendees) have uncontrovertedly deposed that the acquired land is just adjacent to the exemplar land, having similar potentiality with regard to the use, nature and similarity of classification and value. On this issue, beneficiary did not cross-examine these witnesses. It is a matter of record that not only these sale transaction were accepted to be genuine by the authorities, but also parties acted thereupon, and entries of mutation effected by the revenue authorities, which fact stands proved on record by Bale Ram (PW.2) and Bhagat Ram (PW.4).

14. From the testimony of claimant Maan Chand (PW.6), it is also evident that even he has been able to establish the market value determined by the Collector to be miserably low and the true and correct market value to be the one as depicted in the exemplar sale deeds. Noticeably, acquisition proceedings commenced in March, 2003 and sale transactions (Ex.P3 and Ex.P5) are more proximate to that time. In fact, it is evident that since the year, 1994, when sale transaction (Ex.P1) came to be executed, there has been increase in the market value. From Rs.40,000/-, cost of the land has arisen to Rs.60,000/- per biswa. Significantly, it could not be pointed out by the beneficiary that these sale transactions were sham or executed only in anticipation of the project coming in the near future. Thus, there is no difficulty in accepting these exemplar sale deeds in determining the market value of the acquired land.

15. It is urged on behalf of the beneficiary that system of belting ought to be adopted as the exemplar sale transactions pertain to small pieces of land, whereas, acquisition proceedings pertains to large chunk of land (approximately 109-12-08 bighas). Reliance is sought on the decision rendered by the Apex Court in Land Acquisition Officer & Sub-Collector Gadwal Versus Shreelatha Bhoopal (Smt.) & another, (1997) 9 SCC 628 and Bhule Ram Versus Union of India and another, (2014) 11 SCC 307.

16. The aforesaid decisions clearly do not lay down the principle, as is sought to be argued before this Court. It is not the mandate of law, that sale transactions pertained to small chunk of land cannot not be considered at all.

17. The market value of a property for the purposes of Section 23 of the Act is the price at which the property changes hands from a willing seller to a willing, but not too anxious a buyer, dealing at arms length. Prices fetched for similar lands with similar advantages and potentialities under bona fide transactions of sale at or about the time of the preliminary notification are the usual and, indeed the best evidences of market value. {Mehta Ravindrarai Ajitrai (Deceased) through his Heirs and LRs. and Others v. State of Gujarat (1989) 4 SCC 250, Nelson Fernandes & Ors. v. Special Land Acquisition Officer, South Goa & Ors. (2007) 9 SCC 447}.

18. Now it is a settled principle of law that if the entire land is put for a public use and no area is left out for carrying out any developmental activity, then the claimants are entitled for compensation for the entire acquired land, at uniform rates, regardless of its categorization.

19. The apex Court in Haridwar Development Authority vs. Raghubir Singh & others, (2010) 11 SCC 581 has upheld the award of compensation on uniform rates.

20. In Union of India vs. Harinder Pal Singh and others 2005(12) SCC 564, while determining the compensation for acquisition of land pertaining to five different villages, the apex Court uniformly awarded a sum of Rs. 40,000/- per acre, irrespective of the classification and the category of land.

21. Further, in Nelson Fernades vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer 2007(9) SCC 447 while dealing with the case where the land was acquired for laying a Railway line, the Court held that no deduction by way of development charges was permissible as there was no question of any development thereof.

22. Similar view stands taken by this Court in Gulabi and etc. Vs. State of H.P., AIR 1998 HP 9 and later on in H.P. Housing oard vs. Ram Lal & Ors. 2003(3) Shim. L.C. 64, which judgment has attained finality as SLP (Civil) No. 15674-15675 of 2004 titled as Himachal Pradesh Housing Board vs. Ram Lal (D) by LRs & Others, filed by the H.P. Housing Board came to be dismissed by the Apex Court on 16.8.2004.

23. This judgment was subsequently referred to and relied upon by this Court in Executive Engineer & Anr. vs. Dilla Ram {Latest HLJ 2008 HP 1007} and relying upon the decision of the Apex Court in Harinder Pal Singh (supra), wherein the market value of the land under acquisition situated in five different villages was assessed uniformly, irrespective of its nature and quality, also awarded compensation on uniform rates.

24. It is a matter of fact that the entire land was put to public purpose. Power project stood constructed thereupon. It was used for only one purpose and as such there cannot be any error in the uniform determination of the market value of the acquired land.

25. Now what is that real market value of the acquired land, the Apex Court has clearly held it to be that which a willing vendor and willing vendee are ready to receive and pay.

26. The market value is the price that a willing purchaser would pay to a willing seller for the property having due regard to its existing condition with all its existing advantages and its potential possibilities when led out in most advantageous manner, excluding any advantage due to carrying out of the scheme for which the property is compulsorily acquired. In considering market value disinclination of the vendor to part with his land and the urgent necessity of the purchaser to buy should be disregarded. The question whether a land has potential value or not, is primarily one of fact depending upon its condition, situation, user to which it is put or is reasonably capable of being put and proximity to residential, commercial or industrial areas or institutions. The existing amenities like, water, electricity, possibility of their further extension, whether near about Town is developing or has prospect of development have to be taken into consideration. (Atma Singh and others v. State of Haryana and another (2008) 2 SCC 568).

27. In Union of India v. Pramod Gupta (Dead) by LRs. & Ors. [(2005) 12 SCC 1], the Apex Court held that the best method, as is well-known, would be the amount which a willing purchaser would pay to the owner of the land. In absence of any direct evidence, the court, however, may take recourse to various other known methods. Evidence admissible therefor inter alia would be judgments and awards passed in respect of acquisitions of lands made in the same village and/or neighbouring villages. Such a judgment and award in the absence of any other evidence like deed of sale, report of the expert and other relevant evidence would have only evidentiary value.

28. In Suresh Kumar v. Town Improvement Trust, Bhopal [(1989) 2 SCC 329], the Apex Court has held that while determining the market value of the land acquired, it has to be correctly determined and paid so that there is neither unjust enrichment on the part of the acquirer nor undue deprivation on the part of the owner.

29. Now in the instant case, the geographical location and situation of the land; existing use of the land; its potentiality and comparability stands established on record. The entire acquired land even though being a large chunk could be put to agricultural use. Trial Court, was right in applying deduction to the extent of 60%. (See: Bhagwathula Samanna and others Versus Special Tahsildar and Land Acquisition Officer, Visakhapatnam Municipality, Visakhapatnam, (1991) 4 SCC 506.

30. Significantly, exemplar award (Ex.P10) pertaining to the land situate in Dhaugi, can be compared with the acquired land with respect to its location, quality and potentiality. In terms of the said award, entire land stands re-determined @ Rs.4,00,000/- per bigha (Rs.20,000/- per biswa) and can be relied upon in view of Pramod Gupta (supra).

31. Entire land stands utilized by the beneficiary for the acquired purpose. It has not come on record that any developmental activity was required to be carried out by the beneficiary. In fact, the entire land stands utilized for the construction of the power project. As such, trial Court rightly re-determined the market value of the acquired land @ Rs.17,800/- per biswa (Rs.3,56,000/- per bigha) irrespective of its category and classification.

32. Hence in the given facts and circumstances, no interference is warranted. It cannot be said that all the findings returned by the Courts below are perverse, illegal or erroneous. As such, present appeals stand disposed of, so also pending application(s), if any.

33. Efforts put in by Ms.Shreya Chauhan, learned counsel, in rendering valuable assistance to this Court, are highly appreciable.

Judgment reserved on: 11.8.2016
Decided on: 1.9.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner claims himself to be a ward of NRI- he sought admission in B.V. Sc. & AH programme- he was denied admission - writ petition was filed challenging the denial of admission - held, that purpose of reserving the seat for NRI is to bring him into Indian mainstream and to make available facilities in the country of his origin- admission could not have been given to NRI sponsored candidate- petitioner is residing in India and merely because his uncle is residing abroad will not make him NRI- admission was rightly refused to him- petition dismissed. (Para-10 to 18)

Case referred:
P.A. Inamdar and others Vs. State of Maharashtra and others, 2005(6) SCC 517

For the petitioner: Mr. R.K. Gautam, Senior Advocate with Mr. Gaurav Gautam and Ms. Megha Kapur Gautam, Advocates.
For the respondents: Mr. B.M. Chauhan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, J.

The petitioner is a resident of village Alipur, Tehsil and District Roop Nagar, Punjab. He has qualified for All India Senior School Certificate Examination, 2014, vide Annexure P-3, which is equivalent to plus two. Respondent No.2 University is running various courses, including Bachelor in Veterinary Science & Animal Husbandry, B.V. Sc & AH in short, in its campus at Palampur, District Kangra, H.P. In Chapter II under the heading "Admission and Enrolment" of Information Brochure-cum-Prospectus for the Academic Session 2016-17, provision qua reservation of seats for various categories was made. Amongst other categories, two seats were reserved for NRIs (non-resident Indians, residing abroad) and two seats for foreign nationals for admission in B.V. Sc. & AH. Although the term "NRI" has not been defined in the prospectus, yet as per the judgment of a Division Bench of this Court in CWP No.432 of 2006 and CWP No.1104 of 2007, Annexure R-V to the reply, an NRI candidate is one, who does not reside in India and is a non-resident Indian residing abroad. In Chapter II of the prospectus, there is a provision for reservation of seats, not exceeding 15% of the sanctioned seats for admission to B.V. Sc.& AH course, for non-resident Indians. The method to fill up the same is merit and on fulfillment of the eligibility criteria. An NRI candidate is required to furnish the certificates with the application, as provided in the Check List, Annexure IX to the prospectus, which is re-produced here-as-under:-

"CHECK LIST OF CERTIFICATES ETC. TO BE SUBMITTED WITH THE APAPLICATION BY NRIs/FOREIGN NATIONALS

1. Photocopy of Passport (duly self attested);

2. Photocopy of parent's Passport;

3. Certificate in evidence of being NRI;

4. Affidavit by the NRI candidate/s parent/guardian on prescribed proforma (Annexure X);

5. Self attested photocopy of certificate in evidence of date of birth;

6. Self attested photocopies of degrees, diplomas and certificates for the examinations passed including qualifying examination;

7. Self attested photocopies of detailed marks certificates of all the examinations passed;

8. Self attested photocopy of character certificate from the school/college/institution last attended.

9. Two copies of the recent passport size photograph of the candidates.

10. Self attested supporting documents for conversion of OGPA/OCPA;

11. Self attested copy of the syllabi of courses studied at 10+1 & 10+2 standard along with website address (only for admission to an undergraduate programme).

Note: Original degrees, diplomas, certificates etc. attested copies of which have been enclosed with the application form shall have to be produced at the time of Registration, otherwise, the claim of the candidate for the seat will stand forfeited."

2. Besides, NRI candidate's parent/guardian is also required to furnish an affidavit on the format as at Annexure-X to the prospectus, which for the sake of convenience is also reproduced here-as-under:

"AFFIDAVIT BY NRI CANDIDATE'S PARENT/ GURADIAN

I, Sh./Smt._____ S/O.D/O,W/O_____and parent of_____who is applying for admission under NRI category in the _____(write the name of programme) programme at Chaudhary Sarwan Kumar Himachal Pradesh Krishi Vishvavidyalaya, Palampur do hereby solemnly affirm and declare as under:

1. That my State of origin in India is _____, where I am having ancestral and inheritable property. My ancestral address in India is _____

2. That, I migrated to _____ (country) on _____ as a resident of _____(country). My permanent alien Registration Card/Non-residential Card No.is_____ (if applicable).

3. That my ward is an NRI.

4. That, I undertake to make full payment of the prescribed tuition fee and other charges for the entire duration of the programme in the manner as may be fixed by the University.

5. That, if any of the information furnished is found to be incorrect at any stage, the admission of my child/ward be cancelled and fee deposited by me be forfeited and proceedings, as permissible under the law of the land, be initiated against me.

3. There is provision for admission in B.V. Sc. & AH course to be the child/ward of NRIs. The petitioner claims himself to be the ward of one Devinder Karray, who is a non-resident Indian, residing in USA. His Passport is Annexure P-3. The inquiry conducted by respondent No.2, while scrutinizing the application and the documents annexed therewith by the petitioner for seeking admission in the course, reveals that Shri Devinder Karray, aforesaid is maternal uncle of the petitioner. Petitioner claims himself eligible for seeking admission against one of the two seats which were reserved for the category of NRIs under B.V. Sc. & AH programme. As per his further claim in the event of suitable candidate could have not been found available against the seats meant for the category of foreign nationals, the seats meant for this category were also to be filled up from amongst the category of NRIs. Since no one applied for seeking admission from the category of foreign nationals, therefore, as per his further case, there were four seats available for being filled up from the category of NRIs.

4. Admittedly, the petitioner has submitted his application for seeking admission in the course within the time schedule prescribed therefor under the prospectus. He has also submitted his educational qualification certificate and also a bank draft in the sum of 500 US dollar towards admission fee. The Passport of Shri Devinder Karray, his so called guardian, is Annexure P-3, whereas his affidavit on the format of Annexure P-X to the prospectus is Annexure P-6. In order to answer the query made by the respondents, said Shri Devinder Karray has also sworn in an affidavit in the form of declaration of adoption, stating therein that he has adopted the petitioner for the purpose of his entire educational expenses and it is he, who will pay full fee qua his higher education. As per the Check List Annexure P-IX to the prospectus, the petitioner, amongst other documents, was required to have submitted the photocopy of his own passport to show that he is a non-resident Indian and also a certificate in proof of he being an NRI. Since he is permanent resident of village Alipur, Tehsil and District Roop Nagar, Punjab and is not an NRI residing abroad, therefore, he could have not submitted the photocopy of his passport and also the requisite certificate to show that he is an NRI, residing abroad.

5. The 2nd respondent during the course of scrutiny of the application of the petitioner and the documents he submitted therewith omitted to take note of the factum of non-furnishing of the aforesaid two documents and only asked for the adoption deed whereby the petitioner was adopted by his maternal uncle Shri Devinder Karray aforesaid. In order to answer such query Shri Devinder Carry has sworn in his affidavit Annexure P-6 to the writ petition and the petitioner has submitted the same to the respondent-University. Respondent No.2, however, was not satisfied that this affidavit brings the petitioner under the category of NRI and as such has recommended the rejection of his candidature for admission to the course vide Annexure R-2 to the reply filed on behalf of the respondents. The proceedings of respondent No.2-Committee are Annexure R-2 (Colly). The petitioner, as such, has been denied the admission in the Course.

6. Aggrieved by such action on the part of the respondents, this writ petition has been filed with the following prayers:

> "i) That in view of the facts and circumstances mentioned here-above in this writ petition, the writ petition may kindly be allowed and the respondents may kindly be directed to allow the petitioner to deposit the admission fee and to grant him admission in the course of B.V. Sc. & AH in the interest of justice and fair play."

7. The response of the respondent-University, in a nutshell, is that against two seats of NRI quota, only two applications, including that of the petitioner were received for admission to B.V. Sc. &AH Course. Respondent No.2 on scrutiny of the applications recommended the name of one of the candidates, i.e. Ms. Himani Kundlas, who otherwise was also found eligible for admission in the Course and rejected the candidature of the petitioner as he was not found eligible for seeking admission under NRI quota. Reliance on behalf of the respondents has been placed on the judgment dated 20.8.2007 of a Division Bench of this Court in CWP No.1104 of 2007, titled Abhinav Verma Vs. State of H.P. and others, Annexure R-V to the reply.

8. Shri R.K. Gautam, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Shri Gaurav Gautam and Ms. Megha Kapur Gautam, Advocates, has urged that the petitioner was never informed by the respondents that he is not eligible for seeking admission against the seats reserved for NRI candidates. The only query, as raised, was answered by tendering the affidavit Annexure P-7, sworn in by the guardian of the petitioner Shri Devinder Karray, who is an NRI, residing in USA. According to Mr. Gautam, the petitioner has been denied admission in the course arbitrarily. It has also been urged that since a seat meant for NRI category is lying unfilled, therefore, as a special case and by way of indulgence, the respondents may be directed to grant admission to the petitioner so that such seat does not go waste.

9. On the other hand, Shri B.M. Chauhan, Advocate, learned Standing Counsel, while drawing the attention of this Court to the law laid down by a Division Bench of this Court in the judgment Annexure R-V, has urged that the petitioner who is residing in India is not NRI candidate and as such not eligible for the grant of admission against the seats meant for NRI category. According to Mr. Chauhan, the petitioner at the most can be said to be an NRI sponsored candidate, however, the practice to grant admission to NRI sponsored candidates has been deprecated by this Court vide the judgment (Annexure R-V) in Abhinav Vernma's case supra. While answering a query as to whether the seat lying unfilled under NRI category can be given to the petitioner or any other candidate on merits, Mr. Chauhan, on instructions, has stated that the seats reserved under this category cannot be inter-changed with a candidate of any other category, as according to him there is no such provision in the prospectus.

10. The provisions of the prospectus, as have been noticed supra, make it crystal clear that two seats in B.V. Sc. &AH programme were reserved for the candidates belonging to NRI category. Who is an NRI has been defined by a Division Bench of this Court in the judgment dated 20.8.2007 in CWP No.1104 of 2007 titled Abhinav Verma Vs. State of H.P. and others (Annexure R-V). As per the ratio of this judgment, a non-resident Indian candidate is one who though belongs to India, however, resides in abroad. The object sought to be achieved by making such reservation, as explained in the judgment supra, is the integration of non-resident Indian living abroad into Indian mainstream and making available to them the facilities in existence in the country of their origin. We may refer the relevant part of this judgment which reads as follows:

> "The distinction between NRI candidates and NRI sponsored candidates is quite clear. There is no vagueness in so far as definition as well as description of these two categories are concerned. Whereas NRI candidates are such persons who do not reside in India and who are Non Resident Indians (residing abroad), NRI sponsored candidates are such Indians who do not reside abroad, but actually and physically reside in India, and who, for the purposes of their admissions have been or might be sponsored by NRIs. The sponsorship of course, as everyone understands, is limited only with respect to the funding of their admissions.
> In the case of P.A.Inamdar and others vs. State of Maharashtra and others, 2005(6) SCC 537 dealing with the aforesaid aspect, their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed and held as under:

"Here itself we are inclined to deal with the question as to seats allocated for Non-Resident Indians ("NRI" for short) or NRI seats. It is common knowledge that some of the institutions grant admissions to a certain number of students under such quota by charging a higher amount of fee. In fact, the term "NRI" in relation to admissions is a misnomer. By and large, we have noticed in cases after cases coming to this Court, neither the students who get admissions under this category nor their parents are NRIs. In effect and reality, under this category, less meritorious students, but who can afford to bring more money, get admission. During the course of hearing, it was pointed out that a limited number of such seats should be made available as the money brought by such students admitted against NRI quota enables the educational institutions to strengthen their level of education and also to enlarge their educational activities. It was also pointed out that people of Indian origin, who have migrated to other countries, have a desire to bring back their children to their own country as they not only get education but also get reunited with the Indian cultural ethos by virtue of being here. They also wish the money which they would be spending elsewhere on education of their children should rather reach their own motherland. A limited reservation of such seats, not exceeding 15%, in our opinion, may be made available to NRIs depending on the discretion of the management subject to two conditions. First, such seats should be utilized bona fide by NRIs only and for their children or wards. Secondly, within this quota, merit should not be given a complete go-by. The amount of money, in whatever form collected from such NRIs, should be utilized for benefiting students such as from economically weaker sections of the society, whom, on welldefined criteria, the educational institution may admit on subsidized payment of their fee. To prevent misutilisation of such quota or any malpractice referable to NRI quota seats, suitable legislation or regulation needs to be framed. So long as the State does not do it, it will be for the Committees constituted pursuant to the direction in Islamic Academy to regulate."

This Court, therefore, in the aforesaid judgment dated 1st June, 2006 had clearly, un-ambiguously and in no uncertain terms had mandated that it was not open to the State Government to create a category of NRI sponsored candidates because in the considered opinion of this Court doing so would mean, in effect and substance selling admissions on commercial basis, pure and simple by practicing patent discrimination against other Indian nationals who would be selected only on the basis of their merit and would not be in a position to obtain sponsorships from NRIs for the purpose of funding their admissions by receiving finances from abroad.

We are pained to observe that the aforesaid judgment of this Court has been observed in total breach by the respondents. In flagrant violation of the ratio as well as the mandate contained in the aforesaid judgment of this Court, respondents No. 1 & 2 proceeded to create a category of candidates which actually was a step even beyond the NRI sponsored candidates. In a blatant act of total violation and disobedience of the judgment of this Court, respondents No. 1 & 2 went whole hog in creating a situation whereby by creating a category of Ordinary Indians under the of NRI candidates it simply created a devious mechanism of selling seats on commercial basis, that too perhaps in a clandestine manner. Let us notice the facts now"

11. It is seen that in Abhinav Verma's case supra, admission in medical college was granted to the private respondents, who had applied for seeking admission to the course, as general category candidates and also from the NRI as well as NRI sponsored categories. The Division Bench had noticed with all anguish and pain that in total violation of an earlier judgment delivered by a Division Bench of this Court on 1.6.2006 in CWP No.432 of 2006, an NRI sponsored candidates category was created. It was observed that to grant admission to an NRI sponsored candidate would tantamount to selling admission on commercial basis at the cost of the meritorious candidates. The admission to the private respondents in that case, who were ordinarily residing in India and had claimed themselves NRI sponsored candidates, was therefore, quashed.

12. The petitioner herein is also a similarly situate person to that private respondents in Abhinav Verma's case supra, because he is not a non-resident Indian, residing in abroad and rather permanent resident of village Alipur, Tehsil and District Roop Nagar, Punjab. He has qualified for All India Senior Secondary School Certificate examination in the year 2014 from Central Board of Secondary Education, Delhi. Merely that his maternal uncle Shri Devinder Karray is a non-resident Indian, residing in USA and ready to bear all educational expenses qua education of petitioner cannot be taken to determine the eligibility of the petitioner for being considered from NRI category. As a mater of fact, only a candidate belonging to India, however, residing in abroad and having studied there alone, is eligible for being considered against the seat reserved for NRI category.

13. The petitioner was not found eligible as he did not produce the photocopy of his Passport and also the certificate to show that he belongs to NRI category and rightly so, as he is not residing in abroad. He even cannot be termed to be ward of an NRI for the reason that no deed could be produced by the petitioner showing that he was adopted by said Shri Devinder Karray in accordance with law. The petitioner as such has rightly been refused admission to the course by the respondent-University.

14. This Court in Abhinav Verma's case supra has declared granting admission to a candidate ordinarily residing in India having no link or connection with NRIs, except for that their relations were residing in abroad, in complete departure to the merit in the entrance test not only being violative of the judgment of the Apex Court in P.A. Inamdar and others Vs. State of Maharashtra and others, 2005(6) SCC 517, referred to in para supra but also that of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. This part of the judgment reads as follows:

> "Ultimately, it was decided to grant admissions to respondents No. 3 & 4 in the NRI category, treating them as belonging to para 9 (ii) and (iii) supra. Apart from the fact that the aforesaid action of respondents No. 1 & 2 clearly tantamounts to violating and breaching the judgment of this Court dated 1st June, 2006, passed in CWP No. 432 of 2006 which having assumed finality in law was binding upon respondents No. 1 & 2 and everyone else in the State of Himachal Pradesh, by creating the aforesaid category of so called NRI sponsored candidates, respondents No. 1 & 2 have violated the mandate contained in the Supreme Court judgment in the case of P.A.Inamdar and others vs. State of Maharashtra and others (supra) as well as Article 14 of the Constitution of India because the merit in the entrance test has been given a complete go bye and seats have been sold on commercial basis to such students who were, pure and simple, ordinary, resident Indians residing in India and who had no link or connection with NRIs except perhaps that their relations were residing abroad who also might have financed their admissions in India. Actually, we are not sure about the source of funding also. The fact remains that two seats in MBBS course in the Medical Colleges of Himachal Pradesh, both the Colleges belonging to the State Government were allotted purely on commercial basis even though a large number of candidates superior and higher in merit than respondents No. 3 & 4 could not be admitted only because perhaps they could not afford to pay the exorbitant amount which respondents No. 3 & 4 were and are ready and willing to pay.
> Under the cloak of either "NRI candidates" or "NRI sponsored candidates", a devious method has been adopted for granting admission to normal, ordinarily residing Indians on payment of charges being equivalent to and which are fixed and prescribed for NRI students. Normal ordinarily resident Indians cannot be equated with NRI students who constitute a different category altogether and who deserve to be treated differently.

The aforesaid action of respondents No. 1 & 2 is patently unconstitutional as well as illegal, violating the judgment of this Court, the mandate of the Supreme Court in the case of P.A. Inam Dass vs. State of Maharashtra (supra), as well as Article 14 of the Constitution of India. This action of respondents No. 1 & 2 accordingly is quashed and set aside with all consequences with a clear and binding direction upon respondents No. 1 & 2 to be absolutely careful in future while drawing up the list of categories for admission in the Colleges.

Admissions granted to respondents No. 3 & 4 accordingly are hereby quashed and set aside with all consequences."

15. In view of the ratio of the judgment hereinabove, the respondent-University has rightly refused to consider the candidature of the petitioner for admission against the seats reserved for NRI category, because to do so would certainly be in violation of the judgment of this Court in Abhinav Verma's case supra.

16. The submission that a seat under B. V. Sc. and AH programme is still available and that as a special case and by way of indulgence, the respondent-University may be directed to grant admission to the petitioner against the said seat cannot be accepted for the reason that to do so would be nothing, but merely a misplaced sympathy which has no place in law. Above all, allowing the petitioner to be admitted against the available seat would also amount to selling admission, which in terms of the judgment in Abhinav Verma's case supra, is not legally permissible.

17. We are not oblivious to the fact that one seat meant for the NRI category would go waste and feel that there should have been provision in the prospectus to divert the seat meant for this category or for that matter the category of foreign nationals in favour of the candidates, belonging to general/reserved category(s), who are next in merit, of course subject to their agreeing to pay the requisite admission fee and other charges throughout at par the candidates belonging to NRI category and the category of foreign nationals. Although we are not issuing any direction in this regard, yet leave it open to the respondent-University to consider this aspect of the matter and chalk out the possibility of diverting the seat(s), if left vacant, after the admission as per the time schedule under various programmes is over, to other category(s), of course having regard to the merits and on fulfillment of the eligibility criteria by the candidate(s) to be considered for admission against such seat(s).

18. With the observations hereinabove, the writ petition is dismissed. Pending application(s), if any, shall also stand disposed of.

For the Respondents:	Mr. R.M. Bisht, Addl. AG., and Mr.Puneet Rajta, Dy. AG., for the respondent-State and Mr.Rahul Mahajan, Advocate, for respondent No.2 in RFA No.687 of 2011

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sanjay Karol, J.

For public purpose, namely, construction of Una-Talwara railway line, land belonging to the claimants came to be acquired with the publication of Notification dated 31.10.2000, under Section 4 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (hereinafter referred to as the Act). The Collector Land Acquisition, in terms of award dated 04.12.2001, No. 24, determined the market value of the acquired land ranging from Rs.640/- to Rs.24005/- depending upon the various category of land. In all, 0-94-93 hectares of land, came to be acquired.

2. Aggrieved thereof, claimants filed land reference petitions under Section 18 of the Act, seeking re-determination of the market value of the acquired land, which stand decided in terms of impugned award dated 26.07.2011, passed by Additional District Judge, Una, District Una, H.P., in Land Reference No.58 of 2009, titled as Prakash Chand through LRs and others Versus The Land Acquisition Collector, Railways, Una & another, alongwith connected reference petitions, in terms whereof, the market value of the acquired land stands re-determined @ Rs.76,000/- per Kanal, irrespective of the classification and category of land.

3. Both the beneficiary and the claimants are aggrieved of the impugned award.

4. To establish their respective claims, both the claimants and the beneficiary examined one witness each. In support of their claim, claimants have produced on record sale deeds (Ex.P-1 to Ex.P-4) and award dated 27.02.2010 (Ex.P-13) pertaining to Land Reference No.19 of 2005, titled as Bhagat Ram Versus LAC & others, whereby land came to be acquired in Revenue Estate Basal, wherein the market value came to be re-determined at Rs.75,000/- per Kanal, irrespective of its classification.

5. On the other hand, beneficiary has placed on record sale deeds (Ex.R-1 to Ex.R-3).

6. Now if one peruses the sale deeds produced on record by the beneficiary as also the claimants, one finds that they are not reflective of the true and correct market value of the prices prevalent at the time of initiation of the acquisition proceedings. Sale deeds (Ex.P-1 & Ex.P-3) pertain to the years 1992 and 1998. Whereas, sale deeds Ex.P-2 and Ex.P-4 pertain to the years 2001 and 2000. In terms of the later sale deed, small chunk of land came to be sold for a sum of Rs.50,000/- to Rs.60,000/-. On the other hand, sale deeds (Ex.R-1 to Ex.R-3) also pertain to small chunk of land, whereby land came to be sold for a sum of Rs.5,000/- to 10,000/, prior to initiation of the acquisition proceedings. There is nothing on record to establish the proximity and similarity of the acquired land with that of the exemplar sale deeds.

7. The question which needs to be considered is as to whether the awards need to be interfered, on the asking of either of the parties or not? Having heard learned counsel for the parties as also perused the record, Court is of the considered view, that the re-determination of the market value of the acquired land is absolutely just, fair and reasonable.

8. It is not in dispute before this Court, as is also evident from the material placed on record, that the entire acquired land stood fully utilized for the public purpose. Railway line stood constructed over the entire acquired land.

9. Now it is a settled principle of law that if the entire land is put for a public use and no area is left out for carrying out any developmental activity, then the claimants are entitled for compensation for the entire acquired land, at uniform rates, regardless of its categorization.

10. Further, in Nelson Fernades vs. Special Land Acquisition Officer 2007(9) SCC 447 while dealing with the case where the land was acquired for laying a Railway line, the Court held that no deduction by way of development charges was permissible as there was no question of any development thereof.

11. It is a matter of fact that the entire land was put to public purpose. Railway line stood constructed thereupon. It was used for only one purpose and as such there cannot be any error in uniform determination of the market value of the acquired land.

12. Now what is that real market value of the acquired land, the Apex Court has clearly held it to be that which a willing vendor and willing vendee are ready to receive and pay.

13. The market value of a property for the purposes of Section 23 of the Act is the price at which the property changes hands from a willing seller to a willing, but not too anxious a buyer, dealing at arms length. Prices fetched for similar lands with similar advantages and potentialities under bona fide transactions of sale at or about the time of the preliminary notification are the usual and, indeed the best evidences of market value. {Mehta Ravindrarai Ajitrai (Deceased) through his Heirs and LRs. and Others v. State of Gujarat (1989) 4 SCC 250, Nelson Fernandes & Ors. v. Special Land Acquisition Officer, South Goa & Ors. (2007) 9 SCC 447}.

14. The market value is the price that a willing purchaser would pay to a willing seller for the property having due regard to its existing condition with all its existing advantages and its potential possibilities when led out in most advantageous manner, excluding any advantage due to carrying out of the scheme for which the property is compulsorily acquired. In considering market value disinclination of the vendor to part with his land and the urgent necessity of the purchaser to buy should be disregarded. The question whether a land has potential value or not, is primarily one of fact depending upon its condition, situation, user to which it is put or is reasonably capable of being put and proximity to residential, commercial or industrial areas or institutions. The existing amenities like, water, electricity, possibility of their further extension, whether near about Town is developing or has prospect of development have to be taken into consideration. (Atma Singh and others v. State of Haryana and another (2008) 2 SCC 568).

15. In Union of India v. Pramod Gupta (Dead) by LRs. & Ors. [(2005) 12 SCC 1], the Apex Court held that the best method, as is well-known, would be the amount which a willing purchaser would pay to the owner of the land. In absence of any direct evidence, the court, however, may take recourse to various other known methods. Evidence admissible therefor inter alia would be judgments and awards passed in respect of acquisitions of lands made in the same village and/or neighbouring villages. Such a judgment and award in the absence of any other evidence like deed of sale, report of the expert and other relevant evidence would have only evidentiary value.

16. In Suresh Kumar v. Town Improvement Trust, Bhopal [(1989) 2 SCC 329], the Apex Court has held that while determining the market value of the land acquired, it has to be correctly determined and paid so that there is neither unjust enrichment on the part of the acquirer nor undue deprivation on the part of the owner.

17. Significantly the Court below itself re-determined the market value by referring to and relying upon the award dated 27.09.2010, passed in Land Reference No.43/2008, titled as Sita Ram & others Versus LAC and another.

18. What is important is that the said award pertains to the very same Up-Mohal i.e. Thakurdwara/Basal, whereby the land in question also came to be acquired for the very same public purpose. This award was placed by the parties on the file of the Court below. The similarity of the acquired land with that of the land acquired in terms of the said award as also its potentiality with regard to its use and nature was never disputed before the Court below. As such, Court below rightly re-determined the market value by seeking reliance thereupon. The potentiality and the advantage of the acquired land with that of the exemplar award was never disputed. To this extent no factual error can be highlighted even before this Court. As such, impugned award cannot be said to be erroneous, perverse or illegal, warranting interference by this Court.

19. In Periyar and Pareekanni Rubbers Ltd. Versus State of Kerala, (1991) 4 SCC 195, Apex Court has clarified that onus to establish the money spent or damage caused to the property is on the owner, which in the instant case has not been established by any means. What is the effect of that severance of land also remains un-established. How and in what manner the productivity of their land stands diminished, remains un-disclosed. As such, on this count no claim for award of compensation is sustainable. In this view of the fact, it is held that though the reasoning adopted by the Court below, on other points, is unsustainable in law, but nonetheless the amount re-determined with respect to the acquired land, irrespective of its classification and category cannot be held to be illegal, erroneous or perverse, warranting interference by this Court. It cannot be said that the market value stands unjustifiably re-determined and that the impugned award is illegal, unfair, unjust or inequitable.

20. The claimants are poor villagers whose land came to be acquired way back in the year 2000. They have been litigating before various Courts for adjudication of their rights. It is high time that all litigation must come to an end at some stage. Poor villagers, who have been deprived of their land have been put to great disadvantage. They are villagers and not businessmen, who can re-invest money in the form of real estate. In some manner or other they stand deprived of their vocation. Hardship caused to them cannot be compensated in terms of money save and except that they get a fair market price.

21. Hence in the given facts and circumstances, no interference is warranted. It cannot be said that the findings returned by the Courts below are perverse, illegal or erroneous. Also no case for enhancement of the market value arises. As such, present appeals stand dismissed, so also pending application(s), if any.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANDEEP SHARMA, J.

O.P. Thakur ...Petitioner.

Versus

The Shimla Municipal Corporation and others ...Respondents.

CWP No. 2117 of 2016
Decided on: 01.09.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Writ petition was filed for quashing the order passed by the District Consumer Disputes Redressal Forum, Shimla- held, that Consumer Protection Act, 1986 contains the mechanism to deal with the complaints – it also provides mechanism for filing an appeal against the order of District Consumer Disputes Redressal Forum- petitioner has an alternative and efficacious remedy of filing an appeal- petition dismissed with liberty to file an appeal in accordance with law. (Para-2 to 11)

For the petitioner: Mr. Sameer Thakur, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Hamender Chandel, Advocate, for respondent No. 1.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

By the medium of this writ petition, the petitioner has sought quashment of order, dated 8th March, 2016 (Annexure P-1) made by the District Consumer Disputes Redressal Forum, Shimla (H.P.) (for short "the District Forum") in Complaint No. 279 of 2013, titled as O.P. Thakur versus The Shimla Municipal Corporation and another, whereby the complaint filed by the petitioner came to be dismissed (for short "the impugned order").

2. It is a moot question – whether the writ petition is maintainable?

3. The writ petition, on the face of it, is not maintainable for the following reasons:

4. The petitioner filed a complaint before the District Forum. The respondents appeared, resisted the complaint and order was made by the District Forum, which is subject matter of the writ petition in hand.

5. It is apt to record herein that The Consumer Protection Act, 1986 (for short "the Act") contains the mechanism how to deal with the complaints. Section 15 of the Act provides appeal against the orders of District Forum passed in terms of Section 14 of the Act.

6. The words 'an order' have been used in Section 15 of the Act. Meaning thereby, any order passed by the District Forum is appealable before the Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission (for short "State Commission"). Thus, the petitioner has an alternative and efficacious remedy available in terms of Section 15 of the Act, which he has not availed so far, but, has chosen to come to this Court perhaps on the ground that the District Forum has not followed the mechanism contained in the Act and has committed procedural irregularities. All these questions are to be gone into by the Appellate Authority, i.e. the State Commission, and not by the Writ Court.

7. In view of the above, we deem it proper to dispose of this writ petition by providing that the petitioner is at liberty to file an appeal before the Appellate Authority in terms of Section 15 of the Act.

8. At this stage, it is stated that limitation will come in the way of the petitioner in filing the appeal. Keeping in view the facts of the case read with the fact that the petitioner is a senior citizen, we deem it proper to condone the delay in filing the appeal before the Appellate Authority. The petitioner is at liberty to file the appeal within two weeks.

9. Mr. Hamender Chandel, learned counsel appearing on behalf of respondent No. 1, stated at the Bar that respondent-Corporation will appear before the Appellate Authority. His statement is taken on record.

10. The petitioner to furnish copy of the appeal alongwith all documents to the respondents enabling them to appear on the date of presentation of the appeal.

11. The State Commission is requested that in case appeal is filed, the same be decided as early as possible, preferably within four weeks from the date the respondents cause appearance.

12. The writ petition is disposed of accordingly alongwith all pending applications.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 311- Petitioner and her husband approached respondent for providing financial assistance of Rs. 2 lacs- petitioner issued a cheque of Rs. 2 lacs, which was dishonoured by the Bank- a legal notice was issued but the amount was not paid- complaint was filed- an application was filed by the respondent for placing on record certified copy of notice and postal receipt exhibited in other complaint- application was allowed by the trial Court- aggrieved from the order, present petition was filed- held, that respondent had dispatched two legal notices - one to the petitioner and other to R- inadvertently, notice issued to R was placed on record of present complaint along with postal receipt – notice which was issued to the petitioner was placed on record of other complaint filed against R- notices were not placed on record inadvertently - there is no illegality in the order passed by the trial Court- there is no merit in the petition and the same is dismissed. (Para-2 to 4)

For the petitioner: Mr. O.C.Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondent: Nemo.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Justice Rajiv Sharma, J.

The petitioner has sought setting aside and quashing of summoning order dated 16.3.2013 rendered in complaint No. 50/3 of 2013 (RBT No. 147/3 of 2015), pending before the learned Judicial Magistrate Ist Class, Kasauli and all other consequential orders.

2. "Key facts" necessary for the adjudication of this petition are that the respondent had cordial and family relations with the petitioner and out of the relationship, the petitioner along with her husband approached him and requested to provide her financial assistance to the tune of Rs. 2,00,000/-. The petitioner issued cheque of Rs. 2,00,000/- bearing No. 011605 dated 10.10.2012 drawn on Bhagat Urban Cooperative Bank Ltd. Chambaghat. The respondent presented the cheque for its encashment through his banker i.e. Central Bank of India, Dharampur Branch. The banker of the respondent sent the same for its collection to the drawee bank but to the utter surprise the cheque was dishonoured by the drawee bank and returned the same as unpaid. The respondent issued a legal notice dated 28.1.2013 to the petitioner which was sent through registered post. Thereafter, the respondent filed complaint under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act on 13.3.2013 against the petitioner. The preliminary evidence of the respondent was recorded on 16.3.2013 in complaint No. 50/3 of 2013 (RBT No. 147/3 of 2015). The summons were issued to the petitioner vide order dated 16.3.2013. The trial Court put notice of accusation to the petitioner on 12.5.2015. She pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

The evidence of the respondent was recorded by the learned trial Court on 10.7.2015. The respondent filed an application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. in the Court of learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Solan for placing on record certified copy of notice and postal receipts as exhibited in complaint No. 49/3 of 2013, titled as Kamal Dev vs. Rajinder. The reply to the application was filed by the petitioner. Application bearing No. 181/4 of 2016 was allowed by the learned trial Court on 13.6.2016.

3. It is apparent from the record that respondent infact has dispatched two legal notices on the same date, one to the petitioner and other to Rajinder Sharma. These were dispatched on 30.1.2013 against postal receipts. However, inadvertently, the notice which was issued to Rajinder Sharma has been placed along with its postal receipt in complaint i.e. complaint No. 50/3 of 2013 (RBT No. 147/3 of 2015). Similarly, in the complaint instituted against the husband of the petitioner, namely, Rajinder Sharma, bearing case No. 49/3 of 2013, the notice which was issued to the present petitioner along with the postal receipt has been annexed.

4. The fact of the matter is that respondent had issued legal notice to the petitioner on 30.1.2013 within the stipulated period. It was only inadvertently that the notice dated 28.1.2013 and receipt which was required to be placed in complaint No. 50/3 of 2013 (RBT No. 147/3 of 2015), was inadvertently placed in complaint No. 49/3 of 2013, titled Kamal Dev vs. Rajinder Sharma. The notice which was required to be placed on record along with the postal receipt in complaint No. 49/3 of 2013 was placed in complaint No. 50/3 of 2013 (RBT No. 147/3 of 2015). Thus, there is no illegality in the order dated 16.3.2013 whereby cognizance was taken by the trial Court, petitioner was summoned in complaint No. 50/3 of 2013 (RBT No. 147/3 of 2015) and notice of accusation was put to the petitioner on 12.5.2015 and order dated 13.9.2016, whereby an application preferred under section 311 Cr.P.C. by the respondent has been allowed.

5. Accordingly, there is no merit in this petition, the same is dismissed so also the pending application(s), if any.

State of H.P. .....Appellant.
Versus
Vijay Singh ....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 4075 of 2013.
Reserved on : 24.06.2016
Date of Decision: 1.09.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 498-A and 306- Deceased was married to the accused- when she was coming on motorcycle with accused, accused pushed her from the motorcycle causing injuries to her- accused used to torture the deceased without any reason - the deceased consumed poison due to maltreatment - accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that parents and brother of the deceased had stated that deceased was residing with them for two months prior to commission of suicide- it was also admitted that they had asked the deceased 5-7 times to compromise the matter- forcing the deceased to compromise the matter could be a possible cause for committing the suicide – it cannot be said with certainty that behaviour of the accused was responsible for the death of the deceased - when two views are possible, the view favourable to the accused has to be preferred- trial Court had taken a reasonable view while acquitting the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-5 to 15)

For the Appellant: Mr. Neeraj K. Sharma, Deputy Advocate General.
For the Respondent: Mr. Rajesh Mandhotra and Ms.Kanta Thakur, Advocates.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge

Respondent has been acquitted vide judgment dated 1.05.2013 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge, in Sessions Case No. 61-1/2010 in Case FIR No. 18/2010 registered under Section 498-A and 306 IPC in Police Station Indora District Kangra H.P. Acquittal of respondent has been assailed by State of H.P. in present appeal.

2. On receiving telephonic information in Police Station Indora from Medical Officer, CHC Indora, PW-11 SI Karam Chand had rushed to CHC Indora after recording the same information in Daily Station Diary vide GD entry No. 31(A) (Ex. PW-5/A), in Police Station Indora.

3. In CHC Indora, PW-1 Kamlesh Kumari mother of deceased made statement (Ex. PW-1/A) under Section 154 Cr.P.C., stating therein that her daughter had married to respondent in the year 2009 and after few months of marriage when her daughter was going with respondent somewhere on motorcycle, respondent had pushed her daughter from motorcycle causing injuries to her daughter and in this matter a case was registered in Police Station Indora. She further stated that respondent had been torturing her daughter without any reason and her daughter had consumed poison due to maltreatment by her husband (respondent). The said statement was sent to Police Station through HHC Chand Lal, upon which FIR PW-7/A was registered by PW-7 ASI Nardev Singh. After endorsement Ex. PW-7/B on the said statement (Ex. PW-11/A) the case file was sent to spot through HHC Chand Lal.

4. An application Ex. PW-4/A was moved by Investigating Officer to Medical Officer for medical examination of deceased and also for recording statement of deceased. However, statement of deceased could not be recorded as deceased was not found fit to make statement. Later on, deceased was referred to Ravi Hospital Pathankot, where she expired on the same day. Postmortem of deceased (Ex. PW-12/B) was conducted by PW-10, Doctor Subhash Thakur and as per his opinion deceased had died because of celphos (alluminium phosphide) poison. After completion of investigation, challan was presented in Court against respondent and he was charge sheeted under Section 498-A and 306 IPC and was acquitted on conclusion of trial.

5. Entire prosecution case hinges upon testimonies of mother PW-1, father PW-2 and brother PW-3 of deceased. All of them deposed that respondent used to torture, beat and abuse deceased and was doubting her character. Once respondent had pushed deceased from running motorcycle resulting into injuries to deceased whereupon a case under Section 498-A IPC was registered vide FIR No. 290 dated 4.11.2009 in Police Station Indora. As per depositions of prosecution witnesses, after that incident deceased was living with her parents and on 7th January, 2010 parents of deceased had called respondent and his parents to Indora for compromise. Respondent and deceased alongwith their parents were present in Indora for re-conciliation and respondent used abusive language raising doubt about character of deceased and also stated that he did not want to keep deceased with him where upon deceased went to tap to drink water but had consumed poisonous substance there. She was immediately taken to CHC Indora and thereafter Ravi Hospital Pathankot where she expired in the evening.

6. PW-1 Kamlesh Kumari, PW-2 Lal Singh and PW-3 Dalip Kumar admitted that deceased was living with them since about two months prior to 7th January, 2010. FIR Ex. PW-7/A with regard to incident of pushing deceased from motorcycle was lodged on 4th November, 2009. Meaning thereby that deceased was living with her parents since lodging of said FIR under Section 498-A IPC. Therefore after 4.11.2009 there was no occasions for fresh occurrence of harassing or maltreating deceased by respondent subjecting her to cruelty to attract provisions Section 498–A. Case in FIR No. 290 of 2009 (Ex. PW-7/A) registered in Police Station, Indora was to be decided on its own merit.

7. For attracting provisions of 306 IPC prosecution had to establish that act of respondent was so directed, co-related and proximate with the act of suicide that it could be safely inferred that deceased had committed suicide only on account such act committed on the part of respondent. Mere abuse or indecent behaviour of respondent towards deceased could not be considered that respondent had committed offence under Section 306 IPC.

8. Parents and brother of deceased stated that deceased was residing with them since last two months before committing suicide and they had decided to compromise the matter and had asked deceased to compromise with family of respondent and therefore, they had called family of respondent to Indora. PW-1 Kamlesh Kumari had admitted that she had been asking deceased for compromise but had denied that she had been forcing deceased for compromise. PW-2 Lal Singh had also admitted that during stay of deceased with him he had asked her for 5-7 times to compromise the matter. However, PW-3 had denied that he had been asking his sister for compromise.

9. PW-1 stated that they had reached Indora Tehsil at 1.00 PM and at that time parents of respondent were present there. However, in later part of cross examination she stated that parents of respondent had come to their house wherefrom they had gone together to Indora in one vehicle brought by parents of respondent. She had admitted that deceased had consumed poison within 10 minutes after their arrival at Indora. PW-3 had also admitted the said fact in his cross examination.

10. In cross examination PW-2 had denied to have checked bag of his daughter, finding celphos tablets in that bag and taking into possession of those tablets whereas it was so mentioned in his statement recorded by police under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

11. PW-4 Doctor Satish Pal had conducted medical examination of the deceased in CHC Indora. In his cross examination he had admitted that relatives of patient had shown and handed over him poisonous substance which was celphos. All these facts indicated that deceased had already having celphos with her with predetermined mind to commit suicide. She was living with her parents since last two months and was not inclined to commit suicide but to fight but on the date when both families had decided to sit together for re-conciliation, she was carrying celphos with her and within 10 minutes of meeting of families she had consumed poison.

12. Question of asking deceased to compromise for 5-7 times had arisen only of parents of deceased were insisting for compromise whereas deceased was not agreeing to reconcile. Forcing deceased to compromise with respondent and his family could also be reason for committing suicide.

13. In these circumstances, it cannot be said with certainty that it was behaviour of respondent or pressure of parents to reconcile the matter with respondent which forced deceased to consume poison.

14. From testimonies of prosecution witnesses there were two possible reasons for committing suicide by deceased. Having such evidence on record it cannot be said that it was only respondent who was responsible for committing suicide by deceased. It is well settled law when two views were possible, the view favourable to the accused was to be preferred. Possibility of another reason for committing suicide by deceased is fatal for prosecution case. Therefore, it cannot be said that prosecution has been able to prove guilt of respondent beyond all reasonable doubts.

15. Respondent has been acquitted by trial Court. From perusal and scrutiny of evidence, it cannot be said that trial court has not appreciated evidence correctly and completely and acquittal of accused has resulted into travesty of justice or has caused miscarriage of justice.

16. After considering arguments of respective counsel for the parties and minutely examining the testimonies of the witnesses and other documentary evidence placed on record, we are of the considered view that no case for interference is made out.

17. The present appeal, devoid of any merit, is dismissed, as also pending applications, if any. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged. Records of the Court below be immediately sent back.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE CHANDER BHUSAN BAROWALIA, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh and Ors. .....Petitioners.
Versus
Padma Youdan. .....Respondent.

CWP No. 1684 of 2015
Reserved on: 24.08.2016
Decided on: 01.09.2016

Industrial Disputes Act, 1947- Section 25- Respondent filed a claim petition before the Labour Court contending that she was engaged on muster roll /daily wage basis in the month of May, 1999 and was working as such till 31.10.1999- her services were terminated orally – matter was referred to Labour Court, which directed the continuation of service with all consequential benefits, except back-wages- it was further directed that she be considered for regularization as per policy of the State Government- held, that there is no illegality or perversity in the award passed by the Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal – petition dismissed. (Para-7 to 10)

For the petitioners: Mr. Virender K. Verma, Addl. Advocate General, with Mr. Pushpinder Jaswal, Dy. Advocate General.
For the respondent: Mr. Rahul Mahajan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Chander Bhusan Barowalia, Judge.

The present petition is maintained by the petitioner/State laying challenge to the award of learned Labour Court-Cum-Industrial Tribunal, Kangra at Dharamshala, camp at Kaza, Lahaul Spiti, H.P., passed in Reference No. 129 of 2013, decided on 22.09.2014, whereby the claim petition of the respondent herein, Smt. Padma Youdan, who is petitioner before the learned Tribunal, was allowed.

2. Briefly stating facts giving rise to the present petition are that respondent, Smt. Padma Youdan, maintained the claim petition before the learned Labour Court contending that she was engaged on muster roll/daily wage basis in the in the month of May, 1988 by respondent No. 2 and with fictional breaks she worked with the said respondent upto 31.10.2009. She could not complete 160 days in a calendar year and ultimately on 01.11.2009, her services were terminated by way of verbal orders. Thereafter, when the dispute was raised and the conciliation took place before the Conciliation Officer, the matter was referred by the State Government to the learned Labour Court. However, as the reference was not proper, the same was withdrawn and again fresh demand notice was issued by the petitioner on 07.05.2012 and reference was again made. As per the claimant, her services were terminated again in 2010 and she was not allowed to complete 160 days in a calendar year, as she was given fictional breaks, thereby the respondents have violated the mandate of Section 25-B of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act'). It is further alleged by the claimant that respondent/department has also violated the principle of 'last come first go', as juniors to the claimant have been retained without giving them any breaks and the same is in utter violence of Sections 25-G and 25-H of the Act. The respondent has terminated the services of claimant for the reason of fictional breaks. It is further alleged that the claimant has continuously worked w.e.f. May, 1998 to 2007 and thus completed ten years. Therefore, as per the Mool Raj Upadhaya's case the claimant has right to be regularized as work charge beldar from 01.01.2008 when her juniors were regularized. It is further alleged that the breaks given to the claimant amounts to unfair labour practice under Section 2(ra) of the Act, so the claimant also prays for setting aside the fictional breaks given to her.

3. The respondent, by way of filing reply to the reference petition, took preliminary objections qua delay and cause of action. As per the respondent before the learned Labour Court, the claimant is still in service and she has not been disengaged. On merits it is submitted that claimant was engaged in May, 1998, on daily wage basis. As per the respondents, the claimant was engaged in tribal area of Spiti Sub Division, which is snow bound for six months. Due to this, the respondent/department could not provide any work to the petitioner during the whole year. Furthermore, the claimant was habitual absentee from duty at her own will, therefore, she could not complete 160 days in a calendar year. The respondent has denied that any fictional breaks were given to the claimant and her juniors have been regularized. Lastly, the respondent prayed for rejection of the claim of the claimant.

4. The learned Tribunal below has framed the following issues for determination:

"1. Whether time to time termination of the services of the petitioner/giving breaks in service to the petitioner by the respondent during the year 2000 to 2010 is/was illegal and unjustified as alleged? OPP

2. Whether the final termination of services of the petitioner by the respondent in the year 2011 is/was illegal and unjustified as alleged? OPP

3. Whether the petitioner has a cause of action? OPR

4. Whether the claim petitioner is not maintainable in the present form? OPR

5. Whether the petition is hit by the vice of delay and laches as alleged. If so, its effect? OPR

6. Whether the claim petition is premature and has become infructuous as alleged. If so, its effect? OPR

7. Whether the petitioner has not come to the Court with clean hands as alleged. If so, its effect? OPR

8. Relief."

After deciding Issue No. 1 in favour of the petitioner herein (claimant before the learned Labour Court below), Issue No. 2 against the petitioner and held that no fictional breaks were granted. Issues No. 3 to 7 were decided against the respondent/State, and the reference was answered by holding that the claimant is in continuous service of the respondent with all consequential benefits, except back-wages and she was to be considered for regularization from the time her juniors were regularized, as per the Policy framed by the State Government.

5. No reply to the writ petition was filed by the respondent.

6. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the record carefully.

7. PW-1 (petitioner) by filing her affidavit, Ext. PW-1/A, in her examination-in-chief, has re-asserted the facts averred in the claim petition. She has also filed letter, Ext. PW-1/B, whereby the Government took a decision that the daily wagers should be given full work for full months and their fictional breaks are not considered by the Courts and they are deemed to be in continuous employment on daily wage basis. PW-1 in her cross-examination, has denied that she used to remain absent occasionally and due to this, she could not complete 160 days in a year.

8. On the other hand, petitioner/State examined Shri Sanjeev Kumar Sharma, Executive Engineer, I&PH Division, Kaza, who also filed his affidavit, Ext. RW-1/A, wherein the contents of the reply filed before the learned Labour Court were re-asserted. This witness, in his cross-examination, has admitted that no appointment letter to the respondent herein, as daily wagers, was issued, as no practice was prevalent during that time. He has admitted that the respondent (claimant) was not given any work from November to May. This witness has also admitted mandays chart, Ext. PX. This witness has also brought on record the seniority list of work charged Class IV Beldars, which is Ext. RW-1/G. He has further testified that employees at serial No. 57 to 60 were employed after the year 1998 and they have been regularized. This witness has further deposed that no notice was issued to the respondent when she did not come for work.

9. Learned Additional Advocate General, for the petitioner has argued that the award passed by the learned Labour Court is not justified and the same may be set aside. On the other hand, learned counsel for the respondent has relied upon the judgment rendered by this Hon'ble High Court In CWP No. 1681 of 2015, titled as State of Himachal Pradesh Vs. Smt. Chhering Butith, decided on 15.06.2016, text whereof is reproduced hereinbelow in extenso:

> "Mr. R.M. Bisht, learned Additional Advocate General is right to the extent that directions issued by the Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal, Kangra at Dharamshala, H.P., Camp at Kaza, Lahaul & Spiti, in terms of award dated 22.09.2014, in Reference No.131/2013, titled as Smt. Chhering Butith Versus The Executive Engineer, with regard to regularization of the workman employee, more so, in the light of lack of any reference thereof, are unwarranted. As such, the same are directed to be deleted.
> 2. Insofar as, other submissions with regard to non-maintainability of the petition on account of delay and > laches is concerned, the matter is no longer res integra and in view of law laid down by the Apex Court in Jasmer Singh Versus State of Haryana and another (2015) 4 SCC 458 and Raghubir Singh Versus General Manager, Haryana Roadways, Hissar, (2014) 10 SCC 301, the Tribunal rightly based on the evidence led by the parties, held the petition to be maintainable and to have been filed within reasonable period. Noticeably, reference came to be issued immediately upon the alleged illegal termination of the employee.
>
>
> 3. From the record, it cannot be inferred that the employee willfully/voluntarily abandoned the job which she was performing as a daily wage labourer. The issues, so framed by the Tribunal rightly stand answered in favour of the workman. Noticeably, juniors were retained and the employee had completed more than 160 days of service in the respective calendar year i.e. preceding 12 months prior to the date of the alleged termination.
>
> 4. Petitioner's reinstatement thus cannot be said to be illegal.
> 5. However, insofar as, question of regularization is concerned, needless to add, parties shall be governed by the Policies framed from time to time. The directions in the impugned award to such extent are modified accordingly."

10. In view of what has been discussed hereinabove and applying the law, as cited by the learned counsel for the respondent/claimant, I find no illegality or perversity in the award passed by the learned Labour Court-cum-Industrial Tribunal, Kangra at Dharamshala, camp at Kaza, H.P. Consequently, the petition is devoid of merits and deserves dismissal and is accordingly dismissed.

11. In view of the above, the writ petition, as also pending application(s), if any, shall stand(s) disposed of.

For the appellant:	Mr. V.S. Chauhan, Addl. Advocate General with Mr. Punit Rajta, Deputy Advocate General.
For the respondents:	Mr. Abhay Kaushal, Advocate vice Mr. T.S. Chauhan, Advocate. Mr. Vijay Arora, Advocate, as Amicus Curiae.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, J.:

By way of present appeal, State has challenged the judgment passed by the Court of learned Additional Sessions Judge, Una, in Sessions Case No. 16 of 2005 dated 12.10.2007, vide which, learned trial Court has acquitted accused therein for commission of offence punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 read with Section 34 I.P.C.

2. The case of the prosecution was that deceased Asha Devi was married to accused Jatinder Paul in November, 2003 as per Hindu rites. The relations between husband and wife remained cordial only for four months and thereafter, accused Swarni Devi and Jatinder Paul started beatings and maltreating the deceased for bringing less dowry. Accused often taunted the deceased in this regard and she used to be compared with the wife of the elder brother of accused Jatinder Paul. As per the parents of the deceased, they had given sufficient dowry at the time of the marriage of the deceased. Further, as per the prosecution, two months before her death, deceased was left at her parental house by the accused on the pretext that the accused could not bear the expenses of the delivery of a child by the deceased. In September, 2004, deceased gave birth to a dead child, however, no one came from the side of the accused to meet the deceased. After 1¼ month, son of the complainant left Asha Devi (deceased) in the house of her in-laws. On 04.12.2004 deceased visited the house of her parents and disclosed that her husband was demanding an amount of Rs.50,000/-. Further, as per prosecution, father of the deceased assured Jatinder Paul that he will arrange the said money after selling his land. On the said assurance, deceased returned back to her in-laws house. On 06.12.2004 one Dev Raj received a telephonic call which was thereafter attended to by the son of complainant Kuldeep and as per said telephonic conversation Asha Devi i.e. the deceased requested Kuldeep that five more suits be arranged, which would be in addition to 7 suits already agreed in order to present the same in the marriage of the sister's son of accused Swarni Devi. As per the prosecution story, when this conversation took place, deceased was weeping and some one snatched the phone from her and disconnected the same. On the same night, at about 12.45

A.M., complainant received a message from the police informing her that Asha Devi had died in Civil Hospital Una due to consumption of some poisonous substance. As per the complainant, Asha Devi was beaten and maltreated by the accused persons on the ground of bringing insufficient dowry and it was for this reason that deceased had ended her life by consuming poison. On the basis of complaint which was filed by Smt. Trishla Devi, mother of the deceased, FIR was lodged.

3. After completion of the investigation, challan was presented in the Court and as a prima facie case was found against the accused, accordingly, they were charged for commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 read with Section 34 I.P.C., to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. Complainant entered the witness box as PW-1 and she stated in the Court about the factum of the marriage of the deceased with accused Jatinder Kumar in the year 2003. As per this witness, after 2-3 months of the marriage, the deceased was maltreated by her husband as well as her mother-in-law for want of dowry. This witness further deposed that Asha Devi was left by accused Jatinder at her house i.e. house of PW-1 when Asha was expecting a child in the year 2004. She further deposed that Asha Devi gave birth to a dead female child and thereafter no one visited Asha Devi from her in-laws nor any penny was spent by them on the delivery of Asha Devi. As per this witness, after 40 days of the delivery Kuldeep (brother of the deceased) took the deceased to the house of her in-laws. Deceased came to the house of PW-1 on 04.12.2004 and told that her mother-in-law was demanding Rs.50,000/- and seven suits which were to be given in the marriage of the son of her mother-in-law's sister. This witness further deposed that as they were unable to meet this demand, her daughter went to her in-laws house. On 06.12.2004 she rang her which phone call was attended by her son Kuldeep and she again told that five more suits were again demanded by her in-laws. This witness also stated that her son while hearing the phone felt that someone snatched the phone from the hand of her daughter. She further stated that on 06.12.2004 in the evening they came to know that her daughter had died and phone call was received by them at around 1.00 A.M. in the night. As per this witness, they received telephonic information from the police who told them that her daughter had consumed poison. In her cross-examination, this witness admitted that marriage of the deceased with the accused took place on the mediation of her sister Urmila. She also admitted that at the time of engagement there was no demand of dowry from the side of the in-laws of her daughter. She also admitted that there was no demand of dowry at the time of marriage. She also admitted that the accused (husband of deceased) worked as Halwai at Jallandhar in the marriages. She admitted that after the marriage of her daughter she started living separately from her in-laws. She also admitted it to be correct that as per the custom prevailing, first delivery was to take place in the house of parents of the daughter. She also admitted it to be correct that her daughter was left at her house on her desire i.e. the desire of PW-1. She also admitted it to be correct that her son-in-law had given Rs.20,000/- to her daughter for bearing delivery expenses. She thereafter self stated that her daughter had given the said amount to her and her son-in-law had taken back the said amount after 4-5 days. She admitted it to be correct that on the morning of delivery her son-in-law had brought nurse from Keori Badehra Dispensary to her house. Though she denied the suggestion that her son-in-law remained there for 10-11 days. However, she stated that her son-in-law remained at her house for one night after delivery. This witness was confronted with her statement recorded under Selection 154 Cr.P.C. wherein it was not recorded that the mother-in-law of her daughter had demanded Rs.50,000/- and seven suits for giving the same in the marriage of the son of the sister of the mother-in-law of the deceased. This witness also admitted that after marriage of her daughter, she frequently used to visit her house and PW-1 also used to frequently visit her daughter in the house of her in-laws.

5. Kuldeep Kumar, brother of the deceased, entered the witness box as PW-2. This witness deposed that after the marriage of the deceased with the accused for about 2-3 months the relation of his sister with her in-law remained cordial and thereafter, her in-laws started maltreating her for bringing less dowry. This witness further deposed that on 04.12.2004 his sister came to their house in his absence and when he reached his house, his parents told him that his sister had come and she told that her husband was demanding Rs.50,000/-. He further deposed that on 06.12.2004 in his absence a telephonic call had come in the house of one Yashpal which was attended by said Yashpal. He further stated that thereafter another telephone call was received which was attended by him in which his sister told him that in addition to seven suits already arranged five more suits be arranged and she also asked to arrange money. He also deposed that during the conversation he felt that someone had snatched telephone from his sister and she was weeping. Thereafter, he deposed with regard to the factum of his sister having consumed poison being intimated to them. This witness also stated that information about the death of the deceased was received by that at 12.45 A.M. in the night from the police and on the next day at 6.30 A.M. he alongwith his parents and some other villagers reached at Una hospital and saw dead body of his sister. In his cross-examination, this witness stated that he had not lodged any complaint against the accused to the effect that they were maltreating his sister. He admitted the suggestion that his sister was short tempered. He denied that before delivery his brother-in-law stayed therefore 10-11 days and self stated that he in fact never visited.

6. Yashpal entered the witness box as PW-3 and deposed about the factum of having received telephone calls from Asha Devi on 06.12.2004, However, he expressed his ignorance about the conversation between Asha and Kuldeep. He also deposed that on the fateful night at about 12.45A.M. he had received telephone from the police and police told him that Asha Devi had consumed poison.

7. Dr. N.S. Dogra entered the witness box as PW-4 and deposed that on 07.12.2004 at about 12.10 A.M. Asha Devi was brought to the hospital by her husband with alleged history of consumption of insecticide tablets delphos. The patient was having excessive vomiting and was not responding to verbal commands. This witness further deposed that he issued MLC Ext. PW4/A and the patient was declared dead at 12.40A.M. on the same date.

8. The postmortem of the deceased was conducted by PW-10 Dr. Manoj Kapoor and the postmortem report issued by him is Ext. PW10/A. This witness deposed that in his opinion the death resulted from phosphide poisoning.

9. These are the material witnesses whose testimony will be relevant in order to adjudicate as to whether learned trial Court has erred in acquitting the accused for commission of offences punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 read with Section 34 I.P.C. or not.

10. As we have already stated above, vide its judgment dated 12.10.2007, learned trial Court acquitted the accused by holding that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the fact that the deceased was ever maltreated or harassed by the accused persons for dowry.

11. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the records of the case as well as judgment passed by learned trial Court.

12. It is settled law that because a married woman commits suicide within seven years of marriage of her marriage, presumption under Section 113-A of the Evidence Act would not automatically apply. The mandate of the law is that where a woman commits suicide within seven years of her marriage and it is shown that her husband or any relative of the husband had subjected the deceased to cruelty, then the presumption as defined under Section 498-A I.P.C. may attract having regard to all other circumstances of the case, that such suicide had been abetted by her husband or by such relative of her husband. This presumption according to us is discretionary. As far as the present case is concerned, we have already indicated that the prosecution has not succeeded in showing that there was any dowry demand.

13. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in Madivallappa V. Marabad and others Vs. State of Karnataka, (2014) 12 Supreme Court Cases 448, that in a case where no evidence is adduced to prove any particular act of cruelty or harassment to which the deceased was subjected to and where no complaint was made to the police about any such assault or harassment before the death of the deceased, the conclusion arrived at by the trial Court that the prosecution story was not established beyond reasonable doubt was the correct view.

14. In order to substantiate the charge framed against the accused under Selection 498-A I.P.C. it was incumbent upon the prosecution to have had adduced evidence on record to the effect that the deceased was subjected to cruelty by the accused for want of dowry. In order to prove its case in this regard the prosecution had relied upon the testimony of PW-1 and PW-2. PW-1 is the mother of the deceased and PW-2 is the brother of the deceased. Because both these witnesses are interested witnesses, therefore, their testimony is required to be scrutinized with care and caution. Deposition of these witnesses have already been discussed by us in the above paras of the judgment.

15. It is apparent from the testimony of PW-1 that her deposition in the Court was not in consonance with her statement recorded under Section 154 Cr.P.C. In the statement of the complainant recorded under Section 154 Cr.P.C., this witness inter alia stated that when the deceased was expecting a child then the accused left the deceased in the house of the complainant on the pretext that they cannot bear the expenses of the birth of a child. It is further recorded in her statement under Section 154 Cr.P.C. that in September, 2004 deceased gave birth to a dead child and none of the accused came to see the deceased. She further deposed that on 04.12.2004 Asha Devi came to her house and told her and her husband that accused Jatinder Paul was demanding an amount of Rs.50,000/- to which husband of the complainant stated that they will arrange money after selling the land. It is further recorded in her statement that on 06.12.2004 deceased had made telephonic call in the house of Dev Raj which phone call was attended to by Kuldeep in which deceased stated that five more suits were required for the purposes of marriage of cousin of her husband and she was crying on the phone and at that time someone snatched telephone from her hand. When this witness entered the witness box as PW-1 and deposed on oath, then she stated that on 04.12.2004 the deceased had come to her and stated that it was her mother-in-law who was demanding Rs.50,000/- alongwith 7 suits and when they showed inability, her daughter went back. Now a perusal of the cross-examination of this witness demonstrates that she has admitted it to be correct that neither at time of engagement nor at the time of marriage any dowry was demanded by the accused. She has admitted it to be correct that deceased came to her house at the time when she was expecting a child because of the custom and on her asking. She has also admitted it to be correct that husband of the deceased had paid her an amount of Rs.20,000/- to bear the expenses of the child and on the date of the delivery he had also brought nurse and had also stayed back. This demonstrates that besides improvements which have been made by the said witness in her statement, there are also contradictions in the two statements and in her cross-examination, the defence was able to impinge the credibility of the said witness because the alleged incidents of the cruelty meted out by the accused to the deceased have not been substantiated at all.

16. Similarly, testimony of PW-2 also demonstrates that the factum of Rs.50,000/- having been demanded by the accused from the deceased on 04.12.2004 is hearsay as far as he is concerned. Not only this, in his cross-examination, this witness admitted that his sister was short tempered. Whereas PW-1 admitted in her cross-examination that when deceased gave birth to dead child her husband had brought nurse and had also stayed back for one day, however, PW-2 in his testimony has stated that the husband of the deceased or the accused never visited the deceased when she had given birth to a dead child.

17. In our considered view, the contradictions and inconsistencies in the statements of PW-1 and PW-2, who happen to be the mother and brother of the deceased, raise a serous doubt over the credibility of the story of the prosecution. It is apparent from their testimony that at no stage the factum of deceased being allegedly maltreated by the accused for want of dowry was ever reported by them to anyone. Therefore, the allegation of the deceased having been maltreated and subjected to cruelty by the accused for demand of dowry has not been at all substantiated by the prosecution.

18. It has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sangara Bonia Sreen Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh*,*1997 (5) Supreme Court Cases 348, that the basic ingredients of offence under Section 306 are (a) suicidal death and (b) abetment thereof. In order to attract the ingredients of abetment the intention of the accused to aid or instigate or abet the deceased to commit suicide is necessary. In order to substantiate the charge under Section 306 I.P.C., it has to be established that the death by commission of suicide was desired object of the abettors and with that in view they must have instigated, goaded, urged or encouraged the victim in commission of suicide. The instigation may be by provoking or inciting the person to commit suicide and this instigation may be gathered by positives acts done by the abettors or by omission in the doing of a thing. Thus, the acts or omission committed by the abettors immediately before the commission of suicide are vital. In the present case, the prosecution was not able to substantiate any of the above ingredients. The prosecution could not prove any act of provocation or incitement or omission or commission on the part of the accused, vide which they had instigated the deceased to commit suicide. The prosecution has not been able to establish any intention of the accused to aid or instigate or abet the deceased to commit suicide. Therefore, it cannot be said that the judgment passed by learned Trial Court whereby the accused have been acquitted is either perverse or the acquittal of the accused by the learned Trial Court has amounted to travesty of justice.

19. Therefore, we conclude by holding that prosecution has failed to establish beyond reasonable doubt that the accused were guilty of the offences alleged against them. We have also gone through the judgment passed by the learned trial Court at length. Learned trial Court after due deliberation and due application of mind has come to the conclusion that the prosecution could not bring home the guilt against the accused persons beyond reasonable doubt. We find no reason to disagree with the said conclusion arrived at by learned trial Court. According to us also, accused persons are entitled to the benefit of doubt as the prosecution has failed to prove beyond reasonable doubt the guilt of the accused. Therefore, we uphold the findings recorded by the learned trial Court and the appeal is accordingly dismissed. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged.

20. We place on record our appreciation for the assistance rendered to the Court by learned Amicus Curiae in the adjudication of the present case.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE RAJIV SHARMA, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Appellant

Versus

Kishori Lal ...Respondent

Criminal Appeal No. 201 of 2016
Judgment reserved on: 12.05.2016
Date of Decision: 01.09.2016

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Police party was on patrolling duty- accused got frightened on seeing the police party and went to the toilet- he was apprehended and his search was conducted - 1.2 kg. charas was recovered from his possession- accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held in appeal, mere fact that investigation was conducted by the complainant is not sufficient to doubt the prosecution version- independent witnesses were associated but they did not support the prosecution version- it was suggested that there was enmity between the I.O. and the accused, but this fact was not established- no prejudice was caused by non-production of the seal and malkhana register to show that case property was taken to the Court- however, testimonies of police officials were contradictory – Trial Court had rightly held that prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal dismissed. For the appellant : Mr. M. A. Khan, Additional Advocate General.
For the respondent : None.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge.

The appellant-State has assailed acquittal of the respondent by filing present appeal challenging judgment dated 29.12.2015 passed in Sessions Trial No. 10 of 2015 by Special Judge, Chamba, Division Chamba, H.P. in case FIR No. 14 of 2015 dated 25.01.2015 registered under Section 20 of the of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 registered in Police Station Dalhousie, District Chamba, HP.

2. As per prosecution case, on 24.01.2015, Police Party consisting of Head Constable Kartar Singh HC Inder Singh, HHC Pritam Singh and HHC Mehar Singh had left Police Post Banikhet for patrolling at about 9.40 PM. In Banikhet Market they were talking with PW-1 Arun Kumar Rana and PW-10 Parth Sharma. At that time respondent had come from Bus Stand side, who on seeing police party, had frightened and gone to toilet at Bus Stand Banikhet but not come out for 7 minutes, therefore, he was called by HC. Kartar Singh. His name and address was inquired and after complying with provision of law his Pithu bag was checked from which 1.20 Kgs. charas was recovered. After completion of investigation challan was put in the Court. On conclusion of trial respondent was acquitted by trial Court.

3. We have heard learned Additional Advocate General and have gone through the record made available by him.

4. Acquitted of respondent by trial court is based on various grounds. Though we find that no interference is warranted in acquittal of respondent for reasons stated hereinafter however there are certain findings of trial court which are required to be interfered and/or clarified.

5. Learned trial Court has relied upon case 'State of H.P. Vs. Hanacho alias Stewert Latest HLJ 2004(HP) (DB) 642 in which joining of independent witness was considered to be necessary to ensure fairness in conducting search and to corroborate version of searching officer about search and seizure. This judgment was not applicable in present case as in this case two independent witnesses PW-1 Arun Kumar Rana and PW-10 Parth Sharma were associated by Investigating Officer. It is separate issue that when independent witnesses do not support or desist from lending support to prosecution case, then it will attract fairness of investigation or not.

6. Learned trial Court relying upon judgment passed in case Bhagwan Singh versus State of Rajasthan reported in AIR 1976 S.C. 985 and judgment passed by this Court in case State of H.P. versus Shesh Ram reported in 2015(2) Him.L.R. (DB) 720 has held that grave miscarriage of justice has been caused to the accused in present case when entire material investigation was conducted by complainant HC Kartar Singh, himself. Learned trial Court has failed to take note of latest ratio of law on this point laid down by the Apex Court in cases State versus V. Jayapaul reported in (2004) 5 SCC 223, S. Jeevanantham versus Sate reported in (2004) (5) SCC 230, Bhaskar Ramappa Madar and others versus State of Karnataka reported in (2009) 11 SCC 690 and Vinod Kumar versus State of Punjab reported in (2015) 3 SCC 220.

7. Apex Court after distinguishing Bhagwan Singh's Case(AIR 1976 SC 985) referred mentioned supra alongwith another case titled as Megha Singh versus State of Haryana (1996) 11 SCC 709 in case titled as State versus V.Jayapaul reported in (2004) 5 SCC 223 has held as under:-

> "4. We have no hesitation in holding that the approach of the High Court is erroneous and its conclusion legally unsustainable. There is nothing in the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code which precluded the appellant (Inspector of Police, Vigilance) from taking up the investigation. The fact that the said police officer prepared the FIR on the basis of the information received by him and registered the suspected crime does not, in our view, disqualify him from taking up the investigation of the cognizable offence. A sup motu move on the part of the police officer to investigate a cognizable offence impelled by the information received from some sources is not outside the purview of the provisions contained in Sections 154 to 157 of the Code or any other provisions of the Code. The scheme of Sections 154, 156 and 157 was clarified thus by Subba Rao, J. speaking for the Court in State of U.P. v. Bhagwant Kishore Joshi (AIR p.223, para 8).
> "Section 154 of the Code prescribes the mode of recording the information received orally or in writing by an officer in charge of a police station in respect of the commission of a cognizable offence. Section 156 thereof authorizes such an officer to investigate any cognizable offence prescribed therein. Though ordinarily investigation is undertaken on information received by a police officer; the receipt of information is not a condition precedent for investigation. Section 157 prescribes the procedure in the matter of such an investigation which can be initiated either on information or otherwise. It is clear from the said provisions that an officer in charge of a police station can start investigation either on information or otherwise."
>
> "5. In fact, neither the High Court found nor any argument was addressed to the effect that there is a statutory bar against the police officer who registered the FIR on the basis of the information received taking up the investigation".
> "6. Though there is no such statutory bar the premise on which the High Court quashed the proceedings was that the investigation by the same officer who 'lodged' the FIR would prejudice the accused inasmuch as the investigating officer cannot be expected to act fairly and objectively. We find no principle or binding authority to hold that the moment the competent police officer, on the basis of information received, makes out an FIR incorporating his name as the informant, he forfeits his right to investigate. If at all, such investigation could only be assailed on the ground of bias or real likelihood of bias on the part of the investigating officer. The question of bias would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and it is not proper to lay down a broad and unqualified proposition, in the manner in which it has been done by the High Court, that whenever a police officer proceeds to investigate after registering the FIR on his own, the investigation would necessarily be unfair or biased".

"7. There are two decisions of this Court from which support was drawn in this case and in some other referred to by the High Court. We would like to refer to these two decisions in some detail. The first one is the case of Bhagwan Singh v. State of Rajasthan. There, the Head Constable to whom the offer of bribe was allegedly made, seized the currency notes and gave the first information report. Thereafter, he himself took up the investigation. But, later on, when it came to his notice that he was not authorized to do so, he forwarded the papers to the Deputy Superintendent of Police. The DSP then reinvestigated the case and filed the charge sheet against the accused. The Head Constable and the accompanying Constables were the only witnesses in that case. This Court found several circumstances which cast a doubt on the veracity of the version of the Head Constable and his colleagues. This Court observed that "the entire story sounds unnatural". While so holding, this Court referred to "a rather disturbing feature of the case" and it was pointed out that: (SCC p. 18 para 5).

"Head Constable Ram Singh was the person to whom the offer of bribe was alleged to have been made by the appellant and he was the informant or complainant who lodged the first information report for taking action against the appellant. It is difficult to understand how in these circumstances, Head Constable Ram Singh could undertake investigation?..... This is an infirmity which is bound to reflect on the credibility of the prosecution case".

"8. It is not clear as to why the Court was called upon to make the comments against the propriety of the Head Constable--informant investigating the case when the reinvestigation was done by the Deputy Superintendent of Police. Be that as it may, it is possible to hold on the basis of the facts noted above, that the so called investigation by the Head Constable himself would be a mere ritual. The crime itself was directed towards the Head Constable which made him lodge the FIR. It is well nigh impossible to expect an objective and undetached investigation from the Head Constable who is called upon to check his own version on which the prosecution case solely rests. It was under those circumstances the Court observed that the said infirmity "is bound to reflect on the credibility of the prosecution case". There can be no doubt that the facts of the present case are entirely different and the dicta laid down therein does not fit into the facts of this case".

"9. Now, we may turn our attention to the case of Megha Singh v. State of Haryana on which reliance was placed by the High Court".

"10. In Megha Singh's case, PW3, the Head Constable, found a country-made pistol and live cartridges on search of the person of the accused. Then, he seized the articles, prepared a recovery memo and a 'rukka' on the basis of which FIR was recorded by the S.I. of police. However, PW.3 the Head Constable himself, for reasons unexplained, proceeded to investigate and record the statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. The substratum of the prosecution case was sought to be proved by the Head Constable. In the appeal against conviction under Section 25 of the Arms Act and Section 6(1) of the TADA Act, this Court found that the evidence of PWs 2 & 3 was discrepant and unreliable and in the absence of independent corroboration, the prosecution case cannot be believed. Towards the end, the Court noted "another disturbing feature in the case". The Court then observed: (SCC p.771 para 4).

> PW 3. Siri Chand, Head Constable arrested the accused and on search being conducted by him a pistol and the cartridges were recovered from the accused. It was on his complaint a formal first information report was lodged and the case was initiated. He being complainant should not have proceeded with the investigation of the case. But it appears to us that he was not only the complainant in the case but he carried on with the investigation and examined witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C. Such practice, to say the least, should not be resorted to so that there may not be any occasion to suspect fair and impartial investigation".

"11. The conviction was set aside by this Court for the above reasons".

"12. At first blush, the observations quoted above might convey the impression that the Court laid down a proposition that a Police Officer who in the course of discharge of his duties finds certain incriminating material to connect a person to the crime, shall not undertake further Investigation if the FIR was recorded on the basis of the information furnished by him. On closer analysis of the decision, we do not think that any such broad proposition was laid down in that case. While appreciating the evidence of the main witness, i.e., the Head Constable (PW-3), this Court referred to this additional factor--namely, the Head Constable turning out to be the investigator. In fact, there was no apparent reason why the Head Constable proceeded to investigate the case bypassing the Sub-Inspector who recorded the FIR. The fact situation in the present case is entirely different. The appellant--Inspector of Police, after receiving information from some sources, proceeded to investigate and unearth the crime. Before he did so, he did not have personal knowledge of the suspected offences nor did he participate in any operations connected with the offences. His role was that of investigator--pure and simple. That is the obvious distinction in this case. That apart, the question of testing the veracity of the evidence of any witness, as was done in Megha Singh's case, does not arise in the instant case as the trial is yet to take place. The High Court has quashed the proceedings even before the trial commenced".

"13. Viewed from any angle, we see no illegality in the process of investigation set in motion by the inspector of Police (appellant) and his action in submitting the final report to the Court of Special judge".

8. In another case titled as S. Jeevanantham versus Sate reported in 2004 (5) SCC 230, the Apex Court held as under:-

"3. In the instant case, PW-8 conducted the search and recovered the contraband article and registered the case and the article seized from the appellant was narcotic drug and the counsel for the appellant could not point out any circumstances by which the investigation caused prejudice or was biased against the appellant. PW-8 in his official capacity gave the information, registered the case as part of his official duty and later investigated the case and filed charge-sheet. He was not in any way personally interested in the case. We are unable to find any sort of bias in the process of investigation."

9. Similarly, in case titled as Bhaskar Ramappa Madar and others versus State of Karnataka reported in (2009) 11 SCC 690, the Apex Court held as under:-

"8 So far as the desirability of the complainant undertaking investigation is concerned there is no legal bar. The decisions of this Court in Bhagwan Singh versus State of Rajasthan (SCC at para-18) and Megha Singh versus State of Haryana (SCC at para-4) have to be confined to the facts of the said cases. Merely because the complainant conducted the investigation, that would not be sufficient to cast doubt on the prosecution version to hold that the same makes the prosecution version vulnerable. The matter has to be decided on a case-to-case basis without any universal generalization.

10. In latest judgment passed by Apex Court in case titled as Vinod Kumar Versus State of Punjab reported in (2015) 3 SCC 220, it has been held as under:-

"27. In this regard, it is useful to refer to the pronouncement in State vs. V. Jayapaul wherein the Court posed the question whether the High Court was justified in quashing the criminal proceedings on the ground that the police officer, who had lodged/recorded the FIR regarding the suspected commission of certain cognizable offence by the respondent should not have investigated the case. The case against the accused was that he was indulging in corrupt practices by extracting money from the drivers and owners of the motor-vehicles while conducting check of the vehicles and making use of certain bogus notice forms in the process. The charge-sheet was filed under Sections 420 and 201 I.P.C. and Section 13(2) read with Section 13(1)(d) of the Act. The Court referred to the decision in the State of U.P. V. Bhagwant Kishore Joshi, wherein it has been ruled thus: (Bhagwant Kishore Joshi case AIR 223, para 8).

"8……Section 154 of the Code prescribes the mode of recording the information received orally or in writing by an officer in charge of a police station in respect of the commission of a cognizable offence. Section 156 thereof authorises such an officer to investigate any cognizable offence prescribed therein. Though ordinarily investigation is undertaken on information received by a police officer, the receipt of information is not a condition precedent for investigation. Section 157 prescribes the procedure in the matter of such an investigation which can be initiated either on information or otherwise. It is clear from the said provisions that an officer in charge of a police station can start investigation either on information or otherwise." (V.Jayapaul case SCC pp. 226-27 para 4)".

28. After reproducing the said paragraph, the Court proceeded to state thus: (V.Jayapaul case SCC p. 227 para 6)".

"Though there is no such statutory bar, the premise on which the High Court quashed the proceedings was that the investigation by the same officer who "lodged" the FIR would prejudice the accused inasmuch as the investigating officer cannot be expected to act fairly and objectively. We find no principle or binding authority to hold that the moment the competent police officer, on the basis of information received, makes out an FIR incorporating his name as the informant, he forfeits his right to investigate. If at all, such investigation could only be assailed on the ground of bias or real likelihood of bias on the part of the investigating officer. The question of bias would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and it is not proper to lay down a broad and unqualified proposition, in the manner in which it has been done by the High Court, that whenever a police officer proceeds to investigate after registering the FIR on his own, the investigation would necessarily be unfair or biased. In the present case, the police officer received certain discreet information, which, according to his assessment, warranted a probe and therefore made up his mind to investigate. The formality of preparing the FIR in which he records the factum of having received the information about the suspected commission of the offence and then taking up the investigation after registering the crime, does not, by any semblance of reasoning, vitiate the investigation on the ground of bias or the like factor. If the reason which weighed with the High Court could be a ground to quash the prosecution, the powers of investigation conferred on the police officers would be unduly hampered for no good reason. What is expected to be done by the police officers in the normal course of discharge of their official duties will then be vulnerable to attack."

Be it noted, the Court distinguished the decisions in Bhagwant Singh and Megha Singh)

"29. At this juncture, it would be fruitful to refer to S. Jeevanatham V. State In the said case, the appellant was found guilty under Section 8(c) read with Section 20(b)(ii) of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985. One of the contentions that was canvassed was that PW-8, who lodged the FIR had himself conducted the investigation and hence, the entire investigation was vitiated. The Court referred to the decision in Jayapaul (supra) and opined thus: (S. Jeevanantham case SCC pp 231-32.

"In the instant case, PW 8 conducted the search and recovered the contraband article and registered the case and the article seized from the appellants was narcotic drug and the counsel for the appellants could not point out any circumstances by which the investigation caused prejudice or was biased against the appellants. PW 8 in his official capacity gave the information, registered the case and as part of his official duty later investigated the case and filed a charge-sheet. He was not in any way personally interested in the case. We are unable to find any sort of bias in the process of investigation."

"30. In the instant case, PW-8, who was a member of the raiding party had sent the report to the police station and thereafter carried the formal investigation. In fact, nothing has been put to him to elicit that he was anyway personally interested to get the appellant convicted. In our considered view, the decision in S. Jeevanatham (supra) would be squarely applicable to the present case and, accordingly, without any reservation we repel the submission so assiduously urged by Mr. Jain, learned senior counsel for the appellant".

11. At the time of passing judgment in case titled as State of H.P. versus Shesh Ram reported in 2015 (2) HLR (DB) 720, it appears that latest case law could not be noticed as Vinod Kumar's case was decided on 29.01.2015 by the Apex Court whereas judgment in Shesh Ram's case was rendered by Division Bench of this Court on 28.02.2015.

12. In present case PW-12 Head Constable Kartar Singh was heading police patrolling party. He inquired respondent and on checking recovered contraband in Pithu bag of respondent and after sending Rukka to Police Station he carried out further investigation. There is nothing on record to elucidate that he was personally interested to get the appellant convicted. Only suggestion put to him is that being a villager of accused, he was inimical to accused being his villager and due to enmity he had lodged false case against the accused which had been denied by HC Kartar Singh. It is also noticeable that accused is resident of village Bharni P.O. Tikrigarh Police Station Tissa, Tehsil Churah, District Chamba whereas PW-12 Kartar Singh is resident of village Kalhal Post Office and Tehsil Churah District Chamba and belonging from one Tehsil cannot be said belonging from same village. Moreover, even residence in same village cannot be a ground to draw inference that there was enmity between Investigating Officer and respondent. Something more to show enmity was required to be placed on record. Therefore, findings on this ground returned by ld. Sessions Judge are not sustainable.

13. After sealing contraband with seal 'V' the same was handed over to PW-1 Arun Kumar Rana but he had not produced the seal in the Court. Similarly, after resealing case property, PW-8 SHO Bhupender Singh had handed over seal 'A' to PW-6 Dharvinder Kumar. However, Dharvinder Kumar had also not produced the said seal in the Court for comparison. Relying upon the judgments in case titled as State of H.P. versus Kurban Khan reported in 2015(1) Criminal Court Case 598, (2015) Criminal Law Journal 183 H.P. and State versus Anil Kumar 2015 Criminal Court Case 300 HP.DB. (latest HLJ 2015 (HP) 341) trial Court has treated non-production of seals by prosecution witnesses fatal to prosecution case.

14. Hon'ble Supreme Court in case titled as State versus N.S. Gnaneswaran reported in (2013) 3 Supreme Court Cases 594 has held as under:-

> "12. The issue also requires to be examined on the touchstone of doctrine of prejudice. Thus, unless in a given situation, the aggrieved makes out a case of prejudice or injustice, some infraction of law would not vitiate the order/enquiry result. In judging a question of prejudice, the court must act with a broad vision and lock to the substance and not to technicalities (Vide: Jankinath Sarangi v. State of Orissa, State of U.P. v. Shatrughan Lal, State of A.P. v. Thakkidiram Reddy and Debotosh Pal Choudhury v. Punjab National Bank)".
> "13. In Dahari v. State of U.P., this `Court considered the prejudice in a trial where charges had not properly been taken care of. In the said case, the trial commenced against five accused under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC and they stood convicted by the Sessions Court. The High Court though acquitted 3 persons but for the remaining accused conviction was maintained under Section 302 read with Section 149 IPC. This Court held that in such a factual situation, the High Court could most certainly have convicted the appellant under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and as no prejudice has been shown to have been caused to them, the question of interference cold not arise".

15. The judgments relied upon by trial Court referred above had been rendered n the given facts and circumstances of those cases, which are not applicable in present case. In present case no prejudice has been caused for non production of seal in the court as there was sufficient evidence placed on record other than original seal for comparison of seal affixed on case property so as to link contraband recovered on spot with case property produced in the Court. There is nothing on record to suggest that non-production of seals had caused prejudice to the accused. Availability of other sufficient evidence renders non-production of original seal as a technical defect, which does not vitiate trial unless prejudice is caused

16. Purpose of production of original seal in the Court is to compare it with seal affixed on parcels of contraband and sample in the Court so as to prove that the parcels produced in the Court are the same which were prepared and sealed on the spot at the time of recovery from the accused and also to ensure that parcel sent for chemical examination and received back were the same which were seized and sealed on the spot. For that purpose in present case the Investigating Officers had prepared the sample seal on separate piece of cloth and had obtained signatures of independent witnesses on sample seal and the documents.

17. PW-1 Arun Kumar had admitted preparation of sample seal impression on piece of cloth and had admitted and identified his signatures on the said sample seal Ex. PW1/B. On production of parcels of recovered contraband Ex. P-1 he has identified his signatures on parcels Ex. P-1 and had also identified polythene Ex. P-2 & P-3, Charas Ex. P-4, which were recovered from accused and packed in parcel Ex. P-1 and he had also identified pithu bag Ex. P-5 recovered from accused. He has admitted that seal after use was handed over to him. Therefore, in present case it cannot be said that for non production of original seal in the court for comparison of seals appended on recovered contraband was not possible with seal on parcel sent to chemical analysis and parcels produced in the Court. It has been mentioned in the chemical analysis report as under:-

> Description of parcel: -One sealed cloth parcel baring four seals of "v" and four seals of "A". The seals were found intact and tallied with specimen seals sent by the forwarding authority and seals impression impressed on the forms NCB-1. The parcel was kept in safe custody of the Assistant Chemical Examiner till the report of the same was signed & dispatched.

18. It is evident from aforesaid that one sealed cloth parcel bearing four seals of "V" and four seals of "A" and seal impression impressed upon forms NCB-1 were received by the said FSL. Facsimile of seals appended on parcels were also taken on NCB forms, which was also found same as in State FSL and when case property was produced in the Court. Therefore, non production of seals in present case was not fatal.

19. Trial Court relying judgments passed by this Court in case titled as Shashi Kumar and another versus State of H.P. reported in Latest HLJ 2015 (HP) 596 and Gurmeet Singh versus State of H.P. reported in 2015 (2) Him.L.R 766, has returned finding that perusal of abstract of Malkhana register Ex. PW-11/A indicated that there was no entry in the abstract of Malkhana register regarding production of the case property before trial Court and has held that said infirmity was also fatal to prosecution case. The judgments in the above referred cases were passed in the given facts and circumstances of those cases. As held by Hon'ble Apex Court in case State versus N.S. God reported in (2013) 3 SCC 594, unless prejudice is shown to be caused to the accused on account of procedural lapse on the part of prosecution, every lapse is not fatal to the prosecution case. Moreover, perusal of evidence in present case transpires that there is complete misreading of evidence by trial Court on this issue. Abstract of Malkhana register Ex. PW-11/A pertained to entry regarding depositing of case property by PW-8 SHO Bhupender Singh in Malkhana through PW-11 HC Deepak Kumar and not with regard to entry when case property was taken out from the Malkhana of production before Court. Ex. PW-11/A was with respect to entry at serial No. 74 dated 25.01.2015 whereas evidence in present case was recorded on 24.08.2015. Trial Court has also failed to notice that as and when case property was taken out from Malkhana for production in Court during recording of evidence, the same was duly entered in Malkhana register and was produced in Court through Malkhana Musharar. Before opening seal of case property in the court with permission of the court, the said fact was recorded during evidence which was duly attested and verified by learned Special Judge. After production in the Court the said case property was duly sealed with seal of the Court and was sent back through Malkhana Mushahar under the signature of Special Judge conducting trial. It is evident from evidence recorded in present case that case property was produced in Court thrice against entry at serial No. 17 dated 24.08.2015, entry No. 19 dated 25.08.2015, entry No. 45 dated 12.10.2015 which was duly recorded during the evidence before Court and every time case property was sent back to Malkhana under the seal of the Court. Therefore, findings returned by Sessions Judge on this issue are also not sustainable.

20. In present case independent witnesses have not supported prosecution case. PW-1 Arun Kumar Rana has not identified respondent to be the same person from whom charas was recovered. PW-10 Parth Sharma had denied recovery of charas from respondent. PW-1 had admitted signing of documents on the spot but on the contrary PW-10 Parth Sharma who was friend of PW-1 Arun Kumar Rana had denied the signing of documents on the spot and had stated that all documents were signed in the Police Post and no recovery was effected in his presence. It is settled law that testimony of hostile witnesses is not to be brushed aside only on the ground that such witnesses is declared hostile. Statements of hostile witnesses can be considered for benefit of prosuection or defence in case their statements or part of statements are corroborated by other evidence on record.

21. Conviction can also be based upon testimony of official witness in absence of support of independent witness subject to official only but their testimony is to be assessed with due care and caution particularly when independent witnesses were associated but had not supported prosecution case.

22. PW-2 HC Inder Singh, in his examination-in-Chief, has stated that after arrest of respondent, Memo Ex. PW-2/B of his personal search was prepared on the spot but in cross examination he has stated that no memo of personal search of respondent was prepared by Investigating Officer. This witness had also been cited as witness to Ex. PW-2/B.

23. PW-2 HC Inder Singh had stated that 10 minutes each were taken in preparation of consent memo and certificate of identification of contraband and it had taken four and half hours for completion of investigation on sport. Whereas PW-3 HHC Pritam Chand had stated that three-four minutes were taken to prepare certificate regarding identify of contraband and 5-7 minutes to prepare consent memo. Memo regarding search of Police party and witnesses were prepared within 10-15 minutes thereafter and seizure memo and Rukka were prepared within 45 minutes meaning thereby that about one hour and 10 minutes were taken till preparation of 'Rukka' but at the same time had stated that he remained on spot for two hours whereas prosecution case was that on preparation of Rukka the same was handed over to this witness and he had left spot.

24. PW-4 HHC Mehar Singh has stated that he remained on the spot for two hours whereas this witness was also handed over copy of Rukka to be handed over to Superintendent of Police Chamba which was ready after about one hour.

25. PW-12 HC Kartar Singh had stated that he remained on the spot for 4-5 hours, whereas PW-1 Arun Kumar Rana had stated that he had stayed on spot for 25 minutes and police party had also left spot after 25 minutes.

26. PW-2 HC Inder Singh has stated that witnesses left the spot after one and half hours whereas PW-1 had stated that they left the spot after 25 minutes and PW-10 Parth Sharma had stated that he had signed documents in police post whereas case of prosecution was that investigation was carried on the spot.

27. It has also come in evidence of PW-4 HHC Mehar Singh that Police Post was at a distance of 500 metres from the spot. It is also neither feasible nor convincing that in a chilled night of December the Police party remained seating on the road in the market at a distance of 500 metres from Police Post for completing investigation for about 4-5 hours. It is unnatural conduct which creates doubt on prosecution story.

28. PW-12 HC Kartar Singh stated that after registration of FIR PW-2 HHC Pritam Singh had returned back to Police Post whereas PW-3 HHC Pritam Singh had stated that he had returned back on the spot at about 1.25 AM.

29. PW-12 HC Kartar Singh had also claimed that respondent was arrested in market at 1.30AM. His own statement is not reconcilable as he had stated that PW-3 had come back to Police Post and PW-3 had stated that he had reached back at 1.25 AM. Then for what reason PW-12 was in the market at 1.30 AM.

30. PW-3 HHC Pritam Chand had stated that he had taken lift from the spot to go to Police Station Dalhousie whereas, PW-4 HHC Mehar Singh had stated that PW-3 Pritam Chand had left spot on foot. PW-12 HC Kartar Singh had stated that he did not know how PW-3 HHC Pritam Singh had taken Rukka from spot.

31. All these contradictions and discrepancies may be insignificant in case story of prosecution is corroborated by independent witnesses but in a case where independent witnesses had demolished the case of prosecution, these contradictions are material and significant which are fatal to the prosecution case.

32. Therefore trial Court has rightly held that there are material contradictions and inconsistencies in prosecution case which have resulted into failure of prosecution to bring guilt of accused home beyond all reasonable doubts. From perusal and scrutiny of evidence, it cannot be said that on this count trial court has not appreciated the evidence correctly and completely and acquittal of the accused has resulted into travesty of justice or has caused mis-carriage of justice.

33. After considering arguments of respective counsel for parties and minutely examining testimonies of witnesses and other documentary evidence placed on record, we are of considered view that no case for interference in acquittal of respondent is made out.

34. The present appeal, devoid of any merit, is dismissed, but with reversal of finding on issues referred supra. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged. Records of the Court below be sent back forthwith.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE DHARAM CHAND CHAUDHARY, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh .....Appellant
Versus
Rayia Urav @ Ajay .....Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No. 120 of 2013
Decided on: 1st September, 2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 302 and 201- Accused had taken second floor of the house on rent from PW-1 and started residing there with his family- S informed PW-1 that number of house flies were seen in the room rented out to the accused- PW-1 came to the spot and found the room locked from outside – the room was open in the presence of PW-2- clothes and bedding were found scattered on the floor - when clothes and bedding were removed, a dead body was found on the floor beneath the mattress - dead body was identified to be that of wife of the accused – the cause of death was found to be head injury and probable duration of death was five days- the accused was arrested and he made disclosure statements leading to the recovery of blood stained shirt- human blood group B was found in the blood sample of the deceased and the shirt of the accused- the accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that there is no direct witness to the incident- in a case of circumstantial evidence, chain of circumstances should point towards the guilt of the accused and not to any other possibility- PW-1 admitted in cross-examination that he had not checked that accused and deceased were husband and wife- no inquiry was made to verify the relationship- PW-7 admitted in cross-examination that one S was residing with the deceased in the capacity of her husband which makes the prosecution version doubtful – recovery of dead body from the house of the informant does not lead to the inference of the guilt- it was also not proved that accused was last seen with the deceased- therefore, the absence of the accused will not prove the guilt- disclosure statement regarding throwing of darat in the river was also not proved and it was not reduced into writing – similarly, disclosure statement leading to the shirt and consequent recovery were not proved- the prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. Devinder Singh V. State of H.P. 1990 (1) Shim.L.C. 82
Akhilesh Halam V. State of Bihar 1995 Suppl.(3) S.C.C. 357

For the appellant: Mr. D.S. Nainta and Mr. Virender Verma, Addl. A.Gs.
For the respondent: Mr. Prashant Sharma, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, Judge (Oral)

The State of Himachal Pradesh is in appeal before this Court. The complaint is that learned Additional Sessions Judge, Fast Track Court, Kullu vide judgment dated 28.06.2012 passed in Session Trial No. 37 of 2011 has acquitted the respondent (hereinafter referred to as the 'accused') of the charge under Section 302 and 201 of the Indian Penal Code in utter disregard to the cogent and reliable evidence produced by the prosecution to bring guilt home to the accused. The impugned judgment has thus been sought to be quashed and set aside and the accused convicted of the charge framed against him.

2. The prosecution case, as disclosed from the record in a nut-shell is that Vineet Kumar is owner of the house situate at village Tegubehar under the jurisdiction of Police Station, Bhunter, District Kullu. The accused had taken second floor of the said house on rent from PW-1 and started living there with his family. On 16.06.2011, another tenant Sheela Devi informed the complainant that number of houseflies are seen in the room rented out to the accused and room is also emitting foul smell. On this information, PW-1 who is residing in his house situated nearby came to the room which was rented out to the accused. He found the room bolted from outside and lock hanging on the bolt. He called Karam Chand (PW-2), Pradhan of local Gram Panchayat to the spot. When they opened the door, noticed clothes and beddings scattered on the floor. When they removed the clothes and beddings, they found a dead body lying on the floor beneath a mattress. PW-1 identified the dead body to be that of the wife of accused. On the same day, PW-1 informed the police of Police Station, Bhunter. His statement under Section 154 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was recorded by PW-7 Sub Inspector Narian Singh. On the basis thereof, FIR Ext. PW-1/A was registered in police station. After registration of the case, PW-1 rushed to the spot along with other police staff in official vehicle. PW-7 also opened the room taken on rent by the accused in presence of PW-2 Karam Chand, Pradhan of Gram Panchayat. The room was emitting foul smell. PW-7 photographed the dead body vide photographs Ext. P-1 to Ext. P-13 with official camera. He inspected the dead body and noticed that muggates were found on the head and whole dead body. There was mark of deep injuries on the head and right arm of deceased. The dead body was identified by the complainant and the Pradhan to be that of Anita Devi, the wife of accused. PW-7 has prepared the inquest report Ext. PW-7/A. He has also prepared the spot map Ext. PW-7/B on 16.06.2011 itself. He moved application Ext.PW-3/B for getting the post-mortem of the dead body conducted. The dead body was sent to the hospital under the supervision of Lady Constable Chandra Devi and Constable Sandeep Kumar for post-mortem. The post-mortem was conducted by PW-3 Dr. Rajesh Thakur on 17.06.2011. He issued the post-mortem report Ext. PW-3/A. In his opinion, the cause of death was head injury and probable period of death and post-mortem was more than five days. In his opinion, the injury found on the skull of the deceased could have been caused with a 'Darat'.

3. On 17.06.2011, accused came to Tegubehar. One of the companions informed the Pradhan that accused has come back to Tegubehar. The Pradhan (PW-2), in turn has informed the police that accused had come back along with his son to Tegubehar. The accused was taken to Police Station by PW-7 and he was interrogated. While in custody, accused allegedly made a disclosure statement that after committing the murder of his wife, he had thrown the weapon of offence in river 'Beas'. The accused was arrested vide memo Ext. PW-7/A. The accused was taken to dead house in the hospital in the presence of PW-1, PW-2 and Chhering Dorje, Up-Pradhan of the Gram Panchayat. He had identified the dead-body to be that of his wife Anita Devi in the presence of doctor. He made another disclosure statement Ext. PW-1/B while in police custody in the presence of Cheering Dorje before the I.O. PW-7 that he had hidden the blood stained shirt, which he was wearing at the time of commission of offence and that it is only he, who alone can get the same recovered. The shirt Ext. P-2 was allegedly got recovered at the instance of accused and the same was taken into possession vide memo Ext. PW-1/C. The same was sealed in a parcel and taken into possession and sample seal Ext. PW-7/E was prepared separately. The spot map Ext. PW7/D of the place of recovery was also prepared.

4. On 17.06.2011, the case property was deposited by PW-7 with PW-6 Moherer Head Constable, Police Station, Bhunter vide entries Ext. PW-6/A in the malkhana register. On 21.06.2011, LHC Jinesh Kumar (PW-5) had deposited one vial containing blood sample of deceased Anita and one envelop sealed with seal CH addressed to RFSL, Gutkar, one parcel sealed with seal CH allegedly containing the clothes of deceased with MHC (PW6). PW-6 has entered the case property in the malkhana register, the extract whereof is Ext. PW-6/B. On 22.06.2011, the case property was sent by PW-6 through LHC Jinesh Kumar (PW-5) vide RC No. 117/11 to RFSL, however, the same was not received because sample of seal used by the doctor was not sent therewith, hence retuned to PW-5. PW-5 came to RH, Kullu and handed over the case property to the doctor PW-3. PW-3 has drawn the sample of seal he used and the same was handed over to PW-5. PW-5 had again deposited the case property in the malkhana as per entries Ext. PW-6/C. PW-6 has again handed over the case property to LC Lata Devi(PW-4) vide RC Ext. PW-6/D and docket Ext. PW-6/E. She was directed to deposit the same in the laboratory at Gutkar. PW-4 has deposited the case property in the laboratory and handed over the receipt to PW-6 on her return to the police station. The dead body was handed over to Municipal Committee for cremation vide receipt Ext. PW-7/F. The minor son of the accused was handed over to Kullu-Manali Charitable Trust as per receipt Ext. PW-7/G. The statements of witnesses were recorded as per their version. The report of chemical examiner Ext. P-X was received. As per the same, human blood of group 'B' was found in the blood sample of deceased and the shirt of the accused. It is thereafter challan was prepared by PW-7 and presented in the Court.

5. Learned trial Judge on being satisfied that a case for the commission of offence under Sections 302 and 201 of the Indian Penal Code is prima-facie made out against the accused framed charge against him accordingly. The accused, however, not pleaded guilty to the charge. The prosecution has, therefore, examined seven witnesses in all in order to sustain the charge against the accused. The complainant is PW-1 Vineet Kumar, whereas, Karam Chand is the Pradhan of Gram Panchayat, Tegubehar. As a matter of fact, they both are the star prosecution witnesses. The remaining prosecution witnesses are doctor Rajesh Thakur (PW-3), who had conducted the autopsy on the dead body of the deceased. The remaining witnesses are police officials i.e. Lady Constable Lata Devi (PW-4), LHC Jinesh Kumar (PW-5), HC Tara Chand (PW-6) and SI Narian Singh, (PW-7), the SHO of Police Station, who has conducted the investigation of this case. The accused was also examined under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, however, opted for not leading any defence evidence.

6. Learned trial Judge on appreciation of the evidence available on record and hearing learned Public Prosecutor as well as learned defence counsel has arrived at a conclusion that the prosecution has failed to bring guilt home to the accused with the help of cogent and reliable evidence. He has, therefore, been acquitted of the charge framed against him.

7. The legality and validity of the impugned judgment has been questioned on the grounds inter-alia that the evidence available on record has been appreciated in a slip shod and perfunctory manner. The reasoning given by learned trial Judge while acquitting the accused is manifestly unsustainable as there was no occasion to the trial Court to have discarded the cogent and reliable evidence produced by the prosecution on all material aspects of its case. The testimony of the prosecution witnesses is stated to be discarded for untenable reasons, particularly when there was no enmity of the prosecution witnesses with the accused. It has further been pointed that deceased Anita Devi was the wife of the accused. She was found dead in the house of the accused who was absconding after the occurrence leads to the only conclusion that it is he who has murdered her. No explanation is forth-coming as to why the accused has absconded and as being her husband he resided lastly with her, therefore, there is strong circumstance to connect him with the commission of the offence. The recovery of the blood stained shirt of the accused at his instance and the blood of the same group as that of deceased available thereon during the scientific investigation conducted in the matter is also stated to be erroneously ignored by learned trial Court. It has, therefore, been claimed that learned trial Judge has based the impugned judgment on conjecture, surmises and hypothesis. The same has, therefore, been sought to be quashed and set aside and the accused convicted.

8. Learned Additional Advocate General has argued with all vehemence that incriminating circumstances appearing in the prosecution case against the accused lead to the only conclusion that it is he who has murdered his wife, the deceased. It has, therefore, been urged that learned trial Judge has not appreciated the evidence available on record in its right perspective and has erroneously acquitted the accused of the charge.

9. Learned defence counsel while repelling the arguments addressed on behalf of the appellant-State has urged that what to speak of cogent and reliable evidence, the present is a case of no evidence and as such, the accused according to him, has rightly been acquitted of the charge. Learned defence counsel has pointed out that there is no evidence to show that deceased was the wife of accused. One Suresh resident of Jharkhand was living with the deceased as her husband and this aspect of the matter came to the notice of the police during the course of investigation. However, said Suresh was not interrogated, and to the contrary, the accused has been implicated falsely in this case.

10. As noticed supra, there is no eye-witness of the occurrence and as such, the present case hinges upon the circumstantial evidence. In such like cases, as per the settled proposition of law, the chain of circumstances appearing on record should be complete in all respects so as to lead to the only conclusion that it is accused alone who has committed the offence. The conditions necessary in order to enable the court to record the findings of conviction against an offender on the basis of circumstantial evidence have been detailed in a judgment of this Court in Devinder Singh V. State of H.P. 1990 (1) Shim.L.C. 82 which reads as under:-

> "1. The circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.
> 2. The facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilt.
>
> 3. The circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.
>
> 4. They should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved
>
> AND
> 5. There must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

11. It has also been held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Akhilesh Halam V. State of Bihar 1995 Suppl.(3) S.C.C. 357 that the prosecution is not only required to prove each and every circumstance as relied upon against the accused, but also that the chain of evidence furnished by those circumstances must be so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused. The relevant portion of this judgment is reproduced here-as-under:-

> ".....It may be stated that the standard of proof required to convict a person on circumstantial evidence is now settled by a serious of pronouncements of this Court. According to the standard enunciated by this court the circumstances relied upon by the prosecution in support of the case must not only by fully established but the chain of evidence furnished by those circumstances must be so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for as conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused. The circumstances from which the conclusion of the guilt of an accused is to be inferred, should be conclusive nature and consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and the same should not be capable of being explained by any other hypothesis, except the guilt of the accused and when all the circumstances cumulatively taken together lead to the only irresistible conclusion that the accused is the perpetrator of the crime."

12. The guilt or innocence of the accused has to be determined in the light of the parameters laid down in the case law cited supra as well as the evidence available on record. In the case in hand, the oral as well as documentary evidence speaks about the following circumstances relied upon by the prosecution to establish the guilt of the accused:-

(i) Deceased Anita Devi was the wife of accused. One male issue was born to them out of this wedlock and the accused was residing in a room taken on rent from PW-1 Vineet Kumar at Tegubehar.

(ii) The dead body of Anita was found lying in the room when opened by PW-1 accompanied by PW-3, Pradhan of local Gram Panchayat on an information given Sheela Devi, another tenant that foul smell is emitting from the rooms and the houseflies are also flying in large number.

(iii) The accused was absconding from the house who was brought by one of his companions to PW-3 Karam Chand, Pradhan of Gram Panchayat and PW-3 handed over the accused to the police.

(iv) The disclosure statement made by the accused while in custody that he had thrown the weapon of offence i.e. Darat in river 'Beas'

(v) The disclosure statement Ext. PW-1/B made by the accused qua he having hided the blood stained shirt worn by him at the time when he killed the deceased and the recovery thereof vide memo Ext. PW-1/C.

13. It is now to be seen in the light of the evidence available on record as to whether chain of circumstances as appearing in the prosecution evidence and pressed in service against the accused is so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with his innocence and show in all probability that it is the accused alone who has murdered his wife, deceased Anita.

14. If coming to the first circumstance pressed in service by the prosecution against the accused, true it is that PW-1, the complainant has told deceased Anita to be the wife of accused in relation in his statement recorded by the police. However, in his cross-examination it is stated by him that he had not checked in the record that accused and deceased were husband and wife in relation. The prosecution has also not made an effort to investigate the case from this point of view that the deceased was legally wedded wife of the accused or not. Had the inquiry been got made in this regard at the native place of the accused or from the local Gram Panchayat or at the place of the deceased, the actual and factual position qua this aspect of the matter would have surfaced on record. Therefore, version of PW-1 in the FIR Ext. PW-1/A that accused was residing in the room taken on rent from this witness with his wife, the deceased, is not sufficient to discharge the onus qua this aspect of the matter upon the prosecution, that too, when the suggestion put to the I.O PW-7 in his cross-examination that during the investigation it transpired that one Suresh of Jharkhand was residing with the deceased in the capacity of her husband, casts a major dent in the prosecution story. Therefore, it is difficult for us to infer that deceased was legally wedded wife of the accused.

15. If coming to the prosecution story that the deceased had given birth to a son out of her wedlock with the accused, again cogent and reliable evidence is missing for the reason that no evidence qua parentage of the child so born to the accused and deceased has been collected by the investigating agency during the course of investigation. The age of the male child is also doubtful because as per testimony of PW-1, the complainant was 6-7 years old, whereas, as per version of the I.O. PW-7, in his cross-examination, the age of their son was 2½ years at that time. Therefore, it is also difficult to believe that a male child was born to the accused and deceased out of their wedlock. Similarly, besides the statement of PW-1, there is again no evidence cogent and reliable to show that it is the accused who had taken a room on rent from the said witness. PW-2 Karam Chand though is Pradhan of local Gram Panchayat, however, he has also not said that it is the accused who had taken the room on rent from PW-1. As per his version, rather one of the companions of accused had brought the accused to him and told that he is the person who has committed the murder of his wife and that he had now returned. Therefore, the first circumstance pressed in service by the prosecution against the accused is not at all proved, hence is hardly of any help to the prosecution case.

16. The 2nd circumstance as pressed in service by the prosecution carry substance, because Sheela Devi informed PW-1 about the foul smell emitting from one of the rooms and houseflies in large number are also flying. The said witness has called PW-2, Pradhan of Gram Panchayat to the spot and found dead body of Anita covered under a mattress and clothes scattered on the floor. The dead body was photographed by the police vide photographs Ext. P-1 to Ext. P-13 in the room itself. It is, however, not proved that deceased was none else but the wife of the accused. Therefore, lying her dead body in the room also does not connect the accused with the commission of the offence.

17. The next circumstance pressed in service is abscondance of the accused form the scene of occurrence. Question of abscondance would have arisen had he been lastly seen in the company of the deceased in the rented accommodation. No evidence qua this aspect of the matter is forth-coming. The prosecution has made an effort to make out a case that the accused after the commission of offence had left Tegubehar and went to his native place at Jharkhand with his minor son. Had he been absconded as alleged by the prosecution, there was no question of his coming back to Tegubehar, that too only after 4-5 days. It is not known as to when Anita was murdered in the room. According to the doctor PW-3, probable duration between death and post-mortem was more than 5 days. If it was not 5 days or more than that, it was not expected from the accused to have come back from his native place, that too, in such a short span of time, had he been absconded after the commission of offence. When there is no evidence that he was lastly seen in the company of deceased, there was no question of his abscondance from the scene of occurrence. Therefore, this circumstance is also of no help to the prosecution case.

18. The forth circumstance pressed in service is the disclosure statement allegedly made by the accused while in custody that he has thrown darat used for the commission of offence in river 'Beas'. Such statement has, however, not been taken down in writing. The prosecution has failed to explain as to why statement, if any, made by the accused was not reduced into writing by the I.O. PW-1 remained associated in the investigation of the case. He, however, has not said anywhere that the disclosure qua throwing of darat by the accused in river 'Beas' was made by the accused before the police while in custody. A suggestion given to PW-2 that accused told him qua throwing of darat he used in the commission of offence in river 'Beas' was not answered by the said witness at the pretext that he did not remember any such disclosure having been made before him by the accused. Therefore, sole testimony of the I.O. PW-7 that the accused disclosed during his interrogation qua he having thrown 'darat' in river 'Beas' cannot be believed to be true. As a matter of fact, had any such disclosure statement been made by the accused, the same would have reduced into writing in the presence of the witnesses. Therefore, it cannot be said by any stretch of imagination that accused has made disclosure statement qua throwing of darat he used to murder Anita, in river 'Beas'.

19. The last circumstance is the recovery of blood stained shirt, Ext. P-2. As a matter of fact, it is this piece of evidence, which has been vehemently relied upon by the prosecution against the accused. Be it stated that the statement Ext. PW-1/B was made by the accused in the presence of PW-1 and one Cheering Dorje. Chering Dorje has not been examined, whereas, as per testimony of PW-1 in his examination-in-chief, the disclosure statement Ext. PW-1/B was made by the accused before the police and on the basis thereof, blood stained shirt was recovered from the bushes. However, when cross-examined, he has stated that no disclosure statement was made by the accused before the police in his presence. Such statement, according to him, was recorded in the police station. He was called to police station and told that accused wanted to effect some recovery. Chering Dorje and Karam Chand were also called there. He admits that many bushes were in existence in and around his house and up to the place from where shirt was recovered. Also that a common path was abutting such bushes from where recovery was made. If PW-2 Karam Chand was also called to the police station to witness the recovery of shirt, it is not understandable as to why any question is put to him by the prosecution in this regard while in the witness box. Interestingly enough, the body of the document Ext. PW-1/B reveals that the disclosure statement was made by the accused on 16.06.2011. When he as per the prosecution case was arrested on 17.06.2011 how he could have made disclosure statement before the police while in custody on 16.06.20111. The story of making disclosure statement and the recovery of shirt Ext. P-2 vide recovery memo Ext. PW-1/C pursuant to same is, therefore, highly doubtful. True it is that the chemical examiner after conducting the test has found the blood of group 'B on the shirt. Similar was the blood group of deceased. The possibility of the shirt stained with blood has been fabricated by the police at its own as suggested to the I.O during his cross-examination cannot be ruled-out, particularly when the story qua disclosure statement made by the accused and recovery of the shirt pursuant to such statement is not at all proved from the evidence available on record. Therefore, this circumstance is also not substantiated on record, hence cannot be relied upon to bring guilt home to the accused.

20. The reappraisal of the evidence available on record, therefore, reveal that the present is not a case where it can be said that the chain of circumstances is so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and to show that in all probabilities it is the accused alone who has murdered the deceased. The charge against the accused is, therefore, not at all proved. He has rightly been acquitted by the trial Court.

21. In view of what has been said hereinabove, there is no force in this appeal and the same is accordingly dismissed. Personal bonds furnished by the accused shall stand cancelled and surety bonds discharged.

Versus
Goverdhan Dass ....Respondent

RSA No. 255/2008
Reserved on: 31.8.2016
Decided on: 1.9.2016

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 38- Plaintiff filed a civil suit for restraining the defendant from interfering with the suit land pleading that plaintiff had purchased the suit land to the extent of one biswa – defendant is interfering in the possession of the plaintiff without any right do so - suit was decreed by the trial Court-an appeal was preferred, which was allowed- held, in second appeal that defendant had categorically deposed that he had not encroached upon the land of the plaintiff- plaintiff stated that he had taken demarcation but no copy of the same was produced on record- plaintiff was required to prove the encroachment, which he had failed to do- Appellate Court had rightly appreciated the evidence- appeal dismissed. (Para-13 and 14)

For the appellant: Mr. Jeevesh Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. A.K. Vashisht, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Rajiv Sharma, Judge:

This regular second appeal is instituted against the impugned judgment and decree dated 1.3.2008 rendered by learned District Judge (Forest), Shimla, in Civil Appeal No. 41-S/13 of 07/05.

2 The key facts necessary for the adjudication of the appeal are that the appellant-plaintiff, Uma Dutt, (hereinafter referred to as the "plaintiff" for convenience sake) filed a suit for permanent prohibitory injunction against respondent-defendant, Goverdhan Dass (hereinafter referred to as the "defendant" for the convenience sake) restraining him from interfering in the possession of the plaintiff and proforma defendant Anju Bala (deleted from array of the respondents by this Court vide order dated 21.4.2010) over the land comprised in Khata Khatauni No.128/241, Khasra No.1195/1158/6, total measuring 2-15 Bighas to the extent of 1 biswa and the land comprised in Khata Khatauni No.188/301, Khasra No.950/2, measuring 3 biswas, situated in Mohal Chamyana, Hadbast No.372, Tehsil and District Shimla, H.P. According to the averments made in the plaint, the plaintiff along with proforma defendant is owner in possession of the land and house comprised in Khata Khatauni No.128/241, Khasra No. 1195/1158/6 and Khata Khatauni No.188/301, Khasra No.950/2. The plaintiff had purchased the land comprised in Khasra No.950/2 along with structure vide registered sale deed dated 11.9.1995. He had also purchased the land to the extent of 1 biswa out of the land comprised in Khasra No.1195/1158/6 vide registered sale deed dated 14.12.1999. The mutation was also attested in his favour. The plaintiff is in possession of the suit land where he has raised structure and some part of it is still vacant. The defendant has no right, title or interest over the suit land. The defendant was trying to interfere in the possession of the plaintiff over the suit land.

3 The suit was contested by the defendant. According to him, the plaintiff is not in possession of any portion of land comprised in Khasra No.1195/1158/6 at the spot. The plaintiff has constructed his house on Khasra No.952/2. The plaintiff and proforma defendant are owners to the extent of 2 biswas of land comprised in Khasra No.950/2. Plaintiff has constructed his house in Khasra No.952/2 and he has encroached upon the land more than his share.

4 The replication was filed by the plaintiff. The learned trial court framed the issues on 6.1.2003 and decreed the suit vide judgment and decree dated 20.9.2005. The defendant feeling aggrieved with the judgment and decree dated 20.9.2005 preferred an appeal before the learned first appellate court, who allowed the same vide impugned judgment and decree dated 1.3.2008. Hence, this regular second appeal, which was admitted on following substantial questions of law on 19.6.2009:-

> 1. Whether the learned first appellate court below has jurisdiction to appoint a Local Commissioner suo moto if it is necessitated to elucidate the real matter in controversy including the interference of the defendant over the suit land?
> 2. Whether once it is admitted by the defendant/respondent that he has no right, title or interest over the suit land, is it necessary to demarcate the suit land?
> 3. Whether the learned first appellate court below has erred in law by refusing the prayer for injunction by not appreciating the jamabandi, Ext.PW1/A to Ext.PW1/C, which is proved and established that the respondent/defendant has no right, title or interest over the suit land?

5 Mr. Jeevesh Sharma, learned counsel appearing for the plaintiff, on the basis of the substantial questions of law framed, has vehemently argued that the first appellate court should have appointed Local Commissioner suo moto to finally adjudicate the controversy between the parties. He has also contended that the learned first appellate court has mis-construed the oral as well as documentary evidence.

6 Mr. Adarsh K. Vashisth, learned Advocate appearing for the defendant, has supported the impugned judgment and decree dated 1.3.2008 passed by the learned first appellate court.

7. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the record carefully.

8. Since both the substantial questions of law are interlinked and interconnected, the same are taken together for determination to avoid repetition of discussion of evidence.

9 The plaintiff has appeared as PW1. He has placed on record copies of jamabandies, Ext. PW1/A to Ext. PW1/C. He has also proved on record, Tatima, Mark A.

According to him, he has raised construction on the suit land and portion of it is vacant. The defendant started digging the suit land and interfering in his possession. The defendant has no right, title or interest over the suit land.

10. PW2, Bias Dev, has corroborated the statement of PW1, plaintiff. According to him, the plaintiff has purchased 1 biswa of land in Khasra No.1195/1158/6 from him, where he has raised his house and few portion of it is vacant.

11. The defendant appeared as DW1. According to him, he has purchased the land in Khasra No.252/2 measuring 4 biswas as per jamabandi, Ext. PW1/B. He has raised the house on the land. Neither he has encroached upon any land nor he has dug the land of the plaintiff. The plaintiff is not in possession of 1 biswa of land in Khasra No.1195/1158/6 on the spot. Khasra Nos. 952/2, 950/2 and 1195/1158/6 are separate.

12. DW2, Dhian Singh, Patwari, deposed that the plaintiff is owner of 2 biswas of land in Khasra No.952/2. According to spot, the plaintiff has raised the construction in 4 biswas of land. The boundaries of Khasra No.250/2 and Khasra No.1195/1158/6 do not touch the plot of the defendant.

13. The defendant has categorically deposed that he has not encroached upon the land of the plaintiff. He has raised construction over 4 biswas of land comprised in Khasra No.252/2. The plaintiff has neither got the land demarcated nor moved an application under Order XXVI Rule 9 of the Code of Civil Procedure for the appointment of Local Commissioner to ascertain whether the defendant has encroached upon his land or not. Rather, the plaintiff has testified that he has obtained the demarcation report, but he has failed to produce the same before the Court. In case he has got conducted the demarcation, he should have placed demarcation report on record. Thus, the learned first appellate court has rightly drawn adverse inference against the plaintiff. The burden to prove the fact that the defendant has encroached upon his land was on the plaintiff. It was not for the defendant to prove that he has not encroached upon the land of the plaintiff. The defendant was not required to lead negative evidence. The learned first appellate court has rightly appreciated the oral as well as documentary evidence.

14. Consequently, in view of analysis and discussion made hereinabove, there is no merit in the appeal and the same is dismissed. Pending application(s), if any also stands disposed of. No order as to costs.

Atma Ram .....Appellant.
Versus
Smt. Veena Kumari and others .....Respondents

FAO (MVA) No. 254 of 2011.
Date of decision: 2nd September, 2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- Tribunal held that accident was caused by Scooterist himself- an FIR was lodged against him- even Criminal Court had recorded the findings to the effect that accident was outcome of rash and negligent driving of the scooterist- no interference is called for- appeal dismissed. (Para-4 to 7)

For the appellant: Mr. J.S. Bagga, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Jatinder Ranot, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 and 2.
Mr. Ratish Sharma, Advocate, for respondent No.3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice, (Oral)

This appeal is directed against the judgment and award dated 4.10.2010, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal Bilaspur in MAC No. 58 of 2006, titled Atma Ram versus Smt. Veena Kumari and others, for short "the Tribunal", whereby claim petition filed by the claimant came to be dismissed, hereinafter referred to as "the impugned award", for short.

2. Claimant had filed the clam petition before the Tribunal for the grant of compensation as per the break-ups given in the claim petition which was resisted by the respondents and following issues came to be framed.

(i) Whether the petitioner has sustained injuries due to the rash and negligent driving of respondent no. 2 of Maruti Van No. 24-A-1257, as alleged? OPP

(ii) If issue No. 1 is proved in affirmative, to what amount of compensation, the petitioner is entitled to and from whom? OPP.

(iii) Whether the driver of the offending vehicle was not having a valid and effective driving licence at the time of accident, as alleged? OPR-3.

(iv) Whether the vehicle involved n the accident was being plied contrary to the provisions of the M.V. Act, if so, its effect? OPR-3.

(v) Whether the petition is not maintainable? OPRs.

(vi) Whether the petition is bad for non-joinder and misjoinder of necessary parties? OPRs.

(vii) Relief.

3. Respondents have specifically pleaded that the accident was outcome of rash and negligent driving by the claimant himself who was driving the scooter and not by respondent No.2 Suraj Parkash who was driving Maruti Van No. HP-24-A-1275.

4. The parties have led evidence. The Tribunal in paras 11, 12 and 14 to 17 of the impugned award held that the accident was caused by the scooterist himself and was responsible for the same. It is also proved that the FIR was lodged against him, has faced the trial before the Court of competent jurisdiction. The Tribunal after taking all these aspects in view held that the claimant has failed to prove that the accident was outcome of rash and negligent driving by driver Suraj Parkash who was driving Maruti Van No. HP-24-A-1275, but held that the accident was caused by scooterist, i.e., claimant himself, rashly and negligently.

5. At this stage, the learned counsel for the appellant has argued that the Tribunal has fallen into an error in recording the said findings, as the scooterist, who faced the trial, has been acquitted by the Trial Court. He has made available the copy of judgment dated 15.12.2011 in police Challan No. 227-II/2004 titled State of H.P. versus Atma Ram, across the Board, made part of the file. The Trial Court has also recorded the findings against the accused. It is apt to reproduce para 19 of the said judgment herein.

> "19.Thus, though the factum of the accident is established on record, rashness and negligence on part of the accused in causing the accident has not been proved beyond all reasonable doubt and accordingly, my findings on this point are in negative and against the prosecution."

6. The Trial Court has acquitted the accused on the ground that the prosecution has failed to prove the case beyond reasonable doubt but at the same time has recorded the findings to the effect that the accident was outcome of rash and negligent driving of the accused, i.e., scooterist.

7. Having said so, no interference is called for. The impugned award is upheld and appeal is dismissed.

8. Send down the record forthwith, after placing a copy of this judgment.

Kulwant Singh & Ors. versus Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., JT 2014 (12) SC 110

For the appellant: Mr. Dinesh Thakur, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. Lovneesh Kanwar, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 and 2.
Mr. Praveen Kumar, Advocate, for respondent No. 3.
Mr. Jagdish Thakur, Advocate, for respondent No. 4.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

This appeal is directed against the award, dated 25th March, 2010, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal(I), Mandi (for short, "the Tribunal") in Claim Petition No.59 of 2008, titled as Lal Singh & another vs. Barfi Devi & others, whereby a sum of Rs.6,27,000/- with interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the petition till its realization came to be awarded as compensation in favour of the claimants and the insurer was saddled with the liability, with a right of recovery (for short the "impugned award").

2. The claimants, insurer and driver of the offending vehicle have not questioned the impugned award on any count. Thus, the same has attained finality so far it relates to them.

3. The appellant-owner-insured has questioned the impugned award on the ground that the Tribunal has fallen in an error in granting right of recovery to the insurer. Thus, the only dispute involves in this appeal is vis-a-vis issue No.3.

4. Admittedly, the driver was driving the offending vehicle, i.e. Mahindra Pick Up, bearing registration No.HP-28-2612, at the relevant point of time, the unladen weight of which is 1610 kilograms, as per the Certificate of Registration, Ext.RW-4/B, which falls within the definition of 'light motor vehicle' in terms of Section 2(21) of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, for short 'the MV Act'.

5. A Division Bench of the High Court of Jammu and Kashmir at Srinagar, of which I (Justice Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice) was a member, in a case titled as National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Muhammad Sidiq Kuchey & ors., being LPA No.180 of 2002, decided on 27th September, 2007, has discussed this issue and held that a driver having licence to drive "LMV" requires no "PSV" endorsement. It is apt to reproduce the relevant portion of the judgment herein:

> "The question now arises as to whether the driver who possessed driving licence for driving abovementioned vehicles, could he drive a passenger vehicle? The answer, I find, in the judgment passed by this court in case titled National Insurance Co. Ltd. Vs. Irfan Sidiq Bhat, 2004 (II) SLJ 623, wherein it is held that Light Motor Vehicle includes transport vehicle and transport vehicle includes public service vehicle and public service vehicle includes any motor vehicle used or deemed to be used for carriage of passengers. Further held, that the authorization of having PSV endorsement in terms of Rule 41 (a) of the Rules is not required in the given circumstances. It is profitable to reproduce paras 13 and 17 of the judgment hereunder:-
> > "13. A combined reading of the above provisions leaves no room for doubt that by virtue of licence, about which there is no dispute, both Showkat Ahamd and Zahoor Ahmad were competent in terms of section 3 of the Motor Vehicles Act to drive a public service vehicle without any PSV endorsement and express authorization in terms of rule 4(1)(a) of the State Rules. In other words, the requirement of the State Rules stood satisfied.
> >
> > 17. In the case of Mohammad Aslam Khan (CIMA no. 87 of 2002) Peerzada Noor-ud-Din appearing as witness on behalf of Regional Transport Officer did say on recall for further examination that PSV endorsement on the licence of Zahoor Ahmad was fake. In our opinion, the fact that the PSV endorsement on the licence was fake is not at all material, for, even if the claim is considered on the premise that there was no PSV endorsement on the licence, for the reasons stated above, it would not materially affect the claim. By virtue of "C to E" licence Showkat Ahmad was competent to drive a passenger vehicle. In fact, there is no separate definition of passenger vehicle or passenger service vehicle in the Motor Vehicles Act. They come within the ambit of public service vehicle under section 2(35). A holder of driving licence with respect to "light Motor Vehicle" is thus competent to drive any motor vehicle used or adapted to be used for carriage of passengers i.e. a public service vehicle."
> In the given circumstances of the case PSV endorsement was not required at all."

6. The mandate of Sections 2 and 3 of the MV Act came up for consideration before the Apex Court in a case titled as Chairman, Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation & ors. versus Smt. Santosh & Ors., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 2791, and after examining the various provisions of the MV Act held that Section 3 of the Act casts an obligation on the driver to hold an effective driving licence for the type of vehicle, which he intends to drive. It is apt to reproduce paras 19 and 23 of the judgment herein:

> "19. Section 2(2) of the Act defines articulated vehicle which means a motor vehicle to which a semi-trailer is attached; Section 2(34) defines public place; Section 2(44) defines 'tractor' as a motor vehicle which is not itself constructed to carry any load; Section 2(46) defines `trailer' which means any vehicle, other than a semi- trailer and a side-car, drawn or intended to be drawn by a motor vehicle. Section 3 of the Act provides for necessity for driving license; Section 5 provides for responsibility of owners of the vehicle for contravention of Sections 3 and 4; Section 6 provides for restrictions on the holding of driving license; Section 56 provides for compulsion for having certificate of fitness for transport vehicles; Section 59 empowers the State to fix the age limit of the vehicles; Section 66 provides for necessity for permits to ply any vehicle for any commercial purpose; Section 67 empowers the State to control road transport; Section 112 provides for limits of speed; Sections 133 and 134 imposes a duty on the owners and the drivers of the vehicles in case of accident and injury to a person; Section 146 provides that no person shall use any vehicle at a public place unless the vehicle is insured. In addition thereto, the Motor Vehicle Taxation Act provides for imposition of passenger tax and road tax etc.

20. .....

23. Section 3 of the Act casts an obligation on a driver to hold an effective driving license for the type of vehicle which he intends to drive. Section 10 of the Act enables the Central Government to prescribe forms of driving licenses for various categories of vehicles mentioned in sub-section (2) of the said Section. The definition clause in Section 2 of the Act defines various categories of vehicles which are covered in broad types mentioned in sub-section (2) of Section 10. They are 'goods carriage', 'heavy goods vehicle', 'heavy passenger motor vehicle', 'invalid carriage', 'light motor vehicle', 'maxi-cab', 'medium goods vehicle', 'medium passenger motor vehicle', 'motor-cab', 'motorcycle', 'omnibus', 'private service vehicle', 'semi- trailer', 'tourist vehicle', 'tractor', 'trailer' and 'transport vehicle'."

7. The Apex Court in another case titled as National Insurance Company Ltd. versus Annappa Irappa Nesaria & Ors., reported in 2008 AIR SCW 906, has also discussed the purpose of amendments, which were made in the year 1994 and the definitions of 'light motor vehicle', 'medium goods vehicle' and the necessity of having a driving licence. It is apt to reproduce paras 8, 14 and 16 of the judgment herein:

"8. Mr. S.N. Bhat, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondents, on the other hand, submitted that the contention raised herein by the appellant has neither been raised before the Tribunal nor before the High Court. In any event, it was urged, that keeping in view the definition of the 'light motor vehicle' as contained in Section 2(21) of the Motor vehicles Act, 1988 ('Act' for short), a light goods carriage would come within the purview thereof.

A 'light goods carriage' having not been defined in the Act, the definition of the 'light motor vehicle' clearly indicates that it takes within its umbrage, both a transport vehicle and a non-transport vehicle.

Strong reliance has been placed in this behalf by the learned counsel in Ashok Gangadhar Maratha vs. Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., [1999 (6) SCC 620].

9. .....

10. .....

11. .....

12. .....

14. Rule 14 prescribes for filing of an application in Form 4, for a licence to drive a motor vehicle, categorizing the same in nine types of vehicles.

Clause (e) provides for 'Transport vehicle' which has been substituted by G.S.R. 221(E) with effect from 28.3.2001. Before the amendment in 2001, the entries medium goods vehicle and heavy goods vehicle existed which have been substituted by transport vehicle. As noticed hereinbefore, Light Motor Vehicles also found place therein.

15. .....

16. From what has been noticed hereinbefore, it is evident that 'transport vehicle' has now been substituted for 'medium goods vehicle' and 'heavy goods vehicle'. The light motor vehicle continued, at the relevant point of time, to cover both, 'light passenger carriage vehicle' and 'light goods carriage vehicle'.

A driver who had a valid licence to drive a light motor vehicle, therefore, was authorised to drive a light goods vehicle as well."

8. The Apex Court in the latest judgment in the case titled as Kulwant Singh & Ors. versus Oriental Insurance Company Ltd., reported in JT 2014 (12) SC 110, held that PSV endorsement is not required.

9. The same principle has been laid down by this Court in a series of cases.

10. Having glance of the above discussions, I hold that the endorsement was not required.

11. Learned counsel for the insurer argued that the driver of the offending vehicle was not competent to drive the vehicle in terms of the mandate of Section 4 of the MV Act because he had not crossed the age of twenty years at the time of issuance of the driving licence.

12. The copy of the driving licence is on the record as Mark-A, the perusal of which does disclose that the driver was competent to drive not only the light motor vehicle, but was also competent to drive the tractor, medium goods vehicle, medium passenger motor vehicle, heavy goods vehicle, heavy passenger motor vehicles. The competent authority, after noticing his expertise, has granted him the driving licence to drive the heavy motor vehicles, not to speak of light motor vehicle.

13. A person, who is eighteen years of age, is major and is eligible to have a driving licence and the competent authority issues the driving licence, if he qualifies the tests required as per the mandate of the MV Act and the Rules. Even otherwise, the insurer has not led any evidence to prove that the driver was not twenty years of age at the time of the issuance of the driving licence and that was the cause of the accident. Having said so, it is held that the driver was competent to drive the offending vehicle.

14. Further, the insurer has failed to plead and prove that it was within the knowledge of the owner-insured that the driver was not having the requisite age to have the driving licence to drive the offending vehicle. What the owner was supposed to examine at the time of engagement of the driver was whether the driver was having a valid driving licence. The driving licence, Mark-A, has been issued by the competent authority. Once the driving licence has been issued by the competent authority, it is valid, cannot be said to be void and holds the field till it is revoked by the competent authority. It was not the duty of the owner-insured to verify as to whether the driver was eligible for having that category of driving licence before the age of twenty years. He was supposed only to ascertain whether the driver was having a driving licence, which he has done. Thus, by no stretch of imagination it can be said that the owner-insured of the offending vehicle has committed any willful breach.

15. Viewed thus, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No.3 are set aside and it is held that the insurer has to satisfy the impugned award.

16. Having glance of the above discussions, the impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove, and the appeal is allowed.

17. The Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimants strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payees' account cheque or by depositing the same in their respective bank accounts.

18. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on the Tribunal's file.

(Para-7 to 10)

For the appellant(s): Mr. G.S.Rathour, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Neeraj Gupta, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Justice Rajiv Sharma, J.

This appeal is instituted against the award dated 4.6.2015, rendered by the learned MACT, Kinnaur at Rampur Bushahr, Distt. Shimla, H.P. in MAC Petition No. 0100018 of 2013.

2. Key facts, necessary for the adjudication of this appeal are that respondents No. 1 & 2, namely, Virender Singh Negi and Smt. Bhag Manti have filed a claim petition under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 against the appellant as well as proforma respondent No. 3 Shyam Singh, for the grant of compensation of Rs. 35,00,000/- with interest @ 18% per annum. According to the averments contained in the claim petition, on 23.10.2012, the deceased was on his way from Dakolar to Shingla on scooter No. HR-01E-2791. At about 11:45 AM, when he reached near Shingla Helipad, he was hit by HRTC bus No. HP-42-0805 from opposite side, being driven by respondent No. 3, namely, Shyam Singh. The deceased sustained multiple injuries and was shifted to Khaneri hospital. Thereafter, he was referred to IGMC, Shimla and ultimately to PGI, Chandigarh. He remained indoor patient from 24.10.2012 to 30.10.2012 at PGI Chandigarh. He succumbed to injuries on 30.10.2012. His post mortem examination was conducted. FIR No. 180/2012 dated 23.10.2012 was registered under Sections 279 & 337 IPC at PS Rampur Bushahr. The deceased was retired Army Officer and drawing monthly pension of Rs. 59,970/-. He was also engaged in agriculture and horticulture pursuits.

3. The petition was contested by appellant and respondent Shyam Singh. On merits, it was submitted by the appellant that the accident took place due to rash and negligent driving of scooter by the deceased. FIR No. 180/2012 dated 23.10.2012 was registered under Sections 279 & 337 IPC at PS Rampur Bushahr. Since the accident took place due to the rash and negligent driving of the deceased, therefore, the petition was not maintainable. Respondent-Shyam Singh in his reply denied that the accident was the outcome of his rash and negligent driving of HRTC bus No. HP-42-0805. He submitted that the accident took place due to rash and negligent driving of scooter on the part of the deceased.

4. The issues were framed on 28.9.2013, by the learned MACT, Kinnaur at Rampur Bushahr. The learned MACT, Kinnaur at Rampur Bushahr, Distt. Shimla awarded compensation of Rs. 23,69,736/- alongwith interest @ 6% per annum from the date of filing of the petition till realization of entire amount along with litigation expenses quantified at Rs. 5,000/-.

5. Mr. G.S.Rathour, Advocate, for the appellant has vehemently argued that the accident took place due to the rash and negligent driving of scooter by the deceased. He then contended that the compensation awarded is on the higher side. He lastly contended that the multiplier of 7 could not be applied.

6. I have heard the learned Advocates and gone through the judgments and records of the case carefully.

7. Ext. PW-1/E is the copy of FIR No. 180/2012 dated 23.10.2012, registered under Sections 279 & 337 IPC at PS Rampur Bushahr. The FIR was registered on the basis of statement of Tej Pal Singh, driver of Auto. According to the averments made in the FIR, PW-2 Tej Pal Singh was on his way to village Shingla in his Auto. At about 11:45 AM, when he reached ahead of Shingla Helipad, HRTC bus No. HP-42-0805 crossed and thereafter, he heard the noise of collusion. He stopped his Auto and saw that the accident had taken place between HRTC bus No. HP-42-0805 and scooter No. HR-01E-2791. The scooter driver Bhagwant Dakesh Negi had sustained injuries and he was immediately shifted to Khaneri hospital. The accident took place due to the rash and negligent driving of scooter by its driver. However, when Tej Pal Singh appeared in the Court as PW-2, he tendered his evidence by filing affidavit Ext. PW-2/A. In his affidavit, he has categorically deposed that the accident took place due to the rash and negligent driving of HRTC bus No. HP-42-0805 by its driver.

8. Now, the Court will advert to the statement of PW-3 Dhani Ram, an eye witness of the accident. According to him, he was travelling in HRTC bus No. HP-42-0805. He boarded the bus at Nogidhar from Rampur. As per his affidavit Ext. PW-3/A, on 23.10.2012, at about 11:45 AM, the bus being driven by respondent-Shyam Singh reached near Shingla Helipad, which hit against scooter No. HR-01E-2791 coming from the opposite side. The scooter, after being hit by the bus, was thrown 30-35 feet on the opposite side. The bus was moving downhill and scooter was coming uphill. He was occupying seat No. 3 and witnessed the manner in which the accident took place.

9. PW-1 Virender Singh Negi is the son of deceased. According to him, the accident took place due the rash and negligent driving of HRTC bus by its driver Shyam Singh. He deposed that the appellant and respondent No. 3 Shyam Singh have got the FIR registered against his father in order to escape the criminal prosecution. His father sustained multiple injuries and his father succumbed to injuries on 30.10.2012. His father was 62 years of age at the time of accident.

10. The claimants have duly proved that the accident took place due to the rash and negligent driving of HRTC bus No. HP-42-0805 by its driver Shyam Singh. The deceased was 62 years of age at the time of the accident. His Pension Payment Order (PPO) is Ext. PW-4/A. According to Ext. PW-4/A, the monthly pension of the deceased was Rs. 37,782/-. The learned MACT, Kinnaur at Rampur Bushahr, Distt. Shimla has rightly applied the multiplier of 7 to calculate his total income on the basis of Ext. PW-4/A. A sum of Rs. 1,00,000/- awarded towards love and affection is also in accordance with law. A sum of Rs. 25,000/- awarded towards funeral expenses cannot be termed as excessive. Similarly, a sum of Rs. 1,00,000/- awarded towards consortium is also justifiable. The compensation awarded to the claimants/respondents No. 1 & 2 is just and reasonable.

11. Accordingly, in view of the discussion made hereinabove, there is no merit in this appeal and the same is dismissed, so also the pending application(s), if any.

CMP No. 7190/2016.

This application has been moved by the learned counsel for respondents No. 1 to 5 for correcting the name of respondent No. 5 in the claim petition, impugned award and in the memo of parties of the appeal, on the grounds that inadvertently name of respondent No. 5 has been recorded as "Miss Priyanka Kumari" instead of Priya. While exercising powers under Sections 152, 153 and Order 41 of the Code of Civil Procedure, for short "CPC" read with Sections 173 and 176 of the Motor Vehicles Act, for short "the Act", the application is granted. The name of respondent No. 5 is ordered to be read as "Priya" instead of "Miss Priyanka Kumari", in the claim petition, impugned award and in the memo of parties of the present appeal. Amended memo of parties has been filed. Be taken on record. Registry to carry out necessary correction in the cause title. The application is accordingly, disposed of.

FAO No. 226 of 2011.

2. This appeal is directed against the judgment and award dated 28.2.2011, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-II, Kangra at Dharamshala in MACP No. 61-D of 2006, titled Smt. Chanchla Devi and others versus Karam Chand and others, for short "the Tribunal", whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.2,16,600/- alongwith interest @ 7 ½% per annum, came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and insured came to be saddled with the liability, hereinafter referred to as "the impugned award", for short.

3. Claimants, driver and insurer have not questioned the impugned award on any ground. Thus, the same has attained the finality so far as it relates to them.

4. The appellant/owner has questioned the impugned award on the grounds taken in the memo of appeal.

5. The learned counsel for the appellant argued that the Tribunal has fallen into an error in saddling the owner with the liability for the reason that the claimants have failed to prove that the driver has driven the offending vehicle rashly and negligently. The argument though attractive, is devoid of any force, for the following reasons.

6. The claimants have examined five witnesses and claimant No. 1 also appeared in the witness box as PW3. Respondents have also examined the five witnesses.

7. The Tribunal, after scanning the evidence held that the driver Raghubir Singh has driven the offending vehicle rashly and negligently and caused the accident. The driver has not questioned the said findings.

8. I have gone through the evidence on record. It is beaten law of the land that in civil cases, proof of preponderance of probabilities is required, in criminal cases, proof beyond reasonable doubt is required and in summary proceedings under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 for short "the Act", prima facie proof is required.

9. My this view is fortified by the judgment delivered by the apex court in Dulcina Fernandes and others vs. Joaquim Xavier Cruz and another, reported in (2013) 10 Supreme Court Cases 646, and Oriental Insurance Co. versus Mst. Zarifa and others, reported in AIR 1995 Jammu and Kashmir 81.

10. This Court has also laid down the similar principles of law in FAO No. 692 of 2008 decided on 4.9.2015 titled Cholamandlan MS General Insurance Co. Ltd. Versus Smt. Jamna Devi and others, FAO No. 287 of 2014 along with connected matter, decided on 18.9.2015 titled Tulsi Ram versus Smt. Beena Devi and others, FAO No. 72 of 2008 along with connected matter decided on 10.7.2015 titled Anil Kumar versus Nitim Kumar and others and FAO No. 174 of 2013 decided on 5.9.2014 titled Kusum Kumari versus M.D. U.P Roadways and others.

11. Having said so, I am of the considered view that Tribunal has rightly made the discussion from paras 6 to 16 of the impugned award, needs no interference. However, the Tribunal has fallen into an error in deducting 1/3rd while 1/4th was to be deducted. The amount awarded is also meager, but the claimants have not questioned the same, the same is reluctantly upheld.

12. In view of the discussion made hereinabove, the impugned award merits to be upheld and the appeal merits to be dismissed. Accordingly, the impugned award is upheld and the appeal is dismissed.

13. The appellant is directed to deposit the amount within eight weeks from today. On deposit, the Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimants, through payees' cheque account or by depositing the same in their bank accounts.

14. At this stage, it is stated that an amount of Rs.1,50,000/- stands deposited in this Registry by the appellant. Registry is directed to release the same immediately in favour of the claimants, through payees' cheque account or by depositing the same in their bank accounts.

15. Send down the record forthwith, after placing a copy of this judgment.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Subject matter of this appeal is award, dated 26th November, 2009, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal (II), Mandi, H.P. (for short "the Tribunal") in Claim Petition No. 49 of 2002, titled as Kehar Singh versus Shri Shamsher Singh and others, whereby compensation to the tune of ₹73,240/- with interest @ 7½% per annum came to be awarded in favour of the claimant-injured and against the insurer (for short "the impugned award").

2. The respondents in the claim petition, i.e. the insurer, owner-insured and driver of the offending vehicle, have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, has attained finality so far it relates to them.

3. The claimant-injured has questioned the impugned award only on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

4. Thus, the only question to be determined in this appeal is – whether the amount awarded is adequate? The answer is in negative for the reasons to be recorded hereinafter.

5. The claimant-injured invoked the jurisdiction of the Tribunal for grant of compensation to the tune of ₹ five lacs, as per the break-ups given in the claim petition on the ground that he became the victim of the motor vehicular accident, which was caused by the driver, namely Shri Arjun Singh, while driving oil tanker, bearing registration No. HR-37-A-2035, rashly and negligently, on 24th September, 2001, at about 8.30 A.M. at place Pulgharat, Mandi Town, in which the claimant-injured sustained injuries, was taken to Zonal Hospital, Mandi, and remained admitted there till 11th October, 2001.

6. The perusal of the record does disclose that the claimant-injured suffered fracture of ankle and leg, remained admitted in the hospital with effect from 24th September, 2001 to 11th October, 2001. The disability certificate is also on the record as Ext. Ext. PW-5/A, in terms of which the claimant-injured has suffered permanent disability to the extent of 6%.

7. The Apex Court in R.D. Hattangadi versus M/s Pest Control (India) Pvt. Ltd. & others, reported in AIR 1995 SC 755, Arvind Kumar Mishra versus New India Assurance Co. Ltd. & another, 2010 AIR SCW 6085, Ramchandrappa versus The Manager, Royal Sundaram Aliance Insurance Company Limited, 2011 AIR SCW 4787 and Kavita versus Deepak and others, 2012 AIR SCW 4771, has clearly laid down the principles as to how compensation has to be awarded in cases where the claimant has suffered permanent disability and how the assessment is to be made.

8. The Apex Court in its latest decision in the case titled as Jakir Hussein vs. Sabir and others, reported in (2015) 7 SCC 252, while discussing its earlier pronouncements, observed that in injury cases, the compensation would include not only the actual expenses incurred, but the compensation has to be assessed keeping in view the struggle which the injured has to face throughout his life due to the permanent disability and the amount likely to be incurred for future medical treatment, loss of amenities of life, pain and suffering to undergo for the whole life etc. It is apt to reproduce paragraphs 11 and 18 of the said decision hereunder:

> "11. With regard to the pain, suffering and trauma which have been caused to the appellant due to his crushed hand, it is contended that the compensation awarded by the Tribunal was meagre and insufficient. It is not in dispute that the appellant had remained in the hospital for a period of over three months. It is not possible for the courts to make a precise assessment of the pain and trauma suffered by a person whose arm got crushed and has suffered permanent disability due to the accident that occurred. The appellant will have to struggle and face different challenges as being handicapped permanently. Therefore, in all such cases, the Tribunals and the courts should make a broad estimate for the purpose of determining the amount of just and reasonable compensation under pecuniary loss. Admittedly, at the time of accident, the appellant was a young man of 33 years. For the rest of his life, the appellant will suffer from the trauma of not being able to do his normal work of his job as a driver. Therefore, it is submitted that to meet the ends of justice it would be just and proper to award him a sum of Rs.1,50,000/- towards pain, suffering and trauma caused to him and a further amount of Rs.1,50,000/- for the loss of amenities and enjoyment of life.
> 18. Further, we refer to the case of Rekha Jain & Anr. v. National Insurance Co. Ltd., 2013 8 SCC 389 wherein this Court examined catena of cases and principles to be borne in mind while granting compensation under the heads of (i) pain, suffering and (ii) loss of amenities and so on. Therefore, as per the principles laid down in the case of Rekha Jain & Anr. and considering the suffering undergone by the appellant herein, and it will persist in future also and therefore, we are of the view to grant Rs.1,50,000/- towards the pain, suffering and trauma which will be undergone by the appellant throughout his life. Further, as he is not in a position to move freely, we additionally award Rs.1,50,000/- towards loss of amenities & enjoyment of life and happiness."

9. The claim of the claimant-injured for enhancement has to be tested in view of the principles laid down by the Apex Court in the decisions supra.

10. The Tribunal, after discussing the pleadings and the evidence, has awarded a sum of ₹ 30,240/- under the head 'loss of future income', ₹ 10,000/- under the head 'expenses on medical treatment', ₹ 9,000/- under the head 'loss of earning for three months', ₹ 9,000/- under the head 'attendant charges', which amount, by no stretch of imagination, can be said to be just and appropriate.

11. The perusal of the disability certificate, Ext. PW-5/A, does disclose that the same was issued on 5th April, 2003, in terms of which the claimant-injured was suffering from 6% permanent disability, which has affected his earning capacity. He was attended upon by the attendant during the period he was in hospital, has undergone and has to undergo pain and sufferings.

12. The Tribunal, while taking the income of the claimant-injured to be ₹ 3,000/- per month, has awarded ₹ 9,000/- under the head 'loss of income for the period he remained admitted', is maintained.

13. The claimant-injured has placed on record the documents, i.e. Marks 1 to 26, which do disclose as to how much amount he has spent on his treatment. He remained on bed rest for more than three months and must have been attended upon by an attendant during the said period, thus, was entitled to compensation under the head 'attendant charges, which he has paid not less than ₹ 3,000/- plus other expenses, which can roughly be assessed at ₹ 5,000/- per month, i.e. ₹ 15,000/- for the period of three months.

14. The disability has also affected the future income of the claimant-injured to the extent of 6%. Thus, by guess work, it can be said that he has suffered loss of income to the tune of ₹ 500/- per month.

15. The Tribunal has fallen in an error in applying the multiplier of '14', '13' was to be applied while keeping in view the ratio laid down by the Apex Court in the case titled as Sarla Verma (Smt) and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, reported in (2009) 6 Supreme Court Cases 121, which has been upheld by a larger Bench of the Apex Court in Reshma Kumari & Ors. versus Madan Mohan & Anr., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 3120, read with the Second Schedule appended with the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act").

16. Thus, the claimant is entitled to ₹ 500/- x 12 x 13 = ₹ 78,000/- under the head 'loss of future income'.

17. He has also undergone pain and sufferings during the said period and has to suffer throughout his life. Thus, at least, ₹ 50,000/- was to be awarded under the head 'pain and sufferings'.

18. The claimant-injured is also deprived of all comforts and amenities because of the injury sustained by him, thus, is entitled to ₹ 50,000/- under the head 'loss of amenities of life'.

19. The Tribunal has also fallen in an error in not granting any compensation under the head 'future medical expenses'. Thus, ₹ 10,000/- is awarded under this head.

20. Viewed thus, claimant-injured is held entitled to compensation to the tune of ₹ 9,000/- + ₹ 15,000/- + ₹ 78,000/- + ₹ 50,000/- + ₹ 50,000/- + ₹ 10,000/- = ₹ 2,12,000/- with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of the claim petition till its realization.

21. In view of the above, the amount of compensation is enhanced, impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove and the appeal is allowed.

22. The insurer is directed to deposit the enhanced awarded amount before the Registry within eight weeks. On deposition, the same be released in favour of the claimant-injured strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payee's account cheque or by depositing the same in his bank account.

23. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on Tribunal's file.

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 452, 307 and 34 of I.P.C- it was pleaded that matter has been settled between the parties- according to informant, FIR was got registered due to some misunderstanding but the matter has now been settled amicably- held, that petitioner is involved in heinous crime of putting respondent No. 3 on fire- FIR cannot be quashed, merely on the ground that parties have settled the matter- offence punishable under Section 307 of I.P.C. falls in the category of heinous and serious offences and is to be treated as crime against the society- possibility of putting pressure on respondent No. 3 to compromise the matter cannot be ruled out- petition dismissed. (Para-4 to 6)

Cases referred:
Gian Singh v. State of Punjab (2012) 10 SCC 303
Narinder Singh v. State Punjab (2014) 6 SCC 466

For the petitioner : Mr. Suresh Kumar Thakur, Advocate.
For the respondents : Mr. Neeraj K. Sharma, Deputy Advocate General, for respondent No. 1.
None for respondents No.2 and 3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Rajiv Sharma, Judge:

Present petition has been filed under Section 482 CrPC seeking quashing of FIR bearing No. 427 of 2012 dated 21.12.2012 registered at Police Station Nurpur, District Kangra, Himachal Pradesh under Sections 452, 307 and 34 IPC.

2. "Key facts" necessary for adjudication of the present petition are that an FIR was registered by respondent No. 2 against the petitioner at Police Station Nurpur. According to the averments made in the FIR, petitioner used to torture the victim (respondent No.3) Maskeena Bibi. On 20.12.2012, petitioner poured kerosene oil on the victim and set her on fire. She was shifted to Civil Hospital Indora. Thereafter, she was shifted to Pathankot for treatment. Petitioner was arrested. According to the averments made in the petition, parties have amicably settled the matter on 6.6.2013. Affidavit of respondent No. 3 is also placed on record as annexure P-2. According to her, FIR was got registered due to some misunderstanding but the matter has now been settled amicably.

3. Shri Suresh Kumar Thakur, Advocate has also referred to judgment dated 17.9.2013 rendered in CrMP(M) No. 11370/2013, whereby the petitioner was enlarged on bail. However, fact of the matter is that the petitioner is involved in a heinous crime of putting respondent No. 3 on fire on 20.12.2012. He has been booked under Sections 452, 307 and 325 IPC. FIR can not be quashed merely on the ground that parties have settled the matter vide annexure P-2. He has poured kerosene oil on the victim. Victim has received severe burn injuries. She was initially shifted to Indora and then to Pathankot.

4. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Gian Singh v. State of Punjab reported in (2012) 10 SCC 303, have held that power to quash criminal proceedings may be exercised where the parties have settled their dispute. It depends on facts and circumstances of each case. Before exercise of inherent quashment power under Section 482 CrPC, High Court must have due regard to nature and gravity of the crime and its societal impact. Their lordships have further held that heinous and serious offences of mental depravity, murder, rape, dacoity, etc. or under special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988 or offences committed by public servants while working in their capacity as public servants, cannot be quashed even though victim or victim's family and offender have settled the dispute. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society. Their lordships have further held that inherent power under Section 482 CrPC is of huge plentitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accordance with the guideline engrafted in such power viz. (i) to secure the ends of justice, or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any court. Their lordships have held as under:

> "58. Where High Court quashes a criminal proceeding having regard to the fact that dispute between the offender and victim has been settled although offences are not compoundable, it does so as in its opinion, continuation of criminal proceedings will be an exercise in futility and justice in the case demands that the dispute between the parties is put to an end and peace is restored; securing the ends of justice being the ultimate guiding factor. No doubt, crimes are acts which have harmful effect on the public and consist in wrong doing that seriously endangers and threatens well-being of society and it is not safe to leave the crime- doer only because he and the victim have settled the dispute amicably or that the victim has been paid compensation, yet certain crimes have been made compoundable in law, with or without permission of the Court. In respect of serious offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc; or other offences of mental depravity under IPC or offences of moral turpitude under special statutes, like Prevention of Corruption Actor the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity, the settlement between offender and victim can have no legal sanction at all. However, certain offences which overwhelmingly and predominantly bear civil flavour having arisen out of civil, mercantile, commercial, financial, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony, particularly relating to dowry, etc. or the family dispute, where the wrong is basically to victim and the offender and victim have settled all disputes between them amicably, irrespective of the fact that such offences have not been made compoundable, the High Court may within the framework of its inherent power, quash the criminal proceeding or criminal complaint or F.I.R if it is satisfied that on the face of such settlement, there is hardly any likelihood of offender being convicted and by not quashing the criminal proceedings, justice shall be casualty and ends of justice shall be defeated. The above list is illustrative and not exhaustive. Each case will depend on its own facts and no hard and fast category can be prescribed.
> 61. The position that emerges from the above discussion can be summarised thus: the power of the High Court in quashing a criminal proceeding or FIR or complaint in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction is distinct and different from the power given to a criminal court for compounding the offences under Section 320 of the Code. Inherent power is of wide plenitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accord with the guideline engrafted in such power viz; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court. In what cases power to quash the criminal proceeding or complaint or F.I.R may be exercised where the offender and victim have settled their dispute would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and no category can be prescribed. However, before exercise of such power, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime. Heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. cannot be fittingly quashed even though the victim or victim's family and the offender have settled the dispute. Such offences are not private in nature and have serious impact on society. Similarly, any compromise between the victim and offender in relation to the offences under special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity etc; cannot provide for any basis for quashing criminal proceedings involving such offences. But the criminal cases having overwhelmingly and pre-dominatingly civil flavour stand on different footing for the purposes of quashing, particularly the offences arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony relating to dowry, etc. or the family disputes where the wrong is basically private or personal in nature and the parties have resolved their entire dispute. In this category of cases, High Court may quash criminal proceedings if in its view, because of the compromise between the offender and victim, the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of criminal case would put accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal case despite full and complete settlement and compromise with the victim. In other words, the High Court must consider whether it would be unfair or contrary to the interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding would tantamount to abuse of process of law despite settlement and compromise between the victim and wrongdoer and whether to secure the ends of justice, it is appropriate that criminal case is put to an end and if the answer to the above question(s) is in affirmative, the High Court shall be well within its jurisdiction to quash the criminal proceeding."

5. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Narinder Singh v. State Punjab reported in (2014) 6 SCC 466, have held that offences alleged under S. 307 IPC fall in the category of heinous and serious offences and generally to be treated as crime against society. Their lordships have laid down following guidelines for the High Courts to take a view as to under what circumstances they should accept the settlement between the parties and quash the proceedings and under what circumstances, it should refrain from doing so. Their lordships have held as under:

"13. The question is as to whether offence under Section 307 IPC falls within the aforesaid parameters. First limb of this question is to reflect on the nature of the offence. The charge against the accused in such cases is that he had attempted to take the life of another person (victim). On this touchstone, should we treat it a crime of serious nature so as to fall in the category of heinous crime, is the poser. Finding an answer to this question becomes imperative as the philosophy and jurisprudence of sentencing is based thereupon. If it is heinous crime of serious nature then it has to be treated as a crime against the society and not against the individual alone. Then it becomes the solemn duty of the State to punish the crime doer. Even if there is a settlement/compromise between the perpetrator of crime and the victim, that is of no consequence.

14. Law prohibits certain acts and/or conduct and treats them as offences. Any person committing those acts is subject to penal consequences which may be of various kind. Mostly, punishment provided for committing offences is either imprisonment or monetary fine or both. Imprisonment can be rigorous or simple in nature. Why those persons who commit offences are subjected to such penal consequences? There are many philosophies behind such sentencing justifying these penal consequences. The philosophical/jurisprudential justification can be retribution, incapacitation, specific deterrence, general deterrence, rehabilitation, or restoration. Any of the above or a combination thereof can be the goal of sentencing.

15. Whereas in various countries, sentencing guidelines are provided, statutorily or otherwise, which may guide Judges for awarding specific sentence, in India we do not have any such sentencing policy till date. The prevalence of such guidelines may not only aim at achieving consistencies in awarding sentences in different cases, such guidelines normally prescribe the sentencing policy as well namely whether the purpose of awarding punishment in a particular case is more of a deterrence or retribution or rehabilitation etc. In the absence of such guidelines in India, Courts go by their own perception about the philosophy behind the prescription of certain specified penal consequences for particular nature of crime. For some deterrence and/or vengeance becomes more important whereas another Judge may be more influenced by rehabilitation or restoration as the goal of sentencing. Sometimes, it would be a combination of both which would weigh in the mind of the Court in awarding a particular sentence. However, that may be question of quantum.

16. What follows from the discussion behind the purpose of sentencing is that if a particular crime is to be treated as crime against the society and/or heinous crime, then the deterrence theory as a rationale for punishing the offender becomes more relevant, to be applied in such cases. Therefore, in respect of such offences which are treated against the society, it becomes the duty of the State to punish the offender. Thus, even when there is a settlement between the offender and the victim, their will would not prevail as in such cases the matter is in public domain. Society demands that the individual offender should be punished in order to deter other effectively as it amounts to greatest good of the greatest number of persons in a society. It is in this context that we have to understand the scheme/philosophy behind Section 307 of the Code.

17. We would like to expand this principle in some more detail. We find, in practice and in reality, after recording the conviction and while awarding the sentence/punishment the Court is generally governed by any or all or combination of the aforesaid factors. Sometimes, it is the deterrence theory which prevails in the minds of the Court, particularly in those cases where the crimes committed are heinous in nature or depicts depravity, or lack morality. At times it is to satisfy the element of "emotion" in law and retribution/vengeance becomes the guiding factor. In any case, it cannot be denied that the purpose of punishment by law is deterrence, constrained by considerations of justice. What, then, is the role of mercy, forgiveness and compassion in law? These are by no means comfortable questions and even the answers may not be comforting. There may be certain cases which are too obvious namely cases involving heinous crime with element of criminality against the society and not parties inter-se. In such cases, the deterrence as purpose of punishment becomes paramount and even if the victim or his relatives have shown the virtue and gentility, agreeing to forgive the culprit, compassion of that private party would not move the court in accepting the same as larger and more important public policy of showing the iron hand of law to the wrongdoers, to reduce the commission of such offences, is more important. Cases of murder, rape, or other sexual offences etc. would clearly fall in this category. After all, justice requires long term vision. On the other hand, there may be, offences falling in the category where "correctional" objective of criminal law would have to be given more weightage in contrast with "deterrence" philosophy. Punishment, whatever else may be, must be fair and conducive to good rather than further evil. If in a particular case the Court is of the opinion that the settlement between the parties would lead to more good; better relations between them; would prevent further occurrence of such encounters between the parties, it may hold settlement to be on a better pedestal. It is a delicate balance between the two inflicting interests which is to be achieved by the Court after examining all these parameters and then deciding as to which course of action it should take in a particular case.

18. We may comment, at this stage, that in so far as the judgment in the case of Bhandari is concerned, undoubtedly this Court observed that since offence under Section 307 is not compoundable in terms of Section 320(9) of the Cr.P.C., compounding of the offence was out of question. However, apart from this observation, this aspect is not discussed in detail. Moreover, on reading para 12 of the said judgment, it is clear that one finds that counsel for the appellant in that case had not contested the conviction of the appellant for the offence under Section 307 IPC, but had mainly pleaded for reduction of sentence by projecting mitigating circumstances.

19. However, we have some other cases decided by this Court commenting upon the nature of offence under Section 307 of IPC. In Dimpey Gujral case , FIR was lodged under sections 147,148,149,323,307,552 and 506 of the IPC. The matter was investigated and final report was presented to the Court under Section 173 of the Cr.P.C. The trial court had even framed the charges. At that stage, settlement was arrived at between parties. The court accepted the settlement and quashed the proceedings, relying upon the earlier judgment of this Court in Gian Singh vs. State of Punjab & Anr., 2012 AIR(SCW) 5333 wherein the court had observed that inherent powers under section 482 of the Code are of wide plentitude with no statutory limitation and the guiding factors are: (1) to secure the needs of justice, or (2) to prevent abuse of process of the court. While doing so, commenting upon the offences stated in the FIR, the court observed:

> "Since the offences involved in this case are of a personal nature and are not offences against the society, we had enquired with learned counsel appearing for the parties whether there is any possibility of a settlement. We are happy to note that due to efforts made by learned counsel, parties have seen reason and have entered into a compromise."

This Court, thus, treated such offences including one under section 307, IPC were of a personal nature and not offences against the society.

20. On the other hand, we have few judgments wherein this Court refused to quash the proceedings in FIR registered under section 307 IPC etc. on the ground that offence under section 307 was of serious nature and would fall in the category of heinous crime. In the case of Shiji vs. Radhika & Anr., 2011 10 SCC 705 the Court quashed the proceedings relating to an offence under section 354 IPC with the following observations:

> "We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned order. Section 320 of the Cr.P.C. enlists offences that are compoundable with the permission of the Court before whom the prosecution is pending and those that can be compounded even without such permission. An offence punishable under Section 354 of the IPC is in terms of Section 320(2) of the Code compoundable at the instance of the woman against whom the offence is committed. To that extent, therefore, there is no difficulty in either quashing the proceedings or compounding the offence under Section 354, of which the appellants are accused, having regard to the fact that the alleged victim of the offence has settled the matter with the alleged assailants. An offence punishable under Section 394 IPC is not, however, compoundable with or without the permission of the Court concerned. The question is whether the High Court could and ought to have exercised its power under section 482 the said provision in the light of the compromise that the parties have arrived at."

21. In a recent judgment in the case of State of Rajasthan vs. Shambhu Kewat & Ors., 2013 14 SCALE 235, this very Bench of the Court was faced with the situation where the High Court had accepted the settlement between the parties in an offence under Section 307 read with Section 34 IPC and set the accused at large by acquitting them. The settlement was arrived at during the pendency of appeal before the High Court against the order of conviction and sentence of the Sessions Judge holding the accused persons guilty of the offence under Section307/34 IPC. Some earlier cases of compounding of offence under Section 307 IPC were taken note of, noticing under certain circumstances, the Court had approved the compounding whereas in certain other cases such a course of action was not accepted. In that case, this Court took the view that High Court was not justified in accepting the compromise and setting aside the conviction. While doing so, following discussion ensued:

"12. We find, in this case, such a situation does not arise. In the instant case, the incident had occurred on 30.10.2008. The trial court held that the accused persons, with common intention, went to the shop of the injured Abdul Rashid on that day armed with iron rod and a strip of iron and, in furtherance of their common intention, had caused serious injuries on the body of Abdul Rashid, of which injury number 4 was on his head, which was of a serious nature.

13. Dr.Rakesh Sharma, PW5, had stated that out of the injuries caused to Abdul Rashid, injury No.4 was an injury on the head and that injury was "grievous and fatal for life". PW8, Dr. Uday Bhomik, also opined that a grievous injury was caused on the head of Abdul Rashid. DR. Uday conducted the operation on injuries of Abdul Rashid as a Neuro Surgeon and fully supported the opinion expressed by PW5 Dr. Rakesh Sharma that injury No.4 was "grievous and fatal for life".

14. We notice that the gravity of the injuries was taken note of by the Sessions Court and it had awarded the sentence of 10 years rigorous imprisonment for the offence punishable under Section 307 IPC, but not by the High Court. The High Court has completely overlooked the various principles laid down by this Court in Gian Singh , and has committed a mistake in taking the view that, the injuries were caused on the body of Abdul Rashid in a fight occurred at the spur and the heat of the moment. It has been categorically held by this Court in Gian Singh that the Court, while exercising the power under Section 482, must have "due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime" and "the social impact". Both these aspects were completely overlooked by the High Court. The High Court in a cursory manner, without application of mind, blindly accepted the statement of the parties that they had settled their disputes and differences and took the view that it was a crime against "an individual", rather than against "the society at large".

15. We are not prepared to say that the crime alleged to have been committed by the accused persons was a crime against an individual, on the other hand it was a crime against the society at large. Criminal law is designed as a mechanism for achieving social control and its purpose is the regulation of conduct and activities within the society. Why Section 307 IPC is held to be non-compoundable, because the Code has identified which conduct should be brought within the ambit of non-compoundable offences. Such provisions are not meant, just to protect the individual, but the society as a whole. High Court was not right in thinking that it was only an injury to the person and since the accused persons had received the monetary compensation and settled the matter, the crime as against them was wiped off. Criminal justice system has a larger objective to achieve, that is safety and protection of the people at large and it would be a lesson not only to the offender, but to the individuals at large so that such crimes would not be committed by any one and money would not be a substitute for the crime committed against the society. Taking a lenient view on a serious offence like the present, will leave a wrong impression about the criminal justice system and will encourage further criminal acts, which will endanger the peaceful co-existence and welfare of the society at large."

22. Thus, we find that in certain circumstances, this Court has approved the quashing of proceedings under section 307,IPC whereas in some other cases, it is held that as the offence is of serious nature such proceedings cannot be quashed. Though in each of the aforesaid cases the view taken by this Court may be justified on its own facts, at the same time this Court owes an explanation as to why two different approaches are adopted in various cases. The law declared by this Court in the form of judgments becomes binding precedent for the High Courts and the subordinate courts, to follow under Article 141 of the Constitution of India. Stare Decisis is the fundamental principle of judicial decision making which requires 'certainty' too in law so that in a given set of facts the course of action which law shall take is discernable and predictable. Unless that is achieved, the very doctrine of stare decisis will lose its significance. The related objective of the doctrine of stare decisis is to put a curb on the personal preferences and priors of individual Judges. In a way, it achieves equality of treatment as well, inasmuch as two different persons faced with similar circumstances would be given identical treatment at the hands of law. It has, therefore, support from the human sense of justice as well. The force of precedent in the law is heightened, in the words of Karl Llewellyn, by "that curious, almost universal sense of justice which urges that all men are to be treated alike in like circumstances".

23. As there is a close relation between the equality and justice, it should be clearly discernible as to how the two prosecutions under Section 307 IPC are different in nature and therefore are given different treatment. With this ideal objective in mind, we are proceeding to discuss the subject at length. It is for this reason we deem it appropriate to lay down some distinct, definite and clear guidelines which can be kept in mind by the High Courts to take a view as to under what circumstances it should accept the settlement between the parties and quash the proceedings and under what circumstances it should refrain from doing so. We make it clear that though there would be a general discussion in this behalf as well, the matter is examined in the context of offences under Section 307 IPC.

24. The two rival parties have amicably settled the disputes between themselves and buried the hatchet. Not only this, they say that since they are neighbours, they want to live like good neighbours and that was the reason for restoring friendly ties. In such a scenario, should the court give its imprimatur to such a settlement. The answer depends on various incidental aspects which need serious discourse.

The Legislators has categorically recognized that those offences which are covered by the provisions of section 320 of the Code are concededly those not only do not fall within the category of heinous crime but also which are personal between the parties. Therefore, this provision recognizes whereas there is a compromise between the parties the Court is to act at the said compromise and quash the proceedings. However, even in respect of such offences not covered within the four corners of Section 320 of the Code, High Court is given power under Section 482 of the Code to accept the compromise between the parties and quash the proceedings. The guiding factor is as to whether the ends of justice would justify such exercise of power, both the ultimate consequences may be acquittal or dismissal of indictment. This is so recognized in various judgments taken note of above.

25. In the case of Dimpey Gujral , observations of this Court to the effect that offences involved in that case were not offences against the society. It included charge under Section 307 IPC as well. However, apart from stating so, there is no detained discussion on this aspect. Moreover, it is the other factors which prevailed with the Court to accept the settlement and compound he offence, as noted above while discussing this case. On the other hand, in Shambhu Kewat , after referring to some other earlier judgments, this Court opined that commission of offence under Section 307 IPC would be crime against the society at large, and not a crime against an individual only. We find that in most of the cases, this view is taken. Even on first principle, we find that an attempt to take the life of another person has to be treated as a heinous crime and against the society.

26. Having said so, we would hasten to add that though it is a serious offence as the accused person(s) attempted to take the life of another person/victim, at the same time the court cannot be oblivious to hard realities that many times whenever there is a quarrel between the parties leading to physical commotion and sustaining of injury by either or both the parties, there is a tendency to give it a slant of an offence under Section 307 IPC as well. Therefore, only because FIR/Charge-sheet incorporates the provision of Section 307 IPC would not, by itself, be a ground to reject the petition under section 482 of the Code and refuse to accept the settlement between the parties. We are, therefore, of the opinion that while taking a call as to whether compromise in such cases should be effected or not, the High Court should go by the nature of injury sustained, the portion of the bodies where the injuries were inflicted (namely whether injuries are caused at the vital/delicate parts of the body) and the nature of weapons used etc. On that basis, if it is found that there is a strong possibility of proving the charge under Section 307 IPC, once the evidence to that effect is led and injuries proved, the Court should not accept settlement between the parties. On the other hand, on the basis of prima facie assessment of the aforesaid circumstances, if the High Court forms an opinion that provisions of Section 307 IPC were unnecessary included in the charge sheet, the Court can accept the plea of compounding of the offence based on settlement between the parties.

27. At this juncture, we would like also to add that the timing of settlement would also play a crucial role. If the settlement is arrived at immediately after the alleged commission of offence when the matter is still under investigation, the High Court may be somewhat liberal in accepting the settlement and quashing the proceedings/investigation. Of course, it would be after looking into the attendant circumstances as narrated in the previous para. Likewise, when challan is submitted but the charge has not been framed, the High Court may exercise its discretionary jurisdiction. However, at this stage, as mentioned above, since the report of the I.O. under Section 173,Cr.P.C. is also placed before the Court it would become the bounding duty of the Court to go into the said report and the evidence collected, particularly the medical evidence relating to injury etc. sustained by the victim. This aspect, however, would be examined along with another important consideration, namely, in view of settlement between the parties, whether it would be unfair or contrary to interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceedings and whether possibility of conviction is remote and bleak. If the Court finds the answer to this question in affirmative, then also such a case would be a fit case for the High Court to give its stamp of approval to the compromise arrived at between the parties, inasmuch as in such cases no useful purpose would be served in carrying out the criminal proceedings which in all likelihood would end in acquittal, in any case.

28. We have found that in certain cases, the High Courts have accepted the compromise between the parties when the matter in appeal was pending before the High Court against the conviction recorded by the trial court. Obviously, such cases are those where the accused persons have been found guilty by the trial court, which means the serious charge of Section 307 IPC has been proved beyond reasonable doubt at the level of the trial court. There would not be any question of accepting compromise and acquitting the accused persons simply because the private parties have buried the hatchet.

29. In view of the aforesaid discussion, we sum up and lay down the following principles by which the High Court would be guided in giving adequate treatment to the settlement between the parties and exercising its power under Section 482 of the Code while accepting the settlement and quashing the proceedings or refusing to accept the settlement with direction to continue with the criminal proceedings:

29.1 Power conferred under Section 482 of the Code is to be distinguished from the power which lies in the Court to compound the offences under Section 320 of the Code. No doubt, under Section 482 of the Code, the High Court has inherent power to quash the criminal proceedings even in those cases which are not compoundable, where the parties have settled the matter between themselves. However, this power is to be exercised sparingly and with caution.

29.2 When the parties have reached the settlement and on that basis petition for quashing the criminal proceedings is filed, the guiding factor in such cases would be to secure:

(i) ends of justice, or

(ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court.

While exercising the power the High Court is to form an opinion on either of the aforesaid two objectives.

29.3 Such a power is not be exercised in those prosecutions which involve heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. Such offences are not private in nature and have a serious impact on society. Similarly, for offences alleged to have been committed under special statute like the Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by Public Servants while working in that capacity are not to be quashed merely on the basis of compromise between the victim and the offender.

29.4 On the other, those criminal cases having overwhelmingly and predominantly civil character, particularly those arising out of commercial transactions or arising out of matrimonial relationship or family disputes should be quashed when the parties have resolved their entire disputes among themselves.

29.5 While exercising its powers, the High Court is to examine as to whether the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of criminal cases would put the accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal cases.

29.6 Offences under Section 307 IPC would fall in the category of heinous and serious offences and therefore is to be generally treated as crime against the society and not against the individual alone. However, the High Court would not rest its decision merely because there is a mention of Section 307 IPC in the FIR or the charge is framed under this provision. It would be open to the High Court to examine as to whether incorporation of Section 307 IPC is there for the sake of it or the prosecution has collected sufficient evidence, which if proved, would lead to proving the charge under Section 307 IPC. For this purpose, it would be open to the High Court to go by the nature of injury sustained, whether such injury is inflicted on the vital/delegate parts of the body, nature of weapons used etc. Medical report in respect of injuries suffered by the victim can generally be the guiding factor. On the basis of this prima facie analysis, the High Court can examine as to whether there is a strong possibility of conviction or the chances of conviction are remote and bleak. In the former case it can refuse to accept the settlement and quash the criminal proceedings whereas in the later case it would be permissible for the High Court to accept the plea compounding the offence based on complete settlement between the parties. At this stage, the Court can also be swayed by the fact that the settlement between the parties is going to result in harmony between them which may improve their future relationship.

29.7 While deciding whether to exercise its power under Section 482 of the Code or not, timings of settlement play a crucial role. Those cases where the settlement is arrived at immediately after the alleged commission of offence and the matter is still under investigation, the High Court may be liberal in accepting the settlement to quash the criminal proceedings/investigation. It is because of the reason that at this stage the investigation is still on and even the charge sheet has not been filed. Likewise, those cases where the charge is framed but the evidence is yet to start or the evidence is still at infancy stage, the High Court can show benevolence in exercising its powers favourably, but after prima facie assessment of the circumstances/material mentioned above. On the other hand, where the prosecution evidence is almost complete or after the conclusion of the evidence the matter is at the stage of argument, normally the High Court should refrain from exercising its power under Section 482 of the Code, as in such cases the trial court would be in a position to decide the case finally on merits and to come a conclusion as to whether the offence under Section 307 IPC is committed or not. Similarly, in those cases where the conviction is already recorded by the trial court and the matter is at the appellate stage before the High Court, mere compromise between the parties would not be a ground to accept the same resulting in acquittal of the offender who has already been convicted by the trial court. Here charge is proved under Section 307 IPC and conviction is already recorded of a heinous crime and, therefore, there is no question of sparing a convict found guilty of such a crime.

6. In the present case, the offence committed by the petitioner is a heinous and serious offence. He has poured kerosene oil on respondent No. 3. She has received burn injuries. Possibility of petitioner putting pressure on respondent No. 3 to compromise the matter can not be ruled out, in view of the observations made herein above.

7. Accordingly, there is no merit in the petition and the same is dismissed. Pending applications, if any, are also disposed of.

8. Before parting with the judgment, the police is directed to put up Challan before the competent court of law and trial Court is directed to conclude the trial itself within six months from the date of filing of the Challan.

For the respondents: Mr.Dheeraj Vashista, Advocate, for respondents No.1 and 2.
Mr.Jagdish Thakur, Advocate, for respondent No.3.
Mr.Pawan Gautam, Advocate, for respondents No.4 and 5.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (Oral)

Instant appeal as well as writ petition are directed against the award, dated 14th September, 2010, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Una, H.P., (for short, the Tribunal), whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.2,50,000/- with simple interest at the rate of 9%, from the date of filing of the claim petition till payment, and costs to the tune of Rs.3,000/-, came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and the insurer was saddled with the liability, with right of recovery, (for short the "impugned award").

2. Claimants have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, the same has attained finality so far as it relates to them.

3. Feeling aggrieved, the appellants i.e. respondents No.1 and 4 before the Tribunal, have questioned the impugned award by way of FAO No.11 of 2011, while the insurer has questioned the same by the medium of CWP No.493 of 2011.

4. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record.

5. The Tribunal has saddled the insurer with the liability, with right of recovery. I wonder why the insurer has filed the writ petition challenging the impugned award. Admittedly, the offending vehicle was duly insured. The deceased was a third party and the insurer is bound to indemnify the third party claims. In case the insured commits willful breach of the terms and conditions of the insurance policy, the insurer has a right to recover the same from the owner.

6. The Apex Court in National Insurance Co. Ltd. versus Swaran Singh & others, reported in AIR 2004 Supreme Court 1531 has laid down same principle.

7. Viewed thus, the writ petition filed by the petitioner deserves to be dismissed and the same is dismissed accordingly.

8. The appeal i.e. FAO No.11 of 2011 also merits to be dismissed for the reasons mentioned hereinbelow.

9. It has come on record that Raj Kumar, minor son of appellant Mohan Lal, was driving the offending scooter at the time of accident. The Tribunal in paragraph 10 has made discussion in detail and held that appellant No.2 Raj Kumar had driven the offending scooter rashly and negligently and had caused the accident, in which Parmod Kumar suffered injuries and succumbed to the same. The Tribunal has also categorically recorded that the police recorded FIR against appellant No.2 Raj Kumar.

10. Having said so, there is no merit in appeal and the same is dismissed.

11. The insurer is directed to deposit the entire amount, alongwith interest as awarded by the Tribunal, within a period of six weeks from today, if not already deposited, and the Registry is directed to release the same in favour of the claimants forthwith in terms of the impugned award, through the bank accounts of the claimants. The insurer is at liberty to file application for recovery before the Tribunal concerned.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice, Oral.

This appeal is directed against the judgment and award dated 20.5.2011, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Fast Track Court, Chamba, H.P. in MAC Petition No.12/2010, titled Shri Ajay Kumar and others versus National Insurance Co. Ltd and others, for short "the Tribunal", whereby the compensation to the tune of Rs.37,12,964/- alongwith interest @ 7.5% per annum, came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and insurer was saddled with the liability, hereinafter referred to as "the impugned award", for short.

2. Claimants, driver and owner have not questioned the impugned award on any ground. Thus, the same has attained the finality so far as it relates to them.

3. The insurer/appellant has questioned the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of the compensation, on the grounds taken in the memo of appeal.

4. The learned counsel for the appellant argued that the insurer has sought permission in terms of Section 170 of the Motor Vehicles Act, for short "the Act" and the appellant is within its right to question the impugned award

5. Thus, the only question to be determined in this appeal is whether the amount awarded award is adequate or otherwise.

6. The claimants being the victims of a vehicular accident, had filed claim petition before the Tribunal for the grant of compensation on account death of Maan Singh in a motor vehicle, caused by Gagan Singh while driving vehicle No. HP-44-1531 (Pick-up) in a rash and negligent manner on 13.1.2010 at about 9.50 A.M. near bus stand Bhanjararu. The deceased was working in National Hydro Power Corporation (NHPC), at Tissa Colony and drawing salary to the tune of Rs.44,132/- per month. The total income of the deceased comes to Rs.5,29,584/- per annum. The tax deducted on the said income comes to Rs.25,999/- Thus, the net income of the deceased comes to Rs.5,03,585/- per annum.

7. The claimants have specifically pleaded that the deceased was 53 years of age at the time of accident but the Tribunal has fallen into an error in recording the age of the deceased as 52 years. The Tribunal has also fallen into an error in applying the multiplier of "11" where as the multiplier applicable is "9", in view of the 2nd Schedule of the Act read with Sarla Verma and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another reported in AIR 2009 SC 3104 and upheld in Reshma Kumari and others versus Madan Mohan and another, reported in 2013 AIR SCW 3120.

8. The Tribunal has fallen into an error in deducting 1/3rd, towards personal expenses of the deceased. The claimants are five in number and 1/4th was to be deducted in view of the para 30 of the judgment delivered in Sarla Verma, supra. It is apt to reproduce para 30 of Sarla Verma's judgment herein:

> "30.Though in some cases the deduction to be made towards personal and living expenses is calculated on the basis of units indicated in Trilok Chandra, the general practice is to apply standardized deductions. Having considered several subsequent decisions of this Court, we are of the view that where the deceased was married, the deduction towards personal and living expenses of the deceased, should be one-third (1/3rd) where the number of dependent family members is 2 to 3, one-fourth (1/4th) where the number of dependant family members is 4 to 6, and one-fifth (1/5th) where the number of dependant family members exceed six."

9. Thus, after deducting 1/4th, the claimants lost source of dependency to the tune of Rs.3,77,689/-, rounded off Rs.3,78,000/- per annum.

10. Accordingly, the claimants are entitled to compensation to the tune of Rs.3,78,000/-x9= Rs.34,02,000/-.

11. The claimants are also entitled to compensation under the four heads as under:

(i)	loss of love and affection:		Rs.10,000/-
(ii)	Loss of estate	:	Rs.10,000/-
(iii)	Funeral expenses	:	Rs.10,000/-
(iv)	Loss of consortium	:	Rs.10,000/-
			Total Rs.40,000/-

12. Having said so, the total compensation awarded in favour of the claimants comes to Rs.34,02,000/-+Rs.40,000/- =Rs.34,42,000/-, alongwith interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of claim petition till its realization.

13. Learned counsel for respondent No. 7 stated that respondent No. 5 has died during the pendency of the appeal. Thus, the amount of compensation is payable in favour of four claimants in equal shares.

14. Viewed thus, the impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove.

15. The Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimants, through payees' cheque account or by depositing the same their bank accounts and excess amount, if any be released to the appellant.

16. Send down the record, forthwith, after placing a copy of this judgment.

17. Registry is directed to send intimation of this judgment to the claimants through the District Judge, Chamba, H.P.

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Tribunal questioned the award only on the ground of adequacy of compensation - insurer contested the claim petition on the grounds available to him under Section 149 of the Act- if he has to contest the petition on other grounds, he has to seek permission under Section 170 of the Act - such permission was not sought- therefore, appeal is not maintainable at the instance of the insurer- appeal dismissed. Josphine James versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., 2013 AIR SCW 6633

For the appellant:	Mr. Bhupender Pathania, Advocate, vice Mr. I.N. Mehta, Advocate.
For the respondents:	Mr. Anup Rattan, Advocate, for respondent No. 1. Mr. Abhay Gupta, Advocate, for respondent No. 2. Nemo for respondent No. 3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Subject matter of this appeal is judgment and award, dated 17th March, 2010, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal (II), Kangra at Dharamshala, H.P. (for short "the Tribunal") in MACP No. 60/2005, titled as Reena Sharma versus The CTU Chandigarh and others, whereby compensation to the tune of ₹ 2,91,500/- with interest @ 7% per annum came to be awarded in favour of the claimant-injured and against the insurer (for short "the impugned award").

2. The claimant-injured, owner-insured and driver of the offending vehicle have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, has attained finality so far it relates to them.

3. The insurer has questioned the impugned award only on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

4. The question is – whether the appeal is maintainable? The answer is in the negative for the following reasons:

5. In terms of the mandate of Sections 147 and 149 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act") read with the terms and conditions contained in the insurance policy, the insurer has limited grounds available, but, it can contest the claim petition on other grounds provided permission in terms of Section 170 of the MV Act has been obtained.

6. It is apt to reproduce Section 170 of the MV Act herein:

> "170. Impleading insurer in certain cases. - Where in the course of any inquiry, the claims Tribunal is satisfied that -
>
> (a) there is collusion between the person making the claim and the person against whom the claim is made, or
>
> (b) the person against whom the claim is made has failed to contest the claim,
> it may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, direct that the insurer who may be liable in respect of such claim, shall be impleaded as a party to the proceeding and the insurer so impleaded shall thereupon have, without prejudice to the provisions contained in sub-section (2) of section 149, the right to contest the claim on all or any of the grounds that are available to the person against whom the claim has been made."

7. The insurer can seek permission to contest the claim petition on all grounds available to it and in case permission has not been sought and granted, it is precluded from questioning the award on adequacy of compensation or any other ground, which is not otherwise available to it.

8. This question arose before the Apex Court in the case titled as United India Insurance co. Ltd. Versus Shila Datta & Ors., reported in 2011 AIR SCW 6541, and the matter was referred to the larger Bench.

9. The question again arose before the Apex Court in the case titled as Josphine James versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 6633. It is apt to reproduce paras 8, 17 and 18 of the judgment herein:

> "8. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and award passed by the High Court in MAC Appeal no. 433/2005 and the review petition, the present appeal is filed by the appellant urging certain grounds and assailing the impugned judgment in allowing the appeal of the Insurance Company without following the law laid down by this Court in Nicolletta Rohtagi's case and instead, placing reliance upon the Bhushan Sachdeva's case. Nicolletta Rohtagi's case was exhaustively discussed by a three judge bench in the case of United India Insurance Company Vs. Shila Datta, 2011 10

SCC 509. Though the Court has expressed its reservations against the correctness of the legal position in Nicolletta Rohtagi decision on various aspects, the same has been referred to higher bench and has not been overruled as yet. Hence, the ratio of Nicolletta Rohtagi's case will be still applicable in the present case. The appellant claimed that interference by the High Court with the quantum of compensation awarded by the Tribunal in favour of appellant and considerably reducing the same by modifying the judgment of the Tribunal is vitiated in law. Therefore, the impugned judgments and awards are liable to be set aside.

9. to 16. .....

17. The said order was reviewed by the High Court at the instance of the appellant in view of the aforesaid decision on the question of maintainability of the appeal of the Insurance Company. The High Court, in the review petition, has further reduced the compensation to Rs. 4,20,000/- from Rs. 6,75,000/- which was earlier awarded by it. This approach is contrary to the facts and law laid down by this Court. The High Court, in reducing the quantum of compensation under the heading of loss of dependency of the appellant, was required to follow the decision rendered by three judge Bench of this Court in Nicolletta Rohtagi case (2002) 7 SCC 456 : AIR 2002 SC 3350 : 2002 AIR SCW 3899, and earlier decisions wherein this Court after interpreting Section 170 (b) of the M. V. Act, has rightly held that in the absence of permission obtained by the Insurance Company from the Tribunal to avail the defence of the insured, it is not permitted to contest the case on merits. The aforesaid legal principle is applicable to the fact situation in view of the three judge bench decision referred to though the correctness of the aforesaid decision is referred to larger bench. This important aspect of the matter has been overlooked by the High Court while passing the impugned judgment and the said approach is contrary to law laid down by this Court.

18. In view of the aforesaid reasons, the Insurance Company is not entitled to file appeal questioning the quantum of compensation awarded in favour of the appellant for the reasons stated supra. In the absence of the same, the Insurance Company had only limited defence to contest in the proceedings as provided under Section 149 (2) of the M.V. Act. Therefore, the impugned judgment passed by the High Court on 13.1.2012 reducing the compensation to 4,20,000/- under the heading of loss of dependency by deducting 50% from the monthly income of the deceased of Rs. 5,000/- and applying 14 multiplier, is factually and legally incorrect. The High Court has erroneously arrived at this amount by applying the principle of law laid down in Sarla Verma v. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2009 6 SCC 121 instead of applying the principle laid down in Baby Radhika Gupta's case regarding the multiplier applied to the fact situation and also contrary to the law applicable regarding the maintainability of appeal of the Insurance Company on the question of quantum of compensation in the absence of permission to be obtained by it from the Tribunal under Section 170 (b) of the M.V. Act. In view of the aforesaid reason, the High Court should not have allowed the appeal of the Insurance Company as it has got limited defence as provided under section 149(2) of the M.V. Act. Therefore, the impugned judgment and award is vitiated in law and hence, is liable to be set aside by allowing the appeal of the appellant."

10. Thus, the insurer can question the adequacy of compensation only if it has sought permission under Section 170 of the MV Act.

11. In the present case, it has to be seen whether the insurer has sought any such permission?

12. I have gone through the record, which does disclose that neither any such application was filed by the insurer nor such permission was granted. Mr. Bhupender Pathania, learned proxy counsel appearing on behalf of the insurer, frankly conceded that no such permission was sought.

13. Having said so, the only ground of attack projected and urged is not available to the insurer. However, I have gone through the impugned award, it appears that the amount awarded is meagre. But, unfortunately, the claimant-injured has not questioned the adequacy of the compensation, thus, the same is upheld.

14. Viewed thus, the impugned award is upheld and the appeal is dismissed.

15. The Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimant-injured strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payee's account cheque or by depositing the same in her bank account.

16. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on Tribunal's file.

Mr. Naveen K. Bhardwaj, Advocate, for respondent No. 3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Subject matter of this appeal is award, dated 3rd May, 2010, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Chamba Division, Chamba (HP) (for short "the Tribunal") in MAC Petition No. 17 of 2009, titled as Amar Singh versus Sh. Virender Singh and others, whereby compensation to the tune of ₹ 4,54,000/- with interest @ 12% per annum from the date of filing of the petition till its realization came to be awarded in favour of the claimant and against the insurer (for short "the impugned award").

2. The claimant and owner-insured of the offending vehicle have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, has attained finality so far it relates to them.

3. The insurer has questioned the impugned award only on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

4. Learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellant-insurer was asked to show as to whether the appellant-insurer can question the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of compensation?

5. Learned Senior Counsel argued that the insurer has sought permission before the Tribunal under Section 170 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act"), which was granted and the insurer has contested the claim petition on all the grounds. Learned counsel for the respondents also admitted the said factum. Perusal of the record does disclose that the insurer has sought permission and the same was granted.

6. In the given circumstances, the question is – whether the amount awarded is adequate? It appears that the Tribunal has fallen in an error in assessing the compensation. Thus, I deem it proper to assess the compensation herein by exercising the powers under Section 173 of the MV Act and Section 107 (2) of the Code of Civil Procedure (for short "CPC").

7. Admittedly, the deceased was 40 years of age and was bachelor at the time of the accident. Keeping in view the discussions made by the Tribunal in para 13 of the impugned award, it can be safely said and held that the deceased was earning not less than ₹ 4,000/- per month. As the deceased was a bachelor, 50% was to be deducted towards his personal expenses. Thus, the claimant has lost source of dependency to the tune of ₹ 2,000/- per month.

8. The Tribunal has fallen in an error in applying the multiplier of '16', multiplier of '14' was to be applied while keeping in view the ratio laid down by the Apex Court in the case titled as Sarla Verma (Smt) and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, reported in (2009) 6 Supreme Court Cases 121, which has been upheld by a larger Bench of the Apex Court in Reshma Kumari & Ors. versus Madan Mohan & Anr., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 3120, read with the Second Schedule appended with the MV Act.

9. Accordingly, it is held that the claimant is entitled to compensation to the tune of ₹ 2,000/- x 12 x 14 = ₹ 3,36,000/- under the head 'loss of income/dependency'.

10. The compensation awarded under other heads, i.e. ₹ 40,000/- under the head 'funeral expenses' and ₹ 30,000/- under the head 'loss of love and affection' has not been questioned, thus, is accordingly maintained.

11. The Tribunal has also committed a legal mistake while awarding interest @ 12% per annum, which was to be awarded as per the prevailing rates.

12. It is a beaten law of the land that the rate of interest should be awarded as per the prevailing rates, in view of the judgments rendered by the Apex Court in cases titled as United India Insurance Co. Ltd. and others versus Patricia Jean Mahajan and others, reported in (2002) 6 SCC 281; Santosh Devi versus National Insurance Company Ltd. and others, reported in 2012 AIR SCW 2892; Amrit Bhanu Shali and others versus National

Insurance Company Limited and others, reported in (2012) 11 SCC 738; Smt. Savita versus Binder Singh & others, reported in 2014 AIR SCW 2053; Kalpanaraj & others versus Tamil Nadu State Transport Corpn., reported in 2014 AIR SCW 2982; Amresh Kumari versus Niranjan Lal Jagdish Pd. Jain and others, reported in (2015) 4 SCC 433; and Mohinder Kaur and others versus Hira Nand Sindhi (Ghoriwala) and another, reported in (2015) 4 SCC 434, and discussed by this Court in a batch of FAOs, FAO No. 256 of 2010, titled as Oriental Insurance Company versus Smt. Indiro and others, being the lead case, decided on 19.06.2015.

13. Having said so, I deem it proper to reduce the rate of interest from 12% per annum to 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till its realization.

14. Having glance of the above discussions, the claimants are held entitled to compensation to the tune of ₹ 3,36,000/- + ₹ 40,000/- + ₹ 30,000/- = ₹ 4,06,000/- with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till its realization.

14. In view of the above, the impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove and the appeal is disposed of.

15. The Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimant strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payee's account cheque or by depositing the same in his bank account.

16. Excess amount, if any, be released in favour of the appellant-insurer through payee's account cheque.

17. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on Tribunal's file.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Challenge in this appeal is to judgment and award, dated 9th April, 2010, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Chamba (HP) (for short "the Tribunal") in M.A.C. Petition No. 98/09, titled as Satya Devi and others versus Shri Chet Singh and others, whereby compensation to the tune of ₹ 11,88,000/- with interest @ 12% per annum from the date of filing of the petition till its realization came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and against the insurer (for short "the impugned award").

2. The claimants, owner-insured and driver of the offending vehicle have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, has attained finality so far it relates to them.

3. The insurer has questioned the impugned award only on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

4. Learned counsel for the appellant-insurer was asked to show as to whether the appeal is maintainable. He stated at the Bar that though the permission has not been sought in terms of Section 170 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act"), but, the amount awarded in terms of the impugned award, on the face of it, is excessive.

5. The argument appears to be forceful for the following reasons:

6. Admittedly, the deceased was 34 years of age at the time of the accident. The Tribunal has fallen in an error in applying the multiplier of '17', the multiplier of '16' was to be applied while keeping in view the ratio laid down by the Apex Court in the case titled as Sarla Verma (Smt) and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, reported in (2009) 6 Supreme Court Cases 121, which has been upheld by a larger Bench of the Apex Court in Reshma Kumari & Ors. versus Madan Mohan & Anr., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 3120, read with the Second Schedule appended with the MV Act.

7. The Tribunal, while assessing the income of the deceased at ₹ 8,000/- per month, has rightly deducted one third towards his personal expenses and held that the claimants have suffered loss of source of income/dependency to the tune of ₹ 64,000/- per annum.

8. Thus, it can be safely held that the claimants are entitled to compensation to the tune of ₹ 64,000 x 16 = ₹ 10,24,000/- under the head 'loss of income'.

9. The compensation awarded under other heads, i.e. 'loss of love and affection', loss of consortium' and 'expenditure on last rites' has not been questioned, thus, is accordingly maintained.

10. The Tribunal has also committed a legal mistake while awarding interest @ 12% per annum, which was to be awarded as per the prevailing rates.

11. It is a beaten law of the land that the rate of interest should be awarded as per the prevailing rates, in view of the judgments rendered by the Apex Court in cases titled as United India Insurance Co. Indiro and others, being the lead case, decided on 19.06.2015.

12. Having said so, I deem it proper to reduce the rate of interest from 12% per annum to 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till its realization.

13. Having glance of the above discussions, the claimants are held entitled to compensation to the tune of ₹ 10,24,000/- + ₹ 50,000/- + ₹ 40,000/- + ₹ 10,000/- = ₹ 11,24,000/- with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till its realization.

14. In view of the above, the impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove and the appeal is disposed of.

15. The Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimants strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payee's account cheque or by depositing the same in their respective bank accounts.

16. Excess amount, if any, be released in favour of the appellant-insurer through payee's account cheque.

17. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on Tribunal's file.

Mr. Lalit K. Sharma, Advocate, for respondent No. 3 in FAO No. 376 of 2011.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (Oral)

These appeals are directed against the judgment and award dated 22.7.2011, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Shimla, H.P. in MAC Petition No. 50-S/2 of 2008, titled Smt. Pushpa Devi and another versus Sh. Varinder Narwal and others, for short "the Tribunal", whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.5,76,000/- alongwith interest @ 8% and costs of Rs.3,000/- came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and insurer was saddled with the liability, hereinafter referred to as "the impugned award", for short.

2. Both these appeals are outcome of the common impugned award, thus, I deem it proper to determine both these appeals by this common judgment.

3. The insurer, by the medium of FAO No.335 of 2011 has questioned the impugned award, so far it relates to saddling it with the liability.

4. The claimants, by the medium of FAO No. 376/2011, have questioned the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of the compensation.

5. Owner and driver have not questioned the impugned award on any ground, has attained the finality so far as it relates to them.

6. The claimants being the victims of a vehicular accident had filed claim petition before the Tribunal for the grant of compensation to the tune of Rs.20,00,000/-, as per the break-ups given in the claim petition, on account of death of Shri Parkash Chand in the said accident, caused by respondent No. 2, namely Ajay Thakur, on 11.10.2008 while driving Swaraj Mazda Truck No. HP-51-B-0921, in a rash and negligent manner in the area of Majnoo Mod at about 3:40 P.M., in which deceased sustained the injuries and succumbed to the same.

7. The claim petition was resisted by the respondents and following issues came to be framed by the Tribunal.

(i) Whether Sh. Parkash Chand died due to rash and negligent driving of truck Swaraj Mazda No. HP-51-B-0921 by respondent No.2? OPP.

(ii) If issue No. 1 is proved in affirmative, to what amount of compensation the petitioners are entitled to and from whom? OPP

(iii) Whether the petition is not maintainable OPR-3.

(iv) Whether the vehicle in question was being driven in contravention of the terms and conditions of the insurance policy and the provisions of Motor Vehicles Act, 1988? OPR-3.

(v) Whether Sh. Parkash Chand was travelling as unauthorized and gratuitous passenger in the truck in question at the time of accident? OPR-3.

(vi) Whether the respondent No. 2 was not holding valid and effective driving licence to drive the vehicle in question at the time of accident? OPR-3.

(vii) Relief.

8. Claimants have examined six witnesses, namely, Ram Krishan (PW1), Bhagwan Dutt, LHC (PW2), Dr. Piyush Kapila (PW3), Pardeep Sharma, (PW4), Thakur Dass as (PW6) and claimant No. 1 Pushpa Devi also stepped into the witness-box as PW5.

9. Respondent-insurer examined RW1 Khem Chand, RW2 N.K. Hazari, RW3 Pritam Chandel and RW6, S.I. Anil Kumar.

10. Virender Pal Narwal owner of Truck and Ajay Kumar driver also stepped into the witness-box as RW 4 and RW5 respectively.

11. Parties have placed on record the documents, details of which have been given in Form-B, appended to the impugned award.

12. This Court is hearing the first appeal in terms of the mandate of Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, for short "the Act" and is having the same powers alike Section 96 of the Code of Civil Procedure for short "CPC" and even otherwise, this Court has to exercise powers in terms of the mandate of Section 173 of the Act read with the provisions of the CPC.

13. The same principles of law have been laid down by the Apex Court in the case titled as U.P.S.R.T.C. versus Km. Mamta and others, reported in AIR 2016 Supreme Court 948. It is apt to reproduce para 24 of the judgment herein:

> "24. An appeal under Section 173 of the M.V. act is essentially in the nature of first appeal alike Section 96 of the Code and, therefore, the High Court is equally under legal obligation to decide all issues arising in the case both on facts and law after appreciating the entire evidence. (See National Insurance Company Ltd. v. Naresh Kumar & Ors., ((2000) 10 SCC 198 and State of Punjab & Anr. v. Navdeep Kuur & Ors. (2004) 13 SCC 680]"

14. Keeping in view the purpose of granting compensation read with the discussion made hereinabove, I deem it proper to determine all issues.

15. The claimants have examined the witnesses who stated that the deceased Parkash Chand was walking on the left side of the highway at Majnoo Mod at about 3:40 P.M., was hit by the offending vehicle which was being driven by respondent No.2, namely, Vijay Thakur, rashly and negligently.

16. PW4, namely, Pardeep Sharma, is the only eye witness, has stated that he was on his way to his house on the fateful day. The offending vehicle which was being driven by respondent No. 2 rashly and negligently, hit deceased Parkash Chand, who was walking on the left side of the highway. The driver managed to escape from the spot, has immediately informed the claimants about the death of Parkash Chand.

17. Learned counsel for the owner, driver and insurer have cross-examined this witness at length but have failed to demolish/shatter his statement.

18. The standard of proof in civil and criminal cases is totally different. While determining the criminal case and recording conviction, the prosecution has to prove the case beyond reasonable doubt for the reason that the accused is presumed to be innocent till the guilt is brought home. In civil cases, the parties have to prove their cases by preponderance of probabilities. In summary cases like granting of compensation, in terms of the mandate of Section 166, Chapter XII of the Act, summary procedure has to be adopted, without succumbing to the niceties and technicalities of procedure. It is beaten law of the land that technicalities or procedural wrangles and tangles have no role to play.

19. My this view is fortified by the judgment delivered by the apex court in Dulcina Fernandes and others vs. Joaquim Xavier Cruz and another, reported in (2013) 10 Supreme Court Cases 646, N.K.V. Bros. (P.) Ltd. versus M. Karumai Ammal and others etc., reported in AIR 1980 Supreme Court 1354 and Oriental Insurance Co. versus Mst. Zarifa and others, reported in AIR 1995 Jammu and Kashmir 81.

20. This Court has also laid down the similar principles of law in FAO No. 692 of 2008 decided on 4.9.2015 titled Cholamandlan MS General Insurance Co. Ltd. Versus Smt. Jamna Devi and others, FAO No. 287 of 2014 along with connected matter, decided on 18.9.2015 titled Tulsi Ram versus Smt. Beena Devi and others, FAO No. 72 of 2008 along with connected matter decided on 10.7.2015 titled Anil Kumar versus Nitim Kumar and others and FAO No. 174 of 2013 decided on 5.9.2014 titled Kusum Kumari versus M.D. U.P Roadways and others.

21. Having said so, the claimants have pleaded in the claim petition what was the cause of the accident and how the deceased had died. They have led evidence and have proved that deceased Parkash Chand died in a vehicular accident caused by respondent No. 2, while driving the offending vehicle rashly and negligently.

22. Viewed thus, it is held that the claimants have proved that respondent No. 2 had driven the offending vehicle rashly and negligently, hit the deceased, who sustained the injuries and succumbed to the injuries. Accordingly, issue No. 1 is decided in favour of the claimants and against the respondents.

23. Before I deal with issue No. 2, I deem it proper to determine issues No. 3 to 6.

24. It was for the insurer-respondent No. 3 in claim petition and appellant in FAO No. 335 of 2011 to discharge the onus, has failed to discharge the same. All issues have been decided against the insurer- respondent No. 3-appellant. Even learned counsel for the appellant has not advanced any argument viz-a-viz issues No. 3 and 6. Thus, the findings returned on issues No. 3 and 6 are upheld.

25. Learned counsel for the insurer-appellant argued that the insured/owner has committed willful breach of the terms and conditions of the insurance policy read with the mandate of Sections 147 and 149 of the Act and deceased was a gratuitous passenger. It was for the insurer to plead and prove that the owner had committed willful breach, has not led any evidence to show that owner had committed any willful breach, except trying to prove that the deceased was a gratuitous passenger, has failed to do so.

26. At the cost of repetition PW4 Pardeep Sharma, eye witness has specifically stated that the deceased was walking on the left side of the highway, in the given circumstances, the insurer has failed to discharge the onus. The findings returned on issues No. 4 and 5 are also upheld.

27. The factum of insurance is not in dispute. The Tribunal has rightly held that the vehicle was insured and saddled the insurer with the liability.

28. By the medium of FAO No. 376 of 2011, the claimants have disputed the adequacy of compensation. The deceased was working in Road and Buildings Department of Municipal Corporation and his monthly salary was Rs.9490/- as per salary certificate Ext. PW1/A. He was husband of claimant No. 1 and father of claimant No. 2. Claimant No. 1 Pushpa Devi has lost matrimonial life and source of dependency and claimant No. 2 has lost father, love and affection of father in addition to loss of source of dependency. The deceased was drawing salary of Rs.9490/- per month, roughly Rs.9000/-. 1/3rd was to be deducted towards his personal expenses, in view 2nd Schedule Act, read with the ratio laid down in Sarla Verma and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another reported in AIR 2009 SC 3104 and upheld in Reshma Kumari and others versus Madan Mohan and another, reported in 2013 AIR SCW 3120. Thus, it is held that the claimants have lost source of dependency to the tune of Rs.6000/- per month. The claimants have proved that the deceased was 40 years of age at the time of accident and the Tribunal has also held that the deceased was 40 years of age at the time of accident and applied the multiplier of "12", is just and appropriate multiplier applicable.

29. Having said so, it is held that the claimants have lost the source of dependency to the tune of Rs.6000x12x12= Rs.8,64,000/-.The claimants are also entitled to compensation under the four heads as under:

(i)	Loss of love and affection:		Rs.10,000/-
(ii)	Loss of estate	:	Rs.10,000/-
(iii)	Funeral expenses	:	Rs.10,000/-
(iv)	Loss of consortium	:	Rs.10,000/-
	Total		Rs.40,000/-

In all the claimants are entitled to Rs.9,04,000/- from the date of claim petition till its realization.

30. The Tribunal has awarded interest @ 8% per annum.

31. It is a beaten law of the land that the rate of interest should be awarded as per the prevailing rates, in view of the judgments rendered by the Apex Court in cases titled as United India Insurance Co. Ltd. and others versus Patricia Jean Mahajan and others, *reported in (2002) 6 SCC 281;* Satosh Devi versus National Insurance Company Ltd. and others*, reported in* 2012 AIR SCW 2892*;* Amrit Bhanu Shali and others versus National Insurance Company Limited and others reported in (2012) 11 SCC 738*;* Smt. Indiro and others, being the lead case, decided on 19.06.2015.

32. The claimants are entitled to interest at the rate of Rs.7.5% per annum from the date of filing the claim petition till its realization.

33. The insurer is directed to deposit the amount, within eight weeks from today before this Registry. On deposit, the entire amount be released to the claimants, strictly, in terms of the conditions contained in the impugned award, through payees' cheque account or by depositing the same in their bank accounts.

34. Viewed thus, the appeal (FAO No. 335 of 2011), filed by the insurer is dismissed and appeal (FAO No. 376 of 2011), filed by the claimants is allowed. The compensation is enhanced and impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove.

35. Send down the record forthwith, after placing a copy of this judgment.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Subject matter of this appeal is judgment and award, dated 1st May, 2010, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Chamba Division, Chamba (HP) (for short "the Tribunal") in MAC Petition No. 79 of 2009, titled as Smt. Sakeena Devi and others versus The Oriental Insurance Company Limited and others, whereby compensation to the tune of ₹ 14,50,000/- with interest @ 12% per annum from the date of filing of the petition till its realization came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and against the insurer (for short "the impugned award").

2. The claimants, owner-insured and the driver of the offending vehicle have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, has attained finality so far it relates to them.

3. Learned counsel for the appellant-insurer vehemently argued that the only dispute involved in this appeal is relating to the adequacy of compensation, which, on the face of it, is on higher side. Further stated that the insurer has contested the claim petition on all grounds, thus, is within its rights to file the appeal.

4. I leave the question open as to whether the permission in terms of Section 170 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act") was sought and granted or not. But it appears that the amount awarded in terms of the impugned award is on higher side for the following reasons:

5. Admittedly, the deceased was 32 years of age at the time of the accident and was a photographer and driver by profession. The claimants have examined one Shri P.S. Kanwar, Senior Assistant from the office of District Tourism Officer, Chamba, as PW-3, who has specifically stated that the deceased was registered with them as a photographer and was working at Khajiar, which is known as one of the famous tourist destinations in District Chamba throughout the world. Thus, it can be safely said and held that the deceased would have been earning not less than ₹ 10,000/- per month. However, the Tribunal has assessed the income of the deceased to be ₹ 10,000/-, which has not been questioned by the claimants, is accordingly maintained.

6. The Tribunal has rightly deducted one third towards his personal expenses in view of the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in the case titled as Sarla Verma (Smt) and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, reported in (2009) 6 Supreme Court Cases 121, which has been upheld by a larger Bench of the Apex Court in Reshma Kumari & Ors. versus Madan Mohan & Anr., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 3120, and held that the claimants have lost source of income to the tune of ₹ 6,667/- per month, i.e. ₹ 80,000/- per annum.

7. However, the Tribunal has fallen in an error in applying the multiplier of '17', multiplier of '16' was to be applied while keeping in view the ratio laid down by the Apex Court in the case titled as Sarla Verma's and Reshma Kumar's cases (supra) read with the Second Schedule appended with the MV Act.

8. Accordingly, it is held that the claimants are entitled to compensation to the tune of ₹ 80,000/- x 16 = ₹ 12,80,000/- under the head 'loss of income/dependency'.

9. The compensation awarded under other heads, i.e. ₹ 40,000/- under the head 'loss of consortium', ₹ 40,000/- under the head 'loss of love and affection', and ₹ 10,000/- under the head 'funeral expenses etc.' has not been questioned, thus, is accordingly maintained.

10. The Tribunal has also committed a legal mistake while awarding interest @ 12% per annum, which was to be awarded as per the prevailing rates.

11. It is a beaten law of the land that the rate of interest should be awarded as per the prevailing rates, in view of the judgments rendered by the Apex Court in cases titled as United India Insurance Co. Ltd. and others versus Patricia Jean Mahajan and others, reported in (2002) 6 SCC 281; Santosh Devi versus National Insurance Company Ltd. and others, reported in 2012 AIR SCW 2892; Amrit Bhanu Shali and others versus National Insurance Company Limited and others, reported in (2012) 11 SCC 738; Smt. Savita versus Binder Singh & others, reported in 2014 AIR SCW 2053; Kalpanaraj & others versus Tamil Nadu State Transport Corpn., reported in 2014 AIR SCW 2982; Amresh Kumari versus

Niranjan Lal Jagdish Pd. Jain and others, reported in (2015) 4 SCC 433; and Mohinder Kaur and others versus Hira Nand Sindhi (Ghoriwala) and another, reported in (2015) 4 SCC 434, and discussed by this Court in a batch of FAOs, FAO No. 256 of 2010, titled as Oriental Insurance Company versus Smt. Indiro and others, being the lead case, decided on 19.06.2015.

12. Having said so, I deem it proper to reduce the rate of interest from 12% per annum to 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till its realization.

13. Having glance of the above discussions, the claimants are held entitled to compensation to the tune of ₹ 12,80,000/- + ₹ 40,000/- + ₹ 40,000/- + ₹ 10,000/- = ₹ 13,70,000/- with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition till its realization.

14. In view of the above, the impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove and the appeal is disposed of.

15. The Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimants strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payee's account cheque or by depositing the same in their respective bank account.

16. Excess amount, if any, be released in favour of the appellant-insurer through payee's account cheque.

17. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on Tribunal's file.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

Raj Kumar and others .....Appellants
Versus
Jal Kishan and others ..... Respondents

FAO(MVA) NO.425 of 2010
Decided on: 02.09.2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Mahindra Pick Up was involved in an accident which is a Light Motor Vehicle- driver of the vehicle was having effective and valid driving licence to drive light motor vehicle- it was for the insurer to plead and prove that owner had committed willful breach but insurer had failed to prove it- insurer was rightly saddled with liability- appeal dismissed. (Para-5 and 6)

For the appellants: Mr.Sunil Mohan Goel, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr.Sanjeev Sharma, Advocate for respondent No.1.
Mr.Jagdish Thakur, Advocate, for respondent No.2.
Nemo for respondent No.3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice(Oral)

Legal representatives of the owner/insured have invoked the jurisdiction of this Court under Section 173 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short, the Act), and questioned the award, dated 21st April, 2010, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-I, Solan, H.P., (for short, the Tribunal), in Claim Petition No.15-S/2 of 2008, titled Jai Kishan versus Indu Singla and others, whereby the claim petition was allowed and compensation to the tune of Rs.57,000/- with interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum, from the date of filing of the claim petition till deposit, came to be awarded in favour of the claimant and the insurer was saddled with the liability, with right of recovery, (for short the "impugned award").

2. The claimant, the driver and the insurer have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, the same has attained finality so far as it relates to them.

3. Feeling aggrieved, the legal heirs of the owner/insured have questioned the impugned award on the ground that the Tribunal has not properly appreciated the evidence inasmuch the driver of the offending vehicle was having a valid and effective driving licence to drive the offending vehicle.

4. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record.

5. Admittedly, the vehicle involved in the accident was Mahindra Pick Up bearing No.HP-15B-0249, which is a Light Motor Vehicle, as has been held by this Court in FAO No.354 of 2006, titled National Insurance Co. Ltd. vs. Gopal Sahi and others, decided on 4th April, 2014, FAO No.396 of 2014, titled Gurmail Singh and another vs. Kamla Devi and others, decided on 6th November, 2015 and FAO No.229 of 2011, titled Sanjeev Kumar vs. Manmohan Singh and another, decided on 1st July, 2016, and various other judgments. The driver of the offending vehicle was having a valid and effective driving licence to drive a Light Motor Vehicle.

6. It was for the insurer to plead and prove that the insured/owner has committed willful breach, has failed to do so. Thus, it can safely be held that the owner was not in breach.

7. Having said so, the insurer is saddled with the liability. The insurer is directed to deposit the entire amount with interest as awarded by the Tribunal within a period of eight weeks from today and on deposit, the Registry is directed to release the same in favour of the claimant through his bank account. The statutory amount deposited by the appellants at the time of filing of the instant appeal is awarded as costs in favour of the claimant and the said amount be released in favour of the claimant forthwith.

8. The impugned award is modified, as indicated above and the appeal is allowed.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

Rajinder Sharma .....Appellant

Versus

Haryana Roadways and others ..... Respondents

FAO(MVA) NO.440 of 2010
Decided on: 02.09.2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 166- claimant had sustained permanent disability to the extent of 80% - he had purchased medicines worth Rs. 3,07,077/- - claimant will not be in a position to perform his duty due to the disability- claimant was working as salesman and was stated to be earning Rs. 8,000/- per month- however, no proof of monthly income was filed- now a days, even a labourer does not earn less than Rs. 4,000/- per month- hence, income of the claimant can be taken as Rs. 4,500/- per month - age of the claimant was 45 years- Tribunal had applied multiplier of 13, whereas, multiplier of 12 was to be applied- thus, claimant is entitled to Rs. 4500 x 12 x 12= Rs. 6,48,000/- under the head 'loss of future income' – Tribunal had awarded Rs. 75,000/-, under the head 'pain and suffering', which is on the lower side- compensation enhanced to Rs. 1,50,000/- under the head 'pain and suffering'- claimant is also held entitled to Rs. 1,50,000/- under the head 'loss of amenities of life'- claimant remained admitted in the hospital- he was attended by a person for three months- hence, he is entitled to Rs. 5,000 x 3 = Rs. 15,000/- under the head 'attendant charges'- claimant would have spent at least Rs. 200/- per day i.e. Rs. 6,000/- per month under the head 'special diet' – claimant would have hired taxi for approaching the hospital- amount of Rs. 25,000/- awarded under the head

'transportation charges'- claimant may have to undergo medical check-ups/treatment and compensation of Rs. 50,000/- awarded under the head 'future medical treatment'- thus, total compensation of Rs. 13,63,077/- awarded along with interest @ 7.5% per annum from the date of passing of the order till deposit. For the respondents: Mr.Rakesh Dogra, Advocate, for respondents No.1 and 2.
Mr.Jagdish Thakur, Advocate, for respondent No.3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice

Subject matter of this appeal is the award, dated 29th May, 2010, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-II, Kangra at Dharamshala, H.P., (for short, the Tribunal), in claim petition No.27/G/07/10, titled Rajinder Sharma vs. Haryana Roadways and others, whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.5,45,840/- with interest at the rate of 7% per annum, came to be awarded in favour of the claimant and respondents No.1 and 3 i.e. Haryana Roadways and ICICI Lombard General Insurance Co., respectively, were saddled with the liability, (for short the "impugned award").

2. Learned counsel for the insurer/respondent No.3 stated that the insurer has to satisfy its liability to the extent of Rs.5.00 lacs. Similar findings have been recorded by the Tribunal in the impugned award, which have not been challenged by the Haryana Roadways. Thus, in case the amount is to be enhanced, Haryana Roadways is to be saddled with the liability.

3. The Haryana Roadways, the ICICI Lombard and the driver have not questioned the impugned award on any count, thus, the same has attained finality so far as it relates to them.

4. Feeling aggrieved, the claimant has questioned the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

5. Thus, the only question needs to be determined in this appeal is – Whether the amount awarded by the Tribunal is adequate?

6. To answer the above question, it is necessary to give a brief reference of the facts of the case.

7. The claimant filed the Claim Petition under Section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988, (for short, the Act), for grant of compensation on account of injuries sustained by him in a vehicular accident, which had taken place on 2nd July, 2006 at about 4.40 a.m. It was averred in the claim petition that the claimant on the fateful day, boarded the bus bearing No.HR-38L-7817 from Delhi to his native place in District Kangra, H.P. The offending bus was being driven by its driver, namely, Jai Kishan rashly and negligently and when the same reached at Ropar, it collided with a Truck Tralla bearing No.RJ-19GA-0058, as a result of which the claimant sustained injuries, was taken to Civil Hospital, Ropar fromwhere he was referred to PGI, Chandigarh. Hence, the claim petition filed by the claimant-injured for grant of compensation to the tune of Rs.25.00 lacs, as per the break-ups given in the same.

8. Respondents resisted the claim petition by filing replies.

9. On the pleadings of the parties, the following issues came to be framed:

"1. Whether the petitioner had suffered injuries on account of rash and negligent driving of Bus No.HP-38L-7817 by respondent No.2? OPP

2. If issue No.1 is proved, to what amount of compensation and from whom the petitioner is entitled? OPP

3. Whether the respondent No.2 had not been in possession of valid and effective Driving licence, if so to what effect? OPR-3

4. Whether the petitioner had suffered injuries on account of negligence of driver of Bus NO.RJ-19GA-0058, if so to what effect? OPR-1

5. Whether the claim petition is not maintainable against respondent No.6? OPR-6

6. Whether the vehicle NO.RJ-19GA-0058 was being plied in contravention of terms and conditions of Insurance Policy, if so to what effect? OPR-6

7. Relief."

10. Parties have led evidence. The Tribunal, after scanning the evidence, allowed the claim petition and awarded compensation in favour of the claimant, as detailed above.

11. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record.

12. The learned counsel for the appellant/claimant argued that the compensation awarded by the Tribunal is on the lower side and is required to be enhanced. It was submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that the effect of 80% permanent disability suffered by the claimant has not been assessed by the Tribunal in its proper perspective and also has failed to award compensation under both heads i.e. pecuniary and non-pecuniary.

13. All the issues came to be decided against the respondents. They have not questioned the said findings. The claimant has also not questioned the same, except on the ground of adequacy of compensation, thus attained finality.

14. It is apt to record herein that an appeal under Section 173 of the Act is essentially similar to an appeal filed under Section 96 of the Code of Civil Procedure, (for short CPC). The Apex Court in its latest decision in case titled as U.P.S.R.T.C. vs. Km. Mamta and others, AIR 2016 SC 948, has held that an Appeal under Section 173 of the Act is essentially alike Section 96 of the CPC and, therefore, the Appellate Court is under legal obligation to decide all issues, after appreciating the entire evidence. It is apt to reproduce paragraph 24 of the said judgment hereunder:

"24. An appeal under Section 173 of the M.V. Act is essentially in the nature of first appeal alike Section 96 of the Code and, therefore, the High Court is equally under legal obligation to decide all issues arising in the case both on facts and law after appreciating the entire evidence. [See National Insurance Company Ltd. vs. Naresh Kumar & Ors., 2000 10 SCC 158 and State of Punjab & Anr. vs. Navdeep Kuur & Ors., (2004) 13 SCC 680]."

15. Thus, this Court has determined all issues in terms of the mandate of Section 173 of the Act.

16. Coming to the controversy of adequacy of compensation, it has been proved on record that the one leg of the claimant was amputated. Disability certificate has been proved on record as Ext.PW-1/F which shows that the claimant-injured sustained 80% disability, which is permanent in nature. It has also been proved on record that the claimant remained under treatment for a pretty long time.

17. The Apex Court in R.D. Hattangadi versus M/s Pest Control (India) Pvt. Ltd. & others, reported in AIR 1995 SC 755, Arvind Kumar Mishra versus New India Assurance Co. Ltd. & another, 2010 AIR SCW 6085, Ramchandrappa versus The Manager, Royal Sundaram Aliance Insurance Company Limited, 2011 AIR SCW 4787 and Kavita versus Deepak and others, 2012 AIR SCW 4771, has clearly laid down the principles as to how compensation has to be awarded in cases where the claimants have suffered permanent disability and how the assessment is to be made.

18. The Apex Court in its latest decision in Jakir Hussein vs. Sabir and others, (2015) 7 SCC 252, while discussing its earlier pronouncements, observed that in injury cases, the compensation would include not only the actual expenses incurred, but the compensation has to be assessed keeping in view the struggle which the injured has to face throughout his life due to the permanent disability and the amount likely to be incurred for future medical treatment, loss of amenities of life, pain and suffering to undergo for the whole life etc. It is apt to reproduce paragraphs 11 and 18 of the said decision hereunder:

> "11. With regard to the pain, suffering and trauma which have been caused to the appellant due to his crushed hand, it is contended that the compensation awarded by the Tribunal was meagre and insufficient. It is not in dispute that the appellant had remained in the hospital for a period of over three months. It is not possible for the courts to make a precise assessment of the pain and trauma suffered by a person whose arm got crushed and has suffered permanent disability due to the accident that occurred. The appellant will have to struggle and face different challenges as being handicapped permanently. Therefore, in all such cases, the Tribunals and the courts should make a broad estimate for the purpose of determining the amount of just and reasonable compensation under pecuniary loss. Admittedly, at the time of accident, the appellant was a young man of 33 years. For the rest of his life, the appellant will suffer from the trauma of not being able to do his normal work of his job as a driver. Therefore, it is submitted that to meet the ends of justice it would be just and proper to award him a sum of Rs.1,50,000/- towards pain, suffering and trauma caused to him and a further amount of Rs.1,50,000/- for the loss of amenities and enjoyment of life.
> 18. Further, we refer to the case of Rekha Jain & Anr. v. National Insurance Co. Ltd., 2013 8 SCC 389 wherein this Court examined catena of cases and principles to be borne in mind while granting compensation under the heads of (i) pain, suffering and (ii) loss of amenities and so on. Therefore, as per the principles laid down in the case of Rekha Jain & Anr. and considering the suffering undergone by the appellant herein, and it will persist in future also and therefore, we are of the view to grant Rs.1,50,000/- towards the pain, suffering and trauma which will be undergone by the appellant throughout his life. Further, as he is not in a position to move freely, we additionally award Rs.1,50,000/- towards loss of amenities & enjoyment of life and happiness."

19. The claim of the appellant for enhancement has to be tested in view of the principles laid down by the Apex Court in the decisions supra.

20. Admittedly, the claimant suffered 80% permanent disability, remained admitted in PGI, Chandigarh and in Baraj Life-Care Hospital & Trauma Centre, Jalandhar. The claimant has proved on record bills in respect of the expenses incurred by him for purchase of medicines etc. as Exts.P-1 to P-63. As per these bills, the total expenditure incurred by the claimant on the purchase of medicines comes to Rs.3,07,077/-. The Tribunal has awarded only a sum of Rs.50,000/-, without taking into account the medical bills proved on record by the claimant, which amount is on the lower side.

21. In view of the above, a sum of Rs.3,07,077/- is awarded in favour of the claimant-injured under the head medical expenses incurred.

22. The next question to be determined is whether the permanent disability suffered by the claimant has affected his earning capacity. The claimant has specifically pleaded and proved that due to the accident, his one leg was amputated and that he had suffered 80% permanent disability, as is clear from Ext.PW-1/F i.e. disability certificate. Thus, it can safely be concluded that he would not be able to perform his job, and thus, the injury suffered by him has affected his earning capacity completely, leave apart distorting his physical frame.

23. It has been pleaded that the claimant was working as Salesman with Sai Baba Traders New Delhi and was earning Rs.8,000/- per month. Reliable evidence has not been led by the claimant in order to hold that the monthly income of the claimant, at the time of accident, was Rs.8,000/-, as was pleaded in the claim petition. Now-a-days, even a labourer does not earn less than Rs.4,500/- per month. Thus, the monthly income of the injured, by exercising guess work, can be said to be Rs.4,500/- per month.

24. In view of the above, the next question arises as to what is the just and appropriate multiplier applicable in the present case. It has been pleaded that, at the time of accident, the claimant was 45 years of age. The Tribunal has fallen into an error in applying the multiplier of 13. Having regard to the judgment of the Apex Court in Sarla Verma (Smt.) and others vs. Delhi Transport Corporation and another, (2009) 6 SCC 121, which decision was also upheld by the larger Bench of the Apex Court in Reshma Kumari and others vs. Madan Mohan and another, 2013 AIR (SCW) 3120 read with the 2nd Schedule attached with the Act, it is held that multiplier of '12' is just and appropriate, and is applied accordingly.

25. Having said so, the claimant is held entitled to Rs.4,500 x 12 x 12 = Rs. 6,48,000/- under the head 'loss of future income'.

26. Apart from the above, The Tribunal has awarded Rs.75,000/-, under the head 'pain and suffering', which, in the facts of the case, is on the lower side. The Tribunal has lost sight of the fact that because of the accident, the physical frame of the claimant has been shattered, the claimant suffered a lot, which is evident from the fact that one leg of the claimant was amputated. Not only this, because of the disability suffered by the claimant, he has to struggle throughout his life. In the given circumstances, read with the law laid down by the Apex Court, the claimant is held entitled to Rs.1,50,000/- under the head 'pain and sufferings'.

27. The claimant is also deprived of all comforts and amenities, thus, is entitled to Rs.1,50,000/- under the head 'loss of amenities of life'.

28. In view of the discussion made hereinabove, the claimant is also entitled to attendant charges at least for the period for which he remained admitted in the hospital. The Tribunal in paragraph 21 of the impugned award has noted that the claimant, who appeared as PW-1, had stated that his wife remained with him for three months during the period he remained admitted in the hospital. Accordingly, by guess work, it is held that the claimant would have spent Rs.5,000/- per month on attendant charges and accordingly, held entitled to Rs.5,000 x 3 = Rs.15,000/- under the head 'attendant charges'.

29. The claimant would have also spent at least 200/- per day i.e. Rs.6,000/- per month on account of special diet during the period of treatment. Accordingly, the claimant is held entitled to Rs.6,000/- x 3 = Rs.18,000/- under the head 'special diet'.

30. The Tribunal has not awarded anything under the head transportation charges. It is obvious that the claimant, to approach the hospital for treatment from time to time, would have hired taxi and would have spent a considerable amount on account of transportation. Therefore, I deem it proper to award Rs.25,000/- under the head 'transportation charges'.

31. In addition to above, the claimant may have to undergo medical check-ups/treatment, at intervals, throughout his life. I deem it proper to award Rs.50,000/- under the head 'future medical treatment'.

32. Having glance of the above discussion, the claimant is awarded Rs.13,63,077/-, under different heads, as under:

Sl.No.	Heads	Amount
1	Medical expenses incurred	Rs.3,07,077/-
2.	Loss of future income	Rs.6,48,000/-
3.	Pain and sufferings	Rs.1,50,000/-
4.	Loss of amenities of life	Rs.1,50,000/-
5.	Attendant charges	Rs.15,000/-
6.	Special diet	Rs.18,000/-
7.	Transportation charges	Rs.25,000/-
8.	Future medical treatment	Rs.50,000/-
	Total	Rs.13,63,077/-

33. The amount shall carry interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum from the date of passing of the impugned award, till deposit.

34. In view of the above discussion, the appeal is allowed and the amount of compensation is enhanced. As stated by the learned counsel for the insurer that the insurer has already deposited the amount to the extent of its liability, therefore, the Haryana Roadways i.e. respondent No.1 is directed to deposit the enhanced amount within a period of six weeks from today and on deposit, the Registry is directed to release the entire amount, alongwith interest, in favour of the claimant, through his bank account after proper identification.

35. The appeal stands disposed of accordingly.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (oral)

Both these appeals are outcome of the award dated 9th August, 2011, passed by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal-I, Solan, District Solan, H.P. for short, 'the Tribunal', in Claim Petition No. 13-S/2 of 2008, titled Shri Ropesh Gupta versus Shri Balwinder Singh & others, whereby the claim petition was allowed and compensation to the tune of Rs.16,90,000/- with interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum, was granted in favour of the claimant and respondents No. 2 & 3 in the claim petition i.e. appellants in FAO No. 14 of 2012 were saddled with liability, for short 'the impugned award'.

2. The legal heirs of driver have not questioned the impugned award, on any count. Thus, it has attained finality, so far it relates to them.

3. The owner, i.e. appellant in FAO 14 of 2012, has questioned the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of compensation and the other grounds taken in the memo of appeal.

4. The claimant, by the medium of FAO No. 456 of 2011, has questioned the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of compensation.

5. This judgment will determine both these appeals for the reason that the same are outcome of the one motor vehicular accident and the issue involved in these appeals is the same.

Brief Facts:

6. Claimant-injured Ropesh became victim of the motor vehicular accident, which was allegedly caused by driver, namely, Balwinder Singh, while driving bus bearing registration No. HR-37A-4958, belonging to respondents No. 2 & 3 in the claim petition, rashly and negligently, near HRTC workshop, Chambaghat at Solan on 20.11.2005, at about 8.40. FIR No. 300/2005, dated 20.11.2005, under Sections 279, 337 & 338 of the Indian Penal Code, for short

'IPC' and Section 187 of the Motor Vehicles Act, for short 'the Act' was registered against the driver.

7. The claimant-injured filed claim petition before the Tribunal for grant of compensation to the tune of 50,00,000/- as per the break-ups given in the claim petition.

8. It is stated in the claim petition the claimant was admitted in so many hospitals and finally, he was referred to PGI Chandigarh, where he remained admitted for a long time, has suffered permanent disability to the extent of 80%, which has shattered his physical frame and became dependant.

9. The respondents contested the claim petition on the grounds taken in their memo of objections.

10. Following issues came to be framed by the Tribunal:

"1. Whether the petitioner received injuries and thereafter ailment the accident caused due to rash and negligent driving of respondent No. 1? ……OPP

1(a) Whether the petitioner has received injuries and suffered ailment which are connected with the accident in question and the petitioner is entitled to compensation on account of that also? …OPP

2. If issue No. 1 is proved in affirmative to what amount of compensation the petitioner is entitled and from whom? …OPP

3. Whether the petition is not maintainable against the respondents as no accident took place with the vehicle of the respondent on 20.11.2005 with bus No. HR-37-A-4958? …OPR

4. Relief."

11. The claimant-injured examined H.C. Yadav Chand (PW-1), Devender Sharma (PW-3), Naresh Kumar (PW-4), Madan Lal (PW-5), Ravi Kumar (PW-6), Dr. Ashish Sharma (PW-7), Dr. R.K. Sharma (PW-8), Sunil Garg (PW-9) and Manjeet Thakur (PW-10). The claimant-injured also appeared himself in the witness box as PW-2. On the other hand, respondents No. 2 & 3 in the claim petition, have examined Jai Raj as RW-1, who is their employee.

12. The Tribunal after scanning the evidence, oral as well as documentary, held that the claimant-injured has proved that driver, namely, Balwinder Singh, had driven the offending vehicle rashly and negligently and caused the accident, in which the claimant-injured sustained injuries.

Issue No. 1.

13. I have gone through the entire record. I am of the considered view that the claimant-injured has proved by leading cogent evidence that driver had driven the offending vehicle, rashly and negligently and caused the accident, in which the claimant injured sustained injuries. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on Issue No. 1 are upheld.

14. Before dealing with Issues No. 1(a) and 2, I deem it proper to deal with Issue No. 3.

Issue No. 3.

15. It was for the respondents in the claim petition to plead and prove that the claim petition was not maintainable, have not led any evidence, thus have failed to discharge the onus. However, this issue is covered by the findings returned by the Tribunal on Issue No. 1. Accordingly, it is held that the Tribunal has rightly decided this issue in favour of the claimant-injured and against the respondents.

Issues No. 1(a) and 2

16. These issues are inter-connected, hence are taken up together for determination.

17. The Apex Court in R.D. Hattangadi versus M/s Pest Control (India) Pvt. Ltd. & others, reported in AIR 1995 SC 755, Arvind Kumar Mishra versus New India Assurance Co. Ltd. & another, 2010 AIR SCW 6085, Ramchandrappa versus The Manager, Royal Sundaram Aliance Insurance Company Limited, 2011 AIR SCW 4787 and Kavita versus Deepak and others, 2012 AIR SCW 4771, has clearly laid down the principles as to how compensation has to be awarded in cases where the claimants have suffered permanent disability and how the assessment is to be made.

18. I have gone through the statements of Dr. Ashish Sharma (PW-7) and Dr. R.K. Sharma (PW-8), who have stated that the claimant-injured has sustained injuries, which resulted in permanent disability to the extent of 80%, was admitted in the hospital and also remained as an outdoor patient. They have also given details of the injuries suffered by the claimant-injured and the expenses incurred. The Tribunal has recorded findings in paras-8 to 11 of the impugned award.

19. I am of the considered view that 80% permanent disability has not only affected his income, but also shattered his physical frame.

20. The Tribunal has held that the monthly salary of the claimant-injured was Rs.10,500/- per month and he has suffered loss of earning to the tune of Rs.8,000/- per month.

21. Admittedly, the age of the claimant-injured was 33 years at the time of accident. The Tribunal has rightly applied the multiplier of '15', in view of the 2nd Schedule appended to the Motor Vehicles Act read with the ratio laid down by the Apex Court in Sarla Verma (Smt.) and others versus Delhi Transport Corporation and another, reported in AIR 2009 SC 3104, upheld by a larger Bench of the Apex Court in a case titled as Reshma Kumari & others versus Madan Mohan and another, reported in 2013 AIR (SCW) 3120 read with the judgment rendered by the Apex Court in case titled as Munna Lal Jain & another versus Vipin Kumar Sharma & others, reported in 2015 AIR SCW 3105.

22. The Tribunal has rightly awarded compensation to the tune of Rs.8,000/- x 12 x 15 = 14,40,000/- under the head 'loss of future income'.

23. The Apex Court in its latest decision in Jakir Hussein vs. Sabir and others, (2015) 7 SCC 252, while discussing its earlier pronouncements, observed that in injury cases, the compensation would include not only the actual expenses incurred, but the compensation has to be assessed keeping in view the struggle which the injured has to face throughout his life due to the permanent disability and the amount likely to be incurred for future medical treatment, loss of amenities of life, pain and suffering to undergo for the whole life etc. It is apt to reproduce paragraphs 11 and 18 of the said decision hereunder:

> "11. With regard to the pain, suffering and trauma which have been caused to the appellant due to his crushed hand, it is contended that the compensation awarded by the Tribunal was meagre and insufficient. It is not in dispute that the appellant had remained in the hospital for a period of over three months. It is not possible for the courts to make a precise assessment of the pain and trauma suffered by a person whose arm got crushed and has suffered permanent disability due to the accident that occurred. The appellant will have to struggle and face different challenges as being handicapped permanently. Therefore, in all such cases, the Tribunals and the courts should make a broad estimate for the purpose of determining the amount of just and reasonable compensation under pecuniary loss. Admittedly, at the time of accident, the appellant was a young man of 33 years. For the rest of his life, the appellant will suffer from the trauma of not being able to do his normal work of his job as a driver. Therefore, it is submitted that to meet the ends of justice it would be just and proper to award him a sum of Rs.1,50,000/- towards pain, suffering and trauma caused to him and a further amount of Rs.1,50,000/- for the loss of amenities and enjoyment of life.

18. Further, we refer to the case of Rekha Jain & Anr. v. National Insurance Co. Ltd., 2013 8 SCC 389 wherein this Court examined catena of cases and principles to be borne in mind while granting compensation under the heads of (i) pain, suffering and (ii) loss of amenities and so on. Therefore, as per the principles laid down in the case of Rekha Jain & Anr. and considering the suffering undergone by the appellant herein, and it will persist in future also and therefore, we are of the view to grant Rs.1,50,000/- towards the pain, suffering and trauma which will be undergone by the appellant throughout his life. Further, as he is not in a position to move freely, we additionally award Rs.1,50,000/- towards loss of amenities & enjoyment of life and happiness."

24. In view of the ratio laid down by the apex Court in the judgment, supra, I am of the considered view that the claimant-injured is entitled to compensation to the tune of Rs.1,50,000/- under the head 'pain and sufferings' and Rs.1,50,000/- under the head 'loss of amenities of life'.

25. The documents Ext. PW-2/B to Ext. PW-2/F, Ext. P-1 to Ext. P-108, Ext. P-109 to Ext. P-112, Ext. P-136 to Ext. P141, Ext. P-143 to Ext. P-152 do disclose that the claimant-injured had undergone surgical intervention.

26. It appears that the Tribunal after making guess work, has rightly granted compensation to the tune of Rs.2,00,000/- under the head 'medical expenses', is accordingly upheld.

27. The Tribunal has not granted compensation under the head 'expenses for future treatment'. I deem it proper to grant compensation to the tune of Rs.50,000/- under the head 'expenses for future treatment'.

28. The Tribunal has rightly awarded interest at the rate of 7.5% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition, is accordingly upheld.

29. Accordingly, the claimant-injured is held entitled to compensation with 7.5 % interest per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition, under the various heads as follows:

(i) loss of future income :	Rs.14,40,000/-
(ii) pain and sufferings:	Rs. 1,50,000/-
(iii) loss of amenities of life:	Rs.1,50,000/-
(iv) medical expenses:	Rs.2,00,000/-
(v) expenses for future treatment:	Rs. 50,000/-
Total:	Rs.19,90,000/-

30. Viewed thus, the amount of compensation is enhanced and the impugned award is modified, as indicated above.

31. The award amount stands deposited before the Registry. The Registry is directed to release the award amount in favour of the claimant, strictly in terms of the conditions contained in the impugned award, through payees' account cheque or by depositing the same in his account.

32. The enhanced amount be deposited within eight weeks. On deposit, the Registry is directed to release the same in favour of the claimant.

33. Accordingly, FAO No. 456 of 2011 filed by the claimant-injured is allowed and FAO No. 14 of 2012 is dismissed.

34. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on Tribunal's file.

FAO (MVA) No. 196 of 2011.
Date of decision: 2nd September, 2016

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 149- Claimants pleaded that deceased was travelling in the vehicle along with goods- owner and driver admitted that deceased was travelling in the vehicle with goods- insurer has not led any evidence to prove that deceased was gratuitous passenger- hence, insurer was rightly held liable. (Para-5)

For the appellant: Mr.Ajay Sharma, Advocate.

For the respondents: Mr. Rajiv Rai, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 and 2.
Respondents No. 3 and 4 already ex parte.
Mr. G.C. Gupta, Sr. Advocate with Ms. Meera Devi, Advocate, for respondent No.5.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice, (Oral)

This appeal is directed against the judgment and award dated 23.3.2011, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Kinnaur Civil Division, at Rampur Bushahr, H.P. in MAC Petition No. 35 of 2006, titled Smt. Shetu Devi and others versus The Oriental Insurance Co. Ltd. and another, for short "the Tribunal", whereby compensation to the tune of Rs.7,90,500/- alongwith interest @ 7.5% per annum, came to be awarded in favour of the claimants and insured came to be saddled with the liability, hereinafter referred to as "the impugned award", for short.

2. Claimants had sought compensation by the medium of claim petition before the Tribunal, which was later on amended.

3. Respondents filed the replies to the amended claim petition and following issues came to be framed.

(i) Whether the deceased Raj Kumar died on 24.3.2006 at Battly Nallah near Ranabagh due to rash and negligent driving of the driver of vehicle No. HP-63-0674, as alleged? OPP.

(ii) Whether the petitioners are entitled for compensation, if so, what amount of and from whom? OPP.

(iii) Whether the deceased was travelling as gratuitous passenger ion the vehicle and whole liability is not covered nor any premium has been charged in respect of gratuitous/unauthorized passengers as per the insurance policy and thus respondent NO. 1 is not liable to indemnify the insured OPR-1.

(iv) Whether the driver of the offending vehicle was not possessing a valid and effective driving license at the time of the accident and respondent NO. 1 is not liable to pay any claim OPR-1.

(v) Whether respondent NO. 1 is not liable to indemnify insured as there was violation of the mandatory terms and conditions of the insurance policy OPR-1.

(vi) Whether the petition is not maintainable on behalf of the petitioners as the petitioners are not the legal heirs of the deceased OPR-2.

(vii) Relief.

4. There is no dispute viz-a-viz issues No. 1 and 2, except "from whom" and issue No. 6. The only dispute revolves around issues No. 3 to 5. The Tribunal has fallen in an error in deciding issue No. 3 for the following reasons.

5. It is the specific case of the claimants that the deceased was travelling in the offending vehicle alongwith the goods. Owner and driver while filing replies have admitted that the deceased was travelling in the offending vehicle with the goods. The claimants have led evidence and have proved that the deceased was travelling in the offending vehicle as owner of the goods. However, the insurer has not led any evidence to prove that the deceased was a gratuitous passenger. Accordingly, it is held that the deceased was not a gratuitous passenger but was travelling in the offending vehicle alongwith goods.

Issue No.4.

6. The insurer has not questioned the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No. 4. However, I have gone through the record. It is proved that the driver was having a valid and effective driving licence. Thus, the owner has not committed any willful breach. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on this issue are upheld.

Issue No.5.

7. The Tribunal has recorded the findings on this issue in favour of the owner/insured but has stated that since the finings on issue No. 3 are against the owner thus, issue No. 5 was also decided against the insured which is not legally correct. The positive findings of the Tribunal are in para 18, perusal whereof does reveal that the owner has not committed any willful breach. Viewed thus, the findings recorded in concluding para 18 of the impugned award are set aside and issue No. 5 is decided against the insurer.

8. The factum of insurance is admitted and the insurer is saddled with the liability.

9. The insurer is directed to deposit the amount within eight weeks from today. On deposit, the Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimant, through payees' cheque account or by depositing the same in their bank accounts.

10. Out of the entire amount of compensation, Rs.1,50,000/- be released in favour of claimant No.1 and rest of the amount be released in favour of claimants No. 2 to 4 in equal shares.

11. The statutory amount of Rs.25,000/- deposited by the appellant is paid as cost in favour of the claimants.

12. Viewed thus, the appeal is allowed and the impugned award is modified, as indicated hereinabove.

13. Send down the record forthwith, after placing a copy of this judgment.

Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005- Section 21- Marriage between the parties was solemnized as per Hindu Rites and Custom- a male child was born – wife filed an application against the husband- husband filed an application seeking permission to meet his minor son, which was allowed- wife filed an appeal, which was dismissed- held, that Court can grant temporary custody of any child or children to the aggrieved person, i.e. mother or the person making an application on her behalf- custody of child was already with mother- father had sought visitation right to see his son, which right was granted to him by the Magistrate- in case of denial of visitation right to father, child would be deprived of father's love and affection- father cannot be forced to seek remedy under Guardians and Wards Act or Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, because it would lead to multiplicity of proceedings- the endeavour of the Court should be to cut-short the litigation- petition allowed- order passed by Sessions Judge quashed and order passed by Judicial Magistrate restored. (Para-6 to 8)

For the petitioner: Mr. Subhash Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. Pankaj Chauhan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Rajiv Sharma, Judge:

This petition is instituted against the impugned order dated 23.3.2016 rendered by learned Sessions Judge, Una, H.P., in Criminal Appeal Nos. 70/2015 and 71/2015.

2 The key facts necessary for the adjudication of the petition are that the marriage between the parties was solemnized as per Hindu rites and customs and out of the wedlock, a male child was born. The respondent filed an application under Sections 12, 17, 18, 19, 20, 22 and 23 of the Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005 (hereinafter referred to as the "Act" for brevity sake) against the petitioner and his mother, Rupindera Devi. The application was contested by the petitioner. During the pendency of the aforesaid application, the petitioner also filed an application seeking permission to meet his minor son, Ayudeep, who was in the custody of respondent. The application was contested by the respondent. The learned Judicial Magistrate, 1st Class allowed the application vide order dated 26.10.2015. Feeling aggrieved with the order dated, 26.10.2015, the respondent filed an appeal (Cr. Appeal No.70/2015), whereas the petitioner also filed an appeal (Cr.Appeal No.71/2015). The learned Sessions Judge while allowing the appeal preferred by the respondent dismissed the appeal preferred by the petitioner vide order dated 23.3.2016. Hence, this petition.

3 Mr. Subhash Sharma, learned Advocate appearing for the petitioner, has vehemently argued that the appeal was maintainable under Section 21 of the Act.

4 Mr. Pankaj Chauhan, learned Advocate appearing for the respondent, has supported the impugned order dated 23.3.2016 passed by the learned Sessions Judge.

5 I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the orders dated 26.10.2015 and 23.3.2016 carefully.

6 Section 2(d) of the Act defines "custody order" an order granted in terms of Section 21. Section 2(a) defines "aggrieved person" to mean any woman who is, or has been, in a domestic relationship with the respondent and who alleges to have been subjected to any act of domestic violence by the respondent. Section 2(q) defines "respondent" to mean any adult male person who is, or has been, in a domestic relationship with the aggrieved person and against whom the aggrieved person has sought any relief under this Act. Section 21 reads as under:-

> "Custody orders- Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force, the Magistrate may, at any stage of hearing of the application for protection order or for any other relief under this Act, grant temporary custody of any child or children to the aggrieved person or the person making an application on her behalf and specify, if necessary, the arrangements for visit of such child or children by the respondent."

7. Section 21 starts with non obstante clause. It is evident from the plain language employed in Section 21 that the Court may, at any stage of hearing of the application for protection order or for any other relief under this Act, grant temporary custody of any child or children to the aggrieved person, i.e. mother or the person making an application on her behalf and specify, if necessary, the arrangements for visit of such child or children by the respondent i.e. father can also be ordered. The proviso attached to Section 21 stipulates that if the Magistrate is of the opinion that any visit of the respondent may be harmful to the interests of the child or children, the Magistrate shall refuse to allow such visit.

8. In the instant case, custody of the child is already with her mother. The respondent has not asked for custody of the child for the simple reason that the child is already in her custody. It is the respondent, i.e. father, who has sought merely visitation rights to see his son, which right was granted to him by the learned Judicial Magistrate, 1st Class vide order dated 26.10.2015, that too, on limited days, i.e. 2nd and 4th Saturday of each month between 3.00 P.M. to 5.00 P.M. In case the visitation right is not given to the petitioner, minor child would be deprived of father's love and affection. The paramount consideration is welfare of the child. The petitioner could not be forced to seek remedy either under Guardians and Wards Act, 1890 and Hindu Minority and Guardianship Act, 1956, as observed by the learned Sessions Judge because it would lead to multiplicity of litigation. The Act is a self-contained code. The endeavour of the Court should be to cut-short the litigation and to ensure that the child gets love and affection of both parents, i.e. mother and father. The approach of the Court should be practical to workout the modalities in a practical manner by evolving the process, whereby the child suffers minimum trauma. The interpretation of statute should be purposive.

9. Consequently, in view of analysis and discussion made hereinabove, the petition is allowed and the impugned orders dated 23.3.2016 rendered by learned Sessions Judge, Una, H.P., in Criminal Appeal Nos. 70/2015 and 71/2015 are quashed and set aside. The order, dated 26.10.2015 passed by the learned Judicial Magistrate, 1st Class, Court No.1, Una in application No.362-I-14 is restored. Pending application(s), if any also stands disposed of. No order as to costs.

Date of Decision: 02.09.2016.

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioner filed an application seeking admission in B. Tech three years course under Lateral Entry Scheme- she was called for counseling – however, she was not given admission- it was contended that seat falling vacant in general (IRDP) category was wrongly allotted to respondent No. 2 and that seat should have been allotted to the petitioner- held, that when the seat allotted to General (IRDP) Category was abandoned, the counseling for candidates belonging to General (main) category was in progress- respondent No. 2 was next in merit and he had obtained the seat, which had fallen vacant- petitioner is next in the merit in the General (Main) Category and in case any seat falls vacant, claim may be considered for admission against that seat- petition dismissed. (Para-3 to 6)

For the petitioner Mr. B.M. Chauhan, Advocate.
For the respondents Mr. Surinder Sharma, Advocate, for respondent No.1.
Mr. Ajay Kumar Dhiman, Advocate, for respondent No.2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Dharam Chand Chaudhary, Judge (oral).

The petitioner after doing her matriculation, passed three years diploma course in Civil Engineering from Government Polytechnic College, Sundernagar, District Mandi, H.P. In Engineering Colleges in the State, a person holding diploma in any Engineering stream is eligible to seek admission in B. Tech three years course under Lateral Entry Scheme. The petitioner being eligible for seeking admission in B. Tech course under the scheme had submitted her Admission Form online to the first respondent from main General category. Her candidature was considered and she called for counseling schedule to be held on 25th July, 2016 for General Category (Main) and its sub-reserved category, such as Defence, Freedom Fighter, Physically Challenged, IRDP, Sports and Backward classes.

2. In terms of Clause-n of Item No.6, "Admission Procedure", at pages 10-11, in the Admission Brochure, (Annexure P-1), counseling of the candidates belonging to sub-reserved categories before that of General (Main) Category candidate was required to be conducted. The seat (s), if any, left vacant in such sub-reserved categories were thereafter to be transferred to General (Main) category at the end of last round of counseling of the concerned category. Accordingly, on 25th July, 2016, counseling for sub-reserved categories of General category was conducted first.

3. We are concerned in this Writ Petition qua the admission against three seats reserved for General (IRDP) sub-category. Against these three seats Ms. Preetika Chauhan, Shri Manish Thakur and Shri Rajender Kumar, being on merits were offered admission. However, during the course of counseling conducted simultaneously and on the same day of the candidates belonging to General (Main) category, Shri Manish Thakur, aforesaid, who was offered admission against one of the seats in the sub-category General (IRDP) had also secured position on merit in General (Main), and as such opted for a seat in another Engineering College of his choice from this category and abandoned the seat of sub-reserved category General (IRDP) against which he was already offered admission in a college perhaps not of his choice. Against the seat abandoned in General (IRDP) category by Shri Manish Thakur, aforesaid, respondent No.2, who was next in merit in that category, opted for that seat there and then and he has been granted admission against the said seat.

4. The petitioner, who was next in merit in General (Main), claims that since the counseling for General (IRDP) category was over, therefore, in terms of Clause-n of "Admission Procedure" referred to hereinabove, the seat in sub-reserved category General (IRDP) fallen vacant on account of Shri Manish Thakur aforesaid having abandoned the same should have been given to the candidate next in merit in General (Main) category.

5. Learned counsel representing the petitioner has forcefully contended that the seat fallen vacant in General (IRDP) category has wrongly been offered to respondent No.2 next in merit in that category, as according to him the counseling for sub-reserved categories of General (Main) was already over. We are afraid that any such interpretation to the provision contained under the "Admission Brochure" can be given for the reason that admission for General category including its sub categories was scheduled to be held on 25th July, 2016. When Shri Manish Thakur, aforesaid has abandoned the seat offered to him in General (IRDP) category, the counseling for candidates belonging to General (Main) category, was in progress at that time. Since, his name falls in merit in General (Main) category also, therefore, with a view to opt a better College of his choice, he abandoned the seat in General (IRDP) category and opted the seat in General (Main) on merits. Respondent No.2 was next in merit from General (IRDP) category and as the admission for sub-reserved General category and General (Main) being conducted simultaneously and on the same day was in progress, therefore, he opted for the seat fallen vacant in sub-category General (IRDP) and has rightly been offered the admission in the Course. The seat in General (IRDP) could have only been given to a candidate belonging to General (Main) category had there been no other eligible candidate available in General (IRDP) category. Since in that category respondent No. 2 not only in merit but was present also, therefore, it cannot be said by any stretch of imagination that admission of the said respondent in the Course is contrary to the provisions contained under the Admission Brochure.

6. The petitioner no doubt is next in merit in General (Main) category. We hope and trust that in case any seat under Lateral Entry Scheme in any Government College is available and if she can be considered for admission against any such seat, of course, in terms of the provisions under the "Admission Brochure", respondent No. 1 may consider her for admission against such seat. In the event of the admission, if granted to the petitioner, however, shall not be treated, as a precedent in future. The petitioner to produce a copy of this judgment before respondent No.1, for the needful.

7. The writ petition is however, dismissed, with the above observations, so also the pending application (s), if any. Copy dasti.

Cr. Appeal No. 194 of 2012
Date of decision: 02.09.2016

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 18- Police party was present at Dogla Nullah- accused got down from the bus and tried to run away on seeing the police- he was apprehended and his search was conducted during which 800 grams opium was found from his possession - accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that no efforts were made by the police to associate any independent witness- plea that there was no inhabitation in the vicinity was not established- testimonies of prosecution witnesses are contradictory and inconsistent- prosecution version was shrouded in suspicion – trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused in view of the contradictions - prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal dismissed. (Para-8 to 22)

For the appellant: Mr. V.S. Chauhan, Additional Advocate General, Mr. Vikram Thakur, Deputy Advocate General and Mr. J.S. Guleria, Assistant Advocate General.

For the respondent: Mr. Sanjay Jaswal, Advocate.

Ajay Mohan Goel, J.:

By way of this appeal, State has challenged the judgment passed by the Court of learned Special Judge (II), Kinnaur at Rampur, in case RBT No. 10-AR/3 of 2008/2011 dated 05.09.2011, vide which, learned trial Court has acquitted the accused for commission of offence punishable under Section 18 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985

2. The case of the prosecution was that on 21.04.2008, a police party headed by HC Pune Ram and comprising of HHC Kashmi Ram, HHC Santosh Kumar and Constable Ishwari Ram, were present at Dogla Nullah in connection with Naka Bandi and general patrol duty. At around 6.45 A.M., one HRTC bus stopped 100 meters behind Dogla Nullah from which the accused got down. Thereafter, he started coming on foot towards Nagaan. When he saw the police party, he tried to escape, but he was apprehended by the police officials. On suspicion, that the said person (hereinafter referred to as the accused) was in possession of some narcotic substance, HC Pune Ram PW-9 obtained option of the accused as per the provision of Section 50 of the NDPS Act and thereafter, he conducted search of the bag of the accused and recovered 800 grams opium from the same. Two samples each weighing 25 grams were separated and the samples as well as bulk were converted into three separate parcels which were sealed with seal impression 'T'. NCB form was filled in triplicate and sample of seal was drawn and seal was handed over to PW-6 Kashmi Ram. Vide seizure Memo Ext. PW6/D, case property was also taken into possession. Rukka Ext. PW2/A was drawn and sent to the Police Station on the basis of which FIR Ext. PW2/B was reregistered. Case property was presented before PW-1 Rajinder Singh who resealed the same with seal impression 'X' and the same was thereafter deposited in the Malkhana. Special report was prepared on 22.04.2008 by HC Pune Ram and the same was sent to SDPO, Ani. On 23.04.2008 PW-1 HC Rajinder Singh sent one part of sample to FSL, Kandaghat and Chemical Examiner vide report Ext. PA opined that the contents of the sample were that of opium.

3. After completion of investigation, challan was filed and as a prima facie case was found as against the accused, accordingly he was charged for commission of offence punishable under Section 18 of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985, to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. Learned trial Court on the basis of material produced on record by the prosecution concluded that the prosecution had failed to establish the recovery of the opium from the exclusive and conscious possession of the accused beyond reasonable doubt and on these basis, the accused was acquitted by learned trial Court.

5. Mr. V.S. Chauhan, learned Additional Advocate General, argued that the judgment of acquittal passed by learned trial Court is perverse and the findings returned by learned trial Court were not sustainable either on facts or law. He submitted that learned trial Court failed to appreciate the prosecution evidence in the correct perspective and the reasonings returned by learned trial Court were manifestly unreasonable. According to Mr. Chauhan, learned trial Court had discarded the well reasoned and consistent testimony of the prosecution witnesses on material points without any cogent justification. He also submitted that learned trial Court took into consideration minor contradictions without appreciating that the evidence produced on record by the prosecution both ocular as well as documentary on material points was cogent and reliable. On these basis, it was submitted by Mr. Chauhan that the judgment of acquittal returned by learned trial Court required reversal and the accused be convicted for commission of offence punishable under Section 18 of the NDPS Act.

6. Mr. Sanjay Jaswal, learned counsel appearing for the respondent argued that the judgment passed by learned trial Court was neither perverse nor it could be said that the findings returned by learned trial Court in favour of the respondent were not sustainable either on facts or on law. According to Mr. Jaswal, judgment passed by learned trial court was a reasoned judgment, perusal of which demonstrated that learned trial Court after due appreciation of the entire material produced on record by the prosecution had come to the conclusion, and rightly so, that the prosecution had not been able to establish the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt. It was further argued by Mr. Jaswal that the respondent in fact was falsely implicated in the case and he had not committed the alleged offence for which was tried. As per him, the case putforth by the prosecution was highly improbable and this was evident from the fact that neither any independent witness was associated by the police at the time of search and seizure nor the prosecution could prove its case beyond reasonable doubt, as was held by learned trial Court. On these basis, he argued that the findings of acquittal returned by learned trial Court warranted no interference.

7. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and we have also gone through the records of the case as well as the judgment passed by learned trial Court.

8. A perusal of the record of the case demonstrates that no independent witness has been associated by the police at the time of search and seizure of the alleged contraband from the accused. Search and seizure of opium has been made vide Memo Ext. PW6/D by Investigating Officer Pune Ram which is witnessed by HHC Kashmi Ram and Constable Ishwari Ram. Investigating Officer HC Pune Ram entered the witness box as PW-9 and Constable Kashmi Ram entered the witness box as PW-6. Constable Ishwari Ram has not been examined by the prosecution.

9. In his statement PW-9 HC Pune Ram has stated that on 21.04.2008 at around 6.45 AM he alongwith HHC Kashmi Ram, HHC Santosh Kumar and Constable Ishwari Ram, were present at Dogla Nullah in connection with Nakabandi and general patrol duty. In the meantime one HRTC bus came and stopped 100 meters behind Dogla Nullah from which accused alighted and he started coming on foot towards Nagaan. He also stated that the said HRTC bus which was coming from Karana to Delhi was checked by them but no incriminating article was recovered from the bus. Thereafter, he deposed that the accused who had got down from the bus reached near the police party and when he saw the police party, he tried to escape but he was overpowered and apprehended by the police and as there was no habitation nearby nor any other person was present, accordingly, he joined HHC Kashmi Ram and Constable Ishwari Ram as witnesses and thereafter, he informed the accused person that he suspected the accused to be in possession of some narcotic substance. He thereafter informed the accused that his personal search was intended to be taken and accordingly, the accused was made aware about his legal right as to whether he wanted to be searched either in the presence of a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer. Accused opted to be searched by the police on the spot. This witness further deposed that vide Memo Ext. PW6/B search of the polythene bag being carried by the accused revealed 800 grams of opium which was recovered. Thereafter, this witness stated that two samples each weighing 25 grams were separated and made into parcels which were sealed with seal impression 'T' and the remaining bulk opium was put back into the same parcel and sealed with seal impression 'T'. NCB form Ext.PW1/B was filled in triplicate and specimen of seal was obtained and the seal was handed over to HHC Kashmi Ram. After preparation of search and seizure, Rukka was prepared and sent to Police Station Ani through HHC Santosh Kuma. Site plan was also prepared and statements of the witnesses were recorded. He also deposed that after returning back to the Police Station, the case property was presented before MHC Rajinder Singh alongwith NCB form and sample of seal. Next day, he prepared special report which was sent to SDPO, Ani. In his cross-examination, he stated that before leaving the Police Station he had asked Luder Singh to make entry in the daily diary about their departure. He further stated that they had left Police station on foot as there was no vehicle. He also deposed that when they were at Nagaan one bus came from Ani side at 5.45 A.M. which was checked by them. They had laid Naka on the spot where they had reached 10-15 minutes before Karana Delhi bus reached there. He also stated that they checked the passengers and their luggage in the bus. According to him, accused person reached the spot 5-10 minutes after the bus had left the spot. He also stated that Dogla Nullah was situated at a distance of about 1 K.M. from Navypul. He denied the suggestion that there were 4-5 houses situated above Navypul. He stated that it took them about 10 minutes to check the bus. He also stated that the personal search of the accused person was not conducted before search of his bag. He also stated that the weights and balance which he was carrying with him was his personal property. He stated that he had seized the opium at around 8.00 A.M. and thereafter, he had prepared the Rukka. He further stated that they left the spot at 12.30 P.M. He denied the suggestion that the polythene containing opium was recovered from inside the bus next to a person belonging to Soidhar, who was an Electrician and this fact was pointed out by the accused. He also denied the suggestion that the accused was falsely implicated in the case at the instance of person belonging to Soidhar.

10. PW-6 Kashmi Ram stated on oath that on 21.04.2008 he alonghwith HC Pune Ram, HHC Santosh Kumar and Constable Ishwari Ram were present at Dogla Nullah in connection with general patrol duty and detection of criminal cases. As per him, at around 6.45 A.M. one bus stopped at about 100 meters behind Dogla Nullah from which accused alighted and started walking towards Nagaan. The said bus was going from Tarana to Delhi. The bus was checked by the police party but nothing incriminating was found. When the accused reached near the police party, he was holding a polythene bag in his hand and he tried to escape but he was overpowered and apprehended by the police. As per this witness, there was no habitation nearby nor any person was available and, therefore, HC Pune Ram joined him and Constable Ishwari Ram as witnesses and thereafter, conducted search and seizure of the contraband. In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that they left the Police Station at 3.00 A.M. for Nagaan on foot which was situated at a distance of 5 KMs from Police Station to Dogla Nullah, which was situated at a distance of 400-500 meters from Navypul. According to him, when the police party left Police Station, rapat was recorded in the daily diary. He further stated that they were present at the spot for about 30 minutes before the bus had stopped at Dogla Nullah. He also stated that the place where they ha laid Naka road was visible upto a distance of 100 meters. This witness further deposed that first they saw the bus stop at Dogla Nullah and thereafter they saw the accused person getting down from the bus. There were 10-15 passengers present in the bus and they checked the passengers and their luggage in the bus. This witness further stated in his cross-examination that after the bus left the spot the accused person was found coming at a distance of 10-15 meters. This witness admitted that there were 4-5 houses situated above Navypul and that there were 2-3 shops near Navypul but the shops were closed at that time. He further deposed that NCB form was filled up by HC Pune Ram. He also stated that opium was taken into possession after about one hour from the time when the accused was overpowered.

11. The other witness of search and seizure Constable Ishwari Ram has not been examined by the prosecution and was given up.

12. PW-7 HHC Santosh Kumar, who was also member of the police party, deposed that while they had laid Naka one HRTC bus came from Swad side which stopped 100 meters behind Dogla Nullah and from which one person alighted and started walking towards Nagaan. This witness has further stated that bus was going from Tarana to Delhi and the same was checked by the police party. According to him, the accused tried to escape but was overpowered by the police party and there was no habitation nearby nor any independent witness was available. In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that they were present at the spot for 5-10 minutes when Karana-Delhi bus came. He expressed his ignorance about the fact that the there were 4-5 houses situated above Navypul. This witness further deposed that he left the spot for the Police Station on foot but after walking for some distance he got lift in a private vehicle. As per him, he handed over the case file to the Investigating Officer on the spot at 10.00 A.M. and they left the spot at 12.30 P.M. and went to Shawad and reached there at 3.00 or 3.30 P.M.

13. HC Anup Kumar entered the witness box as PW-10 and stated that at the relevant time he was posted as MHC in Police Station Ani and on 03.09.2010 he sent the case property alongwith the sample and seal to FSL Junga.

14. PW-6, PW-7 and PW-9 in our considered view are the key witnesses keeping in view the fact that no independent witness has been associated by the police during the search and seizure. It is incumbent upon us to closely scrutinize the statements of these three witnesses in order to satisfy ourselves as to whether the judgment of acquittal returned by learned trial Court is sustainable or whether learned trial Court has erred in not convicting the accused.

15. The justification which has been given by the prosecution witnesses for not associating any independent witness with search and seizure is that the site of occurrence was secluded as there was neither habitation nearby nor any person was present. It is apparent and evident from the testimony of PW-6, PW-7 and PW-9 that in fact no effort was made by PW-9 to join any independent witness with the search and seizure of the contraband allegedly recovered from the accused. The stand of PW-7 and PW-9 that there was no habitation nearby and therefore, no independent witness could be associated is belied from the testimony of PW-6 Kashmi Ram, who in his cross-examination has admitted that Dogla Nullah is situated at a distance of 400-500 meters from Navypul and that there were 4-5 houses situated above Navypul and 2-3 shops were also there near Navypul but those shops were closed at that time. It is not the case of the Investigating Officer that though he made attempt to associate independent witness but he could not do so. Therefore, in the teeth of the testimony of PW-6 that there were 4-5 houses situated above Navypul and 2-3 shops were there near Navypul though the same were closed, the act of the Investigating Officer of not making any effort to associate any independent witness with the search and seizure, creates a doubt over the veracity of the story of the prosecution. It is settled law that the reason as to why independent witnesses are associated with the search and seizure is to ensure that on one hand it acts as a protector of the right of the accused and on the other hand, it gives veracity also to the case of the prosecution.

16. In the present case, there are other inconsistencies and contradictions in the testimony of the prosecute witnesses. As per PW-7 and PW-9, the police party had reached the place where Naka was laid about 5-10 minutes before the HRTC bus came there, whereas as per PW-6, the police party had reached the spot about 30 minutes before the bus came. PW-9 in his cross-examination has stated that when they were at Nagaan one bus came from Ani side at 5.45 A.M. which was checked by them, however, this fact has not been deposed either by PW-6 or PW-7.

17. Now comes the most incriminating factor as far as the case putforth by the prosecution is concerned. PW-6, PW-7 and PW-9 in unison have stated that the bus in issue came at around 6.45 A.M. and it stopped 100 meters behind Dogla Nullah and the accused alighted from the bus and started walking towards Nagaan. According to all these witnesses, when accused saw the police party, he tried to escape but he was overpowered by the police party. All these witnesses have also stated that the HRTC bus in issue was checked by the police party in which 10-15 passengers were traveling and nothing incriminating were found from the said passengers. If the version of these witnesses is to be believed then the police party searched HRTC bus in which the accused was also travelling but nothing incriminating was found by the police party from the passengers of the said bus which also included the accused. If this version of the prosecution is to be believed then the story being putforth by the prosecution to the effect that the bus stopped 100 meters behind Dogla Nullah and from the said bus accused alighted and when he saw the police party he tried to escape is false and incorrect. This is for the reason that if this version of the prosecution is correct then its other version that the police party checked the bus is falsified. It cannot be that firstly the police party checked the bus and thereafter it returned back to the Naka and thereafter accused alighted from the bus and when he again saw the same police party which had earlier checked him in the bus he tried to run away but was over powered. There is no explanation given by the prosecution that if the police party had in fact checked the bus in which the accused was also travelling then why polythene bag was not recovered by the police party during the course of said checking. None of the said witnesses have deposed that when the bus stopped about 100 meters from Dogla Nullah, they immediately searched the bus and they did not allow any person to get down from the bus till the time the search was over. On the other hand, all these three witnesses in unison had stated that immediately after the bus stopped about 100 meters from Dogla Nullah, the accused got down from the bus.

18. In our considered view, had it been a case that after the bus stopped at Dogla Nullah the police party had in fact really checked the bus and the accused was carrying the contraband alongwith him then nothing stopped the police from having recovered the contraband from the accused during the search of the said bus. Further, if the accused had in fact alighted from the bus immediately when it stopped and the police party had in fact checked the bus as is the case of the prosecution, then obviously the accused had ample time to run away from the spot. The factum of the bus having been checked by the police party on 21.04.2008 at 6.45 A.M. and the accused travelling in the said bus has not been proved by the prosecution by bringing into the witness box either the driver or conductor of the said bus or any other passenger especially when route of the bus was known to the prosecution and it is matter of record that the bus belonged to Himachal Road Transport Corporation.

19. All these facts in our considered view shroud the case of the prosecution with suspicion and it cannot be said that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt that the search and seizure in fact took place in the mode as has been projected by the prosecution or that the contraband in fact was recovered from the exclusive possession of the accused as per the case putforth by the prosecution.

20. Besides this, another important aspect of the matter is that whereas PW-6 and PW-7 have deposed that the accused reached the site after he alighted from the bus in a couple of minutes, as per PW-9 it took the accused 5-10 minutes to reach the spot after getting down from the bus. This seems highly improbable because as per the case of the prosecution the accused had deboarded the bus 100 meters from the place where Naka was laid down by the police party. This also creates serious doubt about the veracity of the case of the prosecution because it will not take a person normally 5 to 10 minutes to cover 100 metera distance.

21. PW-9 has stated on oath that he seized opium at around 8.00 A.M. As per the testimony of PW-6, case property was seized one hour after the accused was apprehended by the police party. However, a perusal of the entries made in NCB form Ext. PW1/B demonstrates that the case property was seized at 6.45 A.M. Thus, the entry in the NCB form is not in harmony with the testimony of PW-6 and PW-9. Ext. PW1/D is daily diary report dated 21.04.2008 as per which the departure of HC Pune Ram, HHC Kashmi Ram, HHC Santosh Kumar and Constable Ishwari Ram for the purpose of Nakabandi is mentioned at "Samay Teen Baje Din Darj Hai". This belies as has been putforth by the prosecution and as has been stated by PW-6, PW-7 and PW-9 that they had left Police Station for the purpose of Naka after making necessary entries in the daily diary register at 3.00 A.M. HC Pune Ram PW-9 also stated that he presented the case property alongwith NCB form before PW-1 HC Rajinder Singh who resealed it and thereafter the same was deposited in the Malkhana. However, HC Rajinder Singh who entered the witness box as PW-1, in his cross-examination has admitted that there is no entry about the deposit of NCB form in the Malkhana register.

22. From all that has been discussed above, it cannot be said that on the basis of material produced on record by the prosecution, it stood proved beyond reasonable doubt that the accused was guilty of commission of offence punishable under Section 18 of the NDPS Act. We have also perused the judgment passed by learned trial Court and according to us, learned trial Court after taking into consideration the entire material produced on record by the prosecution and after appreciating the same has rightly concluded that the prosecution in fact had failed to prove beyond reasonable doubt that the contraband in fact was found from the exclusive and conscious possession of the accused. We concur with the findings which has been so arrived at by learned trial Court. There is neither any perversity nor any infirmity with the findings so recorded by learned trial Court and, therefore, while upholding the judgment passed by learned trial Court, we dismiss the present appeal being devoid of any merit. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged.

BEFOREHON'BLE MR. JUSTICE MANSOOR AHMAD MIR, C.J.

The New India Assurance Company .....Appellant

Versus

Smt. Indu Bala & others .....Respondents

FAO No. 312 of 2011
Decided on : 02.09.2016.

Motor Vehicles Act, 1988- Section 173- Insurer questioned the award on the ground that compensation amount is excessive- held, that insurer cannot question the award on the ground of adequacy of compensation, unless permission has been obtained under Section 170 of the Act- no such permission was obtained- appeal dismissed. (Para-15 to 23)

Cases referred:
United India Insurance co. Ltd. Versus Shila Datta & Ors., 2011 AIR SCW 6541
Josphine James versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., 2013 AIR SCW 6633

For the Appellant :	Mr. B.M. Chauhan, Advocate.
For the Respondents:	Mr. Lakshay Thakur, Advocate, for respondents No. 1 & 2. Respondent No. 3 already ex-parte. Nemo for respondent No. 4.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (oral)

Subject matter of this appeal is the award dated 16th June, 2011, made by the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal, Fast Track Court, Mandi, District Mandi, H.P. (hereinafter referred to as 'the Tribunal') in Claim Petition No. 6 of 2003, 109/05, titled as Smt. Indu Bala & others versus M/s Techni Bharthi Ltd. & others, whereby compensation to the tune of 15,56,840/- with interest at the rate of 9% per annum from the date of filing of the claim petition, came to be granted in favour of the claimants and the insurer was saddled with liability (for short, "the impugned award").

2. The claimants, insured-owner and driver have not questioned the impugned award, on any count. Thus, it has attained finality, so far it relates to them.

3. The insurer has questioned the impugned award on the ground that the Tribunal has fallen in an error in saddling it with the liability.

4. Thus, the only question to be determined in this appeal is –whether the Tribunal has rightly saddled the insurer with the liability. The answer is in the affirmative for the following reasons.

5. Deceased Balbir Singh was the victim of the motor vehicular accident, which was caused by driver, namely, Mohammad Sabir, while driving the vehicle-Truck/Tipper bearing registration No. SK-03-1657, rashly and negligently, on 27.04.2002, at about 9.15 a.m. at Techni Bharthi, Dipudara, Makha Road, P.S. Sangtam, East Sikkim.

6. The claimants invoked the jurisdiction of the Tribunal for grant of compensation to the tune of Rs.30,00,000/- as per the break-ups given in the claim petition.

7. The claim petition was resisted by the respondents on the grounds taken in their memo of objections.

8. Following issues came to be framed by the Tribunal:

"1. Whether the deceased Balbir Singh Verma died due to the injuries received in the motor vehicle accident on 27-4-4-2002 due to the rash and negligent driving of the vehicle bearing registration No.SK-03-1657 by the respondent No. 2, as alleged?....OPP

2. If issue no. 1 is proved in affirmative, whether the petitioners are entitled for the award of compensation, if so, to what amount and from whom?...OPP

3. Whether the driver of the vehicle was not holding any valid and effective driving licence to drive the vehicle at the time of the accident, as alleged? ...OPR-3

4. Whether the alleged vehicle was being plied in violation of the route permit and in violation of the terms and conditions of the route permits, as alleged? ...OPR-3

5. Whether there has been breach of specific terms and conditions of the policy, if so, its effect? …OPR-3

6. Whether the respondent No. 3 has not issued any policy of insurance insuring or contracting to indemnify the insured against any loss or risk as alleged? …OPR-3

7. Relief."

9. It is apt to record herein that the respondents have not led any evidence.

Issue No. 1.

10. There is no dispute regarding issue No. 1. Thus, the findings returned by the Tribunal on issue No. 1 are upheld.

11. Before dealing with issue No. 2, I deem it proper to deal with issues No. 3 to 6.

Issues No. 3 to 6.

12. It was for the insurer to prove issues No. 3 to 6, has failed to do so, thus has failed to discharge the onus.

13. It was also for the insurer to plead and prove that the insured-owner has committed willful breach or the accident was not outcome of the rash and negligent driving of the driver, has failed to do so, thus has failed to discharge the onus. Accordingly, the findings returned by the Tribunal on Issues No. 3 to 6 are upheld.

Issue No. 2.

14. Learned Counsel for the insurer argued that the compensation amount is excessive.

15. The insurer cannot question the impugned award on the ground of adequacy of compensation for the following reasons.

16. In terms of the mandate of Sections 147 and 149 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 (for short "MV Act") read with the terms and conditions contained in the insurance policy, the insurer has limited grounds available, but, it can contest the claim petition on other grounds provided permission in terms of Section 170 of the MV Act has been obtained.

17. It is apt to reproduce Section 170 of the MV Act herein:

> "170. Impleading insurer in certain cases. - Where in the course of any inquiry, the claims Tribunal is satisfied that -
>
> (a) there is collusion between the person making the claim and the person against whom the claim is made, or
>
> (b) the person against whom the claim is made has failed to contest the claim,
> it may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, direct that the insurer who may be liable in respect of such claim, shall be impleaded as a party to the proceeding and the insurer so impleaded shall thereupon have, without prejudice to the provisions contained in sub-section (2) of section 149, the right to contest the claim on all or any of the grounds that are available to the person against whom the claim has been made."

18. The insurer can seek permission to contest the claim petition on all grounds available to it and in case permission has not been sought and granted, it is precluded from questioning the award on adequacy of compensation or any other ground, which is not otherwise available to it.

19. This question arose before the Apex Court in the case titled as United India Insurance co. Ltd. Versus Shila Datta & Ors., reported in 2011 AIR SCW 6541, and the matter was referred to the larger Bench.

20. The question again arose before the Apex Court in the case titled as Josphine James versus United India Insurance Co. Ltd. & Anr., reported in 2013 AIR SCW 6633. It is apt to reproduce paras 8, 17 and 18 of the judgment herein:

> "8. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and award passed by the High Court in MAC Appeal no. 433/2005 and the review petition, the present appeal is filed by the appellant urging certain grounds and assailing the impugned judgment in allowing the appeal of the Insurance Company without following the law laid down by this Court in Nicolletta Rohtagi's case and instead, placing reliance upon the Bhushan Sachdeva's case. Nicolletta Rohtagi's case was exhaustively discussed by a three judge bench in the case of United India Insurance Company Vs. Shila Datta, 2011 10 SCC 509. Though the Court has expressed its reservations against the correctness of the legal position in Nicolletta Rohtagi decision on various aspects, the same has been referred to higher bench and has not been overruled as yet. Hence, the ratio of Nicolletta Rohtagi's case will be still applicable in the present case. The appellant claimed that interference by the High Court with the quantum of compensation awarded by the Tribunal in favour of appellant and considerably reducing the same by modifying the judgment of the Tribunal is vitiated in law. Therefore, the impugned judgments and awards are liable to be set aside.
> 17. The said order was reviewed by the High Court at the instance of the appellant in view of the aforesaid decision on the question of maintainability of the appeal of the Insurance Company. The High Court, in the review petition, has further reduced the compensation to Rs. 4,20,000/- from Rs. 6,75,000/- which was earlier awarded by it. This approach is contrary to the facts and law laid down by this Court. The High Court, in reducing the quantum of compensation under the heading of loss of dependency of the appellant, was required to follow the decision rendered by three judge Bench of this Court in Nicolletta Rohtagi case (2002) 7 SCC 456 : AIR 2002 SC 3350 : 2002 AIR SCW 3899, and earlier decisions wherein this Court after interpreting Section 170 (b) of the M. V. Act, has rightly held that in the absence of permission obtained by the Insurance Company from the Tribunal to avail the defence of the insured, it is not permitted to contest the case on merits. The aforesaid legal principle is applicable to the fact situation in view of the three judge bench decision referred to though the correctness of the aforesaid decision is referred to larger bench. This important aspect of the matter has been overlooked by the High Court while passing the impugned judgment and the said approach is contrary to law laid down by this Court.
> 18. In view of the aforesaid reasons, the Insurance Company is not entitled to file appeal questioning the quantum of compensation awarded in favour of the appellant for the reasons stated supra. In the absence of the same, the Insurance Company had only limited defence to contest in the proceedings as provided under Section 149 (2) of the M.V. Act. Therefore, the impugned judgment passed by the High Court on 13.1.2012 reducing the compensation to 4,20,000/- under the heading of loss of dependency by deducting 50% from the monthly income of the deceased of Rs. 5,000/- and applying 14 multiplier, is factually and legally incorrect. The High Court has erroneously arrived at this amount by applying the principle of law laid down in Sarla Verma v. Delhi Transport Corporation, 2009 6 SCC 121 instead of applying the principle laid down in Baby Radhika Gupta's case regarding the multiplier applied to the fact situation and also contrary to the law applicable regarding the maintainability of appeal of the Insurance Company on the question of quantum of compensation in the absence of permission to be obtained by it from the Tribunal under Section 170 (b) of the M.V. Act. In view of the aforesaid reason, the High Court should not have allowed the appeal of the Insurance Company as it has got limited defence as provided under section 149(2) of the M.V. Act. Therefore, the impugned judgment and award is vitiated in law and hence, is liable to be set aside by allowing the appeal of the appellant."

21. Viewed thus, the insurer can question the adequacy of compensation only if it has sought permission under Section 170 of the MV Act.

22. In the present case, it has to be seen whether the insurer has sought any such permission?

23. I have gone through the record, which does disclose that neither any such application was filed by the insurer nor such permission was granted.

24. It appears that the amount awarded is meager. But, unfortunately, the claimants have not questioned the adequacy of the compensation, thus, the same is upheld.

25. It is apt to record herein that the mother of the deceased has died during the pendency of the appeal. Thus, the remaining claimants are held entitled to compensation in equal shares.

26. The Registry is directed to release the awarded amount in favour of the claimants strictly as per the terms and conditions contained in the impugned award through payee's account cheque or by depositing the same in their bank accounts.

27. Accordingly, the impugned award is upheld and the appeal is dismissed.

28. Send down the record after placing copy of the judgment on Tribunal's file.

Date of Decision: September 5, 2016

H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987- Section 14- Rent Controller ordered the eviction of the tenant- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed and the judgment of Rent Controller was reversed- tenant claimed that his family consists of himself, his wife, two children, father, mother, brother and his wife and two children- burden to prove that his brother and brother's family were ordinarily residing and were dependent upon him was on the tenant, which was not discharged - Rent Controller had rightly held that it was necessary for the tenant to place on record the ration card indicating that entire family was living jointly as a single unit- newly acquired premises consists of three rooms, one kitchen, one bathroom, one balcony, one terrace and attic, whereas, premises in question consists of two rooms, one kitchen, one bath-cum-latrine – thus, newly acquired premises is sufficient for meeting the requirement of the tenant and his family- Appellate Authority had wrongly reversed the judgment of the trial court- judgment of the Appellate Authority set aside while that of the Rent Controller restored. Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited vs. Dilbahar Singh, (2014) 9 SCC 78

For the Petitioner : Mr. Neeraj Gupta, Advocate.
For the Respondents : Mr. Ashok Sood, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sanjay Karol, Judge

Finding tenant-respondent Manoj Kumar Kansara, hereinafter referred to as the tenant, to have acquired an alternate vacant possession, the Rent Controller, in terms of order dated 29.12.2004, passed in Case No.23/2 of 2001, titled as Asha Tiwari v. Manoj Kumar Kansara, allowed the petition filed by landlady-petitioner Asha Tiwari, hereinafter referred to as the landlady, directed eviction of the tenant from the tenanted premises.

2. Such order and findings of fact, came to be reversed by the Appellate Authority, in terms of order dated 27.6.2007, passed in Civil Misc. Appeal No.55-S/14 of 2006/05, titled as Manoj Kumar Kansara v. Asha Tiwari.

3. The Rent Controller found the tenant not to have produced the ration card, indicating the extent of his family, whereas the Appellate Authority, by taking note of the Voters' List, has held the extended family to be the family of the tenant.

4. For the purpose of ready reference, relevant provision of the H.P. Urban Rent Control Act, 1987 (hereinafter referred to as the Act), entitling the landlord to seek ejectment of the tenant, at the time of filing of the present petition, was as under:

> "14(3)(a)(iv). The tenant has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act built or acquired vacant possession of or been allotted, a residence reasonably sufficient for his requirement."(Emphasis supplied)

5. Certain facts are not in dispute. Tenanted premises consist of two rooms, kitchen, bath-cum-latrine, comprising Set No.5, Himachali Bhawan, Sanjauli, Shimla-6.

6. Concurrently, the authorities below have held the tenant to have purchased premises within the municipal limits, comprising of three rooms, one kitchen, one store, one bathroom, one balcony and terrace of the top floor alongwith attic, in a building, commonly known as Gaurav Niwas.

7. According to the tenant, both the tenanted as also the newly acquired premises were already in use and occupation by him, including his "family" and only during its occupancy, these premises in Gaurav Niwas, came to be acquired by way of ownership.

8. Record reveals that tenant examined four witnesses. Now significantly, there is nothing on record to establish, by way of documentary evidence, that the premises in Gaurav Niwas were also under tenancy, that of the tenant or his family members. On this issue, ocular evidence cannot be said to be inspiring in confidence, for except for bald assertion, relevant facts pertaining to such tenancy are conspicuously absent. Also, prior to its acquisition, there is nothing to establish the tenant's possession in these premises.

9. Significantly, the erstwhile owner of the newly acquired premises has not stepped into the witness box. There is nothing on record to establish that the tenant or his brother was ever residing there, either as a tenant or otherwise. In the response filed to the petition, tenant admits that his family as also his brother's family have been jointly residing in both the premises. But, he is conspicuously silent as to when he came into possession of the newly acquired premises. Hence, such plea, so made before this Court, is palpably false.

10. The Act, defines "family" as "parents and such relation(s) of the landlord as ordinarily reside with him and is/are dependent upon him".

11. The definition would, in equal measure, apply also to a tenant, for there is no separate provision defining the "family" of a tenant.

12. What is a "family" is no longer integra. It has to be liberally and broadly construed, so as to include near relations of the head of the family. Dependent for the purposes of residence or economic consideration, whose responsibility is accepted by the landlord, would be a member of the family. (Joginder Pal v. Naval Kishore Behal, (2002) 5 SCC 397; Dwarkaprasad v. Niranjan and another, (2003) 4 SCC 549; and Kailash Chand and another v. Dharam Dass, (2005) 5 SCC 375).

13. According to the tenant, his family consists of himself, his wife, two children, father, mother and brother Mukesh, his wife and two children. In all there are ten members in the family.

14. Onus to establish as to whether Mukesh and his family were ordinarily residing and were dependent upon him or not, was on the tenant, which in the instant case, remains unestablished/unproven on record. The Rent Controller rightly observed that it was necessary for the tenant to have placed on record the ration card, indicating that the entire family was living jointly as a single unit.

15. What weighed with the lower Appellate Authority in dismissing the petition was the Voters' List (Ex.RW-2/A) and photocopy of the Voter Identify Cards. Document (Ex.RW-2/B), so prepared on 28.9.2001, subsequent to the filing of the petition (26.6.2001), is not reflective of complete family of the tenant. Names of children are missing. Perhaps they may be minor, but then, the tenant ought to have lent some explanation. Preparation of the document for the sake of convenience cannot be ruled out. Attention is invited to the Voters' Identity Card (Ex.RW-4/A) issued by the Election Commission of India, but then this document pertains to the year 1995 and it has not come on record that thereafter, both the brothers have been residing together, as a single unit, in the tenanted premises, which address is so indicated in the said document.

16. This Court has already held the tenant's plea of simultaneously being in possession of both the tenanted as well as the newly acquired premises not to have been proven on record.

17. In Kailash Chand (supra), the apex Court held as under:

> "26. Undoubtedly, the Himachal Pradesh urban Rent Control Act, 1987 has been enacted for the purpose of providing for the control of rents and evictions because of paucity of accommodation in urban areas. The Rent Control Legislations, generally aim at preventing rack-renting and resorting to evictions by unscrupulous and greedy landlords, who take advantage of the shortage in availability of accommodations in cities and dictate their terms to the tenants and if they do not follow the dictates, subject them to eviction. The Rent Control legislations are generally heavily loaded in favour of the tenants and the provision dealing with which the courts at times lean in favour of the landlords is the one which permits the landlord to seek eviction of the tenant on the ground of requirement for his own occupation, residential or non-residential. There are weak amongst the tenants as also amongst the landlords. (See Joginder Pal v. Naval Kishore Behal, (2002) 5 SCC 397). Take the case of a landlord knocking the doors of the court seeking its assistance for a roof over his head or for a reasonably comfortable living, when he is himself either in a rented accommodation or squeezing himself and his family members in a limited space, while the tenant protected by the Rent Control law is comfortably occupying the premises of the landlord or a part thereof……"

18. Further, assuming hypothetically that the tenant's brother and his family have been living together as a single unit in the tenanted premises, even then one finds that the newly acquired premises are sufficient enough for meeting the requirement of the tenant and his family. Such conclusion is clearly deducible when the premises in question are compared with the tenanted premises. As against two rooms, one kitchen and one bath-cum-latrine, tenant has acquired possession of three rooms, one kitchen, one bath, one balcony, one terrace and attic.

19. The expression "reasonably sufficient for his requirement" is of relative amplitude. Its application differs from case to case. Sufficiency of the building for a man's requirement is reasonable sufficiency. Courts have to objectively decide the same. (S.N.D.P. Union v. Vamana Naik, 1994(1) RCR 157).

20. It is a settled principle of law that it is essential that the ingredients must be pleaded by the landlord who seeks eviction but after the landlord has proved or stated that the tenant has built, acquired vacant possession or has been allotted a residence, whether it is suitable or not, and whether the same can be really an alternative accommodation for the tenant or not, are within the special knowledge of the tenant and he must prove and establish those facts. (Ganpat Ram Sharma and others v. Smt. Gayatri Devi, (1987) 3 SCC 576). In the instant case, it is not so done.

21. The onus to establish that the alternate premises are reasonably sufficient for the requirement of the tenant is on the landlord, (Kunhiraman v. Kumaran, 2004(2) RCR 528; and Quiet Corner India, Bangalore v. Hameedulla Khan and another, 2004(1) RCR 310), which, in the instant case, one finds it to have been established.

22. What is perversity, illegality and impropriety is now well settled. The principles stand elucidated by this Court in Civil Revision No. 154 of 2004, titled as Yog Raj Sood v. Sunita Kaushal & another, decided on 1.6.2016, by relying upon a decision of the apex Court in Hindustan Petroleum Corporation Limited vs. Dilbahar Singh, (2014) 9 SCC 78.

23. Hence, the lower Appellate Authority erred in correctly and completely appreciating the material on record.

24. In view of the aforesaid discussion, the present petition is allowed and the findings returned by the lower Appellate Authority, vide order dated 27.6.2007, passed in Civil Misc. Appeal No.55-S/14 of 2006/05, titled as Manoj Kumar Kansara v. Asha Tiwari, being perverse, illegal and improper, not based on correct appreciation of material on record, are set aside. However, findings returned by the Rent Controller, vide order dated 29.12.2004, passed in Case No.23/2 of 2001, titled as Asha Tiwari v. Manoj Kumar Kansara, are upheld.

Present Revision Petition stands disposed of, so also pending application(s), if any.

The following order of the Court was delivered:

P.S. Rana, Judge.

Present petition is filed under Section 482 Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 to quash orders dated 20.05.2014 and 03.09.2014 passed by learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class Jubbal Distt. Shimla (H.P.) in case No.23/2 of 2014 title Mohan Lal Vs. Bal Krishan Rawat relating to FIR No. 46/2005 dated 28.06.2005 registered under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 & 474 IPC in Police Station Jubbal Distt. Shimla (H.P.).

Brief facts of the case:

2. Sh. Mohan Lal complainant filed FIR No. 46/2005 dated 28.06.2005 against accused Bal Krishan Rawat alleging that accused person used to work as commission agent for selling of apple crop at Delhi and complainant used to send apple crop to accused. It is alleged that complainant was liable to pay Rs.42,428/- (Forty two thousand four hundred twenty eight) to accused and accused took blank cheque No.561552 from complainant as security. It is alleged that accused also filed civil suit No.130/1 of 2005/2002 for recovery of Rs.3,33,365/- (Three lac thirty three thousand three hundred sixty five) before learned Civil Judge (Sr. Division) Shimla whereby learned Civil Judge (Sr. Division) Shimla partly decreed the suit in favour of accused for recovery of Rs.1,61,843/- (One lac sixty one thousand eight hundred forty three) with interest @9% per annum from 20.01.1999 till institution of suit and @6% per annum from the date of filing of suit till realization of amount. It is alleged that thereafter civil appeal No.51-S/13 of 2007 title Mohan Lal Vs. Bal Krishan was filed and same was decided by learned Addl. District Judge Shimla (H.P.) on dated 10.04.2008. It is alleged that learned Addl. District Judge Shimla (H.P.) partly allowed the appeal and reduced the recovery amount to the tune of Rs.42,428/- only. It is alleged that accused committed cheating and forgery in blank cheque No. 561552 and entered amount to the tune of Rs.5 lacs. It is alleged that thereafter accused Bal Krishan filed complaint under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act vide case No.7/3 of 2005 which was decided by Judicial Magistrate Jubbal Distt. Shimla (H.P.) on 12.10.2007 relating to cheque No. 561552 and Sh.Mohan Lal was convicted under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act and was sentenced to undergo simple imprisonment for three months and to pay complainant to the tune of Rs.5,00,000/- (Five lac). It is alleged that appeal against judgment and sentence passed by Judicial Magistrate in case No.7/3 of 2005 is pending before competent authority of law.

3. Investigation was conducted and cancellation report filed by investigating agency. Thereafter complainant Mohan Lal filed objections relating to cancellation report filed by investigating agency and learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class Jubbal Distt. Shimla (H.P.) in the month of April 2007 accepted the objections filed by complainant Mohan Lal and learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class did not concur with the cancellation report and case was sent back to Police Station Jubbal for fresh investigation in accordance with law. Thereafter again fresh cancellation report was submitted before learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class Jubbal Distt. Shimla (H.P.) by the investigating agency and again objections filed by complainant Mohan Lal before learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class relating to investigation report submitted by investigating agency under Section 173 Cr.P.C. Complainant Mohan Lal requested that present case be tried as private complaint and thereafter learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class converted the complaint into private complaint and listed the case for preliminary evidence. Thereafter learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class Jubbal Distt. Shimla (H.P.) recorded preliminary evidence in private complaint and held on dated 20.05.2014 that there are sufficient reasons to proceed against accused and thereafter accused was summoned under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 & 474 IPC. Thereafter learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class recorded pre-charge evidence and thereafter learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class on dated 03.09.2014 held that prima facie case under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 & 474 IPC is made out against accused person and thereafter charge was framed against accused person on 03.09.2014. Accused has challenged summon order and charge framing order by learned Judicial Magistrate in present petition.

4. Court heard learned Advocate appearing on behalf of petitioner and learned Advocate appearing on behalf of non-petitioner No.1 and learned Additional Advocate General appearing on behalf of non-petitioner No.2 and Court also perused the entire record carefully.

5. Following points arise for determination:

1) Whether petition filed under Section 482 Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 is liable to be accepted as mentioned in memorandum of grounds of petition?

2) Final order.

Findings upon Point No.1 with reasons.

6. CW-1 Sh. Mohan Lal has stated that accused obtained blank cheque No. 561552 from him in the year 1996 as security. He has stated that accused kept blank cheque in his custody w.e.f. 1996 to 2005. He has further stated that he demanded blank cheque No. 561552 from the accused in the year 1998 but accused did not return back blank cheque No. 561552 and told that he has handed over blank cheque No. 561552 to C.T. Delhi and told that now there is no dispute inter se parties relating to money and account matter has been settled. He has stated that he also issued notice Ext.CW1/A to accused and accused replied notice Ext.DX. He has stated that accused has committed cheating and forgery with him and accused be punished in accordance with law. In cross-examination he has denied suggestion that complainant was liable to pay Rs.80,660/- on dated 06.12.1996. He has denied suggestion that on dated 13.08.1987 amount due to accused was Rs.1,07,837/- (One lac seven thousand eight hundred thirty seven). He has denied suggestion that in the month of October 1988 amount due was Rs.10,74,162/- (Ten lac seventy four thousand one hundred sixty two). He has admitted that civil suit for recovery was filed by Sh. Bal Krishan against him. He has admitted that civil appeal is pending before Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh. He has admitted that accused filed complaint under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act against him. He has admitted that he was convicted and appeal is pending before learned Sessions Judge. He has denied suggestion that he is liable to pay amount of Rs.3,33,000/- (Three lac thirty three thousand). He has also denied suggestion that he took Rs.5 lac from accused and told that he would send the apples. He has denied suggestion that he did not send the apples. He has denied suggestion that he issued cheque No. 561552 on dated 02.01.2005 in favour of accused. Self stated that blank cheque was used by accused against him after ten years.

7. CW-2 Sh. Bali Ram has stated that complainant and accused are known to him. He has stated that in his presence complainant requested the accused to return his blank cheque which was received by accused in the year 1996. He has stated that accused kept blank cheque for ten years in his custody. He has stated that accused had told in the year 1998 in his presence that he has sent the cheque to C.T. firm and same would not be used against complainant. In cross-examination he has admitted that Sh. Bal Krishan has filed a case against him. He has denied suggestion that he is not familiar with factual position of present case.

8. CW-3 Sh. Brij Lal has stated that parties are known to him. He has stated that in the year 1998 complainant demanded blank cheque from accused. He has stated that accused told him that he has sent the cheque to C.T. firm and he has no concern with blank cheque. He has admitted that Sh.Bal Krishan has filed a case against him. He has admitted that he has paid Rs.5 lac to accused when he was convicted. He has admitted that he has paid Rs.5 lac to accused by way of compromised proceedings.

9. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of petitioner that RSA No.492/2008 is pending before Hon'ble High Court of Himachal Pradesh relating to same facts and relating to same cheque No. 561552 and present private criminal complaint under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 & 474 IPC is not maintainable is rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. Court is of the opinion that jurisdiction of civil Courts and jurisdiction of criminal Courts are entirely different and independent. Court is of the opinion that independent criminal complaint before judicial Court is not barred simply on the ground that civil litigation is pending before competent Court of civil law relating to same facts. It is well settled law that civil Court cannot decide criminal offence committed under Indian Penal Code 1860. It is well settled law that criminal offences committed under Indian Penal Code are always decided by criminal Courts.

10. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of petitioner that petitioner also filed complaint under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act relating to cheque in dispute and complainant was convicted by learned Trial Court and thereafter appeal is pending before learned Sessions Judge and on this ground petition be allowed is also rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. Court is of the opinion that offence under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act 1881 and offence under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 & 474 IPC are distinct and different offence. It is well settled law that parallel proceedings relating to distinct and different offence relating to same facts can be continued. See AIR 1961 SC 578 title State of Bombay Vs. S.L. Apte.

11. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of petitioner that two parallel proceedings relating to offence under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act 1881 and relating to offence under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 & 474 IPC could continue relating to same facts on the concept of double jeopardy is also rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. It is well settled law that no one should be punished twice for one offence on the concept of nemo debet bis punire pro uno delicto. It is well settled law that if two offences are distinct offences then notwithstanding the fact that allegations of facts in two offences are substantially similar benefit of double jeopardy could not be invoked. It is well settled law that concept of double jeopardy will apply only when offences are same. See 2012 (7) SCC 621 title Sangeetaben Mahendrabhai Patel Vs. State of Gujarat and another. See AIR 2015 SC 75 title State of NCT of Delhi Vs. Sanjay. See AIR 1954 SC 375 title S.A. Venkataraman Vs. Union of India. See AIR 1953 SC 325 title Maqbool Hussain Vs. State of Bombay.

12. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of petitioner that petitioner did not commit any criminal offence under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 & 474 Indian Penal Code 1860 and on this ground petition be allowed is also rejected being devoid of any force for reasons hereinafter mentioned. Court has carefully perused the testimonies of CW-1, CW-2 and CW-3. All the witnesses have specifically stated that accused had stated in their presence on dated 8.9.1998 that cheque No. 561552 was sent to C.T. firm and he was not in possession of cheque No. 561552 but it is prima facie proved on record that in the year 2005 cheque No. 561552 was used for proceedings under Section 138 of Negotiable Instruments Act 1881. Judicial findings whether accused has committed cheating and forgery or not cannot be given at this stage of case because same facts are complicated issue of facts and judicial findings relating to complicated issue of facts cannot be given at this stage of case. Judicial findings relating to complicated issue of facts will be given by learned Trial Court after giving due opportunity to both parties to lead evidence in support of their case. It is well settled law that at the time of framing of charge meticulous consideration of evidence and material should not be considered. It is well settled law that at the stage of framing charge Court has to prima facie consider whether there are sufficient grounds to proceed against accused. See AIR 1981 SC 1548 title Mohd. Akbar Dar & Others Vs. State of J & K and others. See AIR 2005 SC 359 title State of Orissa Vs. Debendra Nath Padhi. See AIR 1980 SC 52 title Supdt. & Remembrancer of Legal Affairs Vs. Anil Kumar Bhunja. See AIR 1977 SC 2018 title State of Bihar Vs. Ramesh Singh. See AIR 2001 SC 40 title State of Delhi Vs. Gyan Devi & Others. See AIR 2000 SC 665 title State of M.P. Vs. Johari & Others. See AIR 1997 SC 2041 title State of Maharashtra Vs. Priya Sharan Maharaj & Others. It is held that it is not expedient in the ends of justice to give judicial findings relating to absence of mens rea or actus reus at this stage of the case. It is held that judicial findings relating to absence of mens rea or actus reus would be given by learned Trial Court after giving due opportunity to both parties to lead evidence in support of their case. It is held that there is no illegality in the orders of learned Trial Court dated 20.05.2014 and 03.09.2014. In view of above stated facts point No.1 is answered in negative.

Point No.2 (Final order).

13. In view of my findings on point No.1 above petition filed under Section 482 Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 is dismissed. File of learned Trial Court alongwith certified copy of this order be sent back forthwith. Observations will not effect merits of case in any manner and will be strictly confined for disposal of present petition. Parties are directed to appear before learned Trial Court on 26.09.2016. Cr.MMO No.212/2014 is disposed of. Pending applications if any also disposed of.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (Oral)

In terms of order dated 8th August,2016, Shri Kharaiti Lal Anand was arrayed as party respondent No. 16 in this petition. Mr. Anand Sharma, Advocate, has put in appearance on his behalf. The said respondent has not filed the reply so far, is directed to file the same by or before the next date.

2. In terms of para 12 of the order dated 8th August, 2016, the authorities concerned were directed to explain as to why prosecution/contempt proceedings and proceedings under Prevention of Corruption Act be not initiated against them for not drawing action right from 28th October, 2015, have not filed the status reports/response till today.

3. Respondent No. 5 has filed the details of the concerned persons, who are raising construction in and around Ghandal.

4. Deputy Commissioner, Superintendent of Police, Solan, and the National Highway Authority of India, have not filed the status reports.

5. The State Authorities, particularly the Chief Secretary, was requested to prepare a Scheme, so that, the construction in and around Ghandal is raised, in terms of the previous order. The learned Advocate General stated at the Bar that the State has already made the laws, Rules, Regulations, and Notifications, are occupying the field and there is no need to have a fresh Scheme in place. Also stated that the area comes under the Special Area Development Authority (SADA) and the Town and Country Planning Act. His statement is taken on record.

6. Accordingly, directions contained in para 19 of the order dated 8th August, 2016, are modified and it is provided that the construction to be raised in and around Ghandal, shall be strictly in terms of the Laws, Rules, Regulations and Notifications, occupying the field.

7. All the respondents are directed to comply with the directions passed by this Court from time to time and to remove encroachments, as directed from time to time and file status reports.

8. All the respondents to appear in person before this Court on 19th September, 2016, and in the meantime, to file the status reports, as directed from time to time.

9. All other directions to remain in force till further orders.

CMPMO No. 251 of 2014
Date of Decision: 5.9.2016

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 6 Rule 17- Different wills were set up by the parties- however, plaintiff had not given the detail of the property in the plaint- hence, application for impleadment of the plaint was filed- application was allowed by the trial Court- held, that detail of the property would be essential for passing the judgment and the same is clarificatory in nature- it does not alter the nature, construction or complexion of the pleadings- therefore, application was rightly allowed- petition dismissed. (Para-3 to 7)

For the petitioner:	Mr. Suneet Goel, Advocate.
For the Respondents:	Mr. K.D Sood, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Dhananjay, Advocate, for respondents No. 1, 3 and 4. None for respondent No.2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J (oral)

Both the petitioner and the respondent had set up rival wills qua the suit property of their common predecessor-in-interest. The plaintiff/respondent herein (for short the "plaintiff") had initially in the plaint omitted to graphically display therein qua the property alienated to him under a testamentary disposition of his predecessor-in-interest standing comprised in 7 shops besides other residential accommodation. However the plaintiff by moving an application under Order 6 Rule 17 CPC sought leave of the Court to overcome the aforesaid defect qua the descriptions of the corpus of the property alienated to him under a testamentary disposition made in his favour by his predecessor-in-interest.

2. The application stood contested by the defendant/petitioner herein before the learned trial Court. However the learned trial Court had ordered for incorporation in the plaint of the apposite amendments manifested in paragraph 2 of the apposite application under Order 6 Rule 17 CPC as stood preferred therebefore by the plaintiff.

3. The learned counsel for the petitioner/defendant had made a vociferous address qua the factum of according of relief to the plaintiff/respondent herein by the learned trial Court whereby he stood permitted to incorporate in the plaint the afore-stated amendments being grossly astray from the enjoined tenets governing the exercise of jurisdiction by it while standing seized with an application under Order 6 Rule 17 CPC significantly with the plaintiff despite his holding knowledge qua the graphic descriptions of the corpus of the suit property his at the outset omitting to aver the apposite narrations qua it in the plaint whereupon he contends of his omissions aforesaid constituting an embargo against the plaintiff qua his belatedly asking for its standing added in the relevant paragraphs of the plaint. Moreso when he despite knowledge qua the aforesaid facet omitted at the outset to seek its incorporation in the plaint renders him amenable for his standing construed to be indiligent whereas only on evidence displaying qua despite his initially exercising due diligence, his apposite lack of concert thereat warranting its standing condoned by this Court besides giving leverage to him to belatedly seek its incorporation. He proceeds to contend of the application warranting dismissal also he contends of the impugned order meriting interference.

4. Though the learned counsel for the petitioner/defendant herein holds leverage to contend of with the plaintiff at the stage of his instituting the suit his holding a testamentary disposition whereupon an inference ensues of his imminently holding knowledge qua the graphic descriptions of the corpus of the property alienated in his favour under a testamentary disposition recorded in his favour by his predecessor-in-interest. Also he holds leverage to contend of at the outset hence the plaintiff standing enjoined to unravel its descriptions by casting apposite averments in the plaint. However even if the aforesaid contentions do constrain this Court, of the plaintiff despite his at the outset holding knowledge qua the facet aforesaid his yet derelicting to embody it in the plaint not empowering him to coax this Court qua despite at the outset exercising due diligence his standing disabled to unearth the relevant facet/facets whereupon he may espouse qua given his at this stage unearthing the aforesaid facets, this Court exercising indulgence in his favour qua permitting him to incorporate in the plaint.

5. Dehors the aforesaid facet of may be the plaintiff standing disabled to at this stage seek their incorporation in the plaint yet with the plaintiff in his relevant application explicating qua the necessity of their incorporation also only when despite his exercising due diligence at the outset he was unable to unravel the aforesaid facets which now stands unearthed would empower this Court to exercise indulgence in his favour qua permitting him to incorporate it in the plaint whereas for the reasons aforesaid given his evidently holding knowledge qua the aforesaid facets he cannot for reiteration contend qua despite his exercising due diligence at the outset his standing disabled to disinter the relevant facts nor this Court would hence be constrained to exercise indulgence vis-à-vis the respondent herein. Consequently given the dire necessity of its incorporation therein renders it to be clarificatory also when it prima-facie is in commensuration with the corpus of the property alienated to the plaintiff under a testamentary disposition qua it, executed by the deceased testator besides hence on its concluding the trite factum qua its standing unflinchingly proven to be validly and duly executed would ultimately facilitate the rendition by the learned trial Court of an executable decree in commensuration thereof qua it . In face thereof, as a corollary for facilitating the aforesaid, it is deemed fit to order for their incorporation in the relevant paragraph of the plaint, theirs being merely clarificatory also when the relevant amendments, if permitted to be incorporated would not substantially alter the nature, complexion and structure of the plaint.

6. Also the learned counsel for the petitioner herein has contended of the plaintiff belatedly asking for incorporation in paragraph 5 of the plaint, the amendments cast in his application under Order 6 Rule 17 CPC. He also contends of the permission as sought for by him from the learned trial Court besides its rendition in affirmation thereto warranting interference. The aforesaid submission also warrants it standing discountenanced, as the plaintiff is concerting to negate the valid and due execution of a testamentary disposition executed by the deceased qua the suit property vis-à-vis the defendant. In case the plaintiff succeeds in the aforesaid concert, the inevitable consequence thereto would be of the mutation in consonance thereto as stands attested by the revenue officer also falling apart. Moreover, when the defendant can on the anvil of the afore-stated averments ask for an apposite issue of estoppel being struck for barring the plaintiff qua his challenging the relevant testamentary disposition of the deceased testator. Consequently since the defendant may ask for the striking of the aforesaid issue also when the defendant would be permitted to adduce evidence thereto, the factum of its standing permitted to be incorporated in the plaint otherwise also when the validity of the relevant mutation rests upon the learned trial Court pronouncing upon the factum of the testamentary disposition standing efficaciously proven or not proven to be validly and duly executed, any belated permission for its incorporation in the plaint is also clarificatory also does not alter the nature, construction or complexion of the pleadings rather is facilitative to the defendant to on anvil thereof stake a claim qua striking of an apposite issue of estoppal qua it vis-à-vis the plaintiff also is facilitative for begetting concurrence in the relevant judicial verdict vis-à-vis it and the trite factum of proof of valid and due execution of the relevant testamentary execution propounded by him.

7. There is no merit in this petition, the same is accordingly dismissed. All pending applications stand disposed of accordingly. Impugned order stands maintained and affirmed. The parties through their learned counsel are directed to appear before the learned trial Court on 28.9.2016.

8. The learned trial Court is directed to decide the suit within a period of one year.

9. Any observation made hereinabove shall not be taken as an expression of opinion on the merits of the case and the learned trial Court shall decide the matter uninfluenced by any observation made herein above.

Cases referred:
State of Karnataka vs. Rameshwara Rice Mills, AIR 1987 SC 1359
Vishwanath Sood vs. Union of India, AIR 1989 SC 952

For the appellant: Mr. J.S.Bhogal, Senior Advocate, with Mr. Suneet Goel, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. C.N. Singh, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Rajiv Sharma, Judge:

This regular second appeal is instituted against the impugned judgment and decree dated 25.4.2007 rendered by learned Additional District Judge, Shimla, in Civil Appeal No. 105-S/13 of 2005.

2 The key facts necessary for the adjudication of the appeal are that the respondents/plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as the "plaintiffs" for convenience sake) filed a suit for recovery of Rs.1,64,124/- @ 18% per annum on the averments that plaintiff No.2, i.e. Executive Engineer, H.P. Housing Board invited the tenders for construction of approach road, retaining walls and cutting work on 8.11.1996 for Social Housing Colony, Shoghi. The appellant/defendant (hereinafter referred to as the "defendant" for convenience sake) participated in the tendering process. The defendant's tender was accepted and he was issued award letter dated 11.12.1996. He was asked to start the work at once. The date of commencement of the work was to be reckoned from 15th day after the issuance of award letter or actual date of commencement, whichever was earlier. The date of commencement of work was latest by 11.12.1996 and date of completion of the work was fixed on 10.6.1997. The plaintiffs and defendant entered into an agreement within fifteen days of issuance of award letter. The defendant acknowledged and accepted all the terms and conditions of the agreement. The site was handed over to the defendant on 11.12.1996. As per clause 2 of the agreement, the defendant was to execute 1/8th of the entire work before completion of 1/4th of the time fixed, but the defendant only executed the work valuing Rs.1,94,942.40 paise before completion of 1/4th of the time fixed against the total value of work Rs.19,84,885.55 paise, whereas he was required to execute the work valuing Rs.2,48,110/- within 1/4th of time fixed. The defendant was time and again requested by plaintiff No.2 to accelerate the work, but he failed to do so. The notice was issued to the defendant by plaintiff No.2 on 10.2.1997 to accelerate the work. The defendant was again issued notice on 11.6.1997 vide which he was asked to restart the work at the site. He was again issued a letter dated 26.6.1997. The defendant did not care and miserably failed to restart the work at the site. He was again asked to accelerate the progress of work and ensure its entire completion before 31.7.1997, but he failed to do so. Thereafter, the plaintiffs were constrained to rescind the agreement. The plaintiffs imposed the compensation of Rs.1,98,488.55 paise upon the defendant and after final billing, a sum of Rs.1,64,124/- was still recoverable from the defendant.

3 The suit was contested by the defendant. He admitted that the agreement was entered into between the parties and the stipulated time to complete the work was six months. It was denied that the site was handed over to him by the plaintiffs on 11.12.1996. According to him, the plaintiffs failed to make regular monthly payments. Therefore, he was prevented from executing the work by the acts, conduct, omission and commission of the plaintiffs.

4 The replication was filed by the plaintiffs. The learned trial court framed the issues on 4.4.2001 and decreed the suit of the plaintiffs vide judgment and decree dated 16.11.2004. The defendant feeling aggrieved with the judgment and decree dated 16.11.2004 preferred an appeal before the learned first Appellate Court, who dismissed the same vide impugned judgment and decree dated 25.4.2007. Hence, this regular second appeal, which was admitted on following substantial questions of law on 17.12.2007:-

1. Whether the impugned decree can be sustained on the basis of Exhibit PW3/K when the said decision of the Superintending Engineer did not fall within the definition of considered decision in terms of the judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India in AIR 1989 SC 952?

2. Whether the impugned decree as passed by the ld. Courts below be sustained especially in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case when the respondents/plaintiffs have become judge of their own cause and determined the compensation?

5 Mr. J.S. Bhogal, learned Senior Advocate appearing for the defendant, on the basis of the substantial questions of law framed, has vehemently argued that judgments and decrees passed by the learned courts below are against the ratio laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in AIR 1989 SC 952. He has also contended that the plaintiffs had become judge of their own cause while determining the compensation and his client (defendant) could not be made liable to pay compensation under clause 2 of the agreement.

6 Mr. C.N.Singh, learned Advocate appearing for the plaintiffs, has supported the judgments and decrees passed by both the learned courts below.

7. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the record carefully.

8. Since both the substantial questions of law are interlinked and interconnected, the same are taken up together for determination to avoid repetition of discussion of evidence.

9. PW1, H.S. Negi testified that site was handed over to the defendant in time. He admitted that the cement was not supplied to the defendant because he had not dug up the foundation. PW2, S.K. Sharma and PW3, S.C. Sood proved the documents on record. PW4, Vipin Kaul also stated that the site was handed over to the plaintiff on 11.12.1996, however, the defendant did not complete the work. The plaintiffs have also proved first notice dated 10.2.1997, Ext.PW3/C, second notice dated 11.6.1997 Ext.PW3/D, third notice dated 10.7.1997 Ext.PW3/E, letter Ext. PW3/F vide which hearing under clause 2 of the agreement was afforded, letter Ext.PW3/G vide which another opportunity of hearing was given to the defendant under clause 2 of the agreement, letter Ext.PW3/J vide which the defendant was afforded final opportunity of being heard and also approval of the Superintending Engineer under clause 2 of the agreement, Ext.PW3/L. The defendant while appearing in the witness box as DW1 though has denied the receipt of notices and letters, but has admitted that the agreement was entered into between the parties and the stipulated time to complete the work was six months. Clause 2 of the agreement reads as under:-

> "The time allowed for carrying out the work as entered in the tender shall be strictly observed by the contractor and shall be deemed to be the essence of the contract on the part of the contractor and shall be reckoned from the fifteenth day after the date on which the order to commence the work is issued to the contractor. The work shall throughout the stipulated period of the contract be proceeded with all due diligence and the contractor shall pay as compensation an amount equal to one percent of such smaller amount as the Superintending Engineer (whose decision in writing shall be final) may decide on the amount of the tendered cost of the whole work as shown in the tender for every day that the work remains un-commenced or unfinished, after the proper dates. And further, to ensure good progress during the execution of the work, the contractor shall be bound in all cases in which the time allowed for any work exceeds one month save for special jobs to complete one-eighth of the whole of the work before one-fourth of the whole time allowed under the contract has elapsed, three-eighth of the work of the work, before one-half of such time has elapsed and three-fourth of the work, before three-fourth of such time as elapsed.
> However, for special jobs if a time-schedule has been submitted by the contractor and the same has been accepted by Engineer-in-charge, the contractor shall comply with the said time-schedule. In the event of the contractor failing to comply with this condition, he shall be liable to pay as compensation an amount equal to one percent of such smaller amount as the Superintending Engineer (whose decision in writing shall be final), may decide on the said tendered cost of the whole work for every day that the due quantity of work remains incomplete, provided always that the entire amount of compensation to be paid under the provisions of this clause shall not exceed ten percent, on the tendered cost of the work as shown in the tender."

10. According to clause 2 of the agreement, the defendant was required to ensure good progress during the execution of the work and he was bound in all cases in which the time allowed for any work exceeded one month save for special jobs to complete one-eighth of the whole of the work before one-fourth of the whole time allowed under the contract elapsed, three-eighth of the work, before one-half of such time elapsed and three-fourth of the work, before three-fourth of such time elapsed. He was handed over the site on 11.12.1996 and he was required to complete the work latest by 10.6.1997, but he failed to do so. It is in these circumstances, the agreement was rescinded.

11. The Executive Engineer had sent the communication to the Superintending Engineer on 28.7.1997, Ext. PW3/F seeking permission to accord necessary approval to levy compensation for the delay under clause 2 of the agreement, so that compensation could be levied upon the defendant if he did not complete the work by 31.7.1997. The Superintending Engineer vide communication dated 31.7.1997, Ext.PW3/G informed the Executive Engineer that hearing under clause 2 of the agreement in respect of the award work was fixed for 7.8.1997 at 11.00 A.M. A copy of this communication was also sent to the defendant. The Executive Engineer vide communication dated 4.8.1997, Ext.PW3/H requested the defendant to make himself available on 7.8.1997 at 11.00 A.M. for hearing under clause 2 of the agreement. The defendant did not attend the hearing on 7.8.1997. The Superintending Engineer again sent a communication dated 19.8.1997, Ext.PW3/J giving defendant a final opportunity to attend the hearing on 22.8.1997 at 3.00 P.M. The defendant again chose not to appear before the Superintending Engineer. The Executive Engineer vide communication dated 23.10.1997, Ext.PW3/L informed the defendant that since he had failed to execute the work as per the agreement, he was liable to pay compensation under clause 2 of the agreement amounting to Rs.1,98,488.55 paise only on the tendered amount of Rs.19,84,885.55 paise. The defendant was liable to pay compensation for non-completion of the work as agreed and it cannot be said that the plaintiffs have become judge of their own cause. The ratio laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in AIR 1987 SC 1359, State of Karnataka vs. Rameshwara Rice Mills is not applicable in the present case.

12 Their Lordships of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Vishwanath Sood vs. Union of India, AIR 1989 SC 952 have held that the compensation clause contains a complete machinery for determination of the compensation which can be claimed by the Government on the ground of delay on the part of the contractor in completing the contract as per the time schedule agreed to between the parties. The decision of the Superintending Engineer, is in the nature of a considered decision which he has to arrive at after considering the various mitigating circumstances that may be pleaded by the contractor or his plea that he is not liable to pay compensation at all under this clause. Their Lordships have held as under:-

> "[8] We have gone through the judgment of the Division Bench of the High Court and we have also considered the arguments advanced on both sides. With great respect, we find ourselves unable to agree with the interpretation placed by the Division Bench on the terms of the contract. Clause 2 of the contract makes the time specified for the performance of the contract a matter of essence and emphasises the need on the part of the contractor to scrupulously adhere to the time schedule approved by the Engineer-in-charge. With a view to compel the contractor to adhere to this time schedule, this clause provides a kind of penalty in the form of a compensation to the Department for default in adhering to the time schedule. The clause envisages an amount of compensation calculated as a percentage of the estimated cost of the whole work on the basis of the number of days for which the work remains uncommenced or unfinished to the prescribed extent on the relevant dates. We do not agree with the counsel for the respondent that this is in the nature of an automatic levy to be made by the Engineer in-charge based on the number of days of delay and the estimated amount of work. Firstly the reference in the clause to the requirement that the work shall throughout the stipulated period of the contract be proceededwith due diligenceand the reference in the latter part of the clause that the compensation has to be paid "in the event of the contractor failingto comply with" the prescribed time schedule make it clear that the levy of compensation is conditioned on some default or negligence on the part of the contractor. Secondly, while the clause fixes the rate of compensation at 1per cent for every day of default it takes care to prescribe the maximum compensation of 10 per cent on this ground and it also provides for a discretion to the Superintending Engineer to reduce the rate of penalty from 1 per cent. Though the clause does not specifically say so, it is clear that any moderation that may be done by the Superintending Engineer would depend upon the circumstances, the nature and period of default and the degree of negligence or default that could be attributed to the contractor. This means that the Superintending Engineer, in determining the rate of compensation chargeable, will have to go into all the aspects and determine whether there is any negligence on the part of the contractor or not. Where there has been no negligence on the part of the contractor or where on account of various extraneous circumstances referred to by the Division Bench such as vis major or default on the part of the Government or some other unexpected circumstance which does not justify penalising the contractor, the Superintending Engineer will be entitled and bound to reduce or even waive the compensation. It is true that the clause does not in terms provide for any notice to the contractor by the Superintending Engineer. But it will be appreciated that in practice the amount of compensation will be initially levied by the Engineer-in-charge and the Superintending Engineer comes into the picture only as some sort of revisional or appellate authority to whom the contractor appeals for redress. As we see, it, clause 2 contains a complete machinery for determination of the compensation which can be claimed by the Government on the ground of delay on the part of the contractor in completing the contract as per the time schedule agreed to between the parties. The decision of the Superintending Engineer, it seems to us, is in the nature of a considered decision which he has to arrive at after considering the various mitigating circumstances that may be pleaded by the contractor or his plea that he is not liable to pay compensation at all under this clause. In our opinion the question regarding the amount of compensation leviable under clause, 2 has to be decided only by the Superintending Engineer and no one else."

13. As discussed above, the plaintiffs had called upon the defendant by issuing various letters to appear before the Superintending Engineer before determination of compensation; however, he had chosen not to appear before him. The defendant was rightly made liable to pay the compensation for non-completion of the work, as per schedule provided for in the agreement. Both the substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

14. Consequently, in view of analysis and discussion made hereinabove, there is no merit in the appeal and the same is dismissed. Pending application(s), if any also stands disposed of. No order as to costs.

CrMMO No. 254/2016
Dismissed on: September 5, 2016

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 311- Application for recalling PW-6 was filed on the ground that he had given statement contradictory to what was stated by him before Learned District Judge, Shimla - application was opposed on the ground that complainant had no locus standi to file the application- application was dismissed by the trial Court- held, that PW-6 was examined by Learned Public Prosecutor and was cross examined on behalf of the accused- application has not been signed by Public Prosecutor- mere change of counsel cannot be a ground for recalling a witness- witnesses cannot be expected to face the ordeal of appearing in the Court repeatedly- there is no perversity or illegality in the order passed by the trial Court- petition dismissed. (Para-4 to 9)

Mannan Shaikh v. State of W.B. (2014)13 SCC 59
State (NCT of Delhi) vs. Shiv Kumar Yadav and another (2016)2 SCC 402

For the petitioner : Mr. Deepak Gupta, Advocate.
For the respondents : None for respondents No.1 to 7
Ms. Parmod Thakur, Additional Advocate General, for respondent No.8-State.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Rajiv Sharma, Judge (oral)

This petition is directed against Order dated 21.6.2016 rendered by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Shimla in Case No. 87-2 of 2012.

2. "Key facts" necessary for the adjudication of the present petition are that FIR No. 231/2011 dated 31.10.2011 under sections 448 and 342 IPC was registered. Challan was presented and the Court took cognizance of the offence and summoned the accused persons. Accused were also charged. Prosecution examined the complainant alongwith other witnesses. Statement of Kutub Deen son of Kalamdeen was also recorded. Petitioner filed an application under Section 311 CrPC for recalling Kutub Deen, who was examined as PW-6, for re-examination. According to the averments made in the application, he has given the statement contradictory to the statement made by him before the Court of learned District Judge, Shimla in case titled, Himachal Pradesh Wakf Board vs. Jaspal Singh and others, wherein he was examined as PW-2. He has deposed that Mohd. Tariq and Mohd. Mossin were in possession of the property as sub-tenants under the accused, who had subletted the premises to them. However, while appearing as PW-6 in case No. 87-2/2012, he has resiled from his previous statement which was made by him on 19.11.2014. He has given false statement, intentionally and deliberately, while appearing as PW-6. Thereafter, complainant engaged another counsel of his choice to assist the learned Public Prosecutor and instructed him to file an application for re-examination of the witness to confront him with his earlier statement.

3. Application was contested by the accused. According to the averments made in the reply, applicant has no locus standi to file the application. Learned District Attorney has not authorised him to file the application. PW-6 Kutub Deen has not made any contradictory statement.

4. Kutub Deen was examined as PW-6 on 13.3.2015. He was examined by the learned Public Prosecutor. He was, thereafter, cross-examined on behalf of the accused. Application has also not been signed by the learned Public Prosecutor. Learned trial Court has rightly come to the conclusion that no ground has been made out to recall the witness. Merely, that the complainant has changed his counsel, can not be a ground to recall a witness. In the application, it is not even stated that what statement was made by him before the learned District Judge in case titled HP Wakf Board vs. Jaspal Singh and others. What has been stated is that he has intentionally and deliberately led false evidence in connivance with the accused.

5. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajaram Prasad Yadav v. State of Bihar reported in (2013)14 SCC 461 have explained the nature and scope of Section 311 CrPC. Their lordships have held that the power can be exercised at any stage as per the principles laid down thereunder. The paramount consideration should be for just decision of the case. Their lordships have held as under:

> "14. A conspicuous reading of Section 311 Cr.P.C. would show that widest of the powers have been invested with the Courts when it comes to the question of summoning a witness or to recall or re-examine any witness already examined. A reading of the provision shows that the expression "any" has been used as a pre-fix to "court", "inquiry", "trial", "other proceeding", "person as a witness", "person in attendance though not summoned as a witness", and "person already examined". By using the said expression "any" as a pre-fix to the various expressions mentioned above, it is ultimately stated that all that was required to be satisfied by the Court was only in relation to such evidence that appears to the Court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Section 138 of the Evidence Act, prescribed the order of examination of a witness in the Court. Order of re-examination is also prescribed calling for such a witness so desired for such re-examination. Therefore, a reading of Section 311 Cr.P.C. and Section 138 Evidence Act, insofar as it comes to the question of a criminal trial, the order of re-examination at the desire of any person under Section 138, will have to necessarily be in consonance with the prescription contained in Section 311 Cr.P.C. It is, therefore, imperative that the invocation of Section 311 Cr.P.C. and its application in a particular case can be ordered by the Court, only by bearing in mind the object and purport of the said provision, namely, for achieving a just decision of the case as noted by us earlier. The power vested under the said provision is made available to any Court at any stage in any inquiry or trial or other proceeding initiated under the Code for the purpose of summoning any person as a witness or for examining any person in attendance, even though not summoned as witness or to recall or re-examine any person already examined. Insofar as recalling and re-examination of any person already examined, the Court must necessarily consider and ensure that such recall and re-examination of any person, appears in the view of the Court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Therefore, the paramount requirement is just decision and for that purpose the essentiality of a person to be recalled and re-examined has to be ascertained. To put it differently, while such a widest power is invested with the Court, it is needless to state that exercise of such power should be made judicially and also with extreme care and caution.

17. From a conspectus consideration of the above decisions, while dealing with an application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. read along with Section 138 of the Evidence Act, we feel the following principles will have to be borne in mind by the Courts:

17.1 Whether the Court is right in thinking that the new evidence is needed by it? Whether the evidence sought to be led in under Section 311 is noted by the Court for a just decision of a case?

17.2 The exercise of the widest discretionary power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. should ensure that the judgment should not be rendered on inchoate, inconclusive speculative presentation of facts, as thereby the ends of justice would be defeated.

17.3 If evidence of any witness appears to the Court to be essential to the just decision of the case, it is the power of the Court to summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person.

17.4 The exercise of power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. should be resorted to only with the object of finding out the truth or obtaining proper proof for such facts, which will lead to a just and correct decision of the case.

17.5 The exercise of the said power cannot be dubbed as filling in a lacuna in a prosecution case, unless the facts and circumstances of the case make it apparent that the exercise of power by the Court would result in causing serious prejudice to the accused, resulting in miscarriage of justice.

17.6The wide discretionary power should be exercised judiciously and not arbitrarily.

17.7 The Court must satisfy itself that it was in every respect essential to examine such a witness or to recall him for further examination in order to arrive at a just decision of the case.

17.8 The object of Section 311 Cr.P.C. simultaneously imposes a duty on the Court to determine the truth and to render a just decision.

17.9 The Court arrives at the conclusion that additional evidence is necessary, not because it would be impossible to pronounce the judgment without it, but because there would be a failure of justice without such evidence being considered.

17.10 Exigency of the situation, fair play and good sense should be the safe guard, while exercising the discretion. The Court should bear in mind that no party in a trial can be foreclosed from correcting errors and that if proper evidence was not adduced or a relevant material was not brought on record due to any inadvertence, the Court should be magnanimous in permitting such mistakes to be rectified.

17.11 The Court should be conscious of the position that after all the trial is basically for the prisoners and the Court should afford an opportunity to them in the fairest manner possible. In that parity of reasoning, it would be safe to err in favour of the accused getting an opportunity rather than protecting the prosecution against possible prejudice at the cost of the accused. The Court should bear in mind that improper or capricious exercise of such a discretionary power, may lead to undesirable results.

17.12 The additional evidence must not be received as a disguise or to change the nature of the case against any of the party.

17.13 The power must be exercised keeping in mind that the evidence that is likely to be tendered, would be germane to the issue involved and also ensure that an opportunity of rebuttal is given to the other party.

17.14 The power under Section 311 Cr.P.C. must therefore, be invoked by the Court only in order to meet the ends of justice for strong and valid reasons and the same must be exercised with care, caution and circumspection. The Court should bear in mind that fair trial entails the interest of the accused, the victim and the society and, therefore, the grant of fair and proper opportunities to the persons concerned, must be ensured being a constitutional goal, as well as a human right."

6. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mannan Shaikh v. State of W.B. reported in (2014)13 SCC 59 have held that the wide power to recall the witness is to be exercised with circumspection and only with the object of arriving at a just decision of the case and the same should not prejudice the accused and should not permit to fill up the lacuna by the prosecution. Their lordships have held as under:

"[12] The aim of every court is to discover truth. Section 311 of the Code is one of many such provisions of the Code which strengthen the arms of a court in its effort to ferret out the truth by procedure sanctioned by law. It is couched in very wide terms. It empowers the court at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceedings under the Code to summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as witness or recall and re-examine already examined witness. The second part of the Section uses the word 'shall'. It says that the court shall summon and examine or recall or re-examine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case. The words 'essential to the just decision of the case' are the key words. The court must form an opinion that for the just decision of the case recall or re-examination of the witness is necessary. Since the power is wide it's exercise has to be done with circumspection. It is trite that wider the power greater is the responsibility on the courts which exercise it. The exercise of this power cannot be untrammeled and arbitrary but must be only guided by the object of arriving at a just decision of the case. It should not cause prejudice to the accused. It should not permit the prosecution to fill-up the lacuna. Whether recall of a witness is for filling-up of a lacuna or it is for just decision of a case depends on facts and circumstances of each case. In all cases it is likely to be argued that the prosecution is trying to fill-up a lacuna because the line of demarcation is thin. It is for the court to consider all the circumstances and decide whether the prayer for recall is genuine."

7. Their Lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State (NCT of Delhi) vs. Shiv Kumar Yadav and another reported in (2016)2 SCC 402 have held that plea of recalling a witness has to be bonafide and mere change of a counsel, can not be a ground for recalling a witness. Their lordships have held as under:

"11. It is further well settled that fairness of trial has to be seen not only from the point of view of the accused, but also from the point of view of the victim and the society. In the name of fair trial, the system cannot be held to ransom. The accused is entitled to be represented by a counsel of his choice, to be provided all relevant documents, to cross- examine the prosecution witnesses and to lead evidence in his defence. The object of provision for recall is to reserve the power with the court to prevent any injustice in the conduct of the trial at any stage. The power available with the court to prevent injustice has to be exercised only if the Court, for valid reasons, feels that injustice is caused to a party. Such a finding, with reasons, must be specifically recorded by the court before the power is exercised. It is not possible to lay down precise situations when such power can be exercised. The Legislature in its wisdom has left the power undefined. Thus, the scope of the power has to be considered from case to case. The guidance for the purpose is available in several decisions relied upon by the parties. It will be sufficient to refer to only some of the decisions for the principles laid down which are relevant for this case.

12. In Rajaram case, the complainant was examined but he did not support the prosecution case. On account of subsequent events he changed his mind and applied for recall under Section 311 Cr.P.C. which was declined by the trial court but allowed by the High Court. This Court held such a course to be impermissible, it was observed :

> "13. .. In order to appreciate the stand of the appellant it will be worthwhile to refer to Section 311 CrPC, as well as Section 138 of the Evidence Act. The same are extracted hereunder:
>
> Section 311, Code of Criminal Procedure "311. Power to summon material witness, or examine person present.—Any court may, at any stage of any inquiry, trial or other proceeding under this Code, summon any person as a witness, or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness, or recall and re-examine any person already examined; and the court shall summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person if his evidence appears to it to be essential to the just decision of the case." * * *
>
> Section 138, Evidence Act "138. Order of examinations.—Witnesses shall be first examined-in-chief then (if the adverse party so desires) cross-examined, then (if the party calling him so desires) re-examined.
>
> The examination and cross-examination must relate to relevant facts but the cross-examination need not be confined to the facts to which the witness testified on his examination-in-chief.
>
> Direction of re-examination.—The re-examination shall be directed to the explanation of matters referred to in cross-examination; and if new matter is, by permission of the court, introduced in re-examination, the adverse party may further cross-examine upon that matter."
> 14. A conspicuous reading of Section 311 CrPC would show that widest of the powers have been invested with the courts when it comes to the question of summoning a witness or to recall or re-examine any witness already examined. A reading of the provision shows that the expression "any" has been used as a prefix to "court", "inquiry", "trial", "other proceeding", "person as a witness", "person in attendance though not summoned as a witness", and "person already examined". By using the said expression "any" as a prefix to the various expressions mentioned above, it is ultimately stated that all that was required to be satisfied by the court was only in relation to such evidence that appears to the court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Section 138 of the Evidence Act, prescribed the order of examination of a witness in the court. The order of re-examination is also prescribed calling for such a witness so desired for such re- examination. Therefore, a reading of Section 311 CrPC and Section 138 Evidence Act, insofar as it comes to the question of a criminal trial, the order of re-examination at the desire of any person under Section 138, will have to necessarily be in consonance with the prescription contained in Section 311 CrPC. It is, therefore, imperative that the invocation of Section 311 CrPC and its application in a particular case can be ordered by the court, only by bearing in mind the object and purport of the said provision, namely, for achieving a just decision of the case as noted by us earlier. The power vested under the said provision is made available to any court at any stage in any inquiry or trial or other proceeding initiated under the Code for the purpose of summoning any person as a witness or for examining any person in attendance, even though not summoned as witness or to recall or re-examine any person already examined. Insofar as recalling and re-examination of any person already examined is concerned, the court must necessarily consider and ensure that such recall and re-examination of any person, appears in the view of the court to be essential for the just decision of the case. Therefore, the paramount requirement is just decision and for that purpose the essentiality of a person to be recalled and re- examined has to be ascertained. To put it differently, while such a widest power is invested with the court, it is needless to state that exercise of such power should be made judicially and also with extreme care and caution."

13. After referring to earlier decisions on the point, the Court culled out following principles to be borne in mind :

"17.1. Whether the court is right in thinking that the new evidence is needed by it? Whether the evidence sought to be led in under Section 311 is noted by the court for a just decision of a case?

17.2. The exercise of the widest discretionary power under Section 311 CrPC should ensure that the judgment should not be rendered on inchoate, inconclusive and speculative presentation of facts, as thereby the ends of justice would be defeated.

17.3. If evidence of any witness appears to the court to be essential to the just decision of the case, it is the power of the court to summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person.

17.4. The exercise of power under Section 311 CrPC should be resorted to only with the object of finding out the truth or obtaining proper proof for such facts, which will lead to a just and correct decision of the case.

17.5. The exercise of the said power cannot be dubbed as filling in a lacuna in a prosecution case, unless the facts and circumstances of the case make it apparent that the exercise of power by the court would result in causing serious prejudice to the accused, resulting in miscarriage of justice.

17.6. The wide discretionary power should be exercised judiciously and not arbitrarily.

17.7. The court must satisfy itself that it was in every respect essential to examine such a witness or to recall him for further examination in order to arrive at a just decision of the case.

17.8. The object of Section 311 CrPC simultaneously imposes a duty on the court to determine the truth and to render a just decision.

17.9. The court arrives at the conclusion that additional evidence is necessary, not because it would be impossible to pronounce the judgment without it, but because there would be a failure of justice without such evidence being considered.

17.10. Exigency of the situation, fair play and good sense should be the safeguard, while exercising the discretion. The court should bear in mind that no party in a trial can be foreclosed from correcting errors and that if proper evidence was not adduced or a relevant material was not brought on record due to any inadvertence, the court should be magnanimous in permitting such mistakes to be rectified.

17.11. The court should be conscious of the position that after all the trial is basically for the prisoners and the court should afford an opportunity to them in the fairest manner possible. In that parity of reasoning, it would be safe to err in favour of the accused getting an opportunity rather than protecting the prosecution against possible prejudice at the cost of the accused. The court should bear in mind that improper or capricious exercise of such a discretionary power, may lead to undesirable results.

17.12. The additional evidence must not be received as a disguise or to change the nature of the case against any of the party.

17.13. The power must be exercised keeping in mind that the evidence that is likely to be tendered, would be germane to the issue involved and also ensure that an opportunity of rebuttal is given to the other party.

17.14. The power under Section 311 CrPC must therefore, be invoked by the court only in order to meet the ends of justice for strong and valid reasons and the same must be exercised with care, caution and circumspection. The court should bear in mind that fair trial entails the interest of the accused, the victim and the society and, therefore, the grant of fair and proper opportunities to the persons concerned, must be ensured being a constitutional goal, as well as a human right."

14. In Hoffman Andreas case, the counsel who was conducting the case was ill and died during the progress of the trial. The new counsel sought recall on the ground that the witnesses could not be cross-examined on account of illness of the counsel. This prayer was allowed in peculiar circumstances with the observation that normally a closed trial could not be reopened but illness and death of the counsel was in the facts and circumstances considered to be a valid ground for recall of witnesses. It was observed :

"6. Normally, at this late stage, we would be disinclined to open up a closed trial once again. But we are persuaded to consider it in this case on account of the unfortunate development that took place during trial i.e. the passing away of the defence counsel midway of the trial. The counsel who was engaged for defending the appellant had cross-examined the witnesses but he could not complete the trial because of his death. When the new counsel took up the matter he would certainly be under the disadvantage that he could not ascertain from the erstwhile counsel as to the scheme of the defence strategy which the predeceased advocate had in mind or as to why he had not put further questions on certain aspects. In such circumstances, if the new counsel thought to have the material witnesses further examined the Court could adopt latitude and a liberal view in the interest of justice, particularly when the Court has unbridled powers in the matter as enshrined in Section 311 of the Code. After all the trial is basically for the prisoners and courts should afford the opportunity to them in the fairest manner possible."

15. The above observations cannot be read as laying down any inflexible rule to routinely permit a recall on the ground that cross-examination was not proper for reasons attributable to a counsel. While advancement of justice remains the prime object of law, it cannot be understood that recall can be allowed for the asking or reasons related to mere convenience. It has normally to be presumed that the counsel conducting a case is competent particularly when a counsel is appointed by choice of a litigant. Taken to its logical end, the principle that a retrial must follow on every change of a counsel, can have serious consequences on conduct of trials and the criminal justice system. Witnesses cannot be expected to face the hardship of appearing in court repeatedly, particularly in sensitive cases such as the present one. It can result in undue hardship for victims, especially so, of heinous crimes, if they are required to repeatedly appear in court to face cross-examination.

8. In the present case also, one of the grounds for recalling the witness is change of counsel. It is not permissible. Witness can not be expected to face the ordeal of appearing in the Court repeatedly. No acceptable grounds have been made out for recalling the witness. There is neither any perversity nor any illegality in the order passed by the learned trial Court.

9. Accordingly, there is no merit in the present petition and the same is dismissed, so also the pending applications, if any.

State of H.P & others. .....Respondents.

Cr.MMO No. 48 of 2015
Reserved on : 17.8.2016
Decided on : 05.9.2016

Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973- Section 482- An FIR was registered for the commission of offences punishable under Sections 341, 392, 323, 324, 504, 506, 149 and 120-B of I.P.C.- car was purchased on a hire purchase basis- possession was taken in accordance with the terms and conditions of the agreement- complainant filed a private complaint, in which a cancellation report was filed - objections were made to the cancellation report, which were accepted- further investigation was conducted and another cancellation report was filed- Court rejected the cancellation report and ordered the issuance of summons - petition was filed for quashing the order- held, that hire purchase agreement shows that complainant had not acquired absolute title over the vehicle- financer had right to retake the possession, in case of default- however, financer cannot take forcible possession on the basis of this condition- petition dismissed. (Para-6 to 10)

For the petitioners: Mr. Vijay K Verma, Advocate.
For the Respondents: Mr. R.S Thakur, Additional Advocate General for respondents No.1 & 2.
Respondents No. 3 and 4 ex-parte.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J

Through the instant petition, the petitioners ventilate a relief for quashing of summoning order of 6.1.2015 pronounced by the Court of the learned Judicial Magistrate, 1st Class, Court No.II Dehra. They also pray for quashing of proceedings pending therebefore in pursuance to the lodging of an FIR No. 79 of 24.5.2007 constituting therein commission of offences by the petitioners/accused under Sections 341, 392, 323, 324, 504,506, 149 and 120-B of Indian Penal Code.

2. The complainant Sh. Suman Kumar Sharma on finance standing purveyed to him by the ICCI Bank Ltd, Branch Office, Mandi purchased Innova car bearing registration No. HP-21A-2321. However, he omitted to adhere to the apposite schedule qua his defraying to it the relevant loan installments, schedule whereof stood embodied in a hire purchase agreement recorded inter-se him and the financer. The vehicle aforesaid which stood purchased by him on finance standing purveyed to him by the financer was hence the subject of a hypothecation deed drawn inter-se him and the financer. Uncontrovertedly the vehicle aforesaid stood purchased by him on a hire purchase basis also a condition stood incorporated in the relevant hypothecation deed/hire purchase agreement whereunder finance stood purveyed to the complainant by the financer, whereunder an authorization stood foisted in the financer to, on purported occurrence of default by the loanee in payment of loan installments qua it, take possession of the hypothecated asset(s). The relevant condition of the agreement foisting the aforesaid empowerment in the financer to retake possession of the relevant vehicle on occurrence of default by the loanee in the relevant payment of the apposite loan installments qua it, stands extracted hereinafter:-

> "On the happening of any of the events of default, ICICI Bank may by a notice in writing to the Borrower/s and without prejudice to the rights and remedies available to ICICI Bank under the Loan Terms or any other Transaction Document or otherwise: (a) call upon the Borrower/s to pay all the Borrowers/s Dues in respect of the facility and otherwise, and/or (b declare the security, if any, created in terms of pursuant to he Loan Terms and/or the other Transaction Documents to be enforceable, and ICICI Bank, its representative and/or such other person in favour of whom such security or any part thereof is created shall have, inter alia, the following rights (notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the loan terms and /or the other Transaction Documents and irrespective of whether the entire facility or Borrowers/s Dues has/have been recalled) namely:
> I . to enter upon and take possession of the Asset(s) in accordance with the provisions of the Loan Terms: and/or
> ii. to transfer or deal with the asset(s) by way of lease, leave and license, sale or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of the loan terms.."

3. On anchorage of the aforesaid authorization bestowed upon the financer, it, on purported occurrence of default on the part of the loanee/complainant to defray loan installments to it, proceeded to on 26.4.2007 through the accused named in the FIR forcibly retake possession of the relevant vehicle from the complainant. Also during the course of theirs re-taking forcible possession of the relevant vehicle from the complainant they allegedly committed offences constituted under Sections 341,392,323,324,504,506 readwith Section 149,120-B of I.P.C. In sequel thereto the complainant reported the matter to Police Station, Jawalamukhi vide DDR No. 6 of 27.4.2007. The complainant re-approached the police station, concerned on 30.4.2007 and on 1.5.2007 qua the action initiated by it on his DDR aforesaid. However no cognizance stood taken by the police on his apposite DDR instituted therebefore. Thereafter, the complainant filed an application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C before the Court of the learned Judicial Magistrate, Ist Class, Dehra, who under its pronouncement made on 23.5.2007 directed for registration of an FIR whereupon FIR No. 79/2007 of 24.5.2007 stood registered at police Station, Jawalamukhi. On conclusion of investigations held by the Investigating Officer, a "Cancellation Report" was instituted before the Court concerned. The complainant raised objections qua the acceptance by the Court concerned of the "Cancellation Report" preferred therebefore by the Investigating Officer. The learned Judicial Magistrate concerned rendered an adjudication on "Cancellation Report" preferred therebefore by the Investigating Officer holding therein a proposal for a verdict being rendered for closure of the inculpatory role constituted in the FIR vis-à-vis the accused. Also it rendered an adjudication upon the objections raised by the complainant against its acceptance by it.

4. A perusal of the verdict rendered thereupon by the learned Judicial Magistrate concerned makes an evident display of the Court rejecting the preferment therebefore of a "Cancellation Report" of the FIR concerned rather it directed the Investigating Officer concerned to reinvestigate the case.

5. The investigating Officer on holding further investigations qua the offences constituted against the accused in the relevant FIR concluded of no penal offences standing constituted therein against the accused whereupon he reinstituted a "Cancellation Report" qua it before the learned Judicial Magistrate concerned. The complainant raised objections qua it before the Magistrate concerned whereupon the Judicial Magistrate concerned recorded a verdict in dis-concurrence with the apposite cancellation report preferred therebefore by the Investigating officer rather she held concurrence with the apt objections qua its acceptance reared therebefore by the complainant. The learned judicial Magistrate directed for further investigations being conducted by the Investigating Officer. In sequel thereto the learned Judicial Magistrate concerned ordered for issuance of summons upon the accused, orders whereof stand prayed to be quashed and set aside.

6. The drawing up of the relevant hire purchase agreement/hypothecation deed inter-se the complainant and the finance-company was a precursor to the purchase of the relevant vehicle by the former. The prima donna factum of the relevant transaction standing sequelled by drawing of a hire purchase agreement/hypothecation deed vis-à-vis the financer and the complainant renders amenable an inference of the complainant not in quick promptitude to his purchasing it, acquiring absolute dominium thereon rather his standing bestowed with an absolute dominium thereon only on his liquidating the relevant entire loan liability towards the financer. In coming to the aforesaid view this Court finds support from a judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court rendered in AIR 1966 Supreme Court 1178 (Sundaram Finance Ltd vs. State of Kerala, relevant paragraph 10 whereof stands extracted hereinafter.

> "(10) In the present case the transactions were admittedly hire-purchase agreements. The financier purchased the cars for the amounts required to be paid to the dealer and entered into specific hire-purchase agreements with the customers. They contained all the usual terms that are found in a hire-purchase agreement. Neither the fact that the agreements were entered into because the customers had no funds to purchase the motor-cars nor the circumstances that part of the consideration was already paid to the dealer affects the nature of the transaction. The fact that the customer executed a promissory note for the money advanced by the financier does not affect the question, for that was merged in the hire-purchase transaction. If the said terms were not carried out, the customers could not claim any rights under the agreements and the financier continued to be the owner freed from any obligation created under the agreements. Can the financier thereafter enforce the promissory note? I think he cannot. As I have stated earlier, the transactions purported to be hire-purchase agreements and they must be treated as such, as the common intention of the parties was to enter into such transactions. A deeper scrutiny of the transactions shows that the dealer and the financier were closely connected companies and for their own reasons they have split up the business of hire-purchase between them. In effect and in substance, the dealer without receiving the whole money put the customers in possession of the cars under the hire-purchase agreements."

7. While carrying forward the inference aforesaid drawn hereinabove of till the loanee liquidating the entire relevant loan liability vis-à-vis the financer, his not thereupto standing foisted with absolute dominion qua the relevant vehicle purchased by him under the relevant hire purchase agreement/hypothecation deed drawn qua it inter-se him and the financer, contrarily vestment of absolute dominion thereto occurring only on his liquidating the entire loan liability towards the financer, leads this Court to allude to the relevant condition embodied in the relevant agreement whereunder a preemptory right stands foisted in the financer to retake its possession on occurrence of omission(s) of the loanee to liquidate his loan liability qua it. The bestowment of an empowerment in the financer to retake its possession on occurrence of default on the part of the loanee to liquidate his loan liability qua it also stands mandated by the Hon'ble Apex Court in (2001) 7 SCC 417 (Charanjit Singh Chadha and others versus Sudhir Mehra) to hold validation.

8. In the judgment aforestated the Hon'ble Apex Court has made a pronouncement qua retaking of possession of the vehicle by the financer from the hirer/loanee on anvil of satiation standing begotten qua the apposite condition embodied in the hire purchase agreement which stood struck inter-se both standing bereft of any penally inculpable mens rea. Consequently it discountenanced the grievance ventilated by the loanee in his complaint instituted before the relevant police agency qua the forcible retaking of the apposite vehicle by the financer constituting a penally inculpable offence rather it concluded qua galvanizing of the criminal machinery by the complainant tantamounting to his abusing the process of law also his harassing besides humiliating the agent(s) deployed by the finance-company to retake its possession from him preponderantly given the relevant retaking of its possession by its agents standing anvilled upon the relevant condition embodied in the hire purchase agreement whereupon the financer stood empowered to through its agents retake its possession, on occurrence of default on the part of the loanee to liquidate his loan liability qua the financer. The learned counsel appearing for the petitioners/accused would succeed in espousing herebefore qua the ratio decidendi propounded by the Hon'ble Apex Court in its verdict aforesaid holding apt aplomb application hereat only on evident occurrence of both concurrence besides alignment inter-se the factual matrix manifested in the judgment supra of the Hon'ble apex Court vis-à-vis the factual scenario prevalent hereat. Conspicuously when the relevant trite factual scenario embodied in the judgment of the Hon'ble apex Court supra is of occurrence of default on the part of the loanee in liquidating his loan installment qua the financer actuating the latter to terminate the hire purchase agreement recorded inter-se both wherein the relevant vehicle stood constituted as its corpus. Also a perusal of the judgment supra of the Hon'ble Apex Court unveils the factum of the loanee therein issuing to the financer a cheque constituted in a sum of Rs.84,000/- towards the relevant defrayment by him of the apposite loan installments qua the relevant vehicle, cheque whereof stood dishonoured, constraining the financer to institute a criminal complaint against the loanee therein under Section 138 of NI Act. With this Court culling from the rendition of the Hon'ble Apex Court in AIR 1966 Supreme Court 1178 qua the essential rubric ingraining a hire purchase agreement standing constituted in the factum of the financer, till the occurrence of liquidation by the loanee of the entire component of the relevant loan liability qua it, it continuing to hold dominium besides title qua the relevant asset(s) also contrarily the loanee till his not defraying the entire sum of loan vis-à-vis his financer his not holding any title qua the relevant assets rather his acquisition of absolute dominium thereon standing deferred besides postponed till his liquidating his entire loan liability vis-à-vis the financer, has a telling effect upon the embodiment of a condition in the relevant hypothecation/hire purchase agreement drawn inter-se the loanee with the financer wherewithin a leverage stands foisted upon the financer to through its agents retake its possession on occurrence of default by the loanee in liquidating his entire component of loan qua it. Also thereupon any acquisition of possession by it of the relevant vehicle acquires legitimacy also its, planking its relevant act thereupon acquires the mantel of validation. However before mete-ing deference thereto qua the factual matrix hereat, the visible stark contradistinctivity therein vis-à-vis the factual scenario prevailing hereat, occurs in the relevant germane fact embodied therewithin of the financer therein on occurrence of default by the loanee in liquidating his entire component of loan vis-à-vis the financer, it standing goaded to terminate the relevant hire purchase agreement also occurs in the visible fact of the loanee therein issuing a cheque constituting therewithin a part of his loan liability qua the relevant asset(s), cheque whereof stood dishonoured whereupon the financer stood actuated to institute a complaint under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, hence leans this Court to hold significantly when in digression thereof hereat the relevant hire purchase agreement drawn inter-se the financer and the loanee/complainant stands un-rescinded also with 54 postdated cheques standing issued by the loanee/complainant to the financer holding therewithin his loan liability vis-à-vis the financer, standing not proven to be dishonoured nor proof standing adduced by the financer hereat qua on theirs standing purportedly dishonoured, its instituting a complaint against the loanee under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, renders the ratio decidendi held in the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court to hence stand un-attracted hereat. With the relevant hire purchase agreement qua the relevant asset(s) recorded inter-se the loanee/complainant hereat vis-à-vis the financer hereat remaining un-rescinded hence when it remains alive besides with none of the cheques issued by the loanee/complainant to his financer evidently standing not dishonoured nor any complaint standing instituted against the complainant by the financer under Section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, constitutes the action of the financer to through its agents retake its forcible possession from the complainant to be ridden with a vice of its standing initiated in a posthaste manner bereft of thorough application of mind by it qua the loanee/ complainant infracting the mandate of the apposite schedule of repaying his loan qua it rather hence its standing actuated by its pedantically on the plank of the relevant condition embodied in the hire purchase agreement whereupon it on purported occurrence of default by the latter in liquidating his loan liability stood foisted with an empowerment to retake its possession, conspicuously when any imputation of validation to its relevant act of retaking its possession from the complainant on anvil of occurrence of default by the loanee in liquidating his loan liability qua it enjoins occurrence herebefore of prima-facie evidence qua preceding thereto its ensuring of the loanee/complainant being an obdurate besides a recalcitrant defaulter, evidence whereof for reasons afore-stated stands un-adduced, renders the act of the financer to plank, its act of retaking its possession from the loanee, on the relevant condition afore-stated embodied in the hire purchase agreement, to hence hold no validation in law. Also with deferment of vestment of title in the loanee/complainant continuing till his liquidating the entire component of the relevant loan vis-à-vis the financer contrarily also with the relevant financer thereupto holding title qua the relevant asset(s) would not yet underpin in it any indefeasible right to retake its possession on the plank of the relevant condition embodied therewithin nor also on occurrence of any minimal default on the part of the loanee in liquidating the relevant loan liability towards it would foist in it a vested right to retake its possession from him unless he evidently committed with persevering obduracy a gross default in defraying the relevant loan installments to it also unless preceding thereto the financer had put the loanee/ complainant to notice, calling upon him to defray the apposite loan installments, notice whereof remaining dis-affirmatively responded to by the complainant hence personifying his obduracy to honor his financial commitments towards it qua his defraying the relevant loan installments to it, whereupon alone legitimacy would stand foisted to the act of the financer to retake its possession on the plank of the relevant condition. However none of the aforesaid facets stand provenly sustained by the financer. In aftermath the mere making by the financer a resort to the relevant condition embodied in the hire purchase agreement, shorn off evidence displaying of the loanee being a recalcitrant besides an obdurate defaulter in liquidating his entire component of loan qua it, contrarily when for the reasons aforesaid the relevant postdated cheques held by the financer hold therewithin the component of loan advanced by the financer to the loanee, cheques whereof stand not proven to be dishonorued besides with the relevant hire purchase agreement standing un-rescinded whereupon also the financer has hence yet left latitude to the loanee/complainant to liquidate his entire loan liability qua it whereat he would hence acquire absolute dominion qua the relevant asset(s) also makes amenable to deprecation its act of its hence prematurely besides at an inchoate stage retaking its possession from the loanee whereupon the loanee/complainant stood deprived to defray to it the relevant loan installments also when he on their liquidation qua the financer stood forestalled to acquire absolute dominion thereto. In aftermath, the effect of the aforesaid marked distinctvities in the factual matrix prevalent in the judgment supra vis-à-vis the factual matrix hereat, is of the relevant ratio decidendi propounded therein not warranting its application with aplomb vis-à-vis the facts hereat.

9. Be that as it may the strong-arm tactics, as resorted to by the financer to retake forcible possession of the relevant asset(s) from the complainant on anvil of the relevant condition occurring in the relevant hire purchase agreement whereupon it stood authorized to through its agents retake its possession from the loanee on purported occurrence of default on the part of the latter in liquidating the entire complement of the relevant loan vis-à-vis it, warrants theirs being stridently denounced. Besides needless to say when the mechanisms other than the one which stood resorted to by the financer were available to it to secure repayment of loan installments from the loanee/complainant qua the relevant asset(s) wherewith a hypothecation deed stands drawn inter-se it and the complainant, its short-circuiting the apt civil remedies encapsulated in the relevant statutes specifically in the CPC besides in the Hire Purchase Act, 1972, renders its relevant Act to stand ingrained with a penally inculpable mens rea dehors the embodiment therein of the relevant condition also when the financer in planking its relevant act on the relevant condition embodied in the hire purchase agreement, stood, preceding its making a resort thereto enjoined to inform the police station concerned besides may also could seek lawful restoration of its possession, by constituting an apposite application before the Court/Magistrate concerned exercising jurisdiction within the domain of the area wherewithin it stands registered. Palpably it has omitted to resort to the aforesaid legal mechanisms. Consequently its retaking its possession by deploying strong-arm tactics merely in the garb of the afore-stated condition embodied in the relevant hire purchase agreement/hypothecation deed recorded inter-se it and the loanee without preceding thereto its provenly concerting to seek liquidation of its loan liability from him prods this Court to discountenance its act, prominently when the indefeasible legal tenet for reasons aforesaid for validating its act stands un-satiated.

10. In view of the above, the present petition stands dismissed. All pending applications stand disposed of accordingly.

Any observation made herein above shall not be taken as an expression of opinion on the merits of the case and the trial Court shall decide the matter uninfluenced by any observation made herein above.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SURESHWAR THAKUR, JUDGE.

State of H.P. .....Appellant.

Versus

Arun Kumar & another .....Respondents.

Cr. Appeal No. 262 of 2007
Decided on : 05.09.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 341, 323 and 325 read with Section 34- Informant had gone to drop her daughter and was returning thereafter- accused attacked her- she raised cries on which her daughters came to spot- accused also gave beatings to both the daughters of the informant- they sustained injuries- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that FIR was received late from which an inference can be drawn that it was lodged belatedly- prosecution witnesses deposed contrary to each other- recovery was effected after one month and the evidence to support the same is not satisfactory- trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed. (Para-9 to 13)

For the Appellant: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Deputy Advocate General.
For the Respondents: Mr. Nimish Gupta, Advocate vice Mr.S.D Vasudeva, Advocate.
Mr. Sanjay Jaswal, Advocate, for the complainant.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (oral)

The instant appeal stands directed against the impugned judgment of 25.4.2007 rendered by the learned Judicial Magistrate, Ist Class (I), Dharamshala in Crl. Case No. 9-

II/2006, whereby the learned trial Court acquitted the respondents (for short "accused") for the offences charged.

2. Brief facts of the case are that in the morning of 17.12.2005 complainant Nirmala Devi had gone to drop her daughter Renu, who was studying in B.A in College. At about 5.25 a.m. when the complainant had been returning to her house after her daughter had boarded the bus for Dharamshala, accused persons without any reason attacked her. When she raised cries, her daughters Sonu and Sanju came to the spot for rescuing her from the clutches of the accused. Both the accused also gave beatings to both of the daughters of the complainant. As a result of beatings having been given by the accused to the complainant and to her daughters, they sustained injuries on their person. The complainant reported the matter to police on which FIR came to be registered. All the injured were medically examined. After completing all codal formalities and on conclusion of the investigation into the offence, allegedly committed by the accused challan was prepared and filed in the Court.

3. The accused stood charged by the learned trial Court qua theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 341,323 and 325 readwith Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code, to which they pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

4. In order to prove its case, the prosecution examined 9 witnesses. On closure of prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded in which they pleaded innocence and claimed false implication. However, they did not choose to lead any evidence in defence.

5. On an appraisal of evidence on record, the learned trial Court returned findings of acquittal qua the accused.

6. The learned Deputy Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of material on record. Hence, he contends qua the findings of acquittal being reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and theirs being replaced by findings of conviction.

7. The learned vice counsel appearing for the respondents/accused has with considerable force and vigor contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and theirs not necessitating interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side has with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. In an incident which allegedly occurred on 17.12.2005, the injured/victims as portrayed by their respective MLCs comprised in Ex.PW-6/B to PW-6/D attained as pronounced therein injuries on their respective persons. On anvil of the aforesaid personifications occurring in the afore-referred exhibits, the learned Deputy Advocate General contends of the prosecution succeeding in connecting the accused/respondents in the alleged occurrence qua which an FIR Ex.PW-8/A stood lodged with the police station concerned. He also proceeds to contend qua the recovery of Dandas Ex.P-1 and P-2 under recovery memo Ex.PW-2/A befittingly connecting the accused in the commission of the offences alleged. Consequently, he contends of the findings of the acquittal recorded by the Magistrate concerned qua the accused/respondents warranting interference by this Court. However the mere occurrence of personification in the apposite MLCs comprised in Ex.PW-6/B to PW-6/D qua the injured/victims sustaining injuries in the alleged assault which stood perpetrated on their person by the accused would not ipso facto render truthful the ocular account purveyed thereto by the injured witnesses, significantly when the FIR qua the occurrence as manifested by the endorsement made thereon by the Magistrate concerned unravels qua its standing received by him on 31.1.2006 whereupon an inference stands begotten of its standing belatedly lodged by the injured/victims. Also since it was enjoined upon the Investigating Officer to, on the apposite FIR qua the occurrence standing lodged transmit it with utmost promptitude to the Magistrate concerned whereupon an inference would stand garnered of it containing truthful recitals qua an incident whereto a prompt information stood purveyed by the injured/complainant, contrarily with the Investigating Officer concerned though standing enjoined, to, on the apposite FIR standing lodged before the police station concerned, transmit it with utmost promptitude to the Magistrate concerned. Evidently when he has omitted to do so also when no vivid display occurs of the Magistrate concerned while making the apposite endorsement his making any pronouncement qua the Investigating Officer concerned despite the FIR standing lodged in quick sequel to the occurrence his derelicting with utmost promptitude in dispatching it to the Illaka Magistrate, concomitantly hence begets an inference of the incident of 17.12.2005 standing reported not on the date aforesaid by the injured/complainant rather information qua it standing purveyed by the injured/complainant in proximity to the Illaqa Magistrate receiving the apposite FIR comprised in Ex.PW-8/A on 31.1.2006 whereupon an inference stands galvanized of the injured/complainant belatedly lodging before the police station concerned an apposite FIR qua the occurrence also it begets a sequel of the narrations qua the incident embodied therewithin being concocted besides premeditated especially when the inference aforesaid would stand negated by its prompt lodging whereas it for the reasons aforesaid stands impromptly lodged, does enhance a derivative of the injured/complainant while belatedly lodging it, hers introducing therewithin a premeditated and concocted version qua the occurrence, whereupon no credibility is fastenable.

10. The effect of the aforesaid conclusion formed by this Court of the version qua the occurrence embodied in FIR Ex. PW-8/A standing ridden with a taint of concoction besides premeditation, negates the effect of the MLCs aforesaid also benumbs the efficacy of the recovery of Dandas under memo Ex.PW-2/A conspicuously given their recovery standing effectuated on a month elapsing since the occurrence. The further erosion qua efficacy of recovery of dandas under memo Ex.PW-2/A is gathered from the factum of the complainant in the apposite FIR comprised in Ex.PW-8/A omitting to narrate therein the trite factum of the accused wielding dandas at the time contemporaneous to theirs perpetrating an assault upon the person of injured/victims.

11. Moreover with PW-2 (C. Surjeet Singh) a witness to recovery of dandas testifying qua theirs standing produced in the police station concerned whereat the injured persons were also present, testification whereof of PW-2 contradicts the revelations occurring in Ex.PW-2/A qua recovery of dandas standing effectuated by the Investigating Officer on 12.1.2006. The aforesaid contradiction acquires aggravation from the factum of the other witnesses to recovery memo one Budhi Singh standing un-examined by the prosecution whereas he was an independent witness to recovery memo contrarily when PW-2 is an official working under the Investigating Officer who too has not supported the narration qua the recovery of danda occurring in Ex.PW-2/A is a vivid pronouncement of the recitals occurring in Ex.PW-2/A holding no efficacy also thereupon an inference is erected of the prosecution not connecting their user by the accused.

12. Be that as it may further inroads qua the veracity of the prosecution version embodied in Ex.PW-8/A upsurges from the factum of a purported independent witness to the occurrence, one Subhash Chand (PW-5), a close relative of the injured/complainant not supporting the prosecution case. His omission to lend support to the prosecution case despite his enjoying proximity in relation with the injured/complainant does disprove the version qua the occurrence testified by the injured/complainant. Also an aura of incredibility surrounds the version qua the occurrence testified by the injured/complainant given the communication made by her in her cross-examination of the Investigating Officer not making an inquiry from her qua the incident nor the Investigating Officer recording her version qua the occurrence, contrarily she testifies of the Investigating Officer recording the statement of her daughter. All the aforesaid communications are in blatant contradiction vis-à-vis the trite factum of the apposite FIR holding recitals therein of the injured/complainant purveying a narrative qua the occurrence to the Investigating Officer. The aforesaid contradiction inter-se the afore-referred communications occurring in her cross-examination significantly vis-à-vis the trite factum of Ex.PW-8/A holding a disclosure qua its standing lodged by her disables her to truthfully testify qua the genesis of the prosecution case as stands manifested in Ex.PW-8/A. Consequently her testification qua the occurrence as an informant cannot be fastened any virtue of credibility significantly when in her cross-examination she disowns the narratives qua the occurrence held therewithin.

13. A wholesome analysis of evidence on record portrays that the appreciation of evidence as done by the learned trial Court does not suffer from any perversity and absurdity nor it can be said that the learned trial Court in recording findings of acquittal has committed any legal misdemeanor, in as much, as, its mis-appreciating the evidence on record or its omitting to appreciate relevant and admissible evidence. In aftermath this Court does not deem it fit and appropriate that the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court merit interference.

14. In view of the above discussion, I find no merit in this appeal, which is accordingly dismissed and the judgment of the learned trial Court is maintained and affirmed. Record of the learned trial Court be sent back forthwith.

(Para- 9 to 13)

For the Appellant: Mr. Vivek Singh Attri, Dy. A.G.
For the Respondents: Mr. Lovneeesh Kanwar, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, Judge (oral).

The instant appeal stands directed by the State of H.P. against the judgment of the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate, Shimla, District Shimla, Himachal Pradesh, rendered on 28.12.2007 in Criminal Case No. 127/2 of 04/2000, whereby, the latter Court acquitted the accused/respondents for offences punishable under Sections 353, 332 and 506 read with Section 34 of the Indian Penal Code.

2. The facts relevant to decide the instant case are that on 3.7.2001 Rajinder Singh had been plying bus No. HP-07-3045 from bus stand to Kasumpti colony and had been discharging duties as public servant. At about 1.20 p.m., when bus reached at Ghora Hospital Cart Road, one of the accused Vivek Sood appeared in a motorcycle bearing No. CH-01S-8830 from Sabji Mandi side. He was signaled by the police official to stop the same. After having seen the motor cycle coming to the main road, the complainant stopped his bus but despite thereof, the motorcyclist failed to stop the motorcycle and fell in front of the bus. Meanwhile, co-accused Vikas Sood joined accused Vivek Sood and both in furtherance of common intention of each other came to the driver window, tried to put out the complainant. Not only this, both the accused in furtherance of common intention of other voluntarily caused simple hurt to the complainant with intention to deter or prevent him from discharging his duties as public servant. The shirt of the complainant was also torn. Complainant was saved from the wraths of the accused by passengers of the bus as also Dhayan Singh conductor and Shiv Sharan driver. Accused criminally intimidated the complainant and fled away leaving behind the motorcycle. The Investigating Officer on reaching spot, recorded statement of the complainant Ex.PW2/A which was sent to police station on the basis of which FIR was registered against the accused. Thereafter the police completed all the codal formalities in accordance with law.

3. On conclusion of investigations into the offences allegedly committed by the accused, a report under Section 173 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was prepared and filed in the competent Court.

4. The accused were charged by the learned trial Court for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 332, 506 and read with Section 34 of the IPC. In proof of the prosecution case, the prosecution examined 10 witnesses. On conclusion of recording of the prosecution evidence, the statements of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure were recorded by the trial Court, in which the accused claimed innocence and pleaded false implication in the case.

5. On an appraisal of the evidence on record, the learned trial Court, returned findings of acquittal in favour of the accused/respondent herein.

6. The State of H.P. stands aggrieved by the judgment of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court. The learned Deputy Advocate General has concertedly and vigorously contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the learned trial Court standing not based on a proper appreciation of the evidence on record, rather, theirs standing sequelled by gross mis-appreciation of the material on record. Hence, he contends that the findings of acquittal be reversed by this Court in the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction and be replaced by findings of conviction.

7. On the other hand, the learned defence counsel has with considerable force and vigour, contended qua the findings of acquittal recorded by the Court below standing based on a mature and balanced appreciation of evidence on record and do not necessitate interference, rather theirs meriting vindication.

8. This Court with the able assistance of the learned counsel on either side, has, with studied care and incision, evaluated the entire evidence on record.

9. The factum probandum of the accused holding at the relevant site of occurrence the apposite mensrea for committing the actus reus of attempting to pull the complainant from the driver's seat of the bus, seat whereof stood occupied by him at the relevant time also of theirs inflicting simple injuries upon him, stands proven by the testimonies of PW-1, PW-3 and PW-5, all ocular witnesses qua the occurrence. All the ocular witnesses, in their respective ocular testifications qua the occurrence have deposed qua it with mutual intra se corroboration. Their ocular testifications qua the occurrence stand lent corroboration by Ex.PW6/A, the apposite MLC prepared by the doctor concerned on subjecting the complainant to medical examination. Since, Ex.PW6/A holds manifestations therein in tandem with the ocular account qua the occurrence rendered by the ocular witnesses thereto tersely of the accused subjecting the complainant/injured to an assault whereupon simple injuries pronounced therein stood entailed upon his person beget a natural consequence of the prosecution succeeding in adducing clinching ocular evidence holding congruity with the apposite MLC vis-a-vis the complainant. In aftermath, apposite reverence thereto stood enjoined to be meted by the learned trial Court.

Contrarily its omitting to mete reverence thereto hence has committed a gross error in undermining its tenacity. Even though the effect of apposite vivid pronouncements occurring in the ocular testifications qua the occurrence rendered by PW-1, PW-3 and PW-5 is qua theirs vividly echoing the inculpatory role of the accused, nonetheless, the learned trial Court proceeded to record an order of acquittal vis-a-vis the accused on the anvil of a stray acquiescence by PW3 to a suggestion put to him in his cross-examination wherein he exculpated the inculpatory role of the accused in the occurrence. However, with PW-3 in his cross-examination exculpating the inculpatory role of the accused also his belittling the entire ocular testifications qua the occurrence embodied in his examination-in-chief wherewithin he inculpated the accused, would not in its entirety negate the prosecution case. The learned trial Court was enjoined to read the testimony of PW-3 comprised in his examination-in-chief conjointly with his testimony embodied in his cross-examination besides was enjoined to construe the impact of the ocular testifications qua the occurrence rendered by PW-1 and PW-5 wherein firm echoings occur qua the inculpatory role of the accused/respondents also when the testification qua the occurrence embodied in the examination-in-chief of PW-3 holds therewithin an ascription of an incriminatory role vis-a-vis the accused-respondents whereupon hence credence was imputable, contrarily its meteing deference to an isolated communication occurring in the deposition of PW-3 wherein he exculpates the inculpatory role of the accused has, sequelled a gross error qua its undermining the impact of consistent credible ocular testifications qua the occurrence rendered by PW-1 and PW-5 also has entailed an ill consequence of its eroding the effect of ascription of an inculpatory role qua them even by PW-3 in his examination-in-chief. Furthermore, the deference as meted by it to the isolated exculpatory communications qua the accused, communications whereof occur in the cross-examination of PW-3, has sequelled an ill consequence qua its negating the impact of efficacious credible ocular testifications of other ocular witnesses to the occurrence whereas on theirs standing read with intra se coagulation vis-a-vis the testifications of PW-3 embodied in his examination-in-chief unravel qua theirs holding intra se congruity, whereupon hence no inference than of the inculpatory role of the accused/respondents vividly surgingforth stands awakened.

10. The learned trial court also has overlooked the factum of Ex.PW6/A manifesting therein in concurrence with the ocular rendition qua the occurrence by ocular witnesses thereto, of simple injuries standing sustained by the complainant/accused, in sequel, of his standing belaboured by the accused/respondents also has undermined the vigour of efficacious apt manifestations occurring in Ex.PW6/A whereas theirs holding concurrence with the testifications qua the occurrence embodied in the examination-in-chief of PW-3, warranted deference standing meted thereto by it, contrarily, it has inaptly imputed sanctity to PW-3 in his cross-examination negating the inculpatory role of the accused. Consequently, Ex.PW6/A scores off the effect, if any, of the communication made by PW-3 in his cross-examination wherein he exculpates the guilt of the accused, necessarily, hence his testifications in his examination-in-chief when also hold concurrence with the ocular testifications qua it rendered by PW-1 besides by PW-5, constrains this Court to conclude of the learned trial court in omitting to construe the testimonies of the aforesaid witnesses in a wholesome manner has committed a gross error in mis-appreciating their probative worth.

11. Be that as it may, the learned trial Court has faulted the investigations on the score of the Investigating Officer not making or concerting to establish the identity of the accused. However, the factum of the Investigating Officer not adducing cogent proof qua the identity of the accused would not give leverage to the accused/respondents to contend of theirs holding no connectivity in the alleged occurrence. Contrarily, when the learned defence counsel while holding PW-3 to cross-examination has put apposite suggestion to him visibly portraying qua the accused/respondent recording their presence at the site of occurrence, suggestion whereof sequelled an answer in the affirmative from PW-3 also when the nuance of the suggestion put by the learned defence counsel to PW-3 while holding him to cross-examination devolves upon the factum of the accused making an inquiry from him qua the reason for the happenings at the relevant site of occurrence also when the effect of a suggestion put to PW-3 holds pronouncement therein qua the role of the accused in the occurrence whereupon PW-3 purveyed an answer exculpating the role of the accused/respondents, cumulative effect whereof of the aforesaid pronouncements for reasons aforestated stands answered against the accused/respondents rather also does hence portray of the accused/respondents, acquiescing to the trite factum of theirs recording their presence at the site of occurrence rendering unworthwhile any concert by the Investigating Officer to establish by adducing cogent evidence qua their identity besides their connectivity in the occurrence .

12. For the reasons which have been recorded hereinabove, this Court holds that the learned trial Court below has not appraised the entire evidence on record in a wholesome and harmonious manner apart therefrom the analysis of the material on record by the learned trial Court suffers from perversity or absurdity of mis-appreciation and non appreciation of evidence on record.

13. Consequently, the instant appeal preferred by the State of H.P. is allowed. The accused/respondents are convicted for theirs committing offences punishable under Sections 332 and 506 of the IPC read with Section 34 of the IPC. Accused/Convicts be heard on quantum of sentence on 21st September, 2016.

Case referred:
Karamjit Singh vs. State (Delhi Administration), AIR 2003 SC 1311

For the appellant : Mr. M.A. Khan, Additional Advocate General.
For the respondents : Mr. Manoj Pathak, Advocate for respondents No.1, 3 and 4.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Rajiv Sharma, Judge:

The State has come in appeal against judgment dated 29.3.2012 rendered by the learned Special Judge, Kinnaur Sessions Division at Rampur Bushahr in NDPS Case No. 26 of 2010, whereby respondent-accused (hereinafter referred to as 'accused' for convenience sake), who were charged with and tried for offence under Section 20 of the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act' for convenience sake), have been acquitted by the learned trial Court.

2. Prosecution case, in a nutshell, is that on 15.5.2010, PW-10 Gurbachan Singh alongwith HC Tain Singh, HHC Kashmi Ram, Constable Lal Singh, Constable Harbans and Constable Tikkar Ram was present at Bus Stand Ani, where a Naka had been laid for traffic checking. At about 9 PM, when complainant was talking to Rajesh Kumar and Lal Singh, who had come to see him, in the meantime, a white coloured car came from Shamsher side which was on its way towards Ani. It was signalled to stop. Car was Tata Indigo having registration No. HR-16H-6420. Driver disclosed his name as Satish Kumar. Person sitting in the front seat disclosed his name as Jai Bhagwan. Persons sitting in the rear seats disclosed their names as Karan Singh and Rajinder Singh. They belonged to the State of Haryana. Car was searched. Black coloured and round shaped substance was found from beneath the rear seat. It was found to be Charas. It weighed 14.5 Kg. It was put in a bag, which was sealed with seal impressions of ''C', 12 in number, NCB form in triplicate was filled in and seal impression was taken separately on a cloth. Recovered Charas alongwith car and its keys was taken into possession. Rukka was prepared. It was sent to the Police Station through HHC Kashmi Ram. Case property was produced before Parver Thakur, probationer Dy.SP, who resealed the same with three seal impressions of 'X'. Spot map was also prepared. It was sent to FSL Junga. Investigation was completed. Challan was put in the Court after completing all the codal formalities.

3. Prosecution has examined as many as ten witnesses to prove its case against the accused. Accused were also examined under Section 313 CrPC. They pleaded innocence. Accused were acquitted as noticed above. Hence, this appeal by the State.

4. During the pendency of the appeal before this Court, respondent No.2, Rajinder Singh expired on 18.5.2015. As such appeal against him stood abated.

5. Mr. M.A. Khan, Additional Advocate General has vehemently argued that the prosecution has proved its case against the accused.

6. Mr. Manoj Pathak, Advocate, has supported Judgment dated 29.3.2012.

7. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and also gone through the Judgment and record carefully.

8. PW-1 Lal Singh testified that on 15.5.2010, he was in Dhaba at Bus Stand Ani. It was day-time. A motorcycle was parked on which three bags were found. Police personnel took the same to the Police Station. He was declared hostile and cross-examined by the learned Public Prosecutor. He has admitted his signatures on Marks PA, PB, PC, PD, PE, PF, PG, PH, PJ, PK and PL.

9. Similarly, PW-2 Rajesh Kumar was also declared hostile and cross-examined by the learned Public Prosecutor. He has also admitted his signatures on Marks PA, PB, PC, PD, PE, PF, PG, PH, PJ, PK and PL.

10. PW-3 Parver Thakur Probationar Dy.SP testified that he remained posted as SHO Police Station Ani from May, 2010 to June, 2010. On 15.5.2010, HHC Kashmi Ram had brought Rukka mark Z to the Police Station on the basis of which FIR Ext. PW-3/A was registered. On the same day i.e. 15.5.2010 at about 11.45 PM, SI Gurbachan Singh had produced case property sealed with seal impressions of ' C' before him alongwith NCB form in triplicate and sample seals.

He resealed the same with seal impression 'X' (three in number). Seal impression was taken vide Ext. PW-3/C. He filled in columns No. 7 to 11 of the NCB form Ext. PW-3/D. He also appended seal impression.

11. PW-5 HC Anup Kumar testified that on 15.5.2010, probationer Dy.SP posted as SHO Police Station Ani deposited with him one parcel sealed with 12 seal impressions of seal 'C', resealed with three seal impressions of seal 'X', alongwith sample seals 'C' and 'X', NCB form in triplicate, regarding which he made entry in the relevant register at Sr. No. 243. He proved the extract of register Ext. PW-5/A. He sent the sealed parcel alongwith documents, NCB form seal impressions to FSL Junga through Constable Puran Chand vide RC No. 24/10, who, after delivering the same at Junga, returned the receipt to him. He did not tamper with the case property, in any manner, when it remained in his custody.

12. PW-6 Constable Puran Chand testified that on 17.5.2010, MHC Anup Kumar handed over to him case property in a parcel sealed with seal impressions 'C' and 'X' alongwith sample seals and connected documents vide RC No. 24/2010 dated 17.5.2010 in FIR No. 40/2010 for handing over the same at FSL Junga. He deposited the same at FSL Junga on the same day and obtained receipt on the RC itself and handed over the same to MHC.

13. PW-7 Constable Harbans Lal has deposed that he was associated in the investigation of the case by SHO.

14. PW-8 HHC Kashmi Ram testified the manner in which vehicle bearing No. HR-16H-6420, was intercepted. Accused gave their consent that they wanted to be searched before the police. Vehicle was searched. Charas was recovered. It weighed 14.5 Kg. All the codal formalities were completed on the spot. Rukka was handed over to him. He handed over the same to SHO Parver Thakur. In his cross-examination, he deposed that during 20-25 minutes no vehicle came at the spot and as such no vehicle was stopped or checked. Rajesh and Lal Singh came to them since they were known to him and other police officials. He did not know who had written Ext. PC on the spot. According to him, there was no space under the rear seat of the vehicle bearing No. HR-16H-6420. Motorcycle was also taken into possession. He did not remember whether any belonging of any of the accused was recovered from the vehicle.

15. PW-9 HC Tain Singh has also deposed the manner in which vehicle bearing registration No. HR-16H-6420 was intercepted. All the codal formalities were completed on the spot. According to him (in the cross-examination), there was space of 1 ½ -2 feet under the rear seat of the Indigo vehicle. It took 1 ½ hours to complete the proceedings like seizing the contraband, preparing memos etc. No personal belongings of accused were found in the vehicle.

16. PW-10 SI Gurbachan Singh has also deposed the manner in which vehicle was intercepted and all the codal formalities were completed at the spot. He prepared Rukka. It was sent to the Police Station, on the basis of which FIR was registered. He produced the case property before SHO Parver Thakur alongwith connected documents. In his cross-examination, he has deposed that there was no space beneath the rear seat of Indigo car. However, if the seat was folded, space could be created, which could be about 6-7 inches.

17. What emerges from the appraisal of the evidence is that the accused were found travelling in a car bearing registration No. HR-16H-6420. Charas was recovered from below the seat. All the codal formalities were completed on the spot. Case property was produced before PW-3 Parver Thakur, who resealed the same with three seal impressions of 'X'. Case property was sent to FSL Junga. Though, according to HHC Kashmi Ram, there was no space under rear seat of the vehicle, PW-9 Tain Singh has specifically deposed that there was space of 1 ½ -2 feet under the rear seat of the Indigo vehicle, which was involved in the case. Similarly, PW-10 Gurbachan Singh, in his cross-examination, has deposed that if seat was folded, space would be created and it would be 6-7 inches. Charas was recovered from beneath the rear seat of the vehicle with the help of search light. Though PW-1 Lal Singh and PW-2 Rajesh Kumar have not supported the prosecution case, but they have categorically admitted their signatures on Marks PA, PB, PC, PD, PE, PF, PG, PH, PJ, PK and PL. Official witnesses have categorically testified that the Charas was recovered in their presence from the car. There are no major contradictions in the statements of the official witnesses. Minor contradictions are bound to occur especially when statements are recorded after a considerable gap of time.

18. Statements of the officials witnesses are confidence inspiring and trustworthy. Their lordships of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Karamjit Singh vs. State (Delhi Administration), reported in AIR 2003 SC 1311, have held that there is no principle of law that without corroboration by independent witnesses statements of official witnesses cannot be relied upon. Presumption that person acts honestly applies as much in favour of police personnel as of other persons. It has been held as follows:

> " 8. Shri Sinha, learned senior counsel for the appellant, has vehemently urged that all the witnesses of recovery examined by the prosecution are police personnel and in absence of any public witness, their testimony alone should not be held sufficient for sustaining the conviction of the appellant. In our opinion the contention raised is too broadly stated and cannot be accepted. The testimony of police personnel should be treated in the same manner as testimony of any other witness and there is no principle of law that without corroboration by independent witnesses their testimony cannot be relied upon. The presumption that a person acts honestly applies as much in favour of police personnel as of other persons and it is not a proper judicial approach to distrust and suspect them without good grounds. It will all depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case and no principle of general application can be laid down. PW11 Pratap Singh has clearly stated in the opening part of his examination-in-chief that ACP Shakti Singh asked some public witnesses to accompany them but they showed their unwillingness. PW10 Rajinder Prasad, SI has given similar statement and has deposed that despite their best efforts no one from public was willing to join the raiding party due to the fear of the terrorists. Exactly similar statement has been given by PW9 R.D. Pandey. We should not forget that the incident took place in November 1990, when terrorism was at its peak in Punjab and neighbouring areas. The ground realities cannot be lost sight of that even in normal circumstances members of public are very reluctant to accompany a police party which is going to arrest a criminal or is embarking upon search of some premises. At the time when the terrorism was at its peak, it is quite natural for members of public to have avoided getting involved in a police operation for search or arrest of a person having links with terrorists. It is noteworthy that during the course of the cross- examination of the witness the defence did not even give any suggestion as to why they were falsely deposing against the appellant. There is absolutely no material or evidence on record to show that the prosecution witnesses had any reason to falsely implicate the appellant who was none else but a colleague of theirs being a member of the same police force. Therefore, the contention raised by Shri Sinha that on account of non-examination of a public witness, the testimony of the prosecution witnesses who are police personnel, should not be relied upon has hardly any substance and cannot be accepted."

19. There is no merit in the contention of Mr. Manoj Pathak, Advocate that the accused were brought down from the bus. Prosecution has duly proved that the accused were travelling in car bearing registration No. HR-16H-6420 and were found in exclusive and conscious possession of the contraband. Learned trial Court has erred in law by giving undue importance to the fact that no personal belongings of accused were found in the car. It was not necessary for the prosecution to prove that accused were travelling with their personal belongings. Similarly, it was also not necessary for the prosecution to prove the record from Samiti Guest House. Prosecution was only required to prove that the accused were travelling in the car bearing registration No. HR-16H-6420 and were found in conscious and exclusive possession of the contraband. It was also not necessary for the prosecution to prove the ownership of the car though desirable. Car was brought to the area by driver Satish Kumar. PW-7 Harbans Lal has deposed that he was associated in the investigation of the case by SHO. It was not necessary for him to state that he had come on the spot with SHO. The accused were travelling in same car and they hail from District Jind, Haryana, and presumption would be that they knew each other. It is reiterated that the Charas was recovered from the car and not from the abandoned motorcycle as argued by Mr. Manoj Pathak, Advocate. Prosecution has proved that accused were found in possession of the contraband band. Case property remained intact from its seizure till its production in the Court. Since Charas was recovered from the vehicle, personal search was not necessary. However, fact of the matter is that despite that accused have given their consent to be searched before a Magistrate or a Gazetted Officer. Thus, Section 50 of the Act has also been complied with.

20. Prosecution has proved beyond reasonable doubt that the contraband was recovered from the conscious and exclusive possession of the accused.

21. Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. Judgment dated 29.3.2012 rendered by the learned Special Judge, Kinnaur Sessions Division at Rampur Bushahr in NDPS Case No. 26 of 2010 is set aside. The accused No.1, 3 and 4 are convicted for the commission of offence punishable under Section 20 of the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985. Accused be produced to be heard on quantum of sentence on September 13, 2016.

22. Registry is directed to prepare and send the production warrant to the quarter concerned.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANJAY KAROL, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE VIVEK SINGH THAKUR.

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Appellant

Versus

Parvesh Kumar and others ...Respondents

Criminal Appeal No. 372 of 2010
Judgment reserved on: 27.07.2016
Date of Decision: 5.09.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 148, 324/149 & 307/149- PW-4, PW-10 and PW-11 were going towards the house of PW-4- two vehicles were parked on the road side on the way- when the car crossed these vehicles, one of the occupants of the vehicles called PW-4- PW-4 stopped his vehicle and started moving towards the parked vehicle- accused attacked PW-10 with sword and Khukhari and other accused ran away from the spot- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that PW-4 had not identified the accused in the Court- PW-10 was contradicted with reference to his previous testimony - PW-11 was declared hostile- motorcycle was recovered from the spot falsifying the prosecution version that accused had fled away from the spot- statement of PW-10 was not recorded by the police- there was delay in recording the FIR- PW-10 admitted that exchange of hot words had taken place between PW-4, PW-10 and PW-11 and accused V and S- there are material contradictions and improvements in the statement of PW-10 – true version was not placed before the Court- Trial Court had rightly held that prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal dismissed. (Para-6 to 27)

For the appellant : Mr. V.S. Chauhan, Additional Advocate General with Mr. Vikram Thakur, Mr. Puneet Rajta, and Deputy Advocate Generals.

For the respondent No. 1. : Mr. Naresh Verma, Advocate.

For the respondents No. 2 to 6 : Mr. S.M. Goel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Vivek Singh Thakur, Judge.

Aggrieved by acquittal of respondent-accused vide judgment dated 11.03.2010, passed by the learned Additional Sessions Judge (Fast Track Court), Kangra, at Dharamshala, in RBT Sessions Case No. 35-D/VII/07, in case FIR No. 14/05, dated 21.01.2005, registered under Sections 148, 324/149 & 307/149 of the Indian Penal Code in Police Station, Dharamshala District Kangra, H.P., the State has preferred present appeal with prayer to set aside impugned judgment and to convict respondent-accused under Sections 148, 324/149 & 307/149 of the Indian Penal Code

2. Mr. V.S. Chauhan learned Additional Advocate General for the appellant-State has advanced arguments that there is sufficient circumstantial evidence on record to prove the guilt of respondent-accused and prayed for allowing the appeal to punish respondent-accused whereas Mr. Naresh Verma and Mr. S. M. Goel, learned counsel for respondents-accused have strenuously argued that prosecution has failed to prove the case beyond reasonable doubt and there is no circumstance incriminating respondent-accused and have sought dismissal of the appeal.

3. As per prosecution case PW-4 Hitesh Kumar made a statement under Section 154 Cr.PC., stating that on 21.01.2005 at about 8.45 PM, PW-10 Pankaj Thakur alongwith his friends PW-4 Hitesh Kumar and PW-11 Amit Kumar was going in his car from his hotel Himalyan Wonder to his house. On the way near Midway Resorts, two vehicles i.e. one Mahindra Utility and one motorcycle were parked on the road side and the moment car of PW-10 Pankaj Thakur crossed these vehicles respondent Sanjiv, one of the occupants of these vehicles, called him to come out, upon which he stopped his vehicle and started moving towards the parked vehicles. Occupants of those two vehicles alighted quickly and firstly respondents namely Vinay alias Guzar, Sanjiv Kumar, Munish alias Gadhu and later on all respondents attacked Pankaj with swords and khukaries with common intention to kill him. PW-10 Pankaj Thakur received injuries on his head, arms and other parts of body. Thereafter, within few minutes, they fled away from the spot in their vehicles, by taking advantage of darkness. Name of other persons were not known to Hitesh Kumar. However, he had noticed registration number of vehicles. Because of severe bleedings PW-10 Pankaj Thakur was brought the Zonal to hospital, Dharamshala immediately by PW-4 Hitesh Kumar and PW-11 Amit Kumar.

4. After registration of FIR (Ex. PX) at Police Station, Dharamshala, on the basis of statement Ex.PW-4/A investigation was carried on and after its completion challan was put in the Court.

5. Prosecution has examined 17 witnesses and statement of respondents under Section 313 Cr.PC wee recorded and respondents have chosen not to lead any defence evidence. After conclusion of trial, respondents stand acquitted by trial Court.

6. Whole case of prosecution depends upon statements of injured PW-10 Pankaj Thakur and his eye witness friends PW-4 Hitesh Kumar, PW-11 Amit Kumar and other witnesses are doctors who have performed their duties of medically examining and giving treatment to the injured PW-10 Pankaj Thakur and police officials who have performed their part for conclusion of investigation.

7. On the day of alleged incident, police had reached in the hospital, on the basis of information received from hospital, at 9.30 PM. As per prosecution case at that time, injured PW-10 Pankaj Thakur was not fit to give statement. However, at about 11.30 PM, the statement of PW-4 Hitesh Kumar (Ex. PW-4/A) was recorded under Section 154 Cr.P.C.

8. On deposition in Court, in examination-in-chief, PW-4 Hitesh Kumar has stated that he had seen six persons on the spot but has shown his inability to identify them after a lapse of four years. He has further stated that he can identify Vinay, Sanjay, Munish and Parvesh and remaining accused are known to him only by face. He has stated that accused had run away in Mahindra Pick-up. He was declared hostile for resiling from his previous statement recorded by police and was subjected to cross-examination by learned Public Prosecutor. During cross-examination, he has admitted suggestions put up by learned Public Prosecutor and also statement made by him before Police and has explained that due to lapse of time, he had forgotten these facts. In his cross-examination by defence counsel, he has admitted that there was dark on the spot at the time of incident. There were lights of Hotel Midway Resorts and lights of vehicles were also on. He has stated that he had not disclosed names of Awasthi and Piada in his statement which has been found contrary to his earlier statement made before police. He has admitted that police had not carried out identification parade of respondents accused in his presence.

9. PW-10 Pankaj Thakur has reiterated the manner of occurrence of incident, qualifying further that respondent Sanjeev called him and when he had started moving towards him all of a sudden respondents attacked him with swords and khukharies and thereafter they went towards Kangra in the vehicle. As per him, he had lost his consciousness which he regained in the hospital at Dharamshala. In cross-examination, he has denied that Doctors had obtained his consent before medical examination. He has stated that he had disclosed the names of all six accused persons present in the Court to the police but said fact has been found contrary to record. He has admitted that on the same day at about 4.00 PM, PW-11 Amit Kumar and PW-4 Hitesh Kumar had gone to Kotwali Bazaar, Dharamshala where hot words were exchanged with Vinay and Sanjay in Bedi's Office.

10. PW-11 Amit Kumar had also not lent any support in favour of prosecution and was declared hostile and was subjected to cross-examination by the Public Prosecutor. In cross-examination also he has not supported the prosecution case. He has stated that he did not remember that the day of incident was 21.01.2005 He has denied that in his presence respondents Sanjeev had called PW-10 Pankaj Thakur. He has also stated it to be incorrect that Sanjeev Kumar was already known to him. He has stated that he did not know whether all the accused fled towards Kangra after beating Pankaj Thakur. Further in cross-examination he states that due to darkness on the spot he could not see anything.

11. PW-11 Amit Kumar has stated that due to darkness, he could not recognize the boys and later on he came to know that PW-10 Pankaj was called by them. He has disclosed the names of Sanjeev, Vinay etc. to the Police. He has stated that it was incorrect that the aforementioned persons had beaten Pankaj Thakur in his presence.

12. As per statement Ex.PW-4/A, respondents had fled away from the spot in their vehicles. However, as per PW-8 ASI Bansi Lal, Investigating Officer, motorcycle was taken into possession from Nallah nearby the Midway Resorts vide recovery memo. Ex.PW-7/A. Recovery of motorcycle from the Nallah adjacent to alleged place of occurrence falsifies the fact narrated in statement Ex.PW-4/A on the basis of which the case was investigated and registered.

13. PW-4 Hitesh Kumar and PW-11 Amit Kumar, friends of PW-10 Pankaj Thakur, who were claimed to be with him at the time of incident, did not go with him (PW-10) and remained sitting in the car, when he was allegedly beaten up by the respondents. As such conduct of these witnesses renders their veracity doubtful.

14. PW-2 Dr. Atul Gupta who medically examined PW-10 Pankaj Thakur in General Hospital, Dharamshala, had admitted in his cross examination that he has nowhere mentioned in MLC that the patient was unconscious. He has further stated that he had personally asked the patient whether he was ready for his medical examination and had also taken his consent. He has further admitted that injured had not disclosed names of accused whereas as per Investigating Officer he (PW-10) was not in a position to give his statement and certificate to this effect was also issued by the Doctor and due to inability of his injured. Statement of PW-4 Hitesh Kumar was recorded.

15. In case patient was unconscious, there was no question of his consenting for medical examination for Doctor and in case he was conscious then there was no impediment to police to record his statement under Section 154 Cr.P.C. immediately on arrival of police in the hospital. In case PW-10 Pankaj Thakur was really not in a position to make statement then also statement PW-4 Hitesh Kumar should have been recorded immediately but the statement of PW-4 Hitesh Kumar had been recorded at 11.45 PM reflecting that before making statement Ex. PW-4/A, of evidence due deliberation and consultations were going on, particularly, for the reason that PW-10 Pankaj Thakur had received injuries in the manner other than purported to be reflected by prosecution. It took three hours for recording statement under Section 154 Cr.PC despite the fact that police had arrived in the hospital at 9.30 PM and alleged eye witness were available in the hospital.

16. It is also admitted by PW-10 Pankaj Thakur that on the same day PW-4, PW-10 and PW-11 had gone to Kotwali Bazaar Dharamshala and exchange of hot words took place between them and respondents Vinay and Sanjeev. Therefore, it is unbelievable that despite such incident on calling of Sanjeev, PW-10 Pankaj Thakur had stopped his car and had started moving towards him and further car of PW-10 was not stopped by respondent but he had stopped the car on his own.

17. PW-11 Amit Thakur has stated that PW-10 Pankaj Thakur had driven his vehicle to the hospital. It is again major discrepancy to the effect that PW-10 Pankaj Thakur was able to drive the vehicle and to give consent to Doctor for his medical examination but was not able to make statement to the police.

18. There are material contradictions and major improvements in the statement of PW-10 Pankaj Thakur which cast doubt on his trustworthiness. Firstly he had his statement was recorded by Police on 31.01.2005 but again stated that it was recorded on 22.01.2005 and second time it was recorded on 31.01.2005. He has stated that on 22.10.2005 he had disclosed the names of four accused persons namely Vinay, Sanjeev, Manish and Parvesh to the police whereas in his statement (Mark X) recorded by Police on 22nd January,2005 such names were not disclosed. He has stated that he had disclosed the names of all six accused persons present in the Court to the Police. This statement was also found contrary to record. He has further stated that he had disclosed to police the description of weapon carried by respective accused-respondents but said statement was found incorrect. His claim of telling police regarding action of each accused attacking him, with description of weapon, was also found incorrect. He has admitted that at the time of incident, it was dark but lights of hotels and vehicles were on at that time. He has stated that by the time his companion came out of the car, the accused persons had already run away but the said statement was not corroborated by statements of PW-4 and PW-11.

19. Investigating Officer has admitted that there were other persons also present in the hospital accompanying Pankaj Thakur and it is very strange that none of the companions of PW-10 Pankaj Thakur had approached police after the incident which also creates doubt of credibility of PW-10 Pankaj Thakur and his companions, particularly, when even after arrival of police in Hospital at 9.30 PM, there is a considerable delay in making statement under Section 154 of Cr.PC.

20. The defence of respondents is that it was the complainants and his companions who had attacked Vinay and Sanjeev with Khukari and had thrown motorcycle of accused in the khad. It was also suggested that sword was also taken into possession by Kangra Police from PW-10 Pankaj Thakur in another case registered against him. These suggestions have been denied by PW-10 but it has come in the statement of Investigating Officer PW-8 Bansi Lal that motorcycle was taken into possession by the police from Nullah vide recovery memo Ex.PW-7/A. There is nothing on record to show reasons for the motorcycle to be in the Nullah, especially, when it was claimed by PW-4 Hitesh Kumar in his statement that respondent had fled away from spot in Mahindra Utility and motorcycle.

21. Scrutiny of evidence of PW-4, PW-10, PW-11 and PW-8 Investigating Officer, ASI Bansi Lal indicates true version of the incident which was not placed before the trial Court and occurrence, if any, had taken place in a manner other than as is being posed by prosecution witnesses.

22. PW-15 Prem Lal Thakur has also admitted that he had taken into possession one Khukri in case No.15/5 on 09.02.2005. There is no other reference or detail in the evidence of prosecution w.r.t. case No.15 of 2005. It creates doubt on the fairness of investigation conducted by police. All these facts probablise the defence taken by respondents.

23. Therefore, in present case, there is no cogent reliable and trustworthy evidence on record to prove the guilt of respondents, rather, there is material on record probablising the defence plea raised by respondents.

24. In view of the above contradictions and discrepancies, testimonies of PW-10 Pankaj Thakur, PW-4 Hitesh Kumar and PW-11 Amit Thakur are not reliable and trustworthy for convicting respondents and therefore rest of the evidence is not necessary to be discussed.

25. It is evident from the aforesaid discussion that evidence to prove the guilt of accused beyond reasonable doubt, is not sufficient. Thus, having perused the testimonies of prosecution witnesses on record, it cannot be said that prosecution has been able to prove its case that accused-respondents have committed offence under Sections 148, 324/149 & 307/149 of the Indian Penal Code. It cannot be said that the trial court has appreciated the evidence correctly and completely and acquittal of the accused has resulted into travesty of justice or has caused mis-carriage of justice.

26. It is a settled principle of law that acquittal leads to presumption of innocence in favour of an accused. To dislodge the same, onus heavily lies upon the prosecution. The accused has been acquitted by the trial Court. No case for interference is made out.

27. The present appeal, devoid of any merit, is dismissed, so also pending applications, if any. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged. Records of the Court below be sent back forthwith.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANJAY KAROL, J.

Dalip Kumar ...Appellant

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh ...Respondent

Criminal Appeal No. 495 of 2015
Date of Decision : September 6, 2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Informant had engaged the services of the accused for painting her house – accused found the prosecutrix alone at home and raped her - accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal, Medical Officer stated that no signs of struggle or violence were found on the body of the prosecutrix- it was not possible for Medical Officer to ascertain whether any act of sexual intercourse was committed or not - Chemical examiner found human semen on the vaginal swabs/slides- Doctor opined after the report of chemical examiner that the possibility of sexual intercourse could not be ruled out- DNA examination was not conducted to link the semen with the accused- prosecutrix was found to be having the mental age of 12 years and 6 months- however, Doctor had found the victim to be capable of understanding and responding to the queries- prosecution witnesses also stated that prosecutrix was a normal person- Court had also found her to be a competent witness - prosecutrix had not supported the prosecution version in cross-examination- she was not re-examined/cross-examined by the public prosecutor - there was delay in reporting the matter to the police- prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt and the Court had wrongly convicted the accused- appeal allowed and accused convicted of the commission of offence punishable under Section 376 of I.P.C. (Para-12 to 24)

Cases referred:
Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade and another Versus State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793
Lal Mandi v. State of W.B., (1995) 3 SCC 60

For the appellant	:	Mr. Virbahadur Verma, Legal Aid Counsel, for the appellant.
For the respondent	:	Mr. V. S. Chauhan, Addl. Advocate General and Mr. Puneet Rajta, Dy. A.G. for the respondent-State.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sanjay Karol, J. (oral)

Assailing the judgment dated 28.2.2015/2.3.2015, passed by the learned Addl. Sessions Judge, Guumarwin, District Bilaspur, H.P. (Camp at Bilaspur), in Sessions Trial No. 19/7 of 2014, titled as State of Himachal Pradesh vs. Dalip Kumar, whereby the appellant-accused has been convicted for having committed an offence punishable under the provisions of Section 376 of the Indian Penal Code and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of seven years and pay fine of `20,000/- and in default thereof to further undergo simple imprisonment for a period of six months, he has filed the present appeal under the provisions of Section 374(2) of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973.

2. The correctness of the findings and the legality of the impugned judgment is subject matter of challenge in the present appeal so filed by the convict through Sh. Virbahadur Verma, learned legal aid counsel.

3. In short, it is the case of prosecution that Krishna Devi (PW-1) had engaged the services of the accused for painting her house. On 12.3.2014, finding the prosecutrix to be alone at home, accused subjected her to sexual assault. Krishna Devi learnt about the incident late in the evening and the following day i.e. 13.3.2014 she reported the incident to the police when F.I.R. No. 21/2014, dated 13.3.2014 (Ext. PW-13/A) came to be registered against the accused under the provisions of Section 376 IPC at Police Station Bharari, Distt. Bilaspur, H.P. Prosecutrix was got medically examined through Dr. Manjula Sharma (PW-14) who issued MLC (Ext. PW-13/C). Prima facie, finding the accused to have committed the alleged crime, challan came to be presented against him in the Court for trial.

4. Accused was charged for having committed an offence punishable under the provisions of Section 376 of the Indian Penal Code, to which he did not plead guilty and claimed trial.

5. In order to establish its case, prosecution examined as many as 15 witnesses and the statement of the accused under Section 313 of the Code of Criminal Procedure was also recorded, in which he took plea of innocence and false implication. No evidence in defence was led by the accused.

6. Appreciating the material placed on record by the prosecution, trial Court convicted the accused for the charged offence and sentenced as aforesaid. Hence the present appeal.

7. The conviction is primarily based upon the testimonies of prosecutrix (PW-12), her mother-in-law Krishna Devi (PW-1) and Dr. Manjula Sharma (PW-14) who has proved on record the M.L.C. (Ext.PW-13/C) of the prosecutrix. Statement of the prosecutrix recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. before the Judicial Magistrate, 1st Class (Ext. PW-13/D) is also on record.

Also what weighed with the trial Court in convicting the appellant-accused, was the retarded mental growth of the prosecutrix.

8. Having heard learned counsel for the parties as also perused the record, I am of the considered view that the reasoning adopted by the trial Court is perverse and is not based on correct and complete appreciation of testimonies of the witnesses. Judgment in question is not based on correct and complete appreciation of evidence and the material placed on record, hence causing serious prejudice to the accused, resulting into miscarriage of justice.

9. In Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade and another Versus State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793, the apex Court, has held that:

> ".....Lord Russel delivering the judgment of the Board pointed out that there was "no indication in the Code of any limitation or restriction on the High Court in the exercise of its powers as an appellate Tribunal", that no distinction was drawn "between an appeal from an order of acquittal and an appeal from a conviction", and that "no limitation should be placed upon that power unless it be found expressly stated in the Code". .... (Emphasis supplied)

10. The apex Court in Lal Mandi v. State of W.B., (1995) 3 SCC 603, has held that in an appeal against conviction, the appellate Court is duty bound to appreciate the evidence on record and if two views are possible on the appraisal of evidence, benefit of reasonable doubt has to be given to the accused.

11. Also it is settled position of law that graver the punishment the more stringent the proof and the obligation upon the prosecution to prove the same and establish the charged offences.

12. It is a matter of record that on 13.3.2014, prosecutrix was got medically examined from Dr. Manjula Sharma (PW-14) who in court has categorically deposed that no signs of struggle or violence were found on the body of the prosecutrix. Also there were no abrasions, contusions or fresh injury. From local examination, it was not possible for her to ascertain as to whether any act of sexual intercourse was committed or not. Only on the basis of report of the chemical examiner (Ext. PW-4/A), wherein human semen was detected from the vaginal swabs/slides of the prosecutrix, the Doctor opined that "the possibility of sexual intercourse" could not be ruled out. At this juncture, it be only observed that from the report of the Forensic Science Laboratory (Ext.PW-4/A) it is not discernible as to whether the semen found on the clothes of the prosecutrix; her vaginal slides, was definitely that of the accused. Hence, with certainty, medical evidence or for that matter evidence of the expert, does not establish the offence of sexual assault.

13. Dr. Manjula Sharma (PW-14) does state that she had recommended the prosecutrix for ascertaining her mental age. Dr. Shatrughan Singh (PW-10) who examined the prosecutrix issued psychological report (Ext. PW-10/B & 10/C), certifying the mental age to be 12 years and 6 months. However, the doctor is certain that the test conducted by him is based on Social Science which is not definite in nature. Crucially Dr. Manjula Sharma (PW-14) found the victim to be "capable of understanding and responding to the queries".

14. With regard to the mental age of the prosecutrix, one finds that there is no whisper about such fact in the testimonies of her mother-in-law Krishna Devi (PW-1) and brother-in-law Pawan Kumar (PW-15). For them prosecutrix was a normal person, with proper working faculties, save and except that Krishna Devi wants the Court to believe that prosecutrix was suffering from epilepsy. But then there is no proof with regard thereto. Be that as it may, one finds that the Court had found the prosecutrix to be a competent witness. It was observed by the Court that "witness appears to be having a clear understanding and adequate intellectual capacity to give evidence" and as such was examined. Hence it cannot be said that with certainty that prosecutrix was of low mental aptitude or growth.

15. In recording the testimony of the prosecutrix trial Court had made certain observations. As such, her statement as recorded by the Court is reproduced as under:-

"(Since PW-10 Dr.Shatrughan Singh Clinical Psychologist, C.R.C., Sunder Nagar, District Mandi, H.P. after conducting the I.Q. test of this witness has opined her mental age as per his report Ext. PW-10/C to be 12 years and 6 months, a preliminary investigation under Section 118 read with Section 4 proviso of the Oaths Act is required to be held).

Q. Where do you live and with whom?

Ans. I live at Village Bhapral with my mother-in-law.

Q. What do you do?

Ans. I cut grass and collect fuel wood.

Q. Who cooks food?

Ans. My mother-in-law.

Q. Which season is it these days?

Ans. Winter season.

Q. Whether one should tell truth or lie?

Ans. Truth.

Q. Do you know the meaning of oath?

Ans. No.

(Certified that after holding a preliminary examination by putting the aforesaid questions, the witness appears to be having a clear understanding and adequate intellectual capacity to give evidence).

Without Oath
2.1.2015

I have two brothers-in-law, who both are in service. They live with their families at their places of their posting. At home I and my mother-in-law reside. In the month of March, the accused had done a wrong act with me at home. On that day my mother-in-law was not at home. She had gone to Bharari. The wife of accused was with him. The accused was painting our house. When the accused did the wrong act with me his wife had gone out of the house. I had disclosed the incident to my mother-in-law on her return back home. I was taken to the hospital by my mother-in-law and thereafter to the Police Station. I was got medically examined by the police. I had put my thumb impressions on some documents. I was also got examined at Sunder Nagar and Shimla. The accused is present in the Court today.

Xxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxxx

It is correct that for 2-3 months the accused had done the labour work at our house. It is correct that the work had been completed by the accused in the month of February. It is correct that thereafter the accused had never come to our house. It is correct that the entire story was cooked up by my mother-in-law. It is correct that earlier also on my behalf such like reports had been lodged by my mother-in-law. It is correct that all the reports were compromised after taking money."

16. Bare perusal of the testimony of this witness reveals that she has not supported the prosecution at all, yet she was not cross examined by the Public Prosecutor. She is categorical that in the month of March when accused had come to her house, he was not alone. His wife accompanied him. She tried to explain that when accused committed the wrong act, his wife went out of the house. But this is not what is initially reported to the police. Crucially in cross examination she admits that work already stood completed in the month of February, where after accused never came to her house. Thus, she has contradicted her earlier version with regard to the presence of the accused on the spot. Most significantly, she admits it to be correct that "the entire story was cooked up by" her "mother-in-law" and that "earlier also on my behalf such like reports had been lodged by" her "mother-in- law" which came to be compromised after taking money.

17. One finds version of Krishna Devi (PW-1) to have been contradicted by the prosecutrix. Krishna Devi wants the Court to believe that accused had come alone unlike the prosecutrix who states that he had come with his wife.

18. Be that as it may, one finds the mother-in-law to have deposed that prior to lodging of FIR, she had taken the prosecutrix to a Doctor for examination, whereafter prosecutrix was brought home and only the following day i.e. 13.3.2014 at about 2.30 p.m., matter came to be reported to the police. Now who is this Doctor? and what all was done? remains a mystery. It is not that either the prosecutrix or this witness were threatened, intimidated or overawed by the accused. If the mother-in- law could have taken the prosecutrix for medical examination, record whereof in any case stands concealed from the Court, she could have conveniently lodged the report with the police, neighbours or anyone in the village/neighbourhood which was not so done. Hence, delay of more than 20 hours in lodging the report, in the instant case, cannot be said to have been sufficiently explained. Not only that, and most significantly, even this witness admits that prior to the incident in question, complaints of sexual abuse came to be lodged against other persons from the village.

19. Significantly Manorma Devi (PW-2), a public representative, i.e. Ward Member of the concerned Gram Panchayat, was also associated by the police during investigation. Her testimony does not reveal that the matter came to be reported to her by anyone. Only on 14.3.2014 police associated her. On the question of mental ailment or retardness or the prosecutrix suffering from epilepsy, this witness has materially contradicted the testimony of Krishana Devi (PW-1) by stating that prosecutrix is not suffering from epilepsy and generally behaves well.

20. The witnesses so examined by the prosecution, in no manner, conclusively establish the charged offence. Prosecutrix and her mother-in-law cannot be said to be reliable witnesses or their testimonies to be inspiring in confidence. The alleged act never came to be resisted. Delay in the instant case is fatal. The incident appears to have been cooked up. There was no resistance to the alleged act. The Judicial Magistrate, 1st Class, was never examined in Court.

21. Hence, from the material placed on record, prosecution has failed to establish that the accused is guilty of having committed the offence, he stands charged for. The circumstances cannot be said to have been proven by unbroken chain of unimpeachable testimony of the prosecution witnesses. The guilt of the accused does not stand proved beyond reasonable doubt to the hilt.

22. Thus, findings returned by the trial Court, convicting the accused, cannot be said to be based on correct and complete appreciation of testimonies of prosecution witnesses. Such findings cannot be said to be on the basis of any clear, cogent, convincing, legal and material piece of evidence, leading to an irresistible conclusion of guilt of the accused. Incorrect and incomplete appreciation thereof, has resulted into grave miscarriage of justice, inasmuch as accused stands wrongly convicted for the charged offence.

23. Hence, for all the aforesaid reasons, appeal is allowed and the judgment of conviction and sentence dated 28.2.2015/2.3.2015, passed by the learned Addl. Sessions Judge, Guumarwin, District Bilaspur, H.P. (Camp at Bilaspur), in Sessions Trial No. 19/7 of 2014, titled as State of Himachal Pradesh vs. Dalip Kumar dated, is set aside and the accused is acquitted of the charged offence. N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 15- A Bulker was signalled to stop- it was found to be containing 2.190 kg poppy straw- accused was tried and convicted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that statements of PW-4 and PW-5 were corroborated by PW-9 who deposed about the recovery of carry bag of poppy straw – defence version was not probable and testimony of DW-1 does not inspire confidence – case property was sent to FSL, Junga and reached there intact - contraband was found to be poppy straw on analysis - recovery was effected from the vehicle and no compliance of Section 50 was to be made- prosecution version was proved beyond reasonable doubt and the accused was rightly convicted by the trial Court- appeal dismissed. (Para-14 to 18)

For the appellant : Mr. Rajeev Rai, Advocate
For the respondent : Mr. Parmod Thakur, Additional Advocate General

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Rajiv Sharma, Judge:

The instant appeal has been filed against Judgment dated 7.12.2015 rendered by the learned Special Judge, Ghumarwin, District Bilaspur, Himachal Pradesh in Sessions Trial No. 8/3 of 2014, whereby appellant-accused (hereinafter referred to as 'accused' for convenience sake), who was charged with and tried for offence under Section 15 of the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act' for convenience sake), has been convicted and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a period of three years and to pay a fine of Rs.10,000/-, and in default of payment of fine, to further undergo simple imprisonment for a period of three months, for the offence punishable under Section 15 (b) of the Narcotic Drugs & Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985.

2. Case of the prosecution, in a nutshell, is that on 26.11.2013, Inspector Lakhbir Singh (PW-9) alongwith HC Dev Raj (PW-4), Constable Rajinder Singh (PW-5) and Constable Subhash Chand was on patrolling duty in official vehicle bearing No. HP-59A-0130 on National Highway at Kainchi Mor. They had set up a Naka at Nalian. At about 9.30 PM, a Bulker bearing registration No. HP-69-0852 came from Kainchi Mor side. It was signalled to stop. Driver was brought down for breath test. He disclosed his name as Jai Shankar. Accused got perplexed. On suspicion, Inspector Lakhbir Singh climbed onto the Bulker and on opening the rear lid on top of the vehicle, a carry bag (Ext. P2), black and white in colour was found with "Kids Fashion", written on it. Inside the bag, six black coloured polythene packets (Ext. P-3 to Ext. P-8) were found, each of them having a white coloured polythene packet (Ext. P-9 to Ext. P-14). All these packets were found to be sealed. They were suspected to be containing poppy straw. Packets were opened and weighed with the help of scale. Packets containing poppy straw (Ext. P-15) were 2.190 kg in weight. Packets were put back in the same black coloured polythene bag and thereafter in the carry bag. Carry bag was sealed in a cloth parcel (Ext. P-1) with nine seal impressions of 'B'. Parcel was signed by HHC Dev Raj and Constable Subhash Chand and accused. NCB form was filled in. sample seal was taken on separate piece of cloth. Seal impression was put on NCB form and seal was handed over to witness HHC Dev Raj. Seizure memo Ext. PW-4/B was prepared. Rukka Ext. PW-5/A was prepared and handed over to Constable Rajinder Singh with a direction to carry it to Police Station, Swarghat for registration of FIR. Constable Rajinder Singh handed over the Rukka to MHC, who registered FIR (Ext. PW-5/B) and sent the case file to the spot. Case property was handed over to HC Gian Chand, who made entry to this effect in the Malkhana Register at Sr. No. 40. HC Gian Chand handed over the articles to Constable Desh Raj with a direction to carry them to SFSL Junga vide RC no. 101/13 (Ext. PW-8/B). Constable Desh Raj carried all the articles to SFSL Junga and deposited them in safe condition. Investigation was completed. Challan was put up in the Court after completing all the codal formalities.

3. Prosecution has examined as many as nine witnesses. Accused was also examined under Section 313 CrPC. He pleaded innocence. One witness was examined by the defence. Learned trial Court convicted the accused as noticed above. Hence, this appeal.

4. Mr. Rajeev Rai, Advocate has vehemently argued that the prosecution has failed to prove its case against the accused.

5. Mr. Parmod Thakur, Additional Advocate General, has supported Judgment dated 7.12.2015.

6. PW-3 Sanjeev Kumar deposed that he was working as Manager with Chaman Enterprises, Bilaspur since 2002. On 7.12.2013, Rakesh Kumar authorized signatory of Chaman Enterprises had given certificate Ext. PW-3/A to the police to the effect that Jai Shankar son of Shri Roop Lal had worked as a Driver on vehicle No. HP-69-0852 belonging to Chaman Enterprises.

7. PW-4 HHC Dev Raj, testified that on 26.11.2013, he alongwith Constable Subhash Chand, Constable Rajinder Singh and SI/SHO Lakhbir Singh was on patrolling duty in an official vehicle bearing No. HP-69A-0130 on NH No. 205. They started from the Police Station at about 8.25 PM. On NH-205 at Nalian, they had set up a Naka and had checked 10-12 vehicles. At about 9.30 PM, a Bulker bearing registration No. HP-69-0852 came from the side of Kainchi Mor. It was signalled to stop. Accused was perplexed. On inquiry, he divulged his name as Jai Shankar son of Shri Roop Lal. On suspicion, Bulker was checked and from the rear side of the body, a carry bag, black and white in colour, having "kids fashion" written on it, was found. It was found to be containing six black coloured polythene packets. Each black coloured polythene packet was found to be containing another plastic packet, which was suspected to be containing poppy straw. All the packets were opened and weighed with the help of scale lying in the IO kit. Packets were found to be 2.190 kg in weight. Packets were put back in the same black coloured packets and thereafter in the carry bag. Carry bag was sealed in a cloth parcel with nine seal impressions of 'B'. NCB form in triplicate was filled in by the IO. Specimen of seal was taken on a piece of cloth. All the codal formalities were completed on the spot. No public witness was present being a lonely place. It was dark. In his cross-examination, he deposed that no Dhaba or any other shop including petrol pump in between Swarghat and Nalian were checked. No vehicle was challaned. Firstly, the cabin of the Bulker was searched by IO. They kept standing outside the vehicle. Personal search of accused was not taken. He denied the suggestion that the accused was picked up from Dhaba. He also admitted that vehicles in line move on NH-205. They had only carried the IO kit with them from the Police Station. He denied the suggestion that entire proceedings have been carried out in the Police Station. White coloured polythene packets were sealed. Contents of the packets were not tasted and smelt.

8. PW-5 Constable Rajinder Singh No. 248 has corroborated the statement of PW-4 Dev Raj, about the manner in which contraband was recovered from the vehicle being driven by the accused. Rukka Ext. PW-5/A was drawn by the IO and handed over to him at 10.45 PM with a direction to carry it to the Police Station. On reaching the Police Station, he had handed Rukka to MHC who registered FIR, Ext. PW-5/B. He has categorically stated in his examination-in-chief that all the packets were opened and weighed with the help of scale lying in IO kit. In his cross-examination, he has admitted that all the white packets were sealed.

9. PW-6 Constable Desh Raj, deposed that on 28.11.2013, MHC Gian Chand had handed over to him parcel (Ext. P1) duly sealed with nine seal impressions of seal 'B', copy of recovery memo, copy of FIR, specimen of seal and NCB form in triplicate vide RC No. 101/13 for depositing at SFSL Junga. On the same day, he deposited the articles safely and on his return to the Police Station, he handed over receipt to the MHC.

10. PW-7 Constable Sumer Chand testified that on 9.12.2013, he had been deputed to bring back the case property and the report of the chemical examiner from SFSL Junga. He had brought the case property and report of chemical examiner. He handed over the report and parcel to the MHC safely on his return to the Police Station.

11. PW-8 HC Gian Chand deposed that on 26.11.2013, at about 11.55 PM, Inspector Lakhbir Singh deposited with him a parcel duly sealed with nine seal impressions of 'B', NCB form in triplicate and sample seal. Parcel was stated to be containing 2.190 Kg poppy straw. He made entry in the Malkhana Register at Sr. No. 40 and thereafter safely deposited the articles in Malkhana. He has proved the abstract of Malkhana Register Ext. PW-8/A. On 28.12.2013, the case property was sent to SFSL Junga for analysis through Constable Desh Raj vide RC No. 101/13. He, after depositing the same safely there, handed over the receipt to him on his return to the Police Station.

12. PW-9 Inspector Lakhbir Singh has deposed the manner in which contraband was recovered from the vehicle of the accused. He climbed on the Bulker and had opened the rear lid on the top of the vehicle and found a carry bag. It was containing six black coloured polythene packets. Each black coloured polythene packet contained another white coloured plastic packet. These packets were sealed and suspected to be containing poppy straw. All the packets were opened and weighed with the help of scale lying in IO kit. Packets were found to be 2.190 kg in weight. Packets were sealed with nine seal impressions of 'B'. NCB form in triplicate was filled in. Specimen of seal was taken on a separate cloth. In his cross-examination, he deposed that the personal search of the accused was not conducted. It took them 10 minutes to search the cabin. He has not stopped any vehicle to associate public witnesses in the case when the alleged bag was found. Volunteered that at that time no vehicle passed by. He has also deposed that no person came forward to become a witness. Six white coloured packets were sealed with rubber bands and then put in black packets. He has not tasted the packets. Volunteered that with the experience he found that the same was poppy straw.

13. PW-4 HHC Dev Raj has categorically deposed that the place where the vehicle was stopped, it was a lonely place. It was dark. PW-9 Lakhbir Singh has also deposed that no vehicle had crossed the Naka when the vehicle of the accused was intercepted. PW-4 HHC Dev Raj has categorically deposed in his examination-in-chief that carry bag having 'kids fashion', was found. It was checked. It was containing six black coloured packets. Each packet was found to be containing another plastic packet, which was suspected to be containing poppy straw. Similarly, PW-5 Constable Rajinder Singh has also deposed that on suspicion, Bulker was checked. From rear side, carry bag Ext. P2 was recovered. It contained six black coloured polythene packets, each polythene packet was found to be containing another white coloured plastic packet. These were sealed. Packets were opened and weighed with the scale lying in the IO kit.

14. Statements of PW-4 HHC Dev Raj, and PW-5 Constable Rajinder Singh, have been duly corroborated by PW-9 Lakhbir Singh. He also deposed that carry bag was recovered. It was found to be containing six black coloured packets. Each black coloured packet contained another white coloured plastic packet. PW-9 Lakhbir Singh has also deposed categorically that though he has not tasted the packets, but with the experience he found that it was poppy straw.

15. DW-1 Jaswinder Singh testified that on 26.11.2013 at about 9/10 PM, when some truck drivers were taking their meals at his hotel, in the meantime, two police officials came in his hotel and asked about the driver of the Bulker. They took him out of the hotel alongwith another person towards Bilaspur. After 2-3 days, he came to know from newspaper that the accused had been arrested in a case. Nalian is a big village, where there are a number of houses, timber depot, school etc. and shops. In his cross-examination, he admitted that Nalian was at a distance of half a kilometre towards Bilaspur. He also admitted that the timber depot closes after sunset. Accused was known to him for the last abut 2 years. He did not know what was recovered from the Bulker. He admitted that no proceedings took place in his presence. He has not gone to the spot. Thus, the statement of DW-1 does not inspire confidence.

16. Case property was sent to FSL Junga. It reached FSL intact. Report of the FSL is Ext. PW-9/D. Contraband was found to be poppy straw. All the seals were intact when case property was produced before the Court while examining PW-4 HHC Dev Raj.

17. Since recovery was made from the vehicle, no personal search of accused was required to be conducted either before a Gazetted Officer or a Magistrate.

18. Prosecution has proved its case against the accused beyond doubt.

19. Accordingly, there is no merit in the present appeal and the same is dismissed, so also the pending applications, if any.

For the Appellant: Mr. Ashok Kumar Tyagi, Advocate.
For the Respondents: Mr. Vinod Thakur, Advocate for respondent No.1.
Mr. N.S. Chandel, Advocate, for respondent No.2.
M.A. Khan, Additional with Mr. P.M. Negi, Deputy Advocate, General, for respondent-State.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Vivek Singh Thakur,J

Instant appeal, assailing judgment dated 31.3.2014 passed in Sessions Trial No.4-N/7 of 2008 by learned Additional Sessions Judge, Sirmaur, District at Nahan, vide which respondents were acquitted in case FIR No.241/2007 dated 14.7.2007 under Sections 380, 302 of Indian Penal Code registered at Police Station, Paonta Sahib, District Sirmaur, H.P., has been filed by complainant Kalyan Singh.

2. We have heard learned counsel for appellant as well as learned counsel for respondents and have also gone through the material placed on record.

3. According to complainant PW-12 Kalyan Singh, on 14.7.2007 at about 3.30 a.m. his son Pritam Singh came out from his house for urinating and noticed some trespasser in motor shed of Tube well of his uncle Amrit Singh. He came inside and wake up his father (complainant) informing that someone was taking away motor from tube well of uncle. Complainant armed with iron rod and his son Pritam Singh with drat rushed to catch trespasser but that person ran away from the spot. Complainant and his son chased that person. Complainant was following his son. Trespasser stuck with barbed wire fencing and was caught by his son. Scuffle took place and trespasser skipped but in this process his son had inflicted injury on his arm with drat. His son again caught trespasser in field of Mela Ram but that person ran away after stabbing his son. Two other persons were also accompanying trespasser. Complainant brought his injured son to home. Police was informed. His injured son succumbed to injuries on the way to hospital.

4. On receiving information, PW-24 Harjeet Singh, Incharge Police Post, Singhpura recorded Rapat No.l8 Ex.PW-24/L and reached on the spot and recorded statement of complainant PW-12 Kalyan Singh under Section 154 Cr.P.C. On the basis of this statement FIR Ex.PW23/A was registered in Police Station, Paonta Sahib and investigation was carried on.

5. During investigation, police had arrested respondent No.2 Mam Raj as assailant. However, complainant Kalyan Singh had refused to accept the said conclusion of investigating Officer and had represented to various authorities, stating that it was respondent Raghubir Singh and others who were trespasser and Raghubir Singh had stabbed his son deceased Pritam Singh. After two days of incident i.e. on 16.07.2007, on the basis of corresponding injuries on his body, Raghubir Singh was also identified by complainant. Superintendent of Police, Nahan had constituted an Investigating Team comprising of PW-34 Dy. Superintendent of Police Narveer Singh, PW-33 Inspector Gurdeep Singh SHO, Police Station Paonta Sahib and PW-24 ASI Harjeet Singh Incharge Police Post, Singhpura. However, rejecting plea of complainant, challan was presented in Court against respondent No.2 Mam Raj.

6. During trial complainant had appeared as PW-12 on 18.9.2012 and in his statement he had alleged that investigation was not carried on in a fair and proper manner and it was not Mam Raj but Raghubir Singh who was real culprit in present case, but despite having sufficient evidence against Raghubir Singh, he had been let free by police. Complainant (PW-12) had also filed an application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. for impleading respondent Raghubir Singh as an accused. Trial Court had allowed that application vide order dated 3.10.2012 and Raghubir Singh was directed to be impleaded as an accused. On consistent persuasion of complainant, further investigation was conducted by Additional Superintendent of Police, PW-50 Bhagat Singh. On the basis of said investigation supplementary challan was also filed by police against respondent Raghubir Singh under Section 380, 302 IPC. Accordingly, respondent Raghubir Singh was also charge-sheeted under Section 380 and 302 IPC alongwith Mam Raj.

7. Witnesses examined prior to impleading Raghubir Singh as accused were recalled for re-examination by Public Prosecutor and cross-examination on behalf of respondents. Thereafter remaining witnesses as well as witnesses cited in supplementary challan were examined and statements of respondents under Section 313 Cr.P.C. were recorded. Respondent

Raghubir Singh also examined three defence witnesses. On conclusion of trial, respondents were acquitted by trial Court.

8. Initially, as per challan presented in the Court, respondent Mam Raj was assailant and Investigating Officer had placed his disclosure statement Ex.PW-7/A under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act on record alleging that the said statement was followed by recovery of knife i.e. weapon of offence vide recovery memos Ex.PW-4/A. Production of his clothes by Mam Raj, stated to be worn by him at the time of committing offence, vide memo Ex.PW-4/A was also relied upon by police against him.

9. On the day of occurrence a bicycle alongwith Umbrella, empty cement bags and sleepers was also found near place of incident. It was prosecution case that Mam Raj had stolen bicycle from the house of Sahdev a brother of Raghubir Singh and used the said bicycle for committing offence. There was no other evidence against Mam Raj even PW-12 complainant had not implicated respondent Mam Raj in his statement. He only stated that Mam Raj might have been party in committing offence but it was Raghubir Singh who was caught on the spot, however, had succeeded in fleeing from the spot but with injuries on his body and after stabbing his son deceased Pritam Singh.

10. So far as recovery of knife at the instance of respondent Mam Raj is concerned, the same had not been proved on record. PW-4 Prem Singh and PW-5 Narender Kumar are the witnesses in whose presence, respondent Mam Raj was stated to have produced knife from Almirah kept in his house. Both of them had not supported prosecution case and they after declaring hostile were subjected to cross-examination by learned Public Prosecutor but nothing incriminatory material implicating Mam Raj could be elucidated from statements of these witnesses. Both of them stated that knife was not recovered in their presence and police had shown them a knife telling that the same was recovered from the house of respondent Mam Raj but Mam Raj was sitting quiet. Therefore, recovery of knife as claimed by prosecution is under suspicion.

11. Disclosure statement under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act was reduced into writing vide memo Ex.PW-7/A. PW-6 Ram Pal was only independent witness to this disclosure statement whereas other two witnesses PW-7 constable Navinder Singh and PW-13 HC Dalip Singh were police officials. However, in his deposition in the Court, PW-6 Ram Pal was completely silent about disclosure statement. Though, PW-7 constable Navinder Singh and PW-13 HC Dalip Singh had deposed that in their presence alongwith Ram Pal, respondent Mam Raj had made disclosure statement Ex.PW-7/A. Silence of PW-6 on this issue cast doubt on veracity on these witnesses. Moreover, recovery on the basis of this statement was not proved beyond suspicion. Therefore, this statement cannot be relied upon against respondent Mam Raj.

12. It is the case of prosecution that respondent Mam Raj had also produced clothes worn by him in presence of PW-1 Attar Singh and PW-2 Gulsher Ahmed but production of clothes by respondent Mam Raj in presence of these witnesses was not admitted by them in their deposition in the Court. Both of them stated that police had shown them clothes and obtained their signatures on Ex.PW-1/A.

13. Clothes and knife were sent for chemical examination to SFSL, Junga but blood was not found on these articles as evident from Chemical Analysis Report Ex.PW-34/A to Ex.PW34-D.

14. It is case of prosecution that PW-8 Ram Kumar, a relative of Sahdev was owner of bicycle and Mam Raj had stolen bicycle from the house of Sahdev and Sahdev was brother of respondent Raghubir Singh. Prosecution has relied upon memo of identification of spot from where bicycle was stolen by respondent Mam Raj. This memo was witnessed by PW-1 Attar Singh and PW-3 Smt. Swarnoo Devi wife of Sahdev. PW-1 Attar Singh had not lent support to prosecution story and denied even visiting to house of Sehdev with police and respondent Mam Raj. Deposition of PW-3 Swarnoo Devi is also not credible as she stated that no body was accompanying the police at the time of visit to their house. In latter part, she stated that Pardhan Attar Singh was present with the police. Thereafter she stated that respondent Mam Raj had identified the spot who was accompanying the police. Her statement is not trustworthy. Moreover, she was relative (Bhabhi) of another respondent Raghubir Singh who was being accused by complainant and others as real assailant.

15. Story of theft of bicycle is also not above the board as no complaint about theft of bicycle was made to police despite claim of PW-8 Ram Kumar that he had purchased bicycle for Rs.2,000/- in the month of July, 2007.

16. PW-12 Kalyan Singh in his deposition in the Court had specifically stated that it was Raghubir Singh who was assailant and not Mam Raj and Mam Raj may be accomplice with Raghubir Singh. Numerous complaints had been placed on record, which were submitted by PW-12 to various authorities with regard to investigation carried out by police and also with regard to persons who were being suspected to have committed the offence. None of these applications, PW-12 Kalyan Singh found mention name of Mam Raj since the very first day. PW-12 Kalyan Singh had named respondent Raghubir Singh as main assailant and two other persons as accomplice. In view of above evidence on record, respondent Mam Raj was rightly acquitted by learned trial Court.

17. So far as guilt of respondent Raghubir Singh was concerned, PW-12 Kalyan Singh had stated that during scuffle his son deceased Pritam Singh had given drat blow on arm of assailant and the assailant had also received injuries with barbed wire fencing when he was trying to flee from the spot and therefore, assailant was having injuries on his forehead and arm. Respondent Raghubir Singh was noticed with injuries on his forehead and left arm and it was informed to the police and thereafter Raghubir Singh was interrogated by the police. Raghubir Singh had explained that he received injuries on his arm with a Farata fan. Farata fan was also taken in possession by police. Raghubir Singh was subjected to medical examination and as per his MLC Ex.PW-38/B issued on 21.7.2007, there was an infected wound of 3 cm x 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm on left lateral side of the wrist. This injury was found 5 to 10 days old.

18 PW-12 Kalyan Singh had also produced drat to the police during investigation. Drat, Farata fan, and MLC of Raghubir Singh were sent to Department of Forensic Medicine, IGMC, Shimla for opinion. After examining material placed before team of doctors, they opined that injury in question could not have been sustained by running fan blade accidentally as the expected outcome in that case would have been multiple injuries and much deeper injuries and also the alleged part hit by the fan is wrist, which was at approximately 20 cms behind the last point of the hand. The accidental injury by a running fan was expected to be in more distal parts. The injury was also found of the same duration as old was alleged offence and possibility of such injury being inflicted by a drat could not be ruled out. Report of team of Forensic Medicine, IGMC, Shimla was placed on record as Ex.PW-49/B. PW-49 Dr. Piyush Kapila also stated that injury present on the left wrist of Raghubir Singh was possible with drat Ex.P-22.

19. On the day of incident, fields were wet and foot prints of assailant(s) were also found in the fields. The investigating Officer had picked up one clear left foot print from the field. During investigation foot print impressions, of suspected persons namely Ramesh S/o Mam Raj, Sher Khan S/o Gulsher Ahmad, Raghubir Singh S/o Raju Ram, Mam Raj S/o Nathu Ram, Naresh Kumar S/o Basant Ram, Madan Lal S/o Girdhari Lal, Jai Singh S/o Surat Singh and Ifran S/o Khalil Ahmad were taken and sent to State Forensic Science, Laboratory, Junga. As per report of SFSL Ex. PW-34/B, foot print impressions of unknown person was of the left foot whereas Investigating Team had sent right foot impressions of suspected persons. However, on the basis of physical features, it was found that there was potential of matching of left foot impression of Raghubir Singh and Jai Singh with that of unknown person. Therefore, left foot impression of these two persons was requested to be sent again for laboratory examination.

20. PW-34 Dy. S.P. Narveer Singh stated that he had taken sample of foot mold of Raghubir Singh and Jai Singh on 20.10.2007 but he had prepared challan on 1.11.2007 and as such he was not able to say anything about the report of SFSL of the said foot print which was taken by him.

21. As per challan presented by PW-34 Dy. S.P. Narveer Singh, Mam Raj was real culprit whereas as per supplementary challan presented by PW-50 Bhagat Singh, Addl. S.P. , Raghubir Singh was main culprit and Mam Raj might have been as accomplice.

22. During further investigation PW-50 had also taken foot prints of respondent Raghubir Singh. PW-39 HC Kalyan Singh and HHC Sandeep Kumar witnessed taking of foot print impressions of Raghubir Singh and Jai Singh on 14.7.2013 and signed memos Ex.PW39/A and Ex.PW-39/B in this regard which were also signed by Raghubir Singh and Jai Singh. This fact was not disputed by respondents. As per PW-50 Bhagat Singh, these foot prints were sent for chemical analysis to SFSL, Junga. But no report from SFSL qua those foot prints was placed on record.

23. On first day, complainant Kalyan Singh had not identified the assailant due to darkness but on the basis of injury he had suspected that Raghubir Singh might be assailant. Explanation in defence by Raghubir Singh with respect to this injury was found false as his plea that this injury was suffered by him one day before the incident with Farata fan was negated by medical experts.

24. The bicycle recovered on spot on the day of incident was also found to be owned by PW-8 Ram Kumar who was relative of Sahdev and Sahdev is a real brother of Raghubir Singh. It has come in evidence that PW-9 Jagdish Chand, father of PW-8 Ram Kumar went to village Mehruwala to meet his brother-in-law Sahdev (brother of Raghubir Singh) and parked bicycle in question in veranda of Sahdev. On 14.7.2007, in the morning bicycle was not found on that place. Bicycle (Ex.P-6) found on the spot was identified by PW-8 Ram Kumar as his own bicycle. House of Raghubir Singh was adjoining to house of Sahdev. The story of prosecution of stealing bicycle by respondent Mam Raj was found doubtful.

25. Belonging of bicycle to relative of respondent Raghubir Singh which was parked in veranda of his brother in the night of 13.7.2007 and injuries on his left wrist and also falsehood of his explanation with respect to cause of injury created strong suspicion towards in culpability of Raghubir Singh indicating that he might have been assailant but result of comparison by State FSL of left foot print impression of Raghubir Singh with foot print impression lifted from spot was withheld by prosecution which was an important pieces of evidence to complete the chain or for proving innocence of Raghubir Singh.

26. Suspicion, however, strong cannot take place of proof. Withholding of a material piece of evidence is fatal for case of the prosecution, therefore, it cannot be said with certainty that it was Raghubir Singh who had assaulted deceased Pritam Singh on fateful day.

27. It is evident from the aforesaid discussion that prosecution evidence cannot be treated as cogent, reliable, credible and sufficient to prove the guilt of the accused-respondents beyond reasonable doubt.

28. It is a settled principle of law that acquittal leads to presumption of innocence in favour of an accused and to dislodge the same, onus heavily lies upon the prosecution. Respondents have been acquitted by the trial Court.

29. From perusal and scrutiny of evidence, it cannot be said that the learned trial court has not appreciated the evidence correctly and completely and acquittal of the accused persons has resulted into travesty of justice or has caused mis-carriage of justice.

30. It is shocking of state of affairs that the investigation was carried out by officer of rank of Deputy Superintendent of Police and Addl. Superintendent of Police and both of them have failed to place result of examination of comparison of foot prints by SFSL on record, which was a material piece of evidence for deciding the fate of prosecution case. Sending right foot print impressions of suspects to compare with left foot print of assailant is also a serious lapse particularly, when investigating team was headed by Deputy Superintendent of Police and thus deserves to be addressed

31. It has also come on record that complainant was agitating since beginning that it was not Mam Raj but Raghubir Singh who was assailant but officer investigating the case in the beginning as well as investigating team constituted by Superintendent of Police later on, had adamantly ignored plea of complainant as well as evidence available against the persons being named by the complainant. Later on, Addl. Superintendent of Police in his further investigation had found that it was not respondent Mam Raj but respondent Raghubir Singh who was main assailant. Evidence collected and relied upon by Addl. Superintendent of Police appeared to be ignored in order to save respondent Raghubir Singh from facing trial which amounts dereliction of duty.

32. Director General of Police is directed to seek explanation from the members of the Investigating Team, whether in service or retired, and to take appropriate action for lapse on their part. Compliance affidavit, be filed by Director General of Police, within two months from the date of this judgment.

33. After considering arguments of respective counsel for the parties and minutely examining the testimonies of the witnesses and other documentary evidence placed on record, we are of the considered view that no case for interference is made out. Consequently, present appeal, devoid of any merit, is dismissed, as also pending applications, if any. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused persons are discharged. Records of the Court below be sent back immediately.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

P.S. Rana, Judge

Present appeal is filed against the judgment and sentence passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge Hamirpur in Sessions trial No. 18 of 2012 title State of H.P. vs. Manoj Kumar and others.

Brief facts of the case

2. It is alleged that deceased Meenakshi Devi aged 23 years was married with co-accused Manoj Kumar on dated 9.12.2009 as per Hindu rites and customs. It is alleged that deceased was kept nicely in her matrimonial house for about two months after marriage and thereafter deceased Meenakshi was subjected to maltreatment, harassment and cruelty in her matrimonial house. It is alleged that accused persons did not allow deceased Meenakshi to contact with her parents and relatives by way of telephone and it is further alleged that accused persons also did not allow the deceased to visit her parents and relatives during family functions and festivals. It is alleged by prosecution that on dated 18.2.2010 co-accused Roop Singh father-in-law of deceased also tried to molest the deceased by way of putting off the lights of house. It is alleged by prosecution that accused persons also demanded dowry from deceased in her matrimonial house. It is alleged by prosecution that family compromise was also executed between deceased and accused persons but despite family compromise accused persons maltreated deceased Meenakshi. It is alleged by prosecution that deceased was also beaten by accused persons. It is alleged by prosecution that deceased committed suicide in her matrimonial house on dated 4.12.2011 at 1.30 PM by way of burning herself with kerosene oil. It is alleged that deceased sustained 91% burn injuries upon her body as per MLC Ext.PW12.B. It is alleged by prosecution that information was given to police officials. It is alleged by prosecution that investigating officials filed application before medical officer for issuance of MLC. It is alleged by prosecution that statement of Meenakshi deceased was recorded in presence of medical officer. It is alleged by prosecution that thereafter deceased Meenakshi was referred to PGI Chandigarh for medical treatment. It is alleged by prosecution that investigating agency recorded statements of prosecution witnesses as per their versions and prepared spot map and obtained photographs. It is alleged by prosecution that burn clothes of deceased and one plastic canny of five litres took into possession and sealed in parcel. It is alleged by prosecution that on 7.12.2011 Meenakshi died due to burn injuries at PGI Chandigarh. It is alleged by prosecution that investigating agency filed application for post mortem of deceased and obtained post mortem report of deceased. It is alleged that call details of deceased Meenakshi also obtained. It is alleged by prosecution that report from FSL Mandi Ext.PW11/A was also obtained.

3. Prosecution filed charge sheet against accused persons under Section 498-A IPC and under Section 306 IPC. Learned Trial Court framed charge against accused persons on 29.10.2012 under Sections 498-A and 306 IPC. Accused did not plead guilty and claimed trial. Prosecution examined twenty four oral witnesses in all and also tendered documentaries evidence.

4. Learned Trial Court convicted accused persons under Sections 306 and 498-A IPC on 30.11.2013. Learned Trial Court sentenced accused persons to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a term of seven years and to pay fine of Rs.10000/- each for offence punishable under Section 306 IPC and learned Trial Court further directed that in default of payment of fine convict would undergo simple imprisonment for a term of six months. 10. Statement of accused persons recorded under Section 313 of Code of Criminal Procedure 1973. Accused persons have stated that they are innocent. Accused persons did not adduce any defence evidence.

11. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of appellants that criminal offence under Section 498-A IPC is not proved against co-appellants Nos. 1 and 2 is rejected being devoid of any force for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. It is well settled law that Section 498-A IPC was enacted to prevent cruelty upon married women in her matrimonial house. PW1 Bidhi Chand father of deceased has specifically stated when he appeared in witness box that deceased was married with co-accused Manoj on 9.12.2009. PW1 has specifically stated that deceased was not allowed to talk with her parents on telephone and she was also not allowed to contact her parental house. PW1 has also stated that deceased has disclosed him directly that she was harasssed and tortured in her matrimonial house. He has stated that Rs.5000/- (Rupees five thousand) was also paid by him for repayment of loan amount. Testimony of PW1 is corroborated by PW2 Parveen Kumari who is mother of deceased. PW2 has stated when she appeared in witness box that deceased was beaten by accused persons in her matrimonial house and she was not provided maintenance allowance. PW2 has also stated in positive manner that deceased was prevented to contact her parents by way of phone. PW2 has also specifically stated when she appeared in witness box that co-accused Roop Singh also tried to outrage modesty of deceased during night period. PW2 has also stated that accused persons also demanded money from deceased when they received a bank notice. PW2 has further stated in positive manner that her husband had paid Rs.5000/- (Rupees five thousand) to accused persons. PW2 has specifically stated that deceased called her upon landline No. 263345 and she was disturbed and was shouting “bachao-bachao”(Save-save).

12. PW3 Ishwar Dass has specifically stated in positive manner that he received telephonic call from deceased Meenakshi. He has stated that Meenakshi was related to his wife. He has stated that on 4.12.2011 deceased Meenakshi was crying and told him that she was beaten by accused persons. PW3 has also stated in positive manner that deceased directly informed him that accused persons demanded money from her parents. PW12 Dr. Savita Rana has stated that deceased was brought in hospital with 91% burn injuries upon her body. PW13 Khushi Ram has stated that deceased had committed suicide because deceased was fed up with act and conduct of accused persons. PW13 has stated that Rs.10000/- (Rupees ten thousand) were demanded from him but he could pay only Rs.2000/-(Rupees two thousand). Testimonies of PW1 Bidhi Chand, PW2 Parveen Kumari, PW3 Ishwar Dass, PW13 Khushi Ram and PW12 Dr.Savita Rana are trustworty reliable and inspire confidence of Court. There is no reason to disbelieve the testimonies of above stated persons.

13. Court has also peursed the dying declaration of deceased Meenakshi Ext.PW4/A placed on record. It is proved on record that dying declaration of deceased was recorded in hospital when deceased sustained burn injuries to the extent of 91% upon her body. There is recital in dying declaration Ext.PW4/A placed on record given by deceased that she was harassed in her matrimonial house relating to money. There is recital in dying declaration given by deceased Ext.PW4/A that on 8.2.2010 when deceased was alone in her matrimonial house then her father-in-law co-accused namely Roop Singh came to her during night period and switched off the electric light and started outraging her modesty. Deceased Meenakshi also stated in dying declaration Ext.PW4/A that she was forced to bring money from her parental house several times and her parents paid Rs.5000/- (Rupees five thousand). There is recital in dying declaration that deceased Meenakshi was also beaten in her matrimonial house. There is recital in dying declaration that deceased was fed up with act and conduct of her husband and father-in-law and under compelling circumstances deceased sprinkled kerosene oil upon her body and set her body upon fire. It is well settled law that cruelty in matrimonial house are of two types. Mental cruelty and physical cruelty. Court is of the opinion that directing the married women to bring money from her parental house amounts to mental cruelty as defined under Section 498-A IPC. Court is also of the opinion that trying to outrage the modesty of married woman in her matrimonial house by her father-in-law also amounts cruelty as defined under Section 498-A IPC. Testimony of above said persons is corroborated by documentary evidence i.e. medical certificate and post mortem report placed on record. It is held that cruelty as defined under Section 498-A IPC upon deceased is proved against co-accused Manoj Kumar and co-accused Roop Singh beyond reasonable doubt. There is no allegation against co-accused No. 3 Nirmala Devi in dying declaration Ext.PW4/A placed on record by name. Hence it is held that Nirmala Devi is legally entitled for benefit of doubt relating to criminal offence under Section 498-A IPC. See (1977)9 SCC 338 title Balram Prasad vs. State of Bihar. 14. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of appellants that no offence under Section 306 IPC is made out against co-accused Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh is rejected being devoid of any force for the reasons hereinafter. It is proved on record that deceased had committed suicide in her matrimonial house within two years after her marriage. As per Section 113-A of Indian Evidence Act 1872 the Court should presume that accused persons have committed the abetment of suicide upon married woman if suicide is committed within seven years of her marriage. Deceased Meenakshi Devi committed suicide in her matrimonial house when she was aged 23 years within two years of her marriage. Deceased Meenakshi has specifically stated in her dying declaration Ext.PW4/A that she committed suicide due to torture and harassment given to her in her matrimonial house and deceased was immediately brought to hospital for her medical treatment and thereafter deceased was referred to PGI Chandigarh and in PGI Chandigarh deceased died. Co-appellants Nos. 1 and 2 did not adduce any defence evidence despite opportunity granted by learned Trial Court. Evidence under Section 113-A of Indian Evidence Act 1872 by way of dying declaration remained unrebutted against co-appellants Nos. 1 and 2. There is no eivdence against co-appellant Nirmala Devi that she abeted deceased to commit suicide. There is no reference of Nirmala co-accused in dying declaration Ext.PW4/A. Hence it is held that no criminal offence is proved beyond reasonable doubt against co-accused Nirmala Devi in present case under Section 306 IPC. See AIR 1990 SC 209 title Gurbachan Singh vs. Satpal Singh. See AIR 1989 SC 1661 Brij Lal vs. Prem Chand.

15. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of co-appellants Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh that PW1 Bidhi Chand, PW2 Parveen Kumari, PW3 Ishwar Dass, PW13 Khushi Ram are relatives of deceased and their testimonies cannot be relied is rejected being devoid of any force for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. It is well settled law that if testimonies of relative witnesses are co-herent then same could be relied in criminal case. It is well settled law that in matrimonial dispute relatives are best witnesses. It is also well settled law that generally married women used to disclose the facts of cruelty upon her in matrimonial house to her relatives only. It is also well settled law that if cruelty in matrimonial house is committed within four walls of house then procurement of independent witness is not possible. It is well settled law that if criminal offence is committed within four walls then burden is upon owner of house to prove his innocence as per Section 106 of Indian Evidence Act 1872 See JT (2016)2 SC 459 title Gajanan Dassrath Kharate vs. State of Maharashtra.

16. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of co-appellants namely Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh that there is major contradiction between testimonies of prosecution witnesses and on this ground appeal filed by co-appellants Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh be allowed is rejected being devoid of any force for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. Learned Advocate appearing on behalf of co-appellants Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh did not point out any major contradiction which goes to the root of case. It is well settled law that minor contadictions are bound to come in criminal case when testimonies of prosecution witnesses are recorded after a gape of sufficient time. In present case incident took place on 4.12.2011 and testimonies of witnesses were recorded on 14.1.2013, 15.1.2013, 16.1.2013, 17.1.2013, 19.1.2013, 21.1.2013, 22.1.2013, 23.1.2013, 26.4.2013, 6.5.2013. See (2010)9 SCC 567 title C. 17. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of co-appellants Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh that above said co-appellants cannot be convicted simply on testimonies of PW1 Bidhi Chand, PW2 Parveen Kumari, PW3 Ishwar Dass, PW12 Dr. Savita Rana, PW13 Khushi Ram is rejected being devoid of any forced for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. It is well settled law that no particular number of witnesses in any case is required for the proof of any fact. It is well settled principle of law that conviction can be based on solitary statements of witnesses if Court comes to conclusion that statement is true and correct version of the case of prosecution. It is well settled law that Courts are concerned with merits of statements of particular witnesses and Courts are not concerned with number of witnesses examined by prosecution. See AIR 2010 SCW 4470 title Bipin Kumar Mondal vs. State of West Bengal. reasons hereinafter mentioned. Statements Ext.PW10/A and Ext.PW10/B are rebutted by dying declaration Ext.PW4/A placed on record. 19. Submission of learned Advocate appearing on behalf of co-appellants Nos. 1 and 2 that in view of testimony of PW5 Sarla Devi dying declaration Ext.PW4/A cannot be relied is rejected being devoid of any force for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. Dying declaration Ext.PW4/A is duly signed by PW5 Sarla Devi. PW5 Sarla Devi did not give her dissenting note when she signed dying declaration Ext.PW4/A. PW5 did not complaint to any competent authority. Co-appellants Nos. 1 and 2 are voters of PW5 Sarla Devi. It is not expedient in the ends of justice to disbelieve dying declaration Ext.PW4/A on testimony of PW5 Sarla Devi.

20. Rulings cited by learned Advocate appearing on behalf of co-appellants namely Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh i.e. 2003 SCC (Cri.) 1523 title State of Haryana vs. Jai Parkash, (2005)9 SCC 769 title State of Punjab vs. Parveen Kumar, (2009)4 SCC 52 title Kishangiri Mangalgiri Goswami vs. State of Gujarat, (2002)5 SCC 371 title Sanju @ Sanjay Singh Sengar vs. State of M.P., (2009)10 SCC 164 title Mankamma vs. State of Kerala are not applicable in present case. Facts of present case and facts of cases cited by learned Advocate appearing on behalf of co-appellants Nos. 1 and 2 are different and distinguishable.

21. Submission of learned Additional Advocate General appearing on behalf of State that offence under Sections 498-A and 306 IPC is also proved beyond reasonable doubt against co-accused Nirmala Devi is rejected being devoid of any force for the reasons hereinafter mentioned. Name of Nirmala Devi did not figure in dying declaration given by deceased Ext.PW4/A placed on record. Even none of witnesses examined in Court stated by name that co-accused Nirmala Devi had committed cruelty and abetment as alleged by prosecution. Hence it is held that prosecution did not prove ingredients of Sections 498-A and 306 IPC against co-accused Nirmala Devi in present case beyond reasonable doubt. In view of above stated facts and case law cited supra point No. 1 is partly answered in yes and partly answered in no.

Point No. 2 (Final order)

22. In view of findings on point No.1 appeal is partly allowed. Conviction and sentence passed by learned Trial Court against co-appellants Manoj Kumar and Roop Singh affirmed and conviction and sentence passed by learned Trial Court against co-appellant Nirmala Devi is set aside. Co-appellant Nirmala Devi is acquitted qua offence punishable under Sections 498-A and 306 IPC by way of giving her benefit of doubt. Learned Additional Registrar (Judicial) will issue release warrant in favour of co-appellant Smt. Nirmala Devi forthwith if not required in any other case. File of learned Trial Court along with certified copy of judgment be sent back forthwith. Criminal appeal No. 4247 of 2013 is disposed of. All pending miscellaneous application(s) if any also stands disposed of.

CWP No. 4588 of 2015
Judgment reserved on: 29.8.2016
Date of Decision: 6.9.2016.

H.P. Land Revenue Act, 1954- Section 163- Proceedings were initiated against the petitioner on the ground that he was in unauthorized occupation of the land in dispute- order of eviction was passed against the petitioner, which was unsuccessfully challenged before various authorities- writ petition was filed against the orders- held, that revision petition was dismissed on 27.10.2001 and the order was assailed after 9 years- the power should be exercised within a reasonable period and not after inordinate delay- Financial Commissioner had not adjudicated this question- plea of adverse possession was taken but the reply filed by the petitioner before Assistant Collector Ist Grade was not placed on record – all unoccupied lands are the property of the Government- it is for the person asserting the title in himself to prove the adverse possession- possession according to the version of the petitioner commenced in the year 1962- proceedings were initiated prior to the lapse of 30 years- in these circumstances, authorities had rightly rejected the plea of adverse possession- petition dismissed - eviction order to be carried out at the cost of the petitioner. For the Petitioner: Ms.Vandana Mishra Panta, Advocate.

For the Respondents: Mr.Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General with Mr.Anup Rattan, Mr.Romesh Verma, Mr.Varun Chandel, Additional Advocate Generals and Mr.Kush Sharma, Deputy Advocate General.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Tarlok Singh Chauhan, Judge

Petitioner has lost before all the four authorities below and having been held to be an encroacher has been ordered to be evicted from the land measuring 6-19-5 bighas, comprised in Khasra No. 337/16/1, 331/323/1 and 171, Kita 2, situated in Mauza Chamog, Tehsil Karsog, District Mandi H.P. (herein after referred to as the land in dispute).

2. It appears that in the year 1990 on the report of Patwari Halka Dabrot, Tehsil Karsog, District Mandi, proceedings under Section 163 of the HP Land Revenue Act, 1954 (for short the 'Act') were initiated against the petitioner before the Assistant Collector 1st Grade, Karsog on 14.12.1990 on the ground that he was in unauthorized occupation of the land in dispute.

3. On 5.4.1991 the Assistant Collector 1st Grade passed ex parte order of eviction against the petitioner, which consequent upon appeal being filed by the petitioner was set aside on 8.10.1991 by the Collector Sub Division, Karsog and the matter was remanded back to the Assistant Collector 1st Grade for fresh decision.

4. The Assistant Collector 1st Grade again vide order dated 30.9.1997 ordered the eviction of the petitioner and at the same time imposed a fine of `6,950/-. This order was assailed by the petitioner by way of appeal before the Collector Sub Division, Karsog, who vide his order dated 21.9.1999 dismissed the appeal. These orders thereafter were challenged before the Commissioner, Mandi Division at Mandi by filing Revision Petition No. 40 of 2000. However, the same was also dismissed vide order dated 27.10.2001.

5. Undeterred, the petitioner then approached the Financial Commissioner (Appeals) by filing Revision Petition No. 35 of 2010. However, the said Revision Petition too ordered to be dismissed vide order dated 18.8.2015, constraining the petitioner to file the instant writ petition.

6. It is averred that the authorities below have failed to take into consideration the clear and unambiguous testimony of the petitioner corroborated by two other witnesses of the area, who have clearly deposed that there are about 250-300 fruit bearing apple and almond trees standing over the disputed land, which has been in possession of the petitioner and earlier to that in his father's possession for the last 35 years and thus it was proved on record that the petitioner was in open, hostile and continuous possession of the disputed land and therefore, had become owner thereof.

7. The respondents have filed reply, wherein it is averred that as the petitioner had miserably failed to prove his title, claim and right over the land in dispute by producing tangible oral or documentary evidence, therefore, he could not now find fault with the orders, which have been passed strictly in conformity and compliance of law. It is specifically averred that the claim of the petitioner with regard to adverse possession over the land in dispute is totally wrong, baseless and misleading because had the petitioner been in adverse possession of the land in dispute for more than 35 years, then the same would have been recorded/reflected in the record of rights prepared during the settlement carried out in early seventies in Tehsil Karsog.

We have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the records of the case.

8. At the outset, it may be noticed that the Commissioner Mandi had dismissed the Revision Petition vide order dated 27.10.2001, yet the petitioner did not chose to assail this order for nearly 9 years and the same was ultimately assailed on 9.3.2010 in Revision Petition by invoking the provisions of Section 17 of the H.P. Land Revenue Act, 1954, which reads thus:-

> "17. Power to call for, examine and revise proceedings of Revenue Officer.—(1) The Financial Commissioner may at any time call for the record of any case pending before (or disposed of by) any Revenue Officer subordinate to him.
>
> (2) A Commissioner or Collector may call for the record of any case pending before, or disposed of by any Revenue Officer under his control.
>
> (3) If in any case in which a Commissioner or Collector has called for a record, is of the opinion that the proceedings taken or order made should be modified or reversed, he shall report the case with his opinion thereon for the orders of the Financial Commissioner.
>
> (4) The Financial Commissioner may in any case called for by himself under sub-section (1) or reported to him under sub-section (3) pass such order as he thinks fit.
>
> Provided that he shall not under this section pass an order reversing or modifying any proceeding or order of a subordinate Revenue Officer and effecting any question of right between private persons without giving those persons an opportunity of being heard."

9. It is manifest from the perusal of the aforesaid provision that no particular period of limitation in fact has been prescribed for filing of revision and the expression "may at any time" has been used.

10. Therefore, the first and foremost question which will require our consideration is as to whether in absence of any period of limitation having been prescribed for the exercise of powers of revision, can the period be extended to infinity and the order remain open for challenge forever?. Can it be assumed that the legislature has conferred an everlasting and interminable power in point of time for exercising the powers of revision by not specifically providing for any period of limitation?

11. These issues are no longer res integra and have been elaborately dealt with by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in its recent decision in case titled Joint Collector Ranga Reddy District & Another Vs. D.Narsing Rao and others (2015) 3 SCC 695, where Hon'ble Justice T.S. Thakur, J., in his Lordships separate, though concurring judgment has held that where no limitation period is prescribed under the statute, the power should be exercised within a reasonable period. It was further observed that reasonableness of the period is to be determined having regard to lapse of time between the knowledge of the order and exercise of power. It was held as under:

> "25. The legal position is fairly well-settled by a long line of decisions of this Court which have laid down that even when there is no period of limitation prescribed for the exercise of any power revisional or otherwise such power must be exercised within a reasonable period. This is so even in cases where allegations of fraud have necessitated the exercise of any corrective power. We may briefly refer to some of the decisions only to bring home the point that the absence of a stipulated period of limitation makes little or no difference in so far as the exercise of the power is concerned which ought to be permissible only when the power is invoked within a reasonable period.
>
> 26. In one of the earlier decisions of this Court in S.B. Gurbaksh Singh v. Union of India1976 (2) SCC 181, this Court held that exercise of suo motu power of revision must also be within a reasonable time and that any unreasonable delay in the exercise may affect the validity. But what would constitute reasonable time would depend upon the facts of each case.*
>
> 27. To the same effect is the decision of this Court in Ibrahimpatnam Taluk Vyavasaya Coolie Sangham V.K. Suresh Reddy and Ors. (2003) 7 SCC 667 where this Court held that even in cases of fraud the revisional power must be exercised within a reasonable period and that several factors need to be kept in mind while deciding whether relief sooner be denied only on the ground of delay. The court said (SCC p.677,*
>
>
> > "9….In cases of fraud, this power could be exercised within a reasonable time from the date of detection or discovery of fraud. While exercising such power, several factors need to be kept in mind such as effect on the rights of the third parties over the immovable property due to passage of considerable time, change of hands by subsequent bona fide transfers, the orders attaining finality under the provisions of other Acts (such as the Land Ceiling Act)."
>
> 28. To the same effect is the view taken by this Court in Sulochana Chandrakant Galande. v. Pune Municipal Transport and Others (2010) 8 SCC 467 where this Court reiterated the legal position and held that the power to revise orders* and proceedings cannot be exercised arbitrarily and interminably. This Court observed: (SCC p.476, para 28)

> "28. The legislature in its wisdom did not fix a time-limit for exercising the revisional power nor inserted the words "at any time" in Section 34 of the 1976 Act. It does not mean that the legislature intended to leave the orders passed under the Act open to variation for an indefinite period inasmuch as it would have the effect of rendering title of the holders /allottee(s) permanently precarious and in a state of perpetual uncertainty. In case, it is assumed that the legislature has conferred an everlasting and interminable power in point of time, the title over the declared surplus land, in the hands of the State/allottee, would forever remain virtually insecure. The Court has to construe the statutory provision in a way which makes the provisions workable, advancing the purpose and object of enactment of the statute".

29. In State of H.P. and Ors. v. Rajkumar Brijender Singh and Ors. (2004) 10 SCC this Court held that in the absence of any special circumstances a delay of 15 years in suo motu exercise of revisional power was impermissible as the delay was unduly long and unexplained. This Court observed (SCC pp.588-89, para-6)*

> "6.We are now left with the second question which was raised by the respondents before the High Court, namely, the delayed exercise of the power under sub-section (3) of Section 20. As indicated above, the Financial Commissioner exercised the power after 15 years of the order of the Collector. It is true that High Court of H.P. sub-section (3) provides that such a power may be exercised at any time but this expression does not mean there would be no time-limit or it is in infinity. All that is meant is that such powers should be exercised within a reasonable time. No fixed period of limitation may be laid but unreasonable delay in exercise of the power would tend to undo the things which have attained finality. It depends on the facts and circumstances of each case as to what is the reasonable time within which the power of suo motu action could be exercised. For example, in this case, as the appeal had been withdrawn but the Financial Commissioner had taken up the matter in exercise of his suo motu power, it could well be open for the State to submit that the facts and circumstances were such that it would be within reasonable time but as we have already noted that the order of the Collector which has been interfered with was passed in January 1976 and the appeal preferred by the State was also withdrawn sometime in March 1976. The learned counsel for the appellant was not able to point out such other special facts and [pic]circumstances by reason of which it could be said that exercise of suo motu power after 15 years of the order interfered with was within a reasonable time. That being the position in our view, the order of the Financial Commissioner stands vitiated having been passed after a long lapse of 15 years of the order which has been interfered with. Therefore, while holding that the Financial Commissioner would have power to proceed suo motu in a suitable case even though an appeal preferred before the lower appellate authority is withdrawn, maybe, by the State. Thus the view taken by the High Court is not sustainable. But the order of the Financial Commissioner suffers from the vice of the exercise of the power after unreasonable lapse of time and such delayed action on his part nullifies the order passed by him in exercise of power under sub-section (3) of Section 20".

30. We may also refer to the decision of this Court in M/s Dehri Rohtas Light Railway Company Ltd. V. District Board, Bhojpur and Ors. (1992) 2 SCC 598 where the Court explained the legal position as under: (SCC pp.602-03, para 13)

> "13. The rule which says that the Court may not enquire into belated and stale claim is not a rule of law but a rule of practice based on sound and proper exercise of discretion. Each case must depend upon its own [pic] facts. It will all depend on what the breach of the fundamental right and the remedy claimed are and how delay arose. The principle on which the relief to the party on the grounds of laches or delay is denied is that the rights which have accrued to others by reason of the delay in filing the petition should not be allowed to be disturbed unless there is a reasonable explanation for the delay. The real test to determine delay in such cases is that the petitioner should come to the writ court before a parallel right is created and that the lapse of time is not attributable to any laches or negligence. The test is not as to physical running of time. Where the circumstances justifying the conduct exist, the illegality which is manifest cannot be sustained on the sole ground of laches. The decision in Tilok chand case relied on is distinguishable on the facts of the present case. The levy if based on the net profits of the railway undertaking was beyond the authority and the illegal nature of the same has been questioned though belatedly in the pending proceedings after the pronouncement of the High Court in the matter relating to the subsequent years. That being the case, the claim of the appellant cannot be turned down on the sole ground of delay. We are of the opinion that the High Court was wrong in dismissing the writ petition in limine and refusing to grant the relief sought for. We however agree that the suit has been rightly dismissed".

31. To sum up, delayed exercise of revisional jurisdiction is frowned upon because if actions or transactions were to remain forever open to challenge, it will mean avoidable and endless uncertainty in human affairs, which is not the policy of law. Because, even when there is no period of limitation prescribed for exercise of such powers, the intervening delay, may have led to creation of third party rights, that cannot be trampled by a belated exercise of a discretionary power especially when no cogent explanation for the delay is in sight. Rule of law it is said must run closely with the rule of life. Even in cases where the orders sought to be revised are fraudulent, the exercise of power must be within a reasonable period of the discovery of fraud. Simply describing an act or transaction to be fraudulent will not extend the time for its correction to infinity; for otherwise the exercise of revisional power would itself be tantamount to a fraud upon the statute that vests such power in an authority."

12. The aforesaid exposition of law makes it evidently clear that even when there is no period of limitation prescribed for exercise of any power revisional or otherwise such power must be exercised within a reasonable period. Delayed exercise of revisional jurisdiction is frowned upon because if actions or transactions were to remain forever open to challenge, it will mean avoidable and endless uncertainty in human affairs, which is not the policy of law. Similar is the re-iteration of law in judgment rendered by this Bench in Saraswati Devi and others Vs. State of H.P. and others, Latest HLJ 2015 (HP) 1276.

13. Adverting to the facts, it would be noticed that the Financial Commissioner has though noted the delay of about 9 years in filing of the Revision Petition, but thereafter no findings with respect to the maintainability or non-maintainability of the Revision Petition on the basis of such delay has been recorded. In such circumstances, we are clearly of the opinion that it was incumbent upon the Financial Commissioner to have firstly decided the question of delay, as there was clearly an embargo on his power to proceed further with the Revision. It was only after the delay had been condoned, could he have entertained and decided the Revision Petition on merits. There is no material placed on record by the petitioner, wherefrom it can be gathered that he diligently and promptly filed the Revision Petition. Rather the record clearly suggests that the petitioner not only adopted a cavalier, casual and lackadaisical approach in filing the Revision Petition, but was also negligent in doing so.

14. As regards the claim of adverse possession, we find that the petitioner has not chosen to place on record the reply filed by him before the Assistant Collector 1st Grade, so as to enable this Court to gather and appreciate the exact nature of plea of adverse possession that may have been set up. After all physical fact of exclusive possession and the animus possidendi to hold as owner in exclusion to the actual owner are the most important factors that are to be accounted in cases of this nature.

15. Plea of adverse possession is not a pure question of law but a blended one of fact and law. Therefore, a person who claims adverse possession should show:-

(a) On what date he came into possession;

(b) What was the nature of his possession;

(c) Whether the factum of possession was known to the other party;

(d) How long his possession has continued, and

(e) His possession was open and undisturbed.

16. Having failed to place on record the relevant pleadings, we are left with no other option but to drawn an adverse inference against the petitioner.

17. Now going by the evidence upon which much reliance has been placed by the learned counsel for the petitioner, we find that the petitioner in addition to himself had examined two witnesses. The petitioner while appearing as a witness has stated that he has been in possession of the encroached land for about 35 years and over which had planted 250-300 apple and almond trees. The age of apple trees was about 28 years and that of almond trees was 18 years. He had considered himself to be the owner of the land in dispute and had been cultivating the same without any let or hindrance or interference from any side and that he has no intention to give up such possession. Similar is the statement of two other witnesses examined by him and notably none of the witnesses including the petitioner have been cross-examined.

18. However, the moot question that still arises for consideration is as to whether the possession of the petitioner over the land in dispute has ripened into an adverse possession.

19. It is more than settled that all lands which are not the property of any person or which are not vested in a local authority, belong to the Government. All unoccupied lands are the property of the government, unless any person can establish his right or title to any such land. This presumption available to the Government is not available to any person or individual. Establishing title/possession for a period exceeding twelve years may be adequate to establish title in a declaratory suit or any other proceeding against any individual. On the other hand, title/possession for a period exceeding thirty years will have to be established to succeed in a declaratory suit or any other proceeding for title against the Government. This follows from Article 112 of the Limitation Act, 1963, which prescribes a longer period of thirty years as limitation in regard to suits by Government as against the period of 12 years for suits by private individuals. The reason is obvious. Government properties are spread over the entire State and it is not always possible for the Government to protect or safeguard its properties from encroachments.

20. The onus to prove title to unoccupied lands, belonging to the Government is on the private parties. Such lands are presumed to be Government land and weakness in Government's defence or absence of contest are not sufficient to grant declaratory or injunctive decrees against the Government by relying upon one of the principles underlying pleadings, that the averments contained therein have not been denied or traversed are deemed to have been accepted or admitted. Similarly, the rights, entitlement and presumption of title is clearly in favour of the Government and has therefore to be distinguished from those of private parties.

21. Similar issue came up before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in R. Hanumaiah and another vs. Secretary to Government of Karnataka, Revenue Department and others (2010) 5 SCC 203 and it is apt to reproduce the relevant observations which reads thus:

Nature of proof required in suits for declaration of title against the Government

"19. Suits for declaration of title against the government, though similar to suits for declaration of title against private individuals differ significantly in some aspects. The first difference is in regard to the presumption available in favour of the government. All lands which are not the property of any person or which are not vested in a local authority, belong to the government. All unoccupied lands are the property of the government, unless any person can establish his right or title to any such land. This presumption available to the government, is not available to any person or individual. The second difference is in regard to the period for which title and/or possession have to be established by a person suing for declaration of title. Establishing title/possession for a period exceeding twelve years may be adequate to establish title in a declaratory suit against any individual. On the other hand, title/possession for a period exceeding thirty years will have to be established to succeed in a declaratory suit for title against government. This follows from Article 112 of Limitation Act, 1963, which prescribes a longer period of thirty years as limitation in regard to suits by government as against the period of 12 years for suits by private individuals. The reason is obvious. Government properties are spread over the entire state and it is not always possible for the government to protect or safeguard its properties from encroachments. Many a time, its own officers who are expected to protect its properties and maintain proper records, either due to negligence or collusion, create entries in records to help private parties, to lay claim of ownership or possession against the government. Any loss of government property is ultimately the loss to the community. Courts owe a duty to be vigilant to ensure that public property is not converted into private property by unscrupulous elements.

20. Many civil courts deal with suits for declaration of title and injunction against government, in a casual manner, ignoring or overlooking the special features relating to government properties. Instances of such suits against the government being routinely decreed, either ex parte or for want of proper contest, merely acting upon the oral assertions of plaintiffs or stray revenue entries are common. Whether the government contests the suit or not, before a suit for declaration of title against a government is decreed, the plaintiff should establish, either his title by producing the title deeds which satisfactorily trace title for a minimum period of thirty years prior to the date of the suit (except where title is claimed with reference to a grant or transfer by the government or a statutory development authority), or by establishing adverse possession for a period of more than thirty years. In such suits, courts cannot, ignoring the presumptions available in favour of the government, grant declaratory or injunctive decrees against the government by relying upon one of the principles underlying pleadings that plaint averments which are not denied or traversed are deemed to have been accepted or admitted.

21 A court should necessarily seek an answer to the following question, before it grants a decree declaring title against the government : whether the plaintiff has produced title deeds tracing the title for a period of more than thirty years; or whether the plaintiff has established his adverse possession to the knowledge of the government for a period of more than thirty years, so as to convert his possession into title. Incidental to that question, the court should also find out whether the plaintiff is recorded to be the owner or holder or occupant of the property in the revenue records or municipal records, for more than thirty years, and what is the nature of possession claimed by the plaintiff, if he is in possession - authorized or unauthorized; permissive; casual and occasional; furtive and clandestine; open, continuous and hostile; deemed or implied (following a title).

22. Mere temporary use or occupation without the animus to claim ownership or mere use at sufferance will not be sufficient to create any right adverse to the Government. In order to oust or defeat the title of the government, a claimant has to establish a clear title which is superior to or better than the title of the government or establish perfection of title by adverse possession for a period of more than thirty years with the knowledge of the government. To claim adverse possession, the possession of the claimant must be actual, open and visible, hostile to the owner (and therefore necessarily with the knowledge of the owner) and continued during the entire period necessary to create a bar under the law of limitation. In short, it should be adequate in continuity, publicity and in extent. Mere vague or doubtful assertions that the claimant has been in adverse possession will not be sufficient. Unexplained stray or sporadic entries for a year or for a few years will not be sufficient and should be ignored.

23. As noticed above, many a time it is possible for a private citizen to get his name entered as the occupant of government land, with the help of collusive government servants. Only entries based on appropriate documents like grants, title deeds etc. or based upon actual verification of physical possession by an authority authorized to recognize such possession and make appropriate entries can be used against the government. By its very nature, a claim based on adverse possession requires clear and categorical pleadings and evidence, much more so, if it is against the government. Be that as it may."

22. Reverting back to the facts, it would be noticed that the specific case of the petitioner while appearing as a witness before Assistant Collector 1st Grade was that the land in dispute was in his possession and earlier to that in his predecessor's possession for last about 35 years. Notably, the statement of the petitioner and his two witnesses had been recorded on 30.4.1997 and even if the same in absence of any cross-examination is taken to be a gospel truth, would at best prove his possession from the year 1962 onwards. Admittedly, the eviction proceedings against the petitioner as per his own showing were already initiated on 4.10.1990 i.e. well before the completion of the statutory period of 30 years and therefore, no fault can be found with the orders passed by the authorities below whereby they negated the plea of adverse possession set up by the petitioner.

23. The Court is dealing with public property, wherein the public has interest and it is more than settled that private interest must yield to public interest.

24. It has to be remembered that the right and title of the State cannot be permitted to be destroyed so as to give an upper hand to the encroachers, unauthorized occupants or land grabbers as has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Mandal Revenue Officer vs. Goundla Venkaiah and another (2010)2 SCC 461 in the following terms:-

"47. In this context, it is necessary to remember that it is well neigh impossible for the State and its instrumentalities including the local authorities to keep every day vigilance/watch over vast tracts of open land owned by them or of which they are the public trustees. No amount of vigil can stop encroachments and unauthorised occupation of public land by unscrupulous elements, who act like vultures to grab such land, raise illegal constructions and, at times, succeeded in manipulating the State apparatus for getting their occupation/possession and construction regularized. It is our considered view that where an encroacher, illegal occupant or land grabber of public property raises a plea that he has perfected title by adverse possession, the Court is duty bound to act with greater seriousness, care and circumspection. Any laxity in this regard may result in destruction of right/title of the State to immovable property and give upper hand to the encroachers, unauthorised occupants or land grabbers.

48. In State of Rajasthan v. Harphool Singh (Dead) through Lrs. 2000 (5) SCC 652, this Court considered the question whether the respondents had acquired title by adverse possession over the suit land situated at Nohar-Bhadra Road at Nohar within the State of Rajasthan. The suit filed by the respondent against his threatened dispossession was decreed by the trial Court with the finding that he had acquired title by adverse possession. The first and second appeals preferred by the State Government were dismissed by the lower appellate Court and the High Court respectively. This Court reversed the judgments and decrees of the courts below as also of the High Court and held that the plaintiff-respondent could not substantiate his claim of perfection of title by adverse possession. Some of the observations made on the issue of acquisition of title by adverse possession which have bearing on this case are extracted below: (SCC p.660, para 12)

> "12. So far as the question of perfection of title by adverse possession and that too in respect of public property is concerned, the question requires to be considered more seriously and effectively for the reason that it ultimately involves destruction of right/title of the State to immovable property and conferring upon a third-party encroacher title where he had none. The decision in P. Lakshmi Reddy v. L. Lakshmi Reddy adverted to the ordinary classical requirement -- that it should be nec vi, nec clam, nec precario -- that is the possession required must be adequate in continuity, in publicity and in extent to show that it is possession adverse to the competitor. It was also observed therein that whatever may be the animus or intention of a person wanting to acquire title by adverse possession, his adverse possession cannot commence until he obtains actual possession with the required animus."

49. A somewhat similar view was expressed in A.A. Gopalakrishnan v. Cochin Devaswom Board 2007 (7) SCC 482. While adverting to the need for protecting the properties of deities, temples and Devaswom Boards, the Court observed as under: (SCC p.486, para 10)

> "10. The properties of deities, temples and Devaswom Boards, require to be protected and safeguarded by their trustees /archakas /shebaits /employees. Instances are many where persons entrusted with the duty of managing and safeguarding the properties of temples, deities and Devaswom Boards have usurped and misappropriated such properties by setting up false claims of ownership or tenancy, or adverse possession. This is possible only with the passive or active collusion of the authorities concerned. Such acts of "fences eating the crops" should be dealt with sternly. The Government, members or trustees of boards/trusts, and devotees should be vigilant to prevent any such usurpation or encroachment. It is also the duty of courts to protect and safeguard the properties of religious and charitable institutions from wrongful claims or misappropriation."

25. As observed earlier, the petitioner is a rank-encroacher and after making large scale encroachments has turned the litigation into fruitful industry, by succeeding in protecting his illegal possession and reaping the usufruct out of the land, which as per his own admission comprises of apple orchard. This illegal possession cannot be permitted to continue. Therefore, it is the duty of the court to see that such wrongdoer is discouraged at every stage and even if he has succeeded in prolonging the litigation, then he must suffer the costs of all these years and also bear the expenses of such unwanted and otherwise avoidable litigation.

26. The very object and purpose of encroaching upon the forest land is only to make a quick buck by illegal means. Therefore, there is no reason why the encroacher who has cut down the forests to pave way for apple orchards should not be made to cough up the extra buck which he has earned over a long period of time.

27. People have long referred to the trees as 'Earth's lungs' as they play a crucial role in our existence, consuming large quantities of carbon dioxide and producing oxygen which enables us to breathe. Apart from providing oxygen, they also cleanse the air and improve its quality, control climate, protect soil and support vast varieties of wildlife. It is universally accepted that deforestation is major contributing factor of climate change and that is why it is so important to protect trees and secure our natural landscapes for future generations.

28. The 'sustainable development theory' recognizes and avows 'precautionary principle' and 'polluter pays principle'. The State is having the rights flowing from their position as parents patriae. The forest conservation and eco-management are two inevitable obligations which are to be respected when the theory of 'sustainable development' is put into operation. What is required is the insistence for 'gun and guard' approach in day-to-day supervisory functions of the Government.

29. The 1992 Rio Declaration on environment and development has been adopted by India and principle 13 thereof provides:

> "The States shall develop national law regarding liability and compensation for the victims of pollution and other environmental damage. States shall also co-operate in an expeditious and more determined manner to develop further international law regarding liability and compensation for adverse effects of environmental damage caused by activities within their jurisdiction or control to areas beyond their jurisdiction."

30. In view of the above declaration, the State is under obligation to safeguard and compensate not only the victims of pollution but also liable to compensate for the adverse effects of an environmental damage. The 'Polluters Pays Principle' as interpreted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court means that the absolute liability for harm to the environment extends not only to compensate the victims of pollution but also the cost of restoring the environmental degradation.

31. Remediation of the damaged environment is part of the process of 'Sustainable development' and as such polluter is liable to pay the cost not only to the individual sufferers but even to the society as a whole, towards the cost of reversing the damaged ecology.

32. The 'Polluter Pays Principle' can appropriately be applied to the cases of encroachers because it is the injury caused by each of the occupier/encroacher to the pristine forest wealth and is, therefore, liable to compensate for the same.

33. It is more than settled that the forest land cannot be put to use for any non-forest purpose but for the facts already set out, it would reveal that there would be environmental degradation in using the forest for non-forest purposes by the occupier/encroacher affecting the environmental equilibrium. This position is apodictic and unassailable.

34. The activities of the occupiers/encroachers in the forest land for the last so many years have had its antagonistic effectiveness in the environmental premise. Therefore, all those responsible for environmental degradation cannot be exculpated.

35. It is therefore the duty of this court to neutralize any unjust enrichment and undeserved gain made by the litigants only on account of keeping the litigation alive.

36. In Indian Council for Enviro- Legal-Action vs. Union of India and others (2011) 8 SCC 161, it is noticed that conduct of the parties is to be taken into consideration and it was held as follows:-

> "197. The other aspect which has been dealt with in great details is to neutralize any unjust enrichment and undeserved gain made by the litigants. While adjudicating, the courts must keep the following principles in view:

1. It is the bounden duty and obligation of the court to neutralize any unjust enrichment and undeserved gain made by any party by invoking the jurisdiction of the court.

2. When a party applies and gets a stay or injunction from the court, it is always at the risk and responsibility of the party applying. An order of stay cannot be presumed to be conferment of additional right upon the litigating party.

3. Unscrupulous litigants be prevented from taking undue advantage by invoking jurisdiction of the Court.

4. A person in wrongful possession should not only be removed from that place as early as possible but be compelled to pay for wrongful use of that premises fine, penalty and costs. Any leniency would seriously affect the credibility of the judicial system.

5. No litigant can derive benefit from the mere pendency of a case in a court of law.

6. A party cannot be allowed to take any benefit of his own wrongs.

7. Litigation should not be permitted to turn into a fruitful industry so that the unscrupulous litigants are encouraged to invoke the jurisdiction of the court.

8. The institution of litigation cannot be permitted to confer any advantage on a party by delayed action of courts."

37. It is not only high time, but it is necessary to arrest and curb immediately such unlawful activity of encroachment over the government lands as the public order is adversely affected by such unlawful activity. It is probably on account of the higher returns from agricultural and horticultural pursuits from the encroached lands that unscrupulous persons have occupied without any semblance of right, vast extends of land belonging to the Government. Therefore, unless all such cases of illegal encroachments are dealt with sternly and swiftly, the evil cannot subside and social injustice will continue to be perpetrated with impunity.

38. It is evidently clear from the aforesaid discussion that this petition not only sans merit, but the intent behind filing this petition is not also bonafide as the only endeavour of the petitioner appears to be to prolong the litigation so as to enable him to reap the benefits from the large tract of government land illegally encroached by him and thereby convert this litigation into a fruitful industry.

39. Accordingly, this petition is dismissed. The pending applications, if any, are also disposed of.

40. However, before parting, it needs to be clarified that the eviction to be carried out by the respondents shall be at the cost of the petitioner and this decision shall also not come in the way of the respondents in claiming any other relief against the petitioner including mesne profits etc. before the competent authority or Court of law.

Contempt of Courts Act, 1971- Section 12- Directions were issued to the respondent – it was alleged that directions were not complied with – a reply along with the consideration order was filed- held, that fresh direction cannot be passed in contempt proceedings and the Court is to see, whether judgment passed by it has been complied with or not- respondents have complied with the direction of the Court and it is for the petitioner to seek appropriate remedy- petition dismissed- however, it was ordered that in case of filing a fresh petition, delay and laches will not come in the way of the petitioner in seeking appropriate remedy. (Para-1 to 9)

For the petitioner: Mr. B.N. Sharma, Advocate.

For the respondent: Mr. Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General, with Mr. Anup Rattan, Mr. Romesh Verma & Mr. Varun Chandel, Additional Advocate Generals.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

This contempt petition is outcome of judgment, dated 5th November, 2014, made by the Writ Court in CWP No. 10625 of 2011, titled as Mohan Lal versus State of H.P. and others, whereby the writ petition filed by the petitioner came to be disposed of with a command to the respondents to take appropriate action in accordance with law laid down by this Court in the case titled as Gauri Dutt & ors. versus State of H.P., reported in Latest HLJ 2008 (HP) 366.

2. The respondent has filed the reply alongwith the consideration order indicating therein how the petitioner is not entitled to the reliefs sought.

3. It is apt to reproduce the relevant portion of the consideration order, dated 21st April, 2016, herein:

> ".....And whereas the fact of the matter is that and as per the mandays of the petitioner Sh. Mohan Lal it is revealed that he has worked on two different posts i.e. Beldar/Assitt Fitter is w.e.f. 1984 to 1987 (Class-IV) post and w.e.f. 1987 to 1994 with 240 days in each calendar year as Fitter i.e. Class-III post i.e. for 7 years. Thereafter w.e.f. 1995 till date, the petitioner has worked as Beldar i.e. Class-IV post on his regularization.
>
> And whereas, the service of the petitioner was regularized w.e.f. 1994 as Beldar retrospectively on 19/01/1995 in terms of judgment in Mool Raj Upadhaya's case and he joined as such without any protest. The petitioner served the department as regular Beldar for more than 17 years, thereafter, he filed the writ petition for the first time 2011 after a delay of about 17 years.
>
> And whereas the petitioner has served in the department in two capacity as under:-
>
> (a) Beldar/Assitt. Fitter (Class-IV) post on daily wages w.e.f. 1983 to 1987 (4 years)
>
> (b) Fitter (Class-III) post on daily wages w.e.f. 1987 to 1994
>
> (c) Beldar (Class-IV) regular basis 01/01/1994 till date (regularized 19/01/1995 retrospectively)
>
> The petitioner was regularized as Beldar w.e.f. 01/01/1994 on the completion of 10 years as per the judgment in Mool Raj Upadhaya's case.
>
> Therefore, in the peculiar facts of circumstances of this case, the petitioner has never served for 10 years as Fitter, therefore, in the interest of the petitioner, the competent authority has already regularized him Beldar on completion of 10 years in terms of judgment in Mool Raj as well as Gauri Dutt's judgment.
>
> Since, the petitioner has never completed 10 years of service on Class-III posts, therefore, the petitioner is not entitled for regularization on higher posts. Accordingly, the case of the petitioner is considered in the light of the judgment passed by the Hon'ble High Court in LPA No.115/15 accordingly."

4. In view of the above, it is not known why the petitioner has not invoked the jurisdiction of this Court within time.

5. At this stage, learned counsel for the petitioner stated at the Bar that the juniors to the petitioner have been given the benefits, but the petitioner has been deprived of the same.

6. The question is – whether this Court can pass the directions in contempt proceedings, which have not been passed in the judgment made by the Writ Court?

7. It is beaten law of the land that the Court in the contempt proceedings cannot pass fresh directions, but has to ascertain whether the directions passed in the judgment made by the Writ Court have been complied with.

8. It appears that the respondents have complied with the Court directions. It is for the petitioner to seek appropriate remedy, if still aggrieved. But, in the given circumstances of the case, the petitioner will be caught by delay and laches.

9. Keeping in view the peculiar facts of the case, we deem it proper to record herein that the delay and laches shall not come in the way of the petitioner in seeking appropriate remedy.

10. The contempt petition is disposed of accordingly.

Heard.

2. While going through the order made by the Appellate Authority dated 4.4.2015, Annexure PO, in appeal No. 124 of 2014, one comes to an inescapable conclusion that the Appellate Authority has not passed a speaking and well reasoned order. Virtually, the Appellant Authority has passed a non-speaking order, is not an order in the eyes of law.

3. At this stage, the learned counsel for the petitioner stated that the respondents, without jurisdiction, have pressed into service Section 126 of the Electricity Act, 2003.

4. We have gone through the appeal. The petitioner has taken all grounds in the memo of appeal. 5. In the given circumstances, with the consent of the learned counsel for the parties and without discussing the facts and merits of the case, we deem it proper to set aside the order made by the appellate Authority. Ordered accordingly.

6. The Appellate Authority is directed to hear the parties and return the findings on all grounds taken by the petitioner in the memo of the appeal. Parties are also at liberty to take additional grounds available to them, as per the law applicable, before the Appellate Authority.

7. The learned counsel for the petitioner stated that the petitioner has deposited 50% of the amount before the Appellate Authority and 20% before this Court, shall remain deposited till the Appellate Authority decides the appeal on merits.

8. Parties are directed to cause appearance before the Appellate Authority on 3rd October, 2016. The appellate Authority to decide the appeal within two months w.e.f. 3rd October, 2016.

Cr. Appeal No. 154 of 2011
Judgment Reserved on : 03.08.2016
Date of decision: 6.9.2016

N.D.P.S. Act, 1985- Section 20- Car was signaled to stop- 1 kg. charas was recovered- accused were tried and acquitted by the trial Court- according to prosecution, a bag was found in the back side of rear seat of the car covered by a seat cover having zip- however, no such bag was found in the car- front glass of the car was also found to be broken when it was produced in the Court- there are material contradictions and discrepancies in the statements of witnesses making the prosecution version doubtful- trial Court had rightly acquitted the accused- appeal dismissed.

(Para-20 to 29)

For the Appellant: Mr. V.S. Chauhan, Addl. Advocate General with Mr. Vikram Thakur andMr. Puneet Rajta, Deputy Advocate Generals.
For the Respondents: Mr. H.S. Rana, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Per Vivek Singh Thakur,J

Present appeal has been filed by State of Himachal Pradesh against the acquittal of respondents by learned Special Judge, Fast Track Court, Solan, District Solan vide judgment dated 8.12.2010, in Case No.9FTC/7 of 2010 under Section 20 of Narcotic and Psychotropic Substances, Act in FIR No.194 of 2009 registered at Police Station, Sadar, Solan.

2. As per prosecution story, one Santro car bearing registration No.DL-3CG-5464, occupied by three persons, was found parked on National Highway-22 Kumarhatti bye pass road on 2.8.2009 at about 5.15 p.m., during patrolling for traffic duty checking, by police party headed by ASI Vishwash Kumar and comprising of police officials, PW-7 HC Jai Singh, PW-9 HHC Mast Ram, HC Rajwinder and constable Rakesh Kumar. On enquiry, occupants of the car informed the police that vehicle was not in order and driver of vehicle disclosed his name as Suresh Kumar, who was asked to show documents and get the vehicle checked. When dicky of the car was opened by Suresh Kumar, with key of the vehicle and PW-14 Vishwash Kumar had intended to check dicky of the car, all the three occupants ran away towards the forest. Driver Suresh Kumar and another person Ram Narayan were apprehended by PW-14 Vishwash Kumar with the help of police officials. HC Rajwinder Singh and Constable Rakesh Kumar were sent to chase third occupant whose name was disclosed by his companion as Rakesh Kumar son of Shri Ramnaj, resident of village Nandal, Tehsil Lakhan Majra, District Rohtak. PW-6 Dayanand, who was passing through the road on foot, was associated as independent witness in investigation. The car was searched and during search, on opening zip of rear seat cover, a box was found, which contained a green colour plastic envelope in which 14 envelops, containing separate tablets and round shape substance, were found. On smelling and burning, recovered substance was found to be charas. The said charas was weighed on an electronic weighing machine in presence of witnesses and it was found to be one kilogram.

3. One hand bag was also recovered from dicky of vehicle containing a pant, a shirt, a towel and currency notes amounting to Rs.27,560/-. The recovered charas was sealed with seal impression 'M'. NCB form (Ex.PW-13/B) was filled up in triplicate. After taking impressions of the seal on a piece of cloth and NCB form, seal was handed over to PW-4 Dayanand. Driving Licence of Suresh Kumar, RC of vehicle, bag and vehicle alongwith key were also taken into possession. A rukka Ex.PW-14/A was sent to Police Station through PW-9 Mast Ram for registration of FIR and after registration of FIR investigation was completed and challan was put in Court.

4. Prosecution has examined as many as 17 witnesses. Out of these, four official witnesses, PW-7 Jai Singh, PW-9 Mast Ram, PW-14 ASI Vishwash Kumar Investigating Officer and an independent witness PW-6 Dayanand associated during the course of investigation, are spot witnesses.

5. Close scrutiny of statements of these witnesses reveals that truth is being withheld from the Court and events have not occurred on the spot in the manner, as have been portrayed in prosecution case. The evidence on record also renders presence of police officials and occupants of car on the spot doubtful.

6. As per PW-7 Jai Singh, PW-9 Mast Ram and PW-14 ASI Vishwas Kumar Investigating Officer, the car was found parked on National Highway-22 , occupied by three persons, who on asking handed over documents of vehicle and Driving Licence of driver to PW-14 and during search of vehicle when dicky was opened by driver of the car, all three occupants ran away from the spot but two of them were apprehended and out of five police officials, two police officials namely Rajwinder Singh and Rakesh Kumar were sent to chase the third occupant of vehicle, and at this point in time PW-6 Dayanand, who was claimed to have reached on the spot, was associated in police investigation, whereas PW-6 Dayanand has belied this story stating that when he was going towards his house on 2.8. 2009 at about 5.20 p.m., one vehicle was stopped by police and only one Thanedar and PW-7 HHC Jai Singh were present on the spot alongwith Suresh and Ram Lal and the key was taken from Suresh, dicky was opened and contraband was recovered.

7. As per prosecution story, the car was found parked but as per PW-6 Dayanand, the car was stopped by the police. PW-6 Dayanand was associated in the investigation when Rajwinder Singh and Rakesh Kumar had gone to chase the third occupant, meaning thereby that at the time of associating PW-6 Dayanand, three police officials PW-14 Vishwash Kumar, PW-7 Jai Singh and PW-9 Mast Ram were present on the spot whereas as per PW-6 Dayanand only two officials HHC PW-7 Jai Singh and PW-14 Vishwash were present. As per police, dicky was opened by driver Suresh Kumar but as per PW-6 key was taken from driver and then dicky was opened in his presence. The case of the police that all three occupants of the car had run away from the spot after opening of dicky, whereas as per PW-6 Dayanand, dicky was opened in his presence, but he is silent about fleeing of occupants of car.

8. PW-9 Mast Ram has stated that when the accused persons ran away, they shouted for help of villagers for apprehending them but none came there to help them and Dayanand did not help them in apprehending the accused, though he was present. Thereafter he has stated that Dayanand had come later on, further stating that he did not remember that at what distance Dyananand was at the time of apprehending the accused.

9. The police party has been stated to be on patrolling for traffic checking duty. PW-9 Mast Ram has stated that they had stopped at 2-3 places for checking between Dohari Diwal and Samlech and checked small and heavy vehicles on the way and vehicles were challaned also. Whereas PW-7 Jai Singh has stated that he did not remember whether they Stopped on the way to spot or not. It is unbelievable that the person of police party remembering minute details of the case except stopping on the way, particularly, when as stated by PW-9 Mast Ram that after stopping 2-3 places, vehicles were not only checked but challaned also.

10. As per FIR registered on the basis of rukka, occupants of car had run towards forest and PW-7 Jai Singh has also stated so, whereas PW-14 Vishwash Kumar has stated that all occupants had run towards Kumarhatti and one of them ran towards downhill and others in straight way towards jungle. PW-9 Mast Ram has stated that accused persons ran on the road itself and third person had entered the bushes.

11. As per PW-7 Jai Singh, respondents had been apprehended at the distance of 5 to 7 meters and Rajwinder and Rakesh, who were sent for chasing the third occupant, had not come back on the spot but as per PW-9 Mast Ram, both of them had come back after half and hour to the spot empty handed. PW-6 Dayanand is completely silent about their return on the spot. PW-14 has stated that they had not come back on the spot.

12. PW-9 Mast Ram has stated about shouting for help of the villagers, whereas PW-7 and PW-14 have not stated so.

13. PW-7 has stated that police party had gone in a private vehicle but he did not remember the number and ownership of the vehicle. The vehicle was driven by ASI Vishwash Kumar. He has shown his inability to say that whether other officials had also driven this private vehicle up to the spot. The means of arrival and departure of police party from spot becomes relevant when their presence on the spot is doubtful because of glaring contradictions in statements of official witnesses.

14. The car No.DL-3CG-5464, taken into possession by police, was out of order. PW-6 Dayanand is silent about the means of removal of said car from spot. PW-7 Jai Singh has stated that they did not try to start the vehicle so as to check whether it was out of order or not. He has stated that he did not know as to how and with what mode, apprehended vehicle was brought to police station or police post. He has stated that he had come back alongwith PW-14 Vishwash Investigating Officer from the spot. PW-14 has stated that said car was brought to police station by toeing with a private vehicle passing through the spot but he did not remember details of that vehicle. PW-7 has stated that he did not remember who drove apprehended car to police station.

15. The prosecution has also relied upon the photographs taken on the spot. PW-14 Vishwash Kumar has stated that these photographs were taken by him through a passer by. In examination-in-chief, PW-9 has stated that the photographs were taken by PW-14 Vishwash Kumar Investigating Officer. In cross-examination he has stated that he did not remember that who was the photographer and from where he was called. Whereas PW-14 Investigating Officer has stated that three photographs were taken by him and one photograph was taken by a passer by on his request. He has stated that he had neither recorded statement of passer by nor made any reference qua this fact in case diary. He has admitted that photograph Ex.P3-A was not clear and that it was of a car. He has also stated that neither accused nor police officials are visible in Ex.P3-A. PW-6 has admitted that he is not figuring in any of the photographs.

16. PW-7 Jai Singh has admitted that Tapan Motors is situated at a distance of 250 to 300 meters approximately from alleged place of occurrence and there are 4-5 shops, including two Dhabas, on the opposite side of Tapan Motors on the National Highway and that 50 workers work in Tapan Motors, and shops and dhabas also remain busy. He has also admitted that National Highway, on which alleged recovery was made, is a busy road. He has stated that no one was associated or called from Vikas Mushroom, Samlech or from other locality including Tapan Motors or shops. PW-9 Mast Ram has also admitted that Tapan Motors is at a distance of 200-250 meters from the alleged place of occurrence and road in question is a busy road.

17. Despite availability of independent persons, no one has been associated or tried to be associated during investigation and a person who was known to police was shown as an independent witness in the alleged proceedings. Thus, the conduct of police party is shrouded by suspicion.

18. PW-6 Dayanand has admitted that he was known to PW-7 HHC Jai Singh through wife of Manager of Railway Station as she was also serving in the police department at Dharampur.

19. DW-6 has stated that he is running canteen at Barog Railway Station. In cross-examination, he has also admitted that one train also used to cross Barog Station at 5.45 p.m. This fact renders his presence on the spot doubtful. Alleged occurrence took place about 5.15 p.m. and it was claimed that this witness was going home at 5.20 p.m. The witness is running a canteen at the Railway Station situated on a track on which limited numbers of trains run. At such a time, which was important for his business, he was not supposed to have left his canteen, in normal circumstances.

20. There is another material loophole in the prosecution story. As per prosecution, there was a box in back side of rear seat of the car covered by a seat cover having zip. The car was produced before PW-3 MHC Sunil Kumar alongwith other case property, who has stated that the case property remained intact till it remains in his possession and it was not tampered with. PW-8 Yoginder Kumar Mechanic has admitted that he had appeared in number of cases as a witness of police. He submits that he issued mechanical report Ex.PW-8/A endorsing version of prosecution story that there was a box in the rear seat of the car. However, when car was produced in the Court and shown to this witness, he has admitted that there was no such box in the rear seat of the car as had been mentioned in his report Ex.PW8/A.

21. PW-14 Vishwas Kumar, on seeing the apprehended car which was produced in the Court, has also admitted that there was no seat cover on the rear seat of car and also there was no box/khana on the back of rear seat and front glass of car was broken.

22. PW-12 HHC Narender Parkash has stated that he was MHC Malkhana, Police Station, Sadar Solan since 2010. The malkhana Incharge Sunil Kumar had handed over charge of malkhana of Police Station, Sadar Solan on 5.8.2010 to him. When the car was produced in the Court, it was found that the front glass of the car was broken but in taking and handing over charge of malkhana, no such fact has been mentioned. He has also stated that the case property was not tampered with and also was not aware that who had broken the glasses of the car.

23. PW-3 Sunil Kumar was also called for re-examination and was examined on 29.10.2010. He has admitted that front glass of car was broken on that date but he has stated that till the date of his examination-in-chief on 27.7.2010, the glass of car was not broken.

24. The defence propounded by respondents is that they had come to Chandigarh to purchase a car but before that they had come for sight seeing in hilly area, but some mechanical defect had developed in their car. They were having cash with them in the car and in order to grab such cash, they were falsely involved in this case by the police and in this regard an inquiry also going on against the police officials. PW-7 Jai Singh has admitted that an inquiry, on the allegation that Rs.2.6 lacs was taken by the police from the apprehended car, was going on. PW-9 has not denied this fact, but has shown his ignorance about such a complaint and inquiry being conducted on such complaint.

25. There are material contradictions and discrepancies in the statements of material witnesses of prosecution which go to the root of the case rendering prosecution story to be doubtful.

26. It is evident from the aforesaid discussion that prosecution evidence cannot be treated as cogent, reliable, credible and sufficient to prove the guilt of the accused-respondent beyond reasonable doubt.

27. It is a settled principle of law that acquittal leads to presumption of innocence in favour of an accused. To dislodge the same, onus heavily lies upon the prosecution. The accused has been acquitted by the trial Court.

28. From perusal and scrutiny of evidence, it cannot be said that the learned trial court has not appreciated the evidence correctly and completely and acquittal of the accused has resulted into travesty of justice or has caused mis-carriage of justice.

29. After considering arguments of respective counsel for the parties and minutely examining the testimonies of the witnesses and other documentary evidence placed on record, we are of the considered view that no case for interference is made out. Consequently, present appeal, devoid of any merit, is dismissed, as also pending applications, if any. Bail bonds, if any, furnished by the accused are discharged. Records of the Court below be sent back immediately.

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Respondent submitted that he is not in a position to pass requisite orders in terms of the policy/guidelines in view of the pendency of probate proceedings before the District Judge- keeping in view these facts, District Judge directed to dispose of the proceedings within three months. (Para-2 to 4)

For the petitioners: Ms. Jyotsna Rewal Dua, Senior Advocate, with Ms. Charu Bhatnagar, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. K.D. Sood, Senior Advocate, with Mr. Mukul Sood, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice. (Oral)

Learned counsel for the respondent stated at the Bar that in compliance to order, dated 5th October, 2015, the supply of petrol and petroleum products is being made to the petitioners, but the respondent is not in a position to pass requisite orders in terms of the policy/guidelines (Annexure P-6) and in view of the pendency of probate proceedings before the District Judge, Sirmaur at Nahan, titled as Virender Kumar versus General Public.

2. Learned counsel for the petitioners stated at the Bar that the probate proceedings are pending, but the same are not directly or indirectly connected with the lis in hand.

3. Learned counsel for the parties further stated at the Bar that the dispute involved in this writ petition is whether clause 1.6 or clause 2.4, as contained in policy/guidelines (Annexure P-6), is applicable in the given facts and circumstances of the case.

4. Keeping in view the submissions made hereinabove read with the fact that the probate proceedings are pending, we deem it proper to dispose of the writ petition by providing that the interim directions, dated 5th October, 2015, are made absolute with a command to the District Judge concerned to take the probate proceedings to its logical end within three months.

5. It is made clear that in case need arises, the petitioners are at liberty to seek appropriate remedy including the reliefs sought in this writ petition.

6. The writ petition is disposed of accordingly alongwith all pending applications.

(Para-10 and 11)

For the petitioner. : Mr. Sunny Dhatwalia, Advocate.
For respondents No.1&2. : Mr. Pankaj Negi & Ms. Parul Negi, Deputy Advocate Generals.
For respondents No.3 to 7. : M/s Ajay Kumar Dhiman and G.K. Nadda, Advocates.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, J.

By way of this petition, the petitioner has challenged the order passed by the Court of learned Judicial Magistrate 1st Class, Court No.II, Ghumarwin, Distt. Bilaspur in C.R. No. 6/1 of 2011 dated 6.7.2015 vide which order, learned Court below while rejecting the objections of the present petitioner has accepted the cancellation report qua FIR No. 95 of 2010 lodged at Police Station Talai, Tehsil Ghumarwin, Distt. Bilaspur.

2. Facts as can be deciphered from the order passed by the Court of learned JMIC Court No.II, Ghumarwin, Distt. Bilaspur are that on 21.9.2010 a complaint was filed in the Court of learned JMIC, Court No.1, Ghumarwin by Amar Nath (i.e. the present petitioner) and one Mehar Chand alleging offences punishable under Sections 120-B, 420, 409, 466 read with Section 34 IPC against Deena Nath, President, Om Prakash, Vice-President, Hukam Chand, Ward Member of Ward No.1, Rattan Lal Secretary, and Vijay Kumar, Junior Engineer-cum-Technical Assistant of Gram Panchayat, Naghiar on the ground that the complainants were permanent residents of Gram Panchayat, Naghiar and they are beneficiaries of different development schemes executed by said Panchayat by spending public funds.

3. As per the complainants, a resolution was passed by Gram Panchayat, Naghiar to construct a "BOWRI" in Ward No.1 for which an amount of Rs. 68,000/- was sanctioned by BDO, Jhandutta on 8.12.2008. The said amount was embezzled and misappropriated by the accused by preparing false details of expenditure having incurred on the construction of Bowri, whereas no such Bowri was constructed.

4. The complaint so filed before the learned JMIC, Court No.1, Ghumarwin was forwarded to SHO, Police Station, Talai for registration of FIR and investigation in accordance with law under Section 156(3) of Cr.P.C. On these basis FIR No. 95 of 2010 was registered and investigation was carried out.

5. Investigation revealed that there was a Nallah called 'Nalli' in village Banal, Gram Panchayat Naghiar, water of which was used by the residents of Harijan Colony of village Banal. The source of said Nallah of villages Banal and Chambeh was in district Hamirpur. The water of said source was only used by the residents of village Banal because habitation of village Chambeh was about 2 kilometer away from the said source. Gram Panchayat, Naghiar obtained No Objection Certificate from Gram Panchayat, Giaragran of district Hamirpur for construction of Bowri on said water source and later on an estimate of Rs. 80,000/- was sent to BDO, Jhandutta who sanctioned Rs. 68,000/- for the construction of said Bowri under MNREGA.

6. Thereafter, Bowri was constructed on the spot and as per tatima and report issued by the local patwari in the course of investigation, the said disputed Bowri was found to have been constructed 35 karam inside the boundary of village Chambeh, district Hamirpur which was abutting to village Banal, Gram Panchayat, Naghiar, Distt. Bilaspur. Investigation also revealed that residents of village Banal used the water of disputed Bowri for ages and there was no other water source in village Banal where 'step-well' could be constructed. Investigation also revealed that residents of village Banal were the direct beneficiaries of the said Bowri, whereas residents of village Chambeh District Hamirpur never used the water of the said Bowri. Accordingly, on these bases cancellation report was filed as no forgery, embezzlement or cheating was found to have been committed by the accused persons.

7. The objections preferred by the complainant against the cancellation report were also sent for further investigation to SHO, Police Station, Talai by the learned Court below vide order dated 19.9.2012 and further investigation also revealed that no offence was made out against the accused. Learned Court below on the basis of material produced before it accepted the cancellation report and rejected the objections which were filed to the same by the complainant's therein.

8. While accepting the cancellation report learned Trial Court held that a reasonable explanation had been furnished by the concerned parties that the source of water from which water flows into Nallah leading to village Banal falls in village Chambeh as such the Bowri was required to be constructed there. It was further held by the learned Trial Court that the complainant had not denied the fact that the water of disputed Bowri which was constructed by utilizing the funds sanctioned by BDO, Jhandutta was being used by the residents of Harijan Colony of village Banal and not by the residents of village Chambeh of district Hamirpur. Learned Trial Court also held that it was also not the allegation of the complainant that the entire amount sanctioned for the construction of the Bowri was not so spent by the accused persons. On these basis learned Trial Court held that it could not be said that the accused persons had committed criminal breach of trust or embezzlement/dishonest misappropriation of public funds. On these bases, learned Court below held that no offence was made out against the accused and on these bases it accepted the cancellation report.

9. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also perused the record produced on record by the petitioner.

10. It is evident from the order passed by the learned Court below that after being satisfied about the averments which were made in the cancellation report, the same was accepted by the learned Court below. The reasoning which has been given by the learned Court below for accepting cancellation report is self speaking and learned counsel for the petitioner could not point out as to what was the jurisdictional error committed by the learned Court below while accepting the cancellation report. Order so passed by the learned Court below is both reasoned order as well as speaking order. It has duly justified as to why it was accepting the cancellation report. It is a matter of record that objections filed by the complainant against the cancellation report were also got investigated by the learned Court below and after being satisfied from the investigation reports that there was no merit in the objections, the same were rejected whereas the cancellation report was accepted.

11. The present petitioner apparently seems to be a busy body. Filing of the initial complaint before the learned Court below which resulted in the registration of the FIR as well as filing of the present revision petition against the order of cancellation of FIR is nothing but an act of abuse of the process of law. The doors of justice are always open for one and all, however, the first and foremost requirement which a person who approaches the Court of Law has to satisfy is that the process of law should not be abused to harass the others. However, filing of the present revision petition, against the order passed by the learned Court below vide which cancellation report with regard to FIR No. 95 of 2010 has been accepted is nothing but abuse of the process of law. It is apparent that the complaint as well as present revision petition was filed with the ulterior motive of harassing the private respondents who were either elected members of Gram Panchayat or public servants.

Therefore, while upholding order dated 6.7.2015 passed by the Court of Learned JMIC, Court No.2, Ghumarwin, Distt. Bilaspur in C.R. No. 6/1 of 2011, the present revision petition is dismissed with costs quantified at Rs. 10,000/- which shall be disbursed proportionately to the private respondents. Petitioner shall deposit the cost within a period of one month from today in the Registry of this Court and for this limited purpose the case shall be listed on 20.10.2016.

CWPIL No. 17 of 2016
Date of decision: 07.09.2016.

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Respondent had not taken action against the persons who are indulged in illegal mining activities- such activities are going on in the entire State, therefore, Secretary (Industries), Director (Industries), State Geologist, H.P. Pollution Control Board through its Member Secretary, all the Deputy Commissioners and the Superintendents of Police of all the Districts, be arrayed as party respondents- fresh status reports ordered to be filed. (Para-5 to 8)

Present: Mr. B.C. Negi & Mr. Sanjeev Bhushan, Senior Advocates, as Amicus Curiae, with Ms. Abhilasha Kaundal, Advocate.
Mr. Anup Rattan, Mr. Romesh Verma and Mr. Varun Chandel, Additional Advocate Generals, for the respondents-State.
Mr. Manish Sharma, Advocate, for the Pollution Control Board.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, Chief Justice (Oral)

Learned Amicus Curiae seeks and is granted two weeks' time to file suggestions.

2. Mr. Anup Rattan, learned Additional Advocate General stated at the Bar that status reports stand filed in the Registry. The Registry to trace and place the same on record.

3. Learned Amicus Curiae to file response to the status reports by or before the next date of hearing.

4. It appears that the respondents have not taken action against the persons, who are indulged in illegal mining activities, as required under law.

5. In the given circumstances, we request the learned Amicus Curiae and the learned Advocate General to suggest a mechanism to curb such activities.

6. Learned Amicus Curiae stated at the Bar that such activities are going on in the entire State and prayed that Secretary (Industries), Director (Industries), State Geologist, H.P. Pollution Control Board through its Member Secretary, all the Deputy Commissioners and the Superintendents of Police of all the Districts, be arrayed as party respondents in this petition. Oryx Fisheries Private Limited Vs. Union of India and others, (2010) 13 Supreme Court Cases 427

Manohar S/o Manikrao Anchule Vs. State of Maharashtra and another, (2012) 13 Supreme Court Cases 14

For the petitioners. : Mr. Atul Jhingan, Advocate.
For the respondent. : Mr. Rajiv Jiwan, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, J (Oral).

By way of present petition, the petitioners have prayed for the following relief:-

> "It is, therefore, prayed that this writ petition may very kindly be allowed with costs throughout and after summoning the records and perusing the same, the impugned notice dated 5.8.2003 (Annexure P-4) issued by the respondent and orders dated 31.3.1999 (Annexure P-20 AND 20.2.2004(Annexure A-6) along with order dated 21.5.2010 (Annexure A-9) passed by the Employees' Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal, New Delhi in ATA 67(17)2008 may be quashed and set aside. Any other or further orders as may be deemed just and proper in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case may also be passed while allowing the writ petition, in the interest of justice."

2. The case as has been put-forth by the petitioners is that an order was passed by Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Shimla dated 31.3.1999 under Section 7-A of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 (in short "EPF Act"), in the matter of determination of amount due from the petitioners and as per this order, Regional Provident Fund Commissioner made assessment of the amounts which were due from the petitioners as contemplated under Section 7-A of the above mentioned EPF Act. The assessment so made by Regional Provident Fund Commissioner was honoured by the petitioners. This was followed by communication dated 22.7.2009 addressed by Regional Provident Fund Commissioner to the Recovery Officer in which it was mentioned that petitioners had deposited an amount of Rs. 6,75,522/- on account of EPF contributions due from September, 1984 to November, 1998 and recovery certificate sent to the petitioners was accordingly withdrawn and no further action was required on the same.

3. This was followed by issuance of notice dated 5.8.2003 by Regional Provident Fund Commissioner, Shimla to the petitioners on the subject "notice under Section 14-B of the Employees' Provident Funds and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 (19 of 1952) levy of damages", vide which the petitioners were called upon to show cause as to why damages at such rates as are deemed fit be not imposed and recovered from the petitioners on account of default which was made by the petitioners in paying employees provident fund contribution etc. from September, 1984 till February, 1999. Said notice was duly replied to by the petitioners. However, Regional Provident Fund Commissioner vide order dated 20.2.2004 imposed damages to the tune of Rs. 5,05,808/- upon the petitioners in exercise of powers conferred upon the said authority under Section 14-B of the EPF Act.

4. Feeling aggrieved by order dated 20.2.2004, the petitioners initially filed CWP No. 191 of 2004 which was disposed of by this Court vide order dated 11.12.2007 with the direction to the petitioners to file an appeal before the Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal.

5. The appeal so filed by the petitioners before the Employees Provident Appellate Tribunal was dismissed by the said Tribunal under signatures of Presiding Officer, EPFAT vide order dated 21.5.2010. The order so passed by the Appellate Tribunal is quoted here-in-below:-

> "The appeal in this case is preferred against the order passed by the PF authority under Section 14-B of the Employees' Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952 directing the appellant to deposit the damage and interest.
> 2. The case of the appellant is that the appellant is a small school and it was covered under the Act under 7-A proceedings and directed to deposit Rs. 670522/-. The appellant deposited the same by transferring the amount from the bank. The EPF authorities started a proceedings under Section 14-B alleging that there was delay and imposed the penalty and interest which is illegal one.

3. The case of the respondent is that as there was a default, the penalty and interest is correctly imposed.

4. It is contended that the appellant had no intention to met the default and the default is not intentional. Reliance is placed in the case of M/s Shyam Glass Workers Vs. State of UP and Supper Processors Vs. Union of India.

5. The Ld. Advocate of the respondent supported the order.

6. The applicability of the Act and the default is not questioned. It is only contended that the delay is not intentional and the amount was immediately transferred from the bank. In the case of Ernakulam Cooperative Bank Vs. RPFC in 2000 Vol. 1 LLJ at page 1662 their Lordship held that "even through there is sufficient reason for the petitioner to met the belated payment that is not a ground for granting exemption". No other cause was assigned for the belated payment. No inconsistency is noticed in the order of the authority.

7. Hence order, the appeal is dismissed. Copy of order be sent to the parties. File be consigned to record room."

6. By way of present petition, both orders dated 20.2.2004 passed by Regional Provident Fund Commissioner as well as order dated 21.5.2010 passed by the Employees' Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal are under challenge.

7. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the relevant documents produced on record by the respective parties.

8. A perusal of the order passed by the Appellate Tribunal demonstrates that the appeal filed against the order of Regional Provident Fund Commissioner by the present petitioners has been disposed of by the Employees' Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal, Shimla by passing a totally non-speaking and unreasoned order. It is apparent from perusal of the Appellate order that neither the contentions raised in the appeal by the present petitioners have been taken note of in the Appellate order, nor there is any determination of the contentions so raised in the appeal by way of a speaking and reasoned adjudication.

9. It is well settled principle of law that justice should not only be done but it should also seem to have been done. Employees' Provident Fund Appellate Tribunal is a statutory Tribunal. The same has been constituted under the provisions of Employees' Provident Fund and Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952. Right of appeal is not a common law right but is a statutory right. Whenever an authority adjudicates upon an issue as the First Appellate Court, then that Appellate authority is bound to take into consideration all the factual aspects of the matter as well as evidence produced on record by the respective parties and after due appreciation of all the facts and evidence on record, as well as law, the Appellate authority has to adjudicate upon the appeal so filed before it.

10. During the course of arguments, Mr. Jhingan learned counsel appearing for the petitioners vehemently argued that the order passed by the Regional Provident Fund Commissioner against which appeal was filed was itself a non-speaking and unreasoned order.

11. A perusal of appeal filed before the Appellate Tribunal demonstrates that the order passed by Regional Provident Fund Commissioner was, inter alia, challenged on nine grounds. None of these grounds find mention in the impugned order passed by the Appellate Authority and as I have already mentioned above, no reasoning worth its name has been given by the Appellate Tribunal as to why the said Tribunal did not find merit in the appeal so filed by the present petitioners.

12. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kranti Associates Private Limited and another Vs. Masood Ahmed Khan and others, (2010) 9 Supreme Court Cases 496 has held as under:-

"12. The necessity of giving reason by a body or authority in support of its decision came up for consideration before this Court in several cases. Initially this Court recognized a sort of demarcation between administrative orders and quasi- judicial orders but with the passage of time the distinction between the two got blurred and thinned out and virtually reached a vanishing point in the judgment of this Court in A.K. Kraipak and others vs. Union of India.

13. In Kesava Mills Co. Ltd. vs. Union of India this Court approvingly referred to the opinion of Lord Denning in R. v. Gaming Board for Great Britain, ex p Benaim and quoted him as saying "that heresy was scotched in Ridge v. Baldwin.

14. The expression `speaking order' was first coined by Lord Chancellor Earl Cairns in a rather strange context. The Lord Chancellor, while explaining the ambit of Writ of Certiorari, referred to orders with errors on the face of the record and pointed out that an order with errors on its face, is a speaking order. (See pp. 1878-97 Vol. 4 Appeal Cases 30 at 40 of the Report).

15. This Court always opined that the face of an order passed by a quasi-judicial authority or even an administrative authority affecting the rights of parties, must speak. It must not be like the `inscrutable face of a Sphinx' x x x x x x x x"

45. In English vs. Emery Reimbold and Strick Limited, it has been held that justice will not be done if it is not apparent to the parties why one has won and the other has lost. The House of Lords in Cullen vs. Chief Constable of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, Lord Bingham of Cornhill and Lord Steyn, on the requirement of reason held: (WLR p. 1769, para 7)

> "7. .....First, they impose a discipline ... which may contribute to such decisions being considered with care. Secondly, reasons encourage transparency ... Thirdly, they assist the Courts in performing their supervisory function if judicial review proceedings are launched."

46. The position in the United States has been indicated by this Court in S.N. Mukherjee in SCC p. 602, para 11 : AIR para 11 at page 1988 of the judgment. This Court held that in the United States the Courts have always insisted on the recording of reasons by administrative authorities in exercise of their powers. It was further held that such recording of reasons is required as "the Court cannot exercise their duty of review unless they are advised of the considerations underlying the action under review". In S.N. Mukherjee this Court relied on the decisions of the U.S. Court in Securities and Exchange Commission vs. Chenery Corporation and Dunlop v. Bachowski in support of its opinion discussed above.

47. Summarizing the above discussion, this Court holds:

a. In India the judicial trend has always been to record reasons, even in administrative decisions, if such decisions affect anyone prejudicially.

b. A quasi-judicial authority must record reasons in support of its conclusions.

c. Insistence on recording of reasons is meant to serve the wider principle of justice that justice must not only be done it must also appear to be done as well.

d. Recording of reasons also operates as a valid restraint on any possible arbitrary exercise of judicial and quasi-judicial or even administrative power.

e. Reasons reassure that discretion has been exercised by the decision maker on relevant grounds and by disregarding extraneous considerations.

f. Reasons have virtually become as indispensable a component of a decision making process as observing principles of natural justice by judicial, quasi-judicial and even by administrative bodies.

g. Reasons facilitate the process of judicial review by superior Courts.

h. The ongoing judicial trend in all countries committed to rule of law and constitutional governance is in favour of reasoned decisions based on relevant facts. This is virtually the life blood of judicial decision making justifying the principle that reason is the soul of justice. i. Judicial or even quasi-judicial opinions these days can be as different as the judges and authorities who deliver them. All these decisions serve one common purpose which is to demonstrate by reason that the relevant factors have been objectively considered. This is important for sustaining the litigants' faith in the justice delivery system.

j. Insistence on reason is a requirement for both judicial accountability and transparency.

k. If a Judge or a quasi-judicial authority is not candid enough about his/her decision making process then it is impossible to know whether the person deciding is faithful to the doctrine of precedent or to principles of incrementalism.

l. Reasons in support of decisions must be cogent, clear and succinct. A pretence of reasons or `rubber-stamp reasons' is not to be equated with a valid decision making process.

m. It cannot be doubted that transparency is the sine qua non of restraint on abuse of judicial powers. Transparency in decision making not only makes the judges and decision makers less prone to errors but also makes them subject to broader scrutiny. (See David Shapiro in Defence of Judicial Candor

n. Since the requirement to record reasons emanates from the broad doctrine of fairness in decision making, the said requirement is now virtually a component of human rights and was considered part of Strasbourg Jurisprudence. See Ruiz Torija v. Spain EHRR, at 562 para 29 and Anya vs. University of Oxford, wherein the Court referred to Article 6 of European Convention of Human Rights which requires,

"adequate and intelligent reasons must be given for judicial decisions".

o. In all common law jurisdictions judgments play a vital role in setting up precedents for the future. Therefore, for development of law, requirement of giving reasons for the decision is of the essence and is virtually a part of "due process".

13. This legal position has been reiterated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Oryx Fisheries Private Limited Vs. Union of India and others, (2010) 13 Supreme Court Cases 427.

14. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Manohar S/o Manikrao Anchule Vs. State of Maharashtra and another, (2012) 13 Supreme Court Cases 14 has held as under:-

17. The State Information Commission is performing adjudicatory functions where two parties raise their respective issues to which the State Information Commission is expected to apply its mind and pass an order directing disclosure of the information asked for or declining the same. Either way, it affects the rights of the parties who have raised rival contentions before the Commission. If there were no rival contentions, the matter would rest at the level of the designated Public Information Officer or immediately thereafter. It comes to the State Information Commission only at the appellate stage when rights and contentions require adjudication. The adjudicatory process essentially has to be in consonance with the principles of natural justice, including the doctrine of audi alteram partem. Hearing the parties, application of mind and recording of reasoned decision are the basic elements of natural justice. It is not expected of the Commission to breach any of these principles, particularly when its orders are open to judicial review. Much less to Tribunals or such Commissions, the Courts have even made compliance to the principle of rule of natural justice obligatory in the class of administrative matters as well."

15. It is apparent from ratio laid down in the above mentioned cases that hearing the parties, application of mind and recording of reasoned decision are basic elements of natural justice and Tribunals or Commissions or Courts are not expected to breach any of these principles. Therefore, in my considered view, without entering into the merits of the issues, the order passed by the Appellate Tribunal dated 21.5.2010 is liable to be quashed and set aside on this count alone that the same is a non-speaking and unreasoned order.

The writ petition is accordingly allowed and order dated 21.5.2010 passed by the Learned Appellate Tribunal is hereby quashed and set aside and the case is remanded back to the Learned Appellate Tribunal with a direction that the appeal be decided by it afresh after affording an opportunity to all the parties of being heard by passing a speaking and reasoned order as expeditiously as possible, preferably before 30th November, 2016.

Civil Revision No. 7 of 2015.
Date of decision: 07.09.2016

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 21 Rule 35- Warrant of possession was ordered by the Executing Court- petition for execution of decree of possession was filed- J.D. preferred objection pleading that plaintiff had not taken permission under Section 118 of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- objections were rejected- held, in revision that Executing Court cannot go behind the decree and it cannot decide that decree is void – however, Court is bound to look into the fact that mandatory permission was not taken from the State of Government- evidence is to be taken in support of the same – Executing Court had not taken the evidence and had rejected the objections- petition allowed and trial Court directed to frame the issue on objections preferred by J.D.

For the petitioners/JDs: Mr. Vinay Kuthiala, Sr. Advocate with Mr. Gaurav Sharma, Advocate.

For the respondents/DHs: Mr. Neeraj Gupta, Advocate for respondents No. 1 and 2.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J.

The decree qua the suit land rendered by the Court of first instance vis.a.vis the plaintiffs, christened as a 'Trust' attained affirmation upto the Hon'ble Apex Court. Sequelly, the relevant decree acquired conclusivity. The plaintiffs/decree holders had thereupon constituted an apposite execution petition before the learned Executing Court, for theirs in the manner unraveled therein begetting its apposite execution. Under its impugned rendition, the learned Executing Court ordered for issuance of warrants of possession qua the suit property, warrants of possession whereof hold concurrence with the apposite judgement and decree put before it for execution. The judgement debtors/defendants stand aggrieved by the rendition of the learned Executing Court rendered on 3.1.2015. Succinctly their concert to impugn its validity rests upon the learned Executing Court in a mechanical, perfunctory besides in a rough shod manner making short shrift of their paramount objections qua its executability, objections whereof stood harboured upon the factum of the plaintiffs/decree holders casting a suit qua the suit property as

'a Trust', alienation whereof qua it remaining un-preceded by an apposite permission under Section 118 of the H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act standing accorded by the appropriate Government, holding a concomitant effect of the alienation by its author of the corpus of the trust property vis-à-vis the plaintiffs standing vitiated, also a contention is raised qua want of apposite permission preceding its creation renders the suit being amenable to founder also thereupon the decree under execution qua the suit property stood rendered unamenable for execution given the inevitable statutory consequence, befalling it, qua its standing forfeited qua the appropriate Government, consequence whereof spurred from the aforesaid purported infraction of the apposite mandatory statutory provisions. The aforesaid objections raised by the judgement debtors/defendants qua the executability of the decree stood rejected by the learned Executing Court on the anvil of the decree under execution acquiring conclusivity, it standing affirmed upto the Hon'ble Apex Court. The learned Executing Court hence did not deem it fit to render an adjudication upon the trite objections aforesaid whereupon solitarily the counsel for the defendants/JDs anvils his submission for rendering unexecutable the decree put for execution before the learned Executing Court. Uncontrovertedly the learned Executing Court stood not enjoined under law to go behind the decree, also its omitting to pronounce a verdict upon the objections reared therebefore by the judgement debtors qua the facet aforesaid would hold validation unless the objections aforesaid reared therebefore by the judgement debtors devolved upon the executability of the decree, it holding no legal efficacy also it being void nonest, vices whereof ingraining it standing grooved in no title qua the suit property inhering in the plaintiffs/DHs, hence rendering it unexecutable. The learned Executing Court was under a profound legal obligation to not go behind the decree rather it peremptorily stood warranted to execute it. Without making any observation qua the tenacity of the objections aforesaid addressed herebefore by the counsel for the JDs qua the relevant decree standing infused with a pervasive vice of voidness hence it being unexecutable lest it casts any influence upon the learned Executing Court, yet the paramount factum of the plaintiffs suing qua the suit property christened as 'a Trust' wherebefore its constitution also preceding its author alienating thereunder the corpus of the suit property qua it his prima facie not obtaining the mandatory statutory permission of the appropriate Government may prima facie render the alienation of the corpus of the suit property by its author to the trust, to suffer the mishap of the consequences embodied in Section 118 of the H.P.Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, tritely the one of the corpus of the trust property suffering the ill-fate of its warranting forfeiture to the appropriate Government. However, any determination qua the facet aforesaid is enjoined to be rendered by the learned Executing Court on its appraising the tenacity of evidence adduced therebefore by the JDs qua the relevant issue struck by it. The mere factum of the apposite decree acquiring conclusivity it standing affirmed upto the Hon'ble Apex Court would not per se render it executable nor would any decree be executable if rendered in derogation of mandatory statutory provisions whereupon a pervasive cloud qua its legality is cast also with the paramount prevalence of mandatory statutory provisions vis.a.vis the apposite decree put to execution whereupon a telling effect stands engendered qua the holding of an indefeasible title by the plaintiffs qua the suit property also infraction if any of the mandatory statutory provisions whereupon the relevant objections stand anchored loudly pronounce upon the capacity of the plaintiffs to sue qua the suit property, are all inhibition which prima facie cumulatively render it to be obviously unexecutable. In taking a view of the apposite decree holding prevalence vis-à-vis the relevant statute whereunder a relevant bar stands embodied against the constitution by its author of the relevant trust qua the suit property unless prior thereto the apposite mandatory statutory permission from the appropriate Government stands obtained, would obviously entail an ill-consequence, of Courts of law undoing the effect of binding statutory law whereas reverence thereto ought to upsurge in all judicial pronouncements. For meteing deference to the relevant statutory provisions also for ensuring prevalence of statutory laws vis.a.vis the apposite decree besides to countervail the ill-consequence of the plaintiffs putting to execution a decree prima facie infused with a pervasive vice of voidness, it standing rendered vis.a.vis the plaintiffs who for reasons aforesaid prima facie hold no title qua the suit property, it was incumbent upon the learned Executing Court to qua the trite objections aforesaid laid therebefore by the JDs qua the executability of the decree, frame an issue thereupon whereafter also it was enjoined to ask for adduction of evidence thereon by the contesting parties. However, the learned Executing Court has omitted to do so. Its omission to rid of sanctity, the trite objections aforesaid raised therebefore by the JDs/defendants has sequelled gross miscarriage of justice significantly when they invasively strike at the validity of the title of the plaintiff qua the suit property also impinge upon its right to sue, as a corollary when hence they cast aspersion qua the executability of the decree. The legal principle as meted by it to not render a verdict upon the objections aforesaid raised therebefore by the defendants stood anvilled upon its standing interdicted to go behind the apt conclusive decree yet the meteing of deference by it to the aforesaid principle, has begotten a conflict with the overwhelming paramount legal principle of a prima facie void nonest decree, stains whereof stand concerted by the JDs/defendants in their apposite objections, to permeate it, being hence un-executable. However, the aforesaid facet of the apposite decree being hence unexecutable enjoined its standing rested by a judicial verdict standing pronounced thereupon by the learned Executing Court. However, the learned Executing Court in a short shrift manner dismissed the trite objections aforesaid qua the executability of the decree, whereas they pervasively purportedly afflicted the decree with a vice of voidness, also concomitantly prima facie rendered it unexecutable. As a corollary, its not rendering an apposite verdict thereupon nor preceding thereto its casting any apposite issue qua it, whereupon the contesting parties were permitted to adduce evidence, renders its impugned rendition to suffer from a vice of thorough non application of mind, hence warranting its being quashed and set-aside. Even though the learned counsel appearing for the decree holders has relied upon a judgement of this Court reported in M/s K. N.Trading Company Vs. Masonic Fraternity of Shimla 1995 (2) Sim. LC 342 to contend of the learned Executing Court when seized with an execution petition laid therebefore by the decree holder for putting to execution the relevant executable decree it holding no empowerment to strike any issue qua any objection raised therebefore qua the suit property not by a person not a party to the suit rather by one who claims title to the suit property through the judgement debtor. The aforesaid rendition relied upon by the learned counsel for the plaintiffs/DHs to protect the impugned rendition of the learned Executing Court holds no clout given therein of conclusive decrees for eviction standing rendered vis.a.vis a landlord qua the demised premises, decree whereof when stood put to execution before the learned Executing Court, any resistance qua its execution by the JD, on anvil of his inducting sub-lessee in the demised premises stood discountenanced, on the anvil of it being a specious attempt to baulk the execution of a conclusive decree also on anvil of the apposite objections of the JD if standing vindicated would beget the ill-fate of decrees of eviction of a tenant from the demised premises suffering unwarranted/untenable stiff resistance qua their execution by the JD on an untenable ground of his subletting the premises whereas with the sub-lessees standing inducted in the demised premises by the JD also are bound by the relevant decree qua the demised premises. The aforesaid discountenancing by this Court in the citation aforesaid of the objection of the Judgement debtor stood prodded for obviating multiplicity of litigation also to not frustrate a decree holder to under a conclusive decree of eviction rendered against the tenant obtain its possession. Obviously in the citation aforesaid, the trite objections of the decree thereunder being unexecutable, its standing ingrained with a vice of no title inhering in the decree holder vis.a.vis the demised premises stood neither raised nor was at contest, contrarily the distinctive facet hereat qua the executability of the decree, it for reasons aforestated being void besides nonest, imperatively warranted the learned Executing Court to render an adjudication thereupon. Also the learned counsel appearing for the DHs relied upon a judgement reported in Phenu Ram vs. Sanatan Dharam Sabha (Regd.) and others Latest HLJ 2014 (HP) 221 wherein this Court in a decree for eviction of a tenant from the demised premises had dispelled the vigour of a contention raised before the learned Executing Court by a person other than the judgement debtor, contention whereof qua the executability of the decree stood anvilled on his holding its possession also stood anvilled on his claiming rights through the judgement debtors where-against a conclusive executable decree qua their eviction from the demised premises stood put to execution. A reason similar to the one accorded by this Court in the aforesaid judgement stood assigned by it to disrobe the efficacy of the contention raised by a person resisting the execution of a decree of eviction rendered against the JDs whereunder he claimed possession of the demised premises, preeminently when it stood unflinchingly established qua his claiming the relevant possession under the relevant judgement debtor where-against whom a conclusive decree qua the relevant premises stood pronounced. Imminently also when the question of title of DHs to obtain the relevant decree stood not contested by the JDs nor also when its stood contested qua the decree being hence unexecutable, whereas contradistinctively hereat, the aforesaid relevant contest stands projected by the JDs in their relevant objections preferred before the learned Executing Court, necessarily it was incumbent upon the learned Executing Court to pronounce a verdict thereupon. Consequently, both the aforesaid citations are distinguishable, also are not applicable for facilitating this Court to render an apt adjudication upon the efficacy of the impugned rendition hereat. Accordingly the instant revision petition is allowed. The impugned order is quashed and set-aside. The learned trial Court is directed to frame an issue on the objections raised before it by the judgement debtors/defendants qua vice of nullity on facet aforesaid ingraining the decree put to execution before it vice whereof ingraining it stands anvilled upon statutory infraction of the mandate of Section 118 of the H.P.Tenancy and Land Reforms Act. It shall permit the parties to adduce their respective evidence thereupon. It is directed to decide the Execution Petition besides the objections in accordance with law within three months hereafter. However, it is made clear that any observation made hereinabove will have no bearing on the merits of the case.

M/s Mukut Hotels and Resorts (Pvt) Ltd., ...Plaintiff/non-applicant.

Versus

M/s Khuller Resorts & others ....Applicant/Defendant No. 4 .

OMP No. 58 of 2016 in Civil Suit No. 90 of 2010
Decided on : 7.9.2016

Code of Civil Procedure, 1908- Order 6 Rule 17- An application for amendment of written statement was filed for pleading that agreement to sell was not valid as no sanction was taken under Section 118 of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act and Section 17 of the Companies Act – suit has been filed for specific performance and question of competency of the executant will be relevant in such a suit- therefore, application allowed.

For the plaintiff/non-applicant: Mr. Karan Singh Kanwar, Advocate.

For the defendants/non-applicants: Mr. Rajneesh K Lall, Advocate for defendants/non-applicants No.1 and 3.
Mr. Ajay Kumar Dhiman, Advocate for defendant No. 4/applicant and for defendants No. 5,6,8 and 9.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Sureshwar Thakur, J (Oral)

Defendant No.4 through the instant application has sought leave of this Court to incorporate in the written-statement the averments embodied in paragraph 4 of the application. However preliminary objection No. 5 occurring therein qua whose incorporation in the written-statement, leave of this Court is sought pertains to the legal incompetence of the plaintiff to record an agreement to sell qua the suit property with the defendants, legal incompetence whereof arises from the plaintiff not obtaining the statutory sanction under Section 118 of H.P Tenancy and Land Reforms Act, 1972 from the appropriate Government prior to its recording with the defendants an agreement to sell qua the suit property whereupon the agreement to sell stands concomitantly ingrained with a vice of voidness whereupon this Court stands precluded to pronounce an executable decree qua the suit property vis-à-vis the plaintiff. However the aforesaid preliminary objection may not warrant its incorporation in the apposite pleadings given the requisite permission for validating the execution of a registered deed of conveyance qua the suit property may yet being available to be applied for also the requisite permission thereon may stand accorded by the appropriate government during the pendency of the suit. Also the aforesaid objection hence would remain attended to by this Court at the time of its pronouncing, if any, a decree of specific performance qua the plaintiff. However, as a matter of extreme wariness besides caution significantly when the aforesaid facet may remain undivulged before this Court also when given its standing camouflaged from the sight of the Court, it may pronounce a decree for specific performance qua the suit property, dehors the requisite permission standing neither applied for nor granted to it by the government, pronouncement whereof would obviously stands stained with a vice of voidness also would be un-executable, objection whereof qua the aforesaid facets may ultimately stand agitated before the learned executing Court. For obviating all the aforesaid unnecessary cumbersome ordeals also for facilitating this Court, if ultimately stands satisfied qua the probative tenacity of the evidence as stands adduced by the plaintiff on the apposite issue to thereupon pronounce an executable decree for specific performance bereft of any stain of voidness, it is deemed fit and appropriate that objection No. 5 as prayed to be incorporated in the written-statement be permitted to be incorporated therein.

2. The preliminary objection No. 4, as is also sought with leave of this Court to be incorporated in the written-statement pertains to the invalidity of the agreement to sell recorded inter-se the plaintiff and the defendants, invalidity whereof stands embodied therein to arise from no sanction within the mandate of Section 17 of the Companies Act standing obtained by the defendants qua alienation of the suit property, infringement whereof would ultimately stain with a vice of nullity the decree if any pronounced by this Court, for obviation whereof its incorporation in the written-statement is imperative. The aforesaid objection obviously also when pervasively invades the trite factum qua the execute-ability of an apposite decree if ultimately stands pronounced by this Court on its drawing affirmative satisfaction qua the tenacity of the relevant apposite evidence as adduced qua the apposite issue, as a corollary with ready availability before this Court of objection No. 4 also significantly with its constituting a potent incremental force to the cause of justice also its facilitating this Court to omit to record an un-executable decree, its incorporation in the written-statement is just and essential, conspicuously for empowering this Court to determine all the relevant germane issues which engage the parties at lis hereat.

3. However even before this Court has granted leave to defendant No.4 to incorporate in the apposite written-statement preliminary objections No. 4 and 5 nonetheless before parting, it is deemed apt to allude to the vigorous contest raised by the counsel for the non-applicants qua leave standing granted to defendant No.4 for their incorporation in his written-statement. The prime contention raised by the learned counsel for the non-applicants is anchored upon the factum of the applicant not meteing nor begetting satiation of the ingredients of the proviso occurring in Order 6 Rule17 CPC, provisions whereof stand extracted hereinafter, wherewithin an embargo stands constituted against this Court ordering for their incorporation in the apposite pleadings of any party to the lis, significantly when the relevant party to the lis concerts after commencement of trial to beget an apposite amendment to its pleadings unless this Court is satisfied that despite exercise of due diligence by any contesting party claiming leave of this Court to incorporate the proposed amendment in its pleadings his/its previously yet standing deterred to unearth it besides obviously standing precluded to raise it earlier. He fortifies his submission by contending qua with the aforesaid facets being at the outset within the knowledge of the defendant his omitting to thereat incorporate them in his pleadings, invites the embargo constituted in the proviso of Order 6 Rule 17 CPC to stand attracted vis-à-vis the defendant. He also contends qua hence his omission to incorporate them in his pleading renders him disabled to contend qua his despite exercising due diligence he stood disabled to thereat unearth them also concomitantly is disabled to contend qua hence his extantly unearthing them he is rendered capacitated to seek their incorporation in his apposite pleadings. Consequently he submits of his aforesaid awareness at the outset qua the aforesaid facets significantly when they within their gamut encompassed knowledge of law, ignorance whereof thereat cannot efficaciously stand canvassed by him qua hence his standing precluded to initially incorporate them in his written-statement, vigorously ousts his belated concert for seeking their incorporation in the written-statement conspicuously when the principle of estoppel contemplated in the Proviso Under Order 6 Rule 17 CPC works against the defendant concerned. Even though the aforesaid fetter embodied in the relevant proviso to Order 6 Rule 17 CPC may work in favour of the non-applicants also hence their contention may warrant acceptance nonetheless the proviso occurring in Order 6 Rule 17 CPC is not to stand meted a pedantic strict interpretation dehors the preceding provisions thereto. Even if the facts aforesaid for the reasons aforesaid were at the outset in the knowledge of the defendant concerned also cannot coax this Court to come to a conclusion of the defendant concerned despite his earlier awareness qua theirs existence his omission to at the outset incorporate them in his pleadings oust him at this belated stage to seek their incorporation in his pleadings. However, as stated hereinabove the rigor of the proviso would stand relaxed besides waned especially when its provisions do not warrant theirs standing read in isolation vis-à-vis the preceding provisions occurring therein significantly the one of given on an objective satisfaction drawn by this Court qua the proposed amendments being necessary for determining the relevant controversy, it, thereupon despite the mandate of the proviso working against the defendant concerned, holding jurisdiction to permit their incorporation in the apposite written-statement. Unless the aforesaid harmony stands begotten inter-se the relevant provision preceding the proviso vis-à-vis the proviso, a conflict would arise qua theirs respective workability, conflict whereof is to be obviated. Predominantly to the mind of this Court the apt provision preceding the proviso besides the nuance of the import of the provisions of Order 6 Rule 17 CPC which upsurges on a wholesome reading of its provisions in its entirety is when the relevant Court draws objective satisfaction qua the incorporation of the relevant pleadings in the relevant amendments being both just and essential for determining the relevant controversy engaging the parties at lis, it stands statutorily empowered to permit their incorporation in the relevant pleadings As a corollary when this Court draws an objective satisfaction within the ambit of the relevant provisions of Order 6 Rule 17 CPC preceding its proviso qua their incorporation therein being essential for determining the relevant controversy engaging the parties at lis, hence when the amendments aforesaid in the relevant pleadings of the contesting parties fall within the ambit of the nuance of the apt provisions of CPC besides are facilitative for this Court to ultimately pronounce an executable decree also when their incorporation would aid this Court to determine all the questions engaging the parties at lis preponderantly when their incorporation would aid this Court to ensure prevalence of statutory laws vis-à-vis the agreement to sell recorded inter-se the parties at lis. In sequel a decree for specific performance cannot either benumb or negate the effect of statutory laws nor also can the workability of the apposite statutory laws stand ousted qua the apposite renditions recorded by this Court. As an apt sequitur if the amendments as prayed to be incorporated in the written-statement are rejected while accepting the contention of the counsel for the non-applicants contention whereof stands anvilled upon the relevant proviso the ultimate causality would be the decree itself, as a corollary its rejection is warranted. Any decree, if, rendered in gross detraction besides transgression of the mandate of statutory provisions holding clout qua the suit property also if their incorporation in the relevant pleadings is not permitted, would hence stand infected with a vice of nullity. The aforesaid objections qua a vice of nullity hence ingraining the apposite renditions if remain un-attended by this Court also if their incorporation in the relevant pleadings is not permitted, it would stand prodded to render an un-executable decree whereupon the JD would stand empowered to rear them before the learned Executing Court whereupon it on its finding qua theirs holding tenacity may ultimately render a verdict annulling the decree, it standing ingrained with a deep pervasive vice of voidness, its overriding the mandate of statutory laws whereupon the entire exercise embarked upon by this Court would be rendered nugatory. Consequently for obviating all the aforesaid casualties it is not deemed fit and appropriate to solitarily hold reliance upon the proviso appended to order 6 Rule 17 CPC rather it is deemed fit and appropriate to beget harmony vis-à-vis the relevant proviso and the statutory provisions occurring preceding thereto, primarily for ensuring the paramount factum of prevalence of statutory laws vis-à-vis the suit property also for ensuring the clout of statutory laws qua the controversy besetting the parties at lis besides to preclude the rendition of an assumingly nonest decree. In view of above, the petition is allowed.

> "Amendment of pleadings-The Court may at any stage of the proceedings allow either party to alter or amend his pleadings in such manner and on such terms as may be just, and all such amendments shall be made as may be necessary for the purpose of determining the real questions in controversy between the parties: Provided that no application for amendment shall be allowed after the trial has commenced, unless the court comes to the conclusion that in spite of due diligence, the party could not have raised the matter before the commencement of trial."

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 5- Plaintiffs filed a civil suit for seeking possession of the land pleading that they are owners and defendants are in possession without any right to do so- they were asked to deliver the possession but in vain- suit was opposed by filing a reply pleading that their predecessor was recorded in possession and defendants are in possession since then – earlier a suit was filed by the plaintiffs, which was dismissed- defendants have become owners on the commencement of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was allowed – held, in second appeal that Assistant Collector 2nd Grade had held the predecessor-in-interest of the defendants to be a tenant - he was not competent to decide the dispute under Section 104(4) and his order is nullity- defendants have not proved that any rent was paid to the landlord- tenancy is a bilateral act and will not come into existence without payment of rent - copy of the plaint in earlier suit was not filed- order made in favour of predecessor-in-interest of the defendant is nullity and without jurisdiction- Appellate Court had rightly allowed the appeal- appeal dismissed. (Para-11 to 14)

For the appellant(s): Mr.Lalit K. Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Suneet Goel, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Justice Rajiv Sharma, J.

This regular second appeal is directed against the judgment and decree of the learned District Judge, Mandi, H.P., dated 11.3.2008, passed in Civil Appeal No. 40/2007.

2. "Key facts" necessary for the adjudication of this regular second appeal are that the respondents-plaintiffs (hereinafter referred to as the plaintiffs), have instituted a suit for possession of land comprised in Khewat Khatauni No. 25/32, Kh. No. 497 measuring 1-13-15 bighas, situated in Mauja Anu, Illaqa Balh, Tehsil Sadar, Distt. Mandi, H.P. (hereinafter referred to as the suit land), as per jamabandi for the year 1995-96 with the averments that the appellants-defendants (hereinafter referred to as the defendants) are in possession of the suit land without any right, title or interest. They have completely refused to vacate the suit land from 7.12.2001. The defendants were again asked by the plaintiffs on 19.12.2001 to hand over the possession but they have refused to do so.

3. The suit was contested by the defendants. According to the defendants, the suit was barred under Order 2 Rule 2 CPC. The predecessor-in-interest of defendants, namely, Durgu son of Kanhu had filed an application before the Assistant Collector for correction of revenue entries against the plaintiffs. It was decided in favour of Durgu. Since then, Durgu was recorded in possession and after his death the defendants are in possession of the same. Later on, one of the plaintiffs, i.e. Shiv Shankar, filed an application for correction of the revenue entries in respect of the suit land which was dismissed vide order dated 4.5.1996. The plaintiffs filed a civil suit for declaration in respect of the suit land which was also dismissed on 17.9.2001 and the possession of Durgu, was confirmed as non-occupancy tenant. The defendants were in possession of the suit land and they have acquired proprietary rights by operation of H.P. Tenancy and Land Reforms Act.

4. Replication was filed and the learned Civil Judge (Jr. Divn.) Court No. II, Mandi and issues were framed on 20.4.2004. The suit was dismissed on 15.3.2007. The plaintiffs, feeling aggrieved, preferred an appeal before the learned District Judge, Mandi. He allowed the same on 11.3.2008. Hence, this regular second appeal.

5. The regular second appeal was admitted on 5.12.2008 on the following substantial questions of law:

> "1. Whether the judgment and decree of the 1st appellate Court is vitiated on account of mis-appreciation, misreading and non-appreciation of Ext. PB and Ext. DA, the judgment and decree dated 17.9.2001 passed in the earlier suit, Ext. D-1, the order dated 4.5.1994 of Assistant Collector and Ext. DW-1/A the order dated 31.8.1982?
>
> 2. Whether the learned first Appellate Court is justified to reverse the findings of the trial Court by concluding that Order 2 Rule 2 CPC is not attracted in the present case, although, vide Ext. DA it has come on record that the plaintiff in the earlier suit has abandoned the relief for possession of the suit land?
> 3. Whether Ext. DW-1/A can be read in favour of the defendants with respect to the factum of possession of the suit land since 1982, although, the said order has not been assailed by the plaintiffs in the instant suit and the findings thereof has already been concluded in the earlier suit vide Ext. PB and Ext. AD?"

6. Mr. Lalit K. Sharma, Advocate, appearing on behalf of the appellants, on the basis of the substantial questions of law framed, has vehemently argued that the first Appellate Court has mis-read judgment Ext. PB and Ext. DA decree dated 17.9.2001 passed in the earlier suit Ext. D-1, the order dated 4.5.1994 of Assistant Collector and Ext. DW-1/A and the order dated 31.8.1982. According to him, Order 2 Rule 2 CPC was attracted in the present case. Ext DW-1/A could not be read in favour of the defendants with respect to factum of possession of the suit land since 1982. On the other hand, Mr. Suneet Goel, Advocate has supported the judgment and decree passed by the first Appellate Court.

7. Since all the substantial questions of law are inter-connected, hence are taken up together for determination to avoid repetition of discussion of evidence.

8. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the judgments and records of the case carefully.

9. PW-1 Shiv Shankar testified that the plaintiffs, including him were owners of the suit land. The plaintiffs have never inducted defendants as their tenants. He has denied that the plaintiffs have inducted Durgu as non-occupancy tenant. He admitted that Durgu moved an application before the Tehsildar for correction of revenue entries. However, he had no knowledge about the outcome of the same. He also admitted that earlier they had filed a suit qua the suit land.

10. DW-1 Bhup Chand testified that the suit land earlier was in possession of their predecessor and thereafter it came into possession of Durgu. His father had filed an application for correction of revenue entries in the Tehsil which was decided in his favour. Shiv Shankar had also moved an application for correction of the revenue entries. The plaintiffs filed a suit qua the suit land which was dismissed. The plaintiffs never remained in possession of the suit land and they were owners of the suit land. They were inducted as Gair Marusi in the year 1981-82, however, he could not tell about the negotiations qua the same.

11. The copy of judgment dated 17.9.2001 has been exhibited as Ext. PB and Ext. D-2. The present suit has been filed for possession under Section 5 of the Specific Reliefs Act, 1963 on the basis of title. There are specific averments that cause of action accrued to the plaintiffs on 7.12.2001 when the defendants refused to vacate the possession from the suit land and did not hand over the same despite requests made by the plaintiffs. The predecessor-in-interest of the defendants Durgu has filed an application for correction of the revenue entries before Assistant Collector IInd Grade. He placed on record order dated 31.8.1982 vide Ext. DW-1/A. The plaintiffs moved an application for correction of the revenue entries which was rejected by Assistant Collector IInd Grade on 4.5.1994. The predecessor-in-interest of defendants, namely, Durgu son of Kanhu was held to be tenant over the suit land by Assistant Collector IInd Grade, Sadar Mandi. The Assistant Collector IInd Grade was not competent to decide the dispute under Section 104(4) of the Act. The order Ext DW-1/A dated 31.8.1982 was nullity and without jurisdiction. It is also well settled that the order passed without inherent jurisdiction is nullity. The actions taken pursuant thereto are also nullity. The entries were made in favour of predecessor-in-interest of defendants, namely, Durgu son of Kanhu on the basis of Ext DW-1/A, order dated 31.8.1982. Durgu was recorded as "Gair Maurusi Bila Lagan Babajah Ghas Katai" as per jamabandi for the year 1995-96. The defendants have not proved that they have paid any rent to the landlord. The tenancy is a bilateral act. Moreover, Bhoop Chand, while appearing as DW-1 has admitted that no rent was ever paid to the plaintiffs. Thus, neither the predecessor-in-interest of defendants, namely, Durgu son of Kanhu nor the defendants could be termed as tenants over the suit land.

12. Now, as far as previous judgment dated 17.9.2001 is concerned, the relief of possession was also claimed in the previous suit. The defendants were required to prove that the second suit was in respect of the same cause of action as in the previous suit and the plaintiffs were entitled to more than one relief in the previous suit and without the leave of the Court omitted to sue for such relief for which second suit has been filed. Lastly, unless there was identity between the cause of action on which the earlier suit was filed and upon which the claim in the later suit was based, there would be no scope for application of the bar. The defendants have not proved as to what was the exact nature of the relief claimed in the previous suit as even the copy of the plaint has not been filed. The plaintiffs have never relinquished the claim of possession in the previous suit. Since order Ext DW-1/A dated 31.8.1982 is nullity and without jurisdiction, it could be challenged in collateral proceedings. Moreover, the order being null and void could be assailed before the Civil Court. The order passed by Assistant Collector IInd Grade Ext DW-1/A dated 31.8.1982 would not create any right, title or interest in favour of the defendants.

13. The first Appellate Court has correctly appreciated the judgment and decree dated 17.9.2001 as well as orders dated 4.5.1994 and 31.8.1982 rendered by Assistant Collector

IInd Grade, Sadar Mandi. The first Appellate Court has rightly come to the conclusion that Order 2 Rule 2 CPC was not attracted in the instant case. It is reiterated that one of the defendants DW-1 Bhoop Singh has also categorically admitted that no rent was ever paid to the plaintiffs. The substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

14. Consequently, there is no merit in this appeal and the same is dismissed, so also the pending application(s), if any.

Specific Relief Act, 1963- Section 34 and 38- A civil suit was filed for declaration pleading that suit land was joint and ancestral of the plaintiff and defendant No. 1- plaintiff was coparcener, who had right by birth- defendant No. 1 had relinquished the suit property in favour of defendant No. 2 without legal necessity- suit was dismissed by the trial Court- an appeal was preferred, which was dismissed- it was contended in second appeal that DW-1 had admitted the nature of the suit land, however, he had only admitted that suit land was earlier owned by S and thereafter by N and S- no document was placed on record to show that suit land was ancestral and coparcenary qua the plaintiff- relinquishment deed was executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 as he and his family members were looking after the defendant No. 1 as well as his land- Courts had rightly held that plaintiff had failed to prove the ancestral and coparcenary nature of the property- appeal dismissed. For the appellant: Mr. G.D. Verma, Senior Advocate, with Mr. B.C. Verma, Advocate.
For the respondents: Mr. Dinesh Bhanot, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, Judge :

This appeal has been filed by the appellant/plaintiff against judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Additional District Judge, Solan, Camp at Nalagarh in Civil Appeal No. 15-NL/13 of 2006 dated 08.03.2007 vide which, learned appellate Court while dismissing the appeal filed by the present appellant has upheld the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Senior Division), Nalagarh, District Solan in Civil Suit No. 99/1 of 2002, whereby the suit for declaration and permanent prohibitory injunction filed by the present appellant against the respondents/defendants was dismissed.

2. This appeal was admitted on 16.06.2007 on the following substantial questions of law:

"1. Whether the findings as recorded by both the Courts below are contrary to the provisions of law inter alia for the reason that the appellant has establish on record that the property in suit is ancestral and coparcenary property and therefore by virtue of his birth in the family, he acquired ownership and he cannot be divested thereof, merely on the basis of transaction of relinquishment by the defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2.

2. Whether alienation of the property in suit by way of relinquishment by defendant No. 1 in favour of the defendant No. 2 in the absence of legal necessity is illegal, unauthorized and void, therefore, plaintiff is entitled to relief as claimed?"

3. Brief facts necessary for the adjudication of the present case are that appellant/plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as 'the plaintiff') filed a suit for declaration and permanent prohibitory injunction originally against his father and uncle, namely Gandu Ram and Sita Ram, respectively mentioning therein that the suit land situated in Mauja Malpur, Pargana Dharampur, Tehsil Nalagarh, District Solan, as per jamabandi for the year 19976-98, was joint and ancestral of the plaintiff and defendant No. 1. According to the plaintiff, pedigree table of plaintiff and defendants was as under:

"Sehaj Ram
Nanak
()
Surat Ram
()

()	()	()	()	()	()	()	()	Gandu	Shiv
Sita	Husan	Lajja	Hakam	Agya	Jagdish"
Ram	Ram	Ram	Chand	Ram	Singh	Ram	Chand

4. According to the plaintiff, after the death of Sehaj Ram, his property including the suit land was succeeded by his son and after the death of Nanak, the properties were inherited by Surat Ram etc. vide mutation dated 06.09.1985. Thereafter, after the death of Surat Ram, his share in the properties including the suit land were inherited by his eight sons, which included the defendants also. They inherited the same vide mutation No. 723 dated 18.03.1992. As per the plaintiff, he was son of defendant No. 1 and grandson of Surat Ram. According to him, it was apparent from the pedigree table and mutation that the suit land was ancestral qua the plaintiff and no partition had taken place as per law and the plaintiff had right in the ancestral property by birth. According to the plaintiff, he was a coparcener to the suit land and was possessing the suit land under the law by virtue of his birth in the family and he could not have been dispossessed from the suit land. It was further the case of the plaintiff that defendant No. 1 was having good source of income from crops etc. and suit land being ancestral could not have been transferred or sold without any necessity, however, defendant No. 1 without any right to transfer the suit land, had relinquished the same by way of transfer in favour of defendant No. 2 without legal necessity just to deprive the plaintiff of his legal right vide relinquishment deed dated 12.12.2001. According to the plaintiff, said relinquishment deed was wrong, illegal, null and void.

5. It was on these basis that the suit was filed by the plaintiff praying for a decree of declaration to the effect that the suit land was ancestral and coparcenary property of the plaintiff and the plaintiff was coparcener and joint owner of the suit land and for decree of declaration to the effect that relinquishment deed executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 dated 12.12.2001 and registered with Sub Registrar, Nalagarh and subsequent mutation No. 872 dated 26.12.2001 attested on the basis of said relinquishment deed was wrong, illegal, null and void being without legal necessity and not binding on the right, titled and interest of the plaintiff. Plaintiff also prayed for a decree of permanent prohibitory injunction for restraining the defendants from interfering in the suit land, ousting the plaintiff from the suit land or causing any kind of damage etc. on the suit land. Alternatively, plaintiff prayed that in case Court comes to the conclusion that defendant No. 2 was in possession on any portion of the suit land, then decree for joint possession be passed in favour of the plaintiff and in case defendant No. 2 was found in exclusive possession, then in that event, decree for possession be passed in favour of the plaintiff.

6. In the written statement filed to the suit by defendants No. 1 and 2, it was stated that plaintiff was residing at village Nanakpur in Tehsil Kalka in the State of Haryana and he had absolutely no concern with the actual possession of suit land and the same was with defendant No. 2. According to the defendants, plaintiff never resided in village Mallpur and the suit land was in possession of defendant No. 2, who was real younger brother of defendant No. 1. As per the defendants, plaintiff had filed the suit at the instance of persons inimical to the defendants just to harass them. According to defendants, defendant No. 1 was being looked after and served by the family of defendant No. 2 for the last 40 years, who had spent huge amount on the treatment of defendant No. 1 when he was seriously injured in the attack by Mohan Lal and others. It was further the case of defendants that as defendant No. 1 was physically unable to undertake hard jobs of agricultural nature, it was defendant No. 2 and his family who were carrying on all the hard and laborious jobs of cultivating the suit land. As per the defendants, defendant No. 1 had executed a deed of relinquishment in favour of defendant No. 2 as plaintiff had never cared to visit defendant No. 1 for the last 40 years and had left defendant No. 1 at the mercy of God and had fully deserted him to settle at Village Nanakpur, Tehsil Kalka (Haryana). Further, in the written statement, it was denied by the defendants that the suit property was property of Sehaj Ram, Nanak and Surat Ram, who inherited the same by way of succession only. As per the defendants, defendant No. 1 had no one to look after him but for defendant No. 2 and his family. Defendant No. 1 had executed relinquishment deed in favour of defendant No. 2 which was legal and valid and plaintiff had no right to question the validity of the same. It was also the case of the defendants that the suit land was in peaceful and uninterrupted possession of defendant No. 2, who was cultivating the same since 1982. It was denied by the defendants that the plaintiff was a coparcener and the suit land was a coparcenary property.

7. On the basis of pleadings of the parties, learned trial Court framed the following issues:

"1. Whether the suit land is ancestral property qua the plaintiff? OPP

2. Whether the plaintiff is having share as alleged in para-1 of the plaint? OPP

3. Whether the relinquishment deed executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 1552 dated 12.12.2001 is bad for want of competence? OPP

4. Whether there exists custom prohibitory alienation except for legal necessity? OPP

5. Whether the suit of the plaintiff is not maintainable? OPD

6. Whether the plaintiff has not come to the Court with clean hands? OPD

7. Relief."

8. On the basis of evidence adduced by the respective parties in support of their respective claims, the following findings were returned by learned trial Court on the issues so framed:

"Issue No. 1: No.
Issue No. 2: No.
Issue No. 3: No.
Issue No. 4: No.
Issue No. 5: No.
Issue No. 6: No.

Relief: The suit of the plaintiff stands dismissed as per operative portion of the judgment.

9. Accordingly, learned trial Court vide its judgment and decree dated 21.04.2006 dismissed the suit filed by the plaintiff. It was held by learned trial Court that the onus to prove whether the suit land was ancestral property qua plaintiff or not was on the plaintiff and he had not produced any documentary evidence worth its name from which it could be concluded that the said property was ancestral property. It was further held by learned trial Court that document Ex.-P8 merely reflected that after the death of proprietor of the property therein, who was joint owner alongwith others, the land was inherited by Surat Ram and Asa Ram, however, there was no documentary evidence on record to bring home the point that Nanak had inherited the suit property from Sehaj Ram and thereafter it passed through Surat Ram from whom the same was allegedly inherited by the father of the plaintiff and thereafter by the plaintiff. It was further held by learned trial Court that bare statement of plaintiff as PW-1 was not sufficient to establish the ancestral nature of the suit property. It was also held by learned trial Court that defendant Sita Ram had entered the witness box as DW-1 and he had stated that the suit property was exclusively owned by defendant No. 1, i.e. father of the plaintiff, who remained in possession of the suit property till it was relinquished in his favour vide relinquishment deed. Learned trial Court further held that this witness was subjected to cross-examination, but his testimony on material points could not be shattered. It was further held by learned trial Court that DW-2 Atma Ram had deposed about the execution of relinquishment deed by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 and DW-3 Pritam, who was Pradhan of Gram Panchayat, Manpur in the year 2000 also stated that defendant No. 2 was continuing in possession of the suit land and it was only defendant No. 1, who cultivated the same. It was further held by learned trial Court that as per Jamabandis on record Ex. P-2 and Ex. P-4, the suit land was owned and possessed by defendant No. 1 and subsequently defendant No. 2 was owner in possession of the suit land. It further held that relinquishment deed Ex. D-1 stood duly proved on record, which was executed voluntarily by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 in lieu of services rendered by defendant No. 1 to defendant No. 2. On these basis, learned trial Court dismissed the suit of the plaintiff.

10. Feeling aggrieved by judgment and decree passed by learned trial Court, plaintiff filed an appeal. Learned appellate Court vide its judgment and decree dated 08.03.2007 upheld the findings returned by learned trial Court and dismissed the appeal so filed by plaintiff. Learned appellate Court also held that there was no evidence on record from which it could be deciphered that the suit property was ancestral qua the father of the plaintiff and the suit property was coparcenary in the hands of his father. It was further held by learned appellate Court that plaintiff had placed on record copy of Bandobast Doam Ex. P-4 to establish that suit land at one point of time was owned by Nanak, father of Surat Ram from whom the land was inherited by Gandu Ram, however, a perusal of Ex. P-4 demonstrated that the land mentioned therein was different from the suit land. It was further held by learned appellate Court that even copy of jamabandi for the year 1992-93 Ex. P-5 in which Gandu Ram was recorded as co-sharer in the suit land alongwith others in no manner proved that the suit land was ancestral or coparcenary in his hands. In fact it was held by learned appellate Court that the appellant therein had relied upon copy of mutation Ex. P-7, vide which suit land was alleged to have been inherited by defendant No. 1 alongwith his brothers including defendant No. 2 from their father after his death. On the basis of said document, it was contended on behalf of the appellant before the first appellate Court that the said document proved that the suit land was inherited by defendant No. 1 alongwith his other brothers from their father. The findings which were returned on this aspect of the matter by learned appellate Court were that perusal of Ex. P-7 copy of mutation demonstrated that the description of land mentioned therein nowhere tallied with the suit land. It was further held by learned appellate Court that even if it was assumed that property came to Gandu Ram vide mutation Ex. P-7, even then it could not be said that the property was ancestral in nature because contents of Ex. P-7 revealed that the suit land had not devolved upon Gandu Ram and his brothers on the basis of succession, but Surat Ram had executed a Will in favour of Gandu Ram and his brothers and as such mutation was attested in favour of Gandu Ram, defendant No. 1 and his brothers on the basis of Will. It was further held by learned appellate Court that though it was the plea of the plaintiff that he was in possession of the suit land and accordingly, he had prayed that the defendants be restrained from interfering or ousting him from the suit land, however, nothing was placed on record by the plaintiff except his self serving statement to substantiate that he was in fact in possession of the suit land. There was no entry in his name in the pariwar register in village Malpur and in ration card and voter list of the plaintiff village Nankpur was mentioned. It was also held by learned appellate Court that oral evidence adduced on behalf of the defendants corroborated the fact that plaintiff was not residing in village Malpur and he was not in possession of the suit land and defendant No. 2 was in fact in possession of the suit land and he also used to look after defendant No. 1 and the property of defendant No. 1 before the same was relinquished in favour of defendant No. 2. Accordingly, learned appellate Court also dismissed the appeal filed by the plaintiff.

11. Mr. G.D. Verma, learned Senior Counsel for the appellant argued that the findings returned by both the learned Courts below to the effect that the suit property was not coparcenary and ancestral were perverse as both the learned Courts below failed to appreciate that besides the factum of the appellant having produced material on record to demonstrate this fact, defendant No. 2 in his statement in the Court on oath had admitted that the suit property was ancestral. According to Mr. Verma, once the factum of the suit property being ancestral was admitted by defendant No. 2 as witness, there was no further need for the plaintiff to have had adduced any material to prove this fact. It was further argued by Mr. Verma that both learned Courts below failed to appreciate that the defendants had withheld the best evidence, i.e. defendant No. 1 who never entered the witness box. According to Mr. Verma, adverse inference in this regard ought to have been drawn against the defendants and this aspect of the matter had also been ignored by both the learned Courts below. Mr. Verma further argued that the findings returned by learned Courts below to the effect that the suit property was not ancestral was not borne out from the material on record and accordingly, he argued that judgments and decrees passed by both the learned Courts below were not sustainable either on facts or on law.

12. Mr. Dinesh Bhanot, learned counsel for the respondent, on the other hand submitted that whether the suit land was ancestral or not stood decided against the plaintiff and in favour of the defendants by both the learned Courts below. He further submitted that it was also concurrently held by both the learned Court below that the relinquishment deed executed in favour of defendant No. 2 by defendant No. 1 was a legal and valid document. Accordingly, he submitted that keeping in view the fact that plaintiff had not produced any material on record to establish that either the suit land was ancestral or that the relinquishment deed executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 was not a valid relinquishment deed, the concurrent findings arrived at in favour of the defendants by both learned Courts below called for no interference in this appeal. He thus submitted that there was no merit in the present appeal and the same be dismissed with costs.

13. I have heard the learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the records of the case as well as the judgments passed by both the learned Courts below.

14. The factum of the suit land being ancestral and the plaintiff having coparcenary rights over the same has been disbelieved by both the learned Courts below. It has been concurrently held by both the learned Courts below that no evidence has been produced on record by the plaintiff to establish this fact that the suit land which was relinquished by the father of the plaintiff in favour of defendant No.2 was coparcenary and ancestral qua the plaintiff. It has also been held by both the learned Courts below that the documents on the basis of which it was emphasized on behalf of the plaintiff that the suit land was ancestral and coparcenary property did not further the case of the plaintiff as the particulars of the land mentioned in the said documents did not pertain to the suit land. In order to meet the said findings arrived at by both the learned Courts below, the contention of learned Senior Counsel for the appellant was that there was no need or requirement for the plaintiff to have had adduced any evidence in view of the fact that defendant No. 2 as DW-1 had admitted that suit land was ancestral in nature. I am afraid that the said contention on behalf of appellant is not sustainable in law. It is a matter of record that no material has been adduced by the plaintiff from which it could be inferred that he suit land in fact was a coparcenary property and said land in fact was inherited by way of succession by his father from grandfather of the plaintiff. A perusal of the statement of DW-1 demonstrated that in his cross-examination, he has admitted that the suit property was earlier owned by Sehaj Ram and then by Nanak and thereafter by Surat Ram. However, it was neither put to the said witness nor he has said in his cross-examination that the property was inherited by Nanak and Surat Ram by way of natural succession. Therefore, it cannot be inferred that the suit property had devolved upon them by way of natural succession. Besides this, in my considered view, the testimony of DW-1 has to be read harmoniously with the stand which has been taken by the defendant in the written statement as well as in the examination-in-chief of the said witness, which is by way of an affidavit in which the case as was put forth by the plaintiff has been clearly disputed and denied. Further, the factum of the father of plaintiff, i.e. Gandu Ram not having entered the witness box is also not going to be fatal for the simple reason that there were two defendants in the case and the relinquishment deed in issue under challenge in the suit was in favour of defendant No. 2, who has submitted this fact as DW-1. Therefore, the contention of the appellant to the effect that best evidence was withheld by the defendants and adverse inference should have been drawn against them is also without merit. During the course of arguments, learned counsel for the appellant could not draw the attention of this Court towards any document on record from which it could be inferred that the suit property was in fact ancestral and coparcenary qua the plaintiff and it could not have been relinquished by his father in favour of defendant No. 2. As far as the factum of execution of relinquishment deed by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 is concerned, it is a matter of record. Plaintiff has not adduced any evidence from which it could be inferred that the said relinquishment deed was not executed voluntarily by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 in lieu of services rendered by defendant No. 2 and his family to defendant No. 1. On the other hand, evidence has been led by the defendants to demonstrate that the relinquishment deed was executed by defendant No. 1 in favour of defendant No. 2 because when on account of ill health, defendant No. 1 was not in a position to look after himself or his property, it was defendant No. 2 and his family who were looking after him as well as his land and after the execution of relinquishment deed, the property was in possession of defendant No. 2, who was cultivating the same. The argument of the appellant to the effect that both learned Courts below have failed to appreciate that there was no specific denial in the written statement of the fact that the suit land was ancestral and coparcenary qua the plaintiff is also without any merit. It is evident and apparent from the averments made in the written statement that it is mentioned in para-2 of the preliminary objections that the suit land was not ancestral or joint Hindu family property and thereafter it was denied in para-3 of the written statement on merit that the property in issue was inherited by way of succession.

15. Order VIII Rule 5 of the Code of Civil Procedure provides that every allegation of fact in the plaint, if not denied specifically or by necessary implication, or stated to be not admitted in the pleading of the defendant, shall be taken to be admitted except as against a person under disability. It is settled position of law that if an allegation made in the plaint is not specifically denied in the written statement, then it is treated as admitted. This was held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Balraj Taneja Vs. Sunil Madan (1999)8 SCC 396 and this legal position has again been reiterated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Standard Chartered Bank Vs. Andhra Bank Financial Services Limited and others (2016) 1 Supreme Court Cases 207.

16. In my considered view, in the present case, it can not be said that the allegations made in the plaint were not specifically denied in the written statement. The contention of the plaintiff that the suit land was ancestral has been denied in the written statement. The contention of the plaintiff that he was in possession of the suit land has been denied in the written statement. The contention of the plaintiff that the relinquishment deed was not valid in the eyes of law has been denied in the written statement. Therefore, it is not a case where the allegations made in the plaint were not specifically denied in the written statement.

17. Learned Senior Counsel for the appellant during the course of arguments has relied upon the following judgments in support of its case:

"1. Vinod Kumar Vs. Gangadhar (2015) 1 Supreme Court Cases 391.

2. Nicholas V. Menezes Vs. Joseph M. Menezes and others (2009) 4 Supreme Court Cases 791.

18. It has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Vinod Kumar Vs. Gangadhar (2015) 1 Supreme Court Cases 391 that while sitting as Court of first appeal, it is the duty of High Court to deal with all issues and evidence led by parties before recording its findings.

19. It has been reiterated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Nicholas V. Menezes Vs. Joseph M. Menezes and others (2009) 4 Supreme Court Cases 791 that while deciding a first appeal, the High Court must consider the evidence on record, oral and documentary and also the questions of law raised before it and at the same time it is duty of the High Court to consider the reasons given by the trial Court against which the first appeal was filed and thereafter dispose of the same after passing a speaking and reasoned order in accordance with law.

20. In my considered view, the law declared by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the above mentioned judgments is not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the present appeal.

21. Therefore, in view of the discussion held above, it cannot be said that the findings recorded by both learned Courts below are contrary to the provisions of law or the appellant had in fact established on record that the suit land was ancestral and coparcenary property and it could not have been divested by his father by way of a relinquishment deed. Similarly, keeping in view the fact that plaintiff has not been able to demonstrate that the suit land was coparcenary and ancestral property, it cannot be said that the alienation of the said property by way of a valid registered relinquishment deed in favour of defendant No. 2 by defendant No. 1 was not sustainable in law. Substantial questions of law are decided accordingly.

22. In view of the findings returned above, there is no merit in the present appeal and the same is dismissed with costs.

Mr. Vikas Rathore, Advocate for respondent No.2 in CWP Nos.6425 of 2011 and 6586 of 2011.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Tarlok Singh Chauhan J.

Since common questions of law and facts arise for consideration in these petitions, therefore, they were taken up together for hearing and are being disposed of by a common judgment.

2. Petitioners and private respondents are all Judicial Officers. Petitioners were admittedly senior to the private respondents in the cadre of Civil Judge (Junior Division). However, private respondents scored a march over them in the promotion/selection to the post of Civil Judge (Senior Division) and aggrieved by such promotion have filed these writ petitions.

3. On 16.3.2004, the State in exercise of powers conferred by Articles 233, 234 and proviso to Article 309 of the Constitution of India read with Sub section (1) of Section 4 of the H.P. Judicial Officers (Pay and Conditions of Service), Act, 2003 in consultation with the High Court of Himachal Pradesh and the State Public Service Commission framed Rules, regulating the Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Members of different cadres of H.P. Judicial Service, nomenclatured as Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service Rules, 2004. Some of the salient provisions of these rules are as under.

> ".Rule 2(1) (g) 'Regulations' means the regulations framed by the High Court under these rules for the following purposes:-

(i) To prescribe the syllabus for the competitive examination and suitability test to be conducted by the High Court for the cadre of District Judges/ Addl. District Judges and the cadre of Civil Judges (Jr. Division).

(ii) …….

(iii) ……

(iv) To prescribe the syllabus and to conduct the departmental examinations for the different cadres of the H.P. Judicial Service.

(v) To prescribe the syllabus for and to conduct the special examinations or tests, if any, required to be passed during the period of probation or officiation in relation to all the appointments to the service by direct recruitment or by promotion,

(vi) To evaluate the performance of the officers and assign marks for the competitive examination to be conducted by the High Court for the cadre of District Judges/Addl. District Judges,

(vii) …….

(viii) To evaluate the performance of the officers (appointed to the service) in relaxation to departmental and special examinations or tests.

Rule 4 (2) The Civil Judges (Sr. Division) shall be promoted by the High Court of Himachal Pradesh on the basis of merit-cum-seniority. Civil Judges (Junior Division) shall be appointed by the Governor in consultation with the Himachal Pradesh Public Service Commission and High Court of Himachal Pradesh.

Rule – 5. Method of recruitment, qualification and age limit.- In respect of each category of posts specified in column (2) of the Table below, the method of recruitment and minimum qualification, age limit etc. shall be as specified in the corresponding entries in columns (3) and (4) thereof.

TABLE UNDER RULE – 5

1.	XXX	XXX	XXX
2.	Civil Judge (Sr. Division)	By promotion from the cadre of Civil Judge (Jr. Division) on the basis of merit-cum-seniority.	Minimum experience of 5 years in the cadre of Civil Judge (Junior Division). Note. – The appointing authority, may in situations where Civil Judges (Jr. Division) with the aforesaid requisite experience are not available, relax the aforesaid minimum experience criteria but in no case shall such relaxation go below three years.*

4. On 4.1.2007, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the matter of Malik Mazhar Sultan and another Vs. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission & Others, 2008 (17) SCC 703, issued various directions for filling up of vacancies in the cadre of District Judge, Civil Judge (Sr. Division) and requested the High Courts to constitute a Committee of two or three Judges to monitor and oversee that timely selection and appointment of Judicial Officers are made. Relevant observations read thus:

> "9. We request the Chief Justice of each High Court to constitute a committee of two or three judges to monitor and oversee that timely selection and appointment of judicial officers is made. The Chief Justice is further requested to constitute a special cell in the name of 'Selection and Appointment' in the High Court or under such other name as the learned Chief Justice may be consider proper with an officer of the rank of Registrar for assisting the Committee and the Chief Justice for complying with the aforesaid time schedule."

5. This led to issuance of notification dated 20.9.2008 i.e. Himachal Pradesh Judicial Services (First Amendment) Rules, 2008 which affected amendment of table under Rule 5, whereby the post of Civil Judge (Senior Division) was required to be filled up from the cadre of Civil Judge (Junior Division) on the basis of merit-cum-seniority from the Judicial Officers in the cadre of Civil Judges (Junior Division) having the minimum experience of 5 years in the said cadre.

6. On 28.3.2009, the High Court in exercise of the powers conferred under Rule 2 (1) (g) read with Rule 5 of the Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service Rules, 2004, framed regulations providing for merit-cum-suitability test for promotion to the cadre of Civil Judges (Senior Division) from amongst the Civil Judges (Junior Division) in terms of clause 1(a) of the table given below:

Short Title:	1.	The Regulations may be called "The Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service {Suitability Test for Promotion to the cadre of Civil Judges (Senior Division)} Regulations, 2009."
Commencement:	2	These Regulations shall come into force with immediate effect.
Suitability test:	3.	Suitability of an officer of the cadre of Civil Judge (Junior Division) for promotion to the cadre of Civil Judges (Senior Division) shall be determined on the basis of the examination of judgments, assessment of the A.C.Rs for the last 5 years, as under:
	(i)	Evaluation of 5 civil and 5 criminal judgments rendered by the eligible Judicial Officer during the last one year in any month to be specified by the Hon'ble Chief Justice. …50 marks.
		Provided that where the concerned Civil Judge (Junior Division) is working on a post in which he does not have to write judgments such as a deputation post in the High Court or in any other authority or Forum or Government etc. the expression "last one year" shall be construed as the last one year prior to his aforesaid posting meaning thereby "such a year" in which he was occupying a post/holding an appointment in which he had to write judgments.
	(ii)	Evaluation of ACRs for the last five years ……40 marks
	(iii)	Performance in the oral interview …10 marks
		Total …100 marks

Qualifying Marks. 4	The qualifying marks in the suitability test shall be 60%.
Zone of 5 Consideration.	The zone of consideration shall ordinarily be three times the available and anticipated vacancies.
Constitution of 6 Committees.	The Full Court shall constitute two committees, each consisting of at least two Judges, hereinafter referred to as "First Committee" and "Second Committee".
Functions and 7 factors to be considered by the Committees	1. The "First Committee" shall evaluate ACRs of the eligible Judicial Officers and conduct viva voce test. 2. While assessing the ACRs, the "First Committee" shall make evaluation on the basis of the entries in the various columns of the ACRs and the assessment will not be made only on the entry made against the last column (net result) so far as the ACRs are concerned, or the ultimate opinion of the District and Sessions Judge. The Committee shall also examine the performance in the oral interview. 3 (a) The "Second Committee" shall examine the judgments of the eligible Judicial Officers. (b) The judgments shall be evaluated having due regard to the following factors:- (i) Knowledge of law (ii) Collation and appreciation of facts (iii) Correctness of conclusions (iv) Language (v) Clarity and reasoning. (c) The final marks obtained shall be worked out by process of averaging, i.e. to say, by dividing the gross total marks allocable for all the judgments by the number of judgments examined.
Preparation of 8 merit- cum-suitability test.	From amongst such Judicial officers who have qualified the suitability test by obtaining the qualifying marks as prescribed in Regulation No. 4 the promotion shall be made on the basis of principle of seniority in the lower cadre."

7. On 14.7.2009 the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan and another Vs. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission & Others, (2009) 17 SCC 583 held that the officers should not be subjected to oral interview for the purpose of promotion to the post of Civil Judge (Sr. Division). It further directed that if any High Court/State Government had framed such rules pursuance to the directions of the Court dated 4.1.2007, such rule should also be considered as deleted.

8. This led to issuance of notification on 2.9.2009 whereby amendments in 'The Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service (Suitability Test for Promotion to the cadre of Civil Judges (Senior Division) from amongst the Civil Judges (Junior Division), Regulations 2004" to be called "The Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service (Suitability Test for Promotion to the cadre of Civil Judges (Senior Division) from amongst the Civil Judges (Junior Division) (1st amendment) Regulations, 2009" were carried out thereby deleting the Clause relating to Performance in the 'oral interview'.

9. On 14.9.2009 vacancies of Civil Judge (Sr. Division) were invited and selection process initiated and thereafter result was declared.

10. However, the petitioners could not qualify and aggrieved by their non-promotion submitted representations, which were rejected by the High Court, constraining the petitioners to file these petitions on the following grounds:

"(i) Selection of respondents No.3 to 6 is bad in law, contrary to established norms and procedure.

(ii) Himachal Pradesh Judicial Services (Suitability Test for promotion to Civil Judges (Sr.Divn) Regulation 2009 ultra vires to the provision of Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service Rules, 2004.

(iii) Beyond the power of High Court to frame such rules.

(iv) The Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service Rules 2004 does not prescribe any suitability test for promotion to the post of Civil Judge (Sr.Divn) Regulation of 2004 as amended in 2009 suffers from the vires of excessive delegation of power and as such cannot be sustained.

(v) No criteria for the assessment of ACRs in the Regulations."

11. Based upon the aforesaid grounds, the petitioners have prayed for the following reliefs;

"1. That the selection of Respondents No.3 to 6 as Civil Judge (Senior Division) may be quashed and set aside.

2. That Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service (Suitability Test for Promotion to Civil Judges (Senior Division) Regulations 2009 may be declared to be ultra vires to the provisions of Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service Rules-2004 and may be quashed and set aide.

3. That the respondent No.2 may be directed to conduct the selection process for the post of Civil Judge (Senior Division) in accordance with the principle of merit-cum-seniority as contained in Himachal Pradesh Judicial Service Rules-2004.

4. That alternatively respondent no.2 may be directed to adopt valid and proper criteria for evaluation of ACRs and Judgments for promotion to the post of Civil Judge (Senior Division)

5. That the petitioner may be promoted to the post of Civil Judge (Senior Division) in accordance with the principles of merit-cum-seniority giving due considerations to the seniority."

12. The High Court in its reply has averred that the petitioners were considered for promotion along with other eligible candidates, however, they failed to secure the minimum marks as prescribed under the Regulations for merit-cum-suitability test under the regulations for promotion to the posts of Civil Judges (Sr. Division) and, as such were not promoted.

We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the materials on record.

13. It is vehemently argued by the petitioners that the members of the Selection Committee could not have down graded ACRs, particularly when the same had been accepted by the Hon'ble Chief Justice as Accepting Authority and earlier to that these had already been submitted to the Reviewing Authority (Administrative Judge), who, too, is an Hon'ble Judge of this court.

14. We are not impressed by such submission as the selection committee is not guided merely by the overall grading that may be recorded in the ACR and in order to ensure justice, equity and fair play, is required to make its own assessment on the basis of in-depth examination of service records of eligible officers, deliberating on the quality of the officers on the basis of performance as reflected under various columns recorded by the Reporting/Review Officer/Accepting Authority in the ACRs for different years and then finally arrive at the classification to be assigned to each eligible officer in accordance with the provisions of promotions, regulations/rules.

15. It has come on record that the High Court in terms of Regulation 6 of the Regulations dated 28.3.2009, constituted two committees consisting of two Hon'ble Judges, referred therein as the First Committee and the Second Committee as provided under Regulation No.7. The First Committee evaluated the ACRs of all Judicial Officers by taking into consideration all the entries in various columns of the ACRs and the assessment thereafter was independently made not influenced by the entries made against last column 'Net Result' or the ultimately decision of the District & Sessions Judge. This was done as per provisions of Regulation 7.2.

16. Similarly, the Second Committee as per provisions of Regulation 7.3 (a), (b) & (c) had examined the judgments delivered by the Judicial Officers bearing in mind:

(i) Knowledge of law;

(ii) Collation and appreciation of facts

(iii) Correctness of allegations

(iv) Language

(v) Clarity and reasoning.

Assessment of merit of each and every eligible officer was independently made by the Committees and thereafter the selections were made.

17. As already observed earlier, the criteria for selection as also the composition and constitution of the Committees to evaluate the ACRs and the judgments of the Judicial Officers was pursuant to and in compliance of the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan and another vs. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission & Ors. 2008 (17) SCC 703 as clarified in Malik Mazhar Sultan and another vs. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission & Ors. 2009 (17) SCC 583.

18. Notably, petitioners themselves have appended with their petitions copy of the guidelines framed by the government for effecting promotions on the basis of merit-cum-seniority wherein it is clearly provided that the DPC is to independently assess the Annual Confidential Reports of the candidates and grade them as 'average', 'good', 'very good' and 'outstanding'. It is further provided that while grading officers, as aforesaid, one should not mechanically follow the grading given by the Reporting Officer. The relevant portion of the instruction is extracted below and reads thus:

> "While grading officers as "Outstanding", "Very Good" and "Good", one should not mechanically follow the grading given by the Reporting Officer. They should also take into account the nature of the job against which an individual is posted as well as its responsibilities……."

19. A perusal of the aforesaid instructions leave no manner of doubt in our mind that the Selection Committees was not to be guided merely by the overall grading in the ACRs, but was required to make its own assessment on the basis of entries in the ACRs.

20. Petitioners would then seek indulgence of this court to interfere with the grading given by the Selection Committee, which to our mind, is not permissible in view of the consistent law on the subject, as discussed hereinafter.

21. In Union Public Service Commission Vs. Hiranyalal Dev and others AIR 1988 SC 1069, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"5.....How to categorize in the light of the relevant records and what norms to apply in making the assessment are exclusively the functions of the Selection Committee. The jurisdiction to make the selection is vested in the Selection Committee....."

22. In the case of Dalpat Abasaheb Solunke Vs. Dr.B.S. Mahajan etc, AIR 1990 SC 434, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"9.....It is needless to emphasise that it is not the function of the Court to hear appeals over the decisions of the Selection Committees and to scrutinize the relative merits of the Candidates. Whether a candidate is fit for a particular post or not has to be decided by the duly constituted Selection Committee which has the expertise on the subject....."

23. In the case of State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Shrikant Chapekar, JT 1992 (5) SC 638, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"4.We are of the view that the Tribunal fell into patent error in substituting itself for the DPC. The remarks in the annual confidential report are based on the assessment of the work and conduct of the official/officer concerned for a period of one year. The Tribunal was wholly unjustified in reaching the conclusion that the remarks were vague and of a general nature. In any case, the Tribunal 'outstepped its jurisdiction in reaching the conclusion that the adverse remarks were not sufficient to deny the respondent his promotion to the post of Deputy Director. It is not the function of the Tribunal to assess the service record of a Government servant and order his promotion on that basis. It is for the DPC to evaluate the same and make recommendations based on such evaluation. This Court has repeatedly held that in a case where the Court/Tribunal comes to the conclusion that a person was considered for promotion or the consideration was illegal, then the only direction which can be given is to reconsider his case in accordance with law. It is not within the competence of the Tribunal, in the fact of the present case, to have ordered deemed promotion of the respondent."

24. In Nutan Arvind Vs. Union of India & ors (1996) 2 SCC 488, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that when a High level committee had considered the respective merits of the candidates, assessed the grading and considered their cases for promotion, the court cannot sit over the assessment made by the DPC as an appellate authority.

25. In the case of Ramanand Prasad Singh & another Vs. Union of India & others (1996) 4 SCC 64, the Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under:

"14.....The Committee applies its mind to the service records and makes its own assessment of the service records of the candidates marking them as outstanding, very good. good and so on. The Selection Committee does not necessarily adopt the same grading which is given by the Reporting/Reviewing Officer in respect of each of the candidates. In fact the Selection Committee makes an overall relative assessment of the confidential report dossiers of the officers in the zone of consideration. It thus does not evaluate the confidential report dossier of an individual in isolation. It is after this comparative assessment that the best candidates are put in the Select List....."

26. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of UPSC Vs. K.Rajaiah (2005) 10 SCC 15, has held that the power to classify as 'outstanding', 'very good', 'good' and 'unfit' is vested with the Selection Committee. That is a function incidental to the selection process. The classification given by the State Government authorities in the ACRs is not binding on the Committee. No doubt, the Committee is by and large guided by the classification adopted by the State Government, but for good reasons, the Selection committee can evolve its own classification which may be variance with the gradation given in the ACRs.

27. Again, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of UPSC Vs. L.P. Tiwari (2006) 12 SCC 317, has held that it is now more or less well settled that the evaluation made by an expert committee should not be easily interfered with the courts which do not have the necessary expertise to undertake the exercise that is necessary for such purpose.

28. In the case of Union of India & Another Vs. S.K. Goel and others (2007) 14 SCC 641, it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court as under:

> "28.....In the absence of any violation, the impugned order of the High Court while undertaking a judicial review under Art. 226 of the Constitution of India, is wholly unjustified. Since the matter of seniority has been well settled and this Court in a plethora of cases has held that the seniority/promotion granted on the strength of DPC selection should not be unsettled after a lapse of time. Therefore, in the facts and circumstances of the present case, where there is no adverse remarks whatsoever against respondent No.1, the High Court ought not to have interfered with and passed the impugned direction. This apart, as per the instructions contained in para 6.21 of DOPT Order No. 22011/5/86/Estt. D dated 19.4.1981, as amended, the DPC is not required to be guided merely by the overall grading, if any, that may be recorded in the CRs but to make its own assessment on the basis of the entries in the CRs. The DPC enjoyed full discretion to devise its method and procedure for objective assessment of suitability and merit of the candidate being considered by it. Hence, the impugned order of the High Court, in our opinion, is liable to be set aside."

29. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of M.V. Thimmaiah and Others Vs. Union Public Service Commission and another (2008) 2 SCC 119, reaffirmed the aforesaid view holding that the view taken by the High Court was correct that it is always within the power of the Selection Committee to record its own assessment about the selection which may be at variance with that of the reporting officer or reviewing officer.

30. In the case of Union of India & ors Vs. S.P. Nayyar, (2014) 14 SCC 370, it has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court as under:

> "11.It is settled that High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India cannot sit in appeal over the assessment made by the DPC. If the assessment made by the DPC is perverse or is not based on record or proper record has not been considered by the DPC, it is always open to the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution to remit the matter back to the DPC for recommendation, but the High Court cannot assess the merit on its own, on perusal of the service record of one or the other employee.
> 12. The selection to the post of Addl. DIG is based on merit-cum- suitability which is to be adjudged on the basis of ACRs of different candidates. The merit position can be adjudged by the Selection Committee on appreciation of their Character Roll. In absence of the Character roll of other candidates, who were also in the zone of promotion, it is not open to the High Court to assess the merit of one individual who moves before the High Court, to give a finding whether he comes within the zone of promotion or fit for promotion."

31. In addition to the aforesaid, we also find that there are no allegations of malafides, violation or infraction of the rules and that being the case, this court cannot sit as an appellate authority to examine the recommendations of the Selection Committee like the court of appeal. The discretion to make recommendation has to be given to the Selection Committee alone and the courts rarely sit in appeal to examine the selection of the candidates nor is it the business of the court to examine each candidate and record its opinion. Moreover, it is settled that the function of the Selection Committee is neither judicial nor adjudicatory, it is purely administrative.

32. It is equally settled that this court cannot arrogate to itself the power to judge the comparative merit of the candidates and consider the fitness and suitability for promotion, it is the job of DPC. That apart, this court, while exercising its power of judicial review, will not sit in appeal over the assessment made by the DPC, unless the same is perverse or is not based on record or proper record has not been considered by the DPC and even in such cases, the court will only remit the matter back to the DPC for recommendation, but will not assess the merit of its own on perusal of the service record of one or the other employee. However, as observed earlier, in absence of bias or malafides, even this ground will not be available to the petitioners.

33. Moreover, the petitioners have failed to point out any rule or regulation requiring the Selection Committee to record reasons. In the absence of any such legal requirement, the selection made without recording reasons cannot be faltered with. Even otherwise, giving of reasons for decision is different from and in principle distinct from the requirement of procedure or fairness. The procedure or fairness is the main requirement in the administrative action. The 'fairness' or 'fair procedure' in the administrative action has to be observed and the Selection Committee cannot be an exception to this principle. It must take a decision reasonably without being guided by extraneous or irrelevant considerations. But there is nothing on record to suggest that the Selection Committee did anything contrary.

34. As already observed earlier, petitioners have not raised or levelled directly or indirectly or even tacitly any allegations or malafides against any of the members of the Selection Committee. In fact, none of the petitioners in any of these petitions have pleaded or raised the question that the DPC had not adopted same or similar criteria or assessing/ making the evaluation of the eligible Judicial Officers considering the ACRs/service records and judgments. It is also not in dispute that the criteria adopted by the DPC was uniformally applied in respect of all the eligible officers, who together were considered in one go by the same members of the DPC for their assessment/evaluation of the ACRs/service records and judgments and, therefore, in such circumstances, there will be no question or hardly any question of any arbitrariness.

35. At this stage, we may also notice that this court on 18.9.2015, after having heard the matter for some time, directed respondent No.2 (High Court) to place on record the reports of both the committees i.e. First Committee which evaluated the ACRs of all the Judicial Officers and the Second Committee which evaluated the judgments of the Judicial Officers in terms of provisions contained in Regulation 6, 7.2 and 7.3 of the Regulations.

36. In compliance to the aforesaid order, reports of the Committees were placed as Annexures R-2/A and R-2/B respectively. The final marks sheet were then placed and thereafter unanimously approved by the Hon'ble Full Court vide Annexure R-2/C.

37. In such circumstances, the further question that falls for our consideration is the scope of judicial review in matters which have been approved by the Hon'ble Full Court.

38. It cannot be disputed that the Full Court acts on the collective wisdom of all Judges and, therefore, the exercise undertaken by the Full Court is not ordinarily amenable to judicial review except under extra ordinary circumstances.

39. Here, it would be equally relevant to refer to the following observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Syed T.A. Naqshbandi & ors Vs. *State of Jammu & Kashmir & ors (2003) 9 SCC 592, wherein it was inter alia held thus:

> "10. ….Neither the High Court nor this Court, in exercise of its powers of judicial review, could or would at any rate substitute themselves in the place of the Committee/Full Court of the High Court concerned, to make an independent reassessment of the same, as if sitting on an appeal. On a careful consideration of the entire materials brought to our notice by learned counsel on either side, we are satisfied that the evaluation made by the Committee/Full Court forming their unanimous opinions is neither so arbitrary or capricious nor can be said to be so irrational as to shock the conscience of the Court to warrant or justify any interference. In cases of such assessment, evaluation and formulation of opinions a vast range of multiple factors play a vital and important role and no one factor should be allowed to be overblown out of proportion either to decry or deify an issue to be resolved or claims sought to be considered or asserted. Viewed thus, and considered in the background of the factual details and materials on record, there is absolutely no need or justification for this Court to interfere in the matter, with the impugned proceedings."

40. In this context, it shall be apt to re-produce the following observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Rajendra Singh Verma Vs. Lieutenant Governor (NCT of Delhi) and others (2011) 10 SCC 1.

"218. On a careful consideration of the entire material, it must be held that the evaluation made by the Committee/Full Court, forming their unanimous opinion, is neither so arbitrary nor capricious nor can be said to be so irrational, so as to shock the conscience of this Court to warrant or justify any interference. In cases of such assessment, evaluation and formulation of opinions, a vast range of multiple factors play a vital and important role and no one factor should be allowed to be blown out of proportion either to decry or deify an issue to be resolved or claims sought to be considered or asserted. In the very nature of things it would be difficult, nearing almost an impossibility to subject such exercise undertaken by the Full Court, to judicial review except in an extraordinary case when the Court is convinced that some monstrous thing which ought not to have taken place has really happened and not merely because there could be another possible view or someone has some grievance about the exercise undertaken by the Committee/Full Court.

219. Viewed thus, and considered in the background of the factual details and materials on record, there is absolutely no need or justification for this Court to interfere with the impugned proceedings. Therefore, the three appeals fail and are dismissed. Having regard to the facts of the case, there shall be no order as to costs."

41. In Registrar General, Patna High Court Vs. Pandey Gajendra Prasad and others, AIR 2012 SC 2319, the Hon'ble Supreme Court after reviewing the entire case law reiterated the principles laid down from time to time with regard to the scope of judicial review in such like cases and held that when the report of the Administrative Committee was put up before the Full Court which takes a conscious decision to award the punishment/dismissal from service, then it would be very difficult rather almost impossible to subject such an exercise to judicial review except in extra ordinary cases.

42. Yet again in recent decision in High Court of Judicature of Patna, through Registrar General Vs. Shyam Deo Singh & ors (2014) 4 SCC 773, after referring to the earlier decision in Syed T.A. Naqshbandi Vs. State of Jammu & Kashmir, (2003) 9 SCC 592, the limited judicial review that is permissible was reiterated by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 8 of the judgment, which reads thus:-

"8.The importance of the issue can hardly be gainsaid. The evaluation of the service record of a judicial officer for the purpose of formation of an opinion as to his/her potential for continued useful service is required to be made by the High Court which obviously means the Full Court on the administrative side. In all High Courts such evaluation, in the first instance, is made by a committee of senior Judges. The decision of the Committee is placed before the Full Court to decide whether the recommendation of the Committee should be accepted or not. The ultimate decision is always preceded by an elaborate consideration of the matter by Hon'ble Judges of the High Court who are familiar with the qualities and attributes of the judicial officer under consideration. This is also what had happened in the present case. The very process by which the decision is eventually arrived at, in our view, should permit a limited judicial review and it is only in a rare case where the decision taken is unsupported by any material or the same reflects a conclusion which, on the face of it, cannot be sustained that judicial review would be permissible."

43. What, therefore, emerges from the aforesaid exposition of law is that where the Full Court of the High Court recommends any particular action on the administrative side, the High Court on the judicial side has to exercise great caution and circumspection in setting aside that order because it is a complement of all the High Court Judges, who act on their collective wisdom. In the very nature of things it would be difficult, nearing almost an impossibility to subject such exercise undertaken by the Full Court, to judicial review except in an extraordinary case when the Court is convinced that some monstrous thing which ought not to have taken place has really happened and not merely because there could be another possible view or someone has some grievance about the exercise undertaken by the Committee/Full Court.

44. It is next contended by the petitioners that they being senior to the private respondents, had legitimate expectation of being promoted earlier to them.

45. The doctrine of legitimate expectation has been subject matter of a recent decision of the Hon'ble Supreme in Union of India & Another vs. Lieutenant Colonel P.K. Choudhary and others (2016) 4 SCC 236, wherein it was observed as under:

"51. Halsbury's Laws of England, Fourth Edition, Volume I(I) 151 explains the meaning of "Legitimate Expectation" in the following words:

> "81. Legitimate expectations. — A person may have a legitimate expectation of being treated in a certain way by an administrative authority even though he has no legal right in private law to receive such treatment. The expectation may arise either from a representation or promise made by the authority, including an implied representation, or from consistent past practice.
> The existence of a legitimate expectation may have a number of different consequences; it may give locus standi to seek leave to apply for judicial review; it may mean that the authority ought not to act so as to defeat the expectation without some overriding reason of public policy to justify its doing so; or it may mean that, if the authority proposes to defeat a person's legitimate expectation, it must afford him an opportunity to make representations on the matter. The courts also distinguish, for example in licensing cases, between original applications, applications to renew and revocations; a party who has been granted a licence may have a legitimate expectation that it will be renewed unless there is some good reason not to do so, and may therefore be entitled to greater procedural protection than a mere applicant for a grant." (emphasis supplied)

52. Legitimate expectation as a concept has engaged the attention of this Court in several earlier decisions to which we shall presently refer. But before we do so we need only to say that the concept arises out of what may be described as a reasonable expectation of being treated in a certain way by an administrative authority even though the person who has such an expectation has no right in law to receive the benefit expected by him. Any such expectation can arise from an "express promise" or a "consistent course of practice or procedure" which the person claiming the benefit may reasonably expect to continue. The question of redress which the person in whom the legitimate expectation arises can seek and the approach to be adopted while resolving a conflict between any such expectation, on the one hand, and a public policy in general public interest on the other, present distinct dimensions every time the plea of legitimate expectation is raised in a case.

53. In Food Corporation of India v. Kamdhenu Cattle Feed Industries (1993) 1 SCC 71 one of the earlier cases on the subject this Court considered the question whether Legitimate Expectation of a citizen can by itself create a distinct enforceable right. Rejecting the argument that a mere reasonable and legitimate expectation can give rise to a distinct and enforceable right, this Court observed: (SCC p. 76, para 8)

> "8. The mere reasonable or legitimate expectation of a citizen, in such a situation, may not by itself be a distinct enforceable right, but failure to consider and give due weight to it may render the decision arbitrary, and this is how the requirement of due consideration of a legitimate expectation forms part of the principle of non-arbitrariness, a necessary concomitant of the rule of law. Every legitimate expectation is a relevant factor requiring due consideration in a fair decision-making process. Whether the expectation of the claimant is reasonable or legitimate in the context is a question of fact in each case. Whenever the question arises, it is to be determined not according to the claimant's perception but in larger public interest wherein other more important considerations may outweigh what would otherwise have been the legitimate expectation of the claimant. A bona fide decision of the public authority reached in this manner would satisfy the requirement of non-arbitrariness and withstand judicial scrutiny. The doctrine of legitimate expectation gets assimilated in the rule of law and operates in our legal system in this manner and to this extent."

54. To the same effect is the decision of this Court in Union of India v. Hindustan Development Corporation and Ors. (1993) 3 SCC 499, where this Court summed up the legal position as under: (SCC pp. 540 & 546-47, paras 28 & 33)

> "28..... For legal purposes, the expectation cannot be the same as anticipation. It is different from a wish, a desire or a hope nor can it amount to a claim or demand on the ground of a right. However earnest and sincere a wish, a desire or a hope may be and however confidently one may look to them to be fulfilled, they by themselves cannot amount to an assertable expectation and a mere disappointment does not attract legal consequences. A pious hope even leading to a moral obligation cannot amount to a legitimate expectation. The legitimacy of an expectation can be inferred only if it is founded on the sanction of law or custom or an established procedure followed in regular and natural sequence. Again it is distinguishable from a genuine expectation. Such expectation should be justifiably legitimate and protectable. Every such legitimate expectation does not by itself fructify into a right and therefore it does not amount to a right in the conventional sense."
> 33. On examination of some of these important decisions it is generally agreed that legitimate expectation gives the applicant sufficient locus standi for judicial review and that the doctrine of legitimate expectation is to be confined mostly to right of a fair hearing before a decision which results in negativing a promise or withdrawing an undertaking is taken. The doctrine does not give scope to claim relief straightaway from the administrative authorities as no crystallised right as such is involved. The protection of such legitimate expectation does not require the fulfilment of the expectation where an overriding public interest requires otherwise. In other words where a person's legitimate expectation is not fulfilled by taking a particular decision then decision-maker should justify the denial of such expectation by showing some overriding public interest. Therefore, even if substantive protection of such expectation is contemplated that does not grant an absolute right to a particular person. It simply ensures the circumstances in which that expectation may be denied or restricted. A case of legitimate expectation would arise when a body by representation or by past practice aroused expectation which it would be within its powers to fulfil. The protection is limited to that extent and a judicial review can be within those limits. But as discussed above a person who bases his claim on the doctrine of legitimate expectation, in the first instance, must satisfy that there is a foundation and thus has locus standi to make such a claim. In considering the same several factors which give rise to such legitimate expectation must be present. The decision taken by the authority must be found to be arbitrary, unreasonable and not taken in public interest. If it is a question of policy, even by way of change of old policy, the courts cannot interfere with a decision. In a given case whether there are such facts and circumstances giving rise to a legitimate expectation, it would primarily be a question of fact. If these tests are satisfied and if the court is satisfied that a case of legitimate expectation is made out then the next question would be whether failure to give an opportunity of hearing before the decision affecting such legitimate expectation is taken, has resulted in failure of justice and whether on that ground the decision should be quashed. If that be so then what should be the relief is again a matter which depends on several factors." (emphasis supplied)

55. Reference may also be made to the decision of this Court in Punjab Communications Ltd. v. Union of India and Ors. (1999) 4 SCC 727, where this Court held that a change in policy can defeat a substantive legitimate expectation if it can be justified on "Wednesbury reasonableness." The choice of policy is for the decision-maker and not the Court. The legitimate substantive expectation merely permits the Court to find out if the change of policy which is the cause for defeating the legitimate expectation is irrational or perverse or one which no reasonable person could have made. A claim based merely on legitimate expectation without anything more cannot ipso facto give a right. Similarly in Dr. Chanchal Goyal (Mrs.) v. State of Rajasthan (2003) 3 SCC 485, this Court declined relief on the plea of legitimate expectation on the ground that the appellants had not shown as to how any act was done by the authorities which created an impression that the conditions attached to the original appointment order were waived. No legitimate expectation could be, declared this Court, claimed on such unfounded impression especially when it was not clear as to who and what authority had created any such impression. The decisions of this Court in Ram Pravesh Singh v. State of Bihar (2006) 8 SCC 381, Sethi Auto Service Station and Anr. v. Delhi Development Authority and Ors. (2009) 1 SCC 180, Confederation of Ex- servicemen Association v. Union of India (2006) 8 SCC 399, and State of Bihar and Ors. v. Kalyanpur Cements Ltd. (2010) 3 SCC 274, reiterate the legal position stated in the decisions earlier mentioned.

56. In Monnet Ispat and Energy Ltd. v. Union of India and Ors. (2012) 11 SCC 1, this Court reviewed the case law on the subject and quoted with approval the following passage in Attorney General for New South Wales (1990) 64 Aust LJR 327: (Monnet Ispat case, SCC p. 107, para 184)

"184.....To strike down the exercise of administrative power solely on the ground of avoiding the disappointment of the legitimate expectations of an individual would be set the courts adrift on a featureless sea of pragmatism. Moreover, the notion of a legitimate expectation (falling short of a legal right) is too nebulous to form a basis for invalidating the exercise of a power when its exercise otherwise accords law.' (Attorney General for New South Wales case.)

This Court went on to hold that if denial of legitimate expectation in a given case amounts to denial of a right that is guaranteed or is arbitrary, discriminatory, unfair or biased, gross abuse of power or in violation of principles of natural justice the same can be questioned on the well-known grounds attracting Article 14 of the Constitution but a claim based on mere legitimate expectation without anything more cannot ipso facto give a right to invoke these principles."

46. It would be evident from the aforesaid exposition of law that the legitimate expectation is a concept that arises out of what may be described as a reasonable expectation of being treated in a certain way by an administrative authority even though the person who has such an expectation has no right in law to receive the benefit expected by him. Any such expectation can arise from an "express promise" or a "consistent course of practice or procedure" which the person claiming the benefit may reasonably expect to continue. For legal purposes, the expectation cannot be the same as anticipation. It is different from a wish, a desire or a hope nor can it amount to a claim or demand on the ground of a right. However, earnest and sincere a wish, a desire or a hope may be and however confidently one may look to them to be fulfilled, they by themselves cannot amount to an assertable expectation and a mere disappointment does not attract legal consequences.

47. The legitimacy of an expectation can be inferred only if it is founded on the sanction of law or custom or an established procedure followed in regular and natural sequence. Therefore, a person who basis his claim on the doctrine of legitimate expectation, in the first instance, must satisfy that there is a foundation and thus has locus standi to make such a claim. In considering the same, several factors which give rise to such legitimate expectation must be present. The decision taken by the authority must be found to be arbitrary, unreasonable and not taken in public interest. Whether there are such facts and circumstances giving rise to a legitimate expectation, would primarily be a question of fact.

48. Bearing in mind the aforesaid exposition of law, we find that this plea of legitimate expectation is not available to the petitioners for the simple reason that the principles of seniority-cum-merit and merit-cum-seniority are conceptually different. For the former, greater emphasis is laid on seniority, though it is not the determinative factor, while in the later, merit is the determinative factor and, therefore, the officer cannot claim promotion as a matter of right by virtue of his seniority alone.

49. Principles of merit-cum-seniority lay greater emphasis on merit and ability and seniority plays less significant role. Seniority is to be given only when merit and ability are approximately equal. Therefore, in such circumstances, there was no question of petitioners having any legitimate expectation for promotion as the ranking or position in the gradation list-seniority list in itself did not confer any right upon them to be promoted to selection post.

50. The petitioners would thereafter contend that the promotions in question were required to be made only on the evaluation of the ACRs and seniority as was subsequently clarified by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan & anr Vs. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission & ors (2009) 17 SCC 583.

51. In support of this submission, the petitioners have placed heavy reliance upon the judgment rendered by the Hon'ble High Court of Jharkhand in W.P.(S) No.7098 of 2013 titled as Chandrika Ram & ors Vs. The State of Jharkhand & ors, wherein after relying upon the Malik Mazhar Sultan case, it has been observed as under:

"54. The direction of the Hon''ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan's case was in the context of number of vacancies available under the 25% limited competitive examination. While considering the promotion of Civil Judges (Senior Division) as against 65% quota, the principle laid down by the Hon''ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan and Anr. v. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission and Others, (2009) 17 SCC 530 - the principle being seniority has to be kept in view.

55. In Malik Mazhar Sultan and Anr. v. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission and Others, (2009) 17 SCC 583, the Hon"ble Supreme Court considered the case of 18 Civil Judges (Junior Division) in the cadre of Andhra Pradesh State Subordinate Judicial Service who were denied promotion to the cadre of Civil Judge (Senior Division). The main contention urged by the applicants thereon was that Civil Judges (Junior Division) who were in the zone of consideration for promotion to the cadre of Civil Judge (Senior Division) were subjected to oral interview and based on the marks secured in the interview, promotions were given and 33 candidates including the application were denied promotion.

56. In the case of Malik Mazhar Sultan and Anr. v. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission and Others, (2009) 17 SCC 583, the Hon"ble Supreme Court has gone to say to the extent that promotion should be based only on the evaluation of the ACRs and seniority, when grievance was raised by the members of Andhra Pradesh State Subordinate Judicial Service that they were subjected to oral interview and based on the marks secured in the interview, promotions were given whereby they were denied promotions. Their Lordships considering the earlier direction given in the case of Malik Mazhar Sultan, did observe as follows :-

> "5. The High Court has filed a counter-affidavit/reply stating that they followed the guidelines issued by this Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan (3) v. U.P. Public Service Commission passed on 4-1- 2007. As regards the promotion to the cadre of Civil Judge (Senior Division), in the said judgment, this Court had given a direction under clause (4). It states that for the purpose of filling up vacancies in the cadre of Civil Judge (Senior Division) to be filled by promotion:
>
> > "... Viva voce criteria"
>
> and it was further stated:
>
> "(a) ACRs for last five years;
>
> (b) Evaluation of judgments furnished; and
>
> (c) Performance in the oral interview."
> 6. Promotion from the cadre of Civil Judge (Junior Division) to Civil Judge (Senior Division) is the first promotion stage in the Subordinate Judicial Service. All these officers must have worked for more than five years in the State Subordinate Service and in some cases they would have got promotion as Civil Judge (Senior Division) only after completion of 10 years of service as Civil Judge (Junior Division). So their performance is evaluated on the basis of their past ACRs and also in case of necessity their judgments can also be perused for the purpose of evaluation. But we do not think that these officers should be subjected to oral interview for the purpose of promotion. Normally promotions are given based on the evaluation of the ACRs and seniority. We do not think that they shall be subjected to oral interview for the purpose of their promotion to Civil Judge (Senior Division). The direction of this Court in the said judgment that for the purpose of promotion, their performance based on oral interview shall also be considered as deleted. If any High Court/State Government has framed any rules pursuant to the direction of this Court, that rule also be treated as deleted."

57. In the above case, the Hon"ble Supreme Court held that "normally promotions are given based on the evaluation of the ACRs and seniority". Though the said observation was in the context of promotion of Civil Judge (Junior Division) to Civil Judge (Senior Division), we are of the view that the ratio of the above decision that normally promotions are given based on the evaluation of the ACRs and seniority has to be kept in view."

52. We are again not impressed by the aforesaid contention, as the judgment in Malik Mazhar Sultan and another vs. U.P. Public Service Commission and Ors. (2009) 17 SCC, 583 cannot be read out of context. The only question before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan case (supra) was as to whether members of the Andhra Pradesh State Judicial Service could be subjected to oral interview and thereafter promoted only on the basis of marks secured in the interview. It was in this context that the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that promotion should be based only on the evaluation of the ACRs and seniority, but in no manner was the judgment rendered earlier in Malik Mazhar Sultan & anr Vs. U.P. Public Service Commission & ors (2008) (17) SCC 703, whittled down or over ruled or even clarified or held that the promotions to the post of Civil Judge (Sr. Division) was not to be made on the basis of ACRs of last five years and upon evaluation of the judgments rendered by the Judicial Officers. The relevant observation from the judgment reads thus:

"C. For filing up of vacancies in the cadre of Civil Judge (Senior Division to be filled by promotion

"4. Viva voce 1st to 16th August

(deleted)

Criteria

(a) ACR for last five years

(b) Evaluation of judgments furnished; and

(c) Performance in the oral interview."

(deleted)

53. The petitioners would then vehemently argue that they could not be subjected to the passing of suitability test which otherwise was not provided for by the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

54. To say the least, the petitioners appear to be labouring under a misconception that they were subjected to some sort of a test. In view of the clarification issued by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan & anr Vs. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission & ors (2009) 17 SCC 583, the requirement/condition of oral interview was specifically deleted by the High Court vide notification dated 2.9.2009 (supra) and thereafter the selection carried out on the basis of the two remaining criterias i.e. ACRs for the last five years and evaluation of judgments furnished.

55. As a last ditch effort, petitioners would then contend that the Regulations framed by this Court suffer from vice of excessive delegation of power and are un-canalized and thereby confer an unguided discretion upon the authorities. It is further argued that once no suitability test for carrying out promotions to the post of Civil Judge (Sr. Division) was provided for by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in decision rendered in All India Judges' Association & ors Vs. Union of India & ors, (2002) 4 SCC 247. No such procedure could have been prescribed by the High Court.

56. Even these contentions are equally without merit because as observed earlier the Rules and Regulations have been framed by the High Court strictly in compliance to the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan & anr Vs. U.P. Public Service Commission & ors (2008) (17) SCC 703, and Malik Mazhar Sultan & anr Vs. Uttar Pradesh Public Service Commission & ors (2009) 17 SCC 583.

57. In addition to the above, we find that the petitioners in any event are not entitled to any relief under Article 226 of the Constitution for more reasons than one. They participated in the selection process and knew well from the rules and regulations, the mode and manner in which the selection was to be conducted and yet participated in the selection process without any demur or protest and after taking a chance and being unsuccessful, they cannot now resile or take somersault saying that the procedure as adopted by the High Court was vitiated. This cannot be allowed. The petitioners cannot approbate and reprobate at the same time. Moreover, petitioners have not even approached this court promptly and there is a gap of almost six months in between filing of these petitions and the declaration of the result. The result was declared on the website of the High Court on 14.9.2009, whereas the petition came to be filed only on 6.4.2010. The petitioners, if really aggrieved, should have questioned the rules and regulations before participating in the selection process and are clearly estopped from filing these petitions.

58. In taking this view, it is not necessary to refer to multiple decisions on the issue and it would suffice to refer to two recent judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court. In Pradeep Kumar Rai And Others vs. Dinesh Kumar Pandey and others (2015) 11 SCC 493, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:

> "17. Moreover, we would concur with the Division Bench on one more point that the appellants had participated in the process of interview and not challenged it till the results were declared. There was a gap of almost four months between the interview and declaration of result. However, the appellant did not challenge it at that time. Thus, it appears that only when the appellants found themselves to be unsuccessful, they challenged the interview. This cannot be allowed. The candidates cannot approbate and reprobate at the same time. Earlier the candidates should not have participated in the interview and challenged the procedure or they should have challenged immediately after the interviews were conducted (See: Vijendra Kumar Verma vs. Public Service Commission (2011) 1 SCC 150 and K.H. Siraj vs. High Court of Kerala, (2006) 6 SC 395)".

59. Similar issue came up recently before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Madras Institute of Development Studies and Another Vs. K. Sivasubramaniyan & ors, (2016) 1 SCC 454, wherein it was held as under:

> "13. Be that as it may, the respondent, without raising any objection to the alleged variations in the contents of the advertisement and the Rules, submitted his application and participated in the selection process by appearing before the Committee of experts. It was only after he was not selected for appointment, turned around and challenged the very selection process. Curiously enough, in the writ petition the only relief sought for is to quash the order of appointment without seeking any relief as regards his candidature and entitlement to the said post.
>
> 14. The question as to whether a person who consciously takes part in the process of selection can turn around and question the method of selection is no longer res integra.
>
> 15. In Dr. G. Sarana vs. University of Lucknow & Ors., (1976) 3 SCC 585, a similar question came for consideration before a three Judges Bench of this Court where the fact was that the petitioner had applied to the post of Professor of Athropology in the University of Lucknow. After having appeared before the Selection Committee but on his failure to get appointed, the petitioner rushed to the High Court pleading bias against him of the three experts in the Selection Committee consisting of five members. He also alleged doubt in the constitution of the Committee. Rejecting the contention, the Court held: (SCC p. 591, para 15)
> > "15. We do not, however, consider it necessary in the present case to go into the question of the reasonableness of bias or real likelihood of bias as despite the fact that the appellant knew all the relevant facts, he did not before appearing for the interview or at the time of the interview raise even his little finger against the constitution of the Selection Committee. He seems to have voluntarily appeared before the committee and taken a chance of having a favourable recommendation from it. Having done so, it is not now open to him to turn round and question the constitution of the committee. This view gains strength from a decision of this Court in Manak Lal's case where in more or less similar circumstances, it was held that the failure of the appellant to take the identical plea at the earlier stage of the proceedings created an effective bar of waiver against him. The following observations made therein are worth quoting: (AIR p.432, para 9)

> '9….It seems clear that the appellant wanted to take a chance to secure a favourable report from the tribunal which was constituted and when he found that he was confronted with an unfavourable report, he adopted the device of raising the present technical point.'"

16. In Madan Lal & Ors. vs. State of J&K & Ors. (1995) 3 SCC 486, similar view has been reiterated by the Bench which held that: (SCC p. 493, para 9)

> "9. Before dealing with this contention, we must keep in view the salient fact that the petitioners as well as the contesting successful candidates being respondents concerned herein, were all found eligible in the light of marks obtained in the written test, to be eligible to be called for oral interview. Up to this stage there is no dispute between the parties. The petitioners also appeared at the oral interview conducted by the Members concerned of the Commission who interviewed the petitioners as well as the contesting respondents concerned. Thus the petitioners took a chance to get themselves selected at the said oral interview. Only because they did not find themselves to have emerged successful as a result of their combined performance both at written test and oral interview, they have filed this petition. It is now well settled that if a candidate takes a calculated chance and appears at the interview, then, only because the result of the interview is not palatable to him, he cannot turn round and subsequently contend that the process of interview was unfair or the Selection Committee was not properly constituted. In the case of Om Prakash Shukla v. Akhilesh Kumar Shukla 1998 Supp SCC 258 it has been clearly laid down by a Bench of three learned Judges of this Court that when the petitioner appeared at the examination without protest and when he found that he would not succeed in examination he filed a petition challenging the said examination, the High Court should not have granted any relief to such a petitioner."

17. In Manish Kumar Shahi vs. State of Bihar, (2010) 12 SCC 576, this Court reiterated the principle laid down in the earlier judgments and observed: (SCC p.584, para 16)

> "16.We also agree with the High Court that after having taken part in the process of selection knowing fully well that more than 19% marks have been earmarked for viva voce test, the petitioner is not entitled to challenge the criteria or process of selection. Surely, if the petitioner's name had appeared in the merit list, he would not have even dreamed of challenging the selection. The petitioner invoked jurisdiction of the High Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India only after he found that his name does not figure in the merit list prepared by the Commission. This conduct of the petitioner clearly disentitles him from questioning the selection and the High Court did not commit any error by refusing to entertain the writ petition."

18. In the case of Ramesh Chandra Shah and others vs. Anil Joshi and others, (2013) 11 SCC 309, recently a Bench of this Court following the earlier decisions held as under: (SCC p. 320, para 24)

> "24. In view of the propositions laid down in the above noted judgments, it must be held that by having taken part in the process of selection with full knowledge that the recruitment was being made under the General Rules, the respondents had waived their right to question the advertisement or the methodology adopted by the Board for making selection and the learned Single Judge and the Division Bench of the High Court committed grave error by entertaining the grievance made by the respondents."

60. Apart from the above, we also find that petitioners themselves have subsequently availed of the benefit of these Regulations and have been promoted as Civil Judges (Sr. Division) and are, therefore, clearly estopped from filing these petitions and raising such pleas questioning the criteria. In this context, it shall be fruitful to refer to the following observations of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in N. Lokanadham Vs. *Chairman, Telecom Commission & ors, (2008) 5 SCC 155:

> "18. We may furthermore notice that the appellant herein without any demur whatsoever appeared in the subsequent examination. He even did not qualify therein. The principle of estoppel would, therefore, apply in this case. Tribunal had, thus, exceeded to its jurisdiction in passing its order dated 23.4.2004."

61. The upshot of the aforesaid discussion is that though the petitioners were well aware of the selection criteria and yet participated in the selection process without any demur or protest. Having done so, it is not now open for them to turn round and question the procedure of selection as adopted by the official respondents.

62. The regulations providing for conducting merit cum suitability test of judicial officers is nothing but compliance of the directions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Malik Mazhar Sultan and another Vs. U.P. Public Service Commission & ors, 2008 (17) SCC 703.

63. The criteria for selection as adopted by the High Court by setting up two separate committees to evaluate the ACRs and judgments, is strictly in conformity and in compliance to the aforesaid judgment of the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

64. The selection to the post in question has been made on the basis of the assessment made by the two committees constituted under the rules and regulations and in absence of any allegations of malafides and biasness against the committees or any one of its member, these writ petitions are not maintainable.

65. There is nothing illegal or arbitrary in the rules and regulations framed by the High Court and these otherwise are not open to challenge as admittedly, it is on the basis of these rules and regulations that the petitioners have subsequently been promoted as Civil Judges (Sr. Division).

66. Having said so, we find no merit in these petitions and the same are dismissed, leaving the parties to bear their own costs.

For the appellant: Mr. Ramakant Sharma, Advocate.
For the respondent: Mr. Rajesh Kumar, Advocate.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, J.:

By way of this present appeal, appellant/plaintiff has challenged the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Presiding Officer/Additional District Judge, Fast Track Court, Hamirpur, in Civil Appeal No. 21 of 2006 dated 30.05.2007, vide which, learned Appellate Court while dismissing the appeal filed by the present appellant has upheld the judgment and decree passed by the Court of learned Civil Judge (Junior Division), Court No. II, Hamirpur, in Civil Suit No. 329 of 2002 dated 07.11.2005, whereby the suit for permanent prohibitory injunction and mandatory injunction filed by the present appellant was dismissed.

2. This appeal was admitted on 20.06.2008 on the following substantial questions of law:-

1. Whether the findings given by the learned Courts below are perverse, their being either contrary to the evidence on the record or having been based on no material on the record and, as such, the same has resulted into erroneous decision?

2. Whether the learned 1st Appellate Court below has wrongly rejected the application for appointment of Local Commissioner to demarcate the suit land, their being boundary dispute?

3. Brief facts necessary for adjudication of the present appeal are that appellant/plaintiff (hereinafter referred to as the plaintiff) filed a suit for permanent prohibitory injunction and mandatory injunction against present respondent/defendant (hereinafter referred to as the defendant), on the grounds that the suit land comprised in Khata No. 32 min, Khatauni No. 33 min, Khasra No. 304 measuring 4 Kanals 2 Marlas, situated in Tika Punjhali, Tappa Mati-Morian, Tehsil and District Hamirpur, was jointly owned and possessed by the plaintiff and her son Surinder Kumar and defendant was stranger as far as suit land was concerned and was having no right, title and interest over the same. As per the plaintiff, defendant who was a head-strong and quarrelsome person had collected construction material for the purpose of contracting a latrine and to raise a retaining wall on the suit land. As per plaintiff, for this purpose, defendant also forcibly started digging part of the suit land in the last week of December, 2002. It was on these basis that the suit was filed by the plaintiff praying for a decree of permanent prohibitory injunction for restraining the defendant from raising construction over the suit land and for mandatory injunction in case the defendant succeeded to raise any construction during the pendency of the suit over the suit land.

4. Claim of the plaintiff was denied by the defendant. In the written statement stand of the defendant was that suit filed by the plaintiff was frivolous and was with malafides as neither any construction had been carried out by the defendant over the suit land nor the defendant proposed to carry out any construction over the same. Defendant denied that any digging had been done on any part of the suit land for the construction of latrine or for raising retaining wall.

5. On the basis of the pleadings of the parties, learned trial Court framed the following issues:-

1. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to the relief of permanent prohibitory injunction as prayed for? … OPP
2. Whether the plaintiff is entitled to the relief of mandatory injunction by way of demolition as prayed for? … OPP
3. Whether the plaintiff has no cause of action in the present suit? … OPD
4. Whether the suit is not maintainable in the present form? … OPD
5. Whether the suit is not properly valued for the purpose of Court fee and jurisdiction? … OPD
6. Relief.

6. On the basis of material placed on record by the respective parties, learned trial Court returned the following findings to the issues so framed:-

Issue No. 1:	No.
Issue No. 2:	No.
Issue No. 3:	Yes.
Issue No. 4:	Yes.
Issue No. 5:	Un-pressed.
Relief :	The suit of the plaintiff is dismissed as per operative part of the judgment.

7. It was held by learned trial Court that the plaintiff who stepped into the witness box as PW-1 stated that she did not remember the Khasra No. of the suit land and she also admitted in her cross-examination that she had not got the land demarcated before filing the suit. Learned trial Court held that the relief of permanent prohibitory injunction is a discretionary relief and the plaintiff had to prove a right and violation thereon or breach of corresponding duty by the defendant and only then such reliefs can be granted. Learned trial Court further held that in the present case, the plaintiff had failed to prove that defendant violated any right of the plaintiff with respect to the suit land. It was further held by learned trial Court that plaintiff failed to prove that any construction had been carried out by defendant over the land of the plaintiff and no demarcation was on record to support the allegations of the plaintiff. It was further held by learned trial Court that the witnesses of the plaintiff including the plaintiff were not able to prove that defendant had actually carried out construction over the suit land. It was further held by learned trial Court that the plaintiff was also not able to prove that during the pendnecy of the suit defendant had carried any construction or had thrown any material over the land belonging to the plaintiff. On these basis, it was concluded by learned trial Court that the plaintiff was not entitled for relief of permanent prohibitory injunction or mandatory injunction.

8. Feeling aggrieved by the said judgment passed by learned trial Court, plaintiff filed an appeal.

9. Learned Appellate Court vide its judgment dated 30.05.2007 dismissed the appeal so filed by the plaintiff and in its judgment learned Appellate Court held that plaintiff had neither filed any Tatima nor any site plan alongwith the plaint in order to show where and on what portion of the suit land, defendant had raised the alleged construction. Learned Appellate Court held that in fact the claim of plaintiff that defendant had raised construction over the suit land appeared to be hollow as neither she remembered Khasra No. of the suit land nor she had obtained any demarcation of the suit land before filing the suit. Learned Appellate Court also took note of the fact that PW-2 Dharam Singh had clearly stated that the land of the plaintiff was on higher side and that of the defendant was on the lower side and the construction had been raised by the defendant on his own land situated on the lower side. Learned Appellate Court also held that there was also a boundary between the two lands and the latrine constructed by the defendant was on his own land which was below the suit land. Learned Appellate Court also took the note of the fact that it was deposed by DW-1 that he had constructed the latrine on his own land and it was about 10 feet away and about 5 feet below the suit land. It was held by Appellate Court that testimony of the defendant was supported by the statement of Chaumphi Ram DW-2. Learned Appellate Court after perusal of the entire evidence adduced on behalf of both the parties concluded that it was apparent from the record that the plaintiff had failed to prove that defendant had carried out any construction of latrine etc. over the suit land. Learned Appellate Court also held that it was argued by learned counsel for the plaintiff that since it was a boundary dispute, the Court should have appointed a Local Commissioner to ascertain whether any part of the suit land had been encroached by the defendant or not. However, this contention of learned counsel for the plaintiff was not accepted by learned Appellate Court by holding that since plaintiff had neither requested nor moved an application before the trial Court for appointment of any Local Commissioner, as such, appreciation of evidence by learned trial Court could not be faulted with. On these basis, judgment passed by learned trial Court was upheld by learned Appellate Court.

10. Mr. Ramakant Sharma, learned counsel for the appellant has argued that the judgments passed by both learned Courts below were not sustainable in law because both learned Courts below have failed to appreciate that it stood proved from the material produced on record by plaintiff that defendant had in fact carried out construction over the suit land. Mr. Sharma further argued that even otherwise judgments passed by both learned Courts below were not sustainable as it was the onerous duty entrusted upon the Courts below to have had got the suit land demarcated because matter pertained to boundary dispute. According to Mr. Sharma, even if the plaintiff had not moved any application for demarcation of the suit land or appointment of a Local Commissioner in this regard, it was the duty of the Courts below to have had got the suit land demarcated. As per Mr. Sharma, as both learned Courts below had failed to do so, the judgments and decrees passed by Courts below were liable to be set aside on these count alone.

11. On the other hand, Mr. Rajesh Kumar, learned counsel for the respondent, argued that the judgments passed by both learned Courts below could not be faulted with on the grounds raised by the present appellant. It was argued by Mr. Rajesh Kumar that whether or not the defendant had carried out any construction over the suit land was a pure and simple question of fact and as both learned Courts below had concurrently decided this fact against the appellant, there was no occasion for this Court to interfere with the said findings recorded by learned Courts below especially in view of the fact that the appellant was not able to demonstrate from the material on record that the findings so recorded by both learned Courts below were perverse. According to Mr. Rajesh Kumar, there was not even an iota of evidence on record to suggest or substantiate that the defendant had encroached upon the suit land. He further argued that statement of PW-2 as well as statements of defendant's witnesses proved cogently and convincingly that there was no encroachment over the suit land by the defendant. It was further argued by Mr. Rajesh Kumar that the plaintiff had neither got the suit land demarcated before filing the suit nor any application in this regard was filed for the simple reason that the plaintiff was also aware that no construction of any kind had been carried out by the defendant over the suit land. Accordingly, he prayed that the suit was without any merit and the same should be dismissed.

12. I have heard learned counsel for the parties and have also gone through the records of the case as well as judgments passed by both learned Courts below.

13. In my considered view, the findings which have been returned by both learned Courts below to the effect that plaintiff had not placed any material on record to suggest that any construction had been carried out over the suit land by the defendant cannot be faulted with. It is a matter of record that neither any Tatima of the suit land was filed with plaint nor the suit land was got demarcated by the plaintiff before filing of the suit. It is apparent from the statement of the plaintiff that she was not even aware of Khasra No. of the suit land. Statement of PW-2 Dharam Singh demonstrates that in his cross-examination this witness has admitted that latrine of the defendant has been constructed within his property. Similarly, besides the defendant who entered the witness box as DW-1, Chaumphi Ram DW-2 has also corroborated the version of the defendant that no construction whatsoever had been carried out by the defendant over the suit land.

14. It is a settled principle of law that he who alleges has to prove.

15. In the present case, it was the plaintiff who approached the Court of law praying for a decree of permanent and mandatory injunction on the ground that defendant was threatening to raise construction over her land by raising a retaining wall and constructing a latrine over the suit land. However, this allegation of the plaintiff against the defendant could not be proved by her. Onus obviously was upon the plaintiff to have had produced on record cogent and reliable evidence from which learned trial Court could have deciphered as to whether or not there was merit in the case of the plaintiff. However, plaintiff miserably failed to discharge the said onus. It is a matter of record that no application for the appointment of a Commissioner to have suit land demarcated, was filed by the plaintiff before learned trial Court. The argument of learned counsel for the appellant that it was the duty of learned trial Court to have had appointed a Commissioner suo motu and have had got the suit land demarcated is without merit. As I have already mentioned above, it is for the party to prove its case and Court is not to collect evidence either for the plaintiff or for the defendant. This Court is not oblivious to the fact that Rule 9 of Order 26 of the Civil Procedure Court envisages issuance of commission to make local investigation. However, the object of this provision is not to collect evidence which can be taken in the Court but the purpose is to obtain such evidence which from its peculiar nature, can only be had on the spot with a view to elucidate any point which is left doubtful on the evidence produced before the Court. The Court obviously can issue local commission suo motu if in the facts and circumstances of the case, it is deemed necessary that a local commission is required for the purpose of adjudication of the case. However, exercise of this power is discretionary. This Court in Bali Ram Vs. Mela Ram and another, AIR 2003 Himachal Pradesh 87, has held:-

> "13. Rule 9 of Order 26 of the Code of Civil Procedure (hereafter referred to as 'the Code'), empowers the Court to issue commission to make local investigation which may be required for the purpose of elucidating any matter in dispute. Though the object of the local investigation is not to collect evidence which can be taken in the Court, but the purpose is to obtain such evidence, which from its peculiar nature, can only be had on the spot with a view to elucidate any point which is left doubtful on the evidence produced before the Court. To issue a commission under Rule 9 of Order 26 of the Code, it is not necessary that either or both the parties must apply for issue of commission. The Court can issue local commission suo motu, if, in the facts and circumstances of the case, it is deemed necessary that a local investigation is required and is proper for the purpose of elucidating any matter in dispute. Though exercise of these powers is discretionary with the Court, but in case the local investigation is requisite and proper in the facts and circumstances of the case, it should be exercised so that a final and just decision is rendered in the case."

16. Coming back to the facts of the present case, a perusal of the judgment passed by learned trial Court demonstrates that learned trial Court was satisfied on the basis of material on record especially in view of the deposition of PW-2 and defendant's witnesses that no construction whatsoever had been carried out by the defendant over the suit land. Therefore, in my considered view, it cannot be said that there was any confusion in the mind of learned trial Court which required appointment of a commission as is envisaged under Order 26 Rule 9

C.P.C. Further, judgment passed by learned Appellate Court also categorically and clearly demonstrates that on the basis of material produced on record as well as on the basis of the findings returned by learned trial Court, learned Appellate Court was convinced that there was no infirmity with the findings returned by learned trial Court and in fact defendant had not carried out any construction over the suit land either by raising a boundary wall or by digging a pit for the construction of latrine. It was on this conviction that learned Appellate Court upheld the findings of learned trial Court and dismissed the appeal filed by the plaintiff.

17. Records of learned Appellate Court demonstrates that appeal against the judgment passed by learned trial Court was filed on 02.06.2006 and the same was decided on 30.05.2007. During the pendency of the said appeal, an application dated 28.05.2007 was filed under Order 26 Rule 9 for the appointment of a Local Commissioner, which application did not find favour by learned Appellate Court vide separate order dated 30.05.2007 on the ground that evidence on record adduced by the parties was sufficient to adjudicate upon the matter in controversy and there was no need to appoint any Local Commissioner. Learned counsel for the plaintiff could not point out any infirmity with said finding. Therefore, in my considered view, there is neither any perversity nor any infirmity with the findings returned by both the learned Courts below while dismissing the suit and appeal of the plaintiff. Substantial questions of law are answered accordingly.

18. In view of my findings returned above, there is no merit in the present appeal and the same is dismissed with costs. Miscellaneous application(s) pending, if any, also stand disposed of.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE RAJIV SHARMA, J.

Shailender Kumar and others. ...Petitioners.

Versus

State of Himachal Pradesh and others. ...Respondents.

CWP No. 5340/2012
Decided on: 7.9.2016

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Petitioners were appointed as teachers on different dates- Government has framed rules for providing grant for meeting the deficit in the net approved expenditure on salary of approved staff of privately managed schools- grant was to be released for the component of the salary and not for any other purpose - State Government had also framed rules providing appointment and methods of appointment- managing Committee of the petitioners' school terminated the services of the petitioners as it was not able to bear the expenses of classes 6th to 10th- writ petition was filed, which was dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy- an appeal was preferred, which was rejected on the ground that school was closed due to less strength- however, government has taken a decision to take over all existing 95% Government aided schools- staff receiving grant-in-aid from the Government and their services were required to be taken over by the State Government- services of the petitioners were not taken over – writ petition allowed and services of the petitioners deemed to have been taken over within a period of 10 weeks from the date of decision. (Para-5 to 10)

For the Petitioners: Ms. Jyotsna Rewal Dua, Sr. Advocate with Ms. Shalini Thakur, Advocate.

For the Respondents: Mr. Parmod Thakur, Addl. Advocate General With Mr. Neeraj K. Sharma, Dy. A.G. for respondent Nos. 1 to 3.

Mr. Rajnish Maniktala, Advocate for respondent No.4.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Justice Rajiv Sharma, Judge (oral):

Petitioners were appointed as teachers in respondent No.4-school on different dates. The State Government has framed the rules called "The Himachal Pradesh Non-Government Institution (Grant-in-aid) Rules, 1997" Appendix-II". These were notified on 29.10.1998. The object of the grant was to provide for meeting the deficit in the net approved expenditure on salary of approved staff of privately managed schools. The grant was to be released exclusively for salary component and it was not to be utilized for any other purpose. According to the notification, before the grant was to be released, the grantee was required to execute a bond with two sureties to the Governor of H.P. to the effect that he would abide by the condition of grant and in the event of his failing to comply with the condition or committing breach of bond, he and the sureties individually and jointly were liable to refund to the Governor of H.P., the entire amount of the grant with interest. The grant was to be based on average attendance for the preceding year or for such shorter period as the school might have been in existence. The management was required to ensure monthly salary to the teachers working in the private institutions. The payment of salary was to be made through cheques and by opening an account in the name of each teacher in a scheduled bank. According to the notification, seven Lecturers for schools running only Humanities Group were required for Senior Secondary Schools, i.e. +1 and +2 classes, and not less than 150 students in both the classes and additional three Lecturers were required for Science Group provided the number of students studying the science subjects is not less than 50 in both the classes. For High Schools having only two classes, i.e. IX and X, there was requirement of one Trained Graduate (Science), one Trained Graduate (Arts), one O.T. or L.T., if number of students in both the classes was not less than 50. For Middle schools having classes VI to VIII, there was requirement of one Trained Graduate (Science), one Trained Graduate (Arts), one O.T. or L.T., if number of students was not less than 20. In Primary Schools, two J.B.T. Teachers were required upto the strength of 60 students.

2. The State Government has also framed "The H.P. State Privately Managed Recognized/Aided School Employees (Security of Service) Rules, 1997". The appointment and methods of appointment are provided under rule 2. All the appointments to the aided schools were to be made by the managing committee in the following manner:-

i) Appointing authority shall advertise in both English and Vernacular daily newspapers in the State, vacancy or vacancies to be filled in by giving full particulars thereof including the requisite qualifications, number of vacancies to be filled in and the last date by which the applications may be submitted. In the alternative name of suitable candidates may be obtained through the employment exchange.

ii) The recommendations for appointment of the candidates shall be made by a sub-committee consisting of five members of managing committee and a representative/nominee of H.P. Education Department.

3. The members of the sub-committee other than Departmental Nominee were required to be appointed by the managing Committee. The employees were to be governed by the Code of Conduct. Dismissal/removal etc. of the employees is provided under rule 6. According to rule 7, the scale of pay and other allowances of the employees working in the private aided schools were not to be less than those of the employees of the schools run by the State Government. The age of retirement was 58 years.

4. The Management Committee of St. Hilda's Senior Secondary School, Kangra resolved in its meeting held on 27.6.2008 that since it was not possible for the management to bear the expenses of the classes 6th to 10th of St. Hilda's School, Kangra, the same be closed w.e.f. 16.10.2008. The services of the petitioners were terminated w.e.f. 16.10.2008. Petitioners had earlier approached this Court against the decision of the management dated 16.10.2008 by filing CWP Nos. 2500, 2501, 2502 and 2503 of 2010. These petitions were permitted to be withdrawn with liberty to file fresh on the same cause of action. According to the averments made in the petitions, the petitioners were duly qualified as per the rules, noticed hereinabove. Petitioners were teaching and serving in the school since 1985, 1986, 1996 and 1997, respectively. They were fully qualified.

5. One Shri Om Parkash filed a CWP No. 1898/2008 before this Court against the decision dated 27.6.2008. The writ petition was dismissed on the ground of alternative remedy. It was clarified that the petitioners have the right to raise all the grounds, which were taken in the writ petitions before the competent court of law/appropriate authority. An appeal was preferred under rule 6 (b) Appendix-II of the Himachal Pradesh Non-Government Institution (Grant-in-aid) Rules, 1997. The appeal was rejected by the Director of Elementary Education, Himachal Pradesh vide Annexure P-1 annexed with Annexure P-2. Respondent Nos. 1 to 3 have filed detailed reply. The gist of the reply is that since the strength of students was reduced, the school was closed down by the management vide decision dated 27.6.2008.

6. Ms. Jyotsna Rewal Dua has drawn the attention of the Court to letter dated 30.7.2011 Annexure P-1 whereby a decision was taken to take over all existing 95% Government aided schools in the following manner:

a) the Management is willing to transfer the school alongwith movable and immovable assets to the State Government; and

b) the Management is unwilling to handover the school.

7. The petitioners had been teaching in the respondent-school w.e.f. 1.5.1986, 1.1.1996, October, 1997 and 1.10.1985, respectively. A decision was taken by the management to close down the school on 27.6.2008. However, vide Annexure P-1, a conscious decision has been taken to take over the services of the employees, both teaching and non-teaching, who were paid from grant-in-aid from the Government at the time of taking over with a rider that the employee must possess qualifications, as prescribed in the Recruitment and Promotional Rules applicable to the identical posts of Education Department. The services of the staff working in 95% aided schools were to be taken over as a fresh appointment on regular basis on minimum of pay scale of the post in those cases where the management was willing to handover the school to the State Government. In those cases where the management was unwilling to handover the school, the services of only those employees, both teaching and non-teaching were to be taken over, who were paid from the grant-in-aid from the Government at the time of taking over and the employees possessed requisite qualification as per the Recruitment and Promotional Rules. The services of taken over aided staff could be utilized any where in the State and they were to give in writing an undertaking to this effect. Thus, it is evident that the staff of the respondent-school was receiving grant-in-aid from the Government at the time of taking over of the school. Their services were required to be taken over by the State Government.

8. According to letter dated 20.7.2011, even the services of an employee, who has worked only for a few months were liable to be taken over by the State Government and the petitioners, who have worked w.e.f. 1.5.1986, 1.1.1996, October, 1997 and 1.10.1985, respectively, their services have not been taken over. The respondents have also not followed rule 6 of the H.P. State Privately Managed Recognized/Aided School Employees (Security of Service) Rules, 1997. According to rule 6 (b), subject to any rule that may be made in this behalf, no employee was to be dismissed, removed nor his services were otherwise to be terminated except with the prior approval of the Deputy Director of Zone. In the present case, the respondents have not placed on record contemporaneous record that the approval of the Deputy Director of Zone was obtained before terminating the services of the petitioners. The decision dated 20.7.2011 will apply retrospectively. All the teachers appointed in the 95% Government aided schools on 20.7.2011 and before that also constitute homogenous class. There could not be a class within the class.

9. Accordingly, in normal circumstances, the Court would have struck down the cut of date, i.e. 20.7.2011, but in order to make it practical, the same is read down to declare that the petitioners' services are also liable to be taken over on the basis of Annexure P-1 dated 20.7.2011.

10. Consequently, in view of the analysis and discussion made hereinabove, writ petition is allowed. In normal circumstances we would have ordered the respondents to consider the cases of the petitioners, but taking into consideration that one of the petitioners Shailender Kumar is 57 years old, their services would be deemed to have been taken over on the basis of letter dated 20.7.2011 within a period of 10 weeks from today with all the consequential benefits except back wages for this period. Pending application(s), if any, also stands disposed of. No costs.

Reserved on: 01.09.2016
Pronounced on: September 7, 2016.

Constitution of India, 1950- Article 226- Respondent No. 2 invited application for allotment of 150 Small Hydro Power Projects up to the capacity of 5 MW- petitioner-Company also applied for allotment of the Project but the allotment was rejected and the project was allotted to respondent No. 3- it was contended that as per clause - 9 of the guidelines for private investors for participation in small hydro programme upto 5 MW in Himachal Pradesh"- project was allotted in the year 2010- a separate criteria was to be adopted for the allotment of the projects- held, that according to conditions (i) and (ii), an applicant who re-applied for the project in the year 2014 shall be entitled for five additional marks and that preference will not be given to an applicant of his being Himachali- however, applicant could not prove that he had applied in the year 2010 and had re-applied in the year 2014- therefore, applicant cannot claim any preference- petition dismissed. (Para-6 to 13)

For the Petitioner: Ms.Jyotsna Rewal Dua, Senior Advocate, with Ms.Charu Bhatnagar, Advocate.

For the Respondents: Mr.Shrawan Dogra, Advocate General, with M/s Romesh Verma, Anup Rattan & Varun Chandel, Addl.A.Gs. and Mr.Kush Sharma, Dy.A.G, for respondent No.1.
Mr.Vijay Arora, Advocate, for respondent No.2.
Mr.Sunil Mohan Goel, Advocate, for respondent No.3.

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Mansoor Ahmad Mir, C.J.

Petitioner, by the medium of instant writ petition, has invoked the jurisdiction of this Court under Article 226 of the Constitution of India, whereby the petitioner-Company has questioned the allotment of Achheran 4 MW Hydro Electric Project, (hereinafter referred to as the Project), in favour of respondent No.3, on the grounds taken in the memo of writ petition.

2. Facts of the case, in brief, are that respondent No.2-HIMURJA, an agency of the State engaged in energy development, invited applications for allotment of 150 Small Hydro Power Projects upto the capacity of 5 MW in September, 2014, out of which 54 projects were identified by respondent No.2 itself and the rest 96 projects were identified earlier by different project proponents pursuant to the advertisement issued in September, 2010, which advertisement was cancelled because of court cases.

3. Terms and conditions are contained in Annexure P-3. Petitioner-Company also applied for allotment of the Project vide Annexure P-5. However, the application of the petitioner-Company was rejected and the Project was allotted to respondent No.3. Hence, the writ petition.

4. Respondents contested the writ petition by filing replies and petitioner also filed the rejoinder.

5. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record.

6. Petitioner-Company has made the foundation of its case on Clause 9 of the "Guidelines for private investors for participation in small hydro programme (upto 5 MW) in Himachal Pradesh" (Annexure P-3). According to the petitioner, the Project in question was one among those advertised in the year 2010 and that separate criteria was to be adopted for allotment of these projects. Contention putforth by the petitioner-Company was that five additional marks were to be awarded to those desirous applicants who had reapplied in terms of the fresh advertisement issued in 2014 and the preference allowed to Himachalis was not to be given. Therefore, it was contended that respondent No.2 has violated the conditions contained in Clause 9 of Annexure P-3, brochure.

7. The controversy revolves around Clause 9. It is profitable to reproduce said Clause 9 hereunder:

> "9. Projects which were identified and applied under self identified category by the applicants in response to the advertisement issued during September 2010 and could not be allotted due to court case, are to be advertised now as per the order of Hon'ble Court and further clarification given by advocate General. In order to give fair chance to the applicants who have identified the projects at their own level and applied to the Government for allotment of those projects against the advertisement issued during 2010, criteria for evaluation shall be as under:
>
> > (i) Additional 5 marks shall be awarded to the applicants reapplying for these projects.
> > (ii) Preference allowed to Himachalis for projects above 2 MW upto 5 MW will not be applicable for these self identified projects."

8. Thus, Clause 9 reproduced above contains mechanism for providing edge to such applicants who had earlier applied in terms of advertisement issued in 2010 under the self identified category, which process could not be taken to its logical end, as discussed above, and also applied in terms of the fresh advertisement notice. Condition (i) states that an applicant who reapplied for the project in the year 2014 shall be entitled for five additional marks and Condition (ii) provides that preference will not be given to an applicant of his being Himachali.

9. Clause 9 of Annexure P-3, referred to above, nowhere provides that the said clause will be applicable for those applicants also who have applied in terms of fresh advertisement notice issued in September, 2014 for the first time. Learned counsel for the petitioner was asked to show - whether the petitioner had applied for those projects which were advertised in the year 2010? The answer was in the negative.

10. On the other hand, respondents No.1 and 2 have specifically pleaded in the reply that the petitioner has no right to seek relief in terms of Clause 9 of the Annexure P-3 for the reason that it had not applied in the year 2010. It is apt to reproduce paragraph 2(iv) of the reply as under:

> "2(iv) That the averments made in this para are matter of record. However, it is submitted that this clause is self explanatory and has been inserted to give fair chance to the applicants (Himachalis and non Hiamachalis) who so ever had identified these projects and applied to the government for allotment during 2010. Hence the Himachalis who had identified these projects could not be deprived of the preferential marks/preference what so ever. In fact the clause 9(ii) is elaborated for the kind perusal of this Hon'ble court. For example - Himachali applicant (A) and non Himachali applicant (B) had identified and applied for the projects during 2010 and have applied afresh during 2014 too, and in addition other Himachali applicant(s) has/have also applied for the same project during 2014 only, in such instance the Himachali applicant who had applied during 2014 only (but not applied during 2010) shall not be entitled for any preference. However, if none of the applicants (who had identified and applied during 2010) applied afresh during 2014 but applications received from other fresh Himachali/Non Himachali applicants in that case the Himachali applicants are entitled for all type of preference/marks as per policy criteria."

11. The positive case of the respondents is that those persons who had applied in terms of advertisement issued in the year 2014 for the first time shall not be entitled for additional five marks. Further, in case an applicant had applied in terms of previous advertisement notice issued in 2010 and also applied again in terms of advertisement notice issued in 2014 and an Himachali applicant also applied, for the first time, in response to the advertisement issued in the year 2014, in such a situation, the Himachali applicant will not be entitled for claiming preference. It is also the case of respondents No.1 and 2 that in case a Non-Himachali and a Himachali apply for the same Project in response to the advertisement issued in the year 2014 for the first time, in that case Himachali shall be entitled for preference.

12. We have minutely examined Clause 9 reproduced hereinabove. Condition (ii), as contained in Clause 9, is not independent and flows out of condition (i). Thus, there is no ambiguity. We wonder why the petitioner has filed the writ petition. The writ petitioner has nowhere averred that he had participated in the year 2010 and has also reapplied in pursuance to the advertisement issued in the year 2014.

13. Having said so, no case is made out, the writ petition merits to be dismissed and the same is dismissed, alongwith pending CMPs, if any. Interim directions granted by this Court, vide order, dated 28th October, 2015 and made absolute on 5th January, 2016 shall stand vacated.

BEFORE HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE SANJAY KAROL, J. AND HON'BLE MR. JUSTICE AJAY MOHAN GOEL, J.

State of Himachal Pradesh ....Appellant.
Versus
Bal Krishan ...Respondent.

Cr. Appeal No.: 399 of 2007
Reserved on: 22.08.2016
Decided on: 07.09.2016

Indian Penal Code, 1860- Section 376- Informant had gone to field for bringing the grass- her daughter(prosecutrix) was in the house – when the informant returned, prosecutrix started crying and told that accused had done something in her private part due to which she felt severe pain- informant checked and found that blood was oozing out from the private part of the prosecutrix - accused was tried and acquitted by the trial Court- held, in appeal that there was no delay in reporting the matter to police- informant admitted that she had taken the prosecutrix to the Doctor but no medical record was produced- there are contradictions in the testimonies of PW-1 and PW-2- medical officer stated that prosecutrix was a virgin – injuries noticed by her were possible by scratching and by fall- medical evidence does not prove the commission of rape- trial

Court had considered all the circumstances and had arrived at the right conclusion that prosecution version was not proved beyond reasonable doubt- appeal dismissed. (Para-18 to 32)

The following judgment of the Court was delivered:

Ajay Mohan Goel, Judge:

By way of the present appeal, the appellant-State has challenged the judgment passed by learned Sessions Judge, Kinnuar at Rampur Bushahr, in Session Trial No. 40-S/7 of 2005, dated 12.07.2007, vide which judgment, learned trial Court has acquitted the accused for commission of offences punishable under Section 376 of IPC, on the ground that there was no sufficient evidence on record to bring home the guilt of the accused and that the prosecution had not been able to prove its case against the accused beyond reasonable doubt.

2. The case of the prosecution was that on 18.06.2005, at around 1:15 p.m., Tilka Devi made a report at Police Station Ani, District Kullu to the effect that she was married to Bir Singh about 10 years ago and after divorce she was residing with her parents at village Jabo. Prosecutrix, aged about 7 years was her youngest daughter and was residing with her. Her elder daughter was residing with her maternal uncle at Shimla. As per complainant, on 05.06.2005, she had gone to bring grass from the field and her daughter (prosecutrix) was in her house. When she came back from the fields, at about 5:30 p.m., her daughter (prosecutrix) started weeping loudly and when she inquired from her then she (prosecutrix) told that her maternal uncle Bal Krishan had caught hold of her and took her inside the house and did something in her private parts, due to which, she felt severe pain. Complainant checked private parts of prosecutrix and found that blood was oozing out from the private parts of prosecutrix and there were blue marks on the adjoining parts. She could not believe this as accused was son of her uncle and was maternal uncle of the prosecutrix, so she did not discuss it with any person so that there might not be any social stigma to her family. Thereafter she went to the house of accused but he was not found there. Complainant thought of discussing the said incident with her real brother who was to come on Saturday, however, he did not come on Saturday. In the meanwhile, the prosecutrix was not taking meal and appeared upset. Complainant was an illiterate lady and had no knowledge that she was required to report the matter in the Police Station immediately neither she was having telephone number. Swarup Chand, brother of complainant, came on 17.6.2005 at around 7:00 p.m. and she thereafter disclosed the entire episode to him who asked her as to why she did not report the matter to the police. Thereafter, complainant went to Police Station, Ani, alongwith her brother Swarup Chand and the prosecutrix and the report was lodged, on the basis of which, case was registered against the accused under Sections 376 and 511 of Indian Penal Code (for short 'IPC'). Investigation was thereafter conducted. Prosecutrix was got medically examined and after the completion of investigation, charge-sheet was filed against the accused for having committed the offence under Section 376 of IPC and as a prima-facie case was found against the accused, accordingly he was charged for commission of offence punishable under Section 376 of IPC, to which he pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

3. In order to substantiate its case, the prosecution has examined 8 witnesses.

4. Complainant Tilka Devi entered the witness box as PW2. She deposed that prosecutrix was 8 years of age. On 05.06.2005, at around 2:30 p.m. she had gone to collect grass/ fodder and her daughter (prosecutrix) was alone in the house. She deposed that when she came back at 5:00 p.m., prosecutrix was weeping at that time and she told her that accused had laid her (prosecutrix) down and after opening his pant and trouser of prosecutrix, did bad thing with her. She also stated that she found blood and two black scars on the private part of the prosecutrix. This witness further deposed that Bal Krishan was her uncle's son. She also deposed that she went to the house of accused but he was not there. She deposed that she was not aware that the matter was to be reported to the police and thereafter she fell ill. She further deposed that her brother Swarup Chand came from Shimla after 11 days and then she narrated the incident to him and thereafter they went to Police Station and reported the matter. In her cross examination, this witness has stated that adjoining to her house was the house of Jayasi Ram, Rama Nand and Ranjit and there were 30 houses in the locality. She also deposed that when she went to the house of accused, all the family members of the accused met her and she was informed that Bal Krishan was at Narkanda. She also stated that before lodging FIR, she had taken the prosecutrix to a government Doctor at Shawad for taking medicine as prosecutrix was not having food. She also stated that Doctor gave medicines for local application as well as for oral consumption. She also deposed that thereafter she got the prosecutrix admitted at Ani Hospital. In her cross examination she admitted it to be incorrect that prescription slips were not given to the police. She admitted it to be correct that her grand father Mansa Ram had willed his property in the name of father of accused. She admitted it to be correct that after the execution of said Will by her grand father, her father Shyam Lal and father of accused Dekh Ram had severed all type of relations. She also stated that she was residing at her paternal house for the last 7-8 years and before the said incident, she used to go to house to accused. She also stated that when she lodged FIR, she did not state that accused had committed intercourse.

5. PW-3 Jyoti Ram, Panchayat Secretary, is a formal witness who produced on record copy of Parivar register.

6. Dr. Gian Thakur entered the witness box as PW-4 and stated that on 20.06.2005, he had medically examined Bal Krishan and as per him, there was nothing to suggest that he was not capable of performing sexual act.

7. Sher Singh entered the witness box as PW-5 and stated that complainant was his daughter and after a week of the incident, she told him that Bal Krishan had sexually assaulted the prosecutrix and thereafter prosecutrix had fallen ill and she did not go to school. This witness also deposed that his daughter was illiterate. In his cross examination, this witness deposed that his statement was recorded by the police after 10-15 days and his daughter told him about the occurrence of the incident after 4-5 days. He stated that he did not ask the complainant to go to police. He further stated that he cannot say with certainty whether complainant told the name of accused as Bal Krishan or Ram Krishan. He admitted it to be correct that his father had willed away 2/3rd of his property in favour of father and uncle of the accused and 1/3rd in his favour. He denied that after the execution of the Will, he had severed all type of relations with the family of accused. In his cross examination, this witness stated that in his statement Exhibit PW5/A, he had told the police that accused had committed sexual intercourse with prosecutrix, which fact was told to him by his son. This witness was confronted with his statement Exhibit PW5/A wherein it was not recorded that Swarup Chand told him that the accused had committed sexual intercourse with prosecutrix but only this fact was recorded that accused had tried to commit rape. He stated that he told the complainant to take the prosecutrix to Medical Officer at Shawad and thereafter to hospital at Ani. In the later part of his cross examination, he admitted it to be correct that after his father willed away property in favour of father of accused, he was not having good relations with them.

8. PW6 Govind Singh, Head Teacher, Govt. Primary School, Fati Karana, entered the witness box as PW-6. He placed on record, date of birth certificate of prosecutrix, Exhibit PW6/A.

9. Inspector Manohar Lal entered the witness box as PW-7 and he stated that on 18.06.2005, complainant lodged FIR Exhibit PW-2/A and after the registration of the same, he sent the prosecutrix for medical examination. He also deposed that he recorded the statement of witnesses under Section 161 of Code of Criminal Procedure (for short 'Cr.P.C') and during the course of investigation, he obtained copy of Parivar register and copy of date of birth certificate of the prosecutrix. In his cross examination, he stated that he did not get the accused identified from the prosecutrix. He stated that she had disclosed the name of accused as she knew the accused. He stated that he did not notice any marks of blood or semen in the room in which the alleged occurrence took place nor did he notice any marks of blood and semen on the clothes.

10. Dr. Neelam Verma entered the witness box as PW-8 and she stated that prosecutrix was medically examined by her on 17.06.2005. According to her there were following injury marks on the private parts of the prosecutrix:

1. Superficial abrasion, 1.5 cm, obliquely placed, reddish brown scab present, 5cm above the left wrist.
2. Multiple small linear superficial abrasions with dried scab, brown coloured presented over the inner and upper aspect of the right thigh.

11. This witness also deposed as under:

"Labia Majora were adjacent to each other and closing the vaginal orifices. No swelling, tenderness, injury marks seen. No swelling, tenderness or injury marks present over of the labia minora.

The hymen was intact, with the small round opening, margins uniform and continuous, not admitting little finger. No tenderness present. No discharge P/v visible at the time of examination. No mark of injury visible.

Based on the above examination, it was inferred that the possibility of the sexual intercourse could not be ruled out."

12. In her cross examination, this witness stated that injuries No. 1 and 2 were possible by scratching. She also deposed that as per observation under specific local examination, mentioned at No. 2 and 3, it can be said that the prosecutrix was virgin. She also deposed that as per her examination, there was no complete penetration but partial penetration or attempt to commit rape cannot be ruled out. She also deposed that she had not noticed any black scars on the private part of the victim and injuries mentioned on second page of MLC at serial No. 3 are possible if child falls while playing. She further stated that because she had examined the patient after 13 days and thereafter she had giver her opinion that the possibility of rape cannot be ruled out.

13. The prosecutrix entered the witness box as PW-1 and she stated that at 4:00 p.m. her mother had gone to bring grass/fodder and at that time accused Bal Krishan came and he removed her trouser and also his pant and he put his organ of passing urine on her organ of passing urine after laying her on the gunny bag and thereafter she felt pain and started weeping and accused ran away. In her cross examination, this witness stated that she narrated the said fact to her mother on the same day and thereafter her mother said nothing to her. This witness initially stated in her cross examination that there was no bleeding and thereafter she stated that blood came from place/part of the body from where urine is passed. She denied that there was any house in her neighbourhood. She stated that when her mother came back she was inside the room and she did not cry. She stated that thereafter she continuously kept on attending the school. She admitted it to be correct that she had been asked by her mother and maternal uncle Swarup Chand to depose so in the Court. She also deposed that she received no other injury other than on her private parts. In fact what she deposed is quoted herein below:

"My mother took me to the doctor because I was having pain in my private part from where I urinate. I had not told the doctor."

14. On the basis of material so produced before it, learned trial Court held that the prosecution was not able to prove the guilt of the accused beyond reasonable doubt and there was not sufficient evidence on record in this regard and accordingly it acquitted the accused of charge framed against him.

15. Mr. Varun Chandel, learned Additional Advocate General has argued that the judgment of acquittal passed by learned trial Court was perverse and not sustainable in law. Mr. Chandel argued that the findings returned by learned trial Court to the effect that the story of the prosecution was not reliable as mother of the prosecutrix had not disclosed the occurrence of the incident to the Doctor by whom the prosecutrix was examined before lodging of FIR was not sustainable as learned trial Court failed to appreciate that no parents of a girl would make such kind of incident public as the same would have had cast stigma on the future of the career of the girl. Mr. Chandel further argued that the findings arrived at by learned Court below to the effect that the statement of prosecutrix was not corroborated with medical evidence was contrary to the material placed on record. As per Mr. Chandel, the testimony of Dr. Neelam was not appreciated by learned trial Court in its correct perspective. It was further submitted by Mr. Chandel that learned trial Court erred in concluding that there was enmity between the family of the prosecutrix and accused, ignoring the fact that PW5 Sham Singh had categorically stated that there was no enmity between his family and family of accused. It was further argued that even otherwise the judgment passed by learned trial Court was not sustainable because the findings arrived at by learned trial Court were based on conjectures and surmises and the testimony of the prosecution witnesses and other evidence produced on record by the prosecution had been brushed aside by learned trial Court without appreciating the same in its correct perspective. Accordingly, Mr. Chandel argued that the appeal be allowed and the judgment of acquittal passed by learned trial Court be set aside and accused be convicted for commission of offence punishable under Section 376 of IPC.

16. On the other hand, Mr. Bimal Gupta, learned senior counsel appearing for the accused argued that there was no merit in the present appeal and the judgment and acquittal returned by learned trial Court in favour of respondent-accused did not warrant any interference because the findings so arrived at by learned trial Court were neither perverse nor there was any infirmity in the same. Mr. Gupta submitted that it was apparent and evident from the material which was placed by the prosecution on record that the guilt of the accused was not proved beyond reasonable doubt. Mr. Gupta argued that the conduct of the mother of the prosecutrix was highly suspicious as there was undue delay in lodging the FIR, which had gone unexplained on record and thus her testimony was not reliable at all. According to Mr. Gupta, even the testimony of prosecutrix could not be relied upon to convict the accused because she had categorically admitted in her cross examination that she was tutored by her mother and uncle to depose so in the Court. Mr. Gupta further argued that in fact prosecution had miserably failed to bring home the guilt of accused and therefore the judgment passed by learned trial Court in favour of accused be upheld and present appeal be dismissed.

17. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the records of the case as well as the judgment passed by learned trial Court.

18. Admittedly, there is no eye-witness who has seen the occurrence of the alleged incident except the prosecutrix, who is the victim in the present case. Besides this, prosecutrix is a minor. According to prosecution, the alleged incident took place on 05.06.2005. Admittedly, the FIR was lodged on 18.06.2005. The explanation, which has been given by the mother of the prosecutrix as to why no FIR was lodged before 18.06.2005, is that she was an illiterate lady and after the unfortunate incident took place, she had fallen ill and it is only after her brother Swarup Chand came from Shimla after about 11 days, that she narrated said incident to him who asked her as to why she had not lodged any FIR and thereupon the FIR was lodged. In her cross examination, this witness had admitted that the alleged incident was a serious incident. This witness has also stated that there were houses of Jaisi Ram, Rama Nand and Ranjit adjoining to her house and there were approximately 30 houses in the locality. This witness also stated that after the occurrence of the incident, she went to the house of accused but did not find him there. This witness also stated in her cross examination that before lodging the FIR she had taken her daughter to a government Doctor at Shawad who had given medicines because her daughter was not taking food. This witness deposed that thereafter she got her daughter admitted in the hospital at Ani. The prosecution has not placed on record any material from which it can be deciphered/inferred that the mother of the prosecutrix either took her to any Doctor or the prosecutrix remained admitted in the hospital at Ani before lodging of FIR. This witness also stated that after the alleged incident, her daughter i.e. the prosecutrix remained at home for one month. She also stated that after the occurrence of the incident she had narrated this incident to her brother Swarup Chand after he came back from Shimla about 11 days post occurrence of the alleged incident. This witness in her cross examination also admitted it to be correct that her grand father had willed his property in the name of father of accused and thereafter her father had severed all type of relations with the family of accused.

19. When we compare the statement of PW2 with the statement of prosecutrix and PW5, we find lot of inconsistencies and contradictions. Whereas as per PW2, prosecutrix remained at home for one month after the occurrence of the alleged incident, however, prosecutrix in her statement has deposed that she continuously kept on attending the school. As per PW2, the prosecutrix was taken to a Doctor at Shawad as she was not taking food, however, as per the prosecutrix, she was taken to the doctor because she was having pain in her private part. Further as per PW2, after the occurrence of the incident, she narrated this incident to her brother Swarup Chand after he returned from Shimla 11 days after the incident, whereas her father, who has entered the witness box as PW5, has deposed that the incident was disclosed to him by his daughter (complainant) and he advised her to take prosecutrix to the Doctor and it was on his advice, that the prosecutrix was taken to Medical Officer at Shawad and thereafter to hospital at Ani. PW2 deposed in her statement that after the occurrence she fell ill, whereas her father PW5 stated that after the occurrence of the alleged incident, prosecutrix fell ill and she could not attend her school.

20. Incidentally and most crucially, brother of complainant (PW2) i.e. Swarup Chand, who, in our considered view, was a very important witness, has not been examined by the prosecution. No cogent explanation has come forth from the prosecution as to why Swarup Chand was not examined by the prosecution. Keeping in view that the FIR, as per PW2, was got registered at the behest of Swarup Chand, in the absence of his testimony on record to corroborate as to what has been deposed by PW2, it cannot be said that delay in lodging of FIR was sufficiently explained by the prosecution.

21. On the above facts and circumstances which includes the inconsistencies of and contradictions in the testimonies of prosecution witnesses who mostly are interested witnesses, it cannot be said that on the basis of material produced on record by the prosecution, it had proved its case against the accused beyond reasonable doubt.

22. Now coming to the testimony of PW8, Dr. Neelam Verma who medically examined the prosecutrix, stated that the prosecutrix was medically examined by her on 17.06.2005. In her cross examination, this witness has stated that injuries No. 1 and 2 which were found by her on the body of prosecutrix were possible by scratching. This witness also deposed that as per observation under specific local examination mentioned at No. 2 and 3 in the MLC, it can be said that the prosecutrix was virgin. She also stated that as per her examination, there was no complete penetration but partial penetration or attempt to rape cannot be ruled out. She also stated that she had not noticed any black scars on the private parts of the victim and injury mentioned at Sr. No. 3 is possible if child falls while playing. This witness also stated that because she had examined the witness after 13 days, accordingly she had given the opinion that possibility of rape cannot be ruled out.

23. In our considered view, it cannot be conclusively held from the testimony of this witness that the prosecutrix was raped by the accused. The statement of this witness though raises a strong suspicion that the accused might have committed the offence for which he was charged, however, suspicion howsoever strong cannot substitute for proof. Therefore, it cannot be concluded beyond reasonable doubt from the testimony of PW8 that the prosecution was raped by the accused as is the case of the prosecution.

24. A perusal of the judgment passed by learned trial Court will demonstrate that all the relevant aspects of the matter have been taken into consideration by learned trial Court and after appreciation of the evidence produced on record by the prosecution, it was concluded by learned trial Court that the prosecution could not prove its case against the accused beyond reasonable doubt. In our considered view, the findings so returned by the learned trial Court cannot be faulted with. According to us also, the material produced on record by the prosecution is not sufficient enough from which it can be concluded beyond reasonable doubt that the prosecutrix was raped by accused. The material on record adduced by the prosecution at the most raised strong suspicion that the accused might have committed the offence for which he was charged, however, we are afraid that the prosecution was not able to prove beyond reasonable doubt this suspicion.

25. In Dattu Ramrao Sakhare v. State of Maharashtra (1997 (5) SCC 341) it was held:

> '5. .....A child witness if found competent to depose to the facts and reliable one such evidence could be the basis of conviction. In other words even in the absence of oath the evidence of a child witness can be considered under Section 118 of the Evidence Act provided that such witness is able to understand the answers thereof. The evidence of a child witness and credibility thereof would depend upon the circumstances of each case. The only precaution which the Court should bear in mind while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that the witness must be a reliable one and his/her demeanour must be like any other competent witness and there is no likelihood of being tutored'.
>
> The decision on the question whether the child witness has sufficient intelligence primarily rests with the trial Judge who notices his manners, his apparent possession or lack of intelligence, and said Judge may resort to any examination which will tend to disclose his capacity and intelligence as well as his understanding of the obligation of an oath. The decision of the trial court may, however, be disturbed by the higher Court if from what is preserved in the records, it is clear his conclusion was erroneous. This precaution is necessary because child witnesses are amenable to tutoring and often live in a world of make beliefs. Though it is an established principle that child witnesses are dangerous witnesses as they are pliable and liable to be influenced easily, shaped and moulded, but it is also an accepted norm that if after careful scrutiny of their evidence the Court comes to the conclusion that there is an impress of truth in it, there is no obstacle in the way of accepting the evidence of a child witness."

26. It has been held by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that evidence of a child witness should find adequate corroboration before it could be accepted.

27. Rule of caution requires that conviction should not be based on the uncorroborated testimony of a child witness. Though there is no bar in acting upon the uncorroborated testimony of a child witness yet prudence requires that it should be corroborated on the material particulars. It is a sound rule of practice not to act upon the uncorroborated testimony of a child whether sworn or not. But this is a rule of caution and not rule of law. This is because testimony of a child witness cannot be discarded at all together and if testimony is truthful and not shaken in the cross-examination, the same can be accepted. The Hon'ble Supreme Court has held in Ratansinh Dalsukhbhal Nayak Vs. State of Gujarat, AIR 2004 Supreme Court 23, that if the testimony of a child witness is found to be a satisfactory, conviction can be based on the same.

28. Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Madhya Pradesh versus Ramesh and Another, (2011) 4 Supreme Court Cases 786 has held as under:

> " In Rameshwar S/o Kalyan Singh v. The State of Rajasthan, AIR 1952 SC 54, this Court examined the provisions of Section 5 of Indian Oaths Act, 1873 and Section 118 of Evidence Act, 1872 and held that every witness is competent to depose unless the court considers that he is prevented from understanding the question put to him, or from giving rational answers by reason of tender age, extreme old age, disease whether of body or mind or any other cause of the same kind. There is always competency in fact unless the Court considers otherwise.
>
> The Court further held as under:
>
> > ".....It is desirable that Judges and magistrates should always record their opinion that the child understands the duty of speaking the truth and state why they think that, otherwise the credibility of the witness may be seriously affected, so much so, that in some cases it may be necessary to reject the evidence altogether. But whether the Magistrate or Judge really was of that opinion can, I think, be gathered from the circumstances when there is no formal certificate...."
>
> In Mangoo & Anr. v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1995 SC 959, this Court while dealing with the evidence of a child witness observed that there was always scope to tutor the child, however, it cannot alone be a ground to come to the conclusion that the child witness must have been tutored. The Court must determine as to whether the child has been tutored or not. It can be ascertained by examining the evidence and from the contents thereof as to whether there are any traces of tutoring.
>
> In Panchhi & Ors. v. State of U.P., AIR 1998 SC 2726, this Court while placing reliance upon a large number of its earlier judgments observed that the testimony of a child witness must find adequate corroboration before it is relied on. However, it is more a rule of practical wisdom than of law. It cannot be held that
>
> "the evidence of a child witness would always stand irretrievably stigmatized. It is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is found reliable. The law is that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated more carefully and with greater circumspection because a child is susceptible to be swayed by what others tell him and thus a child witness is an easy prey to tutoring."
>
> In Nivrutti Pandurang Kokate & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2008 SC 1460, this Court dealing with the child witness has observed as under:
>
> > "10. '...7...The decision on the question whether the child witness has sufficient intelligence primarily rests with the trial Judge who notices his manners, his apparent possession or lack of intelligence, and the said Judge may resort to any examination which will tend to disclose his capacity and intelligence as well as his understanding of the obligation of an oath. The decision of the trial court may, however, be disturbed by the higher court if from what is preserved in the records, it is clear that his conclusion was erroneous. This precaution is necessary because child witnesses are amenable to tutoring and often live in a world of make-believe. Though it is an established principle that child witnesses are dangerous witnesses as they are pliable and liable to be influenced easily, shaped and moulded, but it is also an accepted norm that if after careful scrutiny of their evidence the court comes to the conclusion that there is an impress of truth in it, there is no obstacle in the way of accepting the evidence of a child witness."
> The evidence of a child must reveal that he was able to discern between right and wrong and the court may find out from the cross-examination whether the defence lawyer could bring anything to indicate that the child could not differentiate between right and wrong. The court may ascertain his suitability as a witness by putting questions to him and even if no such questions had been put, it may be gathered from his evidence as to whether he fully understood the implications of what he was saying and whether he stood discredited in facing a stiff cross-examination. A child witness must be able to understand the sanctity of giving evidence on a oath and the import of the questions that were being put to him. (Vide: Himmat Sukhadeo Wahurwagh & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2292).

In State of U.P. v. Krishna Master & Ors., AIR 2010 SC 3071, this Court held that there is no principle of law that it is inconceivable that a child of tender age would not be able to recapitulate the facts in his memory. A child is always receptive to abnormal events which take place in his life and would never forget those events for the rest of his life. The child may be able to recapitulate carefully and exactly when asked about the same in the future. In case the child explains the relevant events of the crime without improvements or embellishments, and the same inspire confidence of the Court, his deposition does not require any corroboration whatsoever. The child at a tender age is incapable of having any malice or ill will against any person. Therefore, there must be something on record to satisfy the Court that something had gone wrong between the date of incident and recording evidence of the child witness due to which the witness wanted to implicate the accused falsely in a case of a serious nature.

Part of the statement of a child witness, even if tutored, can be relied upon, if the tutored part can be separated from untutored part, in case such remaining untutored part inspires confidence. In such an eventuality the untutored part can be believed or at least taken into consideration for the purpose of corroboration as in the case of a hostile witness. (Vide: Gagan Kanojia & Anr. v. State of Punjab, (2006) 13 SCC 516).

In view of the above, the law on the issue can be summarized to the effect that the deposition of a child witness may require corroboration, but in case his deposition inspires the confidence of the court and there is no embellishment or improvement therein, the court may rely upon his evidence. The evidence of a child witness must be evaluated more carefully with greater circumspection because he is susceptible to tutoring. Only in case there is evidence on record to show that a child has been tutored, the Court can reject his statement partly or fully. However, an inference as to whether child has been tutored or not, can be drawn from the contents of his deposition."

29. Hon'ble Supreme Court in K. Venkateshwarlu Versus State of Andhra Pradesh, (2012) 8 Supreme Court Cases 73 has held as under:

"The trial court acquitted the appellant basically on the ground that the victim and her mother did not speak anything about the rape and the child witnesses stated that they were kept by the police in police station prior to giving evidence and therefore, their evidence cannot be relied upon. The trial court observed that the appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt. An appeal was carried by the State of Andhra Pradesh to the High Court. The High Court came to a conclusion that there was no appreciation of evidence at all by the trial court. The High Court re- appreciated the evidence and recorded a finding that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. The High Court set aside the trial court's order and convicted the appellant as aforesaid, which has led to this appeal.

We have heard learned counsel for the appellant. He submitted that the High Court erred in setting aside the order of acquittal which was based on a correct appreciation of evidence. Counsel submitted that by no stretch of imagination the order of acquittal passed by the Sessions Court can be characterized as perverse warranting interference by the High Court. Counsel submitted that PW-1 Anjaiah and PW-3 Padma, father and mother of the victim have not supported the prosecution case. PW-2 Aruna the victim has also not stated that she was sexually assaulted by the appellant. The child witnesses have admitted that they were at the police station for considerable period before they were brought to the court. It is evident, therefore, that they were tutored by the police. Counsel submitted that though medical evidence suggests that PW-2 Aruna had been sexually assaulted, there is no evidence on record to conclude that it is the appellant who had committed the heinous crime. Counsel submitted that the view taken by the trial court is a reasonably possible view which ought not to have been disturbed by the High Court. Learned counsel for the State supported the impugned order.

The High Court has set aside order of acquittal. This court has repeatedly stated what should be the approach of the High Court while dealing with an appeal against acquittal. If the view taken by the trial court is a reasonably possible view, the High Court cannot set it aside and substitute it by its own view merely because that view is also possible on the facts of the case. The High Court has to bear in mind that presumption of innocence of an accused is strengthened by his acquittal and unless there are strong and compelling circumstances which rebut that presumption and conclusively establish the guilt of the accused, the order of acquittal cannot be set aside. Unless the order of acquittal is perverse, totally against the weight of evidence and rendered in complete breach of settled principles underlying criminal jurisprudence, no interference is called for with it. Crime may be heinous, morally repulsive and extremely shocking, but moral considerations cannot be a substitute for legal evidence and the accused cannot be convicted on moral considerations. The present appeal needs to be examined in light of above principles.

Several child witnesses have been relied upon in this case. The evidence of a child witness has to be subjected to closest scrutiny and can be accepted only if the court comes to the conclusion that the child understands the question put to him and he is capable of giving rational answers (see Section 118 of the Evidence Act). A child witness, by reason of his tender age, is a pliable witness. He can be tutored easily either by threat, coercion or inducement. Therefore, the court must be satisfied that the attendant circumstances do not show that the child was acting under the influence of someone or was under a threat or coercion. Evidence of a child witness can be relied upon if the court, with its expertise and ability to evaluate the evidence, comes to the conclusion that the child is not tutored and his evidence has a ring of truth. It is safe and prudent to look for corroboration for the evidence of a child witness from the other evidence on record, because while giving evidence a child may give scope to his imagination and exaggerate his version or may develop cold feet and not tell the truth or may repeat what he has been asked to say not knowing the consequences of his deposition in the court. Careful evaluation of the evidence of a child witness in the background and context of other evidence on record is a must before the court decides to rely upon it.

The Evidence of child witnesses PW-4 D. Marry, PW-5 Swapna, PW-6 Ch. Vijaya and PW-7 Ch. Borraiah have made prosecution case suspect. It must be mentioned here that statements of these witnesses were recorded by PW-14 K. Prasad Rao, JFCM, Kodad, under Section 164 of the Code. But, these statements also cannot be relied upon because there is intrinsic evidence to show that all these witnesses were under the pressure of the police. PW- 4 D. Marry did not say anything about the appellant. She stated that she gave a statement before the Magistrate at Kodad but she could not state what statement she had given. Because she was unable to answer the questions she was discharged. PW-5 Swapna also admitted that she was at the police station at Garidapalli for six days along with PWs 1 to 3 and others and she gave a statement before the Magistrate at the instance of the police. The defence has produced a certificate (Annexure-P/8) from RCM High School, Vepalasingaram, where PW-4 and PW-5 were studying, which states that they did not attend the school from 30.10.2000 to 7.11.2000 and 27.10.2000 to 06.11.2000 respectively. PW-6 Ch. Vijaya Kumar and PW-7 Ch. Borraiah narrated the incident in the examination-in-chief, but the similarity in their narration suggests tutoring by the police. PW-6's effort to disown that he was detained at the police station along with others is belied by evidence of other witnesses. PW-7 Ch. Borraiah stated in the cross-examination that all of them were at the police station since last Tuesday. From the evidence of the child witnesses it is clear that they were detained by the police at the police station. Once this is established, the inevitable conclusion that they were tutored by the police must follow.

Having perused the evidence of all the witnesses, we find it difficult to rely on them. We feel that the trial court had rightly discarded their evidence as unworthy of reliance and the High Court erred in taking it into consideration. This, in our opinion, is a case where neither the evidence of parents of victim PW-2 Aruna nor the evidence of PW- 2 Aruna, nor the evidence of child witnesses, who claim to have witnessed the incident, nor the medical evidence supports the prosecution case. Besides, all the pancha witnesses have turned hostile, a fact which we have noted with some anguish. A needle of suspicion does point out to the appellant because he is a police constable and in a small village where the incident took place, witnesses may be scared to depose against him because of his clout. There are certain circumstances which do raise suspicion about the appellant's involvement in the crime. The children were playing on the terrace of the appellant. The appellant was not arrested by police till 4.9.1998. The demeanour of PW-2 Aruna, the tears in her eyes, her walking out of the court after looking at the appellant, pricks the judicial conscience. But convictions cannot be based on suspicion, conjectures and surmises. We are unable to come to a conclusion that the trial court's judgment is perverse. For want of legal evidence we will have to set aside the appellant's conviction and sentence. But we make it clear that we are doing so only by giving him benefit of doubt."

30. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Munna Versus State of Madhya Pradesh, (2014) 10 Supreme Court Cases 254, has held as under:

"……..We are conscious that testimony of the prosecutrix is almost at par with an injured witness and can be acted upon without corroboration as held in various decisions of this Court. Reference may be made to some of the leading judgments.

In Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai vs. State of Gujarat, this Court held as under :

"9. In the Indian setting, refusal to act on the testimony of a victim of sexual assault in the absence of corroboration as a rule, is adding insult to injury. Why should the evidence of the girl or the woman who complains of rape or sexual molestation be viewed with the aid of spectacles fitted with lenses tinged with doubt, disbelief or suspicion? To do so is to justify the charge of male chauvinism in a male dominated society. We must analyze the argument in support of the need for corroboration and subject it to relentless and remorseless cross examination. And we must do so with a logical, and not an opinionated, eye in the light of probabilities with our feet firmly planted on the soil of India and with our eyes focussed on the Indian horizon. We must not be swept off the feet by the approach made in the western world which has its own social milieu, its own social mores, its own permissive values, and its own code of life. Corroboration may be considered essential to establish a sexual offence in the backdrop of the social ecology of the western world. It is wholly unnecessary to import the said concept on a turnkey basis and to transplant it on the Indian soil regardless of the altogether different atmosphere, attitudes, mores, responses of the Indian society, and its profile. The identities of the two worlds are different. The solution of problems cannot therefore be identical.

10. Without the fear of making too wide a statement, or of overstating the case, it can be said that rarely will a girl or a woman in India make false allegations of sexual assault …….. The statement is generally true in the context of the urban as also rural society. It is also by and large true in the context of the sophisticated, not so sophisticated, and unsophisticated society. Only very rarely can one conceivably come across an exception or two and that too possibly from amongst the urban elites. Because (1) A girl or a woman in the tradition-bound non-permissive society of India would be extremely reluctant even to admit that any incident which is likely to reflect on her chastity had ever occurred. (2) She would be conscious of the danger of being ostracized by the society or being looked down by the society including by her own family members, relatives, friends, and neighbours. (3) She would have to brave the whole world. (4) She would face the risk of losing the love and respect of her own husband and near relatives, and of her matrimonial home and happiness being shattered. (5) If she is unmarried, she would apprehend that it would be difficult to secure an alliance with a suitable match from a respectable or an acceptable family. (6) It would almost inevitably and almost invariably result in mental torture and suffering to herself. (7) The fear of being taunted by others will always haunt her. (8) She would feel extremely embarrassed in relating the incident to others being overpowered by a feeling of shame on account of the upbringing in a tradition-bound society where by and large sex is taboo. (9) The natural inclination would be to avoid giving publicity to the incident lest the family name and family honour is brought into controversy. (10) The parents of an unmarried girl as also the husband and members of the husband's family of a married woman, would also more often than not, want to avoid publicity on account of the fear of social stigma on the family name and family honour. (11) The fear of the victim herself being considered to be promiscuous or in some way responsible for the incident regardless of her innocence. (12) The reluctance to face interrogation by the investigating agency, to face the court, to face the cross examination by counsel for the culprit, and the risk of being disbelieved, acts as a deterrent."

In State of Maharashtra vs. Chandraprakash Kewalchand Jain, this Court held as under :

"15. It is necessary at the outset to state what the approach of the court should be while evaluating the prosecution evidence, particularly the evidence of the prosecutrix, in sex offences. Is it essential that the evidence of the prosecutrix should be corroborated in material particulars before the court bases a conviction on her testimony? Does the rule of prudence demand that in all cases save the rarest of rare the court should look for corroboration before acting on the evidence of the prosecutrix? Let us see if the Evidence Act provides the clue. Under the said statute 'Evidence' means and includes all statements which the court permits or requires to be made before it by witnesses, in relation to the matters of fact under inquiry. Under Section 59 all facts, except the contents of documents, may be proved by oral evidence. Section 118 then tells us who may give oral evidence. According to that section all persons are competent to testify unless the court considers that they are prevented from understanding the questions put to them, or from giving rational answers to those questions, by tender years, extreme old age, disease, whether of body or mind, or any other cause of the same kind. Even in the case of an accomplice Section 133 provides that he shall be a competent witness against an accused person; and a conviction is not illegal merely because it proceeds upon the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice. However, illustration (b) to Section 114, which lays down a rule of practice, says that the court 'may' presume that an accomplice is unworthy of credit, unless he is corroborated in material particulars. Thus under Section 133, which lays down a rule of law, an accomplice is a competent witness and a conviction based solely on his uncorroborated evidence is not illegal although in view of Section 114, illustration (b), courts do not as a matter of practice do so and look for corroboration in material particulars. This is the conjoint effect of Sections 133 and 114, illustration (b).

16. A prosecutrix of a sex offence cannot be put on par with an accomplice. She is in fact a victim of the crime. The Evidence Act nowhere says that her evidence cannot be accepted unless it is corroborated in material particulars. She is undoubtedly a competent witness under Section 118 and her evidence must receive the same weight as is attached to an injured in cases of physical violence. The same degree of care and caution must attach in the evaluation of her evidence as in the case of an injured complainant or witness and no more. What is necessary is that the court must be alive to and conscious of the fact that it is dealing with the evidence of a person who is interested in the outcome of the charge levelled by her. If the court keeps this in mind and feels satisfied that it can act on the evidence of the prosecutrix, there is no rule of law or practice incorporated in the Evidence Act similar to illustration (b) to Section 114 which requires it to look for corroboration. If for some reason the court is hesitant to place implicit reliance on the testimony of the prosecutrix it may look for evidence which may lend assurance to her testimony short of corroboration required in the case of an accomplice. The nature of evidence required to lend assurance to the testimony of the prosecutrix must necessarily depend on the facts and circumstances of each case. But if a prosecutrix is an adult and of full understanding the court is entitled to base a conviction on her evidence unless the same is shown to be infirm and not trustworthy. If the totality of the circumstances appearing on the record of the case disclose that the prosecutrix does not have a strong motive to falsely involve the person charged, the court should ordinarily have no hesitation in accepting her evidence. We have, therefore, no doubt in our minds that ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix who does not lack understanding must be accepted. The degree of proof required must not be higher than is expected of an injured witness. For the above reasons we think that exception has rightly been taken to the approach of the High Court as is reflected in the following passage:

"It is only in the rarest of rare cases if the court finds that the testimony of the prosecutrix is so trustworthy, truthful and reliable that other corroboration may not be necessary."

With respect, the law is not correctly stated. If we may say so, it is just the reverse. Ordinarily the evidence of a prosecutrix must carry the same weight as is attached to an injured person who is a victim of violence, unless there are special circumstances which call for greater caution, in which case it would be safe to act on her testimony if there is independent evidence lending assurance to her accusation.

17. We think it proper, having regard to the increase in the number of sex violation cases in the recent past, particularly cases of molestation and rape in custody, to remove the notion, if it persists, that the testimony of a woman who is a victim of sexual violence must ordinarily be corroborated in material particulars except in the rarest of rare cases. To insist on corroboration except in the rarest of rare cases is to equate a woman who is a victim of the lust of another with an accomplice to a crime and thereby insult womanhood. It would be adding insult to injury to tell a woman that her story of woe will not be believed unless it is corroborated in material particulars as in the case of an accomplice to a crime. Ours is a conservative society where it concerns sexual behaviour. Ours is not a permissive society as in some of the western and European countries. Our standard of decency and morality in public life is not the same as in those countries. It is, however, unfortunate that respect for womanhood in our country is on the decline and cases of molestation and rape are steadily growing. An Indian woman is now required to suffer indignities in different forms, from lewd remarks to eve-teasing, from molestation to rape. Decency and morality in public life can be promoted and protected only if we deal strictly with those who violate the societal norms. The standard of proof to be expected by the court in such cases must take into account the fact that such crimes are generally committed on the sly and very rarely direct evidence of a person other than the prosecutrix is available. Courts must also realise that ordinarily a woman, more so a young girl, will not stake her reputation by levelling a false charge concerning her chastity."
