One-day Judicial Colloquium on “Prevention of Human Trafficking” for the Judicial Officers, Police Officers and Public Prosecutors of Himachal Pradesh.

Large scale human migration is the by-product of industrialization and ever rising demand of workforce in construction and service sectors. And in this mass transfer of individuals from one place to another lies the danger of trafficking in human beings. Trafficking caused by deceit, coercion and intimidation results in gross human right violations of the victims thereof, as such it should be a serious concern for the law enforcement agencies. Ironically, trafficking now is no more confined to labour and sexual exploitation but is also being done for illicit trade of drugs, sale and purchase of human organs and tissues. Normally, the victims hail from the marginalized and weaker sections of the society. They are pitted against the organized criminals. For various reasons, reporting of such cases is very less and much lesser is the rate of conviction in case, charge sheets happen to be filed in the courts against the accused.

In order to sensitize the stakeholders, a one-day Colloquium on “Prevention of Human Trafficking” was held in the Academy on 20th October, 2019. It was attended by seventy four participants which included fifty six Judicial Officers viz. District & Sessions Judges, Senior Civil Judges, Civil Judges, six Police Officers heading Anti-Human Trafficking Units and twelve Public Prosecutors. In fact, this Colloquium, second in the series, was held under the aegis of Ministry of Home Affairs (CS Division), Government of India.

The opening session initiated by Sh. Rakesh Senger, Executive Director (Programme), Bal Mitra Mandal, Kailash Satyarthi, Children Foundation, highlighted the work done by Sh. Kailash Satyarthi, a Noble laureate, in the filed of Child Rights through a documentary depicting dimension, challenges and existing response on human trafficking.

Sh. Ravi Kant, Advocate, Supreme Court of India and President, ‘Shakti Vahini’, an NGO, apprised the participants about the role of Stakeholders in victim protection, rescue, care and support. Whereas Ms. Malita Farnadies and Sh. P. K. Bardhan of International Justice Mission, spoke about laws and court practices relating to sexual and labour exploitation of trafficked persons. A documentary highlighted the intricacies involved in the prosecution of a person accused of trafficking women and running a brothel in West Bengal.

One-day Conference on “Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act” for the Special Judges, Superintendents of Police and Public Prosecutors of Himachal Pradesh.

In spite of its stringent provisions, the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, has not been proved to be an effective measure to check the menace of drug abuse and drug trafficking. As a matter of fact, the instances of substance abuse, like ‘chitta’ and other synthetic drugs by adolescents in the state are on the rise so also the interception of narcotics and synthetic drugs by the Police. Persons involved in illicit trade of drugs, are working as organized criminals. Recently, there were attacks by drug cartels on police personnel in district Mandi. The drug abuse, thus, has become a social problem. For the functionaries involved in dispensation of justice in drugs cases, one day conference on Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act was held for the Special Judges, Superintendents of Police and Public Prosecutors of the state. It was attended by thirty eight special judges, seven Police Officers and sixteen Public Prosecutors.

Why the police machinery is not in a position to control the transit of drugs, why the investigation is not upto the standard and why such cases end in acquittal, were the questions which were raised and extensively discussed with reference to judgments given by the Hon’ble Supreme Court and High Court, in the first two sessions chaired by Hon’ble Shri Justice Anoop Chitkara, Judge, the High Court of H.P. Whereas the third session was headed by Sh. Diljeet K. Thakur, IGP (Intelligence). He elaborated the dimensions of drug trafficking prevalent in the state and discussed the procedural aspects relating to investigation of the drug cases.
